News Release

SingTel teams up with Samsung to tap the Korean market

Samsung Networks signs IP-VPN distribution agreement with SingTel

Singapore, 13 December 2004 -- Singapore Telecommunications Limited (SingTel), Asia's leading communications group, and Samsung Networks, a leading IP communications service provider in Korea, today announce that they have signed an IP-VPN (Internet Protocol – Virtual Private Network) distribution agreement.

This partnership allows Samsung Networks to resell SingTel's IP-VPN services in South Korea. Through interconnecting with SingTel's extensive and reliable regional network, Samsung Networks can offer their Korean customers seamless IP-VPN services and connectivity within and outside of Asia. This broadens the options for enterprise customers in South Korea for high quality and reliable IP-VPN services, linking Singapore and Korea as well as to the rest of the world.

Mr Yoo Sang Seop, Vice President of Strategic Planning, Samsung Networks, said: "Our decision to partner with Asia's leading telecommunications giant is based mainly on the high quality and robust global network infrastructure as well as the critical in-country knowledge and support that SingTel offers.

"By partnering SingTel, we are now in a better position to help our customers to venture outside of Korea. Samsung's managed and value-added services, coupled with SingTel's strong global coverage, will further enhance our offering to our customers."

Mr Thomas Yeo, SingTel's Vice President of Marketing, Corporate Business Group, said: "In the last 12 months, we have stepped up our channel sales and marketing efforts to sign up more telco distributors for SingTel's regional data network. We are also establishing alliances with major operators worldwide to create inroads into overseas markets.

"Through these distribution agreements and alliances, SingTel is able to offer its corporate customers end-to-end solutions within and outside of Asia, and to Europe and the United States. We also aim to have a bigger slice of the corporate data revenue from MNCs that are expanding their operations in Asia Pacific."

Mr Yeo added: "The successful globalisation of the Korean consumer and electronic brands will see more Korean companies expanding their businesses in this part of the world. SingTel is well positioned to meet their growing need for seamless, global communications solutions."

SingTel launched its IP-VPN services in 1998, under the ConnectPlus brand. Operated over SingTel's own Gigabit IP backbone, SingTel's IP-VPN is based on Multi-Protocol Label Switching (MPLS) technology that combines the security of a traditional private network with Quality of Service features and the flexibility of IP. The service is suitable for companies with multiple sites locally and globally that want to meet their intra-corporate and extra-corporate communications needs.
