*Common Stock and/or options to purchase Common Stock or Series A Preferred Stock.

* The issuer has promised to issue Common Stock and/or options to purchase Common Stock to certain employees in exchange for their services if the employees achieve minimum production levels in the fourth and fifth years of their employment. The number of shares or options to be issued, if any shares or options will be issued at all, depends on the amount of revenue generated by the employees in the future. Because it is possible that the employees will no longer be employed by the issuer on the relevant dates or that they will not have generated sufficient revenue to trigger the equity component of their compensation package, the issuer assumes that the current value of the securities sold in this offering is $0.

 In some cases, the above-described incentive arrangements include signing bonuses that can be paid in equity or convertible securities. The amount of convertible securities already sold reflects the number of options to purchase Series A Preferred Stock at an exercise price of $10 per share that have been issued or promised to be issued to date.
