Lydian Securities Company, LLC

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Lydian Securities Company, LLC (the Company) as of December 31, 2005, and the related statements of income, changes in member's equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards of the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Lydian Securities Company, LLC at December 31, 2005, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles of the United States of America.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 - Organization and Nature of Business

The Company is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). The Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Lydian Wealth Management Holdings Company (Parent). The Company's Parent is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Lydian Trust Company. On January 1, 2004, the Company, then a corporation, merged with Lydian Securities Company, LLC, which had no assets or liabilities prior to the merger.

Note 2 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The financial statements are unconsolidated and only include the accounts of the Company, which is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Commissions

The Company does not act as the broker of record, therefore it places its customer orders for purchase and sale of securities through third party broker-dealers. The Company's commissions for these transactions are recorded on a trade-date basis as securities transactions occur.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income Taxes

The Company is included in the consolidated federal income tax return filed by the Lydian Trust Company. No provision for income taxes has been included in the financial statements because only parent companies are required to present provisions for income taxes for broker-dealers.

Note 3 - Related Party Transactions

The related party accounts receivable are non-interest bearing accounts receivable/payable to Lydian Wealth Management Holdings Company (Parent) and its wholly-owned subsidiaries.

On April 4, 2003, the Company and Lydian Wealth Management Company (also a wholly-owned subsidiary of Lydian Wealth Management Holdings Company) adopted an agreement which provides that Lydian Securities Company will be allocated its share of overhead expenses, such as rent, payroll, supplies, etc. paid by Lydian Wealth Management Company. These allocated expenses to the Company for the year ended December 31, 2005 totaled $2,344.

Note 4 - Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (SEC rule 15c3-1) which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2005, the Company had net capital of $122,323, which was $117,323 in excess of its required net capital of $5,000. The Company's net capital ratio was 0.1635 to 1 at December 31, 2005.

Note 5 - Concentrations

January 26, 2006

Lydian Securities Company, LLC

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Lydian Securities Company, LLC (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2005, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons.
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
