BRIGHTON SECURITIES CORP.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2005

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Business - The Corporation is a broker/dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). The Corporation is a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD) and is registered to solicit business in eighteen states. The Corporation is an "introducing broker" and primarily earns commissions on the buying and selling of financial instruments. The Corporation also provides fee-based financial planning and income tax preparation services. The Corporation's customers are primarily located in the Rochester, New York area.

Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expense during the reporting period. Actual results can differ from those estimates.

Basis of Accounting - The Corporation reports on the accrual basis of accounting which recognizes income when earned and expenses when incurred.

Securities Transactions - Commissions and related clearing expenses are recorded on a trade date basis as securities transactions occur.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - Cash and cash equivalents include time deposits, certificates of deposit, and all highly liquid debt instruments with original maturities of nine months or less. The Corporation maintains cash and cash equivalents at financial institutions which periodically may exceed federally insured amounts.

Inventory of Marketable Securities - Pursuant to the reporting requirements of brokers/dealers, marketable securities are valued at market value and securities not readily marketable are valued at fair value as determined by the Board of Directors. The resulting difference between cost and market value (fair value) is included in income.

Commissions Receivable - Commissions receivable at the balance sheet date primarily represent amounts due from the Corporation's clearing agent, First Clearing Corporation, and were received, in full, on January 3, 2006.

Property, Equipment and Depreciation - Property and equipment are stated at cost. When retired, or otherwise disposed of, the related cost and accumulated depreciation are cleared from the respective accounts and the net difference, less any amount realized from the disposition, is reflected in income.

Depreciation is provided for on straight-line and declining balance methods over the following estimated useful lives:

Leasehold improvements	7-39 years
Furniture and fixtures	5-10 years
Equipment	5- 7 years

Other Assets - Other assets represents acquired intangible assets including customer lists and employment and nonsolicitation agreements. These assets are being amortized on the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives to the Corporation, which range from three to seven years.

Advertising Costs - The Corporation expenses all advertising and marketing expenses as incurred. Advertising and marketing expense for the year ended December 31, 2005 was $63,427.

5. NET CAPITAL

The Corporation is required to maintain a minimum net capital balance of $100,000 in accordance with the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission. At December 31, 2005, the Corporation's excess net capital, computed in accordance with the rules, amounts to $359,541.

The Corporation sponsors a 401(k) profit sharing plan which covers all full time employees. Contributions to the profit sharing plan consist of a Corporation matching contribution plus any additional contributions made at the discretion of the Corporation's Board of Directors. The matching provision requires the Corporation to match 50% of employee deferrals up to 2% of the employee's salary. Total Corporation contributions for the year ended December 31, 2005, amounted to $157,186.

7. INCOME TAX MATTERS

These sections of federal and state income tax law provide that, in lieu of corporation income taxes, the stockholders separately account for their pro rata shares of the corporation's items of income, deductions, losses and credits. As a result of this election, no income taxes have been recognized in the accompanying financial statements, except for the New York State Franchise Tax on S Corporations.

8. OFF-BALANCE SHEET CREDIT RISK AND CONCENTRATIONS

As discussed in Note 1, the Corporation executes transactions and introduces them to a Clearing Broker on a fully disclosed basis. The Clearing Broker processes transactions comprising approximately 70% of the Corporation's total revenue. The Corporation's exposure to credit risk associated with nonperformance of its customers in fulfilling their contractual obligations pursuant to securities transactions can be directly impacted by volatile trading markets which may impair the customers' ability to satisfy their obligations to the Corporation.

The Corporation, through its Clearing Broker, seeks to control these risks by requiring customers to maintain sufficient levels of collateral in compliance with various regulatory and internal guidelines. The Clearing Broker monitors required margin levels daily and, pursuant to such guidelines, requires the customers to deposit additional collateral, or reduce positions, when necessary. The Corporation's policy is to monitor its market exposure risk. In addition, the Corporation has a policy of reviewing, as considered necessary, the credit standing of each customer with which it conducts business.

The Corporation is also engaged in various trading and brokerage activities in which counterparties primarily include broker/dealers, banks and other financial institutions. In the event counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Corporation may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument. It is the Corporation's policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty.

9. LITIGATION

In March, 1996, the Bennett Funding Group, Inc. (BFG) and its related entities defaulted on payments due to investors under a series of notes issued as far back as 1991. BFG and other related business entities filed for bankruptcy in 1996. Brighton Securities Corp. had been a broker/dealer of BFG investment products. The Bankruptcy Trustee has initiated several adversary proceedings (lawsuits) against the insurance companies that carried the policies on BFG. Other entities, including Brighton Securities Corp., have been named as defendants in these lawsuits. The amount in controversy is undetermined at this time and the outcome of this litigation cannot be estimated at this time.

Included in accrued expenses at December 31, 2005, is management's estimate of the expected settlement of the remaining BFG cases, of $10,000.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5 FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2005

To The Board of Directors and Stockholders
Brighton Securities Corp.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Brighton Securities Corp. (the Corporation) for the year ended December 31, 2005, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of such practices and procedures) followed by Brighton Securities Corp. that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c-3-3. Because the Corporation does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Corporation in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of the Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Corporation is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Corporation has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and our study, we believe that the Corporation's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, stockholders, management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the New York Stock Exchange Commission, the New York State Exchange and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
