COBHAM WINS CONTRACTS WORTH £10M IN USA, CANADA AND UK

Cobham plc (Cobham) announces the award of three contracts for military equipment worth more than £10m in total by the Boeing Company (Boeing), Canada's Department of National Defence (DND) and the UK MoD.

Sargent Fletcher Inc, part of the Cobham Air Refuelling & Auxiliary Mission Equipment Division, has been awarded a follow-on Lot 2 contract by Boeing worth more than US$11m for its BRU-61/A pneumatic Weapons Carriage Release System Assembly. The first weapon integrated on the carriage will be the Boeing Small Diameter Bomb, a 250 pound class GPS-aided glide weapon. The US Air Force plans to use the BRU-61/A to deliver a family of miniature munitions in the future. Seimac Limited, part of the Cobham Avionics and Surveillance Division, has been awarded a contract worth more than C$3m by DND for personal locator beacons, to be used by Canadian Air Force aircrews during operational and training missions. Wallop Defence Systems secured an order worth more than £2.5m under its innovative long term Partnering Agreement with the UK MoD's Defence General Munitions Integrated Project Team.

Allan Cook, Cobham Chief Executive, said,
 "We continue to consolidate our position on key platforms and programmes around the world with innovative products and solutions."
