PRESS RELEASE/The Federal Tariff Service of the RF has introduced new charges for local and long-distance calls of the JSC North-West Telecom

From 1 October 2005 the Federal Tariff Service of the RF has introduced new charges for local and long-distance calls for all branches of the JSC North -West Telecom in the regions of Arkhangelsk, Vologda, Kaliningrad, Murmansk, Novgorod, Pskov, the Leningrad Region, the Republics of Karelia and Komi and the city of St.-Petersburg (Orders ФСТ No. 429-c/2 and No. 430-c/3 of 20 September 2005).

Last time the rates were changed on 1 October 2004.

The application of the JSC North-West Telecom and the decision of the RF FTS is based on the regulations of the Resolution of the RF Government No. 715 of 11 October 2001, which states that the tariffs can be changed on the following grounds:

- adjustment of the tariffs to the economically sound expenses including the compensation of inflation costs;
- the necessity to cover the investments costs for modernization and development of the station equipment and the development of line and cable equipment;
- the reduction of cross-subsidization between the local tariffs for business customers and residents.

An average monthly fee for line rental was increased by 17.6% for residents and 14.5% for business customers.

Together with the indexation of local rates the OJSC North-West Telecom reduced the long-distance call charges (interband and trunk lines) for residents and companies on average by 5.8%.

The profits from the increased tariffs will be invested into network development and modernization, thus allowing the company to solve the problem of the insufficiency of phone services provision in the region, to eliminate to a certain extent the waiting time for installation and also to improve the range and quality of the services provided.

In total the weighted average of tariff changes in the OJSC NWT for local and long-distance call will constitute 1.085, which corresponds to the inflation rate for 2006.

PRESS RELEASE/S&P increased the transparency index of the JSC North-West Telecom

The analysis of Russian companies performed by the Rating service of International Rating agency Standard & Poor's together with MICEX led to the increase of the transparency index of JSC North-West Telecom to 71% (as compared to 62% in 2004). This means that the company rates seventh among the 54 largest Russian companies registered at the MICEX (in 2004 the company was eighth among 50 companies). Thus Standard & Poor's acknowledged the efforts of the JSC North-West Telecom to increase the quality of the reputation management of the company including the transparency.

According to the S&P experts the North-West Telecom has the best transparency index among the Russian companies that are not obliged to comply to the requirements of the US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC): The only companies rated higher than North-West telecom are those operating or registered in the US. Therefore the transparency index of the OJSC North-West Telecom corresponds to the UK average level.

Furthermore, JSC North-West Telecom has the highest transparency score for "Composition and procedures of the Board and Management" (85%, average score 45%) among all rated companies.

The experts of the Standard & Poor's noted that the improvements that were achieved last year "were mainly linked to the desire (of NWT) to improve the attractiveness of the shares and the ability to obtain cheaper debt instruments for foreign investors, and predominantly consisted in an increased body of information available in English on the corporate web-site, better reporting of financial and operational activities and faster preparation of the information, as well as the provision of more detailed information in the annual reports".

V.A. Akulich, the CEO of the JSC North-West Telecom, commented that "the information transparency of the company is one of the most important constituents of investors' trust which reflects the general level of the corporate management. The company will continue to work towards the improvement of transparency, the quality of its corporate managements and the investors' trust. The communication strategy implemented by North-West Telecom includes the introduction of the standards of disclosure that as much as possible reflect the leading world practices".
