Dear Mr. Lemons:

This is in response to your letter dated January 20, 2005 concerning the shareholder proposal submitted to ExxonMobil by Green Century Capital Management, Inc., David F. Cunningham, Antonia Clark, Martha H. Davis and William C. Saunders. We also have received a letter on David F. Cunningham's behalf dated March 7, 2005. Our response is attached to the enclosed photocopy of your correspondence. By doing this, we avoid having to recite or summarize the facts set forth in the correspondence. Copies of all of the correspondence also will be provided to the proponents.

In connection with this matter, your attention is directed to the enclosure, which sets forth a brief discussion of the Division's informal procedures regarding shareholder proposals.

Re: Securities Exchange Act of 1934 -- Section 14(a); Rule 14a-8
Omission of Shareholder Proposal Regarding Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas

Gentlemen and Ladies:

Enclosed as Exhibit 1 are copies of correspondence between David F. Cunningham and Exxon Mobil Corporation regarding a shareholder proposal ("Proposal") for ExxonMobil's upcoming annual meeting. Exhibit 1 also includes copies of correspondence between co-filers of the Proposal and ExxonMobil. We intend to omit the Proposal from our proxy material for the meeting for the reasons explained below. To the extent this letter raises legal issues, the following is my opinion as counsel for ExxonMobil.

The Shareholder Proposal

The Shareholder Proposal is set out in its entirety in Exhibit 1. The resolution is as follows:

RESOLVED, shareholders request that the independent directors of the Board of ExxonMobil prepare a report, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on the potential environmental damage that would result from the company drilling for oil and gas in protected areas such as IUCN Management Categories I-IV and Marine Management Categories I-V, national parks, monuments, and wildlife refuges (such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge), and World Heritage Sites. The report should consider the implications of a policy of refraining from drilling in such areas and should be available to investors by the 2006 annual meeting.

Reason for Omission - Proposal Relates to Ordinary Business Operations -
Rule 14a-8(i)(7)

We believe the Proposal can be omitted on the basis of recent staff precedents holding that proposals regarding the evaluation of risks and benefits are matters of ordinary business. At its heart, that is precisely what the current Proposal requests: a report on the risks and potential benefits faced by ExxonMobil in connection with oil and gas drilling in sensitive areas.

The Proposal calls for a report on the potential environmental damage that would result from the Company drilling in protected areas and the implications of a policy to refrain from drilling in such areas. The third Whereas clause of the Proposal references a "need to study and report on the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in sensitive areas or areas of high conservation value..."

The second paragraph of the Supporting Statement in the Proposal also states that "there is a need to study and disclose the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in sensitive and protected areas" and that the proposed report "would allow shareholders to assess the risks created by the company's activity in these areas as well as the company's strategy for managing these risks."

Similar proposals were held excludable last proxy season on ordinary business grounds, and we believe the same arguments apply to the current Proposal regarding ExxonMobil. See American International Group, Inc. (available February 11, 2004) (proposal requesting the company to prepare a report providing a comprehensive assessment of the company's strategies to address the impacts of climate change on its business may be excluded as relating to the company's ordinary business operations (i.e., evaluation of risks and benefits)); Newmont Mining Corporation (available February 4, 2004) (proposal requesting the board to publish a comprehensive report on the risk to the company's operations, profitability, and reputation from social and environmental liabilities could be excluded as relating to the company's ordinary business operations (i.e., evaluation of risk)); and The Dow Chemical Company (available February 13, 2004) (proposal requesting the board to publish a report on costs of remediation or liability related to toxic substances relates to ordinary business (i.e., evaluation of risks and liabilities)).

For these reasons, we believe the Proposal may be excluded because it relates to matters of ordinary business.

Reason for Omission of Proposal - Vague and Indefinite (Rule 14a-8(i)(3))

If the staff disagrees that the Proposal can be omitted because it relates to ordinary business operations, the Company believes that it may nevertheless be omitted pursuant to Rule 14a-8(i)(3). This rule provides that a proposal may be omitted if it is contrary to any of the proxy rules, including Rule 14a-9, which prohibits materially false and misleading statements in proxy soliciting materials. The requirements of the Proposal that the Company prepare a report relating to "protected areas" are vague, indefinite, and therefore, potentially misleading.

While the Proposal gives examples of the types of "protected areas" that should be studied, the Proposal does not define or explain terms such as "IUCN Management Categories I-IV," "Marine Management Categories I-V," or "World Heritage Sites," and therefore does not provide shareholders with sufficient information upon which to make an informed decision since most shareholders would not understand the scope or coverage of the proposed report. Moreover, the Proposal is not limited to those enumerated types of areas. Further, even if the "universe" of areas to be studied were more precisely defined, it would be impossible to know what a generalized study of the type seemingly requested in the Proposal would include.

Biodiversity assessments and decisions regarding the conduct of our operations in environmentally sensitive areas must be location and ecosystem-specific to be meaningful rather than the generalized approach suggested by this Proposal. Each prospective exploration and development area has unique characteristics and sensitivities requiring site-specific scientific evaluation and risk assessment. ExxonMobil's approach requires a thorough and systematic assessment of environmental and other impacts prior to conducting drilling or other operations.

For these reasons, we believe that neither the shareholders voting on the Proposal nor the directors implementing it would be able to determine with any reasonable certainty what actions or measures the Proposal requires. Therefore, we believe the Proposal is vague and indefinite and should be excluded.

Similar proposals have been found excludable on vagueness and indefiniteness grounds. See The Kroger Co. (available March 19, 2004) (proposal requesting the company to prepare a sustainability report based on the Global Reporting Initiative's sustainability reporting guidelines may be excluded because it is vague and indefinite) and Dean Foods Company (available February 25, 2004) (similar to proposal for The Kroger Co. above.).

Reason for Omission of Proposal - Proposal has been substantially implemented - Rule 14a-8(i)(10)

Although we believe the Proposal should be excluded because it deals with ordinary business operations and is, in any event, vague and indefinite, we also believe that ExxonMobil has already substantially implemented what could realistically be required by any fair interpretation of the Proposal. As described above, a generalized report of environmental impacts in all potentially "sensitive" areas around the world would be meaningless. The only way to realistically determine the impact of drilling in sensitive areas is to conduct a precise and thorough systematic assessment of environmental and other impacts prior to drilling or conducting other operations in a specific area. And, in fact, that is precisely the approach ExxonMobil takes each time it plans drilling or other operations in a new area.

ExxonMobil recognizes the protection of biodiversity – the variety and complexity of life – as an important conservation issue that presents broad challenges to society. We believe that we have consistently demonstrated our ability to operate responsibly in sensitive areas by implementing scientific, practical, and sustainable solutions. Protecting biodiversity is part of our environmental management system and is considered during business planning across all aspects of our operations.

ExxonMobil's Environment Policy (copy enclosed as Exhibit 2) appropriately and adequately addresses the potential issues raised by this Proposal. The Environment Policy confirms ExxonMobil's commitment to continuous efforts to improve environmental performance and provides definitive standards for the conduct of all our activities. Further, our Operations Integrity Management System provides the systematic and disciplined framework to manage safety, health, environment, and security risks in our operations and to promote exemplary execution of our policies and standards. A key element of the implementation of this framework is the systematic assessment, using scientific methods, of environmental aspects and impacts of proposed work (often called an Environmental Assessment), which identifies potential environmental and socioeconomic impacts both of the planned work and the alternative of not undertaking the work. These together form the content of the evaluation that would be required by any fair reading of the shareholder Proposal.

Biodiversity conservation remains a focus area for the Corporation. Over the last two years, an internal work group has identified several actions to strengthen awareness of conservation requirements, including further integration of our practices in ecosystem protection into our management system discipline. Our approach is closely aligned with the twelve recommendations highlighted in the internationally-recognized "Energy and Biodiversity Initiative." ExxonMobil remains an active participant in the Biodiversity Working Group sponsored jointly by the International Petroleum Industry Environmental Conservation Association and the International Association of Oil and Gas Producers.

ExxonMobil will continue to communicate with shareholders and the public about our environmental conservation work through our annual Corporate Citizenship Report (copy of 2003 report enclosed as Exhibit 3) and on the Company's website. The enclosed Corporate Citizenship Report, for example, includes some information on biodiversity giving examples of efforts to protect biodiversity (see page 9). We believe the additional report requested by this Proposal would be duplicative to the assessments and documents already prepared. The Proposal should be excluded because we have substantially implemented what any fair reading of the Proposal could require.

If you have any questions or require additional information, please contact me directly at 972-444-1421. In my absence, please contact Jim Parsons at 972-444-1478.

Please file-stamp the enclosed copy of the letter and return it to me in the enclosed, self-addressed, postage-paid envelope. In accordance with SEC rules, I also enclose five additional copies of this letter and the exhibits. A copy of this letter and exhibits is being sent to the proponent. Copies of this letter are also being sent to the proponent's representative and each co-filer.

Very truly yours,

Thomas J. Lemons, Jr.

Re: David G. Henry communiqué, 12/14/0; Proxy-proponent eligibility;
Shareholder's status as sponsor of resolution

Dear Mr. Hubble:

In response to a request made in the captioned letter from Exxon Mobil Corporation, we enclose herein further documentation of Mr. David F. Cunningham's beneficial ownership of Exxon Mobil common stock in quantity and duration sufficient to establish his eligibility to submit a shareholder resolution. Specifically, you will find enclosed a letter from the holder of record, Charles Schwab & Co., confirming Mr. Cunningham's continuing 1,542-share beneficial ownership position, and specifically referencing the year-long period prior to the December 13, 2004 date of filing. In addition, we have enclosed copies of several of Mr. Cunningham's monthly statements from Schwab, to underscore that his ownership has not changed. (As a point of fact, Mr. Cunningham has owned these XOM shares for decades.)

Separately, we wish to clarify that David F. Cunningham is a full sponsor of the previously filed shareholder resolution entitled: Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas.

David G. Henry's letter contains the following statement: "Since the proxy rules do not address co-sponsoring of proposals, we will assume that Green Century Capital Management, Inc. will be the sponsor of this proposal." While Mr. Cunningham has indeed agreed to have Green Century Capital Management serve as an unofficial "coordinator" as a matter of convenience, and though the two resolutions are identical,

Mr. Cunningham's submission is independent of Green Century's submission, and Mr. Cunningham in no way abdicates his position as shareholder-sponsor. In fact, whether or not a representative from Green Century Capital Management is present at the Exxon Mobil annual meeting later this year, Mr. Cunningham, or his legal designee, intends to be present to ensure this resolution is introduced as required.

In order that there be no confusion about Mr. Cunningham's uncompromised status, we ask that all correspondence related this shareholder proposal be directed both to him at 5039 Route 22A, Benson, VT 05743, and to me at the letterhead address.

Sincerely,

Rian F. Fried, President

Dear Messieurs Cunningham and Fried:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter indicating that you wish to co-file the proposal previously submitted by Mr. Michael Leone for Green Century Capital Management, Inc., concerning a drilling report in connection with ExxonMobil's 2005 annual meeting of shareholders.

Since the proxy rules do not address co-sponsoring of proposals, we will assume that Green Century Capital Management, Inc. will be the sponsor of this proposal. Enclosed is a copy of our letter to Mr. Michael Leone acknowledging receipt of this proposal.

Rule 14a-8 (copy enclosed) requires that, in order to be eligible to submit a proposal, you must have continuously held at least $2,000 in market value of the company's securities entitled to vote at the meeting for at least one year by the date you submit a proposal. Note that a statement of eligibility must be provided by the record holder of the securities. Since you do not appear on our records as a registered shareholder, you must submit proof that you meet these eligibility requirements, such as by providing a statement from the record holder of securities (usually a bank or broker) that you may own beneficially. Note in particular that your proof of ownership (1) must be provided by the holder of record; (2) must indicate that you owned the required amount of securities as of December 13, 2004, the date we received your proposal; and (3) must state that you have continuously owned the securities for at least 12 months prior to December 13, 2004. See paragraph (b)(2) of Rule 14a-8 (Question 2) for more information on ways to prove eligibility.

December 14, 2004

Your letter of December 9 included a letter dated December 9, 2004, from The Clean Yield Group stating that you hold 1,542 shares of Exxon Mobil Corporation stock. This letter does not adequately establish your eligibility to submit a shareholder proposal. As explained above, you must submit documentation from the record holder of your securities indicating that you have continuously held the required value of securities for at least one year as of December 13, 2004, the date of submission and our receipt of your proposal. The letter from The Clean Yield Group verifies ownership through December 9.

In addition, the proof of ownership must be submitted by the record holder of your shares. The records of our transfer agent do not indicate that The Clean Yield Group is a record holder of ExxonMobil stock, nor does The Clean Yield Group appear on DTC's records as a direct participant in the DTC system.

Documentation establishing your eligibility and correcting the deficiencies specifically noted in this letter must be postmarked, or transmitted electronically, to us no later than 14 days from the date you receive this notification.

Sincerely,

David G. Henry

Re: Proxy resolution filing: Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas

Dear Mr Hubble:

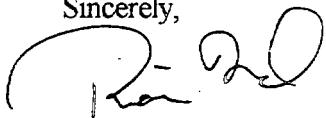

Clean Yield Asset Management, Inc. is an SEC-registered investment advisory firm specializing in socially responsible investing. Our clients and we are concerned about the potential effects of ExxonMobil's activities in geographic areas that are vulnerable to ecological damage. In addition to irreversible environmental consequences, we believe these activities can damage Exxon's reputation and subsequently diminish the value of XOM shares.

Today, David F. Cunningham, a Clean Yield client, is filing the enclosed shareholder resolution urging that ExxonMobil report on the potential damage of oil and gas drilling in sensitive areas. As you will see from the enclosed filing letter, Mr. Cunningham has designated Clean Yield to represent his interests in regards to this resolution. Kindly direct any correspondence for Mr. Cunningham to me at the letterhead address.

In filing this resolution, Mr. Cunningham joins several other co-filers, including Green Century Capital Management of Boston, Mass. Green Century has agreed to serve as coordinator for all the co-filers.

Thank you for recording this resolution and noting the channels of communication.

Sincerely,

Rian F. Fried, President

Re: Shareholder Resolution entitled Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas, attached

Dear Mr. Hubble:

I am the beneficial owner of 1,542 voting shares of ExxonMobil stock. I have held these shares for several years and have instructed my portfolio manager to maintain a substantial position in ExxonMobil through the company's annual meeting in 2005.

In my capacity as a shareholder, I am hereby filing the captioned resolution, which is enclosed.

Please note that this is the same resolution that has been filed by several other shareholders, including Green Century Capital Management of Boston, Mass. Green Century has agreed to serve as primary filer and spokesperson for all co-filers in matters arising from this resolution.

Further, please note that I have authorized Clean Yield Asset Management, Inc., of Greensboro, Vermont, to act on my behalf with regard to all matters relative to this shareholder resolution, including dialogue with company officials and serving as my legal proxy at the annual shareholders' meeting.

Kindly address any correspondence relative to this shareholder resolution directly to Clean Yield at the following address:

Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas

WHEREAS, biodiversity is being lost at an alarming rate and that there is a need to preserve the Earth's remaining species of plants and animals.

WHEREAS, protected and sensitive areas are essential for supporting biodiversity. Oil and gas drilling and development in these areas are likely to have negative impacts on biodiversity. For example, the U.S. Department of the Interior estimates that oil and gas drilling in the coastal plain of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge will displace or damage up to 40 percent of the Porcupine River Caribou herd, threaten denning areas for polar bears, and disturb ecosystems that support more than 120 species of migratory birds. The company has already started drilling off of Sakhalin Island in eastern Russia. The Sakhalin I project, which is being developed by Exxon Neftegaz Limited, will adversely impact the world's last remaining Western Pacific grey whales and important fisheries including Pacific salmon;

WHEREAS, as shareholders, we believe there is a need to study and report on the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in sensitive areas or areas of high conservation value (ecologically sensitive, biologically rich or environmentally sensitive cultural areas).

WHEREAS, preserving sensitive ecosystems will enhance our company's image and reputation with consumers, elected officials, current and potential employees, and investors;

WHEREAS, some of our major competitors have already enacted such a policy and are members of the Energy Biodiversity Initiative,

RESOLVED, shareholders request that the independent directors of the Board of ExxonMobil prepare a report, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on the potential environmental damage that would result from the company drilling for oil and gas in protected areas such as IUCN Management Categories I-IV and Marine Management Categories I-V, national parks, monuments, and wildlife refuges (such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge), and World Heritage Sites. The report should consider the implications of a policy of refraining from drilling in such areas and should be available to investors by the 2006 annual meeting.

Supporting Statement

We agree with the company when it states "ExxonMobil recognizes the protection of biodiversity - the variety and complexity of life - as an important conservation issue that presents broad challenges to society."

We welcome this interest in biodiversity, and as shareholders we strongly believe, in addition to recognizing the issue, there is a need to study and disclose the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in protected and sensitive areas. This would allow shareholders to assess the risks created by the company's activity in these areas as well as the company's strategy for managing these risks.

Vote YES for this proposal, which will improve our company's reputation and make ExxonMobil a leader in promoting biodiversity.

Dear Ms. Davis:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter indicating that you wish to co-file the proposal previously submitted by Mr. Michael Leone for Green Century Capital Management, Inc., concerning a drilling report in connection with ExxonMobil's 2005 annual meeting of shareholders.

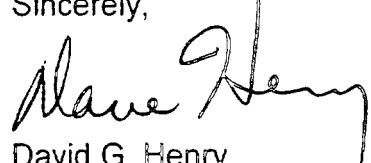

Since the proxy rules do not address co-sponsoring of proposals, we will assume that Green Century Capital Management, Inc. will be the sponsor of this proposal. Enclosed is a copy of our letter to Mr. Michael Leone acknowledging receipt of this proposal.

Rule 14a-8 (copy enclosed) requires that, in order to be eligible to submit a proposal, you must have continuously held at least $2,000 in market value of the company's securities entitled to vote at the meeting for at least one year by the date you submit a proposal. Note that a statement of eligibility must be provided by the record holder of the securities. Since you do not appear on our records as a registered shareholder, you must submit proof that you meet these eligibility requirements, such as by providing a statement from the record holder of securities (usually a bank or broker) that you may own beneficially. Note in particular that your proof of ownership (1) must be provided by the holder of record; (2) must indicate that you owned the required amount of securities as of December 15, 2004, the date we received your proposal; and (3) must state that you have continuously owned the securities for at least 12 months prior to December 15, 2004. See paragraph (b)(2) of Rule 14a-8 (Question 2) for more information on ways to prove eligibility.

Ms. Martha H. Davis

At this date we have not received proof of shareholdings. You stated in your letter of December 10 that this information would be provided. This information must be postmarked, or transmitted electronically at 972.444.1505, to us no later than 14 days from the date you receive this notification.

SHAREHOLDER PROPOSAL

DEC 15 2004

NO. OF SHARES _____
DISTRIBUTION: HHH: FLR: REG:
JEP: DGH: SMD

To Whom It May Concern,

I own 2,000 shares of ExxonMobil in a partnership (MHD-RLS Partnership, Ltd) of which I am the managing partner. I believe that businesses with a commitment to customers, employees, community and the environment will prosper in the long term. Among my top social objectives is the assurance that the companies I own are doing all that they can to protect the environment. I belong to Rachel's Network, a national, bipartisan group of philanthropic women whose main objective is stewardship of the earth. They represent a growing concern among women investors about how the neglect of environmental issues might negatively impact their investments.

Therefore, I am submitting the enclosed shareholder proposal on Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas as a cosponsor with Green Century Capital Management for inclusion in the 2005 proxy statement, in accordance with Rule 14a-8 of the General Rules and Regulations of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. I am the beneficial owner, as defined in Rule 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, of the above mentioned number of ExxonMobil Inc. shares. I have been a shareholder for more than one year and will provide verification of ownership position upon request. I will continue to be an investor through the stockholder meeting. A representative of the filers will attend the stockholders' meeting to move the resolution as required by SEC rules.

I am co-filing this resolution with Green Century because of my concern regarding the company's policies and practices related to protected and sensitive areas. This includes areas of high ecological value, such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, as well as areas of great cultural significance. The company's global operations require it to make decisions as to where it will seek to operate and how it will manage environmental and cultural risks in the areas in which it does choose to

Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas

WHEREAS, biodiversity is being lost at an alarming rate and that there is a need to preserve the Earth's remaining species of plants and animals.

WHEREAS, protected and sensitive areas are essential for supporting biodiversity. Oil and gas drilling and development in these areas are likely to have negative impacts on biodiversity. For example, the U.S. Department of the Interior estimates that oil and gas drilling in the coastal plain of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge will displace or damage up to 40 percent of the Porcupine River Caribou herd, threaten denning areas for polar bears, and disturb ecosystems that support more than 120 species of migratory birds. The company has already started drilling off of Sakhalin Island in eastern Russia. The Sakhalin I project, which is being developed by Exxon Neftegaz Limited, will adversely impact the world's last remaining Western Pacific grey whales and important fisheries including Pacific salmon;

WHEREAS, as shareholders, we believe there is a need to study and report on the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in sensitive areas or areas of high conservation value (ecologically sensitive, biologically rich or environmentally sensitive cultural areas).

WHEREAS, preserving sensitive ecosystems will enhance our company's image and reputation with consumers, elected officials, current and potential employees, and investors;

WHEREAS, some of our major competitors have already enacted such a policy and are members of the Energy Biodiversity Initiative,

RESOLVED, shareholders request that the independent directors of the Board of ExxonMobil prepare a report, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on the potential environmental damage that would result from the company drilling for oil and gas in protected areas such as IUCN Management Categories I-IV and Marine Management Categories I-V, national parks, monuments, and wildlife refuges (such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge), and World Heritage Sites. The report should consider the implications of a policy of refraining from drilling in such areas and should be available to investors by the 2006 annual meeting.

Supporting Statement

We agree with the company when it states "ExxonMobil recognizes the protection of biodiversity - the variety and complexity of life - as an important conservation issue that presents broad challenges to society."

We welcome this interest in biodiversity, and as shareholders we strongly believe, in addition to recognizing the issue, there is a need to study and disclose the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in protected and sensitive areas. This would allow shareholders to assess the risks created by the company's activity in these areas as well as the company's strategy for managing these risks.

Vote YES for this proposal, which will improve our company's reputation and make ExxonMobil a leader in promoting biodiversity.

Dear Mr. Leone:

This will acknowledge receipt of the proposal concerning a biodiversity report, which you have submitted on behalf of Green Century Capital Management, Inc. in connection with ExxonMobil's 2005 annual meeting of shareholders.

Rule 14a-8 (copy enclosed) requires that, in order to be eligible to submit a proposal, you must have continuously held at least $2,000 in market value of the company's securities entitled to vote at the meeting for at least one year by the date you submit a proposal. Since Green Century Capital Management, Inc. does not appear on our records as a registered shareholder, you must submit proof that Green Century Capital Management, Inc. meets these eligibility requirements, such as by providing a statement from the record holder (for example, a bank or broker) of securities that you may own beneficially. Note in particular that your proof of ownership (1) must be provided by the holder of record; (2) must indicate that you owned the required amount of securities as of December 1, 2004, the date we received your proposal; and (3) must state that you have continuously owned the securities for at least 12 months prior to December 1, 2004. See paragraph (b)(2) of Rule 14a-8 (Question 2) for more information on ways to prove eligibility.

At this date we have not received proof of shareholdings. You stated in your letter of November 30 that this information would follow. This information must be postmarked, or transmitted electronically, to us no later than 14 days from the date you receive this notification.

You should note that, if your proposal is not withdrawn or excluded, you or a representative, who is qualified under New Jersey law to present the proposal on your behalf, must attend the annual meeting in person to present the proposal.

We are interested in discussing this proposal with you and will contact you in the near future.

BY OVERNIGHT MAIL

To Whom It May Concern,

Green Century Capital Management, Inc. (Green Century) is filing the enclosed shareholder resolution for inclusion in ExxonMobil's proxy statement for the 2005 annual meeting. Green Century holds over $2,000 worth of stock in ExxonMobil, has held this position for over a year, and intends to hold it through the date of the annual meeting. Verification of ownership will be sent in the near future. We believe that this filing is in accordance with Rule 14 a-8 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. If you have any questions regarding the validity of any part of this filing, please contact me at the address above. Please list Green Century as the primary filer of this resolution.

Green Century operates a family of environmentally responsible mutual funds. Green Century Funds' investors seek to invest in those companies committed to responsible environmental practices as well as strong financial performance, as we believe those companies will prosper in the long term.

Green Century is filing this resolution because of our concern regarding our company's policies and practices related to protected and sensitive areas. We mean this to include areas of high ecological value, such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, as well as areas of great cultural significance. Our company's global operations require it to make decisions as to where it will seek to operate and how it will manage environmental and cultural risks in the areas in which it does choose to operate. Green Century would like to learn more about how our company makes these decisions, as we believe that these decisions can have a significant impact on shareholder value.

ExxonMobil's competitors have indicated that they believe that this issue is growing in importance and must be handled responsibly by the industry. Last year, Royal Dutch/Shell (Shell) announced that it would refrain from operating in sites designated by UNESCO as World Heritage Sites. This policy, while only a first step, is significant because it demonstrated that Shell is committed to engaging transparently with stakeholders on this issue, and that it was willing to consider refraining from operating in the most sensitive areas. BP plc has also engaged consistently with shareholders and other stakeholders on this issue. We believe this issue will only become more relevant to our company in the years ahead, and that the development of a proactive policy in this area can enhance shareholder value while protecting environmentally and culturally sensitive areas.

We would welcome the opportunity to speak with you on this issue, and we would consider withdrawing this resolution if the company is willing to take specific action on the issues presented in our resolution.

I look forward to hearing from you on this important issue.

Sincerely,

Michael Leone
Green Century Capital Management, Inc.

Dear Mr. Hubble:

Green Century Capital Management, Inc. (Green Century) is filing the enclosed shareholder resolution for inclusion in ExxonMobil's proxy statement for the 2005 annual meeting. Green Century meets the eligibility requirements for filing a shareholder resolution as delineated in Rule 14a-8 of the General Rules and Regulations of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. You will find enclosed a statement verifying Green Century's ownership of ExxonMobil stock. We intend to maintain this holding through the date of the annual meeting, and a representative will be present at the meeting to move this resolution. Please list Green Century as the primary filer of this resolution.
This filing supersedes our previous filing, which was dated November 30, 2004.

In your letter of December 3, you stated that the company is interested in discussing this proposal with me. I would welcome such discussions, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Leone:

As we explained in detail in our letter to you of December 3, 2004, to verify your eligibility to submit a shareholder proposal for ExxonMobil's 2005 annual meeting, you must provide evidence from the record holder of your securities (since you do not appear on our records as a registered shareholder) that you continuously held at least $2,000 in market value of ExxonMobil stock for at least one year by the date you submit your proposal. As we noted further in our December 3 letter, the date of submission of your proposal is December 1, 2004, the date the proposal was received at our principal executive offices.

We received a fax dated December 6, 2004 from Vanguard Brokerage Services. The letter states that "as of today, December 6, 2004, you have held shares of the above referenced [ExxonMobil] security for just over one year. In addition, this position has maintained a value in excess of $2,000 for the past 12 months."

This letter does not verify that you had owned your ExxonMobil shares for at least one year by December 1, 2004, the date of submission of your proposal, since this letter leaves open the possibility that you acquired your shares after December 1, 2003, but prior to December 6, 2003. In that case, the statement in the letter would be accurate but you would not be eligible to submit this proposal for the 2005 annual meeting since you would not have been the owner of the required amount of securities. In order to cure this deficiency, you must provide a letter from the record owner of your securities that you owned at least $2,000 of ExxonMobil stock for at least one year by December 1, 2004, as explained in our prior letter to you. In addition, as explained below, we require additional information regarding the manner in which Vanguard holds

Exxon Mobil Corporation
Henry Hubble
5959 Las Colinas Boulevard

Dear Mr. Hubble:

Thank you for your letter of December 14. I'm writing to answer the questions you raised in this letter regarding our filing of a shareholder resolution for the proxy ballot of Exxon Mobil's 2005 shareholder meeting.

Green Century intended its submission of December 9, 2004 to be its sole proposal for the proxy ballot of this annual meeting. We do not wish to pursue more than one proposal. We consider this submission to be complete and in accordance with Rule 14a-8 of the General Rules and Regulations of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934.

As you requested, we have obtained information from Vanguard, our broker, regarding Vanguard's participation in the DTC system. Vanguard's direct DTC participant is Pershing, LLC, and Pershing's DTC number is 0443. We hope and expect that this information will enable you to establish Green Century's holding of Exxon Mobil shares, and its eligibility to file a shareholder resolution.

If you have any additional questions, or require any additional information, please contact me as soon as possible. My email is mleone@greencentury.com, and my phone number is 617-482-0800.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Michael Leone

Mr. Steve Lippman

Trillium Asset Management

Dear Mr. Lippman:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter indicating that you wish to co-file on behalf of Mr. William Saunders the proposal previously submitted by Mr. Michael Leone for Green Century Capital Management, Inc. concerning a drilling report in connection with ExxonMobil's 2005 annual meeting of shareholders.

Since the proxy rules do not address co-sponsoring of proposals, we will assume that Green Century Capital Management, Inc. will be the sponsor of this proposal. Enclosed is a copy of our letter to Mr. Michael Leone acknowledging receipt of this proposal.

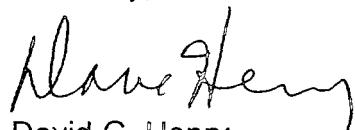

Rule 14a-8 (copy enclosed) requires that, in order to be eligible to submit a proposal, you must have continuously held at least $2,000 in market value of the company's securities entitled to vote at the meeting for at least one year by the date you submit a proposal. Note that a statement of eligibility must be provided by the record holder of the securities. Since Mr. William Saunders does not appear on our records as a registered shareholder, you must submit proof that Mr. William Saunders meets these eligibility requirements, such as by providing a statement from the record holder of securities (usually a bank or broker) that you may own beneficially. Note in particular that your proof of ownership (1) must be provided by the holder of record; (2) must indicate that you owned the required amount of securities as of December 14, 2004, the date we received your proposal; and (3) must state that you have continuously owned the securities for at least 12 months prior to December 14, 2004. See paragraph (b)(2) of Rule 14a-8 (Question 2) for more information on ways to prove eligibility.

Mr. Steve Lippman - Trillium Asset Management

Your letter of December 10 included a letter dated December 9, 2004, from Charles Schwab stating that Mr. Saunders has held 355 shares of Exxon Mobil Corporation stock since January 12, 2004. This letter does not adequately establish your eligibility to submit a shareholder proposal. As explained above, you must submit documentation from the record holder of your securities indicating that you have continuously held the required value of securities for at least one year as of December 14, 2004, the date of submission and our receipt of your proposal. The letter from Charles Schwab verifies ownership through December 9. Moreover, if these shares were bought on January 12, 2004, they have not been held for one full year.

Documentation establishing your eligibility and correcting the deficiencies specifically noted in this letter must be postmarked, or transmitted electronically, to us no later than 14 days from the date you receive this notification.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hubble:

TRILLIUM ASSET MANAGEMENT is an investment firm specializing in socially responsible asset management, and a number of our clients hold ExxonMobil stock. I am writing to notify you of our intention to file a shareholder resolution with ExxonMobil asking the company's Board of Directors to report to shareholders on the potential environmental damage that would result from the company drilling for oil and gas in protected areas, national parks, monuments, wildlife refuges, and World Heritage Sites.

In filing this resolution we are acting as a co-filer of the identical resolution sponsored by Green Century Capital Management. Mr. Michael Leone of Green Century will serve as our primary contact for this resolution. We would appreciate that you copy us on any correspondence related to this resolution.

Trillium Asset Management Corp. submits this resolution for inclusion in the proxy statement in accordance with Rule 14-a8 of the General Rules and Regulations of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. We are filing this resolution on behalf of our client the William C. Saunders Rev. Living Trust, which is the beneficial owner of 355 shares of ExxonMobil common stock that have been held for more than one year. Enclosed is a letter from Mr. William Saunders authorizing TRILLIUM ASSET MANAGEMENT to represent the Trust in this matter and verification of ownership is also provided.

Thank you for your consideration of the important issues raised in this resolution.

Sincerely,

Oil and Gas Drilling in Protected and Sensitive Areas

WHEREAS, biodiversity is being lost at an alarming rate and that there is a need to preserve the Earth's remaining species of plants and animals.

WHEREAS, protected and sensitive areas are essential for supporting biodiversity. Oil and gas drilling and development in these areas are likely to have negative impacts on biodiversity. For example, the U.S. Department of the Interior estimates that oil and gas drilling in the coastal plain of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge will displace or damage up to 40 percent of the Porcupine River Caribou herd, threaten denning areas for polar bears, and disturb ecosystems that support more than 120 species of migratory birds. The company has already started drilling off of Sakhalin Island in eastern Russia. The Sakhalin I project, which is being developed by Exxon Neftegaz Limited, will adversely impact the world's last remaining Western Pacific grey whales and important fisheries including Pacific salmon;

WHEREAS, as shareholders, we believe there is a need to study and report on the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in sensitive areas or areas of high conservation value (ecologically sensitive, biologically rich or environmentally sensitive cultural areas).

WHEREAS, preserving sensitive ecosystems will enhance our company's image and reputation with consumers, elected officials, current and potential employees, and investors;

WHEREAS, some of our major competitors have already enacted such a policy and are members of the Energy Biodiversity Initiative,

RESOLVED, shareholders request that the independent directors of the Board of ExxonMobil prepare a report, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on the potential environmental damage that would result from the company drilling for oil and gas in protected areas such as IUCN Management Categories I-IV and Marine Management Categories I-V, national parks, monuments, and wildlife refuges (such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge), and World Heritage Sites. The report should consider the implications of a policy of refraining from drilling in such areas and should be available to investors by the 2006 annual meeting.

Supporting Statement

We agree with the company when it states "ExxonMobil recognizes the protection of biodiversity - the variety and complexity of life - as an important conservation issue that presents broad challenges to society."

We welcome this interest in biodiversity, and as shareholders we strongly believe, in addition to recognizing the issue, there is a need to study and disclose the impact on our company's value from decisions to do business in protected and sensitive areas. This would allow shareholders to assess the risks created by the company's activity in these areas as well as the company's strategy for managing these risks.

Vote YES for this proposal, which will improve our company's reputation and make ExxonMobil a leader in promoting biodiversity.

GAIN AND LOSS SUMMARY

The Gain and Loss Information is provided for informational purposes only. We recommend that you contact your tax advisor to determine the appropriate information to be used in the preparation of your tax return. This Gain and Loss Summary is not a substitute for your tax form (or any other appropriate tax form) and should not be filed with your taxes. For most securities purchased after 1985 through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., the necessary data, including cost basis (purchase price), is provided to estimate gain or loss. Please note that although Morgan Stanley DW Inc. makes every effort to adjust the cost basis for such securities' capital changes, it does not adjust the cost basis for all events including amortization of non-municipal bond premiums, exercise of stock options, securities deemed to have been sold and simultaneously repurchased, receipt of cash in lieu of fractional shares, or the net effect of wash sales and/or short sales against the box. For securities not purchased through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., for example, securities purchased elsewhere and later transferred to it, you will need to supply the relevant information either to your financial advisor or directly to Ohio Client Serv. Independently of Morgan Stanley DW Inc., in either case, it is your responsibility to ensure the accuracy of this information, since Morgan Stanley DW Inc. has no knowledge of such assets' cost basis. To correct any information supplied by Morgan Stanley DW Inc., please inform your financial advisor or directly to your financial advisor or input the date directly yourself through Client Serv.

For Managed Futures funds, these funds may typically be redeemed only once monthly, at the fund's final net asset value (NAV). In either case, the fund's final NAV for each month and therefore the exact amount of any investor's gain or loss realized that month becomes available; however, only midway into the following month. Separately, all unrealized gain and loss figures are only estimates. Morgan Stanley DW Inc. does not guarantee nor will it independently verify the accuracy of the information in the Gain and Loss Summary.

GAIN AND LOSS SUMMARY

The Gain and Loss information is provided for informational purposes only. We recommend that you contact your tax advisor to determine the appropriate information to be used in the preparation of your tax return. This Gain and Loss Summary is not a substitute 1099 form (or any other appropriate tax form) and should not be filed with your taxes.

For most securities purchased after 1985 through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., the necessary data, including cost basis (purchase price), is provided to estimate gain or loss. Please note that although Morgan Stanley DW Inc. makes every effort to adjust the cost basis for such securities' capital changes, it does not adjust the cost basis for all events, including amortization of non-municipal bond premiums; exercise of stock options; securities deemed to have been sold and simultaneously repurchased; receipt of cash in lieu of fractional shares; or the net effect of wash sales and/or short sales against the box.

For securities not purchased through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., for example, securities purchased elsewhere and later transferred to it, you will need to supply the relevant information either to your Financial Advisor or directly onto ClientServ, independently of Morgan Stanley DW Inc. In either case, it is your responsibility to ensure the accuracy of this information, since Morgan Stanley DW Inc. has no knowledge of such assets' cost basis. To correct any information supplied by Morgan Stanley DW Inc., please inform your Financial Advisor; to correct any information supplied by you, you may either inform your Financial Advisor or input the data directly yourself through ClientServ.

For Managed Futures funds, these funds may typically be redeemed only once monthly, at the fund's final net asset value ("NAV") as of each month's end. The fund's final NAV for each month - and therefore the exact amount of any investor's gain or loss realized that month - becomes available, however, only midway into the following month. Separately, all unrealized gain and loss figures are only estimates. Morgan Stanley DW Inc. does not guarantee nor will it independently verify the accuracy of the information in the Gain and Loss Summary.

SIPC Protection	If you do not understand an entry on your statement or suspect an error, it is essential that you immediately contact the manager of the office servicing your account or, if you have a self-directed account, please call 800-688-6896. We will consider your statement correct unless we receive a written inquiry from you about the suspected error within 10 calendar days from the day on which you received your statement. It is your responsibility to review your statement promptly and to seek immediate clarification about entries that you do not understand.	Margin Interest Charges	We calculate interest charges on margin loans as follows: (1) Multiply the applicable margin interest rate times the average daily balance of your margin loan. (2) Multiply the result of Step (1) times the number of days your loan was outstanding. (3) Divide the result of Step (2) by 360 (days).
	Securities and cash held in Morgan Stanley accounts are protected up to their full net equity value by combination of coverage provided by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC") a non-profit organization created by an Act of Congress and additional protection purchased from a private insurer by Morgan Stanley (the "Excess Coverage"). SIPC protects up to $500,000 or each customer's securities of which up to $100,000 may be uninvested cash. Excess Coverage provides additional protection up to the full net equity value of each account including unlimited coverage for uninvested cash. SIPC and Excess Coverage apply only to securities and cash in the exclusive possession and control of Morgan Stanley and do not protect against losses due to market fluctuations. Detailed information is available upon request.	Availability of Free Credit Balances and Financial Statements	Under the customer protection rules of the SEC [17 CFR §240.15c3-2 & -3], Morgan Stanley DW Inc. may use free credit balances in your account which are payable to you on demand, in the ordinary course of its business. We send summary Morgan Stanley DW Inc. financial statements to you semiannually; copies are also available on request, by mail.
	All transaction dates on this statement are the transactions' settlement dates. In the case of unsettled trades, we list the trade date instead of settlement date with a notation that the trade is unsettled.	Taxes	Under Federal Income Tax law, we are required to report the gross proceeds of sales transactions, entering into short sales and redemptions done in your account. Although your statement may describe certain items as (federally) tax-free, this is for information purposes only; when reporting your taxes please rely exclusively on the 1099 forms you will receive at the end of the year. (For IRAs, 1099s report distributions from the account rather than income or proceeds from sales.) Federal law subjects you to penalties and withholding if you fail to provide us with your Social Security or Tax ID Number.
	The prices of securities displayed on your statement are derived from various sources and in some cases may be higher or lower than the price that you would actually receive in the market. For securities listed on an exchange or trading continually in an active marketplace, the price reflects the market quotations at the close of your statement period. The prices of securities not actively traded may not be available. These are indicated by "N/A" (not available).	Listed Options	Information with respect to commissions and to other charges related to the execution of options transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. A summary of such information will be made available to you promptly at your request.
	For bonds trading less frequently, we rely on outside pricing services or a computerized pricing model, which cannot always give us actual market values. Similarly, some annuity values provided by outside sponsors are estimates. The amounts on this statement for limited partnerships are typically obtained from a third party or from the investments' general partners unless Morgan Stanley DW Inc. has obtained other information such as an independent appraisal. Since many partnership valuations are provided only annually, they do not always represent current values.	Estimated Annual Income and Yields	Estimated annual income and yields are calculated by annualizing the most recent distribution and do not reflect historic experience or projected future results. Since the rates are subject to change at any time, they should not be entirely relied on for making investment or trading decisions. You are advised to consult with your Financial Advisor before making decisions. Your Financial Advisor will be able to assist you with accurate up-to-date information so that you can make an informed decision. If you have a self-directed account, please call 800-688-6896.
	Furthermore, limited partnerships and non-traded Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) are illiquid and have no public markets, so the amounts shown on this statement may not equal the amounts you would receive if you sold your investment.	Accrued Bond Interest YTD	This figure represents the taxable accrued interest received on bond sale transactions and credited to your account during the calendar year. As required by law, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. will report to the Internal Revenue Service the total year-to-date figure indicated on the last statement you receive for the calendar year.
	The value of mutual fund shares is determined by multiplying the Net Asset Value (NAV) by the number of shares or units held as reported to Morgan Stanley DW Inc. by the correspondent custodian. If we cannot obtain a price or estimate, "N/A" appears.	Dividend/Interest (Month/YTD)	These figures represent dividends and/or interest on securities received by Morgan Stanley DW Inc. and credited to your account during the calendar year. As required by law, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. reports taxable dividends and bond interest credited to your account to the Internal Revenue Service. The totals reported are indicated as the year-to-date figures on the last statement for the calendar year. In the case of REITs, Real Estate Limited Partnerships and Regulated Investment Company Unit Investment Trusts, the Sponsor may reclassify income and return of principal into a different ratio for the prior year.
	For more detailed current information on prices, speak to your Financial Advisor or, if you have a self-directed account, please call 800-688-6896.	Certain Assets Not Held at Morgan Stanley DW Inc.	You may purchase certain assets through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., which will be held at a custodial institution other than Morgan Stanley DW Inc. Assets held in custodial positions are not covered by SIPC protection. Where available, we include information about these assets on your Morgan Stanley DW Inc. statement. The custodial institution is responsible for providing year-end tax reporting (1099s) and separate periodic statements, which may vary from our end of year reporting periods. In the case of Morgan Stanley, Van Kampen and external networked mutual funds, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. will provide all year-end tax reporting (1098's). In the case of IRA accounts, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. performs all tax reporting.
	This figure represents the approximate value of your account on a settlement date basis and is computed by adding (1) the market value of all priced positions and (2) market values provided by pricing services and correspondent custodians for other positions; and by adding any credit or subtracting any debit to your closing cash or money market balance. Please note, this valuation may be adjusted for the net change in priced asset values for securities held or for the net change in money market balances in your account during the statement period. Your closing cash and/or money market balance represents the cash and/or money market funds available in your account and reflects the net month end balance of all deposits, credits and debits (including checking and MasterCard activity in Active Assets accounts).	Client's Investment Objectives and Financial Situation	It is essential to advise your Financial Advisor or for self-directed accounts, call 800-688-6896, immediately if there is a material change in your investment objectives or financial situation.
	If you have applied for margin privileges and have been approved, you may borrow money from Morgan Stanley DW Inc. In exchange for pledging assets in your account as collateral for any outstanding margin loan. The amount you may borrow is based on the value of the eligible securities in your margin account, which are identified by an asterisk (*) on your statement.	Margin Privileges (not available for IRAs or retirement accounts)	Investments and services are offered through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., member SIPC.

GAIN AND LOSS SUMMARY

The Gain and Loss information is provided for informational purposes only. We recommend that you contact your tax advisor to determine the appropriate information to be used in the preparation of your tax return. This Gain and Loss Summary is not a substitute 1099 form (or any other appropriate tax form) and should not be filed with your taxes.

For most securities purchased after 1985 through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., the necessary data, including cost basis (purchase price), is provided to estimate gain or loss. Please note that although Morgan Stanley DW Inc. makes every effort to adjust the cost basis for such securities' capital changes, it does not adjust the cost basis for all events, including amortization of non-municipal bond premiums; exercise of stock options; securities deemed to have been sold and simultaneously repurchased; receipt of cash in lieu of fractional shares; or the net effect of wash sales and/or short sales against the box.

For securities not purchased through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., for example, securities purchased elsewhere and later transferred to it, you will need to supply the relevant information either to your Financial Advisor or directly onto ClientServ, independently of Morgan Stanley DW Inc. In either case, it is your responsibility to ensure the accuracy of this information since Morgan Stanley DW Inc. has no knowledge of such assets' cost basis. To correct any information supplied by Morgan Stanley DW Inc., please inform your Financial Advisor; to correct any information supplied by you, you may either inform your Financial Advisor or input the data directly yourself through ClientServ.

For Managed Futures funds, these funds may typically be redeemed only once monthly, at the fund's final net asset value ("NAV") as of each month's end. The fund's final NAV for each month - and therefore the exact amount of any investor's gain or loss realized that month - becomes available, however, only midway into the following month. Separately, all unrealized gain and loss figures are only estimates. Morgan Stanley DW Inc. does not guarantee nor will it independently verify the accuracy of the information in the Gain and Loss Summary.

Errors & Inquiries

If you do not understand an entry on your statement or suspect an error, it is essential that you immediately contact the manager of the office servicing your account or, if you have a self-directed account, please call 800-688-6896. We will consider your statement correct unless we receive a written inquiry from you about the suspected error within 10 calendar days from the day on which you received your statement. It is your responsibility to review your statement promptly and to seek immediate clarification about entries that you do not understand.

SIPC Protection

Securities and cash held in Morgan Stanley accounts are protected up to their full net equity value by a combination of coverage provided by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC") a non-profit organization created by an Act of Congress and additional protection purchased from a private insurer by Morgan Stanley (the "Excess Coverage"). SIPC protects up to $500,000 of each customer's securities of which up to $100,000 may be uninvested cash. Excess Coverage provides additional protection up to the full net equity value of each account including unlimited coverage for uninvested cash. SIPC and Excess Coverage apply only to securities and cash in the exclusive possession and control of Morgan Stanley and do not protect against losses due to market fluctuations. Detailed information is available upon request.

Transaction Dates

All transaction dates on this statement are the transactions' settlement dates. In the case of unsettled trades, we list the trade date instead of settlement date with a notation that the trade is unsettled.

Pricing of Securities

The prices of securities displayed on your statement are derived from various sources and in some cases may be higher or lower than the price that you would actually receive in the market. For securities listed on an exchange or trading continually in an active marketplace, the price reflects the market quotations at the close of your statement period. The prices of securities not actively traded may not be available. These are indicated by "N/A" (not available).

For bonds trading less frequently, we rely on outside pricing services or a computerized pricing model, which cannot always give us actual market values. Similarly, some annuity values provided by outside sponsors are estimates.

The amounts on this statement for limited partnerships are typically obtained from a third party or from the investments' general partners unless Morgan Stanley DW Inc. has obtained other information such as an independent appraisal. Since many partnership valuations are provided only annually, they do not always represent current values.

Furthermore, limited partnerships and non-traded Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) are illiquid and have no public markets, so the amounts shown on this statement may not equal the amounts you would receive if you sold your investment.

The value of mutual fund shares is determined by multiplying the Net Asset Value (NAV) by the number of shares or units held as reported to Morgan Stanley DW Inc. by the correspondent custodian. If we cannot obtain a price or estimate, "N/A" appears.

For more detailed current information on prices, speak to your Financial Advisor or, if you have a self-directed account, please call 800-688-6896.

Account Valuation

This figure represents the approximate value of your account on a settlement date basis and is computed by adding (1) the market value of all priced positions and (2) market values provided by pricing services and correspondent custodians for other positions; and by adding any credit or subtracting any debit to your closing cash or money market balance. Please note, this valuation may be adjusted for the net change in priced asset values for securities held or for the net change in money market balances in your account during the statement period. Your closing cash and/or money market balance represents the cash and/or money market funds available in your account and reflects the net month end balance of all deposits, credits and debits (including checking and MasterCard activity in Active Assets accounts).

If you have applied for margin privileges and have been approved, you may borrow money from Morgan Stanley DW Inc. in exchange for pledging assets in your account as collateral for any outstanding margin loan. The amount you may borrow is based on the value of the eligible securities in your margin account, which are identified by an asterisk (*) on your statement.

We calculate interest charges on margin loans as follows:

- (1) Multiply the applicable margin interest rate times the average daily balance of your margin loan.
- (2) Multiply the result of Step (1) times the number of days your loan was outstanding.
- (3) Divide the result of Step (2) by 360 (days).

We add the accrued interest to your debit balance and start a new calculation each time the applicable interest rate changes and at the close of every statement month.

Margin Interest Charges	Under the customer protection rules of the SEC (17 CFR §240.15c3-2 & -3), (1) Multiply the applicable margin interest rate times the average daily balance of your margin loan.
Availability of Free Credit Balances and Financial Statements	Morgan Stanley DW Inc. may use free credit balances in your account which are payable to you on demand, in the ordinary course of its business. We send summary Morgan Stanley DW Inc. financial statements to you semiannually; copies are also available on request, by mail.
Taxes	Under Federal Income Tax law, we are required to report the gross proceeds of sales transactions, entering into short sales and redemptions done in your account. Although your statement may describe certain items as (federally) tax-free, this is for information purposes only; when reporting your taxes please rely exclusively on the 1099 forms you will receive at the end of the year. (For IRAs, 1095s report distributions from the account rather than income or proceeds from sales.) Federal law subjects you to penalties and withholding if you fail to provide us with your Social Security or Tax ID Number.
Listed Options	Information with respect to commissions and to other charges related to the execution of options transactions has been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you. A summary of such information will be made available to you promptly at your request.
Estimated Annual Income and Yields	Estimated annual income and yields are calculated by annualizing the most recent distribution and do not reflect historic experience or projected future results. Since the rates are subject to change at any time, they should not be entirely relied on for making investment or trading decisions. You are advised to consult with your Financial Advisor before making decisions. Your Financial Advisor will be able to assist you with accurate up-to-date information so that you can make an informed decision. If you have a self-directed account, please call 800-688-6896.
Accrued Bond Interest YTD	This figure represents the taxable accrued interest received on bond sales by Morgan Stanley DW Inc. will report to the Internal Revenue Service the total year-to-date figure indicated on the last statement you receive for the calendar year.
Dividend/Interest (Month/YTD)	These figures represent dividends and/or interest on securities received by Morgan Stanley DW Inc. and credited to your account during the calendar year. As required by law, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. reports taxable dividends and bond interest credited to your account to the Internal Revenue Service. The totals reported are indicated as the year-to-date figures on the last statement for the calendar year. In the case of REITs, Real Estate Limited Partnerships and Regulated Investment Company Unit Investment Trusts, the Sponsor may reclassify income and return of principal into a different ratio for the prior year.
Certain Assets Not Held at Morgan Stanley DW Inc.	You may purchase certain assets through Morgan Stanley DW Inc. which will be held at a custodial institution other than Morgan Stanley DW Inc. Assets held in custodial positions are not covered by SIPC protection. Where available, we include information about these assets on your Morgan Stanley DW Inc. statement. The custodial institution is responsible for providing year-end tax reporting (1099s) and separate periodic statements, which may vary from our information due to different reporting periods. In the case of Morgan Stanley Van Kampen and external networked mutual funds, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. will provide all year-end tax reporting (1098's). In the case of IRA accounts, Morgan Stanley DW Inc. performs all tax reporting.
Client's Investment Objectives and Financial Situation	It is essential to advise your Financial Advisor or for self-directed accounts, call 800-688-6896, immediately if there is a material change in your investment objectives or financial situation.

Investments and services are offered through Morgan Stanley DW Inc., member SIPC.

INSTITUTIONAL

Custodial and brokerage services provided by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Member SIPC/NYSE

Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account at Schwab ("Account"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and, other than an affiliated company that may act as an Investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Advisors are independently owned and operated. Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on your Account. Advisors provide investment advisory services for your Account. Schwab provides brokerage and custody services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS: If you receive any other communication from any source other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

AIP (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives compensation in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $100,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Cash: Any free credit balance owed by us to you payable upon demand which, although accounted for on our books of record, is not segregated and may be used in the conduct of this firm's business.

Dividend Reinvestment Customers: Dividend reinvestment transactions were effected by Schwab acting as a principal for its own account, except for the reinvestment of Schwab dividends, for which an independent broker-dealer acted as the buying agent. The time of these transactions, the exchange upon which these transactions occurred and the name of the person from whom the security was purchased will be furnished upon written request.

Fees and Charges: For those fees described in the statement as "Fee to Advisor", as authorized by you, Schwab debited your account to pay the fees as instructed by your Advisor. It is your responsibility, and not Schwab's, to verify the accuracy of the fees. Margin interest charged to your account during the statement period is included in this section of the statement.

Latest Price (Investment Detail Section Only): The most recent price evaluation available on the last business day of the statement period, normally the last trade price or bid. Unpriced securities denote that no market evaluation update is currently available. Price evaluations are obtained from outside parties. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of any such valuations. Pricing of assets not held at Schwab is for informational purposes only.

Margin Account Customers: This is a combined statement of your margin account and special memorandum account maintained for you under Section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection. Securities purchased on margin are Schwab's collateral for the loan to you.

Non-Standard Assets: All assets shown on this statement, other than certain direct investments which may be held by a third party, are held in your Account. Values of certain non-standard assets may be furnished by a third party as provided by Schwab's Non-Standard Asset Custody Agreement. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of such valuations. Assets held by a third party are not covered by SIPC.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request. 2) You should advise us promptly of any material changes in your investment objectives or financial situation. 3) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are allocated among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., member NYSE/SIPC. Securities products and services, including unswept intraday funds and net credit balances held in brokerage accounts are not guaranteed deposits or obligations of the above-referenced bank, and are subject to investment risk, are not FDIC insured, may lose value, and are not bank guaranteed.

Short Positions: Securities sold short will be identified through an "S" in Investment Detail. The market value of these securities will be expressed as a debit and be netted against any long positions in Total Account Value.

Sweep Bank: Includes the Schwab-affiliated, FDIC-insured bank, as referenced in your account statements and disclosed in your account documents into which free credit balances may be automatically deposited pursuant to your Account Agreement.

Sweep Funds: Includes the primary funds into which free credit balances may be automatically invested pursuant to your Account Agreement. Schwab or an affiliate acts and receives compensation as the Investment Advisor, Transfer Agent, Shareholder Service Agent and Distributor for the Sweep Funds. The amount of such compensation is disclosed in the prospectus. The yield information for Sweep Funds is the current 7-day yield as of the statement period. Yields vary. Schwab and the Sweep Funds investment advisor may be voluntarily reducing a portion of a Sweep Fund's expenses. Without these reductions, yields would have been lower.

IN CASE OF QUESTIONS OR ERRORS: If you have questions about this statement or about specific Schwab transactions, contact Schwab at 800-515-2157. ### Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account at Schwab ("Account"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and, other than an affiliated company that may act as an Investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Advisors are independently owned and operated. Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on your Account. Advisors provide investment advisory services for your Account. Schwab provides brokerage and custody services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS:

If you receive any other communication from any source other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

AIP (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives remuneration in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $100,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Cash: Any free credit balance owed by us to you payable upon demand which, although accounted for on our books of record, is not segregated and may be used in the conduct of this firm's business.

Dividend Reinvestment Customers: Dividend reinvestment transactions were effected by Schwab acting as a principal for its own account, except for the reinvestment of Schwab dividends, for which an independent broker-dealer acted as the buying agent. The time of these transactions, the exchange upon which these transactions occurred and the name of the person from whom the security was purchased will be furnished upon written request.

Fees and Charges: For those fees described in the statement as "Fee to Advisor", as authorized by you, Schwab debited your account to pay the fees as instructed by your Advisor. It is your responsibility, and not Schwab's, to verify the accuracy of the fees. Margin interest charged to your account during the statement period is included in this section of the statement.

Latest Price (Investment Detail Section Only): The most recent price evaluation available on the last business day of the statement period, normally the last trade price or bid. Unpriced securities denote that no market evaluation update is currently available. Price evaluations are obtained from outside parties. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of any such valuations. Pricing of assets not held at Schwab is for informational purposes only.

Margin Account Customers: This is a combined statement of your margin account and special memorandum account maintained for you under Section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection. Securities purchased on margin are Schwab's collateral for the loan to you.

Non-Standard Assets: All assets shown on this statement, other than certain direct investments which may be held by a third party, are held in your Account. Values of certain non-standard assets may be furnished by a third party as provided by Schwab's Non-Standard Asset Custody Agreement. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of such valuations. Assets held by a third party are not covered by SIPC.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request 2) You should advise us promptly of any material change in your investment objectives or financial situation 3) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are allocated among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., member NYSE/SIPC. Securities products and services, including unswept intraday funds and net credit balances held in brokerage accounts are not guaranteed deposits or obligations of the above-referenced bank, and are subject to investment risk, are not FDIC insured, may lose value, and are not bank guaranteed.

Short Positions: Securities sold short will be identified through an "S" in Investment Detail. The market value of these securities will be expressed as a debit and be netted against any long positions in Total Account Value.

Sweep Bank: Includes the Schwab-affiliated, FDIC-insured bank, as referenced in your account statements and disclosed in your account documents into which free credit balances may be automatically deposited pursuant to your Account Agreement.

Sweep Funds: Includes the primary funds into which free credit balances may be automatically invested pursuant to your Account Agreement. Schwab or an affiliate acts and receives compensation as the Investment Advisor, Transfer Agent, Shareholder Service Agent and Distributor for the Sweep Funds. The amount of such compensation is disclosed in the prospectus. The yield information for Sweep Funds is the current 7-day yield as of the statement period. Yields vary. Schwab and the Sweep Funds investment advisor may be voluntarily reducing a portion of a Sweep Fund's expenses. Without these reductions, yields would have been lower.

IN CASE OF QUESTIONS OR ERRORS: If you have questions about this statement or about specific Schwab transactions, contact Schwab at 800-515-2157. If you have a complaint regarding your Schwab statement, products or services, please write to the Chairman's Division at Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., Attention: Chairman's Division, 101 Montgomery St., San Francisco, CA 94104, or call Schwab Signature Alliance at 800-515-2157.

Brokerage Transactions: If you find errors or omissions relating to your brokerage activity you must notify us within 10 days after this statement is sent or made available to you. If you do not so notify us, you agree that the statement activity and Account balance are correct for all purposes, with respect to those brokerage transactions. If you fail to notify Schwab in writing of any change of address or phone number, you may not receive important notifications about your Account and trading or other restrictions might be placed on your Account. If this statement shows that we have mailed or delivered security certificate(s) that you have not received, notify Schwab immediately.

Additional Information: A financial statement for your inspection is available at Schwab's offices or a copy will be mailed to you upon written request. Any third party trademarks appearing herein are the property of their respective owners.

Schwab, U.S. Trust (and its subsidiary banks) and Charles Schwab Bank, N.A. are affiliates of each other and are subsidiaries of The Charles Schwab Corporation. (0703-11588)REG21833SB-01(09/03)

Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account or "Account". Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and, other than an affiliated company that may act as an investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Advisors are independently owned and operated. Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on your Account. Schwab provides brokerage and custody services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS:

If you receive any other communication from any source other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

AIP (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives remuneration in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit, even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $10,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Cash: Any free credit balance owed by us to you payable upon demand which, although accounted for on our books of record, is not segregated and may be used in the conduct of this firm's business.

Dividend Reinvestment Customers: Dividend reinvestment transactions were effected by Schwab acting as a principal for its own account, except for the reinvestment of Schwab dividends, for which an independent broker-dealer acted as the buying agent. The time of these transactions, the exchange upon which these transactions occurred and the name of the person from whom the security was purchased will be furnished upon written request.

Fees and Charges: For those fees described in the statement as "Fee to Advisor", as authorized by you, Schwab debited your account to pay the fees as instructed by your Advisor. It is your responsibility and not Schwab's, to verify the accuracy of the fees. Margin interest charged to your account during the statement period is included in this section of the statement.

Latest Price (Investment Detail Section Only): The most recent price evaluation available on the last business day of the statement period, normally the last trade price or bid. Unpriced securities denote that no market evaluation update is currently available. Price evaluations are obtained from outside parties. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of any such valuations. Pricing of assets not held at Schwab is for informational purposes only.

Margin Account Customers: This is a combined statement of your margin account and special memorandum account maintained for you under Section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection. Securities purchased on margin are Schwab's collateral for the loan to you.

Non-Standard Assets: All assets shown on this statement, other than certain direct investments which may be held by a third party, are held in your Account. Values of certain non-Schwab assets may be furnished by a third party as provided by Schwab's Non-Standard Asset Custody Agreement. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of such valuations. Assets held by a third party are not covered by SPC.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request. 2) You should advise us promptly of any material changes in your investment objectives on financial situation 3) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are allocated among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., member NYSE/SIPC. Securities products and services, including unswept intraday funds and net credit balances held in brokerage accounts are not guaranteed. Deposits or obligations of the above-referenced bank, and are subject to investment risk, are not FDIC insured, may lose value, and are not bank guaranteed.

Short Positions: Securities sold short will be identified through an "S" in Investment Detail. The market value of these securities will be expressed as a debit and be netted against any long positions in Total Account Value.

Sweep Bank: Includes the Schwab-affiliated, FDIC-insured bank, as referenced in your account statements and disclosed in your account documents into which free credit balances may be automatically deposited pursuant to your Account Agreement.

Sweep Funds: Includes the primary funds into which free credit balances may be automatically invested pursuant to your Account Agreement. Schwab or an affiliate acts and receives compensation as the Investment Advisor, Transfer Agent, Shareholder Service Agent and Distributor for the Sweep Funds. The amount of such compensation is disclosed in the prospectus. The yield information for Sweep Funds is the current 7-day yield as of the statement period. Yields vary. Schwab and the Sweep Funds investment advisor may be voluntarily reducing a portion of a Sweep Fund's expenses. Without these reductions, yields would have been lower.

IN CASE OF QUESTIONS OR ERRORS: If you have questions about this statement or about specific Schwab transactions, contact Schwab at 800-515-2157. If you have a complaint regarding your Schwab statement, products or services, please write to the Chairman's Division at Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., Attention: Chairman's Division, 101 Montgomery St., San Francisco, CA 94104, or call Schwab Signature Alliance at 800-515-2157.

Brokerage Transactions: If you find errors or omissions relating to your brokerage activity you must notify us within 10 days after this statement is sent or made available to you. If you do not so notify us, you agree that the statement activity and Account balance are correct for all purposes, with respect to those brokerage transactions. If you fail to notify Schwab in writing of any change of address or phone number, you may not receive important notifications about your Account and trading or other restrictions might be placed on your Account. If this statement shows that we have mailed or delivered security certificate(s) that you have not received, notify Schwab immediately.

Additional Information:

A financial statement for your inspection is available at Schwab's offices or a copy will be mailed to you upon written request. Any third party trademarks appearing herein are the property of their respective owners.

Schwab, U.S. Trust (and its subsidiary banks) and Charles Schwab Bank, N.A. are affiliates of each other and are, subsidiaries of The Charles Schwab Corporation. (0703-11588)REG21833SB-01(09/03)

Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account at Schwab ("Account"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and, other than an affiliated company that may act as an Investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Advisors are independently owned and operated. Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on your Account. Advisors provide investment advisory services for your Account. Schwab provides brokerage and custody services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS:

If you receive any other communication from any source, other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

AIP (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives remuneration in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $100,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Short Positions: Securities sold short will be identified through an "S" in Investment Detail. The market value of these securities will be expressed as a debit and be netted against any long positions in Total Account Value.

Sweep Bank: Includes the Schwab-affiliated, FDIC-insured bank, as referenced in your account statements and disclosed in your account documents into which free credit balances may be automatically deposited pursuant to your Account Agreement.

Sweep Funds: Includes the primary funds into which free credit balances may be automatically invested pursuant to your Account Agreement. Schwab or an affiliate acts and receives compensation as the Investment Advisor, Transfer Agent, Shareholder Service Agent and Distributor for the Sweep Funds. The amount of such compensation is disclosed in the prospectus. The yield information for Sweep Funds is the current 7-day yield as of the statement period. Yields vary. Schwab and the Sweep Funds' investment advisor may be voluntarily reducing a portion of a Sweep Fund's expenses. Without these reductions, yields would have been lower.

IN CASE OF QUESTIONS OR ERRORS: If you have questions about this statement or about specific Schwab transactions, contact Schwab at 800-515-2157. If you have a complaint regarding your Schwab statement, products or services, please write to the Chairman's Division at Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., Attention: Chairman's Division, 101 Montgomery St., San Francisco, CA 94104, or call Schwab Signature Alliance at 800-515-2157.

Brokerage Transactions: If you find errors or omissions relating to your brokerage activity, you must notify us within 10 days after this statement is sent or made available to you. If you do not so notify us, you agree that the statement activity and Account balance are correct for all purposes, with respect to those brokerage transactions. If you fail to notify Schwab in writing of any change or address or phone number, you may not receive important notifications about your Account and trading or other restrictions might be placed on your Account. If this statement shows that we have mailed or delivered security certificate(s) that you have not received, notify Schwab immediately.

Additional Information: A financial statement for your inspection is available at Schwab's offices or a copy will be mailed to you upon written request. Any third party trademarks appearing herein are the property of their respective owners.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1.) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request. 2.) You should advise us promptly of any material changes in your investment objectives or financial situation. 3.) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are allocated among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc., member NYSE/SIPC.

Securities products and services, including unswept intraday funds and net credit balances held in brokerage accounts are not guaranteed deposits or obligations of the above-referenced bank, and are subject to investment risk, are not FDIC insured, may lose value, and are not bank guaranteed.

Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account at Schwab ("Account"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and, other than an affiliated company that may act as an Investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Advisors are independently owned and operated. Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on your Account. Schwab provides brokerage and custody services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS:

If you receive any other communication from any source other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

API (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives remuneration in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $100,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Cash: Any free credit balance owed by us to you payable upon demand which, although accounted on our books of record, is not segregated and may be used in the conduct of this firm's business.

Dividend Reinvestment Customers: Dividend reinvestment transactions were effected by Schwab acting as a principal for its own account, except for the reinvestment of Schwab dividends, for which an independent broker-dealer acted as the buying agent. The time of these transactions, the exchange upon which these transactions occurred and the name of the person from whom the security was purchased will be furnished upon written request.

Fees and Charges: For those fees described in the statement as "Fee to Advisor", as authorized by you, Schwab debited your account to pay the fees as instructed by your Advisor. It is your responsibility and not Schwab's, to verify the accuracy of the fees. Margin interest charged to your account during the statement period is included in this section of the statement.

Latest Price (Investment Detail Section Only): The most recent price evaluation available on the last business day of the statement period, normally the last trade price or bid. Unpriced securities denote that no market evaluation update is currently available. Price evaluations are obtained from outside parties. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of any such valuations. Pricing of assets not held at Schwab is for informational purposes only.

Margin Account Customers: This is a combined statement of your margin account and special memorandum account maintained for you under Section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection. Securities purchased on margin are Schwab's collateral for the loan to you.

Non-Standard Assets: All assets shown on this statement, other than certain direct investments which may be held by a third party, are held in your Account. Values of certain non-standard assets may be furnished by a third party as provided by Schwab's Non-Standard Asset Custody Agreement. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of such valuations. Assets held by a third party are not covered by SIPC.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request. 2) You should advise us promptly of any material changes in your investment objectives or financial situation. 3) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are all located among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") and provides back-office brokerage and related services to investment advisors and retirement plan providers. This statement is furnished solely for your account at Schwab. *Except as noted in this statement's Terms and Conditions, investment advisors or retirement plan providers whose names appear in this statement are not affiliated with Schwab. Please see Terms and Conditions.

Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account at Schwab ("Account"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and other than an affiliated company that may act as an investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Advisors are independently owned and operated. Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on Your Account. Advisors provide investment advisory services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS:

If you receive any other communication from any source other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

API (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives compensation in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $100,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Cash: Any free credit balance owed by us to you payable upon demand which, although accounted for on our books of record, is not segregated and may be used in the conduct of this firm's business.

Dividend Reinvestment Customers: Dividend reinvestment transactions were effected by Schwab acting as a principal for its own account, except for the reinvestment of Schwab dividends, for which an independent broker-dealer acted as the buying agent. The time of these transactions, the exchange upon which these transactions occurred and the name of the person from whom the security was purchased will be furnished upon written request.

Fees and Charges: For those fees described in the statement as "Fee to Advisor", as authorized by you, Schwab debited your account to pay the fees as instructed by your Advisor. It is your responsibility, and not Schwab's, to verify the accuracy of the fees. Margin interest charged to your account during the statement period is included in this section of the statement.

Latest Price (Investment Detail Section Only): The most recent price evaluation available on the last business day of the statement period, normally the last trade price or bid. Unpriced securities denote that no market evaluation update is currently available. Price evaluations are obtained from outside parties. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of any such valuations. Pricing of assets not held at Schwab is for informational purposes only.

Margin Account Customers: This is a combined statement of your margin account and special memorandum account maintained by you under Section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection. Securities purchased on margin are Schwab's collateral for the loan to you.

Non-Standard Assets: All assets shown on this statement, other than certain direct investments which may be held by a third party, are held in your Account. Values of certain non-standard assets may be furnished by a third party as provided by Schwab Non-Standard Asset Custody Agreement. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of such valuations. Assets held by a third party are not covered by SIPC.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request. 2) You should advise us promptly of any material changes in your investment objectives or financial situation. 3) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are allocated among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") and provides back-office brokerage and related services to investment advisors and retirement plan providers. This statement is furnished solely for your account at Schwab. *Except as noted in this statement's Terms and Conditions, investment advisors or retirement plan providers whose names appear in this statement are not affiliated with Schwab. Please see Terms and Conditions.

Terms and Conditions

This Account statement is furnished solely by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") for your Account at Schwab ("Account"). Schwab is a registered broker-dealer and, other than an affiliated company that may act as an Investment Advisor for the Sweep Funds and any affiliates of U.S. Trust Corporation, is not affiliated with any advisor whose name appears on this statement ("Advisors"). Schwab neither endorses nor recommends any particular Advisor or investment strategy and has no responsibility to monitor trading by any Advisor on your Account. Schwab provides brokerage and custody services for your Account and has agreements with Advisors under which Schwab provides Advisors with products and services related to your Account. Not all of these products and services may benefit your account. Some may be based on an Advisor's clients placing a certain amount of assets in their brokerage accounts at Schwab within a certain period of time and therefore may influence an Advisor in recommending or requiring that its clients establish brokerage accounts at Schwab.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND KEY TERMS:

If you receive any other communication from any source other than Schwab which purports to represent your holdings at Schwab (including balances held at a Sweep Bank) you should verify its content with this statement.

API (Automatic Investment Plan) Customers: Schwab receives remuneration in connection with certain transactions effected through Schwab. If you participate in a systematic investment program through Schwab, the additional information normally detailed on a trade confirmation will be provided upon request.

Bank Deposit Accounts: Schwab acts as your agent and custodian in establishing and maintaining your Bank Deposit Accounts. Bank Deposit Accounts constitute direct obligations of the Sweep Bank and are not an obligation of Schwab. Free Credit Balances will be deposited into Bank Deposit Accounts without limit even if the amount in the Bank Deposit Accounts exceeds the $100,000 FDIC insurance limits. For deposit insurance purposes, deposits you may establish in one capacity directly with a Sweep Bank or through an intermediary, such as Schwab, will be aggregated with the Bank Deposit Accounts. You are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits you have with the Sweep Bank in order to determine the extent of deposit insurance coverage available to you.

Bank Interest: For Bank Deposit Accounts, interest is paid for a period that differs from the Statement Period. Bank Deposit Account balances include interest the Sweep Bank paid as indicated on your statement. Bank Deposit Account balances do not include interest that may have accrued during the Statement Period after interest is paid. The interest paid may include interest that accrued in the prior Statement Period.

Credit Interest: Interest accrues from the second-to-last business day of the prior month and is posted on the second-to-last business day of the current month. If, on any given day, the interest that Schwab calculates for the free credit balances in your brokerage Account is less than $.005, you will not earn any interest on that day. For Bank Deposit Account balances held at a Sweep Bank, the interest will accrue even if the amount is less than $.005.

Cash: Any free credit balance owed by us to you payable upon demand which, although accounted for on our books of record, is not segregated and may be used in the conduct of this firm business.

Dividend Reinvestment Customers: Dividend reinvestment transactions were effected by Schwab acting as a principal for its own account, except for the reinvestment of Schwab dividends, for which an independent broker-dealer acted as the buying agent. The time of these transactions, the exchange upon which these transactions occurred and the name of the person from whom the security was purchased will be furnished upon written request.

Fees and Charges: For those fees described in the statement as "Fee to Advisor," as authorized by you, Schwab debited your account to pay the fees as instructed by your Advisor. It is your responsibility, and not Schwab's, to verify the accuracy of the fees. Margin interest charged to your account during the statement period is included in this section of the statement.

Latest Price (Investment Detail Section Only): The most recent price evaluation available on the last business day of the statement period, normally the last trade price or bid. Unpriced securities denote that no market evaluation update is currently available. Price evaluations are obtained from outside parties. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of any such valuations. Pricing of assets not held at Schwab is for informational purposes only.

Margin Account Customers: This is a combined statement of your margin account and special memorandum account maintained for you under Section 220.5 of Regulation T issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The permanent record of the separate account as required by Regulation T is available for your inspection.

Non-Standard Assets: All assets shown on this statement, other than certain direct investments which may be held by a third party, are held in your Account. Values of certain non-standard assets may be furnished by a third party as provided by Schwab's Non-Standard Asset Custody Agreement. Schwab shall have no responsibility for the accuracy or timeliness of such valuations. Assets held by a third party are not covered by SIPC.

Option Customers: Be aware of the following: 1) Commissions and other charges related to the execution of option transactions have been included in confirmations of such transactions previously furnished to you and will be made available promptly upon request. 2) You should advise us promptly of any material changes in your investment objectives or financial situation. 3) Exercise assignment notices for option contracts are allocated among customer short positions pursuant to an automated procedure which randomly selects from among all customer short option positions those contracts which are subject to exercise, including positions established on the day of assignment.

Securities Products and Services: Securities products and services are offered by Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") and provides back-office brokerage and related services to investment advisors and retirement plan providers. This statement is furnished solely for your account at Schwab. *Except as noted in this statement's Terms and Conditions, investment advisors or retirement plan providers whose names appear in this statement are not affiliated with Schwab. Please see Terms and Conditions.

Short Positions: Securities sold short will be identified through an "S" in Investment Detail. The market value of these securities will be expressed as a debit and be netted against any long positions in Total Account Value.

Sweep Bank: Includes the Schwab-affiliated, FDIC-insured bank, as referenced in your account statements and disclosed in your account documents into which free credit balances may be automatically deposited pursuant to your Account Agreement.

Sweep Funds: Includes the primary funds into which free credit balances may be automatically invested pursuant to your Account Agreement. Schwab or an affiliate acts and receives compensation as the Investment Advisor, Transfer Agent, Shareholder Service Agent and Distributor for the Sweep Funds. The amount of such compensation is disclosed in the prospectus. The yield information for Sweep Funds is the current 7-day yield as of the statement period. Yields vary. Schwab and the Sweep Funds investment advisor may be voluntarily reducing a portion of a Sweep Fund's expenses. Without these reductions, yields would have been lower.

Environment Policy

It is Exxon Mobil Corporation's policy to conduct its business in a manner that is compatible with the balanced environmental and economic needs of the communities in which it operates. The Corporation is committed to continuous efforts to improve environmental performance throughout its operations.

Accordingly, the Corporation's policy is to:

- comply with all applicable environmental laws and regulations and apply responsible standards where laws and regulations do not exist;
- encourage concern and respect for the environment, emphasize every employee's responsibility in environmental performance, and foster appropriate operating practices and training;
- work with government and industry groups to foster timely development of effective environmental laws and regulations based on sound science and considering risks, costs, and benefits, including effects on energy and product supply;
- manage its business with the goal of preventing incidents and of controlling emissions and wastes to below harmful levels; design, operate, and maintain facilities to this end;
- respond quickly and effectively to incidents resulting from its operations, in cooperation with industry organizations and authorized government agencies;
- conduct and support research to improve understanding of the impact of its business on the environment, to improve methods of environmental protection, and to enhance its capability to make operations and products compatible with the environment;
- communicate with the public on environmental matters and share its experience with others to facilitate improvements in industry performance;
- undertake appropriate reviews and evaluations of its operations to measure progress and to foster compliance with this policy.

2003 Corporate Citizenship Report

A Letter from Lee Raymond

ExxonMobil's goal is to continue to be the world's premier energy company. We have operated for more than 120 years, and today we conduct business in some 200 countries and territories on six continents. A business of such size and scope cannot succeed unless it is grounded in the principles of good corporate citizenship.

We operate in a challenging environment. The demands placed by society on energy companies today are ever changing. What is undeniable is that the demand for energy is growing, not shrinking. Experts predict that the world will need about 40 percent more energy in 2020. Just meeting that demand, according to the International Energy Agency, will require the industry to invest some $200 billion per year on oil and gas development.

As a responsible energy company, we believe that good citizenship means helping meet that growth in demand in an economically, environmentally and socially responsible manner.

As described in this report, we are working on many fronts to continuously improve our performance.

For example, in 2003, in the area of environmental performance, we recorded the fewest spills in our history. We are also continuing to improve energy efficiency. This year we achieved record performance in energy efficiency across our refining business. We are also developing new technologies to produce low-sulfur motor fuels, and we continue our work with auto manufacturers to develop engines that are more energy-efficient and fuels that are cleaner-burning.

In the area of safety, in 2003, we continued to be an industry leader, with a company record for the fewest safety incidents. We are committed to continuous improvement in our safety performance and are expanding our efforts to further collect and analyze data to learn from all safety-related incidents so that we achieve our goal, Nobody Gets Hurt.

Every year we continue our long tradition of contributing to economic progress. Our support of communities takes many forms, the most visible of which is economic. Most significantly we invested, created jobs, transferred knowledge and fostered development of local businesses and infrastructure. We also paid taxes and made community contributions. The value of these activities is especially important in developing regions such as West Africa, where a substantial portion of our current investments are being made. We also continued to support the fight against global health pandemics such as malaria and HIV/AIDS, particularly in the developing world.

Our consistent, strong business performance underpins our ability to contribute in these ways. In 2003, ExxonMobil delivered the strongest earnings performance in the corporation's history and an industry-leading return on capital employed.

Our directors, management and employees understand that exemplary citizenship, including high standards of business conduct, effective corporate governance, sound financial controls, operational integrity and community engagement, is fundamental to sustained business success – and sustained business success is fundamental to good corporate citizenship. You cannot have one without the other.

While today's world will continue to change, the principles of good corporate citizenship do not. We take pride in our performance and are committed to ongoing improvement.

Sincerely,

Lee R. Raymond
Chairman and CEO

Corporate Governance

ExxonMobil Board of Directors 2003

Governance Practices Financial Controls Operational Integrity and Controls

At ExxonMobil, we recognize the importance and value of sound corporate governance practices and high ethical standards. We believe our straightforward business model, culture of integrity and legal compliance, governance practices and management control systems are key to achieving long-term sustainable results. ExxonMobil's corporate governance practices and financial controls meet the requirements of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the New York Stock Exchange listing standards.

We believe that the methods we employ to attain results are as important as the results themselves. We are committed to candor, honesty and integrity in the reports that we make to our investors. Those messages are included in our Standards of Business Conduct, which have been widely communicated to our employees for decades. ExxonMobil employees and non-employee directors are expected to review the policies in our Standards of Business Conduct periodically and to apply them to all aspects of their work. Procedures for receiving and handling questions, concerns and suggestions regarding ExxonMobil's business practices are also defined in the Standards of Business Conduct.

The Standards of Business Conduct and our rigorous control systems support the ethical framework by which we operate worldwide.

Standards of Business Conduct

ExxonMobil's Standards of Business Conduct contain 16 foundation policies and also address guiding principles, related procedures and open-door communication.

- Ethics Policy
- Conflicts of Interest Policy
- Corporate Assets Policy
- Directorships Policy
- Gifts and Entertainment Policy
- Political Activities Policy
- International Operations Policy
- Antitrust Policy
- Health Policy
- Environment Policy
- Safety Policy
- Product Safety Policy
- Customer Relations and Product Quality Policy
- Alcohol and Drug Use Policy
- Equal Employment Opportunity Policy
- Harassment in the Workplace Policy

Governance Practices

For years, ExxonMobil has been a corporate governance leader. We have long had a majority of independent directors; audit, governance, compensation, public issues and contributions committees comprised entirely of independent directors; board committee charters; and board resolutions authorizing and directing committee activities.

ExxonMobil's Corporate Governance Guidelines include matters relating to board structure, director selection, board meetings, CEO-performance review and succession planning. The guidelines also address non-employee director compensation and shareholder matters such as voting rights, shareholder proposals and ratification of independent auditors.

ExxonMobil's focus on good corporate citizenship begins with our commitment to high ethical standards, effective corporate governance, sound financial controls, operational integrity and safety, health and environmental care.

Financial Controls

Sound financial control is fundamental to our business operating model. We have established, effective control mechanisms for our worldwide operations. Authority to approve business arrangements on behalf of our company is clearly assigned and formally delegated to appropriate management. Through internal and external audits, we continuously monitor compliance and require timely resolution of controls-related issues.

Our System of Management Control Basic Standards (SMC) defines the basic principles, concepts and standards that drive our control system across our worldwide operations. Our Controls Integrity Management System (CIMS), based on the SMC, provides common processes and tools for compliance with our SMC. CIMS provides a structured approach to assessing financial-control risks, establishing procedures for mitigating concerns, monitoring conformance with standards, and reporting results to management. CIMS is consistent with the internal-controls framework recommended by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO), a voluntary private-sector organization dedicated to improving the quality of financial reporting through business ethics, effective internal controls and corporate governance.

Operational Integrity and Controls

Our Operations Integrity Management System (OIMS) provides a structured framework for operational standards of safety, health and environmental protection. As with all our control systems, it is used in all our operations globally. OIMS comprises 11 elements, each with specific and clearly defined expectations that every operation must fulfill. All operating units are periodically assessed to ensure compliance and define additional improvement actions. OIMS conforms with the International Standards Organization's guidelines for environmental management systems (ISO 14001).

ExxonMobil is committed to maintaining the highest standards of safety, health and environmental (SH&E) care. We comply with all applicable environmental laws and regulations and apply responsible standards where laws and regulations do not exist.

Energy and chemicals are essential to society. ExxonMobil is committed to producing these valuable products while protecting the health and safety of people and safeguarding the environment. Our goal is to drive injuries, illnesses and operational incidents to zero.

Following the Valdez oil spill in 1989, we built into the fabric of our company a continuous improvement program to strengthen our environmental-protection controls. Our approach is founded on our basic operating principles of disciplined and clearly documented management systems; scientific, economic and technical analysis; and a commitment to research and development to improve our products and performance.

The Operations Integrity Management System (OIMS) is the primary tool we use to conduct our operations and assess and improve our SH&E performance. OIMS enables us to measure our progress, plan future improvements and ensure management accountability for results. OIMS conforms with the standards of ISO 14001 and is used by every ExxonMobil facility.

In 2003, ExxonMobil's international operations were recognized for environmental excellence (see page 12).

Environmental Business Planning

ExxonMobil businesses around the world develop detailed environmental business plans that are an integral part of their annual business strategies. This planning process includes an assessment of existing and expected environmental and business conditions. It also evaluates community issues and potential future regulations. The results of this rigorous planning process are stewarded and reviewed internally by management, including the corporation's Management Committee (comprising the corporation's four most-senior managers) and a committee of the Board of Directors.

Measurement and Reporting

ExxonMobil is working with industry associations to develop common environmental indicators that can be used to report actual and relative performance and that are relevant for public reporting.

We are active in the Joint Corporate Reporting Task Force, led by the International Petroleum Industry Environmental Conservation Association (IPIECA) and the American Petroleum Institute (API). The task force developed the Compendium of Sustainability Reporting Practices and Trends for the Oil and Gas Industry. This will improve understanding and communication of the industry's sustainability-performance measurement and reporting practices. We also participated in another

We are committed to outstanding environmental performance. Our goal is to drive environmental incidents to zero and improve energy efficiency in all our operations. We will operate responsibly everywhere we do business by implementing scientifically sound, practical solutions.

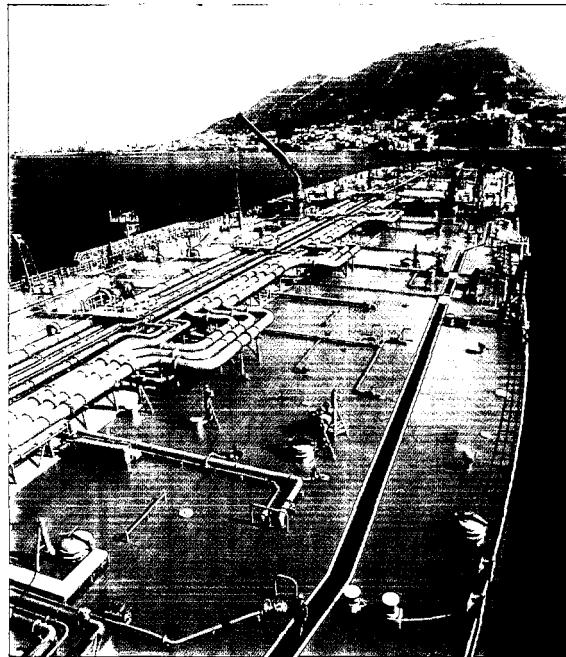

IPIECA effort that formulated the recently released Petroleum Industry Guidelines for Reporting Greenhouse Gas Emissions.

Globally, ExxonMobil continues to take steps to accurately measure and report our emissions. We support mandatory reporting of greenhouse gas emissions on a consistent basis by all companies (see page 9).

Spills (Non-Marine Vessels)

In 2003, ExxonMobil achieved the fewest oil spill incidents in our history. Per the chart below, spills are down by 30 percent since 2000. The reduction largely reflects proactive tank-integrity initiatives, selective piping upgrades and work-practice enhancements.

Most of the spills involved very small quantities, but regrettably, three were more than 1,000 barrels each and totaled 7,800 barrels. These occurred in Nigeria, offshore Equatorial Guinea and in the United States,

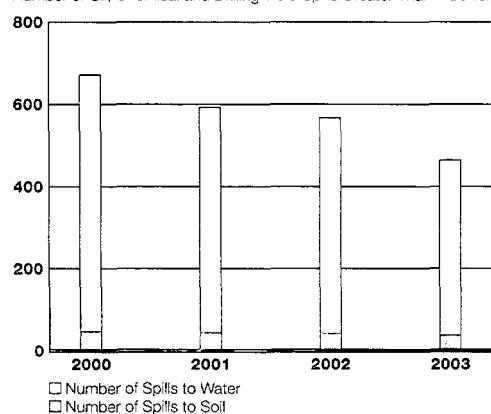

In 2003, ExxonMobil achieved a company record for the fewest oil spill incidents. Spills from company vessels have been reduced by 90 percent since 1996.

Retail Site Tank Upgrades

ExxonMobil's Fuels Marketing organization is continuing to upgrade underground storage tanks at retail sites worldwide. This initiative, which cost more than $50 million in 2003 and will total more than $70 million in 2004, includes upgrades to eliminate potential corrosion and the introduction of advanced leak-detection systems.

in coastal Louisiana. We conducted comprehensive clean-up operations and initiated detailed investigations. Lessons derived from the incidents are being used to further improve our performance and reduce incidents throughout the world.

Spills (Marine Vessels)

In 2003, our owned and long-term leased tankers spilled less than one teaspoon of oil for every million gallons transported.

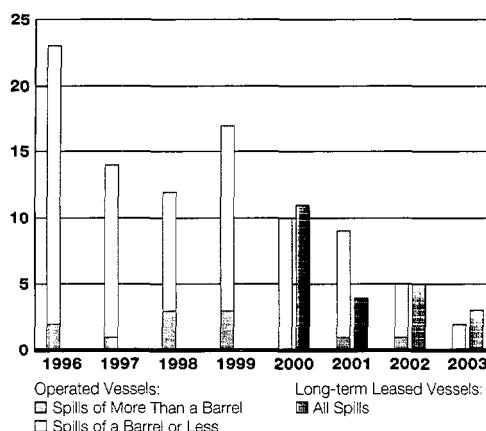

There were only two spills from company-operated marine vessels during 2003. Since 1996, spills have been reduced by 90 percent.

We expect the same performance from marine vessels operated by third parties as we do from our own vessels. Approximately 80,000 screenings are conducted annually on contract tankers and barges to ensure compliance with ExxonMobil standards. Overall, the spill performance of our non-company long-term leased vessels is comparable to ExxonMobil's own performance.

Spills (Marine Vessels — Operated and Long-term Leased)

Emergency Response Preparedness

To minimize the potential impact of spills or other incidents, ExxonMobil maintains a strong capability to respond to operational emergencies. Our emergency response teams, which comprise both local personnel and regional experts, practice regularly to ensure readiness to address emergencies at any time, in any location.

In addition, ExxonMobil was instrumental in establishing industry-funded oil spill response centers in various locations around the world. These centers maintain supplies of response equipment such as vessels, booms, skimmers and dispersants. They also train personnel in response techniques and maintain expert teams from across the industry. A policy of mutual aid exists, and each center is prepared to comprehensively respond to oil spills regardless of location or the company involved.

Environmental Expenditures

ExxonMobil's worldwide environmental expenditures in 2003 totaled more than \$2.8 billion, of which approximately \$1.3 billion was for capital investments and \$1.5 billion was for additional operating expense. Significant among these expenditures were technology upgrades for the manufacturing of low-sulfur motor fuels, sulfur dioxide ( $\text{SO}_2$ ) and nitrogen oxide ( $\text{NO}_x$ ) emission reductions.

A Baton Rouge refinery technician holds a beaker of the clean-burning, low-sulfur gasoline being produced at that facility using ExxonMobil's proprietary SCANfining technology.

Total environmental spending is expected to be similar in 2004 at more than $2.5 billion, with capital expenditures representing about 40 percent of that total.

Fines and Penalties

During 2003, ExxonMobil affiliates paid $0.7 million in fines and penalties relating to environmental incidents.

Air Emissions (Products)

Around the world, additional sulfur reduction is further reducing emissions from the use of diesel and gasoline. ExxonMobil's proprietary SCANfining technology reduces sulfur levels in gasoline while minimizing octane loss. As well as being used in our own refineries, this technology has been licensed for use in numerous non-ExxonMobil refineries in North and South America, Europe, Asia and the Middle East.

ExxonMobil is also working with vehicle manufacturers to investigate a range of technologies to reduce nitrogen oxide ( $\text{NO}_x$ ) emissions from engine exhaust. The effort combines our expertise in the areas of combustion science, computer modeling and catalysis. We have modified the Fuel Ignition Quality Tester, a device for testing engine performance, to better study the interaction of fuels and engine-combustion conditions. We are also working on new catalyst materials for use in further reducing  $\text{NO}_x$  emissions from the engine tailpipe. Successfully combining these technologies could speed the development and commercialization of new high-efficiency diesel engine systems.

Air Emissions (Operations)

ExxonMobil is committed to continuing to reduce the total air emissions from our operations. In fact, over the past six years, our worldwide refining emissions have been reduced by more than 10 percent.

ExxonMobil's low-NOx burner technology has led the industry for large energy-consuming ethylene furnaces. A new generation of these burners, now implemented commercially at our Baytown, Texas, Olefins plant, has halved the nitrogen oxide (NOx) emissions from earlier industry-leading burners.

ExxonMobil invested more than $10 million to build two new thermal oxidation units at the Fawley Chemical Plant in the United Kingdom and the Baton Rouge Plastics Plant in Louisiana to reduce volatile organic compounds (VOC) emissions by more than 800 tons per year. We are also installing state-of-the-art emission-scrubbing equipment at our Beaumont, Texas, refinery to achieve an 80 percent reduction in SO<sub>2</sub> by 2004.

Water Conservation

ExxonMobil seeks opportunities to conserve industrial water use, especially where freshwater supply is an issue. In Singapore, for example, since ground water is not used as a water source, freshwater must be gathered in catchment reservoirs or imported from

Fugitive Emission Reductions

ExxonMobil facilities are continually working to reduce "fugitive" hydrocarbon emissions from piping components. The challenge is to identify the few components with tiny, invisible leaks needing repair out of hundreds of thousands of valves and fittings. We then use new approaches and technologies to undertake repairs and to reduce the heavy cost and administrative burden typically associated with such programs. New gas-imaging techniques have been developed to focus on and more quickly detect components with the highest leak rates.

For example, at our Fife Ethylene Plant in Scotland, technicians use digital photos and historical data to monitor some 29,000 pipe fittings, valves and flanges throughout the plant. The process allows personnel to quickly identify any leak, however minor, and enable repairs to be undertaken.

neighboring Malaysia. With increasing demand, our refinery and chemical plant in Singapore have made significant improvements in water use through recovery, recycling and reuse. Freshwater is progressively being replaced with reclaimed domestic/non-domestic wastewater.

In Canada, Imperial Oil (majority-owned by ExxonMobil) has substantially reduced the volume of freshwater used at the Cold Lake, Alberta, oil sands operation. The amount of freshwater used per cubic meter of bitumen produced has been reduced to less than 20 percent of that used in the late 1970s.

Biodiversity

ExxonMobil recognizes the protection of biodiversity – the variety and complexity of life – as an important conservation issue that presents broad challenges to society. We believe we can operate responsibly in sensitive areas by implementing scientific, practical and sustainable solutions. Protecting biodiversity is a fundamental part of our environmental-management system and is considered during our business planning and across all aspects of our operations. For example:

- In Italy, ExxonMobil designed the Adriatic LNG pipeline project to minimize construction activities when local endangered birdlife is nesting and breeding.
- In Saxony, Germany, more than 84,000 trees were planted in an area that had been seriously hit by a severe flood. Over the past seven years, more than 588,000 trees have been planted in Germany with ExxonMobil's help.
- In Cameroon, flora and fauna in three ecologically sensitive areas along the Chad-Cameroon pipeline route were protected, and an anti-bushmeat policy prevented workers from hunting, purchasing or consuming wild game while working on the project. Other measures included safeguarding rare, threatened or endangered species such as primates and marine turtles known to inhabit certain areas of the pipeline route.
- In Alberta, Canada, rather than laying pipe on the bottom of Wizard Lake, 1,400 meters of pipe were installed via horizontal directional drilling at a depth of 40 meters below the lake bottom to avoid any potential ecosystem impact on the lake.
- On Sakhalin Island, Russia, more than $7.5 million has been spent on Western Grey Whale research and mitigation programs. The research involved prominent Russian and Western scientists and uncovered a previously unknown feeding ground. The expanded knowledge of whale behavior will aid in protection of the whales and assist environmental planning for local oil and gas operations.

Greenhouse Gas Emissions

Starting this year, ExxonMobil will shift its reporting of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions to cover direct emissions associated with its equity ownership of all interests, instead of direct and indirect (third-party power and steam purchases) emissions from only ExxonMobil-operated facilities.

The Baton Rouge Refinery has improved energy-critical heat exchanger monitoring and cleaning, resulting in reduced GHG emissions and significant energy-efficiency savings over the past three years.

This revised basis is consistent with the recently released IPIECA Petroleum Industry Guidelines for Reporting Greenhouse Gas Emissions. We believe reporting on this direct-ownership basis best corresponds with emerging regulatory trends and shareholder interests.

In 2003, our direct-equity GHG emissions increased 2 percent to 135.6 million tonnes primarily due to higher power sales in Hong Kong and a return to prior levels of oil production in Nigeria, which had reduced oil output in 2002 to comply with OPEC quotas.

As we have for many years, we are taking a number of significant actions to improve our efficiency and reduce GHG emissions in our operations. Initiatives include:

□ Energy Efficiency: Our Global Energy Management System (GEMS) uses international best practices and benchmarking to identify efficiency improvements at each of our manufacturing plants. It also helps us understand the energy-efficiency impacts, and subsequent GHG emissions, of new projects for consideration during the project-design stage. Since 1990, our refineries have improved their energy efficiency by nearly 10 percent. GEMS has helped us achieve these efficiencies, as well as identify opportunities for an additional 10 percent improvement. In 2003, we achieved record performance in energy efficiency across our worldwide refining business, and over the past four years, our U.S. refineries alone have improved at a rate three times higher than industry.

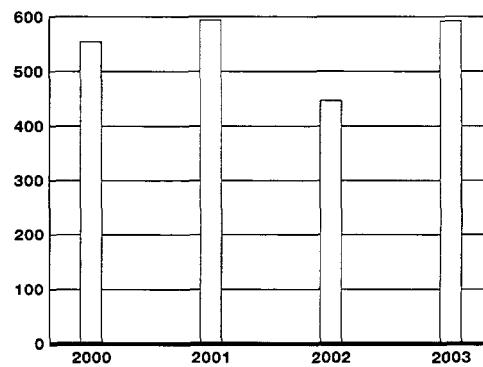

Over the past four years, our energy-conservation efforts have saved enough energy to supply 900,000 European households with electricity each year.

□ Cogeneration: Cogen is the simultaneous production of electricity and steam using clean-burning natural gas. It is nearly twice as efficient as traditional methods of producing steam and power separately. ExxonMobil has more than 80 cogen facilities that produce nearly 2,900 megawatts of electricity at 30 refineries, chemical plants and natural gas processing plants worldwide. Cogeneration has reduced carbon dioxide emissions by almost 7 million tonnes per year (this is roughly equivalent to removing almost 1 million cars from the world's roads). Over the next two years, we will invest $1 billion in additional cogen capacity at our facilities in Texas, Wyoming and Ontario, Canada. These facilities will increase ExxonMobil's cogeneration capacity by an additional 30 percent.

□ Flaring: Flaring is the burning of some of the natural gas that is produced during oil production. In 2003, ExxonMobil flaring returned to prior levels, which were held back in Nigeria by OPEC production quotas in 2002. Although our flaring volumes increased, we remain the lowest contributor of gas flaring in Nigeria relative to other operators.

Flaring from Worldwide Oil and Gas Production Operations

Comparative Flaring Volumes — Nigeria

Millions of Cubic Feet per Day

In addition, we have announced plans to eliminate gas flaring in Nigeria while increasing daily oil production capacity by 145,000 barrels. The project will begin operating in 2006, ahead of government targets, and will reduce GHG emissions at our operated facilities by more than 5 million tonnes per year.

Advanced Fuels and Vehicle Systems Research

In the context of the use of petroleum in the overall economy, it is estimated that 87 percent of GHG emissions arise from consumer use of fuels. To at least the year 2030, the automotive industry projects that internal combustion engines will become increasingly efficient and continue to power more than 95 percent of all vehicles sold. Therefore, technologies that improve fuel efficiency and the emissions performance of these systems could substantially reduce environmental impacts for decades to come. ExxonMobil, alone and in collaboration with others, is investigating new approaches to internal combustion engine technology. These include:

Optimizing Systems: Gasoline and diesel fuels are blends of various molecules, and each fuel behaves slightly differently during combustion.

Working with Toyota, we are investigating in detail what happens when different blends of molecules are burned in an internal combustion engine. The knowledge gained will likely lead to new fuel and vehicle systems that have higher efficiency and lower emissions than current engines.

New Combustion Technologies: Called Homogeneous Charge Compression Ignition, these advanced engines would combine the efficiency of a high-compression diesel engine with the lower emissions of a gasoline engine. Better understanding of fuel chemistry and combustion could lead to a

At ExxonMobil's laboratories in New Jersey, researchers are working to gain a better understanding of fuel chemistry and combustion. This research could lead to a 30 percent improvement in fuel efficiency over today's gasoline engines.

30 percent improvement in fuel efficiency over today's diesel engines, with a resulting reduction in smog-causing emissions and carbon dioxide.

Hybrid Engines: Another promising extension of internal combustion engine technology is the hybrid engine. Hybrids use a gasoline engine for steady speeds and an electric motor for extra power during the more energy-demanding phases of start-up and acceleration. In city driving, hybrid vehicles are 50 percent more fuel-efficient than traditional gasoline engines. Broad use and the continued development of hybrid engines could have a significant, relatively near-term, impact on carbon dioxide emissions from personal vehicles.

Fuel Cell Research

For a longer-term approach to reducing greenhouse gas emissions and increasing energy efficiency, significant research related to hydrogen-powered automotive fuel cell systems is under way.

Fuel cells combine hydrogen and oxygen in a chemical reaction that creates electricity very efficiently. These systems offer the potential of zero vehicle emissions and twice the fuel economy of today's internal combustion engines. However, a number of challenges must be met before hydrogen can become a viable transport fuel. Among these are storage, safety and the high cost of production and distribution. It is also important to thoroughly understand the full supply-chain costs and greenhouse gas emissions that would be associated with hydrogen production and distribution before hydrogen is consumed on the vehicle. ExxonMobil is engaged in a range of activities to address the many development challenges associated with hydrogen. These include:

- California Fuel Cell Partnership
- European Commission's Contact Group on Alternative Fuels
- U.S. Department of Energy's Hydrogen Safety Review Panel
- European Road Transport R&D Advisory Council
- U.S. Department of Energy's Freedom Car and Fuel Partnership

Global Climate and Energy Project (GCEP)

In addition to our own research and industrial partnerships, ExxonMobil is providing $100 million to Stanford University's Global Climate and Energy Project – a major long-term research program designed to accelerate the development of commercially viable energy technologies that can dramatically lower GHG emissions on a worldwide scale.

ExxonMobil is joined by other major sponsors including General Electric, Schlumberger and Toyota. In carrying out the program, GCEP intends to establish research efforts outside Stanford at other institutions in Europe, Asia and the United States.

GCEP projects initiated in 2003 and currently under way include an integrated assessment of technology options, studies of hydrogen production and use, advanced combustion-system research, and studies of geologic sequestration of carbon dioxide. Projects commencing in 2004 include an assessment of carbon dioxide capture and storage and four new projects researching the use of hydrogen as an energy carrier.

A researcher uses a ring dye laser as part of a GCEP effort to develop smart sensors for advanced combustion systems. The outcome of this research may lead to substantial improvements in engine performance and air quality.

In all its research, GCEP seeks advanced technologies that can be adopted globally, not just in industrialized countries. This is critically important, as it is expected that about 80 percent of the growth in carbon emissions through 2020 will occur in developing countries. More information about GCEP and current research projects is available at <http://gcep.stanford.edu>.

Further detailed information on ExxonMobil's view of the key business challenges and opportunities associated with likely energy trends, greenhouse gas emissions and alternative energy options is available in our Report on Energy Trends, Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Alternative Energy.

2003 Safety Performance

- International Safety Leadership
- Security
- Strategic Health Management
- Global Health Pandemics
- Malaria Prevention & Treatment
- HIV/AIDS Education & Prevention
- 2003 Safety Awards

ExxonMobil's goal is zero injuries or illnesses. We strive for an accident-free workplace and an environment where Nobody Gets Hurt. The requirement for safety is an overriding priority at all of our operations and facilities. We believe a company's commitment to the highest standards of safety, health and environmental care is indicative of superior performance in other aspects of its operations.

We are taking a number of innovative steps to improve our safety and health performance. Key among these are a new global information management system to collect, analyze and better learn from safety-incident data and implementation of an industry-leading malaria-control program.

2003 Safety Performance

ExxonMobil continued to be an industry leader in safety in 2003, with the fewest number of safety incidents in company history. Regrettably, however, 23 employee and contractor fatalities occurred during the year. We are committed to learning from every incident, and we will use the lessons learned from our investigations to further improve operational safety performance.

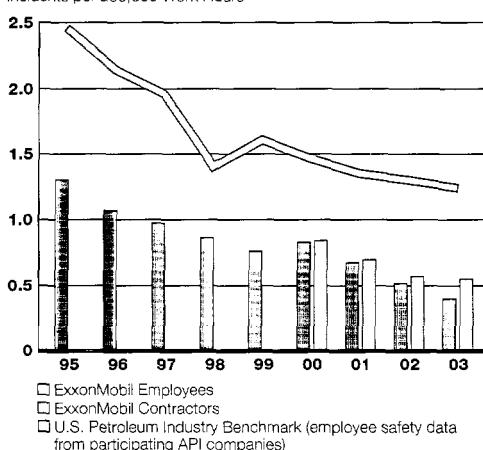

In 2003, ExxonMobil's operations were recognized for exceptional safety performance around the world (see page 16).

International Safety Leadership

To promote safety and share best practices internationally, ExxonMobil is contributing $1 million to underwrite a five-year program of the U.S. National Safety Council. The program will honor companies that demonstrate commendable international leadership and excellence in safety, health and environmental (SH&E) performance.

Winners of the Robert W. Campbell Award will be internationally showcased to help promote wider use of best practices and document case studies linking SH&E and improved business performance.

Security

ExxonMobil has had a longstanding commitment to the protection of its people, facilities, information and other assets. We are committed to continuing to reinforce the importance of security and implementing appropriate and balanced security measures. These measures take into account perceived risks, the cost and practicality of potential countermeasures, relationships with communities in which we operate, compliance with applicable laws, and recognition of social norms. To ensure that these goals are achieved, our systematic approach to security is being integrated into our Operations Integrity Management System. Our considerations for integrated security management include:

Management Leadership – security is integrated with other business activities as a line-management responsibility. Security measures are implemented and communicated with internal and external consultation.

Intelligence/Threat Assessment – a systematic approach to assessing potential threats is used and includes community input and dialogue.

Risk Management – security and response plans are designed to minimize assessed risks, consistent with the law and respect for human rights.

Personnel Protection – best practices are used to protect all personnel against threats resulting from their employment.

Incident Investigation/Analysis – incidents are investigated, recorded, reported and analyzed. Practices are modified based on findings.

Operations Protection – technology and security personnel are integrated into a unified approach. Force, including firearms, can be used only with restraint and as a last resort, consistent with applicable law.

Emergency Procedures – effective response plans are developed and maintained to help protect employees, the public, the environment and company assets.

Management of Change – changes requiring modification of security practices are identified and acted upon.

Strategic Health Management

For decades, ExxonMobil has worked with governments and other public health providers to improve health and safety wherever we operate. In support of this effort, in the late 1990s we pioneered Strategic Health Management, an initiative that has been widely adopted within the energy industry. It provides a framework for incorporating workforce and community health considerations into major project-development plans.

The emphasis is on primary health care initiatives, with a focus on strengthening existing resources and fostering local program development and ownership. Activities are based on assessments of the health status and needs of local communities and are guided by strategic health plans.

Global Health Pandemics

Malaria, HIV/AIDS and tuberculosis are having a major human and economic impact in sub-Saharan Africa and are a significant and emerging threat in China, India and Latin America. We are actively working to assist local and international efforts to fight these diseases and improve public health.

At a local level our approach includes:

- Systematic and continuous workplace-based prevention programs and education
- Facilitating employees' and their dependents' affordable access to superior locally available health care
- Working directly with governments, non-governmental organizations and other public-health providers to strengthen community-based health-sector capacity (this includes health-worker training, facilities and materials)

Internationally, we fund and collaborate with multiple business and medical professional associations as well as the World Health Organization (WHO), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the World Bank, the Global Business Council on HIV/AIDS, the World Economic Forum on Global Health Initiatives and the Corporate Council on Africa.

Technicians undertake malaria laboratory training at Soyo Municipal Hospital, Angola. ExxonMobil provided funding to upgrade the hospital's malaria treatment and laboratory facilities.

Malaria Prevention and Treatment

Every year there are at least 300 million acute cases of malaria globally, resulting in more than a million deaths. About 90 percent of these deaths occur in Africa, mostly in young children. The World Health Organization (WHO) estimates that malaria costs Africa more than US$12 billion annually and has significantly slowed economic growth.

ExxonMobil helps fund two malaria-focused drug-research programs, the Harvard Malaria Initiative, which investigates drug-resistance mechanisms, and the Medicines for Malaria Venture, which seeks development of new effective and affordable anti-malarial drugs.

ExxonMobil has distributed 39,000 insecticide-treated bed nets to 171 villages in Chad.

In addition, since 2001 ExxonMobil has supported Roll Back Malaria, a global partnership founded by the WHO, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) and the World Bank, with the goal of halving the world's malaria burden by 2010. ExxonMobil is actively involved in projects in Chad, Cameroon, Angola, Equatorial Guinea, Nigeria and Zambia.

ExxonMobil worked with the WHO to develop long-lasting, insecticide-treated mosquito netting to replace conventional bed nets that require retreatment after a few months. We helped design the improved material and donated 360 tons of polyethylene resin to manufacture it. A pilot project is under way with the goal of establishing sustainable manufacturing capability in Africa to produce large quantities of the improved bed nets.

"The use of long-lasting nets brings us to a crucial point in the war against malaria. If we can get these kinds of nets into the homes of the people who need them most, we can take a huge stride toward stopping a disease that kills 3,000 children every day."

Carol Bellamy
UNICEF Executive Director
Roll Back Malaria Media Release
September 26, 2003

In Chad, we distributed 39,000 insecticide-treated bed nets to 171 local villages. In Angola, we provided funding to upgrade malaria laboratory and treatment facilities at Soyo Municipal Hospital. In Zambia, we funded discount vouchers through antenatal clinics to be used for the purchase of bed nets.

HIV/AIDS Education & Prevention

Around 40 million people are living with HIV/AIDS worldwide, and more than 5 million people were newly infected in 2003. Sub-Saharan Africa is the most severely affected region in the world, with more than 26 million people infected.

ExxonMobil is working with our employees and the communities where we operate to stop the spread of this disease.

In Chad and Cameroon, we hold regular education sessions for our employees and contractors to explain prevention methods. We have also funded a mobile HIV/AIDS-prevention-training van that tours oilfield-area villages.

In Angola, we help finance a public-private partnership that supports a variety of community-focused education and prevention campaigns.

Building on these and other activities, ExxonMobil has committed to a comprehensive HIV/AIDS workplace program across its operations in Africa.

Elements include:

- Workplace Prevention Education Program
- Medical & benefits plans where HIV/AIDS is addressed like other illnesses
- Community projects to help strengthen local health care capacity

For the workplace program, ExxonMobil is working with Population Services International (PSI), a non-profit organization whose mission is to promote and advance healthy behavior. PSI has staff in 30 African countries and has extensive experience in workplace education.

Internationally, ExxonMobil is an active member of various global business forums that focus on HIV/AIDS. These include the Global Business Coalition on HIV/AIDS and the World Economic Forum's Global Health Initiative.

- Project Assessment and Consultation
- Transparency
- Human Rights
- Local Economic Development
- Supplier Diversity Program
- ExxonMobil Foundation & Contributions

Wherever ExxonMobil operates, we work to make a positive contribution and strengthen local communities. Conducting operations worldwide for more than 120 years across many cultures has taught us that there are unlimited challenges in meeting society's complex expectations. This is especially true in the case of developing nations, where we encounter significant geopolitical issues.

Our support of communities takes many forms, the most visible of which is economic. Globally, in 2003 ExxonMobil distributed in excess of $244 billion in a variety of ways. Our operations generated more than $70 billion in taxes paid to local, state and national governments. That equates to $200 million per day of government income around the world.

In addition, we purchased goods and services worth nearly $133 billion from other companies. We spent $11 billion in salaries, wages and benefits for employees and contractors, more than $14 billion in dividend payments, share purchases and distribution to debt holders, and more than $15 billion on capital and exploration expenditures to meet future world energy needs. We also provided philanthropic donations to educational, cultural and charitable organizations (see page 21).

2003 Distribution of Receipts

U.S. Dollars. All Figures Rounded

We strongly support and promote education and training and, where possible, use qualified and competitive local suppliers of goods and services. When operating in communities that lack local capabilities, we work with governments and others to develop them. We also facilitate the transfer of knowledge and skills.

We are making a continuous effort to improve the quality of our community engagement. We meet regularly with community leaders, community associations and non-governmental organizations who are interested in our operations. This dialogue helps us better understand the viewpoints of the diverse communities in which we operate.

Project Assessment and Consultation

Before investing in any major project, ExxonMobil prepares comprehensive environmental and social assessments. This formal process collects baseline data through field programs and outside sources to identify the potential risks to communities in which we intend to operate. Plans are developed and actions taken, including needed modifications to planned design, construction techniques and/or operating procedures.

ExxonMobil policies, practices and philanthropic activities work to help improve living standards in countries and communities where we operate.

These comprehensive assessments form the basis for ongoing monitoring of the project in the areas of environmental and social performance.

Transparency

ExxonMobil pays taxes and royalties to host governments in all countries where we produce oil and gas. As a private company, however, ExxonMobil cannot dictate how various governments manage this income.

There have recently been a number of initiatives that seek public disclosure of such payments so that they may be compared with the oil and gas income disclosed by the host governments. ExxonMobil supports transparency that:

- Applies universally to all companies attempting to do business with a country
- Protects proprietary information
- Does not violate contractual obligations or the laws of host countries

As noted by the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund and others, reporting of payments by extractive industries is not simple or straightforward. We believe that the key to achieving progress in the area of financial transparency is government-to-government dialogue, with the assistance of multilateral organizations.

ExxonMobil has been constructively involved in the dialogue regarding the U.K. Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative. This includes participating in the June 2003 meeting in London keynoted by British Prime Minister Tony Blair.

ExxonMobil's position is consistent with the positions of the majority of participating governments, industry organizations and other international oil companies. There remain many uncertainties and practical issues that need resolution before the initiative can be adopted. Like many other participants, ExxonMobil believes the best way to resolve these uncertainties in the reporting guidelines is to undertake a pilot project, and we stand ready to participate in a dialogue to foster implementation of such a program.

"As a private company, ExxonMobil cannot dictate what governments do with their money. But what we can do is work with international institutions like the World Bank to provide a mechanism such that there is some transparency with regard to where the money is going. The Chad-Cameroon Project Revenue Management Plan is one example."

Lee R. Raymond
ExxonMobil Chairman and CEO

Chad-Cameroon Project Revenue Management Plan

The Chad-Cameroon Project began construction in 2000 and exported first oil in 2003. The World Bank worked closely with the government of Chad to develop a law regarding petroleum-revenue management, which was adopted by the National Assembly of Chad. The Revenue Management Plan law sets out a process for long-term management of the revenue, ensuring that project benefits reach the citizens of Chad. Oil royalties and dividends will not be mingled with the country's general funds but will be dedicated almost entirely to high-priority poverty-relief programs. A specific portion will be dedicated to projects directly benefiting the communities of the producing area.

A key aspect of the Revenue Management Plan is the establishment of an independent college for control and monitoring of oil revenue, plus the inclusion of a number of audit controls. A series of audits and reports will also be issued and distributed publicly, including to the World Bank Group.

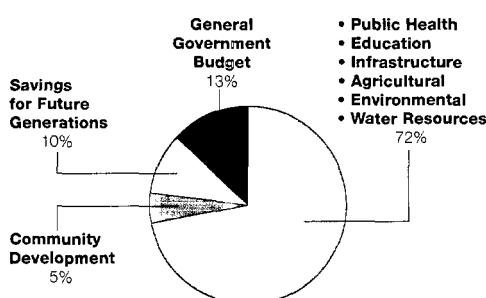

First oil revenue was available in late 2003 and managed in accordance with the Revenue Management Plan. More information about the Chad-Cameroon Project is available at essochad.com or worldbank.org.

Chad Revenue Management Plan

Human Rights

ExxonMobil is steadfast in promoting respect for human rights throughout the world. We believe corporations play an important role in supporting human rights and that our presence in developing countries positively influences issues relating to the treatment of people.

We condemn human rights violations in any form. We seek to be responsible corporate citizens and recognize that we have both the opportunity and responsibility to improve the quality of life wherever we do business. ExxonMobil's Standards of Business Conduct (see page 3) provide a worldwide framework for responsible operations. These standards are consistent with the spirit and intent of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as they apply to private companies and the Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work of the 1998 International Labour Organization (ILO) Declaration.

The declaration sets an obligation on member states to promote and realize the following principles:

- Freedom of association and effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining
- Elimination of all forms of forced or compulsory labor
- Effective abolition of child labor
- Elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation

Throughout ExxonMobil's worldwide operations, we forbid the use of children in our workforce. All ExxonMobil employees are above the legal employment age in the country of their employment.

During 2003, ExxonMobil continued to participate in the U.S.-U.K. dialogue on Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights. We see these principles as affirming the constructive role that business can play in supporting human rights. Dialogue participants include energy and mining companies, governments and non-governmental organizations. Through our participation in this ongoing dialogue, ExxonMobil seeks to share our best practices and learn from others' experiences in the areas of human rights and security management.

"ExxonMobil is also making progress in implementing the Voluntary Principles for Security and Human Rights regarding security for operations in the oil and mining sectors."

Local Economic Development

As a major employer in many developing countries, ExxonMobil recognizes its responsibility to support the development of local economic capacity by providing training and development opportunities for local businesses.

Our Chad-Cameroon Project provides a leading example of such support. The project spent more than $780 million with 2,200 local businesses. The project also brought significant economic growth to local economies through investments in infrastructure such as roads and bridges that now connect local villages to outside markets. In relation to employment, some 35,000 people held jobs during construction, 80 percent of whom were citizens of Chad or Cameroon. In addition to direct employment, the annual growth rate of Chad's gross domestic product has soared to nearly 11 percent since construction began, compared with a rate of just 1 percent in prior years. Economic growth is projected to rise even higher in 2004 as project revenues begin flowing to the two governments.

"Many jobs have been created and even if most were only temporary, many workers are now trained in skilled trades and are ready to work on other sites in Cameroon and elsewhere."

Small Business Assistance on Sakhalin Island

ExxonMobil has recently joined forces with the U.S. Agency for International Development to expand a micro-finance program into the northern Sakhalin districts of Nogliki and Okha. The aim is to help the local community capture more of the benefits of economic development from investments in the oil and gas sector by giving assistance to the best entrepreneurs in the districts.

The three-year program will provide business training and financing to those who have no collateral for conventional bank loans. The program should reach self-sustainability in a few years and continue to provide small-business financing for years to come.

Nigerian Development Assistance

ExxonMobil has committed $5 million to support the Ibom Rice Project in Akwa Ibom State, Nigeria. The first project of its kind in West Africa is part of an effort to enhance rice farming and other agriculture in Nigeria, which in 2002 imported $1 billion of rice. The project will increase local food production and boost the Nigerian economy. It features three components:

A Farmer Field School is a fully mechanized and irrigated working farm where local farmers receive training in modern farming techniques. Some 2,000 farmers are expected to receive training during the school's first three years of operation. A Rice Milling Plant will process locally grown rice and other grains and will serve as an economic driver for the entire project. An Agricultural Training and Technology Center will provide training courses for farmers, business people and students.

In another Nigerian project, ExxonMobil is involved in a three-year partnership to enhance economic development within rural communities.

The partnership provides credit to small enterprises and targets people living below the poverty level. Major program components include micro-credit loans, skills training and support for innovative projects to build community capacity. The partnership provided loans to 213 recipients in 2003.

Supplier Diversity Program

ExxonMobil believes supporting minority-owned and women-owned businesses builds stronger communities and produces solid business results. Our Supplier Diversity Program in the United States ensures that qualified minority-owned and woman-owned suppliers are included in our procurement-sourcing process. In addition to offering contracting opportunities, ExxonMobil funds scholarships for minority suppliers to attend the University of Virginia's Darden Graduate School of Business Administration and Northwestern University's Kellogg Graduate School of Management Executive Program.

ExxonMobil senior executives, buyers and supplier-diversity advocates have invested their time and expertise in serving on regional councils and committees dedicated to supplier-diversity development, as well as providing training courses to suppliers in negotiations, business plan development and accounting.

In 2003, ExxonMobil was recognized by several organizations for its supplier partnerships. Awards included Corporation of the Year from the Business Consortium Fund of the National Minority Supplier Development Council; Corporate Champion of the Year from the Women's Business Enterprise Alliance; and Corporation of the Year by the Houston Native American Chamber of Commerce. We were also recognized by DiversityBusiness.com as one of America's leading companies in promoting multicultural business opportunities.

ExxonMobil Foundation and Contributions

The ExxonMobil Foundation is the primary philanthropic arm of the corporation in the United States. It engages in a broad range of activities focusing on communities where ExxonMobil has significant operations. The foundation also supports research and dissemination on topics of national interest to the energy industry. Focus areas include education, health and the environment.

During 2003, ExxonMobil affiliates worldwide and the ExxonMobil Foundation combined to provide $103 million in charitable contributions and community spending, with $37 million of this dedicated to education. Included in that amount was $22.4 million that ExxonMobil and its employees and retirees donated to 902 U.S. colleges and universities through a three-to-one matching gift program. Initiated in 1962, the company's matching gift program has provided more than $266 million in unrestricted grants to colleges and universities.

Children's Encyclopedias in Azerbaijan

When Azerbaijan gained independence in 1991, conversion to a Latin alphabet was a key national priority. The Latin alphabet is now used nationwide by government agencies, the news media, the scientific community and the general public.

ExxonMobil provided funding to develop and publish the first children's encyclopedia in the Azerbaijani Latin alphabet. The 16-volume set covers history, art, music, science, technology and many other topics. Project contributors included Azerbaijani writers, scientists, artists and illustrators.

Thousands of these colorful encyclopedias were distributed to schools, libraries and orphanages and to children in refugee camps who have limited access to educational materials. Today the encyclopedias are used as key reading texts in schools throughout the nation.

Kazakh economics students are benefiting from ExxonMobil's support of the Kazakhstan Institute of Management, Economic and Strategic Research.

Economics Education in Kazakhstan

In 2003, ExxonMobil contributed funding to the Kazakhstan Institute of Management, Economic and Strategic Research (KIMEP). KIMEP was founded to educate a new cadre of Kazakhstani to hold leadership positions in business and government. The grant was dedicated to the two-year master of arts program in economics. In the absence of an internationally accredited university in Kazakhstan, the grant also sponsored activities that fulfill certain international accreditation requirements.

Internships in Angola

In Angola, ExxonMobil works with the three universities in Luanda and seven humanitarian organizations to provide university students with internships. The program has been modeled on ExxonMobil's successful Community Summer Jobs Program in the United States. Since start-up in 2001, the number of participants has doubled each year. In 2003, 30 university students participated in the program, which seeks to provide them with exposure to human-service organizations and the important work they are doing in Angola. Participating students receive a stipend and valuable work experience to help prepare them and their country for a better future.

Environmental Education in Brazil

A program funded in part by ExxonMobil in Brazil promotes environmental awareness for school children living in or near Brazil's Mamirauá and Amana Sustainable Development Reserves. These adjoining reserves, located along the Amazon River, cover more than 13,000 square miles. Combined with Brazil's Jau National Park, the region represents the largest area of protected rain forest on Earth.

The initiative provides students and teachers with a range of educational programs relating to biodiversity of the wetland and upland ecosystems. Most activities occur aboard a two-story floating structure that provides classrooms, laboratories, a library and support facilities. Solar energy powers lights and other equipment aboard the floating structure, which has its own sanitation system suitable for wetland areas. Because its mobility enables the center to visit any area within the reserves, educational programs are made available to a wide range of students and teachers. In its first year of operation, the program reached more than 120 teachers and 2,500 students.

The Sociedade Civil Mamirauá received the 2004 UNDP Equator Prize in recognition of an outstanding community initiative associated with a World Heritage Site.

Children with Special Needs in Qatar

In Qatar, ExxonMobil is contributing funds to the Al Shafallah Center for Children with Special Needs. The center provides services to improve the lives of children with disabilities.

ExxonMobil has also contributed funding to support first-aid training courses for more than 1,000 students and teachers. The training covers cardiopulmonary resuscitation and other first-aid procedures. The program was organized by Hamad Medical Corporation in coordination with Qatar's Ministry of Education.

ExxonMobil funding helped establish a floating classroom that facilitates environmental education on the Amazon River in Brazil.

Worldwide Workforce

On the Run store, Guatemala

- Global Recruitment and Diversity
- Partnerships and Internships
- Work Environment
- Cross-Cultural Awareness
- Career Education and Training
- Leadership Development

ExxonMobil conducts business in more than 200 countries and territories on six continents. Our workforce is, by its very nature, both culturally and geographically diverse.

We strive to maintain positive, productive and supportive work environments throughout our global operations.

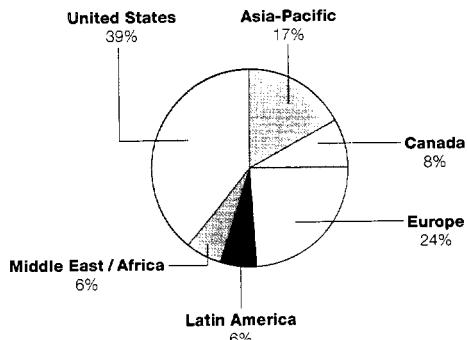

We have long-established programs that help employees develop their skills, and we work to maintain and nurture a diverse and highly talented workforce.

Our compensation and career-development programs are designed to attract and retain talented men and women for long-term careers. We reward results and provide consistent and fair treatment. The programs include competitive salaries and comprehensive benefit programs that consider industry standards, local customs and legal requirements. To ensure we meet our compensation objectives, ExxonMobil participates in regular surveys with other major companies from a number of industry sectors.

ExxonMobil's Workforce Diversity Framework requires formal plans to attract, develop and retain a premier workforce that is representative of the regions in which we operate.

Workforce by Region

Year-End 2003

At year-end 2003, ExxonMobil's worldwide workforce numbered approximately 88,000 employees. This represented an overall decrease of about 4 percent from 2002 and largely reflected various efficiency initiatives, particularly in our more-mature operating regions. Conversely, and reflective of our major investment focus, our Africa/Middle East total regular workforce increased by about 9 percent from 2000 to 2003.

In 2003, approximately 40 percent of our employee population was located within the United States and 60 percent internationally, of whom about 4 percent were expatriates. (Expatriates numbered nearly 3,200 and are defined as those working outside of their home countries on ExxonMobil assignments.)

Women comprise about 25 percent of both our worldwide and U.S. workforce, excluding company-operated retail stations.

Global Recruitment and Diversity

ExxonMobil's global recruiting process targets the best and brightest candidates around the world. In 2003, we hired more than 1,200 professional employees worldwide. Forty percent of these were women, and 64 percent were hired outside the United States. (New-hire professional employees

Our workforce spans six continents, and it is the knowledge, skill and professionalism of our employees that are the underlying drivers of our financial and operating success.

are classified as such at the time of employment and typically bring a highly technical or specialized skill set to the business.)

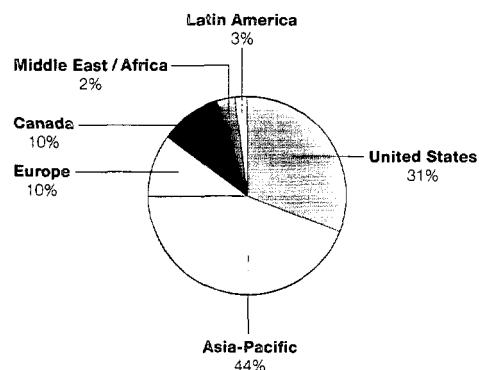

Notably, many of our new employees are from the world's developing countries. For example, in 2003 we employed an additional 62 individuals from Chad and 78 from Angola in our upstream operations. Of these, 27 percent were in management or professional positions.

In countries where we have significant operations and the available workforce lacks access to local training or education, we typically fund and implement our own technical and specific apprentice training using both in-country resources and often international educational opportunities.

Training – Angola

ExxonMobil is investing significant resources in the training of Angolan nationals to work in the petroleum industry. In 2004, Esso Exploration Angola Ltd. will spend $19 million in this effort, with similar anticipated expenditures in 2005 and 2006. Funds are used to train operations technicians, send national professionals on expatriate developmental assignments, provide scholarships to Angolans studying in U.S. colleges, and provide formal functional and language training for national staff. It also funds secondment assignments in ExxonMobil affiliates for Sonangol professionals and an educational-refund program for national employees.

NAACP Award

In 2003, the American National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) honored ExxonMobil as Exhibitor of the Year for the company's longstanding support of the NAACP and its programs.

Partnerships and Internships

To strengthen our external relationships and hiring strategies, in 2003 we provided more than 800 intern and co-op assignments to top students throughout the world. Many other students received financial support through ExxonMobil's grants program for colleges and universities.

Work Environment

Harassment and Discrimination

At ExxonMobil, harassment and/or discrimination in any form by or toward employees, contractors, suppliers and customers is prohibited. This broad policy applies throughout the world and encompasses all forms of discrimination, including discrimination based on sexual orientation. We treat all individuals with respect and dignity.

Cross-Cultural Awareness

As ExxonMobil's operations continue expanding around the globe, it is essential to enhance employee skills in communicating and working across cultures. A number of targeted programs and workshops provide employees with opportunities to improve their

Employment & Training on Sakhalin Island

On Sakhalin Island in Russia, 59 new employees have begun technical training for positions to operate the production facilities currently under construction. The trainees were selected from more than 1,500 applicants and are the second group of trainees hired by ExxonMobil. An initial group of 48 trainees was selected in November 2002. Of these, 34 are already receiving advanced skills training at U.S. and Canadian technical institutions.

In addition to these long-term jobs in the future production organization, approximately 13,000 Russian jobs are expected during the short-term construction phase, either directly or indirectly associated with the Sakhalin-1 Project.

cross-cultural effectiveness. The programs vary and provide training based on business needs that range from infrequent contact with people in global locations to living and working in other countries.

Career Education and Training

In 2003, our training expenditures totaled $48 million and reached approximately 31,000 employees worldwide. To strengthen our technical capacity, we conducted nearly 500 in-house technical courses for about 14,000 employees.

Leadership Development

ExxonMobil identifies and develops future leaders on a worldwide basis, drawing upon our diverse employee population. During 2003, 960 employees participated in ExxonMobil's senior-leadership development programs. Participants were selected from employees who are now, or who are expected to become, senior leaders of the corporation. Half of the participants were of nationalities other than American.

We currently have more than 120 Malaysians working in ExxonMobil assignments overseas, which is more than the number of expatriates we have working in Malaysia.

Re: Shareholder Proposal Submitted to Exxon Mobil

Dear Ms. Maples:

On behalf of Clean Yield Asset Management, which represents David Cunningham ("the Proponent"), the owner of common stock of Exxon Mobil ("Exxon Mobil" or "the Company"), and the proponent of a shareholder proposal filed with Exxon Mobil, I am responding to the letter, dated January 21, 2005, sent to the Securities and Exchange Commission on behalf of the Company, in which the company contends that the Proponent's shareholder proposal may be excluded from the Company's 2005 proxy statement by virtue of Rule 14a-8(i)(7), 14a-8(i)(3), and 14a-8(i)(10).

Having reviewed the shareholder proposal, as well as Rule 14a-8, it is my opinion that the Proponent's shareholder proposal must be included in Exxon Mobil's 2005 proxy statement and that it is not excludable by virtue of any of the sections cited.

The shareholder proposal requests that the independent directors of the Board of the Company prepare a report concerning the potential impacts of oil drilling on protected areas, and the implications of a policy of refraining from drilling in certain classes of protected areas. Among the cited examples of protected areas are IUCN Management Categories I-IV, Marine Management Categories I-V, World Heritage Sites, and national wildlife refuges (such as the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge).

Background

Biodiversity, that is the variety of life on Earth, is a critical issue, not only for Exxon Mobil and the oil industry, but for the future of our species. Scientists have consistently cited adequate habitat as a key requirement for preserving biodiversity. By its very nature, the oil industry infringes on wildlife habitat. Whether it be through the land occupied by its equipment, or the air pollution it generates, the oil industry can significantly alter the landscapes in which it operates. This can be damaging to wildlife, especially in areas that have been recognized internationally as sensitive ecological areas. Some of these areas have been protected to varying extents by the governments of the countries in which they reside, but this does not always mean that these areas will not be opened for oil and gas drilling, as is evidenced by current efforts to open the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

Rule 14a-8 Provides No Basis for Exclusion of the Resolution

The Company has asked the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “Staff”) for permission to exclude the shareholder proposal on three grounds: that the proposal interferes with the ordinary business operations of the Company; that the proposal is vague and indefinite, and, as a result, misleading; and that the proposal has already been substantially implemented by the Company.

Ordinary Business

Biodiversity and the oil industry’s operations in protected and sensitive areas is an important policy issue for Exxon Mobil and its peers. Evidence of this is the Energy and Biodiversity Initiative, an industry working group dedicated to developing best practices for oil companies seeking to protect biodiversity. The Company’s discussion of biodiversity on page 4 of its letter demonstrates that this is a significant issue with which the Company is deeply concerned. Therefore, the Company’s approach to operations in protected areas is a broad question of policy, and not a matter of ordinary business.

The Proponent does not seek a review of the potential environmental damage posed by operations in every single site mentioned in the Resolved clause. What the proposal requests is a report on the potential environmental damage that would be caused by operations in such sites in general. This will allow shareholders to know whether the Company’s operations are being responsibly evaluated and conducted.

Though the proposal relates to issues of risk, it is significantly different from the cases cited by the Company. In all three cases cited, the resolutions related to current risks in company operations, as opposed to potential risks or risks that may arise as a result of general company policies and practices. In the case of the Proponent’s resolution, this resolution is concerned with potential risks that may arise as a result of the Company’s conduct in protected and sensitive areas. This is a broader policy question than the risks posed by any particular operation in which the Company is already engaged.

Vague and Misleading

The Proponent’s proposal specifically outlines the type of report that it is requesting. Such a report would discuss the potential environmental damage that could result from drilling operations in areas such as those listed in the Resolved clause of the proposal.

The classifications of protected areas that are listed are widely known and could be easily sought out by interested shareholders. For example, a simple search engine request for the term "IUCN" on Google found almost 1.5 million entries, including the IUCN website, which was the first entry. IUCN and World Heritage Sites are recognized internationally as the best classifications of protected areas currently available. Furthermore, shareholders who do not know these classifications and do not seek out further information will at least know that the Proponent has spelled out the types of areas to be considered under our proposal; the context of the Resolved clause makes it clear that these are categories of areas that the Proponent considers to be "sensitive". The Proponent does not see how shareholders will be confused or unable to determine their vote on this proposal.

Though the Proponent does not believe that this proposal is vague or misleading, he would be willing to amend the proposal if necessary to avoid any potential confusion. Such a clarification could include references where interested shareholders could learn more about IUCN Management Categories I-IV, IUCN Marine Management Categories, and World Heritage Sites. Such an amendment of a vague term in either the proposal itself or in the supporting statement may be deemed acceptable by the Staff. Staff Legal Bulletin No. 14, Section E.5. (July 13, 2001).

Substantially Implemented

Neither the Company's Environment Policy nor its Corporate Citizenship Report provide any relevant information regarding the Company's approach to operations in protected or sensitive areas. Though the Company conducts legally mandated Environmental Impact Statements (EIS) before drilling in an area, this does not provide any information on whether and how the Company considers where to seek to operate. In the absence of such information, it is quite possible that the Company has decided where it would like to operate before conducting an EIS. The thrust of the Proponent's proposal, which is to request more information on how such decisions are made and the extent to which the environment is considered in them, is outside the scope of an EIS.

For the foregoing reasons, the Proponent's shareholder proposal is not excludable by virtue of Rule 14a-8 and the Company's no-action letter request should be denied.

Please feel free to contact me with respect to any questions in connection with this matter, or if the Staff wishes to receive any further information.

Sincerely,

Michael Leone

DIVISION OF CORPORATION FINANCE
INFORMAL PROCEDURES REGARDING SHAREHOLDER PROPOSALS

The Division of Corporation Finance believes that its responsibility with respect to matters arising under Rule 14a-8 [17 CFR 240.14a-8], as with other matters under the proxy rules, is to aid those who must comply with the rule by offering informal advice and suggestions and to determine, initially, whether or not it may be appropriate in a particular matter to recommend enforcement action to the Commission. In connection with a shareholder proposal under Rule 14a-8, the Division's staff considers the information furnished to it by the Company in support of its intention to exclude the proposals from the Company's proxy materials, as well as any information furnished by the proponent or the proponent's representative.

Although Rule 14a-8(k) does not require any communications from shareholders to the Commission's staff, the staff will always consider information concerning alleged violations of the statutes administered by the Commission, including argument as to whether or not activities proposed to be taken would be violative of the statute or rule involved. The receipt by the staff of such information, however, should not be construed as changing the staff's informal procedures and proxy review into a formal or adversary procedure.

It is important to note that the staff's and Commission's no-action responses to Rule 14a-8(j) submissions reflect only informal views. The determinations reached in these no-action letters do not and cannot adjudicate the merits of a company's position with respect to the proposal. Only a court such as a U.S. District Court can decide whether a company is obligated to include shareholder proposals in its proxy materials. Accordingly a discretionary determination not to recommend or take Commission enforcement action, does not preclude a proponent, or any shareholder of a company, from pursuing any rights he or she may have against the company in court, should the management omit the proposal from the company's proxy material.
