INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL STRUCTURE
REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17A-5

Board of Directors
Hunter World Markets, Inc.
Beverly Hills, California

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of Hunter World Markets, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2004, I considered its internal control structure, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, I have made a study of the practices and procedures including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures followed by Hunter World Markets, Inc. including test of compliance with such practices and procedures that I considered relevant to objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g), (1) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the reserve required by Rule 15c3-3(e). I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company (i) in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13, or (ii) in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities of Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the proceeding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. My consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be material weakness under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including control activities for safeguarding securities, which that I consider to be material weakness as defined above. On October 21, 2003 Mr. Todd Ficeto, principal of the firm and major stockholder was given a regulatory sanction dealing with an issue of supervising a registered representative. This was subsequently appealed to the NASD. On December 2, 2004 the result of the appeal required Mr. Ficeto to cease acting as a principal from February 22, 2005 to March 14, 2005. Mr. Ficeto is key to the firm's operation on and this action is a material weakness in internal control.

On July 21, 2004 the firm applied to the NASD under Rule 1017 to re engage in market making actives. The existing membership agreement dated November 24, 2004 imposes a restriction on Mr. Ficeto from acting in a supervisory capacity. This restriction is a material weakness in internal control.

Except for the two conditions note above, my consideration of the internal control structure indicates that the company was in compliance with the condition of the exemption under paragraph (k) (2) (ii) of Rule 15c3-3, and no other facts came to my attention indicating that any other condition was not seen complied with during the period.

The scope of my engagement did not include the Anti Money Laundering provision of the U.S. Patriot Act.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purpose in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and except for conditions precedent upon the firm by the NASD, which places the firm's principal under a plan of special supervision, and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2004 to meet the Commission's objectives.
