Atlas Copco opens a new Customer Center in Algeria

Stockholm, Sweden, July 25, 2005: Atlas Copco has established a fully-owned customer center in Algeria, to strengthen customer relations and to provide better service to its customers on that market. The new company has 29 employees.

The new customer center, Atlas Copco Algeria s.p.a., offers compressors and generators as well as mining and construction equipment and related aftermarket activities. Jean-Pierre Fauque is the General Manager for the company.

“With the opening of the new customer center in Algeria we are strengthening our presence and committing to further growth in the region,” says Geert Follens, President, Portable Air, a division within the Compressor Technique business area.

In 1947, Atlas Copco opened its first representative office in Algeria. The operation went through different phases, following the economical development of the country, and customers were supported by a local Atlas Copco team. Today, Atlas Copco expects a substantial increase in activity on the Algerian market, and has therefore established a customer center in Hydra, Algeria.
