Wolters Kluwer Legal, Tax & Regulatory Europe enters Portuguese Legal Publishing Market

Amsterdam and Lisbon - March 15, 2006 - Wolters Kluwer, a leading multinational publisher and information services provider, announced today it will enter the Portuguese legal publishing market and offer legal professionals unique online services and tools to meet their increasingly demanding information needs. Wolters Kluwer's advanced search functionalities will help customers to find the information required via a single search through legislation, jurisprudence and doctrine.

"We will provide Portuguese legal professionals with reliable and highly qualitative information tailored to their needs, budget and time", says Rolv Eide, CEO Legal, Tax & Regulatory Europe. "Portugal is an interesting market for us, because it has more than 30,000 Portuguese legal professionals with a high use of internet services in their daily work and with increasingly sophisticated information demands".

Wolters Kluwer has found a partner in the legal publisher Coimbra Editora who has over the last 85 years built an excellent reputation in the publishing markets for legal professionals. Coimbra's books and publications deliver superior quality due in part to its network of highly respected authors. As a result of this partnership, Coimbra's legal content will be migrated to Wolters Kluwer's European based technology platforms that integrate legal databases and improve functionalities such as searching information required by lawyers, solicitors, judges etc. every day.

Joao Salgado, Managing Director of Coimbra Editora says, "We are very pleased to partner a multinational company such as Wolters Kluwer. They bring to Portugal technological and content development expertise that we can benefit from. It is a fact that the amount of knowledge and information that legal professionals need to handle is beyond the borders of the paper format and the same can be said of the need for daily updates. We see the increasing demands put on our customers in universities, legal departments and firms, to process more information within shorter timeframes. The offer we have jointly developed is innovative and will benefit legal professionals to deliver a better service to their customers based on the most reliable information."

PRESS RELEASE

Wolters Kluwer Portugal launches a series of innovative products in the legal market, which is now available for lawyers, judges, solicitors, etc:

- JusNet data base, a new generation online technology data base, supporting lawyers in preparing cases, allowing them to take decisions based on all applicable and recently updated legislation, jurisprudence and doctrine
- JusJornal, a legal information online diary, keeping legal professionals updated with information selected by legal specialists
- JusGestao, a work tool that manages information such as payments, terms and invoices at the office, improving the legal firm's productivity.
