NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 NATURE OF BUSINESS AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Business

Bruce A. Lefavi Securities, Inc. (the Company) was incorporated under the laws of the State of Utah on November 12, 1980. The Company was organized as a securities broker and dealer on January 8, 1982. The Company is located in Salt Lake City, Utah. Customers are located in states in which the Company is registered. Commission revenue is derived principally from trading in securities, mutual fund retailing, selling annuities and limited partnerships, etc. Securities transactions for customers are cleared through another broker-dealer on a fully disclosed basis. Mutual fund, annuity and limited partnership transactions are cleared through various investment companies. The Company, therefore, does not handle customer funds or securities.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts. The Company believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

Revenue Recognition

Transactions and related income and expense are recorded on a trade date basis, which is the day each transaction is executed.

Statement of Cash Flows

For purposes of the Statement of Cash Flows, the Company considers cash to comprise of the cash - checking and cash - money market accounts.

Commissions Receivable

Commissions receivable are recorded when transactions are executed. Commissions receivable are written off when they are determined to be uncollectible. The Company has determined that no allowance for doubtful accounts is necessary at June 30, 2005. This determination is based on the Company's historical losses, the existing economic conditions in the securities brokers and dealers industry, and financial stability of its customers.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost, and depreciated over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Depreciation is computed on the straight-line method.

Income Taxes

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on the differences between the financial statements and tax basis of assets and liabilities, using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. Income tax expense is the tax payable or refundable for the period plus or minus the change during the period in deferred tax assets and liabilities. The deferred tax account resulted from the use of accelerated methods of depreciation for tax purposes.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

BRUCE A. LEFAVI SECURITIES, INC.

At June 30, 2005, property and equipment totaled $55,293, net of accumulated depreciation of $48,564. Depreciation expense for the year ended June 30, 2005 was $9,655.

NOTE 3 DEFERRED INCOME TAXES

Certain items of expense are recognized for income tax purposes in different periods from those in which such items are recognized for financial reporting purposes. The deferred income tax liability represents the future tax return consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled.

The components of income tax provision are as follows:

Current income tax expense	$ 17,946
Deferred income tax adjustment	(2,169)
Provision for income taxes	$ 15,777

The Company had a net deferred tax asset of $6,126. The deferred tax asset relates primarily to the difference in depreciation methods for books and tax purposes.

These services include accounting, regulatory, maintenance, advertising, research, equipment and office rental, etc. This agreement requires the Company to pay a majority of their income to the related party. Jensen & Keddington, P.C.

Certified Public Accountants

Jeffrey B. Jensen, CPA
Gary K. Keddington, CPA
Brent E. Christensen, CPA
Jeffrey B. Hill, CPAINDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT
ON INTERNAL CONTROL
REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5Bruce A. Lefavi
Bruce A. Lefavi Securities, Inc.
Salt Lake City, Utah

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Bruce A. Lefavi Securities, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended June 30, 2005, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. Our consideration of the internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at June 30, 2005, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
