Stockholders and Board of Directors
Stipek Securities, LLC

I have audited the accompanying Statement of Financial Condition of Stipek Securities, LLC as of December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2004, and the Statements of Operations and Stockholder's Equity, proprietors' capital and the Statement of Cash Flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audits.

I conducted my audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, such financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Stipek Securities, LLC as of December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2004, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Note 2-Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The Company's accounting records are maintained on a modified cash basis, however, the accompanying financial statements are presented on the accrual basis in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles whereby all income is recognized when earned, and expenses are recognized when incurred.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expense during the reporting period. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 3- Statement of Cash Flows

The Company adopted cash flows reporting as required in Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 95. This statement established standards for providing a Statement of Cash Flows. For purposes of the Statement of Cash Flows, the Company considers Cash in the bank to include Treasury Bills and cash in the savings account.

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Accounting Control Required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission

The Board of Directors
Stipek Securities, LLC
Santa Ana, CA

In planning and performing my audit of the consolidated financial statements of Stipek Securities, LLC for the years ended December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2004, I have considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), I made a study of the practices and procedures followed by Stipek Securities, LLC that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g)(1), in the making of the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net equity under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining In planning and performing my audit of the consolidated financial statements of Stipek Securities, LLC for the years ended December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2004, I have considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the consolidated financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), I made a study of the practices and procedures followed by Stipek Securities, LLC that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g)(1), in the making of the periodic computations of compliance with the exemptive provision of SEC Rule From SEC rule 15c3-3. Due to the nature of this business, the Company is exempt from SEC Rule 15c3-3 and various other SEC rules and regulations. As of December 31, 2004, the Company was in compliance with the conditions of its exemption from SEC Rule 15c3-3, and no facts came to my attention during the audit that indicated such conditions had not been complied with during the year. I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, comparisons and recordation of differences required for payment for securities of Section 7 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers nor perform custodial functions relating to customer's securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to remit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Stipek Securities, LLC

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2004, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and should not be used for any other purpose.
