INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Stockholder
Kaplan & Co. Securities, Inc.
Boca Raton, Florida

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Kaplan & Co. Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2004. This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statement of financial condition is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the statement of financial condition. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the statement of financial condition referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Kaplan & Co. Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2004, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

KAPLAN & CO. SECURITIES, INC.
NOTES TO STATEMENT OF FINANCIAL CONDITION

NOTE 1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Description of Business and Organization

Kaplan & Co. Securities, Inc. (the Company) is a broker-dealer specializing in collateralized mortgage obligations and equity securities. The Company acts in a principal capacity, buying and selling for its own account and trading with customers and other dealers, and in an agency capacity, buying and selling securities for its customers and charging a commission.

Government and Other Regulation

The Company's business is subject to significant regulation by various governmental agencies and self-regulatory organizations. Such regulation includes, among other things, periodic examinations by these regulatory bodies to determine whether the Company is conducting and reporting its operations in accordance with the requirements of these organizations.

Securities Transactions

Securities transactions and related commissions are reported on a trade date basis. Securities owned, including derivative instruments held for trading purposes (Note 5), are reported on a trade date basis, and are valued at quoted market or dealer quotes.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Expenditures for major improvements and additions are charged to the asset accounts while replacements, maintenance and repairs, which do not improve or extend the lives of the respective assets are charged to expense in the period they are incurred.

Depreciation is computed on the straight-line method over seven years for furniture and fixtures and five years for equipment, the estimated useful lives of the assets.

Income Taxes

The Company, with the stockholder's consent, has elected to be treated as an S Corporation for federal and state income tax purposes. Under this election, no provision for income taxes is made since such taxes are the personal responsibility of the stockholder.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTE 2. RECEIVABLE FROM BROKERS

The amount receivable from brokers is a combination of operating cash at the brokers, required deposits and the differential of amounts due to and from the Company on securities transactions. The Company maintains checking privileges at its broker, collateralized by securities held by the broker. These amounts are highly liquid and are considered cash for the statement of cash flows.

NOTE 3. LEASE COMMITMENT

The Company is obligated under non-cancelable lease agreements for both its office facility in Boca Raton, Florida and for certain equipment.

Approximate net future minimum payments under the non-cancelable leases for the years subsequent to December 31, 2004, are as follows:

2005	$	33,000
2006		34,000
2007		30,000
2008		8,000
	$	105,000

NOTE 4. NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

As a registered broker-dealer, the Company is subject to the Uniform Net Capital Rule of the Securities and Exchange Commission, which requires that "Net Capital", as defined, shall be at least the greater of $100,000 or 6 2/3% of "Aggregate Indebtedness", as defined. At December 31, 2004, the Company's "Net Capital" was $412,031 which exceeded the requirements by $296,339. The ratio of "Aggregate Indebtedness" to "Net Capital" was 4.21 to 1 at December 31, 2004.

NOTE 5. RISK CONCENTRATIONS

Clearing and Depository Operations

The clearing and depository operations for the Company's securities transactions are provided by a brokerage firm, whose principal office is in St. Louis, Missouri. During the year ended December 31, 2004, the Company terminated its clearing agreement with a brokerage firm whose principal office is in New York City, however, it continues to maintain cash at this broker. At December 31, 2004, all securities owned and the amount receivable from brokers, as reflected in the accompanying statement of financial condition, are held by and due from these brokers.

Derivative Instruments

The following information is presented in compliance with Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities", which requires disclosures with respect to the purpose of and risks associated with using derivatives.

The Company invests in fixed income-related derivative contracts, primarily collateralized mortgage obligations. In the normal course of business, the Company enters into derivative contracts for trading purposes. Typically, derivative contracts serve as components of the Company's investment strategies and are utilized primarily to structure the portfolio or individual investments to economically match the investment objectives of the Company.

These derivative instruments are traded on the inter-dealer market with other financial institutions of the highest rating. As such, the risk of counterparty non-performance is deemed to be insignificant.

Other Risk Concentrations

In the normal course of business, the Company's customer activities involve the execution, settlement, and financing of various customer securities transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance-sheet risk in the event the customer or other broker is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations and the Company has to purchase or sell the financial instrument underlying the contract at a loss.

NOTE 5. RISK CONCENTRATIONS (Continued)

The Company's customer securities activities are transacted on either a cash or margin basis. In margin transactions, the Company extends credit to its customers, subject to various regulatory and internal margin requirements, collateralized by cash and securities in the customers' accounts. In connection with these activities, the Company executes customer transactions involving the sale of securities not yet purchased, substantially all of which are transacted on a margin basis subject to individual exchange regulations. Such transactions may expose the Company to significant off-balance-sheet risk in the event margin requirements are not sufficient to fully cover losses that customers may incur. In the event the customer fails to satisfy its obligations, the Company may be required to purchase or sell financial instruments at prevailing market prices to fulfill the customer's obligations. The Company seeks to control the risks associated with its customer activities by requiring customers to maintain margin collateral in compliance with various regulatory and internal guidelines. The Company monitors required margin levels daily and, pursuant to such guidelines, requires the customer to deposit additional collateral or to reduce positions when necessary.

NOTE 6. CONTINGENCIES

Class Actions

The Company is one of many defendants in class actions filed by individuals in the states of California, Maryland and New York. These individuals are claiming damages against many mutual fund companies and broker-dealers for the "late-trading" of mutual fund securities. The matters are in the pleading stage. Management believes that these actions against the Company are without merit and intends to vigorously defend itself. The outcome, as well as the extent of the Company's liability, if any, cannot be determined at this time.

NASD Arbitrations

The Company is a respondent in four different National Association of Securities Dealers Regulation, Inc. (NASD) arbitration matters.

Three matters allege the Company acted improperly by selling collateralized mortgage obligations. In one matter, the claimant is also alleging that the Company misrepresented the value of such investments in written reports and is seeking $250,000 in compensatory damages plus consequential damages, punitive damages, or treble the actual damages, for an additional $750,000, plus attorneys' fees, interest and costs. In another matter, the claimant is seeking $30,000 in compensatory damages plus approximately $60,000 in punitive damages, attorneys' fees, accountant fees and costs. In another matter, the claimant has not specified damages. Management believes that these actions against the Company are without merit and intends to vigorously defend itself. The outcome, as well as the extent of the Company's liability, if any, cannot be determined at this time.

Another matter alleges the Company violated industry rules and Florida statutes, breached its fiduciary duties, committed common law fraud, negligently managed the claimant's account and negligently supervised, hired and retained employees. This claimant is seeking $250,000 in compensatory damages plus interest, attorneys' fees and costs. Management believes that this action against the Company is without merit and intends to vigorously defend itself. The outcome, as well as the extent of the Company's liability, if any, cannot be determined at this time.

Other Matter

The Company, along with numerous others, has been responding to a subpoena from the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). The subpoena has been issued pursuant to a formal order of investigation into certain mutual fund trading practices. Management is cooperating fully with the SEC's investigation and believes it is unlikely that this investigation will lead to any adverse action against the Company or its management.

NOTE 7. DUE TO OFFICER

During 2004, the Company received funds from an officer. The funds received are segregated in an account at the Company's clearing and depository broker. The officer purchases and sells securities in this account, with the net profits or losses, net of transaction costs, due to the officer. At December 31, 2004, the amount due to the officer is $213,548 and is due upon demand. In addition, at December 31, 2004, $21,824 of securities owned, at market and $191,724 of receivable from brokers represent the assets in the segregated account.
