To the Stockholders of
Dublind Securities, Inc.
Greenwich, Connecticut 06830

Gentlemen:

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Dublind Securities, Inc. as at December 31, 2005, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholders' equity and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Dublind Securities, Inc. at December 31, 2005 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained on page 8, schedule of computation of net capital under rule 15c3-1 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

1. NATURE OF BUSINESS

General - Dublind Securities, Inc. (the "Company") was incorporated on July 2, 1993 to provide financial, investment banking and other business advisory services to third parties. The Company's principal office is located in Greenwich, Connecticut. In November 1993, the Company received authorization by the NASD to conduct business as a registered broker-dealer.

The Company has received correspondence from the following state securities regulators regarding the status of its state registration as a licensed broker dealer:

- a) State of California - February 3, 2006 - Revocation of Securities License for failure to pay the assessment fee.
- b) District of Columbia - December 30, 2005 - Notice of Failure to renew license.
- c) Pennsylvania Securities Commission - January 10, 2006 - Notice of Failure to renew license.

The Company has contacted the above regulatory agencies and has been informed that upon filing the appropriate documentation with the CRD system and the paying of past due regulatory fees, its license in such states will be reactivated.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue Recognition - Revenue is recognized as earned. The earnings process is completed and fees are recorded when all aspects of a proposed transaction are satisfied.

Use of Estimates - The presentation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates, management does not expect such variances, if any, to have a material effect on the financial statements.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Income Taxes - The Company has elected S corporation status for federal and state income tax purposes and, accordingly, profits and losses of the Company are reportable on the tax returns of its stockholders. Earnings subsequent to the election may be withdrawn by the stockholders without any further federal or state tax consequences to them. The Company uses the cash method of accounting for tax reporting purposes and the accrual method for financial reporting purposes. At December 31, 2005, there were no material differences between the cash and accrual methods. At December 31, 2005, the Company has available net operating loss carryforwards for New York State purposes of approximately $90,000, which expire through the year 2025. The deferred tax benefit attributable to the carryforwards has been offset by a full valuation allowance as ultimate realizability of the benefit is uncertain.

3. NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission's uniform net capital rule (rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital, and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2005, the Company had net capital of $13,200, which was $8,200 in excess of its required net capital.

4. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company provides consulting services, such as investment advisory and administrative services, to Dublind Partners, Inc., a related entity. The fees charged for such services amounted to $107,057 for the year ended December 31, 2005.

5. CAPITAL STRUCTURE

The Company has 150 shares of $1 par value common stock issued and outstanding. Common shares are voting and dividends are paid at the discretion of the Board of Directors.

To the Stockholders
Dublind Securities, Inc.
Greenwich, Connecticut 06830

Gentlemen:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of Dublind Securities, Inc. (the "Company"), for the year ended December 31, 2005, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregated debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System
3. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customer as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005 to meet the SEC's objectives.

Our opinion recognizes that it is not practicable in a Company the size of Dublind Securities, Inc. to achieve all the divisions of duties and cross-checks generally included in a system of internal accounting control, and alternatively, greater reliance must be placed on surveillance by management.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
