Kevin Logan, Proprietor
The Logan Group Securities
Sacramento, California

I have audited the accompanying balance sheet of The Logan Group Securities (a proprietorship), as of December 31, 2004 and the related statements of income and proprietor's equity and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted the audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by Management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that the audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Logan Group Securities as of December 31, 2004, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Also, I have prepared and examined the supplementary schedules (pages 1 through 7 of Form X-17a-5(a)) which precede the aforementioned financial statements and this report; and in my opinion, they present fairly the information included therein in conformity with the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL

Kevin Logan, Proprietor
The Logan Group Securities
Sacramento, California

I have examined the financial statements of The Logan Group Securities for the year ended December 31, 2004 and have issued my report thereon dated February 18, 2005. As part of my examination, I made a study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control to the extent I considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards and Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This study and evaluation included the accounting system. The Company is exempt from compliance with Rule 15c3-3. No facts came to my attention indicating that the conditions of the exemption had not been complied with during the period. Rule 17a-5 states that the scope of the study and evaluation should be sufficient to provide reasonable assurance that any material weakness existing at the date of my examination would be disclosed. Under generally accepted auditing standards and rule 17a-5, the purposes of such study and evaluation are to establish a basis for reliance thereon in determining the nature, timing, and extent of other auditing procedures necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements and to provide a basis for reporting material weaknesses in internal accounting control.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance concerning the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and concerning the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgment by Management. However, for the purposes of this report under Rule 17a-5, the determination of weaknesses to be reported was made without considering the practicability of corrective action by Management within the framework of a cost/benefit relationship.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal accounting control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding instructions, mistakes of judgment, carelessness, or other personnel factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends on segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion. Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by Management either with respect to the execution and recording of transactions or with respect to the estimates and judgments required in the preparation of financial statements. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal accounting control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

My study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control for the year ended December 31, 2004, which was made for the purposes set forth in the first paragraph above, and would not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system that may have existed during the period, disclosed no weakness that I believe to be material except that substantially all accounting functions are performed by or supervised by one individual, respectively. This lack of segregation of duties allows opportunity for accounting improprieties to occur without collusion. Although not a formal control, the proprietor has full access to all accounting records and is extremely familiar with the transactions and business activities of the Company.

The schedule must also include proposed capital withdrawals scheduled within the six month period following the report date including the proposed redemption of stock and anticipated accruals which would cause a reduction of Net Capital. These anticipated accruals would include amounts of bonuses, partners' drawing accounts, taxes, and interest on capital, voluntary contributions to pension or profit sharing plans, etc., which have not been deducted in the computation of Net Capital, but which you anticipate will be paid within the next six months.
