INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Members
CRI Securities, LLC:

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of CRI Securities, LLC (the Company) as of December 31, 2005 and the related statements of operations, changes in members' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that are being filed pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of CRI Securities, LLC as of December 31, 2005 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedule 1 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2005

(1) Basis of Presentation and Nature of Business

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP). CRI Securities, LLC (the Company), is a joint venture between Enterprise Holding Corporation (Enterprise), a 50% owner, and a certain outside owner. Enterprise is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Minnesota Life Insurance Company (Minnesota Life). The membership interests are ordinary membership interests of one class, without series and have rights provided by law subject to the member control agreement.

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, including reporting or disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, as of the statement of financial condition date and the reported amounts of revenues and expense during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

The Company is a registered broker-dealer in securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company was formed for the purpose of selling mutual fund shares and certain annuity and life insurance products of Minnesota Life.

The Company's results of operations may not be indicative of the results that would be obtained had it operated independently. Historically, and in the foreseeable future, the Company is dependent on Enterprise to fund its operating loss.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Commission Income and Expense

Commission income on mutual funds and annuity and life insurance products is recognized as earned. As commission income is recognized, the related commission expense due to sales agents is also recognized.

Securities

In the normal course of business, the Company periodically holds positions in its brokerage account. Ownership of these positions ultimately resides with, and is transferred to, customer accounts. The Company does not hold these positions for sale.

Statement of Cash Flows

The Company places its cash with high quality financial institutions and, at times, these balances may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insurance limit.

Risk Disclosures

Credit Risk:

Financial instruments, consisting primarily of cash and cash equivalents, potentially subject the Company to concentration risk. The Company places its cash and cash equivalents with high quality financial institutions in order to limit the potential credit exposure.

Legal/Regulatory Risk:

The risk that changes in the legal or regulatory environment in which the Company operates will result in increased competition, reduced demand for the Company's products or services, or additional unanticipated expenses incurred. The Company mitigates this risk by employing compliance and operating practices that identify and minimize an adverse impact of this risk. The Company additionally minimizes adverse impact of this risk through a varied offering of products and services.

New Pronouncements

In May 2005, the FASB issued Statement No. 154 (FAS 154), Accounting Changes and Error Corrections a replacement of APB Opinion No. 20 and FASB Statement No. 3. This document establishes retrospective application for a change in accounting principle, if practicable, unless specifically addressed in transition guidance within an accounting pronouncement. The document also provides guidance for determining whether retroactive treatment is impracticable. In addition the document addresses reporting of a correction of an error and restating previously issued financial statements. FAS 154 is effective for accounting changes and corrections of errors made in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2005. The Company expects no material impact to its consolidated results of operations or financial position due to the adoption of FAS 154.

(3) Related Party Transactions

Under a management services agreement with Minnesota Life and Securian Financial Services, Inc., the Company is charged expenses including allocations for occupancy costs, data processing, compensation, advertising and promotion and other administrative expenses, which Minnesota Life and Securian Financial Services incurs on behalf of the Company. For the year ended December 31, 2005, the Company was charged expenses totaling $1,550,392 of which $77,296 is included in due to affiliates at year end.

Under the joint venture agreement, fees (calculated as a percentage of commission revenue) are paid to a certain outside owner. For the year ended December 31, 2005, these fees totaled $340,618, of which $34,995 was included in accounts payable at year end.

A company affiliated with the outside owner receives management and administrative fees. These fees include occupancy cost, compensation, advertising and promotion and other administrative expenses. They are reimbursed based on amounts billed. For the year ended December 31, 2005, these management and administrative fees were $2,462,347, of which $235,022 was included in accounts payable at year end.

(4) Income Taxes

The Company is a limited liability company and is being treated as a partnership for federal and state income tax purposes. Under this arrangement, taxes are not assessed at the partnership level, but any taxable income, expense, gain, loss, or credit is passed through to its owners based on each owner's distributive interest in accordance with the current membership agreement.

(5) Net Capital Requirements

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital as defined under such provisions. Net capital and the related net capital ratio may fluctuate on a daily basis. At December 31, 2005, the Company had net capital and a net capital requirement of $868,668 and $50,000, respectively. The Company's net capital ratio (ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital) was 0.69 to 1 at December 31, 2005.

(6) Rule 15c3-3

The Company clears all customer transactions on a fully disclosed basis with a clearing broker-dealer. The Company does not hold customer funds or safekeep customer securities and is therefore, exempt from Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission under subsection (k)2(ii). Under this exemption, the "Computation for Determination of Reserve Requirements" and "Information Relating to the Possession or Control Requirements" are not required.

(7) Member Contributions

During 2005, the Company received a $1,000,000 member contribution from Enterprise. This contribution was made in the form of cash.

(8) Contingencies

The Company may be involved in various pending or threatened litigation arising out of the normal course of business. In the opinion of management, the ultimate resolution of such litigation will not have a material adverse effect on the financial position or the results of the Company.

Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Controls Required by SEC Rule 17a-5

The Members
CRI Securities, LLC:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of CRI Securities, LLC (the Company) for the year ended December 31, 2005, we consider its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal controls.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System
3. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods are subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Members, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
