Auditors' Report

To the Unitholders of Countryside Power Income Fund

We have audited the consolidated balance sheet of Countryside Power Income Fund as at December 31, 2004 and the consolidated statements of income and deficit and cash flows for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004. These financial statements are the responsibility of management of the Fund. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Fund as at December 31, 2004 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004 in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

For the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004 (All amounts in thousands of Canadian dollars except per Trust Unit amounts, unless otherwise stated)

NOTE 1 - DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004. The Declaration of Trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the date of the initial public offering of Trust Units of the Fund. The Fund owns 100% of Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada").

The Fund was established to fund, through Countryside Canada, the acquisition of USE Canada Holdings Corp. ("USE Canada Holdings") consisting of the district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and London, Ontario, (the "London System"), (collectively the "District Energy Systems"), the acquisition and amendment of existing loans to U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB"), the funding of additional advances to USEB (collectively, the "USEB Loans") and the acquisition of a convertible royalty interest in USEB (the "USEB Royalty Interest").

NOTE 2 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") and within the framework of the significant accounting policies summarized below:

(a) Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements of the Fund include the accounts of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside Canada, and the accounts of Countryside Canada's direct and indirect subsidiary entities including Countryside U.S. Power Inc. ("Countryside U.S."), Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc. ("Countryside Acquisition"), USE Canada Holdings and USE Canada Energy Corp. ("USE Canada"). All inter-entity transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.

(b) Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(c) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise only highly liquid investments with original maturities of 90 days or less and are recorded at cost, which approximates market value.

(d) Holdback Account

The balance in this account consists of highly liquid investments with original maturities of one year or less, and is recorded at cost, which approximates market value [note 7].

(e) Inventories

Inventories of spare and replacement parts and supplies are valued at the lower of cost, on a first-in, first-out basis, and net replacement value. Fuel, consisting primarily of natural gas, wood chips and oil, is carried at the lower of cost, as determined on a weighted average basis, or net realizable value.

(f) Royalty Interest in U.S. Energy Biogas Corp.

The Royalty Interest in USEB is being amortized on a straight-line basis over 20 years [note 6].

(g) Capital Assets

Capital assets are accounted for at their acquisition cost. Improvements that increase or prolong the service life or capacity of an asset are capitalized. Maintenance and repair costs are expensed as incurred. The cost of the capital assets, less estimated residual value, is depreciated and amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

Buildings	30 years
Equipment
Plant and distribution	15 - 35 years
Computers	3 - 5 years
Office	3 - 5 years
Vehicles	5 years
Equipment under capital lease	20 years

Assets included in construction in progress are not amortized until the installation of the assets is complete and the assets have entered into commercial operation.

(h) Customer Relationships

The fair value at the date of acquisition of the District Energy Systems' customer relationships is being amortized on a straight-line basis over 21 years [note 3].

(i) Foreign Currency Translation

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Canadian dollars at exchange rates prevailing at the period end. Revenues and expenses in foreign currencies are translated into Canadian dollars at the rates in effect at the time of the transactions. Foreign exchange gains and losses are included in the consolidated statement of income and deficit.

(j) Financial Instruments

The Fund uses an interest rate swap contract to manage interest rate risk. Payments and receipts under the interest rate swap contract are recognized as adjustments to interest expense on an accrual basis. Any resulting carrying amounts are included in other assets in the case of favourable contracts and accounts payable and accrued liabilities in the case of unfavourable contracts. The Fund does not engage in trading or other speculative activities with respect to derivative financial instruments. The fair value of derivative financial instruments reflects the estimated amount that the Fund would have been required to pay if forced to settle all unfavourable contracts or the amount that would be received if forced to settle all favourable contracts at year end. The fair value represents a point-in-time estimate that may not be relevant in predicting the Fund's future earnings or cash flows.

Unrealized gains and losses on interest rate swaps are reported as a component of consolidated interest expense.

The Fund is exposed to credit risk in the event of non-performance by its counterparties. However, the Fund does not anticipate non-performance, as the counterparty has an investment grade credit rating from Standard and Poor's of A+.

(k) Deferred Financing Charges

Deferred financing charges represent fees incurred related to bank financing and are being amortized on a straight-line basis over the life of the credit facility [note 3].

(l) Loan Origination Fees

Loan origination fees represent costs incurred related to the USEB Loans (as defined in the USEB Loan Agreement). These costs are being amortized on a straight-line basis over 15 years [note 5].

(m) Revenue Recognition

Revenue derived from the sale of energy in the form of steam, hot water and chilled water is recognized on the accrual basis upon delivery at rates pursuant to the relevant energy service agreements ("ESAs") with the purchasing customers. In addition to the sale of energy under the ESAs, the Fund receives from the purchasing customers monthly capacity payments that are fixed and are not dependent upon the amount of energy delivered to its customers. This revenue is recognized as earned on a monthly basis. Income earned from receipt of waste fuel for the PEI System is based on long-term contracts and is recognized upon receipt of the waste fuel at the PEI System. Income from the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest is recognized as earned.

(n) Income Taxes

Under the terms of the Income Tax Act (Canada), the Fund will not be subject to income taxes to the extent that its taxable income and taxable capital gains are paid or payable to Unitholders. In addition, as the Fund is contractually committed to distribute to Unitholders all or virtually all of its taxable income and taxable capital gains that would otherwise be taxable to the Fund, the Fund intends to continue not to be subject to income taxes and accordingly, no provision for current income taxes for the Fund is made. The Fund is not subject to the recommendations of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants ("CICA") Handbook Section 3465. Distributions may however be taxable in the hands of Unitholders.

Each of the Fund's subsidiaries are subject to corporate income and capital taxes as computed under the Income Tax Act (Canada) and relevant provincial tax legislation and to CICA Handbook Section 3465. Future income taxes and liabilities are recognized for the future income tax consequences attributable to differences between the tax and accounting bases of assets and liabilities, as well as for the benefit of tax losses available to be carried forward to future years that are likely to be realized. A valuation allowance is provided to the extent that it is more likely than not that future income tax assets will not be realized.

(o) Net Income per Trust Unit

Net income per Trust Unit is based on the consolidated net income for the period, divided by the weighted average number of Trust Units outstanding during the period from April 8, 2004 to December 31, 2004, and was 14,905,366. For the purposes of the weighted average number of Trust Units calculation, Trust Units are determined to be outstanding from the date they are issued.

(p) Unitholders' Equity

Costs incurred in connection with the issuance of Trust Units are deducted from the proceeds received.

NOTE 3 - FORMATION OF THE FUND

On April 8, 2004, the Fund issued 14,905,366 Trust Units in an initial public offering (the "Initial Offering") at a price of $10.00 per Unit for net proceeds of $136,350 after deducting underwriters' fees of $8,198 and estimated net expenses related to the offering of $4,506. The net expenses have been adjusted to reflect the reimbursement by USEB of $9,340 of costs associated with the equity financing by the Fund.

The Fund also received $30,400 representing the proceeds of a new long-term debt facility ("New Credit Facility") through Countryside Acquisition and paid deferred financing fees of $675 related to the New Credit Facility. One of the Fund's subsidiaries entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on these amounts borrowed under the New Credit Facility for three years at a rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brings the current effective rate to 5.22% per annum.

The net proceeds of the Initial Offering, and the New Credit Facility, were used by the Fund, directly or indirectly through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, for the following purposes:

		Amount $
[i]	Acquisition of USE Canada Holdings from U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ["USEY"]	17,635
[ii]	Repayment of existing long-term debt of a subsidiary of USE Canada Holdings and associated interest rate swap	25,989
[iii]	Acquisition and amendment of existing loans to USEB and the funding of additional advances to USEB	107,000
[iv]	Acquisition of the USEB Royalty Interest [U.S. $6,000]	7,884
[v]	Funding of the Holdback account and funding of working capital	2,400
[vi]	Repayment of due to parent company	2,396
		164,644

The acquisition of USE Canada Holdings, which includes the District Energy Systems, from USEY for approximately $17,635 pursuant to a purchase and sale agreement is accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through cash consideration of approximately $17,635. The purchase price has been allocated as follows:

	Amount $
Working capital, including cash of $1,394	2,393
Capital assets	29,851
Customer relationships	13,076
Future income tax asset	224
Other long-term liabilities	(4,682)
Long-term debt	(23,227)
	17,635

Other long-term liabilities includes $2,085 of fees associated with the early termination of the interest rate swap on the long-term debt that existed in a subsidiary of USE Canada Holdings prior to the acquisition by the Fund. Subsequent to the acquisition of USE Canada Holdings, the due to parent company balance of $2,396 was repaid to USEY.

NOTE 4 - INVENTORIES

Inventories consist of the following:

	December 31, 2004 $
Spare parts	778

NOTE 5 - LOANS RECEIVABLE FROM U.S. ENERGY BIOGAS CORP.

The interest rate on the USEB Loans is 11.0% per annum with a maturity date of April 8, 2019, subject to mandatory prepayment provisions and prepayment at the election of the lender after 10 years. Approximately 56% of the aggregate principal amount of the USEB Loans will amortize over the term of the USEB Loans, gradually increasing from 1.6% of the aggregate principal amount in the first year to 7.3% in the 15th year. Interest on the USEB Loans is accrued and principal and interest is paid monthly in Canadian dollars. The USEB Loans are collateralized by all the assets of USEB.

Principal repayments over the next five years and thereafter are as follows:

	Principal $
2007	2,276
2008	2,539
2009	2,833
Thereafter	94,273
	105,789
Less current portion	1,828
Long-term portion	103,961

NOTE 6 - ROYALTY INTEREST IN U.S. ENERGY BIOGAS CORP.

The Fund, through Countryside Canada, acquired a convertible royalty interest in USEB for U.S. $6,000 ($7,884) at closing of the Initial Offering. For each fiscal quarter prior to that in which the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, the amount of the royalty payable to Countryside Canada will be 7% of USEB Distributable Cash Flow plus an additional percentage of USEB Distributable Cash Flow equal to 1.8% of USEB Revenues (both as defined in the USEB Royalty Agreement). The royalty payment is subject to a distribution cap such that no royalties may be paid unless, at the time of such payment, 104.09% of such amount is paid to holders of the USEB common stock, which are currently USEY and Cinergy Energy Solutions, Inc. ("Cinergy").

After the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, but remains unconverted, Countryside Canada will be entitled to receive royalties equal to 49% of the USEB Distributable Cash Flow. The USEB Royalty Interest is convertible at any time in the event of the prepayment in full of the USEB Loans, or on or after the 20th anniversary of the closing of the Initial Offering into non-voting common shares of USEB, representing 49% of the number of common shares of USEB outstanding at the time of conversion. Upon conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest, Countryside Canada's right to receive royalties will terminate.

The USEB Royalty is payable quarterly, in arrears.

NOTE 7 - HOLDBACK ACCOUNT

The Holdback account may be used to finance working capital needs and to pay distributions to Unitholders when appropriate. As at December 31, 2004 there was $2,400 in this account.

NOTE 8 - OTHER ASSETS

Other assets consist of the following:

NOTE 11 - INCOME TAXES

The income tax expense consists of the following:

	For the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004
Future	506
Provision for income taxes	516

The future income tax liability consists of the following:

Future income tax asset
Losses available for carry forward	3,302
Excess of undepreciated capital cost over net book value	306
Loss on interest rate swap	18
Future income tax liability
Customer relationships	(3,908)
Net future income tax liability	(282)

The provision for income taxes differs from the expense that would be obtained by applying Canadian statutory tax rates as a result of the following:

Consolidated income before provision for income taxes	8,081
Income not subject to tax accounting	10,114
Loss before income taxes	(2,033)
Combined federal and provincial income taxes at statutory rate of 37% [2003 - 39%]	(751)
Manufacturing and processing deduction	(132)
Losses not benefited	1,389
Provision for income taxes	516

At December 31, 2004, the Fund has non-capital losses available for carry forward of approximately $26,315 to reduce future taxable income. The tax benefit in respect of approximately $15,663 of these losses has not been recognized in the accounts of the Fund as at December 31, 2004. These losses expire starting in the year 2006.

The Fund loaned $107,000 to USEB, and has been advised by U.S. tax counsel that interest paid by USEB on the USEB Loans should be deductible by USEB for U.S. federal income tax purposes and that the interest should not be subject to any U.S. withholding tax. The consolidated financial statements of the Fund reflect this opinion. However, there is a risk that the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") could successfully challenge such treatment, resulting in some or all of the interest on the USEB Loans being non-deductible by USEB and some or all of such interest being subject to U.S. withholding tax at rates of 10% to 30%. As a result, the amount of funds available for distribution to Unitholders could be reduced.

Although management believes that it is unlikely that the IRS would be successful, the application of withholding tax could result in the Fund incurring a liability for taxes. If the Fund were to become liable to pay or remit any withholding tax, other than a withholding tax arising from a disposition of the USEB Loans by the Fund, USEB will be required to increase the amount of interest paid to the Fund with respect to the USEB Loans such that, after such withholding tax, the Fund will receive the same amount that it would have received in the absence of such withholding tax.

In addition to the foregoing, and in common with other complex international business structures, the Fund is subject to various additional uncertainties concerning the interpretation and application of Canadian and U.S. tax laws. If tax authorities disagreed with the Fund's application of tax laws, the Fund's profitability and cash flows could be adversely affected.

NOTE 12 - BANK CREDIT FACILITY

Countryside Acquisition entered into the New Credit Facility which consists of a revolving term credit facility split equally with two Canadian chartered banks for up to $35,000 for three years. Advances under the New Credit Facility are available to be drawn in either Canadian or U.S. dollars. The interest rate on Canadian dollar advances will be based on either Canadian Prime Rate or Bankers' Acceptances and U.S. dollar advances will be based on either U.S. Base Rate or LIBOR. A premium on the respective base rate will be applied dependent upon certain debt coverage ratios being achieved by Countryside Acquisition. The portion of the New Credit Facility which has not been drawn attracts a standby fee dependent upon certain debt coverage ratios being achieved by Countryside Canada.

As at December 31, 2004, $30,000 was drawn on the New Credit Facility, in the form of Bankers' Acceptances at 2.57% plus a stamping fee of 2.00%. At December 31, 2004, $5,000 was not drawn, and was subject to a standby fee of 0.50% per annum.

Countryside Acquisition has entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brings the current effective rate to 5.22% per annum. The stamping fee schedule now in place is tied to a leverage ratio (as defined in the loan agreement governing the Fund's long-term debt). The stamping fee may change in the future if the leverage ratio changes, which could result in an increase or decrease in the effective rate of interest paid on the long-term debt. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the New Credit Facility on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months.

As at December 31, 2004, the fair value of the swap agreement was $60 unfavourable which has been recorded as an unrealized loss in the consolidated statement of income and deficit.

Amounts drawn under the New Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by USE Canada Holdings and USE Canada and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada.

At December 31, 2004, the fair value of the amount drawn on the New Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

NOTE 13 - TRUST UNITS

The Declaration of Trust provides that an unlimited number of Trust Units may be issued. Each Trust Unit represents an equal undivided beneficial interest in any distribution from the Fund and in any net assets of the Fund in the event of termination or wind-up. All Trust Units are of the same class with equal rights and privileges.

The Trust Units are redeemable at the holder's option at an amount equal to the lesser of: (a) 90% of the "market price" of the Trust Units on the principal market on which the Trust Units are quoted for trading during the 10-trading day period ending on the date on which the Trust Units were surrendered for redemption (the "Redemption Date"); and (b) 100% of the "closing market price" on the principal market on which the Trust Units are quoted for trading on the Redemption Date. Redemptions are subject to a maximum of $50 in cash redemptions in any particular month.

Trust Units outstanding as of December 31, 2004	14,905,366	$136,350

NOTE 14 - CONCENTRATION OF CUSTOMER CREDIT RISK

The Fund is dependent upon the operations and assets of USEB through the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest.

NOTE 15 - COMMITMENTS

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside Canada delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting USE Canada Holding's future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days notice to WPS.

Commitments under operating leases at December 31, 2004 are: 2005 - $85; 2006 - $85; 2007 - $71; 2008 - $61; 2009 - $27 and nil thereafter.

NOTE 16 - DEVELOPMENT AGREEMENT WITH CINERGY AND USEY

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside U.S. entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. shall be paid an annual fee of U.S. $430 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five-year term unless terminated by any party.

Countryside Power Income Fund

We have audited the consolidated balance sheets of Countryside Power Income Fund as at December 31, 2005 and 2004 and the consolidated statements of income and deficit and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2005 and for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004. These financial statements are the responsibility of management of the Fund. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

NOTE 1 – DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004. The Declaration of Trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the date of the initial public offering of trust units of the Fund (the "Initial Offering"). The Fund owns 100% of Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada".)

The Fund was established to fund, through Countryside Canada, the acquisition of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. (formerly known as USE Canada Holdings Corp.) consisting of the district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and London, Ontario, (the "London System"), (collectively the "District Energy Systems"), the acquisition and amendment of existing loans to U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB"), the funding of additional advances to USEB (collectively, the "USEB Loans") and the acquisition of a convertible royalty interest in USEB (the "USEB Royalty Interest").

On June 29, 2005, the Fund completed the acquisition of the membership interests of Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power") (formerly known as Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC) whose principal assets are two gas-fired cogeneration facilities located in California (the "Cogen Facilities").

NOTE 2 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accompanying consolidated financial statements of the Fund have been prepared by management using Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") and within the framework of the significant accounting policies summarized below.

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements and these accompanying notes. In the opinion of management, these consolidated financial statements have been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(a) Basis of Presentation

Although the Fund was created on February 16, 2004, it did not commence operations and was essentially dormant prior to the completion of the initial public offering on April 8, 2004. As a result, the comparative statements of income and cash flows have been presented for the period from February 16 to December 31, 2004, but only reflect operating results for the period from April 8, 2004 to December 31, 2004. The results of Ripon Power's operations have been reflected in the consolidated financial statements of the Fund beginning on June 30, 2005.

(b) Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements of the Fund include the accounts of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside Canada, and the accounts of Countryside Canada's direct and indirect subsidiary entities including Countryside U.S. Power Inc. (Countryside U.S. Power), Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding"), Ripon Power, Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon Cogen"), Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc. ("Countryside Acquisition"), Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. ("Countryside District Energy Holdings") and Countryside District Energy Corp. (formerly known as USE Canada Energy Corp.). Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. is the legal entity that holds the District Energy Systems. All inter-entity transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.

(c) Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(d) Cash and Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise only highly liquid investments with original maturities of 90 days or less and are recorded at cost, which approximates market value.

(e) Inventories

Inventories of spare and replacement parts and supplies are valued at the lower of cost, on a first-in, first-out basis, and net replacement value. Fuel, consisting primarily of natural gas, wood chips and oil, is carried at the lower of cost, as determined on a weighted average basis, or net realizable value.

(f) Royalty Interest in U.S. Energy Biogas Corp.

The Royalty Interest in USEB is being amortized on a straight-line basis over 20 years [note 8].

(g) Property, Plant and Equipment

Capital assets are accounted for at their acquisition cost. Improvements that increase or prolong the service life or capacity of an asset are capitalized. Maintenance and repair costs are expensed as incurred. The cost of the property, plant and equipment, less estimated residual value, is depreciated and amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

	Years
Buildings	21-35
Equipment
Plant and distribution	1-35
Computers	3-5
Office	3-5
Equipment under capital lease	20

Assets included in construction in progress are not amortized until the installation of the assets is complete and the assets have entered into commercial operation.

(h) Other Intangibles

The fair values at the date of acquisition of the District Energy Systems' customer relationships are being amortized on a straight-line basis over 21 years [note 11]. The fair values of the power purchase agreements at the date of acquisition of the Cogen Facilities are being amortized on a straight-line basis over their remaining lives of between 10 and 12.5 years [note 11].

(i) Foreign Currency Translation

The assets and liabilities of the Fund's US subsidiaries having a functional currency of US dollars are translated into Canadian dollars using the exchange rate in effect at the period end and revenues and expenses are translated at the average rate during the period. Exchange gains or losses on translation of the Fund's net investment in these operations are recorded as a separate component of Unitholders' Equity.

(j) Financial Instruments

The Fund uses an interest rate swap contract to manage interest rate risk. Payments and receipts under the interest rate swap contract are recognized as adjustments to interest expense on an accrual basis. Any resulting carrying amounts are included in other assets in the case of favourable contracts and accounts payable and accrued liabilities in the case of unfavourable contracts.

Realized gains and losses on interest rate swaps are reported as a component of consolidated interest expense. The change in fair value of the interest rate swaps are recorded as an unrealized gain/loss on the statements of income and recorded as a non-current asset or liability.

The Fund has entered into call option contracts to manage its foreign exchange exposure resulting from foreign exchange fluctuations. The cost of the options was expensed with the fair value of the option contracts being recorded in other assets in the case of favourable contracts or accounts payable and accrued liabilities in the case of unfavourable contracts at the end of each reporting period [note 9].

The above derivative financial instruments represent economic hedges of known exposures, however they do not qualify for hedge accounting and therefore have been recorded at their fair value in the consolidated financial statements.

The Fund does not engage in trading or other speculative activities with respect to derivative financial instruments. The fair value of derivative financial instruments reflects the estimated amount that the Fund would have been required to pay if forced to settle all unfavourable contracts or the amount that would be received if forced to settle all favourable contracts at year end. The fair value represents a point-in-time estimate that may not be relevant in predicting the Fund's future earnings or cash flows.

The Fund is exposed to credit risk in the event of non-performance by its counterparties. The Fund does not anticipate non-performance, as the counterparty to each of the interest rate swap and the call option have investment grade credit ratings from Standard and Poor's of A+.

(k) Deferred Financing Charges

Deferred financing charges represent fees incurred related to bank financing and debenture issuances and are being amortized on a straight-line basis over the life of the instruments, respectively [note 9].

(l) Loan Origination Fees

Loan origination fees represent costs incurred related to the USEB Loans (as defined in the USEB Loan Agreement). These costs are being amortized on a straight-line basis over 15 years [note 9].

(m) Revenue Recognition

Revenue derived from the sale of energy in the form of electricity, steam, hot water and chilled water is recognized on the accrual basis upon delivery at rates pursuant to the relevant energy service agreements ("ESAs") with the purchasing customers. In addition to the sale of energy under the ESAs, the Fund receives from the purchasing customers monthly capacity payments that are fixed and are not dependent upon the amount of energy delivered to its customers. This revenue is recognized as earned on a monthly basis. Income earned from receipt of waste fuel for the PEI System is based on long-term contracts and is recognized upon receipt of the waste fuel at the PEI System. Income from the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest is recognized as earned.

(n) Income Taxes

Future income taxes and liabilities are recognized for the future income tax consequences attributable to differences between the tax and accounting bases of assets and liabilities, as well as for the benefit of tax losses available to be carried forward to future years that are more likely than not to be realized. The differences are measured using the substantially enacted tax rates and laws that will be in effect when the differences are expected to reverse.

To the extent that the Fund's taxable income and taxable capital gains are paid or payable to Unitholders, under the terms of the Income Tax Act (Canada), the Fund, excluding its corporate subsidiaries, is not subject to income taxes. In addition, as the Fund is contractually committed to distribute to Unitholders all or virtually all of its taxable income and taxable capital gains that would otherwise be taxable to the Fund, the Fund is not required to apply the recommendations of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants Handbook ("CICA"), section 3465. Accordingly, no provision for current income taxes for the Fund is made. Distributions may however be taxable in the hands of Unitholders.

Each of the Fund's Canadian subsidiaries are subject to corporate income and capital taxes as computed under the Income Tax Act (Canada) and relevant provincial tax legislation and to CICA Handbook section 3465. Each of the Funds' U.S. subsidiaries are subject to corporate and state revenue and franchise taxes as well as withholding tax on interest and dividends paid to Canadian corporations. A valuation allowance is provided to the extent that it is more likely than not that future income tax assets will not be realized.

(o) Net Income per Trust Unit

Net income per Trust Unit is based on the consolidated net income for the period, divided by the weighted average number of Trust Units outstanding during the year which was 15,513,147 (from April 8 to December 31, 2004 – 14,905,366). Diluted net income per unit is calculated by dividing consolidated net income, plus interest expense relative to the debt that is being converted by the weighted average number of units used in the basic net income per unit calculation plus the number of units that would be issued assuming conversion of the exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures into Trust Units of the Fund. For the purposes of the weighted average number of Trust Units calculation, Trust Units are determined to be outstanding from the date they are issued. Diluted income per Trust Unit is not calculated when the impact of the trust units issued on the exchange of the exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures would be anti-dilutive.

On April 8, 2004, the Fund issued 14,905,366 Trust Units in the Initial Offering at a price of $10.00 per Unit for net proceeds of $136,350 after deducting underwriters' fees of $8,198 and estimated net expenses related to the offering of $4,506. The net expenses have been adjusted to reflect the reimbursement by USEB of $9,340 of costs associated with the equity financing by the Fund.

The Fund also received $30,400 representing the proceeds of a new long-term debt facility ("Credit Facility") through Countryside Acquisition and paid deferred financing fees of $675 related to the New Credit Facility. One of the Fund's subsidiaries entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on these amounts borrowed under the Credit Facility for three years at a rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2%.

The net proceeds of the Initial Offering, and the Credit Facility, were used by the Fund, directly or indirectly through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, for the following purposes:

		Amount $
[i]	Acquisition of Countryside District Energy Holdings from U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY")	17,635
[ii]	Repayment of existing long-term debt of a subsidiary of Countryside District Energy Holdings and associated interest rate swap	25,989
[iii]	Acquisition and amendment of existing loans to USEB and the funding of additional advances to USEB	107,000
[iv]	Acquisition of the USEB Royalty Interest [US $6,000]	7,884
[v]	Funding of the Holdback account and funding of working capital	2,400
[vi]	Repayment of due to parent company	2,396
		164,644

The acquisition of Countryside District Energy Holdings, which includes the District Energy Systems, from USEY for approximately $17,635 pursuant to a purchase and sale agreement is accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price has been allocated as follows:

	Amount $
Working capital, including cash of $1,394	2,393
Capital assets	29,851
Customer relationships	13,076
Future income tax asset	224
Other long-term liabilities	(4,682)
Long-term debt	(23,227)
Total	17,635

Other long-term liabilities includes $2,085 of fees associated with the early termination of the interest rate swap on the long-term debt that existed in a subsidiary of Countryside District Energy Holdings prior to the acquisition by the Fund. Subsequent to the acquisition of Countryside District Energy Holdings, the due to parent company balance of $2,396 was repaid to USEY.

NOTE 4 – ACQUISITION OF RIPON POWER

The Fund's investment in Ripon Power, effective June 29, 2005 was made through its newly formed, wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside US Holding. Financing for the transaction was provided through an amendment to the Fund's Credit Facility (see note 12). The acquisition was accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through cash consideration of approximately $44,000 [US $35,800], plus approximately $1,100 of transaction costs.

The purchase price has been allocated, in Canadian dollars, as follows:

	Amount $
Working capital, including cash of $2,269	4,823
Property, plant and equipment	46,933
Power purchase agreements	69,510
Other long term liability	(3,122)
Long-term debt	(73,072)
	45,072

NOTE 5 – TRUST UNIT AND EXCHANGEABLE DEBENTURE OFFERING

Trust Unit and Exchangeable Debenture Offering (the "Offering")

On November 14, 2005, the Fund and Countryside Canada closed a offering of 4,720,000 trust units at $9.35 per unit for gross proceeds of $44,132 and $64,180 [US $55,000] aggregate principal amount of 6.25% U.S. dollar denominated exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures ("Debentures"), due October 31, 2012 (the "Maturity Date"). The Trust Units were issued by the Fund and the Debentures were issued by Countryside Canada. Net proceeds of the Offering were approximately $101,413 and were used to repay indebtedness under the Fund's revolving credit facility associated with the acquisition of Ripon Power, to acquire the long-term debt and working capital revolver of the Cogen Facilities and to pay transaction costs of the Offering with the excess remaining proceeds used for working capital purposes.

Debentures

Interest will be paid in US dollars, semi-annually in arrears on April 30 and October 31, in each year commencing on April 30, 2006. The first interest payment will include accrued and unpaid interest for the period from the closing of the Offering to April 30, 2006. The payment of Debenture principal and interest is subordinated in right of payment to the prior payment of all senior indebtedness of the Fund.

Each Debenture will be exchangeable for Units at the option of the holder at any time prior to the close of business on the earlier of the Maturity Date and the business day immediately preceding the date specified by Countryside Canada for redemption of the Debentures, at an exchange price of $10.75 per Unit (the "Exchange Price") being a ratio of 109.4884 Units per one thousand US dollars in principal amount of Debentures, subject to adjustment in certain events in accordance with the trust indenture governing the terms of the Debentures. Holders exchanging their Debentures will receive accrued and unpaid interest thereon for the period from the last interest payment date on their Debentures to the date of exchange. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no Debentures may be exchanged during the five business days preceding April 30 and October 31 in each year as the registers of the Debenture Trustee (as defined herein) will be closed during such periods.

The Debentures may not be redeemed by Countryside Canada on or prior to October 31, 2008, except in the event of the satisfaction of certain conditions after a Change of Control (as defined herein) has occurred. Thereafter, but prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures may be redeemed, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior notice, provided that the weighted-average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending five trading days preceding the date on which notice of redemption is given is not less than 125% of the Exchange Price. On or after October 31, 2010 and prior to the Maturity Date, the Debentures may be redeemed by Countryside Canada, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior written notice.

Subject to regulatory approval, Countryside Canada may, at its option, elect to satisfy its obligation to pay the principal amount of the Debentures on redemption or at maturity through, in whole or in part, the delivery of freely-tradeable Units. The Fund will take all actions and do all things necessary or desirable to enable and permit Countryside Canada, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations to deliver the requisite number of Units to the extent holders exercise their exchange right.

The Fund performed a valuation of the embedded holder option on the Debentures and determined that its value on November 14, 2005 was $1,715. Such portion of the value of the Debentures has been recorded as a component of unitholders' equity. The liability component of the Debentures will be accreted to the face value of the Debentures over the term to maturity and accretion for the period will be included in interest expense in the consolidated statements of income (for the year ended December 31, 2005 - $24).

The interest rate on the USEB Loans is 11.0% per annum with a maturity date of April 8, 2019, subject to mandatory prepayment provisions and prepayment at the option of the lender after 10 years. The USEB Loans are denominated in Canadian dollars and principal and interest is paid monthly. Approximately 56% of the aggregate principal amount of the USEB Loans will amortize over the term of the USEB Loans, gradually increasing from 1.6% of the aggregate principal amount in the first year to 7.3% in the 15th year. The USEB Loans are collateralized by all the assets of USEB.

Principal repayments over the next five years and thereafter are as follows:

	Principal $

NOTE 8 – ROYALTY INTEREST IN U.S. ENERGY BIOGAS CORP.

The Fund, through Countryside Canada, acquired a convertible royalty interest in USEB for $7,884 [US $6,000] at closing of the Initial Offering. For each fiscal quarter prior to that in which the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, the amount of the royalty payable to Countryside Canada will be 7% of USEB Distributable Cash Flow plus an additional percentage of USEB Distributable Cash Flow equal to 1.8% of USEB Revenues (both as defined in the USEB Royalty Agreement). The royalty payment is subject to a distribution cap such that no royalties may be paid unless, at the time of such payment, 104.09% of such amount is paid to holders of the USEB common stock, which are currently USEY and Cinergy Energy Solutions, Inc. ("Cinergy").

After the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, but remains unconverted, Countryside Canada will be entitled to receive royalties equal to 49% of the USEB Distributable Cash Flow. The USEB Royalty Interest is convertible at any time in the event of the prepayment in full of the USEB Loans, or on or after the 20th anniversary of the closing of the Initial Offering into non-voting common shares of USEB, representing 49% of the number of common shares of USEB outstanding at the time of conversion. Upon conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest, Countryside Canada's right to receive royalties will terminate.

Amounts owning under the USEB Royalty are payable quarterly, in arrears.

NOTE 12 – LONG-TERM DEBT

On June 27, 2005, Countryside Acquisition amended its revolving credit facility ("Amended Credit Facility"), with Toronto Dominion Bank as sole lender (a Canadian chartered bank), to increase the amount of the commitment in order to facilitate the acquisition of Ripon Power. On August 12, 2005, the Amended Credit Facility was subsequently syndicated to include Royal Bank of Canada and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce as lenders. The Amended Credit Facility provides up to a $78,000 revolving credit commitment with no principal repayment until its maturity on June 27, 2008. The Amended Credit Facility also allows for a swing line of credit in the amount of $2,000 and has the same three year maturity as the Amended Credit Facility. Advances under the Amended Credit Facility are available to be drawn in either Canadian or U.S. dollars. The interest rate on Canadian dollar advances will be based on either Canadian prime rate or bankers' acceptances and U.S. dollar advances will be based on either U.S. base rate or London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"). The applicable margin or stamping fee on the respective base rate will be tied to the leverage ratio of Countryside Acquisition's parent, Countryside Canada calculated at the end of each calendar quarter. The stamping fee may change in the future if the leverage ratio changes, which could result in an increase or decrease in the effective rate of interest paid on the long-term debt. A standby fee based on the actual leverage ratio of Countryside Canada is charged on the unutilized portion of the Amended Credit Facility and the swing line of credit. The Amended Credit Facility was further amended on November 14, 2005 to accommodate the Offering. The Amended Credit Facility further allows for letters of credit to be issued, which if issued reduces the amount of available revolving credit commitment accordingly. The fee paid on the letter of credit is also tied to the leverage ratio of the Borrower's payout.

As at December 31, 2005, $47,500 was drawn under the terms of the Amended Credit Facility in the form of bankers' acceptances at 3.53%, plus a stamping fee of 2.375%. Of the $2,000 swing line of credit, $1,615 was drawn at December 31, 2005 at Canadian prime rate of 5.0%, plus a spread of 1.375%. A $3,489 [US $3,000] letter of credit was issued on November 14, 2005 under the Amended Credit Facility and will expire on November 14, 2006 unless extended. The letter of credit replaces a letter of credit issued under the Ripon Credit Facility (defined herein) and essentially provided credit support to the Cogen Facilities' fuel supplier for natural gas purchases. The letter of credit is currently subject to a fee of 2.375% per annum. At December 31, 2005, $27,396 was not drawn on the Amended Credit Facility, including $385 that was not drawn on the swing line of credit. Both undrawn amount is subject to a standby fee of 0.60% per annum. The effective rate of interest for amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility is the funded base rate plus the stamping fee, increased or decreased by any amounts due or owed, respectively, by the Borrower under the interest rate swap as described below. For a portion of the quarter ended December 31, 2005, the Fund chose to borrow at Canadian prime rate in anticipation of the Offering [note 5].

As of April 8, 2004, the Borrower entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the interest rate paid on $30,000 of its' long-term debt at a rate of 3.22%, which is based on bankers acceptances. On December 6, 2005, this swap was renegotiated which resulted in a new swap agreement with a notional amount of $47,000 and a fixed rate of 3.87%. The swap matures on June 27, 2008 and payments are due every three months.

As at December 31, 2005, the fair value of the interest rate swap agreement was $253 favourable and has been included with other assets on the consolidated balance sheets.

Amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada. The Countryside US Holding and Ripon Power assets are excluded from the collateral pool under the Amended Credit Facility.

At December 31, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Amended Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

Ripon Credit Facility

Ripon Cogen, the operating subsidiary of Ripon Power, entered into a credit facility dated as of March 24, 2005 among a syndicate of U.S. Banks, led by Union Bank of California, N.A. ("UBOC"), in its capacity as administrative agent, collateral agent and issuing bank on behalf of the lenders ("Ripon Credit Facility"). The Ripon Credit Facility and working capital revolver was acquired by Countryside US Holding at the closing of the Offering with a portion of the net proceeds of the Offering. Prior to November 14, 2005, the Ripon Credit Facility included a $69,198 [US $59,500] term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018, a $5,815 [US $5,000] debt service reserve letter of credit expiring on March 24, 2015), a $3,489 [US $3,000] letter of credit issued for benefit of a fuel supplier with an expiration of July 10, 2006, and a $2,326 [US $2,000] working capital revolver maturing on March 24, 2008.

The term loan facility was available to be drawn in U.S. dollars, and the interest rate was based either on the U.S. prime, or LIBOR rate, plus an applicable margin which escalated throughout the loan term.

The debt service reserve and the fuel supplier letters of credit were subject to fees on the issued amount, equal to the then applicable margin of the term loan facility.

As of March 30, 2005, Ripon Cogen entered into an interest rate swap agreement with UBOC to fix the interest rate paid on the fully drawn balance of the term loan facility at 4.939% per annum. The applicable margin in effect during the period from the date of the Fund's acquisition of Ripon Power through the Ripon Credit Facility repayment date was 1.50%. The swap maturity coincided with the maturity of the Ripon Credit Facility on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap was initially US$59,500 and was adjusted each quarter to match the amortization of the term loan facility.

On October 25, 2005, the interest rate swap agreement was terminated at a cost to the Fund of $496 [US $425].

At December 31, 2005, the Fund has non-capital losses available for carry forward of approximately $29,859 to reduce future taxable income. The tax benefit associated with the District Energy Systems in respect of approximately $20,859 of these losses has not been recognized in the accounts of the Fund as at December 31, 2005. The majority of these losses expire starting in the year 2006.

The Fund loaned $107,000 to USEB in 2004, and loaned Countryside US Holding $60,638 [US $52,139] by way of an intercompany note during 2005. The Fund has been advised by US tax counsel that interest paid by USEB on the USEB Loans should be deductible by USEB and that interest paid by Countryside US Holding on the intercompany note should be deductible by Countryside US Holding for US federal income tax purposes. The interest on the USEB loans is not subject to any US withholding tax, however, the Countryside US Holding note is subject to US withholding tax at 10%. The consolidated financial statements of the Fund reflect this opinion. However, there is a risk that the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") could successfully challenge such treatment, resulting in some or all of the interest on the USEB Loans being non-deductible by USEB and/or also resulting in some or all of the interest on the intercompany note to Countryside US Holding being non-deductible by Countryside US Holding and some or all of such interest being subject to US withholding tax at rates of 10% to 30%. As a result, the amount of funds available for distribution to Unitholders could be reduced.

Although management believes that it is unlikely that the IRS would be successful, the application of withholding tax could result in the Fund incurring a liability for taxes. If the Fund were to become liable to pay or remit any withholding tax, other than a withholding tax arising from a disposition of the USEB Loans by the Fund, USEB will be required to increase the amount of interest paid to the Fund with respect to the USEB Loans such that, after such withholding tax, the Fund will receive the same amount that it would have received in the absence of such withholding tax.

In addition to the foregoing, and in common with other complex international business structures, the Fund is subject to various additional uncertainties concerning the interpretation and application of Canadian and U.S. tax laws. If tax authorities disagreed with the Fund's application of tax laws, the Fund's profitability and cash flows could be adversely affected.

NOTE 14 – TRUST UNITS

The Declaration of Trust provides that an unlimited number of Trust Units may be issued. Each trust unit represents an equal undivided beneficial interest in any distribution from the Fund and in any net assets of the Fund in the event of termination or wind-up. All trust units are of the same class with equal rights and privileges.

The trust units are redeemable at the holder's option at an amount equal to the lesser of: (a) 90% of the "market price" of the Trust Units on the principal market on which the Trust Units are quoted for trading during the 10-trading day period ending on the date on which the Trust Units were surrendered for redemption (the "Redemption Date"); and (b) 100% of the "closing market price" on the principal market on which the Trust Units are quoted for trading on the Redemption Date. Redemptions are subject to a maximum of $50 in cash redemptions in any particular month.

On November 14, 2005, the Fund closed an offering of 4,720,000 Trust Units and $63,965 [US $55,000] aggregate principal amount of 6.25% Debentures [note 5]. The Trust Unit portion of the offering resulted in net proceeds of approximately $41,155 after the deduction of $2,207 in commissions and $770 in related transaction costs.

	Number of Units	Amount $
Balances at April 8, 2004 and December 31, 2004	14,905,366	136,350

Issue costs		(2,977)
Balances at December 31, 2005	19,625,366	177,505

The reconciliation of the denominator in calculating diluted per unit amounts is a follows:

	For the year ended December 31, 2005	For the period from April 8 to December 31, 2004
Weighted average number of units outstanding, basic	15,513,147	14,905,366
Effect of dilutive securities:
Exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures	775,418	-
Weighted average number of units outstanding, diluted	16,288,565	14,905,366

Derivative Financial Instruments

In addition to the interest rate swap contracts (note 12), the Fund has purchased thirty-six consecutive monthly "knockout" call option contracts, commencing in January 2006, which have an exercise price of US $0.89 per Canadian dollar, at a cost of $219 and a notional amount of approximately US$5,300. To the extent that the US/Canadian dollar exchange rate reaches $0.84 (the "knockout price") at any time while the option contracts are still in effect, the remaining unexpired monthly call option contracts will immediately expire and be automatically replaced with forward foreign exchange contracts with the same scheduled monthly Canadian dollar amounts at the exchange rate equal to the knockout price.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Fund is dependent upon the operations and assets of USEB through the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest.

Each of the Cogen Facilities has one primary utility customer as well as one industrial customer to which it provides steam, under long-term contract. The Fund's credit risk exposure in the event of non-performance by its customers is limited to the face value of the receivables. No collateral is required on these receivables.

Electricity sale pursuant to the PPA with Southern California Edison ("SCE") and Pacific Gas & Electirc ("PG&E") accounted for 31% and 17%, respectively of revenue for the year ended December 31, 2005. Approximately 51% of the year end accounts receivable balance was due from SCE relating to electricity sales.

NOTE 16 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Commitments

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside Canada delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting Countryside District Energy Holding Corp.'s future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System (a division of Countryside District Energy Corp.) is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days notice to WPS. The Fund renewed the guarantee, effective January 1, 2006 to an aggregate amount of $1,200, covering the period up to December 31, 2008.

The Cogen Facilities are comprised of the "Ripon Facility" and the "San Gabriel Facility". Each facility has a gas turbine lease agreement with a third party, to have turbines available for their use during the year in the case of malfunction of the existing equipment. The annual cost of these leases is approximately $343 [US $295]. The leases expire in August 2006 and July 2007, respectively. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon an inflation factor.

The Cogen Facilities have two power turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each facility, to have a rotor, turbine casing and transition duct available for their use during the year in the case of malfunction of the existing equipment. The annual cost of each of these leases is approximately $58 [US $50]. Both leases expire in March 2009.

Under the Cogen Facilities' fuel purchase agreements with British Petroleum ("BP"), each facility is required to purchase 10,000 Million British Thermal Units ("MMBtu's") of natural gas each day. This purchase commitment is effective for both facilities through the life of agreements, which expire on June 30, 2006. The price of fuel for the Ripon Facility is fixed at $6.17 [US $5.31] per MMBtu under its fuel purchase agreement. Accordingly, the Ripon Facility's approximate minimum future fuel commitments subsequent to December 31, 2005 are $11,168 [US $9,611] for 2006. The price of fuel for the San Gabriel Facility resets monthly at current market prices. As such, the San Gabriel Facility's total fuel cost commitments through June 30, 2006 are not reasonably determinable. The San Gabriel Facility's effective price of fuel was $9.76 [US $8.39] per MMBtu for December 2005.

Operation and maintenance agreements have been entered into with North American Energy Services Company ("NAES") for the operation and maintenance of each of the Cogen Facilities. The agreements cover the operation of the two plant facilities including administration of all payroll and benefits for plant staff, plant operations and compliance and facility level accounting. Annual fees for each of these agreements are $198 [US $170] plus an incentive payment, which is a maximum of $93 [US $80] per year. These agreements expire in 2011.

Commitments under other operating leases at December 31, 2005 are: 2007 - $428; 2008 - $406; 2009 - $284; 2010 - $246; 2011 and thereafter - $417

Contingencies

A proceeding is currently pending before the California Public Utility Commission ("CPUC"), in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply a March 2001 ruling which decreased "Short Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC" levels retroactively for the period from December 2000 to March 2001. Such a ruling could, in theory, apply to many Qualifying Facilities ("QF's") in California, including the Cogen Facilities and may lead utilities to seek refunds or offsets from the QF's which sold the utilities' power during such 4 month period. While management believes that such a result is unlikely, the outcome of such a regulatory proceeding cannot be predicted with certainty. Even in the event of an adverse result, management believes Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses under federal and state law which should protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal or otherwise enjoined, QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could materially and adversely affect the Cogen Facilities' ability to generate distributable cash.

In December 2005, two shareholders of USEY commenced an action in the Delaware Court of Chancery against USEY, the current directors of USEY, certain former directors and officers of USEY, the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power alleging, among other things, that the defendants violated the Delaware General Corporations Law and fiduciary duties to USEY shareholders in connection with USEY's sale of indirect ownership of the District Energy Systems to the Fund and the consummation of the April 2004 USEB Loan transaction. The Plaintiffs seek damages and equitable relief. The Fund and Countryside U.S. Power believe that the claims alleged against them are without merit and have moved to dismiss the action on, among other grounds, failure to state cause of action, unreasonable delay and lack of personal jurisdiction. Such motion is pending. In the event the suit is neither resolved nor dismissed, the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power intends to defend the suit vigorously. Although the likelihood of an adverse judgment cannot be assessed at this early stage, the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power do not believe it is likely that the litigation will have a material adverse affect on the Fund or Countryside U.S. Power.

NOTE 17 – DEVELOPMENT AGREEMENT WITH CINERGY AND USEY

As of April 8, 2004 Countryside U.S. Holding entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY may contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. is to be paid an annual fee of approximately $512 [US $440] from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY. Commencing in May 2005, USEY stopped making payments with respect to its portion of the fees. Countryside US Holding and USEY are in discussions concerning USEY's obligations under the Development Agreement.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five year term unless terminated by any party.

NOTE 18 – DISTRIBUTIONS TO UNITHOLDERS

Distributions totaling $1.0285 per Trust Unit (2004 - $0.7488) being aggregate distributions of $16,145 (2004 - $11,161) were declared. For income tax purposes $5,531 (2004 - $2,519) of the distributions are treated as a return of capital.

Distributions are declared for unitholders of record on the last business day of a calendar month to receive distributions on or about the 30th day of the following month. Holders of units who are non-residents of Canada will be required to pay all applicable withholding taxes payable in respect of any distributions by the Fund.

NOTE 19 – SEGMENTED DISCLOSURE

The Fund owns and operates the District Energy Systems and the Cogen Facilities. It also had a loan to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USEB, which is included with the Fund's corporate administrative operations for reporting purposes. These three assets represented the Fund's reportable segments at December 31, 2005.

The Fund analyzes the performance of its three operating segments based on earnings before interest, income taxes, unrealized and realized interest rate swap and unrealized foreign exchange gains and losses, and depreciation and amortization ("adjusted EBITDA"). Adjusted EBITDA is not a standard measure under Canadian GAAP and hence may not be comparable to similar EBITDA information presented by other funds.

The Cogen Facilities were purchased on June 29, 2005, thus the results in the year ended December 31, 2005 represent six months of operations. Similarly, the operating results of the District Energy Systems are reflected from the date they were purchased by the Fund on April 8, 2004 in the table entitled 267 days ended December 31, 2004.

See "The Biogas Projects – Commercial Structure of the Biogas Projects – Genco".

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE BUSINESS

History of the Fund

Pursuant to a Prospectus dated March 29, 2004, the Fund completed its Initial Offering on April 8, 2004 and issued 14,905,366 Trust Units at a price of $10.00 per Unit.

In connection with the Initial Offering, the Fund acquired, through Countryside Acquisition 100% of USE Canada Holdings the indirect owner of the District Energy Systems described under the heading "Description of the Business-The District Energy Systems". A Business Acquisition Report describing the details of this transaction in full was filed with the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC) on June 22, 2004, and is incorporated by reference in this annual information form. A copy of this report can be found on www.sedar.com. On such date the Fund also acquired, amended and made additional advances in respect of the USEB Loans and acquired the USEB Royalty Interest both described under the heading "Description of the Business-the Biogas Projects".

The Fund also received $30,400,000 representing the proceeds of a new long-term debt facility (the "New Credit Facility") through Countryside Acquisition.

Fund's Objectives and Strategy

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to Unitholders and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per Unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing current operational practices of the Business, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

Operating Strategy

The Fund's operating strategy is to continue to retain the services of qualified and experienced operators, and, when required, hire experienced operations personnel or contract with firms with the requisite operational expertise.

Since the closing of the Offering, the Businesses have continued to be operated and managed by the employees of USEB and Countryside District Energy that have operated the Biogas Projects and District Energy Systems for a number of years. Administration and operations oversight of the Biogas Projects is currently performed by USEY and a subsidiary of Cinergy, respectively. The power generation equipment for 10 of the Biogas Projects is operated by outside operators under contract. GE/Jenbacher is the operator for eight of these 10 Biogas Projects.

In addition, Countryside U.S. employs a management team currently comprised of three individuals to monitor the Fund's indirect investments in the District Energy Systems and the USEB Investments and to evaluate investment opportunities. These individuals have extensive experience with the Business and managing the growth of energy businesses and projects.

Acquisition and Investment Strategy

The Fund intends to acquire or invest in additional projects only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in an increase in cash distributions per Unit and will meet the Fund's other acquisition and investment guidelines. Such acquisitions or investments may be financed by the issuance of Units, from the cash flows of the Fund or through borrowings.

Future projects may be located in any region where opportunities meeting the Fund's objectives exist, although it is expected that these opportunities will exist primarily in Canada and the United States and may include: (i) district energy systems; (ii) gas-fired power plants; (iii) green energy projects (i.e., biogas, biomass and wind); (iv) cogeneration projects; and (v) energy outsourcing facilities that provide energy to wholesale, commercial, institutional and/or industrial customers. Management believes that investment opportunities for the Fund will arise: (i) as energy companies seek to sell non-core assets; (ii) through consolidation in the energy industry; and (iii) through the acquisition, development or improvement of projects under the Development Agreement and/or the Improvement Agreement.

Acquisition and Investment Guidelines

The following guidelines will be used in the review and evaluation of possible acquisitions and investments by the Fund:

- each asset will be acquired, or an investment made therein, only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in accretive cash distributions per Unit;

- assets in respect of which long-term revenue and energy supply contracts with investment grade or financially stable counterparties exist will be preferred and, in other cases, free market electricity price and exchange rate assumptions used in the acquisition or investment evaluations will be obtained from a recognized independent source;

- the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be subject to prior due diligence and based on an independent engineer's report confirming the condition or development of the asset and the technical assumptions used in the acquisition or investment evaluation;

- the expected useful life of each asset and associated structures will, with regular maintenance and upkeep, conform with the Fund's objectives of providing long-term and stable cash distributions to Unitholders; and

- the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be reviewed and approved by the Trustees.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BUSINESS

General - Countryside Power Income Fund

The Fund was established to invest indirectly in the Biogas Projects and the District Energy Systems. The Fund's indirect investments consist of the USEB Investments as well as the indirect ownership of the District Energy Systems. The Biogas Projects, located in the United States, currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtu's of boiler fuel in 2004. The District Energy Systems have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity.

The Independent Power Generation Industry

Overview

The traditional electricity market structure consisted of vertically-integrated utilities which had a near monopoly over the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity to retail customers. A variety of factors, including rapid growth in electricity demand, rising electricity rates, technological advances and environmental concerns, led certain governments to implement efforts to restructure the electricity industry within their respective jurisdictions. Such changes have, among other things, encouraged the development of generation from independent power producers. In the independent power generation sector, electricity is generated from a number of sources, including: (i) water; (ii) natural gas; (iii) coal; (iv) waste products, such as biomass and biogas; (v) geothermal sources, such as heat or steam; (vi) the sun; and (vii) wind.

While regulated utilities continue to dominate the North American electricity landscape, independent power producers are playing an increasingly important role in the supply of electricity. Policymakers have recognized the benefits of power generated by independent power producers, especially where such power is produced from renewable or waste resources, or at higher efficiencies than conventional utility-owned generation. Currently approximately 30 utilities in the United States offer customers the opportunity to purchase green power derived from biogas which is priced at a premium to electricity generated from non-renewable sources.

Industry Regulation

United States

In the United States, the trend towards restructuring the electric power industry and the introduction of competition in electricity generation commenced with the passage and implementation of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act ("PURPA"). Among other things, PURPA, as implemented by the United States Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC"), generally requires vertically integrated electric utilities to purchase power from QFs at their Avoided Cost.

A QF is a distinct type of energy producer that falls into one or both of two primary classes. The first class of QFs includes energy producers that generate power using specific energy sources such as wind, solar, geothermal, hydro, biomass or waste fuels. The second class of QFs includes cogeneration facilities. For so long as a facility otherwise eligible for QF status is not more than 50% owned by a person primarily engaged in the generation or sale of electric power (other than electric power solely from cogeneration facilities or small power production facilities), such facility will be exempt from regulation under the Public Utility Holding Company Act ("PUHCA"). Similarly, an entity directly or indirectly owning a QF is not subject to PUHCA by virtue of such ownership. FERC's implementing regulations explain that a cogeneration or small power production facility shall be considered to be owned by a person primarily engaged in the generation or sale of electric power if more than 50% of the equity interest in the facility is held by an electric utility or utilities, or by an electric utility holding company, or companies, or any combination thereof.

With the exception of QFs, generation, transmission and distribution of electricity remained largely bundled until the enactment of the Energy Policy Act of 1992 (the "1992 Act") and subsequent orders in 1996. Among other things, the 1992 Act enhanced FERC's power to open access to power transmission systems, contributing to significant growth in the independent power generation industry.

While FERC regulates interstate power transmission and has a mandate to ensure that wholesale sellers have access to the transmission grid at fair and reasonable rates, retail competition is largely the responsibility of individual states. According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration, as of March 2005, 24 states, including the State of Illinois, had enacted legislation or issued regulatory orders to implement retail access, with six of these states having delayed or suspended the implementation of these initiatives.

Illinois

Regulatory restructuring of the electricity market in Illinois commenced in 1997 with the passage of The Electric Service Customer Choice and Rate Relief Act of 1997. As a result of this legislation, the Illinois power market began a mandatory restructuring transition period that is expected to conclude on January 1, 2007.

Canada

Provincial governments have legislative authority over the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity in Canada. The movement toward restructuring the Canadian electricity industry has been similar to that of the U.S., as each province has determined its policy in this area based on its own assessment of its unique regional circumstances and issues.

Ontario

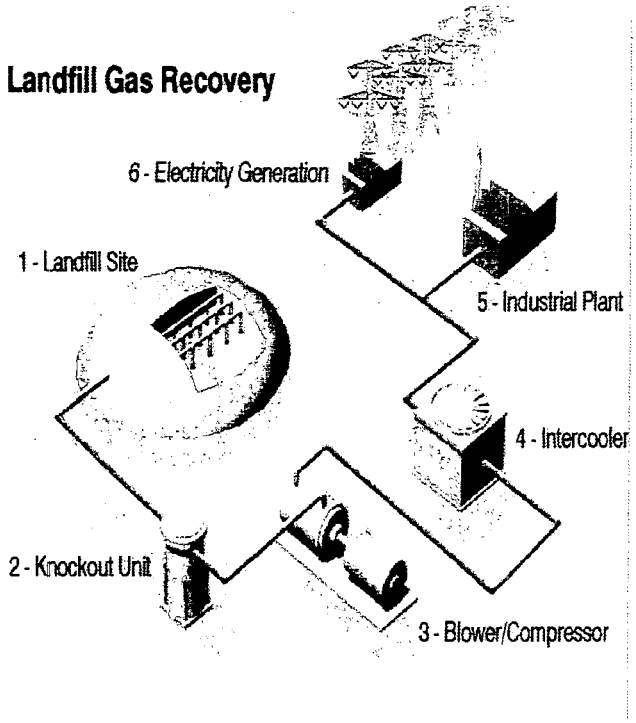
In 1987, Ontario Hydro, with the support of the Ontario Ministry of Energy, developed policies to encourage the addition of new generating capacity by independent power producers. In connection with this policy initiative, Ontario Hydro entered into a number of long-term PPAs with independent power producers. As of December 31, 2000, there were approximately 90 facilities owned and operated by independent power producers in Ontario that generated a total of 10,710 GWh of power in 2000 from a variety of energy sources, such as water, natural gas and biomass.

On April 1, 1999, Ontario's electricity industry was substantially restructured with the division of Ontario Hydro into five separate crown corporations, the two main companies being Ontario Power Generation Inc., the successor to Ontario Hydro's generation business, and Hydro One Inc., the successor to Ontario Hydro's transmission and distribution business. On May 1, 2002, Ontario's electricity market opened to competition at both the wholesale and retail levels. In November 2002, in response to increased prices of electricity, the provincial government introduced legislation that fixed the price of electricity for low volume and designated customers at 4.3 cents/kWh. On December 18, 2003, the newly-elected Liberal government enacted the Ontario Energy Board Amendment Act, 2003 changing the electricity price cap for residential consumers effective April 1, 2004 to 4.7 cents/kWh for the first 750 kWh consumed in any month and 5.5 cents/kWh for any consumption above that level. On February 23, 2005, the Government enacted the Electricity Restructuring Act, 2004, setting an average price of 4.5 cents/kWh on the output of OPG's regulated generation assets for between April 1, 2005 to no later than March 31, 2008, and 4.7 cents/kWh on most of OPG's unregulated generation assets for between April 1, 2005 and no later than April 30, 2006. The new pricing described immediately above will affect selected large industrial and commercial customers. On March 11, 2005, the Ontario Energy Board announced changes to the electricity price cap starting April 1, 2005 for residential customers to 5.0 cents/kWh on the first 750 kWh consumed in any month and 5.8 cents/kWh for any consumption about that level. Starting November 1, 2005 the price threshold (first 1,000 kWh/month during the winter months and 600 kWh/month during the summer months) will be reset twice a year. These price caps are expected to remain in place until no later than May 1, 2005 by which time the Ontario Energy Board is directed to develop and implement a new pricing mechanism for residential consumers.

The Biogas Industry

Overview

Biogas, also known as landfill gas, is generated from the decomposition of organic or carbon-based materials, including municipal solid waste. Biogas consists mainly of methane and carbon dioxide, roughly in equal proportions. Methane gas may be used for electrical power generation and for industrial applications. Electricity and boiler fuel sales from biogas projects are dependent upon the rate, quantity and quality of gas flow and the effectiveness of the biogas collection systems on a landfill site.



Biogas is collected by installing gas wells into a landfill at predetermined separations. The wells are connected by a series of pipes that deliver the biogas to the processing and conversion stations. The entire piping system is under a partial vacuum causing biogas in the landfill to migrate toward the wells. Once the biogas is collected, it is delivered to a central processing facility where it is filtered to remove any contaminants that may be suspended in the biogas stream. It is then utilized as fuel to generate electricity, transported to a third party, or flared.

Biogas production at a landfill is estimated using models developed in association with the EPA and other similar bodies. Production estimates are based on accepted, theoretical decay patterns of carbon-based materials, with inputs that include: the filling pattern of the landfill, the composition of the waste, compaction, moisture content, time and local weather conditions. As the amount of waste deposited into a landfill increases, the amount of potential biogas that can be generated by the decomposition of waste also increases. Biogas generation peaks shortly after the closure of the landfill and starts to decline as the ratio of decomposed waste to under-composed waste increases. According to the EPA, depending on the size of the landfill and the amount of waste deposited into the landfill, the amount of biogas generated should continue to be substantial enough to support commercial operations for 20 to 30 years after a landfill ceases to accept waste.

Both methane and carbon dioxide are considered greenhouse gases and contribute to global warming. However, methane is significantly more damaging to the environment than carbon dioxide. The EPA first began regulating municipal solid waste landfills and biogas in 1991 under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. In 1996, the EPA released the Clean Air Act New Performance Standards and the associated emissions guidelines. As part of these guidelines, newer landfill facilities with large design capacities are required to install gas collection and control systems. The EPA also requires older landfills that exceed prescribed fill amounts to install gas collection and management systems.

The following diagram illustrates a typical biogas collection and electricity generation process.

BIOGAS COLLECTION AND POWER GENERATION PROCESS

1. Landfill Site: Biogas recovery is suitable for existing as well as future landfill sites. In existing sites, the biogas is collected by installing vertical wells every 150 to 300 feet and connecting these vertical wells to a central processing station.
2. Knockout Unit: A knockout unit is used to screen out contaminants and free liquids suspended in the biogas.
3. Blower/Compressor: The blower/compressor is used to create a partial vacuum in the system that causes the biogas to migrate through the wells toward the processing station.
4. Intercooler: The intercooler is used to reduce the temperature of the biogas allowing residual moisture to condense.
5. Industrial Plant: At this point, the biogas may be sold as boiler fuel directly to an end-user such as an industrial plant.
6. Electricity Generation: Alternatively, it may be used to power generators that convert it into electricity for sale to the local electric utility.

Government Support for Biogas Projects

The U.S. federal government and a number of state governments have put programs in place that provide biogas owners with tax credits, emission credits and/or premium rates for the sale of electricity.

Section 29 Tax Credits

A significant incentive introduced by the U.S. federal government relating to biogas has been the Section 29 tax credit. "Section 29" refers to a program that forms a specific part of federal tax law known as the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980. This program introduced federal tax credits which are generated upon the sale of certain types of alternative fuels, including the methane component of biogas. The tax credit is generated when the owner of a biogas collection facility sells a unit of methane to an unrelated party for use in energy production. The buyer of the methane is considered to be unrelated to the owner of the biogas facility under this legislation if there is no more than 50% overlapping ownership, either directly or indirectly, between the two. For credits claimed in 2003, each MMBtu of biogas sold for the generation of energy produced a tax credit of approximately US$1.103. Tax credits for projects developed after 1992 that were operational prior to July 1, 1998 will expire on December 31, 2007.

To qualify for Section 29 tax credits, a biogas facility must have been placed in service before July 1, 1998, pursuant to a binding written contract entered into before January 1, 1997. A contract was binding if it provided a completion date, a maximum price, was valid under state law, did not limit damages to a specified amount (or provided for liquidated damages of at least 5% of the total cost of the facility), and was not substantially modified on or after January 1, 1997. The facility was placed in service before July 1, 1998 if, by that date, the owner of the facility obtained all necessary licenses and permits, completed all critical testing of the facility, and controlled the facility, and if the facility was capable of producing biogas for sale and commenced daily operation, even if further testing to eliminate defects occurred later.

Illinois Incentives

The State of Illinois, in an effort to encourage the development of green energy fuels, among other things, initiated an incentive program to promote the development of biogas projects. The first step in this process was accomplished by classifying a biogas project that meets certain requirements as a "Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facility" or "QSWEF" under the Local Solid Waste Disposal Act. A QSWEF benefits from the provisions of the Illinois Public Utilities Act and the Purchase and Sale of Electric Energy from Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facilities of the Illinois Administrative Code. These state mandates, as implemented by the Illinois Commerce Commission ("ICC"), require an electric utility to enter into a PPA with a QSWEF that has a minimum term of 10 years so long as, among other things, no entity that directly or indirectly owns more than 50% of such QSWEF is primarily engaged in the business of producing or selling electricity, gas or useful thermal energy from a source other than one or more QSWEFs. The electric utility is obligated to purchase the electricity generated by a QSWEF located in such utility's service area at a rate that is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities (with certain exceptions) for electricity in such QSWEF's jurisdiction (the "Gross Contract Rate"). The Gross Contract Rate typically exceeds the purchasing utility's Avoided Cost. In such case, the QSWEF receives a premium for the sale of its electricity to the utility, in the form of an incentive, which represents the excess of the utility's Gross Contract Rate over its Avoided Cost. To recover the cost of this incentive, the utility is entitled to Illinois State tax credits equal to the amount of the incentive paid to the QSWEF.

The QSWEF is obligated to reimburse the State of Illinois for the amount of the tax credits claimed by the utility to which it sells electricity and is required to begin repaying this amount no later than the earlier of the date it has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing the project and 10 years from the date the project began commercial operation. Pursuant to regulations under the Illinois

Public Utilities Act (the "ICC Regulations"), all incentives must be fully repaid by the QSWEF upon the earlier of 20 years after it began commercial operation or the end of its actual useful life. The incentives are to be repaid over the required repayment period pursuant to a schedule to be determined by the ICC based on the manner in which the utility claimed the tax credits.

In addition, each month, a QSWEF is required to pay the Illinois Department of Revenue an amount equal to US 0.06 cents/kWh sold by it during the prior month.

Other State and Local Incentives

A number of states provide incentives to encourage the development of biogas and other green energy fuels. These incentives have taken the form of direct incentives, renewable energy purchase requirements ("Renewable Portfolio Standards") and the establishment of renewable energy funds. The table below summarizes those U.S. states with Renewable Portfolio Standards.

Advantages of Biogas Projects

Abundant and Low Cost Fuel Source

Containment and consolidation of solid waste into landfill sites is a common practice worldwide. The low cost to extract biogas from landfills makes it attractive for power generation relative to natural gas or other more conventional fossil fuel sources.

Environmental Benefits

Biogas produced by landfills has been described as one of the largest contributors to global warming. In order to comply with environmental regulations and reduce the hazard arising from a build-up of biogas (which is highly combustible), landfills are required to burn or flare it in a controlled manner. Converting biogas into electricity not only achieves these objectives, but also provides an alternative source of energy.

Government Support

The recent growth in the development of biogas projects is partly a result of the support that biogas and other green energy fuels are receiving from federal and state governments, regulators and customers in the form of (i) tax credits; (ii) emissions credits; and/or (iii) premium rates for the sale of electricity.

Premium Pricing for Green Energy

Excluding incentives received from federal and state governments, power generated using green energy fuels, such as biogas, has, in certain instances, been able to obtain a premium price over power generated from conventional sources due to the introduction of Renewable Portfolio Standards and increased environmental awareness.

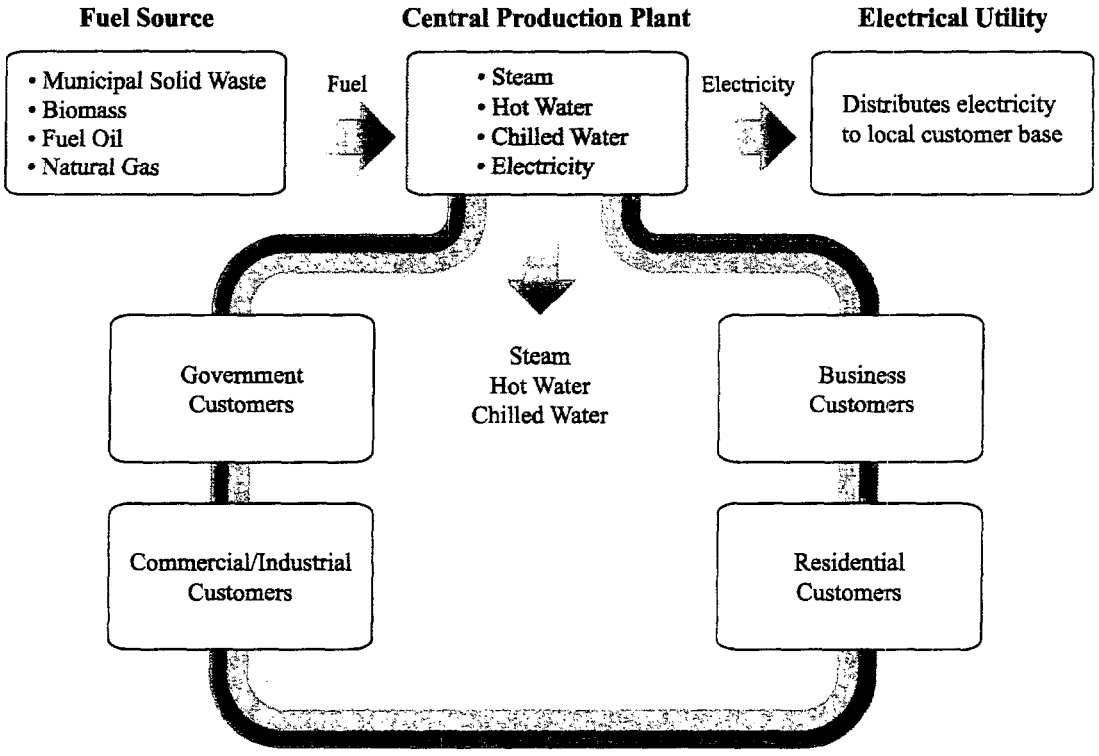
Proven Technology

Several types of standardized equipment are used to generate electricity from biogas. The power generation equipment is manufactured by companies such as GE/Jenbacher, Caterpillar and Deutz all of whom have established track records in the power generation industry. The most common equipment types are reciprocating engines or internal combustion engines, which are customized to operate on biogas. According to the EPA, 82% of biogas projects that generate electricity utilize this technology. For sites with high gas flow, steam turbines or gas turbines may be used.

Low Operating Costs

As a result of the low maintenance requirements and high reliability of biogas equipment, operating expenses for biogas projects are comparatively stable and predictable.

The District Energy Industry



Overview

District energy systems are common in large urban centres worldwide and in North America, including Toronto, Montreal, New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Over 5,000 district energy systems are currently in operation in the U.S., supplying over 8% of commercial floor space. District energy systems typically consist of one or more central production plants that generate steam, hot water and/or chilled water and distribute it through underground pipes to customer buildings.

Structure of District Energy Systems

The central production plant of a typical district energy system converts fuel, such as natural gas, biomass, fuel oil or coal, into steam, hot water and/or chilled water which is distributed through underground pipes to its customers to provide heating, air conditioning and some industrial process uses. Customers typically include government offices, hospitals, educational institutions and apartment buildings, as well as commercial businesses that commonly outsource for such services.

TYPICAL DISTRICT ENERGY SYSTEM

Outlook for the District Energy Industry

Argonne National Laboratory and the International District Energy Association estimate that district energy could provide up to 30% of the thermal energy needs in the United States by 2010. New and expanded markets include urban areas, universities and colleges, military installations, and other campus or institutional settings. This growth is driven by the benefits it can provide to local economies, including the revitalization of urban centres by providing a reliable, low-cost energy infrastructure and improving air quality.

Rising energy costs for industrial and commercial consumers, coupled with new environmental initiatives, have encouraged the expansion of existing systems and the development of new systems in Canada. District energy systems have been introduced over the last five years in cities such as Windsor, Sudbury and Markham.

Advantages of District Energy Systems

High Customer Retention

District energy systems provide customers with an attractive alternative to conventional in-house heating and cooling systems. Contracting for energy services with a district energy system eliminates the requirement of a customer to provide building space to house boilers, human resources to manage its systems, and the associated capital investment. In addition, the pricing structure of district energy sales is such that the cost to a customer is competitive with alternative services, resulting in high customer retention.

High System Reliability

District energy systems have been designed to achieve higher reliability than conventional in-house systems as a result of the greater system management expertise and the incorporation of multiple back-up systems, which is not typically feasible to implement in smaller installations.

Low Operating Costs

The operation of large, efficient boilers and integrated distribution systems provides for low operating and maintenance costs on a per customer basis. In addition, district energy systems can be designed to utilize inexpensive, readily-available, low-grade fuels, such as biomass, to enhance operating margins. The use of cogeneration further reduces operating costs by simultaneously producing thermal energy and electricity.

Premium Pricing for Value Added Service

District energy competes in the marketplace with a customer's alternative sources of heating and cooling, and is typically valued at a premium based on its superior convenience, reliability and environmental advantages.

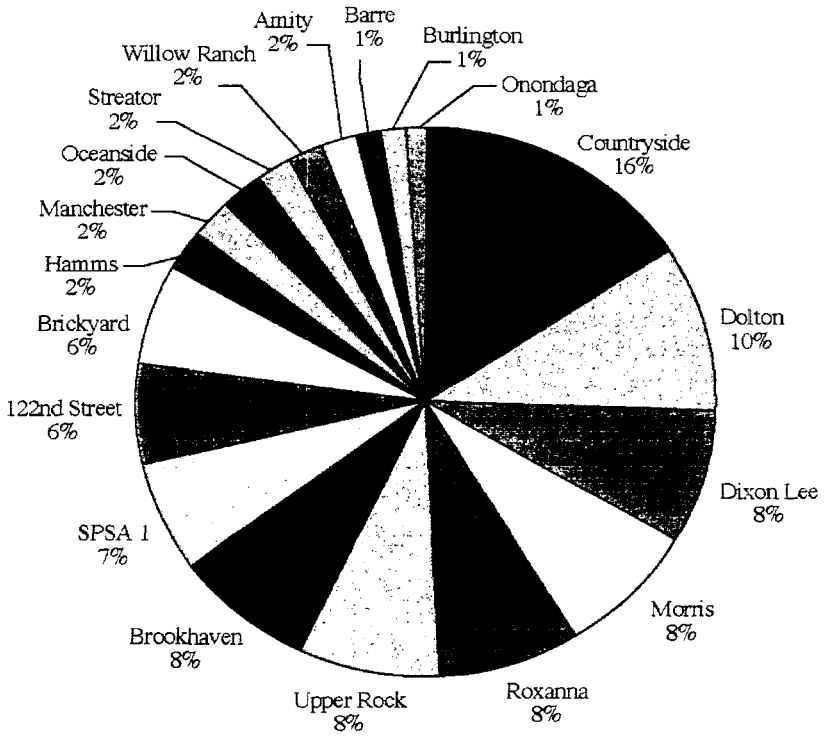
THE BIOGAS PROJECTS

Background

On May 1, 2001, the predecessor of USEB, Zahren Alternative Power Corporation, was acquired by USEY (54.26%) and an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy (45.74%). USEB owns 100% of the Biogas Projects located outside of Illinois and 50% of those located in Illinois, of which AJG owns the remainder.

Cinergy is a diversified U.S. energy company that manages a balanced and integrated portfolio of regulated operations and commercial businesses. Cinergy's regulated operations distribute electricity and natural gas to approximately 1.5 million and 500,000 customers, respectively, across three midwestern U.S. states. Cinergy also owns approximately 7,000MW of electric generation capacity in Indiana and its commercial business unit owns approximately 6,300MW of electric generation capacity across the U.S.

USEY is an independent power producer servicing large retail customers, including industrial and commercial end-users. USEY owns, operates and/or has financed 22 green energy, district energy and cogeneration projects in North America and Western Europe with a total of approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity. An indirect subsidiary of Cinergy owns approximately 5% of the outstanding common shares of USEY and a senior officer of Cinergy is a member of the board of directors of USEY. USEY and an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy are parties to a joint project development agreement.



USEB Operating Profile

The Biogas Projects currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity. Eighteen of the 22 Biogas Projects have contracts with local electric utilities for the sale of electrical output. The Brookhaven project leases electric generation equipment to a third party, which in turn has a contract to sell the output to an electric utility.

In addition, USEB receives payments under notes issued to subsidiaries of Cinergy and AJG ("Gasco Notes") in connection with the sale of its ownership interests in 16 Gascos that qualify for Section 29 tax credits. These payments are scheduled to end in 2007. The loss of this revenue stream in 2007 is expected to be primarily offset by increased electricity and boiler fuel production volumes from planned expansions of the Biogas Projects.

The Biogas Projects are located across nine states in the U.S. with a majority of power sales to electric utilities in the State of Illinois. The Biogas Projects are able to capitalize on regional opportunities as they relate to the sale of electricity and government incentive programs.

SUMMARY OF BIOGAS PROJECTS(1)
ELECTRIC GENERATION CAPACITY (MW)

(1) Excludes those Biogas Projects whose production output is boiler fuel.

All of the Biogas Projects located in Illinois receive an incentive under the Rate Incentive Program for the first 10 years of their commercial operation. The PPA/Retail Rate Expiry listed in the table below reflects the date of expiry of the entitlement to receive this incentive for each Biogas Project located in Illinois and the date of expiry of the PPAs for those Biogas Projects located outside of Illinois. Subsequent to the expiry of a project's entitlement to receive incentives or its PPA, as the case may be, the relevant electric utility will remain obligated to purchase the project's electrical output at the utility's Avoided Cost for so long as the project produces electricity and maintains its status as a QF under the FPA and meets certain other state law requirements. Alternatively, USEB may choose to sell the electrical output of the Biogas Projects into the Green Power Market or the electricity wholesale market. USEB may also sell renewable energy credits and GHG emission credits separately from the sale of electricity.

Set out below is a listing of the Biogas Projects and their key characteristics.

Commercial Structure of the Biogas Projects

The Biogas Projects may incorporate up to three separate legal entities as illustrated in the following diagram and described below:

TYPICAL BIOGAS PROJECT COMMERCIAL STRUCTURE

Gasco

Gascos are the legal entities that typically own the biogas extraction rights and collection systems and collect and sell the biogas to a Genco and/or a Transco, as the case may be, under long-term, fixed-rate contracts. Gascos are typically structured as limited partnerships whereby the beneficiaries of the Section 29 tax credits own a 99% limited partnership interest in the Gasco and USEB owns a 1% general partnership interest or less in the Gasco. The limited partnership interests are held by investment grade third parties. Countryside Canada does not own any interest in such limited partnership interests through the USEB Loans or the USEB Royalty Interest except an indirect interest in debt service payments received from such third parties by USEB under the Gasco Notes. In the cases of the Roxanna and Brookhaven projects, USEB does not own an interest in the relevant Gascos.

The Gencos typically provide the Gascos with a portion of the electricity they generate to power their gas collection systems and, in addition, provide operating and maintenance services to the Gascos. The total revenues received by the Gascos for the sale of biogas generally equates to the total cost of the Gencos providing the electricity and operating and maintenance services to the Gascos.

Genco

Gencos are the legal entities that typically own the power generating equipment, purchase the biogas from a Gasco and sell the electricity it generates to an electric utility or industrial user under long-term contracts. The Biogas Projects incorporate 19 Gencos that are wholly-owned subsidiaries of USEB, except for the Illinois-based projects which are owned 50% by USEB and 50% by AJG. Gencos typically lease a portion of a landfill site from an independent third party landfill owner.

Transco

Transcos are the legal entities that typically own the gas transportation equipment and purchase biogas from a Gasco to transport and sell to a third party as boiler fuel under long-term contracts. The Biogas Projects incorporate three Transcos which are all wholly-owned subsidiaries of USEB.

Pricing Structure

Illinois QSWEF Pricing Structure

The State of Illinois established the Rate Incentive Program to encourage, among other things, the proper disposal of waste and, where economically and technically feasible, the efficient use of the products or by-products generated as a result of its disposal. The Illinois-based Biogas Projects all qualify as QSWEFs and, as such, are participants in the Rate Incentive Program. Under the Rate Incentive Program, QSWEFs sell electricity at the Gross Contract Rate for the first 10 years of their commercial operation. The Gross Contract Rate is calculated annually by the electric utility and equals the average amount per kWh paid by local government entities for electricity in the jurisdiction in which the QSWEF is located (with certain exceptions). The difference between the Gross Contract Rate and the electric utility's Avoided Cost equals the QSWEF's incentive. A QSWEF must begin to repay the incentive no later than the earlier of the date the QSWEF has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing its facility and 10 years after the date the QSWEF began commercial operation. The incentive must be entirely repaid by the QSWEF upon the earlier of 20 years after the QSWEF began commercial operation and the end of the QSWEF's actual useful life. See "— ICC Rate Incentive Program and ICC Reimbursement Account".

Gross Contract Rates are calculated on an annual basis and vary by location. Since both the Gross Contract Rate and Avoided Cost typically change annually, the incentive component also typically changes on an annual basis.

ICC Rate Incentive Program and ICC Reimbursement Account

According to the terms of the Rate Incentive Program, a QSWEF must start repaying an amount equal to the incentive portion of the Gross Contract Rate to the State of Illinois no later than the earlier of the date the QSWEF has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing its facility and 10 years after the date it began commercial operation. The incentive must be entirely repaid upon the earlier of 20 years after the QSWEF began commercial operation and the end of the QSWEF's actual useful life. The repayment obligation to the State of Illinois is equal to the amount of the incentive received, without interest, and is required to be made under a schedule to be determined by the ICC based on the manner in which the local utility claimed the relevant tax credits.

To ensure sufficient funds exist for reimbursement of the incentive, each Illinois-based Biogas Project agreed, under the orders that the ICC issued to establish and/or confirm its status as a QSWEF (the "ICC Orders"), to establish an ICC Reimbursement Account which it funds with a portion of the amount of the incentive it receives . The ICC Orders have no specific requirements for the amount of funds that need to be deposited in the ICC Reimbursement Account for repayment of the incentive or for the type of investments that are appropriate for the ICC Reimbursement Account. Each Illinois-based Biogas Project invests the funds held in a ICC Reimbursement Account in a balanced portfolio of fixed income, equity and other investments managed by a professional advisor. See "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business — QSWEF Status" and "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business — ICC Repayment Liability".

Although the Rate Incentive Program for each of the Illinois-based Biogas Projects terminates 10 years after the commencement of commercial operation, the local electric utility is obligated to purchase the electrical output from such Biogas Project at the utility's Avoided Cost for so long as the Biogas Project qualifies as a QF and satisfies Illinois laws. This obligation arises under requirements of PURPA, and Part 430, Purchase and Sale of Electrical Energy from Cogeneration and Small Power Production Facilities of the Illinois Administrative Code.

Green Power Market and Pricing

After expiration of the 10-year period over which the Illinois-based Biogas Projects participate in the Rate Incentive Program, and after expiration of the PPAs for the non-Illinois-based Biogas Projects, USEB anticipates that it will sell the power generated by the Biogas Projects into the Green Power Market, if economically attractive.

The use of power derived from alternative sources has been mandated in several states in the United States, in addition to being discussed at a federal level. Such states, including Illinois, have incorporated, or are in the process of incorporating or considering the incorporation of, Renewable Portfolio Standards. These standards require that a certain percentage of power generated be derived from a renewable fuel source. In Ontario, the Electricity Conservation and Supply Task Force, which was established in June 2003 and released its report on January 14, 2004, has recommended that Ontario implement Renewable Portfolio Standards and concluded that renewable energy generation will be a vital part of Ontario's future electricity supply mix. The mandate for such standards stems from the objective of reducing the use of fossil fuels, reducing the reliance on foreign energy sources and increasing the production of clean energy.

In those jurisdictions where the Renewable Portfolio Standards exist, Green Power Markets may develop and rates for green power may increase to a level that may result in green power generation reaching the level set by the Renewable Portfolio Standards. Such levels typically involve a price premium on electricity generated reflecting the total cost (including capital) of producing such power. In addition, without state-mandated Renewable Portfolio Standards, it has been demonstrated that there is a segment of the general public that has a preference for electricity generated from green power, and is willing to pay a premium for such power.

Section 29 Tax Credits

Since the development of the Biogas Projects, USEB has sold predominantly all of its ownership interests in the Gascos to either Cinergy or AJG.

An indirect subsidiary of Cinergy purchased USEB's ownership interests in the Countryside, Morris and Brown County Gascos. Consideration for the purchase was in the form of: (i) an up-front down payment; (ii) a fixed note with specified principal and interest payments; and (iii) a contingent note whose payments are based upon the amount of MMBtus sold by the Gascos to the Gencos. USEB has agreed to indemnify the indirect subsidiary of Cinergy for certain losses suffered in the event that certain tax-related representations and warranties made by USEB are inaccurate.

AJG purchased the ownership interests in other Biogas Projects' Gascos, which generate Section 29 tax credits. Consideration from AJG to USEB was in the form of: (i) an up-front down payment; and (ii) a contingent note whose payment is based upon the amount of MMBtus sold by the Gascos to the Gencos. AJG subsequently sold certain of such ownership interests to a subsidiary of American International Group. USEB has agreed to indemnify AJG for certain losses suffered in the event that certain tax-related representations and warranties made by USEB are inaccurate.

The ability of a project to receive Section 29 tax credits depends on the placed-in-service date of the facility. Section 29 tax credits for the Gascos at 14 Biogas Projects are currently available annually until December 31, 2007, based on an in-service date of on or before June 30, 1998. These projects include Brickyard, Cape May, Countryside,

Dixon Lee, Dolton, Hamms, Manchester, Morris, 122nd Street, SPSA (I and II), Streator, Upper Rock, Tucson and Willow Ranch. Biogas Projects with in-service dates prior to 1993 qualified for tax credits only through 2002. These projects include Amity, Burlington, Oceanside and Onondaga. USEB also owns two developmental sites where the Gascos generate tax credits, and receives revenues from four other Gascos where the sites themselves are owned and operated by third parties. In 2004, these four sites generated revenues of approximately US$180,000. USEB has two generating facilities, Brookhaven and Roxanna, whose Gascos were not owned by USEB and therefore generate no revenue for USEB from Section 29 tax credits.

USEB thus receives a cash flow stream in connection with the sale of its Gasco interests. Since Section 29 requires that a sales transaction take place between unrelated parties, the Genco/Gasco structure was created. Each Biogas Project (except Brookhaven and Roxanna), regardless of whether it is a Genco or Transco, is affiliated with a Gasco entity that has generated and/or continues to generate Section 29 tax credits for the benefit of the Gasco entity's owners. Neither USEB nor any of the Gascos has obtained a ruling from the IRS confirming that Gascos generate Section 29 credits. All of the Biogas Projects currently in operation (except for the Roxanna and Brookhaven projects) have provided or continue to provide economic benefits to USEB through the sale of Section 29 tax credits to investment grade counterparties — Cinergy, AJG and American International Group.

Operations

Effective January 1, 2003, USEB entered into operating and maintenance agreements with RUN Energy for the operation and maintenance of the Countryside and Morris projects. Under the terms of these agreements, RUN Energy is responsible for all expenses related to the operation of the equipment including scheduled major and minor overhauls and the supply of fluids and other spare parts, but excluding repair of failed engine blocks. The existing contracts have one year terms with renewal options.

RUN Energy provides management, operations and maintenance services to the energy industry. RUN Energy is a specialist in distributed power generation, including renewable energy and waste fuels, with a cumulative total of over 6 million hours of operation at over 30 distributed power plants, predominantly in the biogas industry.

On May 1, 2003, the term of the existing operating agreements with GE/Jenbacher for the operation and maintenance of the Brickyard, Dixon Lee, Dolton, 122nd Street, Roxanna, Streator, Upper Rock and Willow Ranch projects were extended to 10 years. Under the terms of these agreements, GE/Jenbacher is responsible for all expenses related to the operation of the equipment including scheduled major and minor overhauls, the supply of fluids and other spare parts and the replacement of failed components. Compensation for the services is at a flat-fixed rate per kWh produced, adjusted based upon the Consumer Price Index and the Producers Price Index. Contract terms include the imposition of penalties or the payment of bonuses should actual production fall below or exceed prescribed levels. The production levels are adjusted periodically to reflect gas quality and quantity.

With the execution of these operation and maintenance contracts, approximately 69% of the engine generating capacity of the Biogas Projects is operated and maintained by third-party operators under fixed price contracts. As the third-party operators are responsible for the relevant projects' day-to-day operations, USEB has been able to reduce its staffing levels and insurance premiums. The variable cost of operation is approximately 74% of total project operating expenses.

The operation and maintenance functions for the remaining Biogas Projects, including Amity, Barre, Brookhaven, Burlington, Cape May, Hamms, Manchester, Oceanside, Onondaga, SPSA I and II, and Tucson are performed by USEB staff, which is comprised of 21 professionals.

USEB Loans

On closing of the Offering, Countryside Canada purchased certain Existing Loans from the then current lenders to USEB and various affiliates of USEB, including John Hancock Financial Services, Inc. and certain of its affiliates, GESF Energy Capital LLC and AJG, for a cash purchase price equal to 100% of the principal amount outstanding under the Existing Loans on the closing date of the Offering. USEB paid all accrued unpaid interest on the Existing Loans and made an additional payment to John Hancock Financial Services, Inc. and its affiliates and GESF Energy Capital LLC in connection with the purchase.

Upon acquisition of the Existing Loans, Countryside Canada made Additional Advances to USEB and Countryside Canada and USEB and amended the Existing Loans to include the Additional Advances and otherwise give effect to the terms set forth in the amendment to the note purchase agreement governing the USEB Loans (the "USEB Loan Agreement"). Including the Additional Advances, the USEB Loans were for an initial principal amount of $107 million.

The USEB Loans consist of two loans, a loan in the approximate principal amount as of the closing of the Offering, of $89.8 million (the "USEB A Loan") and a loan in the approximate principal amount, as of the closing of the Offering, of $17.2 million (the "USEB B Loan"). USEB is borrower on both USEB Loans. The USEB Entities that own the USEB Operating Assets guaranteed both USEB Loans.

As security for the USEB Loans, Countryside Canada has a first ranking lien on all of USEB's assets except the Excluded Assets, and substantially all of the USEB Operating Assets not directly held by USEB secure the guarantees.

Yankee Energy Services Company ("YESCO") retained its second lien on the equity interests in and assets of the USEB Entities that own the assets of and equity interests in the Countryside, Morris and Brookhaven projects securing its US$4.7 million vendor's note (the "YESCO Note") which is subordinated to such projects' guarantees of the USEB B Loan but is senior to such guarantors' unsecured guarantees of the USEB A Loan. USEB has provided an unsecured guarantee of the YESCO Note.

The interest rate on the USEB Loans is 11.0% per annum and principal and interest is paid monthly. The USEB Loans have a maturity date of 15 years from April 8, 2004, subject to mandatory prepayment provisions and prepayment at the election of the lender after 10 years. Approximately 56% of the aggregate principal amount of the USEB Loans will amortize over their term gradually increasing from 1.6% of the aggregate principal amount in the first year to 7.1% in the 15th year.

Except in connection with a change of control of USEB, the USEB Loans are not redeemable or repayable prior to five years from their date of issuance. Thereafter, USEB may, to the extent it has available cash, prepay all or a portion of the USEB Loans subject to a yield maintenance provision which requires USEB to make Countryside Canada whole on the forgone returns from the date of prepayment of the USEB Loans to the maturity date. USEB has the right to prepay the USEB Loans on the same basis if there is a change of control of USEB at any time prior to the fifth anniversary of the issuance date. USEB is required to make mandatory prepayments under the USEB Loans under certain circumstances with and without premiums.

Under the terms of the USEB Loans, USEB is required to establish the USEB Reserve. At the closing of the Offering, the USEB Reserve was funded with US$2 million. Thereafter, beginning in 2004, USEB is obligated to fund the USEB Reserve with a minimum of US$250,000 quarterly, increasing by 2.5% per year (the "Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount"), from operating cash flow after payment of all amounts due on the USEB Loans, operating expenses, and ICC reimbursement deposits, but before growth capital expenditures, dividends to the shareholders of USEB and royalty payments to Countryside Canada pursuant to the USEB Royalty Interest. To the extent that there are insufficient funds to satisfy the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount in each and every quarter commencing in 2004 and until the maturity of the USEB Loans, excess cash flow of USEB (after payment of operating expenses, amounts due on the USEB Loans, operational capital expenditures, ICC reimbursement deposits and the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount) in subsequent quarters will be deposited into the USEB Reserve until the equivalent of the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount multiplied by the number of quarters elapsed since the issuance date of the USEB Loans has been funded. Once the required amounts have been funded to satisfy the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount for each quarter since the issuance of the USEB Loans and certain other conditions have been met, dividends shall be permitted to be paid to the shareholders of USEB.

The following are events of default under each of the USEB Loans: (i) failure to pay principal or interest beyond any applicable grace period, absent a waiver; (ii) default under any covenant beyond any applicable grace period; (iii) defaults under, or revocation of, any material regulatory license; (iv) cross-default to any other USEB Loan; (v) cross-default to payment of other secured debt exceeding $4 million; (vi) the bankruptcy or insolvency of USEB or any of its subsidiaries; (vii) a judgment against USEB or its subsidiaries in excess of $2 million which has not been stayed or bonded; (viii) a material default under a material contract of USEB or the USEB Entities; (ix) defaults under related loan documents; (x) lapse of security interest in pledged collateral; (xi) material falsity of any representation or warranty made by USEB or a USEB Entity; (xii) acceleration of certain other debt exceeding $8 million; and (xiii) default under or cancellation of certain contracts related to certain projects.

The USEB Loan Agreement contains customary covenants, and representations and warranties for transactions of this nature between arm's length parties.

If Countryside Canada becomes liable to pay or remit any withholding tax or is subject to any amount as or on account of withholding tax in respect of its acquisition, making or holding of the USEB Loans (including the receipt of interest thereon), other than a tax or withholding tax arising from a disposition of the USEB Loans, USEB is required under the USEB Loan Agreement to provide funds or make additional payments to Countryside Canada with respect to the USEB Loans to permit such withholding tax to be paid or remitted (without reducing any payments that would be made to Countryside Canada in the absence of such withholding tax) or otherwise fully indemnify Countryside Canada in respect of such liability, except to the extent that such withholding tax is increased by Countryside Canada's failure to supply such forms and documents as USEB may require to eliminate or reduce such withholding tax. Under the terms of the USEB Loans, USEB is required to hedge its currency exchange exposure under the USEB Loans. On closing of the Offering, USEB will have currency hedges in place to hedge its currency exchange exposure on debt service payments for the first three years of the term of the USEB Loans. Under these arrangements, approximately US$2 million of amounts deposited into the ICC Reimbursement Accounts will be pledged directly to the hedge providers as security for USEB's obligations. Thereafter, 75% of debt service payments will be hedged at various intervals through to maturity.

USEB Royalty Interest

The Fund, through Countryside Canada, acquired the USEB Royalty Interest for US$6,000,000 ($7,884,000) at closing of the Offering. The USEB Royalty Interest entitles Countryside Canada to receive an annual amount (the "Royalty") from USEB that is determined by reference to, and limited by, USEB Distributable Cash Flow (defined below). The USEB Royalty Interest is convertible, subject to certain regulatory conditions, at any time on or after the 20th anniversary of the closing of the Offering on April 8, 2004, or in the event of the prepayment in full of the USEB Loans, on or after the date of such prepayment, into non-voting common shares of USEB (the "Equity Interest"), representing 49% of the common shares of USEB outstanding at the time of conversion. Upon conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest, Countryside Canada's right to receive the Royalty will terminate. The amount of the Royalty payable to Countryside Canada depends upon whether the USEB Royalty Interest has become convertible. For each fiscal quarter prior to that in which the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, the amount of the Royalty payable to Countryside Canada will be equal to 7% of the USEB Distributable Cash Flow plus an additional percentage of USEB Distributable Cash Flow equal to 1.8% of the USEB Revenues (defined below), but in any event, the Royalty payment will be subject to the Distribution Cap (described below). After the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, but remains unconverted, the Royalty will be equal to 49% of USEB Distributable Cash Flow, subject to the Distribution Cap.

"USEB Distributable Cash Flow" means with respect to any period of time, USEB Revenues less: (i) ICC Reimbursement Account deposits during such period; (ii) actual cash payments and distributions of every kind made by the USEB Operating Assets during such period (other than payments or distributions to other USEB Operating Assets or to Excluded Assets), such payments to include without limitation expenses, salaries, fees, rent, overhead not to exceed US$1.4 million per annum, taxes, capital expense, and, if 100% of the revenues of IEGP II are included in the USEB Revenues, distributions to AJG in respect of its interests in IEGP II, but to exclude payments to the shareholders of USEB in respect of services rendered, and (iii) payments of principal and interest, funding of reserve requirements, including but not limited to the USEB Reserve, and other payments and reimbursements during such period as required by the USEB Loan Agreement and the YESCO Note; provided that the USEB Distributable Cash Flow shall not be reduced by cash invested to expand the capacity or production of the USEB Operating Assets during such period.

"USEB Revenues" means, with respect to any period of time, the aggregate consolidated gross revenues received by the USEB Operating Assets during such period, including but not limited to: (i) interest on and other earnings from investment of the ICC Reimbursement Accounts from time to time, to the extent such interest and earnings are not required by the USEB Loan Agreement to be reinvested in the ICC Reimbursement Accounts and are reasonably determined by USEB to be in excess of the amounts required to provide for reimbursement to the State of Illinois; (ii) interest on and other earnings from investment of the USEB Reserve; (iii) repayments of principal or payments of interest actually received during such period under any of the Gasco Notes; (iv) fees and other payments received from services rendered and sales made to persons or entities other than to the USEB Operating Assets; (v) repayments of principal or payments of interest which are actually received by USEB during such period pursuant to the AJG Note; and (vi) required deposits to the ICC Reimbursement Account; provided that cash or other proceeds generated by a Capital Event (defined as a liquidation of USEB or a sale of substantially all of the assets of USEB) shall not be taken into account in determining USEB Revenues. For purposes of this definition, in order to eliminate multiple counting of revenues, aggregate gross cash revenues shall be determined in a manner that does not take into account amounts of any nature transferred among the USEB Operating Assets.

The USEB Royalty Interest will terminate upon the liquidation of the USEB Operating Assets or a sale of substantially all of the assets of the USEB Operating Assets (such events, together with the refinancing of the USEB Loans, a "Capital Event"). Upon the occurrence of a Capital Event, Countryside Canada will become entitled to receive, subject to the Distribution Cap, US$6 million (the "Return Amount") and 49% of the Net

Residual Proceeds. "Net Residual Proceeds" means the sum of the gross cash and other proceeds generated by a Capital Event and the amounts held in the ICC Reimbursement Accounts as of the date of such Capital Event, less: (i) all expenses of or allocable to the USEB Operating Assets incurred in connection with the Capital Event, including but not limited to legal and accounting fees and disbursements, banking and investment banking fees, brokerage fees, and other internal and third party fees and costs related to the Capital Event and of or allocable to the USEB Operating Assets; (ii) all amounts required to pay the USEB Loans in full; (iii) rate incentive reimbursement amounts payable under the Rate Incentive Program and all other amounts due or reserved for future payments to the State of Illinois in respect of the Illinois-based Biogas Projects; (iv) all amounts required to pay the YESCO Note in full; (v) federal, state and local taxes due and owing and an amount to be reasonably reserved to pay all such taxes which will become payable by the USEB Operating Assets; (vi) all amounts required to liquidate all other financial and contractual liabilities and wind up the affairs of the USEB Operating Assets; (vii) all dividends of USEB and Royalties which are declared and unpaid as of the date of the Capital Event; (viii) a stipulated amount of US$30 million representing the book value of the investment of the shareholders of USEB in the USEB Operating Assets including minority interests, but excluding the USEB Royalty Interest, determined in accordance with GAAP as of the date of the Offering; (ix) a stipulated amount of US$6 million representing the net book value of the USEB Royalty Interest determined in accordance with GAAP as of the date of the Offering; provided that neither the USEB Reserve nor distributions there from shall be taken into account for purposes of determining Net Residual Proceeds, and provided further that for purposes of this definition, Net Residual Proceeds shall not be less than zero. For purposes of calculating Net Residual Proceeds, non-cash proceeds will be valued as follows: (i) publicly traded securities shall be valued at the average of their closing prices (as reported by the stock exchange upon which such securities had the highest daily volume) for the five trading days prior to the closing of the Capital Event, and (ii) any other non-cash proceeds shall be valued at their fair market value reasonably determined in good faith by USEB and Countryside Canada provided that if they are unable to agree, the determination shall be referred to an independent accounting or financial appraisal firm reasonably acceptable to Countryside Canada and USEB.

Notwithstanding the above, no amount will be payable to Countryside Canada under the USEB Royalty Interest (whether in the ordinary course of business, in connection with a Capital Event, or otherwise) unless, in the case of the Return Amount, 500% of such amount is distributed concurrently to the USEB shareholders in respect of their common shares of USEB and, in all other cases, at least 104.09% of such amount is distributed concurrently to the USEB shareholders in respect of their common shares of USEB (the "Distribution Cap").

It is expected that Royalty payments will generally be subject to U.S. withholding tax. Subject to the Distribution Cap, USEB has agreed to increase the amount paid with respect to the Royalty Interest such that, after such withholding tax, Countryside Canada will have received the same amount that it would have received in the absence of such withholding tax, except to the extent that such withholding tax is increased by Countryside Canada's failure to supply such forms and documents as USEB may require to reduce or eliminate such withholding tax.

THE DISTRICT ENERGY SYSTEMS

Overview

The District Energy Systems are located in Canada, one in Charlottetown, PEI and one in London, Ontario, and have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity. The following chart summarizes the District Energy Systems' thermal and electric capacity.

SUMMARY OF DISTRICT ENERGY SYSTEMS
THERMAL AND ELECTRIC CAPACITY (MW)

The PEI System produces steam, hot water and electricity using biomass, waste fuel and fuel oil. The London System produces steam, chilled water and electricity using natural gas as its primary fuel and fuel oil as its alternative fuel. The steam, hot water and/or chilled water generated by the production facilities are distributed to government, commercial and residential customers through underground distribution systems. The high credit quality and long-term contracts with the systems' largest customers, in conjunction with the long-term relationships with its other customers afford stability and predictability to the cash flows of each system. In 2003, a review of the District Energy Systems was conducted by an independent consultant, which included reviews and analyses of equipment, performance and environmental matters.

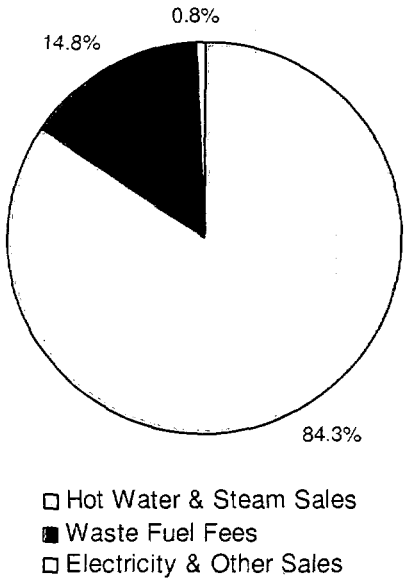
The PEI System

The PEI System is a district energy system located in Charlottetown, PEI with total distributing capacity of approximately 62.5MW and total electricity generating capacity of 1.2MW. The PEI System initially consisted of three separate systems, which were built from 1983 through 1987: the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, the Prince Edward Home and the University of Prince Edward Island systems. In 1995, the systems were upgraded and the distribution lines connected to improve efficiency and provide an integrated base for further expansion.

The PEI System produces energy in the form of steam, hot water and electricity from three production facilities. The system is fueled primarily by biomass and waste fuel while fuel oil is used for peaking and back-up. The distribution systems consist of 17 km of hot water distribution and 1.5 km of steam distribution.



Steam, Hot Water and Electricity Sales

The PEI System sells steam and hot water to customers in over 100 government, commercial and residential buildings, each of which is connected to its distribution system. The system's major customers include the Department of Transportation & Public Works, the Queen Elizabeth Hospital and the University of Prince Edward Island, each of which is under long-term contract. Contracts with the system's largest customers generally provide for the pass-through of fuel costs, thereby mitigating the impact of energy price and weather volatility. Approximately 85% of the system's revenues were generated from government-funded entities or investment grade customers in 2004. The system sells the electricity generated beyond that required for the system's operations to Maritime Electric Company, Limited.

Rates for small customers are adjusted monthly, and are based on the customer's cost of fuel oil (the alternative fuel source for heating in PEI), thus enabling prices to remain competitive to other customer alternatives.

In addition to steam, hot water and electricity sales, the system generates revenue from waste fuel fees associated with its acceptance of municipal solid waste from Island Waste Management Corp. ("IWMC"), a Canadian crown corporation run by the Department of Transportation and Public Works.

(2) Government-funded customers receive substantial direct and/or indirect support of one of, or a combination of, the federal, provincial or municipal governments. The S&P credit ratings for Canada and PEI are "AAA" and "A" respectively.
(3) DBRS senior unsecured debenture rating for RioCan Real Estate Investment Trust.
(4) Customers without indicated contract expiries are customers-at-will. For most customers however, a long demonstrated payment history based on the terms of the original contract exists.
(5) The customer's building has been connected to the PEI System since 1989. The term of the agreement is indefinite, but can be terminated by either party with one month's notice.

Energy Generation

The PEI System generates steam and hot water from three plants: the Energy from Waste Plant (the "EFWP Facility"), the University of Prince Edward Island Facility (the "UPEI Facility") and the Prince Edward Home Facility (the "PEH Facility"). The EFWP Facility is the largest of the three plants and provides the base load for the system. Total capacity is 153,100 lbs/hour of steam, generated from waste fuel, biomass and fuel oil. The UPEI Facility is the main back-up to the EFWP Facility, providing peak firing using fuel oil. In addition, this facility provides cooling to several buildings on the university campus through two chillers supplied with hot water from the distribution system. The PEH Facility, the original district energy facility, is seldom utilized, but can be fired using fuel oil.

In 2003, USE Canada upgraded the EFWP Facility with the installation of two new economizers, upgrades to the wood-fired systems and the installation of a new thermal storage tank. These upgrades were designed to enhance the use of more economic biomass fuels and reduce the use of more expensive fuel oil.

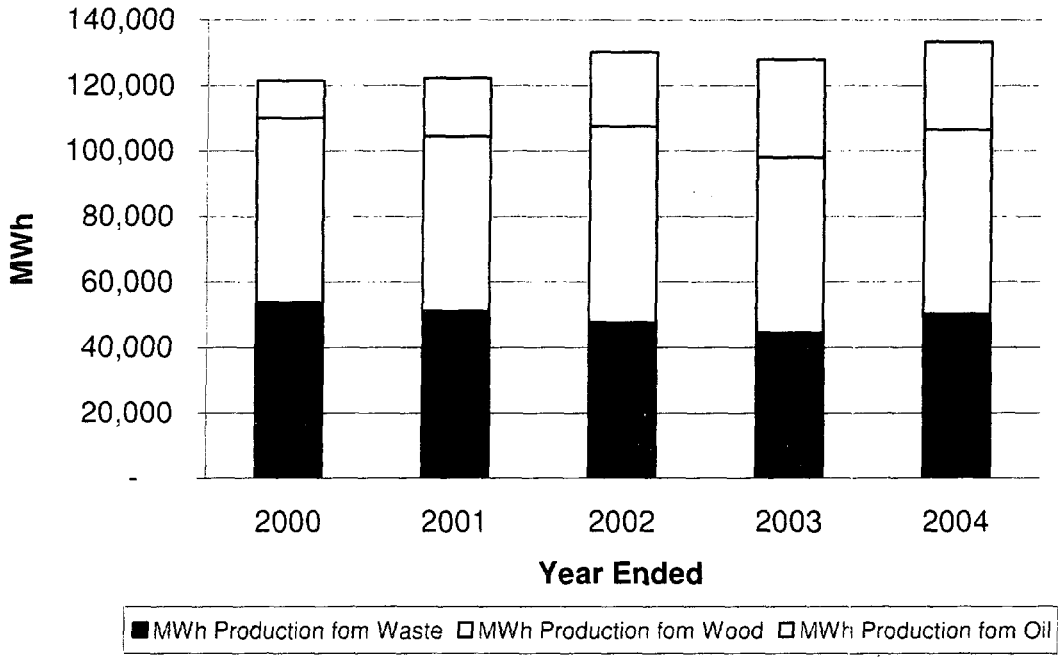
Plant	Capacity	Equipment	Fuel Supply
EFWP Facility (base load facility)	153,100 lb/hour (44MW)	• Three energy-from-waste units and one heat recovery steam generator • Two wood-fired boiler systems • Two fuel oil-fired boilers • 35 MWh (550,000 gal) storage tank	• Municipal solid waste (primary) • Wood waste (primary) • Fuel oil (backup)
UPEI Facility (back-up and peaking facility)	64,000 lb/hour (18MW)	• Three firetube boilers •	• Fuel oil
PEH Facility (back-up and peaking facility)	19,000 lb/hour (5.5MW)	• Three boilers	• Fuel oil

Fuel Supply

The PEI System's three production facilities are fuelled by wood waste (biomass), municipal solid waste and fuel oil for supplementary firing and for peak periods, representing approximately 34.8%, 46.4% and 18.8% of 2004 fuel volume, respectively. The system has contracted for the supply of wood waste through an agreement that expires in 2025 with Georgetown Timber Ltd., a sawmill in PEI. The system receives municipal solid waste from IWMC.

Employees, Operations and Maintenance

There are 33 full-time employees currently employed at the PEI System. The employees are non-unionized, and the system has never experienced a work stoppage. The PEH Facility and the UPEI Facility are operated under long-term leases with the provincial government and the university, respectively. All other land and equipment is owned directly by the PEI System.



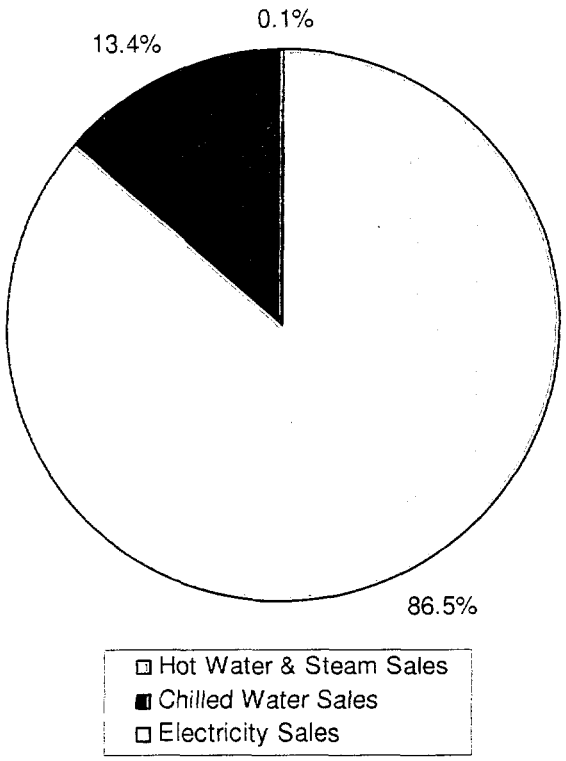
Environmental

The PEI System is in material compliance with environmental laws, and has not received any notices or citations relating to environmental compliance. The PEI System is required to report its emissions and operating data to the provincial Department of Environment on an annual basis under its operating permit. In addition, there is a federal requirement to report emissions data annually under the National Pollutant Release Inventory program. Any costs of environmentally driven upgrades required as a result of changes in environmental laws are the direct responsibility of the provincial government.

Operating History

Energy production has increased since 1998, with the largest increase between 2001 and 2002. Waste energy as a percentage of total production declined somewhat over the past few years prior to 2004 due to an increase in overall sales as well as a marginal drop in waste volumes due to the implementation of an integrated waste management system in PEI. Waste Energy as a percentage of total production increased somewhat in 2004 Wood as a percentage of total production has remained constant.

PEI SYSTEM ENERGY PRODUCTION



The London System

The London System is a district energy system located in London, Ontario with total distributing capacity of approximately 156,000 lbs/hour of steam, 2,850 tons of chilled water, and a total electricity generating capacity of 3.6MW, totaling approximately 59.6MW of thermal and electric generation capacity. The London System produces steam, chilled water and electricity from one facility that uses natural gas as its primary fuel and fuel oil as its alternative fuel. The London System was significantly upgraded in 1994 to enhance its steam and distribution system and to add cooling capability. The distribution system consists of 8 km of steam distribution and 2 km of chilled water distribution.

Steam, Hot Water and Electricity Sales

The London System sells steam and chilled water to a diversified customer base, including the London Health Sciences Centre. Approximately 68% of the system's revenues were generated from investment grade or government-funded entities in 2004. Customer contracts include price escalators which generally provide for a pass-through of fuel costs, thereby mitigating the impact of energy price and weather volatility. The system also sells electricity beyond its internal load requirements under a long-term PPA, which allows the system to either self-dispatch or load follow without penalty. The London System has been able to add additional steam and chilled water customers on a consistent basis. In addition, the London System has expansion opportunities in both the steam and the chilled water markets.

(2) Automatic five-year renewals.

Energy Generation

The London System generates steam, chilled water and electricity utilizing two 1.5MW gas turbine generators and two backpressure steam turbines. Waste steam from the turbines is used internally to produce chilled water or is sent directly to the steam distribution system. In addition, chilled water is produced at four other sites, utilizing one 570-ton capacity steam absorption chiller, one 580-ton capacity hot water absorption chiller and three electric chillers (600, 700 and 800-ton capacity units). Steam is generated from one 60,000 lbs/hour boiler, two 35,000 lbs/hour boilers and one heat recovery unit capable of 30,000 lbs/hour. The power plant is fuelled by natural gas with fuel oil available as a back-up.

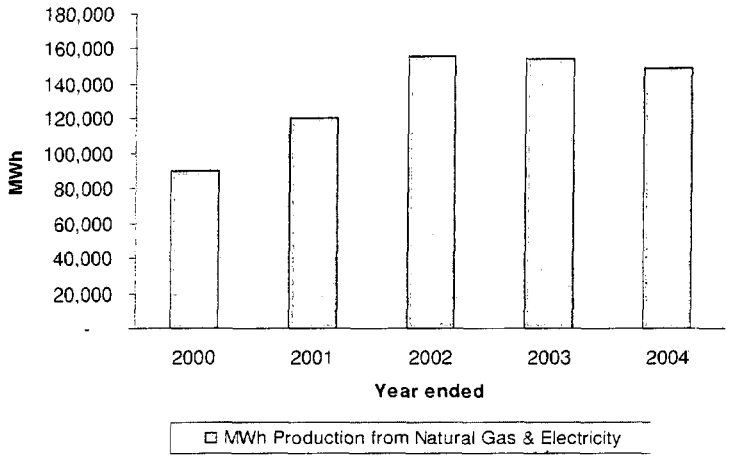
Plant	Capacity	Equipment	Fuel Supply
London System	156,000 lbs/hour (steam) 2,850 tons (chilled water) 3.6MW (electricity)	• Three boilers and one heat recovery steam generator • Two backpressure steam turbines • One steam absorption chiller • Three electricity-powered chillers • Two gas turbines	• Natural gas (primary) • Fuel oil (backup)

Fuel and Water Supply

Natural gas is purchased through a natural gas marketer and is distributed by the local gas distribution company, Union Gas Limited, through a high-pressure gas line. Fuel oil is readily available in London. Boiler feed water is supplied by the local municipality.

Employees, Operations and Maintenance

There are a total of 11 full-time employees at the London System. These employees are members of the Canadian Energy and Paper Workers Union. The London System has not experienced a work stoppage in more than 30 years. The administrative offices for the London System are located on separate premises in London, along with the Fund's administrative offices, and are leased under a short-term arrangement.



Environmental

The London System is in material compliance with environmental laws, and has not received any notices or citations relating to environmental compliance. The London System is required to report its air emissions data to the Ontario Ministry of the Environment every two years. In addition, there is a federal requirement to report emissions data annually under the National Pollutant Release Inventory program.

Operating History

Sales volumes for the London System have increased over the past number of years and most significantly in 2001 and 2002 with the addition of the London Health Sciences Centre as a customer. Also, chilled water sales have increased with the addition of new customers over the past number of years.

LONDON SYSTEM ENERGY PRODUCTION

THE DEVELOPMENT AND IMPROVEMENT AGREEMENTS

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

The Fund, through its wholly-owned indirect subsidiary, Countryside U.S., entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives.

Under the Development Agreement, Cinergy, USEY and Countryside U.S. may seek opportunities to acquire or invest in energy projects that initially, or after further development or improvement, will meet the Fund's acquisition and investment guidelines. Potential energy projects identified by USEY, Countryside U.S., or Cinergy may be presented to all parties for consideration. No party to the Development Agreement is obligated to participate in any project or opportunity. A decision by the Fund or any other party not to participate in an energy project shall not limit any of the other parties' rights to proceed with such project.

Cinergy and/or USEY may contribute such assets, capital and other resources as are required to acquire, develop or improve the energy projects that they choose to pursue. USEY and Cinergy may provide the Fund with an opportunity to acquire or invest in the energy projects on terms that recognize the Fund's objectives to increase, when prudent, cash distributions per Unit while adhering to its acquisition and investment guidelines. A committee consisting of a representative from each of Countryside U.S., Cinergy and USEY will oversee the acquisition, development or improvement of the energy projects. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the Development Agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. receives an annual fee of US$430,000 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY.

Whether or not the Fund elects to participate in a potential energy project, the Fund shall retain a right of first refusal to acquire or invest in such energy project should USEY and/or Cinergy divest of the energy project subsequent to its acquisition, development or improvement. However, at no time shall the Fund be obligated to finance the acquisition, development or improvement of an identified energy project or to acquire or invest in an energy project.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five year term unless terminated by any party.

Improvement Agreement with USEB

USEB will provide the Fund with a right of first offer to invest (in a form similar to the USEB Investments) in certain expansion opportunities relating to the existing biogas projects.

RISK FACTORS

The following are certain risk factors relating to the Fund. The following information is a summary only of certain risk factors and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, and must be read in conjunction with, the detailed information appearing elsewhere in this annual information form and in the Fund's filings with the Canadian Securities Regulators from time to time including the Fund's final long form prospectus dated March 29, 2004, which can be found at www.sedar.com. Risks relating to the Biogas Projects are applicable to the Fund to the extent they affect: (i) USEB's ability to service the USEB Loans and to repay the USEB Loans at maturity; (ii) USEB's ability to pay the

Royalty under the USEB Royalty Interest prior to a conversion, if any, of the USEB Royalty Interest; and (iii) USEB's ability to pay dividends to Countryside Canada after conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest into the Equity Interest.

Risks Related to the Business

Dependence Upon Key Customers

Electricity generated from the Biogas Projects has historically been purchased by local electric utilities under long-term PPAs. Although USEB attempts to ensure that such customers have acceptable credit ratings upon entering into these contractual agreements, if for any reason such customers are unable or unwilling to fulfill their contractual obligations under the relevant PPAs, the financial condition of USEB could decline and reduce USEB's ability to service the USEB Loans.

The District Energy Systems are reliant on a limited number of customers. Furthermore, a significant number of these customers purchase energy at will and can stop purchasing energy at any time. While the majority of these customers have financial support from either the provincial and/or the federal government in Canada, or are entities with a high quality credit rating, the loss of one or more of these customers could adversely impact the financial condition of Countryside District Energy.

Competition

In markets in which USEB operates, there is competition from companies who are involved in power generation. Some of these companies have access to greater financial resources and have a greater ability to attract and retain personnel than USEB. Although management believes that there are segments of the marketplace where USEB will not face extensive competition, no assurances can be made that it will be able to enter these markets or that there will not be competition in such markets. Additionally, in recent years, such competition has contributed to a reduction in electricity prices in certain markets.

The principal competition for the District Energy Systems is from a wide variety of firms that sell products or services to end-users who choose to build and operate heating and cooling equipment on their own premises. These firms include suppliers of boilers and chillers and fuel suppliers such as gas and electric utilities, which encourage use of equipment that use their products. Some of these suppliers have greater financial resources than the District Energy Systems. In addition, increased competition could result in lower prices for the District Energy Systems' products and services.

Electricity Pricing

While a majority of the off-takers of the Biogas Projects are contractually obligated to purchase electricity under long-term PPAs, the projects based on market pricing will be exposed to fluctuations in the wholesale price of electricity. In addition, should any of the long-term contracts terminate or expire, USEB will be required to either negotiate new PPAs or sell into the electricity wholesale market for electricity, in which case the prices for electricity will depend on market conditions at the time. Similarly, when the Biogas Projects located in Illinois are no longer eligible to receive incentives under the Rate Incentive Program, it is expected that the projects will seek to negotiate new contracts in the Green Power Market based on rates prevailing in the Green Power Market at the time. Further, the Gross Contract Rate which USEB's Illinois-based Biogas Projects receive is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in the project's respective jurisdiction and, therefore, may be subject to change. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on USEB. Further, Green Power Markets will be affected by evolving federal and state energy policies as well as normal market forces thus rendering them more unpredictable.

The rate incentive received by each QSWEF, which must be reimbursed to the State of Illinois, represents the excess of the Gross Contract Rate received by such QSWEF from the public utility less the public utility's Avoided Cost. Therefore, the QSWEF's rate incentive and corresponding reimbursement obligation will depend, among other things, on the level of such Avoided Cost, which is beyond the control of the QSWEF and cannot be predicted with certainty.

Project Development Risks

The ability to develop new projects, including projects under the Improvement Agreement, requires success in obtaining various agreements, permits and approvals that are, in certain cases, not within the control of management. No assurances can be given that management will be successful in obtaining these agreements, permits, equipment and approvals on satisfactory commercial terms. Project development also involves significant environmental, engineering and construction risks.

Insurance

There can be no assurance that insurance obtained in respect of the Fund's operations and USEB's operations, including business interruption insurance among others, will be sufficient, continue to be offered on commercially reasonable terms or that events that could give rise to a loss or liability are insured. A significant event which is not fully insured could have a material adverse effect.

Operating Risks

The operation of energy generation facilities involves many risks, including the breakdown or failure of equipment or processes, and performance below expected levels of output or efficiency. If operations are interrupted at these facilities due to mechanical failures or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash. USEB has entered into operation and maintenance agreements with GE/Jenbacher and RUN

Energy for eight and two of its projects, respectively. As a result, USEB is and will be dependent on these third party operators for the successful operation of these projects. To the extent that these parties do not fulfill their obligations under these agreements, USEB's operations at these projects could be adversely affected.

Qualifying Facility Status

If USEB's Biogas Projects were to lose their status as qualifying facilities, then they would no longer be entitled to an exemption from the United States Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, as amended. Loss of QF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QF status under the PPA's and debt agreements and result in termination, penalties or acceleration of indebtedness under such agreements plus interest. Further, under PURPA, a regulated utility could refuse to purchase electricity from a USEB Project at such utility's Avoided Cost if QF status was lost and may be entitled to certain remedies for breach of an existing PPA including a refund of payments previously made under the PPA. Accordingly, the ability of USEB to meet its repayment obligations under the USEB Loans is dependent upon the Biogas Projects maintaining QF status. A facility may lose its QF status on a retroactive or a prospective basis.

While certain legislation to repeal and amend certain sections of PURPA, which had been pending before the United States Senate and the United States House of Representatives, would have protected each existing contract of QFs from a repeal of the obligation of electric utilities to purchase from QFs under their existing PPAs, there is no guarantee that any future legislation, as passed into law, would contain provisions to grandfather such PPAs.

Loss of QF status by any Illinois-based Biogas Project would cause it also to lose its QSWEF status.

Section 29 Tax Credits

Historically USEB has sold interests in the Gascos producing Section 29 tax credits to financial investors. Part of the purchase price is contingent on gas production. If gas production were to fall, USEB's revenues may decline. USEB has agreed to indemnify the financial investors that have purchased interests in the Gascos for certain losses suffered by such investors in the event that the Section 29 tax credits are denied in certain circumstances.

The universe of projects eligible for tax credits is limited based on restrictions contained in Section 29. From time to time, legislation has been proposed to renew Section 29 tax credits, but it is uncertain whether this legislation will be enacted, what its final form will be, and in particular whether such legislation would extend Section 29 tax credits for existing projects or make them available only for new projects. The unavailability of these tax credits for future biogas projects may make such future projects less attractive for investment. The expiration of these tax credits for existing projects may make some biogas projects financially unviable and reduce USEB's revenues.

Neither USEB, any of the Gascos, nor any Gasco partner has received a ruling from the IRS confirming that the biogas facilities of the Gascos meet the requirements of Section 29, that the sales of interests in the Gascos by USEB were structured in a way that would entitle the buyers to Section 29 credits, or that sales of methane from the Gascos to the Gencos or Transcos generate Section 29 credits. While a ruling is not required, as is the case with any Section 29 transaction in which a ruling is not obtained, the IRS may challenge the availability of Section 29 credits to any of the Gascos or to its partners.

Regulatory Approvals

The construction and operation of energy projects requires numerous permits from governmental agencies, as well as compliance with environmental laws and other regulations. While, based on USEB's representations, management believes that the projects are in substantial compliance with all applicable regulations and that each of the projects has the requisite permits, regulators and reviewing courts may conclude otherwise. There can be no assurance that new laws, regulations or orders or amendments to or new, more stringent interpretations or enforcement policies with respect to existing laws, regulations or orders which would have a material adverse effect on USEB or Countryside District Energy will not be adopted or that completed projects will comply with all applicable permit conditions, statutes and regulations. If any Biogas Project or District Energy System fails to obtain or maintain any required permit or fails to comply with any applicable law, regulators may take enforcement actions which could have a material adverse effect on the applicable project.

Environmental Health and Safety Risks

The Biogas Projects and the District Energy Systems are regulated by numerous and significant laws, regulations, by-laws, guidelines, policies, directives and other requirements relating to environmental and safety matters. The Biogas Projects and District Energy Systems have obtained environmental permits that are required for their operation. Although management believes that the operations of the facilities are currently in material compliance with applicable environmental laws and permit requirements, there is no guarantee that more stringent laws will not be imposed, that there will not be more stringent enforcement of applicable laws or that such systems may not fail, which may result in material expenditures. Failure by the projects and systems to comply with any environmental, health or safety requirements, or increases in the cost of such compliance, including as a result of unanticipated liabilities (whether as a result of newly discovered issues or known issues that have not been quantified) or expenditures for investigation, assessment, remediation or monitoring, could result in additional expense, capital expenditures, restrictions and delays in the projects' and systems' activities, the extent of which cannot be predicted and which may be material.

Resource Availability and Constancy

The Biogas Projects rely on the extraction of biogas from public and privately-owned landfill sites. The quantity of available biogas is determined by numerous factors beyond the control of USEB including, without limitation, filling pattern of the landfill, the composition of the waste, compaction, moisture content, time and climatic conditions. In the event that the amount of biogas produced by a landfill and/or its methane component is less than expected, or the duration of biogas emission is shorter than expected, the sale of biogas by USEB, the production of electricity by USEB and/or the amount of revenue received by USEB from the sale of Gascos producing Section 29 tax credits may be adversely affected in a material manner.

Generally with respect to each Biogas Project: (i) the Gasco's right to extract biogas from the landfill is subject to a long-term gas rights agreement with the landfill owner; (ii) the Genco or Transco's right to purchase biogas from the Gasco is subject to a long-term gas purchase agreement with the Gasco; and (iii) the Genco or Transco's right to occupy the landfill is subject to a long-term lease with the landfill owner. If one of the foregoing agreements or leases was terminated prematurely, for any reason the relevant Biogas Project would be affected in a material adverse manner.

In November 2004, a foreclosure action encaptioned CIB Bank v. Miss Mimi Corporation et al in the Circuit Court, Lake County, Illinois was commenced by CIB Bank, the holder of mortgages on the real property on which the project owned by Countryside Genco LLC ("Countryside Genco"), an indirect subsidiary of USEB, is located. Countryside Canada was named as a defendant in the action due to its security interest, under the USEB Loans, in Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement. While the foreclosure complaint seeks to terminate all interests respecting the real property, including Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement, and Countryside Canada's security interests therein, management believes that Countryside Genco's and Countryside Canada's interests in the Countryside project should not be affected by the foreclosure by virtue of recognition agreements executed by CIB Bank, Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada's predecessor in interest. Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada intend to defend the foreclosure action on this ground among others. However in the event CIB Bank successfully forecloses on Countryside Genco's interests, cash from such project will not be available to service the USEB Loans unless Countryside Genco enters into new contractual arrangements with the owner of the property. There is no assurance that Countryside Genco will be able to enter into such arrangements or that they will be on terms as beneficial to Countryside Genco as the current arrangements. Nevertheless management believes, based of forecasts provided by USEB, that the USEB Loan would not be materially affected by such an outcome.

The amount of energy generated by the PEI System is dependent on the availability of biomass. There can be no assurance that the availability of a stable supply of wood waste from forest products operations will remain unchanged.

QSWEF Status

Eligibility for the Rate Incentive Program is based on compliance with the requirements contained in Illinois Public Utilities Act, the ICC Regulations and the ICC Orders issued by the ICC respecting QSWEF's. A QSWEF would lose all or some of the benefits provided by the Rate Incentive Program if it were found to be in non-compliance with these requirements. Similarly, a QSWEF may lose all or some of such benefits in the event of modifications to the Illinois Public Utilities Act, the ICC Regulations, the ICC Orders or ICC policies or repeal of the Illinois Public Utilities Act. In such event, the revenues and profits from the affected QSWEFS may be materially adversely impacted. From time to time, legislation modifying the Illinois Public Utilities Act has been proposed. If certain of the introduced legislation had been enacted in its proposed form, it would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the QSWEFS. To date such legislation has not been enacted; however there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be enacted in the future.

Loss of QSWEF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QSWEF status in various purchase and loan agreements (including the USEB Loans) and result in termination, penalties or acceleration of indebtedness under such agreements plus interest. Accordingly, the ability of USEB to meet its repayment obligations under the USEB Loans and to pay Royalties under the USEB Royalty Interest is dependent upon the Illinois-based Biogas Projects maintaining their QSWEF status.

ICC Repayment Liability

In the future, the ICC may promulgate new regulations and establish new policies or modify existing regulations and policies. Such actions, if taken and upheld by the courts, may have a materially adverse impact on some or all of the Illinois-based Biogas Projects. The ICC has enforcement authority to direct each owner of an Illinois-based Biogas Project to satisfy its reimbursement obligations, which authority may extend to, among other matters, the legal entity that is to hold the ICC Reimbursement Account, the amount of funds to be deposited annually in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the kinds of investments in which such funds are or may be invested. Although the ICC has considered imposing and has imposed such requirements in the past as a condition to its approval of certain proposed transactions, it cannot be predicted with certainty whether and under what similar or different circumstances the ICC may attempt to impose any of such requirements in the future. However, provided the QSWEFs (a) remain in compliance in good faith with the current Illinois Public Utilities Act, ICC Regulations and ICC Orders, (b) make timely deposits to their ICC Reimbursement Accounts that, together with earnings thereon from a reasonable and balanced investment portfolio, are reasonably sufficient to meet the QSWEFs' reimbursement obligations to the State of Illinois, and (c) do not seek approval from the ICC for any transactions that require ICC approval or modify existing ICC Orders, the Fund has no reason to believe that the ICC will take any such actions respecting the QSWEFs in a manner materially adverse to them. Approximately US$2 million of the amounts deposited in the ICC Reimbursement

Accounts has been pledged by USEB in support of its obligations under the hedging arrangements to be entered into under the USEB Loan.

If an event of default occurs under the USEB Loan Agreement and Countryside Canada seeks to foreclose on any pledge of the equity of any entity that under Illinois law is deemed to directly or indirectly own any interest in any Illinois-based Biogas Project or the facility owned by such Biogas Project, Countryside Canada would be obligated to comply with applicable requirements of the Illinois Public Utilities Act and the ICC Regulations, including, without limitation, the requirement to obtain the approval of the ICC to acquire, own and sell the electricity output from such Illinois-based Biogas Project as a QSWEF. The ability of Countryside Canada to comply with such requirements or the terms and conditions upon which such approval may be granted by the ICC cannot be predicted with certainty. If Countryside Canada was required to obtain ICC approval and was unable to do so, each Illinois-based Biogas Project would retain its right to sell its power at Avoided Cost so long as the project produces electricity, maintains its status as a QF under the FPA and meets certain other state law requirements.

The Fund believes that, as a result of the making of the USEB Loans, the acquisition of the USEB Royalty Interest, the making by USEB of capital contributions to its indirect subsidiaries that own the Illinois-based Biogas Projects, the issuance of the AJG Note and the grant by AJG of an option to USEB or one of its subsidiaries to acquire AJG's indirect 50% interest in the Illinois-based Biogas Projects (the "AJG Option"), the Biogas Projects located in Illinois did not lose their status as QSWEFs and there has been no change in the ownership of any of such Projects as such ownership is currently construed by the ICC under its interpretation of applicable regulations of FERC. However, it is not possible to predict with any degree of certainty whether in a particular case the ICC will determine that any degree or percentage of ownership is to be attributed to any particular entity. Nonetheless, based on a consideration of the factors that the ICC considers relevant in a determination of the degree or percentage of ownership to be attributed to any particular entity and on the provisions of the documents, records and certificates in connection with the transactions contemplated herein, the Fund believes that there is no reason to conclude that the ICC would attribute a percentage ownership to any entity in respect of the Biogas Projects located in Illinois so as to cause such projects to lose their status as QSWEFs or to constitute a change of ownership of such Biogas Projects, as a result of the Fund making the USEB Loans (but not foreclosing upon its liens) or acquiring (but not converting into equity) the USEB Royalty Interest, the making by USEB of capital contributions to its indirect subsidiaries that own the Illinois-based Biogas Projects, the issuance of the AJG Note (but not the foreclosure of any liens securing payment thereof) or the grant of the AJG Option (but not the exercise thereof). In the event the ICC concluded that any of the transactions described in the previous sentence constituted a change in ownership of such Biogas Projects, such Biogas Projects would be required to seek ICC approval of such change in ownership and would have to establish that, notwithstanding such change in ownership, such Biogas Projects still met the requirements of a QSWEF. The Fund cannot predict how the ICC might exercise its discretion or its enforcement authority in such a circumstance.

Under the Rate Incentive Program, each QSWEF must begin to repay the incentive it has received to the State of Illinois commencing no later that the earlier of the date the QSWEF has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing its facility and 10 years after the date its facility commenced commercial operation, with such repayment to be completed no later than the earlier of 20 years after such date of commencement of commercial operation and the end of its facility's actual useful life. In order to meet this obligation, each QSWEF has established an ICC Reimbursement Account in which it has deposited and will continue to deposit a portion of the incentive as it is received with the expectation that such deposits, when invested prudently in a balanced portfolio managed by professional advisors, will over time generate sufficient earnings to permit such QSWEF to meet its reimbursement obligations to the State of Illinois as and when they come due. However, in the event the ICC exercised its enforcement authority in a manner that resulted in a lower return than expected or the investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account otherwise do not generate the expected earnings, a QSWEF may not have sufficient funds to meet its obligations to reimburse the State of Illinois when such obligations come due with potential material adverse consequences to the affected QSWEF.

Payments Under the Development Agreement

Countryside U.S. will receive an annual fee of US$430,000 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under the Development Agreement. This fee will largely offset the annual operating expenses of Countryside U.S. If the Development Agreement were terminated for any reason, the Fund would no longer be able to offset such expenses with the fee.

Labour Relations

While labour relations at the Biogas Projects and the District Energy Systems have been stable to date and there have not been any disruptions in operations as a result of labour disputes with employees, the maintenance of a productive and efficient labour environment cannot be assured. In the event of a labour disruption such as a strike or lockout, the ability of the Biogas Projects and the District Energy Systems to generate income, and consequently the ability of the Fund to generate cash distributions, may be impaired.

Risks Related to the Structure of the Fund

Dependence on USEB and USE Canada

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust which is dependent on the management, operations and assets of USEB through the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest and on the management of USE Canada through the indirect ownership of all of its outstanding common shares. Although the Fund intends to distribute all income earned by the Fund less administrative expenses, tax liabilities and other obligations of the Fund and amounts, if any, paid by the Fund in connection with the redemption of Units, there can be no assurance regarding the amounts of income to be generated from the USEB Loans, the USEB Royalty Interest and USE Canada, and paid to the Fund which will depend upon numerous factors, some of which will be beyond the control of management. Problems at USEB may affect USEB's ability to service the USEB Loans and pay Royalties on the USEB Royalty Interest and may breach the restrictions contained in the USEB Loans. The Fund has no ownership or governance rights respecting USEY and USEB, other than certain limited rights arising out of certain of the covenants in the USEB Loans and USEB Royalty Interest, and therefore has limited influence over the management of USEY and USEB. In the event of a breach of the USEB Loans, Countryside Canada may have to attempt to realize on the security underlying the USEB Loans and there can be no assurance that the assets of USEB and its subsidiaries will be sufficient to repay the USEB Loans.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

There may be situations in which the interests of USEY, USEB, the Cinergy subsidiary that holds its interest in USEB and/or management of Countryside U.S. will conflict with those of the Fund and its subsidiaries. Countryside Canada and USEB may have conflicting interests under the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest. The Fund, USEY and the relevant Cinergy subsidiary may have conflicting interests under the Development Agreement and the Improvement Agreement. USEY, USEB, their subsidiaries, and the management of Countryside U.S. may engage in activities similar to and in competition with the activities of the Fund and its subsidiaries. There may be situations where Unitholders are dependent upon management of Countryside U.S. for the administration of the Fund, and management of USEB and USE Canada for the management and operation of the Biogas Projects and the District Energy Systems, respectively.

Further provisions in the Declaration of Trust, which are similar to those contained in the Canada Business Corporations Act, provide certain procedures to be followed in the event of such conflicts of interests, and certain remedies may be available to the Fund where such procedures are not followed.

Public Company Litigation Risk

Because USEY and Cinergy are U.S. publicly-listed companies, any transaction or agreement between USEY or USEB, on the one hand, and the Fund or its subsidiaries, on the other (including the transactions contemplated by the Acquisition Agreement, the USEB Loan Agreement or the agreement creating the USEB Royalty Interest), may be subject to claims by the public security holders and creditors of USEY and Cinergy, which could in turn subject the Fund and/or its subsidiaries to litigation. Litigation is expensive, time consuming and may divert the attention of management away from the operation of the Fund.

Tax-Related Risks

There can be no assurance that Canadian federal income tax laws and administrative policies respecting the treatment of mutual fund trusts will not be changed in a manner which adversely affects the holders of Units particularly since the Department of Finance has indicated it will continue to monitor the income trust market. If the Fund ceases to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, certain income tax considerations would be materially and adversely different in certain respects.

Currently, a trust will not be considered to be a mutual fund trust if it is established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents unless all or substantially all of its property is property other than taxable Canadian property as defined in the Tax Act. On September 16, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) released draft amendments to the Tax Act. Under the draft amendments, a trust would lose its status as a mutual fund trust if the aggregate fair market value of all units issued by the trust held by one or more non-resident persons or partnerships that are not Canadian partnerships is more than 50% of the aggregate fair market value of all the units issued by the trust where more than 10% (based on fair market value) of the trust's property is taxable Canadian property or certain other types of property. If the draft amendments are enacted as proposed, and if, at any time, more than 50% of the aggregate fair market value of Units of the Fund were held by non-residents and partnerships other than Canadian partnerships, the Fund would thereafter cease to be a mutual fund trust. The draft amendments do not currently provide any means of rectifying a loss of mutual fund trust status. On December 6, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) tabled a Notice of Ways and Means Motion which did not include these proposed amendments, and we are advised that further discussions will take place with the private sector before a decision is made concerning whether the proposed amendments will be enacted.

There can be no assurance that the Units will continue to be qualified investments for Plans or that the Units will continue not to be foreign property under the Tax Act. The Tax Act currently imposes penalties on non-qualified investments and on excess holdings of foreign property. If the Fund ceases to be a "mutual fund trust" or if Countryside Canada ceases to have a "substantial Canadian presence" (as that term is understood for the purposes of the Tax Act), the Units may become foreign property. The Canadian federal budget of February 23, 2005 included a proposal to amend the Tax Act to eliminate the limit in respect of foreign property for months that end in 2005 and subsequent calendar years. There can be no assurance that these proposals will be enacted into law.

There can be no assurance that taxation authorities will not seek to challenge the amount of interest expense deducted in respect of the Fund's inter-company debt. If such a challenge were to succeed against Countryside Canada or its affiliates, it would materially adversely affect the amount of cash available to the Fund for distribution to Unitholders. Management of the Fund believes that the interest expense inherent in the structure of the Fund is supportable and reasonable in light of the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes. Tax proposals, applicable to taxation years that begin after 2004, will only allow a taxpayer to recognize a loss for a taxation year from a source which is property if it is reasonable to expect the taxpayer to realize a cumulative profit from the property during the time that the taxpayer has held, and can reasonably be expected to hold, that property (the "Tax Proposals"). The Fund has advised counsel that it does not believe that the Tax Proposals will have a material effect on its tax position.

Further, interest on the Countryside Canada Notes accrues at the Fund level for Canadian federal income tax purposes whether or not actually paid. The Declaration of Trust provides that an amount equal to the taxable income of the Fund will be distributed each year to Unitholders in order to reduce the Fund's taxable income to zero. Where interest payments on the Countryside Canada Notes are due but not paid in whole or in part, the Declaration of Trust provides that additional Units must be distributed to Unitholders in lieu of cash distributions. Unitholders will generally be required to include an amount equal to the fair market value of those Units in their Canadian federal taxable income, in circumstances when they do not directly receive a cash distribution.

Countryside Canada may become liable to pay or remit amounts as or on account of withholding tax in respect of its acquisition, making or holding of the USEB Loans (including the receipt of interest thereon) or any other similar loans made by Countryside Canada to USEB, in which case USEB will be required to provide funds to Countryside Canada to permit such withholding tax to be paid or remitted or to otherwise fully indemnify Countryside Canada in respect of such liability. If USEB is unable to fully indemnify Countryside Canada, funds available for distribution by Countryside Canada with respect to the common shares of Countryside Canada and for payments with respect to the Countryside Canada Notes may be significantly reduced.

There can be no assurance that U.S. federal income tax laws and IRS administrative policies respecting the U.S. federal income tax consequences will not be changed in a manner which adversely affects holders of Units.

The Fund has been advised by U.S. tax counsel that interest paid on the USEB Loans should be deductible to USEB and should not be subject to U.S. withholding tax. However, there is a risk that the IRS could successfully challenge such treatment, resulting in some or all of the interest on the USEB Loans being non-deductible (materially increasing USEB's U.S. federal income tax liability) and some or all of such interest being subject to U.S. withholding tax of 10 to 30%. As a result, the amount of funds available for distribution to Unitholders could be reduced.

Royalties, to the extent they do not exceed USEB's current and accumulated earnings and profits, should generally be subject to U.S. withholding tax at 15%. USEB has agreed to reimburse to Countryside Canada the amount of such withholding tax, subject to the Distribution Cap. Thus, the Distribution Cap may limit the amount of Royalties paid and/or the amount of withholding tax that is reimbursed.

Financial Leverage and Restrictive Covenants

Borrowings, including the New Credit Facility, will introduce leverage into the Fund's business will increase the level of Financial Risk to the Fund, and to the extent that interest rates are not fixed or that borrowings are refinanced at different rates, will increase the sensitivity of distributable cash to interest rate valuations.

The New Credit Facility, referred to under the heading "New Credit Facility" beginning on page 67 and ending on page 68 of our final long form prospectus dated March 29, 2004, which section is incorporated by reference in this annual information form, contains numerous affirmative, reporting and restrictive covenants that limit the discretion of Countryside Acquisition's management with respect to certain business matters and impose burdens and potential financial risk. A failure to comply with the obligations in the New Credit Facility could result in a default which, if not cured or waived, could result in a termination of distributions by Countryside Acquisition and permit acceleration of the relevant indebtedness, including the Countryside Canada Notes. Further, financial or operational non-performance of USEB may impact Countryside Acquisition's compliance with certain covenants under the New Credit Facility and thereby limit the Fund's ability to receive dividends from Countryside Acquisition. If the indebtedness under the New Credit Facility, including any possible hedge contracts with the lenders, were to be accelerated, there can be no assurance that the assets of Countryside Acquisition would be sufficient to repay in full that indebtedness.

Adequacy of Capital Resources

Future acquisitions by the Fund, expansions of the Fund's assets and other capital expenditures will be financed through the issuance of Units or securities exchangeable for Units, by increasing the consolidated indebtedness of the Fund, from cash flows of the Fund, or by some combination thereof. There can be no assurance that sufficient capital will be available on acceptable terms to fund acquisitions, capital expenditures or expansion projects.

Exchange Rate Fluctuations

The Fund's distributions to Unitholders, together with distributions received by the Fund from Countryside Canada are denominated in Canadian dollars. A substantial portion of the Fund's distributions to Unitholders are comprised of payments by USEB to Countryside Canada on the USEB Loans. While the USEB Loans are denominated in Canadian dollars and USEB must make payments on the USEB Loans in Canadian dollars, USEB's revenues and expenses are in U.S. dollars. In addition, Royalties received by the Fund are determined based on U.S. dollar denominated revenues and cash flows of USEB. As a result, USEB is exposed to currency exchange rate risks and increases in the value of the Canadian dollar may reduce its ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loans. To the extent that USEB's ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loans is affected, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to Unitholders may also be affected. There can be no assurance that changes in the currency exchange rate will not have a material adverse effect on the Fund or on its ability to maintain a consistent level of distributions in Canadian dollars.

Although the terms of the USEB Loans require USEB to hedge its currency exchange rate exposure with respect to the Canadian dollar-denominated obligations under the USEB Loans, there can be no assurance that USEB will be successful in hedging such exchange rate risk.

Nature of Units

Each Unit represents an equal undivided beneficial interest in the Fund. The Fund's sole material assets are the common shares of Countryside Canada and the Countryside Canada Notes. The Units do not represent debt instruments and there is no principal amount owing to Unitholders under the Units. The Units do not represent shares in any direct or indirect subsidiary of the Fund or any other company. The Units do not represent a direct investment in the USEB Loans, the USEB Royalty Interest or the District Energy Systems.. The price per Unit is a function of anticipated distributable cash of the Fund, which may change.

The Units are not "deposits" within the meaning of the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporations Act (Canada) and are not insured under the provisions of that Act or any other legislation. Furthermore, the Fund is not a trust company and, accordingly, is not registered under any trust and loan company legislation as it does not carry on or intend to carry on the business of a trust company.

Distribution of Securities on Redemption or Termination of the Fund

Upon a redemption of Units or termination of the Fund, the Trustees may distribute the common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes directly to Unitholders, subject to obtaining all required regulatory approvals. There is currently no market for common shares of Countryside Canada or the Countryside Canada Notes. In addition, neither the common shares of Countryside Canada nor the Countryside Canada Notes are expected to be freely tradable or listed on any stock exchange. Common shares of Countryside Canada and/or Countryside Canada Notes, as the case may be, so distributed may not be qualified investments for trusts governed by Plans, depending upon the circumstances at the time.

Fluctuations and Delays in Distributions

Cash distributions are not guaranteed and distributions by the Fund will fluctuate. They will depend on numerous factors some of which will be beyond the control of the Fund.

Payments by Countryside Canada to the Fund or Countryside Acquisition or USEB to Countryside Canada may be delayed or reduced by restrictions imposed by lenders, issues with the financial or operational performance of the Biogas Projects or the District

Energy Systems, disruptions in service, regulatory or legislative actions, the establishment of reserves for expenses, working capital requirements, future capital requirements and the deductibility for Canadian and U.S. tax purposes, respectively, of payments on the Countryside Canada Notes and the USEB Loans. Any such delay or reduction could have an adverse effect on distributions by the Fund and consequently the market value of the Units.

Enforcement of Securities Law Claims, Indemnities and Creditor Rights Against USEB and USEY

USEY has been advised by its counsel in the United States that there is some doubt as to the enforceability in the United States by a court in original actions, or in actions to enforce judgments of Canadian courts, of civil liabilities predicated upon applicable Canadian securities laws.

Because USEY and USEB and their respective subsidiaries and assets are located outside of Canada, it may be difficult or impossible for the Fund to effect service within Canada upon USEB and its subsidiaries and USEY or to realize against any of them in Canada upon judgments of courts of Canada predicated upon any breach by USEY of the Acquisition Agreement or USEB of the USEB Loan Agreement or the agreement creating the USEB Royalty Interest. There were no restrictions on the use of the proceeds received directly or indirectly by USEY, from the Offering and limited restrictions on the use of proceeds received directly or indirectly by USEB from the Offering which may limit the recourse that the Fund has against USEB and USEY. Any proceeding by Countryside Canada to enforce its rights as to the security underlying the USEB Loans will have to be brought in the appropriate jurisdictions in the United States. Any efforts by Countryside Canada to enforce its rights as a creditor under the USEB Loans may be subject to equitable principles and defences relating to or limiting creditor's rights in such United States jurisdictions and rights and defences available to debtors under federal and state bankruptcy and insolvency laws. In addition, Countryside Canada's rights to enforce the guarantees provided by the entities that own the Countryside, Morris and Brookhaven projects will also be subject to YESCO's rights as a subordinated secured lender respecting such projects. The assertion of USEB or YESCO of such rights or defences may affect Countryside Canada's ability to enforce its rights under the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest in a manner materially adverse to Countryside Canada and the Fund.

Fraudulent Conveyance Claims

U.S. bankruptcy or fraudulent conveyance law may interfere with the payment of the USEB Loans. The incurrence of debt by the borrower under the USEB Loans, the provision of guarantees by the Guarantors under the USEB Loans and/or the granting of security interests by the borrower and the guarantors under the security documents respecting the USEB Loans may be subject to review under U.S. federal bankruptcy law or relevant state fraudulent conveyance laws if a bankruptcy case or lawsuit is commenced by or on behalf of unpaid creditors of the borrower or the guarantors. Under these laws, if in such a case or lawsuit a court were to find that the incurrence of debt under the USEB Loans, the provision of guarantees by the guarantors or under the USEB Loans, the granting of security interests by the borrower or guarantors respecting the USEB Loans, was a fraudulent conveyance under state law or federal bankruptcy laws or otherwise violated such laws), then that court could avoid or subordinate the amounts owing under the USEB Loans and/or guarantees to presently existing and future debt of the borrower and/or guarantors and take other actions detrimental to Countryside Canada.

Dilution of Existing Unitholders

The Declaration of Trust authorizes the Fund to issue an unlimited number of Units for that consideration and on those terms and conditions as are established by the Trustees without the approval of Unitholders. The issuance of additional Units may dilute a Unitholder's investment in the Fund and reduce cash distributions per Unit and therefore reduce the trading price of a Unit.

Holdback Account

The Holdback Account is available to be used to support cash distributions, in the discretion of the Trustees, and to fund working capital. There can be no assurance that amounts in the Holdback Account and the return on investment of such amounts will be sufficient to fund intended cash distributions and working capital. Investments by the Fund will be subject to all risks applicable to such securities. The Fund may lose all or part of its investments due to factors that are beyond the control of the Fund. Although the Fund will seek professional investment advice in situations where it deems it necessary or prudent or in situations where it is otherwise required by law to do so, it is expected that the Fund's investments will not provide a rate of return equal to the rate paid out by the Fund to Unitholders.

Restrictions on Potential Growth

The payout by USEB, under the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest, and Countryside Acquisition of a substantial portion of their operating cash flow to Countryside Canada will make additional capital and operating expenditures dependent on increased cash flow or additional financing in the future. Lack of those funds could limit the future growth of USEB and Countryside Acquisition.

Ratings

The Units of the Fund were assigned a preliminary rating by DBRS. Such rating may be revised or withdrawn in the future by DBRS. A revision or withdrawal of the rating may have an adverse effect on the market price of the Units.

Restrictions on Certain Unitholders and Liquidity of Units

The Declaration of Trust imposed various restrictions on Unitholders. Non-resident Unitholders are prohibited from beneficially owning more than 49% of Units and no more than 100 United States persons are permitted to beneficially own Units. As a result, these restrictions may limit the demand for Units from certain Unitholders and thereby adversely affect the liquidity and market value of the Units held by the public.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FUND

Declaration of Trust

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to the Declaration of Trust. It is intended that the Fund will qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for the purposes of the Tax Act. The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the Units and certain provisions of the Declaration of Trust, which summary is not intended to be complete. Reference is made to the Declaration of Trust for a complete description of the Units and the full text of its provisions.

Activities of the Fund

The Declaration of Trust provides that the Fund is restricted to:

(i) acquiring, investing in, transferring, disposing of and otherwise dealing with securities of Countryside Canada and other corporations, partnerships, trusts or other persons engaged, directly or indirectly, in the business of energy generation, as well as activities ancillary thereto, and such other investments as the Trustees may determine;

(ii) temporarily holding cash in interest-bearing accounts, short-term government debt or short-term investment grade corporate debt for the purposes of paying the expenses and liabilities of the Fund, paying amounts payable by the Fund in connection with the redemption of any Units or other securities of the Fund and making distributions to Unitholders;

(iii) issuing Units and other securities of the Fund (including securities convertible or exchangeable into Units, or warrants, options or other rights to acquire Units or other securities of the Fund) (a) for obtaining funds to conduct the activities of the Fund, including raising funds for acquisitions and development; (b) in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution; or (c) pursuant to any distribution reinvestment plans, long-term incentive plan or other compensation plans, if any, established by the Fund, Countryside Canada or their respective subsidiaries;

(iv) issuing debt securities (including debt securities convertible into, or exchangeable for, Units or other securities of the Fund) or otherwise borrowing and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering any of its assets as security;

(v) guaranteeing the payment of any indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Fund, Countryside Canada or any of their respective subsidiaries or the performance of any obligation of any of them, and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering all or any part of its assets as security for such guarantee, and subordinating its rights under the Countryside Canada Notes to other indebtedness;

(vi) disposing of any part of the assets of the Fund;

(vii) issuing or redeeming rights and Units pursuant to any Unitholder rights plan adopted by the Fund;

(viii) repurchasing securities issued by the Fund, subject to the provisions of the Declaration of Trust and applicable laws; provided the Fund will not undertake any activity, take any action, omit to take any action or make any investment which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act, or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

(ix) satisfying the obligations, liabilities or indebtedness of the Fund; and

(x) undertaking all other usual and customary actions for the conduct of the activities of the Fund in the ordinary course as are approved by the Trustees from time to time, or as are contemplated by the Declaration of Trust,

Issuance of Units

The Declaration of Trust provides that Units may be issued at those times, to those persons, for that consideration and on the terms and conditions that the Trustees determine. Units may be issued in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution of the Fund to Unitholders on a pro rata basis. The Declaration of Trust also provides that immediately after any pro rata distribution of Units to all Unitholders in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution, the number of outstanding Units will be consolidated so that each Unitholder will hold after the consolidation the same number of Units as the Unitholder held before the non-cash distribution. In this case, each certificate representing a number of Units prior to the non-cash distribution is deemed to represent the same number of Units after the non-cash distribution and the consolidation. Where amounts so distributed represent income, non-resident holders will be subject to withholding tax thereon and the consolidation will not result in those non-resident Unitholders holding the same number of Units. Such non-resident Unitholders will be required to surrender the certificates, if any, representing their original Units in exchange for a certificate representing their post-consolidation Units.

The Trustees may refuse to allow the issue or register the transfer of any Units, where such issuance or transfer would, in their opinion, adversely affect the treatment of the Fund or the companies in which it invests under applicable Canadian and/or U.S. tax legislation. See "— Limitation on Non-Resident Ownership" and "Certain Income Tax Considerations".

Cash Distributions

The Fund intends to make monthly cash distributions on a per Unit basis to the Unitholders equal to a pro rata share of interest and principal repayments on the Countryside Canada Notes and dividends or distributions on or in respect of the common shares of Countryside Canada owned by the Fund, less:

- administrative expenses and other obligations of the Fund;
- amounts which may be paid by the Fund in connection with any cash redemptions of Units; and
- any tax liability of the Fund.

Under the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, interest is accrued at 10.95% and is to be paid monthly within 32 days following the end of each month. The Fund will make additional distributions in excess of the monthly distributions during the year to the extent of available cash, as determined by the Trustees.

Any income of the Fund which is applied to any cash redemptions of Units, or is otherwise unavailable for cash distribution will be distributed to Unitholders in the form of additional Units. Those additional Units will be issued under applicable exemptions under applicable securities laws, discretionary exemptions granted by applicable securities regulatory authorities or a prospectus or similar filing. See "— Issuance of Units".

Monthly distributions will be payable to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month and are expected to be paid to Unitholders on or about the 30th day of the following month. The initial cash distribution to Unitholders of record on April 30, 2004 was paid on May 31, 2004 in respect of the period from closing of the Offering to April 30, 2004, the majority of which is considered income of the Unitholder for Canadian tax purposes. In all events, any cash, securities, or other property received by the Fund upon the sale, exchange, redemption, cancellation, or other disposition of securities of Countryside Canada will, after appropriate deductions for expenses, be promptly distributed.

Holders of Units who are non-residents of Canada will be required to pay all withholding taxes payable in respect of any distributions of income by the Fund, whether those distributions are in the form of cash or additional Units. Non-residents of Canada should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of investing in the Units.

Redemption Right

Units are redeemable at any time on demand by the holders. As the Units will be issued in book entry form (see "— Book-Entry Only System"), a Unitholder who wishes to exercise the redemption right will be required to obtain a redemption notice form from the Unitholder's investment dealer or broker who will be required to deliver the completed redemption notice form to the Fund at its head office and to CDS which will, in turn, be required to forward it to the Fund. Upon receipt of the redemption notice by the Fund, all rights to and under the Units tendered for redemption will be surrendered. If the holder has elected a redemption in cash, subject to the limitations discussed below, the holder will be entitled to receive a price per Unit (the "redemption price") equal to the lesser of:

- 90% of the "market price" of the Units on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading during the 10-trading day period ending on the date on which the Units were surrendered for redemption (the "redemption date"); and

- 100% of the "closing market price" on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading on the redemption date.

For the purposes of this calculation, "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the closing price of the Units for each of the trading days on which there was a closing price, provided that:

- if the applicable exchange or market does not provide a closing price, but only provides the highest and lowest prices of the Units traded on a particular day, the "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices for each of the trading days on which there was a trade; and

- if there was trading on the applicable exchange or market for fewer than five of the 10 trading days, the "market price" will be the weighted average of the following prices established for each of the 10 trading days: (i) the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units for each day there was no trading; (ii) the closing price of the Units for each day that there was trading if the exchange or market provides a closing price; and (iii) the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units for each day that there was trading if the market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day.

The "closing market price" for the purpose of the foregoing calculation will be:

- an amount equal to the closing price of the Units if there was a trade on the date and the exchange or market provides a closing price;
- an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units if there was trading and the exchange or other market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day; or
- the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units if there was no trading on that date.

The total redemption price payable by the Fund in respect of all Units surrendered for redemption during any calendar month will be satisfied by way of a cash payment no later than the last day of the month following the month in which the Units were tendered for redemption, provided that Unitholders will not be entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of their Units if:

- the total amount payable by the Fund in respect of those Units and all other Units tendered for redemption in the same calendar month exceeds $50,000, provided that the Trustees may, in their sole discretion, waive this limitation in respect of all Units tendered for redemption in any calendar month;
- at the time the Units are tendered for redemption, the outstanding Units are not listed for trading on a stock exchange or traded or quoted on another market which the Trustees consider, in their sole discretion, provides representative fair market value prices for the Units; or
- the normal trading of Units is suspended or halted on any stock exchange on which the Units are listed (or, if not listed on a stock exchange, on any market on which the Units are quoted for trading) on the redemption date or for more than five trading days during the 10-day trading period commencing immediately after the redemption date.

If a Unitholder is not entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of Units as a result of one or more of the foregoing limitations, then each Unit tendered for redemption will, subject to any applicable regulatory approvals, be redeemed by way of a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes held by the Fund and a pro rata share of the Fund's cash and other property (less a pro rata share of any accrued liabilities of the Fund). The Fund will be entitled to all interest paid on the Countryside Canada Notes and the distributions paid on the common shares of Countryside Canada on or before the date of the distribution in specie. A Unitholder will be entitled to interest that has accrued on the Countryside Canada Notes and has not been paid to the Fund on or before the date of the distribution in specie. Where the Fund makes a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes and any cash and other property held by the Fund on the redemption of Units of a Unitholder, the Fund currently intends to designate to that Unitholder any income or capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of the distribution of those properties to the Unitholder.

It is anticipated that the redemption right described above will not be the primary mechanism for Unitholders to dispose of their Units. Common shares of Countryside Canada and/or Countryside Canada Notes which may be distributed in specie to Unitholders in connection with a redemption will not be listed on any stock exchange and no market is expected to develop in common shares of Countryside Canada or Countryside Canada Notes and they may be subject to resale restrictions under applicable securities laws. Common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other property so distributed may not be qualified investments for trusts governed by a Plan, depending upon the circumstances at the time.

Meetings of Unitholders

The Declaration of Trust provides that meetings of Unitholders will be called and held annually for the election of Trustees and the appointment of auditors of the Fund. The Declaration of Trust provides that the Unitholders will be entitled to pass resolutions that will bind the Fund only with respect to:

- the appointment or removal of Trustees;
- the appointment or removal of nominees of the Fund chosen by the Unitholders to serve as directors of Countryside Canada (except filling casual vacancies);
- the appointment or removal of the auditors of the Fund;
- the appointment of an inspector to investigate the performance by the Trustees in respect of their respective responsibilities and duties in respect of the Fund;
- the approval of amendments to the Declaration of Trust (but only in the manner described below under "— Amendments to the Declaration of Trust");
- the termination of the Fund;
- the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Fund;

- the exercise of certain voting rights attached to the securities of Countryside Canada held by the Fund;
- the termination of the Book-Entry System with respect to the Units;
- the dissolution of the Fund prior to the end of its term; and
- any other matters required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations to be submitted to Unitholders for their approval.

No other action taken by Unitholders or any other resolution of the Unitholders at any meeting will in any way bind the Trustees.

A resolution electing or removing nominees of the Fund to serve as directors of Countryside Canada and a resolution appointing or removing the Trustees or the auditors of the Fund must be passed by a simple majority of the votes cast by Unitholders. Any resolution on a matter which is required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations will be required to be passed in accordance with the requirements of such laws, rules or regulations. The balance of the foregoing matters must be passed by a special resolution requiring two-thirds approval (the "Special Resolution").

A meeting of Unitholders may be convened at any time and for any purpose by the Trustees and must be convened, except in certain circumstances, if requisitioned by the holders of not less than 10% of the Units then outstanding by a written requisition. A requisition must state in reasonable detail the business proposed to be transacted at the meeting.

Unitholders may attend and vote at all meetings of the Unitholders either in person or by proxy and a proxy-holder need not be a Unitholder. Two persons present in person or represented by proxy and representing in total at least 10% of the votes attached to all outstanding Units will constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings.

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions as to the notice required and other procedures with respect to the calling and holding of meetings of Unitholders.

Amendments to the Declaration of Trust

The Declaration of Trust may be amended or altered from time to time by the Trustees with the consent of the Unitholders by Special Resolution. The Trustees may, without the approval of the Unitholders, make certain amendments to the Declaration of Trust, including amendments:

- for the purpose of ensuring continuing compliance with applicable laws, regulations, requirements or policies of any governmental authority having jurisdiction over the Trustees or over the Fund;

- for the sole purpose of providing additional protection for the Unitholders, provided that the Trustees receive a legal opinion from legal counsel to this effect and that such additional protection is the sole purpose of such amendment;

- to remove any conflicts or inconsistencies in the Declaration of Trust or to make minor corrections which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable and not prejudicial to the Unitholders;

- which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable as a result of changes in Canadian federal or provincial or United States federal or state taxation laws; and

- to ensure that the Fund continues to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act and that the Units do not constitute "foreign property" for purposes of the Tax Act.

Notwithstanding the previous sentence, the Trustees may not (without a Special Resolution) amend the Declaration of Trust in a manner which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Term of the Fund

The Fund has been established for a term ending 21 years after the date of death of the last surviving issue of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, alive on February 16, 2004. On a date selected by the Trustees which is not more than two years prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Trustees are obligated to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund so that it will terminate on the expiration of the term. In addition, at any time prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Unitholders may by a Special Resolution require the Trustees to commence to wind up the affairs of the Fund.

The Declaration of Trust provides that, upon being required to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund, the Trustees will give notice to the Unitholders, which notice will designate the time or times at which Unitholders may surrender their Units for cancellation and the date at which the register of Units will be closed. After the date the register is closed, the Trustees will proceed to wind-up the affairs of the Fund as soon as may be reasonably practicable. Subject to any direction to the contrary in respect of a termination authorized by a resolution of the Unitholders, the Trustees will sell and convert into money the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes, and all other assets comprising the Fund in one transaction or in a series of transactions at public or private sales and do all other acts appropriate to liquidate the Fund. After paying, retiring, discharging or making provision for the payment, retirement or discharge of all known liabilities and obligations of the Fund and providing for indemnity against any other outstanding liabilities and obligations, the Trustees will distribute the remaining part of the proceeds of the sale of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes and other assets comprising the Fund among the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests. If the Trustees are unable to sell all or any of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other assets comprising the Fund by the date set for termination, the Trustees may distribute the remaining common shares of Countryside Canada, the Countryside Canada Notes or other assets in specie directly to the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests, subject to obtaining all required regulatory approvals.

Take-over Bids

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions to the effect that if a take-over bid is made for all of the Units and the offeror acquires not less than 90% of all outstanding Units (excluding Units held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror), the offeror will be entitled to acquire all Units held by Unitholders who did not accept the take-over bid on the terms offered by the offeror.

Information and Reports

The Fund will furnish to the Unitholders, in accordance with applicable securities laws, all financial statements of the Fund (including quarterly and annual financial statements) and other reports as are from time to time required by applicable law, including prescribed forms needed for the completion of the Unitholders' tax returns under the Tax Act and equivalent provincial legislation.

Prior to each meeting of Unitholders, the Trustees will provide to the Unitholders (along with notice of the meeting) all information as is required by applicable law and by the Declaration of Trust to be provided to the Unitholders.

Trustees of the Fund and the directors, senior officers and other insiders of each of Countryside Canada and any other entities owned directly or indirectly by the Fund will be required to file insider reports and comply with insider trading provisions under applicable Canadian securities legislation in respect of trades made by such persons in Units of the Fund.

USEB has undertaken to provide the Fund with a report of any material change that occurs in the affairs of USEB and with quarterly and annual financial statements for the USEB Operating Assets accompanied by management's discussion and analysis for the period covered by such financial statements, in each case, in form and content that USEB would be required to file with the Ontario Securities Commission if it were a reporting issuer under Ontario securities laws for so long as the Fund is a reporting issuer under Canadian securities legislation and the Fund's investments in USEB generate 50% or more of the Fund's Distributable Cash. All of those reports and financial statements will be provided to the Fund in a timely manner so as to permit the Fund to comply with the continuous disclosure requirements under applicable securities laws relating to reporting of material changes in its affairs and the filing and delivery to securityholders of financial statements as required under applicable securities laws. In addition, USEB has agreed to provide to the Fund the information that would be required to be included in an annual information form or any other report required to be filed with the Ontario Securities Commission as if USEB were a reporting issuer under Ontario securities law. The quarterly unaudited and annual audited financial statements of the USEB Operating Assets will be delivered by the Fund to its Unitholders concurrently with the financial statements of the Fund for the corresponding period.

Book Entry Only System

Registration of interests in and transfers of Units will be made only through a book-based system administered by CDS. On the date of closing of the Offering, the Trustees will deliver to CDS one or more certificates representing the total number of Units subscribed for under the Offering. Units must be purchased, transferred and surrendered for redemption through a participant in the CDS depository service (a "CDS participant"). All rights of the Unitholders must be exercised through, and all payments or other property to which the Unitholder is entitled will be made or delivered by, CDS or the CDS participant through which the Unitholder holds the Units. Upon a purchase of any Units, the Unitholder will receive only a customer confirmation from the registered dealer which is a CDS participant and from or through which the Units are purchased.

The ability of a beneficial owner of Units to pledge those Units or otherwise take action with respect to the Unitholder's interest in those Units (other than through a CDS participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

The Fund has the option of terminating registration of the Units through the book entry system, in which case certificates for the Units in fully registered form would be issued to beneficial owners of those Units or their nominees.

Monitoring of Limitation of Ownership

Because all of the units are held in the name of The Canadian Depository for Securities Limited ("CDS"), it is extremely difficult to monitor ownership by U.S. residents or pension funds on an ongoing basis without undue expense and burden to the Fund. However, the employees of the Fund and U.S. Energy Systems, Inc., the Fund's promoter, were notified at the time the Fund's initial public offering was consummated regarding limitations on ownership of Fund Units by U.S. residents. Further, such employees have been advised that U.S. based employees of both companies may not own Fund Units (except for the three members of senior management of Countryside U.S.) and may not encourage U.S. residents to purchase Fund Units. In the event the Trustees or Management of the Fund learn of transactions or activities which potentially may result in Unit ownership in violation of the limitations described above, it may take further investigatory and remedial actions including those described above.

DESCRIPTION OF COUNTRYSIDE CANADA

Share Capital

The authorized share capital of Countryside Canada consists of an unlimited number of common shares. All of the common shares of Countryside Canada are owned by the Fund.

Holders of common shares of Countryside Canada are entitled to receive dividends as and when declared by the board of directors and are entitled to one vote per share on all matters to be voted on at all meetings of shareholders. Upon the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of Countryside Canada, the holders of common shares are entitled to share rateably in the remaining assets available for distribution, after payment of liabilities and subject to the prior rights of preferred shares (if any).

Distribution Policy

Countryside Canada will adopt a policy to distribute all of its available cash, subject to applicable law, by way of monthly dividends on its common shares or other distributions on its securities, after:

- satisfaction of its debt service obligations, if any, under credit facilities or other agreements with third parties;
- satisfaction of its interest and other expense obligations, including interest accrued or payable on the Countryside Canada Notes issued under the Countryside Canada Note Indenture described under "— Notes issued by Countryside Canada", and any applicable taxes;
- making any principal payments in respect of the Countryside Canada Notes; and
- the deposit of any amounts deemed prudent by the directors of Countryside Canada to fund the Holdback Account.

Countryside Canada retains a portion of its free cash in the Holdback Account. The Holdback Account will be used for working capital, operating shortfalls or future distributions. The Holdback Account has been initially funded with $2.4 million.

Notes Issued by Countryside Canada

The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the Countryside Canada Notes which was issued by Countryside Canada under the Countryside Canada Note Indenture. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture which contains a complete statement of those attributes and characteristics.

The Countryside Canada Notes will mature 20 years after the closing of the Offering, subject to prepayment from time to time as considered advisable by the board of directors of Countryside Canada.

The Countryside Canada Notes bear interest at the rate of 10.95% per annum. Under the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, interest is accrued and is to be paid monthly within 30 days following the end of each month. The interest and principal on the Countryside Canada Notes is payable in lawful money of Canada by wire transfer or bankers' draft. The Countryside Canada Notes are fully registered notes.

The Countryside Canada Note Indenture also contains restrictive covenants relating to, among other things, the incurring of indebtedness by Countryside Canada, dispositions by Countryside Canada of all or substantially all of its assets, and distributions on the equity of Countryside Canada.

Payment upon Maturity

On maturity, Countryside Canada will repay the indebtedness represented by the Countryside Canada Notes by paying to the note trustee, on behalf of the holders, in lawful money of Canada, an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Countryside Canada Notes, together with accrued and unpaid interest. If the Fund is a holder of Countryside Canada Notes at the time of such repayment, these amounts, less expenses, will be distributed by the Fund to the Unitholders.

Ranking and Guarantee

The Countryside Canada Notes are unsecured debt obligations of Countryside Canada and is subordinate in right of payment to all existing and future senior indebtedness of Countryside Canada, if any, and secured debt and guarantees of Countryside Canada, if any, and pari passu with all other existing and future unsecured indebtedness and other liabilities of Countryside Canada.

Default

The Countryside Canada Note Indenture provides that any of the following will constitute an event of default:

- default in payment of the principal amount of the Countryside Canada Notes when due;
- default in the payment of interest on the Countryside Canada Notes when due, if such default continues for a period of 30 days;

- default by Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside Holdings or Countryside District Energy of payment on any indebtedness exceeding $10,000,000 or acceleration of any such indebtedness;

- certain events of winding-up, liquidation, bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside Holdings or Countryside District Energy;

- the taking of possession by an encumbrance of all or substantially all of the property of Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside Holdings or Countryside District Energy;

- Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside Holdings or Countryside District Energy ceasing to carry on the businesses carried on, or a substantial part thereof, in the ordinary course;

- default in the observance or performance of any other covenant or condition of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture and the continuance of that default for a period of 30 days after notice in writing has been given by the note trustee to Countryside Canada, which notice specifies the default and requires Countryside Canada to remedy the default; or

- Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside Holdings and Countryside District Energy, and their respective subsidiaries, incurring any indebtedness for borrowed money that would cause the debt to equity ratio of Countryside Canada, on a consolidated basis, to exceed a specified ratio if such default continues for a period of 30 days.

Conflicts of Interest

To ensure proper governance, all agreements and financial arrangements between or among the Fund or its subsidiaries, on the one hand, and USEY, USEB and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries, on the other hand, and any decision to enforce or refrain from enforcing rights with respect to such agreements and arrangements, shall be approved by the Trustees on behalf of the Fund or its subsidiaries and no person who is simultaneously serving as an officer or director of the Fund or its subsidiaries and USEY, USEB and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries shall vote on such matters. Similarly, all decisions involving the enforcement, waiver or modification or any provision in any such agreements or any other matters in which the interests of the Fund or its subsidiaries and, USEY, USEB and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries are in conflict, will also be subject to such procedures. PROMOTER

USEY took the initiative in organizing the business and affairs of the Fund and may be considered to have been a promoter of the Fund at the time of its initial public offering within the meaning of applicable securities legislation. USEY does not beneficially own, directly or indirectly, or exercise control over, any securities of the Fund. USEY owns a 54.26% interest in USEB and is a party to the Development and Improvement Agreements with certain of the Fund's subsidiaries. USEB is the borrower under the USEB Loans and certain of its subsidiaries are guarantors under the USEB Loans. USEB has also issued the USEB Royalty Interest to Countryside Canada. For a description of the USEB Loans and USEB Royalty Interest see "the Biogas Projects-USEB Loans and – USEB Royalty Interest". For a description of the Development and Improvement Agreements see "The Development and Improvement Agreements." In connection with the closing of the initial public offering of the Fund, the Fund indirectly acquired all of the issued and outstanding shares of USE Canada Holdings from USEY for a purchase price of $17,635,090. The purchase price for the shares of USE Canada Holdings was determined based on the pricing of the Fund's initial public offering.

The promoter is incorporated, continued or otherwise organized under the laws of a foreign jurisdiction or resides outside Canada. Although the promoter has appointed Countryside Canada, is 495 Richmond Street, Suite 920, London, Ontario, Canada, as its agent for service of process in Ontario, it may not be possible for investors to collect from the promoter judgments obtained in Canada predicated on the civil liability provisions of securities legislation of certain of the provinces and territories of Canada.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

None of the Fund, Countryside Canada, Countryside Holdings or to the knowledge of management, USEB or their respective subsidiaries is involved in any legal proceedings which management believes would have a material effect on the Fund, Countryside Canada, Countryside Holdings or USEB on a consolidated basis To the knowledge of management, no legal proceedings of a material nature involving the Fund, Countryside Canada, USEB or USE Canada Holdings or their respective subsidiaries are contemplated by any individuals, entities or governmental authorities.

In November 2004, a foreclosure action encaptioned CIB Bank v. Miss Mimi Corporation et al in the Circuit Court, Lake County, Illinois was commenced by CIB Bank, the holder of mortgages on the real property on which the project owned by Countryside Genco LLC ("Countryside Genco"), an indirect subsidiary of USEB, is located. Countryside Canada was named as a defendant in the action due to its security interest, under the USEB Loans, in Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement. While the foreclosure complaint seeks to terminate all interests respecting the real property, including Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement, and Countryside Canada's security interests therein, management believes that Countryside Genco's and Countryside Canada's interests in the Countryside project should not be affected by the foreclosure by virtue of recognition agreements executed by CIB Bank, Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada's predecessor in interest. Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada intend to defend the foreclosure action on this ground among others. However in the event CIB Bank successfully forecloses on Countryside Genco's interests, cash from such project will not be available to service the USEB Loans unless Countryside Genco enters into new contractual arrangements with the owner of the property. There is no assurance that Countryside Genco will be able to enter into such arrangements or that they will be on terms as beneficial to Countryside Genco as the current arrangements. Nevertheless management believes, based of forecasts provided by USEB, that the USEB Loan would not be materially affected by such an outcome.

- Any member of the Committee may be removed or replaced at any time by the board of trustees of the Fund and the board of directors of Countryside Canada and shall cease to be a member of the Committee as soon as such member ceases to be a trustee or a director of Countryside Canada. Subject to the foregoing, each member of the Committee shall hold such office until the next annual meeting of unitholders after his or her election as a member of the Committee.

- The auditors of the Fund and Countryside Canada shall be entitled to receive notice of every meeting of the Committee and, at the expense of the Fund, to attend and be heard thereat.

- The time at which and the place where the meetings of the Committee shall be held, the calling of meetings and the procedure in all respects of such meeting shall be determined by the Committee, unless otherwise provided for in the Declaration of Trust and the by-laws of Countryside Canada, or otherwise determined by resolution of the board of trustees.

- The members of the Committee shall be entitled to receive such remuneration for acting as members of the Committee as the board of trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada may from time to time determine.

Independent Advice

In discharging its mandate the Committee shall have the authority to retain and receive advice from special legal, accounting or other advisors.

Annual Evaluation

At least annually, the Committee shall, in a manner it determines to be appropriate:

- perform a review and evaluation of the performance of the Committee and its members, including the compliance of the Committee with its terms of reference.

- review and assess the adequacy of its terms of reference and recommend to the board of trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada any improvements to its terms of reference that the Committee determines to be appropriate.

Limitation

Nothing in this charter is intended to or shall have the effect of limiting or impairing the independent decision making authority or responsibility of any board of directors of a Fund subsidiary mandated by applicable law.

Severance

At any time the Board of Trustees of the Fund or the Board of Directors of Countryside Canada may determine to establish its own Audit Committee in which case the mandate for this Joint Audit Committee shall terminate.

Definitions

"financially literate" means the ability to read and understand a set of financial statements that present a breadth and level of complexity of accounting issues that are generally comparable to the breadth and complexity of the issues that can reasonably be expected to be raised by the Fund's and Countryside Canada consolidated financial statements.

"independent trustee" means a trustee who has no direct or indirect material relationship with the Fund or its affiliates or U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY"), Cinergy Corp. ("Cinergy") and U.S. Energy Biogas Corporation ("USEB") or their affiliates.

"material relationship" means a relationship which could, in the view of the board of trustees of the Fund and Countryside Canada's board of directors, reasonably interfere with the exercise of a committee member's independent judgment. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following persons are considered to have a material relationship with the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB:

a) a person who is, or has been, an employee or executive officer of the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB, or any of their subsidiary entities or affiliated entities, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;
b) a person whose immediate family member is, or has been, an executive officer of the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB, or any of their subsidiary or affiliated entities, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;
c) a person who is, or has been, an affiliated entity of, a partner[2] of, or employed by, a current or former internal or independent auditor of the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the person's relationship with the internal or independent auditor, or the auditing relationship has ended;
d) a person whose immediate family member is, or has been, an affiliated entity of, a partner of, or employed in a professional capacity by, a current or former internal or independent auditor of the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the person's relationship with the internal or independent auditor, or the auditing relationship, has ended;

2 "partner" does not include a fixed income partner whose interest in the internal or independent auditor is limited to the receipt of fixed amounts of compensation (including deferred compensation) for prior service with an internal or independent auditor if the compensation is not contingent in any way on continued services.

e) a person who is, or has been, or whose immediate family member is, or has been, an executive officer of an entity if any of the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or their subsidiaries' current executives serve on the entity's compensation committee, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;
f) a person who has a relationship with the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or their affiliated entities pursuant to which such person may accept, directly or indirectly3, any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee from the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or any of their subsidiaries, other than as remuneration for acting in his or her capacity as a member of the board of directors or any other board committee, or as part-time chair or vice chair of the board or any board committee;
g) a person who receives, or whose immediate family member receives, more than $75,000 per year in direct compensation from the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or their subsidiary entities, other than as remuneration for acting in his or her capacity as member of the board of directors or any board committee, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since he or she ceased to receive more than $75,000 per year in such compensation;
h) a person who is an affiliated entity of the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or any of their subsidiary entities.

"prescribed period" means the shorter of:

b) the three-year period ending immediately prior to the determination required under the definition of "material relationship".

3 The indirect acceptance by a person of a consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee includes acceptance of a fee by:

(a) a person's spouse, minor child or stepchild or a child or stepchild who shares the person's home, or

(b) an entity in which such person is a partner, member, an officer such as a managing director occupying a comparable position or executive officer or occupies a similar position (except limited partners, non-managing members and those occupying similar positions who, in such case, have no active role in providing services to the entity) and which provides accounting, consulting, legal, investment banking or financial advisory services to the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or any of their subsidiaries.

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE BUSINESS

Pursuant to a Prospectus dated March 29, 2004, the Fund completed its Initial Offering on April 8, 2004 and issued 14,905,366 Trust Units at a price of $10.00 per Unit.

In connection with the Initial Offering, the Fund acquired, through Countryside Acquisition 100% of USE Canada Holdings the indirect owner of the District Energy Systems described under the heading "Description of the Business – The District Energy Systems". A Business Acquisition Report describing the details of this transaction in full was filed with the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC) on June 22, 2004, and is incorporated by reference in this annual information form. A copy of this report can be found on www.sedar.com. On such date the Fund also acquired, amended and made additional advances in respect of the USEB Loans and acquired the USEB Royalty Interest both described under the heading "Description of the Business – The Renewable Energy Projects".

The Fund also received $30,400,000 representing the proceeds of a new long-term debt facility (the "New Credit Facility") through Countryside Acquisition.

On June 29, 2005, the Fund, through a subsidiary, completed the indirect acquisition of Ripon Power, formerly Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC, whose principal asset is Ripon Cogeneration, a California-based power generation company, for consideration of approximately US$95.3 million or approximately $116.9 million, based on the Bank of Canada noon spot rate of exchange on June 29, 2005. The Cogen Facilities consist of the Ripon cogeneration plant ("Ripon Facility") located near San Francisco, California and the San Gabriel cogeneration plant ("San Gabriel Facility") located near Los Angeles, California. In connection with this transaction, the Fund, through Countryside Acquisition, entered into the Amended Credit Facility (as defined below) in the amount of $80 million, all of which was drawn upon closing of the Acquisition. See "The Acquisition". The Fund's short form prospectus for its second public offering, dated November 8, 2005 (the "2005 Prospectus") contains a more detailed description of the Ripon Power acquisition (see 2005 Prospectus, "The Acquisition", pp 5-7). A copy of the 2005 Prospectus can be found on www.sedar.com. A Business Acquisition Report describing the details of this transaction in full was filed with the Ontario Securities Commission ("OSC") on September 12, 2005 and is incorporated by reference in this Annual Information Form. A copy of this report can be found on www.sedar.com.

On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in it's monthly distribution of $0.01 per Unit annually. The first distribution under the new rate was paid on or about October 31, 2005 to Unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Coincident with the distribution increase, the Fund announced a plan modifying the Fund's existing executive management arrangements. Under the modified arrangements, the Manager, a company independent of the Fund, provides management and administrative services to the Fund as well as new growth opportunities under long-term arrangements. The Manager employs the Fund's former executive management team on a full-time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund has a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by the Manager that meet the Fund's investment criteria. See "The Management and Administration Agreements".

Pursuant to the 2005 Prospectus, the Fund and Countryside Canada completed a public offering on November 14, 2005 (the "Second Offering") and issued, respectively, 4,720,000 Trust Units for gross proceeds of $44,132,000 at a price of $9.35 per Unit and US$55,000,000 aggregate principal amount of 6.25% exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures (the "Debentures") due October 31, 2012 at a price of US $1,000 per Debenture. The Fund and Countryside Canada, through their subsidiaries, used the proceeds from the Second Offering to, among other things, repay approximately $30.5 million of the outstanding balance under the Amended Credit Facility, acquire and restructure project-related debt encumbering the Cogeneration Facilities (the "Ripon Loan"), from a syndicate of U.S. based lenders and fund certain working capital needs.

Fund's Objectives and Strategy

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to Unitholders and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per Unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing current operational practices of the Business, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

Operating Strategy

The Fund's operating strategy is to continue to retain the services of qualified and experienced operators, and, when required, hire experienced operations personnel or contract with firms with the requisite operational expertise.

Since the closing of the Offering, the Renewable Energy Projects and the District Energy Systems, have continued to be operated and managed by the employees of USEB and Countryside District Energy, respectively, which have operated the Renewable Energy Projects and District Energy Systems for a number of years. Administration and operations oversight of the Renewable Energy Projects is currently performed by USEY and a subsidiary of Cinergy, respectively. The power generation equipment for 10 of the Renewable Energy Projects is operated by outside operators under contract. GE/Jenbacher is the operator for eight of these 10 Renewable Energy Projects. The Cogeneration Facilities are operated by North American Energy Services ("NAES") under contract. Most of the employees employed by NAES at the Cogeneration Facilities have worked at the Cogeneration Facilities for a number of years.

In addition, the Manager employs a management team which monitors the Fund's indirect investments in the District Energy Systems, the USEB Investments and the Cogeneration Facilities and evaluates and presents investment opportunities to the Fund and its subsidiaries. These individuals have extensive experience with the Business and managing the growth of energy businesses and projects.

Acquisition and Investment Strategy

The Fund intends to acquire or invest in additional projects only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in an increase in cash distributions per Unit and will meet the Fund's other acquisition and investment guidelines. Such acquisitions or investments may be financed by the issuance of Units or other securities, from the cash flows of the Fund or through borrowings.

Future projects may be located in any region where opportunities meeting the Fund's objectives exist, although it is expected that these opportunities will exist primarily in Canada and the United States and may include: (i) district energy systems; (ii) natural gas-fired power plants; (iii) green energy projects (i.e., biogas, biomass, waste-coal and wind); (iv) cogeneration projects; (v) energy outsourcing facilities that provide energy to wholesale, commercial, institutional and/or industrial customers; and (vi) energy infrastructure projects.

The Manager believes that investment opportunities for the Fund will arise: (i) as energy companies and financial sponsors seek to sell non-core assets; (ii) through consolidation in the energy industry; (iii) through the right of first opportunity granted by the Manager to Countryside Canada and Countryside Holding to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria of Countryside Canada, Countryside Holding or the Fund (See "The Management Agreement and Administration Agreement - Management Agreement -Right of First Opportunity") and (iv) through the acquisition, development or improvement of projects under the Development Agreement and/or the Improvement Agreement.

Acquisition and Investment Guidelines

The following guidelines will be used in the review and evaluation of possible acquisitions and investments by the Fund:

- each asset will be acquired, or an investment made therein, only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in accretive cash distributions per Unit;

- assets in respect of which long-term revenue and energy supply contracts with investment grade or financially stable counterparties exist will be preferred and, in other cases, free market electricity price and exchange rate assumptions used in the acquisition or investment evaluations will be obtained from a recognized independent source;

- the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be subject to prior due diligence and based on an independent engineer's report confirming the condition or development of the asset and the technical assumptions used in the acquisition or investment evaluation;

- the expected useful life of each asset and associated structures will, with regular maintenance and upkeep, conform with the Fund's objectives of providing long-term and stable cash distributions to Unitholders; and

- the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be reviewed and approved by the Trustees.

The Fund was established to invest indirectly in energy and energy infrastructure projects. The Fund's indirect investments consist of the indirect ownership of the District Energy Systems and indirect majority ownership of Cogeneration Facilities. The District Energy Systems have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity and the Cogen Facilities have approximately 94 MW of electrical generation capacity and sold approximately 500,000 thousand pounds of steam in 2005. In addition, the Fund holds indirect investments in the Renewable Energy Projects located in the United States, which currently have approximately 51 MW of electrical generation capacity and sold approximately 710,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2005. The Fund's investment in the Renewable Energy Projects consists of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USEB.

The Independent Power Generation Industry

Overview

The traditional electricity market structure in North America has consisted of vertically-integrated utilities which had a near monopoly over the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity to retail customers. A variety of factors, including federal legislative changes, rapid growth in electricity demand, rising electricity rates, technological advances and environmental concerns, led certain governments to implement efforts to restructure the electricity industry within their respective jurisdictions. Such changes have, among other things, encouraged the development of generation from independent power producers. In the independent power generation sector, electricity is generated from a number of sources, including: (i) water; (ii) natural gas; (iii) coal; (iv) waste products, such as biomass and biogas; (v) geothermal sources, such as heat or steam; (vi) the sun; and (vii) wind.

While vertically integrated regulated utilities continue to dominate the North American electricity landscape, independent power producers are playing an increasingly important role in the supply of electricity. Policymakers have recognized the benefits of power generated by independent power producers, especially where such power is produced from renewable or waste resources, or at higher efficiencies than conventional utility-owned generation. A number of utilities and other non-independent power producers in the United States now offer customers the opportunity to purchase "green power" derived from renewable energy, which is priced at a premium to electricity generated from non-renewable sources. In 2004, the number of electric industry participants reporting customers in green pricing programs was 403, up 31% from the prior year. Electric industry participants reported having green pricing customers in forty-four states and the District of Columbia, including four states that were reported for the first time in 2004.

Industry Regulation

United States

In the United States, the trend towards restructuring the electric power industry and the introduction of competition in electricity generation commenced with the passage and implementation of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 ("PURPA"). Among other things, PURPA, as implemented by the United States Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC"), was enacted to encourage the development and operation of certain power generation facilities by requiring electric utilities to purchase power from qualifying facilities (''QFs'') at the utility's avoided cost. A QF is a distinct type of energy producer that falls into one or both of two primary classes. One class of QFs are ''small power production facilities'' that generate power using specific energy sources such as wind, solar, geothermal, hydro, biomass or waste fuels, utilize a limited amount of fossil fuels and meet certain size criteria. Those of USEB's Renewable Energy Projects that produce power are in this first class because they are fueled by landfill gas and meet the relevant size criteria. A second class of QFs are ''cogeneration facilities'' which utilize fuel to produce both electric energy and useful thermal energy sequentially and meet certain operating and efficiency criteria. The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are in this second class since they produce electricity and steam and otherwise satisfy the applicable QF criteria. QFs are exempt from rate and other aspects of regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, exempt from all regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and exempt from regulation by State public service commissions with respect to rates and the financial and organizational activities of electric utilities. Prior to the enactment of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (''EPA 2005''), a QF could not be primarily owned by one or more electric utilities or electric utility holding companies.

On August 8, 2005, comprehensive energy legislation was enacted when the President signed into law EPA 2005. That legislation makes several changes to PURPA, including: (1) eliminating the limitation on electric utility ownership of QFs, (2) terminating the mandatory purchase obligation imposed on electric utilities for new QFs that the FERC determines have access to competitive wholesale markets and (3) requiring the FERC to promulgate regulations no later than February 8, 2006 specifying additional criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities with respect to the useful thermal energy output of such facilities and to encourage the development of efficient generation technology. EPA 2005 makes clear that it does not apply to the rights and remedies of the parties to existing contracts or obligations in effect or pending before a State public service commission as of the date of enactment. On February 2, 2006, the FERC promulgated its new regulations implementing the additional qualifying criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities and limiting the exemption from rate regulation by FERC available to QFs. Under the new regulations, the revised criteria for qualifying cogeneration facilities would not apply to the San Gabriel or Ripon Facilities since such projects were certified as ''qualifying facilities'' prior to the enactment of EPA 2005 and thus are not deemed to be "new cogeneration facilities." In addition, the limitation on the exemption from FERC rate regulation will not affect the Renewable Energy Projects or the San Gabriel or Ripon Facilities since all power produced by these Projects and Facilities is sold at rates established by a State regulatory agency's implementation of PURPA.

As noted above, the changes to PURPA made by EPA 2005 will not affect those Renewable Energy Projects that produce power or the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities for so long as each such project continues to operate in compliance with the PURPA criteria applicable prior to the enactment of EPA 2005 and their PPAs remain in effect. In the event that any of such projects should lose QF status and if it should be determined that the purchasing utility has the right to terminate its PPA as a result thereof, it is possible that the changed criteria from the new legislation may be found to apply to any new PPA that such project would seek to enter into under PURPA. If such facility should temporarily lose QF status, the FERC could order the refund of amounts paid to the facility during the period of non-compliance. See ''Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status''.

With the exception of QFs, generation, transmission and distribution of electricity remained largely bundled until the enactment of the Energy Policy Act of 1992 (the "1992 Act") and subsequent orders in 1996. Among other things, the 1992 Act enhanced FERC's power to open access to power transmission systems, contributing to significant growth in the independent power generation industry.

While FERC regulates interstate power transmission and has a mandate to ensure that wholesale sellers have access to the transmission grid at fair and reasonable rates, retail competition is largely the responsibility of individual states. According to a November 2005 Energy Information Administration report, 19 states allow retail electricity competition. Electricity sales from these non-utility energy service providers ("ESPs") have been steadily increasing, accounting for 8% of national retail electricity sales in 2004, up from 0.6% in 1999. ESPs also provided 18% of all of the electricity sold in those 19 States (see graph below). Industrial and commercial end use customers of ESPs generally obtained lower average prices than customers choosing to remain with traditional bundled service in the deregulated states.

California

When the California electricity market first permitted customer choice of generation supply, legislation fixed the retail rates of the three investor-owned utilities— PG&E, SCE and San Diego Gas and Electric (''SDG&E''). Originally, prices in the wholesale market were below the fixed level of retail rates; however, wholesale prices began to exceed the retail levels in the spring of 2000. The rise in wholesale prices was a result of a number of different factors including: (i) limited new generation capacity to accommodate demand growth; (ii) a wholesale market design that shifted significant amounts of wholesale electricity purchases to the spot market rather than to forward markets and which inhibited the utilities' ability to enter into long-term contracts; (iii) historically low water levels in the Pacific Northwest combined with increased demand in regions that were traditionally significant exporters to the California electricity market; (iv) high natural gas prices; (v) lack of price signals to retail customers who were unaware of increased wholesale rates as a result of their fixed retail rates; and (vi) alleged market manipulation.

As a result of rising wholesale prices and limitations on increasing retail prices, PG&E and SCE reported financial difficulty in paying for power, including power from QFs, and reduced or stopped making various payments. In April 2001, PG&E filed for bankruptcy. Subsequently, PG&E and SCE resumed payments to QFs, entered into agreements with the California Public Utilities Commission (''CPUC'') intended to restore their financial positions and PG&E was discharged from bankruptcy in 2004.

In response to the developments described above, FERC, the California legislature and the CPUC enacted a number of measures significantly affecting the wholesale and retail electricity markets of California. While changes in the wholesale and retail electricity markets in California are expected to continue and may impact the degree of new generation supply entering the California market as well as future market price levels in unpredictable ways, the Fund expects that the impact on the Ripon or San Gabriel Facilities of such changes will be mitigated by their long-term capacity and energy sales agreements, under which capacity payments are largely fixed.

During periods when the full capacity of QFs are not committed to their respective counterparties, QFs may be subject to a "must-offer" obligation which FERC has required the California Independent System Operator ("CAISO") to include in its tariffs. In that event, CAISO can require QFs to sell power to the CAISO, if needed by the CAISO, provided that such sale would not violate a permit or cause loss of QF status and CAISO is required to compensate the QFs, pursuant to a rate formula set forth in CAISO's tariff on file with FERC. CAISO has proposed revisions to that rate schedule and the matter is pending before FERC.

Illinois

Regulatory restructuring of the electricity market in Illinois commenced in 1997 with the passage of The Electric Service Customer Choice and Rate Relief Act of 1997. As a result of this legislation and its subsequent amendments (the "Illinois Act"), the Illinois power market began a mandatory restructuring calling for "the first third" of commercial and industrial customers to have a choice for their generation supplier by October 1999, and with all customers – including residential – having their choice by January 2001. One of the associated amendments, titled SB 24, specifically promoted the use of cogeneration technology, and required Illinois' major utility, Commonwealth Edison ("ComEd"), to allocate $250 million towards special environmental initiatives and an energy-efficiency fund.

Customers were given the option of purchasing "bundled" power and energy from incumbent utilities at frozen rates until 2007, or to purchase power and energy on an "unbundled" basis by switching the generation component of their service to an "Alternative Retail Electric Supplier", or "ARES".

Although approximately 12% of ComEd's eligible customers (representing half of the demand for the utility's electricity) had switched to alternative suppliers by the year 2000, customers with other utilities initially showed little interest in the transition. By the end of 2004, however, ARES were serving a significant portion of Illinois' total electric consumption. This included about 23.5 million mw-hours (18.5% of total retail sales) to retail customers.

Some suppliers remain hesitant to serve the roughly 4.4 million eligible residential customers due to the high transaction costs associated with individual marketing relative to the associated profit. The Illinois government continues to encourage local participation, however, with passage of a law enabling electric suppliers to minimize these transaction costs by using their web sites to enroll customers.

With the end of the competitive retail transition period occurring January 1, 2007, there is reason to believe that customers will have further incentive to switch to alternative suppliers. On that date, the rate freeze on unbundled retail rates expires reverting to wholesale prices, allowing ARES to better compete against market rates.

Canada

Provincial governments have legislative authority over the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity in Canada. The movement toward restructuring the Canadian electricity industry has been similar to that of the U.S., as each province has determined its policy in this area based on its own assessment of its unique regional circumstances and issues.

Ontario

In 1987, Ontario Hydro, with the support of the Ontario Ministry of Energy, developed policies to encourage the addition of new generating capacity by independent power producers. In connection with this policy initiative, Ontario Hydro entered into a number of long-term PPAs with independent power producers. As of December 31, 2000, there were approximately 90 facilities owned and operated by independent power producers in Ontario that generated a total of 10,710 GWh of power in 2000 from a variety of energy sources, such as water, natural gas and biomass.

On April 1, 1999, Ontario's electricity industry was substantially restructured with the division of Ontario Hydro into five separate crown corporations, the two main companies being Ontario Power Generation Inc., the successor to Ontario Hydro's generation business, and Hydro One Inc., the successor to Ontario Hydro's transmission and distribution business. On May 1, 2002, Ontario's electricity market opened to competition at both the wholesale and retail levels. In November 2002, in response to increased prices of electricity, the provincial government introduced legislation that fixed the price of electricity for low volume and designated customers at 4.3 cents/kWh. On December 18, 2003, the newly-elected Liberal government enacted the Ontario Energy Board Amendment Act, 2003 changing the electricity price cap for residential and certain other designated consumers (municipalities, universities, colleges, schools, hospitals, farms and customers whose annual electricity usage is 250,000 kWh or less) effective April 1, 2004 to 4.7 cents/kWh for the first 750 kWh consumed in any month and 5.5 cents/kWh for any consumption above that level. Customers other than low volume and designated consumers would remain subject to market pricing. On February 23, 2005, the Government enacted the Electricity Restructuring Act, 2004, setting an average price of 4.5 cents/kWh on the output of OPG's regulated generation assets for between April 1, 2005 to no later than March 31, 2008, and 4.7 cents/kWh on most of OPG's unregulated generation assets for between April 1, 2005 and no later than April 30, 2006, although the provincial government has announced that a cap would be extended to April 30, 2009, at 4.6 cents/kWh from May 1, 2006 to April 30, 2007, 4.7 cents/kWh from May 1, 2007 to April 30, 2008 and 4.8 cents/kWh from May 1, 2008 to April 30, 2009. The pricing described immediately above will also affect selected large industrial and commercial customers.

On March 11, 2005, the Ontario Energy Board announced changes to the electricity price cap starting April 1, 2005 for residential and other designated consumers to 5.0 cents/kWh on the first 750 kWh consumed in any month and 5.8 cents/kWh for any consumption about that level. Starting November 1, 2005 the price threshold changes twice a year (first 1,000 kWh/month during the winter months and 600 kWh/month during the summer months), but this pricing (subject to the revised threshold) will remain in place until the Spring of 2006. The removal of the cap on OPG's unregulated assets, and variances between previous forecasts and actual market prices, will be reflected in future Regulated Price Plan, or "RPP", pricing. A customer leaving the RPP (for example, where a customer chooses to purchase electricity from the spot market) will be subject to payment or receipt of a "final RPP variance settlement amount" reflecting the consumer's share of any accumulated variance between the actual price paid to generators and the forecast price paid by price plan consumers. New RPP prices are expected to be in place by May 1, 2006. The Ontario Energy Board intends to forecast new prices for May 1, 2006, and to adjust them every six months, if necessary, in order to be more responsive to market prices and avoid high variance account balances. On March 21, 2006, the Ontario Energy Board circulated a letter to interested parties setting out a proposed process for establishing the prices for output from OPG's designated (regulated) generation assets.

Since the provincial election of September 2003, the Ontario government, and subsequently the Ontario Power Authority, an entity established by the provincial government to, among other things, ensure an adequate long-term supply of electricity in Ontario, has conducted a number of Requests for Proposals for new generation supply – both conventional (typically natural gas) and renewable. Further RFPs will be conducted. The OPA and the Ontario Energy Board are also developing a Standard Offer process for small and mid-sized renewable generation projects. The need for a large amount of new generation supply is due in large part to the government's determination to close its coal-fired generation facilities by 2009.

The Biogas Industry

Overview

Biogas, also known as landfill gas, is generated from the decomposition of organic or carbon-based materials, including municipal solid waste. Biogas consists mainly of methane and carbon dioxide, roughly in equal proportions. Methane gas may be used for electrical power generation and for industrial applications. Electricity and boiler fuel sales from renewable energy projects are dependent upon the rate, quantity and quality of gas flow and the effectiveness of the biogas collection systems on a landfill site.

Biogas is collected by installing gas wells into a landfill at predetermined separations. The wells are connected by a series of pipes that deliver the biogas to the processing and conversion stations. The entire piping system is under a partial vacuum causing biogas in the landfill to migrate toward the wells. Once the biogas is collected, it is delivered to a central processing facility where it is filtered to remove any contaminants that may be suspended in the biogas stream. It is then utilized as fuel to generate electricity, transported to a third party, or flared.

Biogas production at a landfill is estimated using models developed in association with the EPA and other similar bodies. Production estimates are based on accepted, theoretical decay patterns of carbon-based materials, with inputs that include: the filling pattern of the landfill, the composition of the waste, compaction, moisture content, time and local weather conditions. As the amount of waste deposited into a landfill increases, the amount of potential biogas that can be generated by the decomposition of waste also increases. Biogas generation peaks shortly after the closure of the landfill and starts to decline as the ratio of decomposed waste to under-composed waste increases. According to the EPA, depending on the size of the landfill and the amount of waste deposited into the landfill, the amount of biogas generated should continue to be substantial enough to support commercial operations for 20 to 30 years after a landfill ceases to accept waste.

Both methane and carbon dioxide are considered greenhouse gases and contribute to global warming. However, methane is significantly more damaging to the environment than carbon dioxide. The EPA first began regulating municipal solid waste landfills and biogas in 1991 under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. In 1996, the EPA released the Clean Air Act New Performance Standards and the associated emissions guidelines. As part of these guidelines, newer landfill facilities with large design capacities are required to install gas collection and control systems. The EPA also requires older landfills that exceed prescribed fill amounts to install gas collection and management systems.

The following diagram illustrates a typical biogas collection and electricity generation process.

Biogas Collection and Power Generation Process

1. Landfill Site: Biogas recovery is suitable for existing as well as future landfill sites. In existing sites, the biogas is collected by installing vertical wells every 150 to 300 feet and connecting these vertical wells to a central processing station.
2. Knockout Unit: A knockout unit is used to screen out contaminants and free liquids suspended in the biogas.
3. Blower/Compressor: The blower/compressor is used to create a partial vacuum in the system that causes the biogas to migrate through the wells toward the processing station.
4. Intercooler: The intercooler is used to reduce the temperature of the biogas allowing residual moisture to condense.
5. Industrial Plant: At this point, the biogas may be sold as boiler fuel directly to an end-user such as an industrial plant.
6. Electricity Generation: Alternatively, it may be used to power generators that convert it into electricity for sale to the local electric utility.

Government Support for Renewable Energy Projects

The U.S. federal government and a number of state governments have put programs in place that provide biogas owners with tax credits, emission credits and/or premium rates for the sale of electricity.

Section 29 Tax Credits

A significant incentive introduced by the U.S. federal government relating to biogas has been the Section 29 tax credit. "Section 29" refers to a program that forms a specific part of federal tax law known as the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980. This program introduced federal tax credits which are generated upon the sale of certain types of alternative fuels, including the methane component of biogas. The tax credit is generated when the owner of a biogas collection facility sells a unit of methane to an unrelated party for use in energy production. The buyer of the methane is considered to be unrelated to the owner of the biogas facility under this legislation if there is no more than 50% overlapping ownership, either directly or indirectly, between the two. For credits claimed in 2004, each MMBtu of biogas sold for the generation of energy produced a tax credit of approximately US$1.13 Tax credits for projects developed after 1992 that were operational prior to July 1, 1998 will expire on December 31, 2007.

Through December 31, 2007, Section 29 has a phase out provision that is triggered when the "Market Wellhead Price" of domestic crude oil reaches certain "Phase-out Prices" as determined by the IRS. The phase-out is proportional. The Market Wellhead Price is the IRS' estimate of the calendar year average wellhead price per barrel for all domestic crude oil, the price of which is not subject to regulation. Phase out Prices are adjusted each year for inflation.

To qualify for Section 29 tax credits, a biogas facility must have been placed in service before July 1, 1998, pursuant to a binding written contract entered into before January 1, 1997. A contract was binding if it provided a completion date, a maximum price, was valid under state law, did not limit damages to a specified amount (or provided for liquidated damages of at least 5% of the total cost of the facility), and was not substantially modified on or after January 1, 1997. The facility was placed in service before July 1, 1998 if, by that date, the owner of the facility obtained all necessary licenses and permits, completed all critical testing of the facility, and controlled the facility, and if the facility was capable of producing biogas for sale and commenced daily operation, even if further testing to eliminate defects occurred later.

Illinois Incentives

The State of Illinois, in an effort to encourage the development of green energy fuels, among other things, initiated an incentive program to promote the development of renewable energy projects. The first step in this process was accomplished by classifying a renewable energy project that meets certain requirements as a "Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facility" or "QSWEF" under the Local Solid Waste Disposal Act. A QSWEF benefits from the provisions of the Illinois Public Utilities Act and the Purchase and Sale of Electric Energy from Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facilities of the Illinois Administrative Code. These state mandates, as implemented by the Illinois Commerce Commission ("ICC"), require an electric utility to enter into a PPA with a QSWEF that has a minimum term of 10 years so long as, among other things, no entity that directly or indirectly owns more than 50% of such QSWEF is primarily engaged in the business of producing or selling electricity, gas or useful thermal energy from a source other than one or more QSWEFs. The electric utility is obligated to purchase the electricity generated by a QSWEF located in such utility's service area at a rate that is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities (with certain exceptions) for electricity in such QSWEF's jurisdiction (the "Gross Contract Rate"). The Gross Contract Rate typically exceeds the purchasing utility's Avoided Cost. In such case, the QSWEF receives a premium for the sale of its electricity to the utility, in the form of an incentive, which represents the excess of the utility's Gross Contract Rate over its Avoided Cost. To recover the cost of this incentive, the utility is entitled to Illinois State tax credits equal to the amount of the incentive paid to the QSWEF.

The QSWEF is obligated to reimburse the State of Illinois for the amount of the tax credits claimed by the utility to which it sells electricity and is required to begin repaying this amount no later than the earlier of the date it has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing the project and 10 years from the date the project began commercial operation. Pursuant to regulations under the Illinois Public Utilities Act (the "ICC Regulations"), all incentives must be fully repaid by the QSWEF upon the earlier of 20 years after it began commercial operation or the end of its actual useful life. The incentives are to be repaid over the required repayment period pursuant to a schedule to be determined by the ICC based on the manner in which the utility claimed the tax credits.

In addition, each month, a QSWEF is required to pay the Illinois Department of Revenue an amount equal to US 0.06 cents/kWh sold by it during the prior month.

Other State and Local Incentives

A number of states provide incentives to encourage the development of biogas and other green energy fuels. These incentives have taken the form of direct incentives, renewable energy purchase requirements ("Renewable Portfolio Standards") and the establishment of renewable energy funds. The table below summarizes those U.S. states with Renewable Portfolio Standards.

Advantages of Renewable Energy Projects

Abundant and Low Cost Fuel Source

Containment and consolidation of solid waste into landfill sites is a common practice worldwide. The low cost to extract biogas from landfills makes it attractive for power generation relative to natural gas or other more conventional fossil fuel sources.

Environmental Benefits

Biogas produced by landfills has been described as one of the largest contributors to global warming. In order to comply with environmental regulations and reduce the hazard arising from a build-up of biogas (which is highly combustible), landfills are required to burn or flare it in a controlled manner. Converting biogas into electricity not only achieves these objectives, but also provides an alternative source of energy.

Government Support

The recent growth in the development of renewable energy projects is partly a result of the support that biogas and other green energy fuels are receiving from federal and state governments, regulators and customers in the form of (i) tax credits; (ii) emissions credits; and/or (iii) premium rates for the sale of electricity.

Premium Pricing for Green Energy

Excluding incentives received from federal and state governments, power generated using green energy fuels, such as biogas, has, in certain instances, been able to obtain a premium price over power generated from conventional sources due to the introduction of Renewable Portfolio Standards and increased environmental awareness.

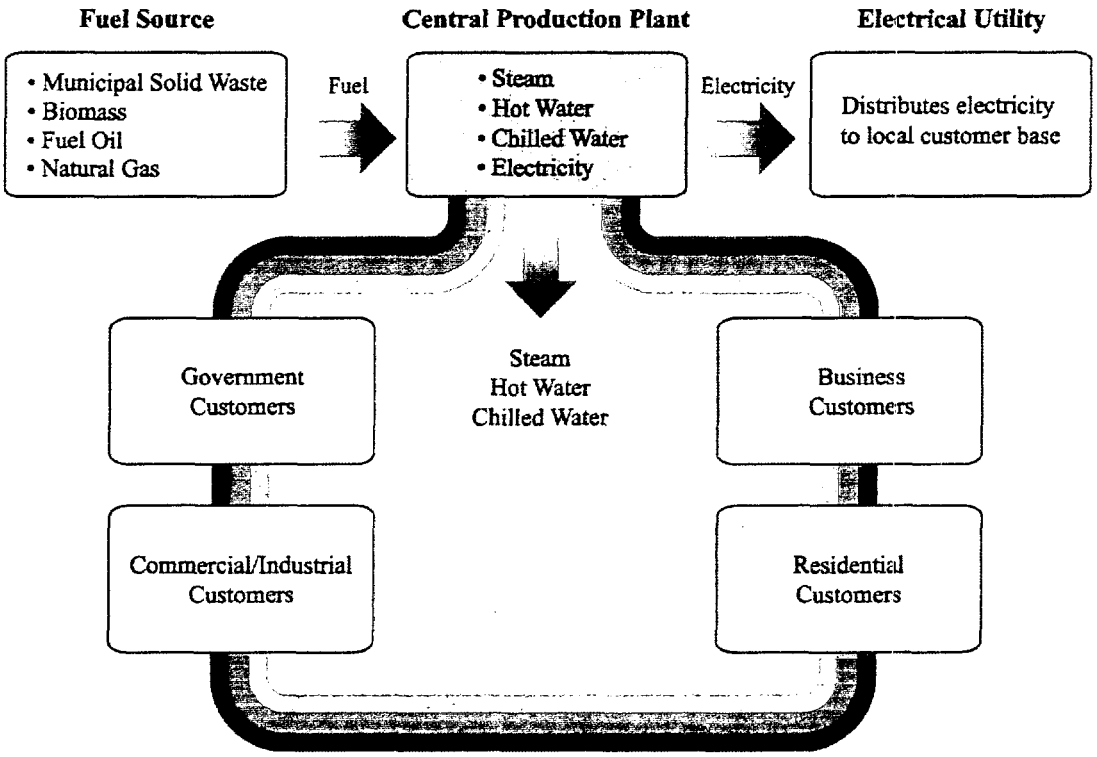
Proven Technology

Several types of standardized equipment are used to generate electricity from biogas. The power generation equipment is manufactured by companies such as GE/Jenbacher, Caterpillar and Deutz all of whom have established track records in the power generation industry. The most common equipment types are reciprocating engines or internal combustion engines, which are customized to operate on biogas. According to the EPA, 82% of renewable energy projects that generate electricity utilize this technology. For sites with high gas flow, steam turbines or gas turbines may be used.

Low Operating Costs

As a result of the low maintenance requirements and high reliability of biogas equipment, operating expenses for renewable energy projects are comparatively stable and predictable.

The District Energy Industry



Overview

District energy systems are common in large urban centres worldwide and in North America, including Toronto, Montreal, New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Over 5,000 district energy systems are currently in operation in the U.S., supplying over 8% of commercial floor space. District energy systems typically consist of one or more central production plants that generate steam, hot water and/or chilled water and distribute it through underground pipes to customer buildings.

Structure of District Energy Systems

The central production plant of a typical district energy system converts fuel, such as natural gas, biomass, fuel oil or coal, into steam, hot water and/or chilled water which is distributed through underground pipes to its customers to provide heating, air conditioning and some industrial process uses. Customers typically include government offices, hospitals, educational institutions and apartment buildings, as well as commercial businesses that commonly outsource for such services.

TYPICAL DISTRICT ENERGY SYSTEM

Outlook for the District Energy Industry

Argonne National Laboratory and the International District Energy Association estimate that district energy could provide up to 30% of the thermal energy needs in the United States by 2010. New and expanded markets include urban areas, universities and colleges, military installations, and other campus or institutional settings. This growth is driven by the benefits it can provide to local economies, including the revitalization of urban centres by providing a reliable, low-cost energy infrastructure and improving air quality.

Rising energy costs for industrial and commercial consumers, coupled with new environmental initiatives, have encouraged the expansion of existing systems and the development of new systems in Canada. District energy systems have been introduced over the last five years in cities such as Windsor, Sudbury and Markham.

Advantages of District Energy Systems

High Customer Retention

District energy systems provide customers with an attractive alternative to conventional in-house heating and cooling systems. Contracting for energy services with a district energy system eliminates the requirement of a customer to provide building space to house boilers, human resources to manage its systems, and the associated capital investment. In addition, the pricing structure of district energy sales is such that the cost to a customer is competitive with alternative services, resulting in high customer retention.

High System Reliability

District energy systems have been designed to achieve higher reliability than conventional in-house systems as a result of the greater system management expertise and the incorporation of multiple back-up systems, which is not typically feasible to implement in smaller installations.

Low Operating Costs

The operation of large, efficient boilers and integrated distribution systems provides for low operating and maintenance costs on a per customer basis. In addition, district energy systems can be designed to utilize inexpensive, readily-available, low-grade fuels, such as biomass, to enhance operating margins. The use of cogeneration further reduces operating costs by simultaneously producing thermal energy and electricity.

Premium Pricing for Value Added Service

District energy competes in the marketplace with a customer's alternative sources of heating and cooling, and is typically valued at a premium based on its superior convenience, reliability and environmental advantages.

Cogeneration

As a general rule, power generating facilities produce heat in the process of creating electricity. Historically, conventional power plants released this heat into the environment. The Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA) discussed above encourages renewable and alternative energy sources as a substitute to petroleum and foreign-based energy requirements, and creates a special market for power generating facilities which capture this excess heat, and divert it to domestic or industrial heating purposes. This has resulted in an increased ratio of energy-produced to energy-consumed, thereby enhancing resource efficiency and reducing dependency on external energy requirements.

Power producing facilities that can show relative efficiency to conventional power generating assets through a secondary use of the energy created from a given fuel input can earn special entitlements. If the combination of electricity output plus thermal heat employed meet certain efficiency or other operating or environmental standards, these "cogenerators" can earn the designation of "Qualifying Facility", or "QF". QF status can prove lucrative as electricity produced by these facilities is, under certain circumstances, required to be purchased by utilities under long-term contract at prices and quantities set by the State. Congress thus has effectively ensured that these cogenerators have a guaranteed market for their power at a price equal to the utilities avoided cost of traditional (typically fossil fuel) power generation. While EPA 2005 has conditioned the benefits afforded to QF's under PURPA in certain respects, existing QF's including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities should not be subject to such conditions so long as they continue to sell power pursuant to their existing PPA's. See "Description of the Business-Industry Regulation-United States".

Outlook for the California Power Market

The Western Electricity Coordinating Council (''WECC'') estimated California and Mexico border 2005 peak electricity demand to be 55,955 MW. This is expected to grow at an average of 2.0% per year until 2013. At the same time, many of the electric generating facilities supplying peak Californian demand are approaching the end of their useful lives or are in need of retrofits to comply with new environmental standards. Approximately 58% of the total Californian power plant capacity was brought online prior to 1980[(1)].

Estimates of the amount of electric generating capacity that will be retired vary widely. In 2004, the California Energy Commission (''CEC'') undertook a detailed study of ageing power plants and concluded, under a medium to high risk scenario, that 10,204 MW of generation capacity is expected to be retired from 2005 to 2008, [(2)] or is at risk of retirement. In addition, the rate of new additions slowed to only 568 net MW in 2004 compared to 2,678 net MW in 2003.[(3)] New additions are forecast to increase in 2005 with 2,231 MW of new generation capacity being added.

Under several of these forecast scenarios, new generation capacity additions would be needed in the near term if the CAISO is to keep its operating reserves above its targeted 7% minimum and prevent exposing consumers and businesses to major power supply risks. In 2004, the state-wide peak hour reserve margin averaged 15.3%, down from 22.8% in 2003.

The CEC is forecasting the PG&E service area in northern California to be able to maintain a reserve margin above the minimum requirement through 2008, however, in the SCE and SDG&E service areas in southern California, the CEC is projecting the reserve margin declining to 2.1% in both 2007 and 2008 under normal operating scenarios.

The Manager believes that the combination of ageing supplies and increasing demand should support the Ripon and San Gabriel facilities remaining operational and economically viable after the expiration of their PPAs.

THE RENEWABLE ENERGY PROJECTS

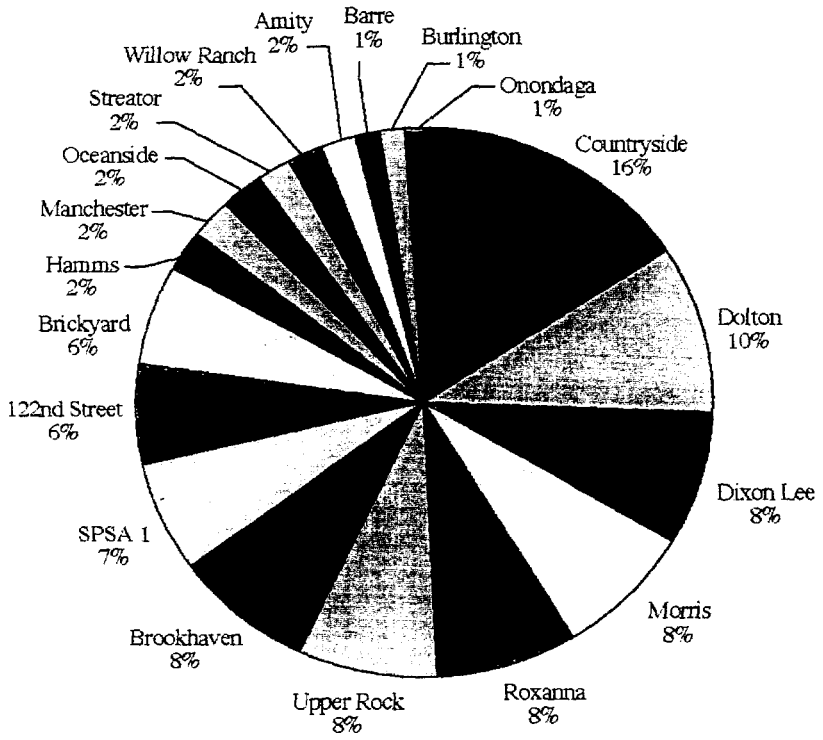
Background

On May 1, 2001, the predecessor of USEB, Zahren Alternative Power Corporation, was acquired by USEY (54.26%) and an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy (45.74%). USEB owns 100% of the Renewable Energy Projects located outside of Illinois and 50% of those located in Illinois, of which Illinois Landfill, successor to AJG, owns the remainder.

Cinergy is a diversified U.S. energy company that manages a balanced and integrated portfolio of regulated operations and commercial businesses. Cinergy's regulated operations distribute electricity and natural gas to approximately 1.5 million and 500,000 customers, respectively, across three midwestern U.S. states. Cinergy also owns approximately 7,000MW of electric generation capacity in Indiana and its commercial business unit owns approximately 6,300MW of electric generation capacity across the U.S. In 2005 Cinergy entered into a merger agreement with Duke Energy (NYSE:DUK) under which each Cinergy share will be converted into 1.56 shares of the new Duke Energy at the close of the merger. The shareholders of Cinergy and Duke Energy have approved the merger. The companies anticipate closing the merger as early as April 2006.

USEY is an independent power producer servicing large retail customers, including industrial and commercial end-users. USEY owns, operates and/or has financed 22 green energy, district energy and cogeneration projects in North America with a total of approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity. An indirect subsidiary of Cinergy owns approximately 5% of the outstanding common shares of USEY and a senior officer of Cinergy was formerly a member of the board of directors of USEY. USEY and an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy are parties to a joint project development agreement.

USEB Operating Profile



The Renewable Energy Projects currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity. Eighteen of the 22 Renewable Energy Projects have contracts with local electric utilities for the sale of electrical output. The Brookhaven project leases electric generation equipment to a third party, which in turn has a contract to sell the output to an electric utility.

In addition, USEB receives payments under notes issued to subsidiaries of Cinergy and AJG ("Gasco Notes" in connection with the sale of its ownership interests in 16 Gascos that qualify for Section 29 tax credits. These payments are scheduled to end in 2007. The loss of this revenue stream in 2007 is expected to be primarily offset by increased electricity and boiler fuel production volumes from planned expansions of the Renewable Energy Projects.

The Renewable Energy Projects are located across nine states in the U.S. with a majority of power sales to electric utilities in the State of Illinois. The Renewable Energy Projects are able to capitalize on regional opportunities as they relate to the sale of electricity and government incentive programs.

SUMMARY OF RENEWABLE ENERGY PROJECTS(1)
ELECTRIC GENERATION CAPACITY (MW)

(1) Excludes those Renewable Energy Projects whose production output is boiler fuel.

All of the Renewable Energy Projects located in Illinois receive an incentive under the Rate Incentive Program for the first 10 years of their commercial operation. The PPA/Retail Rate Expiry listed in the table below reflects the date of expiry of the entitlement to receive this incentive for each Renewable Energy Project located in Illinois and the date of expiry of the PPAs for those Renewable Energy Projects located outside of Illinois. Subsequent to the expiry of a project's entitlement to receive incentives or its PPA, as the case may be, the relevant electric utility will remain obligated to purchase the project's electrical output at the utility's Avoided Cost for so long as the project produces electricity and maintains its status as a QF under the FPA and meets certain other state law requirements. Alternatively, USEB may choose to sell the electrical output of the Renewable Energy Projects into the Green Power Market or the electricity wholesale market. USEB may also sell renewable energy credits and GHG emission credits separately from the sale of electricity.

Summary of the Renewable Energy Projects

Set out below is a listing of the Renewable Energy Projects and their key characteristics.

(1) The term of such agreements substantially exceeds the term of the USEB Loans and the conversion date of the USEB Royalty Interest.
(2) Subject to two five-year extension terms at USEB's option.
(3) A portion of the site is owned and a portion is leased.
(4) Subject to three five-year extension terms at USEB's option.
(5) The gas rights agreement at the Morris project provides the project's Genco with a site lease. A stand alone site lease is in final stages of being formalized with the landfill owner.
(6) May be extended for one or more five year terms by mutual agreement.
(7) The agreement automatically renews so long as biogas is produced in commercially reasonable quantities.
(8) Continues until terminated by USEB.
(9) Agreement may be extended for up to 10 years upon mutual consent.
(10) May be terminated by off-taker on one year's notice.
(11) Facilities operations agreement under which USEB operates the gas collection system and transmission pipeline to the off-taker and in consideration receives a fee.
(12) Gas purchase agreement.
(13) These Transcos have no facilities located at the site. A transmission pipeline runs from the Gasco directly to the end users.
(14) The Brookhaven project is structured as an equipment lease under which a subsidiary of USEB owns the power generating equipment and receives a fee to operate such equipment.

Commercial Structure of the Renewable Energy Projects

The Renewable Energy Projects may incorporate up to three separate legal entities as illustrated in the following diagram and described below:

TYPICAL RENEWABLE ENERGY PROJECT COMMERCIAL STRUCTURE

Gasco

Gascos are the legal entities that typically own the biogas extraction rights and collection systems and collect and sell the biogas to a Genco and/or a Transco, as the case may be, under long-term, fixed-rate contracts. Gascos are typically structured as limited partnerships whereby the beneficiaries of the Section 29 tax credits own a 99% limited partnership interest in the Gasco and USEB owns a 1% general partnership interest or less in the Gasco. The limited partnership interests are held by investment grade third parties. Countryside Canada does not own any interest in such limited partnership interests through the USEB Loans or the USEB Royalty Interest except an indirect interest in debt service payments received from such third parties by USEB under the Gasco Notes. In the cases of the Roxanna and Brookhaven projects, USEB does not own an interest in the relevant Gascos.

The Gencos typically provide the Gascos with a portion of the electricity they generate to power their gas collection systems and, in addition, provide operating and maintenance services to the Gascos. The total revenues received by the Gascos for the sale of biogas generally equates to the total cost of the Gencos providing the electricity and operating and maintenance services to the Gascos.

Genco

Gencos are the legal entities that typically own the power generating equipment, purchase the biogas from a Gasco and sell the electricity it generates to an electric utility or industrial user under long-term contracts. The Renewable Energy Projects incorporate 19 Gencos that are wholly-owned subsidiaries of USEB, except for the Illinois-based projects which are owned 50% by USEB and 50% by Illinois Landfill. Gencos typically lease a portion of a landfill site from an independent third party landfill owner.

Transco

Transcos are the legal entities that typically own the gas transportation equipment and purchase biogas from a Gasco to transport and sell to a third party as boiler fuel under long-term contracts. The Renewable Energy Projects include three Transcos which are all wholly-owned subsidiaries of USEB.

Pricing Structure

Illinois QSWEF Pricing Structure

The State of Illinois established the Rate Incentive Program to encourage, among other things, the proper disposal of waste and, where economically and technically feasible, the efficient use of the products or by-products generated as a result of its disposal. The Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects all qualify as QSWEFs and, as such, are participants in the Rate Incentive Program. Under the Rate Incentive Program, QSWEFs sell electricity at the Gross Contract Rate for the first 10 years of their commercial operation. The Gross Contract Rate is calculated annually by the electric utility and equals the average amount per kWh paid by local government entities for electricity in the jurisdiction in which the QSWEF is located (with certain exceptions). The difference between the Gross Contract Rate and the electric utility's Avoided Cost equals the QSWEF's incentive. A QSWEF must begin to repay the incentive no later than the earlier of the date the QSWEF has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing its facility and 10 years after the date the QSWEF began commercial operation. The incentive must be entirely repaid by the QSWEF upon the earlier of 20 years after the QSWEF began commercial operation and the end of the QSWEF's actual useful life. See "— ICC Rate Incentive Program and ICC Reimbursement Account".

Gross Contract Rates are calculated on an annual basis and vary by location. Since both the Gross Contract Rate and Avoided Cost typically change annually, the incentive component also typically changes on an annual basis.

ICC Rate Incentive Program and ICC Reimbursement Account

According to the terms of the Rate Incentive Program, a QSWEF must start repaying an amount equal to the incentive portion of the Gross Contract Rate to the State of Illinois no later than the earlier of the date the QSWEF has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing its facility and 10 years after the date it began commercial operation. The incentive must be entirely repaid upon the earlier of 20 years after the QSWEF began commercial operation and the end of the QSWEF's actual useful life. The repayment obligation to the State of Illinois is equal to the amount of the incentive received, without interest, and is required to be made under a schedule to be determined by the ICC based on the manner in which the local utility claimed the relevant tax credits.

To ensure sufficient funds exist for reimbursement of the incentive, each Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project agreed, under the orders that the ICC issued to establish and/or confirm its status as a QSWEF (the "ICC Orders"), to establish an ICC Reimbursement Account which it funds with a portion of the amount of the incentive it receives . The ICC Orders have no specific requirements for the amount of funds that need to be deposited in the ICC Reimbursement Account for repayment of the incentive or for the type of investments that are appropriate for the ICC Reimbursement Account. Each Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project invests the funds held in a ICC Reimbursement Account in a balanced portfolio of fixed income, equity and other investments managed by a professional advisor. See "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business — QSWEF Status" and "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business — ICC Repayment Liability".

Although the Rate Incentive Program for each of the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects terminates 10 years after the commencement of commercial operation, the local electric utility is obligated to purchase the electrical output from such Renewable Energy Project at the utility's Avoided Cost for so long as the Renewable Energy Project qualifies as a QF and satisfies Illinois laws. This obligation arises under requirements of PURPA, and Part 430, Purchase and Sale of Electrical Energy from Cogeneration and Small Power Production Facilities of the Illinois Administrative Code.

Green Power Market and Pricing

After expiration of the 10-year period over which the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects participate in the Rate Incentive Program, and after expiration of the PPAs for the non-Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects, USEB anticipates that it will sell the power generated by the Renewable Energy Projects into the Green Power Market, if economically attractive.

The use of power derived from alternative sources has been mandated in several states in the United States, in addition to being discussed at a federal level. Such states, including Illinois, have incorporated, or are in the process of incorporating or considering the incorporation of, Renewable Portfolio Standards. These standards require that a certain percentage of power generated be derived from a renewable fuel source. In Ontario, the Electricity Conservation and Supply Task Force, which was established in June 2003 and released its report on January 14, 2004, has recommended that Ontario implement Renewable Portfolio Standards and concluded that renewable energy generation will be a vital part of Ontario's future electricity supply mix. The mandate for such standards stems from the objective of reducing the use of fossil fuels, reducing the reliance on foreign energy sources and increasing the production of clean energy.

In those jurisdictions where the Renewable Portfolio Standards exist, Green Power Markets may develop and rates for green power may increase to a level that may result in green power generation reaching the level set by the Renewable Portfolio Standards. Such levels typically involve a price premium on electricity generated reflecting the total cost (including capital) of producing such power. In addition, without state-mandated Renewable Portfolio Standards, it has been demonstrated that there is a segment of the general public that has a preference for electricity generated from green power, and is willing to pay a premium for such power.

Section 29 Tax Credits

Since the development of the Renewable Energy Projects, USEB has sold predominantly all of its ownership interests in the Gascos to either Cinergy or AJG.

An indirect subsidiary of Cinergy purchased USEB's ownership interests in the Countryside, Morris and Brown County Gascos. Consideration for the purchase was in the form of: (i) an up-front down payment; (ii) a fixed note with specified principal and interest payments; and (iii) a contingent note whose payments are based upon the amount of MMBtus sold by the Gascos to the Gencos. USEB has agreed to indemnify the indirect subsidiary of Cinergy for certain losses suffered in the event that certain tax-related representations and warranties made by USEB are inaccurate.

AJG purchased the ownership interests in other Renewable Energy Projects' Gascos, which generate Section 29 tax credits. Consideration from AJG to USEB was in the form of: (i) an up-front down payment; and (ii) a contingent note whose payment is based upon the amount of MMBtus sold by the Gascos to the Gencos. AJG subsequently sold certain of such ownership interests to a subsidiary of American International Group. USEB has agreed to indemnify AJG for certain losses suffered in the event that certain tax-related representations and warranties made by USEB are inaccurate.

The ability of a project to receive Section 29 tax credits depends on the placed-in-service date of the facility. Section 29 tax credits for the Gascos at 14 Renewable Energy Projects are currently available annually until December 31, 2007, based on an in-service date of on or before June 30, 1998. These projects include Brickyard, Cape May, Countryside, Dixon Lee, Dolton, Hamms, Manchester, Morris, 122nd Street, SPSA (I and II), Streator, Upper Rock, Tucson and Willow Ranch. Renewable Energy Projects with in-service dates prior to 1993 qualified for tax credits only through 2002. These projects include Amity, Burlington, Oceanside and Onondaga. USEB also owns two developmental sites where the Gascos generate tax credits, and receives revenues from four other Gascos where the sites themselves are owned and operated by third parties. In 2005, these four sites generated revenues of approximately US$93,000. USEB has two generating facilities, Brookhaven and Roxanna, whose Gascos were not owned by USEB and therefore generate no revenue for USEB from Section 29 tax credits.

USEB thus receives a cash flow stream in connection with the sale of its Gasco interests. Since Section 29 requires that a sales transaction take place between unrelated parties, the Genco/Gasco structure was created. Each Renewable Energy Project (except Brookhaven and Roxanna), regardless of whether it is a Genco or Transco, is affiliated with a Gasco entity that has generated and/or continues to generate Section 29 tax credits for the benefit of the Gasco entity's owners. Neither USEB nor any of the Gascos has obtained a ruling from the IRS confirming that Gascos generate Section 29 credits. All of the Renewable Energy Projects currently in operation (except for the Roxanna and Brookhaven projects) have provided or continue to provide economic benefits to USEB through the sale of Section 29 tax credits to investment grade counterparties — Cinergy, AJG and American International Group.

Through December 31, 2007, Code Section 29 has a phase out provision that is triggered when the "Market Wellhead Price" of domestic crude oil reaches certain "Phase-out Prices" as determined by the IRS. The IRS will not publish the Phase-out Prices for calendar year 2005 until May 2006. Market Wellhead Prices in 2005 on occasion, exceeded the price at which the Phase out would be triggered. Nevertheless, based on average Market Wellhead Prices for 2005 and estimates of 2005 Phase-out Prices, the Manager believes that the Phase-out was not triggered in 2005. However, there can be no assurance that future oil prices will remain under future phase out levels in 2006 and 2007.

Operations

Effective January 1, 2003, USEB entered into operating and maintenance agreements with RUN Energy for the operation and maintenance of the Countryside and Morris projects. Under the terms of these agreements, RUN Energy is responsible for all expenses related to the operation of the equipment including scheduled major and minor overhauls and the supply of fluids and other spare parts, but excluding repair of failed engine blocks. The existing contracts have one year terms with renewal options.

RUN Energy provides management, operations and maintenance services to the energy industry. RUN Energy is a specialist in distributed power generation, including renewable energy and waste fuels, with a cumulative total of over 6 million hours of operation at over 30 distributed power plants, predominantly in the biogas industry.

On May 1, 2003, the term of the existing operating agreements with GE/Jenbacher for the operation and maintenance of the Brickyard, Dixon Lee, Dolton, 122nd Street, Roxanna, Streator, Upper Rock and Willow Ranch projects were extended to 10 years. Under the terms of these agreements, GE/Jenbacher is responsible for all expenses related to the operation of the equipment including scheduled major and minor overhauls, the supply of fluids and other spare parts and the replacement of failed components. Compensation for the services is at a flat-fixed rate per kWh produced, adjusted based upon the Consumer Price Index and the Producers Price Index. Contract terms include the imposition of penalties or the payment of bonuses should actual production fall below or exceed prescribed levels. The production levels are adjusted periodically to reflect gas quality and quantity.

With the execution of these operation and maintenance contracts, approximately 69% of the engine generating capacity of the Renewable Energy Projects is operated and maintained by third-party operators under fixed price contracts. As the third-party operators are responsible for the relevant projects' day-to-day operations, USEB has been able to reduce its staffing levels and insurance premiums. The variable cost of operation is approximately 74% of total project operating expenses.

The operation and maintenance functions for the remaining Renewable Energy Projects, including Amity, Barre, Brookhaven, Burlington, Cape May, Hamms, Manchester, Oceanside, Onondaga, SPSA I and II, and Tucson are performed by USEB staff, which is comprised of 21 professionals.

USEB Loans

On closing of the Offering, Countryside Canada purchased certain Existing Loans from the then current lenders to USEB and various affiliates of USEB, including John Hancock Financial Services, Inc. and certain of its affiliates, GESF Energy Capital LLC and AJG, for a cash purchase price equal to 100% of the principal amount outstanding under the Existing Loans on the closing date of the Offering. USEB paid all accrued unpaid interest on the Existing Loans and made an additional payment to John Hancock Financial Services, Inc. and its affiliates and GESF Energy Capital LLC in connection with the purchase.

Upon acquisition of the Existing Loans, Countryside Canada made Additional Advances to USEB and Countryside Canada and USEB and amended the Existing Loans to include the Additional Advances and otherwise give effect to the terms set forth in the amendment to the note purchase agreement governing the USEB Loans (the "USEB Loan Agreement"). Including the Additional Advances, the USEB Loans were for an initial principal amount of $107 million.

The USEB Loans consist of two loans, a loan in the approximate principal amount as of the closing of the Offering, of $89.8 million (the "USEB A Loan") and a loan in the approximate principal amount, as of the closing of the Offering, of $17.2 million (the "USEB B Loan"). USEB is borrower on both USEB Loans. The USEB Entities that own the USEB Operating Assets guaranteed both USEB Loans.

As security for the USEB Loans, Countryside Canada has a first ranking lien on all of USEB's assets except the Excluded Assets, and substantially all of the USEB Operating Assets not directly held by USEB secure the guarantees.

Yankee Energy Services Company ("YESCO") retained its second lien on the equity interests in and assets of the USEB Entities that own the assets of and equity interests in the Countryside, Morris and Brookhaven projects securing its US$4.7 million vendor's note (the "YESCO Note") which is subordinated to such projects' guarantees of the USEB B Loan but is senior to such guarantors' unsecured guarantees of the USEB A Loan. USEB has provided an unsecured guarantee of the YESCO Note.

The interest rate on the USEB Loans is 11.0% per annum and principal and interest is paid monthly. The USEB Loans have a maturity date of 15 years from April 8, 2004, subject to mandatory prepayment provisions and prepayment at the election of the lender after 10 years. Approximately 56% of the aggregate principal amount of the USEB Loans will amortize over their term gradually increasing from 1.6% of the aggregate principal amount in the first year to 7.1% in the 15th year.

Except in connection with a change of control of USEB, the USEB Loans are not redeemable or repayable prior to five years from their date of issuance. Thereafter, USEB may, to the extent it has available cash, prepay all or a portion of the USEB Loans subject to a yield maintenance provision which requires USEB to make Countryside Canada whole on the forgone returns from the date of prepayment of the USEB Loans to the maturity date. USEB has the right to prepay the USEB Loans on the same basis if there is a change of control of USEB at any time prior to the fifth anniversary of the issuance date. USEB is required to make mandatory prepayments under the USEB Loans under certain circumstances with and without premiums.

Under the terms of the USEB Loans, USEB is required to establish the USEB Reserve. At the closing of the Offering, the USEB Reserve was funded with US$2 million. Thereafter, beginning in 2004, USEB is obligated to fund the USEB Reserve with a minimum of US$250,000 quarterly, increasing by 2.5% per year (the "Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount"), from operating cash flow after payment of all amounts due on the USEB Loans, operating expenses, and ICC reimbursement deposits, but before growth capital expenditures, dividends to the shareholders of USEB and royalty payments to Countryside Canada pursuant to the USEB Royalty Interest. To the extent that there are insufficient funds to satisfy the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount in each and every quarter commencing in 2004 and until the maturity of the USEB Loans, excess cash flow of USEB (after payment of operating expenses, amounts due on the USEB Loans, operational capital expenditures, ICC reimbursement deposits and the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount) in subsequent quarters will be deposited into the USEB Reserve until the equivalent of the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount multiplied by the number of quarters elapsed since the issuance date of the USEB Loans has been funded. Once the required amounts have been funded to satisfy the Projected Minimum Quarterly Funding Amount for each quarter since the issuance of the USEB Loans and certain other conditions have been met, dividends shall be permitted to be paid to the shareholders of USEB.

The following are events of default under each of the USEB Loans: (i) failure to pay principal or interest beyond any applicable grace period, absent a waiver; (ii) default under any covenant beyond any applicable grace period; (iii) defaults under, or revocation of, any material regulatory license; (iv) cross-default to any other USEB Loan; (v) cross-default to payment of other secured debt exceeding $4 million; (vi) the bankruptcy or insolvency of USEB or any of its subsidiaries; (vii) a judgment against USEB or its subsidiaries in excess of $2 million which has not been stayed or bonded; (viii) a material default under a material contract of USEB or the USEB Entities; (ix) defaults under related loan documents; (x) lapse of security interest in pledged collateral; (xi) material falsity of any representation or warranty made by USEB or a USEB Entity; (xii) acceleration of certain other debt exceeding $8 million; and (xiii) default under or cancellation of certain contracts related to certain projects.

The USEB Loan Agreement contains customary covenants, and representations and warranties for transactions of this nature between arm's length parties.

If Countryside Canada becomes liable to pay or remit any withholding tax or is subject to any amount as or on account of withholding tax in respect of its acquisition, making or holding of the USEB Loans (including the receipt of interest thereon), other than a tax or withholding tax arising from a disposition of the USEB Loans, USEB is required under the USEB Loan Agreement to provide funds or make additional payments to Countryside Canada with respect to the USEB Loans to permit such withholding tax to be paid or remitted (without reducing any payments that would be made to Countryside Canada in the absence of such withholding tax) or otherwise fully indemnify Countryside Canada in respect of such liability, except to the extent that such withholding tax is increased by Countryside Canada's failure to supply such forms and documents as USEB may require to eliminate or reduce such withholding tax. Under the terms of the USEB Loans, USEB is required to hedge its currency exchange exposure under the USEB Loans. On closing of the Offering, USEB will have currency hedges in place to hedge its currency exchange exposure on debt service payments for the first three years of the term of the USEB Loans. Under these arrangements, approximately US$2 million of amounts deposited into the ICC Reimbursement Accounts will be pledged directly to the hedge providers as security for USEB's obligations. Thereafter, 75% of debt service payments will be hedged at various intervals through to maturity.

USEB Royalty Interest

The Fund, through Countryside Canada, acquired the USEB Royalty Interest for US$6,000,000 ($7,884,000) at closing of the Offering. The USEB Royalty Interest entitles Countryside Canada to receive an annual amount (the "Royalty") from USEB that is determined by reference to, and limited by, USEB Distributable Cash Flow (defined below). The USEB Royalty Interest is convertible, subject to certain regulatory conditions, at any time on or after the 20th anniversary of the closing of the Offering on April 8, 2004, or in the event of the prepayment in full of the USEB Loans, on or after the date of such prepayment, into non-voting common shares of USEB (the "Equity Interest"), representing 49% of the common shares of USEB outstanding at the time of conversion. Upon conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest, Countryside Canada's right to receive the Royalty will terminate. The amount of the Royalty payable to Countryside Canada depends upon whether the USEB Royalty Interest has become convertible. For each fiscal quarter prior to that in which the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, the amount of the Royalty payable to Countryside Canada will be equal to 7% of the USEB Distributable Cash Flow plus an additional percentage of USEB Distributable Cash Flow equal to 1.8% of the USEB Revenues (defined below), but in any event, the Royalty payment will be subject to the Distribution Cap (described below). After the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, but remains unconverted, the Royalty will be equal to 49% of USEB Distributable Cash Flow, subject to the Distribution Cap.

"USEB Distributable Cash Flow" means with respect to any period of time, USEB Revenues less: (i) ICC Reimbursement Account deposits during such period; (ii) actual cash payments and distributions of every kind made by the USEB Operating Assets during such period (other than payments or distributions to other USEB Operating Assets or to Excluded Assets), such payments to include without limitation expenses, salaries, fees, rent, overhead not to exceed US$1.4 million per annum, taxes, capital expense, and, if 100% of the revenues of IEGP II are included in the USEB Revenues, distributions to AJG in respect of its interests in IEGP II, but to exclude payments to the shareholders of USEB in respect of services rendered, and (iii) payments of principal and interest, funding of reserve requirements, including but not limited to the USEB Reserve, and other payments and reimbursements during such period as required by the USEB Loan Agreement and the YESCO Note; provided that the USEB Distributable Cash Flow shall not be reduced by cash invested to expand the capacity or production of the USEB Operating Assets during such period.

"USEB Revenues" means, with respect to any period of time, the aggregate consolidated gross revenues received by the USEB Operating Assets during such period, including but not limited to: (i) interest on and other earnings from investment of the ICC Reimbursement Accounts from time to time, to the extent such interest and earnings are not required by the USEB Loan Agreement to be reinvested in the ICC Reimbursement Accounts and are reasonably determined by USEB to be in excess of the amounts required to provide for reimbursement to the State of Illinois; (ii) interest on and other earnings from investment of the USEB Reserve; (iii) repayments of principal or payments of interest actually received during such period under any of the Gasco Notes; (iv) fees and other payments received from services rendered and sales made to persons or entities other than to the USEB Operating Assets; (v) repayments of principal or payments of interest which are actually received by USEB during such period pursuant to the AJG Note; and (vi) required deposits to the ICC Reimbursement Account; provided that cash or other proceeds generated by a Capital Event (defined as a liquidation of USEB or a sale of substantially all of the assets of USEB) shall not be taken into account in determining USEB Revenues. For purposes of this definition, in order to eliminate multiple counting of revenues, aggregate gross cash revenues shall be determined in a manner that does not take into account amounts of any nature transferred among the USEB Operating Assets.

The USEB Royalty Interest will terminate upon the liquidation of the USEB Operating Assets or a sale of substantially all of the assets of the USEB Operating Assets (such events, together with the refinancing of the USEB Loans, a "Capital Event"). Upon the occurrence of a Capital Event, Countryside Canada will become entitled to receive, subject to the Distribution Cap, US$6 million (the "Return Amount") and 49% of the Net Residual Proceeds. "Net Residual Proceeds" means the sum of the gross cash and other proceeds generated by a Capital Event and the amounts held in the ICC Reimbursement Accounts as of the date of such Capital Event, less: (i) all expenses of or allocable to the USEB Operating Assets incurred in connection with the Capital Event, including but not limited to legal and accounting fees and disbursements, banking and investment banking fees, brokerage fees, and other internal and third party fees and costs related to the Capital Event and of or allocable to the USEB Operating Assets; (ii) all amounts required to pay the USEB Loans in full; (iii) rate incentive reimbursement amounts payable under the Rate Incentive Program and all other amounts due or reserved for future payments to the State of Illinois in respect of the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects; (iv) all amounts required to pay the YESCO Note in full; (v) federal, state and local taxes due and owing and an amount to be reasonably reserved to pay all such taxes which will become payable by the USEB Operating Assets; (vi) all amounts required to liquidate all other financial and contractual liabilities and wind up the affairs of the USEB Operating Assets; (vii) all dividends of USEB and Royalties which are declared and unpaid as of the date of the Capital Event; (viii) a stipulated amount of US$30 million representing the book value of the investment of the shareholders of USEB in the USEB Operating Assets including minority interests, but excluding the USEB Royalty Interest, determined in accordance with GAAP as of the date of the Offering; (ix) a stipulated amount of US$6 million representing the net book value of the USEB Royalty Interest determined in accordance with GAAP as of the date of the Offering; provided that neither the USEB Reserve nor distributions there from shall be taken into account for purposes of determining Net Residual Proceeds, and provided further that for purposes of this definition, Net Residual Proceeds shall not be less than zero. For purposes of calculating Net Residual Proceeds, non-cash proceeds will be valued as follows: (i) publicly traded securities shall be valued at the average of their closing prices (as reported by the stock exchange upon which such securities had the highest daily volume) for the five trading days prior to the closing of the Capital Event, and (ii) any other non-cash proceeds shall be valued at their fair market value reasonably determined in good faith by USEB and Countryside Canada provided that if they are unable to agree, the determination shall be referred to an independent accounting or financial appraisal firm reasonably acceptable to Countryside Canada and USEB.

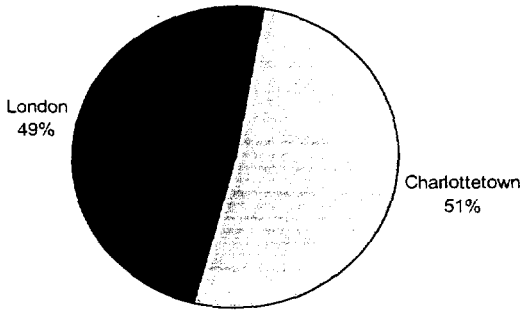
Notwithstanding the above, no amount will be payable to Countryside Canada under the USEB Royalty Interest (whether in the ordinary course of business, in connection with a Capital Event, or otherwise) unless, in the case of the Return Amount, 500% of such amount is distributed concurrently to the USEB shareholders in respect of their common shares of USEB and, in all other cases, at least 104.09% of such amount is distributed concurrently to the USEB shareholders in respect of their common shares of USEB (the "Distribution Cap").



It is expected that Royalty payments will generally be subject to U.S. withholding tax. Subject to the Distribution Cap, USEB has agreed to increase the amount paid with respect to the Royalty Interest such that, after such withholding tax, Countryside Canada will have received the same amount that it would have received in the absence of such withholding tax, except to the extent that such withholding tax is increased by Countryside Canada's failure to supply such forms and documents as USEB may require to reduce or eliminate such withholding tax.

THE DISTRICT ENERGY SYSTEMS

Overview

The District Energy Systems are located in Canada, one in Charlottetown, PEI and one in London, Ontario, and have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity. The following chart summarizes the District Energy Systems' thermal and electric capacity.

SUMMARY OF DISTRICT ENERGY SYSTEMS
THERMAL AND ELECTRIC CAPACITY (MW)

The PEI System produces steam, hot water and electricity using biomass, waste fuel and fuel oil. The London System produces steam, chilled water and electricity using natural gas as its primary fuel and fuel oil as its alternative fuel. The steam, hot water and/or chilled water generated by the production facilities are distributed to government, commercial and residential customers through underground distribution systems. The high credit quality and long-term contracts with the systems' largest customers, in conjunction with the long-term relationships with its other customers afford stability and predictability to the cash flows of each system. In 2003, a review of the District Energy Systems was conducted by an independent consultant, which included reviews and analyses of equipment, performance and environmental matters.

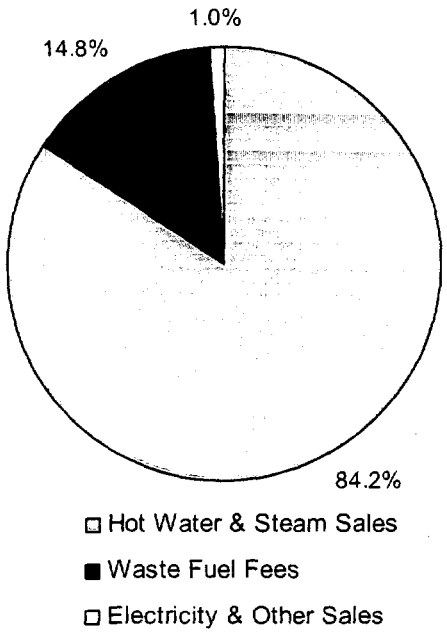
The PEI System

The PEI System is a district energy system located in Charlottetown, PEI with total distributing capacity of approximately 62.5MW and total electricity generating capacity of 1.2MW. The PEI System initially consisted of three separate systems, which were built from 1983 through 1987: the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, the Prince Edward Home and the University of Prince Edward Island systems. In 1995, the systems were upgraded and the distribution lines connected to improve efficiency and provide an integrated base for further expansion.

The PEI System produces energy in the form of steam, hot water and electricity from three production facilities. The system is fueled primarily by biomass and waste fuel while fuel oil is used for peaking and back-up. The distribution systems consist of 17 km of hot water distribution and 1.5 km of steam distribution.



Steam, Hot Water and Electricity Sales

The PEI System sells steam and hot water to customers in over 100 government, commercial and residential buildings, each of which is connected to its distribution system. The system's major customers include the Department of Transportation & Public Works, the Queen Elizabeth Hospital and the University of Prince Edward Island, each of which is under long-term contract. Contracts with the system's largest customers generally provide for the pass-through of fuel costs, thereby mitigating the impact of energy price and weather volatility. Approximately 80% of the system's revenues were generated from government-funded entities or investment grade customers in 2005. The system sells the electricity generated beyond that required for the system's operations to Maritime Electric Company, Limited.

Rates for small customers are adjusted monthly, and are based on the customer's cost of fuel oil (the alternative fuel source for heating in PEI), thus enabling prices to remain competitive to other customer alternatives.

In addition to steam, hot water and electricity sales, the system generates revenue from waste fuel fees associated with its acceptance of municipal solid waste from Island Waste Management Corp. ("IWMC"), a Canadian crown corporation run by the Department of Transportation and Public Works.

Energy Generation

The PEI System generates steam and hot water from three plants: the Energy from Waste Plant (the "EFWP Facility"), the University of Prince Edward Island Facility (the "UPEI Facility") and the Prince Edward Home Facility (the "PEH Facility"). The EFWP Facility is the largest of the three plants and provides the base load for the system. Total capacity is 153,100 lbs/hour of steam, generated from waste fuel, biomass and fuel oil. The UPEI Facility is the main back-up to the EFWP Facility, providing peak firing using fuel oil. In addition, this facility provides cooling to several buildings on the university campus through two chillers supplied with hot water from the distribution system. The PEH Facility, the original district energy facility, is seldom utilized, but can be fired using fuel oil.

In 2003, USE Canada upgraded the EFWP Facility with the installation of two new economizers, upgrades to the wood-fired systems and the installation of a new thermal storage tank. These upgrades were designed to enhance the use of more economic biomass fuels and reduce the use of more expensive fuel oil.

Plant	Capacity	Equipment	Fuel Supply
EFWP Facility (base load facility)	153,100 lb/hour (44MW)	• Three energy-from-waste units and one heat recovery steam generator • Two wood-fired boiler systems • Two fuel oil-fired boilers • 35 MWh (550,000 gal) storage tank	• Municipal solid waste (primary) • Wood waste (primary) • Fuel oil (backup)
UPEI Facility (back-up and peaking facility)	64,000 lb/hour (18MW)	• Three firetube boilers •	• Fuel oil
PEH Facility (back-up and peaking facility)	19,000 lb/hour (5.5MW)	• Three boilers	• Fuel oil

Fuel Supply

The PEI System's three production facilities are fuelled by wood waste (biomass), municipal solid waste and fuel oil for supplementary firing and for peak periods, representing approximately 37.0%, 46.4% and 16.6% of 2005 fuel volume, respectively. The system has contracted for the supply of wood waste through an agreement that expires in 2025 with Georgetown Timber Ltd., a sawmill in PEI. The system receives municipal solid waste from IWMC.

Employees, Operations and Maintenance

There are 33 full-time employees currently employed at the PEI System. The employees are non-unionized, and the system has never experienced a work stoppage. The PEH Facility and the UPEI Facility are operated under long-term leases with the provincial government and the university, respectively. All other land and equipment is owned directly by the PEI System.

Environmental

The PEI System is in material compliance with environmental laws, and has not received any notices or citations relating to environmental compliance. The PEI System is required to report its emissions and operating data to the provincial Department of Environment on an annual basis under its operating permit. In addition, there is a federal requirement to report emissions data annually under the National Pollutant Release Inventory program. Any costs of environmentally driven upgrades required as a result of changes in environmental laws are the direct responsibility of the provincial government.

Operating History

Energy production has increased since 1998, with the largest increase between 2001 and 2002. Waste energy as a percentage of total production declined somewhat over the past few years prior to 2004 due to an increase in overall sales as well as a marginal drop in waste volumes due to the implementation of an integrated waste management system in PEI. Waste Energy as a percentage of total production increased somewhat in 2004 Wood as a percentage of total production has remained constant.

PEI SYSTEM ENERGY PRODUCTION

The London System

The London System is a district energy system located in London, Ontario with total distributing capacity of approximately 156,000 lbs/hour of steam, 2,850 tons of chilled water, and a total electricity generating capacity of 3.6MW, totaling approximately 59.6MW of thermal and electric generation capacity. The London System produces steam, chilled water and electricity from one facility that uses natural gas as its primary fuel and fuel oil as its alternative fuel. The London System was significantly upgraded in 1994 to enhance its steam and distribution system and to add cooling capability. The distribution system consists of 8 km of steam distribution and 2 km of chilled water distribution.

Steam, Hot Water and Electricity Sales

The London System sells steam and chilled water to a diversified customer base, including the London Health Sciences Centre. Approximately 68% of the system's revenues were generated from investment grade or government-funded entities in 2005. Customer contracts include price escalators which generally provide for a pass-through of fuel costs, thereby mitigating the impact of energy price and weather volatility. The system also sells electricity beyond its internal load requirements under a long-term PPA, which allows the system to either self-dispatch or load follow without penalty. The London System has been able to add additional steam and chilled water customers on a consistent basis. In addition, the London System has expansion opportunities in both the steam and the chilled water markets.

Energy Generation

The London System generates steam, chilled water and electricity utilizing two 1.5MW gas turbine generators and two backpressure steam turbines. Waste steam from the turbines is used internally to produce chilled water or is sent directly to the steam distribution system. In addition, chilled water is produced at four other sites, utilizing one 570-ton capacity steam absorption chiller, one 580-ton capacity hot water absorption chiller and three electric chillers (600, 700 and 800-ton capacity units). Steam is generated from one 60,000 lbs/hour boiler, two 35,000 lbs/hour boilers and one heat recovery unit capable of 30,000 lbs/hour. The power plant is fuelled by natural gas with fuel oil available as a back-up.

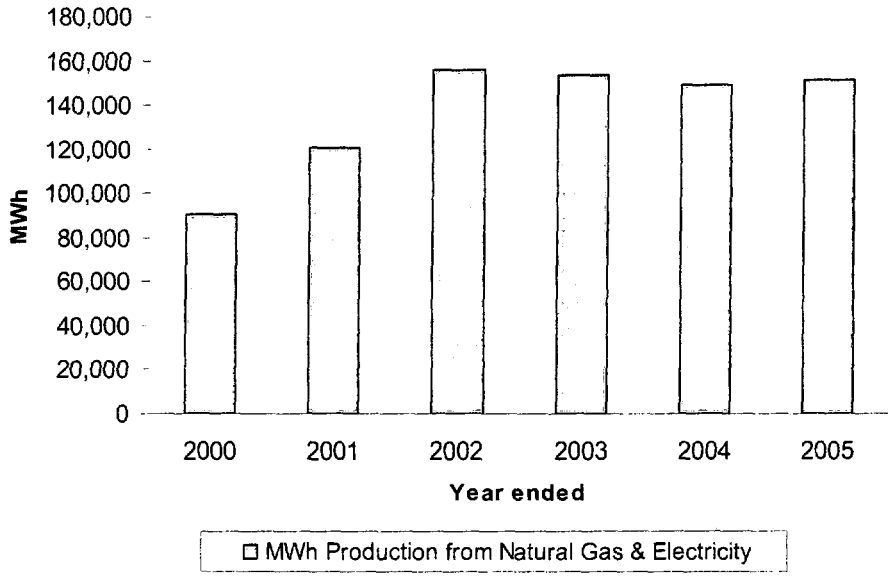
London System	156,000 lbs/hour (steam) 2,850 tons (chilled water) 3.6MW (electricity)	• Three boilers and one heat recovery steam generator • Two backpressure steam turbines • One steam absorption chiller • Three electricity-powered chillers • Two gas turbines	• Natural gas (primary) • Fuel oil (backup)

Fuel and Water Supply

Natural gas is purchased through a natural gas marketer and is distributed by the local gas distribution company, Union Gas Limited, through a high-pressure gas line. Fuel oil is readily available in London. Boiler feed water is supplied by the local municipality.

Employees, Operations and Maintenance

There are a total of 11 full-time employees at the London System. Eight of the employees are members of the Communications, Energy and Paperworkers Union of Canada. The London System has not experienced a work stoppage in more than 30 years. The administrative offices for the London System are located on separate premises in London, along with the Fund's administrative offices, and are leased under a short-term arrangement.



Environmental

The London System is in material compliance with environmental laws, and has not received any notices or citations relating to environmental compliance. The London System is required to report its air emissions data to the Ontario Ministry of the Environment every two years. In addition, there is a federal requirement to report emissions data annually under the National Pollutant Release Inventory program.

Operating History

Sales volumes for the London System have increased over the past number of years and most significantly in 2001 and 2002 with the addition of the London Health Sciences Centre as a customer. Also, chilled water sales have increased with the addition of new customers over the past number of years.

THE COGENERATION FACILITIES

Overview

The Cogeneration Facilities are located in California, one in Ripon and one in Pomona and have approximately 93.5 MW of electrical generation capacity. The following chart summarizes the Cogeneration Facilities electrical capacity. Cogeneration Facilities are each QF's and produce electricity and steam using natural gas fuel. Each Cogeneration Facility sells electricity to a local utility pursuant to a long term PPA and steam to a third party seam host pursuant to a steam sales agreement.

SUMMARY OF COGENERATION FACILITIES ELECTRIC CAPACITY (MWh)

COGENERATION FACILITIES SUMMARY

Facility	City	MW	Power Purchaser Customers[1]	Purchase Agreement Expiry	Customer S&P Credit Rating
Ripon	Ripon	49	Pacific Gas & Electric	2016	BBB
San Gabriel	Pomona	44.5	Southern California Edison	2018	BBB+

The Ripon Facility

The Ripon Facility is a nominal 49.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant located in Ripon, California, approximately 130 kilometres east of San Francisco. The Ripon Facility generally operates as a base load facility. The Ripon Facility is a QF under the regulations of the FERC implementing PURPA, and thus is currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law.

A General Electric LM5000 combustion turbine generator and an IHI power turbine generate electricity at the Ripon Facility. The combustion turbine technology is based on an aircraft engine design that is known for rapid starting and stopping capability and more efficient performance as compared to industrial frame combustion turbines.

The Ripon Facility produces steam from a heat recovery steam generator ("HRSG") and, when needed, from an auxiliary boiler. The full steam production from the HRSG can be used internally, primarily for steam injection into the combustion turbine.

Power Purchase Agreement

Electrical capacity and energy is sold pursuant to a Long-Term Energy and Capacity Power Purchase Agreement executed by Simpson Paper Company, as Seller, on November 12, 1984 and by PG&E as Buyer, on April 5, 1985 (the "Ripon PPA"). The Ripon PPA has been amended on three occasions and was assigned by Simpson Paper Company to Ripon Cogeneration Inc. in 1996, the predecessor in interest to Ripon. Ripon Cogeneration Inc. was subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004. The term of the Ripon PPA extends for a period of 30 years from the firm capacity availability date of April 25, 1988. The Ripon Facility is required to operate throughout the term of the agreement as a QF in accordance with the cogeneration facility requirements established by FERC pursuant to PURPA as those requirements existed on the effective date of the agreement.

The Ripon PPA provides for capacity payments for firm capacity, first incremental capacity and second incremental capacity. The formula for firm capacity payments is the product of: (1) the firm contract capacity of 42,000 kW; (2) the contract capacity price of US$172 per kW per year; (3) a capacity loss adjustment factor; and (4) a performance bonus factor. Firm capacity payments are applicable only in periods during which the Ripon Facility's forced outage rate is less than twenty percent. In addition, the firm capacity payments are weighted by allocation factors for each period as defined by the CPUC which are weighted towards the peak hours, particularly during the summer period of May 1 through September 30. The firm capacity performance bonus is based upon the Ripon Facility's availability factor during the summer peak months of June, July and August. The performance bonus factor is calculated as the ratio of the previous five-year average peak capacity factor during the summer peak hours divided by eighty-five percent.

The formula for the first incremental capacity for capacity deliveries above 42,000 kW and up to 44,500 kW is the product of: (1) the first incremental capacity of up to 2,500 kW; (2) the first incremental contract capacity price of US$188 per kW per year; (3) a capacity adjustment loss factor; and (4) an allocation factor which accounts for the quantity of first incremental capacity delivered during specified periods. Finally, the formula for second incremental capacity for capacity deliveries above 44,500 kW and up to 54,000 kW is the product of: (1) the first incremental capacity of up to 9,500 kW; (2) the second incremental contract capacity price as authorized from time to time by the CPUC; (3) a capacity adjustment loss factor; and (4) an allocation factor which accounts for the quantity of second incremental capacity delivered during specified periods.

Under the Ripon PPA, PG&E is required to accept delivery of all energy and capacity generated by the Ripon Facility except during periods of forced outage, force majeure, emergencies or to comply with prudent industry practice, or if necessary to allow PG&E to shut down its system for inspection, repair or maintenance. In such instances, PG&E is not required to accept or pay for deliveries of energy and may require the Ripon Facility to reduce energy deliveries. However if the Ripon Facility is prevented from meeting performance requirements because of a forced outage of PG&E's system, PG&E must continue to make the full capacity payments. During periods of "hydro-spill" conditions, as defined by the CPUC, and generally meaning those periods when purchases from QFs and other conditions on the PG&E system would otherwise require that PG&E spill water at its hydroelectric facilities without being able to generate electricity, therefore, PG&E has the right to curtail deliveries of energy from the Ripon Facility and, if energy from the Ripon Facility is delivered to PG&E, the energy price will be the hydro-savings price quoted by PG&E. PG&E also has the right to curtail deliveries from the Ripon Facility in excess of 37,000 kW during all super off-peak hours (generally from 1:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m. during each calendar day) and during any period when PG&E would otherwise incur "negative avoided costs" (generally, the utility would incur greater costs backing down its generation than the costs avoided through purchases from QFs).

Beginning on April 25, 1998, the energy payments under the Ripon PPA were made equal to PG&E's full short-run avoided operating costs. Subsequently, in 2001, the parties entered into an amendment to the Ripon PPA providing for the payment of energy prices reflecting an average energy price of US$53.76 per MWh over a five-year term, subject to adjustment through the application of time-of-use factors as defined by the CPUC. Following the expiration of the amendment on June 30, 2006, Ripon's energy payment will revert to PG&E's full short run avoided costs, commonly referred to as "Short-Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC".

SRAC is established for each utility, from time to time by the CPUC. The CPUC has, since the 1980's, established various SRACs for PG&E and SCE. The methods to establish SRAC have also been modified from time to time by the CPUC and by the California legislature when it enacted section 390 of the Public Utilities Code ("PUC"). Factors that the CPUC have typically considered are fuel prices, the efficiency of utility generators, operations and maintenance costs and a time-of-use adjustment. PUC section 390 provides that until the CPUC determines that the Power Exchange, now defunct and not anticipated to function in the future, is functioning properly, SRAC shall be determined in accordance with PUC section 390(b). PUC section 390(b) directs that SRAC be based on a formula that reflects a 1996 starting energy price, adjusted monthly to reflect changes in a starting gas index price in relation to an average of current California natural gas border price indices. In December 2003, the CPUC issued decision D. 03-12-062, expressing the concern that "the SRAC pricing formula may need to be revised in light of the current energy market. Therefore the Commission should carefully consider how to modify the SRAC methodology and whether to seek legislative changes" to PUC section 390. In April 2004 the CPUC initiated a proceeding, CPUC docket R. 04-04-025 to address SRAC and other issues. Hearings in docket R. 04-04-025 were held in January and February 2006 [and briefs were submitted in March]. The outcome of such proceedings is unknown and hence, future energy prices of Ripon cannot be predicted.

Steam Sales

Process steam from the Ripon Facility is sold to Fox River Paper Company ("Fox River") under an Amended and Restated Steam Agreement ("Ripon Steam Agreement") by and between Fox River and Simpson Paper Company dated September 30, 1996 which terminates on April 19, 2018. The Ripon Steam Agreement was assigned to Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. in 1996 which subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004.

Fox River is the only producer of text and cover, a value-added grade of uncoated freesheet, on the West Coast of the United States. While Fox River is subject to certain market pressures relating to rising pulp prices and declining demand for text and cover, its leading competitive position in this industry is expected to minimize the impact of these pressures.

Under the Ripon Steam Agreement, Fox River is obligated to accept a sufficient quantity of steam for Ripon to maintain QF status and supply all of Ripon's process water needed to satisfy the steam obligation. Fox River is required to return a minimum amount of the condensate meeting certain requirements. If Fox River returns less than the minimum amount of condensate, it is obligated to compensate Ripon for costs incurred by Ripon for obtaining additional quantities of process water. If Fox River returns condensate in excess of a certain amount, Ripon is obligated to pay Fox River a bonus to reflect the savings received by Ripon as a result of having to obtain less process water.

The Ripon Facility is obligated to supply up to 75,000 pounds of steam per hour and must utilize an auxiliary boiler to meet the steam demand when the gas turbine is not operating. The formula to determine the price payable by Fox River for steam is the product of: (1) the total quantity of steam delivered; (2) a thermal conversion factor which is 1.3 MMBtus per thousand pounds of steam for the first ten years of the Ripon Steam Agreement and 1.0 MMBtus for the remainder of the term; and (3) the cost of natural gas purchased by Ripon. Fox River is also responsible for all sales, use or other transfer taxes imposed upon the sale of steam under the agreement. Under the Ripon Steam Agreement, Ripon must pay liquidated damages for periods of steam supply disruption. The disruption compensation payment is capped at US$25,000 for any 24 hour period and US$1.8 million for any 12-month period. Since January 1, 2005, aggregate liquidated damages have been US$50,000. In addition, if a steam supply disruption occurs which is not permitted by the Ripon Steam Agreement Fox River may, but is not obligated to, assume operational control of the auxiliary boiler and related equipment until such steam supply disruption has been cured.

Other provisions address measurement of steam and water deliveries, billing and payment, operation of the facility and maintenance of the steam supply and condensate return lines, events of default and termination, force majeure, insurance, indemnity and dispute resolution which the Manager believes are customary in the industry. Fox River has the right to terminate the Agreement for convenience at various times during the term of the Agreement for specified reasons. In the event of a termination for convenience, Fox River is obligated to pay the lesser of $5 million (adjusted on April 1st of each year by an amount equal to the percentage change in the Producer Price Index during the preceding 12-month period) or the reasonable actual cost incurred in building an alternative steam host for the Ripon Facility. In addition, Fox Paper is obligated to enter into good faith negotiations for the sale of land at the site suitable for the location of an alternative steam host. Each party has the right to terminate the Agreement for an event of default by the other party, including the failure for reasons other than a force majeure event of the Ripon Facility to supply steam for more than thirty consecutive days or more than fifty-two days during any 12-month period.

If the Fox River Steam Agreement was terminated and a replacement steam host not timely obtained or built, the Ripon Facility could lose its QF status and PG&E could seek to terminate the Ripon PPA. However, while Fox River has the right to terminate the Fox River Steam Agreement at its convenience, management believes that it would be unlikely to exercise this right as it would not be economical for Fox River to produce its own steam and a significant payment would be required to be paid to Ripon. For a more detailed discussion of the risks associated with loss of QF status, see "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

Fuel

Natural gas is supplied to the Ripon Facility pursuant to a base agreement (the "Gas Contract") with BP Energy Company ("BP") that allows the parties to enter into binding sales and purchase transactions from time to time. The parties currently have in place an agreement (the "Ripon Transaction") that provides for BP to supply the full natural gas requirements to the Ripon Facility for a term commencing February 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2006. Under the Ripon Transaction, BP must supply a contract quantity of 10,000 MMBtu's per day to the Ripon Facility on a firm basis with the balance of the Ripon Facility's gas requirements in excess of the firm contract quantity supplied on an interruptible basis. The Ripon Transaction provides a fixed price for the supply of the firm contract quantity with the excess interruptible supply priced as a market-based gas price index. In addition to supplying natural gas to the Ripon Facility, BP is designated "balancing agent" for the Ripon Facility and, in that capacity, is responsible for all scheduling, nominations and balancing fuel consumption and deliveries. Imbalances are paid for by the party that created the imbalance. The delivery point under the Gas Contract is at the interconnection between the PG&E backbone transmission system and its distribution system at the PG&E citygate.

Under the Gas Contract, each party has a right to terminate the contract only in limited circumstances, including in the event of a failure to meet each party's credit support obligations, the failure to give adequate assurances of performance when required to be given under the contract and the failure to make payment following receipt of written notice that payment is due. In the event of a default, the non-defaulting party may elect to suspend performance under the Gas Contract and/or terminate the contract and liquidate any transaction in effect as of the date of termination. In the event of an early termination, damages are paid equal to the difference between the contract price and the then-current market value for the quantities over the remaining term of the transaction with the BP paying to Ripon the excess of the market value over the contract price or Ripon paying to BP the excess of the contract price over the market value for such quantities. The determination of the damages due and owing in the event of an early termination is made by the non-defaulting party in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.

The failure of either party to fulfill its obligation to deliver or accept delivery of gas does not give rise to a right to terminate. Instead, the sole and exclusive remedy for such failure is payment of the difference between the contract price and, if Ripon is the performing party, the cost of obtaining replacement fuel, or, if BP is the performing party, the price obtained by selling the gas to another purchaser, in each case as adjusted for commercially reasonable differences in transportation costs. In the event that either the obligation of BP to sell and deliver the firm contract quantity to, or the obligation of Ripon to purchase and receive the firm contract quantity at, the delivery point is suspended because of the occurrence of an event of force majeure, either BP will pay to Ripon the excess of the current market price over fixed contract price or Ripon will pay to BP the excess of the fixed contract price over the current market price for each MMBtu not delivered and/or received as a result thereof.

Currently, the Ripon Facility receives fixed energy payments from PG&E that follow the prices charged under the Gas Contract. After the fixed price period under the Ripon PPA and the Gas Contract end on June 30, 2006, the Manager expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the PG&E SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which Ripon will purchase gas, although there is a possibility such correlation will not be complete. Ripon is in discussions with gas suppliers respecting a new gas supply contract that will replace the existing Gas Contract and will attempt to maximize the correlation between the purchase price in such gas supply contract with the gas indices used in PG&E's SRAC formula.

Natural gas transportation service for the Ripon Facility is provided pursuant to a Natural Gas Service Agreement with PG&E that provides for the firm transportation of a maximum daily quantity of 13,000 decatherms per day. Transportation service is priced at a rate that is set and may be changed from time to time by the CPUC. The Ripon Facility receives transportation service under two different PG&E rate schedules. Rate Schedule G-COG applies to the transportation of the natural gas used in the combustion turbine at the Ripon Facility while Rate Schedule G-NT applies to the natural gas burned in the auxiliary boiler. The PG&E Ripon transportation agreement was effective for an initial one-year term commencing on March 1, 1998 and continues on a month-to-month basis after the initial term unless terminated by either Ripon or PG&E. However, PG&E may only terminate the agreement with the approval of or pursuant to an order by the CPUC.

Environmental Health and Safety

The Ripon Facility and its operations are subject to an environmental health and safety regulatory regime including federal, state, regional, local and municipal laws, regulations and permits relating to, among other things: air emissions, water and wastewater treatment, worker health and safety and site contamination. The Manager believes that the Ripon Facility has obtained (or timely applied for renewal of) and is currently in material compliance with, the material environmental permits and approvals currently necessary to operate the Ripon Facility. A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment was completed in 2003 and no material issues of concern were identified relative to potential soil or groundwater contamination.

Site Rights and Expansion Opportunities

The site upon which the Ripon Facility is located is owned by Ripon. The site consists of approximately two acres of land located adjacent to the Fox River Paper Mill within an area occupied by industrial uses. Ripon maintains certain easement rights, which are necessary in connection with the operation of the Ripon Facility. Ripon is well-situated for expansion of its power generating capacity. Electrical and gas interconnections are already in place and capable of handling significantly more flow than is currently being utilized.

Operating & Maintenance

Operation and maintenance services are provided to the Ripon Facility pursuant to an operation and maintenance agreement (the "Ripon O&M Agreement") dated October 22, 2003. The contract is between Rockland California Partners LLC (which subsequently merged into Ripon), as the owner, and North American Energy Services Company as the Operator ("NAES" or the "Operator"). All employees at the Ripon Facility are employed by NAES and provide operational and maintenance services to the Ripon Facility under the Ripon O&M Agreement. NAES is one of the largest third-party providers of power plant operations and maintenance services with an experience base of more than 19,000 MW of generation capacity. NAES is owned by an affiliate of ITOCHU Corporation. The Ripon O&M Agreement has a term of seven years expiring on January 27, 2011. Services provided by the Operator include all operation and maintenance activities.

The Ripon O&M Agreement provides for payment of reimbursable costs, operating costs and an operator payment on a monthly basis. Reimbursable costs include such items as relocation and recruitment expenses for on-site personnel and the cost of operator's insurance. Operating costs include equipment, material supplies, consumables, spare parts, office expenses, utilities, training, contractors, permit fees, payroll and other similar costs. The operator payment includes a management fee, project management fee and an incentive payment.

GE Engine Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of engine failure, Ripon has entered into a service lease agreement for the Ripon Facility with General Electric Company ("GE") (the "Ripon GE Lease") under which GE is to repair or deliver a replacement engine to Ripon within certain specified time periods after notice from Ripon of an engine failure. Under the Ripon GE Lease, Ripon pays an annual fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement engine is used. The Ripon GE Lease runs through August 17, 2006 but may be terminated by either party in the event of a material breach by the other party. The Ripon GE Lease provides for liquidated damages in the event GE fails to perform subject to caps and limitations.

IHI Turbine Sub-Assembly Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of turbine failure, Ripon has entered into a turbine sub-assembly lease agreement for the Ripon Facility with IHI, Inc. ("IHI") (the "Ripon IHI Lease") under which IHI provides replacement parts for the turbine sub-assembly on-site. Under the Ripon IHI Lease, Ripon pays a base fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement turbine sub-assembly is used based on a fee schedule. The Ripon IHI Lease runs through April 30, 2009 and automatically renews for one additional 5 year term unless either party provides the other party with written notice of its intention not to renew. The Ripon IHI Lease may be terminated by either party for convenience with six months written notice or in the case of a breach by the other party. The Ripon IHI Lease contains certain limitations on IHI's liability for failure to perform.

The following table sets out the historical generation, steam sales, availability and heat rate information for Ripon, as confirmed by an independent engineering due diligence assessment conducted by Stone and Webster Management Consultants Inc. ("Stone and Webster Consultants").

The San Gabriel Facility

The San Gabriel Facility is a nominal 44.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant located in Pomona, California, approximately 50 kilometres east of Los Angeles. The San Gabriel Facility generally operates as a base load facility. The San Gabriel Facility is a QF under the cogeneration regulations of the FERC implementing PURPA and thus is currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law.

Similar to the Ripon Facility, a General Electric LM5000 combustion turbine generator and an IHI power turbine generate electricity at the San Gabriel Facility. The San Gabriel Facility produces steam from a HRSG. A portion of the steam production from the HRSG can be used internally, primarily for steam injection into the combustion turbine.

Power Purchase Agreement

Electrical capacity and energy are sold from the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to a Power Purchase Contract with an effective date of September 7, 1983 but executed in a revised form by Simpson Paper Company as Seller on November 8, 1984, and SCE, as Buyer, on the same date (the "San Gabriel PPA"). The San Gabriel PPA was assigned by Simpson Paper Company to Ripon Cogeneration, Inc., in 1997, which was subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004. The term of the San Gabriel PPA extends for a period of 30 years from the Firm Operation date in January 1986 and continues thereafter until either party gives 90 days prior written notice of termination. The San Gabriel Facility is required to operate throughout the term of the agreement as a QF in accordance with the cogeneration facility requirements established by FERC pursuant to PURPA as those requirements existed on the effective date of the agreement.

The San Gabriel PPA provides for payments for firm capacity, as-available capacity and energy. The formula for firm capacity payments is the product of: (a) the Contract Capacity Price of US$158 per kW per year and (b) conversion factors to convert annual capacity prices to monthly payments by time of delivery as specified in Standard Offer No. 2 Capacity Payment Schedule, subject to periodic adjustments by the CPUC and (c) Contract Capacity of 36,000 kW and (d) a performance factor. Firm capacity payments are applicable only in periods during which the San Gabriel Facility meets a performance requirement of a forced outage rate less than twenty percent for all on-peak hours during each peak month ("Performance Requirement"). In addition, there are provisions for capacity bonus payments during both peak and non-peak months. To qualify for a bonus payment during on-peak months, the San Gabriel Facility must (i) meet the Performance Requirement and (ii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during the peak month. To qualify for a bonus payment during non-peak months, the San Gabriel Facility must (i) meet the Performance Requirement and (ii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during each peak month of the previous twelve months and (iii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during the non-peak month. As-available capacity rates are established by, and subject to, periodic revision by the CPUC. The San Gabriel Facility has achieved bonus payments in 16 of 16 peak months in the last 44 months and 31 of 32 non-peak months in the last 44 months.

If the San Gabriel Facility fails to meet the Performance Requirement, SCE may place the San Gabriel Facility on probation. If the San Gabriel Facility fails to meet the Performance Requirement during the probationary period, SCE may reduce the Contract Capacity, which would reduce future firm capacity payments and subject the San Gabriel Facility to a refund obligation based on the difference between the original Contract Capacity and the reduced Contract Capacity, plus interest thereon.

SCE is not required to accept delivery of all energy generated by the San Gabriel Facility if necessary to allow SCE to maintain its equipment or to maintain SCE system integrity. If the San Gabriel Facility is prevented from meeting performance requirements because of forced outage on SCE's system, SCE must continue to make the full capacity payments. The San Gabriel PPA provides that SCE may curtail deliveries of energy for no more than 300 hours per calendar year during off-peak hours when purchases from the San Gabriel Facility would either result in costs greater than energy from other sources or require that SCE hydro-energy be spilled.

Beginning on January 2, 1996, the energy payments under the PPA are equal to SCE's full short-run avoided operating costs. In 2001 the parties entered into an amendment to the San Gabriel PPA providing for payment for energy pursuant to a formula specified in the amendment. Following the expiration of the amendment and not later than June 30, 2006, San Gabriel's energy payments will revert to SCE's full SRAC. In April 2004, the CPUC initiated a proceeding, CPUC docket R. 04-04-025 to address SRAC and other issues. Hearings in docket R. 04-04-025 were held in January and February 2006 [and briefs were submitted in March]. The outcome of this regulatory proceeding and hence future energy prices under the San Gabriel PPA cannot be predicted. For a more detailed discussion of SRAC see "The Ripon Facility — Power Purchase Agreement".

It is probable that in the event that the San Gabriel Facility fails to maintain QF status or commits a material breach of the San Gabriel PPA, SCE could assert that it may terminate the San Gabriel PPA.

Steam Sales

Process steam from the San Gabriel Facility is sold under a steam sales agreement dated May 20, 1997 between Simpson Paper Company and Smurfit Packaging Corporation (the "San Gabriel Steam Agreement"). Smurfit assigned its interest in the San Gabriel Steam Agreement to Blue Heron and the Simpson Paper Company assigned its interest to Ripon Cogeneration Inc., Ripon's predecessor in interest which was converted into Ripon in 2004. The San Gabriel Steam Agreement expires on January 1, 2016.

Blue Heron supplies recycled newsprint primarily to commercial printers in the Los Angeles area with the remainder supplied to smaller daily newspapers. Blue Heron relies on the above-average speed capability of its 240" machine and its geographic proximity to recovered paper supplies and end use markets to maintain a delivered cost advantage over larger competitors. It is anticipated that Pomona, California, the urban market in which Blue Heron principally operates, will face increasing pressure from declining real product prices and rising real recovered paper prices due to offshore demand and fluctuations in natural gas markets. These risks, however, are partially mitigated by Blue Heron's geographic proximity to supply sources and its strong competitive position.

Pursuant to the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Blue Heron is obligated to purchase the minimum quantity of steam necessary for the San Gabriel Facility to maintain QF status. The San Gabriel Facility is responsible for makeup water supply and no condensate is returned from Blue Heron. The San Gabriel Facility is obligated to supply up to 45,000 pounds of steam per hour during periods when the gas turbine is in operation. The price payable by Blue Heron for steam is determined by a formula in which: (1) the product of (a) the total quantity of steam (b) the thermal conversion factor and (c) the cost of fuel is (2) added to the cost of (x) water plus (y) the cost of chemicals to treat boiler feedwater plus (z) the actual incremental cost of treating boiler feedwater. Blue Heron is also responsible for all sales, use or other transfer taxes imposed upon the sale of steam under the agreement. Under the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Ripon is obligated to pay liquidated damages for periods of steam supply disruption not permitted by the agreement. This disruption compensation payment is subject to an annual cap and is not considered material. Except for: (a) indemnities related to liabilities resulting from (i) bodily injury, sickness, disease or death of any person, or (ii) damage or destruction of real or personal property; or (b) environmental matters; no party's liability for breach of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement shall exceed $3,000,000. Since January 1, 2005, aggregate liquidated damages have been less than US$35,000.

Other provisions address measurement of steam deliveries, billing and payment, operation of the facility and maintenance of the steam line, events of default and termination, force majeure, insurance, indemnity and dispute resolution which management believes are customary in the industry. Both parties have the right to terminate the San Gabriel Steam Agreement for an event of default by the other party. In addition, Blue Heron has the right to terminate the San Gabriel Steam Agreement in connection with the permanent closure of its newsprint recycling facility. If this permanent closure occurs within the first twelve years of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Blue Heron is obligated to reimburse the San Gabriel Facility for the cost of constructing the steam line interconnecting the Facility and the recycling facility, which reimbursement is reduced in equal amounts annually on the anniversary of the effective date of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement during the first twelve years of the agreement and do one of the following: (a) pay an amount equal to the lesser of (i) the reasonable actual costs incurred in building an alternative steam host at the San Gabriel Facility or (ii) $3 million or (b) provide an alternative steam host for the San Gabriel Facility that will allow the San Gabriel Facility to continue to qualify as a QF and is otherwise acceptable to Ripon. If Blue Heron elects to provide the San Gabriel Facility with an alternative steam host and the steam line continues to be used to provide service to such new steam host, Blue Heron is not obligated to reimburse the San Gabriel Facility for the cost of constructing the steam line.

Fuel

Natural gas is supplied to the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to the Gas Contract described in "Description of the Acquired Facilities — The Ripon Facility — Fuel". The parties currently have in place an agreement (the "San Gabriel Transaction") that provides for BP to supply the full natural gas requirements to the San Gabriel Facility for a term commencing February 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2006. Under the San Gabriel Transaction, BP will supply a contract quantity of 10,000 MMBtus per day to the San Gabriel Facility on a firm basis with the balance of the San Gabriel Facility's gas requirements in excess of the firm contract quantity supplied on an interruptible basis. The San Gabriel Transaction provides that the supply of both the firm and interruptible quantities are priced based on market-based gas price indices. In addition to supplying natural gas to the San Gabriel Facility, BP is designated "balancing agent" and, in that capacity, is responsible for all scheduling, nominations and balancing fuel consumption and deliveries. Imbalances are paid for by the party that created the imbalance. The delivery points under the Gas Contract for the San Gabriel facility are at any receipt point into the distribution system of Southern California Gas Company ("SoCalGas").

Under the San Gabriel Gas Contract, each party has a right to terminate the contract only in circumstances identical to those described in the context of the Ripon Gas Contract in "Description of the Acquired Facilities — The Ripon Facility — Fuel".

Under the San Gabriel Facility PPA, the San Gabriel Facility currently receives energy payments from SCE which correlate with the prices charged by BP under the gas supply contracts, as SCE's SRAC and BP's pricing are both derived from the same gas price indices. After the BP gas supply ends on June 30, 2006, the Manager expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the SCE SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which Ripon will purchase gas although there is a possibility that such correlation will not be complete. Ripon is in discussion with gas suppliers respecting a new gas supply contract to replace the BP agreement upon its expiration which will attempt to maximize the correlation between the purchase price in such gas supply contact with the gas indices used in the SCE SRAC formula.

Natural gas transportation service for the San Gabriel Facility is provided pursuant to a Master Services Contract with SoCalGas that was effective on November 1, 2003, continued for an initial term of two years and continues on a month-to-month basis thereafter unless terminated by either party on no less than twenty days prior written notice. Transportation service is provided under SoCalGas Rate Schedule GT-F which includes both a monthly customer charge and a volumetric charge. The rates may be changed from time to time by the CPUC. Although the transportation service is firm, SoCalGas has the right to curtail service under Rate Schedule GT-F in order to maintain service to certain designated core customers. A customer under Rate Schedule GT-F that experiences an interruption of service more than once in any ten-year period is entitled to a credit against its monthly transportation charge.

Environmental Health and Safety

The San Gabriel Facility and its operations are subject to a regulatory regime including federal, state, regional, local and municipal laws, safety regulations and permits relating to, among other things: air emissions, water, work health and safety, wastewater treatment and site contamination. The Manager believes that the San Gabriel Facility has obtained and is currently in material compliance with, the material environmental permits and approvals (or timely applied for renewal of) currently necessary to operate the San Gabriel Facility. A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment was completed in 2003 and nothing of significant concern was identified relative to potential soil or groundwater contamination.

Site Rights and Expansion Opportunities

The site upon which the San Gabriel Facility is located is owned by Ripon. The site consists of approximately two acres located within the former Pomona paper mill site. The paper mill site has been converted to other industrial uses. Ripon maintains certain easement rights, which are necessary in connection with the operation of the San Gabriel Facility. Being in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, the San Gabriel Facility is well-situated for expansion of its power generating capacity. Electrical and gas interconnections are already in place and capable of handling significantly more flow than is currently being utilized.

Operating & Maintenance

Operation and maintenance services are provided to the San Gabriel Facility by NAES pursuant to an operation and maintenance agreement (the "San Gabriel O&M Agreement") substantially similar to the Ripon O&M Agreement. All employees at the San Gabriel Facility are employed by NAES.

GE Engine Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of engine failure, Ripon has entered into a service lease agreement for the San Gabriel Facility with GE (the "San Gabriel GE Lease") substantially similar to the Ripon GE Lease.

IHI Turbine Sub-Assembly Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of turbine failure, Ripon has entered into a turbine sub-assembly lease agreement for the San Gabriel Facility with IHI (the "San Gabriel IHI Lease") substantially similar to the GE IHI Lease.

THE MANAGEMENT AND ADMINSTRATION AGREEMENTS

Certain provisions of the Management and Administration Agreements are summarized below. Such summaries are qualified in their entirety by the complete text of the Management Agreement and the Administration Agreement which can be found at www.sedar.com

Management Agreement

Under the Management Agreement, the Manager has been engaged to provide or cause to be provided management and administrative services to Countryside Holding and its direct and indirect subsidiaries, and to the extent such services are requested and not provided by Countryside Canada Ventures Inc. (the "Administrator") under the Administration Agreement, Countryside Canada. These management and administrative services include: (i) monitoring and managing the investments of Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada and reporting to the directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with respect thereto; (ii) overseeing the operations management of the assets or entities operated and maintained by Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada; (iii) developing, implementing and monitoring strategic plans with a view to maintaining and increasing distributions of the Fund over time; (iv) developing, and monitoring compliance with, the annual budget and the annual Distributable Cash forecast of the Fund and reporting to the applicable board of directors thereon; (v) undertaking or supervising the undertaking of treasury, legal and compliance, financing, risk assessment and human resource activities; (vi) preparing management reports, including financial reports, consistent with past practices, in respect of the assets owned by Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada, and any future Projects; (vii) negotiating or overseeing the negotiation of material agreements subject to the approval of the governing bodies of the applicable Countryside entities party to such material agreement; (viii) undertaking or supervising the undertaking of the analysis of potential acquisitions, investments and dispositions, reporting to the applicable board of directors thereon and carrying out or supervising the making of such acquisitions, investments and dispositions, subject to any required approvals; (ix) retaining professional advisers on behalf of Countryside Holding or the applicable subsidiary of Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada; (x) advising on and negotiating any financings by Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada or its applicable subsidiary subject to the approval of the applicable board of directors; (xi) planning and coordinating board meetings of Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada and its other subsidiaries; and (xii) providing such other management and administrative services as Countryside Holding, its subsidiaries and, if requested, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries may reasonably request in the conduct of the business and as may be reasonably agreed to from time to time between the parties.

Executives

The Manager is required to provide the services of three qualified individuals with significant experience in the energy and utility infrastructure industry who, in their capacity as officers of the Manager, will provide services that would customarily be provided by senior officers of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and its affiliates (together, the "Executives"). The current Executives are Göran Mörnhed, Edward M. Campana and Allen J. Rothman, all of whom are senior executive officers of Countryside U.S. and the current owners of the Manager. For certain additional information about these individuals, see "Trustees, Directors and Management" in this AIF. Appointments by the Manager to provide such services are subject to the approval of the directors of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada, which approval shall not unreasonably be withheld. If any Executive ceases to be an Executive, the directors of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will be provided with prompt notice of this change and will be permitted to participate in the recruitment and identification of a replacement individual. In carrying out their duties on behalf of the Manager under the Management Agreement, the Executives will act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada and will exercise the care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

Restrictions on Manager's Powers and Authorities

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, a number of material actions may not be authorized by the Manager without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Holding and, if services are being provided to Countryside Canada at the request of Countryside Canada, without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Canada. These include: (i) adopting or amending the annual budget of the Fund or taking any action that would be reasonably likely to cause a material deviation from the annual budget; (ii) taking, initiating or consenting to any action that would be reasonably likely to result in a material deviation from the Distributable Cash forecast; (iii) in one or in a series of related transactions, disposing of or consenting to the disposition of any of Countryside Holding's or, if applicable, Countryside Canada's assets with a value in excess of 1% of the gross assets of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and their subsidiaries at the time of such disposition; (iv) raising capital or debt by way of an issuance of securities of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada; or (v) in one or in a series of related transactions, acquiring any material assets or making any material investments by or on behalf of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada, in each case, with a value in excess of 1% of the gross assets of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries at the time of such acquisition or investment. Without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Holding (and, if applicable, Countryside Canada) who are independent of the Manager and its affiliates, the Manager shall not (i) enter into any material transaction with the Manager or an affiliate of the Manager; or (ii) amend any terms of the Management Agreement.

Fees and Payment of Expenses

(i) Base Fee

In consideration for providing the management and administrative services under the Management Agreement, the Manager is entitled to reimbursement from Countryside Holding and, to the extent the Manager provides services to Countryside Canada at its request, Countryside Canada, of all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the Manager and its affiliates in carrying out the services described above so long as such costs and expenses are incurred in accordance with the annual budget of the Fund and are otherwise permitted or required under the Management Agreement. The Manager shall not be reimbursed under the Management Agreement for the costs and expenses incurred in connection with the origination, structuring or development of energy and utility infrastructure projects except as expressly set out below. Unless otherwise agreed between the parties, the Manager shall be entitled to a minimum aggregate expense reimbursement of US $775,000, representing the annual compensation paid to the Executives (the "Base Salary"), as well as all associated costs, including wage burden and the cost of providing benefits to the executives (collectively the "Base Compensation"). Countryside Holding made an initial reimbursement payment to the Manager upon the execution and delivery of the Management Agreement equal to (i) the amount Countryside Holding would have been obligated to reimburse the Manager for annual base wage compensation and all associated costs if the Management Agreement had been effective for the period from July 1, 2005 to November 1, 2005; less (ii) the amount of payments actually made and to be made by Countryside U.S. Power, Inc. for salaries and all associated costs for the current executive officers for such period. The Base Compensation will be subject to annual review and periodic adjustment as negotiated and agreed to in good faith by the directors of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and the Manager from time to time and subject to independent reviews by third party compensation experts. The Manager shall also be entitled to reimbursement of expenses incurred in good faith in the origination, development and structuring of Development Assets (as defined below), on a cost recovery basis, for investment opportunities in which Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates commit to invest in accordance with the Management Agreement (including the acquisition of Ripon Power). The Manager will not be reimbursed for costs and expenses incurred in connection with the origination, structuring and development of assets or projects that Countryside does not commit to invest in or acquire under the Management Agreement; provided that, if Countryside does commit to invest in or acquire an asset or project and, for whatever reason, such investment or acquisition is not completed, the Manager and Countryside shall share equally in the expenses incurred until the date of commitment.

(ii) Short-Term Incentive Plan

In addition to the Base Compensation and other expense reimbursement, Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, will also reimburse the Manager for payments made by the Manager to the Executives under a short-term incentive plan

(''STIP'') to be adopted by the Manager that is consistent with the terms and conditions of the Management Agreement. Countryside Holding, and if applicable, Countryside Canada will reimburse the Manager an amount in respect of the STIP equal to 50% of the Base Compensation (''STIP Pool''), provided that payments will be made based on: (i) meeting certain objectives relating to managing Countryside that are recommended annually by the Manager and subject to the approval of the directors of Countryside Holding and, if applicable, the compensation committee of Countryside Canada in their discretion (the ''Operating Objectives''); and (ii) successfully sourcing and consummating an acquisition or investment on behalf of Countryside (the ''Acquisition Objective''). In each year, 25% and 75% of the STIP Pool will be available to reimburse the Manager for payments made for achieving the Operating Objectives and the Acquisition Objective, respectively. However, the payment to reimburse the Manager for meeting the Acquisition Objective shall not be less than US$291,000 in each year. The STIP Pool is non-cumulative from year to year. The Manager will be reimbursed by Countryside Holding and/or Countryside Canada: (i) for meeting the Operating Objectives, by payment of both freely tradeable Units and cash; and (ii) for meeting the Acquisition Objective (including the acquisition of Ripon) by cash payment only, in accordance with the conditions described in the Management Agreement. Any Units delivered to the Executives under the STIP will be required to be held until the earlier of the termination of the Management Agreement or the termination of the Executive's involvement with the Manager. Respecting 2005, the Manager received US$61,746 cash (of which the Executives used US$34,277 to purchase Units) for meeting the Operating Objectives and US$291,000 cash for meeting the Acquisition Objective in connection with the Acquisition of Ripon Power.

(iii) Long-Term Incentive Plan

The Manager or a designated affiliate will be entitled to receive a long-term incentive plan payment (the "LTIP Interest'') in the form of a subordinated interest in each new asset, company or investment (including Ripon Power) acquired or made, directly or indirectly, by Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates and originated, structured or developed through the efforts of the Manager or an Affiliate of the Manager (a ''Development Asset''). At the time of approval of any acquisition of, or investment in, a Development Asset by the directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, the Manager will submit to the applicable directors a calculation of the base level distribution (the ''Base Level Distribution'') that is required to be paid to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) by the Development Asset to reflect the cost of interest payments on third party debt incurred, and unitholder distributions on equity raised, to fund the purchase of the Development Asset. The directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will approve the Base Level Distribution at the time of the approval of the acquisition of a Development Asset or the associated financing, subject to adjustment based on the actual pricing achieved at closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset or the associated financing transaction. The Manager or its applicable affiliate will be entitled to a distribution from the Development Asset of operating cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made by the Development Asset in excess of the Base Level Distribution.

Payments to the Manager will be made at the same time as the distribution is made to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable). In the event that a Development Asset owned by Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable) makes a distribution of proceeds from capital transactions such as asset sales or recapitalizations, the Manager will be entitled to a 25% share of the capital distribution in excess of an amount required to be paid to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada or their subsidiary to repay its equity and debt investment in the Development Asset. In the event that, at any time, the Fund reduces its monthly distribution on Units due to a shortfall in Distributable Cash to an amount of less than $0.0854 per unit, up to 25% of the distributions under the aggregate LTIP Interest to be paid during any month in which a shortfall exists shall be subject to reduction to fund the shortfall. For any month that distributions to unitholders of the Fund are equal to or in excess of $0.0854 per unit, no reductions of the LTIP Interest shall be made. In 2005, the Manager received an LTIP Interest in Ripon Power.

(iv) Exchange Options

Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (if applicable) will have an option (''Exchange Option'') to acquire all or part of the Manager's LTIP Interest in any Development Asset by paying to the Manager unrestricted and freely tradable Units at any time after 24 months of the date of closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset, at a price equal to the average annualized distributions (including distributed cash and undistributed cash held in the entity owning the Development Asset) which the Manager is entitled to receive under the applicable project agreements described in the Management Agreement from the associated LTIP Interest divided by the yield on Units on the date of exercise of the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price (as defined in the Management Agreement). The Manager will have an Exchange Option to convert all or part of an LTIP Interest in any Development Asset on the basis set out above unless there is a Change of Control (as defined in the Management Agreement) in which case the Manager may exercise the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price within 12 months of such Change of Control. In the event that Countryside decides to engage in a transaction respecting any Development Asset that would constitute a Change of Control as to such Development Asset or the entity owning such Development Asset and in which the Manager retains an LTIP Interest, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have the option of acquiring such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset) and the Manager will have the option of exchanging such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset).

Right of First Opportunity

The Manager and its affiliates will provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with the first opportunity to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria for Countryside and the Fund (an ''Acquisition Opportunity'') that it: (i) develops (whether on behalf of Countryside or not); or (ii) owns or controls, provided that no right of first opportunity will be required to be provided for an Acquisition Opportunity if the terms of any agreement governing the Acquisition Opportunity prevent the Manager or its affiliate from providing such right. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have a period of 30 calendar days, from and including the date it receives notice of the Acquisition Opportunity, to advise the Manager or its affiliate that it wishes to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity. If Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, does not provide notice of its intention to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity within 30 calendar days of the date of notice by the Manager, the Manager will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has a period of 60 days of such notice to enter into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity once it commits to such Acquisition Opportunity provided that Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada will notify the Manager promptly if it decides to cease pursuit of the opportunity prior to the expiration of such 60 day period. If Countryside has not entered into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity during such period or provides notice that it no longer wishes to pursue the opportunity, the Manager or its affiliates will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account, subject to certain reimbursement obligations with respect to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable). If the Manager or its affiliate has provided Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with an opportunity to purchase an Acquisition Opportunity and Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, decided not to invest in such opportunity or did not enter into a binding agreement of purchase and sale within the prescribed time, the Manager shall not be obligated to provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada with a further right of first opportunity to invest in such Acquisition Opportunity in the event that the Manager invested in, or otherwise acquired an interest in or proceeded to develop, such Acquisition Opportunity. The Manager is required to keep the directors of Countryside Holding informed of all potential Acquisition Opportunities it is pursuing and is required to provide quarterly updates to the directors of Countryside Holding on such activities.

Term and Termination

The Management Agreement has an initial 20-year term and will be automatically renewed for additional five-year terms unless, at least six months prior to the expiration of the then current term, a majority of the directors of each of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada who are independent of the Manager determine that the Management Agreement will not be renewed and notify the Manager accordingly. The Manager has the right to immediately terminate the Management Agreement in circumstances of:(i) bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada; or (ii) a default by Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada in the performance of a material obligation under this Agreement (other than as a result of the occurrence of a force majeure event) which is not cured within 60 days of written notice being given by the Manager to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada of the default (subject to certain exceptions) or if such default is not reasonably capable of being cured within 60 days, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has not taken all reasonable steps to cure such default as soon as possible thereafter but in any event within 128 days. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada have the right to immediately terminate the Management Agreement in circumstances of: (i) bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of the Manager; (ii) fraud, willful default or gross negligence committed by the Manager; or (iii) default by the Manager in the performance of a material obligation under this Agreement (other than as a result of the occurrence of a force majeure event) which is not cured within 60 days of written notice being given by Countryside to the Manager of the default, or if such default is not reasonably capable of being cured within 60 days, the Manager has not taken all reasonable steps to cure such default as soon as possible thereafter but in any event within 128 days.

In addition, the Manager may terminate the Management Agreement (i) at any time after the first five years of the term of the Agreement or (ii) at any time within one year of a Change of Control, upon 180 days' written notice to Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada. In the event of such a termination, the Manager will be entitled to reimbursement from Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada for actual reasonable costs associated with termination. Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada have the right to jointly terminate the Management Agreement at any time after the first five years of the term of the Management Agreement with the payment to the Manager of a fee equal to (i) its actual costs associated with the termination plus an amount equal to two times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving the Operating Objectives or, (ii) if such termination occurs within 12 months of a Change of Control, 2.9 times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving certain stated operating objectives. In the event of a Change of Control, Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will have the right to jointly terminate the Agreement at any time with the payment to the Manager of a fee calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Management Agreement. Termination of the Management Agreement will not affect, among other things, the Exchange Options (subject to certain specified exceptions) or payment obligations of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada, under the LTIP. On termination of the Management Agreement, any LTIP Interest outstanding at that time shall continue for a period expiring on the date that is 20 years from the date of acquisition of the Development Asset for which the LTIP Interest was issued.

Administration Agreement

Under the Administration Agreement, the Administrator has been engaged to provide or cause to be provided management and administrative services to the Fund and Countryside Canada. The Administrator is responsible for providing the following services to the Fund and Countryside Canada: (i) monitoring and managing the investments and operations of the Fund and Countryside Canada and reporting to the Trustees and the directors of Countryside Canada with respect thereto (provided that it is acknowledged that the Administrator is not responsible for operating the Business); (ii) submitting all annual audited and interim unaudited financial statements of the Fund, income tax returns and filings to the Trustees in sufficient time prior to the dates upon which they must be delivered to unitholders and/or filed so that the Trustees have a reasonable opportunity to review them, approve them and return them to the Administrator, and arrange for their delivery to unitholders and/or filing within the time required by applicable law; (iii) ensuring compliance by the Fund with all applicable securities laws; providing investor relations services to the Fund; preparing and providing or causing to be provided to unitholders on a timely basis all information to which unitholders are entitled under the declaration of trust of the Fund and under applicable law, including quarterly and annual reports, notices, financial statements and tax information relating to the Fund; (iv) ensuring compliance with the Fund's limitations on foreign ownership; (v) assisting the Trustees in connection with any offerings of Units, including preparing any prospectus or comparable documents of the Fund to qualify the distribution of securities of the Fund from time to time; (vi) assisting Countryside Canada with the analysis of potential acquisitions, investments and dispositions and reporting to the directors of Countryside Canada with respect thereto; (vii) at the direction of the directors of Countryside Canada, assisting with the making of acquisitions, investments and dispositions; (viii) planning and coordinating meetings of the Trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada; and (ix) providing such other management and administrative services as the Fund and Countryside Canada may reasonably require as may be agreed to from time to time between the parties.

In carrying out the services described above, the Administrator and its affiliates will be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund and Countryside Canada of all costs and expenses incurred in connection therewith. The Administrator shall discharge the duties conferred upon it hereunder with the same degree of diligence and care that a reasonably prudent manager and administrator of a business substantially similar to the Business, and having responsibilities of a similar nature to those hereunder, would exercise in comparable circumstances.

The Administration Agreement shall remain in effect for so long as the Management Agreement remains in effect. The Administration Agreement may be terminated by either the Administrator or the Fund and Countryside Canada if the other party commits an event of default described under ''— Management Agreement'' above. In addition, the Administrator may terminate the Administration Agreement upon 180 days' written notice to the Fund and Countryside Canada. The Fund and Countryside Canada have the right to jointly terminate the Administration Agreement at any time after the first five years.

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

The Fund, through its wholly-owned indirect subsidiary, Countryside U.S., entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives.

Under the Development Agreement, Cinergy, USEY and Countryside U.S. may seek opportunities to acquire or invest in energy projects that initially, or after further development or improvement, will meet the Fund's acquisition and investment guidelines. Potential energy projects identified by USEY, Countryside U.S., or Cinergy may be presented to all parties for consideration. No party to the Development Agreement is obligated to participate in any project or opportunity. A decision by the Fund or any other party not to participate in an energy project shall not limit any of the other parties' rights to proceed with such project.

Cinergy and/or USEY may contribute such assets, capital and other resources as are required to acquire, develop or improve the energy projects that they choose to pursue. USEY and Cinergy may provide the Fund with an opportunity to acquire or invest in the energy projects on terms that recognize the Fund's objectives to increase, when prudent, cash distributions per Unit while adhering to its acquisition and investment guidelines. A committee consisting of a representative from each of Countryside U.S., Cinergy and USEY will oversee the acquisition, development or improvement of the energy projects. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the Development Agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. receives an annual fee of US$430,000 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY. USEY ceased making monthly payments under the Development Agreement in May 2005. The Fund and USEY are currently in discussions regarding USEY's obligations under the Development Agreement to determine a possible resolution.

Whether or not the Fund elects to participate in a potential energy project, the Fund shall retain a right of first refusal to acquire or invest in such energy project should USEY and/or Cinergy divest of the energy project subsequent to its acquisition, development or improvement. However, at no time shall the Fund be obligated to finance the acquisition, development or improvement of an identified energy project or to acquire or invest in an energy project.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five year term unless terminated by any party.

Improvement Agreement with USEB

USEB will provide the Fund with a right of first offer to invest (in a form similar to the USEB Investments) in certain expansion opportunities relating to the existing renewable energy projects.

DISTRIBUTIONS

Distribution Policy

Monthly distributions are made to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month and are expected to be paid to Unitholders on or about the 30th day of the following month. The initial cash distribution to Unitholders of record on April 30, 2004 was paid on May 31, 2004 in respect of the period from closing of the Offering to April 30, 2004.

History of Distributions

The following table sets forth the per Trust Unit amount of monthly cash distributions paid or declared but not yet paid by the Fund from the formation of the Fund from January 1, 2005 through and including December 31, 2005.

	2004	2005
Distributions Per Trust Unit
January	-	$0.0855[3]
February	-	$0.0854
March	-	$0.0854
April	$0.0655	$0.0854
May	$0.0854[1]	$0.0854
June	$0.0854	$0.0854
July	$0.0854	$0.0855
August	$0.0854	$0.0854
September	$0.0854	$0.0854
October	$0.0854	$0.0863[4]
November	$0.0854	$0.0863
December	$0.0855[2]	$0.0863

[1] This distribution was the first cash distribution of the Fund and covered the period from April 8, 2004 to April 30, 2004.

[2] This amount was slightly increased in December, 2004 to make up for rounding differences in prior months.

[3] This amount was slightly increased in January and July, 2005 to make up for rounding differences in prior months.

[4] Distributions per unit were increased by $0.01 per annum or $0.0009 per month commencing with the October 2005 distribution.

Distribution Restrictions

Under the terms of the Fund's Credit Facility, dividends, intercompany debt payments and other distributions cannot be made by the borrower or the guarantors thereunder in the event of a default under the Fund's Credit Facility. In such case Countryside Canada would not be able to provide the Fund with cash necessary to pay distributions or make interest payments under the Debentures. See "Risk Factors – Risks Related to the Structure of the Fund - Financial Leverage and Restrictive Covenants". Under the terms of the Debentures, in the event of a default, the principal payments under the Debentures may be accelerated. In such event, it is unlikely that Coutnryside Canada would be able to pay dividends, intercompany debt payments and other distributions to the Fund until the Debentureholders were repaid.

RISK FACTORS

The following are certain risk factors relating to the Fund. The following information is a summary only of certain risk factors and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, and must be read in conjunction with, the detailed information appearing elsewhere in this annual information form and in the Fund's filings with the Canadian Securities Regulators from time to time including the Fund's final long form prospectus dated March 29, 2004 and its short form prospectus dated November 8, 2005, which can be found at www.sedar.com. Risks relating to the Renewable Energy Projects are applicable to the Fund to the extent they affect: (i) USEB's ability to service and fund reserves under the USEB Loans and to repay the USEB Loans at maturity; (ii) USEB's ability to pay the Royalty under the USEB Royalty Interest prior to a conversion, if any, of the USEB Royalty Interest; and (iii) USEB's ability to pay dividends to Countryside Canada after conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest into the Equity Interest.

Risks Related to the Business

Dependence Upon Key Customers

Electricity generated from the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities has historically been purchased by PG&E and SCE, two local electric utilities, under long-term PPAs. Steam generated from the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities has historically been sold to two nearby paper mills. If for any reason such customers are unable or unwilling to fulfill their contractual obligations under the relevant PPAs and Steam Agreements or such agreements are otherwise terminated, the financial condition of Ripon could decline and reduce Ripon's ability to generate distributable cash. Additionally, if the paper mills fail to meet their contractual obligations, the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities' status as QF's could be endangered with the consequences described below (the "Qualifying Facility Status").

Electricity generated from the Renewable Energy Projects has historically been purchased by local electric utilities under long-term PPAs. Although USEB attempts to ensure that such customers have acceptable credit ratings upon entering into these contractual agreements, if for any reason such customers are unable or unwilling to fulfill their contractual obligations under the relevant PPAs, the financial condition of USEB could decline and reduce USEB's ability to service the USEB Loans.

The District Energy Systems are reliant on a limited number of customers. Furthermore, a significant number of these customers purchase energy at will and can stop purchasing energy at any time. While the majority of these customers have financial support from either the provincial and/or the federal government in Canada, or are entities with a high quality credit rating, the loss of one or more of these customers could adversely impact the financial condition of Countryside District Energy.

Steam Host Termination for Convenience at Ripon

Both Fox River and Blue Heron are permitted to terminate their respective steam sales agreements for convenience under certain circumstances. Each steam sales agreement provides that, in such event, the steam customer must make a specified monetary payment to Ripon to cover Ripon's cost of obtaining a replacement steam host. Blue Heron's obligation to make such payment terminates after the expiration of the initial 12 years of the agreement. Blue Heron may also discharge its obligation by obtaining a replacement steam host. It is possible that either steam host may exercise such termination right but fail to comply with its obligations to obtain or fund the cost to obtain a replacement steam host due to lack of resources or for other reasons. In such event Ripon may not have an adequate remedy against the steam host and be required to obtain a replacement steam host at its own expense or risk losing its QF status. Loss of QF Status would have a material adverse effect on Ripon. See "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

Competition

In markets in which Ripon and USEB operate, there is competition from companies who are involved in power generation. Some of these companies have access to greater financial resources and have a greater ability to attract and retain personnel than Ripon or USEB. Although the Manager believes that there are segments of the marketplace where USEB will not face extensive competition, no assurances can be made that USEB will be able to enter these markets or that there will not be competition in such markets. Additionally, in recent years, such competition has contributed to a reduction in electricity prices in certain markets.

The principal competition for the District Energy Systems is from a wide variety of firms that sell products or services to end-users who choose to build and operate heating and cooling equipment on their own premises. These firms include suppliers of boilers and chillers and fuel suppliers such as gas and electric utilities, which encourage use of equipment that use their products. Some of these suppliers have greater financial resources than the District Energy Systems. In addition, increased competition could result in lower prices for the District Energy Systems' products and services.

Seasonality at Ripon and the District Energy Systems

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are expected to generate the majority of their gross revenues in the period from May to August because the PPAs provide higher levels of payments during this period. The District Energy Systems are expected to generate the majority of their gross revenues in the period from November to March because they derive the majority of their revenues from the sale of heat and demand for heat is highest during this period. To the extent that equipment at either the Ripon Facility, the San Gabriel Facility or the District Energy Systems require maintenance and repair, or suffer disruptions of operation for other reasons during their respective peak revenue periods, their ability to generate distributable cash may be negatively impacted.

Electricity Pricing at Ripon and USEB

On or about July 14, 2001, Ripon and PG&E entered into a 5 year amendment of the Ripon PPA which substituted PG&E's SRAC with a primarily fixed energy rate (subject to adjustment for time of use factors). When this amendment expires in July 2006, it is expected that Ripon will again receive energy payments under the Ripon PPA based on PG&E's SRAC prices. The San Gabriel Facility currently receives a monthly energy payment for energy delivered to SCE in an amount calculated by reference to SCE's SRAC pursuant to an agreement which terminates no later than July 1, 2006, at which time Ripon will receive energy payments under the San Gabriel PPA based on SCE's SRAC prices. Currently, the SRAC energy prices are based on the Transition Formula, which is determined separately with respect to each utility on a monthly basis. The authority to modify the elements of the SRAC energy price formula rests with the CPUC, subject to certain statutory requirements imposed by the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act (Assembly Bill 1890). There is an open proceeding in which the CPUC has indicated it will review the Transition Formula for SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes. There can be no assurance that any change in the SRAC price methodology will not adversely affect the operating margins derived from the Ripon PPA and San Gabriel PPA. Any adverse change in energy margins may negatively impact Ripon's cash flow which in turn could reduce distributable cash.

Ripon's PPAs at the Ripon Facility and the San Gabriel Facility terminate in 2018 and 2016 respectively. There can be no assurance that, upon the expiry of such PPAs, Ripon will be able to enter into new PPAs or otherwise sell its power into the market at prices at or above projected levels. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from such forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on Ripon upon expiry of the PPAs.

While a majority of the off-takers of the Renewable Energy Projects are contractually obligated to purchase electricity under long-term PPAs, the projects based on market pricing will be exposed to fluctuations in the wholesale price of electricity. In addition, should any of the long-term contracts terminate or expire, USEB will be required to either negotiate new PPAs or sell into the electricity wholesale market for electricity, in which case the prices for electricity will depend on market conditions at the time. Similarly, when the Renewable Energy Projects located in Illinois are no longer eligible to receive incentives under the Rate Incentive Program, it is expected that the projects will seek to negotiate new contracts in the Green Power Market based on rates prevailing in the Green Power Market at the time.

Further, under the Illinois rate incentive program, USEB's Illinois-based renewable energy projects receive the gross contract rate for their power generated and sold under each project's PPA, which is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in each project's respective jurisdiction. The gross contract rate is subject to upward or downward adjustment and is set on a retroactive basis after the end of each contract year under the applicable PPA. During 2005, the gross contract rate for the prior contract year at four of USEB's ten Illinois-based renewable energy projects was reduced retroactively pursuant to the state retail rate program. As a result, USEB's revenue and operating cash flow from such renewable energy projects for the current year have fallen because (i) the current year's payments that are being made by the applicable power purchaser are based on the lower gross contract rate established retroactively for the prior year, and (ii) the applicable power purchaser has been off-setting from current year payments overpayments made during the prior year. While USEB is currently in compliance with the terms of the USEB Loans and has made all payments of principal and interest on the USEB Loans, it has not had sufficient cash flow from operations to fully fund the USEB Reserve and certain ICC Reimbursement Accounts, declare and pay dividends to its shareholders or make payments to Countryside Canada under the USEB Royalty Interest. If the gross contract rates remain at current levels, USEB may not be able to fully fund reserves under the USEB Loans and/or may not be able to pay royalties under the USEB Royalty Interest. If gross contract rates fall further, USEB may not be able to meet its obligations under the USEB Loans.

Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on USEB. Further, Green Power Markets will be affected by evolving federal and state energy policies as well as normal market forces thus rendering them more unpredictable.

The rate incentive received by each QSWEF, which must be reimbursed to the State of Illinois, represents the excess of the Gross Contract Rate received by such QSWEF from the public utility less the public utility's Avoided Cost. Therefore, the QSWEF's rate incentive and corresponding reimbursement obligation will depend, among other things, on the level of such Avoided Cost, which is beyond the control of the QSWEF and cannot be predicted with certainty.

Capacity Payments at Ripon

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are dependent on capacity payments due from PG&E and SCE, respectively, as the case may be. Under the PPAs, each Facility's ongoing ability to receive the full firm capacity payment is conditioned upon the delivery of the contract capacity during on-peak hours during the summer peak months (June through August for PG&E and June through September for SCE), although both facilities receive the benefit of a twenty percent monthly forced outage allowance during the summer peak months. If either Facility fails to meet the performance criteria, the purchasing utility has the right to declare a probationary period of up to fifteen months after which, if the performance criteria is not met, the Facility may be de-rated, the capacity payment reduced and the Facility subjected to a refund obligation based on the difference between original capacity and reduced capacity plus interest thereon. Finally, the capacity payment may be reduced by PG&E and suspended by SCE if the Ripon Facility or the San Gabriel Facility, respectively, is unable to meet its performance obligations as a result of a force majeure-type event that continues for longer than ninety days. Any adverse change in capacity and/or capacity bonus payments payments may negatively impact Ripon's cash flow which in turn may negatively impact Countryside Canada's cash available to pay interest on the Debentures and the Fund's distributable cash.

Natural Gas Fuel Availability and Price at Ripon

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities use natural gas for fuel. The Ripon Facility currently purchases natural gas under fixed cost contracts that expire in 2006. There can be no assurance that Ripon will enter into new long-term gas contracts or otherwise purchase natural gas in the market at the same price as it receives today. Ripon has also entered into gas transportation contracts under which the natural gas is transported from the gas supplier's delivery point to the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. The pricing under such contracts is governed by tariffs filed with the CPUC. The contracts currently expire in 2007. Upon expiry there can be no assurance that Ripon will be able to renew the gas transportation contracts at the same rates as it receives today, and therefore Ripon's fuel transportation costs may decrease or increase the distributable cash generated by Ripon.

Lack of Correlation Between Energy Prices and Fuel Costs at Ripon

The energy prices charged by each of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are currently governed by PPA amendments that will expire not later than June 30, 2006. After such date, the energy pricing at each facility will be based on the SRAC of the applicable utility. The CPUC is currently considering the future methodology for computing SRAC for each utility in an open proceeding. Although the outcome of such proceeding is uncertain, the Manager believes that the CPUC will likely implement an SRAC methodology that indexes energy prices, in part, to an index of natural gas prices. However it is unknown what specific index the CPUC will choose for each utility and how energy prices will correlate to such index. At the same time, the Gas Contract will expire on June 30, 2006. The Manager is seeking to negotiate new gas contracts that will correlate gas prices with the same gas indices to be employed in the future applicable SRAC formulas and in that way ensure that energy prices received by Ripon adjust with movements in gas prices. However it is unclear that the Manager will be successful given that both the conclusion of the CPUC proceeding and the Manager's negotiations are unknown. In the event that the Manager is unable to negotiate gas contracts with pricing that correlates with SRAC and gas prices increase without compensating adjustments in energy prices received by Ripon, operating margins at the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities may be reduced, in turn reducing Ripon's distributable cash.

Resource Availability and Constancy at USEB and the District Energy Systems

The Renewable Energy Projects rely on the extraction of biogas from public and privately-owned landfill sites. The quantity of available biogas is determined by numerous factors beyond the control of USEB including, without limitation, filling pattern of the landfill, the composition of the waste, compaction, moisture content, time and climatic conditions. In the event that the amount of biogas produced by a landfill and/or its methane component is less than expected, or the duration of biogas emission is shorter than expected, the sale of biogas by USEB, the production of electricity by USEB and/or the amount of revenue received by USEB from the sale of Gascos producing Section 29 tax credits may be adversely affected in a material manner.

Generally with respect to each Renewable Energy Project: (i) the Gasco's right to extract biogas from the landfill is subject to a long-term gas rights agreement with the landfill owner; (ii) the Genco or Transco's right to purchase biogas from the Gasco is subject to a long-term gas purchase agreement with the Gasco; and (iii) the Genco or Transco's right to occupy the landfill is subject to a long-term lease with the landfill owner. If one of the foregoing agreements or leases was terminated prematurely, for any reason the relevant Renewable Energy Project would be affected in a material adverse manner.

In November 2004, a foreclosure action encaptioned CIB Bank v. Miss Mimi Corporation et al in the Circuit Court, Lake County, Illinois was commenced by CIB Bank, the holder of mortgages on the real property on which the project owned by Countryside Genco LLC ("Countryside Genco"), an indirect subsidiary of USEB, is located. Countryside Canada was named as a defendant in the action due to its security interest, under the USEB Loans, in Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement. While the foreclosure complaint seeks to terminate all interests respecting the real property, including Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement, and Countryside Canada's security interests therein, the Manager believes that Countryside Genco's and Countryside Canada's interests in the Countryside project should not be affected by the foreclosure by virtue of recognition agreements executed by CIB Bank, Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada's predecessor in interest. The Manager has been advised that CIB Bank and the borrower and guarantor respecting the relevant mortgages are seeking to reach a settlement that would result in a termination of the foreclosure action. If the foreclosure action is not resolved, the Manager believes that Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada intend to defend their respective interests in the foreclosure action vigorously. However in the event CIB Bank successfully forecloses on Countryside Genco's interests, cash from such project will not be available to service the USEB Loans unless Countryside Genco enters into new contractual arrangements with the owner of the property. There is no assurance that Countryside Genco will be able to enter into such arrangements or that they will be on terms as beneficial to Countryside Genco as the current arrangements. Nevertheless the Manager believes, based of forecasts provided by USEB, that the USEB Loan would not be materially affected by such an outcome.

The amount of energy generated by the PEI System is dependent on the availability of biomass. There can be no assurance that the availability of a stable supply of wood waste from forest products operations, current sources of wood waste and the prices at which wood waste is currently purchased, will remain unchanged.

Project Development and Expansion Risks

The ability to develop new projects and expand existing projects, including projects under the Improvement Agreement, requires success in obtaining various agreements, permits and approvals that are, in certain cases, not within the control of the Manager. No assurances can be given that the Manager will be successful in obtaining these agreements, permits, equipment and approvals on satisfactory commercial terms. Project development and expansion also involves significant environmental, engineering and construction risks.

Insurance

There can be no assurance that insurance obtained in respect of the Fund's operations and USEB's operations, including business interruption insurance among others, will be sufficient, continue to be offered on commercially reasonable terms or that events that could give rise to a loss or liability are insured. A significant event which is not fully insured could have a material adverse effect.

Operating Risks

The operation of energy generation facilities involves many risks, including the breakdown or failure of equipment or processes, and performance below expected levels of output or efficiency. If operations are interrupted at these facilities due to mechanical failures or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash.

Reliance on Third Party Operator at Ripon and USEB

Ripon has entered into operation and maintenance agreements with NAES for the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. USEB has entered into operation and maintenance agreements with GE/Jenbacher and RUN Energy for eight and two of its projects respectively. As a result, Ripon and USEB is and will be dependent on these third party operators for the successful operation of these projects. To the extent these third party operators do not fulfill their obligations under their respective agreements, the operations at these projects could be adversely affected.

Force Majeure Events

It is possible that force majeure events may disrupt operations at or cause substantial damage to the Ripon Facilities, the District Energy Systems or the Renewable Energy Projects. As the Ripon Facilities are located in California, such force majeure events may include earthquakes. While the Fund and USEB have obtained insurance, including earthquake insurance in the case of Ripon, to mitigate any financial costs arising from such force majeure events, there is no assurance such insurance will fully cover such risks and costs or will continue to be available to the Fund and USEB on terms which are commercially reasonable.

Regulatory Approvals

The construction and operation of energy projects requires numerous permits from governmental agencies, as well as compliance with environmental laws and other regulations. While the Manager believes that the projects are in substantial compliance with all applicable regulations and that each of the projects has the requisite permits, regulators and reviewing courts may conclude otherwise. There can be no assurance that new laws, regulations or orders or amendments to or new, more stringent interpretations or enforcement policies with respect to existing laws, regulations or orders which would have a material adverse effect on the Fund's projects or the Renewable Energy Projects will not be adopted or that completed projects will comply with all applicable permit conditions, statutes and regulations. If any of the Fund's projects or the Renewable Energy Projects fails to obtain or maintain any required permit or fails to comply with any applicable law, regulators may take enforcement actions which could have a material adverse effect on the applicable project.

Environmental Health and Safety Risks

The Ripon Facilities, the Renewable Energy Projects and the District Energy Systems are regulated by numerous and significant laws, regulations, by-laws, guidelines, policies, directives and other requirements relating to environmental and safety matters. The Ripon Facilities, Renewable Energy Projects and District Energy Systems have obtained environmental permits that are required for their operation. Although the Manager believes that the operations of the facilities are currently in material compliance with applicable environmental laws and permit requirements, there is no guarantee that more stringent laws will not be imposed, that there will not be more stringent enforcement of applicable laws or that such systems may not fail, which may result in material expenditures. Failure by the projects and systems to comply with any environmental, health or safety requirements, or increases in the cost of such compliance, including as a result of unanticipated liabilities (whether as a result of newly discovered issues or known issues that have not been quantified) or expenditures for investigation, assessment, remediation or monitoring, could result in additional expense, capital expenditures, restrictions and delays in the projects' and systems' activities, the extent of which cannot be predicted and which may be material.

Qualifying Facility Status at Ripon and USEB

The Ripon Facility, the San Gabriel Facility and a majority of USEB's Renewable Energy Projects have been certified by the FERC as QFs and operate in compliance with the applicable criteria under PURPA. Loss of QF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QF status under the PPAs and, in the case of USEB, the USEB Loan and could result in the potential termination of the PPA and penalties and/or, in the case of USEB, acceleration of indebtedness thereunder plus interest. Further, the purchasing utility may have the right under the PPA to refuse to purchase electricity from the QF at such utility's Avoided Cost if QF status were lost and might be entitled to certain remedies for breach of an existing PPA including the right to terminate the PPA.

In addition, the FERC has asserted jurisdiction over the rates charged by QFs during periods when a facility does not operate in compliance with the applicable QF criteria and has indicated its willingness to order the refund of payments previously made under PPAs in some cases. Further, loss of QF status could result in the loss of the exemption under PURPA from utility-type regulation and expose either Facility to regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act and by the CPUC under the California Public Utilities Code.

Any of these consequences would result in substantial regulatory burdens, potentially lower revenues from power sales and potentially insurmountable impediments to affected entities with regard to conducting business in the manner currently contemplated. Accordingly, the ability of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities to generate distributable cash and the ability of the Renewable Energy Projects to generate cash for USEB to make debt service payments on the USEB Loan is dependent on their maintaining QF status. A facility may lose its QF status either temporarily or permanently.

Congress from time to time has considered legislation to repeal and amend certain provisions of PURPA, most recently with the enactment of EPA 2005. Such legislation has typically included "grand-fathering" protection to ensure that any change in law would apply only prospectively and would not affect the obligation of electric utilities to purchase from QFs under their existing PPAs. However, there is no guarantee that any future legislation would contain "grand-fathering" protection.

Loss of QF status by any Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project would cause it also to lose its QSWEF status.

QSWEF Status of USEB's Illinois-based Biogas Projects

Eligibility for the Rate Incentive Program is based on compliance with the requirements contained in Illinois Public Utilities Act, the ICC Regulations and the ICC Orders issued by the ICC respecting QSWEF's. A QSWEF would lose all or some of the benefits provided by the Rate Incentive Program if it were found to be in non-compliance with these requirements. Similarly, a QSWEF may lose all or some of such benefits in the event of modifications to the Illinois Public Utilities Act, the ICC Regulations, the ICC Orders or ICC policies or repeal of the Illinois Public Utilities Act. In such event, the revenues and profits from the affected QSWEFS may be materially adversely impacted. From time to time, legislation modifying the Illinois Public Utilities Act has been proposed. If certain of the introduced legislation had been enacted in its proposed form, it would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the QSWEFS. To date such legislation has not been enacted; however there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be enacted in the future.

Loss of QSWEF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QSWEF status in various purchase and loan agreements (including the USEB Loans) and result in termination, penalties or acceleration of indebtedness under such agreements plus interest. Accordingly, the ability of USEB to meet its repayment obligations under the USEB Loans and to pay Royalties under the USEB Royalty Interest is dependent upon the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects maintaining their QSWEF status.

ICC Repayment Liability of USEB's Illinois-Based Renewable Energy Projects

In the future, the ICC may promulgate new regulations and establish new policies or modify existing regulations and policies. Such actions, if taken and upheld by the courts, may have a materially adverse impact on some or all of USEB's Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects. The ICC has enforcement authority to direct each owner of an Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project to satisfy its reimbursement obligations, which authority may extend to, among other matters, the legal entity that is to hold the ICC Reimbursement Account, the amount of funds to be deposited annually in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the kinds of investments in which such funds are or may be invested. Although the ICC has considered imposing and has imposed such requirements in the past as a condition to its approval of certain proposed transactions, it cannot be predicted with certainty whether and under what similar or different circumstances the ICC may attempt to impose any of such requirements in the future. However, provided the QSWEFs (a) remain in compliance in good faith with the current Illinois Public Utilities Act, ICC Regulations and ICC Orders, (b) make timely deposits to their ICC Reimbursement Accounts that, together with earnings thereon from a reasonable and balanced investment portfolio, are reasonably sufficient to meet the QSWEFs' reimbursement obligations to the State of Illinois, and (c) do not seek approval from the ICC for any transactions that require ICC approval or modify existing ICC Orders, the Fund has no reason to believe that the ICC will take any such actions respecting the QSWEFs in a manner materially adverse to them. Approximately US$2 million of the amounts deposited in the ICC Reimbursement Accounts has been pledged by USEB in support of its obligations under the hedging arrangements to be entered into under the USEB Loan.

If an event of default occurs under the USEB Loan Agreement and Countryside Canada seeks to foreclose on any pledge of the equity of any entity that under Illinois law is deemed to directly or indirectly own any interest in any Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project or the facility owned by such Renewable Energy Project, Countryside Canada would be obligated to comply with applicable requirements of the Illinois Public Utilities Act and the ICC Regulations, including, without limitation, the requirement to obtain the approval of the ICC to acquire, own and sell the electricity output from such Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project as a QSWEF. The ability of Countryside Canada to comply with such requirements or the terms and conditions upon which such approval may be granted by the ICC cannot be predicted with certainty. If Countryside Canada was required to obtain ICC approval and was unable to do so, each Illinois-based Renewable Energy Project would retain its right to sell its power at Avoided Cost so long as the project produces electricity, maintains its status as a QF under the FPA and meets certain other state law requirements.

The Fund believes that, as a result of the making of the USEB Loans, the acquisition of the USEB Royalty Interest, the making by USEB of capital contributions to its indirect subsidiaries that own the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects, the issuance of the AJG Note and the grant by AJG of an option to USEB or one of its subsidiaries to acquire AJG's indirect 50% interest in the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects (the "AJG Option"), the Renewable Energy Projects located in Illinois did not lose their status as QSWEFs and there has been no change in the ownership of any of such Projects as such ownership is currently construed by the ICC under its interpretation of applicable regulations of FERC. However, it is not possible to predict with any degree of certainty whether in a particular case the ICC will determine that any degree or percentage of ownership is to be attributed to any particular entity. Nonetheless, based on a consideration of the factors that the ICC considers relevant in a determination of the degree or percentage of ownership to be attributed to any particular entity and on the provisions of the documents, records and certificates in connection with the transactions contemplated herein, the Fund believes that there is no reason to conclude that the ICC would attribute a percentage ownership to any entity in respect of the Renewable Energy Projects located in Illinois so as to cause such projects to lose their status as QSWEFs or to constitute a change of ownership of such Renewable Energy Projects, as a result of the Fund making the USEB Loans (but not foreclosing upon its liens) or acquiring (but not converting into equity) the USEB Royalty Interest, the making by USEB of capital contributions to its indirect subsidiaries that own the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects, the issuance of the AJG Note (but not the foreclosure of any liens securing payment thereof) or the grant of the AJG Option (but not the exercise thereof). In the event the ICC concluded that any of the transactions described in the previous sentence constituted a change in ownership of such Renewable Energy Projects, such Renewable Energy Projects would be required to seek ICC approval of such change in ownership and would have to establish that, notwithstanding such change in ownership, such Renewable Energy Projects still met the requirements of a QSWEF. The Fund cannot predict how the ICC might exercise its discretion or its enforcement authority in such a circumstance.

Under the Rate Incentive Program, each QSWEF must begin to repay the incentive it has received to the State of Illinois commencing no later that the earlier of the date the QSWEF has paid or otherwise satisfied in full the capital costs or indebtedness incurred in developing its facility and 10 years after the date its facility commenced commercial operation, with such repayment to be completed no later than the earlier of 20 years after such date of commencement of commercial operation and the end of its facility's actual useful life. In order to meet this obligation, each QSWEF has established an ICC Reimbursement Account in which it has deposited and, subject to the terms of the USEB Loan and its ability to generate sufficient cash flow will continue to deposit a portion of the incentive as it is received with the expectation that such deposits, when invested prudently in a balanced portfolio managed by professional advisors, will over time generate sufficient earnings to permit such QSWEF to meet its reimbursement obligations to the State of Illinois as and when they come due. However, in the event the ICC exercised its enforcement authority in a manner that resulted in a lower return than expected, the investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account otherwise do not generate the expected earnings, or the QSWEF does not deposit sufficient funds into the ICC Reimbursement Account, a QSWEF may not have sufficient funds to meet its obligations to reimburse the State of Illinois when such obligations come due with potential material adverse consequences to the affected QSWEF.

Section 29 Tax Credits at USEB

USEB currently receives income from the sale of Code Section 29 tax credits which will expire on December 31, 2007 unless the law is extended. Part of the purchase price is contingent on gas production. If gas production were to fall, USEB's revenues may decline. USEB has agreed to indemnify the financial investors that have purchased interests in the Gascos for certain losses suffered by such investors in the event that the Section 29 tax credits are denied in certain circumstances.

In addition, through December 31, 2007, Code Section 29 has a phase out provision that is triggered when the "Market Wellhead Price" of domestic crude oil reaches certain "Phase-out Prices" as determined by the IRS. The phase-out is proportional. The Market Wellhead Price is the IRS' estimate of the calendar year average wellhead price per barrel for all domestic crude oil, the price of which is not subject to regulation. Phase out Prices are adjusted each year for inflation. The IRS will not publish the Phase-out Prices for calendar year 2005 until May 2006. Historically, the Market Wellhead Prices oil prices have been substantially below "Phase-out Prices" and therefore the possibility of a phase-out has been considered remote. However, due to the recent spike in oil prices, Market Wellhead Prices in 2005 have, on occasion, exceeded the price at which the Phase out would be triggered. Nevertheless, based on average Market Wellhead Prices for 2005 and estimates of 2005 Phase-out Prices, the Manager believes that the Phase-out will not be triggered in 2005. However, there can be no assurance that future oil prices will remain under future phase out levels in 2006 and 2007. If a phase out is triggered during such years or in 2005, USEB's income from Code Section 29 tax credits may be reduced or eliminated, thus reducing cash available for servicing debt service on the USEB Loan and for payments of the royalty.

The universe of projects eligible for tax credits is limited based on restrictions contained in Section 29. From time to time, legislation has been proposed to renew Section 29 tax credits, but it is uncertain whether this legislation will be enacted, what its final form will be, and in particular whether such legislation would extend Section 29 tax credits for existing projects or make them available only for new projects. The unavailability of these tax credits for future renewable energy projects may make such future projects less attractive for investment. The expiration of these tax credits for existing projects may make some renewable energy projects financially unviable and reduce USEB's revenues.

Neither USEB, any of the Gascos, nor any Gasco partner has received a ruling from the IRS confirming that the biogas facilities of the Gascos meet the requirements of Section 29, that the sales of interests in the Gascos by USEB were structured in a way that would entitle the buyers to Section 29 credits, or that sales of methane from the Gascos to the Gencos or Transcos generate Section 29 credits. While a ruling is not required, as is the case with any Section 29 transaction in which a ruling is not obtained, the IRS may challenge the availability of Section 29 credits to any of the Gascos or to its partners.

Potential Refund Liability at Ripon

A proceeding is currently pending before the CPUC in Docket No. R 99-11-022 in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply retroactively for the period December, 2000 through March, 2001 a March, 2001 decision (D. 01-03-067) which, among other things, modified the methodology used in calculating SRAC and thereby decreased SRAC levels for the period commencing March 27, 2001. SCE and several other parties sought judicial review of D. 01-03-067 and two related CPUC decisions. In September, 2002, the California Court of Appeals found that the CPUC had violated PURPA for failing to consider SCE's argument that the CPUC should retroactively apply the modified SRAC formula. Southern Cal. Edison vs. Public Utilities Comm'n., 101 Cal. App. 4th 982 (2002). The Court of Appeals directed the CPUC to consider SCE's request. In 2003 and 2004, comments on the issue were submitted to the CPUC by various parties and the matter was deemed submitted in November, 2004. In February, 2005, a Draft Decision was issued by the assigned Commissioner who found that "evidence shows SRAC prices were correct between December 2000 and March 2001, and retroactive application of the modified SRAC formula is not warranted." Various parties have submitted comments on the Draft Decision, including PG&E, SCE, a ratepayer organization and the CPUC's Office of Ratepayer Advocates, objecting to the Draft Decision. The CPUC has not yet issued a final decision in the matter and is free to accept the Draft Decision as written, modify it or reject it in its entirety. The outcome of this proceeding cannot be predicted. Even in the event of an adverse CPUC decision, the Manager has been advised by counsel that Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal, California QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could be material for Ripon or San Gabriel, and could materially affect their ability to generate distributable cash.

Payments Under the Development Agreement

Countryside U.S. is entitled to receive an annual fee of US$430,000 (to be adjusted annually based on the increase or decrease in the Consumer Price Index) from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under the Development Agreement. This fee will largely offset the annual operating expenses of Countryside U.S. If the Development Agreement or payments provided for thereunder were terminated for any reason, the Fund would no longer be able to offset such expenses with the fee. Commencing in May 2005 USEY ceased making its share of the payments under the Development Agreement.

The Fund and USEY are currently in discussions respecting USEY's obligations under the Development Agreement in order to reach a resolution.

Labour Relations

While labour relations at the Ripon Facilities, the Renewable Energy Projects and the District Energy Systems have been stable to date and there have not been any disruptions in operations as a result of labour disputes with employees, the maintenance of a productive and efficient labour environment cannot be assured. In the event of a labour disruption such as a strike or lockout, the ability of the Ripon Facilities, the Renewable Energy Projects and the District Energy Systems to generate cash flow, and consequently the ability of the Fund to generate cash distributions, may be impaired.

Enforcement of Indemnities Against the Vendors under the Ripon Purchase and Sale Agreement

Pursuant to the Ripon Purchase and Sale Agreement, the vendors agreed to indemnify Countryside Holding in respect of breaches of any representations and/or warranties contained in such agreement. The vendors, however, will not be liable to pay any amounts under the indemnity provisions until the aggregate amount of all claims or losses exceeds US$1.05 million, subject to a maximum liability of US$7 million and a deductible of US$350,000, with the exception of indemnities relating to breaches of representations and/or warranties concerning certain fundamental corporate matters, tax matters and environmental matters, for which the maximum liability is limited to the cash purchase price paid by Countryside Holding under the Purchase and Sale Agreement. Further, it is not certain that the vendors will have sufficient assets to satisfy any claims for indemnification at the time an indemnification claim is made or a judgment respecting such a claim is entered. As a result, there can be no assurance that Countryside Holding will be able to obtain from the vendors under the Purchase and Sale Agreement the full amount of any damages suffered by it in respect of any breaches of representations and/or warranties by such vendors.

Cinergy/Duke Energy Merger

As a result of the pending merger between Cinergy and Duke Energy, Cinergy's indirect interest in USEB may be sold and/or Cinergy executives currently involved in the management of USEB may no longer serve in such roles. Such events, if they occurred, may be adverse to USEB.

Risks Related to the Structure of the Fund

Dependence on Ripon, USEB and USE Canada

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust which is dependent on the the Manager, operations and assets of Ripon through the indirect majority ownership of its membership interests, USEB through the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty

Interest and on the management of USE Canada through the indirect ownership of all of its outstanding common shares. Although the Fund intends to distribute all income earned by the Fund less administrative expenses, tax liabilities and other obligations of the Fund and amounts, if any, paid by the Fund in connection with the redemption of Units, there can be no assurance regarding the amounts of income to be generated from Ripon, the USEB Loans, the USEB Royalty Interest and USE Canada, and paid to the Fund which will depend upon numerous factors, some of which will be beyond the control of the Manager. Problems at USEB may affect USEB's ability to service the USEB Loans and pay Royalties on the USEB Royalty Interest and may breach the restrictions contained in the USEB Loans. The Fund has no ownership or governance rights respecting USEY and USEB, other than certain limited rights arising out of certain of the covenants in the USEB Loans and USEB Royalty Interest, and therefore has limited influence over the management of USEY and USEB. In the event of a breach of the USEB Loans, Countryside Canada may have to attempt to realize on the security underlying the USEB Loans and there can be no assurance that the assets of USEB and its subsidiaries will be sufficient to repay the USEB Loans.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

Pursuant to the Management Agreement and the Administration Agreement, the Fund and its subsidiaries rely substantially on the Manager and the Administrator for management, administration and project development functions. See "Management and Administration Agreements — Management Agreement" and "Management and Administration Agreements — Administration Agreement".

There may be circumstances in which the interests of the Manager, its affiliates or entities managed by such parties may conflict with those of the Fund, Countryside Canada, its subsidiaries, the Unitholders and the Debentureholders. Although the Executives are required to devote a significant majority of their time for the benefit of Countryside Canada, Countryside Holding and its subsidiaries and to the development of projects reasonably expected to be within the acquisition criteria of the Fund, the Manager's personnel are not required to devote their time exclusively to these activities. Further, while the Manager is prohibited from providing management and administrative services to third parties other than the Fund, the Manager may develop and own energy and utility infrastructure projects for its own account or jointly with third parties, subject to its obligation to provide the Fund with a first opportunity to invest in such projects as described below. Thus, subject to the constraints described above, the Manager and its executives may engage in activities similar to the current activities of the Fund, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries.

The Manager and its affiliates will provide Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries with the first opportunity to invest in any entity or asset that meets the investment criteria of the Fund and Countryside Canada that the Manager or its affiliates develop, own or control. The Manager shall only be free to offer such investment opportunities to third parties or to pursue them for its own account if Countryside Canada or its subsidiaries decline or are unable to pursue such opportunities.

There may be situations in which the interests of USEY, USEB, the Cinergy subsidiary that holds its interest in USEB and/or management of Countryside U.S. will conflict with those of the Fund and its subsidiaries. Countryside Canada and USEB may have conflicting interests under the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest. The Fund, USEY and the relevant Cinergy subsidiary may have conflicting interests under the Development Agreement and the Improvement Agreement. USEY, USEB, their subsidiaries, and the management of Countryside U.S. may engage in activities similar to and in competition with the activities of the Fund and its subsidiaries. There may be situations where Unitholders are dependent upon the Manager and Administrator for the management and administration of the Fund and its subsidiaries, and the management of USEB for the management and operation of the Renewable Energy Projects.

Further provisions in the Declaration of Trust, which are similar to those contained in the Canada Business Corporations Act, provide certain procedures to be followed in the event of such conflicts of interests, and certain remedies may be available to the Fund where such procedures are not followed.

Reliance on Third Parties

The Fund maintains no employees of its own and is reliant upon the Administrator and the Manager for the administration and management of its operating subsidiaries. The Manager and Administrator are in turn reliant upon the Executives and their respective employees for performance of the services described in the Management Agreement and the Administration Agreement. Departure of such Executives and employees may have an adverse effect on the Manager, the Administrator and the Fund.

There is no provision for Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada to terminate the Manager within the first five years of the term of the Management Agreement except in limited circumstances enumerated in the Management Agreement. After the first five years of the term of the Management Agreement, termination for reasons other than those enumerated will require payment of specified fees. See "Management and Administration Agreements — Management Agreement —Term and Termination"

Amended Credit Facility

The Amended Credit Facility contains numerous affirmative, reporting and restrictive covenants that limit the discretion of Countryside Acquisition's management with respect to certain business matters and impose burdens and potential financial risk. A failure to comply with the obligations in the Amended Credit Facility could result in a default which, if not cured or waived, could result in a termination of distributions by Countryside Acquisition and permit acceleration of the relevant indebtedness, including the Countryside Canada Notes. Further, financial or operational non-performance of USEB may impact Countryside Acquisition's compliance with certain covenants under the Amended Credit Facility and thereby limit the Fund's ability to receive dividends from Countryside Acquisition. If the indebtedness under the Amended Credit Facility, including any possible hedge contracts with the lenders, were to be accelerated, there can be no assurance that the assets of Countryside Acquisition would be sufficient to repay in full that indebtedness. Upon maturity of the Amended Credit Facility, Countryside Acquisition intends to renew or refinance the Amended Credit Facility at then-current market rates. If Countryside Acquisition is unable to refinance or renew the Amended Credit Facility on comparable or better terms, there may be an adverse effect on cash distributions to Unitholders and Debentureholders.

Public Company Litigation Risk

Because USEY and Cinergy are U.S. publicly-listed companies, any transaction or agreement between USEY or USEB, on the one hand, and the Fund or its subsidiaries, on the other (including the transactions contemplated by the Acquisition Agreement, the USEB Loan Agreement or the agreement creating the USEB Royalty Interest), may be subject to claims by the public security holders and creditors of USEY and Cinergy, which could in turn subject the Fund and/or its subsidiaries to litigation. Litigation is expensive, time consuming and may divert the attention of the Manager away from the operation of the Fund.

In December 2005, two shareholders of USEY commenced an action in the Delaware Court of Chancery against USEY, the current directors of USEY, certain former directors and officers of USEY (including Mssrs. Mornhed, Campana and Rothman), the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power alleging, among other things, that the defendants violated the Delaware General Corporations Law and fiduciary duties to USEY shareholders in connection with USEY's sale of indirect ownership of the District Energy Systems to the Fund and the consummation of the April 2004 USEB Loan transaction. The Plaintiffs seek damages and equitable relief. The Fund, Countryside U.S. Power and Mssrs. Mornhed, Campana and Rothman believe that the claims alleged against them are without merit. All of the foregoing defendants have moved to dismiss the action on, among other grounds, failure to state cause of action, laches and lack of personal jurisdiction. Such motion is pending. In the event the suit is neither resolved nor dismissed, the Fund, Countryside U.S. Power and Mssrs. Mornhed, Campana and Rothman intend to defend the suit vigorously. Although the likelihood of an adverse judgment cannot be assessed at this early stage, the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power do not believe it is likely that the litigation will have a material adverse affect on the Fund or Countryside U.S. Power.

Tax-Related Risks

There can be no assurance that Canadian federal income tax laws and administrative policies respecting the treatment of mutual fund trusts will not be changed in a manner that adversely affects the holders of Units. If the Fund ceases to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, the income tax considerations described herein under the heading "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations" would be materially and adversely different in certain respects, including that the Securities may cease to be qualified investments for Plans. The Tax Act imposes penalties for the acquisition or holding of non-qualified investments.

The 2004 Budget Proposals included proposed amendments to the Tax Act to restrict direct and indirect holdings in certain "business income trusts" (as defined in the 2004 Budget Proposals) by certain tax-exempt entities. On May 18, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that the application of the 2004 Budget Proposals was suspended to allow further consultation with interested parties. This position was reiterated by the Minister of Finance (Canada) in the press release that accompanied the release of the draft amendments for the Budget Proposals dated September 16, 2004. As part of the release of the 2005 Federal Budget, the Minister of Finance (Canada) issued further statements in respect of the 2004 Budget Proposals, advising that the Department of Finance will continue to consult shareholders on tax issues related to business income trusts and other flow-through entities. On September 8, 2005, the Department of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper on tax and other issues related to publicly listed FTEs such as income trusts and limited partnerships and invited interested parties to make submissions prior to December 31, 2005. The stated focus of the consultation paper is to assess the tax and economic efficiency implications of FTEs to determine if the current tax system is appropriate or should be modified. Although the consultation paper does not propose any particular legislative or administrative changes, it identifies possible policy approaches, including limiting the deduction of interest expenses by operating entities, taxing FTEs in a manner similar to corporations or better integrating the personal and corporate income tax systems to make the tax system more neutral between forms of business organizations. On September 19, 2005, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that he had requested that CRA postpone providing advance income tax rulings respecting FTE structures pending these consultations, that the Department of Finance (Canada) is closely monitoring developments in the FTE market with a view to proposing measures in response to the consultations and that consideration would be given to what, if any, transitional measures were appropriate. Further initiatives in this area, if any, including the possible initiatives referred to in the consultation paper, may be taken following the completion of such consultations. Accordingly, legislative changes in this area are possible, and such changes could have a material effect on the Fun and Unitholders.

Currently, a trust will not be considered to be a mutual fund trust if it is established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non residents unless all or substantially all of its property is property other than taxable Canadian property as defined in the Tax Act. On September 16, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) released draft amendments to the Tax Act. Under the draft amendments, a trust would lose its status as a mutual fund trust if the aggregate fair market value of all units issued by the trust held by one or more non-resident persons or partnerships that are not Canadian partnerships is more than 50% of the aggregate fair market value of all the units issued by the trust where more than 10% (based on fair market value) of the trust's property is taxable Canadian property or certain other types of property. If the draft amendments are enacted as proposed, and if, at any time, more than 50% of the aggregate fair market value of units of the Fund were held by non-residents and partnerships other than Canadian partnerships, the Fund would thereafter cease to be a mutual fund trust. The draft amendments do not currently provide any means of rectifying a loss of mutual fund trust status. On December 6, 2004, the Department of Finance tabled a Notice of Ways and Means Motion which did not include these proposed changes. The Department of Finance indicated that the implementation of the proposed changes would be suspended pending further consultation with interested parties.

There can be no assurance that the Units will continue to be qualified investments for Plans or that the Units will continue not to be foreign property under the Tax Act. The Tax Act currently imposes penalties on non-qualified investments and on excess holdings of foreign property. If the Fund ceases to be a "mutual fund trust" or if Countryside Canada ceases to have a "substantial Canadian presence" (as that term is understood for the purposes of the Tax Act), the Units may become foreign property. The Canadian federal budget of February 23, 2005 included a proposal to amend the Tax Act to eliminate the limit in respect of foreign property for months that end in 2005 and subsequent calendar years. There can be no assurance that these proposals will be enacted into law.

Income fund structures generally involve significant amounts of inter company or similar debt, generating substantial interest expense, which serves to reduce earnings and therefore income tax payable. There can be no assurance that taxation authorities will not seek to challenge the amount of interest expense deducted. If such a challenge were to succeed against Countryside Canada, or Countryside Holding it could materially adversely affect the amount of cash available to the Fund for distribution to Unitholders or available to Countryside Canada to make interest payments on the Debentures. The Manager of the Fund believes that the interest expense inherent in the structure of the Fund is supportable and reasonable in light of the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, the Debentures and the Countryside Holding Note. On October 31, 2003 the Department of Finance released, for public comment, proposed amendments to the Tax Act that relate to the deductibility of interest and other expenses for income tax purposes for taxation years commencing after 2004. In general, the proposed amendments may deny the realization of losses in respect of a business if there is no reasonable expectation that the business will produce a cumulative profit over the period that the business can reasonably be expected to be carried on. The Fund has advised counsel that it does not believe that the proposed amendments will have a material effect on the tax position of the Fund or Countryside Canada. As part of the 2005 Federal Budget, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that an alternative proposal to replace the proposed amendment would be released at an early opportunity.

Further, interest on the Countryside Canada Notes accrues at the Fund level for Canadian federal income tax purposes whether or not actually paid. The Declaration of Trust provides that an amount equal to the taxable income of the Fund will be distributed each year to Unitholders in order to reduce the Fund's taxable income to zero. Where interest payments on the Countryside Canada Notes are due but not paid in whole or in part, the Declaration of Trust provides that additional Units must be distributed to Unitholders in lieu of cash distributions. Unitholders will generally be required to include an amount equal to the fair market value of those Units in their Canadian federal taxable income, in circumstances when they do not directly receive a cash distribution.

Countryside District Energy's tax liability is currently reduced by tax loss carry-forwards. Should the taxing authorities reduce or eliminate such tax loss carry forwards, Countryside District Energy's tax liability may increase and adversely impact distributable cash.

United States Tax-Related Risks

There can be no assurance that U.S. federal income tax laws and the IRS administrative policies respecting the U.S. tax consequences described herein will not be changed in a manner that adversely affects Unitholders. The Fund has obtained advice and opinions from U.S. tax counsel on certain U.S. federal income tax matters; however, the Fund has not sought or received a formal tax opinion from U.S. tax counsel with regard to all U.S. federal income tax matters, including tax consequences of the Countryside Holding Note, which may affect the Fund.

Countryside Holding Note

The following discussion describes certain U.S. federal income tax consequences that could result in a reduction in the amount of distributions that Countryside Canada would otherwise receive from Countryside Holding and could consequently result in a reduction in the cash flow of the Fund that would otherwise be available for distribution to Unitholders. Countryside Holding intends to treat the Countryside Holding Note as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes and (subject to the discussion below regarding the earnings stripping rules) to claim deductions for all of the interest on the Countryside Holding Note in computing its income for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The Fund believes that the interest rate being charged on the Countryside Holding Note has been determined in an arm's length manner under the relevant facts and circumstances. While it is possible that the Internal Revenue Service (''IRS'') could take a contrary position, the Fund believes, based on advice of U.S. tax counsel, that Countryside Holding's position that the Countryside Holding Note is properly treated as debt, rather than equity, for U.S. federal income tax purposes is supported by existing legal authority as applied to the relevant facts and circumstances reviewed by U.S. tax counsel relating to the Countryside Holding Note. If the IRS successfully challenged Countryside Holding's treatment of the Countryside Holding Note as debt for such purposes, then otherwise deductible interest would be treated as non-deductible distributions and the disallowance of these interest deductions could increase Countryside Holding's U.S. federal income tax liability. If the IRS successfully challenged the interest rate as excessive on the Countryside Holding Note, Countryside Holding would not be able to fully deduct interest paid on such note and the disallowance of these interest deductions could increase Countryside Holding's U.S. federal income tax liability. Any such increase in Countryside Holding's U.S. federal income tax liability could adversely affect its ability to make interest and principal payments on the Countryside Holding Note and could also reduce the amount of the distributions which Countryside Canada would otherwise receive from Countryside Holding, and this could reduce the cash flow of the Fund that would otherwise be available for distribution to Unitholders and Debentures.

The earnings stripping rules under Section 163(j) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), may limit the ability of Countryside Holding to deduct all or a portion of the interest paid on the Countryside Holding Note. Generally, under these rules, the ability of Countryside Holding to deduct interest paid on the Countryside Holding Note will be limited if (1) the debt to equity ratio of Countryside Holding exceeds 1.5 to 1 and (2) its net interest expense (the interest paid by Countryside Holding on all debt, including the Countryside Holding Note, less its interest income) exceeds 50% of its adjusted taxable income (generally, U.S. federal taxable income before net interest expense, depreciation, amortization and taxes). The amount of the disallowed deduction would be the interest expense on the Countryside Holding note exceeding the 50% threshold. If all or a portion of the deduction for interest on the Countryside Holding Note for a taxable year is disallowed by Code Section 163(j), the amount disallowed will be carried forward and treated as interest paid or accrued in the succeeding taxable year. Such interest, together with all other interest paid or accrued by Countryside Holding on all of its debt in the succeeding taxable year, would then be tested under Code Section 163(j) in such succeeding taxable year. In addition, there can be no assurance that future changes to the Code and the regulations thereunder will not otherwise restrict or eliminate the ability of Countryside Holding to claim a deduction for U.S. federal income tax purposes for interest paid on the Countryside Holding Note. There have been some recent proposals in this regard. An additional restriction on or elimination of the ability of Countryside Holding to claim deductions for interest payments on the Countryside Holding Note could increase the U.S. federal income tax liability of Countryside Holding. Any such increase in U.S. federal income tax liability could reduce the amount of the distributions which Countryside Canada would otherwise receive from Countryside Holding and this could reduce the cash flow of the Fund that would otherwise be available for distribution to Unitholders and Debentureholders. The debt to equity ratio of Countryside Holding currently is less than 1.5 to 1, and thus the limitations of Code Section 163(j) are not expected to currently apply. Because the tests of Code Section 163(j) are applied for each taxable year, no assurance can be given that the limitations of Code Section 163(j) would not apply in the future.

USEB Loan and USEB Royalty

Countryside Canada may become liable to pay or remit amounts as or on account of withholding tax in respect of its acquisition, making or holding of the USEB Loans (including the receipt of interest thereon) or any other similar loans made by Countryside Canada to USEB, in which case USEB will be required to provide funds to Countryside Canada to permit such withholding tax to be paid or remitted or to otherwise fully indemnify Countryside Canada in respect of such liability. If USEB is unable to fully indemnify Countryside Canada, funds available for distribution by Countryside Canada with respect to the common shares of Countryside Canada and for payments with respect to the Countryside Canada Notes may be significantly reduced.

The Fund has been advised by U.S. tax counsel that interest paid on the USEB Loans should be deductible to USEB and should not be subject to U.S. withholding tax. However, there is a risk that the IRS could successfully challenge such treatment, resulting in some or all of the interest on the USEB Loans being non-deductible (materially increasing USEB's U.S. federal income tax liability) and some or all of such interest being subject to U.S. withholding tax of 10 to 30%. As a result, the amount of funds available for distribution to Unitholders and Debentureholders could be reduced.

Royalties, to the extent they do not exceed USEB's current and accumulated earnings and profits, should generally be subject to U.S. withholding tax at 15%. USEB has agreed to reimburse to Countryside Canada the amount of such withholding tax, subject to the Distribution Cap. Thus, the Distribution Cap may limit the amount of Royalties paid and/or the amount of withholding tax that is reimbursed.

Financial Leverage and Restrictive Covenants

Borrowings, including the Amended Credit Facility, will introduce leverage into the Fund's business will increase the level of financial risk to the Fund, and to the extent that interest rates are not fixed or that borrowings are refinanced at different rates, will increase the sensitivity of distributable cash to interest rate levels.

Adequacy of Capital Resources and Working Capital

Future acquisitions by the Fund, expansions of the Fund's assets and other capital expenditures and working capital requirements will be financed through the issuance of Units or securities exchangeable for Units, by increasing the consolidated indebtedness of the Fund, from cash flows of the Fund, or by some combination thereof. There can be no assurance that sufficient capital will be available on acceptable terms to fund acquisitions, capital expenditures, expansion projects or working capital requirements.

Exchange Rate Fluctuations

A majority of the Fund's costs and its financial obligations to its lenders and Unitholders are denominated in Canadian dollars. It's obligation to Debenture holders is denominated in US dollars.

The USEB Loan is denominated in Canadian dollars, requiring USEB to make payments on the USEB Loan in Canadian dollars. Because USEB is exposed to currency exchange rate risk as a result of the loans, the loan documents require USEB to enter into currency hedge agreements during the entire term of the loan to mitigate the risk posed by the currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. To the extent that USEB's ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loan is affected by an unfavorable exchange rate or an inability to maintain hedging arrangements in the future, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to Unitholders may also be affected.

The Cogen Facilities' revenues derived from PPAs and steam sale agreements are denominated in US dollars as is the expected resultant US dollar denominated distributable cash from the Cogen Facilities. The Manager has entered into a foreign exchange option to mitigate the effect of the resultant foreign exchange risk related to the portion of US dollar revenues required to meet its Canadian dollar obligations and anticipated unitholder distributions. To the extent such foreign exchange options or similar hedging arrangements are not maintained and exchange rates are unfavourable, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to Unitholders may be affected.

Nature of Units

Each Unit represents an equal undivided beneficial interest in the Fund. The Fund's sole material assets are the common shares of Countryside Canada and the Countryside Canada Notes. The Units do not represent debt instruments and there is no principal amount owing to Unitholders under the Units. The Units do not represent shares in any direct or indirect subsidiary of the Fund or any other company. The Units do not represent a direct investment in Ripon, the USEB Loans, the USEB Royalty Interest or the District Energy Systems. The price per Unit is a function of anticipated distributable cash of the Fund, which may change.

The Units are not "deposits" within the meaning of the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporations Act (Canada) and are not insured under the provisions of that Act or any other legislation. Furthermore, the Fund is not a trust company and, accordingly, is not registered under any trust and loan company legislation as it does not carry on or intend to carry on the business of a trust company.

Distribution of Securities on Redemption or Termination of the Fund

Upon a redemption of Units or termination of the Fund, the Trustees may distribute the common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes directly to Unitholders, subject to obtaining all required regulatory approvals. There is currently no market for common shares of Countryside Canada or the Countryside Canada Notes. In addition, neither the common shares of Countryside Canada nor the Countryside Canada Notes are expected to be freely tradable or listed on any stock exchange. Common shares of Countryside Canada and/or Countryside Canada Notes, as the case may be, so distributed may not be qualified investments for trusts governed by Plans, depending upon the circumstances at the time.

Fluctuations and Delays in Distributions

Cash distributions are not guaranteed and distributions by the Fund will fluctuate. They will depend on numerous factors some of which will be beyond the control of the Fund.

Payments by Countryside Canada to the Fund or Ripon (through Ripon Power and Countryside Holding), Countryside Acquisition or USEB to Countryside Canada may be delayed or reduced by, among other things, restrictions imposed by lenders, issues with the financial or operational performance of Ripon, the Renewable Energy Projects or the District Energy Systems, disruptions in service, fuel disruptions, regulatory or legislative actions, the establishment of reserves for expenses, working capital requirements, future capital requirements and the deductibility for Canadian and U.S. tax purposes, respectively, of payments on the Countryside Canada Notes, the Countryside Holding Note and the USEB Loans. Any such delay or reduction could have an adverse effect on distributions by the Fund and consequently the market value of the Units.

Enforcement of Securities Law Claims, Indemnities and Creditor Rights Against USEB and USEY

USEY has been advised by its counsel in the United States that there is some doubt as to the enforceability in the United States by a court in original actions, or in actions to enforce judgments of Canadian courts, of civil liabilities predicated upon applicable Canadian securities laws.

Because USEY and USEB and their respective subsidiaries and assets are located outside of Canada, it may be difficult or impossible for the Fund to effect service within Canada upon USEB and its subsidiaries and USEY or to realize against any of them in Canada upon judgments of courts of Canada predicated upon any breach by USEY of the Acquisition Agreement or USEB of the USEB Loan Agreement or the agreement creating the USEB Royalty Interest. There were no restrictions on the use of the proceeds received directly or indirectly by USEY, from the Offering and limited restrictions on the use of proceeds received directly or indirectly by USEB from the Offering which may limit the recourse that the Fund has against USEB and USEY. Any proceeding by Countryside Canada to enforce its rights as to the security underlying the USEB Loans will have to be brought in the appropriate jurisdictions in the United States. Any efforts by Countryside Canada to enforce its rights as a creditor under the USEB Loans may be subject to equitable principles and defences relating to or limiting creditor's rights in such United States jurisdictions and rights and defences available to debtors under federal and state bankruptcy and insolvency laws, the applicable state's uniform commercial code and common law. In addition, Countryside Canada's rights to enforce the guarantees provided by the entities that own the Countryside, Morris and Brookhaven projects will also be subject to YESCO's rights as a subordinated secured lender respecting such projects. The assertion of USEB or YESCO of such rights or defences may affect Countryside Canada's ability to enforce its rights under the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest in a manner materially adverse to Countryside Canada and the Fund.

Fraudulent Conveyance Claims

U.S. bankruptcy or fraudulent conveyance law may interfere with the payment of the USEB Loans. The incurrence of debt by the borrower under the USEB Loans, the provision of guarantees by the Guarantors under the USEB Loans and/or the granting of security interests by the borrower and the guarantors under the security documents respecting the USEB Loans may be subject to review under U.S. federal bankruptcy law or relevant state fraudulent conveyance laws if a bankruptcy case or lawsuit is commenced by or on behalf of unpaid creditors of the borrower or the guarantors. Under these laws, if in such a case or lawsuit a court were to find that the incurrence of debt under the USEB Loans, the provision of guarantees by the guarantors or under the USEB Loans, the granting of security interests by the borrower or guarantors respecting the USEB Loans, was a fraudulent conveyance under state law or federal bankruptcy laws or otherwise violated such laws), then that court could avoid or subordinate the amounts owing under the USEB Loans and/or guarantees to presently existing and future debt of the borrower and/or guarantors and take other actions detrimental to Countryside Canada.

Dilution of Existing Unitholders and Debentureholders

The Declaration of Trust authorizes the Fund to issue an unlimited number of Units or securities exchangeable or convertible into Units for that consideration and on those terms and conditions as are established by the Trustees without the approval of Unitholders or Debentureholders. The issuance of additional Units or securities exchangeable or convertible into Units may dilute a Unitholder's or a Debentureholder's investment in the Fund and reduce cash distributions per Unit and therefore reduce the trading price of a Unit or a Debenture.

Restrictions on Potential Growth

The payout by Ripon under the Countryside Holding Note, USEB, under the USEB Loans and the USEB Royalty Interest, and Countryside Acquisition of a substantial portion of their operating cash flow to Countryside Canada will make additional capital and operating expenditures dependent on increased cash flow or additional financing in the future. Lack of those funds could limit the future growth of Ripon, USEB and Countryside Acquisition.

Ratings

The Units of the Fund currently do not have a rating because the Fund chose not to renew its contract with DBRS. The lack of such a rating may have an adverse effect on the market price of the units.

Risks Related Specifically to the Debentures

Trading Market for Debentures

The Debentures may trade at a discount from their initial public offering price depending on prevailing interest rates, the market for similar securities, the performance of Countryside Canada and other factors. No assurance can be given as to whether an active trading market will be maintained for the Debentures. To the extent that an active trading market for the Debentures is not maintained, the liquidity and trading prices for the Debentures may be adversely affected.

Prior Ranking Indebtedness

The Debentures are subordinate to all Senior Secured Indebtedness. The Debentures are also be effectively subordinate to claims of trade creditors of Countryside Canada's direct or indirect subsidiaries except to the extent Countryside Canada is a creditor of such subsidiaries ranking at least pari passu with such other creditors. See "Description of the Debentures — Subordination".

Absence of Covenant Protection

The Indenture does not restrict Countryside Canada or any of its subsidiaries from incurring additional indebtedness or from mortgaging, pledging or charging its assets to secure any indebtedness. The Indenture does not contain any provisions specifically intended to protect holders of the Debentures in the event of a future leveraged transaction involving Countryside Canada or any of its subsidiaries.

Redemption Prior to Maturity

The Debentures may be redeemed, at the option of Countryside Canada, on and after October 31, 2008 and prior to the Maturity Date in whole or in part, at the redemption prices set forth in this short form prospectus, together with any accrued and unpaid interest. Holders of Debentures should assume that this redemption option will be exercised if Countryside Canada is able to refinance at a lower interest rate or it is otherwise in the interest of Countryside Canada to redeem the Debentures.

Inability of Fund to Purchase Debentures

Countryside Canada is required to offer to purchase all outstanding Debentures upon the occurrence of a Change of Control. However, it is possible that following a Change of Control, Countryside Canada will not have sufficient funds at that time to make the required purchase of outstanding Debentures or that restrictions contained in other indebtedness will restrict those purchases. See "Description of Debentures — Put Right Upon a Change of Control".

Exchange Right Following Certain Transactions

In the event of certain transactions, pursuant to the terms of the Indenture, each Debenture will become exchangeable for securities, cash or property receivable by a holder of Units in the kind and amount of securities, cash or property into which the Debenture was exchangeable immediately prior to the transaction. This change could substantially lessen or eliminate the value of the exchange privilege associated with the Debentures in the future.

Restrictions on Certain Unitholders and Liquidity of Units

The Declaration of Trust imposed various restrictions on Unitholders (which will also apply to Debentureholders). Non-resident Unitholders are prohibited from beneficially owning more than 49% of Units and the Trustees have the authority to limit beneficial ownership of Units to no more than 100 United States persons. As a result, these restrictions may limit the demand for Units from certain Unitholders and thereby adversely affect the liquidity and market value of the Units held by the public.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FUND

Declaration of Trust

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to the Declaration of Trust. It is intended that the Fund will qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for the purposes of the Tax Act. The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the Units and certain provisions of the Declaration of Trust, which summary is not intended to be complete. Reference is made to the Declaration of Trust for a complete description of the Units and the full text of its provisions.

Activities of the Fund

The Declaration of Trust provides that the Fund is restricted to:

(i) acquiring, investing in, transferring, disposing of and otherwise dealing with securities of Countryside Canada and other corporations, partnerships, trusts or other persons engaged, directly or indirectly, in the business of energy generation, as well as activities ancillary thereto, and such other investments as the Trustees may determine;

(ii) temporarily holding cash in interest-bearing accounts, short-term government debt or short-term investment grade corporate debt for the purposes of paying the expenses and liabilities of the Fund, paying amounts payable by the Fund in connection with the redemption of any Units or other securities of the Fund and making distributions to Unitholders;

(iii) issuing Units and other securities of the Fund (including securities convertible or exchangeable into Units, or warrants, options or other rights to acquire Units or other securities of the Fund) (a) for obtaining funds to conduct the activities of the Fund, including raising funds for acquisitions and development; (b) in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution; or (c) pursuant to any distribution reinvestment plans, long-term incentive plan or other compensation plans, if any, established by the Fund, Countryside Canada or their respective subsidiaries;

(iv) issuing debt securities (including debt securities convertible into, or exchangeable for, Units or other securities of the Fund) or otherwise borrowing and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering any of its assets as security;

(v) guaranteeing the payment of any indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Fund, Countryside Canada or any of their respective subsidiaries or the performance of any obligation of any of them, and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering all or any part of its assets as security for such guarantee, and subordinating its rights under the Countryside Canada Notes to other indebtedness;

(vi) disposing of any part of the assets of the Fund;

(vii) issuing or redeeming rights and Units pursuant to any Unitholder rights plan adopted by the Fund;

(viii) repurchasing securities issued by the Fund, subject to the provisions of the Declaration of Trust and applicable laws;

(ix) satisfying the obligations, liabilities or indebtedness of the Fund; and

(x) undertaking all other usual and customary actions for the conduct of the activities of the Fund in the ordinary course as are approved by the Trustees from time to time, or as are contemplated by the Declaration of Trust, provided the Fund will not undertake any activity, take any action, omit to take any action or make any investment which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act, or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Issuance of Units

The Declaration of Trust provides that Units may be issued at those times, to those persons, for that consideration and on the terms and conditions that the Trustees determine. Units may be issued in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution of the Fund to Unitholders on a pro rata basis. The Declaration of Trust also provides that immediately after any pro rata distribution of Units to all Unitholders in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution, the number of outstanding Units will be consolidated so that each Unitholder will hold after the consolidation the same number of Units as the Unitholder held before the non-cash distribution. In this case, each certificate representing a number of Units prior to the non-cash distribution is deemed to represent the same number of Units after the non-cash distribution and the consolidation. Where amounts so distributed represent income, non-resident holders will be subject to withholding tax thereon and the consolidation will not result in those non-resident Unitholders holding the same number of Units. Such non-resident Unitholders will be required to surrender the certificates, if any, representing their original Units in exchange for a certificate representing their post-consolidation Units.

The Trustees may refuse to allow the issue or register the transfer of any Units, where such issuance or transfer would, in their opinion, adversely affect the treatment of the Fund or the companies in which it invests under applicable Canadian and/or U.S. tax legislation. See "— Limitation on Non-Resident Ownership" and "Certain Income Tax Considerations".

Cash Distributions

The Fund intends to make monthly cash distributions on a per Unit basis to the Unitholders equal to a pro rata share of interest and principal repayments on the Countryside Canada Notes and dividends or distributions on or in respect of the common shares of Countryside Canada owned by the Fund, less:

- administrative expenses and other obligations of the Fund;
- amounts which may be paid by the Fund in connection with any cash redemptions of Units; and
- any tax liability of the Fund.

Under the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, interest is accrued at 10.95% and is to be paid monthly on the 30th day following each calendar month that such notes are outstanding. The Fund will make additional distributions in excess of the monthly distributions during the year to the extent of available cash, as determined by the Trustees.

Any income of the Fund which is applied to any cash redemptions of Units, or is otherwise unavailable for cash distribution will be distributed to Unitholders in the form of additional Units. Those additional Units will be issued under applicable exemptions under applicable securities laws, discretionary exemptions granted by applicable securities regulatory authorities or a prospectus or similar filing. See "— Issuance of Units".

Monthly distributions will be payable to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month and are expected to be paid to Unitholders on or about the 30th day of the following month. In all events, any cash, securities, or other property received by the Fund upon the sale, exchange, redemption, cancellation, or other disposition of securities of Countryside Canada will, after appropriate deductions for expenses, be promptly distributed.

Holders of Units who are non-residents of Canada will be required to pay all withholding taxes payable in respect of any distributions of income by the Fund, whether those distributions are in the form of cash or additional Units. Non-residents of Canada should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of investing in the Units.

Redemption Right

Units are redeemable at any time on demand by the holders. As the Units will be issued in book entry form (see "— Book-Entry Only System"), a Unitholder who wishes to exercise the redemption right will be required to obtain a redemption notice form from the Unitholder's investment dealer or broker who will be required to deliver the completed redemption notice form to the Fund at its head office and to CDS which will, in turn, be required to forward it to the Fund. Upon receipt of the redemption notice by the Fund, all rights to and under the Units tendered for redemption will be surrendered. If the holder has elected a redemption in cash, subject to the limitations discussed below, the holder will be entitled to receive a price per Unit (the "redemption price") equal to the lesser of:

- 90% of the "market price" of the Units on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading during the 10-trading day period ending on the date on which the Units were surrendered for redemption (the "redemption date"); and

- 100% of the "closing market price" on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading on the redemption date.

For the purposes of this calculation, "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the closing price of the Units for each of the trading days on which there was a closing price, provided that:

- if the applicable exchange or market does not provide a closing price, but only provides the highest and lowest prices of the Units traded on a particular day, the "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices for each of the trading days on which there was a trade; and

- if there was trading on the applicable exchange or market for fewer than five of the 10 trading days, the "market price" will be the weighted average of the following prices established for each of the 10 trading days: (i) the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units for each day there was no trading; (ii) the closing price of the Units for each day that there was trading if the exchange or market provides a closing price; and (iii) the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units for each day that there was trading if the market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day.

The "closing market price" for the purpose of the foregoing calculation will be:

- an amount equal to the closing price of the Units if there was a trade on the date and the exchange or market provides a closing price;

- an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units if there was trading and the exchange or other market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day; or

- the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units if there was no trading on that date.

The total redemption price payable by the Fund in respect of all Units surrendered for redemption during any calendar month will be satisfied by way of a cash payment no later than the last day of the month following the month in which the Units were tendered for redemption, provided that Unitholders will not be entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of their Units if:

- the total amount payable by the Fund in respect of those Units and all other Units tendered for redemption in the same calendar month exceeds $50,000, provided that the Trustees may, in their sole discretion, waive this limitation in respect of all Units tendered for redemption in any calendar month;

- at the time the Units are tendered for redemption, the outstanding Units are not listed for trading on a stock exchange or traded or quoted on another market which the Trustees consider, in their sole discretion, provides representative fair market value prices for the Units; or

- the normal trading of Units is suspended or halted on any stock exchange on which the Units are listed (or, if not listed on a stock exchange, on any market on which the Units are quoted for trading) on the redemption date or for more than five trading days during the 10-day trading period commencing immediately after the redemption date.

If a Unitholder is not entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of Units as a result of one or more of the foregoing limitations, then each Unit tendered for redemption will, subject to any applicable regulatory approvals, be redeemed by way of a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes held by the Fund and a pro rata share of the Fund's cash and other property (less a pro rata share of any accrued liabilities of the Fund). The Fund will be entitled to all interest paid on the Countryside Canada Notes and the distributions paid on the common shares of Countryside Canada on or before the date of the distribution in specie. A Unitholder will be entitled to interest that has accrued on the Countryside Canada Notes and has not been paid to the Fund on or before the date of the distribution in specie. Where the Fund makes a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes and any cash and other property held by the Fund on the redemption of Units of a Unitholder, the Fund currently intends to designate to that Unitholder any income or capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of the distribution of those properties to the Unitholder.

It is anticipated that the redemption right described above will not be the primary mechanism for Unitholders to dispose of their Units. Common shares of Countryside Canada and/or Countryside Canada Notes which may be distributed in specie to Unitholders in connection with a redemption will not be listed on any stock exchange and no market is expected to develop in common shares of Countryside Canada or Countryside Canada Notes and they may be subject to resale restrictions under applicable securities laws. Common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other property so distributed may not be qualified investments for trusts governed by a Plan, depending upon the circumstances at the time.

Meetings of Unitholders

The Declaration of Trust provides that meetings of Unitholders will be called and held annually for the election of Trustees and the appointment of auditors of the Fund. The Declaration of Trust provides that the Unitholders will be entitled to pass resolutions that will bind the Fund only with respect to:

- the appointment or removal of Trustees;
- the appointment or removal of nominees of the Fund chosen by the Unitholders to serve as directors of Countryside Canada (except filling casual vacancies);
- the appointment or removal of the auditors of the Fund;
- the appointment of an inspector to investigate the performance by the Trustees in respect of their respective responsibilities and duties in respect of the Fund;
- the approval of amendments to the Declaration of Trust (but only in the manner described below under "— Amendments to the Declaration of Trust");
- the termination of the Fund;
- the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Fund;
- the exercise of certain voting rights attached to the securities of Countryside Canada held by the Fund;
- the termination of the Book-Entry System with respect to the Units;

- the dissolution of the Fund prior to the end of its term; and
- any other matters required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations to be submitted to Unitholders for their approval.

No other action taken by Unitholders or any other resolution of the Unitholders at any meeting will in any way bind the Trustees.

A resolution electing or removing nominees of the Fund to serve as directors of Countryside Canada and a resolution appointing or removing the Trustees or the auditors of the Fund must be passed by a simple majority of the votes cast by Unitholders. Any resolution on a matter which is required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations will be required to be passed in accordance with the requirements of such laws, rules or regulations. The balance of the foregoing matters must be passed by a special resolution requiring two-thirds approval (the "Special Resolution").

A meeting of Unitholders may be convened at any time and for any purpose by the Trustees and must be convened, except in certain circumstances, if requisitioned by the holders of not less than 10% of the Units then outstanding by a written requisition. A requisition must state in reasonable detail the business proposed to be transacted at the meeting.

Unitholders may attend and vote at all meetings of the Unitholders either in person or by proxy and a proxy-holder need not be a Unitholder. Two persons present in person or represented by proxy and representing in total at least 10% of the votes attached to all outstanding Units will constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings.

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions as to the notice required and other procedures with respect to the calling and holding of meetings of Unitholders.

Amendments to the Declaration of Trust

The Declaration of Trust may be amended or altered from time to time by the Trustees with the consent of the Unitholders by Special Resolution. The Trustees may, without the approval of the Unitholders, make certain amendments to the Declaration of Trust, including amendments:

- for the purpose of ensuring continuing compliance with applicable laws, regulations, requirements or policies of any governmental authority having jurisdiction over the Trustees or over the Fund;
- for the sole purpose of providing additional protection for the Unitholders, provided that the Trustees receive a legal opinion from legal counsel to this effect and that such additional protection is the sole purpose of such amendment;

- to remove any conflicts or inconsistencies in the Declaration of Trust or to make minor corrections which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable and not prejudicial to the Unitholders;

- which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable as a result of changes in Canadian federal or provincial or United States federal or state taxation laws; and

- to ensure that the Fund continues to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act and that the Units do not constitute "foreign property" for purposes of the Tax Act.

Notwithstanding the previous sentence, the Trustees may not (without a Special Resolution) amend the Declaration of Trust in a manner which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Term of the Fund

The Fund has been established for a term ending 21 years after the date of death of the last surviving issue of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, alive on February 16, 2004. On a date selected by the Trustees which is not more than two years prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Trustees are obligated to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund so that it will terminate on the expiration of the term. In addition, at any time prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Unitholders may by a Special Resolution require the Trustees to commence to wind up the affairs of the Fund.

The Declaration of Trust provides that, upon being required to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund, the Trustees will give notice to the Unitholders, which notice will designate the time or times at which Unitholders may surrender their Units for cancellation and the date at which the register of Units will be closed. After the date the register is closed, the Trustees will proceed to wind-up the affairs of the Fund as soon as may be reasonably practicable. Subject to any direction to the contrary in respect of a termination authorized by a resolution of the Unitholders, the Trustees will sell and convert into money the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes, and all other assets comprising the Fund in one transaction or in a series of transactions at public or private sales and do all other acts appropriate to liquidate the Fund. After paying, retiring, discharging or making provision for the payment, retirement or discharge of all known liabilities and obligations of the Fund and providing for indemnity against any other outstanding liabilities and obligations, the Trustees will distribute the remaining part of the proceeds of the sale of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes and other assets comprising the Fund among the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests. If the Trustees are unable to sell all or any of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other assets comprising the Fund by the date set for termination, the Trustees may distribute the remaining common shares of Countryside Canada, the Countryside Canada Notes or other assets in specie directly to the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests, subject to obtaining all required regulatory approvals.

Take-over Bids

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions to the effect that if a take-over bid is made for all of the Units and the offeror acquires not less than 90% of all outstanding Units (excluding Units held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror), the offeror will be entitled to acquire all Units held by Unitholders who did not accept the take-over bid on the terms offered by the offeror.

Information and Reports

The Fund will furnish to the Unitholders, in accordance with applicable securities laws, all financial statements of the Fund (including quarterly and annual financial statements) and other reports as are from time to time required by applicable law, including prescribed forms needed for the completion of the Unitholders' tax returns under the Tax Act and equivalent provincial legislation.

Prior to each meeting of Unitholders, the Trustees will provide to the Unitholders (along with notice of the meeting) all information as is required by applicable law and by the Declaration of Trust to be provided to the Unitholders.

Trustees of the Fund and the directors, senior officers and other insiders of each of Countryside Canada and any other entities owned directly or indirectly by the Fund will be required to file insider reports and comply with insider trading provisions under applicable Canadian securities legislation in respect of trades made by such persons in Units of the Fund.

USEB has undertaken to provide the Fund with a report of any material change that occurs in the affairs of USEB and with quarterly and annual financial statements for the USEB Operating Assets accompanied by management's discussion and analysis for the period covered by such financial statements, in each case, in form and content that USEB would be required to file with the Ontario Securities Commission if it were a reporting issuer under Ontario securities laws for so long as the Fund is a reporting issuer under Canadian securities legislation and the Fund's investments in USEB generate 50% or more of the Fund's Distributable Cash. All of those reports and financial statements will be provided to the Fund in a timely manner so as to permit the Fund to comply with the continuous disclosure requirements under applicable securities laws relating to reporting of material changes in its affairs and the filing and delivery to securityholders of financial statements as required under applicable securities laws. In addition, USEB has agreed to provide to the Fund the information that would be required to be included in an annual information form or any other report required to be filed with the Ontario Securities Commission as if USEB were a reporting issuer under Ontario securities law. The quarterly unaudited and annual audited financial statements of the USEB Operating Assets will be delivered by the Fund to its Unitholders concurrently with the financial statements of the Fund for the corresponding period.

Book Entry Only System

Registration of interests in and transfers of Units will be made only through a book-based system administered by CDS. On the date of closing of the Offering, the Trustees will deliver to CDS one or more certificates representing the total number of Units subscribed for under the Offering. Units must be purchased, transferred and surrendered for redemption through a participant in the CDS depository service (a "CDS participant"). All rights of the Unitholders must be exercised through, and all payments or other property to which the Unitholder is entitled will be made or delivered by, CDS or the CDS participant through which the Unitholder holds the Units. Upon a purchase of any Units, the Unitholder will receive only a customer confirmation from the registered dealer which is a CDS participant and from or through which the Units are purchased.

The ability of a beneficial owner of Units to pledge those Units or otherwise take action with respect to the Unitholder's interest in those Units (other than through a CDS participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

The Fund has the option of terminating registration of the Units through the book entry system, in which case certificates for the Units in fully registered form would be issued to beneficial owners of those Units or their nominees.

Limitations on Ownership

In order for the Fund to maintain its status as a ''mutual fund trust'' under the Tax Act, the Fund must not be established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents of Canada within the meaning of the Tax Act. Accordingly, at no time may non-residents of Canada be the beneficial owners of more than 49% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis). In addition, in order for the Fund to be exempt from the registration requirements as an investment company under the United States Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the ''1940 Act''), at no time may more than 100 U.S. persons (using the principles for counting set forth in Section 3(c)(1) of the 1940 Act) be the beneficial owners of the Units, nor may any U.S. person be the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units. Consequently, Countryside Canada may require declarations as to the jurisdictions in which beneficial owners of Debentures are resident. If Countryside Canada becomes aware that either of the foregoing limitations may be contravened, the directors of Countryside Canada will make a public announcement and will not accept a subscription for Debentures from or issue or register a transfer of Debentures to a person unless the person provides a declaration that the person is not a non-resident of Canada. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Fund becomes aware that more than 49% of the Units are held by non-residents (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), that more than 100 U.S. persons are beneficial owners of Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), or that any U.S. person is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), the Fund may send a notice to the non-resident or U.S. holders, as applicable, chosen in inverse order to the order of acquisition or registration or in any manner as Countryside Canada may consider equitable and practicable, requiring them to sell their Units or a portion of their Units within a specified period of not less than 60 days. If the Unitholders receiving the notice have not sold the specified number of Units or provided the Fund with satisfactory evidence that they are not non-residents within that period, the Fund may, on behalf of those Unitholders, sell those Units and, in the interim, will suspend the rights attached to those Units. Upon that sale, the affected holders will cease to be holders of the Units and their rights will be limited to receiving the net proceeds of the sale.

Monitoring of Limitation of Ownership

Because all of the units are held in the name of The Canadian Depository for Securities Limited ("CDS"), it is extremely difficult to monitor ownership by U.S. residents or pension funds on an ongoing basis without undue expense and burden to the Fund. However, the employees of the Fund and U.S. Energy Systems, Inc., the Fund's promoter, were notified at the time the Fund's initial public offering was consummated regarding limitations on ownership of Fund Units by U.S. residents. Further, such employees have been advised that U.S. based employees of both companies may not own Fund Units (except for the three current Executives) and may not encourage U.S. residents to purchase Fund Units. In the event the Trustees or the Manager of the Fund learn of transactions or activities which potentially may result in Unit ownership in violation of the limitations described above, it may take further investigatory and remedial actions including those described above.

DESCRIPTION OF THE DEBENTURES

The Debentures are issued under an indenture, dated as of November 14, 2005 (the "Indenture"), between the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Debenture Trustee.

The Debenture Trustee also acts as the trustee for the Countryside Canada Notes issued pursuant to the terms of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture. See "Description of Countryside Canada — Countryside Canada Notes".

The following is a description of the terms of the Indenture, a copy of is filed with the Canadian securities regulatory authorities. Capitalized terms used in this "Description of Debentures" section and not otherwise defined have the meanings set forth in the Indenture. The following summary of certain provisions of the Indenture is subject to, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, all the provisions of the Indenture.

General

The Debentures are limited in the aggregate principal amount to a maximum of US$55 million. The Debentures are dated as of November 14, 2005 and will mature on October 31, 2012. The Debentures are issued in denominations of US$1,000 and integral multiples thereof. The Debentures bear interest from the date of issue at a rate of 6.25% per annum payable semi-annually in arrears on April 30 and October 31 in each year, commencing on April 30, 2006. The interest on the Debentures is payable in lawful money of the United States of America, or at the option of Countryside Canada, by delivery of Units of the Fund to the Debenture Trustee for sale through the facilities of a registered broker/dealer, in which event holders of Debentures will be entitled to receive a cash payment equal to the interest owed from the proceeds of the sale of the requisite number of Units by the Debenture Trustee. The first interest payment will include interest from the date of closing of the Offering up to, but excluding, April 30, 2006.

The principal on the Debentures is payable in lawful money of the United States of America or, at the option of Countryside Canada and subject to applicable regulatory approval, by delivery of Units as further described below under ''— Payment Upon Redemption or Maturity'' and ''— Redemption and Purchase''.

The Debentures are direct obligations of Countryside Canada and are not secured by any mortgage, pledge, hypothec or other charge and rank senior to other liabilities of Countryside Canada as described under ''Subordination'' below. The Indenture does not restrict Countryside Canada from incurring additional indebtedness for borrowed money or from mortgaging, pledging or charging its properties to secure any indebtedness.

The Debentures are transferable at, and may be presented for exchange at, the principal offices of the Debenture Trustee in Toronto, Ontario.

Exchange Privilege

The Debentures are exchangeable at the holder's option into fully-paid, non-assessable and freely-tradeable Units at any time prior to 5:00 p.m. (Toronto time) on the earlier of the Maturity Date and the business day immediately preceding the date specified by Countryside Canada for redemption of the Debentures, at an exchange price of $10.75 per Unit, being an exchange ratio of 109.4884 Units for each US$1,000 principal amount of Debentures. No adjustment will be made to the record dates for distribution of Units issuable on exchange. Debenture holders exchanging their Debentures will receive accrued and unpaid interest thereon up to, but excluding, the date of exchange. Pursuant to the Indenture, a Debenture shall be deemed to be surrendered for exchange on the date on which it is so surrendered in accordance with the provisions of the Indenture and, in the case of a Debenture so surrendered by post or other means of transmission, on the date on which it is received by the Debenture Trustee, provided that if a Debenture is surrendered for exchange on a day on which the register of Units is closed, the Debentureholder entitled to receive Units shall become the holder of record of such Units as at the date on which such register is next reopened. No Debentures may be exchanged during the five business days preceding the last day of April and October in each year commencing April 30, 2006.

Subject to the provisions thereof, the Indenture provides for the adjustment of the Exchange Price in certain events including: (a) the subdivision or consolidation of the outstanding Units; (b) the distribution of Units (or securities convertible into or exchangeable for Units) to all or substantially all holders of Units by way of distribution or dividend, other than an issue of securities to holders of Units who have elected to receive distributions in securities of the Fund in lieu of receiving cash distributions paid in the ordinary course; (c) the issuance of options, rights or warrants to all or substantially all holders of Units entitling them to acquire Units or other securities exchangeable into Units at less than 95% of the then Current Market Price of the Units; and (d) a distribution by the Fund to all or substantially all the holders of outstanding Units of (i) units of any class other than Units and other than units distributed to Unitholders who have elected to receive dividends or distributions in the form of such units in lieu of dividends or distributions paid in the ordinary course, (ii) rights, options, or warrants (excluding rights, options or warrants entitling the holders thereof for a period of not more than 45 days to subscribe for or purchase Units or securities exchangeable into Units), (iii) evidences of its indebtedness, or (iv) assets (excluding dividends or distributions paid in the ordinary course). There will be no adjustment of the Exchange Price in respect of any event described in (a), (b), (c) or (d) above if, subject to prior regulatory approval, Debentureholders are allowed to participate as though they had exchanged their Debentures prior to the applicable record date or effective date. Countryside Canada will not be required to make adjustments in the Exchange Price unless the cumulative effect of such adjustments would change the Exchange Price by at least 1%.

No fractional Units will be issued on any exchange but in lieu thereof Countryside Canada shall satisfy fractional interest by a cash payment equal to the current market price of such fractional interest.

Payment Upon Redemption or Maturity

On redemption or at Maturity, Countryside Canada will repay the indebtedness represented by the Debentures by paying to the Debenture Trustee in lawful money of the United States of America an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Debentures, together with accrued and unpaid interest thereon, or at the option of Countryside Canada, upon at least 30 days' and not more than 60 days' prior notice, by delivery of a number of freely tradeable Units obtained by dividing the principal amount of the Debentures by 95% of the Current Market Price on the redemption date or at Maturity, as applicable.

Redemption and Purchase

The Debentures are not be redeemable on or prior to October 31, 2008. After October 31, 2008 and prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures are redeemable in whole or in part at the option of Countryside Canada on not more than 60 days and not less than 30 days prior notice at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest, provided that the weighted average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending on the fifth trading day preceding the day prior to the date upon which the notice of redemption is given is at least 125% of the Exchange Price.

On or after October 31, 2010, the Debentures are be redeemable prior to Maturity in whole or in part at the option of Countryside Canada on not more than 60 days and not less than 30 days prior notice at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest.

Subject to regulatory approval, Countryside Canada may, at its option, elect to satisfy its obligation to pay the principal amount of the Debentures on redemption or at maturity through, in whole or in part, the delivery of freely-tradeable Units. The Fund will take all actions and do all things necessary or desirable to enable and permit Countryside Canada, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations to deliver the requisite number of Units to the extent holders exercise their exchange right.

Countryside Canada or any of its affiliates have the right to purchase Debentures in the market, by tender or by private contract, provided however, that if an event of default under the Indenture has occurred and is continuing, Countryside Canada or any of its affiliates will not have the right to purchase Debentures by private contract.

Canadian Withholding Tax

Any holder of Debentures who is not resident in Canada for the purposes of the Tax Act is subject to withholding tax in respect of any payment or deemed payment of interest thereon. Applicable amounts will be withheld from cash payments of interest or deemed interest by Countryside Canada and used to satisfy this withholding tax obligation. To the extent that any such payment or deemed payment of interest is satisfied by Countryside Canada delivering Units to the non-resident holder, for example, on an exchange of Debentures into Units, Countryside Canada will withhold from the holder a portion of the Units that would have been so delivered to the non-resident holder. These withheld Units will be sold on the TSX and the proceeds from this sale will be used to satisfy the withholding tax obligation. Countryside Canada is entitled to withhold that number of Units that, when sold on the TSX, will yield cash proceeds (net of applicable expenses) sufficient to satisfy the withholding tax obligation. Any net proceeds from this sale in excess of the withholding tax obligation will be remitted to the non-resident holder of Debentures.

Subordination

The payment of the principal of, and interest on, the Debentures rank senior to Subordinated Intercompany Debt and subordinate in right of payment, as set forth in the Indenture, to the prior payment in full of all Senior Secured Indebtedness of Countryside Canada. The Debentures are effectively subordinate to claims of trade creditors of direct or indirect subsidiaries of Countryside Canada. "Subordinated Intercompany Debt" means intercompany debt of Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries. "Senior Secured Indebtedness" of Countryside Canada is defined in the Indenture as all secured indebtedness, liabilities and obligations of Countryside Canada including the indebtedness under the Amended Credit Facility but excluding the Debentures, whether outstanding on the date of the Indenture or thereafter created, incurred, assumed or guaranteed in connection with the acquisition by Countryside Canada of any businesses, properties or other assets or for monies borrowed or raised by whatever means (including, without limitation, by means of commercial paper, banker's acceptances, letters of credit, debt instruments, bank debt and financial leases, and any other secured liability evidenced by bonds, debentures, notes or similar instruments) or in connection with the acquisition of any businesses, properties or other assets or for monies borrowed or raised by whatever means (including, without limitation, by means of commercial paper, banker's acceptances, letters of credit, debt instruments, bank debt and financial leases, and any other secured liability evidenced by bonds, debentures, notes or similar instruments) by others including, without limitation, any subsidiary (as defined in the Securities Act (Ontario)) of Countryside Canada, for payment of which Countryside Canada is responsible or liable, whether absolutely or contingently.

The Indenture provides that in the event of any insolvency or bankruptcy proceedings, or any receivership, liquidation, reorganization or other similar proceedings relative to Countryside Canada, or to its property or assets, or in the event of any proceedings for voluntary liquidation, dissolution or other winding-up of Countryside Canada, whether or not involving insolvency or bankruptcy, or any marshalling of the assets and liabilities of Countryside Canada, then those creditors entitled to Senior Secured Indebtedness will receive payment in full before the holders of Debentures will be entitled to receive any payment or distribution of any kind or character, whether in cash, property or securities, which may be payable or deliverable in any such event in respect of any of the Debentures or any unpaid interest accrued thereon. The Indenture also provides that Countryside Canada will not make any payments when an event of default has occurred under the Senior Secured Indebtedness and is continuing.

Priority over Unit Distributions

The Declaration of Trust provides that certain expenses and liabilities of the Fund must be deducted in calculating the amount to be distributed to Unitholders. Accordingly, the funds required to satisfy the interest payable on the Debentures, as well as the amount payable upon redemption or maturity of the Debentures or upon an Event of Default (as defined below), will be deducted and withheld from the amounts that would otherwise be payable as distributions to Unitholders.

Put Right Upon a Change of Control

Upon the occurrence of a change of control of the Fund involving the acquisition of voting control or direction over 662/3% or more of the outstanding Units and securities exchangeable into or carrying the right to acquire Units by any person or group of persons acting jointly or in concert (a "Change of Control"), each holder of Debentures may require (the "Change of Control Put Right") Countryside Canada to purchase, on the date which is 30 days following the giving of notice of the Change of Control as set out below (the "Put Date"), the whole or any part of such holder's Debentures at a price equal to 101% of the principal amount thereof (the "Put Price") plus accrued and unpaid interest up to, but excluding, the Put Date.

If 90% or more in the aggregate principal amount of the Debentures outstanding on the date of the giving of notice of the Change of Control have been tendered for purchase on the Put Date, Countryside Canada will have the right to redeem all the remaining Debentures on such date at the Put Price, together with accrued and unpaid interest up to, but excluding, the Put Date. Notice of such redemption must be given to the Debenture Trustee prior to the Put Date and as soon as possible thereafter, by the Debenture Trustee to the holders of the Debentures not tendered for purchase. The principal on the Debenture will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America or, at the option of the Fund and subject to applicable regulatory approval, by delivery of Units to satisfy, in whole or in part, its obligation to repay the principal amount of the Debentures.

The Indenture contains notification provisions to the following effect:

(a) Countryside Canada will promptly give written notice to the Debenture Trustee of the occurrence of a Change of Control and the Debenture Trustee will thereafter give to the holders of Debentures a notice of the Change of Control, the repayment right of the holders of Debentures and the right of Countryside Canada to redeem untendered Debentures under certain circumstances; and

(b) a holder of Debentures, to exercise the right to require Countryside Canada to purchase its Debentures, must deliver to the Debenture Trustee, not less than five business days prior to the Put Date, written notice of the holder's exercise of such right, together with the Debentures with respect to which the right is being exercised, duly endorsed for transfer.

Modification

The rights of the holders of any series of Debentures may be modified in accordance with the terms of the Indenture. For that purpose, among others, the Indenture contains certain provisions that will make binding on all holders of Debentures resolutions passed at meetings of the holders of such Debentures by votes cast thereat by holders of not less than 662/3% of the principal amount of the Debentures and then outstanding present at the meeting or represented by proxy, or rendered by instruments in writing signed by the holders of not less than 662/3% of the principal amount of Debentures and then outstanding. In certain cases, the modification will, instead or in addition, require assent by the holders of the required percentage of Debentures of each particularly affected series. Under the Indenture, the Debenture Trustee will have the right to make certain amendments to the Indenture in its discretion, without the consent of the holders of the Debentures.

Events of Default

The Indenture provide that an event of default in respect of the Debentures will occur if any one or more of the following described events has occurred and is continuing: (i) failure for 15 days to pay interest on the Debentures, when due; (ii) failure to pay principal or premium, if any, on the Debentures, whether at maturity, upon redemption, by declaration or otherwise; (iii) certain events of bankruptcy, insolvency or reorganization of Countryside Canada under bankruptcy or insolvency laws; or (iv) default in the observance or performance of any material covenant or condition of the Indenture and the continuance of such default for a period of 30 days after notice in writing has been given by the Debenture Trustee to Countryside Canada specifying the default and requiring Countryside Canada to rectify same. If an event of default has occurred and is continuing, the Debenture Trustee may, in its discretion, and shall, upon the request of holders of not less than 25% in principal amount of the Debentures and then outstanding, declare the principal of and interest on all outstanding Debentures to be immediately due and payable. In certain cases, the holders of a majority of the principal amount of the Debentures, may, on behalf of the holders of all Debentures, waive any event of default under the Indenture and/or cancel any such declaration upon such terms and conditions as such holders shall prescribe.

Offers for Debentures

The Indenture contains provisions to the effect that if an offer is made for the Debentures then outstanding which is a take-over bid for the Debentures within the meaning of the Securities Act (Ontario) and not less than 90% of the Debentures then outstanding (other than Debentures held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror) are taken up and paid for by the offeror, the offeror will be entitled to acquire the Debentures held by holders of Debentures who did not accept the offer on the terms offered by the offeror, provided that holders of Debentures will have the right to elect to be paid the fair value of their Debentures by providing notice to the offeror and following the other procedures set forth in the Indenture.

Limitations on Ownership

In order for the Fund to maintain its status as a ''mutual fund trust'' under the Tax Act, the Fund must not be established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents of Canada within the meaning of the Tax Act. Accordingly, at no time may non-residents of Canada be the beneficial owners of more than 49% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis). In addition, in order for the Fund to be exempt from the registration requirements as an investment company under the United States Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the ''1940 Act''), at no time may more than 100 U.S. persons (using the principles for counting set forth in Section 3(c)(1) of the 1940 Act) be the beneficial owners of the Units, nor may any U.S. person be the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units. Consequently, Countryside Canada may require declarations as to the jurisdictions in which beneficial owners of Debentures are resident. If Countryside Canada becomes aware that either of the foregoing limitations may be contravened, the directors of Countryside Canada will make a public announcement and will not accept a subscription for Debentures from or issue or register a transfer of Debentures to a person unless the person provides a declaration that the person is not a non-resident of Canada. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, Countryside Canada becomes aware that more than 49% of the Units are held by non-residents (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), that more than 100 U.S. persons are beneficial owners of Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), or that any U.S. person is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), Countryside Canada may send a notice to the non-resident or U.S. holders, as applicable, chosen in inverse order to the order of acquisition or registration or in any manner as Countryside Canada may consider equitable and practicable, requiring them to sell their Debentures or a portion of their Debentures within a specified period of not less than 60 days. If the Debentureholders receiving the notice have not sold the specified number of Debentures or provided Countryside Canada with satisfactory evidence that they are not non-residents within that period, Countryside Canada may, on behalf of those Debentureholders, sell those Debentures and, in the interim, will suspend the rights attached to those Debentures. Upon that sale, the affected holders will cease to be holders of the Debentures and their rights will be limited to receiving the net proceeds of the sale.

To avoid having the Fund become subject to the fiduciary and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code, no Debentures may be beneficially owned by any ERISA Plan and any transferee of beneficial ownership of Debentures (whether by initial purchase or subsequent transfer) will be deemed to represent to Countryside Canada that it is not an ERISA Plan. Any purported transfer (whether or not the result of a transaction entered into through the facilities of the Toronto Stock Exchange) that, if effective, would result in any ERISA Plan beneficially owning any Debentures will be void from the date of the purported transfer, and the ERISA Plan that pursuant thereto would purport to have beneficial ownership of the Debentures will not acquire any interest in the Debentures. In the event of such a purported transfer, such Debentures will be transferred to a trust created by Countryside Canada and sold. The ERISA Plan will not have any beneficial interest in the trust, and the ERISA Plan's sole right with respect to the Debentures that were the subject of the purported transfer to the ERISA Plan will be to receive the net proceeds of sale of such Debentures by the trust. Countryside Canada may require any person who attempts to acquire Debentures or who otherwise is purported to beneficially own Debentures to provide a written statement or affidavit to Countryside Canada stating such information as Countryside Canada may request in order to determine whether such person is an ERISA Plan or not.

Book-Entry, Delivery and Form

Debentures will be issued in the form of fully-registered global Debentures (the "Global Debentures") held by, or on behalf of, CDS or its successor (the "Depository"), as custodian for its participants.

All Debentures will be represented in the form of Global Debentures registered in the name of the Depository or its nominee. Purchasers of Debentures represented by Global Debentures will not receive Debentures in definitive form. Rather, the Debentures will be represented only in "book-entry only" form (unless Countryside Canada, in its sole discretion, elects to prepare and deliver definitive Debentures in fully registered form). Interests in the Global Debentures will be represented through book-entry accounts of institutions (including the Underwriters) acting on behalf of holders of interests, as direct and indirect participants of the Depository (the "participants"). Each purchaser of a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture will receive a customer confirmation of purchase from the Underwriter or Underwriters from whom the Debenture is purchased in accordance with the practices and procedures of the selling Underwriter or Underwriters. The practices of the Underwriters may vary but generally, customer confirmations are issued promptly after execution of a customer order. The Depository will be responsible for establishing and maintaining book-entry accounts for its participants having interest in Global Debentures.

If the Depository notifies Countryside Canada that it is unwilling or unable to continue as depository in connection with the Global Debentures, or if at any time the Depository ceases to be a clearing agency or otherwise ceases to be eligible to be a depository and Countryside Canada and the Debenture Trustee are unable to locate a qualified successor, or if Countryside Canada elects, in its sole discretion, to terminate the book-entry system, with the consent of the Debenture Trustee, beneficial owners of Debentures represented by Global Debentures at such time will receive Debentures in registered and definitive form (the "Definitive Debentures").

Transfer and Exchange of Debentures

Transfers of interests in Debentures represented by Global Debentures will be effected through records maintained by the Depository for such Global Debentures or its nominees (with respect to interests of participants) and on the records of participants (with respect to interests of persons other than participants). Unless Countryside Canada elects, in its sole discretion, to prepare and deliver Definitive Debentures, beneficial owners who are not participants in the Depository's book-entry system, but who desire to purchase, sell or otherwise transfer ownership of or other interest in Global Debentures, may do so only through participants in the Depository's book-entry system. The ability of a holder of an interest in a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture to pledge the Debenture or otherwise take action with respect to such owner's interest in a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture (other than through a participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

Registered holders of Definitive Debentures may transfer such Debentures upon payment of any applicable taxes, duties or other charges incidental thereto, if any, by executing and delivering a form of transfer together with the Debentures to the Debenture Trustee at its principal offices in Toronto, Ontario, or such other city or cities as may from time to time be designated by Countryside Canada, with the approval of the Debenture Trustee, whereupon new Debentures will be issued in authorized denominations in the same aggregate principal amount as the Debentures so transferred, registered in the names of the transferees. No transfer or exchange of a Debenture will be registered on the date of any selection by the Debenture Trustee of any Debentures to be redeemed or during the seven preceding business days. In addition, no transfer or exchange of any Debentures which have been selected or called for redemption will be registered.

- satisfaction of its debt service obligations, if any, under credit facilities or other agreements with third parties;
- satisfaction of its interest and other expense obligations, including (i) interest accrued or payable on the Countryside Canada Notes issued under the Countryside Canada Note Indenture described under "— Notes issued by Countryside Canada", (ii) interest accrued or payable on the Debentures described under "Description of the Debentures" (iii) and any applicable taxes;

Countryside Canada retains a portion of its free cash in the Holdback Account. The Holdback Account will be used for working capital, operating shortfalls or future distributions. The Holdback Account has been initially funded with $2.4 million.

Notes Issued by Countryside Canada

The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the Countryside Canada Notes which were issued by Countryside Canada under the Countryside Canada Note Indenture. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture, available at www.sedar.com, which contains a complete statement of those attributes and characteristics.

The Countryside Canada Notes will mature 20 years after the closing of the Offering, subject to prepayment from time to time as considered advisable by the board of directors of Countryside Canada.

The Countryside Canada Notes bear interest at the rate of 10.95% per annum. Under the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, interest is accrued and is to be paid monthly within 30 days following the end of each month. The interest and principal on the Countryside Canada Notes is payable in lawful money of Canada by wire transfer or bankers' draft. The Countryside Canada Notes are fully registered notes.

The Countryside Canada Note Indenture also contains restrictive covenants relating to, among other things, the incurring of indebtedness by Countryside Canada, dispositions by Countryside Canada of all or substantially all of its assets, and distributions on the equity of Countryside Canada.

Payment upon Maturity

On maturity, Countryside Canada will repay the indebtedness represented by the Countryside Canada Notes by paying to the note trustee, on behalf of the holders, in lawful money of Canada, an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Countryside Canada Notes, together with accrued and unpaid interest. If the Fund is a holder of Countryside Canada Notes at the time of such repayment, these amounts, less expenses, will be distributed by the Fund to the Unitholders.

Ranking and Guarantee

The Countryside Canada Notes are unsecured debt obligations of Countryside Canada and is subordinate in right of payment to all existing and future senior indebtedness of Countryside Canada, if any, and secured debt and guarantees of Countryside Canada, if any, and pari passu with all other existing and future unsecured indebtedness and other liabilities of Countryside Canada.

Default

The Countryside Canada Note Indenture provides that any of the following will constitute an event of default:

- default in payment of the principal amount of the Countryside Canada Notes when due;
- default in the payment of interest on the Countryside Canada Notes when due, if such default continues for a period of 30 days;

- default by Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings or Countryside District Energy of payment on any indebtedness exceeding $10,000,000 or acceleration of any such indebtedness;

- certain events of winding-up, liquidation, bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings or Countryside District Energy;

- the taking of possession by an encumbrance of all or substantially all of the property of Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings or Countryside District Energy;

- Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings or Countryside District Energy ceasing to carry on the businesses carried on, or a substantial part thereof, in the ordinary course;

- default in the observance or performance of any other covenant or condition of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture and the continuance of that default for a period of 30 days after notice in writing has been given by the note trustee to Countryside Canada, which notice specifies the default and requires Countryside Canada to remedy the default; or

- Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings and Countryside District Energy, and their respective subsidiaries, incurring any indebtedness for borrowed money that would cause the debt to equity ratio of Countryside Canada, on a consolidated basis, to exceed a specified ratio if such default continues for a period of 30 days.

Amended Credit Facility

The Fund, through Countryside Acquisition, has entered into an amended and restated credit agreement with a syndicate of Canadian chartered banks (collectively, the "Lenders") providing for a revolving term facility of up to $80 million used in part to assist in financing the acquisition of Ripon Power (the "Amended Credit Facility"). The Amended Credit Facility was drawn in the amount of $80 million upon closing the acquisition of Ripon Power. The principal amount drawn on the Amended Credit Facility is repayable three years from the closing date unless repaid earlier in accordance with its terms. Amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada. Countryside Holding and the Ripon assets are excluded from the collateral of the Amended Credit

Facility. In connection with the closing of the Second Offering, the Fund repaid a portion of the outstanding balance under the Amended Credit Facility and secured certain consents of the Lenders and otherwise amended the Amended Credit Facility to facilitate the completion of the Second Offering.

The Amended Credit Facility contains customary representations, warranties, covenants (including restrictions on incurring additional indebtedness), conditions to funding and events of default. The Amended Credit Facility is also subject to financial covenants regarding total debt to capitalization (not to exceed a ratio of 0.5:1 at any time) and debt to earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (not to exceed a ratio of 3.5:1 at any time).

The Amended Credit Facility is guaranteed by entities from which the Fund receives its cash distributions and as a result, the amounts owing under the Amended Credit Facility and any interest thereon will be payable in priority to any cash distributions to Unitholders.

DESCRIPTION OF COUNTRYSIDE HOLDING

Share Capital

The authorized share capital of Countryside Holding consists of 1,000 common shares. All of the common shares of Countryside Holding are owned by Countryside Canada. Holders of common shares of Countryside Holding are entitled to receive dividends as and when declared by the board of directors and are entitled to one vote per share on all matters to be voted on at all meetings of shareholders. Upon the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of Countryside Holding, the holders of common shares are entitled to share ratably in the remaining assets available for distribution.

Countryside Holding Note

The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the US$52,139,000 unsecured subordinated promissory note (the "Countryside Holding Note"), which was issued by Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada on the closing of the Offering. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of the Countryside Holding Note, which contains a complete statement of those attributes and characteristics.

Interest and Maturity

The Countryside Holding Note matures on the tenth anniversary of the closing date of the Offering (the "Closing Date"), subject to Early Maturity or redemption as described below. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Countryside Canada may, at any time after the sixth anniversary of the Closing Date but on or before the seventh anniversary of the Closing Date, elect to require that Countryside Holding repay the principal amount of the Note, and any interest then outstanding on the seventh anniversary of the Closing Date (''Early Maturity'').

The Countryside Holding Note bears interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum. Under the terms of the Countryside Holding Note, interest is accrued and is to be paid monthly within 15 days following the end of each month. The interest and principal on the Countryside Holding Note is payable in lawful money of the United States by wire transfer or bankers' draft.

The Countryside Holding Note also contains restrictive covenants relating to, among other things distributions by Countryside Holding or any of its subsidiaries, incurrence of liens and the incurrence of indebtedness by Countryside Holding or its subsidiaries.

Payment upon Maturity

On maturity, or Early Maturity, Countryside Holding is required to repay the indebtedness represented by the Countryside Holding Note by paying to Countryside Canada, in lawful money of the United States, an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Countryside Holding Note, together with all accrued and unpaid interest thereon to the maturity date or the Early Maturity date.

Subordination and Guarantee

The Countryside Holding Note is a general unsecured obligation of Countryside Holding and is subordinate in right of payment to all existing and future senior indebtedness of Countryside Holding, and pari passu with all other existing and future unsecured indebtedness and other liabilities of Countryside Holding that is not subordinated indebtedness. Countryside Holding's subsidiaries (the ''Guarantors'') guarantee the obligations of Countryside Holding under the Countryside Holding Note pursuant to a separate guarantee agreement. These guarantees rank pari passu with all other senior unsecured indebtedness of the Guarantors, but are subordinated to their guarantees with respect to any senior secured indebtedness of Countryside Holding. The guarantees allow the holders of the Countryside Holding Note to look to Countryside Holding's subsidiaries in case of default under the Countryside Holding Note. However, should any of the principal, interest or similar payments under any senior secured indebtedness of Countryside Holding have either come due and not been paid or be in default, all obligations under any senior secured indebtedness of Countryside Holding shall first be paid in full, in cash, before any payment on account of the principal or interest due under the Countryside Holding Note is paid.

Redemption and Prepayment

Provided Countryside Holding has available cash, the distribution of which is considered advisable by its board of directors and is not restricted by the terms of any senior secured indebtedness of Countryside Holding, Countryside Holding may, to the extent of such available cash, and upon not less than 30 days' written notice to Countryside Canada, redeem all or any portion of the Countryside Holding Note without the consent of Countryside Canada, at specified redemption prices (expressed as percentages of principal amount), plus accrued and unpaid interest on the Countryside Holding Note to be prepaid to the date of redemption if redeemed during the 12-month period commencing on a specified date in each year.

Default

The Countryside Holding Note provides that certain events will result in an event of default, including:

- default in payment of the principal amount of the Countryside Holding Note when the same becomes due;
- the failure to pay the interest obligations of the Countryside Holding Note when the same becomes due, for a period of 30 days;
- acceleration of any indebtedness for borrowed money of Countryside Holding or any of the Guarantors with an outstanding principal amount exceeding $5,000,000;
- certain events of winding-up, liquidation, bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Holding, the Guarantors or any of their material subsidiaries;
- the taking of possession by any encumbrancer of all or substantially all of the property of Countryside Holding, any of the Guarantors or any of their material subsidiaries;
- Countryside Holding, a Guarantor or any of their material subsidiaries ceasing to carry on the business carried on, or a substantial part thereof, in the ordinary course;
- Countryside Holding declaring or making a distribution during the existence of a default or event of default;
- a judgment or order for payment in excess of $15,000,000 is rendered against Countryside Holding or any Guarantor and either enforcement proceedings have been commenced or there is a period of 30 days during which a stay of proceedings is not in effect;
- default in the observance or performance of any other covenant of the Countryside US Holding Note and the continuance of that default for a period of 60 days after notice in writing has been given to Countryside Holding, which notice specifies the default and requires Countryside Holding to remedy the default;
- the Countryside Holding Note or any guarantee therefore ceases to be in full force and effect, except as contemplated by the terms thereof, or Countryside Holding or any Guarantor denies or disaffirms its obligations under the Countryside Holding Note or any guarantee therefore, except as contemplated by the terms of the Countryside Holding Note;

- a default by Countryside Holding or the Guarantors, taken as a whole, which default is not rectified by Countryside US Holding or the applicable Guarantor within the specified time period in relevant material contract; or

- a default under or termination or revocation of, any permit material to the business of Countryside Holding and the Guarantors if such default, revocation or termination would have a material adverse effect on the business of Countryside Holding and the Guarantors, taken as a whole.

United States Tax Considerations

Countryside Holding's business in the United States will be subject to tax on its taxable income at rates generally applicable to corporations in the United States. For U.S. federal income tax purposes, Countryside Holding will report on its U.S. federal income tax returns its share of the income from Ripon Power and Ripon. In computing its income for U.S. federal income tax purposes, Countryside Holding intends to claim interest deductions with respect to the Countryside Holding Note. See ''Risk Factors— United States Tax-Related Risks''.

Interest and dividends from U.S. sources, such as the contemplated payments of interest and dividends from Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada, are generally subject to withholding at a rate of 30%. However, under the current provisions of the income tax treaty between the United States and Canada, payments of interest and dividends by Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada will be subject to withholding at the reduced rates of 10% and 5%, respectively.

Conflicts of Interest

To ensure proper governance, all agreements and financial arrangements between or among the Fund or its subsidiaries, on the one hand, and USEY, USEB and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries, on the other hand, and any decision to enforce or refrain from enforcing rights with respect to such agreements and arrangements, shall be approved by the Trustees on behalf of the Fund or its subsidiaries and no person who is simultaneously serving as an officer or director of the Fund or its subsidiaries and USEY, USEB and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries shall vote on such matters. Similarly, all decisions involving the enforcement, waiver or modification or any provision in any such agreements or any other matters in which the interests of the Fund or its subsidiaries and, USEY, USEB and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries are in conflict, will also be subject to such procedures. In this connection, the Fund, USEY and Cinergy each expect to acquire or pursue investments in energy projects and businesses in the future. Their respective rights and obligations respecting such opportunities are addressed in the Development Agreement and the Improvement Agreement. USEY's decisions regarding its potential participation in an opportunity under the Development Agreement or any offer by USEY and/or Cinergy or their subsidiaries to the Fund respecting an opportunity to acquire or invest in an energy project under the Development Agreement will be made by its board of directors, and the Fund's decisions regarding its potential participation will be made by the Trustees subject to the conflict procedures described above. See "Development and Improvement Agreements".

To ensure proper governance, the Manager shall not (i) enter into any material transaction on behalf of Countryside Canada or its subsidiaries with the Manager or an affiliate of the Manager or (ii) amend any terms of the Management Agreement without first obtaining the approval of the majority of the directors of Countryside Holding, (and if applicable, Countryside Canada) who are independent of the Manager and its subsidiaries. See "The Management and Administration Agreements – the Management Agreement".

PROMOTER

USEY took the initiative in organizing the business and affairs of the Fund and may be considered to have been a promoter of the Fund at the time of its initial public offering within the meaning of applicable securities legislation. USEY does not beneficially own, directly or indirectly, or exercise control over, any securities of the Fund. USEY owns a 54.26% interest in USEB and is a party to the Development and Improvement Agreements with certain of the Fund's subsidiaries. USEB is the borrower under the USEB Loans and certain of its subsidiaries are guarantors under the USEB Loans. USEB has also issued the USEB Royalty Interest to Countryside Canada. For a description of the USEB Loans and USEB Royalty Interest see "the Renewable Energy Projects-USEB Loans and –USEB Royalty Interest". For a description of the Development and Improvement Agreements see "The Development and Improvement Agreements." In connection with the closing of the initial public offering of the Fund, the Fund indirectly acquired all of the issued and outstanding shares of USE Canada Holdings from USEY for a purchase price of $17,635,090. The purchase price for the shares of USE Canada Holdings was determined based on the pricing of the Fund's initial public offering.

The promoter is incorporated, continued or otherwise organized under the laws of a foreign jurisdiction or resides outside Canada. Although the promoter has appointed Countryside Canada, is 495 Richmond Street, Suite 920, London, Ontario, Canada, as its agent for service of process in Ontario, it may not be possible for investors to collect from the promoter judgments obtained in Canada predicated on the civil liability provisions of securities legislation of certain of the provinces and territories of Canada.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

None of the Fund, Countryside Canada, Countryside Holding, Countryside District Energy Holdings or to the knowledge of the Manager, USEB or their respective subsidiaries is involved in any legal proceedings which the Manager believes would have a material effect on the Fund, Countryside Canada, Countryside Holding, Countryside District Energy Holdings or USEB on a consolidated basis To the knowledge of the Manager, no legal proceedings of a material nature involving the Fund, Countryside Canada, Countryside Holding, Countryside District Energy Holdings or USEB or their respective subsidiaries are contemplated by any individuals, entities or governmental authorities.

In November 2004, a foreclosure action encaptioned CIB Bank v. Miss Mimi Corporation et al in the Circuit Court, Lake County, Illinois was commenced by CIB Bank, the holder of mortgages on the real property on which the project owned by Countryside Genco LLC ("Countryside Genco"), an indirect subsidiary of USEB, is located. Countryside Canada was named as a defendant in the action due to its security interest, under the USEB Loans, in Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement. While the foreclosure complaint seeks to terminate all interests respecting the real property, including Countryside Genco's interest in the site lease and related easement, and Countryside Canada's security interests therein, the Manager believes that Countryside Genco's and Countryside Canada's interests in the Countryside project should not be affected by the foreclosure by virtue of recognition agreements executed by CIB Bank, Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada's predecessor in interest. The Fund is advised that the parties are engaged in discussions that may result in a settlement of the foreclosure action. In the event the action is not settled, Countryside Genco and Countryside Canada intend to defend the foreclosure action vigorously.. Nevertheless the Manager believes, based of forecasts provided by USEB, that the USEB Loan would not be materially affected by such an outcome.

In December 2005, two shareholders of USEY commenced an action in the Delaware Court of Chancery against USEY, the current directors of USEY, certain former directors and officers of USEY (including Mssrs. Mornhed, Campana and Rothman), the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power alleging, among other things, that the defendants violated the Delaware General Corporations Law and fiduciary duties to USEY shareholders in connection with USEY's sale of indirect ownership of the District Energy Systems to the Fund and the consummation of the April 2004 USEB Loan transaction. The Plaintiffs seek damages and equitable relief. The Fund, Countryside U.S. Power and Mssrs. Mornhed, Campana and Rothman believe that the claims alleged against them are without merit. All of the foregoing defendants have moved to dismiss the action on, among other grounds, failure to state cause of action, laches and lack of personal jurisdiction. Such motion is pending. In the event the suit is neither resolved nor dismissed, the Fund, Countryside U.S. Power and Mssrs. Mornhed, Campana and Rothman intend to defend the suit vigorously. Although the likelihood of an adverse judgment cannot be assessed at this early stage, the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power do not believe it is likely that the litigation will have a material adverse affect on the Fund or Countryside U.S. Power.

A proceeding is currently pending before the CPUC in Docket No. R 99-11-022 in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply retroactively for the period December, 2000 through March, 2001 a March, 2001 decision (D. 01-03-067) which, among other things, modified the methodology used in calculating SRAC and thereby decreased SRAC levels for the period commencing March 27, 2001. In February, 2005, a Draft Decision was issued by the assigned Commissioner who found that "evidence shows SRAC prices were correct between December 2000 and March 2001, and retroactive application of the modified SRAC formula is not warranted." Various parties have submitted comments on the Draft Decision, including PG&E, SCE, a ratepayer organization and the CPUC's Office of Ratepayer Advocates, objecting to the Draft Decision. The CPUC has not yet issued a final decision in the matter and is free to accept the Draft Decision as written, modify it or reject it in its entirety. The outcome of this proceeding cannot be predicted. Even in the event of an adverse CPUC decision, the Manager has been advised by counsel that Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal, California QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could be material for Ripon or San Gabriel, and could materially affect their ability to generate distributable cash.

There is an open proceeding in which the CPUC has indicated it will review the Transition Formula for SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes. There can be no assurance that any change in the SRAC price methodology will not adversely affect the operating margins derived from the Ripon PPA and San Gabriel PPA. Any adverse change in energy margins may negatively impact Ripon's cash flow which in turn could reduce distributable cash.

(vi) annually review and recommend for approval to the trust unitholders the terms of engagement and the remuneration of the independent auditor;
(vii) oversee the work of the independent auditors engaged for the purpose of preparing or issuing an audit report or performing other audit, review or attest services for the Fund and Countryside Canada, including the resolution of disagreements between the Manager and the independent auditors regarding financial reporting;
(viii) discuss with the Fund's and Countryside Canada's auditors the quality and not just the acceptability of the Fund's accounting principles;
(ix) meet with the Fund's and Countryside Canada's auditors on a regular basis in the absence of the Manager;
(x) relay its expectations to the Fund's and Countryside Canada's auditors from time to time including its expectation that (i) any disagreements of a material nature with the Manager be brought to the attention of the Committee, (ii) that the auditors are accountable to the Committee and the board, each as representatives of the trust unitholders and must report directly to the Committee, (iii) any irregularities in the financial information be reported to the Committee, (iv) the auditors explain the process undertaken by them in auditing or reviewing the Fund's financial disclosure, (v) the auditors disclose to the Committee any significant changes to accounting policies or treatment of the Fund, (vi) the auditors disclose to the Committee any reservations they may have about the financial statements or their access to materials and/or persons in reviewing or auditing such statements, and (vii) the auditors disclose any conflict of interest that may arise in their engagement; and
(xi) review at least annually the non-audit services provided by the Fund's and Countryside Canada's auditors for the purposes of getting assurance that the performance of such services will not compromise the independence of the independent auditors;
(xii) pre-approve all non-audit services to be provided to the Fund or its subsidiary entities[1] by its independent auditors or the independent auditors of its subsidiary entities[4] provided that the Committee may delegate to one or more independent members the authority to pre-approve non-audit services in satisfaction of this requirement. The pre-approval of non-audit services by any member to whom authority has been delegated must be presented to the full Committee at its first scheduled meeting following such pre-approval.

Structure:

- The Committee shall appoint one of its members to act as Chairman of the Committee. The Chairman will appoint a secretary who will keep minutes of all meetings (the "Secretary"). The Secretary does not have to be a member of the Committee or a trustee and can be changed by simple notice from the Chairman.

- The Committee will meet as many times as is necessary to carry out its responsibilities but in no event will the Committee meet less than once a year. Meetings will be at the call of the Chairman. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the auditors of the Fund and Countryside Canada or any member of the Committee may call a meeting of the Committee on not less than 48 hours' notice.

- No business may be transacted by the Committee except at a meeting of its members at which a quorum of the Committee is present or by a resolution in writing signed by all the members of the Committee. A majority of the members of the Committee shall constitute a quorum provided that if the number of members of the Committee is an even number one half of the number of members plus one shall constitute a quorum.

- Any member of the Committee may be removed or replaced at any time by the board of trustees of the Fund and the board of directors of Countryside Canada and shall cease to be a member of the Committee as soon as such member ceases to be a trustee or a director of Countryside Canada. Subject to the foregoing, each member of the Committee shall hold such office until the next annual meeting of unitholders after his or her election as a member of the Committee.

- The auditors of the Fund and Countryside Canada shall be entitled to receive notice of every meeting of the Committee and, at the expense of the Fund, to attend and be heard thereat.

1 The Committee may satisfy the pre-approval requirement if: (a) the aggregate amount of all the non-audit services that were not pre-approved constitutes no more than five per cent of the total amount of revenues paid by the Fund and Countryside Canada to its independent auditors during the fiscal year in which the services are provided; (b) the services were not recognized by the Fund and Countryside Canada at the time of the engagement to be non-audit services; and (c) the services are promptly brought to the attention of the Committee and approved, prior to the completion of the audit, by the Committee or by one or more members of the Committee to whom authority to grant such approvals has been delegated by the Committee.

- The time at which and the place where the meetings of the Committee shall be held, the calling of meetings and the procedure in all respects of such meeting shall be determined by the Committee, unless otherwise provided for in the Declaration of Trust and the by-laws of Countryside Canada, or otherwise determined by resolution of the board of trustees.

- The members of the Committee shall be entitled to receive such remuneration for acting as members of the Committee as the board of trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada may from time to time determine.

Independent Advice:

In discharging its mandate the Committee shall have the authority to retain and receive advice from special legal, accounting or other advisors.

Annual Evaluation:

At least annually, the Committee shall, in a manner it determines to be appropriate:

- perform a review and evaluation of the performance of the Committee and its members, including the compliance of the Committee with its terms of reference.

- review and assess the adequacy of its terms of reference and recommend to the board of trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada any improvements to its terms of reference that the Committee determines to be appropriate.

Limitation:

Nothing in this charter is intended to or shall have the effect of limiting or impairing the independent decision making authority or responsibility of any board of directors of a Fund subsidiary mandated by applicable law.

Severance:

At any time the Board of Trustees of the Fund or the Board of Directors of Countryside Canada may determine to establish its own Audit Committee in which case the mandate for this Joint Audit Committee shall terminate.

Definitions:

"financially literate" means the ability to read and understand a set of financial statements that present a breadth and level of complexity of accounting issues that are generally comparable to the breadth and complexity of the issues that can reasonably be expected to be raised by the Fund's and Countryside Canada consolidated financial statements.

"independent trustee" means a trustee who has no direct or indirect material relationship with the Fund or its affiliates, the Manager or U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY"), Cinergy Corp. ("Cinergy") and U.S. Energy Biogas Corporation ("USEB") or their affiliates.

"material relationship" means a relationship which could, in the view of the board of trustees of the Fund and Countryside Canada's board of directors, reasonably interfere with the exercise of a committee member's independent judgment. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following persons are considered to have a material relationship with the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB:

(a) a person who is, or has been, an employee or executive officer of the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB, or any of their subsidiary entities or affiliated entities, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;

(d) a person whose immediate family member is, or has been, an affiliated entity of, a partner of, or employed in a professional capacity by, a current or former internal or independent auditor of the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the person's relationship with the internal or independent auditor, or the auditing relationship, has ended;

(e) a person who is, or has been, or whose immediate family member is, or has been, an executive officer of an entity if any of the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or their subsidiaries' current executives serve on the entity's compensation committee, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;

[2] "partner" does not include a fixed income partner whose interest in the internal or independent auditor is limited to the receipt of fixed amounts of compensation (including deferred compensation) for prior service with an internal or independent auditor if the compensation is not contingent in any way on continued services.

[3] The indirect acceptance by a person of a consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee includes acceptance of a fee by:

(a) a person's spouse, minor child or stepchild or a child or stepchild who shares the person's home, or

(b) an entity in which such person is a partner, member, an officer such as a managing director occupying a comparable position or executive officer or occupies a similar position (except limited partners, non-managing members and those occupying similar positions who, in such case, have no active role in providing services to the entity) and which provides accounting, consulting, legal, investment banking or financial advisory services to the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or any of their subsidiaries.

(f) a person who has a relationship with the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or their affiliated entities pursuant to which such person may accept, directly or indirectly[3], any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee from the Fund, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or any of their subsidiaries, other than as remuneration for acting in his or her capacity as a member of the board of directors or any other board committee, or as part-time chair or vice chair of the board or any board committee;

(g) a person who receives, or whose immediate family member receives, more than $75,000 per year in direct compensation from the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or their subsidiary entities, other than as remuneration for acting in his or her capacity as member of the board of directors or any board committee, unless the prescribed period has elapsed

(h) since he or she ceased to receive more than $75,000 per year in such compensation;

(i) a person who is an affiliated entity of the Fund, the Manager, USEY, Cinergy or USEB or any of their subsidiary entities.

"prescribed period" means the shorter of:

(a) the period commencing on March 30, 2004 and ending immediately prior to the determination required under the definition of "material relationship"; and

(b) the three-year period ending immediately prior to the determination required under the definition of "material relationship".

Management's Discussion and Analysis

For the period from February 16 to December 31, 2004 (in thousands of Canadian dollars except per trust unit amounts, unless otherwise stated)

Management's discussion and analysis ("MD&A") of the consolidated financial condition and the results of operations of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and notes thereto prepared as of December 31, 2004 for the period from the Fund's commencement of operations on February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004.

This MD&A provides information for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004 and for the three months ended December 31, 2004, up to and including March 21, 2005.

Forward-Looking Information

This MD&A may contain forward-looking statements relating to expected future events and financial and operating results of the Fund that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from management expectations as projected in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons, including market and general economic conditions and the risks and uncertainties detailed from time to time in the Fund's prospectus filed with the Canadian Securities regulatory authorities. Due to the potential impact of these factors, the Fund disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless required by applicable law.

INITIAL PUBLIC OFFERING

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004. The Declaration of Trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the closing date of the initial public offering ("Initial Offering") of trust units of the Fund. The trust units of the Fund are traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol "COU.UN".

The Fund completed its Initial Offering of 14,905,366 trust units on April 8, 2004 for net proceeds of $136,350.

The Fund was established to invest indirectly in 22 renewable power and energy (the "Renewable Projects") and two district energy systems (the "District Energy Systems"). The Fund's indirect investments consist of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB") and the ownership of the District Energy Systems. USEB, a company unrelated to the Fund, and owned by U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY") and Cinergy Energy Solutions, Inc. ("Cinergy"), an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy Corp., owns 100% of the Renewable Projects located outside of Illinois and 50% of those located in Illinois.

The Renewable Projects, located in the United States, currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 700,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2003. USEB has its own management and operations staff. Administration and operations oversight of the Renewable Projects are currently performed by USEY and a subsidiary of Cinergy, respectively.

The District Energy Systems are located in Canada, with one in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and one in London, Ontario (the "London System"), and together have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity.

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to unitholders of the Fund ("Unitholders") and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure projects, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

Financial Statements presented in this Report to our Unitholders

Since the Fund commenced operations on April 8, 2004, there are no 2003 financial statements for the Fund that can be used on a comprehensive basis for comparing the current period operating results with prior periods. However, as a management group, we have experience operating the District Energy Systems prior to the Initial Offering, and as such the MD&A will compare the reported period's operating results for both the 267-day period from the commencement of operations on April 8, 2004 to December 31, 2004 and the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 with our expectations for the District Energy Systems that were incorporated in the Financial Forecast of the Fund (the "Financial Forecast") included in the Fund's Prospectus related to the Initial Offering (the "Prospectus"). The Financial Forecast presented in the Prospectus is shown on a full year basis for the year ending December 31, 2004, however, the Financial Forecast comparisons to actual results reflected in this MD&A are based on the assumptions made by management for the comparable period that were incorporated into the full year Financial Forecast. We also will provide a comparison of the operating results of the District Energy Systems for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 with the 275-day period ended December 31, 2003.

Given the significance of the loan payments received, and in order to provide Unitholders with the necessary information to assess the underlying performance of the Fund's investments, the financial statements of USEB Operating Assets (as defined in the Fund's prospectus dated March 29, 2004) are being filed with Canadian securities regulators concurrently with the filing of the Fund's financial statements at each quarterly and annual reporting period. However, the financial statements of USEB are not certified by the officers of Countryside U.S. Power Inc., nor does management or the board of trustees of the Fund provide any representations as to their accuracy or completeness. USEB's financial statements of the USEB Operating Assets for the nine months ended December 31, 2004, and the MD&A for such financial results, are included with the Fund's filing for informational purposes only.

OPERATING RESULTS

Consolidated Financial Results of the Fund for the Period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004 (except as noted otherwise)

The operations of the Fund commenced with the completion of the Initial Offering and the Fund's investments in USEB and the acquisition of the District Energy Systems on April 8, 2004. Prior to April 8, 2004, the Fund was essentially dormant. The following discussion summarizes the activity of the Fund since April 8, 2004.

Key results for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004, discussed below, were on target with management's expectations for the period, as incorporated in the preparation of the Financial Forecast.

RESULTS OF CONSOLIDATED FUND

Revenues

Consolidated revenue for the Fund was $21,135 for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 and $7,878 for the three-month period then ended.

Operating Expenses

Operating expenses were $11,814 for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 and $4,754 for the three-month period then ended.

Net Income

Net income was $7,565 for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 and $2,160 for the three-month period then ended.

Financial Performance

District Energy: District Energy System operations are seasonal, with a majority of sales and earnings occurring during the winter heating season and with lower earnings during spring and fall when less heating and cooling is required by customers. The financial performance of the District Energy operations for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 were slightly above management's expectations in the Financial Forecast.

USEB Loan: The terms of the USEB loan agreements require that USEB maintain a minimum Fixed Charge Coverage Ratio ("FCCR"), as defined in the loan agreements, of 1.10 to 1 in 2004, 1.15 to 1 for 2005 and 1.25 to 1 thereafter. In the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004, USEB was in compliance with the FCCR covenant, with a FCCR of 1.16:1. USEB also was required to establish various restricted reserve accounts upon origination of the loan and to fund two of those reserves on an ongoing basis from available cash flow. USEB's 10 Illinois-based projects receive a subsidy from the State of Illinois ("ICC Subsidy") and a portion thereof is set aside on a monthly basis into a reserve account ("ICC Reimbursement Account"). On December, 31, 2004, the total investment value of the ICC Reimbursement Account was U.S. $23,435. The ICC Reimbursement account is invested in a balanced portfolio of liquid equity and fixed income instruments. The investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the ICC subsidy received under various power sales contracts have been pledged to secure repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund. In addition, USEB is required to fund a Debt Service Reserve Account ("USEB DSR") on a quarterly basis from available cash flow after payment of all operating and maintenance expenditures, debt service, and ICC Subsidy deposits but before growth capital expenditures and dividends (including the convertible royalty interest). On December 31, 2004, the DSR had an investment value of U.S. $2,011. The USEB DSR cash deposits have been invested in high quality liquid instruments and also have been pledged to the Fund to secure repayment of the loan. The USEB DSR can be drawn upon first by the Fund to meet debt service on the USEB loan to the extent USEB operating cash flow is insufficient. Including a construction reserve account at the USEB level in the amount of U.S. $4,000 million, there were liquid reserves in excess of U.S. $29,600 million that secured the repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund as of December 31, 2004. In addition, the Fund's investment is secured by all of USEB's assets and energy sales contracts.

Distributions Declared to Unitholders

Distributable cash is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. As the Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis, management believes that Distributable Cash is an important measure in evaluating the performance of the Fund.

Distributions declared for the 267-day period	$	11,161
Distributions Declared per trust unit for the 267-day period	$	0.7488

The Fund pays monthly cash distributions to Unitholders on or about the last business day of each month to Unitholders of record on the last business day of the prior month. The ex-distribution date is two business days prior to the last business day of the prior month. Distributions began with the first cash payment on May 31, 2004 of $0.0655 (prorated for 22 days in April). Subsequent distributions declared up to and including January 20, 2005 have been $0.0854 per month, except for the distribution December 20, 2005, which was $0.0855 to make up for rounding differences. Distributable cash generated by the Fund from operations in the period approximates distributions declared by the Fund.

The composition of distributions paid by the Fund for 2004 was approximately 71% return on capital and 29% return of capital.

Earnings before interest and taxes	$ 2,327	$ 2,232

Production

The District Energy Systems sold approximately 146,000 MWh of thermal and electric power production in the 275-day period ended December 31, 2004 as compared to 143,000 MWh in the 275-day period ended December 31, 2003.

Revenue

Sales revenue from the District Energy Systems of $11,744 for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 and $4,814 for the three-month period then ended were both higher than expected based on management's assumptions used in the Financial Forecast. Sales revenue for the District Energy Systems were $11,288 for the 275-day period ended December 31, 2003 and $4,137 for the three-month period then ended. These results were driven by increased sales volumes and higher energy pricing spreads, mainly at the PEI System. District Energy Systems' revenue is mainly derived from long-term energy sales contracts with long-standing and creditworthy customers. The energy sales contracts are generally structured with energy and capacity payments, with the energy component providing the District Energy Systems with the ability to pass through the majority of its energy costs to its customers. As a result, revenue can increase or decrease depending on changes in fuel prices. However, due to the structure of the contractual arrangements, such changes typically do not have a material effect on the District Energy System's operating cash flows.

Total Expenses

Operating and maintenance expenses were entirely comprised of District Energy Systems' costs and were slightly higher than management's expectations in all periods presented. The higher expenses did not negatively impact margins as they were offset by higher revenues.

RESULTS OF COUNTRYSIDE CANADA POWER INC.

Revenue

Interest income on loans to USEB, as expected, was $8,556 for the 267-day period and $2,917 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 based on a fixed interest rate of 11.0% per annum on an initial loan balance of $107,000. The USEB loan pays principal and interest monthly. As at the end of December 31, 2004, the Fund had also received $1,211 in principal amortization on the loan receivable from USEB during the 267-day period.

Additional revenue was earned from the Fund's investment in the USEB convertible royalty interest, which totaled $410 in the 267-day period and nil for the three-month period ended December 31, 2004. This was due to decreased USEB revenue resulting from retroactive rate reductions related to 2004 rates at three USEB Illinois projects. These results were below management expectations but not considered material to cash flow.

Total Expenses

Management and administrative expenses were on target with management's expectations for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Fund expects to be able to meet all of its obligations from cash flow from operations and investments. In addition, it has $3,035 of cash on hand, including $2,400 in a holdback account. The Fund also has a three-year $35,000 credit facility from a syndicate of banks ("Credit Facility") of which $5,000 is currently unutilized. The Credit Facility is available for working capital purposes, including financing new growth and the expansion of existing facilities.

Cash flow from operating activities was $8,708 for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004 and $2,967 for the three-month period then ended.

Cash used in investing activities was $135,453 for the 267-day period ended December 31, 2004, almost entirely due to the investments in USEB and the District Energy Systems. Cash used in investing activities of $588 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 included capital expenditures, offset by the planned principal repayment of the USEB loans. Of the capital expenditures, on a year-to-date basis, $253 were operations related capital expenditures, and $1,447 were related to expansion projects in London and PEI (as described in the District Energy Facilities – Outlook – Expansion Projects section below). Other capital additions include tangible asset purchases related to the Fund's start up of approximately $99.

In addition to the completion of the PEI expansion project underway at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems, the District Energy Systems invested over $1,000 in the latter half of calendar 2004 in new expansions (as outlined in the District Energy Facilities – Outlook – Expansion Projects section below). The completion of the PEI expansion project was contemplated at the time of the Initial Offering and proceeds were set aside in cash and cash equivalents for this purpose, while the new investments were funded from working capital.

Cash provided by financing activities can be categorized between activities related to the initial formation of the Fund and separately the ongoing financing activities of the Fund. In the 267-day period, the Fund raised net proceeds from the Initial Offering of $136,350 and $30,400 from the Credit Facility. This Credit Facility was paid down by $400 in the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 to more effectively manage the Fund's interest rate spread on cash held vs. cash borrowed. In the initial formation of the Fund, the proceeds from the new Credit Facility were principally used to repay the existing loans previously issued by the District Energy Systems, while the proceeds of the Initial Offering were principally used to make the investments in USEB and acquire District Energy Systems. The ongoing financing activities in both the 267-day and three-month period ended December 31, 2004 consist of payments of distributions to Unitholders, the pay down of the Credit Facility and repayment of the capital lease obligation.

Payments Due by Period

Contractual Obligations	Total	Less than 1 year	1 – 3 years	4 – 5 years	After 5 years
Long-term Debt	$ 30,000	$ -	$ 30,000	$ -	$ -

The Fund expects to be able to renew or refinance its Credit Facility when it comes due.

OFF BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

Guarantee

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), a direct subsidiary of the Fund, delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting USE Canada Holdings' (an indirect subsidiary of the Fund) future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days' notice to WPS.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Interest Rate Swap

One of the Fund's indirect subsidiaries has entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on $30,000 of its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brings the current effective rate to 5.22% per annum. The stamping fee schedule now in place is tied to a leverage ratio (as defined in the loan agreement governing the Fund's Credit Facility). The stamping fee may change in the future if the leverage ratio changes, which could result in an increase or decrease in the effective rate of interest paid on the long-term debt. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Credit Facility on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months.

Foreign Exchange

Substantially all of the District Energy System's operations and earnings are in Canadian dollars. The USEB loan is denominated in Canadian dollars and the interest is fixed at 11.0% per annum, which mitigates the foreign exchange risk of the Fund. Therefore, the foreign exchange risk remains with USEB with respect to servicing the USEB Loans. The Fund's interest in royalties paid with respect to its US $6,000 investment in the USEB convertible royalty interest ("USEB Royalty") are US dollar denominated. The Fund has not hedged the foreign exchange risk with respect to these payments as they represent less than 2% of the fiscal 2004 revenues of the Fund.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Risks Related to Operations

USEB's Renewable Projects' ability to generate and deliver to its customers electricity and biogas (as applicable) on a daily basis and at certain expected levels is the main factor in determining the cash available for payments by USEB to Countryside Canada under the USEB Loan and the USEB Royalty. Similarly the District Energy facilities' ability to deliver steam, hot water and chilled water to its customers is the main factor for determining the cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. If operations are interrupted at these facilities due to mechanical failure or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash to unitholders.

The amount of energy produced by USEB's Renewable Projects also depends on the extraction and availability of biogas from public and privately owned landfills. The quantity of biogas available is determined by numerous factors which are beyond the control of USEB and which cannot be predicted with certainty. Likewise, the amount of energy generated by the PEI System is dependent on the availability of a suitable supply of wood waste and municipal solid waste which may be subject to adverse change for reasons beyond the control of the Fund. USEB's Renewable Projects and the Fund's District Energy facilities could be adversely affected by interruptions in fuel supplies.

Electricity Pricing

While a majority of the off-takers of USEB's Renewable Projects facilities is contractually obligated to purchase electricity under long-term PPAs, those projects based on market pricing will be exposed to fluctuations in the wholesale price of electricity. In addition, should any of the long-term contracts terminate or expire, USEB will be required to either re-negotiate with existing off-takers, negotiate new PPAs with new off-takers, or sell electricity into the electricity wholesale market or spot market, in which case the prices for electricity will depend on prevailing market conditions. Similarly, when the renewable power facilities located in Illinois are no longer eligible to receive incentives under the Illinois Public Utilities Act, it is expected that the projects will seek to negotiate new contracts in the wholesale and green power markets based on rates prevailing in the those power markets at the time. Further, the Gross Price which USEB's Illinois-based Renewable Projects receive is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in the project's respective jurisdiction and, therefore, may be subject to change. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from such forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant delines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on USEB.

Foreign Currency Fluctuations

Approximately 42% of the Fund's revenue in 2004 was from U.S. dollar-based investments, whereas a majority of the Fund's costs and its financial obligations to its lenders and unitholders are denominated in Canadian dollars. The USEB Loan is denominated in Canadian dollars, requiring USEB to make payments on the USEB Loan in Canadian dollars. Because USEB will be exposed to currency exchange rate risk, the loan documents require USEB to enter into currency hedge agreements during the entire term of the loan to mitigate the risk posed by the currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. To the extent that USEB's ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loan is affected by an unfavourable exchange rate or an inability to maintain hedging arrangements in the future, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to unitholders may also be affected. The Fund has exposure to U.S. dollar exchange risk related to any income received from the USEB Royalty, which represented 2% of total Fund revenues in fiscal 2004.

Interest Rate and Debt Repayment Risk

At present, the Fund's Credit Facility bears interest at a variable rate based on short-term Canadian Banker's Acceptances. An increase in short-term interest rates, if unhedged, could affect the Fund's ability to pay interest on outstanding balances under the Credit Facility and distributions to unitholders. To mitigate this interest rate risk, the Fund has entered into interest rate hedging agreements, which sets the base interest rate at a fixed coupon for the entire balance and term of the loan. With regard to debt repayment risk, there can be no assurance that the Fund will have sufficient capital or be successful in refinancing the Credit Facility when it matures.

Tax Risk

There is no guarantee that Canadian or U.S. tax legislation and treatment of mutual fund trusts will not change in such a way as to adversely affect distributions to unitholders. For example, if U.S. tax legislation were to change adversely or U.S. tax authorities to challenge how USEB treats certain tax deductions when calculating its taxable income, the payments received by the Fund's Canadian subsidiaries from USEB could be reduced.

Regulatory and Legislative Risk

The Fund's district energy facilities and USEB's Renewable Projects must be licensed to comply with energy, operational, environmental, and safety statutes, standards, orders and regulations enacted by legislative bodies and imposed by regulatory bodies. Although the Fund believes that its district energy facilities and that USEB's facilities are in compliance in all material respects with such statutes, permits, standards, orders and regulations, failure to operate the facilities in compliance with such statutes, permits standards, orders and regulations may require temporary or permanent cessation of operations of the facilities and may expose owners and operators to claims and clean-up costs. Any new law or regulation could require significant new expenditures to achieve or maintain compliance.

Certain of USEB's Renewable Projects, which generate and sell electric power to their respective local utilities in the wholesale market obtain certain benefits and exemptions because of their Qualifying Facility status ("QF Status") under PURPA and in the case of the Renewable Projects in Illinois, because each is a Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facility ("QSW Status") under the Illinois Public Utilities Act. If any facility were to lose its QF or QSWEF status, the facility would no longer be entitled to the exemptions and benefits thereof and may be required to cease selling electricity at the rates set forth in the existing PPAs. Under certain circumstances, loss of QF Status on a retroactive basis could lead to, among other things, claims by the utility customers for a refund of payments already made. Further, such facilities may lose all or some of such benefits if PURPA or the Illinois Public Utilities Act (or the regulations or orders promulgated there under) were repealed or modified or if any court or regulatory body adopted a new interpretation of such statute, regulation or order. From time to time, legislation modifying the Illinois Public Utilities Act has been proposed. If certain of the introduced legislation had been enacted in its proposed form, it would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the QSWEFS. To date such legislation has not been enacted, however, there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be enacted in the future. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on USEB's ability to make payments to the Fund's Canadian subsidiary under the USEB Loan or USEB Royalty.

Reliance on Third Parties

The Fund is reliant upon USEB with respect to the administration and operations management of the USEB Renewable Projects.

For a more detailed discussion of risk factors, reference should be made to the Prospectus pages 103 to 116 which are incorporated by reference.

TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PARTIES

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

Countryside U.S. has entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. shall be paid an annual fee of U.S. $430 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five-year term unless terminated by any party.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of our financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments as they relate to matters that are inherently uncertain. Changes in these judgments or estimates could have a significant impact on the Fund's financial statements. We believe the following critical accounting estimate involves the more significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our financial statements:

Customer relationships

Customer relationships were recorded to account for the proportion of the proceeds from the purchase of the District Energy Systems that exceeded the book value of the existing assets. The fair value of the customer relationships balance is being amortized over 21 years on a straight-line basis. Management has used judgment and estimates in determining the appropriate amortization period giving consideration to both the historical performance of customer renewals and the useful life of the energy service agreements in place at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems by the Fund.

USEB Loan Receivable

The Fund receives interest income and principal repayments in connection with their loan to USEB. Management of the Fund continually monitors the future expectations of cash receipts from the loan and the value of the outstanding principal by assessing USEB's cash flow generating capability and reviewing major cash flow factors such as production volume, operating costs and maintenance expenses. Consideration is given as to whether a decline in recent or future cash flow is regarded as continuing for an extended period of time or is temporary. Should cash flow be insufficient to service the loan obligation and the deficiency is regarded as permanent, the loan is considered impaired and a charge for impairment must be recognized. The charge taken will represent the reduced loan principal required to ensure that loan obligations can be met. It is the view of management of the Fund that there has been no impairment in these loans in 2004.

DISTRICT ENERGY FACILITIES - OUTLOOK

Expansion Projects

During 2004, the PEI System signed an agreement to supply district heating services to a new customer, which required the construction of underground service lines. In addition, the London System has substantially completed an upgrade project that is expected to create significant efficiencies and reduce fuel consumption. The total cost of these projects was approximately $1,000 and was funded from working capital.

The PEI improvement project was completed in October 2004, and the London improvement project was substantially completed and became operational in February 2005. These two projects together are estimated to provide additional cash flow in the range of $300-$500 per year.

THE FUND

Outlook

We are committed to growing the Fund through accretive investments. We have a disciplined investment strategy to identify and pursue acquisitions and investment opportunities. Our dynamic industry has been undergoing a shift in the ownership of unregulated generation assets, which offers a number of consolidation and partnership prospects for Countryside. Further, there appears to be growing support for renewable power generation from both government and industry in light of Canada's commitment to the Kyoto Protocol and the U.S. market trend to energy independence as a result of rising oil and natural gas prices. Countryside is actively evaluating opportunities in power generation and utility infrastructure from a financial and operational standpoint, with a view to increasing unitholder value and growing distributions.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Q4 For the Year Ended December 31, 2005 [all amounts in thousands of dollars except per Trust Unit amounts, unless otherwise stated]

March 9, 2006

PRESENTATION OF FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Management's discussion and analysis ("MD&A") of the consolidated financial condition and the results of operations of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and notes thereto prepared as of and for the year ended December 31, 2005 and for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004.

This MD&A provides information for the period from January 1 to December 31, 2005 and for the three months ended December 31, 2005, up to and including March 9, 2006.

Forward-Looking Information

This MD&A may contain forward-looking statements relating to expected future events and financial and operating results of the Fund that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from management expectations as projected in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons, including market and general economic conditions and the risks and uncertainties detailed from time-to-time in the Fund's Annual Information Form dated March 31, 2005 as well as in the Fund's short-form prospectus dated November 8, 2005 filed with the Canadian Securities regulatory authorities. Due to the potential impact of these factors, the Fund disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless required by applicable law.

Non-GAAP Measures

Earnings before interest, income taxes, unrealized and realized interest rate swap and foreign exchange gains and losses, and depreciation and amortization ("Adjusted EBITDA") is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of adjusted EBITDA and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. Adjusted EBITDA can be calculated from the Fund's GAAP statements as operating income, plus depreciation and amortization expense. The Manager of the Fund (as defined below) believes that Adjusted EBITDA is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the operational performance of a company or fund, and its ability to generate cash through operations.

Distributable cash is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. The Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis. Distributable cash is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the performance of an income trust and its ability to generate cash for distributions through ongoing operations.

Countryside Power Income Fund

Overview

The Fund, through its operating subsidiaries, owns two district energy systems and two gas-fired cogeneration facilities. The district energy systems are located in Canada, with one in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and one in London, Ontario (the "London System"), and together have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity (collectively, the "District Energy Systems"). The cogeneration facilities consist of the Ripon cogeneration plant ("Ripon Facility") located near San Francisco, California and the San Gabriel cogeneration plant ("San Gabriel Facility") located near Los Angeles, California (collectively, the "Cogen Facilities") and have approximately 94 MW of electric generation capacity, sold approximately 500,000 Mlbs (thousand pounds) of steam in 2005 and its principal assets. In addition, the Fund holds indirect investments in 22 renewable power and energy projects (the "Renewable Projects") located in the United States, which currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 710,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2005. The Fund's investment in the Renewable Projects consists of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB"). USEB is a company unrelated to the Fund and has its own management and operations staff.

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to unitholders of the Fund ("Unitholders") and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure projects, including, among others, cogeneration projects, renewable energy projects and district energy systems.

Recent Developments

Acquisition of Ripon Power LLC

On June 29, 2005, the Fund, through an indirect subsidiary, completed the acquisition of a 100% controlling interest in Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power") the holding company of Ripon Cogeneration LLC, a California-based power generation company, which owns the Cogen Facilities. In the transaction, the Fund, acquired Ripon Power for consideration of US $35,800 in cash plus the assumption of non-recourse project debt of US $59,500 for a total transaction value of US $95,300, or approximately CDN $117,000 based on exchange rates in effect on the date of closing. The Fund financed the acquisition through an expansion of its existing credit facility with a syndicate of banks led by the Toronto-Dominion Bank (the "Amended Credit Facility"). The Amended Credit Facility commitment has a maximum limit of $80,000.

Trust Unit and Exchangeable Debenture Offering (the "Offering")

On November 14, 2005, the Fund and Countryside Canada closed an offering of 4,720,000 trust units at $9.35 per unit for gross proceeds of $44,132 and US $55,000 aggregate principal amount of 6.25% exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures ("Debentures"), due October 31, 2012. The Debentures were issued by Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"). Upon closing of the Offering, net proceeds were used to repay indebtedness under the Amended Credit Facility associated with the acquisition of Ripon Power, to acquire project-related debt of the Cogen Facilities from a syndicate of U.S. based lenders, with the excess remaining proceeds used for working capital purposes.

Increase in Unitholder Distributions and Management Agreement

On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in its annual distribution of $0.01 per unit. The first distribution under the new rate was paid on October 31, 2005 to unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Also on September 23, 2005, the indirect and direct subsidiaries of the Fund, Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding") and Countryside Canada, respectively, entered into a management agreement with Countryside Ventures LLC (the "Manager") (the "Management Agreement"). Under the terms of the Management Agreement, which became effective November 1, 2005, the Manager will provide management and administrative services to the Fund, as well as new growth opportunities, under long-term agreements. The Manager will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund, through Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada, has a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by the Manager that meet the Fund's investment criteria. In consideration for providing the management and administrative services under the Management Agreement, the Manager shall be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund of all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the Manager and its affiliates in carrying out the services described above.

The Management Agreement also provides for compensation through a long-term incentive plan for each new asset, company or investment, acquired or made, by the Fund or any of its affiliates, and originated, structured or developed through the efforts of the Manager or its affiliates (the "LTIP"). Under the LTIP, the Manager will be entitled to a distribution from the new asset's operating or investment cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made in excess of the preferred distribution made to the Fund, as defined in the Management Agreement. In the case of the Cogen Facilities, the Manager holds a subordinated membership interest in Ripon Power and will share with the Fund, to the extent available, the excess operating cash flow of the Cogen Facilities on a 25% and 75% basis, respectively.

OPERATING RESULTS

Countryside's total revenue for the three months ended December 31, 2005 was $23.8 million, an increase of $16.0 million compared with the same period last year, primarily as a result of the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities. Excluding the effect of the acquisition, revenue would have been $8.7 million, up 10.7% from $7.9 million in the same period in 2004, primarily due to higher revenues at the District Energy Systems. In the year ended December 31, 2005, revenue was $67.2 million. Since the Fund commenced operations on April 8, 2004, there is no comparable 12 month period in 2004 at the Fund level.

The Fund's Adjusted EBITDA in the three-months ended December 31, 2005 was $6.5 million, an increase of $2.6 million from the prior year period, again due primarily to the addition of the Cogen Facilities. Excluding the quarterly results of Ripon and other Ripon-related expenses, Adjusted EBITDA would have been $4.2 million in the fourth quarter, an increase of 9.7% compared to $3.8 million in the prior year period. For the year ended 2005, Adjusted EBITDA was $24.5 million.

Operating income for the three-months ended December 31, 2005 was $3.4 million, an increase of $0.3 million from the prior year comparative period. The Cogen Facilities did not impact the results as significantly on an operating income basis as they did on the revenue and Adjusted EBITDA measures, due to the significant increase in depreciation and amortization resulting from the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities. Operating income for the year ended December 31, 2005 was $16.4 million.

Net income in the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, was $4.0 million or $0.24 per unit, compared with $2.2 million or $0.14 per unit in the comparable period of 2004. The increase in net income from the prior quarter comparative period was driven by a number of factors in addition to those described above related to the increases in Adjusted EBITDA and operating income as a result of the acquisition of Ripon Power, as follows: (i) approximately $1.7 million related to a decrease in the tax provision, partially related to deferred taxes on losses not previously recognized; (ii) an increase in net realized and unrealized gains on interest rate swaps of approximately $1 million primarily as a result of the settlement of an interest rate swap associated with the acquired Ripon project debt and (iii) an unrealized foreign exchange gain of approximately $0.8 million related to the carrying value of the US dollar denominated Debentures. Offsetting these increases was an increase in interest expense of $1.8 million relating to increased debt resulting from the amended credit facility and interest on the Debentures issued during the fourth quarter. Net income was $13.2 million or $0.85 per trust unit for the year ended December 31, 2005 compared with $7.6 million or $0.51 per trust unit for the prior comparative period.

Results of District Energy Systems

As the Fund was created on February 16, 2004, and acquired the operations of the District Energy Systems on April 8, 2004, the comparative period ended December 31, 2004 includes 267 days of operations and therefore for comparative purposes, the 2004 consolidated financial statements of the Fund exclude the period from January 1, 2004 to April 8, 2004. In order to enhance its usefulness, the analyses included in this MD&A of the District Energy Systems include the summary of the operating results of the District Energy Systems from January 1, 2004 to December 31, 2004. This information is provided for reference purposes only and is not intended as a comprehensive comparison of financial results of the District Energy Systems.

The District Energy Systems' revenue is mainly derived from long-term energy sales contracts with long-standing and creditworthy customers. The energy sales contracts are generally structured with energy and capacity payments, with the energy component typically providing for the pass through of changes in fuel prices to the customers. The energy rates paid by customers in London are generally reflective of the price of natural gas and are adjusted upward or downward to compensate for changes in the price of natural gas. In regard to the PEI System, the energy rates paid by larger customers are generally reflective of the cost and mix of fuels and are adjusted upward or downward to compensate for changes in the price of fuel. Smaller customers of the PEI System have rates based on the local price of fuel oil. For such customer rates, changes in the local fuel price will have a greater impact on the revenues of the PEI System than the impact that such changes will have on the cost of operation of the PEI System. As a result of the energy rate pricing structures, the District Energy Systems' revenue can increase or decrease depending on changes in fuel prices and, to a lesser extent, the fuel mix. During the last year, the global market price increases for natural gas and oil have affected our District Energy Systems in terms of both increased fuel costs and corresponding increased energy revenues.

Energy Volumes and Revenues

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, the District Energy Systems' steam sales volumes decreased from the prior year results by approximately 2%. These reductions were principally based on more moderate temperatures resulting in lower energy requirements from customers for heating. Hot water sales volumes were consistent with the prior year comparative period.

In the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2005, the District Energy Systems' energy volumes sold for steam and hot water were essentially flat. Steam sales volumes decreased by less than 1 % while hot water sales volumes increased by less than 1 %. Increased volumes during the first quarter heating season were offset by lower volumes during the remainder of the year.

Sales volumes of chilled water for the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 increased approximately 4% over the prior year and for the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2005 chilled water sales volumes increased by 20% over the same period in 2004. These increases were due to higher cooling requirements as a result of warmer than average temperatures primarily during the second and third quarters of 2005.

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, total revenues from District Energy Systems' energy sales increased by 17% from the prior year period. The increase in energy revenue was due primarily to energy rate increases, resulting from higher fuel prices that are passed through to customers as well as higher customer contract reference prices. In the year ended December 31, 2005, total District Energy Systems' energy revenues increased approximately 16%, also primarily resulting from increases in energy revenues, which were due to customer fuel price increases. Capacity payments increased by approximately 4%, reflecting contract price index adjustments. Capacity payments are fixed payments, which are received regardless of energy volumes delivered.

Other Revenues

Other revenues consist of waste fuel fees received at the PEI System as well as other miscellaneous revenue items. Such revenue increased in both the three-month and twelve-month periods ended December 31, 2005 from their respective comparative prior year periods primarily due to contract price increases as well as higher waste volumes processed.

Fuel and Consumables Volume and Expense

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 total fuel consumed by the District Energy Systems decreased 23,000 MMBtu or 7% and decreased by 39,000 MMBtu or 3% for the year ended December 31, 2005. The decrease in both periods was essentially due to the increased efficiency recognized at the London System as a result of the capital improvement program substantially completed in the first quarter of 2005.

Fuel and consumables expense increased 18% and 8% in the three months ended December 31, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2005, respectively. The increase in both periods was due primarily to an increase in the price of gas consumed at the London System. Increased costs were offset approximately $350 for the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2005 by reduced consumption resulting from efficiency improvements.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, operating, labour and maintenance expense was $1,107, 15% higher than the prior comparative three-month period. In the year ended December 31, 2005 operating labour and maintenance and repairs were 1% higher than the prior year comparative period. The increase for both periods was related to plant equipment and distribution system maintenance for both systems.

General and administration expenses were only negligibly higher in both the quarterly period ended December 31, 2005 and for the year ended December 31, 2005, when compared to their respective prior year periods.

Adjusted EBITDA

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, Adjusted EBITDA increased 20% from $1,306 to $1,560 when compared to the prior year period, mainly a result of higher margins from district energy sales at both systems resulting from higher fuel prices combined with improved fuel efficiencies at the London System. In the year ended December 31, 2005, Adjusted EBITDA increased 27% from $4,625 to $5,886 when compared with the prior year period at both district energy systems due to improved operational efficiencies and higher margins from district energy sales resulting from higher fuel prices .

Depreciation and Amortization Expense

The increase in depreciation and amortization expense in both the three-month and twelve-month periods ended December 31, 2005 was mostly due to an increase in property, plant and equipment depreciation related to the increase in capital assets including the improvements at the London System.

Results of Cogen Facilities

Power Purchase Agreements

The Ripon Facility is a nominal 49.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant and the San Gabriel Facility is a nominal 44.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant. The Cogen Facilities are qualifying facilities ("QFs") under the cogeneration regulations of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") implementing the Public Utilities Policy Act of 1978 ("PURPA") and thus are currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law. Power sales comprise the bulk of the Cogen Facilities sales revenue. Electrical capacity and energy is sold pursuant to long-term power purchase agreements ("PPA") with Pacific Gas & Electric ("PG&E") and Southern California Edison ("SCE") for the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities, expiring in 2018 and 2016, respectively. For the full operating year, energy payments under the PPA have historically contributed the majority of total power sales with capacity payments making up the balance.

In 2001, the Ripon Facility and PG&E entered into a five year interim agreement of the Ripon Facility's power purchase agreement which substituted PG&E's marginal production or short-run avoided cost ("SRAC") with a primarily fixed energy rate subject to adjustment for time of use factors ("Ripon Amendment"). As a result, the Ripon Facility receives energy payments from PG&E that correlate with the prices charged for fuel under the natural gas contract with BP Energy Company ("BP"). The San Gabriel Facility currently receives a monthly energy payment for energy delivered to SCE in an amount calculated by reference to a SRAC pricing formula specified in the five year interim agreement of its PPA which terminates no later than July 1, 2006 ("SG Amendment"). As a result of the SG Amendment, the San Gabriel Facility receives energy payments from SCE that correlate with the prices charged by BP under the natural gas supply contract, as SCE's SRAC and BP's pricing formula inputs are both derived from the same regional gas price indices.

When both the Ripon and San Gabriel Amendments expire in mid-2006, it is expected that the Ripon Facility and San Gabriel Facility, respectively, will again receive energy payments under their respective PPAs based on each of their utility customer's full SRAC energy prices, which are generally derived from their respective regional natural gas price index and utility system heat rates. There is an open proceeding in which the California Public Utilities Commission ("CPUC") has indicated it will review the formula for California SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes (See "Risks and Uncertainties – Electricity Pricing"). Although the Ripon and SG Amendments expire in mid-2006, it does not alter PG&E's or SCE's commitment to make both firm energy and capacity payments to both the Ripon Facility and the San Gabriel Facility until the PPAs expire in 2018 and 2016, respectively.

Steam Sales Agreements

Process steam from each of the Cogen Facilities is sold under long term steam sales agreements, which are coterminous with the PPAs. On a combined basis, process steam sales has accounted for an average of approximately 6% of total energy revenues based on results for the six-month periods ended December 31, 2004 and 2005.

Fuel Supply Agreements

Full natural gas requirements are supplied to the Cogen Facilities under contracts with BP that expire on June 30, 2006. Prior to the expiry of the existing fuel contracts, the Cogen Facilities intend to enter into new contracts with one or more investment grade gas supplier(s) that would provide full natural gas requirements to meet electric power and thermal supply commitments under the PPA and steam sales agreements. Pricing is expected to be structured to substantially correlate with the SRAC energy pricing formula in effect when the Ripon and SG Amendments expire on a concurrent basis (See "Risks and Uncertainties –Risks Related to Operations").

Energy Volumes and Revenues

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 electrical energy sales volumes decreased by 35% from the prior year comparative period. The decrease in electricity production was due to a planned maintenance shutdown of the Ripon Facility during November and December, 2005. The 18% decrease in the six-month period ended December 31, 2005 when compared with the prior year period was primarily for the same reason.

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, steam sales volumes decreased by 9% from the prior year period and decreased by 7% in the comparative six-month period ended December 31, 2005 due to decreased demand from the steam hosts.

Electrical energy revenue decreased only marginally when compared with the prior year three-month period ended December 31, 2004 despite the 35% reduction in electrical energy sales volumes. The small revenue decrease, when compared to the larger volume decrease in the same period was due to higher energy rates at the San Gabriel Facility, resulting from higher fuel prices, which were passed through to customers. Electrical capacity revenue, which is based on the Facilities' availability factor, decreased 21% from the prior year comparative period. This was due to the maintenance shutdown during the off-peak months of November and December 2005 at the Ripon Facility.

In the six-month period ended December 31, 2005, electrical energy revenues increased by 6% when compared with the prior year period for the same reason. Electrical capacity revenue decreased by 5% in the six-month period ended December 31, 2005 as described above for the three-month period results. Steam revenues increased by 5% when compared to the prior year period for the same reason that the electrical energy revenues increased.

Other revenues consist of interest income earned during the period.

Fuel and Consumables Volumes and Expense

Fuel consumed in the three-month period ended December, 31, 2005 decreased primarily due to the Ripon Facility planned maintenance shutdown during November and December of 2005, by 475,612 MMBtus or 31% when compared to the prior year period. The same occurrence caused the decrease of 18% in fuel consumed during the six-month period ended December 31, 2005.

During the Ripon Facility's maintenance shutdown, BP, Ripon's fuel supplier, remarketed approximately 549,000MMBtus of natural gas not delivered to the Ripon Facility at economically favourable pricing. The associated savings of $2,530 were credited to the Ripon Facility and reduced its' fuel and consumables expense, resulting in decreased fuel costs of 27% for the three-month period December 31, 2005. Fuel costs decreased by 13% from the prior year six-month comparative period ended December 31, 2004. The fuel cost decrease was primarily due to the Ripon Facility's maintenance shutdown resulting in fuel cost savings as described above, offset by an increase in the cost of fuel at the San Gabriel Facility due to an increase in the average gas price for the six-month period ended December 31, 2005 when compared to the same six-month period in 2004.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

Operating, labour and maintenance expense in the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 was similar to the prior year comparative period. Expenses in the six-month period ended December 31, 2005 increased by 2% when compared to the prior year period, mainly due to marginally increased labour and supervision expenses.

General and administration expense in the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 increased 80% when compared to the prior year period as a result of transactional advisory costs related to the acquisition of the Ripon Facilities by the Fund. Expenses in the six-month period ended December 31, 2005 increased by 24% when compared to the prior year period, due to the advisory costs notes above, coupled with costs incurred in 2004, related to a possible Ripon Facility expansion which were not similarly incurred in 2005.

Adjusted EBITDA

Adjusted EBITDA increased by $1,867, or 127% in the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 compared with the prior year period, mainly due to improved operational performance and the lower fuel costs at the Ripon Facility. In the six-month period ended December 31, 2005, Adjusted EBITDA increased $2,617 or 35% for the same reasons.

Depreciation and Amortization Expense

Depreciation and amortization increased in both the three-month and six-month periods ended December 31, 2005 when compared to their respective prior year periods. The increases were as a result of the assessment and corresponding changes in the fair values of the property, plant and equipment and other intangibles on the date of acquisition by the Fund and the resultant change in depreciation and amortization expense.

Results of Corporate and Other

Corporate and Other results as presented below include the Fund's loan to, and convertible royalty interest in, USEB as well as its' corporate administrative operations, including those related to the Cogen Facilities. The Fund was created on February 16, 2004 and was dormant until April 8, 2004, thus the results in the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2004 are not comparative and, as such, will not be discussed.

Revenue

Interest Income on Loans to USEB

Interest income on loans to USEB was, as scheduled, $2,868 in the three-month and $11,546 in the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2005 based on a fixed interest rate of 11.0% per annum on the loan balance remaining as at December 31, 2005 of $103,961. The USEB loan pays principal and interest monthly. As at the end of December 31, 2005, the Fund received a total of $476 in scheduled principal repayments on the loan receivable from USEB during the quarterly period and $1,828 during the twelve-month period.

The terms of the USEB loan agreements require that USEB establish various restricted reserve accounts upon origination of the loan and to fund two of those reserves on an ongoing basis from available cash flow. USEB's ten Illinois-based projects receive a subsidy from the State of Illinois ("ICC Subsidy") and a portion thereof is set aside on a monthly basis into a reserve account ("ICC Reimbursement Account"). On December 31, 2005, the total investment value of the ICC Reimbursement Account was US $26,429. The ICC Reimbursement account is invested in a balanced portfolio of liquid equity and fixed income instruments. The investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the ICC subsidy received under various power sales contracts have been pledged to collateralize repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund. In addition, USEB is required to fund a Debt Service Reserve Account ("USEB DSR") on a quarterly basis from available cash flow after payment of all operating and maintenance expenditures, debt service, and ICC Subsidy Deposits but before growth capital expenditures and dividends (including the convertible royalty interest). On December 31, 2005, the USEB DSR had an investment value of US $2,104. The USEB DSR cash deposits have been invested in high quality liquid instruments and also have been pledged to the Fund to secure repayment of the loan. The USEB DSR can be drawn upon first by the Fund to meet debt service on the USEB loan to the extent USEB operating cash flow is insufficient. Including a construction reserve account at the USEB level in the amount of US $3,366, there were liquid reserves in excess of US $31,899 that collateralize the repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund as of December 31, 2005. In addition, the Fund's investment is collateralized by all of USEB's assets and energy sales contracts.

Other Revenues

Other revenue at the Fund level is comprised of USEB royalty interest, fee revenue from U.S. development partners as well as miscellaneous interest income on cash equivalents held at the Fund level.

Total General and Administration Expenses

In the three-month period ended December 31, 2005, general and administration expense increased by $1,593. The subordinated distribution accrued to the Manager in the quarter was $715. A further $549 of the increase related to accruals for increased compensation in connection with the Fund's expanded operations and meeting certain operational and growth related incentive targets pursuant to the terms of the Management Agreement.

Development fee revenue and expenses owing from U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY") accrued during the period from May through September 2005 of approximately $165 were written off during the fourth quarter of 2005, further contributing to the comparative increase. The remainder of the increase in general and administration costs related primarily to incremental costs associated with increased transfer agent, audit, tax and insurance accruals.

In the year ended December 31, 2005, the $5,953 of general and administration expense included the subordinated distribution accrued to the Manager of $1,993, as described above, as well as the reimbursement of transaction costs of $437 paid to the Manager related to the Ripon Power acquisition. The other cost differences from the prior period ended December 31, 2004 occurred primarily during the fourth quarter of 2005 as outlined above. In the three-month period and the year ended December 31, 2005, transaction costs related to the Ripon transaction of $642 and $1,080, respectively, were expensed, but were not deducted in the calculation of distributable cash per unit, as the costs were part of the Ripon transaction and not paid from cash flow from regular operations.

Adjusted EBITDA

Adjusted EBITDA decreased by $1,569 or 62% in the three-month period ended December 31, 2005 compared with the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 due to a slight decline in revenue coupled with an increase in expenses as described above. The Manager's share of the Subordinated Distribution which accounted for half of the increase in general administrative expenses are not an ongoing cost to manage the Fund's operating activities,

Depreciation and Amortization Expense

There was little change in depreciation and amortization expense in the comparative three-month period ended December 31, 2005.

DISTRIBUTIONS DECLARED TO UNITHOLDERS

While the first quarter of the calendar year is generally the most profitable quarter for the District Energy Systems, the second and third quarters are generally the weakest quarters due to warmer temperatures which result in lower demand for thermal energy requirements by customers. The results of the Cogen Facilities directly offset this pattern in that their most profitable quarters are generally the second and third quarters when capacity payments under the power purchase agreements are the highest. On a consolidated basis, cash flow is expected to be greatest during the second and third quarters on an ongoing basis due to the contribution from the Cogen Facilities.

[1] Transaction costs related to the Ripon acquisition transaction were paid to the Manager and advisors out of financing proceeds and were not operational in nature

[2] Purchases of capital assets for regular operations are non-expansionary capital expenditures. Total capital expenditures for the year ended December 31, 2005 were $855.

[3] As the timing of the receipt of the royalty interest income earned in a period is dependent upon the timing and extent of equity distributions made by USEB to its shareholders', royalty interest income will only be included in the calculation of distributable cash when payments related to the royalty interest are received from USEB. This method of calculating distributable cash was adopted retroactively in the three-month period ended March 31, 2005. Prior to January 1, 2005, distributable cash included royalty interest income as earned.

The Fund pays monthly cash distributions to Unitholders on or about the last business day of each month to Unitholders of record on the last business day of the prior month. The ex-distribution date is two business days prior to the last business day of the prior month. From the inception of the Fund on April 8, 2004 up to the distribution declared in September 2005, all distributions declared have been $0.0854 per month, except for the distributions payable December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 which were $0.0855 to make up for rounding differences. On September 23, 2005 the Fund announced an increase in distributions to approximately $0.0863 per month, which is equivalent to $1.035 per trust unit per annum.

The Fund intends to meet future distribution payments from cash flow generated from its operating assets and investments, and expects to maintain cash distributions for the 2005 year at the increased level of $1.035 as noted above, compared with annualized distributions, since inception, of $1.025 per Trust Unit.

The composition of distributions paid by the Fund for 2004 was approximately 71% return on capital and 29% return of capital. The Manager estimates that in 2005, the composition of distributions for tax purposes will be approximately 66% return on capital and 34% return of capital.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Fund expects to be able to meet all of its obligations from cash flow from operations and investments. Additionally, the Fund has $10,312 of cash on hand. As of December 31, 2005, the Fund's three-year $80,000 Amended Credit Facility had on outstanding balance of $47,500. Additionally, a US $3,000 Letter of Credit was outstanding, and $1,615 was drawn on the swing line of credit, leaving $27,396 in available credit. This remaining unutilized commitment amount remains available for working capital purposes, including financing new growth and the expansion of existing facilities. On November 14, 2005, the date of the closing of the Offering, the Fund repaid $30,500 of the Amended Credit Facility and an indirect subsidiary of the Fund acquired the Cogen Facilities' project-related debt with an outstanding balance of US $58,718 and repaid a working capital revolver loan for US $500. The project-related debt at the Cogen Facilities' was acquired and amended to an amount of approximately US $52,000 (the "Countryside Holding Note").

Cash used in investing activities was $41,830 in the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2005, due to the acquisition of Ripon Power, which required $42,803 in cash, coupled with scheduled repayments of $1,828 received by the Fund on the USEB loan offset by $855 in capital expenditures. Of the capital expenditures, $504 was operations related capital expenditures and $351 were growth capital expenditures, the majority of which related to the efficiency improvements at the London System.

Net cash provided by financing activities consists primarily of the net cash received related to the Offering of $41,155 for units and $60,258 for the Debentures as well as increased borrowings on the Amended Credit Facility of $48,000 to finance the acquisition of Ripon Power. This cash inflow was offset by the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities' project-related debt of $70,490 (US $58,718) and the repayment of the Amended Credit Facility by $30,500 which was funded by the Offering. Cash used in financing activities included distributions to Unitholders and deferred financing charges related to the origination and structuring of the Amended Credit Facility.

The increase in cash during the twelve-month period is primarily related to the contribution from cash flow from operations at the Cogen Facilities.

The Fund expects to be able to renew or refinance its Amended Credit Facility when it comes due.

All of the indicators outlined above have been significantly impacted by the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities beginning with Q3 of 2005. The third quarter of 2005 was the first time the Cogen Facilities' energy volumes and financial results were incorporated into those of the Fund, and the quarter included the full quarter of the Cogen Facilities' results. This makes the comparability of quarters before and after the Ripon Power acquisition on June 29, 2005 less meaningful.

District Energy System energy volumes and sales are seasonal, with a majority of energy volumes, sales and earnings occurring during the winter heating season and typically lower results during spring and fall when less heating is required by customers. Sales of steam and hot water are greatest during the winter heating season in Q1 and Q4, while sales in the summer quarters, Q2 and Q3, are much lower in terms of revenue earned. The Cogen Facilities' energy volumes and sales are also seasonal, offsetting the seasonal impact of the District Energy Systems. The majority of the Cogen Facilities sales and earnings occur during the summer quarters, Q2 and Q3, and results are lower during the winter season when electrical capacity revenues are lower. The cyclicality of the Cogen Facilities' results are expected to have a greater overall impact on energy volumes, revenues, Adjusted EBITDA and net income than those of the District Energy Systems.

Adjusted EBITDA and net income will generally follow a seasonal pattern similar to increases and decreases in energy volume sales, although there were some anomalies in Q2 and Q3 2004, as well as Q2 2005 due to non-cash related adjustments for unrealized gains and losses on the interest rate swap and foreign exchange, write-off of deferred financing fees on the original bank credit facility and for the deferred tax treatment of some items. The results for Adjusted EBITDA and net income in the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 were significantly impacted by the expensing of Ripon Power related transaction costs of $437 paid to the Manager, as well as the write off of $415 in deferred financing fees also related to the Ripon Power acquisition. Excluding these transaction costs related to the Ripon Power acquisition, Adjusted EBITDA would have been $3,997 and net income would have been $1,743. These expenses were not related to the ongoing operations of the Fund.

Prior to the third quarter of 2005, the variance in revenue between quarterly periods was due primarily to the commencement of the winter heating season in the three-month period ended December 31, 2004. The Cogen Facilities contributed much of the increases in sales volumes and fuel consumed between 2004 and 2005.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Interest Rate Swap

During December 2005 one of the Fund's indirect subsidiaries entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the interest rate paid on $47,000 of its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.87%. The swap matures on June 27, 2008. The notional amount of the swap is $47,000 and payments are due every three months. As at December 31, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was $253 favourable.

Foreign Exchange

Substantially all of the District Energy System's operations and earnings are in Canadian dollars. The USEB loan is denominated in Canadian dollars and the interest is fixed at 11.0% per annum, which mitigates the foreign exchange and revenue volatility risk of the Fund, respectively. Therefore, the foreign exchange risk remains with USEB with respect to servicing the USEB Loans.

The operations and earnings of the Cogen Facilities are in US dollars. The Fund has capital-related obligations in the form of interest payments on the Debentures, as a result of the acquisition of Ripon Power. Of the annual US dollar cash flow from the Cogen Facilities that is expected to meet those obligations, approximately US $3,400 is naturally hedged through the fixed interest coupon related to the US dollar denominated Debentures issued through Countryside Canada.

Approximately US $5,300 of annual cash flow from the Cogen Facilities, all or a portion of which is expected to be used to meet Canadian dollar denominated debt service obligations and anticipated monthly unitholder distributions, is hedged using Canadian dollar, monthly "knockout" call option contracts which have an exercise price of US $0.89 per Canadian dollar. The Fund has purchased thirty-six consecutive monthly call option contracts at the same exercise price until December 2008. To the extent that the US/Canadian dollar exchange rate reaches US $0.84 (the "Knockout Price") at anytime while option contracts are still in effect, the remaining unexpired monthly call option contracts will immediately expire and be automatically replaced with a forward foreign exchange contract at an exchange rate equal to the Knockout Price with the same scheduled monthly Canadian dollar amounts and a final expiry of December 2008. When the US dollar exchange rate reaches $0.89 or higher, the Fund has the option to exercise the call option and fix the exchange rate at $0.84. The parameters related to the call options and currency hedge described above have the effect of limiting the Fund's risk to foreign exchange fluctuation between $0.84 and $0.89 on US $5,300 annually for a three year period.

The call option contracts were entered into with a Schedule 1 bank during December of 2005 at a cost of US $188.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Risks Related to Operations

USEB's Renewable Projects' ability to generate and deliver to its customers electricity and biogas (as applicable) on a daily basis and at certain expected levels is the main factor in determining the cash available for payments by USEB to Countryside Canada under the USEB Loan and the USEB Royalty. Similarly the District Energy Systems' ability to deliver steam, hot water and chilled water to its customers is the main factor for determining the cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. Likewise, the Cogen Facilities' ability to deliver electricity and steam to their customers is the main factor for determining cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. If operations are interrupted at the Fund's operating facilities or USEB due to mechanical failure, lack of fuel supply or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash to unitholders.

The amount of energy produced by USEB's Renewable Projects also depends on the extraction and availability of biogas from public and privately owned landfills. The quantity of biogas available and the ability to collect it is determined by numerous factors which are beyond the control of USEB and which cannot be predicted with certainty.

Likewise, the amount of energy generated by the PEI System is dependent on the availability of a suitable supply of wood waste and municipal solid waste which may be subject to adverse change for reasons beyond the control of the Fund.

The Cogen Facilities use natural gas for fuel. The Cogen Facilities currently purchase natural gas through purchase transactions entered into pursuant to a base gas purchase agreement which expires on June 30, 2006. There can be no assurance that the Cogen Facilities will enter into new long-term gas contracts or otherwise purchase natural gas in the market at the same price as they receive today. Further, the prices which the Cogen Facilities currently pay for natural gas correlate with the energy prices which the Cogen Facilities receive under amendments to its PPA's. Such PPA amendments expire on June 30, 2006 and the energy prices received are expected to revert to the utilities full short run avoided costs, commonly referred to as Short Run Avoided Cost or "SRAC", which currently correlate with California gas price indices. The Ripon PPA and the San Gabriel PPA do not expire until 2018 and 2016 respectively. The SRAC rates are the subject of a pending regulatory proceeding and may be modified. (See "Risks and Uncertainties – Electricity Pricing"). The Manager is attempting to negotiate new gas purchase contracts which will correlate the Cogen Facilities' future gas costs with future energy prices. In the event such negotiations are unsuccessful and the Cogen Facilities' gas costs increase without compensating adjustments in energy prices, operating margins at the Cogen Facilities may be reduced in turn reducing the Fund's distributable cash.

Electricity Pricing

While a majority of the off-takers of USEB's Renewable Projects are contractually obligated to purchase electricity under long-term PPAs, those projects based on market pricing will be exposed to fluctuations in the wholesale price of electricity. In addition, should any of the long-term contracts terminate or expire, USEB will be required to either re-negotiate with existing off-takers, negotiate new PPAs with new off-takers, or sell electricity into the electricity wholesale market or spot market, in which case the prices for electricity will depend on prevailing market conditions. Similarly, when the USEB Renewable Projects located in Illinois are no longer eligible to receive incentives under the Illinois Public Utilities Act, it is expected that the projects will seek to negotiate new contracts in the wholesale and green power markets based on rates prevailing in those power markets at the time. Further, the Gross Price which USEB's Illinois-based Renewable Projects receive is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in the project's respective jurisdiction which has been subject to change and, may be subject to further change in the future.

The Cogen Facilities sell power pursuant to two long term PPAs which provide for capacity payments (which are substantially fixed) and energy payments, which generally are based on utilities' full SRAC as determined by the CPUC. Under the PPAs, the Cogen Facilities' ongoing ability to receive the full firm capacity payment and capacity bonus payments is conditioned upon the delivery of the contract capacity during on-peak hours during the summer peak months May through October for the Ripon Facility and June through September for the San Gabriel Facility subject to certain terms and conditions. Any adverse change in capacity and/or capacity bonus payments may negatively impact the Cogen Facilities' cash flow which in turn may negatively impact the Fund's distributable cash.

In 2001, the Ripon Facility and PG&E entered into a 5 year amendment of the Ripon Facility PPA which substituted a primarily fixed energy rate (subject to adjustment for time of use factors) for SRAC. When this amendment expires in July 2006, it is expected that the Ripon Facility will again receive energy payments under the Ripon Facility PPA based on PG&E's SRAC prices. The San Gabriel Facility currently receives a monthly energy payment for energy delivered to SCE in an amount calculated by reference to a SRAC pricing formula specified in the five year interim agreement of its PPA which terminates no later than July 1, 2006 ("SG Amendment"). Currently, the SRAC energy prices are based on a transition formula, which is determined separately by each utility on a monthly basis. The authority to modify the elements of the SRAC energy price formula rests with the CPUC, subject to certain statutory requirements imposed by the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act (Assembly Bill 1890). There is an open proceeding in which the CPUC has indicated it will review the SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes. There can be no assurance that any change in the SRAC price methodology will not adversely affect the operating margins derived by the Ripon Facility from the PPAs and, consequently, the Fund's distributable cash.

Furthermore, the Cogen Facilities' PPAs terminate in 2018 (Ripon) and 2016 (San Gabriel). There is no assurance that upon expiry of such PPAs, the Fund's subsidiaries will be able to enter into new PPAs or otherwise sell their power into the market at prices at or above projected levels. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from such forecasts and such deviation may be material.

Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on USEB and/or Cogen Facilities as applicable. While the Manager believes that strategies exist to mitigate, at least in part, the adverse effects of such price declines, there is no assurance such strategies will be available or implemented successfully.

Foreign Currency Fluctuations

A majority of the Fund's costs and its financial obligations to its lenders and unitholders are denominated in Canadian dollars. It's obligation to Debenture holders is denominated in US dollars.

The USEB Loan is denominated in Canadian dollars, requiring USEB to make payments on the USEB Loan in Canadian dollars. Because USEB is exposed to currency exchange rate risk as a result of the loans, the loan documents require USEB to enter into currency hedge agreements during the entire term of the loan to mitigate the risk posed by the currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. To the extent that USEB's ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loan is affected by an unfavorable exchange rate or an inability to maintain hedging arrangements in the future, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to unitholders may also be affected.

The Cogen Facilities' revenues derived from PPAs and steam sale agreements are denominated in US dollars as is the expected resultant US dollar denominated distributable cash from the Cogen Facilities. The Manager has entered into a foreign exchange option to mitigate the effect of the resultant foreign exchange risk related to the portion of US dollar revenues required to meet its Canadian dollar obligations and anticipated unitholder distributions as outlined under the section "Financial Instruments - Foreign Exchange".

Interest Rate and Debt Repayment Risk

At present, the Fund's Amended Credit Facility bears interest at a variable rate based on short-term Canadian banker's acceptances and Canadian prime rates. An increase in short-term interest rates, if unhedged, could affect the Fund's ability to pay interest on outstanding balances under the Amended Credit Facility and distributions to unitholders. To mitigate this interest rate risk, the Fund has entered into an interest rate swap agreement, which sets the base interest rate at a fixed coupon for a portion of the balance and term of the loan.

The Fund has approximately US $55,000 of Debentures outstanding which bear interest at a fixed coupon rate of 6.25% and are payable in US dollars. A decrease in revenues earned or an increase in expenses incurred by the Cogen Facilities could affect the Fund's ability to pay interest to holders of the Debentures.

With regard to debt repayment risk, there can be no assurance that the Fund will have sufficient capital or be successful in refinancing the Amended Credit Facility or the Debentures when they mature.

Tax Risk

There is no guarantee that Canadian or U.S. tax legislation and treatment of mutual fund trusts will not change in such a way as to adversely affect distributions to unitholders. For example, if U.S. tax legislation were to change adversely or U.S. tax authorities to challenge how USEB or Countryside US Holding treats certain tax deductions when calculating its taxable income, the payments received by the Fund's Canadian subsidiaries from USEB and Countryside US Holding could be reduced.

In addition, USEB currently receives income from the sale of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") Section 29 tax credits which will expire on December 31, 2007 unless the law is extended.

Through December 31, 2007, Code Section 29 has a phase out provision that is triggered when the "Market Wellhead Price" of domestic crude oil reaches certain "Phase-out Prices" as determined by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"). The phase-out is proportional. Due to the recent spike in oil prices, Market Wellhead Prices in 2005 have, on occasion, exceeded the price at which the Phase out would be triggered. Nevertheless, based on average Market Wellhead Prices for 2005 and estimates of 2005 Phase-out Prices, the Manager believes that the Phase-out will not be triggered in 2005. However, there can be no assurance that future oil prices will remain under future phase out levels in 2006 and 2007. If a phase out is triggered during such years or in 2005, USEB's income from Code Section 29 tax credits may be reduced or eliminated, thus reducing cash available for servicing debt service on the USEB Loan and for payments of the royalty.

Regulatory and Legislative Risk

The Fund's District Energy Systems, USEB's Renewable Projects and the Cogen Facilities must be licensed to comply with energy, operational, environmental, and safety statutes, standards, orders and regulations enacted by legislative bodies and imposed by regulatory bodies. Although the Fund believes that all such facilities are in compliance in all material respects with such statutes, permits, standards, orders and regulations, failure to operate the facilities in compliance with such statutes, permits standards, orders and regulations may require temporary or permanent cessation of operations of the facilities and may expose owners and operators to claims and clean-up costs. Any new law or regulation could require significant new expenditures to achieve or maintain compliance.

Qualifying Facility and Qualifying Solid Waste Energy Facility Status

The Cogen Facilities and the majority of USEB's facilities are QFs under the Public Utilities Act of 1978 as amended ("PURPA") as implemented by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC"). Loss of QF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QF status under the PPAs and debt agreements (including in the case of USEB's facilities, the USEB Loan) and result in PPA termination, penalties or acceleration of indebtedness under such agreements plus interest. Further, under PURPA, a regulated utility could refuse to purchase electricity from the facility(ies) at such utility's avoided cost if QF status were lost and may be entitled to certain remedies for breach of an existing PPA including the right to terminate the PPA. In addition, the FERC has asserted jurisdiction over the rates charged by QFs during periods when a facility does not operate in compliance with the applicable QF criteria and has indicated its willingness to order the refund of payments previously made under PPAs in some cases. Further, loss of QF status could expose either Facility to regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, by the CPUC and, until February 8, 2006, by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Public Utility Holding Company Act. Additionally if one of USEB's Illinois facilities lost QF status, it may lose QSW status (as defined below) under the Illinois Public Utilities Act.

Any of these consequences would result in substantial regulatory burdens, potentially lower revenues from power sales and potentially insurmountable impediments to affected entities with regard to conducting business in the manner currently contemplated. Accordingly, the Cogen Facilities ability to generate distributable cash as well as the ability of USEB's facilities to generate cash to service the USEB Loan and make payments under the USEB Royalty is dependent on their maintaining QF status. A facility may lose its QF status either temporarily or permanently.

On August 8, 2005, comprehensive energy legislation was enacted when the President of the United States signed into law EPA 2005, including several changes to PURPA. On February 2, 2006, the FERC issued its Order No. 671 promulgating new regulations to reflect the changes in PURPA made by EPA 2005.

Most of the changes to PURPA made by EPA 2005 and the FERC's Order No. 671 will apply only to new cogeneration facilities and, therefore, will not affect the Cogen Facilities or USEB's facilities at least for as long as the thermal output of the facilities is sold to the existing steam hosts. If any such facilities should lose QF status and if it should be determined that the purchasing utility has the right to terminate its PPA as a result thereof, the provisions of EPA 2005 and the new FERC regulations promulgated there under may apply to any new PPA entered into under PURPA for any of the facilities. In Order No. 671, the FERC eliminated the exemption from rate regulations under Sections 205 and 206 of the Federal Power Act for sales of electricity made by qualifying facilities other than pursuant to a State regulatory authority's implementation of PURPA. As a result, should electricity be sold from either of the Cogen Facilities other than pursuant to their existing PPAs, the contract or tariff pursuant to which the electricity is sold will have to be filed with, and accepted for filing by, the FERC.

Certain of USEB's Renewable Projects in Illinois receive certain benefits and exemptions because each is a Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facility ("QSW Status") under the Retail Rate Law of the Illinois Public Utilities Act (the "Retail Rate Law"). If any of USEB's Illinois Renewable Projects were to lose its QSW status, the facility would no longer be entitled to the benefits of the Retail Rate Law. In such event the applicable Illinois utility may no longer be required to purchase electricity from the relevant projects at the rates provided for in the Retail Rate Law. Under certain circumstances, loss of QFW Status on a retroactive basis could lead to, among other things, claims by the utility customers for a refund of payments already made.

Further, such facilities may lose all or some of such benefits if PURPA or the Illinois Public Utilities Act (or the regulations or orders promulgated there under) were repealed or modified or if any court or regulatory body adopted a new interpretation of such statute, regulation or order. From time to time, legislation modifying the Illinois Public Utility Act has been proposed. If certain of the introduced legislation had been enacted in its proposed form, it would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the QSWEFS. To date such legislation has not been enacted; however there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be enacted in the future. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on USEB's ability to make payments to the Fund's Canadian subsidiary under the USEB Loan or USEB Royalty.

Potential Cogen Facilities' Refund Liability

A proceeding is currently pending before the CPUC in Docket No. R 99-11-022 in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply retroactively for the period December, 2000 through March, 2001 a March, 2001 decision (D. 01-03-067) which, among other things, modified the methodology used in calculating SRAC and thereby decreased SRAC levels for the period commencing March 27, 2001. In September, 2002, the California Court of Appeals found that the CPUC had violated PURPA for failing to consider SCE's argument that the CPUC should retroactively apply the modified SRAC formula. Southern Cal. Edison vs. Public Utilities Comm'n., 101 Cal. App. 4th 982 (2002). The Court of Appeals directed the CPUC to consider SCE's request. In February, 2005, a Draft Decision was issued by the assigned Commissioner who found that "evidence shows SRAC prices were correct between December 2000 and March 2001, and retroactive application of the modified SRAC formula is not warranted". Various parties have submitted comments on the Draft Decision, including PG&E, SCE, a ratepayer organization and the CPUC's Office of Ratepayer Advocates, objecting to the Draft Decision. The CPUC has not yet issued a final decision in the matter and is free to accept the Draft Decision as written, modify it or reject it in its entirety. The outcome of this proceeding cannot be predicted. Even in the event of an adverse CPUC decision, the Manager has been advised by counsel that the Cogen Facilities would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect the Cogen Facilities from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that the Cogen Facilities would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal or otherwise enjoined, QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could materially and adversely affect the Cogen Facilities' ability to generate distributable cash.

Potential Cogen Facilities' Steam Host Termination for Convenience

Both steam hosts at the Cogen Facilities are permitted to terminate their respective steam sales agreements for convenience under certain circumstances. Each steam sales agreement provides that, in such event, the steam customer must make a specific monetary payment to the Cogen Facilities to cover their cost of obtaining a replacement steam host. The San Gabriel Facility's steam host's obligation to make such payment terminates after the twelfth year of the steam sale agreement. Such steam host may also discharge its obligation by obtaining a replacement steam host. It is possible that either steam host may exercise such termination right but fail to comply with its obligations to obtain or fund the cost to obtain a replacement steam host due to lack of resources or for other reasons. In such event the Cogen Facilities may not have an adequate remedy against the steam host and be required to obtain a replacement steam host at its own expense or probably lose its QF status. Loss of QF Status would have a material adverse effect on the Cogen Facilities. See "Risk and Uncertainties" – Qualifying Facility and Qualifying Solid Waste Energy Facility Status".

Reliance on Third Parties and Potential Conflicts of Interest

Pursuant to the Management Agreement and the Administration Agreement, commencing on November 1, 2005 the Fund and its subsidiaries will rely substantially on the Manager and its Canadian subsidiary for management, administration and project development functions. (See "Transactions with Related Parties -- Management Agreement and Administration Agreement"). There may be circumstances in which the interests of the Manager, its affiliates or entities managed by such parties may conflict with those of the Fund, Countryside Canada, its subsidiaries and the Unitholders. Although the Manager's senior executives are required to devote a significant majority of their time for the benefit of Countryside Canada, Countryside US Holdings and its subsidiaries and to the development of projects reasonably expected to be within the acquisition criteria of the Fund, the Manager's personnel are not required to devote their time exclusively to these activities. Further, while the Manager is prohibited from providing management and administrative services to third parties other than the Fund, the Manager may develop and own energy and utility infrastructure projects for its own account or jointly with third parties, subject to its obligation to provide the Fund with a first opportunity to invest in such projects. Thus, subject to the constraints described above, the Manager and its senior executives may engage in activities similar to the current activities of the Fund, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries.

The Manager and its affiliates, however, will provide Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries with the first opportunity to invest in any entity or asset that meets the investment criteria of the Fund and Countryside Canada that the Manager or its affiliates develop, own or control. The Manager shall only be free to offer such investment opportunities to third parties or to pursue them for its own account if Countryside Canada or its subsidiaries decline or are unable to pursue such opportunities.

Circumstances may arise where the Fund trustees or members of the board of directors of a corporation in which the Fund has invested are directors or officers of corporations that compete with the interests of the Fund. No assurances can be given that opportunities identified by such persons will be provided to the Fund or an entity in which the Fund has invested.

Further provisions in the Declaration of Trust, which are similar to those contained in the Canada Business Corporations Act, provide certain procedures to be followed in the event of such conflicts of interests, and certain remedies may be available to the Fund where such procedures are not followed.

The Fund is reliant upon USEB with respect to the administration and operations management of the USEB Renewable Projects. The Cogen Facilities are partially reliant on independent contractors for the day to day operational and asset management of the facilities.

The Fund's business risks remained substantially unchanged since December 31, 2004 except for the addition of the Cogen Facilities' related issues.

Other Risks

For a more detailed discussion of risk factors, reference should be made to the 2004 Annual Information Form, as well as the Prospectus of the Fund and Countryside Canada filed with securities regulators on November 8, 2005 pages 55 to 65 which are incorporated by reference and filed on www.sedar.com.

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

Countryside U.S. Power Inc. ("Countryside U.S. Power"), a subsidiary of Countryside Canada, has entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. Power, through service provided by Countryside Ventures, provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. Power shall be paid an annual fee of approximately US $440 for 2005 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY.

Commencing in May 2005, USEY ceased monthly fee payments. Countryside US Power and USEY are in discussions concerning USEY's obligations under the Development Agreement to determine a possible resolution. The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five-year term unless terminated by any party.

Independence Power LLC

On June 29, 2005, Countryside US Holding, an indirect subsidiary of the Fund, paid $437 to Independence Power LLC in consideration for services performed by Independence for Countryside US Holding in connection with the origination and structuring of the acquisition of Ripon Power. Independence changed its name to Countryside Ventures LLC ("Countryside Ventures") on September 19, 2005. Countryside Ventures is controlled by members of senior management of the Fund who serve as officers and directors of certain Fund subsidiaries including Countryside US Holding. Such payment was approved by the Joint Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee of the Fund and Countryside Canada based, in part, on an opinion from an independent financial advisor that the payment was fair.

Management Agreement

On September 23, 2005, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada entered into the Management Agreement with Countryside Ventures as outlined above under "Overview of Fund and Recent Developments – Recent Developments – Increase in Unitholder Distributions and Management Agreement". During 2005, a total of $805 was paid to Countryside Ventures related to the short term incentive plan and reimbursement of costs pursuant to the Management Agreement.

Administration Agreement

On September 26, 2005 the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power entered into a Management and Administration Agreement ("Administration Agreement") with Countryside Canada Ventures Inc. ("Countryside Ventures Canada"), which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Countryside Ventures. Under the Administration Agreement, effective November 1, 2005, Countryside Ventures Canada commenced, providing management and administrative services to the Fund and Countryside Canada. In carrying out the services described above, Countryside Canada Ventures and its affiliates will be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund and Countryside Canada of all costs and expenses incurred in connection therewith. During 2005, a total of nil was paid to Countryside Ventures Canada.

Operating Agreement

As provided for in the Management Agreement, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Ventures entered into an Operating Agreement on November 3, 2005 respecting Ripon Power which was effective as of July 1, 2005. This agreement will implement for the Ripon Power acquisition, the long-term incentive plan provided for in the Management Agreement. Under the terms of the Operating Agreement, Countryside US Holding will hold a preferred membership interest (the "Preferred Interest") entitling it to preferred distributions of "net cash flow" from operations and "net cash proceeds" from capital transactions as such terms will be defined in the Operating Agreement. Countryside US Holding and Countryside Ventures will, hold subordinate membership interests ("the "Subordinate Interests") entitling them to residual distributions made to members, after distributions made in respect of the Preferred Interest, in a ratio of 75:25. Countryside Ventures' Subordinate Interest distribution is subject to downward adjustment and mutual exchange rights as provided in the Management Agreement. During 2005, a total of $1,515 was paid to Countryside Ventures pursuant to the Operating Agreement related to its Subordinated Interest.

CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

As of December 31, 2005, an evaluation was carried out, under the supervision of and with the participation of management, including the Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Financial Officer, of the effectiveness of the Fund's disclosure controls and procedures as defined under Multilateral Instrument 52-109. Based on that evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Financial Officer concluded that the design and operation of these disclosure controls and procedures were effective. Except for the impact of the Ripon Power acquisition, no changes were made in the Fund's internal control over financial reporting during the year ended December 31, 2005, that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Fund's internal control over financial reporting.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of the Fund's consolidated financial statements requires the Manager to make estimates and judgments as they relate to matters that are inherently uncertain. Changes in these judgments or estimates could have a significant impact on the Fund's consolidated financial statements. The Manager believes that the following critical accounting estimates involve the more significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our annual consolidated financial statements.

Power Purchase Agreements

Power purchase agreements ("PPAs") were recorded at their fair values at the time of the purchase of Ripon Power. The fair value of the intangible asset balance is being amortized over the life of the PPAs expiring in 2016 & 2018.

Customer Relationships

Customer relationships were recorded at their fair values at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems. The fair value of the customer relationships balance is being amortized over 21 years on a straight-line basis. The Manager has used judgment and estimates in determining the appropriate amortization period giving consideration to both the historical performance of customer renewals and the useful life of the energy service agreements in place at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems by the Fund.

USEB Loan Receivable

The Fund receives interest income and principal repayments in connection with their loan to USEB. The Manager continually monitors the future expectations of cash receipts from the loan and the value of the outstanding principal by assessing USEB's cash flow generating capability and reviewing major cash flow factors such as production volume, operating costs and maintenance expenses. Consideration is given as to whether a decline in recent or future cash flow is regarded as continuing for an extended period of time or is temporary. Should cash flow be insufficient to service the loan obligation and the deficiency is regarded as permanent, the loan is considered impaired and a charge for impairment must be recognized. The charge taken will represent the reduced loan principal required to ensure that loan obligations can be met. It is the view of the Manager that there has been no impairment in these loans in 2005.

OUTLOOK

The Fund anticipates that unitholder cash distributions will continue at $1.035 per unit for the remainder of fiscal 2006. During the course of 2006, the Fund will reassess the level of its unitholder distributions for possible increases after it determines the impact, if any, of the SRAC proceeding before the California Public Utility Commission as it relates to energy payments received under the power purchase agreements and the negotiations on final terms and conditions of new fuel supply arrangements for the Cogen Facilities.

Operations

The District Energy Systems and Cogen Facilities are not expected to have any significant capital expenditures in fiscal 2006 outside of normal operating maintenance capital expenditures. Major maintenance or overhaul on major gas turbine equipment for both the Ripon Facility and San Gabriel Facility is scheduled for 2007 and 2008, respectively. The Fund anticipates the cost of such major maintenance to be paid through either cash reserves held back from operations or through funds drawn under its unutilized credit facility. The District Energy Facilities have completed major efficiency and extended life improvements. No scheduled major maintenance is planned to be undertaken for the next few years.

Growth

The Manager, on behalf of the Fund, intends to evaluate the Fund's potential participation in a request for proposals presently being conducted by the Ontario Power Authority ("OPA") seeking to solicit up to 1,000 megawatts of combined heat and power generation in the Province of Ontario. The Fund's London, Ontario based district energy facility already operates in this market and may be able to meet the criteria for providing a portion of the requested power generation. The Manager will evaluate if an expansion of the London System's power generating capability and terms of a concomitant new power purchase agreement with OPA would be competitive in the market and economically beneficial to the Fund, as well as accretive to the Fund's distributable cash. If the Fund's independent board of trustees deems such participation advisable, the Manager will prepare and submit a formal proposal on behalf of the Fund in response to the OPA's request. The OPA's decision for awarding a new power contract under its solicitation process will likely be ongoing through 2006 and its final outcome cannot be predicted at this time by the Fund or the Manager.

The Manager, on behalf of the Fund, is also evaluating the economic benefits of expanding the Cogen Facilities' power generating capability with the aim of selling additional electrical capacity and energy to local customers in the California market. The fundamentals for power demand growth remain sound in California. The Manager believes that the California power market will also provide other opportunities for power generation acquisitions similar to the Ripon Power acquisition as non-strategic players continue to divest assets.

We are committed to growing the Fund through accretive investments. We have a disciplined investment strategy to identify and pursue acquisitions and investment opportunities. Our dynamic industry has been undergoing a shift in the ownership of unregulated generation assets, which offers a number of consolidation and partnership prospects for Countryside. Further, there appears to be growing support for renewable power generation from both government and industry in light of Canada's commitment to the Kyoto Protocol and the U.S. market trend to energy independence as a result of rising oil and natural gas prices. Countryside is actively evaluating opportunities in power generation and utility infrastructure, with a view to increasing unitholder value and growing distributions.

NOTE 1 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") have been prepared by management using Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") applicable to interim financial statements. These unaudited notes to the consolidated financial statements do not include all disclosures required in the annual financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and notes included in the Fund's Annual Report for the year ended December 31, 2004.

The preparation of the unaudited consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements and these accompanying notes. In the opinion of management, these unaudited consolidated financial statements have been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies. Actual results could differ from those estimates, and the operating results for the interim period presented are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for the full year. These unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a basis consistent with the accounting policies disclosed in the audited financial statements for the period ended December 31, 2004.

NOTE 2 - ROYALTY INTEREST IN U.S. ENERGY BIOGAS CORP.

The Fund, through Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), acquired a convertible royalty interest in U.S. Energy Biogas Cop. ("USEB") for US $6,000 ($7,884) at closing of the Initial Offering in April 2004. For each fiscal quarter prior to that in which the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, the amount of the royalty payable to Countryside Canada will be 7% of USEB Distributable Cash Flow plus an additional percentage of USEB Distributable Cash Flow equal to 1.8% of USEB Revenues (both as defined in the USEB Royalty Agreement). The royalty payment is subject to a distribution cap such that no royalties may be paid unless, at the time of such payment, 104.09% of such amount is paid to holders of the USEB common stock, which are currently USEY and Cinergy Energy Solutions, Inc.

After the USEB Royalty Interest becomes convertible, but remains unconverted, Countryside Canada will be entitled to receive royalties equal to 49% of the USEB Distributable Cash Flow. The USEB Royalty Interest is convertible at any time in the event of the prepayment in full of the USEB Loans, or on or after the 20th anniversary of the closing of the Initial Offering into non-voting common shares of USEB, representing 49% of the number of common shares of USEB outstanding at the time of conversion. Upon conversion of the USEB Royalty Interest, Countryside Canada's right to receive royalties will terminate.

The USEB Royalty is payable quarterly, in arrears, subject to the distribution cap explained above.

NOTE 5 - BANK CREDIT FACILITY

Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc. ("Countryside Acquisition") entered into the Bank Credit Facility which consists of a revolving term credit facility split equally with two Canadian chartered banks for up to $35,000 for three years. Advances under the Bank Credit Facility are available to be drawn in either Canadian or U.S. dollars. The interest rate on Canadian dollar advances will be based on either Canadian Prime Rate or Bankers' Acceptances and U.S. dollar advances will be based on either U.S. Base Rate or LIBOR. A premium on the respective base rate will be applied dependent upon certain debt coverage ratios being achieved by Countryside Acquisition. The portion of the Bank Credit Facility which has not been drawn attracts a standby fee dependent upon certain debt coverage ratios being achieved by Countryside Canada.

As at March 31, 2005, $30,000 was drawn on the Bank Credit Facility, in the form of Bankers' Acceptances at 2.60% plus a stamping fee of 2.00%. At March 31, 2005, $5,000 was not drawn, and was subject to a standby fee of 0.50% per annum.

Countryside Acquisition has entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brings the current effective rate to 5.22% per annum. The stamping fee schedule now in place is tied to a leverage ratio (as defined in the loan agreement governing the Fund's long-term debt). The stamping fee may change in the future if the leverage ratio changes, which could result in an increase or decrease in the effective rate of interest paid on the long-term debt. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Bank Credit Facility on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months.

As at March 31, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was $61 favourable which has been recorded as an unrealized gain in the consolidated statement of income and deficit.

Amounts drawn under the Bank Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada.

At March 31, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Bank Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

NOTE 6 - COMMITMENTS

As of April 8, 2004 Countryside Canada delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting Countryside District Energy Holding Corp.'s future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System (a division of Countryside District Energy Corp.) is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days notice to WPS.

NOTE 7 - SEGMENTED DISCLOSURE

The Fund owns and operates two district energy systems, located in Charlottetown, Price Edward Island (the "PEI System") and London, Ontario (the "London System"). It also has loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USE3, which are included with the Fund's corporate administrative operations for reporting purposes. These 3 assets represent the Fund's reportable segments.

The Fund analyzes the performance of its three operating segments based on net income before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA"). Income for each segment is measured on the same basis as those of the Fund.

NOTE 1 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") have been prepared by management using Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") applicable to interim consolidated financial statements. These unaudited notes to the consolidated financial statements do not include all disclosures required in the annual consolidated financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and notes included in the Fund's annual report for the year ended December 31, 2004.

The preparation of the unaudited interim consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements and these accompanying notes. In the opinion of management, these unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies. Actual results could differ from those estimates, and the operating results for the interim period presented are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for the full year. These unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a basis consistent with the accounting policies disclosed in the audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2004.

(a) Basis of Presentation

Although the Fund was created on February 16, 2004, it did not commence operations and was essentially dormant prior to the completion of the initial public offering on April 8, 2004. As a result, no comparative statements of income or cash flows have been presented for the period from February 14 to June 30, 2004.

(b) Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements of the Fund include the accounts of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), and the accounts of Countryside Canada's direct and indirect subsidiary entities including Countryside U.S. Power Inc. (Countryside U.S. Power), Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding"), Ripon Power LLC, Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon"), Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc., Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. (formerly known as USE Canada Holdings Corp.), and Countryside District Energy Corp. (formerly known as USE Canada Energy Corp.). All inter-entity transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.

NOTE 2 – INVESTMENT IN RIPON COGENERATION, LLC

On June 29, 2005, the Fund completed the acquisition of the membership interests of Ripon Power LLC (formerly known as Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC). The Fund made its investment through its newly formed, wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside US Holding. Financing for the transaction was provided through an amendment to the Fund's existing revolving credit facility (see note 6). The acquisition was accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through cash consideration of approximately $44,000, plus approximately $2,200 of transaction costs.

The purchase price has been allocated, in Canadian dollars, as follows:

Working capital, including cash of $2,760	5,567
Capital assets	46,983
Power purchase agreements	69,360
Other long term liability	(3,122)
Long-term debt	(73,072)
	45,716

The calculation and allocation of the purchase price is preliminary. The actual calculation and allocation of the purchase price will be based on the fair value of the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed. The purchase price allocation is subject to change based on the final determination of these fair value amounts. Accordingly, the actual amounts for each of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed will vary from the disclosed amounts and the variation may be material.

NOTE 6 – BANK CREDIT FACILITIES

On June 27, 2005, Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc. ("Borrower") amended its revolving credit facility ("Amended Credit Facility"), with Toronto Dominion Bank as sole lender (a Canadian chartered bank), to increase the amount of the commitment in order to facilitate the acquisition of Ripon. The Amended Credit Facility provides up to $78,000 revolving credit commitment, and matures June 27, 2008. The Amended Credit Facility also allows for a swing line of credit in the amount of $2,000 and has the same three year maturity as the revolving credit facility. Advances under the Amended Credit Facility are available to be drawn in either Canadian or U.S. dollars. The interest rate on Canadian dollar advances will be based on either Canadian prime rate or bankers' acceptances and U.S. dollar advances will be based on either U.S. base rate or London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"). The applicable margin or stamping fee on the respective base rate will be tied to the leverage ratio of the Borrower's parent, Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada") calculated at the end of each calendar quarter. The portion of the Amended Credit Facility which has not been drawn attracts a standby fee based on the unutilized portion of the revolving credit facility and the swing line of credit and the applicable standby rate which is tied to the actual leverage ratio of Countryside Canada.

As at June 30, 2005, $30,000 was drawn under the terms of the previous credit facility that existed before the amendment date, in the form of bankers' acceptances at 2.62% plus a stamping fee of 2.00%. As at June 30, 2005, a further $48,000 was drawn under the terms of the Amended Credit Facility at Canadian prime rate of 4.25%, plus a spread of 2.25%. The $2,000 swing line of credit was fully drawn at June 30, 2005 at prime rate of 4.25% plus a spread of 2.25%. The $30,000 in bankers' acceptances matured on July 8, 2005 and were renewed at a rate of 2.57%, plus a stamping fee of 3.25%. The $48,000 Canadian prime rate advance was converted to bankers' acceptances on July 5, 2005 at a rate of 2.57%, plus a stamping fee of 3.25%.

As of April 8, 2004, the Borrower entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on $30,000 of its' long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brought the effective rate to 5.22% per annum. The swap matures on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months. The remaining $50 million drawn under the Amended Credit Facility is at a floating rate and no interest rate swaps have been entered into related to this balance.

As at June 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was $177 unfavourable which has been recorded as an unrealized loss in the consolidated statement of income and deficit, and as an other liability in the consolidated balance sheets.

Amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada. Countryside US Holding Corp. and the Ripon assets are excluded from the collateral of the Amended Credit Facility.

At June 30, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Amended Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

Ripon Credit Facility

Ripon Cogeneration LLC entered into a credit facility dated as of March 24, 2005 among a syndicate of U.S. Banks, including Union Bank of California, N.A. ("UBOC"), in its capacity as administrative agent, collateral agent and issuing bank on behalf of the lenders ("Ripon Credit Facility"). The UBOC Credit Facility includes a US $59,500 term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018 ("Term Loan"), a US $5,000 debt service reserve letter of credit expiring on March 24, 2015 ("DSR LOC"), a US $3,000 letter of credit issued for benefit of a fuel supplier with an expiration of July 10, 2006 ("BP LOC"), and a US $2,000 working capital revolver maturing on March 24, 2008 ("W/C Revolver").

The Term Loan is available to be drawn in U.S. dollars, and the interest rate will be based either on the U.S. prime, or LIBOR rate, plus an applicable margin which escalates throughout the loan term. For U.S. prime rate loans the applicable margin increases from 0.50% to 1.00% and for LIBOR loans from 1.50% to 2.00%. The W/C Revolver is subject to the same interest rate schedule as outlined for the Term Loan, and to a commitment fee of 0.375% on any undrawn commitment amount. As of June 30, 2005, the W/C Revolver was undrawn. The DSR LOC and the BP LOC are subject to fees on the drawn amount, equal to the then applicable margin of the Term Loan. As of June 30, 2005, no amounts were outstanding under either DSR LOC or the BP LOC. As of June 30, 2005, the Term Loan was fully drawn under LIBOR loans at a rate of 3.10% plus an applicable margin of 1.5%. The Ripon Credit Facility is non-recourse to the Fund and is secured by all of Ripon's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon may own or acquire. The Term Loan contains a financial covenant requiring Ripon to maintain a debt service coverage ratio no less than 1.2 to 1.0 as well as other customary affirmative and negative covenants for a non recourse project financing. As at June 30, 2005, the debt service coverage ratio was at 1.34:1. If the financial covenant is not satisfied at each quarterly reporting period, then all excess cash flow from Ripon after payment of all debt service and operating expenses will be restricted, including a restriction on dividend payments. If the debt service coverage ratio is not restored to a level above the required covenant within four quarters, the Term Loan shall be prepaid with accumulated cash. Principal maturities of the Term Loan commence repayment on July 15, 2005 and are payable during the next five years as follows:

2005	2,605
2006	3,951
2007	4,112
2008	4,177
2009	4,334
	59,500

As of the date of March 30, 2005, Ripon entered into an interest rate swap agreement with UBOC to fix the floating LIBOR rate paid on the fully drawn balance of the Term Loan at 4.939% per annum. The effective rate of interest when adding the applicable margin is 6.439%. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Ripon Credit Facility on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap is $59,500, amortizes on the same schedule as the Term Loan and payments are due every three months.

As at June 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was US $2,734 unfavourable which has been recorded as an other liability on the consolidated balance sheets.

At June 30, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Ripon Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

NOTE 7 – COMMITMENTS

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside Canada delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting Countryside District Energy Holding Corp.'s future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System (a division of Countryside District Energy Corp.) is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days notice to WPS.

Ripon owns two facilities; the "Ripon Facility" and the "San Gabriel Facility". Each facility has a gas turbine lease agreement with a third party, to have turbines available for their use during the year in the case of malfunction of the existing equipment. The annual cost of these leases is approximately US $344. The leases expire in August 2006 and July 2007. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon on an inflation factor.
Ripon has two power turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each plant, to have a rotor, turbine casing and transition duct available for their use during the year in the case of malfunction of the existing equipment. The annual cost of each of these leases is approximately US $50. Both leases expire in March 2009.

Under Ripon's fuel purchase agreements with British Petroleum ("BP"), each plant is required to purchase 10,000 Million British Thermal Units ("MMBtu's") of natural gas each day. This purchase commitment is effective for both plants through the life of agreements, which expire on June 30, 2006. The price of fuel for the Ripon Facility is fixed at US $5.305 per MMBtu under its fuel purchase agreement. Accordingly, Ripon's minimum future fuel commitments are as follows: US $9,761 for 2005 and US $9,602 for 2006. The price of fuel for San Gabriel Facility resets monthly at current market prices. As such, the San Gabriel Facility's total fuel cost commitments through June 30, 2006 are not reasonably determinable. The San Gabriel Facility's effective price of fuel was US $5.7961 per MMBtu for June 2005.

Operation and maintenance agreements have been entered into with North American Energy Services Company ("NAES") for the operation and maintenance of each of the two Ripon Facilities. The agreements cover the operation of the plant facilities including administration of all payroll and benefits for plant staff, plant operations and compliance and facility level accounting. Annual fees for each of these agreements are US $170 plus an incentive payment, which is a maximum of US $80 per year. These agreements expire in 2011.

NOTE 8 – SEGMENTED DISCLOSURE

Prior to June 29, 2005, the Fund operated two district energy systems, located in Charlottetown, Price Edward Island (the "PEI System") and London, Ontario (the "London System"). It also had a loan to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USEB, which is included with the Fund's corporate administrative operations for reporting purposes. These 3 assets represented the Fund's reportable segments at June 30, 2005.

The Fund analyzes the performance of its three operating segments based on net income before depreciation, amortization, interest and taxes ("EBITDA"). Income for each segment is measured on the same basis as those of the Fund.

NOTE 1 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") have been prepared by management using Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") applicable to interim consolidated financial statements. These unaudited notes to the consolidated financial statements do not include all disclosures required in the annual consolidated financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and notes included in the Fund's annual report for the year ended December 31, 2004.

The preparation of the unaudited interim consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements and these accompanying notes. In the opinion of management, these unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies. Actual results could differ from those estimates, and the operating results for the interim period presented are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for the full year. These unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a basis consistent with the accounting policies disclosed in the audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2004.

In addition to the policies disclosed in the audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2004, the following accounting policies have also been used to prepare the interim consolidated financial statements:

(a) Basis of Presentation

Although the Fund was created on February 16, 2004, it did not commence operations and was essentially dormant prior to the completion of the initial public offering on April 8, 2004. As a result, the comparative statements of income and cash flows have been presented for the period from February 16 to September 30, 2004, but only reflect operating results for the period from April 8, 2004 to September 30, 2004.

On June 29, 2005, the Fund completed the acquisition of the membership interests of Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power") (formerly known as Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC). The results of its operations have been reflected in the interim consolidated financial statements of the Fund beginning on June 30, 2005. Since the Fund acquired the operations of Ripon Power, whose principal asset is two gas-fired cogeneration facilities located in California (the "Cogen Facilities") on June 29, 2005, there is no comparative period ended September 30, 2004, and the results for the nine-months ended September 30, 2005 reflect the results from June 30, 2005 to September 30, 2005 only.

(b) Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements of the Fund include the accounts of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), and the accounts of Countryside Canada's direct and indirect subsidiary entities including Countryside U.S. Power Inc. (Countryside U.S. Power), Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding"), Ripon Power, Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon"), Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc., Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. (formerly known as USE Canada Holdings Corp.), and Countryside District Energy Corp. (formerly known as USE Canada Energy Corp.). Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. consists of the district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island and London, Ontario, (collectively the "District Energy Systems"). All inter-entity transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.

(c) Foreign Currency Translation

The operations of the Fund's US subsidiaries having a functional currency of US dollars are translated into the Fund's Canadian dollar functional currency using the exchange rate in effect at the period end and revenues and expenses are translated at the average rate during the period. Exchange gains or losses on translation of the Fund's net equity investment in these operations are recorded as a separate component of Unitholders' Equity.

NOTE 2 – INVESTMENT IN RIPON POWER

The Fund's investment in Ripon Power, effective June 29, 2005 was made through its newly formed, wholly-owned subsidiary, Countryside US Holding. Financing for the transaction was provided through an amendment to the Fund's existing revolving credit facility (see note 6). The acquisition was accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through cash consideration of approximately $44,000 [US $35,800,000], plus approximately $1,700 of transaction costs.

The purchase price has been allocated, in Canadian dollars, as follows:

Working capital, including cash of $2,760	5,557
Property, plant and equipment	46,933
Power purchase agreements	69,420
Other long term liability	(3,122)
Long-term debt	(73,072)
	45,716

The allocation of the purchase price is preliminary as the purchase price allocation is subject to change based on the final determination of these fair value amounts. Accordingly, the actual amounts for each of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed will vary from the disclosed amounts and the variation may be material.

NOTE 3 – OTHER ASSETS

Other assets consist of the following:

NOTE 6 – LONG-TERM DEBT

On June 27, 2005, Countryside Canada Acquisition Inc. ("Borrower") amended its revolving credit facility ("Amended Credit Facility"), with Toronto Dominion Bank as sole lender (a Canadian chartered bank), to increase the amount of the commitment in order to facilitate the acquisition of Ripon. On August 12, 2005, the Amended Credit Facility was subsequently syndicated to include Royal Bank of Canada and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce as lenders. The Amended Credit Facility provides up to $78,000 revolving credit commitment, and matures June 27, 2008. The Amended Credit Facility also allows for a swing line of credit in the amount of $2,000 and has the same three year maturity as the revolving credit facility. Advances under the Amended Credit Facility are available to be drawn in either Canadian or U.S. dollars. The interest rate on Canadian dollar advances will be based on either Canadian prime rate or bankers' acceptances and U.S. dollar advances will be based on either U.S. base rate or London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"). The applicable margin or stamping fee on the respective base rate will be tied to the leverage ratio of the Borrower's parent, Countryside Canada calculated at the end of each calendar quarter. The stamping fee may change in the future if the leverage ratio changes, which could result in an increase or decrease in the effective rate of interest paid on the long-term debt. A standby fee based on the actual leverage ratio of Countryside Canada is charged on the unutilized portion of the revolving credit facility and the swing line of credit.

As at September 30, 2005, $78,000 was drawn under the terms of the Amended Credit Facility in the form of bankers' acceptances at 2.80% plus a stamping fee of 3.25%. Of the $2,000 swing line of credit, $532 was drawn at September 30, 2005 at Canadian prime rate of 4.50% plus a spread of 2.25%. At September 30, 2005, $1,468 was not drawn on the swing line of credit, and was subject to a standby fee of 0.75% per annum. The effective rate of interest for amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility is the funded base rate plus the stamping fee, increased or decreased by any amounts due or owed, respectively, by the borrower under the interest rate swap as described below. For a portion of the quarter ended September 30, 2005, the Fund chose to borrow at Canadian prime rate in anticipation of the trust unit and exchangeable debenture offering (see note 10). The blended interest rate charged on the amounts drawn on the Amended Credit Facility during the quarter ended September 30, 2005, including the effect of the interest rate swap described below for the three-month period was 6.20%

As of April 8, 2004, the Borrower entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the interest rate paid on $30,000 of its' long-term debt at a rate of 3.22%. The swap matures on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months. The remaining $50,000 drawn under the Amended Credit Facility is at a floating rate and, to date, no interest rate swaps have been entered into related to this balance.

As at June 30, 2005, the fair value of the interest rate swap agreement was $67 favourable and has been included with other assets on the consolidated balance sheet.

Amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada. Countryside US Holding and the Ripon assets are excluded from the collateral of the Amended Credit Facility.

At September 30, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Amended Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

Ripon Credit Facility

Ripon Cogeneration LLC entered into a credit facility dated as of March 24, 2005 among a syndicate of U.S. Banks, led by Union Bank of California, N.A. ("UBOC"), in its capacity as administrative agent, collateral agent and issuing bank on behalf of the lenders ("Ripon Credit Facility"). The Ripon Credit Facility includes a US $59,500,000 term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018 ("Term Loan"), a US $5,000,000 debt service reserve letter of credit expiring on March 24, 2015 ("DSR LOC"), a US $3,000,000 letter of credit issued for benefit of a fuel supplier with an expiration of July 10, 2006 ("BP LOC"), and a US $2,000,000 working capital revolver maturing on March 24, 2008 ("W/C Revolver").

The Term Loan is available to be drawn in U.S. dollars, and the interest rate will be based either on the U.S. prime, or LIBOR rate, plus an applicable margin which escalates throughout the loan term. For U.S. prime rate loans the applicable margin increases from 0.50% to 1.00% and for LIBOR loans from 1.50% to 2.00%. The W/C Revolver is subject to the same interest rate schedule as outlined for the Term Loan, and to a commitment fee of 0.375% on any undrawn commitment amount. As of September 30, 2005, US $500,000 was drawn on the W/C Revolver under a U.S. prime rate of 6.75% plus an applicable margin of 0.5%. The effective rate of interest under the Term Loan is equal to the funded base rate then in effect plus the applicable margin, increased or decreased by any amounts due or owed, respectively, by the borrower under the interest rate swap described below. For a portion of the quarter ended September 30, 2005, the Fund chose to borrow at U.S. prime rate in anticipation of the trust unit and exchangeable debenture offering (see note 10). The blended interest rate charged on the Term Loan during the quarter ended September 30, 2005, including the effect of the interest rate swap described below for the three-month period was 6.84%.

The DSR LOC and the BP LOC are subject to fees on the issued amount, equal to the then applicable margin of the Term Loan. As of September 30, 2005, no draws were made under either DSR LOC or the BP LOC. As of September 30, 2005, the Term Loan was fully drawn under U.S. prime rate loans at 6.75% plus an applicable margin of 0.5%. The Ripon Credit Facility is non-recourse to the Fund and is secured by all of Ripon's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon may own or acquire. The Term Loan contains a financial covenant requiring Ripon to maintain a debt service coverage ratio no less than 1.2 to 1.0 as well as other customary affirmative and negative covenants for a non recourse project financing. As at September 30, 2005, the debt service coverage ratio was at 1.38 to 1.0. If the financial covenant is not satisfied at each quarterly reporting period, then all excess cash flow from Ripon after payment of all debt service and operating expenses will be restricted, including a restriction on dividend payments. If the debt service coverage ratio is not restored to a level above the required covenant within four quarters, the Term Loan shall be prepaid with accumulated cash. Principal maturities of the Term Loan commenced repayment on July 15, 2005 and are payable during the next five years as follows:

	Thousands of US $
2005 (for the three months ending December 31, 2005)	1,824
2006	3,951
2007	4,112
2008	4,177
2009	4,334
	58,719

As of the date of March 30, 2005, Ripon entered into an interest rate swap agreement with UBOC to fix the interest rate paid on the fully drawn balance of the Term Loan at 4.939% per annum. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Ripon Credit Facility on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap was initially $59,500,000, and is adjusted each quarter to match the amortization of the Term Loan.

As at September 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was US $936,000 unfavourable which has been recorded as an other liability on the consolidated balance sheets. On October 25, 2005, the interest rate swap agreement was terminated at a cost to the Fund of $500 [US$425,000].

At September 30, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Ripon Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

NOTE 7 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Commitments

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside Canada delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting Countryside District Energy Holding Corp.'s future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System (a division of Countryside District Energy Corp.) is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days notice to WPS. Subsequent to September 30, 2005, the Fund renewed the guarantee, effective January 1, 2006 to an aggregate amount of $1,200, covering the period up to December 31, 2008.

Ripon owns two facilities; the "Ripon Facility" and the "San Gabriel Facility". Each facility has a gas turbine lease agreement with a third party, to have turbines available for their use during the year in the case of malfunction of the existing equipment. The annual cost of these leases is approximately US $344,000. The leases expire in August 2006 and July 2007. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon on an inflation factor.

Ripon has two power turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each facility, to have a rotor, turbine casing and transition duct available for their use during the year in the case of malfunction of the existing equipment. The annual cost of each of these leases is approximately US $50,000. Both leases expire in March 2009.

Under Ripon's fuel purchase agreements with British Petroleum ("BP"), each facility is required to purchase 10,000 Million British Thermal Units ("MMBtu's") of natural gas each day. This purchase commitment is effective for both facilities through the life of agreements, which expire on June 30, 2006. The price of fuel for the Ripon Facility is fixed at US $5.305 per MMBtu under its fuel purchase agreement. Accordingly, Ripon's approximate minimum future fuel commitments subsequent to September 30, 2005 are as follows: US $4,881,000 for 2005 and US $9,602,000 for 2006. The price of fuel for the San Gabriel Facility resets monthly at current market prices. As such, the San Gabriel Facility's total fuel cost commitments through June 30, 2006 are not reasonably determinable. The San Gabriel Facility's effective price of fuel was US$7.6594 per MMBtu for September 2005.

Operation and maintenance agreements have been entered into with North American Energy Services Company ("NAES") for the operation and maintenance of each of the two Cogen Facilities. The agreements cover the operation of the plant facilities including administration of all payroll and benefits for plant staff, plant operations and compliance and facility level accounting. Annual fees for each of these agreements are US $170,000 plus an incentive payment, which is a maximum of US $80,000 per year. These agreements expire in 2011.

Contingencies

A proceeding is currently pending before the California Public Utility Commission ("CPUC"), in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply a March 2001 ruling which decreased "Short Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC" levels retroactively for the period from December 2000 to March 2001. Such a ruling could, in theory, apply to many Qualifying Facilities ("QF's") in California, including the Cogen Facilities and may lead utilities to seek refunds or offsets from the QF's which sold the utilities' power during such 4 month period. While management believes that such a result is unlikely, the outcome of such a regulatory proceeding cannot be predicted with certainty. Even in the event of an adverse result, management believes Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses under federal and state law which should protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal or otherwise enjoined, QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could materially and adversely affect the Cogen Facilities' ability to generate distributable cash.

NOTE 8 – SEGMENTED DISCLOSURE

The Fund operates two district energy systems, located in Canada and two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California. It also had a loan to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USEB, which is included with the Fund's corporate administrative operations for reporting purposes. These three assets represented the Fund's reportable segments at September 30, 2005. Please see note 1 (a) for a description of the basis of presentation of the results below as the Cogen Facilities reflect only three months of results.

The Fund analyzes the performance of its three operating segments based on net income before depreciation, amortization, interest and taxes ("EBITDA"). Income for each segment is measured on the same basis as those of the Fund.

The payment of Debenture principal and interest is subordinated in right of payment to the prior payment of all senior indebtedness of the Fund. Sebsequent to the closing of the Offering, approximately $3,589 in costs related to the Debentures will be deferred and amortized over the term of the Debentures and will included in deferred charges commencing in the fourth quarter of 2005.

Each Debenture will be exchangeable for Units at the option of the holder at any time prior to the close of business on the earlier of the Maturity Date and the business day immediately preceding the date specified by Countryside Canada for redemption of the Debentures, at an exchange price of $10.75 per Unit (the "Exchange Price") being a ratio of 109.4884 Units per US$1,000 principal amount of Debentures, subject to adjustment in certain events in accordance with the trust indenture governing the terms of the Debentures. Holders exchanging their Debentures will receive accrued and unpaid interest thereon for the period from the last interest payment date on their Debentures to the date of exchange. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no Debentures may be exchanged during the five business days preceding April 30 and October 31 in each year as the registers of the Debenture Trustee (as defined herein) will be closed during such periods.

The Debentures may not be redeemed by Countryside Canada on or prior to October 31, 2008, except in the event of the satisfaction of certain conditions after a Change of Control (as defined herein) has occurred. Thereafter, but prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures may be redeemed, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior notice, provided that the weighted-average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending five trading days preceding the date on which notice of redemption is given is not less than 125% of the Exchange Price. On or after October 31, 2010 and prior to the Maturity Date, the Debentures may be redeemed by Countryside Canada, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior written notice.

Subject to regulatory approval, Countryside Canada may, at its option, elect to satisfy its obligation to pay the principal amount of the Debentures on redemption or at maturity through, in whole or in part, the delivery of freely-tradeable Units. The Fund will take all actions and do all things necessary or desirable to enable and permit Countryside Canada, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations to deliver the requisite number of Units to the extent holders exercise their exchange right.

Message to our Unitholders

RECEIVED

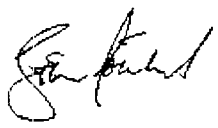
OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL
CORPORATE FINANCE

Q1

Dear Fellow Unitholders

I am pleased to report solid operational and financial performance for Countryside Power Income Fund for the three months ended March 31, 2005.



Our results were driven by year-over-year revenue and EBITDA increases at our utility infrastructure investment in district energy systems. Countryside has a solid base with stable cash flow from our utility infrastructure and renewable power investments. We remain focused on our strategy to improve current operations while looking for opportunities to further diversify our portfolio by fuel source and technology

Since inception, the Fund has generated distributable cash of $15.22 million and declared distributions of $14.98 million.

In the first quarter ended 2005, revenue from Countryside's district energy systems increased 9.1 per cent to $6.2 million from the prior year period. Interest income on the loan receivable from U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. (USEB) was $2.9 million, in line with expectations. The district energy systems benefited from a customer addition and efficiency improvement program initiated in 2004 and completed in the first quarter of 2005. District energy EBITDA increased by 30 per cent compared with the same period last year, mainly due to higher energy pricing combined with lower fuel costs resulting from an improved fuel mix.

We remain committed to delivering stable monthly cash distributions to unitholders and to building value over the long-term.

Sincerely,

Göran Mörnhed
President and Chief Executive Officer
Countryside U.S. Power Inc.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Q1 For the three-month period ended March 31, 2005 (in thousands of Canadian dollars except per Trust Unit amounts, unless otherwise stated)

May 5, 2005

Management's discussion and analysis ("MD&A") of the consolidated financial condition and the results of operations of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") should be read in conjunction with the accompanying unaudited interim financial statements and notes thereto prepared for the three months ended March 31, 2005, as well as the MD&A and audited consolidated financial statements contained in the 2004 annual report to unitholders.

This MD&A provides information for the period from January 1, 2005 to March 31, 2005.

Forward-Looking Information

This MD&A may contain forward-looking statements relating to expected future events and financial and operating results of the Fund that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from management expectations as projected in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons, including market and general economic conditions and the risks and uncertainties detailed from time-to-time in the Fund's prospectus filed with the Canadian Securities regulatory authorities. Due to the potential impact of these factors, the Fund disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless required by applicable law.

STRUCTURE OF THE FUND

The Fund was established to invest indirectly in 22 renewable power and energy projects (the "Renewable Projects") and two district energy systems (the "District Energy Systems"). The Fund's indirect investments consist of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB") and the ownership of the District Energy Systems. USEB, a company unrelated to the Fund, and owned by U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY") and Cinergy Energy Solutions, Inc. ("CES"), an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy Corp., owns 100% of the Renewable Projects located outside of Illinois and 50% of those located in Illinois.

The Renewable Projects, located in the United States, currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004. USEB has its own management and operations staff. Administration and operations oversight of the Renewable Projects are currently performed by USEY and a subsidiary of CES, respectively.

The District Energy Systems are located in Canada, with one in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and one in London, Ontario (the "London System"), and together have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity.

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to unitholders of the Fund ("Unitholders") and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure projects, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

Financial Statements presented in this Interim Report

Given the significance of the loan payments received, and in order to provide Unitholders with the necessary information to assess the underlying performance of the Fund's investments, the financial statements of USEB Operating Assets (as defined in the Fund's prospectus dated March 29, 2004) are being filed with Canadian securities regulators concurrently with the filing of the Fund's financial statements at each quarterly and annual reporting period. However, the financial statements of USEB are not certified by the officers of Countryside U.S. Power Inc., nor does management or the board of trustees of the Fund provide any representations as to their accuracy or completeness. USEB's financial statements of the USEB Operating Assets for the three months ended March 31, 2005, and the MD&A for such financial results, are included with the Fund's filing for informational purposes only.

Earnings before interest, income taxes, unrealized interest rate swap gains and losses, and depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of EBITDA and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. EBITDA can be calculated from the Fund's GAAP statements as operating income, plus depreciation and amortization.

OPERATING RESULTS

Results of District Energy Systems

The District Energy Systems' revenue is mainly derived from long-term energy sales contracts with long-standing and creditworthy customers. The energy sales contracts are generally structured with energy and capacity payments, with the energy component providing the District Energy Systems with the ability to pass through the majority of changes to its fuel price to its customers. As a result, revenue can increase or decrease depending on changes in fuel prices. However, due to the structure of the contractual arrangements, such changes typically do not have a material effect on the District Energy System's operating cash flow.

PEI System

	Three-month Period Ended March 31, 2005	Three-month Period Ended March 31, 2004
Energy Volumes
Sales of Steam (Mlbs)	36,933	33,857
Sales of Hot Water (MMBtus)	132,626	125,748
Fuel Consumed (MMBtus)	244,355	239,766
Financial Indicators
Energy revenues	$ 3,105	$ 2,850
Other revenues	435	360
Fuel and consumables expense	1,068	1,133
Operating, labour and maintenance expense	809	780
Management and administrative expense	142	130
EBITDA	$ 1,521	$ 1,167

Energy Volumes and Revenues

The PEI System energy volumes sold increased from the prior year results by approximately 9% for steam and 5% for hot water.

Revenues from energy sales increased by $255 from $2,850 to $3,105 during the comparative three-month period. Part of this increase was due to the addition of a new customer during the latter part of 2004, sales to which comprised $56 of the increase. Price adjustments associated with higher reference fuel prices accounted for $187 of the increase in energy revenues, while increases in energy volumes sold to other customers accounted for the remainder of the increase.

Other revenues consist primarily of waste fuel fees, and increased $75 or 21% from $360 to $435 due to increased waste fuel volumes delivered to the PEI System for fuel consumption.

Fuel and Consumables Volume and Expense

The PEI System fuel consumption increased from prior year results by approximately 4,500 MMBtus or 2%, primarily as a result of the increase in sales volumes. However, this increase in consumption was offset by improved fuel mix usage, such that the cost of fuel was $1,068, $65 lower than in the prior year.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

Operating, labour and maintenance expense as well as management and administrative expenses were $951, with a modest increase of $40 or 4% as compared with the $910 expense in the prior year period.

EBITDA

The increase for the three-month period in EBITDA of $354 from $1,167 to $1,521 in the current period was as a result of various factors including the addition of the new customer, increased customer energy pricing, higher waste fuel fees and lower fuel costs due to an improved fuel mix.

London System

	Three-month Period Ended March 31, 2005	Three-month Period Ended March 31, 2004
Energy Volumes
Sales of Steam (Mlbs)	134,908	130,356
Fuel Consumed (MMBtus)	191,744	194,954
Financial Indicators
Energy revenues	$ 2,675	$ 2,487

Operating, labour and maintenance expense	279	303
Management and administrative expense	106	119
EBITDA	$ 241	$ 184

Energy Volumes and Revenues

The London System steam volumes sold increased from the prior year by approximately 4,500 Mlbs or 3.5% due to a modest increase in customer energy consumption. Revenues from energy sales increased by $188 from $2,487 to $2,675. The increase in revenues was primarily due to an increase in the reference fuel price, coupled with the slight increase in steam volumes.

Fuel and Consumables Volumes and Expense

Fuel consumed decreased by approximately 2% compared to the prior year, mainly due to increased fuel efficiency from improvements that were 75% completed during the first quarter of 2005 that involved an upgrade to the heat recovery systems. The fuel expense for the three-month period increased by $170 or 9%, from $1,883 to $2,053 due primarily to the increase in natural gas prices.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

Operating, labour and maintenance expense as well as management and administrative expenses decreased by $37 from $422 to $385 from the comparative prior year period, mainly due to capitalized labor associated with capital improvements.

EBITDA

The increase in EBITDA of $57 from $184 to $241 for the three-month period was impacted by the reduction in total non- fuel expenses described above, coupled with the completion of the heat recovery capital improvement project.

REVENUE

Energy Revenues

Energy revenues consist only of revenues at the District Energy Systems and are explained above.

USEB Investment Revenue

Interest income on loans to USEB was, as scheduled, $2,905 for the three-month period ended March 31, 2005 based on a fixed interest rate of 11.0% per annum on the loan balance remaining as at December 31, 2004 of $105,789. The USEB loan pays principal and interest monthly. As at the end of March 31, 2005, the Fund had also received $439 in principal amortization on the loan receivable from USEB during the three-month period and $1,650 since the inception of the loan.

The terms of the USEB loan agreements require that USEB maintain a minimum Fixed Charge Coverage Ratio ("FCCR"), as defined in the loan agreements, of 1.15 to 1 for 2005 and 1.25 to 1 thereafter. In the three-month period ended March 31, 2005, USEB was in compliance with the FCCR covenant, with a FCCR of 1.19:1. USEB also was required to establish various restricted reserve accounts upon origination of the loan and to fund two of those reserves on an ongoing basis from available cash flow. USEB's 10 Illinois-based projects receive a subsidy from the State of Illinois ("ICC Subsidy") and a portion thereof is set aside on a monthly basis into a reserve account ("ICC Reimbursement Account"). On March 31, 2005, the total investment value of the ICC Reimbursement Account was U.S. $24,144. The ICC Reimbursement account is invested in a balanced portfolio of liquid equity and fixed income instruments. The investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the ICC subsidy received under various power sales contracts have been pledged to secure repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund. In addition, USEB is required to fund a Debt Service Reserve Account ("USEB DSR") on a quarterly basis from available cash flow after payment of all operating and maintenance expenditures, debt service, and ICC Subsidy Deposits but before growth capital expenditures and dividends (including the convertible royalty interest). On March 31, 2005, the DSR had an investment value of U.S. $2,091. The USEB DSR cash deposits have been invested in high quality liquid instruments and also have been pledged to the Fund to secure repayment of the loan. The USEB DSR can be drawn upon first by the Fund to meet debt service on the USEB loan to the extent USEB operating cash flow is insufficient. Including a construction reserve account at the USEB level in the amount of U.S. $3,653, there were liquid reserves in excess of U.S. $30,000 that secured the repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund as of March 31, 2005. In addition, the Fund's investment is secured by all of USEB's assets and energy sales contracts.

During the three-month period ended March 31, 2005, there was $109 earned from the Fund's investment in the USEB convertible royalty interest. These results were below management expectations but not considered material to cash flow. This was due primarily to decreased USEB revenue resulting from lower power pricing at three USEB Illinois projects.

Other Revenues

Other revenues consist primarily of waste fuel fees at the PEI System as well as fee revenue from U.S. development partners. They also include miscellaneous interest income on cash equivalents held at the corporate level and foreign exchange gains and losses on the small amount of U.S. cash held primarily to fund U.S. dollar denominated trade payables.

Total Expenses

Fuel, operating and maintenance expenses also consist entirely of operating expenses at the District Energy Systems and are explained above.

Management and administrative expense is made up of $248 in costs incurred at the District Energy System level as well as $492 incurred at the Corporate and other level related to the administration of the Fund and its investments in USEB.

Depreciation expense consists of capital asset depreciation. Most of the capital assets are used at the District Energy Systems and only $5 of the total $376 in depreciation expense related to Corporate and other.

Amortization expense is comprised of amortization of deferred financing fees, royalty interest, loan origination fees and customer relationships. The amortization charges are all amortized on a straight line basis, and as such, do not vary from period to period.

DISTRIBUTIONS DECLARED TO UNITHOLDERS

Distributable cash is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. The Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis. Management believes that distributable cash is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the performance of an income trust and its ability to generate cash for distributions through ongoing operations.

Given the seasonal nature of the district energy business, a rolling twelve month average calculation is also provided since we believe it provides more meaningful information to investors than the calculation for a distinct quarter.

	Three Month Period Ended March 31, 2005	357-Day Period Since Commencement of Operations
Cash provided by operating activities	$ 4,324	$ 13,032

Distributable cash for the period	$ 4,344	$ 15,217
Distributions declared for the period	$ 3,819	$ 14,980
Distributions declared per Trust Unit for the period	$ 0.256	$ 1.005

[1] Purchases of capital assets for regular operations are non-expansionary capital expenditures.

[2] As the timing of the receipt of the royalty interest income earned in a period is dependent upon the timing and extent of equity distributions made by USEB to its shareholders, royalty interest income will only be included in the calculation of distributable cash when payments related to the royalty interest are received from USEB. This method of calculating distributable cash has been adopted retroactively in the three month period ended March 31, 2005. Prior to January 1, 2005, distributable cash included royalty interest income as earned.

The Fund pays monthly cash distributions to Unitholders on or about the last business day of each month to Unitholders of record on the last business day of the prior month. The ex-distribution date is two business days prior to the last business day of the prior month. Since the inception of the Fund on April 8, 2004, all distributions declared have been equivalent to a pro-rated amount of $0.0854 per month, except for the distributions payable December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 which were $0.0855 to make up for rounding differences. Distributable cash generated by the Fund from operations in the period approximates distributions declared by the Fund.

The Fund intends to meet future distribution payments from cash flow generated from its operating assets and investments. Management expects to maintain cash distributions for the 2005 year at the same level as annualized 2004 distributions, at $1.025 per Trust Unit.

The composition of distributions paid by the Fund for 2004 was approximately 71% return on capital and 29% return of capital. Management estimates that in 2005, the composition of distributions for tax purposes will approximate the allocation reported for 2004.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Fund expects to be able to meet all of its obligations from cash flow from operations and investments. Additionally, the Fund has $3,735 of cash on hand. The Fund also has a three-year $35,000 credit facility from a syndicate of banks ("Credit Facility") of which $5,000 is currently unutilized. The Credit Facility is available for working capital purposes, including financing new growth and the expansion of existing facilities.

Cash provided by investing activities was $228 for the three-month period ended March 31, 2005, due to scheduled repayments of $439 on the USEB loan offset by $211 in capital expenditures. Of the capital expenditures, $12 was operations related capital expenditures and $199 were growth capital expenditures, mainly related to the heat recovery improvements at the London System.

In addition to the completion of the PEI expansion project underway at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems, the District Energy Systems initiated over $1,000 in the latter half of calendar 2004 in new expansions (as outlined in the District Energy Facilities – Outlook – Expansion Projects section of the 2004 MD&A). The completion of the PEI expansion project was contemplated at the time of the Initial Offering and proceeds were set aside in cash and cash equivalents for this purpose.

Cash used in financing activities consists mainly of payments of distributions to Unitholders, and deferred financing charges related to an amendment of the existing Bank Credit Facility.

The Fund expects to be able to renew or refinance its Bank Credit Facility when it comes due.

The variance in revenue between quarterly periods was due primarily to the commencement of the winter heating season in the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 compared with the two prior periods. District Energy System energy volumes and sales are seasonal, with a majority of energy volumes, sales and earnings occurring during the winter heating season and typically lower results during spring and fall when less heating is required by customers. Electricity sales are not considered material to earnings or cash flow for the period. Sales of steam and hot water are greatest during the winter heating season in Q1 and Q4, while sales in the summer quarters, Q2 and Q3, relate primarily to chilled water and are much lower in terms of revenue earned. Net income will generally follow a similar seasonal pattern, although there were some anomalies in Q2 and Q3 2004 due non-cash related adjustments for unrealized gains and losses on the interest rate swap, and for the deferred tax treatment of some items.

OFF BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

Guarantee

As of April 8, 2004, Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), a direct subsidiary of the Fund, delivered a performance guarantee in favour of WPS Energy Services, Inc. ("WPS") respecting Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp's (an indirect subsidiary of the Fund) future obligations to WPS under the Master Natural Gas Sales and Purchase Agreement dated December 1, 2001 (the "Purchase Agreement"). All natural gas utilized by the London System is purchased under the Purchase Agreement with WPS. Such guarantee is limited to an aggregate amount of $1,000 and to liabilities incurred prior to December 31, 2005 or such earlier date designated by Countryside Canada on 10 days' notice to WPS.

Interest Rate Swap

One of the Fund's indirect subsidiaries has entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on $30,000 of its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brings the current effective rate to 5.22% per annum. The stamping fee schedule now in place is tied to a leverage ratio (as defined in the loan agreement governing the Fund's Bank Credit Facility). The stamping fee may change in the future if the leverage ratio changes, which could result in an increase or decrease in the effective rate of interest paid on the long-term debt. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the BankCredit Facility on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months.

Foreign Exchange

Substantially all of the District Energy System's operations and earnings are in Canadian dollars. The USEB loan is denominated in Canadian dollars and the interest is fixed at 11.0% per annum, which mitigates the foreign exchange risk of the Fund. Therefore, the foreign exchange risk remains with USEB with respect to servicing the USEB Loans. The Fund's interest in royalties paid with respect to its US $6,000 investment in the USEB convertible royalty interest ("USEB Royalty") are US dollar denominated. The Fund has not hedged the foreign exchange risk with respect to these payments as they represented less than 2% of the fiscal 2004 revenues of the Fund and are expected to remain a minor portion of revenues.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

The Fund's business risks remained substantially unchanged since December 31, 2004.

For a more detailed discussion of risk factors, reference should be made to the MD&A in the 2004 Annual Report and to the 2004 Annual Information Form pages 40 to 56 which are incorporated by reference.

TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PARTIES

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

Countryside U.S. has entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. shall be paid an annual fee of U.S. $430 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy Corp. and USEY.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five-year term unless terminated by any party.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of our financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments as they relate to matters that are inherently uncertain. Changes in these judgments or estimates could have a significant impact on the Fund's financial statements. We believe the following critical accounting estimate involves the more significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our financial statements:

Customer Relationships

Customer relationships were recorded to account for the proportion of the proceeds from the purchase of the District Energy Systems that exceeded the book value of the existing assets. The fair value of the customer relationships balance is being amortized over 21 years on a straight-line basis. Management has used judgment and estimates in determining the appropriate amortization period giving consideration to both the historical performance of customer renewals and the useful life of the energy service agreements in place at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems by the Fund.

OUTLOOK

District Energy Facilities

Expansion Projects

The London System heat recovery improvement project was substantially completed and became operational in February 2005. This project is estimated to provide additional cash flow in the range of $300 - $500 per year.

The Fund

We are committed to growing the Fund through accretive investments. We have a disciplined investment strategy to identify and pursue acquisitions and investment opportunities. Our dynamic industry has been undergoing a shift in the ownership of unregulated generation assets, which offers a number of consolidation and partnership prospects for Countryside. Further, there appears to be growing support for renewable power generation from both government and industry in light of Canada's commitment to the Kyoto Protocol and the U.S. market trend to energy independence as a result of rising oil and natural gas prices. The Fund is actively evaluating opportunities in power generation and utility infrastructure, with a view to increasing Unitholder value and growing distributions.

Q2 For the Six Months Ended June 30, 2005 [all amounts in thousands of Canadian dollars except per Trust Unit amounts, unless otherwise stated] [unaudited]

August 8, 2005

Management's discussion and analysis ("MD&A") of the consolidated financial condition and the results of operations of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") should be read in conjunction with the accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements and notes thereto prepared for the three and six months ended June 30, 2005, as well as the MD&A and audited consolidated financial statements contained in the 2004 annual report to unitholders.

This MD&A provides information for the period from January 1, 2005 to June 30, 2005.

Forward-Looking Information

This MD&A may contain forward-looking statements relating to expected future events and financial and operating results of the Fund that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from management expectations as projected in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons, including market and general economic conditions and the risks and uncertainties detailed from time-to-time in the Fund's prospectus filed with the Canadian Securities regulatory authorities. Due to the potential impact of these factors, the Fund disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless required by applicable law.

STRUCTURE OF THE FUND

The Fund was established on April 8, 2004 to initially invest indirectly in 22 renewable power and energy projects (the "Renewable Projects") and two district energy systems (the "District Energy Systems"). The Fund's indirect investments consisted of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB") and the ownership of the District Energy Systems. USEB, a company unrelated to the Fund, and owned by U.S. Energy Systems, Inc. ("USEY") and Cinergy Energy Solutions, Inc. ("CES"), an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy Corp., owns 100% of the Renewable Projects located outside of Illinois and 50% of those located in Illinois.

On June 29, 2005 the Fund, through an indirect subsidiary, completed the acquisition of a 100% controlling interest in the holding company of Ripon Cogeneration, LLC ("Ripon"), a California-based power generation company. Ripon's principal assets consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California: the Ripon Cogeneration Facility ("Ripon Facility") and the San Gabriel Cogeneration Facility ("San Gabriel Facility"), collectively (the "Ripon Facilities"). Together, these plants have a combined capacity of 95 MW.

The Renewable Projects, located in the United States, currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004. USEB has its own management and operations staff. Administration and operations oversight of the Renewable Projects are currently performed by USEY and a subsidiary of CES, respectively.

The District Energy Systems are located in Canada, with one in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and one in London, Ontario (the "London System"), and together have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity.

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to unitholders of the Fund ("Unitholders") and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure projects, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

Consolidated Financial Statements presented in this Interim Report

Given the significance of the loan payments received, and in order to provide Unitholders with the necessary information to assess the underlying performance of the Fund's investments, the consolidated financial statements of USEB Operating Assets (as defined in the Fund's prospectus dated March 29, 2004) are being filed with Canadian securities regulators concurrently with the filing of the Fund's consolidated financial statements at each quarterly and annual reporting period. However, the consolidated financial statements of USEB are not certified by the officers of Countryside U.S. Power Inc., nor does management or the board of trustees of the Fund provide any representations as to their accuracy or completeness. USEB's consolidated financial statements of the USEB Operating Assets for the six months ended June 30, 2005, and the MD&A for such financial results, are included with the Fund's filing for informational purposes only.

Earnings before interest, income taxes, unrealized interest rate swap gains and losses, and depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of EBITDA and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. EBITDA can be calculated from the Fund's GAAP statements as operating income, plus depreciation and amortization expense.

ACQUISTION COMPLETED ON JUNE 29, 2005

The principal assets acquired in the Ripon acquisitions consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California powered by General Electric combustion turbines.

- The Ripon Cogeneration Facility, located near San Francisco in Ripon, California, has been in operation since 1988 and has a generation capacity of 51 megawatts. It has a power purchase agreement to 2018 with Pacific Gas & Electric Company, the principal utility operating subsidiary of PG&E Corp (PCG:NYSE), the largest electric utility in California, and also sells steam to a local paper company.

- The San Gabriel Cogeneration Facility, located near Los Angeles in Pomona, California, has been in operation since 1986 and has a generation capacity of 44 megawatts. It has a power purchase agreement to 2016 with Southern California Edison Company, the principal utility operating subsidiary of Edison International (EIX:NYSE), the second-largest electric utility in California, and also sells steam to a local newsprint producer.

In the transaction, Countryside, through an indirect subsidiary, acquired a 100 per cent controlling interest in the indirect owner of the two facilities for US $35,800 in cash plus the assumption of non-recourse project debt directly related to the Ripon Facilities of US $59,500 for a total of US $95,300, or approximately CDN $117,000 based on current exchange rates.

The Fund financed the acquisition by amending its $35,000 revolving credit facility so that the total facility, provided by Toronto-Dominion Bank, totals $80,000. The full amount of the facility was drawn in order to finance the Ripon acquisition, on June 29, 2005, the date the transaction closed. The Fund plans to follow with an equity offering aimed at refinancing the acquisition-related bank debt. In order to mitigate the impact of fluctuating currency exchange rates on the Ripon cash flows, the Fund intends to enter into foreign exchange contracts.

OPERATING RESULTS

Results of District Energy Systems

As the Fund was created on February 16, 2004, and acquired the operations of the District Energy Systems on April 8, 2004, the comparative period ended June 30, 2004 includes 83 days of operations and therefore for comparative purposes, the 2004 interim consolidated financial statements of the Fund exclude the period from January 1, 2004 to April 8, 2004. In order to enhance its usefulness, the analyses included in this MD&A of the District Energy Systems include the summary of the operating results of the District Energy Systems from January 1, 2004 to June 30, 2004. This information is provided for reference purposes only and is not intended as a comprehensive comparison of financial results of the District Energy Systems.

The District Energy Systems' revenue is mainly derived from long-term energy sales contracts with long-standing and creditworthy customers. The energy sales contracts are generally structured with energy and capacity payments, with the energy component providing the District Energy Systems with the ability to pass through the majority of changes to its fuel price to its customers. As a result, revenue can increase or decrease depending on changes in fuel prices. However, due to the structure of the contractual arrangements, such changes typically do not have a material effect on the District Energy System's operating cash flow.

Energy Volumes and Revenues

For the three-month period ended June 30, the PEI System energy volumes sold decreased from the prior year results by approximately 11% for steam and 1% for hot water. These reductions were principally based on more moderate temperatures on average, resulting in reduced energy requirements for cooling. For the six-month period ended June 30, 2005, the PEI System energy volumes sold increased from the prior year results with steam volumes essentially flat and an approximately 3% increase for hot water. Decreased steam volumes during the second quarter offset increased heating during the first quarter.

Revenues from energy sales increased by $218 from $1,973 to $2,191 during the comparative three-month period ended June 30, 2004. Fuel pricing changes accounted for $247 of the increase, which were offset by $31 related to volume decreases. Hot water revenue accounted for the largest portion of the energy revenue increase. For the six-month period ended June 30, 2005, sales increased approximately 10% by $473 from $4,823 to $5,296. New customer revenue accounted for $86 of the increase, while the balance of the increase was due to fuel pricing changes.

Other revenues consist primarily of waste fuel fees received, and increased by $2 for the three-month comparative period ended June 30, 2005. For the six-month comparative period ended June 30, 2005, other revenues increased by $70 or 9% from $819 to $889 related to increases in increased waste volumes received, primarily during the first quarter of 2005.

Fuel and Consumables Volume and Expense

The PEI System fuel consumption was down by approximately 700 MMBtus or 0.5% for the three-month period ended June 30, and increased by approximately 3,900 MMBtus or 1% for the six-month period ended June 30, 2005 because of the increased volume of hot water sold.

Fuel consumption expense was up by $3 from $498 to $501 for the three-month period ended June 30, 2005. An increase in oil costs contributed to an increase of approximately $61, offset by $26 related to volume reductions in fuel consumed, and $32 to improved electric production resulting in lower electric costs. For the six-month period then ended, fuel and consumables expense was down $62 to $1,569 due to a combination of a reduction in fuel oil pricing and a change in fuel mix to lower priced fuel.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

Operating, labour and maintenance expense was $911, $84 greater than the prior comparative three month period ended June 30, 2004, due to increased production equipment maintenance and related labour over the prior year. On a year to date basis, these expenses increased by $103, to $1,720 since most of these increased maintenance expenses occurred in the second quarter of 2005.

General and administration expenses were $3 lower than the prior year at $129 for the quarter ended June 30, 2005. On a year to date basis for the same period end, there was a modest increase of $5 or 2% as compared with the $266 expense in the prior year comparable period.

EBITDA

The increase for the three-month period in EBITDA of $130 from $974 to $1,104 in the current period ended June 30, 2005 was mainly as a result of the increase in revenue as described above. EBITDA increased 23% from $2,128 in the six-month period ended June 30, 2004 to $2,625 or $497 for the current year comparable period due to increased energy pricing, increased hot water sales volumes, higher waste fuel fees received and lower fuel costs due to an improved fuel mix.

Energy Volumes and Revenues

The London System steam volumes sold decreased from the prior year during the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 by approximately 1,340 Mlbs or 3% due to decreased customer energy consumption mainly related to warmer than average temperatures for the quarter. For the six-month period ended June 30, 2005, steam volumes were up approximately 3,200 Mlbs due an increase in customer energy consumption, all in the first quarter of 2005 which had cooler temperatures than the previous year. Sales of chilled water were up significantly over the prior year, by 155MTonh or 20% for the three-month period, and 165 MTon/hr or 19% for the six-month period ended June 30, 2005. These increases were also due to warmer than average temperatures for the second quarter of 2005.

Revenues from energy sales increased modestly by $4 from $1,438 to $1,442 for the three-month period and by $192 from $3,925 to $4,117 for the six-month period ended June 30, 2005, due almost equally to an increase in reference fuel pricing combined with the modest increase in sales volumes of 2%.

Fuel and Consumables Volumes and Expense

For the three-month period ended June 30, 2005, fuel consumed decreased by approximately 8% or 7,350 MMBtus, and for the six-month period then ended they decreased by 10,560 MMbtus or 4% compared to the prior year, mainly due to increased fuel efficiency from improvements that were 75% completed during the first quarter of 2005 involving an upgrade to the heat recovery systems. The fuel expense for the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 increased by $13 or 1%, from $993 to $1006, and for the six-month period then ended increased by $183 from $2,876 to $3,059 due primarily to the increase in natural gas prices.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

Operating, labour and maintenance expense was down for the quarter ended June 30, 2005 by 27% or $97 from $358 to $261, and for the six-months then ended was down by 18% or $122 from $661 to $539 as a result of reduced repairs and maintenance. For the three-month period ended June 30, 2005, general and administration expenses decreased by $20 from $127 to $107 from the comparative prior year period and for the six-month period then ended, decreased by $31 or 13% from $244 to $213 due to various small items.

EBITDA

The increase in EBITDA of $108 from ($34) to $74 for the three-month period ended June 30, 2005, and by $166 or 111% for the six-month period then ended was primarily impacted by the reduction in total non-fuel expenses described above, coupled with the completion of the heat recovery capital improvement project which lowered fuel costs.

Countryside Power Income Fund Consolidated

For the District Energy Systems, results have been provided on a three-month and six-month comparative basis for informational purposes, even though the Fund did not purchase their interest in the District Energy Systems until April 8, 2004. For the Fund's consolidated results, the 83-day comparative operating period ended June 30, 2004 contained the operating results of the District Energy Systems only subsequent to the April 8, 2004 purchase by the Fund, and thus the results for the three-month period and the six-month period ended June 30, 2004 are the same and will not reconcile to the comparative results for the District Energy Systems presented under "Operating Results – Results of District Energy Systems" above.

Revenue

Energy Revenues

Energy revenues consist only of revenues at the District Energy Systems and are explained in the previous sections.

USEB Investment Revenue

Interest income on loans to USEB was, as scheduled, $2,893 for the three- month and $5,798 for the six-month period ended June 30, 2005 based on a fixed interest rate of 11.0% per annum on the loan balance remaining as at December 31, 2004 of $105,789. The USEB loan pays principal and interest monthly. As at the end of June 30, 2005, the Fund had also received $889 in scheduled principal repayments on the loan receivable from USEB during the six-month period and $2,100 since the inception of the loan.

The terms of the USEB loan agreements require that USEB establish various restricted reserve accounts upon origination of the loan and to fund two of those reserves on an ongoing basis from available cash flow. USEB's 10 Illinois-based projects receive a subsidy from the State of Illinois ("ICC Subsidy") and a portion thereof is set aside on a monthly basis into a reserve account ("ICC Reimbursement Account"). On June 30, 2005, the total investment value of the ICC Reimbursement Account was U.S. $24,638. The ICC Reimbursement account is invested in a balanced portfolio of liquid equity and fixed income instruments. The investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the ICC subsidy received under various power sales contracts have been pledged to secure repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund. In addition, USEB is required to fund a Debt Service Reserve Account ("USEB DSR") on a quarterly basis from available cash flow after payment of all operating and maintenance expenditures, debt service, and ICC Subsidy Deposits but before growth capital expenditures and dividends (including the convertible royalty interest). On June 30, 2005, the DSR had an investment value of U.S. $2,107. The USEB DSR cash deposits have been invested in high quality liquid instruments and also have been pledged to the Fund to secure repayment of the loan. The USEB DSR can be drawn upon first by the Fund to meet debt service on the USEB loan to the extent USEB operating cash flow is insufficient. Including a construction reserve account at the USEB level in the amount of U.S. $3,327, there were liquid reserves in excess of U.S. $30,200 that collateralize the repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund as of June 30, 2005. In addition, the Fund's investment is collateralized by all of USEB's assets and energy sales contracts.

The Fund earned $164 from its investment in the USEB convertible royalty interest during the six-month period ended June 30, 2005 and $55 during the three-month period then ended compared to the prior year six-month comparative period results of $208 and $208, a decrease of 21% and 74% respectively. USEB royalty interest was earned only subsequent to April 8, 2004 when the investment was made by the Fund. This decrease was due primarily to decreased USEB revenue resulting from lower power pricing at three USEB Illinois projects. These results were below management expectations but not considered material to cash flow.

Other Revenues

Other revenues consist primarily of waste fuel fees received at the PEI System described under "Operating Results" above, which made up $454 of the amount in the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 and $452 for the prior year comparative period. At the Fund level, other revenue of $148 for the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 and $137 for the prior year comparative period consisted of fee revenue from U.S. development partners as well as miscellaneous interest income on cash equivalents held at the Fund level. For the six-month period ended June 30, 2005, $899 primarily represented waste fuel fees received at the PEI System, and the other $292 related to the same items noted above for the Fund during the three month period then ended.

Total Expenses

Fuel, operating and maintenance expenses also consist entirely of operating expenses at the District Energy Systems and are explained above.

For the three-month period ended June 30, 2005, general and administrative expense is made up of $236 in costs incurred at the District Energy System level as well as $1,130 incurred at the Fund level related to the administration of the Fund, the Fund's acquisition of Ripon and its investments in USEB. Fund level general and administrative expense was $334 for the 83-day operational comparative period ended June 30, 2004. The difference between the current and prior year periods of $796 was made up of a number of items, including transaction fees of $437 paid to Independence Power LLC ("Independence"), related to the Ripon acquisition as outlined on page 13 of this MD&A. The increase was also in part due to unitholder publication costs and postage associated with year end and Ontario capital tax.

Depreciation expense consists of capital asset depreciation. Most of the capital assets are used at the District Energy Systems and, for the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 only $5 of the total $377 in depreciation expense related to Corporate.

Amortization expense is comprised of amortization of deferred financing fees, royalty interest, loan origination fees and customer relationships. The amortization charges are all amortized on a straight line basis, and as such, do not typically vary from period to period. During the second quarter of 2005, deferred financing fees related to the original Credit Facility of $415 were written off since an Amended Credit Facility was negotiated which resulted in a settlement for accounting purposes of the original Credit Facility. This was the cause for the majority of the $443 increase to $751 at the end of the June 30, 2005 three-month period when compared to the prior year period.

Distributable cash is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. The Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis. Management believes that distributable cash is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the performance of an income trust and its ability to generate cash for distributions through ongoing operations.

Distributable cash earned for the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 and the six-month period ended June 30, 2005 was significantly impacted by the expensing of Ripon related transaction costs of $437 paid to Independence. Excluding the transaction costs, distributable cash was unchanged compared to the prior year period. These expenses were not related to the ongoing operations of the Fund.

While the first quarter of the calendar year is generally the most profitable quarter for the District Energy Systems, the second and third quarters are generally the weakest quarters due to more moderate temperatures which result in lower demand for thermal energy requirements by customers.

[1] Purchases of capital assets for regular operations are non-expansionary capital expenditures.

[2] As the timing of the receipt of the royalty interest income earned in a period is dependent upon the timing and extent of equity distributions made by USEB to its shareholders', royalty interest income will only be included in the calculation of distributable cash when payments related to the royalty interest are received from USEB. This method of calculating distributable cash was adopted retroactively in the three-month period ended March 31, 2005. Prior to January 1, 2005, distributable cash included royalty interest income as earned.

[3] Net of certain transaction costs related to the Ripon acquisition.

The Fund pays monthly cash distributions to Unitholders on or about the last business day of each month to Unitholders of record on the last business day of the prior month. The ex-distribution date is two business days prior to the last business day of the prior month. Since the inception of the Fund on April 8, 2004, all distributions declared have been $0.0854 per month, except for the distributions payable December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 which were $0.0855 to make up for rounding differences. Distributable cash generated by the Fund from operations in the period approximates distributions declared by the Fund.

The Fund intends to meet future distribution payments from cash flow generated from its operating assets and investments. Management expects to maintain cash distributions for the 2005 year at the same level as annualized 2004 distributions, at $1.025 per Trust Unit.

The composition of distributions paid by the Fund for 2004 was approximately 71% return on capital and 29% return of capital. Management estimates that in 2005, the composition of distributions for tax purposes will approximate the allocation reported for 2004.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Fund expects to be able to meet all of its obligations from cash flow from operations and investments. Additionally, the Fund has $9,299 of cash on hand. The Fund also has a three-year $80,000 credit facility from a Canadian chartered bank ("Credit Facility"). The Credit Facility is available for working capital purposes, including financing new growth and the expansion of existing facilities. The Fund, through its investment in Ripon, also assumed a term loan for US $59,500 to finance the Ripon Facilities, which has a maturity date of April 25, 2018.

Cash used in investing activities was $43,085 for the six-month period ended June 30, 2005, due to the acquisition of Ripon, which required $43,394 in cash, coupled with scheduled repayments of $889 on the USEB loan offset by $580 in capital expenditures. Of the capital expenditures, $234 was operations related capital expenditures and $346 were growth capital expenditures, mainly related to the heat recovery improvements at the London System.

In addition to the completion of the PEI expansion project underway at the time of the acquisition of the District Energy Systems, the District Energy Systems initiated over $1,000 in the latter half of calendar 2004 in new expansions (as outlined in the District Energy Facilities – Outlook – Expansion Projects section of the 2004 MD&A). The completion of the PEI expansion project was contemplated at the time of the Initial Offering and proceeds were set aside in cash and cash equivalents for this purpose.

Cash provided by financing activities consist mainly of the increase in the Credit Facility of $50,000 in the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 to finance the June 29, 2005 acquisition of Ripon offset by payments of distributions to Unitholders, and deferred financing charges related to an amendment of the existing Credit Facility.

The Fund expects to be able to renew or refinance its Credit Facility when it comes due.

The variance in revenue between quarterly periods was due primarily to the commencement of the winter heating season in the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 compared with the two prior periods. District Energy System energy volumes and sales are seasonal, with a majority of energy volumes, sales and earnings occurring during the winter heating season and typically lower results during spring and fall when less heating is required by customers. Electricity sales are not considered material to earnings or cash flow for the period. Sales of steam and hot water are greatest during the winter heating season in Q1 and Q4, while sales in the summer quarters, Q2 and Q3, relate primarily to chilling revenues, and are much lower in terms of revenue earned. EBITDA and Net income will generally follow a similar seasonal pattern, although there were some anomalies in Q2 and Q3 2004, as well as Q2 2005 due to non-cash related adjustments for unrealized gains and losses on the interest rate swap and foreign exchange, write-off of deferred financing fees on the original Credit Facility and for the deferred tax treatment of some items. The results for EBITDA and net income in the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 were significantly impacted by the expensing of Ripon related transaction costs of $437 paid to Independence, as well as the write off of $415 in deferred financing fees also related to the Ripon acquisition. Excluding these transaction costs related to the Ripon acquisition, net income would have been $1,743. These expenses were not related to the ongoing operations of the Fund.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Interest Rate Swap

One of the Fund's indirect subsidiaries has entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on $30,000 of its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22% plus a stamping fee of 2% which brings the current effective rate to 5.22% per annum. The swap maturity coincides with the original maturity of the Credit Facility on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months. As at June 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was $177 unfavourable.

Ripon entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the floating interest rate paid on its' US $59,500 term loan at 4.939% per annum. The effective rate of interest when adding the applicable margin is 6.439%. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Ripon Credit Facility on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap is $59,500 and amortizes on the same schedule as the term loan and payments are due every three months. As at June 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was US $2,734 unfavourable.

Foreign Exchange

Substantially all of the District Energy System's operations and earnings are in Canadian dollars. The USEB loan is denominated in Canadian dollars and the interest is fixed at 11.0% per annum, which mitigates the foreign exchange risk of the Fund. Therefore, the foreign exchange risk remains with USEB with respect to servicing the USEB Loans. The Fund's interest in royalties paid with respect to its US $6,000 investment in the USEB convertible royalty interest ("USEB Royalty") are US dollar denominated. The Fund has not hedged the foreign exchange risk with respect to these payments as they represented less than 2% of the fiscal 2004 revenues of the Fund and are expected to remain a minor portion of revenues. The Fund has not hedged the foreign exchange risk associated with its investment in Ripon; however, the Fund plans to implement a hedging program after completion of the planned refinancing of its Credit Facility.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Risks Related to Operations

USEB's Renewable Projects' ability to generate and deliver to its customers electricity and biogas (as applicable) on a daily basis and at certain expected levels is the main factor in determining the cash available for payments by USEB to Countryside Canada under the USEB Loan and the USEB Royalty. Similarly the District Energy facilities' ability to deliver steam, hot water and chilled water to its customers is the main factor for determining the cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. Likewise, the Ripon Facilities' ability to deliver electricity and steam to their customers is the main factor for determining cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. If operations are interrupted at the Fund's operating facilities or USEB due to mechanical failure, lack of fuel supply or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash to unitholders.

The amount of energy produced by USEB's Renewable Projects also depends on the extraction and availability of biogas from public and privately owned landfills. The quantity of biogas available is determined by numerous factors which are beyond the control of USEB and which cannot be predicted with certainty. Likewise, the amount of energy generated by the PEI System is dependent on the availability of a suitable supply of wood waste and municipal solid waste which may be subject to adverse change for reasons beyond the control of the Fund. The Ripon Facilities use natural gas for fuel. Ripon currently purchases natural gas under fixed cost contracts that expire in 2006. There can be no assurance that Ripon will enter into new long-term gas contracts or otherwise purchase natural gas in the market at the same price as it receives today. Ripon's Power Purchase Agreements ("PPA's") generally provide for electricity price increases reflective of fuel cost increases. However the PPA's do not provide for a full pass through of fuel costs and therefore changes in Ripon's fuel costs may decrease or increase the distributable cash generated by Ripon.

Electricity Pricing

While a majority of the off-takers of USEB's Renewable Projects is contractually obligated to purchase electricity under long-term PPA's, those projects based on market pricing will be exposed to fluctuations in the wholesale price of electricity. In addition, should any of the long-term contracts terminate or expire, USEB will be required to either re-negotiate with existing off-takers, negotiate new PPA's with new off-takers, or sell electricity into the electricity wholesale market or spot market, in which case the prices for electricity will depend on prevailing market conditions. Similarly, when the USEB Renewable Projects located in Illinois are no longer eligible to receive incentives under the Illinois Public Utilities Act, it is expected that the projects will seek to negotiate new contracts in the wholesale and green power markets based on rates prevailing in the those power markets at the time. Further, the Gross Price which USEB's Illinois-based Renewable Projects receive is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in the project's respective jurisdiction and, therefore, may be subject to change. Ripon sells power pursuant to two long term PPA's which provide for capacity payments (which are substantially fixed) and energy payments, which are based on the "Short Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC" of the utility which purchases the power as determined by the California Public Utility Commission ("CPUC"). Beginning in June 2006, SRAC is subject to adjustment from time to time through the remaining term of the PPA and there can be no assurance that any such adjustments in the future will not decrease distributable cash generated by Ripon. Furthermore, Ripon's PPA's terminate in 2016 and 2018. There is no assurance that upon expiry of such PPA's Ripon will be able to enter into new PPA's or otherwise sell its power into the market at prices at or above projected levels. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from such forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on USEB and/or Ripon as applicable. While management believes that strategies exist to mitigate, at least in part, the adverse effects of such price declines, there is no assurance such strategies will be available or implemented successfully.

Foreign Currency Fluctuations

Approximately 2% of the Fund's revenue in 2004 was from US Dollar-based investments, whereas a majority of the Fund's costs and its financial obligations to its lenders and unitholders are denominated in Canadian dollars. After accounting for the acquisition of Ripon, the percentage of the Fund's revenue from US-based investments is expected to increase. The USEB Loan is denominated in Canadian dollars, requiring USEB to make payments on the USEB Loan in Canadian dollars. Because USEB will be exposed to currency exchange rate risk, the loan documents require USEB to enter into currency hedge agreements during the entire term of the loan to mitigate the risk posed by the currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. To the extent that USEB's ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loan is affected by an unfavorable exchange rate or an inability to maintain hedging arrangements in the future, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to unitholders may also be affected. Ripon's revenues derived from PPA's and steam sale agreements denominated in US dollars and expected US dollar denominated distributable cash from Ripon is currently unhedged currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. Management intends to implement a hedging strategy once it completes a refinancing of the acquisition debt.

Interest Rate and Debt Repayment Risk

At present, the Fund's Credit Facility bears interest at a variable rate based on short-term Canadian banker's acceptances. An increase in short-term interest rates, if unhedged, could affect the Fund's ability to pay interest on outstanding balances under the Credit Facility and distributions to unitholders. To mitigate this interest rate risk, the Fund has entered into an interest rate hedging agreement, which sets the base interest rate at a fixed coupon for a portion of balance and term of the loan. With regard to debt repayment risk, there can be no assurance that the Fund will have sufficient capital or be successful in refinancing the Credit Facility when it matures. Under the Amended Credit Facility (see note 6 to the consolidated financial statements for definition), the Borrower is required to reduce its leverage ratio to a certain level by December 31, 2005 or it will trigger an event of default under the credit agreement. If the default is not cured, it may result in payment acceleration for the entire balance outstanding loan. In such event, the Fund would not have sufficient cash on hand to repay the outstanding balance as of June 30, 2005. The Fund intends to raise equity capital prior to year end 2005 to reduce the outstanding amount under the Amended Credit Facility to comply with the financial covenant. Ripon has been financed by senior secured project debt held by a syndicate of banks, and is non recourse to the Fund. So long as such debt is outstanding, Ripon will be subject to certain covenants which will restrict and impose burdens on Ripon' ownership and operations respecting the facilities. In the event of an uncured default under such debt, the lenders may exercise remedies which may imperil the Fund's equity investment in Ripon.

Tax Risk

There is no guarantee that Canadian or U.S. tax legislation and treatment of mutual fund trusts will not change in such a way as to adversely affect distributions to unitholders. For example, if U.S. tax legislation were to change adversely or U.S. tax authorities to challenge how USEB treats certain tax deductions when calculating its taxable income, the payments received by the Fund's Canadian subsidiaries from USEB could be reduced.

Regulatory and Legislative Risk

The Fund's district energy facilities, USEB's Renewable Projects and the Ripon Facilities must be licensed to comply with energy, operational, environmental, and safety statutes, standards, orders and regulations enacted by legislative bodies and imposed by regulatory bodies. Although the Fund believes that all such facilities are in compliance in all material respects with such statutes, permits, standards, orders and regulations, failure to operate the facilities in compliance with such statutes, permits standards, orders and regulations may require temporary or permanent cessation of operations of the facilities and may expose owners and operators to claims and clean-up costs. Any new law or regulation could require significant new expenditures to achieve or maintain compliance.

The Ripon Facilities and certain of USEB's Renewable Projects, which generate and sell electric power to their respective local utilities in the wholesale market obtain certain benefits and exemptions because of their Qualifying Facility status ("QF Status") under PURPA and in the case of the Renewable Projects in Illinois, because each is a Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facility ("QSW Status") under the Illinois Public Utilities Act. If any facility were to lose its QF or QSWEF status, the facility would no longer be entitled to the exemptions and benefits thereof and may be required to cease selling electricity at the rates set forth in the existing PPA's. Under certain circumstances, loss of QF Status on a retroactive basis could lead to, among other things, claims by the utility customers for a refund of payments already made. Further, such facilities may lose all or some of such benefits if PURPA or the Illinois Public Utilities Act (or the regulations or orders promulgated there under) were repealed or modified or if any court or regulatory body adopted a new interpretation of such statute, regulation or order. From time to time, legislation modifying the Illinois Public Utility Act has been proposed. If certain of the introduced legislation had been enacted in its proposed form, it would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the QSWEFS. To date such legislation has not been enacted; however there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be enacted in the future. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on USEB's ability to make payments to the Fund's Canadian subsidiary under the USEB Loan or USEB Royalty.

A proceeding is currently pending before the CPUC, in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply a March 2001 ruling which decreased SRAC levels retroactively to the period December 2000 to March 2001. Such a ruling could, in theory, apply to many QF's in California including the Ripon Facilities and may lead utilities to seek refunds or offsets from the QF's which sold the utilities' power during such 4 month period. While management believes that such a result is unlikely, the outcome of such a regulatory proceeding cannot be predicted with certainty. Even in the event of an adverse result, management believes Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses under federal and state law which should protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them.

Reliance on Third Parties

The Fund is reliant upon USEB with respect to the administration and operations management of the USEB Renewable Projects. Ripon is reliant on independent contractors for the day to day operational and asset management of the facilities

For a more detailed discussion of risk factors, reference should be made to the Prospectus pages 103 to 116 which are incorporated by reference.

The Fund's business risks remained substantially unchanged since December 31, 2004 except for the addition of the Ripon related issues.

TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PARTIES

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

Countryside U.S. has entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. shall be paid an annual fee of U.S. $440 for 2005 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five-year term unless terminated by any party.

Independence Power LLC

On June 29, 2005, Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding"), an indirect subsidiary of the Fund, paid $437 to Independence Power LLC in consideration for services performed by Independence for Countryside US Holdings in connection with the origination and structuring of the acquisition of Ripon Power LLC. Independence is controlled by members of senior management of the Fund who serve as officers and directors of certain Fund subsidiaries including Countryside US Holding. Such payment was approved by the Joint Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee of the Fund and Countryside Canada Power, Inc. based, in part, on an opinion from an independent financial advisor that the payment was fair to the Fund.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of our consolidated financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments as they relate to matters that are inherently uncertain. Changes in these judgments or estimates could have a significant impact on the Fund's consolidated financial statements. We believe that in addition to the critical accounting estimates discussed in our annual MD&A, the following critical accounting estimate involves the more significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our interim consolidated financial statements:

Power Purchase Agreements

Power purchase agreements ("PPA's") were recorded to account for the proportion of the proceeds from the purchase of Ripon that exceeded the fair value of the existing assets. The fair value of the intangible asset balance is being amortized over the life of the PPA's expiring in 2016 & 2018.

OUTLOOK

District Energy Facilities

Expansion Projects

The London System heat recovery improvement project was substantially completed and became operational in February 2005. This project is estimated to provide additional cash flow in the range of $300 - $500 per year.

The Fund

We are committed to growing the Fund through accretive investments. We have a disciplined investment strategy to identify and pursue acquisitions and investment opportunities. Our dynamic industry has been undergoing a shift in the ownership of unregulated generation assets, which offers a number of consolidation and partnership prospects for Countryside. Further, there appears to be growing support for renewable power generation from both government and industry in light of Canada's commitment to the Kyoto Protocol and the U.S. market trend to energy independence as a result of rising oil and natural gas prices. Countryside is actively evaluating opportunities in power generation and utility infrastructure, with a view to increasing unitholder value and growing distributions.

COUNTRYSIDE

RECEIVED
2005 OCT 27 A 11:27
OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL

Q3

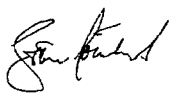
Dear Fellow Unitholders,

I am pleased to report Countryside Power Income Fund's results for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2005.

We executed on the growth strategy that we laid out for investors last year, and saw tangible evidence of our success in Countryside's solid results for the third quarter. As a result of the acquisition of two cogeneration plants in California ("Cogen Facilities"), we have further diversified our portfolio, added assets with long-term predictable cash flow streams and increased cash available for distribution to unitholders. As a result of the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities, as well as the anticipated full year of operating cash flow from completion of capital improvements at our district energy systems, the board of trustees increased cash distributions to unitholders by $0.01 per unit annually, for unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

We also announced in the third quarter that our board of trustees approved a plan modifying the Fund's existing executive management arrangements to bring the Fund in line with its peers in the power income trust sector and strengthen the alignment of unitholder and management interests. Under the modified arrangements, Countryside Ventures LLC, a company independent of the Fund, will provide management and administrative services to the Fund as well as new growth opportunities under long-term agreements. Countryside Ventures will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund will have a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed or owned by Countryside Ventures which meet the Fund's investment criteria. We believe these modified arrangements will expand the Fund's ability to grow while substantially shielding the Fund against development risk.

Revenue for the quarter rose by $20.0 million to $26.8 million compared with the same period last year, primarily as a result of the acquisition of Ripon. Excluding the effect of the Cogen Facilities, revenue was $6.9 million, up from $6.7 million in the same period in 2004.



EBITDA* for the three-month period was $10.6 million, an increase of $6.7 million from the third quarter of last year, again due primarily to the addition of the Cogen Facilities. Excluding the quarterly results of the Cogen Facilities and other Ripon-related expenses, EBITDA would have been $3.9 million compared with $3.9 million in the prior year.

Distributable cash* available for the quarterly period ended September 30, 2005 was $6.2 million. Excluding the quarterly results of the Cogen Facilities and other Ripon-related expenses, distributable cash would have been $3.8 million, in line with the $3.8 million in the comparable period last year. Distributions declared during the same period were $3.8 million or $0.257 per unit. Due to the seasonality of the district energy systems, the second and third quarters generally have lower revenue and cash flow due to more moderate temperatures, which result in lower demand for thermal energy. As a result of the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities, distributable cash for the Fund is expected to be at its highest in the third quarter when capacity payments under the power purchase agreements are at peak pricing.

In the nine-month period, distributable cash was $13.8 million, and distributions declared were $11.5 million or $0.926 per unit.

Countryside Power Income Fund has stable cash flow, strong assets and a solid customer base. We believe the Fund is well positioned to deliver stable monthly distributions to unitholders and to grow those distributions over the long term by continuing to execute its growth strategy.

Sincerely,

Göran Mörnhed
President and Chief Executive Officer
Countryside Ventures LLC

PRESENTATION OF FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Management's discussion and analysis ("MD&A") of the consolidated financial condition and the results of operations of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") should be read in conjunction with the accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements and notes thereto prepared for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2005, as well as the MD&A and audited consolidated financial statements contained in the 2004 annual report to unitholders.

This MD&A provides information for the period from January 1, 2005 to September 30, 2005.

Forward-Looking Information

This MD&A may contain forward-looking statements relating to expected future events and financial and operating results of the Fund that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from management expectations as projected in such forward-looking statements for a variety of reasons, including market and general economic conditions and the risks and uncertainties detailed from time-to-time in the Fund's Annual Information Form dated March 31, 2005 filed with the Canadian Securities regulatory authorities. Due to the potential impact of these factors, the Fund disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, unless required by applicable law.

Non-GAAP Measures

Earnings before interest, income taxes, unrealized interest rate swap gains and losses, and depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of EBITDA and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. EBITDA can be calculated from the Fund's GAAP statements as operating income, plus depreciation and amortization expense.

Distributable cash is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. The Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis. Management believes that distributable cash is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the performance of an income trust and its ability to generate cash for distributions through ongoing operations.

OVERVIEW OF FUND AND RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Overview

The Fund, which was established on April 8, 2004, has invested indirectly in two district energy systems and two gas-fired cogeneration facilities. The district energy systems are located in Canada, with one in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and one in London, Ontario (the "London System"), and together have approximately 122MW of thermal and electric generation capacity (collectively, the "District Energy Systems"). The cogeneration facilities have approximately 94 MW of electric generation capacity, sold approximately 525,000 thousand pounds of steam in 2004 and its principal assets consist of the Ripon cogeneration plant ("Ripon Facility") located near San Francisco, California and the San Gabriel cogeneration plant ("San Gabriel Facility") located near Los Angeles, California (collectively, the "Cogen Facilities"). In addition, the Fund holds indirect investments in 22 renewable power and energy projects (the "Renewable Projects") located in the United States, which currently have approximately 51MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004. The Fund's investment in the Renewable Projects consist of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB"). USEB is a company unrelated to the Fund and has its own management and operations staff.

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to unitholders of the Fund ("Unitholders") and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure projects, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

Recent Developments

Acquisition of Ripon Power LLC

On June 29, 2005 the Fund, through an indirect subsidiary, completed the acquisition of a 100% controlling interest in Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power") the holding company of Ripon Cogeneration LLC, a California-based power generation company, which owns the Cogen Facilities. In the transaction, the Fund, acquired Ripon Power for consideration of US $35,800 in cash plus the assumption of non-recourse project debt of US $59,500 for a total transaction value of US $95,300, or approximately CDN $117,000 based on exchange rates in effect on the date of closing. The Fund financed the acquisition through an expansion of its existing credit facility with a syndicate of banks led by Toronto-Dominion (the "Amended Credit Facility"). The Amended Credit Facility commitment is $80,000 and was fully drawn at closing.

Increase in Unitholder Distributions and Management Agreement

On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in its annual distribution of $0.01 per unit. The first distribution under the new rate was paid on October 31, 2005 to unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Coincident with the distribution increase, the indirect and direct subsidiaries of the Fund, Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding") and Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), respectively, entered into a management agreement with Countryside Ventures LLC, formerly Independence Power LLC, (the "Manager") (the "Management Agreement"). Under the terms of the Management Agreement, which became effective November 1, 2005, the Manager will provide management and administrative services to the Fund, as well as new growth opportunities, under long-term agreements. The Manager will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund, through Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada, has a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by the Manager that meet the Fund's investment criteria. In consideration for providing the management and administrative services under the Management Agreement, the Manager shall be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund of all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the Manager and its affiliates in carrying out the services described above. The Management Agreement also provides for a long-term incentive plan for each new asset, company or investment, acquired or made, by the Fund or any of its affiliates, and originated, structured or developed through the efforts of the Manager or its affiliates ("LTIP"). Under the LTIP, the Manager will be entitled to a distribution from the new asset's operating or investment cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made in excess of the Fund's preferred or base level distribution as defined in the Management Agreement. In the case of the Cogen Facilities, the Manager holds a subordinated membership interest in Ripon Power and will share with the Fund, to the extent available, the excess operating cash flow of the Cogen Facilities on a 25% and 75% basis, respectively.

During 2005, a total of $206 has been paid to the Manager pursuant to the Management Agreement to reimburse the Manager for certain compensation payments made to the senior executives respecting the period July 1, 2005 through October 31, 2005.

Trust Unit and Exchangeable Debenture Offering (the "Offering")

On November 8, 2005, the Fund and Countryside Canada filed a final prospectus (the "Prospectus") to sell 4,720,000 trust units at $9.35 per unit for gross proceeds of $44,132,000 and US $55,000,000 aggregate principal amount of 6.25% exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures ("Debentures"), due October 31, 2012. The Offering is expected to close on November 14, 2005. The Debentures were issued by Countryside Canada. Upon closing of the Offering, net proceeds of the Offering will be used to repay indebtedness under the Amended Credit Facility associated with the acquisition of Ripon Power, to purchase project-related debt of the Cogen Facilities from a syndicate of U.S. based lenders and to pay transaction costs of the Offering with any excess remaining proceeds to be used for working capital purposes.

OPERATING RESULTS

Countryside's total revenue for the three months ended September 30, 2005 was $26.8 million, an increase of $20.0 million compared with the same period last year, primarily as a result of the acquisition of the Cogen Facilities. Excluding the effect of the acquisition, revenue would have been $6.9 million, up from $6.7 million in the same period in 2004, primarily due to higher results at the district energy systems, which benefited from the addition of a new customer and changes in fuel pricing. In the nine months ended September 30, 2005, revenue was $43.3 million. Since the Fund commenced operations on April 8, 2004, there is no comparable period for the first quarter of 2005.

The Fund's EBITDA in the three-months ended September 30, 2005 was $10.6 million, an increase of $6.7 million from the prior year period, again due primarily to the addition of the results of the Cogen Facilities. Excluding the quarterly results of Ripon and other Ripon-related expenses, EBITDA would have been $3.9 million in the third quarter compared to $3.9 million in the prior year period. In the first nine months of 2005, EBITDA was $18.0 million.

Net income in the quarterly period ended September 30, 2005, was $5.2 million or $0.35 per unit, compared with $2.7 million or $0.18 per unit in the comparable period of 2004. Net income was $9.1 million or $0.61 per unit for the nine months ended September 30, 2005.

Results of District Energy Systems

As the Fund was created on February 16, 2004, and acquired the operations of the District Energy Systems on April 8, 2004, the comparative period ended September 30, 2004 includes 175 days of operations and therefore for comparative purposes, the 2004 interim consolidated financial statements of the Fund exclude the period from January 1, 2004 to April 8, 2004. In order to enhance its usefulness, the analyses included in this MD&A of the District Energy Systems include the summary of the operating results of the District Energy Systems from January 1, 2004 to September 30, 2004. This information is provided for reference purposes only and is not intended as a comprehensive comparison of financial results of the District Energy Systems.

The District Energy Systems' revenue is mainly derived from long-term energy sales contracts with long-standing and creditworthy customers. The energy sales contracts are generally structured with energy and capacity payments, with the energy component typically providing the District Energy Systems with the ability to pass through the majority of changes in its fuel price to its customers. The energy rates paid by customers in London are generally reflective of the price of natural gas and are adjusted upward or downward to compensate for changes in the price of natural gas. In regard to the PEI System, the energy rates paid by larger customers are generally reflective of the cost and mix of fuels and are adjusted upward or downward to compensate for changes in the price of fuel. Smaller customers of the PEI System have rates based on the local price of fuel oil. For such customer rates, changes in the local fuel price will have a greater impact on the revenues of the PEI System than the impact that such changes will have on the cost of operation of the PEI System. As a result of the energy rate pricing structures, the District Energy Systems' revenue can increase or decrease depending on changes in fuel prices and, to a lesser extent, the fuel mix. During the last year, the global market price increases for natural gas and oil have significantly affected our District Energy Systems in terms of increased costs with a corresponding increase in our energy related revenues.

District Energy Volumes and Revenues

In the three-month period ended September 30, the District Energy Systems' heating energy volumes sold decreased from the prior year results by approximately 5% for steam and 13% for hot water. These reductions were principally based on more moderate temperatures resulting in lower energy requirements for heating.

In the nine-month period ended September 30, 2005, the District Energy Systems' energy volumes sold for steam and hot water were essentially flat. Decreased volumes during the second and third quarter were offset by increased volumes during the first quarter heating season.

Sales of chilled water increased significantly over the prior year periods, by 308 MTon/hr or 24% for the three-month period, and 473 MTon/hr or 22% in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2005. These increases were due to higher cooling requirements from warmer than average temperatures for the second and third quarters of 2005.

In the three month period ended September, total revenues from district energy sales increased by 12% from the prior year period, mainly driven by increases in the energy related revenues, which increased 23% in the same quarter from the prior year period. Chilled water sales comprised 57% of the energy sales increase. The increase in energy revenue was due primarily to customer price increases driven by higher fuel prices that are passed through to customers as well as higher customer contract reference prices both of which were partially offset marginally by lower volumes of steam and hot water sold. In the nine-month period ended September 30, 2005, total district energy revenues increased approximately 9%, also primarily driven by increases in energy related revenues, which were due to customer fuel price increases. Capacity payments increased by approximately 5%, reflecting contract price index adjustments. Capacity payments are fixed payments, which are received regardless of energy volumes delivered.

Other Revenues

Other revenues consist of waste fuel fees received at the PEI System as well as other miscellaneous revenue items. Such revenue increased in both the three and nine month periods ended 2005 from their respective comparative year periods primarily due to efficiency related incentive fees received and higher waste volumes received.

Fuel and Consumables Volume and Expense

In both the three and nine month periods ended September 30, 2005, the District Energy Systems' fuel consumption decreased by approximately 9,721 MMBtus or 5% and by approximately 16,388 MMBtus or 2%, respectively, from the prior year periods. The decrease was essentially due in both the three and nine month periods to the increased efficiency recognized at the London System as a result of the capital improvement program substantially completed in the first quarter of 2005. Additionally, in the three-month period 2005, lower steam and hot water volumes delivered were offset partially by higher chilled water volumes when compared to the prior year period.

Fuel consumption expense was up 12% from $1,103 to $1,232 in the three-month period ended September 30, 2005 from the prior year period. Increases in the price of natural gas at the London System contributed to most of the increase from the prior year period. In the nine-month period then ended, fuel and consumables expense increased by 4% from the prior year period due mainly to price increases in natural gas at the London System, offset by improved fuel efficiencies.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

In the three month period ended September 30, 2005, operating, labour and maintenance expense was $980 or 7.5% lower than the prior comparative three month period, due to lower maintenance expenses during the period. In the nine month period ended September 30, 2005, these expenses decreased by $79 due to lower maintenance and repairs expenses.

General and administration expenses were 19% higher than the prior year quarter at $282 for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 due to accruals for incentive compensation based on improved performance. In the nine month period ended September 30, 2005, the general and administration expenses increased by $19 or 3% compared with the prior year period.

EBITDA

In the three-month period ended September 30, 2005, EBITDA increased 33% from $1,043 to $1,385 when compared to the prior year period, mainly a result of higher margins from district energy sales at both systems resulting from higher fuel prices combined with improved fuel efficiencies at the London System. In the nine month period ended September 30, 2005, EBITDA increased 30% from $3,334 to $4,326 when compared with the prior year period also due to higher margins from district energy sales at both systems combined with improved fuel efficiencies in the London System.

Depreciation and Amortization

The increase in depreciation and amortization in both the three-month and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2005 was mostly due to an increase in property, plant and equipment depreciation related to the increase in capital assets including the expansion at the London System.

Results of Cogen Facilities

As the Fund acquired the Cogen Facilities on June 29, 2005, there is no comparative period ended September 30, 2004. In order to enhance its usefulness, the analysis included in this MD&A includes a summary of the standalone operating results of the Cogen Facilities from July 1, 2004 to September 30, 2004. This information is provided for reference purposes only and is not intended as a comprehensive comparison of financial results of the Cogen Facilities.

The results of the Cogen Facilities will be discussed in thousands of US Dollars since the exchange to Canadian dollars skews the actual results of operations.

The Ripon Facility is a nominal 49.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant and the San Gabriel Facility is a nominal 44.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant. The Cogen Facilities generally operate as base load and are qualifying facilities ("QFs") under the cogeneration regulations of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") implementing the Public Utilities Policy Act of 1978 ("PURPA") and thus are currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law. Power sales comprise the bulk of the Cogen Facilities sales revenue. Electrical capacity and energy is sold pursuant to long-term power purchase agreements ("PPA") with Pacific Gas & Electric ("PG&E") and Southern California Edison ("SCE") for the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities, expiring in 2018 and 2016, respectively. For the full operating year, energy payments under the PPA have historically contributed the majority of total power sales with capacity payments making up the balance.

Currently, the Ripon Facility receives fixed energy payments from PG&E that follow the prices charged under the gas contract with BP Energy Company ("BP") and generally provide for a positive margin. The San Gabriel Facility currently receives energy payments from SCE which correlate with the prices charged by BP under the gas supply contracts, as SCE's short run avoided cost rate (or "SRAC") and BP's pricing are both derived from the same regional gas price indices, again generally providing positive margin. After the BP gas supply ends on June 30, 2006 for both facilities, management expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the utilities' SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which the Cogen Facilities will purchase gas, although there is a possibility that such correlation will not be a complete pass through to the utility customer.

In July 2001, the Ripon Facility and PG&E entered into a 5 year amendment of the Ripon Facility's power purchase agreement ("PPA") which substituted PG&E's SRAC with a primarily fixed energy rate (subject to adjustment for time of use factors). When this amendment expires on June 30, 2006, it is expected that the Ripon Facility will again receive energy payments under the Ripon Facility's PPA based on PG&E's SRAC prices which are generally derived from the regional natural gas price index and utility system heat rates. The San Gabriel Facility currently receives a monthly energy payment for energy delivered to SCE in an amount calculated by reference to SCE's SRAC pursuant to an agreement which terminates no later than July 1, 2006, at which time the San Gabriel Facility will receive energy payments under the San Gabriel PPA based on SCE's SRAC prices. Currently, the SRAC energy prices are based on a transition formula, which is determined separately with respect to each utility customer on a monthly basis. The authority to modify the elements of the SRAC energy price formula rests with the California Public Utility Commission ("CPUC"), subject to certain statutory requirements imposed by the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act (Assembly Bill 1890). There is an open proceeding in which the CPUC has indicated it will review the transition formula for SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes.

Process steam from the each of the Cogen Facilities is sold under long term steam sales agreements, which are coterminous with the PPAs. On a combined basis, process steam sales has accounted for an average of approximately 5% of total revenues based on year to date results.

Energy Volumes and Revenues

In the three-month period ended September 30, 2005, electricity volumes sold increased from the prior year period by approximately 3% due to higher production. In the same three-month period, steam volumes decreased by approximately 7,200 Mlbs from 123,544 to 116,353 or 6% due to decreased demand from the steam hosts.

Also in the three month period, energy revenues increased 17% primarily from the prior year period due to increased energy payment rates at the San Gabriel Facility and slightly higher production at both facilities. The increase in energy payment rates at the San Gabriel Facility when compared with the same period in 2004 is a result of higher gas prices that are utilized in determining the energy payment rates for the utility customer.

Capacity revenues decreased approximately 2% primarily as a result of a two-day forced outage at the San Gabriel Facility in July 2005.

Other revenues consist of interest income earned on excess cash during the period.

Fuel and Consumables Volumes and Expense

In the three-month period ended September 30, 2005, fuel consumed decreased by approximately 3% or 47,852 MMBtus, due to improved operational performance. Fuel costs increased by US$336 or 5%, due to an increase in fuel price at the San Gabriel Facility, partially offset by the volume reduction.

Total Non-Fuel Expenses

Operating, labour and maintenance expense increased by US$219 or 15% in the three-month period ended September 30, 2005 when compared to the same three-month period in 2004, mostly due to higher maintenance and repair expenses in the current quarter General and administration expense remained relatively flat for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 compared with the same quarter ended September 30, 2004.

EBITDA

EBITDA increased by US$545 or 9% in the three month period ended September 30, 2005 compared with the prior year period. The Cogen Facilities' business is seasonal in nature and the EBITDA during the third quarter is typically higher than for other quarters due to the higher capacity revenues earned under the PPAs during the summer peak season. The increase in EBITDA is mainly due to improved operational performance and from higher energy sales margins at the San Gabriel Facility.

Expressed in Canadian dollars, EBITDA increased by $109 or 1% for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 compared with the quarter ended September 30, 2004.

Depreciation and Amortization

The increase in depreciation and amortization in the three-month period ended September 30, 2005 was primarily due to the push down of the fair value of the property plant and equipment and PPA's related to the Fund's acquisition of the Cogen Facilities.

Results of Corporate and Other

Corporate and other results as presented below include the Fund's loan to, and convertible royalty interest in, USEB as well as its' corporate administrative operations, including those of the Cogen Facilities. The Fund was created on February 16, 2004 and was dormant until April 8, 2004, thus the results in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2004 are not comparative and, as such, will not be discussed.

Interest income on loans to USEB was, as scheduled, $2,881 in the three-month and $8,679 in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2005 based on a fixed interest rate of 11.0% per annum on the loan balance remaining as at December 31, 2004 of $105,789. The USEB loan pays principal and interest monthly. As at the end of September 30, 2005, the Fund received a total of $463 in scheduled principal repayments on the loan receivable from USEB during the quarterly period and $1,352 during the nine-month period.

The terms of the USEB loan agreements require that USEB establish various restricted reserve accounts upon origination of the loan and to fund two of those reserves on an ongoing basis from available cash flow. USEB's ten Illinois-based projects receive a subsidy from the State of Illinois ("ICC Subsidy") and a portion thereof is set aside on a monthly basis into a reserve account ("ICC Reimbursement Account"). On September 30, 2005, the total investment value of the ICC Reimbursement Account was U.S. $25,805. The ICC Reimbursement account is invested in a balanced portfolio of liquid equity and fixed income instruments. The investments in the ICC Reimbursement Account and the ICC subsidy received under various power sales contracts have been pledged to secure repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund. In addition, USEB is required to fund a Debt Service Reserve Account ("USEB DSR") on a quarterly basis from available cash flow after payment of all operating and maintenance expenditures, debt service, and ICC Subsidy Deposits but before growth capital expenditures and dividends (including the convertible royalty interest). On September 30, 2005, the DSR had an investment value of U.S. $2,095. The USEB DSR cash deposits have been invested in high quality liquid instruments and also have been pledged to the Fund to secure repayment of the loan. The USEB DSR can be drawn upon first by the Fund to meet debt service on the USEB loan to the extent USEB operating cash flow is insufficient. Including a construction reserve account at the USEB level in the amount of U.S. $3,342, there were liquid reserves in excess of U.S. $31,380 that collateralize the repayment of the USEB loan to the Fund as of September 30, 2005. In addition, the Fund's investment is collateralized by all of USEB's assets and energy sales contracts.

Other Revenues

Other revenue at the Fund level is comprised of USEB royalty interest, fee revenue from U.S. development partners as well as miscellaneous interest income on cash equivalents held at the Fund level.

Total Expenses

In the three-month period ended September 30, 2005, general and administration expense increased by $1,648. The increase was primarily due to accrual of $1,278 for the Fund's implementation of the LTIP as it relates to the Ripon Power acquisition and pursuant to the terms of the Management Agreement. Under the LTIP, the Manager will be entitled to a distribution from the new asset's operating or investment cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made in excess of the Fund's preferred or base level distribution as defined in the Management Agreement. In the three-month period ending September 30, 2005, the subordinated interest accrual was $5,112, with the Fund entitled to a 75% subordinated interest distribution of $3,834 and the Manager to a 25% subordinated interest distribution of $1,278. A further $206 of the increase in general and administration expense related to increased compensation in connection with managing the Fund's expanded operations and was paid pursuant to the terms of the Management Agreement, as well as $55 related to increased trustee fees. The remainder of the increase related primarily to incremental costs associated with the Ripon Power acquisition transaction such as increased audit and insurance accruals. In the nine month period ended September 30, 2005, the $3,836 of general and administration expense included reimbursement of transaction costs of $437 paid to the Manager related to the origination and structuring of the Ripon Power acquisition, in addition to the other cost differences from the prior year as outlined for the three-month period above.

EBITDA

EBITDA decreased by $1,866 in the three-month period ended September 30, 2005 compared with the three-month period ended September 30, 2004 due to a decline in revenue coupled an increase in expenses as outlined above.

Depreciation and Amortization

The increase in depreciation and amortization in the three-month period ended September 30, 2005 was primarily due to the increase in amortization related to the deferred financing fees resulting from the origination and structuring of the Amended Credit Facility in June of 2005.

DISTRIBUTIONS DECLARED TO UNITHOLDERS

While the first quarter of the calendar year is generally the most profitable quarter for the District Energy Systems, the second and third quarters are generally the weakest quarters due to warmer temperatures which result in lower demand for thermal energy requirements by customers. The results of the Cogen Facilities directly offset this pattern in that their most profitable quarters are generally the second and third quarters when capacity payments under the power purchase agreements are the highest.

[1] Transaction costs paid to management related to the Ripon acquisition transaction were not operational in nature, and thus have been added back in the calculation of distributable cash.

[2] Purchases of capital assets for regular operations are non-expansionary capital expenditures. Total capital expenditures for the rolling twelve-month period ended September 30, 2005 were $1,805.

[3] As the timing of the receipt of the royalty interest income earned in a period is dependent upon the timing and extent of equity distributions made by USEB to its shareholders', royalty interest income will only be included in the calculation of distributable cash when payments related to the royalty interest are received from USEB. This method of calculating distributable cash was adopted retroactively in the three-month period ended March 31, 2005. Prior to January 1, 2005, distributable cash included royalty interest income as earned.

The Fund pays monthly cash distributions to Unitholders on or about the last business day of each month to Unitholders of record on the last business day of the prior month. The ex-distribution date is two business days prior to the last business day of the prior month. From the inception of the Fund on April 8, 2004 up to the distribution declared in September 2005, all distributions declared have been $0.0854 per month, except for the distributions payable December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 which were $0.0855 to make up for rounding differences. On September 23, 2005 the Fund announced its intention to increase distributions to approximately $0.0863 per month, which is equivalent to$1.035 per trust unit per annum.

The Fund intends to meet future distribution payments from cash flow generated from its operating assets and investments. Management expects to maintain cash distributions for the 2005 year at the increased level of $1.035 as noted above, compared with annualized distributions, since inception, of $1.025 per Trust Unit.

The composition of distributions paid by the Fund for 2004 was approximately 71% return on capital and 29% return of capital. Management estimates that in 2005, the composition of distributions for tax purposes will provide a slightly higher return on capital than the allocation reported for 2004.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The Fund expects to be able to meet all of its obligations from cash flow from operations and investments. Additionally, the Fund has $9,129 of cash on hand. The Fund's three-year $80,000 Amended Credit Facility was fully drawn as of September 30, 2005 but upon closing of the Offering in the fourth quarter 2005, the funded balance of the Amended Credit Facility is scheduled to be repaid by approximately $30,000 and the remaining unutilized commitment amount is intended to remain available for working capital purposes, including financing new growth and the expansion of existing facilities. The Fund, through its investment in Ripon Power assumed a non recourse, amortizing project term loan for US $59,500 that was borrowed by the Cogen Facilities and has a maturity date of April 25, 2018 (the "Ripon Loan"). Also upon closing of the Offering, the Ripon Loan will be purchased by the Fund for its remaining balance plus accrued interest.

Cash used in investing activities was $42,394 in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2005, due to the acquisition of Ripon Power, which required $42,956 in cash, coupled with scheduled repayments of $1,352 on the USEB loan offset by $790 in capital expenditures. Of the capital expenditures, $376 was operations related capital expenditures and $414 were growth capital expenditures, the majority of which related to the efficiency improvements at the London System.

Cash provided by financing activities consists mainly of the increase in the Amended Credit Facility of $50,000 in the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 to finance the June 29, 2005 acquisition of Ripon Power, offset by payments of distributions to Unitholders and deferred financing charges related to the origination and structuring of the Amended Credit Facility. The repayment of the Amended Credit Facility of $1,468 consists of the pay down of the swing line during the third quarter. Principal on the Ripon Loan in the amount of US $782 or $957 was repaid in July of 2005.

The increase in cash during the nine-month period is primarily related to the contribution from the Cogen Facilities.

The Fund expects to be able to renew or refinance its Amended Credit Facility when it comes due.

All of the indicators outlined above will be significantly impacted by the Cogen Facilities results going forward. The third quarter of 2005 was the first time the Cogen Facilities' energy volumes and financial results were incorporated into those of the Fund, and the quarter included the full quarter of the Cogen Facilities' results. This makes the comparability of quarters before and after the Ripon Power acquisition on June 29, 2005 less meaningful.

District Energy System energy volumes and sales are seasonal, with a majority of energy volumes, sales and earnings occurring during the winter heating season and typically lower results during spring and fall when less heating is required by customers. Sales of steam and hot water are greatest during the winter heating season in Q1 and Q4, while sales in the summer quarters, Q2 and Q3, are much lower in terms of revenue earned. EBITDA and net income will generally follow a similar seasonal pattern, although there were some anomalies in Q2 and Q3 2004, as well as Q2 2005 due to non-cash related adjustments for unrealized gains and losses on the interest rate swap and foreign exchange, write-off of deferred financing fees on the original bank credit facility and for the deferred tax treatment of some items. The results for EBITDA and net income in the three-month period ended June 30, 2005 were significantly impacted by the expensing of Ripon Power related transaction costs of $437 paid to the Manager, as well as the write off of $415 in deferred financing fees also related to the Ripon Power acquisition. Excluding these transaction costs related to the Ripon Power acquisition, net income would have been $1,743. These expenses were not related to the ongoing operations of the Fund.

The Cogen Facilities energy volumes and sales are also seasonal, offsetting the seasonal impact of the District Energy Systems. The majority of the Cogen Facilities sales and earnings occur during the summer season and results are lower during the winter season when capacity revenues are lower.

Prior to the third quarter of 2005, the variance in revenue between quarterly periods was due primarily to the commencement of the winter heating season in the three-month period ended December 31, 2004 compared with the two prior year periods. The Cogen Facilities contributed to most of the increases in sales and fuel consumed between 2004 and 2005. Results without the Cogen Facilities would have been slightly lower for each as outlined in the section above under "Operating Results – Results of District Energy Systems".

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Interest Rate Swap

One of the Fund's indirect subsidiaries has entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the interest rate paid on $30,000 of its long-term debt at a current rate of 3.22%. The swap matures on April 8, 2007. The notional amount of the swap is $30,000 and payments are due every three months. As at September 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was $67 favourable.

Prior to the acquisition, Ripon Cogeneration LLC entered into an interest rate swap agreement to fix the interest rate paid on the Ripon Loan at 4.939% per annum. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Ripon Loan on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap is $59,500 and adjusts on the same schedule as the amortization of the Ripon Loan. As at September 30, 2005, the fair value of the swap agreement was US $936 unfavourable.

Foreign Exchange

Substantially all of the District Energy System's operations and earnings are in Canadian dollars. The USEB loan is denominated in Canadian dollars and the interest is fixed at 11.0% per annum, which mitigates the foreign exchange risk of the Fund. Therefore, the foreign exchange risk remains with USEB with respect to servicing the USEB Loans.

The operations and earnings of the Cogen Facilities are in US dollars. The Fund has not hedged the foreign exchange risk associated with its investment in Ripon Power; however, the Fund plans to implement a hedging program subsequent to the closing of the Offering.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Federal Tax Regulatory Risk

On September 8, 2005, the Department of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper on tax and other issues related to publicly listed flow-through entities such as income trusts and limited partnerships ("FTEs") and invited interested parties to make submissions prior to December 31, 2005.

The stated focus of the consultation paper is to assess the tax and economic efficiency implications of FTEs to determine if the current tax system is appropriate or should be modified. Although the consultation paper does not propose any particular legislative or administrative changes, it identifies possible policy approaches, including limiting the deduction of interest expenses by operating entities, taxing FTEs in a manner similar to corporations or better integrating the personal and corporate income tax systems to make the tax system more neutral between forms of business organizations. On September 19, 2005, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that he had requested that CRA postpone providing advance income tax rulings respecting FTE structures pending these consultations, that the Department of Finance (Canada) is closely monitoring developments in the FTE market with a view to proposing measures in response to the consultations and that consideration would be given to what, if any, transitional measures were appropriate. Further initiatives in this area, if any, including the possible initiatives referred to in the consultation paper, may be taken following the completion of such consultations. Accordingly, legislative changes in this area are possible, and such changes could result in the income tax considerations described herein being materially different in certain respects.

Risks Related to Operations

USEB's Renewable Projects' ability to generate and deliver to its customers electricity and biogas (as applicable) on a daily basis and at certain expected levels is the main factor in determining the cash available for payments by USEB to Countryside Canada under the USEB Loan and the USEB Royalty. Similarly the District Energy facilities' ability to deliver steam, hot water and chilled water to its customers is the main factor for determining the cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. Likewise, the Cogen Facilities' ability to deliver electricity and steam to their customers is the main factor for determining cash available for distribution to unitholders from such facilities. If operations are interrupted at the Fund's operating facilities or USEB due to mechanical failure, lack of fuel supply or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash to unitholders.

The amount of energy produced by USEB's Renewable Projects also depends on the extraction and availability of biogas from public and privately owned landfills. The quantity of biogas available is determined by numerous factors which are beyond the control of USEB and which cannot be predicted with certainty.

Likewise, the amount of energy generated by the PEI System is dependent on the availability of a suitable supply of wood waste and municipal solid waste which may be subject to adverse change for reasons beyond the control of the Fund.

The Cogen Facilities use natural gas for fuel. The Cogen Facilities currently purchase natural gas through purchase transactions entered into pursuant to a base gas purchase agreement which expires on June 30, 2006. There can be no assurance that the Cogen Facilities will enter into new long-term gas contracts or otherwise purchase natural gas in the market at the same price as it receives today. Further, the prices which the Cogen Facilities currently pay for natural gas correlate with the energy prices which the Cogen Facilities receives under amendments to its PPA's. Such PPA amendments expire on June 30, 2006 and the energy prices received are expected to revert to the utilities full short run avoided costs, commonly referred to as Short Run Avoided Cost or "SRAC", which are currently correlated with California gas price indices. The SRAC rates are the subject of a pending regulatory proceeding and may be modified. (See Risks and Uncertainties – Electricity Pricing). Management is attempting to negotiate new gas purchase contracts which will correlate the Cogen Facilities' future gas costs with future energy prices. In the event such negotiations are unsuccessful and the Cogen Facilities' gas costs increase without compensating adjustments in energy prices, operating margins at the Cogen Facilities may be reduced in turn reducing the Fund's distributable cash.

Electricity Pricing

While a majority of the off-takers of USEB's Renewable Projects is contractually obligated to purchase electricity under long-term PPAs, those projects based on market pricing will be exposed to fluctuations in the wholesale price of electricity. In addition, should any of the long-term contracts terminate or expire, USEB will be required to either re-negotiate with existing off-takers, negotiate new PPAs with new off-takers, or sell electricity into the electricity wholesale market or spot market, in which case the prices for electricity will depend on prevailing market conditions. Similarly, when the USEB Renewable Projects located in Illinois are no longer eligible to receive incentives under the Illinois Public Utilities Act, it is expected that the projects will seek to negotiate new contracts in the wholesale and green power markets based on rates prevailing in those power markets at the time. Further, the Gross Price which USEB's Illinois-based Renewable Projects receive is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in the project's respective jurisdiction and, therefore, may be subject to change.

The Cogen Facilities sell power pursuant to two long term PPAs which provide for capacity payments (which are substantially fixed) and energy payments, which generally are based on utilities' full SRAC as determined by the ("CPUC"). Under the PPAs, the Cogen Facilities' ongoing ability to receive the full firm capacity payment is conditioned upon the delivery of the contract capacity during on-peak hours during the summer peak months (June through August for the Ripon Facility and June through September for the San Gabriel Facility, although both facilities receive the benefit of a twenty percent monthly forced outage allowance during the summer peak months. If either facility fails to meet the performance criteria, the purchasing utility has the right to declare a probationary period of up to fifteen months after which, if the performance criteria is not met, the facility may be de-rated, and the capacity payment reduced and the facility subjected to a refund obligation based on the difference between original capacity and reduced capacity plus interest thereon. Finally, the capacity payment may be reduced by PG&E and suspended by SCE if the Ripon Facility or the San Gabriel Facility, respectively, is unable to meet its performance obligations as a result of a force majeure-type event that continues for longer than ninety days. Any adverse change in capacity and/or capacity bonus payments may negatively impact the Cogen Facilities' cash flow which in turn may negatively impact the Fund's distributable cash.

In 2001, the Ripon Facility and PG&E entered into a 5 year amendment of the Ripon Facility PPA which substituted a primarily fixed energy rate (subject to adjustment for time of use factors) for SRAC. When this amendment expires in July 2006, it is expected that Ripon Facility will again receive energy payments under the Ripon Facility PPA based on PG&E's SRAC prices. The San Gabriel Facility currently receives a monthly energy payment for energy delivered to SCE in an amount calculated by reference to SCE's SRAC. Currently, the SRAC energy prices are based on a transition formula, which is determined separately by each utility on a monthly basis. The authority to modify the elements of the SRAC energy price formula rests with the CPUC, subject to certain statutory requirements imposed by the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act (Assembly Bill 1890). There is an open proceeding in which the CPUC has indicated it will review the transition formula for SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes. There can be no assurance that any change in the SRAC price methodology will not adversely affect the operating margins derived by Ripon Facility from the PPAs and, consequently, the Fund's distributable cash.

Furthermore, the Cogen Facilities' PPAs terminate in 2016 and 2018. There is no assurance that upon expiry of such PPAs, the Fund's subsidiaries will be able to enter into new PPAs or otherwise sell its power into the market at prices at or above projected levels. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from such forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on USEB and/or Cogen Facilities as applicable. While management believes that strategies exist to mitigate, at least in part, the adverse effects of such price declines, there is no assurance such strategies will be available or implemented successfully.

Foreign Currency Fluctuations

Approximately 2% of the Fund's revenue in 2004 was from US Dollar-based investments, whereas a majority of the Fund's costs and its financial obligations to its lenders and unitholders are denominated in Canadian dollars. After accounting for the acquisition of Ripon Power, the percentage of the Fund's revenue from US-based investments is expected to increase substantially. The USEB Loan is denominated in Canadian dollars, requiring USEB to make payments on the USEB Loan in Canadian dollars. Because USEB is exposed to currency exchange rate risk as a result of the loans, the loan documents require USEB to enter into currency hedge agreements during the entire term of the loan to mitigate the risk posed by the currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. To the extent that USEB's ability to satisfy its obligations under the USEB Loan is affected by an unfavorable exchange rate or an inability to maintain hedging arrangements in the future, the Fund's ability to pay cash distributions to unitholders may also be affected. The Cogen Facilities' revenues derived from PPAs and steam sale agreements denominated in US dollars and expected US dollar denominated distributable cash from the Cogen Facilities represents an unhedged currency transaction risk. Management intends to implement a strategy once it completes the refinancing of the acquisition debt to mitigate this currency transaction risk

Interest Rate and Debt Repayment Risk

At present, the Fund's Amended Credit Facility bears interest at a variable rate based on short-term Canadian banker's acceptances and Canadian prime rates. An increase in short-term interest rates, if unhedged, could affect the Fund's ability to pay interest on outstanding balances under the Amended Credit Facility and distributions to unitholders. To mitigate this interest rate risk, the Fund has entered into an interest rate swap agreement, which sets the base interest rate at a fixed coupon for a portion of the balance and term of the loan. With regard to debt repayment risk, there can be no assurance that the Fund will have sufficient capital or be successful in refinancing the Amended Credit Facility when it matures. Under the Amended Credit Facility (see note 6 to the consolidated financial statements for definition), the Borrower is required to reduce its leverage ratio to a certain level by December 31, 2005 or it will trigger an event of default under the credit agreement. If the default is not cured, it may result in payment acceleration for the entire balance outstanding loan. In such event, the Fund would not have sufficient cash on hand to repay the outstanding balance as of September 30, 2005. The Fund intends to use proceeds from the Offering to reduce the outstanding amount under the Amended Credit Facility to comply with the financial covenant (as described in the section – "Liquidity and Capital Resources"). The Cogen Facilities have been financed by senior secured project debt held by a syndicate of banks, and is non recourse to the Fund. So long as such debt is outstanding, the Cogen Facilities will be subject to certain covenants which will restrict and impose burdens on the Cogen Facilities' ownership and operations. In the event of an uncured default under such debt, the lenders may exercise remedies which may imperil the Fund's equity investment in the Cogen Facilities.

Tax Risk

There is no guarantee that Canadian or U.S. tax legislation and treatment of mutual fund trusts will not change in such a way as to adversely affect distributions to unitholders. For example, if U.S. tax legislation were to change adversely or U.S. tax authorities to challenge how USEB treats certain tax deductions when calculating its taxable income, the payments received by the Fund's Canadian subsidiaries from USEB could be reduced.

In addition, USEB currently receives income from the sale of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") Section 29 tax credits which will expire on December 31, 2007 unless the law is extended. Through December 31, 2007, Code Section 29 has a phase out provision that is triggered when the "Market Wellhead Price" of domestic crude oil reaches certain "Phase-out Prices" as determined by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"). The phase-out is proportional. The Market Wellhead Price is the IRS' estimate of the calendar year average wellhead price per barrel for all domestic crude oil, the price of which is not subject to regulation. Phase out Prices are adjusted each year for inflation. The IRS will not publish the Phase-out Prices for calendar year 2005 until May 2006. Historically, the Market Wellhead Prices oil prices have been substantially below "Phase-out Prices" and therefore the possibility of a phase-out has been considered remote. However, due to the recent spike in oil prices, Market Wellhead Prices in 2005 have, on occasion, exceeded the price at which the Phase out would be triggered. Nevertheless, based on average Market Wellhead Prices for the first seven months of 2005 and estimates of 2005 Phase-out Prices, management believes that the Phase-out will not be triggered in 2005 unless oil prices during the remainder of 2005 increase significantly from current levels. However, there can be no assurance that future oil prices will remain under future phase out levels in 2006 and 2007. If a phase out is triggered during such years or in 2005, USEB's income from Code Section 29 tax credits may be reduced or eliminated, thus reducing cash available for servicing debt service on the USEB Loan and for payments of the royalty.

Regulatory and Legislative Risk

The Fund's District Energy Systems, USEB's Renewable Projects and the Cogen Facilities must be licensed to comply with energy, operational, environmental, and safety statutes, standards, orders and regulations enacted by legislative bodies and imposed by regulatory bodies. Although the Fund believes that all such facilities are in compliance in all material respects with such statutes, permits, standards, orders and regulations, failure to operate the facilities in compliance with such statutes, permits standards, orders and regulations may require temporary or permanent cessation of operations of the facilities and may expose owners and operators to claims and clean-up costs. Any new law or regulation could require significant new expenditures to achieve or maintain compliance.

Qualifying Facility and Qualifying Solid Waste Energy Facility Status

The Cogen Facilities and the majority of USEB's facilities are QFs under the Public Utilities Act of 1978 as amended ("PURPA") as implemented by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC"). Loss of QF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QF status under the PPAs and debt agreements (including in the case of USEB's facilities, the USEB Loan) and result in PPA termination, penalties or acceleration of indebtedness under such agreements plus interest. Further, under PURPA, a regulated utility could refuse to purchase electricity from the facility(ies) at such utility's avoided cost if QF status were lost and may be entitled to certain remedies for breach of an existing PPA including the right to terminate the PPA. In addition, the FERC has asserted jurisdiction over the rates charged by QFs during periods when a facility does not operate in compliance with the applicable QF criteria and has indicated its willingness to order the refund of payments previously made under PPAs in some cases. Further, loss of QF status could expose either Facility to regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, by the CPUC and, until February 8, 2006, by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Public Utility Holding Company Act. Additionally if one of USEB's Illinois facilities lost QF status, it may lose QSW status (as defined below) under the Illinois Public Utilities Act.

Any of these consequences would result in substantial regulatory burdens, potentially lower revenues from power sales and potentially insurmountable impediments to affected entities with regard to conducting business in the manner currently contemplated. Accordingly, the Cogen Facilities ability to generate distributable cash as well as the ability of USEB's facilities to generate cash to service the USEB Loan and make payments under the USEB Royalty is dependent on their maintaining QF status. A facility may lose its QF status either temporarily or permanently.

On August 8, 2005, comprehensive energy legislation was enacted when the President signed into law EPA 2005. That legislation makes several changes to PURPA effective six months following the date of enactment (i.e., February 8, 2006), including: (1) eliminating the limitation on electric utility ownership of QFs, (2) terminating the mandatory purchase obligation imposed on electric utilities for new QFs that the FERC determines have access to competitive wholesale markets and (3) requiring the FERC to promulgate regulations no later than February 8, 2006 specifying additional criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities with respect to the useful thermal energy output of such facilities. EPA 2005 makes clear that it does not apply to the rights and remedies of the parties to existing contracts or obligations in effect or pending before a State public service commission as of the date of enactment. On October 11, 2005, the FERC promulgated its proposed regulations implementing the additional criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities. Under the proposed regulations, the new criteria would not apply to the San Gabriel or Ripon Facilities since both facilities were certified as "qualifying cogeneration facilities" prior to the enactment of EPA 2005.

Changes to PURPA made by EPA 2005 will not affect the Cogen Facilities or USEB's facilities for so long as such projects continue to operate in compliance with PURPA and their PPAs remain in effect. If any of such facilities should lose QF status and if it should be determined that the purchasing utility has the right to terminate its PPA as a result thereof, the provisions of EPA 2005 and any regulations promulgated there under would apply to any new PPA that such facilities would seek to enter into under PURPA.

Congress from time to time has considered legislation to repeal and amend certain provisions of PURPA, most recently with the enactment of EPA 2005. Such legislation has typically included ""grand-fathering"" protection to ensure that any change in law would apply only prospectively and would not affect the obligation of electric utilities to purchase from QFs under their existing PPAs. However, there is no guarantee that any future legislation would contain "grand-fathering" protection.

Certain of USEB's Renewable Projects in Illinois receive certain benefits and exemptions because each is a Qualified Solid Waste Energy Facility ("QSW Status") under the Retail Rate Law of the Illinois Public Utilities Act (the "Retail Rate Law"). If any of USEB's Illinois Renewable Projects were to lose its QSW status, the facility would no longer be entitled to the benefits of the Retail Rate Law. In such event the applicable Illinois utility may no longer be required to purchase electricity from the relevant projects at the rates provided for in the Retail Rate Law.. Under certain circumstances, loss of QFW Status on a retroactive basis could lead to, among other things, claims by the utility customers for a refund of payments already made.

Further, such facilities may lose all or some of such benefits if PURPA or the Illinois Public Utilities Act (or the regulations or orders promulgated there under) were repealed or modified or if any court or regulatory body adopted a new interpretation of such statute, regulation or order. From time to time, legislation modifying the Illinois Public Utility Act has been proposed. If certain of the introduced legislation had been enacted in its proposed form, it would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the QSWEFS. To date such legislation has not been enacted; however there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be enacted in the future. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on USEB's ability to make payments to the Fund's Canadian subsidiary under the USEB Loan or USEB Royalty.

Potential Cogen Facilities' Refund Liability

A proceeding is currently pending before the CPUC in Docket No. R 99-11-022 in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply retroactively for the period December, 2000 through March, 2001 a March, 2001 decision (D. 01-03-067) which, among other things, modified the methodology used in calculating SRAC and thereby decreased SRAC levels for the period commencing March 27, 2001. In September, 2002, the California Court of Appeals found that the CPUC had violated PURPA for failing to consider SCE's argument that the CPUC should retroactively apply the modified SRAC formula. Southern Cal. Edison vs. Public Utilities Comm'n., 101 Cal. App. 4th 982 (2002). The Court of Appeals directed the CPUC to consider SCE's request. In February, 2005, a Draft Decision was issued by the assigned Commissioner who found that "evidence shows SRAC prices were correct between December 2000 and March 2001, and retroactive application of the modified SRAC formula is not warranted". Various parties have submitted comments on the Draft Decision, including PG&E, SCE, a ratepayer organization and the CPUC's Office of Ratepayer Advocates, objecting to the Draft Decision. The CPUC has not yet issued a final decision in the matter and is free to accept the Draft Decision as written, modify it or reject it in its entirety. The outcome of this proceeding cannot be predicted. Even in the event of an adverse CPUC decision, management has been advised by counsel that the Cogen Facilities would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect the Cogen Facilities from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that the Cogen Facilities would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal or otherwise enjoined, QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could materially and adversely affect the Cogen Facilities' ability to generate distributable cash.

Potential Cogen Facilities' Steam Host Termination for Convenience

Both steam hosts at the Cogen Facilities are permitted to terminate their respective steam sales agreements for convenience under certain circumstances. Each steam sales agreement provides that, in such event, the steam customer must make a specific monetary payment to the Cogen Facilities to cover their cost of obtaining a replacement steam host. The San Gabriel Facility's steam host's obligation to make such payment terminates after the twelfth year of the steam sale agreement. Such steam host may also discharge its obligation by obtaining a replacement steam host. It is possible that either steam host may exercise such termination right but fail to comply with its obligations to obtain or fund the cost to obtain a replacement steam host due to lack of resources or for other reasons. In such event the Cogen Facilities may not have an adequate remedy against the steam host and be required to obtain a replacement steam host at its own expense or probably lose its QF status. Loss of QF Status would have a material adverse effect on the Cogen Facilities. See "Risk and Uncertainties" – Qualifying Facility and Qualifying Solid Waste Energy Facility Status".

Reliance on Third Parties and Potential Conflicts of Interest

Pursuant to the Management Agreement and the Administration Agreement, commencing on November 1, 2005 the Fund and its subsidiaries will rely substantially on the Manager and its Canadian subsidiary for management, administration and project development functions. (See "Transactions with Related Parties – Management Agreement and Administration Agreement"). There may be circumstances in which the interests of the Manager, its affiliates or entities managed by such parties may conflict with those of the Fund, Countryside Canada, its subsidiaries and the Unitholders. Although the Manager's senior executives are required to devote a significant majority of their time for the benefit of Countryside Canada, Countryside US and its subsidiaries and to the development of projects reasonably expected to be within the acquisition criteria of the Fund, the Manager's personnel are not required to devote their time exclusively to these activities. Further, while the Manager is prohibited from providing management and administrative services to third parties other than the Fund, the Manager may develop and own energy and utility infrastructure projects for its own account or jointly with third parties, subject to its obligation to provide the Fund with a first opportunity to invest in such projects. Thus, subject to the constraints described above, the Manager and its senior executives may engage in activities similar to the current activities of the Fund, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries.

The Manager and its affiliates, however, will provide Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries with the first opportunity to invest in any entity or asset that meets the investment criteria of the Fund and Countryside Canada that the Manager or its affiliates develop, own or control. The Manager shall only be free to offer such investment opportunities to third parties or to pursue them for its own account if Countryside Canada or its subsidiaries decline or are unable to pursue such opportunities.

Circumstances may arise where the Fund trustees or members of the board of directors of a corporation in which the Fund has invested are directors or officers of corporations that compete with the interests of the Fund. No assurances can be given that opportunities identified by such persons will be provided to the Fund or an entity in which the Fund has invested.

Further provisions in the Declaration of Trust, which are similar to those contained in the Canada Business Corporations Act, provide certain procedures to be followed in the event of such conflicts of interests, and certain remedies may be available to the Fund where such procedures are not followed.

The Fund is reliant upon USEB with respect to the administration and operations management of the USEB Renewable Projects. Ripon is reliant on independent contractors for the day to day operational and asset management of the facilities

For a more detailed discussion of risk factors, reference should be made to the Prospectus pages 103 to 116 which are incorporated by reference.

The Fund's business risks remained substantially unchanged since December 31, 2004 except for the addition of Cogen Facilities related issues.

Other Risks

For a more detailed discussion of risk factors, reference should be made to the MD&A in the 2004 Annual Report and to the 2004 Annual Information Form pages 40 to 56 as well as the Prospectus of the Fund and Countryside Canada filed with securities regulators on November 8, 2005 pages 55 to 65 which are incorporated by reference and filed on www.sedar.com.

TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PARTIES

Development Agreement with Cinergy and USEY

Countryside U.S. has entered into a Development Agreement with an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY under which, subject to its terms and conditions, the Cinergy subsidiary and USEY will contribute their experience and financial resources to the acquisition, development, improvement and operation of energy projects that they choose to pursue and that will meet the Fund's investment and growth objectives. Countryside U.S. provides investment analysis and evaluation services on behalf of all parties to the agreement. In consideration for these services, Countryside U.S. shall be paid an annual fee of U.S. $440 for 2005 from an indirect subsidiary of Cinergy and USEY.

The Development Agreement has an initial term of five years and will be automatically renewed for an additional five-year term unless terminated by any party.

Independence Power LLC

On June 29, 2005, Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside US Holding"), an indirect subsidiary of the Fund, paid $437 to Independence Power LLC in consideration for services performed by Independence for Countryside US Holding in connection with the origination and structuring of the acquisition of Ripon Power LLC. Independence changed its name to Countryside Ventures LLC ("Countryside Ventures") on September 19, 2005. Countryside Ventures is controlled by members of senior management of the Fund who serve as officers and directors of certain Fund subsidiaries including Countryside US Holding. Such payment was approved by the Joint Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee of the Fund and Countryside Canada based, in part, on an opinion from an independent financial advisor that the payment was fair.

Management Agreement

On September 23, 2005, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada entered into a Management Agreement with Countryside Ventures. Under the terms of the agreement, effective November 1, 2005, Countryside Ventures, will provide management and administrative services to Countryside Canada and Countryside US Holding as well as new growth opportunities under long-term agreements. Countryside Ventures will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund, through Countryside US and Countryside Canada, has a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by Countryside Ventures that meet the Fund's investment criteria. In consideration for providing the management and administrative services under the Management Agreement, the Manager shall be entitled to reimbursement from Countryside US Holding and, to the extent the Manager provides services to Countryside Canada at its request, Countryside Canada, of all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the Manager and its affiliates in carrying out the services described above. During 2005, a total of $206 has been paid to Countryside Ventures pursuant to the Management Agreement to reimburse Countryside Ventures for certain compensation payments made to the senior executives respecting the period July 1, 2005 through October 31, 2005. Such payment was approved by the Joint Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee of the Fund and Countryside Canada based, in part, on an opinion from an independent financial advisor that the payment was fair.

Administration Agreement

On September 26, 2005 the Fund and Countryside U.S. Power entered into a Management and Administration Agreement ("Administration Agreement") with Countryside Canada Ventures Inc. ("Countryside Ventures Canada"), which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Countryside Ventures. Under the Administration Agreement, effective November 1, 2005, Countryside Ventures Canada will provide management and administrative services to the Fund and Countryside Canada. In carrying out the services described above, Countryside Canada Ventures and its affiliates will be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund and Countryside Canada of all costs and expenses incurred in connection therewith.

Operating Agreement

In conjunction with the Management Agreement, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Ventures entered into an operating agreement on November 3, 2005 respecting Ripon Power which will be effective as of July 1, 2005. This agreement will implement for the Ripon Power acquisition, the long-term incentive plan provided for in the Management Agreement. Under the terms of the Ripon operating agreement, Countryside US Holding will hold a preferred membership interest (the "Preferred Interest") entitling it to preferred distributions of "net cash flow" from operations and "net cash proceeds" from capital transactions as such terms will be defined in the Ripon operating agreement. Countryside US Holding and Countryside Ventures will, hold subordinate membership interests (the "Subordinate Interests") entitling them to residual distributions made to members, after distributions made in respect of the Preferred Interest, in a ratio of 75:25. Countryside Ventures' Subordinate Interest distribution is subject to downward adjustment and mutual exchange rights as provided in the Management Agreement.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of our consolidated financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments as they relate to matters that are inherently uncertain. Changes in these judgments or estimates could have a significant impact on the Fund's consolidated financial statements. We believe that in addition to the critical accounting estimates discussed in our annual MD&A, the following critical accounting estimate involves the more significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our interim consolidated financial statements.

Power Purchase Agreements

Power purchase agreements ("PPAs") were recorded to account for the proportion of the proceeds from the purchase of Ripon Power that exceeded the fair value of the existing assets. The fair value of the intangible asset balance is being amortized over the life of the PPAs expiring in 2016 & 2018.

OUTLOOK

District Energy Facilities

Expansion Projects

The London System heat recovery improvement project was substantially completed and became operational in February 2005.

The Fund

We are committed to growing the Fund through accretive investments. We have a disciplined investment strategy to identify and pursue acquisitions and investment opportunities. Our dynamic industry has been undergoing a shift in the ownership of unregulated generation assets, which offers a number of consolidation and partnership prospects for Countryside. Further, there appears to be growing support for renewable power generation from both government and industry in light of Canada's commitment to the Kyoto Protocol and the U.S. market trend to energy independence as a result of rising oil and natural gas prices. Countryside is actively evaluating opportunities in power generation and utility infrastructure, with a view to increasing unitholder value and growing distributions.

Management Information Circular

APRIL 4, 2005

This management information circular is furnished in connection with the solicitation by the trustees (the "Trustees") of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") of proxies to be used at the annual meeting (the "Meeting") of holders (the "Unitholders") of trust units (the "Units") of the Fund, to be held on Thursday, May 5, 2005 at The Toronto Board of Trade in the Ridout Room (1 First Canadian Place, 100 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario) commencing at 10:00 a.m. Toronto time, and at all postponements or adjournments thereof, for the purposes set forth in the accompanying Notice of Meeting. All dollar amounts in this management information circular are expressed in Canadian dollars, unless otherwise indicated.

THE FUND

The Fund is an unincorporated open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to a declaration of trust dated February 16, 2004. The declaration of trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the date of the initial public offering of Units of the Fund. The Fund owns 100% of Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada").

The Fund was established to fund, through Countryside Canada, the acquisition of USE Canada Holdings Corp. now known as Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp., the indirect owner of the district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and London, Ontario, (the "London System", together with the PEI System, the "District Energy Systems") the acquisition, amendment and additional advances respecting existing loans to U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. (collectively, the "USEB Loans") and the acquisition of a convertible royalty interest in USEB (the "USEB Royalty Interest").

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to Unitholders and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per Unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure, including, among others, cogeneration projects, green energy projects and district energy systems.

PROXY SOLICITATION AND VOTING

Solicitation of Proxies

The solicitation of proxies for the Meeting will be made primarily by mail, but proxies may also be solicited personally or by telephone on behalf of the Fund. The information contained herein is given as at April 4, 2005, except where otherwise noted.

Appointment and Revocation of Proxies

Together with this management information circular, the Unitholders of the Fund will also be sent a form of proxy. The persons named in such proxy are Trustees of the Fund. A Unitholder who wishes to appoint some other person to represent him or her at the Meeting may do so by crossing out the persons named in the enclosed proxy and inserting such person's name in the blank space provided in the form of proxy or by completing another proper form of proxy. Such other person need not be a Unitholder of the Fund.

To be valid, proxies must be deposited at the offices of the Transfer Agent of the Fund, CIBC Mellon Trust Company, by mail in the enclosed envelope or in an envelope addressed to Countryside Power Income Fund, c/o CIBC Mellon Trust Company, 200 Queen's Quay East, Unit #6, Toronto, Ontario M5A 4K9 or by facsimile to (416) 368-2502. Proxies must not arrive later than 10:00 a.m. Toronto time, on Tuesday May 3, 2005. If the Meeting is adjourned, proxies must be deposited 48 hours (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays), before the time set for any reconvened meeting at which the proxy is to be used, prior to the commencement of the Meeting or any reconvened meeting.

The document appointing a proxy must be in writing and completed and signed by a Unitholder or his or her attorney authorized in writing or, if the Unitholder is a corporation, under its corporate seal or by an officer or attorney thereof duly authorized. Persons signing as officers, attorneys, executors, administrators, trustees, etc., should so indicate and provide satisfactory evidence of such authority.

A Unitholder who has given a proxy may revoke the proxy: (a) by completing and signing a proxy bearing a later date and depositing it as aforesaid; (b) by depositing an instrument in writing executed by the Unitholder or by his or her attorney authorized in writing at the registered office of the Fund at any time up to and including the last business day preceding the day of the applicable Meeting, or any adjournment thereof, at which the proxy is to be used, or (c) in any other manner permitted by law.

Voting of Proxies

The persons named in the accompanying form of proxy will vote Units in respect of which they are appointed, on any ballot that may be called for, in accordance with the instructions of the Unitholder as indicated on the proxy. In the absence of such specification, such Units will be voted (a) FOR the election of the three nominees to the Board of Trustees listed under the heading "Matters to be Considered at the Meeting – Election of Trustees" (b) FOR directing the Trustees to vote the Fund's shares of Countryside Canada in favour of the election of the five nominees to the Board of Directors of Countryside Canada listed under the heading "Matters to be Considered at the Meeting – Election of Directors of Countryside Canada" and (c) FOR the appointment of Ernst & Young LLP as auditors of the Fund.

The persons appointed under the form of proxy are conferred with discretionary authority with respect to amendments to or variations of matters identified in the form of proxy and Notice of Meeting and with respect to other matters which may properly come before the Meeting. In the event that amendments or variations to matters identified in the Notice of Meeting are properly brought before the Meeting, it is the intention of the persons designated in the enclosed form of proxy to vote in accordance with their best judgment on such matter or business. At the time of printing this management information circular, the Trustees know of no such amendments, variations or other matter.

QUORUM

A quorum is required for the Meeting. For the Meeting, two or more individuals present in person or by proxy and representing in the aggregate at least 10% of the votes attached to all outstanding Units will constitute a quorum. If a quorum is not present within one-half hour after the time fixed for the holding of the Meeting, the Meeting will stand adjourned to a day not less than 14 days later and to a place and time as chosen by the Chair of the Meeting, and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, the holders of Units present either in person or by proxy shall be deemed to constitute a quorum.

INFORMATION FOR BENEFICIAL HOLDERS OF SECURITIES

The information in this section is of significant importance to Unitholders, as the issued and outstanding Units are not registered in the name of such holders ("Beneficial Holders").

Beneficial Holders should note that only proxies deposited by Unitholders whose names appear on the records of the Fund as the registered holders of Units can be recognized and acted upon at the Meeting. All of the Units are registered in the name of CDS & Co. (the nominee for The Canadian Depository for Securities Limited ("CDS")). CDS maintains books showing its participants, such as investment dealers or brokers, through which the Units are beneficially owned. Investment dealers and brokers maintain their own records showing the beneficial ownership of such Units by their clients. Units held by CDS can be voted only upon the instructions of the Beneficial Holder. Without specific instructions, CDS and its participants are prohibited from voting Units for their clients. The Trustees do not know for whose benefit the Units registered in the name of CDS are held. Therefore, Beneficial Holders cannot be recognized at the Meeting for purposes of voting their Units in person or by way of proxy unless they comply with the procedures described below.

Applicable regulatory policy in Canada requires brokers and other intermediaries to seek voting instructions from Beneficial Holders in advance of Unitholders' meetings. Every broker or other intermediary has its own mailing procedures and provides its own return instructions, which should be carefully followed by Beneficial Holders in order to ensure that their Units are voted at the Meeting. Often, the form of proxy supplied to a Beneficial Unitholder by its broker is identical to that provided to registered Unitholders. However, its purpose is limited to instructing the registered Unitholder how to vote on behalf of the Beneficial Unitholder. Most brokers now delegate responsibility for obtaining instructions from clients to ADP Investor Communications ("ADP"). ADP typically prepares a machine-readable voting instruction form, mails those forms to the Beneficial Holders and asks Beneficial Holders to return the proxy forms to ADP. ADP then tabulates the results of all instructions received and provides appropriate instructions representing the voting of Units to be represented at the Meeting. A Beneficial Holder receiving an ADP voting instruction form cannot use that voting instruction form to vote Units directly at the Meeting. The voting instruction form must be returned to ADP well in advance of the Meeting in order to have the Units voted.

Although Beneficial Holders may not be recognized directly at the Meeting for the purposes of voting Units registered in the name of their broker or other intermediary, a Beneficial Holder may attend at the Meeting as proxyholder for the registered holder and vote their Units in that capacity. Beneficial Holders who wish to attend the Meeting and indirectly vote their own Units as proxyholder for the registered holder should enter their own names in the blank space on the form of proxy or voting instruction form provided to them and return the same to their broker or other intermediary (or the agent of such broker or other intermediary) in accordance with the instructions provided by such broker, intermediary or agent well in advance of the Meeting.

VOTING UNITS AND PRINCIPAL HOLDERS THEREOF

The Fund is authorized to issue an unlimited number of Units. As of the date of this management information circular, there were 14,905,366 Units issued and outstanding.

At the Meeting, each Unitholder of record at the close of business on April 4, 2005, the record date established for the notice of the meeting (the "Record Date"), will be entitled to one vote for each Unit held on all matters proposed to come before the Meeting. To the knowledge of the Trustees, the following persons beneficially own or exercise control or direction over securities carrying more than 10% of the votes attached to the issued and outstanding Units:

Name	Number of Units beneficially owned or over which control or direction is exercised	Percentage of Total Units
Bloom Investment Counsel, Inc.[1]	1,730,000	11.6%

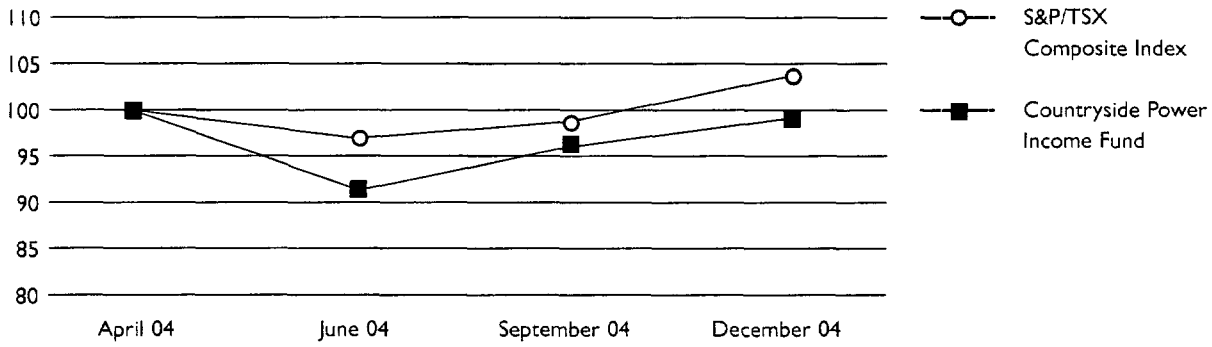
It is not contemplated that any of the proposed nominees will be unable to serve as a Trustee but, if that should occur for any reason prior to the Meeting, the persons named in the enclosed form of proxy reserve the right to vote for another nominee at their discretion. The Joint Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee's executive compensation philosophy is guided by its objective to obtain and retain executives critical to the success of the Fund and the enhancement of Unitholder value.

Chief Executive Officer Compensation



The 2004 annual salary for Mr. Mörnhed was determined based upon the employment agreement described under "Compensation of Trustees, Directors and Executive Officers - Employment Contracts". Management Information Circular

March 27, 2006

This management information circular is furnished in connection with the solicitation by the Trustees (the "Trustees") of Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") of proxies to be used at the annual meeting (the "Meeting") of holders (the "Unitholders") of trust units (the "Units") of the Fund, to be held on Tuesday, May 9, 2006 at The Toronto Board of Trade in the MacDonald/Brule Room (1 First Canadian Place, 100 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario) commencing at 10:00 a.m. Toronto time, and at all postponements or adjournments thereof, for the purposes set forth in the accompanying Notice of Meeting. THE FUND

The Fund is an unincorporated open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to a declaration of trust dated February 16, 2004. The declaration of trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the date of the initial public offering of Units of the Fund. The Fund owns 100% of Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada").

The Fund was initially established to fund, through Countryside Canada, the acquisition of USE Canada Holdings Corp. now known as Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp., the indirect owner of the district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI System") and London, Ontario, (the "London System", together with the PEI System, the "District Energy Systems") the acquisition, amendment and additional advances respecting existing loans to U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB") (collectively, the "USEB Loans") and the acquisition of a convertible royalty interest in USEB (the "USEB Royalty Interest"). The Fund subsequently acquired indirectly two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California, one located in Ripon, California near San Francisco and the other located in Pomona, California, near Los Angeles (the "Cogen Facilities").

The Fund's objectives are to maintain the stability and sustainability of cash distributions to Unitholders and increase, when prudent, cash distributions per Unit. In order to achieve these objectives, the Fund intends to focus on enhancing the current operational practices of its existing businesses, pursuing internal growth and expansion opportunities, and making additional investments in power generation and utility infrastructure projects, including, among others, cogeneration projects, renewable energy projects and district energy systems.

Solicitation of Proxies

The solicitation of proxies for the Meeting will be made primarily by mail, but proxies may also be solicited personally or by telephone on behalf of the Fund. The information contained herein is given as at March 27, 2006, except where otherwise noted.

Such other person need not be a Unitholder of the Fund.

To be valid, proxies must be deposited at the offices of the Transfer Agent of the Fund, CIBC Mellon Trust Company, by mail in the enclosed envelope or in an envelope addressed to Countryside Power Income Fund, c/o CIBC Mellon Trust Company, 200 Queen's Quay East, Unit #6, Toronto, Ontario M5A 4K9 or by facsimile to (416) 368-2502. If the Meeting is adjourned, proxies must be deposited 48 hours (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays), before the time set for any reconvened meeting at which the proxy is to be used, prior to the commencement of the Meeting or any reconvened meeting.

The document appointing a proxy must be in writing and completed and signed by a Unitholder or his or her attorney authorized in writing or, if the Unitholder is a corporation, under its corporate seal or by an officer or attorney thereof duly authorized. Persons signing as officers, attorneys, executors, administrators, Trustees, etc., should so indicate and provide satisfactory evidence of such authority.

A Unitholder who has given a proxy may revoke the proxy: (a) by completing and signing a proxy bearing a later date and depositing it as aforesaid; (b) by depositing an instrument in writing executed by the Unitholder or by his or her attorney authorized in writing at the registered office of the Fund at any time up to and including the last business day preceding the day of the applicable Meeting, or any adjournment thereof, at which the proxy is to be used, or (c) in any other manner permitted by law.

Voting of Proxies

The persons named in the accompanying form of proxy will vote Units in respect of which they are appointed, on any ballot that may be called for, in accordance with the instructions of the Unitholder as indicated on the proxy. In the absence of such specification, such Units will be voted (a) FOR the election of the three nominees to the Board of Trustees listed under the heading "Matters to be Considered at the Meeting – Election of Trustees" (b) FOR directing the Trustees to vote the Fund's shares of Countryside Canada in favour of the election of the four nominees to the Board of Directors of Countryside Canada listed under the heading "Matters to be Considered at the Meeting – Election of Directors of Countryside Canada" and (c) FOR the appointment of Ernst & Young LLP as auditors of the Fund.

The persons appointed under the form of proxy are conferred with discretionary authority with respect to amendments to or variations of matters identified in the form of proxy and Notice of Meeting and with respect to other matters which may properly come before the Meeting. In the event that amendments or variations to matters identified in the Notice of Meeting are properly brought before the Meeting, it is the intention of the persons designated in the enclosed form of proxy to vote in accordance with their best judgment on such matter or business. At the time of printing this management information circular, the Trustees know of no such amendments, variations or other matter.

QUORUM

A quorum is required for the Meeting. For the Meeting, two or more individuals present in person or by proxy and representing in the aggregate at least 10% of the votes attached to all outstanding Units will constitute a quorum. If a quorum is not present within one-half hour after the time fixed for the holding of the Meeting, the Meeting will stand adjourned to a day not less than 14 days later and to a place and time as chosen by the Chair of the Meeting, and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, the holders of Units present either in person or by proxy shall be deemed to constitute a quorum.

INFORMATION FOR BENEFICIAL HOLDERS OF SECURITIES

The information in this section is of significant importance to Unitholders, as the issued and outstanding Units are not registered in the name of such holders ("Beneficial Holders").

Beneficial Holders should note that only proxies deposited by Unitholders whose names appear on the records of the Fund as the registered holders of Units can be recognized and acted upon at the Meeting. All of the Units are registered in the name of CDS & Co. (the nominee for The Canadian Depository for Securities Limited ("CDS")). CDS maintains books showing its participants, such as investment dealers or brokers, through which the Units are beneficially owned. Investment dealers and brokers maintain their own records showing the beneficial ownership of such Units by their clients. Units held by CDS can be voted only upon the instructions of the Beneficial Holder. Without specific instructions, CDS and its participants are prohibited from voting Units for their clients. The Trustees do not know for whose benefit the Units registered in the name of CDS are held. Therefore, Beneficial Holders cannot be recognized at the Meeting for purposes of voting their Units in person or by way of proxy unless they comply with the procedures described below.

Applicable regulatory policy in Canada requires brokers and other intermediaries to seek voting instructions from Beneficial Holders in advance of Unitholders' meetings. Every broker or other intermediary has its own mailing procedures and provides its own return instructions, which should be carefully followed by Beneficial Holders in order to ensure that their Units are voted at the Meeting. Often, the form of proxy supplied to a Beneficial Unitholder by its broker is identical to that provided to registered Unitholders. However, its purpose is limited to instructing the registered Unitholder how to vote on behalf of the Beneficial Unitholder. Most brokers now delegate responsibility for obtaining instructions from clients to ADP Investor Communications ("ADP"). ADP typically prepares a machine-readable voting instruction form, mails those forms to the Beneficial Holders and asks Beneficial Holders to return the proxy forms to ADP. ADP then tabulates the results of all instructions received and provides appropriate instructions representing the voting of Units to be represented at the Meeting. A Beneficial Holder receiving an ADP voting instruction form cannot use that voting instruction form to vote Units directly at the Meeting. The voting instruction form must be returned to ADP well in advance of the Meeting in order to have the Units voted.

Although Beneficial Holders may not be recognized directly at the Meeting for the purposes of voting Units registered in the name of their broker or other intermediary, a Beneficial Holder may attend at the Meeting as proxyholder for the registered holder and vote their Units in that capacity. Beneficial Holders who wish to attend the Meeting and indirectly vote their own Units as proxyholder for the registered holder should enter their own names in the blank space on the form of proxy or voting instruction form provided to them and return the same to their broker or other intermediary (or the agent of such broker or other intermediary) in accordance with the instructions provided by such broker, intermediary or agent well in advance of the Meeting.

VOTING UNITS AND PRINCIPAL HOLDERS THEREOF

The Fund is authorized to issue an unlimited number of Units. As of the date of this management information circular, there were 19,646,276 Units issued and outstanding.

At the Meeting, each Unitholder of record at the close of business on March 28, 2006, the record date established for the notice of the meeting (the "Record Date"), will be entitled to one vote for each Unit held on all matters proposed to come before the Meeting. To the knowledge of the Trustees, no persons beneficially own or exercise control or direction over securities carrying more than 10% of the votes attached to the issued and outstanding Units.

MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED AT THE MEETING

Election of Trustees

The Fund is required to have a minimum of three and a maximum of five Trustees. The number of Trustees is determined from time to time by resolution of the Trustees. The number of Trustees to be elected at the Meeting has been fixed at three. All Trustees shall be Canadian Residents. The persons named in the enclosed form of proxy, if not expressly directed to the contrary in such form of proxy, intend to vote for the election, as Trustees, of the proposed nominees whose names are set out below. It is not contemplated that any of the proposed nominees will be unable to serve as a Trustee but, if that should occur for any reason prior to the Meeting, the persons named in the enclosed form of proxy reserve the right to vote for another nominee at their discretion. Each Trustee elected will hold office until the next annual meeting or until his successor is elected or appointed.

The following table sets forth the names of, and certain information for, the persons proposed to be nominated for election as Trustees:

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION REPORT

Composition of the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee

The Fund and Countryside Canada maintain a Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. Such committee reviews and makes recommendations concerning nominations of Trustees and Directors of Countryside Canada, appointment of Directors to Fund subsidiaries, the appointment of officers of Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries and the hiring, compensation, benefits and termination of key employees of the Fund and its subsidiaries as applicable. Such committee shall also participate in the recruitment of any replacement of any Executive provided that the decision of whether to hire such replacement shall be made by the Manager subject to the approval of Countryside Canada and Countryside US Holding, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld or denied. Such committee annually reviews the goals and objectives of the Manager and the Executive performing the services of Chief Executive Officer for the upcoming year and provides an appraisal of their performance. The committee also reviews and makes recommendations respecting adjustments to Base Compensation under the Management Agreement and establishment of Operating Objectives for the Short-Term Incentive Plan ("STIP") under the Management Agreement and the determination of whether they have been reached. The committee also makes recommendations regarding Fund employee bonus plans. Such committee is responsible for developing the Fund's approach to corporate governance issues including Fund policies relating thereto and periodically reviewing the composition and effectiveness of the Board and the subsidiary boards and the contribution of individual Trustees and Directors.

The Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is comprised of the three Trustees: Messrs. Oskar T. Sigvaldason (Chair), V. James Sardo and James R. Anderson. Oskar T. Sigvaldason was elected to the Trustee position formerly occupied by Rudy G. Reidl on May 5, 2005. Mr. Sigvaldason serves as a Trustee, a member of each Fund subsidiary board (except for Countryside U.S. Power) and serves on both the Joint Audit Committee and the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. According to its Charter, all members of the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Governance Committee must be independent of management and the Manager and therefore no member of the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is an officer, employee or former officer or employee of the Fund, the Manager or any of their affiliates.

Report on Executive Compensation by the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee

The Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee's philosophy in structuring the compensation-related provisions of the Management Agreement, was to retain the services of the senior management team critical to the success of the Fund and to motivate them to enhance unitholder value through compensation which is largely performance-based and structured to align the interests of the Executives with the interests of Unitholders.

These objectives are met by the three key compensation-related components of the Management Agreement: (a) the reimbursement by Countryside Canada and Countryside US Holding of the Manager's payments of Base Compensation to the Executives, (b) the reimbursement by Countryside Canada and Countryside US Holding of the Manager's STIP payments to the Executives and (c) the award to the Manager of the Long-Term Incentive Plan ("LTIP") Interest (defined below) with respect to each Development Asset (defined below).

Commencing November 1, 2005 the Manager is entitled to an annual minimum aggregate expense reimbursement of US $775,000, representing the annual compensation paid to the Executives (the "Base Salary"), as well as all associated costs, including wage burden and the cost of providing the benefits to the executives (collectively the "Base Compensation"). The Base Compensation will be subject to annual review and periodic adjustment as agreed to in good faith by the parties from time to time and subject to independent reviews by third party compensation experts.

In addition to the Base Compensation and other expense reimbursement, Countryside US Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, also reimburse the Manager for payments made by the Manager to the Executives under a STIP adopted by the Manager that is consistent with the terms and conditions of the Management Agreement. Countryside US Holding, and if applicable, Countryside Canada reimburse the Manager an amount in respect of the STIP equal to 50% of the Base Compensation ("STIP Pool"), provided that payments will be made based on: (i) meeting certain objectives relating to managing Countryside that are recommended annually by the Manager and subject to the approval of the Directors of Countryside US Holding and, if applicable, the compensation committee of Countryside Canada in their discretion (the "Operating Objectives"); and (ii) successfully sourcing and consummating an acquisition or investment on behalf of Countryside (the "Acquisition Objective"). In each year, 25% and 75% of the STIP Pool will be available to reimburse the Manager for payments made for achieving the Operating Objectives and the Acquisition Objective, respectively. However, the payment to reimburse the Manager for meeting the Acquisition Objective shall not be less than US$291,000 in each year. The STIP Pool is non-cumulative from year to year. The Manager will be reimbursed by Countryside US Holding and/or Countryside Canada: (i) for meeting the Operating Objectives, by payment of both freely tradeable Units and cash; and (ii) for meeting the Acquisition Objective by cash payment only, in accordance with the conditions described in the Management Agreement. Any Units delivered to the Executives under the STIP will be required to be held until the earlier of the termination of the Management Agreement or the termination of the Executive's involvement with the Manager. The initial levels of the Base Compensation and the STIP Pool were negotiated between the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Governance Committee and the Manager. The Committee was advised by an independent compensation consultant during such negotiations.

The Manager or a designated affiliate is entitled to receive an LTIP payment in the form of a subordinated interest in each new asset, company or investment (including Ripon Power LLC) acquired or made, directly or indirectly, by Countryside US Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates and originated, structured or developed through the efforts of the Manager or an Affiliate of the Manager (a "Development Asset"). The Manager or its applicable affiliate is entitled to a distribution from the Development Asset of operating cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made by the Development Asset in excess of the base level distribution that is required to be paid to Countryside US Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) by the Development Asset to reflect the cost of interest payments on debt incurred and Unitholder distributions on equity raised to fund the purchase of the Development Asset (the "Base Level Distribution"). Payments to the Manager will be made at the same time as the distribution is made to Countryside US Holding or Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable).

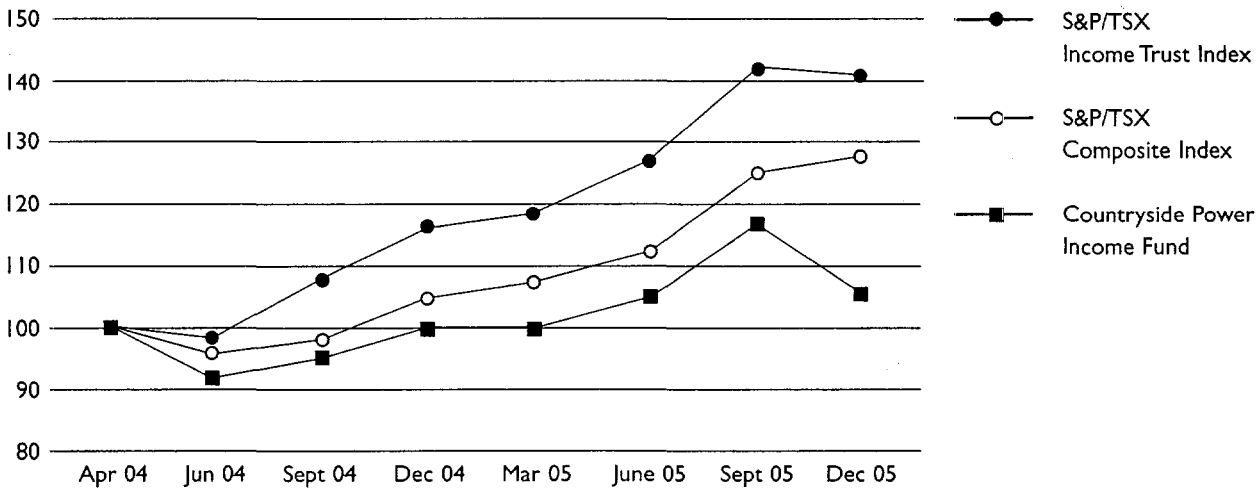
The Manager and Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada each have the right to cause the LTIP Interest to be exchanged for Fund Units subject to terms and conditions set forth in the Management Agreement.

The Management Agreement has an initial 20-year term and will be automatically renewed for additional five-year terms unless, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada, who are independent of the Manager, determine that the Management Agreement will not be renewed and notify the Manager accordingly, in accordance with the Management Agreement. The Manager on the one hand and Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada on the other, each have the right to terminate the Management Agreement before the expiration of its term under specified circumstances.

In addition, the Manager may terminate the Management Agreement (i) at any time after the first five years of the term of the Agreement or (ii) at any time within one year of a Change of Control (as defined in the Management Agreement), upon 180 days' written notice to Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada. In the event of such a termination, the Manager will be entitled to reimbursement from Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada for actual reasonable costs associated with termination. Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada have the right to jointly terminate the Management Agreement at any time after the first five years of the term of the Management Agreement with the payment to the Manager of a fee equal to (i) its actual costs associated with the termination plus an amount equal to two times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside US Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving the Operating Objectives or, (ii) if such termination occurs within 12 months of a Change of Control, 2.9 times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside US Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving certain stated operating objectives. In the event of a Change of Control, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada will have the right to jointly terminate the Agreement at any time with the payment to the Manager of a fee calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Management Agreement.

The Fund and Countryside Canada reimburse Countryside Canada Ventures Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Manager (the "Administrator") for base compensation and incentive compensation payments made to employees of the Administrator under the Management and Administration Agreement by and among the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Administrator dated September 26, 2005 (the "Administration Agreement").

Chief Executive Officer Compensation



The annual salary for Mr. Mornhed through October 31, 2005 was determined based upon the employment agreement described under "Compensation of Trustees, Directors and Executive Officers - Employment Contracts". Under the Management Agreement, Countryside US Holding and Countryside Canada reimburse the Manager for Base Compensation Payments and STIP payments made to the Executives including Mr. Mornhed. See "Executive Compensation Report-Report on Executive Compensation by the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee", pages 9-11.

The Board believes that sound corporate governance practices are in the interest of Unitholders and contribute to prudent and effective decision-making. As such, the Board is committed to thorough and effective corporate governance arrangements. All new Trustees will participate in an active orientation program within two months of joining the Board. To date, all of the Fund's Trustees have visited some of the Fund's Facilities to obtain an understanding of the operations. A majority of the Trustees have also attended the Fund's corporate headquarters in London, Ontario for a visit with staff and a tour of that office's operations. Additionally, the orientation program will include presentations by senior management to familiarize new Trustees with the Fund's strategic plans, significant financial, accounting and risk management issues, Fund policies, the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, its principal officers and independent auditors. All Trustees are also encouraged to attend, at the Fund's expense, at least one Director continuing education program per year offered by various organizations concerning corporate governance or other issues related to the Fund's business.

5. Ethical Business Conduct

On April 27, 2004, the Board adopted a written Code of Business Conduct and Ethics for the Fund (the "Code"), which contains written standards that are designed to promote integrity and to deter wrongdoing. The Code was amended and restated on March 9, 2006 ("The Restated Code"). The Restated Code is filed on www.sedar.com and is available on the Fund's website at www.countrysidepowerfund.com. To ensure Trustees of the Fund exercise independent judgement in considering transactions, agreements or decisions in respect of which a Trustee, Countryside Canada Director or executive officer has declared a material personal interest (in accordance with relevant corporate law requirements), the Board follows a practice whereby any such individual must not cast a vote on any such matter.

The Board is responsible for enforcing the Code, as well administering the Fund's Joint Audit Committee "Whistleblower Policy". Any person may report complaints or concerns to the Chair of the Joint Audit Committee. The "Whistleblower Policy" requires that such complaints or concerns will be kept confidential to the fullest extent possible.

Under the Code, any waivers from the requirements in the Code that are to be granted for the benefit of the Fund's Trustees or executive officers are to be granted by the Board of Trustees only (or a committee of the Board of Trustees, or other designees, to whom that authority has been delegated) and will be promptly disclosed as required by law or stock exchange regulation.

6. Nomination of Directors and Compensation

The Board of Trustees and the Board of Directors of Countryside Canada has appointed a Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee comprised entirely of independent members.

The Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee charter clearly establishes the committee's purpose, responsibilities, composition, reporting requirements, structure and process. In addition, the Committee has the authority to retain and compensate any outside advisor that it determines to be necessary to permit it to carry out its duties.

The Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is responsible for identifying individuals qualified to become new Board members and recommending to the Trustees the new Trustee nominees for the next annual meeting of Unitholders. In making its recommendations, the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee considers:

a. the competencies and skills that the Board considers to be necessary for the Board, as a whole, to possess;

b. the competencies and skills that the Board considers each existing Trustee to possess; and

c. the competencies and skills each new nominee will bring to the boardroom.

At a meeting of the committee held on March 9, 2006, the committee considered the current composition of the board and determined that no new members were required at this time.

The Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is also responsible for:

(i) reviewing and approving Fund goals and objectives relevant to reimbursement of Base Compensation and STIP Pool for the Executives (including the Executive fulfilling the role of CEO), evaluating the performance of the Manager and the Executive fulfilling the role of CEO in light of those Fund goals and objectives, and negotiating (or making recommendations to the Directors of Countryside Canada and Countryside US Holding) with respect to adjustments to Base Compensation and STIP Pool levels based on this evaluation;

(ii) making recommendations to the Board of Trustees and boards of Directors of the Fund's subsidiaries with respect to non-Executive officer and Trustee compensation, incentive-compensation plans and equity-based plans; and

(iii) reviewing executive compensation disclosure before the Fund publicly discloses this information.

During fiscal 2005, an independent compensation consultant was retained to assist the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee in determining (i) the appropriate structure of the Fund's senior management arrangements and compensation levels within such structure (ii) levels of Trustee and Director compensation and (iii) the appropriate levels of compensation for the Fund's Canadian based management.

7. Other Board Committees

8. Assessments

The Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is responsible for the regular assessment of the effectiveness of the Trustees as a whole, the committees of the Boards and the contributions of individual Trustees and Board members. At a recent meeting of the Joint Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, the matter was first addressed and a process was established to address this matter in early calendar 2006. This process will be used with respect to both the appointment of new Trustees and Directors and the assessment of continuing Trustees and Directors.

OTHER BUSINESS

The Trustees are not aware of any matter intended to come before the Meeting other than those items of business set forth in the attached Notice. If any other matters properly come before the Meeting, it is the intention of the persons named in the form of proxy to vote in respect of those matters in accordance with their judgment.

Trustees must exercise the care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent person would exercise in comparable circumstances. In this regard, they will comply with their duties of honesty, loyalty, care, diligence, skill and prudence.

In addition, Trustees are expected to carry out their duties in accordance with policies adopted by the Board of Trustees from time to time.

It is expected that the Manager and other senior managers will co-operate in all ways to facilitate the Trustees' compliance with their legal duties by causing the Fund and its subsidiaries to take such actions as may be necessary in that regard and by promptly reporting any data or information to the Board of Trustees that may affect such compliance.

Responsibilities of Chair of The Board of Trustees of the Fund

The role and responsibilities of the Chair of the Fund are set out below:

(i) the Chair shall be expected to attend and chair meetings of the Board of Trustees of the Fund and unitholders of the Fund;

(ii) the Chair shall be an independent Trustee;

(iii) the Chair shall not be expected to and shall not perform policy making functions other than in his or her capacity as a Trustee of the Fund. The Chair shall not have the right or entitlement to bind the Fund in his or her capacity as Chair;

(iv) the Chair shall provide direction with respect to the dates and frequencies of board meetings and related committee meetings and the Executive designated by the Manager to serve the functions of Chief Executive Officer of the Fund's businesses ("CEO") and the Chair shall liase to prepare board meeting agendas;

(v) the Chair shall ensure that the Board of Trustees understands the boundaries between board and management responsibilities; and

(vi) the Chair shall ensure that the Board of Trustees carries out its responsibilities effectively, which will involve the board meeting on a regular basis without the Manager or other members of management present and may involve assigning responsibility for administering the board's relationship with the Manager and other senior managers to a committee of the Board of Trustees.

Duties of Chairman of The Board of Trustees

- The Chair to encourage a professional environment and productive process for the Board of Trustees.
- The Chair shall ensure that the Manager and senior managers are acting through its strategies, decisions and actions in the long term interests of all of its Unitholders.
- The Chair shall meet or confer regularly with the CEO to review Board of Trustees issues and to receive advance information and/or presentations on matters to be placed before the Board of Trustees.
- The Chair shall consult with the CEO on questions of business policy and to act as his confidant.
- The Chair shall visit offices and operations from time to time; such visits to be co-ordinated by the Manager.
- The Chair shall serve as an external liaison in support of, and in co-operation with, the Executives and other senior managers.
- The Chair shall receive reports of the Secretary.

Decisions Requiring Prior Approval of the Board of Trustees

Approval of the Board of Trustees shall be required for:

(i) distributions;

(ii) significant acquisitions/dispositions;

(iii) related party transactions;

(iv) decisions with respect to the Development Agreement and Improvement Agreement;

(v) the release of any financial information to be publicly disseminated;

(vi) the issuance or repurchase of trust units of the Fund;

(vii) the terms of reference of committees of the Board of Trustees; and (viii) any other matter that would give rise to a "material change" to the Fund.

The foregoing list is intended to specify particular matters requiring Board of Trustees approval and is not intended to be an exhaustive list.

Measures for Receiving Trust Unitholder Feedback

All publicly disseminated materials of the Fund shall provide for a mechanism for feedback of trust Unitholders. Persons designated to receive such information shall be required to provide a summary of the feedback to the Trustees on a semi-annual basis or at such other more frequent intervals as they see fit.

Meetings

The Board of Trustees will meet not less than four times per year: three meetings to review quarterly results; and one, following the annual general meeting. A quorum for the meetings shall be a majority of the Board of Trustees then holding office.

From time to time Trustees may be asked to participate in board retreats which may last one to three days.

Meeting Guidelines

Trustees will be expected to have read and considered the materials sent to them in advance of each meeting, and to be prepared to discuss the matters contained in such materials at the meeting. Administrative matters (eg., bank signing resolutions, etc.) which require a vote will be batched for voting purposes. Trustees will be expected to ask questions relating to batched items in advance of the meeting. The notice of meeting will highlight significant matters to be dealt with at each meeting so that Trustees can focus on reviewing the related materials. Senior management (including Executives) will be made accessible to Trustees at board meetings and committee meetings to fulfill their obligations.

Remuneration

Remuneration will be established upon the recommendation of the Compensation, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee and shall be at a level which will attract and motivate professional and competent members.

Telephone Board Meetings

Pursuant to the Trust Declaration, a Trustee may participate in a meeting of the Trustees or in a committee meeting by means of telephone or such other communications facilities as permit all persons participating in the meeting to hear each other and a Trustee participating in such a meeting by such means is deemed to be present at the meeting.

While it is the intent of the Board of Trustees to follow an agreed meeting schedule as closely as possible, it is felt that, from time to time, with respect to time sensitive matters, telephone board meetings may be required to be called in order for Trustees to be in a position to better fulfill their legal obligations. Alternatively, the Manager may request the Trustees approve certain matters by unanimous consent.

Expectations of Management

The Manager shall be required to report to the Board of Trustees at the request of the Board of Trustees on the performance of the Fund, new and proposed initiatives, the Fund's business and investments, management concerns and any other matter the Board of Trustees or its Chair may deem appropriate. In addition, the Board expects the Manager to promptly report to the Chair of the Board of Trustees any significant developments, changes, transactions or proposals respecting the Fund or its subsidiaries.

Definitions

"independent Trustee" means a Trustee who has no direct or indirect material relationship with the Fund or its affiliates or the Manager.

"material relationship" means a relationship which could, in the view of the Board of Trustees, reasonably interfere with the exercise of a Trustee's independent judgment. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following persons are considered to have a material relationship with the Fund:

a. a person who is, or has been, an employee or executive officer of the Fund, its parent, or any of its subsidiary entities or affiliated entities or the Manager, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;

b. a person whose immediate family member is, or has been, an executive officer of the Fund, its parent or any of its subsidiary or affiliated entities or the Manager, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment;

c. a person who is, or has been, an affiliated entity of, a partner[1] of, or employed by, a current or former internal or external auditor of the Fund unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the person's relationship with the internal or external auditor, or the auditing relationship has ended;

d. a person whose immediate family member is, or has been, an affiliated entity of, a partner of, or employed in a professional capacity by, a current or former internal or external auditor of the Fund, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the person's relationship with the internal or external auditor, or the auditing relationship, has ended;

e. a person who is, or has been, or whose immediate family member is, or has been, an executive officer of an entity if any of the Fund, or its subsidiaries' current executives serve on the entity's compensation committee, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since the end of the service or employment; and

f. a person who receives, or whose immediate family member receives, more than $75,000 per year in direct compensation from the Fund or its subsidiary entities or the Manager, other than as remuneration for acting in his or her capacity as member of the Board of Trustees, the Board of Directors of any subsidiary or any board committee, unless the prescribed period has elapsed since he or she ceased to receive more than $75,000 per year in such compensation.

"prescribed period" means the shorter of:

a. the period commencing on March 30, 2004 and ending immediately prior to the determination required under the definition of "material relationship"; and

b. the three-year period ending immediately prior to the determination required under the definition of "material relationship".

[1]"partner" does not include a fixed income partner whose interest in the internal or external auditor is limited to the receipt of fixed amounts of compensation (including deferred compensation) for prior service with an internal or external auditor if the compensation is not contingent in any way on continued services.

APPENDIX A Policy of Practices for Trustees

Attendance at Meetings

Each Trustee is expected to have a very high record of attendance at meetings of the Board of Trustees, and at meetings of each committee on which the Trustee sits. A Trustee is expected to:

(i) advise the Chair as to planned attendance at board and committee meetings shortly after meeting schedules for the year have been distributed;

(ii) advise the Chair as soon as possible after becoming aware that he or she will not be able to attend a meeting; and

(iii) attend a meeting by conference telephone if unable to attend in person.

Preparation for Meetings

Trustees are expected to carefully review and consider the materials distributed in advance of a meeting of the Board of Trustees or a committee of the Board of Trustees. Trustees are also encouraged to contact the Chair, the CEO and any other appropriate Executives to ask questions and discuss agenda items prior to meetings.

Conduct at Meetings

Trustees are expected to ask questions and participate in discussions at meetings, and to contribute relevant insights and experience. In discussions at meetings, a Trustee should:

(i) be candid and forthright;

(ii) not be reluctant to express views contrary to those of the majority;

(iii) be concise and, in most circumstances, respect the time constraints of a meeting; and

(iv) be courteous to and respectful of other Directors/Trustees and guests in attendance.

Knowledge of the Fund's Business

Trustees are expected to be knowledgeable with respect to the various fields and divisions of business. Although management has a duty to keep the Board of Trustees informed about developments in the Fund's business, Trustees have a primary duty of care and diligence, which includes a duty of inquiry. Trustees should:

- ask questions of the Manager and other Directors/Trustees, at meetings and otherwise, to increase their knowledge of the business of the Fund;
- familiarize themselves with the risks and challenges facing the business of the Fund;
- read all internal memoranda and other documents circulated to the Directors, and all reports and other documents issued by the Fund for external purposes;
- insist on receiving adequate information from the Manager with respect to a proposal, before board approval is requested;
- familiarize themselves with the Fund's competitors by, among other things, reading relevant news, magazine and trade journal articles; and
- familiarize themselves with the legal and regulatory framework within which the Fund carries on its business.

Personal Conduct

Trustees are expected to:

(i) exhibit high standards of personal integrity, honesty and loyalty to the Fund;

(ii) project a positive image of the Fund to news media, the financial community, governments and their agencies, Unitholders and employees;

(iii) be willing to contribute extra efforts, from time to time as may be necessary including, among other things, being willing to serve on committees of the board; and

(iv) disclose any potential conflict of interest that may arise with the business or affairs of the Fund and, generally, avoid entering into situations where such conflicts could arise or could reasonably be perceived to arise.

Countryside Acquires California Power Generation Assets for $117 Million

Strategic acquisition will be accretive to cash flow

(London, Ontario – June 30, 2005) – Countryside Power Income Fund (TSX:COU.UN) today announced that it has acquired the holding company of Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon"), a California-based power generation company, for CDN$117 million based on current exchange rates.

The principal assets acquired consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California powered by General Electric combustion turbines.

- The Ripon Cogeneration Facility, located near San Francisco in Ripon, California, has been in operation since 1988 and has a generation capacity of 51 megawatts. It has a power purchase agreement to 2018 with Pacific Gas & Electric Company, the principal utility operating subsidiary of PG&E Corp (PCG:NYSE), the largest electric utility in California, and also sells steam to a local paper company.

- The San Gabriel Cogeneration Facility, located near Los Angeles in Pomona, California, has been in operation since 1986 and has a generation capacity of 44 megawatts. It has a power purchase agreement to 2016 with Southern California Edison Company, the principal utility operating subsidiary of Edison International (EIX:NYSE), the second-largest electric utility in California, and also sells steam to a local newsprint producer.

The two facilities posted combined revenues of US$50 million and EBITDA* of approximately US$10.5 million for the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004.

"This acquisition is an ideal strategic fit for the Fund," said Göran Mörnhed, President and Chief Executive Officer of Countryside U.S. Power Inc. "Countryside has acquired quality power generation assets whose structure, technology and fuel type is favoured by income trust investors. In addition, we expect the acquisition to be accretive to the Fund's cash flow, and by increasing asset diversification, we further reduce the Fund's risk profile."

Edward M. Campana, the Fund's Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, noted that Ripon's well structured commercial and financing arrangements generally insulate the Fund from commodity price and interest rate risk.

"Ripon's electricity is being sold to large, investment-grade utilities and steam to local, and economically important, industrial buyers under long-term contracts," said Mr. Campana. "These plants have a long and stable operating performance history with predictable cash flow streams."

In the transaction, Countryside, through an indirect subsidiary, acquired a 100 per cent controlling interest in the indirect owner of the two facilities for US$35.8 million in cash plus the assumption of non-recourse Ripon debt of US$59.5 million for a total of US$95.3 million, or approximately CDN$117 million based on current exchange rates.

The Fund financed the acquisition with its amended revolving credit facility provided by Toronto-Dominion Bank and plans to follow with an equity offering aimed at refinancing the acquisition-related bank debt. The Fund also intends to implement a foreign exchange hedging program on the Ripon cash flows to protect unitholder distributions from fluctuating currency exchange rates.

About Countryside Power Income Fund

The Fund owns indirect investments in 22 renewable power and energy projects and two district energy systems. The renewable power and energy projects, located in the United States, currently have approximately 51 megawatts of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004. The district energy systems are located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island and London, Ontario, and together have approximately 122 megawatts of thermal and electric generation capacity. The Fund's indirect investments consist of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. and the ownership of the district energy systems.

Further information can be found in disclosure documents filed by the Fund to Canadian securities regulatory authorities, available at www.sedar.com.

 Non-GAAP Measures

Earnings before interest, income taxes, unrealized interest rate swap gains and losses, and depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") is not a measure under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of EBITDA and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. Management uses EBITDA as a key measure of operating performance. EBITDA can be calculated from the Fund's GAAP statements as operating income, plus depreciation and amortization.

Countryside Power Income Fund Announces Increase in Distribution and Change in Management Arrangements

(London, Ontario, September 23, 2005) -- Countryside Power Income Fund (TSX: COU.UN or the "Fund") today announced that its board of trustees has declared an increase in the Fund's monthly distribution of $0.0009 per unit or $0.01 per unit annually.

"With the recent accretive acquisition of power generation assets in California and the anticipated increase in full year operating cash flow from the completion of capital improvements at our district energy systems, the Countryside board believes an increase in distributions to unitholders is warranted at this time," said Göran Mörnhed, President and Chief Executive Officer of Countryside U.S. Power Inc.

The cash distributions to unitholders will increase to $0.0863 per unit monthly or $1.035 per unit annually. The first distribution under the new rate will be paid on or about October 31, 2005 to unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Countryside also announced today that its board of trustees has approved a plan modifying the Fund's existing executive management arrangements to bring the Fund in line with its peers in the power income trust sector and strengthen the alignment of unitholder and management interests.

"We have great confidence in the capabilities of our executive management team as demonstrated by our decision to increase distributions," said V. James Sardo, Chairman of the board of trustees. "The amended management arrangements will strengthen the Fund's governance practices while continuing to provide for oversight of the Fund's existing operations, reducing development risk and increasing opportunities for investment in new power generation and utility infrastructure assets that are accretive to distributable cash flow," he said.

Under the modified arrangements, Countryside Ventures LLC, a company independent of the Fund, will provide management and administrative services to the Fund as well as new growth opportunities under long-term agreements. Countryside Ventures will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund will have a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by Countryside Ventures that meet the Fund's investment criteria. In developing the management arrangements, the Fund's board of trustees was advised by both an independent financial advisory firm and a corporate compensation consultant. More information on the management arrangements and the Ripon acquisition will be available shortly on the Fund's website at www.countrysidepowerfund.com, or in the applicable documents to be filed with the Ontario Securities Commission at www.sedar.com.

Countryside Power Income Fund Announces Increase in Distribution and Change in Management Arrangements

(London, Ontario, September 23, 2005) -- Countryside Power Income Fund (TSX: COU.UN or the "Fund") today announced that its board of trustees has declared an increase in the Fund's monthly distribution of $0.0009 per unit or $0.01 per unit annually.

"With the recent accretive acquisition of power generation assets in California and the anticipated increase in full year operating cash flow from the completion of capital improvements at our district energy systems, the Countryside board believes an increase in distributions to unitholders is warranted at this time," said Göran Mörnhed, President and Chief Executive Officer of Countryside U.S. Power Inc.

The cash distributions to unitholders will increase to $0.0863 per unit monthly or $1.035 per unit annually. The first distribution under the new rate will be paid on or about October 31, 2005 to unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Countryside also announced today that its board of trustees has approved a plan modifying the Fund's existing executive management arrangements to bring the Fund in line with its peers in the power income trust sector and strengthen the alignment of unitholder and management interests.

"We have great confidence in the capabilities of our executive management team as demonstrated by our decision to increase distributions," said V. James Sardo, Chairman of the board of trustees. "The amended management arrangements will strengthen the Fund's governance practices while continuing to provide for oversight of the Fund's existing operations, reducing development risk and increasing opportunities for investment in new power generation and utility infrastructure assets that are accretive to distributable cash flow," he said.

Under the modified arrangements, Countryside Ventures LLC, a company independent of the Fund, will provide management and administrative services to the Fund as well as new growth opportunities under long-term agreements. Countryside Ventures will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund will have a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by Countryside Ventures that meet the Fund's investment criteria. In developing the management arrangements, the Fund's board of trustees was advised by both an independent financial advisory firm and a corporate compensation consultant. More information on the management arrangements and the Ripon acquisition will be available shortly on the Fund's website at www.countrysidepowerfund.com. or in the applicable documents to be filed with the Ontario Securities Commission at www.sedar.com.

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004. The initial public offering (the "Initial Offering") of Trust Units of the Fund was completed on April 8, 2004. The unaudited pro forma consolidated statements of income for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004 (the "Pro Forma Financial Statements") have been prepared by management ("Management") of Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. The Pro Forma Financial Statements give effect to the completion of the acquisition of Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC ("LRPLLC"), whose name was subsequently changed to Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), as if it occurred on January 1, 2004. The pro forma consolidated statement of income for the year ended December 31, 2004 also gives effect to the acquisition of USE Canada Holdings Corp. as if it occurred on January 1, 2004. The principal asset of Ripon Power is Ripon Cogeneration, LLC ("Ripon"), a California-based power generation company. Ripon's principal assets consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California: the Ripon Cogeneration Facility ("Ripon Facility") and the San Gabriel Cogeneration Facility ("San Gabriel Facility") (collectively the "Ripon Facilities").

As the unaudited consolidated balance sheet of the Fund as at June 30, 2005 reflects the acquisition of Ripon Power using the purchase method of accounting, a pro forma balance sheet has not been included in this filing.

The unaudited pro forma consolidated statement of income for the year ended December 31, 2004 has been prepared using the audited consolidated statement of income and deficit of the Fund for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004, the unaudited consolidated statement of income and retained earnings of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. (formerly USE Canada Holdings Corp.) for the period from January 1, 2004 to March 31, 2004, the audited consolidated statement of income and retained earnings of Ripon Power for the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004, and an unaudited schedule of the results of operations of Ripon Cogeneration LLC for the period from January 1, 2004 to January 26, 2004, and an unaudited schedule of the results of operations of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. as described in note 2 (o).

The unaudited pro forma consolidated statement of income for the six months ended June 30, 2005, has been prepared using the unaudited interim consolidated statement of income and deficit of the Fund for the six months ended June 30, 2005, and the unaudited interim consolidated statement of income and retained earnings of Ripon Power for the period from January 1, 2005 to June 29, 2005.

The audited consolidated statement of income of Ripon Power for the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004 and the unaudited consolidated statement of income of Ripon Power for the six months ended June 30, 2005, reported in U.S. dollars, are included elsewhere in the Business Acquisition Report of the Fund dated September 9, 2005 and have been translated into Canadian dollars at rates of $1.2964/U.S. dollar and $1.2322/U.S. dollar, respectively. The unaudited schedule of the results of operations of Ripon Cogeneration LLC for the period from January 1, 2004 to January 26, 2004 reported in U.S. dollars has been translated into Canadian dollars at a rate of $1.3094/U.S. dollar.

The pro forma adjustments reflecting the acquisition of Ripon Power are based on available financial information and certain estimates and assumptions. The actual adjustments to the consolidated financial statements of the Fund will depend on a number of factors. Therefore, the actual adjustments will differ from the pro forma adjustments. Management believes that such assumptions provide a reasonable basis for presenting all of the significant effects of the transactions contemplated and that the pro forma adjustments give appropriate effect to those assumptions and are properly applied in the pro forma consolidated financial information.

These unaudited Pro Forma Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). These unaudited Pro Forma Financial Statements incorporate the principal accounting policies used to prepare the consolidated financial statements of the Ripon Power other than the following:

a) Ripon Power's accounting policy was to depreciate all property plant and equipment over the useful life of the plant as a whole and to expense all maintenance related costs in the period as incurred. The Fund's policy for depreciating property, plant and equipment is to amortize individual components of property plant and equipment over their individual useful lives and to capitalize all maintenance costs that represent a betterment (notes 2 (a) and 2 (g)).
b) Ripon Power's accounting policy was to amortize deferred financing fees based on the effective interest rate method and treat this amortization as interest expense. These unaudited Pro Forma Financial Statements have been adjusted to reflect the Fund's accounting policy of amortizing deferred financing fees on the straight line basis, over the term of the loan, and to treat these amounts as depreciation and amortization expense (notes 2 (j) and 2 (n)).

These Pro Forma Financial Statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements of the Fund, USE Canada Holdings Corp. (included in the prospectus of the Fund dated March 29, 2004) and Ripon Power (included in this report), including the related notes thereto.

The Pro Forma Financial Statements are not intended to reflect the results of operations which would have actually resulted had the acquisitions and other pro forma adjustments been effected on the dates indicated. Further, the Pro Forma Financial Statements are not necessarily indicative of the results of operations that may be obtained by the Fund in the future.

2. PRO FORMA ASSUMPTIONS AND ADJUSTMENTS

The Pro Forma Financial Statements have been presented assuming that the following transactions had been completed and adjustments had been effected as of January 1, 2004.

(a) To record the capitalization of previously expensed amounts that increase or prolong the service life or capacity of an asset and the related amortization of those amounts totaling $998 and $194, and $1,368 and $287 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively, as a result of the change in accounting policy for Ripon Power.

(b) Management fees paid to previous owners were reversed amounting to $400 and $787 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(c) Management and administration fees that will be paid to manage the Ripon Facilities under a newly established contract have been calculated for the pro forma periods and amount to approximately $148 and $311 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(d) To record the amortization of the other intangible assets consisting of Power Purchase Agreements at the Ripon Facilities at their fair value amount on the date of acquisition, over their remaining lives. The amount of amortization recorded was $2,663 and $5,325 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(e) To record the elimination of the amortization of the other intangible assets recorded in the Ripon Power financial statements. The amount of amortization eliminated was $2,240 and $4,321 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(f) To record the elimination of the depreciation for property, plant and equipment recorded in the Ripon Power financial statements. The amount of amortization eliminated was $1,017 and $1,904 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(g) To record the depreciation for property, plant and equipment at the Ripon Facilities, based on their fair value amounts on the date of acquisition, over their remaining useful lives. The amount of depreciation recorded was $1,403 and $2,973 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(h) To record the amortization of deferred financing fees related to the Fund's amended credit facility required to finance the Ripon Power acquisition. These fees are being amortized over the life of the amended credit facility which matures on June 27, 2008. The amount of amortization recorded was $160 and $319 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(i) To record the elimination of the amortization and write-off of deferred financing fees of $531 and $169 relating to the original credit facility recorded in the statement of income and deficit of the Fund for the six month period ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(j) To reclassify Ripon Power deferred financing fee amortization from interest expense to depreciation and amortization expense, in order to conform to the presentation adopted in the Fund's financial statements, amounting to $139 and $416 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(k) To reclassify deferred financing fee amortization recorded as a result of the refinancing of the original Ripon Power project debt from interest expense to depreciation and amortization expense, in order to conform to the presentation adopted in the Fund's financial statements.

(l) To record interest expense on the $80,000 outstanding amended credit facility balance in the form of bankers' acceptances at the rate of 2.60% plus a stamping fee of 3.25%, for a total of $2,431 and a rate of 2.36% plus a stamping fee of 3.25%, for a total of $4,785 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(m) To eliminate the interest expense on the original credit facility, for a total of $802 and $1,174 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(n) To adjust the amortization of deferred financing fees using the effective interest rate method in the Ripon Power financial statements of $201 and $517, to the straight-line method used by the Fund of $139 and $416 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(o) To record eight days of the results of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. from April 1, 2004 through April 8, 2004, the date of the acquisition of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. by the Fund:

Fuel and other fees revenue	43
Operating and maintenance expense	290
General and administration expense	22
Depreciation and amortization expense	27
Interest income	(1)
Future income tax expense	12
	29

(p) To record the pro forma results of the Fund for the period from January 1, 2004 to April 8, 2004, based on the actual results for the Fund for the period from April 8, 2004 to December 31, 2004 prorated for the three months and 8 days prior to the Fund's Initial Public Offering, except for the interest income on the loan to U.S. Energy Biogas Corp., for which the actual interest was calculated from the loan amortization schedule, and the income on the U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. royalty, which was calculated based on actual results for the period, as follows:

Fuel and other fees revenue	158
Interest income on loans to U.S. Energy Biogas Corp.	3,131
Income from U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. royalty interest	164
Depreciation and amortization expense	374
Future income tax benefit	61

(r) The record the elimination of the interest expense of $448 recognized in the statement of income and retained earnings of USE Canada Holdings for the three months ended March 31, 2004, related to the then existing bank debt that was acquired by the Fund as part of the acquisition of USE Canada Holdings, and subsequently repaid.

(s) The basic earnings per unit is based on the assumption that 14,905,366 Units were issued and outstanding for the periods presented.

3. INCOME TAXES

The Fund and the underwriters of the Initial Offering received opinions from U.S. tax counsel on certain tax matters related to its investments in U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB"). The pro forma consolidated financial statements of the Fund reflect these opinions: specifically, that the USEB Loans should be respected as debt and the interest on the USEB Loans should be deductible by USEB for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and that interest should not be subject to any U.S. federal income tax withholding.

There can be no assurance that the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") will not challenge various tax filing positions taken by the Fund. Management believes it is unlikely that the IRS would be successful; however, the effect on the income of the Fund and the net cash received by the Fund of a successful challenge by the IRS would be limited in the near term due to the tax position of USEB. In the longer term, a successful challenge by the IRS could negatively impact cash received by the Fund through its investments in USEB.

In addition to the foregoing, and in common with other complex international business structures, the Fund is subject to various additional uncertainties concerning the interpretation and application of Canadian and U.S. tax laws. If tax authorities disagreed with the Fund's application of tax laws, the Fund's profitability and cash flows could be adversely affected.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004 [all amounts in thousands of U.S. dollars except per Share amounts, unless otherwise stated] [unaudited]

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION AND BUSINESS

Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), formerly Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC, is a Delaware Limited Liability Company organized to own Ripon Cogeneration, LLC ("Ripon LLC"), collectively referred to as the Company. Ripon Power is owned by The Lightyear Co-Invest Partnership LP, The Lightyear Fund AIV LP, Rockland Capital Energy Investments, LLC and D. Milne & Associates.

Ripon LLC is a Delaware Limited Liability Company organized to construct, own, and operate the two projects in California; Ripon and San Gabriel. These facilities are Qualifying Facilities under the Public Utility Regulatory Policy Act of 1978. The Ripon plant sells steam to the Fox River Paper Company and sells power to Pacific Gas & Electric under a power purchase agreement that expires in 2018. The San Gabriel plant sells steam to the Smurfit Newsprint Paper Mill and sells power to Southern California Edison Company under a power purchase agreement that expires in 2016.

On January 27, 2004, Lightrock LLC ("Lightrock"), a wholly owned subsidiary of Ripon Power, acquired 100% of the interest in Ripon LLC, originally Ripon Cogeneration Inc., from Tractebel Power, Inc for $76,502. Immediately following the acquisition, Lightrock was merged into Ripon LLC and the merged company assumed the name of Ripon Cogeneration LLC. These financial statements are for the period January 27, 2004, the date of Ripon Power's acquisition of Ripon LLC, through December 31, 2004.

NOTE 2 – SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Consolidation – The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Ripon Power LLC and its subsidiaries. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated on consolidation.

Basis of Accounting – These consolidated financial statements have been prepared using the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with United States generally accepted accounting principles which are, in all material respects, in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

Cash Flows – Ripon Power presents cash flows using the indirect method and considers all highly liquid investments purchased with original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Restricted Cash – Under the Credit Suisse First Boston ("CSFB") credit agreement, Ripon LLC is required to maintain a debt service reserve account. The restricted cash represents the cash held in the CSFB debt service reserve account.

Escrow Deposits – Under the Ripon facility's fixed price gas agreement with BP Energy Company ("BP"), Ripon LLC is required to maintain $3,000 of credit support for the benefit of BP.

Property, Plant and Equipment – Property, plant and equipment are carried at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated remaining useful lives of the assets.

Intangible Assets – Intangible assets consisting of power purchase agreements are carried at cost less accumulated amortization. The power purchase agreements are amortized over the term of each respective agreement.

Deferred Financing Costs – Deferred financing costs consist of costs associated with the issuance of the long-term debt. These costs have been deferred, and are being amortized to interest expense using the effective interest method over the term of the related debt. Deferred financing costs are reported net of amortization on the balance sheet.

Revenue Recognition – Sales of steam and electricity are recorded based upon output delivered and capacity provided as specified under contract terms.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004 [all amounts in thousands of U.S. dollars except per Share amounts, unless otherwise stated] [unaudited]

Income Taxes – Ripon Power is organized as a limited liability company and, as such, its income and deductions are passed through to the Ripon Power members. The Ripon Power members are responsible for their share of such items in the income tax return. Accordingly, no provision has been made for income taxes.

Long-Lived Assets – Ripon Power follows the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 144, Accounting for Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. Ripon Power evaluates its long-lived assets, including its long-lived intangible assets, for impairment as events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value of these assets may not be fully recoverable. Ripon Power evaluates recoverability of long-lived assets to be held and used by estimating the undiscounted future cash flows associated with the expected uses and eventual disposition of those assets and compares that amount to the carrying value of those assets. When these comparisons indicate that the carrying value of those assets is greater than the respective undiscounted cash flows, Ripon Power recognizes an impairment loss for the amount that the carrying value exceeds the fair value. Ripon Power evaluates the recoverability of long-lived assets to be disposed of, whether by sale or abandonments, by comparing the carrying value of those assets to their estimated fair value less costs to sell. If the carrying value of assets to be disposed of exceeds the respective fair value less cost to sell, Ripon Power recognizes an impairment loss for the amount of the excess. No indications of impairment existed during the period ended December 31, 2004.

Use of Estimates – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts as well as certain disclosures. Ripon Power's financial statements include amounts that are based on management's best estimates and judgments. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Financial Instruments – Ripon Power's financial instruments primarily consist of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, escrow deposits, accounts receivable and accounts payable. The book values of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and payable are representative of their respective fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

Repair and Maintenance Costs – Ripon Power expenses major repair maintenance costs when they are incurred.

Major Customers and Concentration of Credit Risk – Each facility has one primary utility customer under long-term contract, as well as one industrial customer to which it provides steam under long-term contracts. Ripon Power's credit risk exposure in the event of nonperformance by its customers is limited to the face value of the receivables. No collateral is required on these receivables.

NOTE 3 –ACQUISITION OF RIPON LLC

The acquisition of Ripon LLC was accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through net cash consideration of approximately $73,500, plus approximately $3,000 of transaction costs.

The purchase price has been allocated, as follows:

Current assets, including cash of $2,938	9,313
Capital assets	21,750
Power purchase agreements	49,028
Current liabilities	(3,589)
	76,502

NOTE 4 – PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT AND INTANGIBLE ASSETS

In its allocation of the purchase price between property, plant & equipment ("PP&E") and intangible assets, Ripon Power attributed a value of $250 per kilowatt ("kW") to PP&E with the remainder of the purchase price allocated to the plants' power purchase agreements. The PP&E value of $250 per kW was arrived at through an assessment of market values for similar properties with particular consideration paid to the age of the facilities, their relative efficiency to other power projects, and their location near major load centers within the capacity constrained California market. Management believes this to be the best estimate of the fair value of the PP&E and intangible assets.

Property, plant and equipment consisted of the following at December 31, 2004:

	December 31, 2004 $	Useful Life
Plant - Ripon	11,346	14 years
Plant – San Gabriel	7,186	12 years
Machinery and equipment	1,570	7 years
Land	2,202
	22,304
Accumulated depreciation	(1,469)
Total	20,835

Intangible assets consisted of the following at December 31, 2004:

	December 31, 2004 $	Useful Life
Intangible assets - Ripon	33,802	14 years
Intangible assets – San Gabriel	15,226	12 years
	49,028
Accumulated amortization	(3,333)
Total	45,695

The estimated annual amount of amortization expense to be recorded in connection with the power purchase agreements in each of the five succeeding fiscal years is $3,636.

NOTE 5 – TERM LOAN

On January 27, 2004, Ripon LLC borrowed $65,700 in the form of a term loan maturing on January 15, 2011 from CSFB, acting through its Cayman Islands Branch, as Administrative Agent. As of December 31, 2004, the term loan bears interest at LIBOR plus 5.75%. Ripon LLC incurred financing costs of $2,405. These costs were capitalized and amortized through the term of the loan. With the exception of the $3,000 fuel credit support account and the incidental operating account, the CSFB term loan is secured by all of Ripon LLC's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon LLC may own or acquire. The term loan contains financial covenants requiring Ripon LLC to maintain a leverage ratio no greater than 7.0 to 1.0 and a debt service coverage ratio no less than 1.0 to 1.0 as well as a variety of other standard affirmative and negative covenants. The term loan is non-recourse to Ripon Power.

During 2004, Ripon LLC repaid $1,827 of the principal amount outstanding. Ripon LLC incurred $5,043 in interest during 2004, of which $3,901 was paid and $1,142 is payable at December 31, 2004.

Principal maturities during the next five years are as follows:

2005	2,827
2006	4,950
2007	3,543
2008	3,912
2009	4,087
Thereafter	44,554

NOTE 6 – COMMITMENTS

Ripon LLC has two gas turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each plant, to have turbines available for their use during the year. For the period ended December 31, 2004, Ripon LLC recorded $148 and $148 of rental expense in connection with San Gabriel's lease and Ripon's lease, respectively. San Gabriel's lease expires in July 2007 and Ripon's lease expires in August 2006. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon on an inflation factor.

Under the plants' fuel purchase agreements with BP, each plant is required to purchase 10,000 Million British Thermal Units ("MMBtu's") of natural gas each day. This purchase commitment is effective for both plants through the life of agreements, which expire on June 30, 2006. The price of fuel for Ripon is fixed at $5.305 per MMBtu under its fuel purchase agreement. Accordingly, Ripon's minimum future fuel commitments are as follows: $19,363 for 2005 and $9,602 for 2006. The Ripon fuel purchase agreement is considered under relevant accounting literature to be a derivative contract, however as the contract was entered into to fulfill normal business needs, it is not required to be accounted for at fair value. The price of fuel for San Gabriel resets monthly at current market prices. As such, the fair value of the plant's minimum future fuel commitments through June 30, 2006 is not reasonably determinable. San Gabriel's effective price of fuel was $6.4654 per MMBtu at December 31, 2004.

NOTE 7 – MEMBERS' EQUITY

Allocation of distributions

Pursuant to Section 9 of the Amended and Restated Limited Liability Company Operating Agreement (the "Agreement") distributions of Net Cash Flow (as defined in the Agreement) will be as follows in order:

a. Quarterly, the Tax Distribution Amount (as defined in the Agreement) to the members in proportion to the amount of net taxable income pursuant to Section 8 of the Agreement (2004 – nil);

b. Semi-annually, to the members holding Series A preferred shares in proportion and to the extent of their Series A Priority Return, which approximates 6% (semi-annually) of the Base Amount (of $17,480 at December 31, 2004, as described in the Agreement). At December 31, 2004, the undistributed Series A Priority Return totaled $443;

c. Semi-annually, to the members holding Series A preferred shares in the amounts deemed distributed to the members pursuant to certain terms in the Agreement;

d. Upon the occurrence of an optional or mandatory redemption to the members holding Series A preferred shares in proportion to and to the extent of the amounts necessary to redeem such shares in accordance with certain terms in the Agreement; and

e. At the discretion of the Board of Directors, to the members holding Class A and Class B Common Shares, in proportion to their common percentage interest, provided however, that from and after such time as the Series A Preferred Shares have been fully redeemed, all Net Cash Flow remaining after the application of paragraph a above will be distributed to the members holding Class A and Class B common Shares, in proportion to their common percentage interests.

Allocation of profit and loss

Pursuant to Section 8(a) of the Agreement, profits and losses for any year should be allocated among the members so as to reduce, proportionately, the difference between their respective Partially Adjusted Capital Accounts ("PACA") and their Target Capital Accounts ("TCA") (as defined in the Agreement). Specifically, if there are profits for any calendar year, each member whose PACA is greater than their TCA for the year will be allocated items of expense or loss for the year equal to the difference between their TCA and PACA. If in any year there are losses, each member whose TCA is greater then their PACA for the year will be allocated items of income or gain for the year equal to the difference between their TCA and PACA. The remaining profit or loss is allocated to the remaining members in proportion to their contributions.

Dissolution

Pursuant to Section 25 of the Agreement, subject to the rights and preferences of the holder of the Series A preferred shares to receive the Base Amount (as defined in the Agreement - $17,480 at December 31, 2004) and any accrued unpaid Series A priority returns in respect of the Series A preferred shares, prior to any distribution in respect of the common shares, upon any voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or wind up of the affairs of the Company, the holders of the common shares are entitled to receive all assets of the Company available for distribution to its members. At December 31, 2005, the liquidation preference totaled $17,923 (including the undistributed Series A Priority Return of $443).

NOTE 8 – RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Ripon Power pays a management fee quarterly in arrears for services to Lightyear Capital LLC, Rockland Capital Energy Investments LLC, and D. Milne & Associates (the "Managers"). For the period ended December 31, 2004, Ripon Power incurred management fees and late interest of $604 and $10, respectively. Management fees payable at December 31, 2004 totaled $163.

NOTE 9– SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Refinancing

On March 24, 2005, the CSFB term loan was refinanced through Union Bank of California ("UBOC"). Proceeds from the UBOC refinancing were used to repay the CSFB term loan in full including a 2% prepayment premium. The UBOC refinancing includes a $59,500 term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018, a $5,000 Debt Service Reserve Letter of Credit, $3,000 BP Letter of Credit, and a $2,000 working capital revolver. The UBOC refinancing extends the term of the CSFB term loan, reduces and fixes the interest rate, and releases restricted cash held in connection with the CSFB credit agreement. Payments under the UBOC term loan are made quarterly on January 15th, April 15th, July 15th, and October 15th of each year. The interest rate is tied to LIBOR plus a margin. The following table contains the interest rate margin for the relevant periods:

Period	Margin
Closing date through July 14, 2006	1.500%
July 15, 2006 through July 14, 2010	1.750%
July 15, 2010 through July 14, 2014	1.875%
July 15, 2014 through final maturity date	2.000%

At the closing of the UBOC refinancing Ripon LLC executed an interest rate swap, the notional amount of which is $59,500, fixing LIBOR at 4.939%.

NOTE 5 – TERM LOAN

On January 27, 2004, Ripon LLC borrowed $65,700 in the form of a term loan maturing on January 15, 2011 from Credit Suisse First Boston ("CSFB"), acting through its Cayman Islands Branch, as Administrative Agent. As of December 31, 2004, the term loan bore interest at LIBOR plus 5.75%. Ripon LLC incurred financing costs of $2,405 related to this financing arrangement. These costs were capitalized and amortized using the effective interest rate method over the original term of the loan. With the exception of the $3,000 fuel credit support account and the incidental operating account, the CSFB term loan was secured by all of Ripon LLC's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon LLC may own or acquire.

Refinancing

Ripon LLC refinanced its CSFB credit facility as of March 24, 2005 among a syndicate of U.S. Banks, including Union Bank of California, N.A. ("UBOC"), in its capacity as administrative agent, collateral agent and issuing bank on behalf of the lenders ("Ripon Credit Facility"). The Ripon Credit Facility includes a US $59,500 term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018 ("Term Loan"), a US $5,000 debt service reserve letter of credit expiring on March 24, 2015 ("DSR LOC"), a US $3,000 letter of credit issued for benefit of a fuel supplier with an expiration of July 10, 2006 ("BP LOC"), and a US $2,000 working capital revolver maturing on March 24, 2008 ("W/C Revolver").

Proceeds from the UBOC refinancing were used to repay the CSFB term loan in full including a 2% prepayment premium. The remaining unamortized balance of the deferred financing costs of $1,991 associated with the CSFB term loan were written off during the six month period ended June 29, 2005.

For the period from January 27, 2004 to June 30, 2004 and for the period from January 1, 2005 to June 29, 2005 [all amounts in thousands of U.S. dollars, unless otherwise stated] [unaudited]

The UBOC Term Loan is available to be drawn in U.S. dollars, and the interest rate will be based either on the U.S. prime, or LIBOR rate, plus an applicable margin which escalates throughout the loan term. For U.S. prime rate loans the applicable margin increases from 0.50% to 1.00% and for LIBOR loans from 1.50% to 2.00%. The W/C Revolver is subject to the same interest rate schedule as outlined for the Term Loan, and to a commitment fee of 0.375% on any undrawn commitment amount. As of June 29, 2005, the W/C Revolver was undrawn. The DSR LOC and the BP LOC are subject to fees on the drawn amount, equal to the then applicable margin of the Term Loan. As of June 29, 2005, no amounts were outstanding under either DSR LOC or the BP LOC. As of June 29, 2005, the Term Loan was fully drawn under LIBOR loans at a rate of 3.10% plus an applicable margin of 1.5%. The Ripon Credit Facility is non-recourse to Ripon Power and is secured by all of Ripon LLC's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon LLC may own or acquire. The Term Loan contains a financial covenant requiring Ripon LLC to maintain a debt service coverage ratio no less than 1.2 to 1.0 as well as other customary affirmative and negative covenants for a non recourse project financing. As at June 29, 2005, the debt service coverage ratio was at 1.34:1. If the financial covenant is not satisfied at each quarterly reporting period, then all excess cash flow from Ripon LLC after payment of all debt service and operating expenses will be restricted, including a restriction on dividend payments. If the debt service coverage ratio is not restored to a level above the required covenant within four quarters, the Term Loan shall be prepaid with accumulated cash.

Principal maturities of the Term Loan commence repayment on July 15, 2005 and are payable during the next five years as follows:

	US $
2005 (for the six months ending December 31, 2005)	2,605
2006	3,951
2007	4,112
2008	4,177
2009	4,334
	59,500

As of March 30, 2005, Ripon LLC entered into an interest rate swap agreement with UBOC to fix the floating LIBOR rate paid on the fully drawn balance of the Term Loan at 4.939% per annum. The effective rate of interest when adding the applicable margin is 6.439%. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Ripon Credit Facility on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap of $59,500, amortizes on the same schedule as the Term Loan and payments are due every three months.

As at June 29, 2005 the fair value of the swap agreement was US $2,542 unfavourable which has been recorded as an other liability on the consolidated balance sheets.

Ripon LLC incurred financing costs of $1,737 related to this financing arrangement. These costs are being capitalized and amortized over the life of the loan, using the effective interest rate method.

At June 29, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Ripon Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

1. THE COMPANY

Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. (the "Company") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Tractebel Power, Inc. The Company was formerly Mediafin USA Incorporated, but changed its name shortly after purchasing a 42-megawatt, natural gas-fueled cogeneration plant from Simpson Paper Company ("Simpson") located in Ripon, California, on October 2, 1996 ("Ripon"). The Company also purchased Simpson's power purchase agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric and its steam agreement and ancillary services agreement with Fox River Paper Company. On November 4, 1997, the Company purchased, for cash, a second plant from Simpson located in Pomona, California, as well as Simpson's power purchase agreement with Southern California Edison and steam agreement with Smurfit Packaging Corporation. In addition, the Company executed an agreement for the San Gabriel facility to sell steam to Simpson. In 1998 Pomona Paper Company, Inc. ("Pomona"), purchased Simpson and the Company executed a new agreement with Pomona. In 2002 Pomona Paper Company notified Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. that it had elected to close and sell the facility.

The Company's energy agreements are subject to the Public Utilities Regulatory Policy Act of 1978 ("PURPA"). Proposed legislation in the U.S. congress has called for either a repeal of PURPA or a complete restructuring of the regulations governing the electric industry, including PURPA, in order to promote open competition in the industry. These federal initiatives are generally not yet effective, but many states are implementing or considering regulatory initiatives designed to increase competition in the domestic power generation industry. The California Public Utility Commission has issued an electric industry restructuring decision, which commenced deregulation and implementation of customer choice of electricity supplier in early 1998. Both Ripon and San Gabriel are qualifying facilities ("QFs"), which each have one utility customer. Ripon sells its electricity output to Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("PG&E"), and San Gabriel sells its electricity output to Southern California Edison Company ("SOCAL"), under long-term Power Purchase Agreements ("PPAs") subject to rate orders effective in California for QFs.

In January 2001 both customers, PG&E and SOCAL, announced that they would not be able to meet all of their financial obligations as they became due. As a result, SOCAL petitioned to have rates paid to the QFs lowered or capped. In June 2001 SOCAL signed an agreement amending its PPA and agreeing on terms for repayment of amounts owed to San Gabriel plus interest. In August 2001 PG&E reached an agreement on terms of repayment with Ripon plus interest, revising the rate received for electricity to an average rate of $53.70 per megawatt hour for five years before returning to the original PPA rate. In December 2001 an agreement was approved by the California bankruptcy court requiring PG&E to begin payments on the outstanding receivables plus accrued interest at 5%. Interest income of $0 and $580,613 related to these receivables had been recognized as of December 31, 2003 and 2002, respectively. During 2002, SOCAL and PG&E fulfilled their obligations under these agreements and paid the full amount of outstanding receivables and interest.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue Recognition—Sales of steam and electricity are recorded based upon output delivered and capacity provided as specified under contract terms.

Property, Plant and Equipment—Property, plant and equipment is stated at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated remaining useful lives of the assets (plants 20 and 22 years and machinery and equipment 3 to 7 years).

Income Taxes—Income taxes are accounted for using the liability method. Deferred income taxes reflect the net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. The Company is a member of the Tractebel, Inc. consolidated group for tax reporting to federal and state authorities. The provision for income taxes represents the income taxes that would be provided by the Company on a separate return basis.

Cash Flows—The Company presents cash flows using the indirect method and considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Financial Instruments—The Company's financial instruments not considered derivatives consist primarily of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and accounts payable. The book values of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and payable are representative of their respective fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

Repair and Maintenance Costs—Prior to 2002, a major repair and maintenance reserve was recorded based upon the Company's scheduled periodic major maintenance plans for the plants. Other repair and maintenance costs are charged to expense as incurred. Effective January 1, 2002, the Company changed its method of accounting for major maintenance to expense these amounts when they are incurred. The Company believes this method is preferable and the change resulted in the reversal of the existing reserves at January 1, 2002, which was reflected as a cumulative effect of a change in accounting principle in the accompanying statement of operations.

Long-Lived Assets—In 2002 the Company adopted the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 144, Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. The Company evaluates its long-lived assets for impairment as events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value of these assets may not be fully recoverable. The Company evaluates recoverability of long-lived assets to be held and used by estimating the undiscounted future cash flows associated with the expected uses and eventual disposition of those assets and compares that amount to the carrying value of those assets. When these comparisons indicate that the carrying value of those assets is greater than the respective undiscounted cash flows, the Company recognizes an impairment loss for the amount that the carrying value exceeds the fair value. The Company evaluates the recoverability of long-lived assets to be disposed of, whether by sale or abandonment, by comparing the carrying value of those assets to their estimated fair value less costs to sell. If the carrying value of assets to be disposed of exceeds the respective fair value less costs to sell, the Company recognizes an impairment loss for the amounts of the excess. Under SFAS No. 144, assets held for sale will be included in discontinued operations if the operations and cash flows will be, or have been, eliminated from the ongoing operations of the entity and the entity will not have any significant continuing involvement in the related operations. No impairment of tangible assets has been indicated since adoption of this standard.

Use of Estimates—The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts as well as certain disclosures. The Company's financial statements include amounts that are based on management's best estimates and judgments. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Major Customers and Concentration of Credit Risk—Each facility has one primary utility customer under long-term contract, as well as one to two industrial customers to which it provides steam under long-term contracts. The Company's credit risk exposure in the event of nonperformance by its customers is limited to the face value of the receivables. No collateral is required on these receivables.

Derivative Instruments and Risk Management Activities—In the normal course of business, the Company employs a variety of physical instruments to manage its exposure to fluctuations in energy-related commodities prices.

The Company accounts for these derivative instruments in accordance with the requirements of SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, amended by SFAS No. 137 and SFAS No. 138. SFAS No. 133, as amended, requires the Company to record all derivatives on the balance sheet at fair value. Changes in the fair value of nonhedge derivatives will be immediately recognized in earnings. Changes in fair values of derivatives accounted for as hedges will either be recognized in earnings as offsets to the changes in fair value of related hedged assets, liabilities and firm commitments or, for forecasted transactions, deferred and recorded as a component of other accumulated comprehensive income ("OCI") until the hedged transactions occur and are recognized in earnings. The ineffective portion of a hedging derivative's change in fair value will be immediately recognized in earnings. The Company also formally assesses both at inception and at least quarterly thereafter, whether the derivatives that are used in hedging transactions are highly effective in offsetting the changes in either the fair value or cash flows of the hedged item. When it is determined that a derivative ceases to be a highly effective hedge, the Company discontinues hedge accounting. This standard results in additional volatility in reported earnings, other comprehensive income and accumulated other comprehensive income.

Energy and Energy-Related Commodities—The Company has price risk exposure due to changes in its fuel cost for running its power facilities. Commodity swap contracts are used by the Company to hedge the price risk exposure related to natural gas purchases for the power facilities. The Company documents these contracts as cash flow hedges when the contracts are highly effective in reducing the related price risk. Under the swaps, the Company pays a fixed price and receives a floating price, which effectively fixes the price to be paid for the natural gas. Realized gains and losses on the commodity swap contracts that qualify as cash flow hedges are recognized when the related commodities are purchased. The fair value of these instruments is reflected as a derivative liability.

The effects on OCI of these cash flow hedges were as follows in 2003 and 2002:

	December 31
	2003	2002
Balance—January 1	$(1,095,692)	$(9,541,603)
Income statement effect of settled transactions	(1,532,910)	3,598,590
Net market value gains on commodity hedges	6,186,081	4,847,321
Balance—December 31	$ 3,557,479	$(1,095,692)

As of December 31, 2002, the Company had $1,095,692 of unrecognized losses (net of tax of $753,578) in OCI related to commodity contracts designated as cash flow hedges. As these hedged fuel purchase transactions occurred, income of $1,532,910 (net of tax of $1,021,940) was recognized into earnings out of OCI during 2003. The remaining change in OCI relates to market value changes of commodity hedges during 2003, net of tax.

As of December 31, 2003, the Company had $3,557,479 of unrecognized gains (net of tax of $2,446,705) remaining in OCI related to commodity contracts designated as cash flow hedges and estimates that $2,061,233 of this amount (net of tax of $1,414,708) will be realized into earnings during the next twelve months as the hedged fuel purchase transactions take place. These agreements run through June 2006, and are transacted through a related party. During 2003 and 2002, these hedges did not have any ineffectiveness to be recorded to earnings.

Recent Accounting Standards—SFAS No. 143, Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations, is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2002, with early adoption permitted. SFAS No. 143 establishes standards associated with the retirement of tangible long-lived assets and the associated asset retirement costs. The adoption of SFAS No. 143, which occurred on January 1, 2003, did not have a material impact on the Company's financial statements.

In June 2002 the FASB issued SFAS No. 146, Accounting for Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities, which establishes financial accounting and reporting standards for restructuring costs including involuntary severance payments, contract termination and other exit costs and relocation costs. SFAS No. 146 supersedes Emerging Issues Task Force ("EITF") 94-3, Liability Recognition for Certain Employee Termination Benefits and Other Costs to Exit an Activity (Including Certain Costs Incurred in a Restructuring). This statement is effective for exit or disposal activities that are initiated after December 31, 2002, and the Company had no such activities in 2003.

In November 2002 the FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others ("FIN 45"). FIN 45 requires that guarantors recognize, at the inception of the guarantee, a liability for the fair value of the guarantee. In addition, FIN 45 clarifies the disclosures required of guarantors for certain guarantees that it has issued. The recognition and measurement criteria of this interpretation are to be applied prospectively to guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2002. The Company adopted the disclosure requirements of FIN 45 in 2002. The adoption of the recognition and measurement criteria on January 1, 2003 did not have a significant effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

3. PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Property, plant and equipment consisted of the following:

	December 31
	2003	2002
Plant—Ripon	$ 61,254,212	$ 61,177,431

4. INCOME TAXES

The net deferred tax liabilities consists primarily of the tax effects of differences for financial reporting and tax purposes of depreciation methods, recognition of changes in value of derivative instruments and deductibility of accruals and reserves. Current year changes to the net deferred tax liability which were not recorded through the statement of operations of $3,200,283 was primarily related to the derivative instrument adjustment to OCI.

The provision for income taxes consisted of the following:

	December 31
	2003	2002
Federal income taxes:
Current	$2,622,821	$3,558,131
Deferred	(65,882)	281,269
State income taxes:
Current	79,420
Deferred	136,765	240,171
Total	$2,773,124	$4,079,571

Current income taxes payable are included in balances due to affiliates in the accompanying financial statements. The Company paid $0 and $6,732,789, to Tractebel, Inc. in 2003 and 2002, respectively, related to taxes payable from prior years.

5. COMMITMENTS

The Company has two turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each plant, to have turbines available for their use during the year. The Company paid annual base fees of $162,243 for San Gabriel's lease, which will expire in July 2007. The Company paid annual base fees of $163,302 for Ripon's lease, which will expire in August 2006. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon on inflation factor.

In addition, the Company had amounts payable or receivable to Tractebel, Inc., and subsidiaries for taxes and various other expenses paid on its behalf.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, no Debentures may be exchanged during the five business days preceding April 30 and October 31 in each year as the registers of the Debenture Trustee (as defined herein) will be closed during such periods. Further particulars concerning the exchange privilege, including provisions for the adjustment of the Exchange Price in certain events, are set out under "Description of the Debentures". A holder of Debentures will not be entitled to defer tax treatment on the exchange, redemption or repayment at maturity of the Debentures. See "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations".

The Debentures may not be redeemed by Countryside Canada on or prior to October 31, 2008, except in the event of the satisfaction of certain conditions after a Change of Control (as defined herein) has occurred. Thereafter, but prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures may be redeemed, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior notice, provided that the weighted-average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending five trading days preceding the date on which notice of redemption is given is not less than 125% of the Exchange Price. On or after October 31, 2010 and prior to the Maturity Date, the Debentures may be redeemed by Countryside Canada, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior written notice.

Subject to regulatory approval, Countryside Canada may, at its option, elect to satisfy its obligation to pay the principal amount of the Debentures on redemption or at maturity through, in whole or in part, the delivery of freely-tradeable Units. The Fund will take all actions and do all things necessary or desirable to enable and permit Countryside Canada, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations to deliver the requisite number of Units to the extent holders exercise their exchange right. Further particulars concerning the interest, repurchase and maturity provisions of the Debentures are set out under "Description of the Debentures".

Price: $9.35 per Unit
Price: US$1,000 per Debenture

Per Unit	$9.35	$0.4675	$8.8825

Total Debenture Offering[2]	US$55,000,000	US$2,200,000	US$52,800,000

(1) The Underwriters will be paid a fee equal to 5% of the gross proceeds of the offering of Units and 4% of the gross proceeds of the offering of Debentures.

(2) Before deducting the expenses of the Offering which are estimated to be approximately $2.0 million.

The offering price of the Securities has been established through negotiation between the Issuer and the Underwriters with reference to the prevailing market price of the Units. In certain circumstances, the Underwriters may decrease and further change the price at which the Securities are sold to investors. See "Plan of Distribution".

A return on an investment in Units is not comparable to the return on an investment in a fixed-income security. The recovery of your initial investment is at risk, and the anticipated return on your investment is based on many performance assumptions. Although the Fund intends to make equal monthly cash distributions of its available cash to Unitholders, these cash distributions are not assured and may be reduced or suspended. The ability of the Fund to make cash distributions, and the actual amount distributed, will depend on various factors including the operating and financial performance of the business. In addition, the market value of the Units and/or the Debentures may deteriorate if the Fund is unable to meet its cash distribution targets in the future, and that deterioration may be material. The after-tax return from an investment in Units to Unitholders subject to Canadian income tax can be made up of both a return on and a return of capital. That composition may change over time, thus affecting your after-tax return. Returns on capital are generally taxed as ordinary income or as dividends in the hands of a Unitholder. Returns of capital are generally tax-deferred and reduce the Unitholder's cost base in such Unit for tax purposes. See "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations".

In connection with this Offering, the Underwriters may effect transactions that stabilize or maintain the market price of the Units at levels other than those which otherwise might prevail on the open market.

The Underwriters, as principals, conditionally offer the Debentures and Units, subject to prior sale, if, as and when issued, sold and delivered by the Issuer and accepted by the Underwriters in accordance with the conditions contained in the Underwriting Agreement referred to under "Plan of Distribution" and subject to the approval of certain legal matters on behalf of the Issuer by Goodmans LLP and on behalf of the Underwriters by Torys LLP.

In connection with this Offering, the Fund may be considered a "connected issuer" of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and TD Securities Inc. under applicable laws. Each of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and TD Securities Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of a Canadian chartered bank, which are lenders to the Fund. See "Plan of Distribution".

Subscriptions will be received subject to rejection or allotment in whole or in part and the Underwriters reserve the right to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Registrations and transfers of Units and Debentures will be effected through the book-entry only system administered by The Canadian Depository for Securities Limited ("CDS"). Beneficial owners of Units or Debentures will not be entitled to receive physical certificates evidencing their ownership of such securities. Closing is expected to occur on or about November 14, 2005 or such later date as the Fund and the Underwriters may agree, but in any event no later than November 25, 2005. See "Description of Units — Book Entry Only System" and "Description of Debentures — Book Entry, Delivery and Form".

GENERALLY ACCEPTED ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES

References in this short form prospectus to "GAAP" or "Canadian GAAP" mean generally accepted accounting principles in Canada, and references in this short form prospectus to "U.S. GAAP" mean generally accepted accounting principles in the United States. The Fund, Countryside Canada and certain of their subsidiaries prepare their financial statements in accordance with Canadian GAAP. The historical consolidated financial statements of Ripon Power LLC and Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. included in this prospectus have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP. In accordance with the requirements of National Instrument 52-107 Acceptable Accounting Principles, Auditing Standards and Reporting Currency, the financial statements of Ripon Power LLC were reconciled to Canadian GAAP and it was determined that there were no material differences under Canadian GAAP.

DEFINITION OF NON-GAAP MEASURES

Distributable Cash of the Fund (as defined in the Fund's AIF) is a measure generally used by Canadian open-ended trusts as an indicator of financial performance. Distributable Cash is a term that does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by Canadian GAAP or U.S. GAAP. Distributable Cash of the Fund may differ from similar computations as reported by other similar organizations and, accordingly, may not be comparable to Distributable Cash as reported by such organizations. Management believes that Distributable Cash of the Fund is a useful supplemental measure that may assist investors in assessing the return on their investments in Units or Debentures.

In this prospectus, all dollar amounts are expressed in Canadian dollars ("$"), unless otherwise indicated. The following table reflects the low and high rates of exchange for one U.S. dollar ("US$"), expressed in Canadian dollars, during the periods noted, the rates of exchange at the end of such periods and the average of such exchange rates on the last business day of each month during such periods, based on the Bank of Canada noon spot rate of exchange.

DEFINED TERMS

For an explanation of certain terms and abbreviations used in this short form prospectus, reference should be made to the "Glossary of Terms".

The Fund

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004 pursuant to a declaration of trust (the "Declaration of Trust"). The Declaration of Trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the date of the closing of the initial public offering of trust units of the Fund ("IPO Closing"). The Fund has invested, indirectly through Countryside Canada, in two district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI District Energy System") and London Ontario (the "London District Energy System", together with the PEI District Energy System, the "District Energy Systems") and two gas-fired cogeneration facilities located in California (the "Cogen Facilities"). The District Energy Systems have approximately 122 MW of thermal and electric generation capacity and the Cogen Facilities have approximately 94 MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 525,000 thousand pounds of steam in 2004. In addition, the Fund holds indirect investments in 22 renewable power generation and utility infrastructure projects (the "Renewable Energy Projects") located in the United States, which currently have approximately 51 MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004. The Fund's investment in the Renewable Energy Projects consists of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USEB.

The registered and head office of the Fund is located at 495 Richmond Street, Suite 920, London, Ontario, Canada N6A 5A9.

Countryside Canada

Countryside Canada is a corporation incorporated under the federal laws of Canada. All of the issued and outstanding shares of Countryside Canada are owned by the Fund. Countryside Canada holds all of the Fund's indirect investments. The registered and head office of Countryside Canada is located at 495 Richmond Street, Suite 920, London, Ontario, Canada N6A 5A9.

Acquisition and Investment Guidelines

The Fund intends to acquire or invest in additional projects only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in an increase in cash distributions per Unit and will meet the Issuer's other acquisition and investment guidelines. Such acquisitions or investments may be financed by the issuance of Units, from the cash flows of the Fund or through borrowings.

Future projects may be located in any region where opportunities meeting the Fund's objectives exist, although it is expected that these opportunities will exist primarily in Canada and the United States and may include: (i) district energy systems; (ii) natural gas-fired power plants; (iii) green energy projects (i.e., biogas, biomass, waste-coal and wind); (iv) cogeneration projects; (v) energy outsourcing facilities that provide energy to wholesale, commercial, institutional and/or industrial customers; and (vi) energy infrastructure projects.

Management believes that investment opportunities for the Fund will arise: (i) as energy companies and financial sponsors seek to sell assets; (ii) through consolidation in the energy industry; (iii) through the right of first opportunity granted by the Manager to Countryside Canada to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria of Countryside Canada or the Fund (see "Modified Management Arrangements — Management Agreement — Right of First Opportunity"); and (iv) through the acquisition, development or improvement of projects under the Development Agreement and/or the Improvement Agreement.

The following guidelines will be used in the review and evaluation of possible acquisitions and investments by the Fund:

(i) each asset will be acquired, or an investment made therein, only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in accretive cash distributions per Unit;

(ii) assets in respect of which long-term revenue and energy supply contracts with investment grade or financially stable counterparties exist will be preferred and, in other cases, market electricity price and

exchange rate assumptions and forecasts used in the acquisition or investment evaluations will be obtained from a recognized independent source;

(iii) the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be subject to prior due diligence and based on an independent engineers' report confirming the condition or development of the asset and the technical assumptions used in the acquisition or investment evaluation;

(iv) the expected useful life of each asset and associated structures will, with regular maintenance and upkeep, conform with the Fund's objectives of providing long term and stable cash distributions to Unitholders; and

(v) the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be reviewed and approved by the Trustees.

Recent Developments

On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in the Fund's monthly distribution of $0.01 per Unit annually. The first distribution under the new rate will be paid on or about October 31, 2005 to Unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Coincident with the distribution increase, the Fund announced a plan modifying the Fund's existing executive management arrangements. Under the modified arrangements, Countryside Ventures LLC (the "Manager"), a company independent of the Fund, will provide management and administrative services to the Fund as well as new growth opportunities under long-term arrangements. The Manager will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full-time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund will have a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by the Manager that meet the Fund's investment criteria. See "Modified Management Arrangements".

On June 29, 2005, the Fund, through a subsidiary, completed the indirect acquisition of Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), formerly "Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC", whose principal asset is Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon"), a California-based power generation company, for consideration of approximately US$95.3 million or approximately $116.9 million, based on the Bank of Canada noon spot rate of exchange on June 29, 2005. In connection with this transaction, the Fund, through Countryside Acquisition, entered into the Amended Credit Facility (as defined below) in the amount of $80 million, all of which was drawn upon closing of the Acquisition. See "The Acquisition".

Ripon's principal assets consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California, one located in Ripon, California near San Francisco and the other located in Pomona, California, near Los Angeles.

THE ACQUISITION

Purchase and Sale Agreement

Pursuant to an agreement dated June 29, 2005 (the "Purchase and Sale Agreement"), Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside Holding") purchased the membership interests of Ripon Power, for total consideration of approximately US$95.3 million. The purchase price was comprised of approximately US$35.8 million in cash and assumption of approximately US$59.5 million of project-level debt. Ripon Power is the indirect owner, through Ripon of the Cogen Facilities. The Purchase and Sale Agreement included representations and warranties, that are customary in a transaction of this nature. The representations and warranties survive for a period of one year from the closing date of the Acquisition, except for representations and warranties relating to environmental matters, which survive for three years, and representations regarding fundamental corporate matters and tax matters, which survive until the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations plus 60 days. The parties to the Purchase and Sale Agreement have agreed to indemnify each other with respect to claims or losses relating to the breach of any representations or warranties contained in the Purchase and Sale Agreement. The maximum liability of the parties with respect to breaches of representations or warranties relating to certain fundamental corporate matters, tax matters or environmental matters is the cash purchase price paid by Countryside Holding pursuant to the Purchase and Sale Agreement. A breach of any other representation or warranty is subject to a maximum liability of US$7 million. In the case of claims or losses for breaches of representations and warranties, neither party shall be liable to pay any amounts under the indemnity provisions until the amount of such claims or losses exceeds US$1.05 million in aggregate, in which event the relevant party may collect the portion of the loss in excess of US$350,000, subject to the maximum liability outlined above.

Amended Credit Facility

The Fund, through Countryside Acquisition, has entered into an amended and restated credit agreement with a syndicate of Canadian chartered banks (collectively, the "Lenders") providing for a revolving term facility of up to $80 million used in part to assist in financing the Acquisition (the "Amended Credit Facility"). The Amended Credit Facility was drawn in the amount of $80 million upon closing the Acquisition. The principal amount drawn on the Amended Credit Facility is repayable three years from the closing date unless repaid earlier in accordance with its terms. Amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada. Countryside Holding and the Ripon assets are excluded from the collateral of the Amended Credit Facility. In connection with the closing of the Offering, the Fund will repay a portion of the outstanding balance under the Amended Credit Facility and will secure certain consents of the Lenders and otherwise amend the Amended Credit Facility to facilitate the completion of the Offering. See "Use of Proceeds".

The Amended Credit Facility contains customary representations, warranties, covenants (including restrictions on incurring additional indebtedness), conditions to funding and events of default. The Amended Credit Facility is also subject to financial covenants regarding total debt to capitalization (not to exceed a ratio of 0.5:1 at any time) and debt to earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (not to exceed a ratio of 3.5:1 at any time).

The Amended Credit Facility is guaranteed by entities from which the Fund receives its cash distributions and as a result, the amounts owing under the Amended Credit Facility and any interest thereon will be payable in priority to any cash distributions to Unitholders.

Rationale for the Acquisition

Management and the Trustees believe that the Acquisition is consistent with the Fund's objective to make investments that result in an increase in cash distributions per Unit and are in the best interests of the Unitholders. The Acquisition provided the following benefits to Unitholders:

Immediately Accretive to Unitholders

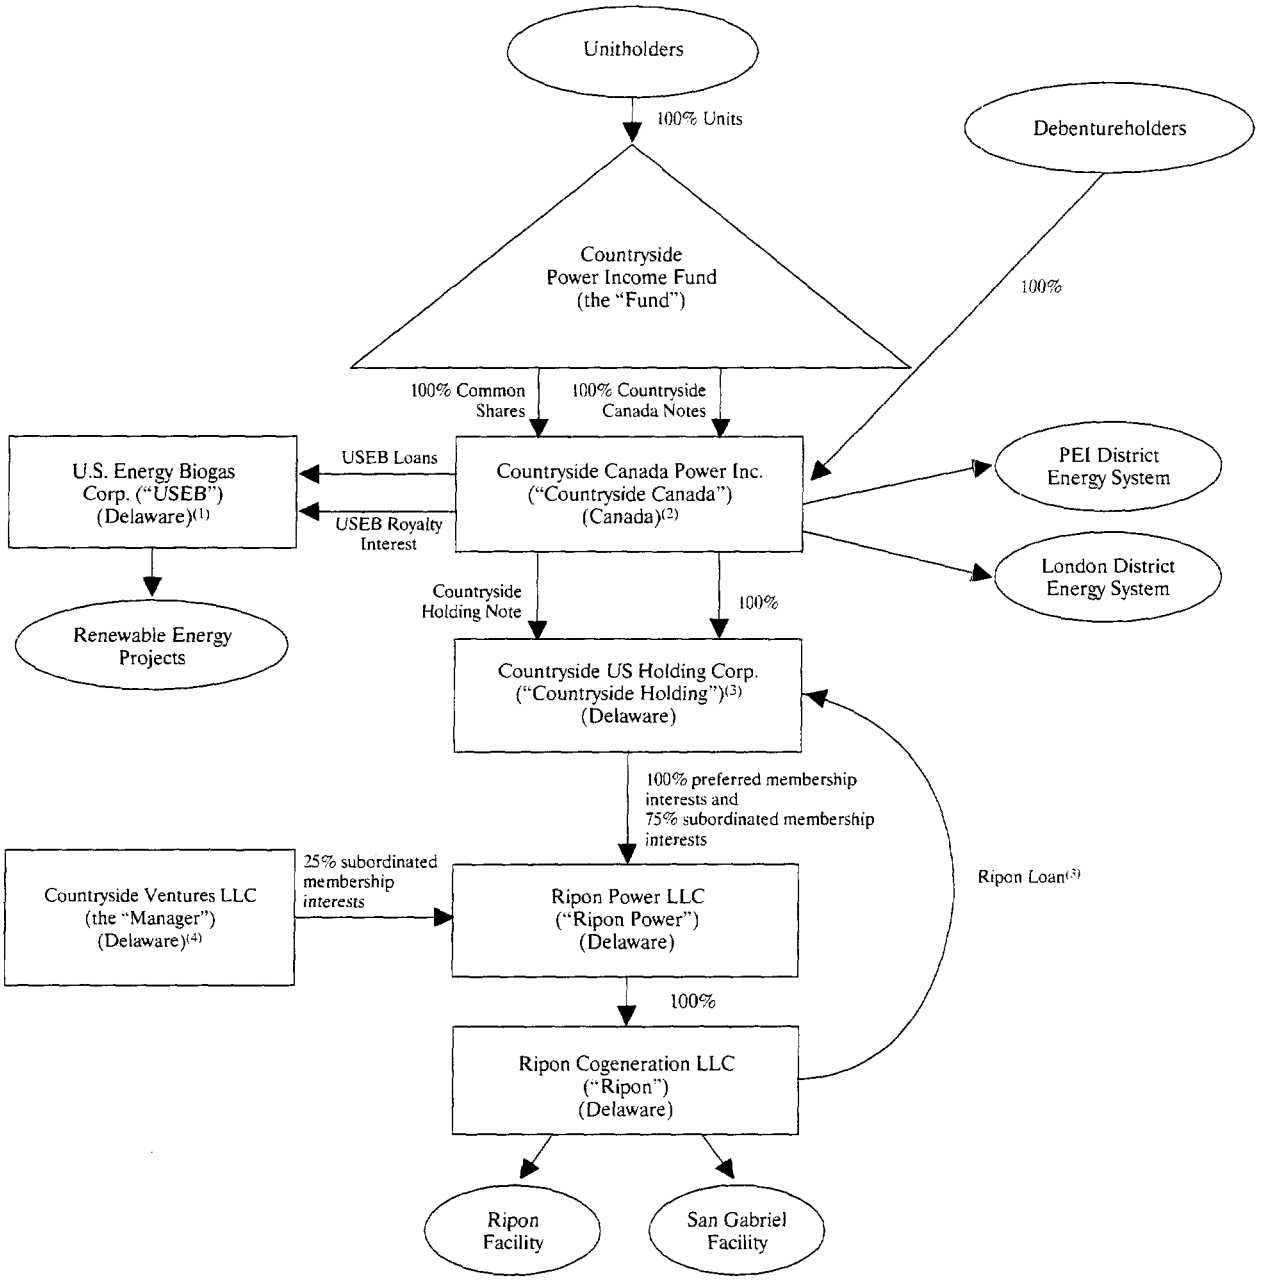
Management expects the Acquisition to be immediately accretive to Unitholders. Consequently, on September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in the annual per Unit distribution to be paid to Unitholders from $1.025 to $1.035. On a pro forma basis after giving effect to the Offering and the Acquisition as well as an adjustment for incremental costs as described in Note 7 of the "Summary of Cash Available for Distribution" section of this prospectus, the Fund's Distributable Cash per Unit cash would have been $1.1032 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004.

Stable and Sustainable Source of Cash Flow

Ripon generates predictable cash flow from long-term power purchase and steam sale agreements in place at both the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. The Ripon Facility currently has a power purchase agreement ("PPA") in place expiring in 2018 with Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("PG&E"), the principal operating subsidiary of PG&E Corporation, an investment-grade entity with a Standard & Poor's credit rating of BBB. The San Gabriel Facility currently has a long-term PPA in place expiring in 2016 with Southern California Edison ("SCE"), the principal operating subsidiary of Edison International, an investment-grade entity with a Standard & Poor's credit rating of BBB+.

Both the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have a history of successful operation with average annual peak operating availability over the last five years of 95.6% and 99.1%, respectively, as confirmed by the independent due diligence assessment conducted by Stone & Webster Management Consultants Inc. in connection with the Acquisition. See "Independent Engineers' Report".

Further Diversification of the Portfolio



The Acquisition further diversifies the Fund's portfolio by geography, and introduces two new investment-grade off-takers to the portfolio further mitigating counter-party risk. In addition, the Acquisition adds gas-fired cogeneration to the Fund's asset base providing greater fuel diversity. As a result of the Acquisition, the Fund holds investments in: (i) the District Energy Systems, having approximately 122 MW of thermal and electric generation capacity; (ii) the Cogen Facilities, having approximately 94 MW of electric generation capacity and which sold approximately 525,000 thousand pounds of steam in 2004; and (iii) the Renewable Energy Projects (by way of secured loans and a royalty interest) which currently have approximately 51 MW of electric generation capacity and which sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004.

Greater Scale and Liquidity

If the initial public offering of the Fund, the transactions completed in connection therewith and the Acquisition and the Offering had been completed on January 1, 2004, the Fund would have generated revenue and adjusted distributable cash of approximately $100,153,000 and $21,650,000 respectively, for the twelve months ended December 31, 2004. See "Summary of Cash Available for Distribution". In addition, the issuance of the Units on closing of the Offering is expected by management to increase the trading volume and liquidity of the Units.

POST-CLOSING STRUCTURE

The organizational structure of the Fund after giving effect to the completion of the Acquisition and the transactions contemplated by this prospectus will be as follows:

(1) USEB indirectly owns a 50% interest in the Renewable Energy Projects based in Illinois and a 100% interest in the Renewable Energy Projects located outside of Illinois. The remaining 50% interest in the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects are owned by Landgas of Illinois Corp.

(2) Countryside Canada owns its interest in the PEI District Energy System and the London District Energy System indirectly through Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and Countryside District Energy Corp., its wholly-owned direct and indirect subsidiaries.

(3) On Closing of the Offering, Countryside Holding will use a portion of the proceeds of the Offering to acquire a project loan owed by Ripon to the Union Bank of California and the Allied Irish Bank (collectively, the "Ripon Loan").

(4) The Manager was granted 25% of the subordinated membership interests in Ripon Power in accordance with its long-term incentive plan entitlement under the modified management arrangements. See "Modified Management Arrangements — Management Agreement".

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

The Independent Power Generation Industry

The traditional electricity market structure in North America has consisted of vertically integrated utilities which had a near monopoly over the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity to retail customers. A variety of factors, including federal legislative changes, rapid growth in electricity demand, rising electricity rates, technological advances and environmental concerns, led certain governments to implement efforts to restructure the electricity industry within their respective jurisdictions.

Such changes have, among other things, encouraged the development of generation from independent power producers. In the independent power generation sector, electricity is generated from a number of sources, including: (i) water; (ii) natural gas; (iii) coal; (iv) waste products, such as biomass and biogas; (v) geothermal sources; (vi) the sun; and (vii) wind.

While vertically-integrated utilities continue to dominate the North American electricity landscape, independent power producers are playing an increasingly important role in the supply of electricity. Policymakers have recognized the benefits of power generated by independent power producers.

Qualifying Facilities

Among other things, the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, as amended ("PURPA"), as implemented by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC"), was enacted to encourage the development and operation of certain power generation facilities by requiring electric utilities to purchase power from qualifying facilities ("QFs") at the utility's avoided cost. A QF is a distinct type of energy producer that falls into one or both of two primary classes. One class of QFs are "small power production facilities" that generate power using specific energy sources such as wind, solar, geothermal, hydro, biomass or waste fuels, utilize a limited amount of fossil fuels and meet certain size criteria. A second class of QFs are "cogeneration facilities" which utilize fuel to produce both electric energy and useful thermal energy sequentially and meet certain operating and efficiency criteria. The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are in this second class since they produce electricity and steam and otherwise satisfy the applicable QF criteria. QFs are exempt from rate and other aspects of regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, exempt from all regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and exempt from regulation by State public service commissions with respect to rates and the financial and organizational activities of electric utilities. Prior to the enactment of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 ("EPA 2005"), a QF could not be primarily owned by an electric utility.

On August 8, 2005, comprehensive energy legislation was enacted when the President signed into law EPA 2005. That legislation makes several changes to PURPA effective six months following the date of enactment (i.e., February 8, 2006), including: (1) eliminating the limitation on electric utility ownership of QFs, (2) terminating the mandatory purchase obligation imposed on electric utilities for new QFs that the FERC determines have access to competitive wholesale markets and (3) requiring the FERC to promulgate regulations no later than February 8, 2006 specifying additional criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities with respect to the useful thermal energy output of such facilities and to encourage the development of efficient generation technology. EPA 2005 makes clear that it does not apply to the rights and remedies of the parties to existing contracts or obligations in effect or pending before a State public service commission as of the date of enactment. On October 11, 2005, the FERC promulgated its proposed regulations implementing the additional qualifying criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities and reducing QF exemptions from rate regulation by FERC. Under the proposed regulations, the new qualifying criteria would not apply to the San Gabriel or Ripon Facilities since both facilities were certified as "qualifying cogeneration facilities" prior to the enactment of EPA 2005.

As noted above, the changes to PURPA made by EPA 2005 will not affect the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities for so long as each project continues to operate in compliance with PURPA and their PPAs remain in effect. If either facility should lose QF status and if it should be determined that the purchasing utility has the right to terminate its PPA as a result thereof, the provisions of the new legislation would apply to any new PPA that either the Ripon or San Gabriel Facility would seek to enter into under PURPA. If either facility should temporarily lose QF status, the FERC could order the refund of amounts paid to the facility during the period of non-compliance. See "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

The California Energy Market

Overview

When the California electricity market first permitted customer choice of generation supply, legislation fixed the retail rates of the three investor-owned utilities — PG&E, SCE and San Diego Gas and Electric ("SDG&E"). Originally, prices in the wholesale market were below the fixed level of retail rates; however, wholesale prices began to exceed the retail levels in the spring of 2000. The rise in wholesale prices was a result of a number of different factors including: (i) limited new generation capacity to accommodate demand growth; (ii) a wholesale market design that shifted significant amounts of wholesale electricity purchases to the spot market rather than to forward markets and which inhibited the utilities' ability to enter into long-term contracts; (iii) historically low water levels in the Pacific Northwest combined with increased demand in regions that were traditionally significant exporters to the California electricity market; (iv) high natural gas prices; (v) lack of price signals to retail customers who were unaware of increased wholesale rates as a result of their fixed retail rates; and (vi) alleged market manipulation.

As a result of rising wholesale prices and limitations on increasing retail prices, PG&E and SCE reported financial difficulty in paying for power, including power from QFs, and reduced or stopped making various payments. In April 2001, PG&E filed for bankruptcy. Subsequently, PG&E and SCE resumed payments to QFs, entered into agreements with the California Public Utilities Commission ("CPUC") intended to restore their financial positions and PG&E was discharged from bankruptcy in 2004.

In response to the developments described above, FERC, the California legislature and the CPUC enacted a number of measures significantly affecting the wholesale and retail electricity markets of California. While changes in the wholesale and retail electricity markets in California are expected to continue and may impact the degree of new generation supply entering the California market as well as future market price levels in unpredictable ways, the Fund expects that the impact on the Ripon or San Gabriel Facilities of such changes will be mitigated by their long-term capacity and energy sales agreements, under which capacity payments are largely fixed.

During periods when the full capacity of QFs are not committed to their respective counterparties, QFs may be subject to a "must-offer" obligation which FERC has required the California Independent System Operator ("CAISO") to include in its tariffs. In that event, CAISO can require QFs to sell power to the CAISO, if needed by the CAISO, provided that such sale would not violate a permit or cause loss of QF status and CAISO is required to compensate the QFs, pursuant to a rate formula set forth in CAISO's tariff on file with FERC. CAISO has proposed revisions to that rate schedule and the matter is pending before FERC.

Supply and Demand

In 2004, the Western Electricity Coordinating Council ("WECC") estimated peak Californian electric demand to be 54,875 MW. This is expected to grow at an average of 2.0% per year until 2013. At the same time, many of the electric generating facilities supplying peak Californian demand are approaching the end of their useful lives or are in need of retrofits to comply with new environmental standards. Approximately 58% of the total Californian power plant capacity was brought online prior to 1980[1].

Estimates of the amount of electric generating capacity that will be retired vary widely. In 2004, the California Energy Commission ("CEC") undertook a detailed study of ageing power plants and concluded, under a medium to high risk scenario, that 10,204 MW of generation capacity is expected to be retired from 2005 to 2008,[2] or is at risk of retirement. In addition, the rate of new additions slowed to only 568 net MW in 2004 compared to 2,678 net MW in 2003.[3] New additions are forecast to increase in 2005 with 2,231 MW of new generation capacity being added.

Under several of these forecast scenarios, new generation capacity additions would be needed in the near term if the CAISO is to keep its operating reserves above its targeted 7% minimum and prevent exposing consumers and businesses to major power supply risks. In 2004, the state-wide peak hour reserve margin averaged 15.3%, down from 22.8% in 2003.

The CEC is forecasting the PG&E service area in northern California to be able to maintain a reserve margin above the minimum requirement through 2008, however, in the SCE and SDG&E service areas in southern California, the CEC is projecting the reserve margin declining to 2.1% in both 2007 and 2008[4], under normal operating scenarios.

Management believes that the combination of ageing supplies and increasing demand should support the Ripon and San Gabriel facilities remaining operational and economically viable after the expiration of their PPAs.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ACQUIRED FACILITIES

The Ripon Facility

The Ripon Facility is a nominal 49.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant located in Ripon, California, approximately 130 kilometres east of San Francisco. The Ripon Facility generally operates as a base load facility. The Ripon Facility is a QF under the regulations of the FERC implementing PURPA, and thus is currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law.

A General Electric LM5000 combustion turbine generator and an IHI power turbine generate electricity at the Ripon Facility. The combustion turbine technology is based on an aircraft engine design that is known for rapid starting and stopping capability and more efficient performance as compared to industrial frame combustion turbines.

The Ripon Facility produces steam from a heat recovery steam generator ("HRSG") and, when needed, from an auxiliary boiler. The full steam production from the HRSG can be used internally, primarily for steam injection into the combustion turbine.

Power Purchase Agreement

Electrical capacity and energy is sold pursuant to a Long-Term Energy and Capacity Power Purchase Agreement executed by Simpson Paper Company, as Seller, on November 12, 1984 and by PG&E as Buyer, on April 5, 1985 (the "Ripon PPA"). The Ripon PPA has been amended on three occasions and was assigned by Simpson Paper Company to Ripon Cogeneration Inc. in 1996, the predecessor in interest to Ripon. Ripon Cogeneration Inc. was subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004. The term of the Ripon PPA extends for a period of 30 years from the firm capacity availability date of April 25, 1988. The Ripon Facility is required to operate throughout the term of the agreement as a QF in accordance with the cogeneration facility requirements established by FERC pursuant to PURPA as those requirements existed on the effective date of the agreement.

The Ripon PPA provides for capacity payments for firm capacity, first incremental capacity and second incremental capacity. The formula for firm capacity payments is the product of: (1) the firm contract capacity of 42,000 kW; (2) the contract capacity price of US$172 per kW per year; (3) a capacity loss adjustment factor; and (4) a performance bonus factor. Firm capacity payments are applicable only in periods during which the Ripon Facility's forced outage rate is less than twenty percent. In addition, the firm capacity payments are weighted by allocation factors for each period as defined by the CPUC which are weighted towards the peak hours, particularly during the summer period of May 1 through September 30. The firm capacity performance bonus is based upon the Ripon Facility's availability factor during the summer peak months of June, July and August. The performance bonus factor is calculated as the ratio of the previous five-year average peak capacity factor during the summer peak hours divided by eighty-five percent. Average peak capacity over the last five years was 95.7% and 98.4% in 2004.

The formula for the first incremental capacity for capacity deliveries above 42,000 kW and up to 44,500 kW is the product of: (1) the first incremental capacity of up to 2,500 kW; (2) the first incremental contract capacity price of US$188 per kW per year; (3) a capacity adjustment loss factor; and (4) an allocation factor which accounts for the quantity of first incremental capacity delivered during specified periods. Finally, the formula for second incremental capacity for capacity deliveries above 44,500 kW and up to 54,000 kW is the product of: (1) the first incremental capacity of up to 9,500 kW; (2) the second incremental contract capacity price as authorized from time to time by the CPUC; (3) a capacity adjustment loss factor; and (4) an allocation factor which accounts for the quantity of second incremental capacity delivered during specified periods.

Under the Ripon PPA, PG&E is required to accept delivery of all energy and capacity generated by the Ripon Facility except during periods of forced outage, force majeure, emergencies or to comply with prudent industry practice, or if necessary to allow PG&E to shut down its system for inspection, repair or maintenance. In such instances, PG&E is not required to accept or pay for deliveries of energy and may require the Ripon Facility to reduce energy deliveries. However if the Ripon Facility is prevented from meeting performance requirements because of a forced outage of PG&E's system, PG&E must continue to make the full capacity payments. During periods of "hydro-spill" conditions, as defined by the CPUC, and generally meaning those periods when purchases from QFs and other conditions on the PG&E system would otherwise require that PG&E spill water at its hydroelectric facilities without being able to generate electricity therefrom, PG&E has the right to curtail deliveries of energy from the Ripon Facility and, if energy from the Ripon Facility is delivered to PG&E, the energy price will be the hydro-savings price quoted by PG&E. PG&E also has the right to curtail deliveries from the Ripon Facility in excess of 37,000 kW during all super off-peak hours (generally from 1:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m. during each calendar day) and during any period when PG&E would otherwise incur "negative avoided costs" (generally, the utility would incur greater costs backing down its generation than the costs avoided through purchases from QFs).

Beginning on April 25, 1998, the energy payments under the Ripon PPA were made equal to PG&E's full short-run avoided operating costs. Subsequently, in 2001, the parties entered into an amendment to the Ripon PPA providing for the payment of energy prices reflecting an average energy price of US$53.76 per MWh over a five-year term, subject to adjustment through the application of time-of-use factors as defined by the CPUC. Following the expiration of the amendment on June 30, 2006, Ripon's energy payment will revert to PG&E's full short run avoided costs, commonly referred to as "Short-Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC".

SRAC is established for each utility, from time to time by the CPUC. The CPUC has, since the 1980's, established various SRACs for PG&E and SCE. The methods to establish SRAC have also been modified from time to time by the CPUC and by the California legislature when it enacted section 390 of the Public Utilities Code ("PUC"). Factors that the CPUC have typically considered are fuel prices, the efficiency of utility generators, operations and maintenance costs and a time-of-use adjustment. PUC section 390 provides that until the CPUC determines that the Power Exchange, now defunct and not anticipated to function in the future, is functioning properly, SRAC shall be determined in accordance with PUC section 390(b). PUC section 390(b) directs that SRAC be based on a formula that reflects a 1996 starting energy price, adjusted monthly to reflect changes in a starting gas index price in relation to an average of current California natural gas border price indices. In December 2003, the CPUC issued decision D. 03-12-062, expressing the concern that "the SRAC pricing formula may need to be revised in light of the current energy market. Therefore the Commission should carefully consider how to modify the SRAC methodology and whether to seek legislative changes" to PUC section 390. In April 2004 the CPUC initiated a proceeding, CPUC docket R. 04-04-025 to address SRAC and other issues. Hearings in docket R. 04-04-025 are scheduled to commence in January 2006. The outcome of such proceedings is unknown and hence, future energy prices of Ripon cannot be predicted.

Steam Sales

Process steam from the Ripon Facility is sold to Fox River Paper Company ("Fox River") under an Amended and Restated Steam Agreement ("Ripon Steam Agreement") by and between Fox River and Simpson Paper Company dated September 30, 1996 which terminates on April 19, 2018. The Ripon Steam Agreement was assigned to Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. in 1996 which subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004.

Fox River is the only producer of text and cover, a value-added grade of uncoated freesheet, on the West Coast of the United States. While Fox River is subject to certain market pressures relating to rising pulp prices and declining demand for text and cover, its leading competitive position in this industry is expected to minimize the impact of these pressures.

Under the Ripon Steam Agreement, Fox River is obligated to accept a sufficient quantity of steam for Ripon to maintain QF status and supply all of Ripon's process water needed to satisfy the steam obligation. Fox River is required to return a minimum amount of the condensate meeting certain requirements. If Fox River returns less than the minimum amount of condensate, it is obligated to compensate Ripon for costs incurred by Ripon for obtaining additional quantities of process water. If Fox River returns condensate in excess of a certain amount, Ripon is obligated to pay Fox River a bonus to reflect the savings received by Ripon as a result of having to obtain less process water.

The Ripon Facility is obligated to supply up to 75,000 pounds of steam per hour and must utilize an auxiliary boiler to meet the steam demand when the gas turbine is not operating. The formula to determine the price payable by Fox River for steam is the product of: (1) the total quantity of steam delivered; (2) a thermal conversion factor which is 1.3 MMBtus per thousand pounds of steam for the first ten years of the Ripon Steam Agreement and 1.0 MMBtus for the remainder of the term; and (3) the cost of natural gas purchased by Ripon. Fox River is also responsible for all sales, use or other transfer taxes imposed upon the sale of steam under the agreement. Under the Ripon Steam Agreement, Ripon must pay liquidated damages for periods of steam supply disruption. The disruption compensation payment is capped at US$25,000 for any 24 hour period and US$1.8 million for any 12-month period. Since January 1, 2004, aggregate liquidated damages have been less than US$50,000. In addition, if a steam supply disruption occurs which is not permitted by the Ripon Steam Agreement Fox River may, but is not obligated to, assume operational control of the auxiliary boiler and related equipment until such steam supply disruption has been cured.

Other provisions address measurement of steam and water deliveries, billing and payment, operation of the facility and maintenance of the steam supply and condensate return lines, events of default and termination, force majeure, insurance, indemnity and dispute resolution which management believes are customary in the industry. Fox River has the right to terminate the Agreement for convenience at various times during the term of the Agreement for specified reasons. In the event of a termination for convenience, Fox River is obligated to pay the lesser of $5 million (adjusted on April 1st of each year by an amount equal to the percentage change in the Producer Price Index during the preceding 12-month period) or the reasonable actual cost incurred in building an alternative steam host for the Ripon Facility. In addition, Fox Paper is obligated to enter into good faith negotiations for the sale of land at the site suitable for the location of an alternative steam host. Each party has the right to terminate the Agreement for an event of default by the other party, including the failure for reasons other than a force majeure event of the Ripon Facility to supply steam for more than thirty consecutive days or more than fifty-two days during any 12-month period.

If the Fox River Steam Agreement was terminated and a replacement steam host not timely obtained or built, the Ripon Facility could lose its QF status and PG&E could seek to terminate the Ripon PPA. However, while Fox River has the right to terminate the Fox River Steam Agreement at its convenience, management believes that it would be unlikely to exercise this right as it would not be economical for Fox River to produce its own steam and a significant payment would be required to be paid to Ripon. For a more detailed discussion of the risks associated with loss of QF status, see "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

Fuel

Natural gas is supplied to the Ripon Facility pursuant to a base agreement (the "Gas Contract") with BP Energy Company ("BP") that allows the parties to enter into binding sales and purchase transactions from time to time. The parties currently have in place an agreement (the "Ripon Transaction") that provides for BP to supply the full natural gas requirements to the Ripon Facility for a term commencing February 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2006. Under the Ripon Transaction, BP must supply a contract quantity of 10,000 MMBtu's per day to the Ripon Facility on a firm basis with the balance of the Ripon Facility's gas requirements in excess of the firm contract quantity supplied on an interruptible basis. The Ripon Transaction provides a fixed price for the supply of the firm contract quantity with the excess interruptible supply priced as a market-based gas price index. In addition to supplying natural gas to the Ripon Facility, BP is designated "balancing agent" for the Ripon Facility and, in that capacity, is responsible for all scheduling, nominations and balancing fuel consumption and deliveries. Imbalances are paid for by the party that created the imbalance. The delivery point under the Gas Contract is at the interconnection between the PG&E backbone transmission system and its distribution system at the PG&E citygate.

Under the Gas Contract, each party has a right to terminate the contract only in limited circumstances, including in the event of a failure to meet each party's credit support obligations, the failure to give adequate assurances of performance when required to be given under the contract and the failure to make payment following receipt of written notice that payment is due. In the event of a default, the non-defaulting party may elect to suspend performance under the Gas Contract and/or terminate the contract and liquidate any transaction in effect as of the date of termination. In the event of an early termination, damages are paid equal to the difference between the contract price and the then-current market value for the quantities over the remaining term of the transaction with the BP paying to Ripon the excess of the market value over the contract price or Ripon paying to BP the excess of the contract price over the market value for such quantities. The determination of the damages due and owing in the event of an early termination is made by the non-defaulting party in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.

The failure of either party to fulfill its obligation to deliver or accept delivery of gas does not give rise to a right to terminate. Instead, the sole and exclusive remedy for such failure is payment of the difference between the contract price and, if Ripon is the performing party, the cost of obtaining replacement fuel, or, if BP is the performing party, the price obtained by selling the gas to another purchaser, in each case as adjusted for commercially reasonable differences in transportation costs. In the event that either the obligation of BP to sell and deliver the firm contract quantity to, or the obligation of Ripon to purchase and receive the firm contract quantity at, the delivery point is suspended because of the occurrence of an event of force majeure, either BP will pay to Ripon the excess of the current market price over fixed contract price or Ripon will pay to BP the excess of the fixed contract price over the current market price for each MMBtu not delivered and/or received as a result thereof.

Currently, the Ripon Facility receives fixed energy payments from PG&E that follow the prices charged under the Gas Contract. After the fixed price period under the Ripon PPA and the Gas Contract end on June 30, 2006, management expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the PG&E SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which Ripon will purchase gas, although there is a possibility such correlation will not be complete. Ripon is in discussions with gas suppliers respecting a new gas supply contract that will replace the existing Gas Contract and will attempt to maximize the correlation between the purchase price in such gas supply contract with the gas indices used in PG&E's SRAC formula.

Natural gas transportation service for the Ripon Facility is provided pursuant to a Natural Gas Service Agreement with PG&E that provides for the firm transportation of a maximum daily quantity of 13,000 decatherms per day. Transportation service is priced at a rate that is set and may be changed from time to time by the CPUC. The Ripon Facility receives transportation service under two different PG&E rate schedules. Rate Schedule G-COG applies to the transportation of the natural gas used in the combustion turbine at the Ripon Facility while Rate Schedule G-NT applies to the natural gas burned in the auxiliary boiler. The PG&E Ripon transportation agreement was effective for an initial one-year term commencing on March 1, 1998 and continues on a month-to-month basis after the initial term unless terminated by either Ripon or PG&E. However, PG&E may only terminate the agreement with the approval of or pursuant to an order by the CPUC.

Environmental Health and Safety

The Ripon Facility and its operations are subject to an environmental health and safety regulatory regime including federal, state, regional, local and municipal laws, regulations and permits relating to, among other things: air emissions, water and wastewater treatment, worker health and safety and site contamination. Management believes that the Ripon Facility has obtained (or timely applied for renewal of) and is currently in material compliance with, the material environmental permits and approvals currently necessary to operate the Ripon Facility. A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment was completed in 2003 and no material issues of concern were identified relative to potential soil or groundwater contamination.

Site Rights and Expansion Opportunities

The site upon which the Ripon Facility is located is owned by Ripon. The site consists of approximately two acres of land located adjacent to the Fox River Paper Mill within an area occupied by industrial uses. Ripon maintains certain easement rights, which are necessary in connection with the operation of the Ripon Facility. Ripon is well-situated for expansion of its power generating capacity. Electrical and gas interconnections are already in place and capable of handling significantly more flow than is currently being utilized.

Operating & Maintenance

Operation and maintenance services are provided to the Ripon Facility pursuant to an operation and maintenance agreement (the "Ripon O&M Agreement") dated October 22, 2003. The contract is between Rockland California Partners LLC (which subsequently merged into Ripon), as the owner, and North American Energy Services Company as the Operator ("NAES" or the "Operator"). All employees at the Ripon Facility are employed by NAES and provide operational and maintenance services to the Ripon Facility under the Ripon O&M Agreement. NAES is one of the largest third-party providers of power plant operations and maintenance services with an experience base of more than 19,000 MW of generation capacity. NAES is owned by an affiliate of ITOCHU Corporation. The Ripon O&M Agreement has a term of seven years expiring on January 27, 2011. Services provided by the Operator include all operation and maintenance activities.

The Ripon O&M Agreement provides for payment of reimbursable costs, operating costs and an operator payment on a monthly basis. Reimbursable costs include such items as relocation and recruitment expenses for on-site personnel and the cost of operator's insurance. Operating costs include equipment, material supplies, consumables, spare parts, office expenses, utilities, training, contractors, permit fees, payroll and other similar costs. The operator payment includes a management fee, project management fee and an incentive payment.

GE Engine Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of engine failure, Ripon has entered into a service lease agreement for the Ripon Facility with General Electric Company ("GE") (the "Ripon GE Lease") under which GE is to repair or deliver a replacement engine to Ripon within certain specified time periods after notice from Ripon of an engine failure. Under the Ripon GE Lease, Ripon pays an annual fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement engine is used. The Ripon GE Lease runs through August 17, 2006 but may be terminated by either party in the event of a material breach by the other party. The Ripon GE Lease provides for liquidated damages in the event GE fails to perform subject to caps and limitations.

IHI Turbine Sub-Assembly Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of turbine failure, Ripon has entered into a turbine sub-assembly lease agreement for the Ripon Facility with IHI, Inc. ("IHI") (the "Ripon IHI Lease") under which IHI provides replacement parts for the turbine sub-assembly on-site. Under the Ripon IHI Lease, Ripon pays a base fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement turbine sub-assembly is used based on a fee schedule. The Ripon IHI Lease runs through April 30, 2009 and automatically renews for one additional 5 year term unless either party provides the other party with written notice of its intention not to renew. The Ripon IHI Lease may be terminated by either party for convenience with six months written notice or in the case of a breach by the other party. The Ripon IHI Lease contains certain limitations on IHI's liability for failure to perform.

The following table sets out the historical generation, steam sales, availability and heat rate information for Ripon, as confirmed by an independent engineering due diligence assessment conducted by Stone and Webster Management Consultants Inc. ("Stone and Webster Consultants").

The San Gabriel Facility

The San Gabriel Facility is a nominal 44.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant located in Pomona, California, approximately 50 kilometres east of Los Angeles. The San Gabriel Facility generally operates as a base load facility. The San Gabriel Facility is a QF under the cogeneration regulations of the FERC implementing PURPA and thus is currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law.

Similar to the Ripon Facility, a General Electric LM5000 combustion turbine generator and an IHI power turbine generate electricity at the San Gabriel Facility. The San Gabriel Facility produces steam from a HRSG. A portion of the steam production from the HRSG can be used internally, primarily for steam injection into the combustion turbine.

Power Purchase Agreement

Electrical capacity and energy are sold from the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to a Power Purchase Contract with an effective date of September 7, 1983 but executed in a revised form by Simpson Paper Company as Seller on November 8, 1984, and SCE, as Buyer, on the same date (the "San Gabriel PPA"). The San Gabriel PPA was assigned by Simpson Paper Company to Ripon Cogeneration, Inc., in 1997, which was subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004. The term of the San Gabriel PPA extends for a period of 30 years from the Firm Operation date in January 1986 and continues thereafter until either party gives 90 days prior written notice of termination. The San Gabriel Facility is required to operate throughout the term of the agreement as a QF in accordance with the cogeneration facility requirements established by FERC pursuant to PURPA as those requirements existed on the effective date of the agreement.

The San Gabriel PPA provides for payments for firm capacity, as-available capacity and energy. The formula for firm capacity payments is the product of: (a) the Contract Capacity Price of US$158 per kW per year and (b) conversion factors to convert annual capacity prices to monthly payments by time of delivery as specified in Standard Offer No. 2 Capacity Payment Schedule, subject to periodic adjustments by the CPUC and (c) Contract Capacity of 36,000 kW and (d) a performance factor. Firm capacity payments are applicable only in periods during which the San Gabriel Facility meets a performance requirement of a forced outage rate less than twenty percent for all on-peak hours during each peak month ("Performance Requirement"). In addition, there are provisions for capacity bonus payments during both peak and non-peak months. To qualify for a bonus payment during on-peak months, the San Gabriel Facility must (i) meet the Performance Requirement and (ii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during the peak month. To qualify for a bonus payment during non-peak months, the San Gabriel Facility must (i) meet the Performance Requirement and (ii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during each peak month of the previous twelve months and (iii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during the non-peak month. As-available capacity rates are established by, and subject to, periodic revision by the CPUC. The San Gabriel Facility has achieved bonus payments in 16 of 16 peak months in the last 44 months and 27 of 28 non-peak months in the last 44 months.

If the San Gabriel Facility fails to meet the Performance Requirement, SCE may place the San Gabriel Facility on probation. If the San Gabriel Facility fails to meet the Performance Requirement during the probationary period, SCE may reduce the Contract Capacity, which would reduce future firm capacity payments and subject the San Gabriel Facility to a refund obligation based on the difference between the original Contract Capacity and the reduced Contract Capacity, plus interest thereon.

SCE is not required to accept delivery of all energy generated by the San Gabriel Facility if necessary to allow SCE to maintain its equipment or to maintain SCE system integrity. If the San Gabriel Facility is prevented from meeting performance requirements because of forced outage on SCE's system, SCE must continue to make the full capacity payments. The San Gabriel PPA provides that SCE may curtail deliveries of energy for no more than 300 hours per calendar year during off-peak hours when purchases from the San Gabriel Facility would either result in costs greater than energy from other sources or require that SCE hydro-energy be spilled.

Beginning on January 2, 1996, the energy payments under the PPA are equal to SCE's full short-run avoided operating costs. In 2001 the parties entered into an amendment to the San Gabriel PPA providing for payment for energy pursuant to a formula specified in the amendment. Following the expiration of the amendment and not later than June 30, 2006, San Gabriel's energy payments will revert to SCE's full SRAC. In April 2004, the CPUC initiated a proceeding, CPUC docket R. 04-04-025 to address SRAC and other issues. Hearings in docket R. 04-04-025 are scheduled to commence in January 2006. The outcome of this regulatory proceeding and hence future energy prices under the San Gabriel PPA cannot be predicted. For a more detailed discussion of SRAC see "The Ripon Facility — Power Purchase Agreement".

It is probable that in the event that the San Gabriel Facility fails to maintain QF status or commits a material breach of the San Gabriel PPA, SCE could assert that it may terminate the San Gabriel PPA.

Steam Sales

Process steam from the San Gabriel Facility is sold under a steam sales agreement dated May 20, 1997 between Simpson Paper Company and Smurfit Packaging Corporation (the "San Gabriel Steam Agreement"). Smurfit assigned its interest in the San Gabriel Steam Agreement to Blue Heron and the Simpson Paper Company assigned its interest to Ripon Cogeneration Inc., Ripon's predecessor in interest which was converted into Ripon in 2004. The San Gabriel Steam Agreement expires on January 1, 2016.

Blue Heron supplies recycled newsprint primarily to commercial printers in the Los Angeles area with the remainder supplied to smaller daily newspapers. Blue Heron relies on the above-average speed capability of its 240" machine and its geographic proximity to recovered paper supplies and end use markets to maintain a delivered cost advantage over larger competitors. It is anticipated that Pomona, California, the urban market in which Blue Heron principally operates, will face increasing pressure from declining real product prices and rising real recovered paper prices due to offshore demand and fluctuations in natural gas markets. These risks, however, are partially mitigated by Blue Heron's geographic proximity to supply sources and its strong competitive position.

Pursuant to the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Blue Heron is obligated to purchase the minimum quantity of steam necessary for the San Gabriel Facility to maintain QF status. The San Gabriel Facility is responsible for makeup water supply and no condensate is returned from Blue Heron. The San Gabriel Facility is obligated to supply up to 45,000 pounds of steam per hour during periods when the gas turbine is in operation. The price payable by Blue Heron for steam is determined by a formula in which: (1) the product of (a) the total quantity of steam (b) the thermal conversion factor and (c) the cost of fuel is (2) added to the cost of (x) water plus (y) the cost of chemicals to treat boiler feedwater plus (z) the actual incremental cost of treating boiler feedwater. Blue Heron is also responsible for all sales, use or other transfer taxes imposed upon the sale of steam under the agreement. Under the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Ripon is obligated to pay liquidated damages for periods of steam supply disruption not permitted by the agreement. This disruption compensation payment is subject to an annual cap and is not considered material. Except for: (a) indemnities related to liabilities resulting from (i) bodily injury, sickness, disease or death of any person, or (ii) damage or destruction of real or personal property; or (b) environmental matters; no party's liability for breach of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement shall exceed $3,000,000.

Other provisions address measurement of steam deliveries, billing and payment, operation of the facility and maintenance of the steam line, events of default and termination, force majeure, insurance, indemnity and dispute resolution which management believes are customary in the industry. Both parties have the right to terminate the San Gabriel Steam Agreement for an event of default by the other party. In addition, Blue Heron has the right to terminate the San Gabriel Steam Agreement in connection with the permanent closure of its newsprint recycling facility. If this permanent closure occurs within the first twelve years of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Blue Heron is obligated to reimburse the San Gabriel Facility for the cost of constructing the steam line interconnecting the Facility and the recycling facility, which reimbursement is reduced in equal amounts annually on the anniversary of the effective date of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement during the first twelve years of the agreement and do one of the following: (a) pay an amount equal to the lesser of (i) the reasonable actual costs incurred in building an alternative steam host at the San Gabriel Facility or (ii) $3 million or (b) provide an alternative steam host for the San Gabriel Facility that will allow the San Gabriel Facility to continue to qualify as a QF and is otherwise acceptable to Ripon. If Blue Heron elects to provide the San Gabriel Facility with an alternative steam host and the steam line continues to be used to provide service to such new steam host, Blue Heron is not obligated to reimburse the San Gabriel Facility for the cost of constructing the steam line.

Fuel

Natural gas is supplied to the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to the Gas Contract described in "Description of the Acquired Facilities — The Ripon Facility — Fuel". The parties currently have in place an agreement (the "San Gabriel Transaction") that provides for BP to supply the full natural gas requirements to the San Gabriel Facility for a term commencing February 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2006. Under the San Gabriel Transaction, BP will supply a contract quantity of 10,000 MMBtus per day to the San Gabriel Facility on a firm basis with the balance of the San Gabriel Facility's gas requirements in excess of the firm contract quantity supplied on an interruptible basis. The San Gabriel Transaction provides that the supply of both the firm and interruptible quantities are priced based on market-based gas price indices. In addition to supplying natural gas to the San Gabriel Facility, BP is designated "balancing agent" and, in that capacity, is responsible for all scheduling, nominations and balancing fuel consumption and deliveries. Imbalances are paid for by the party that created the imbalance. The delivery points under the Gas Contract for the San Gabriel facility are at any receipt point into the distribution system of Southern California Gas Company ("SoCalGas").

Under the San Gabriel Gas Contract, each party has a right to terminate the contract only in circumstances identical to those described in the context of the Ripon Gas Contract in "Description of the Acquired Facilities — The Ripon Facility — Fuel".

Under the San Gabriel Facility PPA, the San Gabriel Facility currently receives energy payments from SCE which correlate with the prices charged by BP under the gas supply contracts, as SCE's SRAC and BP's pricing are both derived from the same gas price indices. After the BP gas supply ends on June 30, 2006, management expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the SCE SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which Ripon will purchase gas although there is a possibility that such correlation will not be complete. Ripon is in discussion with gas suppliers respecting a new gas supply contract to replace the BP agreement upon its expiration which will attempt to maximize the correlation between the purchase price in such gas supply contact with the gas indices used in the SCE SRAC formula.

Natural gas transportation service for the San Gabriel Facility is provided pursuant to a Master Services Contract with SoCalGas that was effective on November 1, 2003, continued for an initial term of two years and continues on a month-to-month basis thereafter unless terminated by either party on no less than twenty days prior written notice. Transportation service is provided under SoCalGas Rate Schedule GT-F which includes both a monthly customer charge and a volumetric charge. The rates may be changed from time to time by the CPUC. Although the transportation service is firm, SoCalGas has the right to curtail service under Rate Schedule GT-F in order to maintain service to certain designated core customers. A customer under Rate Schedule GT-F that experiences an interruption of service more than once in any ten-year period is entitled to a credit against its monthly transportation charge.

Environmental Health and Safety

The San Gabriel Facility and its operations are subject to a regulatory regime including federal, state, regional, local and municipal laws, safety regulations and permits relating to, among other things: air emissions, water, work health and safety, wastewater treatment and site contamination. Management believes that the San Gabriel Facility has obtained and is currently in material compliance with, the material environmental permits and approvals (or timely applied for renewal of) currently necessary to operate the San Gabriel Facility. A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment was completed in 2003 and nothing of significant concern was identified relative to potential soil or groundwater contamination.

Site Rights and Expansion Opportunities

The site upon which the San Gabriel Facility is located is owned by Ripon. The site consists of approximately two acres located within the former Pomona paper mill site. The paper mill site has been converted to other industrial uses. Ripon maintains certain easement rights, which are necessary in connection with the operation of the San Gabriel Facility. Being in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, the San Gabriel Facility is well-situated for expansion of its power generating capacity. Electrical and gas interconnections are already in place and capable of handling significantly more flow than is currently being utilized.

Operating & Maintenance

Operation and maintenance services are provided to the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to an operation and maintenance agreement (the "San Gabriel O&M Agreement") dated October 22, 2003. The contract is between Rockland California Partners LLC, (which subsequently merged into Ripon) as the Owner, and NAES, as the operator. The San Gabriel O&M Agreement has a term of seven years expiring on January 27, 2011. Services to be provided by the operator are comprehensive and include all operation and maintenance activities. All employees at the San Gabriel Facility are employed by NAES.

The San Gabriel O&M Agreement provides for payment of reimbursable costs, operating costs and an operator payment on a monthly basis. Reimbursable costs include such items as relocation and recruitment expenses for on-site personnel and the cost of operator's insurance. Operating costs include equipment, material supplies, consumables, spare parts, office expenses, utilities, training, contractors, permit fees, payroll and other similar costs. The operator payment includes a management fee, project management fee and an incentive payment.

GE Engine Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of engine failure, Ripon has entered into a service lease agreement for the San Gabriel Facility with GE (the "San Gabriel GE Lease") under which GE is to repair or deliver a replacement engine to Ripon within certain specified time periods after notice from Ripon of an engine failure. Under the San Gabriel GE Lease, Ripon pays an annual fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement engine is used. The San Gabriel GE Lease runs through July 31, 2007 but may be terminated by either party in the event of a material breach by the other party. The San Gabriel GE Lease provides for liquidated damages in the event GE fails to perform subject to caps and limitations.

IHI Turbine Sub-Assembly Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of turbine failure, Ripon has entered into a turbine sub-assembly lease agreement for the San Gabriel Facility with IHI (the "San Gabriel IHI Lease") under which IHI is providing replacement parts for the turbine sub-assembly on-site. Under the San Gabriel IHI Lease, Ripon pays a base fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement turbine sub-assembly is used based on a fee schedule. The San Gabriel IHI Lease runs through April 30, 2009 and automatically renews for one additional 5 year term unless either party provides the other party with written notice of its intention not to renew. The San Gabriel IHI Lease may be terminated by either party for convenience with six months written notice or in the case of a breach by the other party. The San Gabriel IHI Lease contains certain limitations on IHI's liability for failure to perform.

INDEPENDENT ENGINEERS' REPORT

Stone and Webster Consultants were retained by the Fund to conduct an independent engineering due diligence assessment of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities.

In its report (the "Stone and Webster Report") dated June 28, 2005, Stone and Webster presented the results of its technical review of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities based on: (i) extended site visits; (ii) a review of the data, information and analyses made available to Stone and Webster Consultants; and (iii) Stone and Webster Consultants knowledge and experience with electric generating facilities of the same type as the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. Stone and Webster Consultants provided assistance and consulting services to the Fund in the following areas: (i) assessment of the condition of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities; (ii) analysis of recent improvements and major maintenance activities; (iii) review of the performance and reliability of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities; (iv) evaluation of the operation and maintenance costs; (v) remaining life assessment beyond the initial PPA contract terms; (vi) assessment of the environmental condition, compliance history, and performance requirements; and (vii) technical requirements in the revenue contracts.

The following is a summary of the principal conclusions contained in the Stone and Webster Report. For a complete understanding of the estimates, assumptions, and calculations upon which these findings and conclusions are based, the Stone and Webster Report, available on SEDAR, should be read in its entirety.

(a) The technology employed to generate electricity and steam is based on the combustion of natural gas in a LM5000 aeroderivative combustion turbine generator supplied by GE. The steam is produced in a waste heat boiler. The technology is simple in operation and has a proven track record. The LM5000 has experienced a number of mechanical issues in its lifetime, typical of most power generation equipment. It is believed that GE has addressed these problems via various technical solutions. However, a vigilant maintenance program is essential in ensuring timely identification of wear and stress prior to failure of stressed components.

(b) The two keys to the reliable operation of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are a comprehensive inspection and maintenance program and the replacement engine lease program with GE. In addition, an additional replacement equipment agreement was entered into with IHI for the power turbine and related equipment. A review of the last five years of operating history indicates a highly reliable operation.

(c) The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are of a relatively simple design. Aside from the combustion and power turbines, the major components include the generator, the heat recovery steam generator, gas compressors, and water treatment equipment. A review of the last five years of operating records has not revealed any significant deterioration of the condition or performance of this equipment.

(d) Recent capital improvements to the Ripon Facility include the inlet air chiller, replacement auxiliary boiler, and auxiliary boiler low nitrogen oxides ("NOx") burner retrofits. The San Gabriel Facility has had a low NOx burner retrofit, a control system upgrade, and the implementation of full steam injection into the combustion turbines. These improvements have allowed additional generation, mitigated risks, or addressed environmental requirements.

(e) The maximum net output of the Ripon Facility is 49 MW and it has averaged between 43 MW and 46 MW on an annual average basis. The maximum net output of the San Gabriel Facility was 41 MW prior to the recent steam injection upgrade. The average annual output has been 38.6 MW. Since the steam injection upgrade, the net output of the facility has increased by 1.5 to 2 MW.

(f) The thermal efficiency or heat rate of both facilities is tied to the combustion turbine performance and the use of supplemental natural gas for raising additional steam. For the Ripon Facility, the annual average heat rate has ranged from approximately 9,350 Btu/kWh to 9,500 Btu/kWh. This range is expected to continue. For the San Gabriel Facility, the annual average heat rate has ranged from 9,850 Btu/kWh to 10,150 Btu/kWh. The recent upgrades at the San Gabriel Facility combined with operational improvements should reduce the heat rate somewhat.

(g) Operation and maintenance of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities is performed by a third party operator, NAES. NAES is an experienced operator with sufficient experience in the operation of gas-fired combustion turbine facilities to properly operate the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities.

(h) Major maintenance appears to have been performed on a regular basis with recent overhauls completed on both combustion turbines.

(i) The Ripon PPA is a Standard Offer #4 Agreement with PG&E. In order to receive capacity payments, the facility must supply 42 MW of capacity to PG&E. Capacity bonus payments can be realized if the capacity factor during the summer months (June through August) average at least 85% over a period of time. The Ripon Facility is capable of achieving its full capacity payment and most of the available capacity bonus payment.

(j) The San Gabriel PPA is a Standard Offer #2 Agreement with SCE. In order to receive capacity payments, the facility must supply 36 MW of capacity to SCE. Capacity bonus payments can be realized if the capacity factor during the summer months (June through September) average at least 85% over a period of time. The San Gabriel Facility is capable of achieving its full capacity payment and most of the available capacity bonus payment.

(k) Both facilities operate as QFs under the cogeneration facility provisions of PURPA. Based on data provided by the existing owners, both the facilities have met the efficiency and operating standards as established by FERC.

(l) Both the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have a remaining useful life at least through the end of the PPA terms. In addition, with appropriate maintenance and capital investment, it is believed that the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are capable of operating for at least 20 more years.

(m) The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities both exclusively fire natural gas. Natural gas is an inherently clean fuel with very low sulphur and particulate emissions. Both Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities use state-of-the-art technology for the control of NOx emissions both from the combustion turbines, the Ripon Facility's auxiliary boiler, and the San Gabriel Facility's duct burners.

(n) The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have valid operating permits, or are operating under permit application shields. The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have been operated in material compliance with their respective permit requirements. Several Notices of Violation have been issued over the last four years, most recently in May 2005 for the San Gabriel Facility. These notices of violation have been relatively minor in nature and have been satisfactorily addressed.

Notes:

(1) Distributable Cash and Adjusted Distributable Cash are not measures under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. The Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis. Management believes that distributable cash is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the performance of an income trust and its ability to generate cash for distributions through ongoing operations.

(2) After giving effect to the Acquistion and the Offering.

(3) Canadian GAAP requires separate accounting for the equity and liability component of the Debentures. Included in the interest expense on the pro forma consolidated statement of income for the year ended December 31, 2004, is a non-cash charge related to the accretion of the liability component of the Debentures of $220.

(4) Purchases of capital assets for regular operations are non-expansionary capital expenditures. Total capital expenditures for the period noted above was $3,721 for the year ended December 31, 2004.

(5) As the timing of the receipt of the royalty interest income earned in a period is dependent upon the timing and extent of equity distributions made by USEB to its shareholders, royalty interest income will only be included in the calculation of distributable cash when payments related to the royalty interest are received from USEB. This method of calculating distributable cash was adopted retroactively in the three-month period ended March 31, 2005. Prior to January 1, 2005, distributable cash included royalty interest income as earned.

(6) Adjustment reflects additional costs that the Fund expects to incur as a result of the investment in Ripon which is not accounted for in the pro forma consolidated financial statements of the Fund for the year ended December 31, 2004 as presented in this prospectus.

(7) Assumes that 4,720,000 units are issued in connection with this prospectus.

(8) The Fund announced an increase in distributions to $1.035 on an annualized basis on September 23, 2005.

Distributions are declared quarterly and payable to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month, and are paid on the last day of the month following the declaration, or if that is not a business day, the immediately following business day. On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in monthly distributions of $0.01 per Unit annually.

EARNINGS COVERAGE RATIO

The pro forma earnings coverage ratio set forth below has been prepared using pro forma financial information which has been prepared in accordance with Canadian GAAP. The pro forma earnings assume that there are no additional earnings derived from the net proceeds of the sale of the Debentures. Earnings coverage is equal to net income before interest expense on all long term debt and income taxes.

In accordance with the presentation and measurement requirements of Canadian GAAP and after giving effect to the Offering and the Acquisition, the Fund's pro forma interest requirements would have amounted to $7,072,000 and $7,217,000 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005, respectively. The Fund's pro forma earnings before interest and income tax for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005, respectively, would have been approximately $17,353,000 and $15,818,000, which is 2.45 and 2.19 times the Fund's pro forma interest requirements for the period.

The calculations in the previous paragraph include in the pro forma interest requirements, the accretion of the liability component of the convertible debentures of $220,000 and $222,000 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 respectively. If the Debentures had been accounted for in their entirety as debt for the purpose of calculating the pro forma earnings coverage ratio above, the interest requirements would have excluded the accretion charge of $220,000 and $222,000 respectively. The Fund's pro forma interest requirements would have amounted to $6,852,000 and $6,995,000 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 respectively. The Fund's pro forma earnings before interest and income tax for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 would have been the same as reflected in the above calculation, which is $17,353,000 and $15,818,000 respectively, which would have been 2.53 and 2.26 times the Fund's pro forma interest requirements for the period.

USE OF PROCEEDS

The gross proceeds from the Offering of approximately $44 million of Units and US$55 million aggregate principal amount of Debentures will be used by the Issuer, directly or indirectly, for the following purposes and U.S. dollar amounts are converted to Canadian dollars at the October 25, 2005 exchange rate:

1. The Fund will use the proceeds from the issuance of Units to: (i) subscribe for common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes; and (ii) pay underwriting commissions and other transaction expenses of approximately $3.2 million.
2. Countryside Canada will use the proceeds from the issuance of the Debentures and the subscription by the Fund for common shares and Countryside Canada Notes to: (i) repay the Countryside Acquisition Loan and make an intercompany loan to Countryside Acquisition; (ii) subscribe for the Countryside Holding Note (as described below); (iii) pay underwriting commissions of approximately $2.6 million; and (iv) subscribe for common shares of Countryside Holding.
3. Countryside Acquisition will use the proceeds from the repayment of the Countryside Acquisition Loan and the intercompany loan provided by Countryside Canada to repay approximately $32 million of the outstanding balance under the Amended Credit Facility.
4. Countryside Holding will use the proceeds from the subscription by Countryside Canada for common shares and the Countryside Holding Note (as described below) to: (i) acquire the Ripon Loan; (ii) pay transaction expenses of approximately $1.5 million (including swap breakage fees of US$425,000 in connection with the Ripon Loan); and (iii) fund general working capital expenses.

Executives

The Manager will be required to provide the services of three qualified individuals with significant experience in the energy and utility infrastructure industry who, in their capacity as officers of the Manager, will provide services that would customarily be provided by senior officers of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and its affiliates (together, the "Executives"). Appointments by the Manager to provide such services will be subject to the approval of the directors of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada, which approval shall not unreasonably be withheld. If any Executive ceases to be an Executive, the directors of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will be provided with prompt notice of this change and will be permitted to participate in the recruitment and identification of a replacement individual. In carrying out their duties on behalf of the Manager under the Management Agreement, the Executives will act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada and will exercise the care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

Restrictions on Manager's Powers and Authorities

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, a number of material actions may not be authorized by the Manager without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Holding and, if services are being provided to Countryside Canada at the request of Countryside Canada, without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Canada. These include: (i) adopting or amending the annual budget of the Fund or taking any action that would be reasonably likely to cause a material deviation from the annual budget; (ii) taking, initiating or consenting to any action that would be reasonably likely to result in a material deviation from the Distributable Cash forecast; (iii) in one or in a series of related transactions, disposing of or consenting to the disposition of any of Countryside Holding's or, if applicable, Countryside Canada's assets with a value in excess of 1% of the gross assets of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and their subsidiaries at the time of such disposition; (iv) raising capital or debt by way of an issuance of securities of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada; or (v) in one or in a series of related transactions, acquiring any material assets or making any material investments by or on behalf of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada, in each case, with a value in excess of 1% of the gross assets of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries at the time of such acquisition or investment. Without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Holding (and, if applicable, Countryside Canada) who are independent of the Manager and its affiliates, the Manager shall not (i) enter into any material transaction with the Manager or an affiliate of the Manager; or (ii) amend any terms of the Management Agreement.

Fees and Payment of Expenses

(i) Base Fee

In consideration for providing the management and administrative services under the Management Agreement, the Manager shall be entitled to reimbursement from Countryside Holding and, to the extent the Manager provides services to Countryside Canada at its request, Countryside Canada, of all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the Manager and its affiliates in carrying out the services described above so long as such costs and expenses are incurred in accordance with the annual budget of the Fund and are otherwise permitted or required under the Management Agreement. The Manager shall not be reimbursed under the Management Agreement for the costs and expenses incurred in connection with the origination, structuring or development of energy and utility infrastructure projects except as expressly set out below. Unless otherwise agreed between the parties, the Manager shall be entitled to a minimum aggregate expense reimbursement of US$775,000, representing the annual compensation paid to the Executives (the "Base Salary"), as well as all associated costs, including wage burden and the cost of providing benefits to the executives (collectively the "Base Compensation"). Countryside Holding made an initial reimbursement payment to the Manager upon the execution and delivery of the Management Agreement equal to (i) the amount Countryside Holding would have been obligated to reimburse the Manager for annual base wage compensation and all associated costs if the Management Agreement had been effective for the period from July 1, 2005 to November 1, 2005; less (ii) the amount of payments actually made and to be made by Countryside U.S. Power, Inc. for salaries and all associated costs for the current executive officers for such period. The Base Compensation will be subject to annual review and periodic adjustment as negotiated and agreed to in good faith by the directors of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and the Manager from time to time and subject to independent reviews by third party compensation experts. The Manager shall also be entitled to reimbursement of expenses incurred in good faith in the origination, development and structuring of Development Assets (as defined below), on a cost recovery basis, for investment opportunities in which Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates commit to invest in accordance with the Management Agreement (including the acquisition of Ripon Power). The Manager will not be reimbursed for costs and expenses incurred in connection with the origination, structuring and development of assets or projects that Countryside does not commit to invest in or acquire under the Management Agreement; provided that, if Countryside does commit to invest in or acquire an asset or project and, for whatever reason, such investment or acquisition is not completed, the Manager and Countryside shall share equally in the expenses incurred until the date of commitment.

(ii) Short-Term Incentive Plan

In addition to the Base Compensation and other expense reimbursement, Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, will also reimburse the Manager for payments made by the Manager to the Executives under a short-term incentive plan ("STIP") to be adopted by the Manager that is consistent with the terms and conditions of the Management Agreement. Countryside Holding, and if applicable, Countryside Canada will reimburse the Manager an amount in respect of the STIP equal to 50% of the Base Compensation ("STIP Pool"), provided that payments will be made based on: (i) meeting certain objectives relating to managing Countryside that are recommended annually by the Manager and subject to the approval of the directors of Countryside Holding and, if applicable, the compensation committee of Countryside Canada in their discretion (the "Operating Objectives"); and (ii) successfully sourcing and consummating an acquisition or investment on behalf of Countryside (the "Acquisition Objective"). In each year, 25% and 75% of the STIP Pool will be available to reimburse the Manager for payments made for achieving the Operating Objectives and the Acquisition Objective, respectively. However, the payment to reimburse the Manager for meeting the Acquisition Objective shall not be less than US$291,000 in each year. The STIP Pool is non-cumulative from year to year. The Manager will be reimbursed by Countryside Holding and/or Countryside Canada: (i) for meeting the Operating Objectives, by payment of both freely tradeable Units and cash; and (ii) for meeting the Acquisition Objective (including the acquisition of Ripon) by cash payment only, in accordance with the conditions described in the Management Agreement. Any Units delivered to the Executives under the STIP will be required to be held until the earlier of the termination of the Management Agreement or the termination of the Executive's involvement with the Manager.

(iii) Long-Term Incentive Plan

The Manager or a designated affiliate will be entitled to receive a long-term incentive plan payment (the "LTIP Interest") in the form of a subordinated interest in each new asset, company or investment (including Ripon Power) acquired or made, directly or indirectly, by Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates and originated, structured or developed through the efforts of the Manager or an Affiliate of the Manager (a "Development Asset"). At the time of approval of any acquisition of, or investment in, a Development Asset by the directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, the Manager will submit to the applicable directors a calculation of the base level distribution (the "Base Level Distribution") that is required to be paid to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) by the Development Asset to reflect the cost of interest payments on third party debt incurred, and unitholder distributions on equity raised, to fund the purchase of the Development Asset. The directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will approve the Base Level Distribution at the time of the approval of the acquisition of a Development Asset or the associated financing, subject to adjustment based on the actual pricing achieved at closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset or the associated financing transaction. The Manager or its applicable affiliate will be entitled to a distribution from the Development Asset of operating cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made by the Development Asset in excess of the Base Level Distribution. Payments to the Manager will be made at the same time as the distribution is made to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable). In the event that a Development Asset owned by Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable) makes a distribution of proceeds from capital transactions such as asset sales or recapitalizations, the Manager will be entitled to a 25% share of the capital distribution in excess of an amount required to be paid to Countryside Holding or Countryside

Canada or their subsidiary to repay its equity and debt investment in the Development Asset. In the event that, at any time, the Fund reduces its monthly distribution on Units due to a shortfall in Distributable Cash to an amount of less than $0.0854 per unit, up to 25% of the distributions under the aggregate LTIP Interest to be paid during any month in which a shortfall exists shall be subject to reduction to fund the shortfall. For any month that distributions to unitholders of the Fund are equal to or in excess of $0.0854 per unit, no reductions of the LTIP Interest shall be made.

(iv) Exchange Options

Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (if applicable) will have an option ("Exchange Option") to acquire all or part of the Manager's LTIP Interest in any Development Asset by paying to the Manager unrestricted and freely tradable Units at any time after 24 months of the date of closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset, at a price equal to the average annualized distributions (including distributed cash and undistributed cash held in the entity owning the Development Asset) which the Manager is entitled to receive under the applicable project agreements described in the Management Agreement from the associated LTIP Interest divided by the yield on Units on the date of exercise of the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price. The Manager will have an Exchange Option to convert all or part of an LTIP Interest in any Development Asset on the basis set out above unless there is a Change of Control in which case the Manager may exercise the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price within 12 months of such Change of Control. In the event that Countryside decides to engage in a transaction respecting any Development Asset that would constitute a change of control as to such Development Asset or the entity owning such Development Asset and in which the Manager retains an LTIP Interest, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have the option of acquiring such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset) and the Manager will have the option of exchanging such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset).

Right of First Opportunity

The Manager and its affiliates will provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with the first opportunity to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria for Countryside and the Fund (an "Acquisition Opportunity") that it: (i) develops (whether on behalf of Countryside or not); or (ii) owns or controls, provided that no right of first opportunity will be required to be provided for an Acquisition Opportunity if the terms of any agreement governing the Acquisition Opportunity prevent the Manager or its affiliate from providing such right. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have a period of 30 calendar days, from and including the date it receives notice of the Acquisition Opportunity, to advise the Manager or its affiliate that it wishes to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity. If Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, does not provide notice of its intention to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity within 30 calendar days of the date of notice by the Manager, the Manager will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has a period of 60 days of such notice to enter into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity once it commits to such Acquisition Opportunity provided that Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada will notify the Manager promptly if it decides to cease pursuit of the opportunity prior to the expiration of such 60 day period. If Countryside has not entered into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity during such period or provides notice that it no longer wishes to pursue the opportunity, the Manager or its affiliates will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account, subject to certain reimbursement obligations with respect to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable). If the Manager or its affiliate has provided Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with an opportunity to purchase an Acquisition Opportunity and Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, decided not to invest in such opportunity or did not enter into a binding agreement of purchase and sale within the prescribed time, the Manager shall not be obligated to provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada with a further right of first opportunity to invest in such Acquisition Opportunity in the event that the Manager invested in, or otherwise acquired an interest in or proceeded to develop, such Acquisition Opportunity. The Manager is

Canada or their subsidiary to repay its equity and debt investment in the Development Asset. In the event that, at any time, the Fund reduces its monthly distribution on Units due to a shortfall in Distributable Cash to an amount of less than $0.0854 per unit, up to 25% of the distributions under the aggregate LTIP Interest to be paid during any month in which a shortfall exists shall be subject to reduction to fund the shortfall. For any month that distributions to unitholders of the Fund are equal to or in excess of $0.0854 per unit, no reductions of the LTIP Interest shall be made.

(iv) Exchange Options

Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (if applicable) will have an option ("Exchange Option") to acquire all or part of the Manager's LTIP Interest in any Development Asset by paying to the Manager unrestricted and freely tradable Units at any time after 24 months of the date of closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset, at a price equal to the average annualized distributions (including distributed cash and undistributed cash held in the entity owning the Development Asset) which the Manager is entitled to receive under the applicable project agreements described in the Management Agreement from the associated LTIP Interest divided by the yield on Units on the date of exercise of the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price. The Manager will have an Exchange Option to convert all or part of an LTIP Interest in any Development Asset on the basis set out above unless there is a Change of Control in which case the Manager may exercise the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price within 12 months of such Change of Control. In the event that Countryside decides to engage in a transaction respecting any Development Asset that would constitute a change of control as to such Development Asset or the entity owning such Development Asset and in which the Manager retains an LTIP Interest, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have the option of acquiring such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset) and the Manager will have the option of exchanging such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset).

Right of First Opportunity

The Manager and its affiliates will provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with the first opportunity to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria for Countryside and the Fund (an "Acquisition Opportunity") that it: (i) develops (whether on behalf of Countryside or not); or (ii) owns or controls, provided that no right of first opportunity will be required to be provided for an Acquisition Opportunity if the terms of any agreement governing the Acquisition Opportunity prevent the Manager or its affiliate from providing such right. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have a period of 30 calendar days, from and including the date it receives notice of the Acquisition Opportunity, to advise the Manager or its affiliate that it wishes to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity. If Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, does not provide notice of its intention to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity within 30 calendar days of the date of notice by the Manager, the Manager will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has a period of 60 days of such notice to enter into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity once it commits to such Acquisition Opportunity provided that Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada will notify the Manager promptly if it decides to cease pursuit of the opportunity prior to the expiration of such 60 day period. If Countryside has not entered into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity during such period or provides notice that it no longer wishes to pursue the opportunity, the Manager or its affiliates will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account, subject to certain reimbursement obligations with respect to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable). If the Manager or its affiliate has provided Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with an opportunity to purchase an Acquisition Opportunity and Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, decided not to invest in such opportunity or did not enter into a binding agreement of purchase and sale within the prescribed time, the Manager shall not be obligated to provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada with a further right of first opportunity to invest in such Acquisition Opportunity in the event that the Manager invested in, or otherwise acquired an interest in or proceeded to develop, such Acquisition Opportunity. The Manager is required to keep the directors of Countryside Holding informed of all potential Acquisition Opportunities it is pursuing and is required to provide quarterly updates to the directors of Countryside Holding on such activities.

Term and Termination

The Management Agreement will have an initial 20-year term and will be automatically renewed for additional five-year terms unless, at least six months prior to the expiration of the then current term, a majority of the directors of each of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada who are independent of the Manager determine that the Management Agreement will not be renewed and notify the Manager accordingly. The Manager shall have the right to immediately terminate the Management Agreement in circumstances of: (i) bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada; or (ii) a default by Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada in the performance of a material obligation under this Agreement (other than as a result of the occurrence of a force majeure event) which is not cured within 60 days of written notice being given by the Manager to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada of the default (subject to certain exceptions) or if such default is not reasonably capable of being cured within 60 days, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has not taken all reasonable steps to cure such default as soon as possible thereafter but in any event within 128 days. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada shall have the right to immediately terminate the Management Agreement in circumstances of: (i) bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of the Manager; (ii) fraud, wilful default or gross negligence committed by the Manager; or (iii) default by the Manager in the performance of a material obligation under this Agreement (other than as a result of the occurrence of a force majeure event) which is not cured within 60 days of written notice being given by Countryside to the Manager of the default, or if such default is not reasonably capable of being cured within 60 days, the Manager has not taken all reasonable steps to cure such default as soon as possible thereafter but in any event within 128 days.

In addition, the Manager may terminate the Management Agreement (i) at any time after the first five years of the term of the Agreement or (ii) at any time within one year of a Change of Control, upon 180 days' written notice to Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada. In the event of such a termination, the Manager will be entitled to reimbursement from Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada for actual reasonable costs associated with termination. Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will have the right to jointly terminate the Management Agreement at any time after the first five years of the term of the Management Agreement with the payment to the Manager of a fee equal to (i) its actual costs associated with the termination plus an amount equal to two times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving the Operating Objectives or, (ii) if such termination occurs within 12 months of a Change of Control, 2.9 times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving certain stated operating objectives. In the event of a Change of Control, Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will have the right to jointly terminate the Agreement at any time with the payment to the Manager of a fee calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Management Agreement. Termination of the Management Agreement will not affect, among other things, the Exchange Options (subject to certain specified exceptions) or payment obligations of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada, under the LTIP. On termination of the Management Agreement, any LTIP Interest outstanding at that time shall continue for a period expiring on the date that is 20 years from the date of acquisition of the Development Asset for which the LTIP Interest was issued.

Administration Agreement

Under the Administration Agreement, the Administrator will be engaged to provide or cause to be provided management and administrative services to the Fund and Countryside Canada. The Administrator shall be responsible for providing the following services to the Fund and Countryside Canada: (i) monitoring and managing the investments and operations of the Fund and Countryside Canada and reporting to the Trustees and the directors of Countryside Canada with respect thereto (provided that it is acknowledged that the Administrator is not responsible for operating the Business); (ii) submitting all annual audited and interim unaudited financial statements of the Fund, income tax returns and filings to the Trustees in sufficient time prior to the dates upon which they must be delivered to unitholders and/or filed so that the Trustees have a reasonable opportunity to review them, approve them and return them to the Administrator, and arrange for their delivery to unitholders and/or filing within the time required by applicable law; (iii) ensuring compliance by the Fund with all applicable securities laws; providing investor relations services to the Fund; preparing and providing or causing to be provided to unitholders on a timely basis all information to which unitholders are entitled under the declaration of trust of the Fund and under applicable law, including quarterly and annual reports, notices, financial statements and tax information relating to the Fund; (iv) ensuring compliance with the Fund's limitations on foreign ownership; (v) assisting the Trustees in connection with any offerings of Units, including preparing any prospectus or comparable documents of the Fund to qualify the distribution of securities of the Fund from time to time; (vi) assisting Countryside Canada with the analysis of potential acquisitions, investments and dispositions and reporting to the directors of Countryside Canada with respect thereto; (vii) at the direction of the directors of Countryside Canada, assisting with the making of acquisitions, investments and dispositions; (viii) planning and coordinating meetings of the Trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada; and (ix) providing such other management and administrative services as the Fund and Countryside Canada may reasonably require as may be agreed to from time to time between the parties.

In carrying out the services described above, the Administrator and its affiliates will be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund and Countryside Canada of all costs and expenses incurred in connection therewith. The Administrator shall discharge the duties conferred upon it hereunder with the same degree of diligence and care that a reasonably prudent manager and administrator of a business substantially similar to the Business, and having responsibilities of a similar nature to those hereunder, would exercise in comparable circumstances.

The Administration Agreement shall remain in effect for so long as the Management Agreement remains in effect. The Administration Agreement may be terminated by either the Administrator or the Fund and Countryside Canada if the other party commits an event of default described under "— Management Agreement" above. In addition, the Administrator may terminate the Administration Agreement upon 180 days' written notice to the Fund and Countryside Canada. The Fund and Countryside Canada will have the right to jointly terminate the Administration Agreement at any time after the first five years.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FUND

Declaration of Trust

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to the Declaration of Trust. It is intended that the Fund will qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for the purposes of the Tax Act. The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the Units and certain provisions of the Declaration of Trust, which summary is not intended to be complete. Reference is made to the Declaration of Trust for a complete description of the Units and the full text of its provisions.

Activities of the Fund

The Declaration of Trust provides that the Fund is restricted to:

(i) acquiring, investing in, transferring, disposing of and otherwise dealing with securities of Countryside Canada and other corporations, partnerships, trusts or other persons engaged, directly or indirectly, in the business of energy generation, as well as activities ancillary thereto, and such other investments as the Trustees may determine;

(ii) temporarily holding cash in interest-bearing accounts, short-term government debt or short-term investment grade corporate debt for the purposes of paying the expenses and liabilities of the Fund, paying amounts payable by the Fund in connection with the redemption of any Units or other securities of the Fund and making distributions to Unitholders;

(iii) issuing Units and other securities of the Fund (including securities convertible or exchangeable into Units, or warrants, options or other rights to acquire Units or other securities of the Fund) (a) for obtaining funds to conduct the activities of the Fund, including raising funds for acquisitions and development; (b) in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution; or (c) pursuant to any distribution reinvestment plans, long-term incentive plan or other compensation plans, if any, established by the Fund, Countryside Canada or their respective subsidiaries;

(iv) issuing debt securities (including debt securities convertible into, or exchangeable for, Units or other securities of the Fund) or otherwise borrowing and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering any of its assets as security;

(v) guaranteeing the payment of any indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Fund, Countryside Canada or any of their respective subsidiaries or the performance of any obligation of any of them, and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering all or any part of its assets as security for such guarantee, and subordinating its rights under the Countryside Canada Notes to other indebtedness;

(vi) disposing of any part of the assets of the Fund;

(vii) issuing or redeeming rights and Units pursuant to any Unitholder rights plan adopted by the Fund;

(viii) repurchasing securities issued by the Fund, subject to the provisions of the Declaration of Trust and applicable laws;

(ix) satisfying the obligations, liabilities or indebtedness of the Fund; and

(x) undertaking all other usual and customary actions for the conduct of the activities of the Fund in the ordinary course as are approved by the Trustees from time to time, or as are contemplated by the Declaration of Trust, provided the Fund will not undertake any activity, take any action, omit to take any action or make any investment which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act, or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Issuance of Units

The Declaration of Trust provides that Units may be issued at those times, to those persons, for that consideration and on the terms and conditions that the Trustees determine. Units may be issued in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution of the Fund to Unitholders on a pro rata basis. The Declaration of Trust also provides that immediately after any pro rata distribution of Units to all Unitholders in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution, the number of outstanding Units will be consolidated so that each Unitholder will hold after the consolidation the same number of Units as the Unitholder held before the non-cash distribution. In this case, each certificate representing a number of Units prior to the non-cash distribution is deemed to represent the same number of Units after the non-cash distribution and the consolidation. Where amounts so distributed represent income, non-resident holders will be subject to withholding tax thereon and the consolidation will not result in those non-resident Unitholders holding the same number of Units. Such non-resident Unitholders will be required to surrender the certificates, if any, representing their original Units in exchange for a certificate representing their post-consolidation Units.

The Trustees may refuse to allow the issue or register the transfer of any Units, where such issuance or transfer would, in their opinion, adversely affect the treatment of the Fund or the companies in which it invests under applicable Canadian and/or U.S. tax legislation. See "— Limitation on Non-Resident Ownership" and "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations".

As of the date of this prospectus, there are 14,905,366 Units issued and outstanding. To the knowledge of management, based on publicly available filings, the following persons beneficially own, or exercise control or direction over, securities carrying more than 10% of the votes attached to the issued and outstanding Units: (i) Bloom Investment Counsel, Inc. (1,730,000 Units) and Sentry Select Capital Corp. (1,595,502 Units).

Cash Distributions

The Fund makes monthly cash distributions on a per Unit basis to the Unitholders equal to a pro rata share of interest and principal repayments on the Countryside Canada Notes and dividends or distributions on or in respect of the common shares of Countryside Canada owned by the Fund, less:

- administrative expenses and other obligations of the Fund;
- amounts which may be paid by the Fund in connection with any cash redemptions of Units; and
- any tax liability of the Fund.

Under the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, interest is accrued at 10.95% and is to be paid monthly within 32 days following the end of each month. The Fund will make additional distributions in excess of the monthly distributions during the year to the extent of available cash, as determined by the Trustees.

Any income of the Fund which is applied to any cash redemptions of Units, or is otherwise unavailable for cash distribution will be distributed to Unitholders in the form of additional Units. Those additional Units will be issued under applicable exemptions under applicable securities laws, discretionary exemptions granted by applicable securities regulatory authorities or a prospectus or similar filing. See "— Issuance of Units".

Monthly distributions are declared quarterly and payable to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month and are expected to be paid to Unitholders on the last day of the month following the declaration, or if that day is not a business day, the immediately following business day. In all events, any cash, securities, or other property received by the Fund upon the sale, exchange, redemption, cancellation, or other disposition of securities of Countryside Canada will, after appropriate deductions for expenses, be promptly distributed.

Holders of Units who are non-residents of Canada will be required to pay all withholding taxes payable in respect of any distributions of income by the Fund, whether those distributions are in the form of cash or additional Units. Non-residents of Canada should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of investing in the Units.

Redemption Right

Units are redeemable at any time on demand by the holders. As the Units will be issued in book entry form (see "— Book-Entry Only System"), a Unitholder who wishes to exercise the redemption right will be required to obtain a redemption notice form from the Unitholder's investment dealer or broker who will be required to deliver the completed redemption notice form to the Fund at its head office and to CDS which will, in turn, be required to forward it to the Fund. Upon receipt of the redemption notice by the Fund, all rights to and under the Units tendered for redemption will be surrendered. If the holder has elected a redemption in cash, subject to the limitations discussed below, the holder will be entitled to receive a price per Unit (the "redemption price") equal to the lesser of:

- 90% of the "market price" of the Units on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading during the 10-trading day period ending on the date on which the Units were surrendered for redemption (the "redemption date"); and
- 100% of the "closing market price" on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading on the redemption date.

For the purposes of this calculation, "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the closing price of the Units for each of the trading days on which there was a closing price, provided that:

- if the applicable exchange or market does not provide a closing price, but only provides the highest and lowest prices of the Units traded on a particular day, the "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices for each of the trading days on which there was a trade; and
- if there was trading on the applicable exchange or market for fewer than five of the 10 trading days, the "market price" will be the weighted average of the following prices established for each of the 10 trading days: (i) the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units for each day there was no

trading; (ii) the closing price of the Units for each day that there was trading if the exchange or market provides a closing price; and (iii) the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units for each day that there was trading if the market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day.

The "closing market price" for the purpose of the foregoing calculation will be:

- an amount equal to the closing price of the Units if there was a trade on the date and the exchange or market provides a closing price;
- an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units if there was trading and the exchange or other market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day; or
- the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units if there was no trading on that date.

The total redemption price payable by the Fund in respect of all Units surrendered for redemption during any calendar month will be satisfied by way of a cash payment no later than the last day of the month following the month in which the Units were tendered for redemption, provided that Unitholders will not be entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of their Units if:

- the total amount payable by the Fund in respect of those Units and all other Units tendered for redemption in the same calendar month exceeds $50,000, provided that the Trustees may, in their sole discretion, waive this limitation in respect of all Units tendered for redemption in any calendar month;
- at the time the Units are tendered for redemption, the outstanding Units are not listed for trading on a stock exchange or traded or quoted on another market which the Trustees consider, in their sole discretion, provides representative fair market value prices for the Units; or
- the normal trading of Units is suspended or halted on any stock exchange on which the Units are listed (or, if not listed on a stock exchange, on any market on which the Units are quoted for trading) on the redemption date or for more than five trading days during the 10-day trading period commencing immediately after the redemption date.

If a Unitholder is not entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of Units as a result of one or more of the foregoing limitations, then each Unit tendered for redemption will, subject to any applicable regulatory approvals, be redeemed by way of a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes held by the Fund and a pro rata share of the Fund's cash and other property (less a pro rata share of any accrued liabilities of the Fund). The Fund will be entitled to all interest paid on the Countryside Canada Notes and the distributions paid on the common shares of Countryside Canada on or before the date of the distribution in specie. A Unitholder will be entitled to interest that has accrued on the Countryside Canada Notes and has not been paid to the Fund on or before the date of the distribution in specie. Where the Fund makes a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes and any cash and other property held by the Fund on the redemption of Units of a Unitholder, the Fund currently intends to designate to that Unitholder any income or capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of the distribution of those properties to the Unitholder.

It is anticipated that the redemption right described above will not be the primary mechanism for Unitholders to dispose of their Units. Common shares of Countryside Canada and/or Countryside Canada Notes which may be distributed in specie to Unitholders in connection with a redemption will not be listed on any stock exchange and no market is expected to develop in common shares of Countryside Canada or Countryside Canada Notes and they may be subject to resale restrictions under applicable securities laws. Common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other property so distributed may not be qualified investments for trusts governed by a Plan, depending upon the circumstances at the time.

Meetings of Unitholders

The Declaration of Trust provides that meetings of Unitholders will be called and held annually for the election of Trustees and the appointment of auditors of the Fund. The Declaration of Trust provides that the Unitholders will be entitled to pass resolutions that will bind the Fund only with respect to:

- the appointment or removal of Trustees;
- the appointment or removal of nominees of the Fund chosen by the Unitholders to serve as directors of Countryside Canada (except filling casual vacancies);
- the appointment or removal of the auditors of the Fund;
- the appointment of an inspector to investigate the performance by the Trustees in respect of their respective responsibilities and duties in respect of the Fund;
- the approval of amendments to the Declaration of Trust (but only in the manner described below under "— Amendments to the Declaration of Trust");
- the termination of the Fund;
- the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Fund;
- the exercise of certain voting rights attached to the securities of Countryside Canada held by the Fund;
- the termination of the Book-Entry System with respect to the Units;
- the dissolution of the Fund prior to the end of its term; and
- any other matters required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations to be submitted to Unitholders for their approval.

No other action taken by Unitholders or any other resolution of the Unitholders at any meeting will in any way bind the Trustees.

A resolution electing or removing nominees of the Fund to serve as directors of Countryside Canada and a resolution appointing or removing the Trustees or the auditors of the Fund must be passed by a simple majority of the votes cast by Unitholders. Any resolution on a matter which is required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations will be required to be passed in accordance with the requirements of such laws, rules or regulations. The balance of the foregoing matters must be passed by a special resolution requiring two-thirds approval (the "Special Resolution").

A meeting of Unitholders may be convened at any time and for any purpose by the Trustees and must be convened, except in certain circumstances, if requisitioned by the holders of not less than 10% of the Units then outstanding by a written requisition. A requisition must state in reasonable detail the business proposed to be transacted at the meeting.

Unitholders may attend and vote at all meetings of the Unitholders either in person or by proxy and a proxy-holder need not be a Unitholder. Two persons present in person or represented by proxy and representing in total at least 10% of the votes attached to all outstanding Units will constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings.

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions as to the notice required and other procedures with respect to the calling and holding of meetings of Unitholders.

Limitations on Ownership

In order for the Fund to maintain its status as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, the Fund must not be established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents of Canada within the meaning of the Tax Act. Accordingly, the Declaration of Trust provides that at no time may non-residents of Canada be the beneficial owners of more than 49% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis). In addition, in order for the Fund to be exempt from the registration requirements as an investment company under the United States Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"), at no time may more than 100 U.S. persons (using the principles for counting set forth in Section 3(c)(1) of the 1940 Act) be the beneficial owners of the Units, nor may any U.S. person be the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units. The Trustees may require declarations as to the jurisdictions in which beneficial owners of Units are resident. If the Trustees become aware that either of the foregoing limitations may be contravened, the Trustees will make a public announcement and will not accept a subscription for Units from or issue or register a transfer of Units to a person unless the person provides a declaration that the person is not a non-resident of Canada. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Trustees determine either that more than 49% of the Units are held by non-residents (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), that more than 100 U.S. persons are beneficial owners of Units, or that any U.S. person is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units, the Trustees may send a notice to the non-resident or U.S. holders of Units, as applicable, chosen in inverse order to the order of acquisition or registration or in any manner as the Trustees may consider equitable and practicable, requiring them to sell their Units or a portion of their Units within a specified period of not less than 60 days. If the Unitholders receiving the notice have not sold the specified number of Units or provided the Trustees with satisfactory evidence that they are not non-residents within that period, the Trustees may, on behalf of those Unitholders, sell those Units and, in the interim, will suspend the voting and distribution rights attached to those Units. Upon that sale, the affected holders will cease to be holders of the Units and their rights will be limited to receiving the net proceeds of the sale.

To avoid having the Fund become subject to the fiduciary and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code, the Declaration of Trust prohibits Units from being beneficially owned by any "ERISA Plan" (which, as described in the glossary to this prospectus, includes plans subject to such statutory provisions and entities that, by regulation, are deemed to hold assets of such plans), and provides that any transferee of beneficial ownership of Units (whether by initial purchase or subsequent transfer) will be deemed to represent to the Fund that it is not an ERISA Plan. Any purported transfer (whether or not the result of a transaction entered into through the facilities of the Toronto Stock Exchange) that, if effective, would result in any ERISA Plan beneficially owning any Units will be void from the date of the purported transfer, and the ERISA Plan that pursuant thereto would purport to have beneficial ownership of the Units will not acquire any interest in the Units. In the event of such a purported transfer, such Units will be transferred to a trust created by Countryside Canada and sold. The ERISA Plan will not have any beneficial interest in the trust, and the ERISA Plan's sole right with respect to the Units that were the subject of the purported transfer to the ERISA Plan will be to receive the net proceeds of sale of such Units by the trust. The Fund may require any person who attempts to acquire Units or who otherwise is purported to beneficially own Units to provide a written statement or affidavit to the Fund stating such information as the Fund may request in order to determine whether such person is an ERISA Plan or not.

Amendments to the Declaration of Trust

The Declaration of Trust may be amended or altered from time to time by the Trustees with the consent of the Unitholders by Special Resolution. The Trustees may, without the approval of the Unitholders, make certain amendments to the Declaration of Trust, including amendments:

- for the purpose of ensuring continuing compliance with applicable laws, regulations, requirements or policies of any governmental authority having jurisdiction over the Trustees or over the Fund;
- for the sole purpose of providing additional protection for the Unitholders, provided that the Trustees receive a legal opinion from legal counsel to this effect and that such additional protection is the sole purpose of such amendment;
- to remove any conflicts or inconsistencies in the Declaration of Trust or to make minor corrections which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable and not prejudicial to the Unitholders;
- which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable as a result of changes in Canadian federal or provincial or United States federal or state taxation laws; and
- to ensure that the Fund continues to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act and that the Units do not constitute "foreign property" for purposes of the Tax Act.

Notwithstanding the previous sentence, the Trustees may not (without a Special Resolution) amend the Declaration of Trust in a manner which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Term of the Fund

The Fund has been established for a term ending 21 years after the date of death of the last surviving issue of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, alive on February 16, 2004. On a date selected by the Trustees which is not more than two years prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Trustees are obligated to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund so that it will terminate on the expiration of the term. In addition, at any time prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Unitholders may by a Special Resolution require the Trustees to commence to wind up the affairs of the Fund.

The Declaration of Trust provides that, upon being required to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund, the Trustees will give notice to the Unitholders, which notice will designate the time or times at which Unitholders may surrender their Units for cancellation and the date at which the register of Units will be closed. After the date the register is closed, the Trustees will proceed to wind-up the affairs of the Fund as soon as may be reasonably practicable. Subject to any direction to the contrary in respect of a termination authorized by a resolution of the Unitholders, the Trustees will sell and convert into money the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes, and all other assets comprising the Fund in one transaction or in a series of transactions at public or private sales and do all other acts appropriate to liquidate the Fund. After paying, retiring, discharging or making provision for the payment, retirement or discharge of all known liabilities and obligations of the Fund and providing for indemnity against any other outstanding liabilities and obligations, the Trustees will distribute the remaining part of the proceeds of the sale of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes and other assets comprising the Fund among the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests. If the Trustees are unable to sell all or any of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other assets comprising the Fund by the date set for termination, the Trustees may distribute the remaining common shares of Countryside Canada, the Countryside Canada Notes or other assets in specie directly to the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests, subject to obtaining all required regulatory approvals.

Take-over Bids

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions to the effect that if a take-over bid is made for all of the Units and the offeror acquires not less than 90% of all outstanding Units (excluding Units held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror), the offeror will be entitled to acquire all Units held by Unitholders who did not accept the take-over bid on the terms offered by the offeror.

Information and Reports

The Fund will furnish to the Unitholders, in accordance with applicable securities laws, all financial statements of the Fund (including quarterly and annual financial statements) and other reports as are from time to time required by applicable law, including prescribed forms needed for the completion of the Unitholders tax returns under the Tax Act and equivalent provincial legislation.

Prior to each meeting of Unitholders, the Trustees will provide to the Unitholders (along with notice of the meeting) all information as is required by applicable law and by the Declaration of Trust to be provided to the Unitholders.

Trustees of the Fund and the directors, senior officers and other insiders of each of Countryside Canada and any other entities owned directly or indirectly by the Fund will be required to file insider reports and comply with insider trading provisions under applicable Canadian securities legislation in respect of trades made by such persons in Units of the Fund.

Book Entry Only System

Registration of interests in and transfers of Units will be made only through a book-based system administered by CDS. On the date of closing of the Offering, the Trustees will deliver to CDS one or more certificates representing the total number of Units subscribed for under the Offering. Units must be purchased, transferred and surrendered for redemption through a participant in the CDS depository service (a "CDS participant"). All rights of the Unitholders must be exercised through, and all payments or other property to which the Unitholder is entitled will be made or delivered by, CDS or the CDS participant through which the Unitholder holds the Units. Upon a purchase of any Units, the Unitholder will receive only a customer confirmation from the registered dealer which is a CDS participant and from or through which the Units are purchased.

The ability of a beneficial owner of Units to pledge those Units or otherwise take action with respect to the Unitholder's interest in those Units (other than through a CDS participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

The Fund has the option of terminating registration of the Units through the book entry system, in which case certificates for the Units in fully registered form would be issued to beneficial owners of those Units or their nominees.

Monitoring of Limitation of Ownership

Because all of the units are held in the name of CDS, it is extremely difficult to monitor ownership by U.S. residents or pension funds on an ongoing basis without undue expense and burden to the Fund. However, the employees of the Fund were notified at the time the Fund's initial public offering was consummated regarding limitations on ownership of Units by U.S. residents. Further, such employees have been advised that U.S. based employees of the Fund may not own Units (except for the Executives of the Manager) and may not encourage U.S. residents to purchase Units. In the event the Trustees or the Administrator learn of transactions or activities which potentially may result in Unit ownership in violation of the limitations described above, it may take further investigatory and remedial actions including those described above.

DESCRIPTION OF THE DEBENTURES

The Debentures will be issued under an indenture, to be dated as of the closing of the Offering (the "Indenture"), between the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Debenture Trustee.

The Debenture Trustee also acts as the trustee for the Countryside Canada Notes issued pursuant to the terms of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture. See "Description of Countryside Canada — Countryside Canada Notes".

The following is a description of the terms of the Indenture, a copy of which will be filed with the Canadian securities regulatory authorities. Capitalized terms used in this "Description of Debentures" section and not otherwise defined have the meanings set forth in the Indenture. The following summary of certain provisions of the Indenture is subject to, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, all the provisions of the Indenture.

General

The Debentures will be limited in the aggregate principal amount to a maximum of US$55 million. The Debentures will be dated as of the closing of the Offering and will mature on October 31, 2012. The Debentures will be issuable only as fully registered Debentures in denominations of US$1,000 and integral multiples thereof. The Debentures will bear interest from the date of issue at a rate of 6.25% per annum payable semi-annually in arrears on April 30 and October 31 in each year, commencing on April 30, 2006. The interest on the Debentures will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America, or at the option of Countryside Canada, by delivery of Units of the Fund to the Debenture Trustee for sale through the facilities of a registered broker/dealer, in which event holders of Debentures will be entitled to receive a cash payment equal to the interest owed from the proceeds of the sale of the requisite number of Units by the Debenture Trustee. The first interest payment will include interest from the date of closing of the Offering up to, but excluding, April 30, 2006.

The principal on the Debentures will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America or, at the option of Countryside Canada and subject to applicable regulatory approval, by delivery of Units as further described below under "— Payment Upon Redemption or Maturity" and "— Redemption and Purchase".

The Debentures will be direct obligations of Countryside Canada and will not be secured by any mortgage, pledge, hypothec or other charge and will rank senior to other liabilities of Countryside Canada as described under "Subordination" below. The Indenture does not restrict Countryside Canada from incurring additional indebtedness for borrowed money or from mortgaging, pledging or charging its properties to secure any indebtedness.

The Debentures will be transferable at, and may be presented for exchange at, the principal offices of the Debenture Trustee in Toronto, Ontario.

Exchange Privilege

The Debentures will be exchangeable at the holder's option into fully-paid, non-assessable and freely-tradeable Units at any time prior to 5:00 p.m. (Toronto time) on the earlier of the Maturity Date and the business day immediately preceding the date specified by Countryside Canada for redemption of the Debentures, at an exchange price of $10.75 per Unit, being an exchange ratio of 109.4884 Units for each US$1,000 principal amount of Debentures. No adjustment will be made to the record dates for distribution of Units issuable on exchange. Debenture holders exchanging their Debentures will receive accrued and unpaid interest thereon up to, but excluding, the date of exchange. Pursuant to the Indenture, a Debenture shall be deemed to be surrendered for exchange on the date on which it is so surrendered in accordance with the provisions of the Indenture and, in the case of a Debenture so surrendered by post or other means of transmission, on the date on which it is received by the Debenture Trustee, provided that if a Debenture is surrendered for exchange on a day on which the register of Units is closed, the Debentureholder entitled to receive Units shall become the holder of record of such Units as at the date on which such register is next reopened. No Debentures may be exchanged during the five business days preceding the last day of April and October in each year commencing April 30, 2006.

Subject to the provisions thereof, the Indenture provides for the adjustment of the Exchange Price in certain events including: (a) the subdivision or consolidation of the outstanding Units; (b) the distribution of Units (or securities convertible into or exchangeable for Units) to all or substantially all holders of Units by way of distribution or dividend, other than an issue of securities to holders of Units who have elected to receive distributions in securities of the Fund in lieu of receiving cash distributions paid in the ordinary course; (c) the issuance of options, rights or warrants to all or substantially all holders of Units entitling them to acquire Units or other securities exchangeable into Units at less than 95% of the then Current Market Price of the Units; and (d) a distribution by the Fund to all or substantially all the holders of outstanding Units of (i) units of any class other than Units and other than units distributed to Unitholders who have elected to receive dividends or distributions in the form of such units in lieu of dividends or distributions paid in the ordinary course, (ii) rights, options, or warrants (excluding rights, options or warrants entitling the holders thereof for a period of not more than 45 days to subscribe for or purchase Units or securities exchangeable into Units), (iii) evidences of its indebtedness, or (iv) assets (excluding dividends or distributions paid in the ordinary course). There will be no adjustment of the Exchange Price in respect of any event described in (a), (b), (c) or (d) above if, subject to prior regulatory approval, Debentureholders are allowed to participate as though they had exchanged their Debentures prior to the applicable record date or effective date. Countryside Canada will not be required to make adjustments in the Exchange Price unless the cumulative effect of such adjustments would change the Exchange Price by at least 1%.

No fractional Units will be issued on any exchange but in lieu thereof Countryside Canada shall satisfy fractional interest by a cash payment equal to the current market price of such fractional interest.

Payment Upon Redemption or Maturity

On redemption or at Maturity, Countryside Canada will repay the indebtedness represented by the Debentures by paying to the Debenture Trustee in lawful money of the United States of America an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Debentures, together with accrued and unpaid interest thereon, or at the option of Countryside Canada, upon at least 30 days' and not more than 60 days' prior notice, by delivery of a number of freely tradeable Units obtained by dividing the principal amount of the Debentures by 95% of the Current Market Price on the redemption date or at Maturity, as applicable.

Redemption and Purchase

The Debentures will not be redeemable on or prior to October 31, 2008. After October 31, 2008 and prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures will be redeemable in whole or in part at the option of Countryside Canada on not more than 60 days and not less than 30 days prior notice at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest, provided that the weighted average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending on the fifth trading day preceding the day prior to the date upon which the notice of redemption is given is at least 125% of the Exchange Price. On or after October 31, 2010, the Debentures will be redeemable prior to Maturity in whole or in part at the option of Countryside Canada on not more than 60 days and not less than 30 days prior notice at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest.

Subject to regulatory approval, Countryside Canada may, at its option, elect to satisfy its obligation to pay the principal amount of the Debentures on redemption or at maturity through, in whole or in part, the delivery of freely-tradeable Units. The Fund will take all actions and do all things necessary or desirable to enable and permit Countryside Canada, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations to deliver the requisite number of Units to the extent holders exercise their exchange right.

Countryside Canada or any of its affiliates will have the right to purchase Debentures in the market, by tender or by private contract, provided however, that if an event of default under the Indenture has occurred and is continuing, Countryside Canada or any of its affiliates will not have the right to purchase Debentures by private contract.

Canadian Withholding Tax

Any holder of Debentures who is not resident in Canada for the purposes of the Tax Act will be subject to withholding tax in respect of any payment or deemed payment of interest thereon. Applicable amounts will be withheld from cash payments of interest or deemed interest by Countryside Canada and used to satisfy this withholding tax obligation. To the extent that any such payment or deemed payment of interest is satisfied by Countryside Canada delivering Units to the non-resident holder, for example, on an exchange of Debentures into Units, Countryside Canada will withhold from the holder a portion of the Units that would have been so delivered to the non-resident holder. These withheld Units will be sold on the TSX and the proceeds from this sale will be used to satisfy the withholding tax obligation. Countryside Canada will be entitled to withhold that number of Units that, when sold on the TSX, will yield cash proceeds (net of applicable expenses) sufficient to satisfy the withholding tax obligation. Any net proceeds from this sale in excess of the withholding tax obligation will be remitted to the non-resident holder of Debentures.

Subordination

The payment of the principal of, and interest on, the Debentures will rank senior to Subordinated Intercompany Debt and subordinate in right of payment, as set forth in the Indenture, to the prior payment in full of all Senior Secured Indebtedness of Countryside Canada. The Debentures will be effectively subordinate to claims of trade creditors of direct or indirect subsidiaries of Countryside Canada. "Subordinated Intercompany Debt" means intercompany debt of Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries. "Senior Secured Indebtedness" of Countryside Canada is defined in the Indenture as all secured indebtedness, liabilities and obligations of Countryside Canada including the indebtedness under the Amended Credit Facility but excluding the Debentures, whether outstanding on the date of the Indenture or thereafter created, incurred, assumed or guaranteed in connection with the acquisition by Countryside Canada of any businesses, properties or other assets or for monies borrowed or raised by whatever means (including, without limitation, by means of commercial paper, banker's acceptances, letters of credit, debt instruments, bank debt and financial leases, and any other secured liability evidenced by bonds, debentures, notes or similar instruments) or in connection with the acquisition of any businesses, properties or other assets or for monies borrowed or raised by whatever means (including, without limitation, by means of commercial paper, banker's acceptances, letters of credit, debt instruments, bank debt and financial leases, and any other secured liability evidenced by bonds, debentures, notes or similar instruments) by others including, without limitation, any subsidiary (as defined in the Securities Act (Ontario)) of Countryside Canada, for payment of which Countryside Canada is responsible or liable, whether absolutely or contingently.

The Indenture shall provide that in the event of any insolvency or bankruptcy proceedings, or any receivership, liquidation, reorganization or other similar proceedings relative to Countryside Canada, or to its property or assets, or in the event of any proceedings for voluntary liquidation, dissolution or other winding-up of Countryside Canada, whether or not involving insolvency or bankruptcy, or any marshalling of the assets and liabilities of Countryside Canada, then those creditors entitled to Senior Secured Indebtedness will receive payment in full before the holders of Debentures will be entitled to receive any payment or distribution of any kind or character, whether in cash, property or securities, which may be payable or deliverable in any such event in respect of any of the Debentures or any unpaid interest accrued thereon. The Indenture also provides that Countryside Canada will not make any payments when an event of default has occurred under the Senior Secured Indebtedness and is continuing.

Priority over Unit Distributions

The Declaration of Trust provides that certain expenses and liabilities of the Fund must be deducted in calculating the amount to be distributed to Unitholders. Accordingly, the funds required to satisfy the interest payable on the Debentures, as well as the amount payable upon redemption or maturity of the Debentures or upon an Event of Default (as defined below), will be deducted and withheld from the amounts that would otherwise be payable as distributions to Unitholders.

Put Right Upon a Change of Control

Upon the occurrence of a change of control of the Fund involving the acquisition of voting control or direction over 66⅔% or more of the outstanding Units and securities exchangeable into or carrying the right to acquire Units by any person or group of persons acting jointly or in concert (a "Change of Control"), each holder of Debentures may require (the "Change of Control Put Right") Countryside Canada to purchase, on the date which is 30 days following the giving of notice of the Change of Control as set out below (the "Put Date"), the whole or any part of such holder's Debentures at a price equal to 101% of the principal amount thereof (the "Put Price") plus accrued and unpaid interest up to, but excluding, the Put Date.

If 90% or more in the aggregate principal amount of the Debentures outstanding on the date of the giving of notice of the Change of Control have been tendered for purchase on the Put Date, Countryside Canada will have the right to redeem all the remaining Debentures on such date at the Put Price, together with accrued and unpaid interest up to, but excluding, the Put Date. Notice of such redemption must be given to the Debenture Trustee prior to the Put Date and as soon as possible thereafter, by the Debenture Trustee to the holders of the Debentures not tendered for purchase. The principal on the Debenture will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America or, at the option of the Fund and subject to applicable regulatory approval, by delivery of Units to satisfy, in whole or in part, its obligation to repay the principal amount of the Debentures.

The Indenture shall contain notification provisions to the following effect:

(a) Countryside Canada will promptly give written notice to the Debenture Trustee of the occurrence of a Change of Control and the Debenture Trustee will thereafter give to the holders of Debentures a notice of the Change of Control, the repayment right of the holders of Debentures and the right of Countryside Canada to redeem untendered Debentures under certain circumstances; and

(b) a holder of Debentures, to exercise the right to require Countryside Canada to purchase its Debentures, must deliver to the Debenture Trustee, not less than five business days prior to the Put Date, written notice of the holder's exercise of such right, together with the Debentures with respect to which the right is being exercised, duly endorsed for transfer.

Modification

The rights of the holders of any series of Debentures may be modified in accordance with the terms of the Indenture. For that purpose, among others, the Indenture contains certain provisions that will make binding on all holders of Debentures resolutions passed at meetings of the holders of such Debentures by votes cast thereat by holders of not less than 66⅔% of the principal amount of the Debentures and then outstanding present at the meeting or represented by proxy, or rendered by instruments in writing signed by the holders of not less than 66⅔% of the principal amount of Debentures and then outstanding. In certain cases, the modification will, instead or in addition, require assent by the holders of the required percentage of Debentures of each particularly affected series. Under the Indenture, the Debenture Trustee will have the right to make certain amendments to the Indenture in its discretion, without the consent of the holders of the Debentures.

Events of Default

The Indenture shall provide that an event of default in respect of the Debentures will occur if any one or more of the following described events has occurred and is continuing: (i) failure for 15 days to pay interest on the Debentures, when due; (ii) failure to pay principal or premium, if any, on the Debentures, whether at maturity, upon redemption, by declaration or otherwise; (iii) certain events of bankruptcy, insolvency or reorganization of Countryside Canada under bankruptcy or insolvency laws; or (iv) default in the observance or performance of any material covenant or condition of the Indenture and the continuance of such default for a period of 30 days after notice in writing has been given by the Debenture Trustee to Countryside Canada specifying the default and requiring Countryside Canada to rectify same. If an event of default has occurred and is continuing, the Debenture Trustee may, in its discretion, and shall, upon the request of holders of not less than 25% in principal amount of the Debentures and then outstanding, declare the principal of and interest on all outstanding Debentures to be immediately due and payable. In certain cases, the holders of a majority of the principal amount of the Debentures, may, on behalf of the holders of all Debentures, waive any event of default under the Indenture and/or cancel any such declaration upon such terms and conditions as such holders shall prescribe.

Offers for Debentures

The Indenture shall contain provisions to the effect that if an offer is made for the Debentures then outstanding which is a take-over bid for the Debentures within the meaning of the Securities Act (Ontario) and not less than 90% of the Debentures then outstanding (other than Debentures held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror) are taken up and paid for by the offeror, the offeror will be entitled to acquire the Debentures held by holders of Debentures who did not accept the offer on the terms offered by the offeror, provided that holders of Debentures will have the right to elect to be paid the fair value of their Debentures by providing notice to the offeror and following the other procedures set forth in the Indenture.

Limitations on Ownership

In order for the Fund to maintain its status as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, the Fund must not be established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents of Canada within the meaning of the Tax Act. Accordingly, at no time may non-residents of Canada be the beneficial owners of more than 49% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis). In addition, in order for the Fund to be exempt from the registration requirements as an investment company under the United States Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"), at no time may more than 100 U.S. persons (using the principles for counting set forth in Section 3(c)(1) of the 1940 Act) be the beneficial owners of the Units, nor may any U.S. person be the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units. Consequently, Countryside Canada may require declarations as to the jurisdictions in which beneficial owners of Debentures are resident. If Countryside Canada becomes aware that either of the foregoing limitations may be contravened, the directors of Countryside Canada will make a public announcement and will not accept a subscription for Debentures from or issue or register a transfer of Debentures to a person unless the person provides a declaration that the person is not a non-resident of Canada. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, Countryside Canada becomes aware that more than 49% of the Units are held by non-residents (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), that more than 100 U.S. persons are beneficial owners of Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), or that any U.S. person is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), Countryside Canada may send a notice to the non-resident or U.S. holders, as applicable, chosen in inverse order to the order of acquisition or registration or in any manner as Countryside Canada may consider equitable and practicable, requiring them to sell their Debentures or a portion of their Debentures within a specified period of not less than 60 days. If the Debentureholders receiving the notice have not sold the specified number of Debentures or provided Countryside Canada with satisfactory evidence that they are not non-residents within that period, Countryside Canada may, on behalf of those Debentureholders, sell those Debentures and, in the interim, will suspend the rights attached to those Debentures. Upon that sale, the affected holders will cease to be holders of the Debentures and their rights will be limited to receiving the net proceeds of the sale.

To avoid having the Fund become subject to the fiduciary and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code, no Debentures may be beneficially owned by any ERISA Plan and any transferee of beneficial ownership of Debentures (whether by initial purchase or subsequent transfer) will be deemed to represent to Countryside Canada that it is not an ERISA Plan. Any purported transfer (whether or not the result of a transaction entered into through the facilities of the Toronto Stock Exchange) that, if effective, would result in any ERISA Plan beneficially owning any Debentures will be void from the date of the purported transfer, and the ERISA Plan that pursuant thereto would purport to have beneficial ownership of the Debentures will not acquire any interest in the Debentures. In the event of such a purported transfer, such Debentures will be transferred to a trust created by Countryside Canada and sold. The ERISA Plan will not have any beneficial interest in the trust, and the ERISA Plan's sole right with respect to the Debentures that were the subject of the purported transfer to the ERISA Plan will be to receive the net proceeds of sale of such Debentures by the trust. Countryside Canada may require any person who attempts to acquire Debentures or who otherwise is purported to beneficially own Debentures to provide a written statement or affidavit to Countryside Canada stating such information as Countryside Canada may request in order to determine whether such person is an ERISA Plan or not.

Book-Entry, Delivery and Form

Debentures will be issued in the form of fully-registered global Debentures (the "Global Debentures") held by, or on behalf of, CDS or its successor (the "Depository"), as custodian for its participants.

All Debentures will be represented in the form of Global Debentures registered in the name of the Depository or its nominee. Purchasers of Debentures represented by Global Debentures will not receive Debentures in definitive form. Rather, the Debentures will be represented only in "book-entry only" form (unless Countryside Canada, in its sole discretion, elects to prepare and deliver definitive Debentures in fully-registered form). Interests in the Global Debentures will be represented through book-entry accounts of institutions (including the Underwriters) acting on behalf of holders of interests, as direct and indirect participants of the Depository (the "participants"). Each purchaser of a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture will receive a customer confirmation of purchase from the Underwriter or Underwriters from whom the Debenture is purchased in accordance with the practices and procedures of the selling Underwriter or Underwriters. The practices of the Underwriters may vary but generally, customer confirmations are issued promptly after execution of a customer order. The Depository will be responsible for establishing and maintaining book-entry accounts for its participants having interest in Global Debentures.

If the Depository notifies Countryside Canada that it is unwilling or unable to continue as depository in connection with the Global Debentures, or if at any time the Depository ceases to be a clearing agency or otherwise ceases to be eligible to be a depository and Countryside Canada and the Debenture Trustee are unable to locate a qualified successor, or if Countryside Canada elects, in its sole discretion, to terminate the book-entry system, with the consent of the Debenture Trustee, beneficial owners of Debentures represented by Global Debentures at such time will receive Debentures in registered and definitive form (the "Definitive Debentures").

Transfer and Exchange of Debentures

Transfers of interests in Debentures represented by Global Debentures will be effected through records maintained by the Depository for such Global Debentures or its nominees (with respect to interests of participants) and on the records of participants (with respect to interests of persons other than participants). Unless Countryside Canada elects, in its sole discretion, to prepare and deliver Definitive Debentures, beneficial owners who are not participants in the Depository's book-entry system, but who desire to purchase, sell or otherwise transfer ownership of or other interest in Global Debentures, may do so only through participants in the Depository's book-entry system. The ability of a holder of an interest in a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture to pledge the Debenture or otherwise take action with respect to such owner's interest in a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture (other than through a participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

Registered holders of Definitive Debentures may transfer such Debentures upon payment of any applicable taxes, duties or other charges incidental thereto, if any, by executing and delivering a form of transfer together with the Debentures to the Debenture Trustee at its principal offices in Toronto, Ontario, or such other city or cities as may from time to time be designated by Countryside Canada, with the approval of the Debenture Trustee, whereupon new Debentures will be issued in authorized denominations in the same aggregate principal amount as the Debentures so transferred, registered in the names of the transferees. No transfer or exchange of a Debenture will be registered on the date of any selection by the Debenture Trustee of any Debentures to be redeemed or during the seven preceding business days. In addition, no transfer or exchange of any Debentures which have been selected or called for redemption will be registered.

- Countryside Canada, Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings and Countryside District Energy Canada, and their respective subsidiaries, incurring any indebtedness for borrowed money that would cause the debt to equity ratio of Countryside Canada, on a consolidated basis, to exceed a specified ratio if such default continues for a period of 30 days.

DESCRIPTION OF COUNTRYSIDE HOLDING

Share Capital

The authorized share capital of Countryside Holding consists of an unlimited number of common shares. All of the common shares of Countryside Holding are owned by Countryside Canada. Holders of common shares of Countryside Holding are entitled to receive dividends as and when declared by the board of directors and are entitled to one vote per share on all matters to be voted on at all meetings of shareholders. Upon the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of Countryside Holding, the holders of common shares are entitled to share rateably in the remaining assets available for distribution.

Countryside Holding Note

The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the US$52,139,000 unsecured subordinated promissory note (the "Countryside Holding Note"), which will be issued by Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada on the closing of the Offering. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of the Countryside Holding Note, which contains a complete statement of those attributes and characteristics.

Interest and Maturity

The Countryside Holding Note will mature on the tenth anniversary of the closing date of the Offering (the "Closing Date"), subject to Early Maturity or redemption as described below. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Countryside Canada may, at any time after the sixth anniversary of the Closing Date but on or before the seventh anniversary of the Closing Date, elect to require that Countryside Holding repay the principal amount of the Note, and any interest then outstanding on the seventh anniversary of the Closing Date ("Early Maturity").

The Countryside Holding Note will bear interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum. Under the terms of the Countryside Holding Note, interest is accrued and is to be paid monthly within 15 days following the end of each month. The interest and principal on the Countryside Holding Note will be payable in lawful money of the United States by wire transfer or bankers' draft.

The Countryside Holding Note also contains restrictive covenants relating to, among other things distributions by Countryside Holding or any of its subsidiaries, incurrence of liens and the incurrence of indebtedness by Countryside Holding or its subsidiaries.

Payment upon Maturity

On maturity, or Early Maturity, Countryside Holding is required to repay the indebtedness represented by the Countryside Holding Note by paying to Countryside Canada, in lawful money of the United States, an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Countryside Holding Note, together with all accrued and unpaid interest thereon to the maturity date or the Early Maturity date.

Subordination and Guarantee

The Countryside Holding Note will be a general unsecured obligation of Countryside Holding and will be subordinate in right of payment to all existing and future senior indebtedness of Countryside Holding, and pari passu with all other existing and future unsecured indebtedness and other liabilities of Countryside Holding that is not subordinated indebtedness. Countryside Holding's subsidiaries (the "Guarantors") will guarantee the obligations of Countryside Holding under the Countryside Holding Note pursuant to a separate guarantee agreement. These guarantees will rank pari passu with all other senior unsecured indebtedness of the Guarantors, but will be subordinated to their guarantees with respect to any Senior Secured Indebtedness. The guarantees will allow the holders of the Countryside Holding Note to look to Countryside Holding's subsidiaries in case of default under the Countryside Holding Note. However, should any of the principal, interest or similar payments under any Senior Secured Indebtedness have either come due and not been paid or be in default, all obligations under any Senior Secured Indebtedness shall first be paid in full, in cash, before any payment on account of the principal or interest due under the Countryside Holding Note is paid.

Redemption and Prepayment

Provided Countryside Holding has available cash, the distribution of which is considered advisable by its board of directors and is not restricted by the terms of any Senior Secured Indebtedness, Countryside Holding may, to the extent of such available cash, and upon not less than 30 days' written notice to Countryside Canada, redeem all or any portion of the Countryside Holding Note without the consent of Countryside Canada, at specified redemption prices (expressed as percentages of principal amount), plus accrued and unpaid interest on the Countryside Holding Note to be prepaid to the date of redemption if redeemed during the 12-month period commencing on a specified date in each year.

Default

The Countryside Holding Note provides that certain events will result in an event of default, including:

- default in payment of the principal amount of the Countryside Holding Note when the same becomes due;
- the failure to pay the interest obligations of the Countryside Holding Note when the same becomes due, for a period of 30 days;
- acceleration of any indebtedness for borrowed money of Countryside Holding or any of the Guarantors with an outstanding principal amount exceeding $5,000,000;
- certain events of winding-up, liquidation, bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Holding, the Guarantors or any of their material subsidiaries;
- the taking of possession by any encumbrancer of all or substantially all of the property of Countryside Holding, any of the Guarantors or any of their material subsidiaries;
- Countryside Holding, a Guarantor or any of their material subsidiaries ceasing to carry on the business carried on, or a substantial part thereof, in the ordinary course;
- Countryside Holding declaring or making a distribution during the existence of a default or event of default;
- a judgment or order for payment in excess of $15,000,000 is rendered against Countryside Holding or any Guarantor and either enforcement proceedings have been commenced or there is a period of 30 days during which a stay of proceedings is not in effect;
- default in the observance or performance of any other covenant of the Countryside Holding Note and the continuance of that default for a period of 60 days after notice in writing has been given to Countryside Holding, which notice specifies the default and requires Countryside Holding to remedy the default;
- the Countryside Holding Note or any guarantee therefor ceases to be in full force and effect, except as contemplated by the terms thereof, or Countryside Holding or any Guarantor denies or disaffirms its obligations under the Countryside Holding Note or any guarantee therefor, except as contemplated by the terms of the Countryside Holding Note;
- a default by Countryside Holding or any Guarantor under any contract material to the business of Countryside Holding or the Guarantors, taken as a whole, which default is not rectified by Countryside Holding or the applicable Guarantor within the specified time period in relevant material contract; or
- a default under or termination or revocation of, any permit material to the business of Countryside Holding and the Guarantors if such default, revocation or termination would have a material adverse effect on the business of Countryside Holding and the Guarantors, taken as a whole.

United States Tax Considerations

Countryside Holding's business in the United States will be subject to tax on its taxable income at rates generally applicable to corporations in the United States. For U.S. federal income tax purposes, Countryside Holding will report on its U.S. federal income tax returns its share of the income from Ripon Power and Ripon. In computing its income for U.S. federal income tax purposes, Countryside Holding intends to claim interest deductions with respect to the Countryside Holding Note that will be held after the closing of the Offering by Countryside Canada. See "Risk Factors — United States Tax-Related Risks".

Interest and dividends from U.S. sources, such as the contemplated payments of interest and dividends from Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada, are generally subject to withholding at a rate of 30%. However, under the current provisions of the income tax treaty between the United States and Canada, payments of interest and dividends by Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada will be subject to withholding at the reduced rates of 10% and 5%, respectively.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

Pursuant to the Underwriting Agreement dated October 27, 2005 among the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Underwriters, the Fund has agreed to issue and sell an aggregate of 4,720,000 Units to the Underwriters offered hereby at a price of $9.35 for total gross proceeds of $44,132,000 and Countryside Canada has agreed to issue and sell US$55,000,000 aggregate principal amount of Debentures to the Underwriters offered hereby, and the Underwriters have severally agreed to purchase from the Issuer, as principals, such Securities on November 14, 2005, or on such other date as may be agreed upon among the parties to the Underwriting Agreement, but in any event not later than November 25, 2005. Delivery of the Securities is conditional upon payment in cash on closing by the Underwriters to the Issuer of $9.35 per Unit for total consideration of $44,132,000 and US$1,000 per Debenture for total consideration of US$55,000,000. The offering price of the Securities was determined by negotiation between the Issuer and the Underwriters. The Underwriting Agreement provides that the Issuer will pay or cause to be paid to the Underwriters a fee of $2,206,600 ($0.4675 per Unit) and a fee of US$2,200,000 (US$40 per US$1,000 principal amount of Debenture) in consideration of services in connection with the Offering. The full amount of the Underwriters' fee is payable at the closing of the Offering.

The obligations of the Underwriters under the Underwriting Agreement are several (and not joint or joint and several) and may be terminated at their discretion upon the occurrence of certain stated events. If an Underwriter fails to purchase the Securities which it has agreed to purchase, the other Underwriters may, but are not obligated to, purchase any Securities. The Underwriters, however, are obligated to take up and pay for all Securities if any securities are purchased under the Underwriting Agreement. The Underwriting Agreement also provides that the Issuer will indemnify the Underwriters and their respective directors, officers, agents and employees against certain liabilities and expenses.

The Underwriters propose to offer the Securities initially at the public offering price on the cover page of this short form prospectus. After the Underwriters have made a reasonable effort to sell all the Securities offered by this short form prospectus at the price specified herein, the offering price may be decreased, and further changed from time to time to an amount not greater than the offering price specified herein and the compensation realized by the Underwriters will be decreased by the amount that the aggregate price paid by the purchasers for the Securities is less than the gross proceeds paid by the Underwriters to the Issuer. The Issuer has been advised by the Underwriters that, in connection with the Offering, the Underwriters may effect transactions which stabilize or maintain the market price of Units which might otherwise prevail in the open market. Such transactions, if commenced, may be discontinued at any time.

Pursuant to policy statements of the Ontario Securities Commission and the L'Autorité des Marchés Financiers, the Underwriters may not, throughout the period of distribution, bid for or purchase Securities or Units. The foregoing restriction is subject to exceptions, on the condition that the bid or purchase is not engaged in for the purpose of creating actual or apparent active trading in, or raising the price of, the Securities. These exceptions include bids or purchases permitted under the Universal Market Integrity Rules for Canadian Marketplaces of Market Regulation Services Inc. of the TSX relating to market stabilization and passive market making activities and bids or purchases made for and on behalf of a customer where the order was not solicited during the period of distribution. Under the first-mentioned exception, in connection with the Offering, the Underwriters may effect transactions which stabilize or maintain the market price of the Securities at levels other than those which might otherwise prevail in the open market. Those transactions, if commenced, may be discontinued at any time.

The Securities have not been and will not be registered under the U.S. Securities Act, or any state securities laws, and may not be offered or sold within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. persons (as defined in Regulation S under the U.S. Securities Act) except in transactions exempt from the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act. The Underwriters have agreed pursuant to the terms of the Underwriting Agreement that they will not offer or sell the Securities within the United States except to Qualified Institutional Buyers (as such term is defined in Rule 144A of the U.S. Securities Act) in the United States, provided such re-offers and resales are made in accordance with Rule 144A under the U.S. Securities Act. In addition, until 40 days after the closing date, an offer or sale of Securities within the United States by a dealer (whether or not participating in the Offering) may violate the registration requirements of the U.S. Securities Act if that offer or sale is made otherwise than in accordance with Rule 144A. All sales of Securities in the United States will be made by U.S. registered broker/dealers. The Underwriting Agreement provides further that the Underwriters will not take any actions that would make the safe harbour provided under Regulation S of the United States federal securities laws unavailable in connection with the Offering; such regulation provides an exemption from registration requirements under such laws in connection with the initial offer and sale of such shares outside the United States.

The Units are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange (the "TSX") under the trading symbol "COU.UN". There is currently no market through which the Debentures may be sold and purchasers may not be able to resell the Debentures. Countryside and Countryside Canada have applied to list the additional Units and the Debentures distributed under this short form prospectus (and the Units issuable on exchange of the Debentures) on the TSX. Listing will be subject to Countryside fulfilling all of the listing requirements of the TSX. On October 24, 2005, the last trading day prior to the announcement of the terms of the Offering, the closing price of the Units on the TSX was $9.74.

CIBC World Markets Corp., an affiliate of CIBC World Markets Inc., acted as financial advisor to Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC and was paid a fee upon the completion of the Acquisition. The Canadian chartered banks to which CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and TD Securities Inc. are affiliates are indirect lenders to the Fund under the Amended Credit Facility. Accordingly, under applicable securities laws, the Fund may be considered a "connected issuer" of such Underwriters. The decision to issue the Units and Debentures and the determination of the terms of the distribution were made through negotiation between the Fund and the Underwriters. The Canadian chartered banks of which CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and TD Securities Inc. are affiliates did not have any involvement in such decision or determination. Other than as described above, none of the Underwriters or their affiliates will receive any benefit from the Offering except for the Underwriters' respective portions of the underwriting commissions payable by the Fund.

The Issuer has agreed that, subject to certain exceptions, it will not offer or issue, or enter into an agreement to offer or issue, Units or any securities exchangeable for Units for a period of 90 days subsequent to the closing of the Offering without the consent of CIBC World Markets Inc., which consent may not be unreasonably withheld.

INTEREST OF EXPERTS

Certain legal matters relating to the Offering will be passed upon by Goodmans LLP, Toronto, Ontario, on behalf of the Fund and by Torys LLP, Toronto, Ontario, on behalf of the Underwriters. No person or company whose profession or business gives authority to a statement made by such person or company and who is named in this short-form prospectus or in a document that is specifically incorporated by reference into this short-form prospectus as having prepared or certified a part of this short-form prospectus has received or shall receive a direct or indirect interest in the property of the Fund or of any associate or affiliate of the Issuer. As at the date hereof, the partners and associates of both of the foregoing firms beneficially own, directly or indirectly, less than one percent of the securities of the Issuer and any associates and affiliates of the Issuer.

CERTAIN CANADIAN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

In the opinion of Goodmans LLP, counsel to the Issuer, and Torys LLP, counsel to the Underwriters, (together, "Tax Counsel"), the following summary describes, as of the date of this short form prospectus, the principal Canadian federal income tax considerations pursuant to the Tax Act and the regulations thereunder generally applicable to a prospective purchaser of Securities pursuant to this short form prospectus who, for the purposes of the Tax Act, is resident in Canada, holds the Securities as capital property and deals at arm's length with the Issuer and is not affiliated with the Issuer. Generally, Securities will be considered to be capital property to an investor provided the investor does not hold the Securities in the course of carrying on a business and has not acquired them in one or more transactions considered to be an adventure in the nature of trade. Certain investors who might not otherwise be considered to hold their Securities as capital property may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to have them treated as capital property by making the irrevocable election permitted by subsection 39(4) of the Tax Act.

This summary is not applicable to an investor that is a "financial institution" for purposes of the mark-to-market rules, to an investor an interest in which is a "tax shelter investment" or to an investor that is a "specified financial institution", all within the meaning of the Tax Act.

This summary is based upon the facts set out in the short form prospectus, the current provisions of the Tax Act and the Regulations thereunder (the "Regulations"), Tax Counsel's understanding of the current published administrative and assessing practices of the CRA and the specific proposals to amend the Tax Act or the Regulations announced by the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof (the "Proposed Amendments") and certificates of the Issuer and the Underwriters as to certain factual matters. This summary is not exhaustive of all possible Canadian federal income tax consequences and, except for the Proposed Amendments, does not take into account or anticipate any changes in the law or in the administrative or assessing policies of the CRA, whether by legislative, governmental or judicial action, nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or foreign tax considerations, which may differ significantly from those discussed herein. No assurance can be given that the Proposed Amendments will be enacted as currently proposed or at all.

This summary is not exhaustive of all possible Canadian federal tax considerations applicable to an investment in the Securities. Moreover, the income and other tax consequences of acquiring, holding or disposing of the Securities will vary depending on the investor's particular circumstances, including the province or provinces in which the investor resides or carries on business. Accordingly, this summary is not intended to be, nor should it be construed to be, legal or tax advice to any prospective purchaser of Securities. Consequently, prospective purchasers of Securities should consult their own tax advisors for advice with respect to the tax consequences to them of an investment in Securities based on their particular circumstances.

Status of the Fund

Mutual Fund Trust

This summary is based on the assumption that the Fund will qualify as a "mutual fund trust" as defined in the Tax Act at all material times. If the Fund were not to so qualify as a mutual fund trust, the income tax considerations described below would, in some respects, be materially different.

Qualified Investment

So long as the Fund is a mutual fund trust under the Tax Act, the Units will be qualified investments under the Tax Act for trusts governed by registered retirement savings plans, registered retirement income funds, deferred profit sharing plans and registered education savings plans, each as defined in the Tax Act (collectively, the "Plans"), subject to the specific provisions of any particular Plan. The Debentures, if issued on the date of this short form prospectus, will be qualified investments for trusts governed by the Plans (other than trusts governed by deferred profit sharing plans to which contributions are made by Countryside Canada or a person with whom Countryside Canada does not deal at arm's length within the meaning of the Tax Act), provided that the Units are listed on the TSX.

Common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes received as a result of a redemption of Units may not be qualified investments for a Plan which could give rise to adverse consequences to the Plan or the annuitant under the Plan. Accordingly, Plans that own Units should consult their own tax advisors before deciding to exercise the redemption rights attached to the Units.

Foreign Property

The foreign property limitation contained in Part XI of the Tax Act has been repealed.

Debentures

For purposes of the Tax Act, all amounts relevant in computing a holder's liability under the Tax Act must be computed in Canadian dollars. Amounts denominated in United States dollars including adjusted cost base, proceeds of disposition and interest in respect of the Debentures must be converted into Canadian dollars based on the prevailing exchange rate at the relevant time.

Taxation of Interest on Debentures

If a holder of Debentures is a corporation, partnership, unit trust or a trust of which a corporation or a partnership is a beneficiary, the holder will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Debentures that accrues to the holder to the end of that taxation year or that becomes receivable by or is received by the holder before the end of that year, including on the exchange, redemption or repayment at Maturity, except to the extent that the holder included that interest in computing its income for a preceding taxation year.

If a holder is an individual or is otherwise not included in the previous paragraph, the holder will be required to include in computing its income for a taxation year all interest on the Debentures that is received or receivable by the holder in that year (depending upon the method regularly followed by the holder in computing income), including on the exchange, redemption or repayment at Maturity, except to the extent that the holder included that interest in income for a preceding taxation year. In addition, if at any time a Debenture should become an "investment contract", as defined in the Tax Act, in relation to a holder, such holder will be required to include in computing income for a taxation year any interest that accrues to the holder on the Debenture up to any "anniversary day", as defined in the Tax Act, in that year to the extent such interest was not otherwise included in the holder's income for that year or a preceding year.

In the event of an exchange of a Debenture into Units pursuant to a holder's right of exchange, any interest accrued on the Debenture from the date of the last interest payment to the date of exchange and paid to the holder will be included in the holder's income as described above. If accrued interest is not paid to a holder on the exchange of a Debenture into Units pursuant to a holder's right of exchange, the holder may deduct in computing income for the year of the exchange the amount, if any, by which the aggregate amount of interest on the Debenture that was included in the holder's income for the year of exchange and all previous years exceeds total interest actually received thereon.

Exercise of the Exchange Privilege

A holder of a Debenture who exchanges the Debenture for Units pursuant to the exchange privilege will be considered to have disposed of the Debenture for proceeds of disposition equal to the aggregate of the fair market value of the Units so acquired at the time of the exchange and the amount of any cash received in lieu of fractional Units. The holder may realize a capital gain or capital loss computed as described below under "Other Dispositions of Debentures". The cost to the holder of the Units so acquired will also be equal to the fair market value thereof at the time of the exchange, and must be averaged with the adjusted cost base of all other Units held as capital property by the holder for the purpose of calculating the adjusted cost base of the Units acquired on the exchange.

Redemption or Repayment of Debentures

If Countryside Canada redeems a Debenture prior to Maturity or repays a Debenture upon Maturity and the holder does not exercise the exchange privilege prior to such redemption or repayment, the holder will be considered to have disposed of the Debenture for proceeds of disposition equal to the amount received by the holder (other than the amount received or deemed to be received as interest) on such redemption or repayment. If the holder receives Units on redemption or repayment, the holder will be considered to receive proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value of the Units at that time and the amount of any cash received in lieu of fractional Units. The holder may realize a capital gain or capital loss computed as described below under "Other Dispositions of Debentures". The cost to the holder of the Units so acquired will also be equal to the fair market value thereof at the time of the redemption or repayment, and must be averaged with the adjusted cost base of all other units held as capital property by the holder for the purpose of calculating the adjusted cost base of such Units.

Other Dispositions of Debentures

A disposition or deemed disposition by a holder of a Debenture will generally result in the holder realizing a capital gain (or capital loss) equal to the amount by which the proceeds of disposition, net of accrued interest, are greater (or less) than the aggregate of the holder's adjusted cost base thereof immediately before the disposition or deemed disposition and any reasonable costs of disposition. Upon such a disposition or deemed disposition of a Debenture (including an exchange or a redemption or repayment at Maturity), interest accrued thereon to the date of disposition and not yet due will be included in computing the holder's income, except to the extent such amount was otherwise included in the holder's income for the year or a preceding taxation year, and will be excluded in computing the holder's proceeds of disposition of the Debenture.

One-half of any capital gain realized by a holder generally must be included in the holder's income for the taxation year of the disposition, and one-half of any capital loss realized in a taxation year may be deducted against taxable capital gains realized in the year of disposition, and in the three preceding taxation years or any subsequent taxation year, to the extent and under the circumstances described in the Tax Act. A capital gain realized by a holder who is an individual or trust (other than certain trusts) may give rise to a liability for alternative minimum tax. A holder that is a "Canadian-controlled private corporation", as defined in the Tax Act, may be liable to pay an additional refundable tax of 6⅔% on some types of income, including interest and taxable capital gains.

Taxation of the Fund

The taxation year of the Fund is the calendar year. In each taxation year, the Fund will be subject to tax under Part I of the Tax Act on its income for the year, including net realized taxable capital gains, less the portion thereof that it deducts in respect of the amounts paid or payable in the year to Unitholders. An amount will be considered to be payable to a Unitholder in a taxation year if it is paid to the Unitholder in the year by the Fund (whether in cash, additional Units or otherwise) or if the Unitholder is entitled in that year to enforce payment of the amount.

The Fund will include in its income for each taxation year any dividends received (or deemed to be received) by it in such year on the common shares of Countryside Canada and all interest on the Countryside Canada Notes that accrues to the Fund to the end of the year, or that becomes receivable or is received by it before the end of the year, except to the extent that interest was included in computing its income for a preceding taxation year. Any amount paid to the Fund in respect of the common shares of Countryside Canada (other than an amount that is a return of capital for purposes of the Tax Act) will generally constitute a dividend to the Fund. Any amount paid to the Fund on a repurchase of the common shares of Countryside Canada that is in excess of the paid-up capital of those shares will also be deemed to be a dividend to the Fund. The Fund will not be subject to tax on any amount received as a payment of principal in respect of the Countryside Canada Notes or any amount received as a return of capital on the common shares of Countryside Canada (provided that the capital returned, if any, does not exceed the adjusted cost base of the common shares of Countryside Canada held by the Fund immediately prior to the payment).

A distribution by the Fund of its property upon a redemption of Units will be treated as a disposition by the Fund of the property so distributed for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value (less, in the case of Countryside Canada Notes, the acquired interest, if any, on the Countryside Canada Notes so disposed of). The Fund will realize a capital gain (or a capital loss) to the extent that the proceeds from the disposition exceed (or are less than) the adjusted cost base of the relevant property and any reasonable costs of disposition.

In computing its income, the Fund may deduct reasonable administrative costs, interest and other expenses incurred by it for the purpose of earning income. The Fund may also deduct from its income for the year a portion of the reasonable expenses incurred by the Fund to issue Units in connection with this Offering. The portion of those issue expenses deductible by the Fund in a taxation year is 20% of those issue expenses (pro-rated where the Fund's taxation year is less than 365 days).

Under the Declaration of Trust, an amount equal to all of the income (including taxable capital gains) of the Fund (determined without reference to paragraph 82(1)(b) and subsection 104(6) of the Tax Act), together with the non-taxable portion of any net capital gain realized by the Fund, but excluding income or capital gains arising on a distribution in specie on a redemption of Units which are designated by the Fund to redeeming Unitholders, and capital gains, the tax on which may be offset by capital losses carried forward from prior years or is recoverable by the Fund will be payable in the year to the holders of the Units by way of cash distributions, subject to the exceptions described below. Income of the Fund which is applied to fund redemptions of Units for cash or is otherwise unavailable for cash distributions will be distributed to Unitholders in the form of additional Units. Income of the Fund payable to Unitholders, whether in cash, additional Units or otherwise, will generally be deductible by the Fund in computing its taxable income.

The Fund will be entitled for each taxation year to reduce (or receive a refund in respect of) its liability, if any, for tax on its net realized taxable capital gains by an amount determined under the Tax Act based on the redemption of Units during the year (the "capital gains refund"). In certain circumstances, the capital gains refund in a particular taxation year may not completely offset the Fund's tax liability for that taxation year arising as a result of the distribution of its property on the redemption of Units. The Declaration of Trust provides that the income or taxable portion of any capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of that redemption may, at the discretion of the Trustees, be treated as income paid to, and designated as income or a taxable capital gain of, the redeeming Unitholders, and will be deductible by the Fund.

Counsel has been advised that the Fund intends to make sufficient distributions in each year of its net income for tax purposes and net realized capital gains so that the Fund will generally not be liable in that year for income tax under Part I of the Tax Act. Counsel can provide no opinion in this regard.

Taxation of Countryside Canada

Countryside Canada will be taxable on its income determined under the Tax Act for each taxation year, which will include all interest on the USEB Loans and the Countryside Holding Note that accrues to it to the end of the year, or that becomes receivable or is received by it before the end of the year, except to the extent that interest was included in computing its income for a preceding taxation year. Countryside Canada will also include in computing its income for the year the amount of all Royalties that become payable to it in the year. If Countryside Canada receives proceeds under the Royalty Interest as a result of a Capital Event or receives shares of USEB upon the exchange of the USEB Royalty Interest, Countryside Canada will be required to include an amount in income based upon the value of such proceeds or shares. Although the matter is not free from doubt, the USEB Royalty Interest should not be, as of the date of this short form prospectus, a participating interest in a "foreign investment entity" or a "tracking entity" so as to cause the proposed foreign investment entity rules to apply. However, even if such rules were to apply so that income would be imputed to Countryside Canada in respect of the USEB Royalty Interest, deductions would be available to Countryside Canada under the foreign investment entity rules for Royalties payable to it and otherwise included in its income. Based on the current prescribed rate, the cost to Countryside Canada of the USEB Royalty Interest and the amount of Royalties expected to be paid in any particular year, it is not expected that any material tax liability should arise under the foreign investment entity rules. The amount of any dividend received on the shares of Countryside Acquisition will be included in Countryside Canada's income, but Countryside Canada will be entitled to an offsetting deduction in computing its taxable income.

Countryside Holding will be a "foreign affiliate" and a "controlled foreign affiliate" of Countryside Canada for Canadian income tax purposes. Dividends paid by Countryside Holding will be included in computing the income of Countryside Canada. However, to the extent that such dividends are considered to have been paid out of the "exempt surplus" of Countryside Holding with respect to Countryside Canada, the amount of such dividends will be deductible in computing the taxable income of Countryside Canada. Dividends that are not paid out of "exempt surplus" will generally be considered to have been paid out of the "pre-acquisition surplus" of Countryside Holding with respect to Countryside Canada. The amount of such dividends will also be deductible in computing the taxable income of Countryside Canada. The adjusted cost base to Countryside Canada of the shares of Countryside Holding will be reduced to the extent that dividends paid by Countryside Holding are considered to be paid out of the "preacquisition surplus" of Countryside Holding with respect to Countryside Canada. If the adjusted cost base to Countryside Canada of the shares in Countryside Holding becomes a negative amount, Countryside Canada will be deemed to realize a capital gain equal to such amount for that year. To the extent that Countryside Holding or any direct or indirect wholly-owned subsidiary thereof earns income that qualifies as "foreign accrual property income" ("FAPI"), the FAPI allocable to Countryside Canada must be included in computing its income, subject to a deduction for grossed-up "foreign accrual tax" as computed in accordance with the Tax Act, whether or not Countryside Canada actually receives a distribution of FAPI. Any amount so included will increase the adjusted cost base to Countryside Canada of its shares in Countryside Holding. At such time as Countryside Canada receives a dividend of this type of income that was previously treated as FAPI, that dividend will effectively not be taxable to Countryside Canada and there will be a corresponding reduction in the adjusted cost base to Countryside Canada of its shares in Countryside Holding.

Countryside Canada will be entitled to deduct the interest paid by it on the Countryside Canada Notes and the Debentures in computing its income to the extent that the amount of the interest is reasonable and is incurred to earn income from its business or investments. To the extent that the deduction for such interest creates a loss in a taxation year of Countryside Canada, that loss will be a non-capital loss which may be carried back for three taxation years and forward for ten taxation years and applied against the income of Countryside Canada (including capital gains) for such years, subject to the detailed rules in the Tax Act in that regard.

Taxation of Unitholders

Fund Distributions

A Unitholder generally will be required to include in income for a particular taxation year the portion of the net income of the Fund, including any net realized taxable capital gains, that is paid or payable to the Unitholder in the year that the Fund deducts in computing its income for tax purposes, whether such amount is received in cash, additional Units or otherwise. Provided that appropriate designations are made by the Fund and the Trust, that portion of their net taxable capital gains, taxable dividends from taxable Canadian corporations and foreign source income as are paid or payable to a Unitholder will effectively retain its character and be treated as such in the hands of the Unitholder for purposes of the Tax Act. To the extent that amounts are designated as taxable dividends from taxable Canadian corporations, the normal gross-up and dividend tax credit provisions will apply in respect of Unitholders who are individuals, the refundable tax under Part IV of the Tax Act will be payable by Unitholders that are private corporations and certain other corporations controlled directly or indirectly by or for the benefit of an individual or a related group of individuals and the deduction in computing taxable income will be available to Unitholders that are corporations. An additional refundable 6⅔% tax will be payable by Unitholders that are Canadian-controlled private corporations in certain circumstances.

The non-taxable portion of any net realized capital gains of the Fund that is paid or payable to a Unitholder in a taxation year will not be included in computing the Unitholder's income for the year. Any other amount in excess of the income of the Fund that is paid or payable to a Unitholder in that year will not generally be included in the Unitholder's income for the year. However, where such an amount is paid or payable to a Unitholder (other than as proceeds in respect of the redemption of Units), the Unitholder will be required to reduce the adjusted cost base of the Units by that amount. To the extent that the adjusted cost base of a Unit would otherwise be a negative amount, the negative amount will be deemed to be a capital gain and the adjusted cost base of the Unit to the Unitholder will then be nil. The taxation of capital gains is described below.

The cost to a Unitholder of additional Units received in lieu of a cash distribution of income will be the amount of income distributed by the issue of those Units. For the purpose of determining the adjusted cost base to a Unitholder of Units, when a Unit is acquired, the cost of the newly-acquired Unit will be averaged with the adjusted cost base of all of the Units owned by Unitholder as capital property immediately before that acquisition.

Disposition of Units

On the disposition or deemed disposition of a Unit whether on a redemption or otherwise, the Unitholder will realize a capital gain (or capital loss) equal to the amount by which the Unitholder's proceeds of disposition exceed (or are less than) the aggregate of the adjusted cost base of the Unit and any reasonable costs of disposition. Proceeds of disposition will not include an amount payable by the Fund that is otherwise required to be included in the Unitholder's income, including any capital gain realized by the Fund in connection with a redemption which has been designated by the Fund to the redeeming Unitholder. The taxation of capital gains and capital losses is described below.

Where Units are redeemed by the distribution of common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or any other property of the Fund to the redeeming Unitholder, the proceeds of disposition to the Unitholders will be equal to the fair market value of such property so distributed less any income or capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of the redemption of those Units which has been designated by the Fund to the Unitholder. Where income or a capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of the distribution of common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other such property on the redemption of Units has been designated by the Fund to a redeeming Unitholder, the Unitholder will be required to include in income, the income or taxable portion of the capital gain so designated. The cost of any property distributed by the Fund to a Unitholder upon a redemption of Units will be equal to the fair market value of that property at the time of the distribution less, in the case of a note, any accrued interest on the Countryside Canada Note. The Unitholder will thereafter be required to include in income interest on any Countryside Canada Note so distributed in accordance with the provisions of the Tax Act.

A consolidation of Units of the Fund will not be considered to result in a disposition of Units by Unitholders. The aggregate adjusted cost base to a Unitholder of all of the Unitholder's Units of the Fund will not change as a result of a consolidation of Units; however, the adjusted cost base per Unit will increase.

Capital Gains and Capital Losses

One-half of any capital gain realized by a Unitholder and the amount of any net taxable capital gains designated by the Fund in respect of a Unitholder will be included in the Unitholder's income as a taxable capital gain and one-half of any capital loss realized by a Unitholder may generally be deducted only from taxable capital gains in accordance with the provisions of the Tax Act. Where a Unitholder that is a corporation or trust (other than a mutual fund trust) disposes of a Unit, the Unitholder's capital loss from the disposition will generally be reduced by the amount of dividends from Countryside Canada previously designated by the Fund to the Unitholder except to the extent that a loss on a previous disposition of a Unit has been reduced by those dividends. Analogous rules apply where a corporation or trust (other than a mutual fund trust) is a member of a partnership that disposes of Units.

Alternative Minimum Tax

In general terms, net income of the Fund paid or payable to a Unitholder who is an individual that is designated as taxable dividends or as net realized capital gains and capital gains realized on the disposition of Units may increase the Unitholder's liability for alternative minimum tax.

2004 Budget Proposals

On March 23, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) proposed amendments to the Tax Act to restrict direct and indirect holdings in certain "business income trusts" (as defined in the proposals) by certain tax-exempt investors including trusts governed by registered pension plans and pension corporations (the "2004 Budget Proposals").

On May 18, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that the 2004 Budget Proposals will be suspended to allow consultation with representatives of the pension fund industry, the investment industry, provincial governments and other interested parties. This position was reiterated by the Minister of Finance (Canada) in a press release dated September 16, 2004.

Under the 2004 Budget Proposals, a "designated taxpayer" would be subject to a penalty tax in respect of each month where, at the end of that month, the designated taxpayer were to hold "restricted investment property" and, in general terms, the cost amount to the designated taxpayer of all such property exceeds 1% of the cost amount of all the designated taxpayer's properties. The monthly tax would be 1% of such excess. For this purpose, restricted investment property would include units and debt of a "business income trust" (other than an "exempt trust") and interests in (or debts of) partnerships, trusts, mutual fund corporations, investment corporations or mortgage investment corporations (each as defined in the Tax Act) where the cost amount to such entity of all of its restricted investment property exceeds 1% of the cost amount of all the entity's properties.

The 2004 Budget Proposals also proposed to subject a designated taxpayer to a penalty tax in respect of each month where, in general terms, at the end of that month the designated taxpayer, and entities with which it does not deal at arm's length, holds units of any class of a business income trust with a fair market value in excess of 5% of the fair market value of all units of such class. The monthly tax payable by a particular designated taxpayer would be 1% of its share (as determined under the 2004 Budget Proposals) of the excess holding of units by the designated taxpayer and such non-arm's length entities.

For the purposes of the 2004 Budget Proposals, the Fund would be a "business income trust" other than an "exempt trust" and the Units would constitute "restricted investment property". A "designated taxpayer" would include trusts governed by registered pension plans and pension corporations (but does not include trusts governed by a Plan).

Prospective purchasers of Units who could be treated as "designated taxpayers", or an entity an interest in which (or debt of which) may become "restricted investment property" as a result of holding Units should consult their own tax advisors regarding the potential application of the 2004 Budget Proposals as a result of an acquisition of Units.

On September 8, 2005, the Department of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper on tax and other issues related to publicly listed flow-through entities ("FTEs") such as income trusts and limited partnerships and invited interested parties to make submissions prior to December 31, 2005.

The stated focus of the consultation paper is to assess the tax and economic efficiency implications of FTEs to determine if the current tax system is appropriate or should be modified. Although the consultation paper does not propose any particular legislative or administrative changes, it identifies possible policy approaches, including limiting the deduction of interest expenses by operating entities, taxing FTEs in a manner similar to corporations or better integrating the personal and corporate income tax systems to make the tax system more neutral between forms of business organizations. On September 19, 2005, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that he had requested that CRA postpone providing advance income tax rulings respecting FTE structures pending these consultations, that the Department of Finance (Canada) is closely monitoring developments in the FTE market with a view to proposing measures in response to the consultations and that consideration would be given to what, if any, transitional measures were appropriate. Further initiatives in this area, if any, including the possible initiatives referred to in the consultation paper, may be taken following the completion of such consultations. Accordingly, legislative changes in this area are possible, and such changes could result in the income tax considerations described herein being materially different in certain respects.

RISK FACTORS

The following are certain factors relating to the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Acquired Business which prospective investors should carefully consider before deciding whether to purchase Units or Debentures. The following information is a summary of only certain risk factors and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, and must be read in conjunction with, the detailed information appearing elsewhere in this prospectus and incorporated herein by reference. These risks and uncertainties are not the only ones facing the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Acquired Business. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to the Fund, Countryside Canada or Ripon, or that the Fund, Countryside Canada or Ripon currently deem immaterial, may also impair the operations of the Fund, Countryside Canada or the Acquired Business. If any such risks actually materialize, the business and financial condition, liquidity and results of operation of the Fund, Countryside Canada and Ripon could be materially adversely affected and the ability of the Fund to make distributions on the Units or Countryside Canada to make interest payments on the Debentures could be adversely affected.

There are also risks associated with the business and operations of the District Energy Systems and the Biogas Project that a potential investor in Units or Debentures should consider and which are incorporated by reference in this prospectus. See "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business" in the Fund's AIF. As well, there are risks associated with the structure of the Fund that should be considered. See "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Structure of the Fund" in the Fund's AIF.

Risks Related to the Acquired Business

Dependence Upon Key Customers

Electricity generated from the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities has historically been purchased by PG&E and SCE, two local electric utilities, under long-term PPAs. Steam generated from the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities has historically been sold to two nearby paper mills. If for any reason such customers are unable or unwilling to fulfill their contractual obligations under the relevant PPAs and Steam Agreements, the financial condition of Ripon could decline and reduce Ripon's ability to generate distributable cash. Additionally, if the paper mills fail to meet their contractual obligations, the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities' status as QF's could be endangered with the consequences described below (the "Qualifying Facility Status").

Steam Host Termination for Convenience

Both Fox River and Blue Heron are permitted to terminate their respective steam sales agreements for convenience under certain circumstances. Each steam sales agreement provides that, in such event, the steam customer must make a specified monetary payment to Ripon to cover Ripon's cost of obtaining a replacement steam host. Blue Heron's obligation to make such payment terminates after the expiration of the initial 12 years of the agreement. Blue Heron may also discharge its obligation by obtaining a replacement steam host. It is possible that either steam host may exercise such termination right but fail to comply with its obligations to obtain or fund the cost to obtain a replacement steam host due to lack of resources or for other reasons. In such event Ripon may not have an adequate remedy against the steam host and be required to obtain a replacement steam host at its own expense or risk losing its QF status. Loss of QF Status would have a material adverse effect on Ripon. See "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

Competition

In markets in which Ripon operates, there is competition from companies who are involved in power generation. Some of these companies have access to greater financial resources and have a greater ability to attract and retain personnel than Ripon or the Fund. Additionally, in recent years, such competition has contributed to a reduction in electricity prices in certain markets.

Seasonality

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are expected to generate the majority of their gross revenues in the period from May to August because the PPAs provide higher levels of payments during these periods. To the extent that equipment at either the Ripon Facility or the San Gabriel Facility requires maintenance and repair, or suffers disruptions of power generation for other reasons during the period from May to August, Ripon's ability to make distributions to Ripon Power and adequately meet its obligations under the Ripon Loan may be negatively impacted.

Energy Pricing Risk

On or about July 14, 2001, Ripon and PG&E entered into a 5 year amendment of the Ripon PPA which substituted PG&E's SRAC with a primarily fixed energy rate (subject to adjustment for time of use factors). When this amendment expires in July 2006, it is expected that Ripon will again receive energy payments under the Ripon PPA based on PG&E's SRAC prices. The San Gabriel Facility currently receives a monthly energy payment for energy delivered to SCE in an amount calculated by reference to SCE's SRAC pursuant to an agreement which terminates no later than July 1, 2006, at which time Ripon will receive energy payments under the San Gabriel PPA based on SCE's SRAC prices. Currently, the SRAC energy prices are based on the Transition Formula, which is determined separately with respect to each utility on a monthly basis. The authority to modify the elements of the SRAC energy price formula rests with the CPUC, subject to certain statutory requirements imposed by the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act (Assembly Bill 1890). There is an open proceeding in which the CPUC has indicated it will review the Transition Formula for SRAC pricing for possible prospective changes. There can be no assurance that any change in the SRAC price methodology will not adversely affect the operating margins derived from the Ripon PPA and San Gabriel PPA. Any adverse change in energy margins may negatively impact Ripon's cash flow which in turn could reduce distributable cash.

Expiry of the PPA

Ripon's PPAs terminate in 2016 and 2018. There can be no assurance that, upon the expiry of such PPAs, Ripon will be able to enter into new PPAs or otherwise sell its power into the market at prices at or above projected levels. Future prices and rates cannot be predicted with certainty and will inevitably deviate from such forecasts and such deviation may be material. Significant declines in prices and rates would be expected to have a material adverse impact on Ripon upon expiry of the PPAs.

Capacity Payments

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are dependent on capacity payments due from PG&E and SCE, as the case may be. Under the PPAs, each Facility's ongoing ability to receive the full firm capacity payment is conditioned upon the delivery of the contract capacity during on-peak hours during the summer peak months (June through August for PG&E and June through September for SCE), although both facilities receive the benefit of a twenty percent monthly forced outage allowance during the summer peak months. If either Facility fails to meet the performance criteria, the purchasing utility has the right to declare a probationary period of up to fifteen months after which, if the performance criteria is not met, the Facility may be de-rated, the capacity payment reduced and the Facility subjected to a refund obligation based on the difference between original capacity and reduced capacity plus interest thereon. Finally, the capacity payment may be reduced by PG&E and suspended by SCE if the Ripon Facility or the San Gabriel Facility, respectively, is unable to meet its performance obligations as a result of a force majeure-type event that continues for longer than ninety days. Any adverse change in capacity and/or capacity bonus payments payments may negatively impact Ripon's cash flow which in turn may negatively impact Countryside Canada's cash available to pay interest on the Debentures and the Fund's distributable cash.

Insurance

There can be no assurance that insurance obtained in respect of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities' operations, including business interruption insurance and earthquake insurance, among others, will be sufficient and will continue to be offered on commercially reasonable terms or that events that could give rise to a loss or liability are insured. A significant event which is not fully insured could have a material adverse effect.

Operating Risks

The operation of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities involves many risks, including the breakdown or failure of equipment or processes, and performance below expected levels of output or efficiency. If operations are interrupted at these facilities due to mechanical failures or for other reasons, it could have a negative effect on distributable cash.

Reliance on Third Party Operator

Ripon has entered into operation and maintenance agreements with NAES for the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. As a result, Ripon is and will be dependent on these third party operators for the successful operation of these projects. To the extent NAES does not fulfill its obligations under these agreements, the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities' operations at these projects could be adversely affected.

Force Majeure Events

It is possible that force majeure events may disrupt operations at or cause substantial damage to the Ripon Facilities. As the plants are located in California, such force majeure events may include earthquakes. While Ripon has obtained insurance, including earthquake insurance, to mitigate any financial costs arising from such force majeure events, there is no assurance such insurance will fully cover such risks and costs or will continue to be available to Ripon on terms which are commercially reasonable.

Qualifying Facility Status

Loss of QF status could trigger defaults under covenants to maintain QF status under the PPAs and the Ripon Loan and result in PPA termination, penalties or acceleration of indebtedness under plus interest. Further, under PURPA, a regulated utility could refuse to purchase electricity from the Ripon Facility and/or the San Gabriel Facility at such utility's Avoided Cost if QF status were lost and might be entitled to certain remedies for breach of an existing PPA including the right to terminate the PPA. In addition, the FERC has asserted jurisdiction over the rates charged by QFs during periods when a facility does not operate in compliance with the applicable QF criteria and has indicated its willingness to order the refund of payments previously made under PPAs in some cases. Further, loss of QF status could expose either Facility to regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, by the CPUC and, until February 8, 2006, by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, or after February 8, 2006, by the FERC under EPA 2005.

Any of these consequences would result in substantial regulatory burdens, potentially lower revenues from power sales and potentially insurmountable impediments to affected entities with regard to conducting business in the manner currently contemplated. Accordingly, the ability of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities to generate distributable cash is dependent on their maintaining QF status. A facility may lose its QF status either temporarily or permanently.

Congress from time to time has considered legislation to repeal and amend certain provisions of PURPA, most recently with the enactment of EPA 2005. Such legislation has typically included "grand-fathering" protection to ensure that any change in law would apply only prospectively and would not affect the obligation of electric utilities to purchase from QFs under their existing PPAs. However, there is no guarantee that any future legislation would contain "grand-fathering" protection.

Pursuant to EPA 2005, on October 11, 2005 the FERC promulgated its proposed regulations implementing additional criteria to be applied to new generation facilities. Additionally under FERC's authority granted by Section 210 of PURPA FERC announced its intention to reconsider which of its other regulations, including but not limited to exemptions from regulation, are no longer required to "encourage cogeneration and small power production." In that light, FERC has proposed rules that would change the exemptions applicable to QFs. These changes would, among other things, subject QFs generally to the rate provisions of the Federal Power Act with respect to electricity sales not made at avoided cost rates established by a state regulatory authority. Moreover, FERC has invited comment on the proposed rules and on whether changes should be made to the exemptions and rights currently enjoyed by QF's under FERC's regulations, from interested parties, some of whom may argue against the encouragement of cogeneration and small power production. At this time, it is not possible to determine what rules applicable to QFs may be changed, or how they may be changed, as a result of this rulemaking and the case-by-case application of the rules that will further define their impact. Accordingly, this rulemaking may result in regulations that reduce the benefits of QF status. Nevertheless, it is believed that changes made to FERC's regulations as the result of the FERC rulemaking described above will not affect the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities for so long as each project continues to operate in compliance with PURPA and their PPA's remain in effect. If either Facility should lose QF Status and if it should be determined that the purchasing utility has the right to terminate its PPA as a result thereof, the provisions of the new regulations would apply to any new PPA that either the Ripon or San Gabriel Facility would seek to enter into under PURPA.

Regulatory Approvals

The construction and operation of energy projects requires numerous permits from governmental agencies, as well as compliance with environmental laws and other regulations. While management believes that the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are in substantial compliance with all applicable regulations and that each of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have the requisite permits, regulators and reviewing courts may disagree. There can be no assurance that new laws, regulations or orders or amendments to or new, more stringent interpretations or enforcement policies with respect to existing laws, regulations or orders which would have a material adverse effect on the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities will not be adopted or that completed projects will comply with all applicable permit conditions, statutes and regulations. If either Ripon Project fails to obtain or maintain any required permit or fails to comply with any applicable law, regulators may take enforcement actions which could have a material adverse effect on the applicable project.

Enforcement of Indemnities Against the Vendors under the Purchase and Sale Agreement

Pursuant to the Purchase and Sale Agreement, the vendors agreed to indemnify Countryside Holding in respect of breaches of any representations and/or warranties contained in such agreement. The vendors, however, will not be liable to pay any amounts under the indemnity provisions until the aggregate amount of all claims or losses exceeds US$1.05 million, subject to a maximum liability of US$7 million and a deductible of US$350,000, with the exception of indemnities relating to breaches of representations and/or warranties concerning certain fundamental corporate matters, tax matters and environmental matters, for which the maximum liability is limited to the cash purchase price paid by Countryside Holding under the Purchase and Sale Agreement. Further, it is not certain that the vendors will have sufficient assets to satisfy any claims for indemnification at the time an indemnification claim is made or a judgment respecting such a claim is entered. As a result, there can be no assurance that Countryside Holding will be able to obtain from the vendors under the Purchase and Sale Agreement the full amount of any damages suffered by it in respect of any breaches of representations and/or warranties by such vendors.

Environmental Health and Safety Risks

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are regulated by numerous and significant laws, regulations, by-laws, guidelines, policies, directives and other requirements relating to environmental health and safety matters ("EHS Requirements").

Management believes that material environmental permits that are required for the operation of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have been obtained (or renewals timely applied for). Although management believes that the operations of the facilities are currently in material compliance with applicable EHS Requirements and permit requirements, there is no guarantee that more stringent laws will not be imposed, that there will not be more stringent enforcement of applicable laws or that environmental control systems may not fail, which may result in material expenditures. Failure by Ripon to comply with any EHS Requirements, or increases in the cost of such compliance, including as a result of unanticipated liabilities (whether as a result of newly discovered issues or known issues that have not been quantified) or expenditures for investigation, assessment, remediation or monitoring, could result in additional expense, capital expenditures, restrictions or delays in the projects' and systems' activities, the extent of which cannot be predicted and which may be material.

Natural Gas Fuel Availability and Price

The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities use natural gas for fuel. The Ripon Facility currently purchases natural gas under fixed cost contracts that expire in 2006. There can be no assurance that Ripon will enter into new long-term gas contracts or otherwise purchase natural gas in the market at the same price as it receives today. Ripon has also entered into gas transportation contracts under which the natural gas is transported from the gas supplier's delivery point to the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. The pricing under such contracts is governed by tariffs filed with the CPUC. The contracts currently expire in 2007. Upon expiry there can be no assurance that Ripon will be able to renew the gas transportation contracts at the same rates as it receives today, and therefore Ripon's fuel transportation costs may decrease or increase the distributable cash generated by Ripon.

Lack of Correlation Between Energy Prices and Fuel Costs

The energy prices charged by each of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are currently governed by PPA amendments that will expire not later than June 30, 2006. After such date, the energy pricing at each facility will be based on the SRAC of the applicable utility. The CPUC is currently considering the future methodology for computing SRAC for each utility in an open proceeding. Although the outcome of such proceeding is uncertain, management believes that the CPUC will likely implement an SRAC methodology that indexes energy prices, in part, to an index of natural gas prices. However it is unknown what specific index the CPUC will choose for each utility and how energy prices will correlate to such index. At the same time, the Gas Contract will expire on June 30, 2006. Management is seeking to negotiate new gas contracts that will correlate gas prices with the same gas indices to be employed in the future applicable SRAC formulas and in that way ensure that energy prices received by Ripon adjust with movements in gas prices. However it is unclear that management will be successful given that both the conclusion of the CPUC proceeding and management's negotiations are unknown. In the event that management is unable to negotiate gas contracts with pricing that correlates with SRAC and gas prices increase without compensating adjustments in energy prices received by Ripon, operating margins at the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities may be reduced, in turn reducing Ripon's distributable cash.

Potential Refund Liability

A proceeding is currently pending before the CPUC in Docket No. R 99-11-022 in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply retroactively for the period December, 2000 through March, 2001 a March, 2001 decision (D. 01-03-067) which, among other things, modified the methodology used in calculating SRAC and thereby decreased SRAC levels for the period commencing March 27, 2001. SCE and several other parties sought judicial review of D. 01-03-067 and two related CPUC decisions. In September, 2002, the California Court of Appeals found that the CPUC had violated PURPA for failing to consider SCE's argument that the CPUC should retroactively apply the modified SRAC formula. Southern Cal. Edison vs. Public Utilities Comm'n., 101 Cal. App. 4th 982 (2002). The Court of Appeals directed the CPUC to consider SCE's request. In 2003 and 2004, comments on the issue were submitted to the CPUC by various parties and the matter was deemed submitted in November, 2004. In February, 2005, a Draft Decision was issued by the assigned Commissioner who found that "evidence shows SRAC prices were correct between December 2000 and March 2001, and retroactive application of the modified SRAC formula is not warranted." Various parties have submitted comments on the Draft Decision, including PG&E, SCE, a ratepayer organization and the CPUC's Office of Ratepayer Advocates, objecting to the Draft Decision. The CPUC has not yet issued a final decision in the matter and is free to accept the Draft Decision as written, modify it or reject it in its entirety. The outcome of this proceeding cannot be predicted. Even in the event of an adverse CPUC decision, management has been advised by counsel that Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them. If the CPUC ultimately adopts a final order imposing a retroactive modification to the SRAC formula, and a remedy based thereon is ordered or authorized, and if such final order and remedy is not reversed on appeal, QFs including the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities could be required to make refunds and/or accept reduced payments (by way of offset of past overpayment against future payments for power delivered) under their respective PPAs. Such refunds or reduced payments could be material for Ripon or San Gabriel, and could materially affect their ability to generate distributable cash.

Labour Relations

While management believes labour relations at the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have been stable to date and there have not been any disruptions in operations as a result of labour disputes with employees, the maintenance of a productive and efficient labour environment cannot be assured. In the event of a labour disruption such as a strike or lockout, the ability of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities to generate income, and consequently the ability of the Fund to generate cash distributions, may be impaired.

Risks Related to the Structure of the Fund

Dependence on Ripon

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust which is dependent on the management, operations and assets of Ripon as well as its other investments and on the management of Ripon through the indirect ownership of all of its outstanding membership interests. Although the Fund intends to distribute all cash generated by the Fund less administrative expenses, tax liabilities and other obligations of the Fund and amounts, if any, paid by the Fund in connection with the redemption of Units, there can be no assurance regarding the amounts of income to be generated from Ripon and paid to the Fund which will depend upon numerous factors, some of which will be beyond the control of management. Variations in the amounts of income generated from Ripon and paid to the Fund can be material.

Illinois Rate Incentive Program

Under the Illinois rate incentive program, USEB's Illinois-based biogas projects receive the gross contract rate for their power generated and sold under each project's PPA, which is equal to the average amount per kWh paid by the local government entities in each project's respective jurisdiction. The gross contract rate is subject to upward or downward adjustment and is set on a retroactive basis after the end of each contract year under the applicable PPA. During 2005, the gross contract rate for the prior contract year at four of USEB's ten Illinois-based biogas projects was reduced retroactively pursuant to the state retail rate program. As a result, USEB's revenue and operating cash flow from such biogas projects for the current year have fallen because (i) the current year's payments that are being made by the applicable power purchaser are based on the lower gross contract rate established retroactively for the prior year, and (ii) the applicable power purchaser has been off-setting from current year payments overpayments made during the prior year. While USEB is currently in compliance with the terms of the USEB Loans and has made all payments of principal and interest on the USEB Loans, it has not had sufficient cash flow from operations to fully fund reserves under the USEB Loans, declare and pay dividends to its shareholders or make payments to Countryside Canada under the USEB Royalty Interest. If the gross contract rates remain at current levels, USEB may not be able to fully fund reserves under the USEB Loans and/or may not be able to pay royalties under the USEB Royalty Interest. If gross contract rates fall further, USEB may not be able to meet its obligations under the USEB Loans.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

Pursuant to the Management Agreement and the Administration Agreement, commencing on November 1, 2005, the Fund and its subsidiaries will rely substantially on the Manager and the Administrator for management, administration and project development functions. See "Modified Management Arrangements — Management Agreement" and "Modified Management Arrangements — Administration Agreement".

There may be circumstances in which the interests of the Manager, its affiliates or entities managed by such parties may conflict with those of the Fund, Countryside Canada, its subsidiaries and the Unitholders. Although the Executives are required to devote a significant majority of their time for the benefit of Countryside Canada, Countryside Holding and its subsidiaries and to the development of projects reasonably expected to be within the acquisition criteria of the Fund, the Manager's personnel are not required to devote their time exclusively to these activities. Further, while the Manager is prohibited from providing management and administrative services to third parties other than the Fund, the Manager may develop and own energy and utility infrastructure projects for its own account or jointly with third parties, subject to its obligation to provide the Fund with a first opportunity to invest in such projects as described below. Thus, subject to the constraints described above, the Manager and its executives may engage in activities similar to the current activities of the Fund, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries.

The Manager and its affiliates will provide Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries with the first opportunity to invest in any entity or asset that meets the investment criteria of the Fund and Countryside Canada that the Manager or its affiliates develop, own or control. The Manager shall only be free to offer such investment opportunities to third parties or to pursue them for its own account if Countryside Canada or its subsidiaries decline or are unable to pursue such opportunities.

Further provisions in the Declaration of Trust, which are similar to those contained in the Canada Business Corporations Act, provide certain procedures to be followed in the event of such conflicts of interests, and certain remedies may be available to the Fund where such procedures are not followed.

Reliance on Third Parties

The Fund maintains no employees of its own and is reliant upon the Administrator and the Manager for the administration and management of its operating subsidiaries.

United States Tax-Related Risks

There can be no assurance that U.S. federal income tax laws and the IRS administrative policies respecting the U.S. tax consequences described herein will not be changed in a manner that adversely affects Unitholders. The Fund has obtained advice from U.S. tax counsel on certain U.S. federal income tax matters; however, the Fund has not sought or received a formal tax opinion from U.S. tax counsel.

Countryside Holding Note

The following discussion describes certain U.S. federal income tax consequences that could result in a reduction in the amount of distributions that Countryside Canada would otherwise receive from Countryside Holding and could consequently result in a reduction in the cash flow of the Fund that would otherwise be available for distribution to Unitholders. Countryside Holding intends to treat the Countryside Holding Note as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes and (subject to the discussion below regarding the earnings stripping rules) to claim deductions for all of the interest on the Countryside Holding Note in computing its income for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The Fund believes that the interest rate being charged on the Countryside Holding Note has been determined in an arm's length manner under the relevant facts and circumstances. While it is possible that the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") could take a contrary position, the Fund believes, based on advice of U.S. tax counsel, that Countryside Holding's position that the Countryside Holding Note is properly treated as debt, rather than equity, for U.S. federal income tax purposes is supported by existing legal authority as applied to the relevant facts and circumstances reviewed by U.S. tax counsel relating to the Countryside Holding Note. If the IRS successfully challenged Countryside Holding's treatment of the Countryside Holding Note as debt for such purposes, then otherwise deductible interest would be treated as non-deductible distributions and the disallowance of these interest deductions could increase Countryside Holding's U.S. federal income tax liability. If the IRS successfully challenged the interest rate as excessive on the Countryside Holding Note, Countryside Holding would not be able to fully deduct interest paid on such note and the disallowance of these interest deductions could increase Countryside Holding's U.S. federal income tax liability. Any such increase in Countryside Holding's U.S. federal income tax liability could adversely affect its ability to make interest and principal payments on the Countryside Holding Note and could also reduce the amount of the distributions which Countryside Canada would otherwise receive from Countryside Holding, and this could reduce the cash flow of the Fund that would otherwise be available for distribution to Unitholders.

The earnings stripping rules under Section 163(j) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), may limit the ability of Countryside Holding to deduct all or a portion of the interest paid on the Countryside Holding Note. Generally, under these rules, the ability of Countryside Holding to deduct interest paid on the Countryside Holding Note will be limited if (1) the debt to equity ratio of Countryside Holding exceeds 1.5 to 1 and (2) its net interest expense (the interest paid by Countryside Holding on all debt, including the Countryside Holding Note, less its interest income) exceeds 50% of its adjusted taxable income (generally, U.S. federal taxable income before net interest expense, depreciation, amortization and taxes). The amount of the disallowed deduction would be the interest expense exceeding the 50% threshold. If all or a portion of the deduction for interest on the Countryside Holding Note for a taxable year is disallowed by Code Section 163(j), the amount disallowed will be carried forward and treated as interest paid or accrued in the succeeding taxable year. Such interest, together with all other interest paid or accrued by Countryside Holding on all of its debt in the succeeding taxable year, would then be tested under Code Section 163(j) in such succeeding taxable year. In addition, there can be no assurance that future changes to the Code and the regulations thereunder will not otherwise restrict or eliminate the ability of Countryside Holding to claim a deduction for U.S. federal income tax purposes for interest paid on the Countryside Holding Note. An additional restriction on or elimination of the ability of Countryside Holding to claim deductions for interest payments on the Countryside Holding Note could increase the U.S. federal income tax liability of Countryside Canada. Any such increase in U.S. federal income tax liability could reduce the amount of the distributions which Countryside Canada would otherwise receive from Countryside Holding and this could reduce the cash flow of the Fund that would otherwise be available for distribution to Unitholders. The debt to equity ratio of Countryside Holding currently is less than 1.5 to 1, and thus the limitations of Code Section 163(j) are not expected to currently apply. Because the tests of Code Section 163(j) are applied for each taxable year, no assurance can be given that the limitations of Code Section 163(j) would not apply in the future.

Recent Developments Relating to USEB's Code Section 29 Tax Credits

In addition, USEB currently receives income from the sale of Code Section 29 tax credits which will expire on December 31, 2007 unless the law is extended. Through December 31, 2007, Code Section 29 has a phase out provision that is triggered when the "Market Wellhead Price" of domestic crude oil reaches certain "Phase-out Prices" as determined by the IRS. The phase-out is proportional. The Market Wellhead Price is the IRS' estimate of the calendar year average wellhead price per barrel for all domestic crude oil, the price of which is not subject to regulation. Phase out Prices are adjusted each year for inflation. The IRS will not publish the Phase-out Prices for calendar year 2005 until May 2006. Historically, the Market Wellhead Prices oil prices have been substantially below "Phase-out Prices" and therefore the possibility of a phase-out has been considered remote. However, due to the recent spike in oil prices, Market Wellhead Prices in 2005 have, on occasion, exceeded the price at which the Phase out would be triggered. Nevertheless, based on average Market Wellhead Prices for the first seven months of 2005 and estimates of 2005 Phase-out Prices, management believes that the Phase-out will not be triggered in 2005 unless oil prices during the remainder of 2005 increase significantly from current levels. However, there can be no assurance that future oil prices will remain under future phase out levels in 2006 and 2007. If a phase out is triggered during such years or in 2005, USEB's income from Code Section 29 tax credits may be reduced or eliminated, thus reducing cash available for servicing debt service on the USEB Loan and for payments of the royalty.

Canadian Tax-Related Risks

There can be no assurance that Canadian federal income tax laws and administrative policies respecting the treatment of mutual fund trusts will not be changed in a manner that adversely affects the holders of Units. If the Fund ceases to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, the income tax considerations described herein under the heading "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations" would be materially and adversely different in certain respects, including that the Securities may cease to be qualified investments for Plans. The Tax Act imposes penalties for the acquisition or holding of non-qualified investments.

The 2004 Budget Proposals included proposed amendments to the Tax Act to restrict direct and indirect holdings in certain "business income trusts" (as defined in the 2004 Budget Proposals) by certain tax-exempt entities. On May 18, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that the application of the 2004 Budget Proposals was suspended to allow further consultation with interested parties. This position was reiterated by the Minister of Finance (Canada) in the press release that accompanied the release of the draft amendments for the Budget Proposals dated September 16, 2004. As part of the release of the 2005 Federal Budget, the Minister of Finance (Canada) issued further statements in respect of the 2004 Budget Proposals, advising that the Department of Finance will continue to consult shareholders on tax issues related to business income trusts and other flow-through entities. On September 8, 2005, the Department of Finance (Canada) released a consultation paper on tax and other issues related to publicly listed FTEs such as income trusts and limited partnerships and invited interested parties to make submissions prior to December 31, 2005. The stated focus of the consultation paper is to assess the tax and economic efficiency implications of FTEs to determine if the current tax system is appropriate or should be modified. Although the consultation paper does not propose any particular legislative or administrative changes, it identifies possible policy approaches, including limiting the deduction of interest expenses by operating entities, taxing FTEs in a manner similar to corporations or better integrating the personal and corporate income tax systems to make the tax system more neutral between forms of business organizations. On September 19, 2005, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that he had requested that CRA postpone providing advance income tax rulings respecting FTE structures pending these consultations, that the Department of Finance (Canada) is closely monitoring developments in the FTE market with a view to proposing measures in response to the consultations and that consideration would be given to what, if any, transitional measures were appropriate. Further initiatives in this area, if any, including the possible initiatives referred to in the consultation paper, may be taken following the completion of such consultations. Accordingly, legislative changes in this area are possible, and such changes could result in the income tax considerations described under the heading "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations" being materially different in certain respects.

Currently, a trust will not be considered to be a mutual fund trust if it is established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non residents unless all or substantially all of its property is property other than taxable Canadian property as defined in the Tax Act. On September 16, 2004, the Minister of Finance (Canada) released draft amendments to the Tax Act. Under the draft amendments, a trust would lose its status as a mutual fund trust if the aggregate fair market value of all units issued by the trust held by one or more non-resident persons or partnerships that are not Canadian partnerships is more than 50% of the aggregate fair market value of all the units issued by the trust where more than 10% (based on fair market value) of the trust's property is taxable Canadian property or certain other types of property. If the draft amendments are enacted as proposed, and if, at any time, more than 50% of the aggregate fair market value of units of the Fund were held by non-residents and partnerships other than Canadian partnerships, the Fund would thereafter cease to be a mutual fund trust. The draft amendments do not currently provide any means of rectifying a loss of mutual fund trust status. On December 6, 2004, the Department of Finance tabled a Notice of Ways and Means Motion which did not include these proposed changes. The Department of Finance indicated that the implementation of the proposed changes would be suspended pending further consultation with interested parties.

Income fund structures generally involve significant amounts of inter company or similar debt, generating substantial interest expense, which serves to reduce earnings and therefore income tax payable. There can be no assurance that taxation authorities will not seek to challenge the amount of interest expense deducted. If such a challenge were to succeed against Countryside Canada, it could materially adversely affect the amount of cash available to the Fund for distribution to Unitholders or available to Countryside Canada to make interest payments on the Debentures. Management of the Fund believes that the interest expense inherent in the structure of the Fund is supportable and reasonable in light of the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes and the Debentures. On October 31, 2003 the Department of Finance released, for public comment, proposed amendments to the Tax Act that relate to the deductibility of interest and other expenses for income tax purposes for taxation years commencing after 2004. In general, the proposed amendments may deny the realization of losses in respect of a business if there is no reasonable expectation that the business will produce a cumulative profit over the period that the business can reasonably be expected to be carried on. The Fund has advised counsel that it does not believe that the proposed amendments will have a material effect on the tax position of the Fund or Countryside Canada. As part of the 2005 Federal Budget, the Minister of Finance (Canada) announced that an alternative proposal to replace the proposed amendment would be released at an early opportunity.

Exchange Rate Fluctuations

A substantial portion of the Fund's distributable cash in 2004 was derived from U.S. dollar-based investments, whereas a majority of the Fund's costs and its financial obligations to its lenders and unitholders are denominated in Canadian dollars. After accounting for the acquisition of Ripon, the percentage of the Fund's distributable cash from U.S. dollar-based investments is expected to increase. Ripon's revenues derive from PPAs and steam sale agreements denominated in U.S. dollars and currently distributable cash from Ripon is unhedged currency transaction risk into Canadian dollars. Management intends to implement a hedging strategy for its unhedged currency transaction risk once it completes the offering.

Risks Related Specifically to the Debentures

Trading Market for Debentures

The Debentures constitute an initial public offering of securities of Countryside Canada for which there is currently no public market. If the Debentures are traded after their initial issuance, they may trade at a discount from their initial public offering price depending on prevailing interest rates, the market for similar securities, the performance of Countryside Canada and other factors. No assurance can be given as to whether an active trading market will develop or be maintained for the Debentures. To the extent that an active trading market for the Debentures does not develop, the liquidity and trading prices for the Debentures may be adversely affected.

Prior Ranking Indebtedness

The Debentures will be subordinate to all Senior Secured Indebtedness. The Debentures will also be effectively subordinate to claims of trade creditors of Countryside Canada's direct or indirect subsidiaries except to the extent Countryside Canada is a creditor of such subsidiaries ranking at least pari passu with such other creditors. See "Description of the Debentures — Subordination".

Absence of Covenant Protection

The Indenture will not restrict Countryside Canada or any of its subsidiaries from incurring additional indebtedness or from mortgaging, pledging or charging its assets to secure any indebtedness. The Indenture will not contain any provisions specifically intended to protect holders of the Debentures in the event of a future leveraged transaction involving Countryside Canada or any of its subsidiaries.

Redemption Prior to Maturity

The Debentures may be redeemed, at the option of Countryside Canada, on and after October 31, 2008 and prior to the Maturity Date in whole or in part, at the redemption prices set forth in this short form prospectus, together with any accrued and unpaid interest. Holders of Debentures should assume that this redemption option will be exercised if Countryside Canada is able to refinance at a lower interest rate or it is otherwise in the interest of Countryside Canada to redeem the Debentures.

Inability of Fund to Purchase Debentures

Countryside Canada will be required to offer to purchase all outstanding Debentures upon the occurrence of a Change of Control. However, it is possible that following a Change of Control, Countryside Canada will not have sufficient funds at that time to make the required purchase of outstanding Debentures or that restrictions contained in other indebtedness will restrict those purchases. See "Description of Debentures — Put Right Upon a Change of Control".

Exchange Right Following Certain Transactions

In the event of certain transactions, pursuant to the terms of the Indenture, each Debenture will become exchangeable for securities, cash or property receivable by a holder of Units in the kind and amount of securities, cash or property into which the Debenture was exchangeable immediately prior to the transaction. This change could substantially lessen or eliminate the value of the exchange privilege associated with the Debentures in the future.

ELIGIBILITY FOR INVESTMENT

In the opinion of Goodmans LLP, counsel to the Issuer and of Torys LLP, counsel to the Underwriters, the Units, if issued on the date hereof, would be qualified investments under the Tax Act for the Plans on that date. The Debentures, if issued, on the date of this short form prospectus, would be qualified investments for trusts governed by the Plans (other than trusts governed by deferred profit sharing plans to which contributions are made by Countryside Canada or a person with whom Countryside Canada does not deal at arm's length within the meaning of the Tax Act) provided that the Units are listed on the TSX. If the Fund ceases to qualify as a mutual fund trust, the Securities will cease to be qualified investments for the Plans.

Common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes received as a result of a redemption of Units may not be qualified investments for a Plan which could give rise to adverse consequences to the Plan or the annuitant under the Plan. Accordingly, Plans that own Units should consult their own tax advisors before deciding to exercise the redemption rights attached to the Units. The foreign property limitation contained in Part XI of the Tax Act has been repealed.

MATERIAL CONTRACTS

The material contracts and other instruments entered into by, to be entered into by, or to become binding upon, the Fund or its subsidiary entities in connection with the Offering and the Acquisition are as follows:

The auditors of the Fund are Ernst & Young LLP, Chartered Accountants, Ernst & Young Tower, 222 Bay Street, Toronto-Dominion Centre, Toronto, Ontario.

The registrar and transfer agent for the Units is CIBC Mellon Trust Company at its principal transfer office in Toronto, Ontario. See "Plan of Distribution".

STATUTORY AND CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS OF RESCISSION AND STATUTORY RIGHTS OF WITHDRAWAL

Securities legislation in certain of the provinces and territories of Canada provides purchasers with the right to withdraw from an agreement to purchase securities. This right may be exercised within two business days after receipt or deemed receipt of a prospectus and any amendment. In several of the provinces and territories, the securities legislation further provides a purchaser with remedies for rescission or, in some jurisdictions, damages if the prospectus and any amendment contains a misrepresentation or is not delivered to the purchaser, provided that the remedies for rescission or damages are exercised by the purchaser within the time limit prescribed by the securities legislation of the purchaser's province or territory. The purchaser should refer to any applicable provisions of the securities legislation of the province or territory in which the purchaser resides for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal advisor.

January 1, 2004 to January 26, 2004" and found the amounts in the column captioned "Countryside (Pro Forma)" to be arithmetically correct.

10. A pro forma financial statement is based on management assumptions and adjustments, which are inherently subjective. The foregoing procedures are substantially less than either an audit or a review, the objective of which is the expression of assurance with respect to management's assumptions, the pro forma adjustments, and the application of the adjustments to the historical financial information. Accordingly, we express no such assurance. The foregoing procedures would not necessarily reveal matters of significance to the pro forma consolidated financial statements, and we therefore make no representation about the sufficiency of the procedures for the purposes of a reader of such statements.

NOTE TO PRO FORMA CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(In thousands of Canadian dollars, except per trust unit amounts and unless otherwise indicated)
As at and for the six-month period ended June 30, 2005 and for the year ended December 31, 2004

(Unaudited — See Compilation Report)

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Countryside Power Income Fund (the "Fund") is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004. The initial public offering (the "Initial Offering") of Trust Units of the Fund was completed on April 8, 2004. The unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet as at June 30, 2005 and the pro forma consolidated statements of income for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004 (the "Pro Forma Financial Statements") have been prepared by management ("Management") of Countryside Canada Power Inc. ("Countryside Canada"), in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles, to give effect to:

(a) The public offering of 4,720,000 units of the Fund ("Units") at a price of $9.35 per unit and the issuance of US$55,000,000, 6.25% exchangeable unsecured subordinated debentures ("exchangeable debentures") due October 31, 2012 for proceeds, net of $6,903 in offering costs, of $104,626.

(b) The acquisition of USE Canada Holdings Corp. as if it occurred on January 1, 2004.

(c) The completion of the acquisition of Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC ("LRPLLC"), whose name was subsequently changed to Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), as if it occurred on January 1, 2004. Ripon's principal assets consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California: the Ripon Cogeneration Facility ("Ripon Facility") and the San Gabriel Cogeneration Facility ("San Gabriel Facility") (collectively the "Ripon Facilities").

(d) The repayment of project debt at a subsidiary of Ripon Power of $72,911, plus early repayment fees of $3,350.

(e) The repayment of $32,000 outstanding under the Fund's revolving credit facility.

The unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of the Fund as at June 30, 2005 has been prepared using the unaudited consolidated balance sheet of the Fund as at June 30, 2005, which incorporates the Ripon Power acquisition that occurred on June 29, 2005. U.S. dollar denominated pro forma adjustments included in the unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of the Fund as at June 30, 2005 have been translated into Canadian dollars at a rate of $1.2254/U.S. dollar.

The unaudited pro forma consolidated statement of income for the year ended December 31, 2004 has been prepared using the audited consolidated statement of income and deficit of the Fund for the period from February 16, 2004 to December 31, 2004, the unaudited consolidated statement of income and retained earnings of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. (formerly USE Canada Holdings Corp.) for the period from January 1, 2004 to March 31, 2004, the audited consolidated statement of income and retained earnings of Ripon Power for the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004, an unaudited schedule of the results of operations of Ripon for the period from January 1, 2004 to January 26, 2004, and an unaudited schedule of the results of operations of Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. as described in note 2(x).

The unaudited pro forma consolidated statement of income for the six months ended June 30, 2005, has been prepared using the unaudited interim consolidated statement of income and deficit of the Fund for the six months ended June 30, 2005, and the unaudited interim consolidated statement of income and retained earnings of Ripon Power for the period from January 1, 2005 to June 29, 2005.

The audited consolidated statement of income of Ripon Power for the period from January 27, 2004 to December 31, 2004 and the unaudited consolidated statement of income of Ripon Power for the period from January 1, 2005 to June 29, 2005, reported in U.S. dollars, are included elsewhere in the prospectus of the Fund dated October 27, 2005 (the "Prospectus") and have been translated into Canadian dollars at rates of $1.2964/U.S. dollar and $1.2322/U.S. dollar, respectively. The unaudited schedule of the results of operations of Ripon for the period from January 1, 2004 to January 26, 2004 reported in U.S. dollars has been translated into Canadian dollars at a rate of $1.3094/U.S. dollar.

The pro forma adjustments are based on available financial information and certain estimates and assumptions. The actual adjustments to the consolidated financial statements of the Fund will depend on a number of factors. Therefore, the actual adjustments will differ from the pro forma adjustments. Management believes that such assumptions provide a reasonable basis for presenting all of the significant effects of the transactions contemplated and that the pro forma adjustments give appropriate effect to those assumptions and are properly applied in the pro forma consolidated financial information.

These unaudited Pro Forma Financial Statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. These unaudited Pro Forma Financial Statements incorporate the principal accounting policies used to prepare the consolidated financial statements of Ripon Power, other than the following:

(a) Ripon Power's accounting policy was to depreciate all property plant and equipment over the useful life of the plant as a whole and to expense all maintenance related costs in the period as incurred. The Fund's policy for depreciating property, plant and equipment is to amortize individual components of property plant and equipment over their individual useful lives and to capitalize all maintenance costs that represent a betterment (notes 2 (g) and 2 (m)).

(b) Ripon Power's accounting policy was to amortize deferred financing fees based on the effective interest rate method and treat this amortization as interest expense. These unaudited Pro Forma Financial Statements have been adjusted to reflect the Fund's accounting policy of amortizing deferred financing fees on the straight line basis, over the term of the loan, and to treat these amounts as depreciation and amortization expense (note 2 (q)).

(c) The historical financial statements for Ripon Power do not reflect any income tax expense.

Under the terms of the Income Tax Act (Canada), the Fund is not subject to income taxes to the extent that its taxable income in a year is paid or payable to a unitholder. The Fund intends to make sufficient distributions in each year of its net income and net realized taxable capital gains for tax purposes so that the Fund will generally not be liable in that year for income tax. Accordingly, no provision for current income taxes for the Fund has been reflected in the unaudited pro forma consolidated statements of income.

The Fund's corporate subsidiaries are subject to income tax and follow the liability method of tax allocation, whereby future tax assets and liabilities are determined based on differences between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities and are measured using the substantially enacted tax rates and laws that will be in effect when the differences are expected to reverse.

Historically, U.S. income taxes were not levied at the Ripon Power level. Taxes attributable to this entity will be incurred at the Fund's subsidiary level. Accordingly, an estimate of current taxes payable has been included in the preparation of the unaudited pro forma consolidated income statements.

These Pro Forma Financial Statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements of the Fund, USE Canada Holdings Corp. (included in the prospectus of the Fund dated March 29, 2004) and Ripon Power (included in this Prospectus), including the related notes thereto.

The Pro Forma Financial Statements are not intended to reflect the results of operations which would have actually resulted had the acquisitions and other pro forma adjustments been effected on the dates indicated. Further, the Pro Forma Financial Statements are not necessarily indicative of the results of operations that may be obtained by the Fund in the future.

2. PRO FORMA ASSUMPTIONS AND ADJUSTMENTS

The Pro Forma Financial Statements have been presented assuming that the following transactions had been completed and adjustments had been effected as described in note 1, as of January 1, 2004.

(a) The public offering of 4,720,000 units of the Fund ("Units") at a price of $9.35 per unit and the issuance of $67,397, 6.25% exchangeable unsecured debentures due October 31, 2012 for proceeds, net of $6,903 in offering costs, of $104,626. Of the $67,397 exchangeable debentures, $65,611 is allocated to debt and $1,786 is allocated to equity.

(b) To record the payment of the interest rate swap breakage fees related to the retirement of project debt at Ripon of $3,350.

(c) To record the repayment of project debt at Ripon Power of $72,911.

(d) To record the repayment of $32,000 outstanding under the Fund's revolving credit facility.

(e) To record the 10% U.S. withholding tax of $240 and $470 relating to interest paid on an intercompany note between two subsidiaries of the Fund for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(f) To record the incremental cost paid to the external Fund Manager under the new Fund management agreement excluding the subordinate interest the manager of the Fund has in certain cashflows generated by Ripon Power (Note 2(cc)).

(g) To record the capitalization of previously expensed amounts that increase or prolong the service life or capacity of an asset and related amortization of those amounts totalling $998 and $194 and of $1,368 and $287 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively, as a result of the change in accounting policy for Ripon Power.

(h) Management fees paid to previous owners were reversed amounting to $400 and $787 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

2. PRO FORMA ASSUMPTIONS AND ADJUSTMENTS (Continued)

(i) Management and administration fees that will be paid to manage the Ripon Facilities under a newly established contract amounting to approximately $148 and $311 for the six months ended June 30, 2005 and the year ended December 31, 2004, respectively.

(j) To record the elimination of the amortization of the other intangible assets consisting of Power Purchase Agreements (PPA's) recorded in the Ripon Power financial statements. The diluted earnings and loss per unit is based on the assumption that an additional 6,022,000 Units from the exchangeable debenture issue were exchanged during the periods presented.

3. INCOME TAXES

The Fund and the underwriters of the Initial Offering received opinions from U.S. tax counsel on certain tax matters related to its investments in U.S. Energy Biogas Corp. ("USEB"). The pro forma consolidated financial statements of the Fund reflect these opinions: specifically, that the USEB Loans should be respected as debt and the interest on the USEB Loans should be deductible by USEB for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and that interest should not be subject to any U.S. federal income tax withholding.

The Fund has also made a loan to its U.S. subsidiary. The Fund believes that interest on these loans should be deductible by the U.S. subsidiary for U.S. federal income tax purposes, subject to limitations imposed by Section 163(j) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and that the interest should be subject to U.S. federal income tax withholding.

There can be no assurance that the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") will not challenge various tax filing positions taken by the Fund. Management believes it is unlikely that the IRS would be successful; however, the effect on the income of the Fund and the net cash received by the Fund of a successful challenge by the IRS would be limited in the near term due to the tax position of USEB. In the longer term, a successful challenge by the IRS could negatively impact cash received by the Fund through its investments in USEB.

In addition to the foregoing, and in common with other complex international business structures, the Fund is subject to various additional uncertainties concerning the interpretation and application of Canadian and U.S. tax laws. If tax authorities disagreed with the Fund's application of tax laws, the Fund's profitability and cash flows could be adversely affected.

4. CONTINGENCIES

A proceeding is currently pending before the California Public Utility Commission ("CPUC"), in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply a March 2001 ruling which decreased "Short Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC" levels retroactively to the period December 2000 to March 2001. Such a ruling could, in theory, apply to many Qualifying Facilities ("QF's") in California including the Ripon Facilities and may lead utilities to seek refunds or offsets from the QF's which sold the utilities' power during such 4 month period. While management believes that such a result is unlikely, the outcome of such a regulatory proceeding cannot be predicted with certainty. Even in the event of an adverse result, management believes Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them.

NOTES TO INTERIM CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Unaudited

(thousands of U.S. dollars)

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements of Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), formerly, Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC, have been prepared by management using United States generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") applicable to interim consolidated financial statements, which are in all material respects in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. These unaudited notes to the consolidated financial statements do not include all disclosures required in the annual consolidated financial statements and should be read in conjunction with Ripon Power's audited consolidated financial statements and notes for the period ended December 31, 2004.

The preparation of the unaudited interim consolidated financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements and these accompanying notes. In the opinion of management, these unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies. Actual results could differ from those estimates, and the operating results for the interim period presented are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for the full year. These unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a basis consistent with the accounting policies disclosed in the audited consolidated financial statements for the period ended December 31, 2004.

(a) Basis of Presentation

Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon LLC") was acquired on January 27, 2004 and as such, the comparative financial statements are from the period commencing at the date of acquisition, January 27, 2004, through June 30, 2004.

(b) Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements of Ripon Power include the accounts of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Ripon LLC. All inter-entity transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.

2. ACQUISITION OF RIPON COGENERATION

Immediately following the acquisition, Lightrock was merged into Ripon LLC and the merged company assumed the name of Ripon LLC. These financial statement comparatives are for the period from January 27, 2004, the date of Ripon Power's acquisition of Ripon LLC, through June 30, 2004.

The acquisition of Ripon LLC was accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through net cash consideration of approximately $73,500, plus approximately $3,000 of transaction costs.

5. TERM LOAN

On January 27, 2004, Ripon LLC borrowed $65,700 in the form of a term loan maturing on January 15, 2011 from Credit Suisse First Boston ("CSFB"), acting through its Cayman Islands Branch, as Administrative Agent. As of December 31, 2004, the term loan bore interest at LIBOR plus 5.75%. Ripon LLC incurred financing costs of $2,405 related to this financing arrangement. These costs were capitalized and amortized using the effective interest rate method over the original term of the loan. With the exception of the $3,000 fuel credit support account and the incidental operating account, the CSFB term loan was secured by all of Ripon LLC's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon LLC may own or acquire.

Refinancing

Ripon LLC refinanced its CSFB credit facility as of March 24, 2005 among a syndicate of U.S. Banks, including Union Bank of California, N.A. ("UBOC"), in its capacity as administrative agent, collateral agent and issuing bank on behalf of the lenders ("Ripon Credit Facility"). The Ripon Credit Facility includes a US$59,500 term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018 ("Term Loan"), a US$5,000 debt service reserve letter of credit expiring on March 24, 2015 ("DSR LOC"), a US$3,000 letter of credit issued for benefit of a fuel supplier with an expiration of July 10, 2006 ("BP LOC"), and a US$2,000 working capital revolver maturing on March 24, 2008 ("W/C Revolver").

Proceeds from the UBOC refinancing were used to repay the CSFB term loan in full including a 2% prepayment premium. The remaining unamortized balance of the deferred financing costs of $1,991 associated with the CSFB term loan were written off during the six month period ended June 29, 2005.

The UBOC Term Loan is available to be drawn in U.S. dollars, and the interest rate will be based either on the U.S. prime, or LIBOR rate, plus an applicable margin which escalates throughout the loan term. For U.S. prime rate loans the applicable margin increases from 0.50% to 1.00% and for LIBOR loans from 1.50% to 2.00%. The W/C Revolver is subject to the same interest rate schedule as outlined for the Term Loan, and to a commitment fee of 0.375% on any undrawn commitment amount. As of June 29, 2005, the W/C Revolver was undrawn. The DSR LOC and the BP LOC are subject to fees on the drawn amount, equal to the then applicable margin of the Term Loan. As of June 29, 2005, no amounts were outstanding under either DSR LOC or the BP LOC. As of June 29, 2005, the Term Loan was fully drawn under LIBOR loans at a rate of 3.10% plus an applicable margin of 1.5%. The Ripon Credit Facility is non-recourse to Ripon Power and is secured by all of Ripon LLC's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon LLC may own or acquire. The Term Loan contains a financial covenant requiring Ripon LLC to maintain a debt service coverage ratio no less than 1.2 to 1.0 as well as other customary affirmative and negative covenants for a non-recourse project financing. As at June 29, 2005, the debt service coverage ratio was at 1.34:1. If the financial covenant is not satisfied at each quarterly reporting period, then all excess cash flow from Ripon LLC after payment of all debt service and operating expenses will be restricted, including a restriction on dividend payments. If the debt service coverage ratio is not restored to a level above the required covenant within four quarters, the Term Loan shall be prepaid with accumulated cash.

Principal maturities of the Term Loan commence repayment on July 15, 2005 and are payable during the next five years as follows:

2005 (for the six months ending December 31, 2005)	US$ 2,605
2006	3,951
2007	4,112
2008	4,177
2009	4,334
Thereafter	40,321
	US$59,500

As of March 30, 2005, Ripon LLC entered into an interest rate swap agreement with UBOC to fix the floating LIBOR rate paid on the fully drawn balance of the Term Loan at 4.939% per annum. The effective rate of interest when adding the applicable margin is 6.439%. The swap maturity coincides with the maturity of the Ripon Credit Facility on April 25, 2018. The notional amount of the swap of $59,500, amortizes on the same schedule as the Term Loan and payments are due every three months.

As at June 29, 2005 the fair value of the swap agreement was US$2,542 unfavourable which has been recorded as an other liability on the consolidated balance sheets.

Ripon LLC incurred financing costs of $1,737 related to this financing arrangement. These costs are being capitalized and amortized over the life of the loan, using the effective interest rate method.

At June 29, 2005, the fair value of the amount drawn on the Ripon Credit Facility approximated its carrying value.

6. MEMBERS' EQUITY

Allocation of distributions

Pursuant to Section 9 of the Amended and Restated Limited Liability Company Operating Agreement (the "Agreement") distributions of Net Cash Flow (as defined in the Agreement) included a semi-annual distribution to the members holding Series A preferred shares in proportion and to the extent of their Series A Priority Return, which approximates 6% (semi-annually) of the Base Amount (of $17,480 at June 30, 2005), as described in the Agreement). At June 30, 2005, the liquidation preference of the Series A Priority Returns totaled $17,968 (including an undistributed Series A Priority Return of $488 as at June 20, 2005).

7. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Ripon Power pays a management fee quarterly in arrears for services to Lightyear Capital LLC, Rockland Capital Energy Investments LLC, and D. Milne & Associates (the "Managers"). For the period ended June 30, 2004 and June 29, 2005, Ripon Power incurred management fees and late interest of $279 and $2 and $325 and $3, respectively. Management fees payable at June 30, 2004 and June 29, 2005 totaled $279 and $163 respectively.

8. SIGNIFICANT TRANSACTION

On June 29, 2005, 100% of the membership interests in Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC were sold to an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Countryside Power Income Fund for $35,800 in cash.

RIPON POWER LLC
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(thousands of dollars)

NOTE 1 — ORGANIZATION AND BUSINESS

Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), formerly Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC, is a Delaware Limited Liability Company organized to own Ripon Cogeneration, LLC ("Ripon LLC"), collectively referred to as the Company. Ripon Power is owned by The Lightyear Co-Invest Partnership LP, The Lightyear Fund AIV LP, Rockland Capital Energy Investments, LLC and D. Milne & Associates.

Ripon LLC is a Delaware Limited Liability Company organized to construct, own, and operate the two projects in California; Ripon and San Gabriel. These facilities are Qualifying Facilities under the Public Utility Regulatory Policy Act of 1978. The Ripon plant sells steam to the Fox River Paper Company and sells power to Pacific Gas & Electric under a power purchase agreement that expires in 2018. The San Gabriel plant sells steam to the Smurfit Newsprint Paper Mill and sells power to Southern California Edison Company under a power purchase agreement that expires in 2016.

On January 27, 2004, Lightrock LLC ("Lightrock"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ripon Power, acquired 100% of the interest in Ripon LLC, originally Ripon Cogeneration Inc., from Tractebel Power, Inc for $76,502. Immediately following the acquisition, Lightrock was merged into Ripon LLC and the merged company assumed the name of Ripon Cogeneration LLC. These financial statements are for the period January 27, 2004, the date of Ripon Power's acquisition of Ripon LLC, through December 31, 2004.

NOTE 2 — SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Consolidation — The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Ripon Power LLC and its subsidiaries. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated on consolidation.

Basis of Accounting — These consolidated financial statements have been prepared using the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with United States generally accepted accounting principles which are, in all material respects, in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

Cash Flows — Ripon Power presents cash flows using the indirect method and considers all highly liquid investments purchased with original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Restricted Cash — Under the Credit Suisse First Boston ("CSFB") credit agreement, Ripon LLC is required to maintain a debt service reserve account. The restricted cash represents the cash held in the CSFB debt service reserve account.

Escrow Deposits — Under the Ripon facility's fixed price gas agreement with BP Energy Company ("BP"), Ripon LLC is required to maintain $3,000 of credit support for the benefit of BP.

Property, Plant and Equipment — Property, plant and equipment are carried at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated remaining useful lives of the assets.

Intangible Assets — Intangible assets consisting of power purchase agreements are carried at cost less accumulated amortization. The power purchase agreements are amortized over the term of each respective agreement.

Deferred Financing Costs — Deferred financing costs consist of costs associated with the issuance of the long-term debt. These costs have been deferred, and are being amortized to interest expense using the effective interest method over the term of the related debt. Deferred financing costs are reported net of amortization on the balance sheet.

Revenue Recognition — Sales of steam and electricity are recorded based upon output delivered and capacity provided as specified under contract terms.

Income Taxes — Ripon Power is organized as a limited liability company and, as such, its income and deductions are passed through to the Ripon Power members. The Ripon Power members are responsible for their share of such items in the income tax return. Accordingly, no provision has been made for income taxes.

Long-Lived Assets — Ripon Power follows the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 144, Accounting for Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. Ripon Power evaluates its long-lived assets, including its long-lived intangible assets, for impairment as events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value of these assets may not be fully recoverable. Ripon Power evaluates recoverability of long-lived assets to be held and used by estimating the undiscounted future cash flows associated with the expected uses and eventual disposition of those assets and compares that amount to the carrying value of those assets. When these comparisons indicate that the carrying value of those assets is greater than the respective undiscounted cash flows, Ripon Power recognizes an impairment loss for the amount that the carrying value exceeds the fair value. Ripon Power evaluates the recoverability of long-lived assets to be disposed of, whether by sale or abandonments, by comparing the carrying value of those assets to their estimated fair value less costs to sell. If the carrying value of assets to be disposed of exceeds the respective fair value less cost to sell, Ripon Power recognizes an impairment loss for the amount of the excess. No indications of impairment existed during the period ended December 31, 2004.

Use of Estimates — The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts as well as certain disclosures. Ripon Power's financial statements include amounts that are based on management's best estimates and judgments. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Financial Instruments — Ripon Power's financial instruments primarily consist of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, escrow deposits, accounts receivable and accounts payable. The book values of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and payable are representative of their respective fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

Repair and Maintenance Costs — Ripon Power expenses major repair maintenance costs when they are incurred.

Major Customers and Concentration of Credit Risk — Each facility has one primary utility customer under long-term contract, as well as one industrial customer to which it provides steam under long-term contracts. Ripon Power's credit risk exposure in the event of non-performance by its customers is limited to the face value of the receivables. No collateral is required on these receivables.

NOTE 3 — ACQUISITION OF RIPON LLC

The acquisition of Ripon LLC was accounted for using the purchase method. The purchase price was satisfied through net cash consideration of approximately $73,500, plus approximately $3,000 of transaction costs.

The purchase price has been allocated, as follows:

Current assets, including cash of $2,938	$ 9,313
Capital assets	21,750
Power purchase agreements	49,028
Current liabilities	(3,589)
	$76,502

NOTE 4 — PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT AND INTANGIBLE ASSETS

In its allocation of the purchase price between property, plant & equipment ("PP&E") and intangible assets, Ripon Power attributed a value of $250 per kilowatt ("kW") to PP&E with the remainder of the purchase price allocated to the plants' power purchase agreements. The PP&E value of $250 per kW was arrived at through an assessment of market values for similar properties with particular consideration paid to the age of the facilities, their relative efficiency to other power projects, and their location near major load centers within the capacity constrained California market. Management believes this to be the best estimate of the fair value of the PP&E and intangible assets.

Property, plant and equipment consisted of the following at December 31, 2004:

	December 31, 2004	Useful Life
Plant — Ripon	$11,346	14 years
Plant — San Gabriel	7,186	12 years
Machinery and equipment	1,570	7 years
Land	2,202
	22,304
Accumulated depreciation	(1,469)
Total	$20,835

Intangible assets consisted of the following at December 31, 2004:

	December 31, 2004	Useful Life
Intangible assets — Ripon	$33,802	14 years
Intangible assets — San Gabriel	15,226	12 years
	49,028
Accumulated amortization	(3,333)
Total	$45,695

The estimated annual amount of amortization expense to be recorded in connection with the power purchase agreements in each of the five succeeding fiscal years is $3,636.

NOTE 5 — TERM LOAN

On January 27, 2004, Ripon LLC borrowed $65,700 in the form of a term loan maturing on January 15, 2011 from CSFB, acting through its Cayman Islands Branch, as Administrative Agent. As of December 31, 2004, the term loan bears interest at LIBOR plus 5.75%. Ripon LLC incurred financing costs of $2,405. These costs were capitalized and amortized through the term of the loan. With the exception of the $3,000 fuel credit support account and the incidental operating account, the CSFB term loan is secured by all of Ripon LLC's fixed assets, contracts, permits, and any other assets or investments Ripon LLC may own or acquire. The term loan contains financial covenants requiring Ripon LLC to maintain a leverage ratio no greater than 7.0 to 1.0 and a debt service coverage ratio no less than 1.0 to 1.0 as well as a variety of other standard affirmative and negative covenants. The term loan is non-recourse to Ripon Power.

During 2004, Ripon LLC repaid $1,827 of the principal amount outstanding. Ripon LLC incurred $5,043 in interest during 2004, of which $3,901 was paid and $1,142 is payable at December 31, 2004.

Principal maturities during the next five years are as follows:

2005	$ 2,827
2006	4,950
2007	3,543
2008	3,912
2009	4,087
Thereafter	44,554
Total	$63,873

NOTE 6 — COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

a) Commitments

(i) Ripon LLC has two gas turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each plant, to have turbines available for their use during the year. For the period ended December 31, 2004, Ripon LLC recorded $148 and $148 of rental expense in connection with San Gabriel's lease and Ripon's lease, respectively. San Gabriel's lease expires in July 2007 and Ripon's lease expires in August 2006. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon on an inflation factor.

(ii) Under the plants' fuel purchase agreements with BP, each plant is required to purchase 10,000 Million British Thermal Units ("MMBtu's") of natural gas each day. This purchase commitment is effective for both plants through the life of agreements, which expire on June 30, 2006. The price of fuel for Ripon is fixed at $5.305 per MMBtu under its fuel purchase agreement. Accordingly, Ripon's minimum future fuel commitments are as follows: $19,363 for 2005 and $9,602 for 2006. The Ripon fuel purchase agreement is considered under relevant accounting literature to be a derivative contract, however as the contract was entered into to fulfill normal business needs, it is not required to be accounted for at fair value. The price of fuel for San Gabriel resets monthly at current market prices. As such, the fair value of the plant's minimum future fuel commitments through June 30, 2006 is not reasonably determinable. San Gabriel's effective price of fuel was $6.4654 per MMBtu at December 31, 2004.

b) Contingencies

(i) A proceeding is currently pending before the California Public Utility Commission ("CPUC"), in which the CPUC is considering whether to apply a March 2001 ruling which decreased "Short Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC" levels retroactively to the period December 2000 to March 2001. Such a ruling could, in theory, apply to many Qualifying Facilities ("QF's") in California including the Ripon Facilities and may lead utilities to seek refunds or offsets from the QF's which sold the utilities' power during such 4 month period. While management believes that such a result is unlikely, the outcome of such a regulatory proceeding cannot be predicted with certainty. Even in the event of an adverse result, management believes Ripon would have several meritorious legal defenses that would be available to protect Ripon from any material adverse impact. However, there is no assurance that Ripon would prevail on such defenses if called upon to assert them.

NOTE 7 — MEMBERS' EQUITY

Allocation of distributions

Pursuant to Section 9 of the Amended and Restated Limited Liability Company Operating Agreement (the "Agreement") distributions of Net Cash Flow (as defined in the Agreement) will be as follows in order:

a. Quarterly, the Tax Distribution Amount (as defined in the Agreement) to the members in proportion to the amount of net taxable income pursuant to Section 8 of the Agreement (2004 — nil);

b. Semi-annually, to the members holding Series A preferred shares in proportion and to the extent of their Series A Priority Return, which approximates 6% (semi-annually) of the Base Amount (of $17,480 at December 31, 2004, as described in the Agreement). At December 31, 2004, the undistributed Series A Priority Return totaled $443;

c. Semi-annually, to the members holding Series A preferred shares in the amounts deemed distributed to the members pursuant to certain terms in the Agreement;

d. Upon the occurrence of an optional or mandatory redemption to the members holding Series A preferred shares in proportion to and to the extent of the amounts necessary to redeem such shares in accordance with certain terms in the Agreement; and

e. At the discretion of the Board of Directors, to the members holding Class A and Class B Common Shares, in proportion to their common percentage interest, provided however, that from and after such time as the Series A Preferred Shares have been fully redeemed, all Net Cash Flow remaining after the application of paragraph a. above will be distributed to the members holding Class A and Class B common Shares, in proportion to their common percentage interests.

Allocation of profit and loss

Pursuant to Section 8(a) of the Agreement, profits and losses for any year should be allocated among the members so as to reduce, proportionately, the difference between their respective Partially Adjusted Capital Accounts ("PACA") and their Target Capital Accounts ("TCA") (as defined in the Agreement). Specifically, if there are profits for any calendar year, each member whose PACA is greater than their TCA for the year will be allocated items of expense or loss for the year equal to the difference between their TCA and PACA. If in any year there are losses, each member whose TCA is greater then their PACA for the year will be allocated items of income or gain for the year equal to the difference between their TCA and PACA. The remaining profit or loss is allocated to the remaining members in proportion to their contributions.

Dissolution

Pursuant to Section 25 of the Agreement, subject to the rights and preferences of the holder of the Series A preferred shares to receive the Base Amount (as defined in the Agreement — $17,480 at December 31, 2004) and any accrued unpaid Series A priority returns in respect of the Series A preferred shares, prior to any distribution in respect of the common shares, upon any voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or wind up of the affairs of the Company, the holders of the common shares are entitled to receive all assets of the Company available for distribution to its members. At December 31, 2005, the liquidation preference totaled $17,923 (including the undistributed Series A Priority Return of $443).

NOTE 8 — RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Ripon Power pays a management fee quarterly in arrears for services to Lightyear Capital LLC, Rockland Capital Energy Investments LLC, and D. Milne & Associates (the "Managers"). For the period ended December 31, 2004, Ripon Power incurred management fees and late interest of $604 and $10, respectively. Management fees payable at December 31, 2004 totaled $163.

NOTE 9 — SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Refinancing

On March 24, 2005, the CSFB term loan was refinanced through Union Bank of California ("UBOC"). Proceeds from the UBOC refinancing were used to repay the CSFB term loan in full including a 2% prepayment premium. The UBOC refinancing includes a $59,500 term loan facility maturing on April 25, 2018, a $5,000 Debt Service Reserve Letter of Credit, $3,000 BP Letter of Credit, and a $2,000 working capital revolver. The UBOC refinancing extends the term of the CSFB term loan, reduces and fixes the interest rate, and releases restricted cash held in connection with the CSFB credit agreement. Payments under the UBOC term loan are made quarterly on January 15th, April 15th, July 15th, and October 15th of each year. The interest rate is tied to LIBOR plus a margin. The following table contains the interest rate margin for the relevant periods:

Period	Margin
Closing date through July 14, 2006	1.500%
July 15, 2006 through July 14, 2010	1.750%
July 15, 2010 through July 14, 2014	1.875%
July 15, 2014 through final maturity date	2.000%

At the closing of the UBOC refinancing Ripon LLC executed an interest rate swap, the notional amount of which is $59,500, fixing LIBOR at 4.939%.

Sale of Ripon Power

On June 29, 2005, 100% of the membership interests in Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC were sold to an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Countryside Power Income Fund for $35,800 in cash.

RIPON COGENERATION, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
Years Ended December 31, 2003 and 2002

1. THE COMPANY

Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. (the "Company") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Tractebel Power, Inc. The Company was formerly Mediafin USA Incorporated, but changed its name shortly after purchasing a 42-megawatt, natural gas-fueled cogeneration plant from Simpson Paper Company ("Simpson") located in Ripon, California, on October 2, 1996 ("Ripon"). The Company also purchased Simpson's power purchase agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric and its steam agreement and ancillary services agreement with Fox River Paper Company. On November 4, 1997, the Company purchased, for cash, a second plant from Simpson located in Pomona, California, as well as Simpson's power purchase agreement with Southern California Edison and steam agreement with Smurfit Packaging Corporation. In addition, the Company executed an agreement for the San Gabriel facility to sell steam to Simpson. In 1998 Pomona Paper Company, Inc. ("Pomona"), purchased Simpson and the Company executed a new agreement with Pomona. In 2002 Pomona Paper Company notified Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. that it had elected to close and sell the facility.

The Company's energy agreements are subject to the Public Utilities Regulatory Policy Act of 1978 ("PURPA"). Proposed legislation in the U.S. congress has called for either a repeal of PURPA or a complete restructuring of the regulations governing the electric industry, including PURPA, in order to promote open competition in the industry. These federal initiatives are generally not yet effective, but many states are implementing or considering regulatory initiatives designed to increase competition in the domestic power generation industry. The California Public Utility Commission has issued an electric industry restructuring decision, which commenced deregulation and implementation of customer choice of electricity supplier in early 1998. Both Ripon and San Gabriel are qualifying facilities ("QFs"), which each have one utility customer. Ripon sells its electricity output to Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("PG&E"), and San Gabriel sells its electricity output to Southern California Edison Company ("SOCAL"), under long-term Power Purchase Agreements ("PPAs") subject to rate orders effective in California for QFs.

In January 2001 both customers, PG&E and SOCAL, announced that they would not be able to meet all of their financial obligations as they became due. As a result, SOCAL petitioned to have rates paid to the QFs lowered or capped. In June 2001 SOCAL signed an agreement amending its PPA and agreeing on terms for repayment of amounts owed to San Gabriel plus interest. In August 2001 PG&E reached an agreement on terms of repayment with Ripon plus interest, revising the rate received for electricity to an average rate of $53.70 per megawatt hour for five years before returning to the original PPA rate. In December 2001 an agreement was approved by the California bankruptcy court requiring PG&E to begin payments on the outstanding receivables plus accrued interest at 5%. Interest income of $0 and $580,613 related to these receivables had been recognized as of December 31, 2003 and 2002, respectively. During 2002, SOCAL and PG&E fulfilled their obligations under these agreements and paid the full amount of outstanding receivables and interest.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue Recognition — Sales of steam and electricity are recorded based upon output delivered and capacity provided as specified under contract terms.

Property, Plant and Equipment — Property, plant and equipment is stated at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated remaining useful lives of the assets (plants 20 and 22 years and machinery and equipment 3 to 7 years).

Income Taxes — Income taxes are accounted for using the liability method. Deferred income taxes reflect the net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. The Company is a member of the Tractebel, Inc. consolidated group for tax reporting to federal and state authorities. The provision for income taxes represents the income taxes that would be provided by the Company on a separate return basis.

Cash Flows — The Company presents cash flows using the indirect method and considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Financial Instruments — The Company's financial instruments not considered derivatives consist primarily of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and accounts payable. The book values of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable and payable are representative of their respective fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

Repair and Maintenance Costs — Prior to 2002, a major repair and maintenance reserve was recorded based upon the Company's scheduled periodic major maintenance plans for the plants. Other repair and maintenance costs are charged to expense as incurred. Effective January 1, 2002, the Company changed its method of accounting for major maintenance to expense these amounts when they are incurred. The Company believes this method is preferable and the change resulted in the reversal of the existing reserves at January 1, 2002, which was reflected as a cumulative effect of a change in accounting principle in the accompanying statement of operations.

Long-Lived Assets — In 2002 the Company adopted the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 144, Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. The Company

evaluates its long-lived assets for impairment as events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value of these assets may not be fully recoverable. The Company evaluates recoverability of long-lived assets to be held and used by estimating the undiscounted future cash flows associated with the expected uses and eventual disposition of those assets and compares that amount to the carrying value of those assets. When these comparisons indicate that the carrying value of those assets is greater than the respective undiscounted cash flows, the Company recognizes an impairment loss for the amount that the carrying value exceeds the fair value. The Company evaluates the recoverability of long-lived assets to be disposed of, whether by sale or abandonment, by comparing the carrying value of those assets to their estimated fair value less costs to sell. If the carrying value of assets to be disposed of exceeds the respective fair value less costs to sell, the Company recognizes an impairment loss for the amounts of the excess. Under SFAS No. 144, assets held for sale will be included in discontinued operations if the operations and cash flows will be, or have been, eliminated from the ongoing operations of the entity and the entity will not have any significant continuing involvement in the related operations. No impairment of tangible assets has been indicated since adoption of this standard.

Use of Estimates — The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts as well as certain disclosures. The Company's financial statements include amounts that are based on management's best estimates and judgments. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Major Customers and Concentration of Credit Risk — Each facility has one primary utility customer under long-term contract, as well as one to two industrial customers to which it provides steam under long-term contracts. The Company's credit risk exposure in the event of nonperformance by its customers is limited to the face value of the receivables. No collateral is required on these receivables.

Derivative Instruments and Risk Management Activities — In the normal course of business, the Company employs a variety of physical instruments to manage its exposure to fluctuations in energy-related commodities prices.

The Company accounts for these derivative instruments in accordance with the requirements of SFAS No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, amended by SFAS No. 137 and SFAS No. 138. SFAS No. 133, as amended, requires the Company to record all derivatives on the balance sheet at fair value. Changes in the fair value of nonhedge derivatives will be immediately recognized in earnings. Changes in fair values of derivatives accounted for as hedges will either be recognized in earnings as offsets to the changes in fair value of related hedged assets, liabilities and firm commitments or, for forecasted transactions, deferred and recorded as a component of other accumulated comprehensive income ("OCI") until the hedged transactions occur and are recognized in earnings. The ineffective portion of a hedging derivative's change in fair value will be immediately recognized in earnings. The Company also formally assesses both at inception and at least quarterly thereafter, whether the derivatives that are used in hedging transactions are highly effective in offsetting the changes in either the fair value or cash flows of the hedged item. When it is determined that a derivative ceases to be a highly effective hedge, the Company discontinues hedge accounting. This standard results in additional volatility in reported earnings, other comprehensive income and accumulated other comprehensive income.

Energy and Energy-Related Commodities — The Company has price risk exposure due to changes in its fuel cost for running its power facilities. Commodity swap contracts are used by the Company to hedge the price risk exposure related to natural gas purchases for the power facilities. The Company documents these contracts as cash flow hedges when the contracts are highly effective in reducing the related price risk. Under the swaps, the Company pays a fixed price and receives a floating price, which effectively fixes the price to be paid for the natural gas. Realized gains and losses on the commodity swap contracts that qualify as cash flow hedges are recognized when the related commodities are purchased. The fair value of these instruments is reflected as a derivative liability.

The effects on OCI of these cash flow hedges were as follows in 2003 and 2002:

	December 31
	2003	2002
Balance — January 1	$(1,095,692)	$(9,541,603)
Income statement effect of settled transactions	(1,532,910)	3,598,590
Net market value gains on commodity hedges	6,186,081	4,847,321
Balance — December 31	$ 3,557,479	$(1,095,692)

As of December 31, 2002, the Company had $1,095,692 of unrecognized losses (net of tax of $753,578) in OCI related to commodity contracts designated as cash flow hedges. As these hedged fuel purchase transactions occurred, income of $1,532,910 (net of tax of $1,021,940) was recognized into earnings out of OCI during 2003. The remaining change in OCI relates to market value changes of commodity hedges during 2003, net of tax.

As of December 31, 2003, the Company had $3,557,479 of unrecognized gains (net of tax of $2,446,705) remaining in OCI related to commodity contracts designated as cash flow hedges and estimates that $2,061,233 of this amount (net of tax of $1,414,708) will be realized into earnings during the next twelve months as the hedged fuel purchase transactions take place. These agreements run through June 2006, and are transacted through a related party. During 2003 and 2002, these hedges did not have any ineffectiveness to be recorded to earnings.

Recent Accounting Standards — SFAS No. 143, Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations, is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2002, with early adoption permitted. SFAS No. 143 establishes standards associated with the retirement of tangible long-lived assets and the associated asset retirement costs. The adoption of SFAS No. 143, which occurred on January 1, 2003, did not have a material impact on the Company's financial statements.

In June 2002 the FASB issued SFAS No. 146, Accounting for Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities, which establishes financial accounting and reporting standards for restructuring costs including involuntary severance payments, contract termination and other exit costs and relocation costs. SFAS No. 146 supersedes Emerging Issues Task Force ("EITF") 94-3, Liability Recognition for Certain Employee Termination Benefits and Other Costs to Exit an Activity (Including Certain Costs Incurred in a Restructuring). This statement is effective for exit or disposal activities that are initiated after December 31, 2002, and the Company had no such activities in 2003.

In November 2002 the FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others ("FIN 45"). FIN 45 requires that guarantors recognize, at the inception of the guarantee, a liability for the fair value of the guarantee. In addition, FIN 45 clarifies the disclosures required of guarantors for certain guarantees that it has issued. The recognition and measurement criteria of this interpretation are to be applied prospectively to guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2002. The Company adopted the disclosure requirements of FIN 45 in 2002. The adoption of the recognition and measurement criteria on January 1, 2003 did not have a significant effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

3. PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Property, plant and equipment consisted of the following:

	December 31
	2003	2002
Plant — Ripon	$ 61,254,212	$ 61,177,431
Plant — San Gabriel	34,549,836	36,071,877

	96,523,963	97,977,573
Accumulated depreciation	(31,488,711)	(25,817,194)
Total	$ 65,035,252	$ 72,160,379

4. INCOME TAXES

The net deferred tax liabilities consists primarily of the tax effects of differences for financial reporting and tax purposes of depreciation methods, recognition of changes in value of derivative instruments and deductibility of accruals and reserves. Current year changes to the net deferred tax liability which were not recorded through the statement of operations of $3,200,283 was primarily related to the derivative instrument adjustment to OCI.

4. INCOME TAXES (Continued)

The provision for income taxes consisted of the following:

	December 31
	2003	2002
Federal income taxes:
Current	$2,622,821	$3,558,131
Deferred	(65,882)	281,269
State income taxes:

Deferred	136,765	240,171
Total	$2,773,124	$4,079,571

Current income taxes payable are included in balances due to affiliates in the accompanying financial statements. The Company paid $0 and $6,732,789, to Tractebel, Inc. in 2003 and 2002, respectively, related to taxes payable from prior years.

5. COMMITMENTS

The Company has two turbine lease agreements with a third party, one for each plant, to have turbines available for their use during the year. The Company paid annual base fees of $162,243 for San Gabriel's lease, which will expire in July 2007. The Company paid annual base fees of $163,302 for Ripon's lease, which will expire in August 2006. Both leases are subject to an annual escalation amount based upon on inflation factor.

In addition, the Company had amounts payable or receivable to Tractebel, Inc., and subsidiaries for taxes and various other expenses paid on its behalf.

The Debentures may not be redeemed by Countryside Canada on or prior to October 31, 2008, except in the event of the satisfaction of certain conditions after a Change of Control (as defined herein) has occurred. Thereafter, but prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures may be redeemed, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior notice, provided that the weighted-average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending five trading days preceding the date on which notice of redemption is given is not less than 125% of the Exchange Price. On or after October 31, 2010 and prior to the Maturity Date, the Debentures may be redeemed by Countryside Canada, in whole or in part, at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest on not more than 60 days' and not less than 30 days' prior written notice.

(1) The Underwriters will be paid a fee equal to 5% of the gross proceeds of the offering of Units and 4% of the gross proceeds of the offering of Debentures.
(2) Before deducting the expenses of the Offering which are estimated to be approximately $2.0 million.

The offering price of the Securities has been established through negotiation between the Issuer and the Underwriters with reference to the prevailing market price of the Units. In certain circumstances, the Underwriters may decrease and further change the price at which the Securities are sold to investors. See "Plan of Distribution".

A return on an investment in Units is not comparable to the return on an investment in a fixed-income security. The recovery of your initial investment is at risk, and the anticipated return on your investment is based on many performance assumptions. Although the Fund intends to make equal monthly cash distributions of its available cash to Unitholders, these cash distributions are not assured and may be reduced or suspended. The ability of the Fund to make cash distributions, and the actual amount distributed, will depend on various factors including the operating and financial performance of the business. In addition, the market value of the Units and/or the Debentures may deteriorate if the Fund is unable to meet its cash distribution targets in the future, and that deterioration may be material. The after-tax return from an investment in Units to Unitholders subject to Canadian income tax can be made up of both a return on and a return of capital. That composition may change over time, thus affecting your after-tax return. Returns on capital are generally taxed as ordinary income or as dividends in the hands of a Unitholder. Returns of capital are generally tax-deferred and reduce the Unitholder's cost base in such Unit for tax purposes. See "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations".

In connection with this Offering, the Underwriters may effect transactions that stabilize or maintain the market price of the Units at levels other than those which otherwise might prevail on the open market.

The Underwriters, as principals, conditionally offer the Debentures and Units, subject to prior sale, if, as and when issued, sold and delivered by the Issuer and accepted by the Underwriters in accordance with the conditions contained in the Underwriting Agreement referred to under "Plan of Distribution" and subject to the approval of certain legal matters on behalf of the Issuer by Goodmans LLP and on behalf of the Underwriters by Torys LLP.

In connection with this Offering, the Fund may be considered a "connected issuer" of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and TD Securities Inc. under applicable laws. Each of CIBC World Markets Inc., RBC Dominion Securities Inc. and TD Securities Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of a Canadian chartered bank, which are lenders to the Fund. See "Plan of Distribution".

Subscriptions will be received subject to rejection or allotment in whole or in part and the Underwriters reserve the right to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Registrations and transfers of Units and Debentures will be effected through the book-entry only system administered by The Canadian Depository for Securities Limited ("CDS"). Beneficial owners of Units or Debentures will not be entitled to receive physical certificates evidencing their ownership of such securities. Closing is expected to occur on or about November 14, 2005 or such later date as the Fund and the Underwriters may agree, but in any event no later than November 25, 2005. See "Description of Units — Book Entry Only System" and "Description of Debentures — Book Entry, Delivery and Form".

The making of a modifying or superseding statement shall not be deemed an admission for any purposes that the modified or superseded statement, when made, constituted a misrepresentation, an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact that is or was required to be stated or that is or was necessary to make a statement not misleading in light of the circumstances in which it was made. Any statement so modified or superseded shall not be deemed, except as so modified or superseded, to constitute a part of this short form prospectus.

GENERALLY ACCEPTED ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES

References in this short form prospectus to "GAAP" or "Canadian GAAP" mean generally accepted accounting principles in Canada, and references in this short form prospectus to "U.S. GAAP" mean generally accepted accounting principles in the United States. The Fund, Countryside Canada and certain of their subsidiaries prepare their financial statements in accordance with Canadian GAAP. The historical consolidated financial statements of Ripon Power LLC and Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. included in this prospectus have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP. In accordance with the requirements of National Instrument 52-107 Acceptable Accounting Principles, Auditing Standards and Reporting Currency, the financial statements of Ripon Power LLC were reconciled to Canadian GAAP and it was determined that there were no material differences under Canadian GAAP.

DEFINITION OF NON-GAAP MEASURES

Distributable Cash of the Fund (as defined in the Fund's AIF) is a measure generally used by Canadian open-ended trusts as an indicator of financial performance. Distributable Cash is a term that does not have a standardized meaning prescribed by Canadian GAAP or U.S. GAAP. Distributable Cash of the Fund may differ from similar computations as reported by other similar organizations and, accordingly, may not be comparable to Distributable Cash as reported by such organizations. Management believes that Distributable Cash of the Fund is a useful supplemental measure that may assist investors in assessing the return on their investments in Units or Debentures.

EXCHANGE RATES

In this prospectus, all dollar amounts are expressed in Canadian dollars ("$"), unless otherwise indicated. The following table reflects the low and high rates of exchange for one U.S. dollar ("US$"), expressed in Canadian dollars, during the periods noted, the rates of exchange at the end of such periods and the average of such exchange rates on the last business day of each month during such periods, based on the Bank of Canada noon spot rate of exchange.

DEFINED TERMS

For an explanation of certain terms and abbreviations used in this short form prospectus, reference should be made to the "Glossary of Terms".

The Fund

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario on February 16, 2004 pursuant to a declaration of trust (the "Declaration of Trust"). The Declaration of Trust was amended and restated on April 8, 2004, the date of the closing of the initial public offering of trust units of the Fund ("IPO Closing"). The Fund has invested, indirectly through Countryside Canada, in two district energy systems located in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island (the "PEI District Energy System") and London Ontario (the "London District Energy System", together with the PEI District Energy System, the "District Energy Systems") and two gas-fired cogeneration facilities located in California (the "Cogen Facilities"). The District Energy Systems have approximately 122 MW of thermal and electric generation capacity and the Cogen Facilities have approximately 94 MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 525,000 thousand pounds of steam in 2004. In addition, the Fund holds indirect investments in 22 renewable power generation and utility infrastructure projects (the "Renewable Energy Projects") located in the United States, which currently have approximately 51 MW of electric generation capacity and sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004. The Fund's investment in the Renewable Energy Projects consists of loans to, and a convertible royalty interest in, USEB.

The registered and head office of the Fund is located at 495 Richmond Street, Suite 920, London, Ontario, Canada N6A 5A9.

Countryside Canada

Countryside Canada is a corporation incorporated under the federal laws of Canada. All of the issued and outstanding shares of Countryside Canada are owned by the Fund. Countryside Canada holds all of the Fund's indirect investments. The registered and head office of Countryside Canada is located at 495 Richmond Street, Suite 920, London, Ontario, Canada N6A 5A9.

Acquisition and Investment Guidelines

The Fund intends to acquire or invest in additional projects only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in an increase in cash distributions per Unit and will meet the Issuer's other acquisition and investment guidelines. Such acquisitions or investments may be financed by the issuance of Units, from the cash flows of the Fund or through borrowings.

Future projects may be located in any region where opportunities meeting the Fund's objectives exist, although it is expected that these opportunities will exist primarily in Canada and the United States and may include: (i) district energy systems; (ii) natural gas-fired power plants; (iii) green energy projects (i.e., biogas, biomass, waste-coal and wind); (iv) cogeneration projects; (v) energy outsourcing facilities that provide energy to wholesale, commercial, institutional and/or industrial customers; and (vi) energy infrastructure projects.

Management believes that investment opportunities for the Fund will arise: (i) as energy companies and financial sponsors seek to sell assets; (ii) through consolidation in the energy industry; (iii) through the right of first opportunity granted by the Manager to Countryside Canada to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria of Countryside Canada or the Fund (see "Modified Management Arrangements — Management Agreement — Right of First Opportunity"); and (iv) through the acquisition, development or improvement of projects under the Development Agreement and/or the Improvement Agreement.

The following guidelines will be used in the review and evaluation of possible acquisitions and investments by the Fund:

(i) each asset will be acquired, or an investment made therein, only if the Fund believes that the acquisition or investment will result in accretive cash distributions per Unit;

(ii) assets in respect of which long-term revenue and energy supply contracts with investment grade or financially stable counterparties exist will be preferred and, in other cases, market electricity price and

exchange rate assumptions and forecasts used in the acquisition or investment evaluations will be obtained from a recognized independent source;

(iii) the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be subject to prior due diligence and based on an independent engineers' report confirming the condition or development of the asset and the technical assumptions used in the acquisition or investment evaluation;

(iv) the expected useful life of each asset and associated structures will, with regular maintenance and upkeep, conform with the Fund's objectives of providing long term and stable cash distributions to Unitholders; and

(v) the acquisition of, or investment in, each asset will be reviewed and approved by the Trustees.

Recent Developments

On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in the Fund's monthly distribution of $0.01 per Unit annually. The first distribution under the new rate will be paid on or about October 31, 2005 to Unitholders of record on September 30, 2005.

Coincident with the distribution increase, the Fund announced a plan modifying the Fund's existing executive management arrangements. Under the modified arrangements, Countryside Ventures LLC (the "Manager"), a company independent of the Fund, will provide management and administrative services to the Fund as well as new growth opportunities under long-term arrangements. The Manager will employ the Fund's current executive management team on a full-time basis as well as its administrative and development staff. The Fund will have a right of first offer on all investment opportunities developed by the Manager that meet the Fund's investment criteria. See "Modified Management Arrangements".

On June 29, 2005, the Fund, through a subsidiary, completed the indirect acquisition of Ripon Power LLC ("Ripon Power"), formerly "Lightyear Rockland Partners LLC", whose principal asset is Ripon Cogeneration LLC ("Ripon"), a California-based power generation company, for consideration of approximately US$95.3 million or approximately $116.9 million, based on the Bank of Canada noon spot rate of exchange on June 29, 2005. In connection with this transaction, the Fund, through Countryside Acquisition, entered into the Amended Credit Facility (as defined below) in the amount of $80 million, all of which was drawn upon closing of the Acquisition. See "The Acquisition".

Ripon's principal assets consist of two gas-fired cogeneration plants in California, one located in Ripon, California near San Francisco and the other located in Pomona, California, near Los Angeles.

THE ACQUISITION

Purchase and Sale Agreement

Pursuant to an agreement dated June 29, 2005 (the "Purchase and Sale Agreement"), Countryside US Holding Corp. ("Countryside Holding") purchased the membership interests of Ripon Power, for total consideration of approximately US$95.3 million. The purchase price was comprised of approximately US$35.8 million in cash and assumption of approximately US$59.5 million of project-level debt. Ripon Power is the indirect owner, through Ripon of the Cogen Facilities. The Purchase and Sale Agreement included representations and warranties, that are customary in a transaction of this nature. The representations and warranties survive for a period of one year from the closing date of the Acquisition, except for representations and warranties relating to environmental matters, which survive for three years, and representations regarding fundamental corporate matters and tax matters, which survive until the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations plus 60 days. The parties to the Purchase and Sale Agreement have agreed to indemnify each other with respect to claims or losses relating to the breach of any representations or warranties contained in the Purchase and Sale Agreement. The maximum liability of the parties with respect to breaches of representations or warranties relating to certain fundamental corporate matters, tax matters or environmental matters is the cash purchase price paid by Countryside Holding pursuant to the Purchase and Sale Agreement. A breach of any other representation or warranty is subject to a maximum liability of US$7 million. In the case of claims or losses for breaches of representations and warranties, neither party shall be liable to pay any amounts under the indemnity provisions until the amount of such claims or losses exceeds US$1.05 million in aggregate, in which event the relevant party may collect the portion of the loss in excess of US$350,000, subject to the maximum liability outlined above.

Amended Credit Facility

The Fund, through Countryside Acquisition, has entered into an amended and restated credit agreement with a syndicate of Canadian chartered banks (collectively, the "Lenders") providing for a revolving term facility of up to $80 million used in part to assist in financing the Acquisition (the "Amended Credit Facility"). The Amended Credit Facility was drawn in the amount of $80 million upon closing the Acquisition. The principal amount drawn on the Amended Credit Facility is repayable three years from the closing date unless repaid earlier in accordance with its terms. Amounts drawn under the Amended Credit Facility are principally collateralized by (i) a general security agreement and securities pledge from Countryside Acquisition, (ii) a guarantee, general security pledge and assignment of insurance proceeds by Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and by Countryside District Energy Corp. and (iii) a guarantee and general security agreement by Countryside Canada. Countryside Holding and the Ripon assets are excluded from the collateral of the Amended Credit Facility. In connection with the closing of the Offering, the Fund will repay a portion of the outstanding balance under the Amended Credit Facility and will secure certain consents of the Lenders and otherwise amend the Amended Credit Facility to facilitate the completion of the Offering. See "Use of Proceeds".

The Amended Credit Facility contains customary representations, warranties, covenants (including restrictions on incurring additional indebtedness), conditions to funding and events of default. The Amended Credit Facility is also subject to financial covenants regarding total debt to capitalization (not to exceed a ratio of 0.5:1 at any time) and debt to earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (not to exceed a ratio of 3.5:1 at any time).

The Amended Credit Facility is guaranteed by entities from which the Fund receives its cash distributions and as a result, the amounts owing under the Amended Credit Facility and any interest thereon will be payable in priority to any cash distributions to Unitholders.

Rationale for the Acquisition

Management and the Trustees believe that the Acquisition is consistent with the Fund's objective to make investments that result in an increase in cash distributions per Unit and are in the best interests of the Unitholders. The Acquisition provided the following benefits to Unitholders:

Immediately Accretive to Unitholders

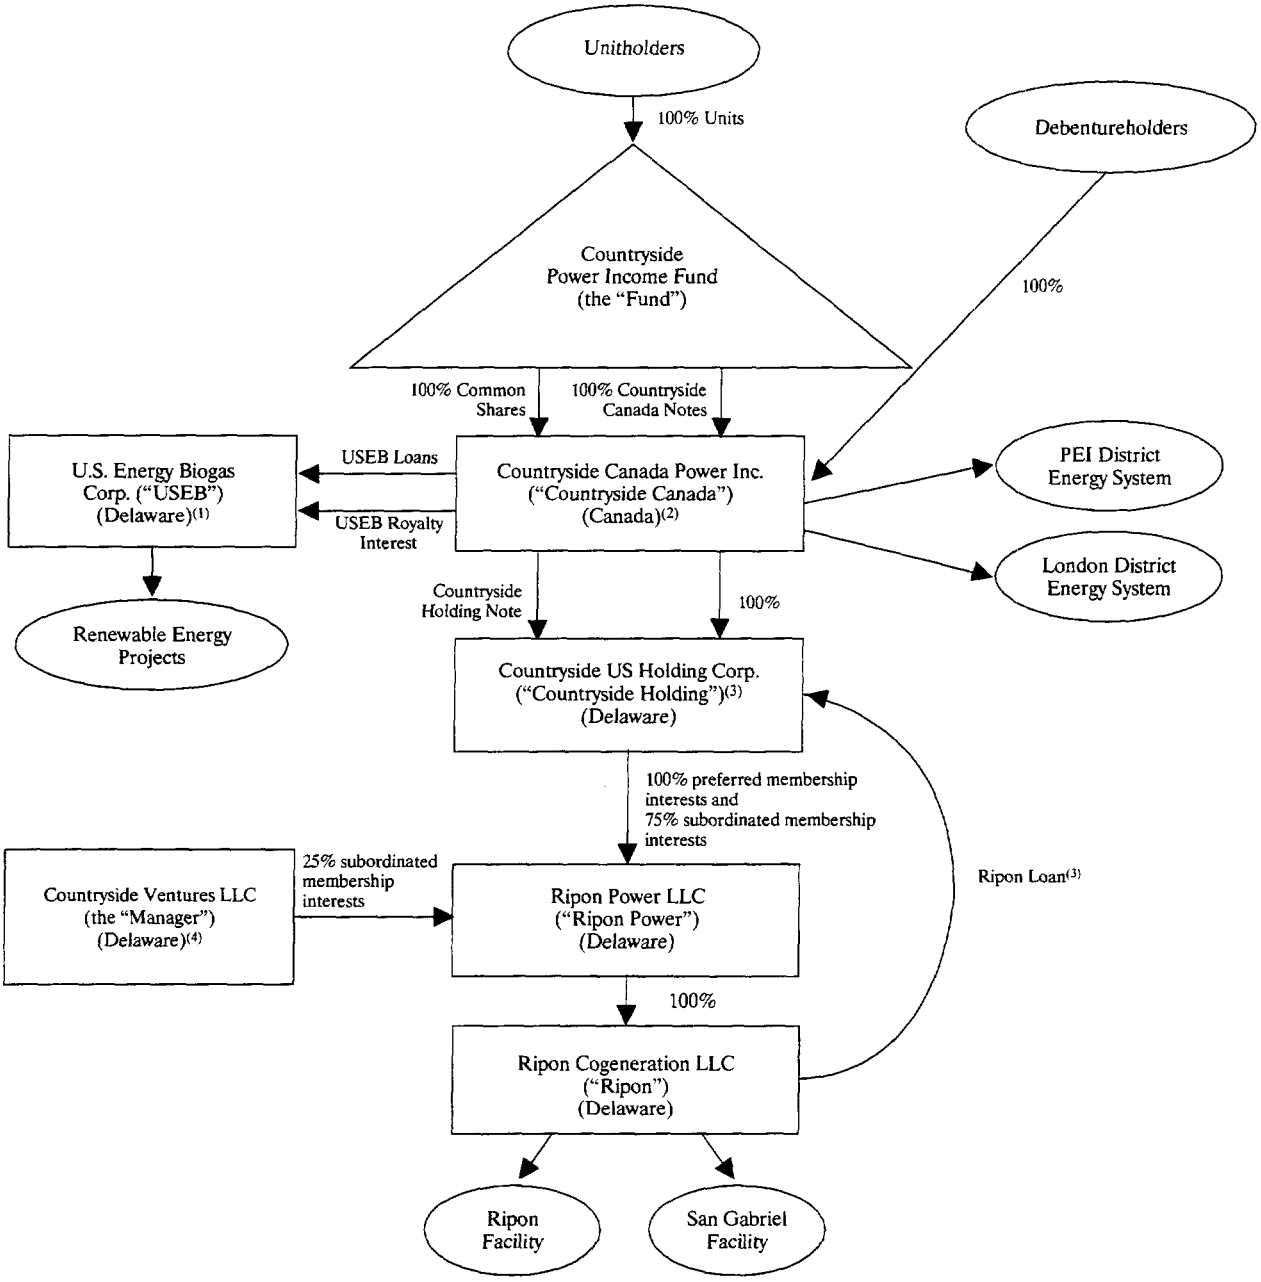
Management expects the Acquisition to be immediately accretive to Unitholders. Consequently, on September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in the annual per Unit distribution to be paid to Unitholders from $1.025 to $1.035. On a pro forma basis after giving effect to the Offering and the Acquisition as well as an adjustment for incremental costs as described in Note 7 of the "Summary of Cash Available for Distribution" section of this prospectus, the Fund's Distributable Cash per Unit would have been $1.1032 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004.

Stable and Sustainable Source of Cash Flow

Ripon generates predictable cash flow from long-term power purchase and steam sale agreements in place at both the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. The Ripon Facility currently has a power purchase agreement ("PPA") in place expiring in 2018 with Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("PG&E"), the principal operating subsidiary of PG&E Corporation, an investment-grade entity with a Standard & Poor's credit rating of BBB. The San Gabriel Facility currently has a long-term PPA in place expiring in 2016 with Southern California Edison ("SCE"), the principal operating subsidiary of Edison International, an investment-grade entity with a Standard & Poor's credit rating of BBB+.

Both the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have a history of successful operation with average annual peak operating availability over the last five years of 95.6% and 99.1%, respectively, as confirmed by the independent due diligence assessment conducted by Stone & Webster Management Consultants Inc. in connection with the Acquisition. See "Independent Engineers' Report".

Further Diversification of the Portfolio



The Acquisition further diversifies the Fund's portfolio by geography, and introduces two new investment-grade off-takers to the portfolio further mitigating counter-party risk. In addition, the Acquisition adds gas-fired cogeneration to the Fund's asset base providing greater fuel diversity. As a result of the Acquisition, the Fund holds investments in: (i) the District Energy Systems, having approximately 122 MW of thermal and electric generation capacity; (ii) the Cogen Facilities, having approximately 94 MW of electric generation capacity and which sold approximately 525,000 thousand pounds of steam in 2004; and (iii) the Renewable Energy Projects (by way of secured loans and a royalty interest) which currently have approximately 51 MW of electric generation capacity and which sold approximately 750,000 MMBtus of boiler fuel in 2004.

Greater Scale and Liquidity

If the initial public offering of the Fund, the transactions completed in connection therewith and the Acquisition and the Offering had been completed on January 1, 2004, the Fund would have generated revenue and adjusted distributable cash of approximately $100,153,000 and $21,650,000 respectively, for the twelve months ended December 31, 2004. See "Summary of Cash Available for Distribution". In addition, the issuance of the Units on closing of the Offering is expected by management to increase the trading volume and liquidity of the Units.

POST-CLOSING STRUCTURE

The organizational structure of the Fund after giving effect to the completion of the Acquisition and the transactions contemplated by this prospectus will be as follows:

(1) USEB indirectly owns a 50% interest in the Renewable Energy Projects based in Illinois and a 100% interest in the Renewable Energy Projects located outside of Illinois. The remaining 50% interest in the Illinois-based Renewable Energy Projects are owned by Landgas of Illinois Corp.

(2) Countryside Canada owns its interest in the PEI District Energy System and the London District Energy System indirectly through Countryside Acquisition, Countryside District Energy Holdings Corp. and Countryside District Energy Corp., its wholly-owned direct and indirect subsidiaries.

(3) On Closing of the Offering, Countryside Holding will use a portion of the proceeds of the Offering to acquire a project loan owed by Ripon to the Union Bank of California and the Allied Irish Bank (collectively, the "Ripon Loan").

(4) The Manager was granted 25% of the subordinated membership interests in Ripon Power in accordance with its long-term incentive plan entitlement under the modified management arrangements. See "Modified Management Arrangements — Management Agreement".

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

The Independent Power Generation Industry

The traditional electricity market structure in North America has consisted of vertically integrated utilities which had a near monopoly over the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity to retail customers. A variety of factors, including federal legislative changes, rapid growth in electricity demand, rising electricity rates, technological advances and environmental concerns, led certain governments to implement efforts to restructure the electricity industry within their respective jurisdictions.

Such changes have, among other things, encouraged the development of generation from independent power producers. In the independent power generation sector, electricity is generated from a number of sources, including: (i) water; (ii) natural gas; (iii) coal; (iv) waste products, such as biomass and biogas; (v) geothermal sources; (vi) the sun; and (vii) wind.

While vertically-integrated utilities continue to dominate the North American electricity landscape, independent power producers are playing an increasingly important role in the supply of electricity. Policymakers have recognized the benefits of power generated by independent power producers.

Qualifying Facilities

Among other things, the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, as amended ("PURPA"), as implemented by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC"), was enacted to encourage the development and operation of certain power generation facilities by requiring electric utilities to purchase power from qualifying facilities ("QFs") at the utility's avoided cost. A QF is a distinct type of energy producer that falls into one or both of two primary classes. One class of QFs are "small power production facilities" that generate power using specific energy sources such as wind, solar, geothermal, hydro, biomass or waste fuels, utilize a limited amount of fossil fuels and meet certain size criteria. A second class of QFs are "cogeneration facilities" which utilize fuel to produce both electric energy and useful thermal energy sequentially and meet certain operating and efficiency criteria. The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are in this second class since they produce electricity and steam and otherwise satisfy the applicable QF criteria. QFs are exempt from rate and other aspects of regulation by FERC under the Federal Power Act, exempt from all regulation by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and exempt from regulation by State public service commissions with respect to rates and the financial and organizational activities of electric utilities. Prior to the enactment of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 ("EPA 2005"), a QF could not be primarily owned by an electric utility.

On August 8, 2005, comprehensive energy legislation was enacted when the President signed into law EPA 2005. That legislation makes several changes to PURPA effective six months following the date of enactment (i.e., February 8, 2006), including: (1) eliminating the limitation on electric utility ownership of QFs, (2) terminating the mandatory purchase obligation imposed on electric utilities for new QFs that the FERC determines have access to competitive wholesale markets and (3) requiring the FERC to promulgate regulations no later than February 8, 2006 specifying additional criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities with respect to the useful thermal energy output of such facilities and to encourage the development of efficient generation technology. EPA 2005 makes clear that it does not apply to the rights and remedies of the parties to existing contracts or obligations in effect or pending before a State public service commission as of the date of enactment. On October 11, 2005, the FERC promulgated its proposed regulations implementing the additional qualifying criteria to be applied to new cogeneration facilities and reducing QF exemptions from rate regulation by FERC. Under the proposed regulations, the new qualifying criteria would not apply to the San Gabriel or Ripon Facilities since both facilities were certified as "qualifying cogeneration facilities" prior to the enactment of EPA 2005.

As noted above, the changes to PURPA made by EPA 2005 will not affect the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities for so long as each project continues to operate in compliance with PURPA and their PPAs remain in effect. If either facility should lose QF status and if it should be determined that the purchasing utility has the right to terminate its PPA as a result thereof, the provisions of the new legislation would apply to any new PPA that either the Ripon or San Gabriel Facility would seek to enter into under PURPA. If either facility should temporarily lose QF status, the FERC could order the refund of amounts paid to the facility during the period of non-compliance. See "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

The California Energy Market

Overview

When the California electricity market first permitted customer choice of generation supply, legislation fixed the retail rates of the three investor-owned utilities — PG&E, SCE and San Diego Gas and Electric ("SDG&E"). Originally, prices in the wholesale market were below the fixed level of retail rates; however, wholesale prices began to exceed the retail levels in the spring of 2000. The rise in wholesale prices was a result of a number of different factors including: (i) limited new generation capacity to accommodate demand growth; (ii) a wholesale market design that shifted significant amounts of wholesale electricity purchases to the spot market rather than to forward markets and which inhibited the utilities' ability to enter into long-term contracts; (iii) historically low water levels in the Pacific Northwest combined with increased demand in regions that were traditionally significant exporters to the California electricity market; (iv) high natural gas prices; (v) lack of price signals to retail customers who were unaware of increased wholesale rates as a result of their fixed retail rates; and (vi) alleged market manipulation.

As a result of rising wholesale prices and limitations on increasing retail prices, PG&E and SCE reported financial difficulty in paying for power, including power from QFs, and reduced or stopped making various payments. In April 2001, PG&E filed for bankruptcy. Subsequently, PG&E and SCE resumed payments to QFs, entered into agreements with the California Public Utilities Commission ("CPUC") intended to restore their financial positions and PG&E was discharged from bankruptcy in 2004.

In response to the developments described above, FERC, the California legislature and the CPUC enacted a number of measures significantly affecting the wholesale and retail electricity markets of California. While changes in the wholesale and retail electricity markets in California are expected to continue and may impact the degree of new generation supply entering the California market as well as future market price levels in unpredictable ways, the Fund expects that the impact on the Ripon or San Gabriel Facilities of such changes will be mitigated by their long-term capacity and energy sales agreements, under which capacity payments are largely fixed.

During periods when the full capacity of QFs are not committed to their respective counterparties, QFs may be subject to a "must-offer" obligation which FERC has required the California Independent System Operator ("CAISO") to include in its tariffs. In that event, CAISO can require QFs to sell power to the CAISO, if needed by the CAISO, provided that such sale would not violate a permit or cause loss of QF status and CAISO is required to compensate the QFs, pursuant to a rate formula set forth in CAISO's tariff on file with FERC. CAISO has proposed revisions to that rate schedule and the matter is pending before FERC.

Supply and Demand

In 2004, the Western Electricity Coordinating Council ("WECC") estimated peak Californian electric demand to be 54,875 MW. This is expected to grow at an average of 2.0% per year until 2013. At the same time, many of the electric generating facilities supplying peak Californian demand are approaching the end of their useful lives or are in need of retrofits to comply with new environmental standards. Approximately 58% of the total Californian power plant capacity was brought online prior to 1980[1].

Estimates of the amount of electric generating capacity that will be retired vary widely. In 2004, the California Energy Commission ("CEC") undertook a detailed study of ageing power plants and concluded, under a medium to high risk scenario, that 10,204 MW of generation capacity is expected to be retired from 2005 to 2008,[2] or is at risk of retirement. In addition, the rate of new additions slowed to only 568 net MW in 2004 compared to 2,678 net MW in 2003.[3] New additions are forecast to increase in 2005 with 2,231 MW of new generation capacity being added.

(2) Source: California Energy Commission Energy Policy Report, 2004 Update
(3) Source: California ISO 2004 Annual Report on Market Issues and Performance

Under several of these forecast scenarios, new generation capacity additions would be needed in the near term if the CAISO is to keep its operating reserves above its targeted 7% minimum and prevent exposing consumers and businesses to major power supply risks. In 2004, the state-wide peak hour reserve margin averaged 15.3%, down from 22.8% in 2003.

The CEC is forecasting the PG&E service area in northern California to be able to maintain a reserve margin above the minimum requirement through 2008, however, in the SCE and SDG&E service areas in southern California, the CEC is projecting the reserve margin declining to 2.1% in both 2007 and 2008[4], under normal operating scenarios.

Management believes that the combination of ageing supplies and increasing demand should support the Ripon and San Gabriel facilities remaining operational and economically viable after the expiration of their PPAs.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ACQUIRED FACILITIES

The Ripon Facility

The Ripon Facility is a nominal 49.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant located in Ripon, California, approximately 130 kilometres east of San Francisco. The Ripon Facility generally operates as a base load facility. The Ripon Facility is a QF under the regulations of the FERC implementing PURPA, and thus is currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law.

A General Electric LM5000 combustion turbine generator and an IHI power turbine generate electricity at the Ripon Facility. The combustion turbine technology is based on an aircraft engine design that is known for rapid starting and stopping capability and more efficient performance as compared to industrial frame combustion turbines.

The Ripon Facility produces steam from a heat recovery steam generator ("HRSG") and, when needed, from an auxiliary boiler. The full steam production from the HRSG can be used internally, primarily for steam injection into the combustion turbine.

Power Purchase Agreement

Electrical capacity and energy is sold pursuant to a Long-Term Energy and Capacity Power Purchase Agreement executed by Simpson Paper Company, as Seller, on November 12, 1984 and by PG&E as Buyer, on April 5, 1985 (the "Ripon PPA"). The Ripon PPA has been amended on three occasions and was assigned by Simpson Paper Company to Ripon Cogeneration Inc. in 1996, the predecessor in interest to Ripon. Ripon Cogeneration Inc. was subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004. The term of the Ripon PPA extends for a period of 30 years from the firm capacity availability date of April 25, 1988. The Ripon Facility is required to operate throughout the term of the agreement as a QF in accordance with the cogeneration facility requirements established by FERC pursuant to PURPA as those requirements existed on the effective date of the agreement.

The Ripon PPA provides for capacity payments for firm capacity, first incremental capacity and second incremental capacity. The formula for firm capacity payments is the product of: (1) the firm contract capacity of 42,000 kW; (2) the contract capacity price of US$172 per kW per year; (3) a capacity loss adjustment factor; and (4) a performance bonus factor. Firm capacity payments are applicable only in periods during which the Ripon Facility's forced outage rate is less than twenty percent. In addition, the firm capacity payments are weighted by allocation factors for each period as defined by the CPUC which are weighted towards the peak hours, particularly during the summer period of May 1 through September 30. The firm capacity performance bonus is based upon the Ripon Facility's availability factor during the summer peak months of June, July and August. The performance bonus factor is calculated as the ratio of the previous five-year average peak capacity factor during the summer peak hours divided by eighty-five percent. Average peak capacity over the last five years was 95.7% and 98.4% in 2004.

(4) Source: California Energy Commission Integrated Energy Policy Report, 2004 Update

The formula for the first incremental capacity for capacity deliveries above 42,000 kW and up to 44,500 kW is the product of: (1) the first incremental capacity of up to 2,500 kW; (2) the first incremental contract capacity price of US$188 per kW per year; (3) a capacity adjustment loss factor; and (4) an allocation factor which accounts for the quantity of first incremental capacity delivered during specified periods. Finally, the formula for second incremental capacity for capacity deliveries above 44,500 kW and up to 54,000 kW is the product of: (1) the first incremental capacity of up to 9,500 kW; (2) the second incremental contract capacity price as authorized from time to time by the CPUC; (3) a capacity adjustment loss factor; and (4) an allocation factor which accounts for the quantity of second incremental capacity delivered during specified periods.

Under the Ripon PPA, PG&E is required to accept delivery of all energy and capacity generated by the Ripon Facility except during periods of forced outage, force majeure, emergencies or to comply with prudent industry practice, or if necessary to allow PG&E to shut down its system for inspection, repair or maintenance. In such instances, PG&E is not required to accept or pay for deliveries of energy and may require the Ripon Facility to reduce energy deliveries. However if the Ripon Facility is prevented from meeting performance requirements because of a forced outage of PG&E's system, PG&E must continue to make the full capacity payments. During periods of "hydro-spill" conditions, as defined by the CPUC, and generally meaning those periods when purchases from QFs and other conditions on the PG&E system would otherwise require that PG&E spill water at its hydroelectric facilities without being able to generate electricity therefrom, PG&E has the right to curtail deliveries of energy from the Ripon Facility and, if energy from the Ripon Facility is delivered to PG&E, the energy price will be the hydro-savings price quoted by PG&E. PG&E also has the right to curtail deliveries from the Ripon Facility in excess of 37,000 kW during all super off-peak hours (generally from 1:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m. during each calendar day) and during any period when PG&E would otherwise incur "negative avoided costs" (generally, the utility would incur greater costs backing down its generation than the costs avoided through purchases from QFs).

Beginning on April 25, 1998, the energy payments under the Ripon PPA were made equal to PG&E's full short-run avoided operating costs. Subsequently, in 2001, the parties entered into an amendment to the Ripon PPA providing for the payment of energy prices reflecting an average energy price of US$53.76 per MWh over a five-year term, subject to adjustment through the application of time-of-use factors as defined by the CPUC. Following the expiration of the amendment on June 30, 2006, Ripon's energy payment will revert to PG&E's full short run avoided costs, commonly referred to as "Short-Run Avoided Cost" or "SRAC".

SRAC is established for each utility, from time to time by the CPUC. The CPUC has, since the 1980's, established various SRACs for PG&E and SCE. The methods to establish SRAC have also been modified from time to time by the CPUC and by the California legislature when it enacted section 390 of the Public Utilities Code ("PUC"). Factors that the CPUC have typically considered are fuel prices, the efficiency of utility generators, operations and maintenance costs and a time-of-use adjustment. PUC section 390 provides that until the CPUC determines that the Power Exchange, now defunct and not anticipated to function in the future, is functioning properly, SRAC shall be determined in accordance with PUC section 390(b). PUC section 390(b) directs that SRAC be based on a formula that reflects a 1996 starting energy price, adjusted monthly to reflect changes in a starting gas index price in relation to an average of current California natural gas border price indices. In December 2003, the CPUC issued decision D. 03-12-062, expressing the concern that "the SRAC pricing formula may need to be revised in light of the current energy market. Therefore the Commission should carefully consider how to modify the SRAC methodology and whether to seek legislative changes" to PUC section 390. In April 2004 the CPUC initiated a proceeding, CPUC docket R. 04-04-025 to address SRAC and other issues. Hearings in docket R. 04-04-025 are scheduled to commence in January 2006. The outcome of such proceedings is unknown and hence, future energy prices of Ripon cannot be predicted.

Steam Sales

Process steam from the Ripon Facility is sold to Fox River Paper Company ("Fox River") under an Amended and Restated Steam Agreement ("Ripon Steam Agreement") by and between Fox River and Simpson Paper Company dated September 30, 1996 which terminates on April 19, 2018. The Ripon Steam Agreement was assigned to Ripon Cogeneration, Inc. in 1996 which subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004.

Fox River is the only producer of text and cover, a value-added grade of uncoated freesheet, on the West Coast of the United States. While Fox River is subject to certain market pressures relating to rising pulp prices and declining demand for text and cover, its leading competitive position in this industry is expected to minimize the impact of these pressures.

Under the Ripon Steam Agreement, Fox River is obligated to accept a sufficient quantity of steam for Ripon to maintain QF status and supply all of Ripon's process water needed to satisfy the steam obligation. Fox River is required to return a minimum amount of the condensate meeting certain requirements. If Fox River returns less than the minimum amount of condensate, it is obligated to compensate Ripon for costs incurred by Ripon for obtaining additional quantities of process water. If Fox River returns condensate in excess of a certain amount, Ripon is obligated to pay Fox River a bonus to reflect the savings received by Ripon as a result of having to obtain less process water.

The Ripon Facility is obligated to supply up to 75,000 pounds of steam per hour and must utilize an auxiliary boiler to meet the steam demand when the gas turbine is not operating. The formula to determine the price payable by Fox River for steam is the product of: (1) the total quantity of steam delivered; (2) a thermal conversion factor which is 1.3 MMBtus per thousand pounds of steam for the first ten years of the Ripon Steam Agreement and 1.0 MMBtus for the remainder of the term; and (3) the cost of natural gas purchased by Ripon. Fox River is also responsible for all sales, use or other transfer taxes imposed upon the sale of steam under the agreement. Under the Ripon Steam Agreement, Ripon must pay liquidated damages for periods of steam supply disruption. The disruption compensation payment is capped at US$25,000 for any 24 hour period and US$1.8 million for any 12-month period. Since January 1, 2004, aggregate liquidated damages have been less than US$50,000. In addition, if a steam supply disruption occurs which is not permitted by the Ripon Steam Agreement Fox River may, but is not obligated to, assume operational control of the auxiliary boiler and related equipment until such steam supply disruption has been cured.

Other provisions address measurement of steam and water deliveries, billing and payment, operation of the facility and maintenance of the steam supply and condensate return lines, events of default and termination, force majeure, insurance, indemnity and dispute resolution which management believes are customary in the industry. Fox River has the right to terminate the Agreement for convenience at various times during the term of the Agreement for specified reasons. In the event of a termination for convenience, Fox River is obligated to pay the lesser of $5 million (adjusted on April 1st of each year by an amount equal to the percentage change in the Producer Price Index during the preceding 12-month period) or the reasonable actual cost incurred in building an alternative steam host for the Ripon Facility. In addition, Fox Paper is obligated to enter into good faith negotiations for the sale of land at the site suitable for the location of an alternative steam host. Each party has the right to terminate the Agreement for an event of default by the other party, including the failure for reasons other than a force majeure event of the Ripon Facility to supply steam for more than thirty consecutive days or more than fifty-two days during any 12-month period.

If the Fox River Steam Agreement was terminated and a replacement steam host not timely obtained or built, the Ripon Facility could lose its QF status and PG&E could seek to terminate the Ripon PPA. However, while Fox River has the right to terminate the Fox River Steam Agreement at its convenience, management believes that it would be unlikely to exercise this right as it would not be economical for Fox River to produce its own steam and a significant payment would be required to be paid to Ripon. For a more detailed discussion of the risks associated with loss of QF status, see "Risk Factors — Qualifying Facility Status".

Fuel

Natural gas is supplied to the Ripon Facility pursuant to a base agreement (the "Gas Contract") with BP Energy Company ("BP") that allows the parties to enter into binding sales and purchase transactions from time to time. The parties currently have in place an agreement (the "Ripon Transaction") that provides for BP to supply the full natural gas requirements to the Ripon Facility for a term commencing February 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2006. Under the Ripon Transaction, BP must supply a contract quantity of 10,000 MMBtu's per day to the Ripon Facility on a firm basis with the balance of the Ripon Facility's gas requirements in excess of the firm contract quantity supplied on an interruptible basis. The Ripon Transaction provides a fixed price for the supply of the firm contract quantity with the excess interruptible supply priced as a market-based gas price index. In addition to supplying natural gas to the Ripon Facility, BP is designated "balancing agent" for the Ripon Facility and, in that capacity, is responsible for all scheduling, nominations and balancing fuel consumption and deliveries. Imbalances are paid for by the party that created the imbalance. The delivery point under the Gas Contract is at the interconnection between the PG&E backbone transmission system and its distribution system at the PG&E citygate.

Under the Gas Contract, each party has a right to terminate the contract only in limited circumstances, including in the event of a failure to meet each party's credit support obligations, the failure to give adequate assurances of performance when required to be given under the contract and the failure to make payment following receipt of written notice that payment is due. In the event of a default, the non-defaulting party may elect to suspend performance under the Gas Contract and/or terminate the contract and liquidate any transaction in effect as of the date of termination. In the event of an early termination, damages are paid equal to the difference between the contract price and the then-current market value for the quantities over the remaining term of the transaction with the BP paying to Ripon the excess of the market value over the contract price or Ripon paying to BP the excess of the contract price over the market value for such quantities. The determination of the damages due and owing in the event of an early termination is made by the non-defaulting party in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.

The failure of either party to fulfill its obligation to deliver or accept delivery of gas does not give rise to a right to terminate. Instead, the sole and exclusive remedy for such failure is payment of the difference between the contract price and, if Ripon is the performing party, the cost of obtaining replacement fuel, or, if BP is the performing party, the price obtained by selling the gas to another purchaser, in each case as adjusted for commercially reasonable differences in transportation costs. In the event that either the obligation of BP to sell and deliver the firm contract quantity to, or the obligation of Ripon to purchase and receive the firm contract quantity at, the delivery point is suspended because of the occurrence of an event of force majeure, either BP will pay to Ripon the excess of the current market price over fixed contract price or Ripon will pay to BP the excess of the fixed contract price over the current market price for each MMBtu not delivered and/or received as a result thereof.

Currently, the Ripon Facility receives fixed energy payments from PG&E that follow the prices charged under the Gas Contract. After the fixed price period under the Ripon PPA and the Gas Contract end on June 30, 2006, management expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the PG&E SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which Ripon will purchase gas, although there is a possibility such correlation will not be complete. Ripon is in discussions with gas suppliers respecting a new gas supply contract that will replace the existing Gas Contract and will attempt to maximize the correlation between the purchase price in such gas supply contract with the gas indices used in PG&E's SRAC formula.

Natural gas transportation service for the Ripon Facility is provided pursuant to a Natural Gas Service Agreement with PG&E that provides for the firm transportation of a maximum daily quantity of 13,000 decatherms per day. Transportation service is priced at a rate that is set and may be changed from time to time by the CPUC. The Ripon Facility receives transportation service under two different PG&E rate schedules. Rate Schedule G-COG applies to the transportation of the natural gas used in the combustion turbine at the Ripon Facility while Rate Schedule G-NT applies to the natural gas burned in the auxiliary boiler. The PG&E Ripon transportation agreement was effective for an initial one-year term commencing on March 1, 1998 and continues on a month-to-month basis after the initial term unless terminated by either Ripon or PG&E. However, PG&E may only terminate the agreement with the approval of or pursuant to an order by the CPUC.

Environmental Health and Safety

The Ripon Facility and its operations are subject to an environmental health and safety regulatory regime including federal, state, regional, local and municipal laws, regulations and permits relating to, among other things: air emissions, water and wastewater treatment, worker health and safety and site contamination. Management believes that the Ripon Facility has obtained (or timely applied for renewal of) and is currently in material compliance with, the material environmental permits and approvals currently necessary to operate the Ripon Facility. A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment was completed in 2003 and no material issues of concern were identified relative to potential soil or groundwater contamination.

Site Rights and Expansion Opportunities

The site upon which the Ripon Facility is located is owned by Ripon. The site consists of approximately two acres of land located adjacent to the Fox River Paper Mill within an area occupied by industrial uses. Ripon maintains certain easement rights, which are necessary in connection with the operation of the Ripon Facility. Ripon is well-situated for expansion of its power generating capacity. Electrical and gas interconnections are already in place and capable of handling significantly more flow than is currently being utilized.

Operating & Maintenance

Operation and maintenance services are provided to the Ripon Facility pursuant to an operation and maintenance agreement (the "Ripon O&M Agreement") dated October 22, 2003. The contract is between Rockland California Partners LLC (which subsequently merged into Ripon), as the owner, and North American Energy Services Company as the Operator ("NAES" or the "Operator"). All employees at the Ripon Facility are employed by NAES and provide operational and maintenance services to the Ripon Facility under the Ripon O&M Agreement. NAES is one of the largest third-party providers of power plant operations and maintenance services with an experience base of more than 19,000 MW of generation capacity. NAES is owned by an affiliate of ITOCHU Corporation. The Ripon O&M Agreement has a term of seven years expiring on January 27, 2011. Services provided by the Operator include all operation and maintenance activities.

The Ripon O&M Agreement provides for payment of reimbursable costs, operating costs and an operator payment on a monthly basis. Reimbursable costs include such items as relocation and recruitment expenses for on-site personnel and the cost of operator's insurance. Operating costs include equipment, material supplies, consumables, spare parts, office expenses, utilities, training, contractors, permit fees, payroll and other similar costs. The operator payment includes a management fee, project management fee and an incentive payment.

GE Engine Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of engine failure, Ripon has entered into a service lease agreement for the Ripon Facility with General Electric Company ("GE") (the "Ripon GE Lease") under which GE is to repair or deliver a replacement engine to Ripon within certain specified time periods after notice from Ripon of an engine failure. Under the Ripon GE Lease, Ripon pays an annual fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement engine is used. The Ripon GE Lease runs through August 17, 2006 but may be terminated by either party in the event of a material breach by the other party. The Ripon GE Lease provides for liquidated damages in the event GE fails to perform subject to caps and limitations.

IHI Turbine Sub-Assembly Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of turbine failure, Ripon has entered into a turbine sub-assembly lease agreement for the Ripon Facility with IHI, Inc. ("IHI") (the "Ripon IHI Lease") under which IHI provides replacement parts for the turbine sub-assembly on-site. Under the Ripon IHI Lease, Ripon pays a base fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement turbine sub-assembly is used based on a fee schedule. The Ripon IHI Lease runs through April 30, 2009 and automatically renews for one additional 5 year term unless either party provides the other party with written notice of its intention not to renew. The Ripon IHI Lease may be terminated by either party for convenience with six months written notice or in the case of a breach by the other party. The Ripon IHI Lease contains certain limitations on IHI's liability for failure to perform.

The following table sets out the historical generation, steam sales, availability and heat rate information for Ripon, as confirmed by an independent engineering due diligence assessment conducted by Stone and Webster Management Consultants Inc. ("Stone and Webster Consultants").

The San Gabriel Facility

The San Gabriel Facility is a nominal 44.5 MW (gross output) gas-fired cogeneration plant located in Pomona, California, approximately 50 kilometres east of Los Angeles. The San Gabriel Facility generally operates as a base load facility. The San Gabriel Facility is a QF under the cogeneration regulations of the FERC implementing PURPA and thus is currently exempt from rate regulation as an electric utility under federal and state law.

Similar to the Ripon Facility, a General Electric LM5000 combustion turbine generator and an IHI power turbine generate electricity at the San Gabriel Facility. The San Gabriel Facility produces steam from a HRSG. A portion of the steam production from the HRSG can be used internally, primarily for steam injection into the combustion turbine.

Power Purchase Agreement

Electrical capacity and energy are sold from the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to a Power Purchase Contract with an effective date of September 7, 1983 but executed in a revised form by Simpson Paper Company as Seller on November 8, 1984, and SCE, as Buyer, on the same date (the "San Gabriel PPA"). The San Gabriel PPA was assigned by Simpson Paper Company to Ripon Cogeneration, Inc., in 1997, which was subsequently converted into Ripon in 2004. The term of the San Gabriel PPA extends for a period of 30 years from the Firm Operation date in January 1986 and continues thereafter until either party gives 90 days prior written notice of termination. The San Gabriel Facility is required to operate throughout the term of the agreement as a QF in accordance with the cogeneration facility requirements established by FERC pursuant to PURPA as those requirements existed on the effective date of the agreement.

The San Gabriel PPA provides for payments for firm capacity, as-available capacity and energy. The formula for firm capacity payments is the product of: (a) the Contract Capacity Price of US$158 per kW per year and (b) conversion factors to convert annual capacity prices to monthly payments by time of delivery as specified in Standard Offer No. 2 Capacity Payment Schedule, subject to periodic adjustments by the CPUC and (c) Contract Capacity of 36,000 kW and (d) a performance factor. Firm capacity payments are applicable only in periods during which the San Gabriel Facility meets a performance requirement of a forced outage rate less than twenty percent for all on-peak hours during each peak month ("Performance Requirement"). In addition, there are provisions for capacity bonus payments during both peak and non-peak months. To qualify for a bonus payment during on-peak months, the San Gabriel Facility must (i) meet the Performance Requirement and (ii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during the peak month. To qualify for a bonus payment during non-peak months, the San Gabriel Facility must (i) meet the Performance Requirement and (ii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during each peak month of the previous twelve months and (iii) achieve a capacity factor in excess of 85% during the non-peak month. As-available capacity rates are established by, and subject to, periodic revision by the CPUC. The San Gabriel Facility has achieved bonus payments in 16 of 16 peak months in the last 44 months and 27 of 28 non-peak months in the last 44 months.

If the San Gabriel Facility fails to meet the Performance Requirement, SCE may place the San Gabriel Facility on probation. If the San Gabriel Facility fails to meet the Performance Requirement during the probationary period, SCE may reduce the Contract Capacity, which would reduce future firm capacity payments and subject the San Gabriel Facility to a refund obligation based on the difference between the original Contract Capacity and the reduced Contract Capacity, plus interest thereon.

SCE is not required to accept delivery of all energy generated by the San Gabriel Facility if necessary to allow SCE to maintain its equipment or to maintain SCE system integrity. If the San Gabriel Facility is prevented from meeting performance requirements because of forced outage on SCE's system, SCE must continue to make the full capacity payments. The San Gabriel PPA provides that SCE may curtail deliveries of energy for no more than 300 hours per calendar year during off-peak hours when purchases from the San Gabriel Facility would either result in costs greater than energy from other sources or require that SCE hydro-energy be spilled.

Beginning on January 2, 1996, the energy payments under the PPA are equal to SCE's full short-run avoided operating costs. In 2001 the parties entered into an amendment to the San Gabriel PPA providing for payment for energy pursuant to a formula specified in the amendment. Following the expiration of the amendment and not later than June 30, 2006, San Gabriel's energy payments will revert to SCE's full SRAC. In April 2004, the CPUC initiated a proceeding, CPUC docket R. 04-04-025 to address SRAC and other issues. Hearings in docket R. 04-04-025 are scheduled to commence in January 2006. The outcome of this regulatory proceeding and hence future energy prices under the San Gabriel PPA cannot be predicted. For a more detailed discussion of SRAC see "The Ripon Facility — Power Purchase Agreement".

It is probable that in the event that the San Gabriel Facility fails to maintain QF status or commits a material breach of the San Gabriel PPA, SCE could assert that it may terminate the San Gabriel PPA.

Steam Sales

Process steam from the San Gabriel Facility is sold under a steam sales agreement dated May 20, 1997 between Simpson Paper Company and Smurfit Packaging Corporation (the "San Gabriel Steam Agreement"). Smurfit assigned its interest in the San Gabriel Steam Agreement to Blue Heron and the Simpson Paper Company assigned its interest to Ripon Cogeneration Inc., Ripon's predecessor in interest which was converted into Ripon in 2004. The San Gabriel Steam Agreement expires on January 1, 2016.

Blue Heron supplies recycled newsprint primarily to commercial printers in the Los Angeles area with the remainder supplied to smaller daily newspapers. Blue Heron relies on the above-average speed capability of its 240" machine and its geographic proximity to recovered paper supplies and end use markets to maintain a delivered cost advantage over larger competitors. It is anticipated that Pomona, California, the urban market in which Blue Heron principally operates, will face increasing pressure from declining real product prices and rising real recovered paper prices due to offshore demand and fluctuations in natural gas markets. These risks, however, are partially mitigated by Blue Heron's geographic proximity to supply sources and its strong competitive position.

Pursuant to the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Blue Heron is obligated to purchase the minimum quantity of steam necessary for the San Gabriel Facility to maintain QF status. The San Gabriel Facility is responsible for makeup water supply and no condensate is returned from Blue Heron. The San Gabriel Facility is obligated to supply up to 45,000 pounds of steam per hour during periods when the gas turbine is in operation. The price payable by Blue Heron for steam is determined by a formula in which: (1) the product of (a) the total quantity of steam (b) the thermal conversion factor and (c) the cost of fuel is (2) added to the cost of (x) water plus (y) the cost of chemicals to treat boiler feedwater plus (z) the actual incremental cost of treating boiler feedwater. Blue Heron is also responsible for all sales, use or other transfer taxes imposed upon the sale of steam under the agreement. Under the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Ripon is obligated to pay liquidated damages for periods of steam supply disruption not permitted by the agreement. This disruption compensation payment is subject to an annual cap and is not considered material. Except for: (a) indemnities related to liabilities resulting from (i) bodily injury, sickness, disease or death of any person, or (ii) damage or destruction of real or personal property; or (b) environmental matters; no party's liability for breach of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement shall exceed $3,000,000.

Other provisions address measurement of steam deliveries, billing and payment, operation of the facility and maintenance of the steam line, events of default and termination, force majeure, insurance, indemnity and dispute resolution which management believes are customary in the industry. Both parties have the right to terminate the San Gabriel Steam Agreement for an event of default by the other party. In addition, Blue Heron has the right to terminate the San Gabriel Steam Agreement in connection with the permanent closure of its newsprint recycling facility. If this permanent closure occurs within the first twelve years of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement, Blue Heron is obligated to reimburse the San Gabriel Facility for the cost of constructing the steam line interconnecting the Facility and the recycling facility, which reimbursement is reduced in equal amounts annually on the anniversary of the effective date of the San Gabriel Steam Agreement during the first twelve years of the agreement and do one of the following: (a) pay an amount equal to the lesser of (i) the reasonable actual costs incurred in building an alternative steam host at the San Gabriel Facility or (ii) $3 million or (b) provide an alternative steam host for the San Gabriel Facility that will allow the San Gabriel Facility to continue to qualify as a QF and is otherwise acceptable to Ripon. If Blue Heron elects to provide the San Gabriel Facility with an alternative steam host and the steam line continues to be used to provide service to such new steam host, Blue Heron is not obligated to reimburse the San Gabriel Facility for the cost of constructing the steam line.

Fuel

Natural gas is supplied to the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to the Gas Contract described in "Description of the Acquired Facilities — The Ripon Facility — Fuel". The parties currently have in place an agreement (the "San Gabriel Transaction") that provides for BP to supply the full natural gas requirements to the San Gabriel Facility for a term commencing February 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2006. Under the San Gabriel Transaction, BP will supply a contract quantity of 10,000 MMBtus per day to the San Gabriel Facility on a firm basis with the balance of the San Gabriel Facility's gas requirements in excess of the firm contract quantity supplied on an interruptible basis. The San Gabriel Transaction provides that the supply of both the firm and interruptible quantities are priced based on market-based gas price indices. In addition to supplying natural gas to the San Gabriel Facility, BP is designated "balancing agent" and, in that capacity, is responsible for all scheduling, nominations and balancing fuel consumption and deliveries. Imbalances are paid for by the party that created the imbalance. The delivery points under the Gas Contract for the San Gabriel facility are at any receipt point into the distribution system of Southern California Gas Company ("SoCalGas").

Under the San Gabriel Gas Contract, each party has a right to terminate the contract only in circumstances identical to those described in the context of the Ripon Gas Contract in "Description of the Acquired Facilities — The Ripon Facility — Fuel".

Under the San Gabriel Facility PPA, the San Gabriel Facility currently receives energy payments from SCE which correlate with the prices charged by BP under the gas supply contracts, as SCE's SRAC and BP's pricing are both derived from the same gas price indices. After the BP gas supply ends on June 30, 2006, management expects that the effective natural gas indices used in the SCE SRAC formula will substantially correlate with the market price at which Ripon will purchase gas although there is a possibility that such correlation will not be complete. Ripon is in discussion with gas suppliers respecting a new gas supply contract to replace the BP agreement upon its expiration which will attempt to maximize the correlation between the purchase price in such gas supply contact with the gas indices used in the SCE SRAC formula.

Natural gas transportation service for the San Gabriel Facility is provided pursuant to a Master Services Contract with SoCalGas that was effective on November 1, 2003, continued for an initial term of two years and continues on a month-to-month basis thereafter unless terminated by either party on no less than twenty days prior written notice. Transportation service is provided under SoCalGas Rate Schedule GT-F which includes both a monthly customer charge and a volumetric charge. The rates may be changed from time to time by the CPUC. Although the transportation service is firm, SoCalGas has the right to curtail service under Rate Schedule GT-F in order to maintain service to certain designated core customers. A customer under Rate Schedule GT-F that experiences an interruption of service more than once in any ten-year period is entitled to a credit against its monthly transportation charge.

Environmental Health and Safety

The San Gabriel Facility and its operations are subject to a regulatory regime including federal, state, regional, local and municipal laws, safety regulations and permits relating to, among other things: air emissions, water, work health and safety, wastewater treatment and site contamination. Management believes that the San Gabriel Facility has obtained and is currently in material compliance with, the material environmental permits and approvals (or timely applied for renewal of) currently necessary to operate the San Gabriel Facility. A Phase I Environmental Site Assessment was completed in 2003 and nothing of significant concern was identified relative to potential soil or groundwater contamination.

Site Rights and Expansion Opportunities

The site upon which the San Gabriel Facility is located is owned by Ripon. The site consists of approximately two acres located within the former Pomona paper mill site. The paper mill site has been converted to other industrial uses. Ripon maintains certain easement rights, which are necessary in connection with the operation of the San Gabriel Facility. Being in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, the San Gabriel Facility is well-situated for expansion of its power generating capacity. Electrical and gas interconnections are already in place and capable of handling significantly more flow than is currently being utilized.

Operating & Maintenance

Operation and maintenance services are provided to the San Gabriel Facility pursuant to an operation and maintenance agreement (the "San Gabriel O&M Agreement") dated October 22, 2003. The contract is between Rockland California Partners LLC, (which subsequently merged into Ripon) as the Owner, and NAES, as the operator. The San Gabriel O&M Agreement has a term of seven years expiring on January 27, 2011. Services to be provided by the operator are comprehensive and include all operation and maintenance activities. All employees at the San Gabriel Facility are employed by NAES.

The San Gabriel O&M Agreement provides for payment of reimbursable costs, operating costs and an operator payment on a monthly basis. Reimbursable costs include such items as relocation and recruitment expenses for on-site personnel and the cost of operator's insurance. Operating costs include equipment, material supplies, consumables, spare parts, office expenses, utilities, training, contractors, permit fees, payroll and other similar costs. The operator payment includes a management fee, project management fee and an incentive payment.

GE Engine Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of engine failure, Ripon has entered into a service lease agreement for the San Gabriel Facility with GE (the "San Gabriel GE Lease") under which GE is to repair or deliver a replacement engine to Ripon within certain specified time periods after notice from Ripon of an engine failure. Under the San Gabriel GE Lease, Ripon pays an annual fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement engine is used. The San Gabriel GE Lease runs through July 31, 2007 but may be terminated by either party in the event of a material breach by the other party. The San Gabriel GE Lease provides for liquidated damages in the event GE fails to perform subject to caps and limitations.

IHI Turbine Sub-Assembly Lease Agreement

In order to mitigate the risk of turbine failure, Ripon has entered into a turbine sub-assembly lease agreement for the San Gabriel Facility with IHI (the "San Gabriel IHI Lease") under which IHI is providing replacement parts for the turbine sub-assembly on-site. Under the San Gabriel IHI Lease, Ripon pays a base fee plus a usage fee for each week that the replacement turbine sub-assembly is used based on a fee schedule. The San Gabriel IHI Lease runs through April 30, 2009 and automatically renews for one additional 5 year term unless either party provides the other party with written notice of its intention not to renew. The San Gabriel IHI Lease may be terminated by either party for convenience with six months written notice or in the case of a breach by the other party. The San Gabriel IHI Lease contains certain limitations on IHI's liability for failure to perform.

INDEPENDENT ENGINEERS' REPORT

Stone and Webster Consultants were retained by the Fund to conduct an independent engineering due diligence assessment of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities.

In its report (the "Stone and Webster Report") dated June 28, 2005, Stone and Webster presented the results of its technical review of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities based on: (i) extended site visits; (ii) a review of the data, information and analyses made available to Stone and Webster Consultants; and (iii) Stone and Webster Consultants knowledge and experience with electric generating facilities of the same type as the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities. Stone and Webster Consultants provided assistance and consulting services to the Fund in the following areas: (i) assessment of the condition of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities; (ii) analysis of recent improvements and major maintenance activities; (iii) review of the performance and reliability of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities; (iv) evaluation of the operation and maintenance costs; (v) remaining life assessment beyond the initial PPA contract terms; (vi) assessment of the environmental condition, compliance history, and performance requirements; and (vii) technical requirements in the revenue contracts.

The following is a summary of the principal conclusions contained in the Stone and Webster Report. For a complete understanding of the estimates, assumptions, and calculations upon which these findings and conclusions are based, the Stone and Webster Report, available on SEDAR, should be read in its entirety.

(a) The technology employed to generate electricity and steam is based on the combustion of natural gas in a LM5000 aeroderivative combustion turbine generator supplied by GE. The steam is produced in a waste heat boiler. The technology is simple in operation and has a proven track record. The LM5000 has experienced a number of mechanical issues in its lifetime, typical of most power generation equipment. It is believed that GE has addressed these problems via various technical solutions. However, a vigilant maintenance program is essential in ensuring timely identification of wear and stress prior to failure of stressed components.

(b) The two keys to the reliable operation of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are a comprehensive inspection and maintenance program and the replacement engine lease program with GE. In addition, an additional replacement equipment agreement was entered into with IHI for the power turbine and related equipment. A review of the last five years of operating history indicates a highly reliable operation.

(c) The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are of a relatively simple design. Aside from the combustion and power turbines, the major components include the generator, the heat recovery steam generator, gas compressors, and water treatment equipment. A review of the last five years of operating records has not revealed any significant deterioration of the condition or performance of this equipment.

(d) Recent capital improvements to the Ripon Facility include the inlet air chiller, replacement auxiliary boiler, and auxiliary boiler low nitrogen oxides ("NOx") burner retrofits. The San Gabriel Facility has had a low NOx burner retrofit, a control system upgrade, and the implementation of full steam injection into the combustion turbines. These improvements have allowed additional generation, mitigated risks, or addressed environmental requirements.

(e) The maximum net output of the Ripon Facility is 49 MW and it has averaged between 43 MW and 46 MW on an annual average basis. The maximum net output of the San Gabriel Facility was 41 MW prior to the recent steam injection upgrade. The average annual output has been 38.6 MW. Since the steam injection upgrade, the net output of the facility has increased by 1.5 to 2 MW.

(f) The thermal efficiency or heat rate of both facilities is tied to the combustion turbine performance and the use of supplemental natural gas for raising additional steam. For the Ripon Facility, the annual average heat rate has ranged from approximately 9,350 Btu/kWh to 9,500 Btu/kWh. This range is expected to continue. For the San Gabriel Facility, the annual average heat rate has ranged from 9,850 Btu/kWh to 10,150 Btu/kWh. The recent upgrades at the San Gabriel Facility combined with operational improvements should reduce the heat rate somewhat.

(g) Operation and maintenance of the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities is performed by a third party operator, NAES. NAES is an experienced operator with sufficient experience in the operation of gas-fired combustion turbine facilities to properly operate the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities.

(h) Major maintenance appears to have been performed on a regular basis with recent overhauls completed on both combustion turbines.

(i) The Ripon PPA is a Standard Offer #4 Agreement with PG&E. In order to receive capacity payments, the facility must supply 42 MW of capacity to PG&E. Capacity bonus payments can be realized if the capacity factor during the summer months (June through August) average at least 85% over a period of time. The Ripon Facility is capable of achieving its full capacity payment and most of the available capacity bonus payment.

(j) The San Gabriel PPA is a Standard Offer #2 Agreement with SCE. In order to receive capacity payments, the facility must supply 36 MW of capacity to SCE. Capacity bonus payments can be realized if the capacity factor during the summer months (June through September) average at least 85% over a period of time. The San Gabriel Facility is capable of achieving its full capacity payment and most of the available capacity bonus payment.

(k) Both facilities operate as QFs under the cogeneration facility provisions of PURPA. Based on data provided by the existing owners, both the facilities have met the efficiency and operating standards as established by FERC.

(l) Both the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have a remaining useful life at least through the end of the PPA terms. In addition, with appropriate maintenance and capital investment, it is believed that the Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities are capable of operating for at least 20 more years.

(m) The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities both exclusively fire natural gas. Natural gas is an inherently clean fuel with very low sulphur and particulate emissions. Both Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities use state-of-the-art technology for the control of NOx emissions both from the combustion turbines, the Ripon Facility's auxiliary boiler, and the San Gabriel Facility's duct burners.

(n) The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have valid operating permits, or are operating under permit application shields. The Ripon and San Gabriel Facilities have been operated in material compliance with their respective permit requirements. Several Notices of Violation have been issued over the last four years, most recently in May 2005 for the San Gabriel Facility. These notices of violation have been relatively minor in nature and have been satisfactorily addressed.

Notes:

(1) Distributable Cash and Adjusted Distributable Cash are not measures under Canadian GAAP and there is no standardized measure of distributable cash and therefore, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds or companies. The Fund distributes substantially all of its cash on an on-going basis. Management believes that distributable cash is a widely accepted financial indicator used by investors to assess the performance of an income trust and its ability to generate cash for distributions through ongoing operations.

(2) After giving effect to the Acquistion and the Offering.

(3) Canadian GAAP requires separate accounting for the equity and liability component of the Debentures. Included in the interest expense on the pro forma consolidated statement of income for the year ended December 31, 2004, is a non-cash charge related to the accretion of the liability component of the Debentures of $220.

(4) Purchases of capital assets for regular operations are non-expansionary capital expenditures. Total capital expenditures for the period noted above was $3,721 for the year ended December 31, 2004. This pro forma adjustment reflects management's estimate of the historical expenditures by Ripon Power over the pro forma period (approximately $1,368) and management's estimate of the historical expenditures by the Fund for this period (approximately $253).

(5) As the timing of the receipt of the royalty interest income earned in a period is dependent upon the timing and extent of equity distributions made by USEB to its shareholders, royalty interest income will only be included in the calculation of distributable cash when payments related to the royalty interest are received from USEB. This method of calculating distributable cash was adopted retroactively in the three-month period ended March 31, 2005. Prior to January 1, 2005, distributable cash included royalty interest income as earned.

(6) Adjustment reflects additional costs that the Fund expects to incur as a result of the investment in Ripon which is not accounted for in the pro forma consolidated financial statements of the Fund for the year ended December 31, 2004 as presented in this prospectus. These increased costs are made up of costs for additional staff, management incentives (STIP) and other miscellaneous expenses ($625), as well as increased costs for office space ($233), insurance ($56), director and trustee fees ($74), regulatory compliance fees ($29) and professional advisor fees ($25).

(7) Assumes that 4,720,000 units are issued in connection with this prospectus.

(8) The Fund announced an increase in distributions to $1.035 on an annualized basis on September 23, 2005.

Distributions are declared quarterly and payable to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month, and are paid on the last day of the month following the declaration, or if that is not a business day, the immediately following business day. On September 23, 2005, the Fund announced an increase in monthly distributions of $0.01 per Unit annually.

EARNINGS COVERAGE RATIO

The pro forma earnings coverage ratio set forth below has been prepared using pro forma financial information which has been prepared in accordance with Canadian GAAP. The pro forma earnings assume that there are no additional earnings derived from the net proceeds of the sale of the Debentures. Earnings coverage is equal to net income before interest expense on all long term debt and income taxes.

In accordance with the presentation and measurement requirements of Canadian GAAP and after giving effect to the Offering and the Acquisition, the Fund's pro forma interest requirements would have amounted to $7,072,000 and $7,217,000 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005, respectively. The Fund's pro forma earnings before interest and income tax for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005, respectively, would have been approximately $17,353,000 and $15,818,000, which is 2.45 and 2.19 times the Fund's pro forma interest requirements for the period.

The calculations in the previous paragraph include in the pro forma interest requirements, the accretion of the liability component of the convertible debentures of $220,000 and $222,000 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 respectively. If the Debentures had been accounted for in their entirety as debt for the purpose of calculating the pro forma earnings coverage ratio above, the interest requirements would have excluded the accretion charge of $220,000 and $222,000 respectively. The Fund's pro forma interest requirements would have amounted to $6,852,000 and $6,995,000 for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 respectively. The Fund's pro forma earnings before interest and income tax for the 12 months ended December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005 would have been the same as reflected in the above calculation, which is $17,353,000 and $15,818,000 respectively, which would have been 2.53 and 2.26 times the Fund's pro forma interest requirements for the period.

USE OF PROCEEDS

The gross proceeds from the Offering of approximately $44 million of Units and US$55 million aggregate principal amount of Debentures will be used by the Issuer, directly or indirectly, for the following purposes and U.S. dollar amounts are converted to Canadian dollars at the October 25, 2005 exchange rate:

1. The Fund will use the proceeds from the issuance of Units to: (i) subscribe for common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes; and (ii) pay underwriting commissions and other transaction expenses of approximately $3.2 million.

2. Countryside Canada will use the proceeds from the issuance of the Debentures and the subscription by the Fund for common shares and Countryside Canada Notes to: (i) repay the Countryside Acquisition Loan and make an intercompany loan to Countryside Acquisition; (ii) subscribe for the Countryside Holding Note (as described below); (iii) pay underwriting commissions of approximately $2.6 million; and (iv) subscribe for common shares of Countryside Holding.

3. Countryside Acquisition will use the proceeds from the repayment of the Countryside Acquisition Loan and the intercompany loan provided by Countryside Canada to repay approximately $32 million of the outstanding balance under the Amended Credit Facility.

4. Countryside Holding will use the proceeds from the subscription by Countryside Canada for common shares and the Countryside Holding Note (as described below) to: (i) acquire the Ripon Loan; (ii) pay transaction expenses of approximately $1.5 million (including swap breakage fees of US$425,000 in connection with the Ripon Loan); and (iii) fund general working capital expenses.

MODIFIED MANAGEMENT ARRANGEMENTS

Management Agreement

Under the Management Agreement, the Manager has been engaged to provide or cause to be provided management and administrative services to Countryside Holding and its direct and indirect subsidiaries, and to the extent such services are requested and not provided by Countryside Canada Ventures Inc. (the "Administrator") under the Administration Agreement, Countryside Canada. These management and administrative services include: (i) monitoring and managing the investments of Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada and reporting to the directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with respect thereto; (ii) overseeing the operations management of the assets or entities operated and maintained by Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada; (iii) developing, implementing and monitoring strategic plans with a view to maintaining and increasing distributions of the Fund over time; (iv) developing, and monitoring compliance with, the annual budget and the annual Distributable Cash forecast of the Fund and reporting to the applicable board of directors thereon; (v) undertaking or supervising the undertaking of treasury, legal and compliance, financing, risk assessment and human resource activities; (vi) preparing management reports, including financial reports, consistent with past practices, in respect of the assets owned by Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada, and any future Projects; (vii) negotiating or overseeing the negotiation of material agreements subject to the approval of the governing bodies of the applicable Countryside entities party to such material agreement; (viii) undertaking or supervising the undertaking of the analysis of potential acquisitions, investments and dispositions, reporting to the applicable board of directors thereon and carrying out or supervising the making of such acquisitions, investments and dispositions, subject to any required approvals; (ix) retaining professional advisers on behalf of Countryside Holding or the applicable subsidiary of Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada; (x) advising on and negotiating any financings by Countryside Holding and, if requested, Countryside Canada or its applicable subsidiary subject to the approval of the applicable board of directors; (xi) planning and coordinating board meetings of Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada and its other subsidiaries; and (xii) providing such other management and administrative services as Countryside Holding, its subsidiaries and, if requested, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries may reasonably request in the conduct of the business and as may be reasonably agreed to from time to time between the parties.

Executives

The Manager is required to provide the services of three qualified individuals with significant experience in the energy and utility infrastructure industry who, in their capacity as officers of the Manager, will provide services that would customarily be provided by senior officers of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and its affiliates (together, the "Executives"). The current Executives are Göran Mörnhed, Edward M. Campana and Allen J. Rothman, all of whom are senior executive officers of Countryside U.S. and the current owners of the Manager. For certain additional information about these individuals, see "Trustees, Directors and Management" in the Fund's AIF. Appointments by the Manager to provide such services are subject to the approval of the directors of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada, which approval shall not unreasonably be withheld. If any Executive ceases to be an Executive, the directors of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will be provided with prompt notice of this change and will be permitted to participate in the recruitment and identification of a replacement individual. In carrying out their duties on behalf of the Manager under the Management Agreement, the Executives will act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada and will exercise the care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

Restrictions on Manager's Powers and Authorities

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, a number of material actions may not be authorized by the Manager without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Holding and, if services are being provided to Countryside Canada at the request of Countryside Canada, without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Canada. These include: (i) adopting or amending the annual budget of the Fund or taking any action that would be reasonably likely to cause a material deviation from the annual budget; (ii) taking, initiating or consenting to any action that would be reasonably likely to result in a material deviation from the Distributable Cash forecast; (iii) in one or in a series of related transactions, disposing of or consenting to the disposition of any of Countryside Holding's or, if applicable, Countryside Canada's assets with a value in excess of 1% of the gross assets of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and their subsidiaries at the time of such disposition; (iv) raising capital or debt by way of an issuance of securities of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada; or (v) in one or in a series of related transactions, acquiring any material assets or making any material investments by or on behalf of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada, in each case, with a value in excess of 1% of the gross assets of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries at the time of such acquisition or investment. Without first obtaining the approval of a majority of the directors of Countryside Holding (and, if applicable, Countryside Canada) who are independent of the Manager and its affiliates, the Manager shall not (i) enter into any material transaction with the Manager or an affiliate of the Manager; or (ii) amend any terms of the Management Agreement.

Fees and Payment of Expenses

(i) Base Fee

In consideration for providing the management and administrative services under the Management Agreement, the Manager is entitled to reimbursement from Countryside Holding and, to the extent the Manager provides services to Countryside Canada at its request, Countryside Canada, of all costs and expenses reasonably incurred by the Manager and its affiliates in carrying out the services described above so long as such costs and expenses are incurred in accordance with the annual budget of the Fund and are otherwise permitted or required under the Management Agreement. The Manager shall not be reimbursed under the Management Agreement for the costs and expenses incurred in connection with the origination, structuring or development of energy and utility infrastructure projects except as expressly set out below. Unless otherwise agreed between the parties, the Manager shall be entitled to a minimum aggregate expense reimbursement of US$775,000, representing the annual compensation paid to the Executives (the "Base Salary"), as well as all associated costs, including wage burden and the cost of providing benefits to the executives (collectively the "Base Compensation"). Countryside Holding made an initial reimbursement payment to the Manager upon the execution and delivery of the Management Agreement equal to (i) the amount Countryside Holding would have been obligated to reimburse the Manager for annual base wage compensation and all associated costs if the Management Agreement had been effective for the period from July 1, 2005 to November 1, 2005; less (ii) the amount of payments actually made and to be made by Countryside U.S. Power, Inc. for salaries and all associated costs for the current executive officers for such period. The Base Compensation will be subject to annual review and periodic adjustment as negotiated and agreed to in good faith by the directors of Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada and the Manager from time to time and subject to independent reviews by third party compensation experts. The Manager shall also be entitled to reimbursement of expenses incurred in good faith in the origination, development and structuring of Development Assets (as defined below), on a cost recovery basis, for investment opportunities in which Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates commit to invest in accordance with the Management Agreement (including the acquisition of Ripon Power). The Manager will not be reimbursed for costs and expenses incurred in connection with the origination, structuring and development of assets or projects that Countryside does not commit to invest in or acquire under the Management Agreement; provided that, if Countryside does commit to invest in or acquire an asset or project and, for whatever reason, such investment or acquisition is not completed, the Manager and Countryside shall share equally in the expenses incurred until the date of commitment.

(ii) Short-Term Incentive Plan

In addition to the Base Compensation and other expense reimbursement, Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, will also reimburse the Manager for payments made by the Manager to the Executives under a short-term incentive plan ("STIP") to be adopted by the Manager that is consistent with the terms and conditions of the Management Agreement. Countryside Holding, and if applicable, Countryside Canada will reimburse the Manager an amount in respect of the STIP equal to 50% of the Base Compensation ("STIP Pool"), provided that payments will be made based on: (i) meeting certain objectives relating to managing Countryside that are recommended annually by the Manager and subject to the approval of the directors of Countryside Holding and, if applicable, the compensation committee of Countryside Canada in their discretion (the "Operating Objectives"); and (ii) successfully sourcing and consummating an acquisition or investment on behalf of Countryside (the "Acquisition Objective"). In each year, 25% and 75% of the STIP Pool will be available to reimburse the Manager for payments made for achieving the Operating Objectives and the Acquisition Objective, respectively. However, the payment to reimburse the Manager for meeting the Acquisition Objective shall not be less than US$291,000 in each year. The STIP Pool is non-cumulative from year to year. The Manager will be reimbursed by Countryside Holding and/or Countryside Canada: (i) for meeting the Operating Objectives, by payment of both freely tradeable Units and cash; and (ii) for meeting the Acquisition Objective (including the acquisition of Ripon) by cash payment only, in accordance with the conditions described in the Management Agreement. Any Units delivered to the Executives under the STIP will be required to be held until the earlier of the termination of the Management Agreement or the termination of the Executive's involvement with the Manager.

(iii) Long-Term Incentive Plan

The Manager or a designated affiliate will be entitled to receive a long-term incentive plan payment (the "LTIP Interest") in the form of a subordinated interest in each new asset, company or investment (including Ripon Power) acquired or made, directly or indirectly, by Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates and originated, structured or developed through the efforts of the Manager or an Affiliate of the Manager (a "Development Asset"). At the time of approval of any acquisition of, or investment in, a Development Asset by the directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, the Manager will submit to the applicable directors a calculation of the base level distribution (the "Base Level Distribution") that is required to be paid to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) by the Development Asset to reflect the cost of interest payments on third party debt incurred, and unitholder distributions on equity raised, to fund the purchase of the Development Asset. The directors of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will approve the Base Level Distribution at the time of the approval of the acquisition of a Development Asset or the associated financing, subject to adjustment based on the actual pricing achieved at closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset or the associated financing transaction. The Manager or its applicable affiliate will be entitled to a distribution from the Development Asset of operating cash flow equal to 25% of the cash distributions made by the Development Asset in excess of the Base Level Distribution. Payments to the Manager will be made at the same time as the distribution is made to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable). In the event that a Development Asset owned by Countryside Holding, Countryside Canada or their affiliates (as applicable) makes a distribution of proceeds from capital transactions such as asset sales or recapitalizations, the Manager will be entitled to a 25% share of the capital distribution in excess of an amount required to be paid to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada or their subsidiary to repay its equity and debt investment in the Development Asset. In the event that, at any time, the Fund reduces its monthly distribution on Units due to a shortfall in Distributable Cash to an amount of less than $0.0854 per unit, up to 25% of the distributions under the aggregate LTIP Interest to be paid during any month in which a shortfall exists shall be subject to reduction to fund the shortfall. For any month that distributions to unitholders of the Fund are equal to or in excess of $0.0854 per unit, no reductions of the LTIP Interest shall be made.

(iv) Exchange Options

Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (if applicable) will have an option ("Exchange Option") to acquire all or part of the Manager's LTIP Interest in any Development Asset by paying to the Manager unrestricted and freely tradable Units at any time after 24 months of the date of closing of the acquisition of the Development Asset, at a price equal to the average annualized distributions (including distributed cash and undistributed cash held in the entity owning the Development Asset) which the Manager is entitled to receive under the applicable project agreements described in the Management Agreement from the associated LTIP Interest divided by the yield on Units on the date of exercise of the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price. The Manager will have an Exchange Option to convert all or part of an LTIP Interest in any Development Asset on the basis set out above unless there is a Change of Control in which case the Manager may exercise the Exchange Option at the Current Market Price within 12 months of such Change of Control. In the event that Countryside decides to engage in a transaction respecting any Development Asset that would constitute a change of control as to such Development Asset or the entity owning such Development Asset and in which the Manager retains an LTIP Interest, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have the option of acquiring such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset) and the Manager will have the option of exchanging such interest (notwithstanding that such sale may occur within the first two years of the date of acquisition of the Development Asset).

Right of First Opportunity

The Manager and its affiliates will provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with the first opportunity to purchase any asset, entity or investment that would meet the investment criteria for Countryside and the Fund (an "Acquisition Opportunity") that it: (i) develops (whether on behalf of Countryside or not); or (ii) owns or controls, provided that no right of first opportunity will be required to be provided for an Acquisition Opportunity if the terms of any agreement governing the Acquisition Opportunity prevent the Manager or its affiliate from providing such right. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) will have a period of 30 calendar days, from and including the date it receives notice of the Acquisition Opportunity, to advise the Manager or its affiliate that it wishes to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity. If Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, does not provide notice of its intention to pursue the Acquisition Opportunity within 30 calendar days of the date of notice by the Manager, the Manager will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has a period of 60 days of such notice to enter into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity once it commits to such Acquisition Opportunity provided that Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada will notify the Manager promptly if it decides to cease pursuit of the opportunity prior to the expiration of such 60 day period. If Countryside has not entered into a binding agreement to purchase or invest in the Acquisition Opportunity during such period or provides notice that it no longer wishes to pursue the opportunity, the Manager or its affiliates will be free to offer the Acquisition Opportunity to third parties or pursue it for its own account, subject to certain reimbursement obligations with respect to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable). If the Manager or its affiliate has provided Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada (as applicable) with an opportunity to purchase an Acquisition Opportunity and Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, decided not to invest in such opportunity or did not enter into a binding agreement of purchase and sale within the prescribed time, the Manager shall not be obligated to provide Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada with a further right of first opportunity to invest in such Acquisition Opportunity in the event that the Manager invested in, or otherwise acquired an interest in or proceeded to develop, such Acquisition Opportunity. The Manager is required to keep the directors of Countryside Holding informed of all potential Acquisition Opportunities it is pursuing and is required to provide quarterly updates to the directors of Countryside Holding on such activities.

Term and Termination

The Management Agreement has an initial 20-year term and will be automatically renewed for additional five-year terms unless, at least six months prior to the expiration of the then current term, a majority of the directors of each of Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada who are independent of the Manager determine that the Management Agreement will not be renewed and notify the Manager accordingly. The Manager has the right to immediately terminate the Management Agreement in circumstances of: (i) bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada; or (ii) a default by Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada in the performance of a material obligation under this Agreement (other than as a result of the occurrence of a force majeure event) which is not cured within 60 days of written notice being given by the Manager to Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada of the default (subject to certain exceptions) or if such default is not reasonably capable of being cured within 60 days, Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada, as applicable, has not taken all reasonable steps to cure such default as soon as possible thereafter but in any event within 128 days. Countryside Holding or Countryside Canada have the right to immediately terminate the Management Agreement in circumstances of: (i) bankruptcy, insolvency or receivership of the Manager; (ii) fraud, wilful default or gross negligence committed by the Manager; or (iii) default by the Manager in the performance of a material obligation under this Agreement (other than as a result of the occurrence of a force majeure event) which is not cured within 60 days of written notice being given by Countryside to the Manager of the default, or if such default is not reasonably capable of being cured within 60 days, the Manager has not taken all reasonable steps to cure such default as soon as possible thereafter but in any event within 128 days.

In addition, the Manager may terminate the Management Agreement (i) at any time after the first five years of the term of the Agreement or (ii) at any time within one year of a Change of Control, upon 180 days' written notice to Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada. In the event of such a termination, the Manager will be entitled to reimbursement from Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada for actual reasonable costs associated with termination. Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada have the right to jointly terminate the Management Agreement at any time after the first five years of the term of the Management Agreement with the payment to the Manager of a fee equal to (i) its actual costs associated with the termination plus an amount equal to two times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving the Operating Objectives or, (ii) if such termination occurs within 12 months of a Change of Control, 2.9 times the previous year's compensation paid to the Executives by the Manager and reimbursed by Countryside Holding and, if applicable, Countryside Canada, for the Base Compensation and under the STIP for achieving certain stated operating objectives. In the event of a Change of Control, Countryside Holding and Countryside Canada will have the right to jointly terminate the Agreement at any time with the payment to the Manager of a fee calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Management Agreement. Termination of the Management Agreement will not affect, among other things, the Exchange Options (subject to certain specified exceptions) or payment obligations of Countryside Holding or, if applicable, Countryside Canada, under the LTIP. On termination of the Management Agreement, any LTIP Interest outstanding at that time shall continue for a period expiring on the date that is 20 years from the date of acquisition of the Development Asset for which the LTIP Interest was issued.

Administration Agreement

Under the Administration Agreement, the Administrator has been engaged to provide or cause to be provided management and administrative services to the Fund and Countryside Canada. The Administrator is responsible for providing the following services to the Fund and Countryside Canada: (i) monitoring and managing the investments and operations of the Fund and Countryside Canada and reporting to the Trustees and the directors of Countryside Canada with respect thereto (provided that it is acknowledged that the Administrator is not responsible for operating the Business); (ii) submitting all annual audited and interim unaudited financial statements of the Fund, income tax returns and filings to the Trustees in sufficient time prior to the dates upon which they must be delivered to unitholders and/or filed so that the Trustees have a reasonable opportunity to review them, approve them and return them to the Administrator, and arrange for their delivery to unitholders and/or filing within the time required by applicable law; (iii) ensuring compliance by the Fund with all applicable securities laws; providing investor relations services to the Fund; preparing and providing or causing to be provided to unitholders on a timely basis all information to which unitholders are entitled under the declaration of trust of the Fund and under applicable law, including quarterly and annual reports, notices, financial statements and tax information relating to the Fund; (iv) ensuring compliance with the Fund's limitations on foreign ownership; (v) assisting the Trustees in connection with any offerings of Units, including preparing any prospectus or comparable documents of the Fund to qualify the distribution of securities of the Fund from time to time; (vi) assisting Countryside Canada with the analysis of potential acquisitions, investments and dispositions and reporting to the directors of Countryside Canada with respect thereto; (vii) at the direction of the directors of Countryside Canada, assisting with the making of acquisitions, investments and dispositions; (viii) planning and coordinating meetings of the Trustees and the board of directors of Countryside Canada; and (ix) providing such other management and administrative services as the Fund and Countryside Canada may reasonably require as may be agreed to from time to time between the parties.

In carrying out the services described above, the Administrator and its affiliates will be entitled to reimbursement from the Fund and Countryside Canada of all costs and expenses incurred in connection therewith. The Administrator shall discharge the duties conferred upon it hereunder with the same degree of diligence and care that a reasonably prudent manager and administrator of a business substantially similar to the Business, and having responsibilities of a similar nature to those hereunder, would exercise in comparable circumstances.

The Administration Agreement shall remain in effect for so long as the Management Agreement remains in effect. The Administration Agreement may be terminated by either the Administrator or the Fund and Countryside Canada if the other party commits an event of default described under "— Management Agreement" above. In addition, the Administrator may terminate the Administration Agreement upon 180 days' written notice to the Fund and Countryside Canada. The Fund and Countryside Canada have the right to jointly terminate the Administration Agreement at any time after the first five years.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FUND

Declaration of Trust

The Fund is an unincorporated, open-ended, limited purpose trust established under the laws of the Province of Ontario pursuant to the Declaration of Trust. It is intended that the Fund will qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for the purposes of the Tax Act. The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the Units and certain provisions of the Declaration of Trust, which summary is not intended to be complete. Reference is made to the Declaration of Trust for a complete description of the Units and the full text of its provisions.

Activities of the Fund

The Declaration of Trust provides that the Fund is restricted to:

(i) acquiring, investing in, transferring, disposing of and otherwise dealing with securities of Countryside Canada and other corporations, partnerships, trusts or other persons engaged, directly or indirectly, in the business of energy generation, as well as activities ancillary thereto, and such other investments as the Trustees may determine;

(ii) temporarily holding cash in interest-bearing accounts, short-term government debt or short-term investment grade corporate debt for the purposes of paying the expenses and liabilities of the Fund, paying amounts payable by the Fund in connection with the redemption of any Units or other securities of the Fund and making distributions to Unitholders;

(iii) issuing Units and other securities of the Fund (including securities convertible or exchangeable into Units, or warrants, options or other rights to acquire Units or other securities of the Fund) (a) for obtaining funds to conduct the activities of the Fund, including raising funds for acquisitions and development; (b) in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution; or (c) pursuant to any distribution reinvestment plans, long-term incentive plan or other compensation plans, if any, established by the Fund, Countryside Canada or their respective subsidiaries;

(iv) issuing debt securities (including debt securities convertible into, or exchangeable for, Units or other securities of the Fund) or otherwise borrowing and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering any of its assets as security;

(v) guaranteeing the payment of any indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Fund, Countryside Canada or any of their respective subsidiaries or the performance of any obligation of any of them, and mortgaging, pledging, charging, granting a security interest in or otherwise encumbering all or any part of its assets as security for such guarantee, and subordinating its rights under the Countryside Canada Notes to other indebtedness;

(vi) disposing of any part of the assets of the Fund;

(vii) issuing or redeeming rights and Units pursuant to any Unitholder rights plan adopted by the Fund;

(viii) repurchasing securities issued by the Fund, subject to the provisions of the Declaration of Trust and applicable laws;

(ix) satisfying the obligations, liabilities or indebtedness of the Fund; and

(x) undertaking all other usual and customary actions for the conduct of the activities of the Fund in the ordinary course as are approved by the Trustees from time to time, or as are contemplated by the Declaration of Trust, provided the Fund will not undertake any activity, take any action, omit to take any action or make any investment which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act, or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Issuance of Units

The Declaration of Trust provides that Units may be issued at those times, to those persons, for that consideration and on the terms and conditions that the Trustees determine. Units may be issued in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution of the Fund to Unitholders on a pro rata basis. The Declaration of Trust also provides that immediately after any pro rata distribution of Units to all Unitholders in satisfaction of any non-cash distribution, the number of outstanding Units will be consolidated so that each Unitholder will hold after the consolidation the same number of Units as the Unitholder held before the non-cash distribution. In this case, each certificate representing a number of Units prior to the non-cash distribution is deemed to represent the same number of Units after the non-cash distribution and the consolidation. Where amounts so distributed represent income, non-resident holders will be subject to withholding tax thereon and the consolidation will not result in those non-resident Unitholders holding the same number of Units. Such non-resident Unitholders will be required to surrender the certificates, if any, representing their original Units in exchange for a certificate representing their post-consolidation Units.

The Trustees may refuse to allow the issue or register the transfer of any Units, where such issuance or transfer would, in their opinion, adversely affect the treatment of the Fund or the companies in which it invests under applicable Canadian and/or U.S. tax legislation. See "— Limitation on Non-Resident Ownership" and "Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations".

As of the date of this prospectus, there are 14,905,366 Units issued and outstanding. To the knowledge of management, based on publicly available filings, the following persons beneficially own, or exercise control or direction over, securities carrying more than 10% of the votes attached to the issued and outstanding Units: (i) Bloom Investment Counsel, Inc. (1,730,000 Units) and Sentry Select Capital Corp. (1,595,502 Units).

Cash Distributions

The Fund makes monthly cash distributions on a per Unit basis to the Unitholders equal to a pro rata share of interest and principal repayments on the Countryside Canada Notes and dividends or distributions on or in respect of the common shares of Countryside Canada owned by the Fund, less:

- administrative expenses and other obligations of the Fund;
- amounts which may be paid by the Fund in connection with any cash redemptions of Units; and
- any tax liability of the Fund.

Under the terms of the Countryside Canada Notes, interest is accrued at 10.95% and is to be paid monthly within 32 days following the end of each month. The Fund will make additional distributions in excess of the monthly distributions during the year to the extent of available cash, as determined by the Trustees.

Any income of the Fund which is applied to any cash redemptions of Units, or is otherwise unavailable for cash distribution will be distributed to Unitholders in the form of additional Units. Those additional Units will be issued under applicable exemptions under applicable securities laws, discretionary exemptions granted by applicable securities regulatory authorities or a prospectus or similar filing. See "— Issuance of Units".

Monthly distributions are declared quarterly and payable to Unitholders of record on the last business day of each month and are expected to be paid to Unitholders on the last day of the month following the declaration, or if that day is not a business day, the immediately following business day. In all events, any cash, securities, or other property received by the Fund upon the sale, exchange, redemption, cancellation, or other disposition of securities of Countryside Canada will, after appropriate deductions for expenses, be promptly distributed.

Holders of Units who are non-residents of Canada will be required to pay all withholding taxes payable in respect of any distributions of income by the Fund, whether those distributions are in the form of cash or additional Units. Non-residents of Canada should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of investing in the Units.

Redemption Right

Units are redeemable at any time on demand by the holders. As the Units will be issued in book entry form (see "— Book-Entry Only System"), a Unitholder who wishes to exercise the redemption right will be required to obtain a redemption notice form from the Unitholder's investment dealer or broker who will be required to deliver the completed redemption notice form to the Fund at its head office and to CDS which will, in turn, be required to forward it to the Fund. Upon receipt of the redemption notice by the Fund, all rights to and under the Units tendered for redemption will be surrendered. If the holder has elected a redemption in cash, subject to the limitations discussed below, the holder will be entitled to receive a price per Unit (the "redemption price") equal to the lesser of:

- 90% of the "market price" of the Units on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading during the 10-trading day period ending on the date on which the Units were surrendered for redemption (the "redemption date"); and
- 100% of the "closing market price" on the principal market on which the Units are quoted for trading on the redemption date.

For the purposes of this calculation, "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the closing price of the Units for each of the trading days on which there was a closing price, provided that:

- if the applicable exchange or market does not provide a closing price, but only provides the highest and lowest prices of the Units traded on a particular day, the "market price" will be an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices for each of the trading days on which there was a trade; and
- if there was trading on the applicable exchange or market for fewer than five of the 10 trading days, the "market price" will be the weighted average of the following prices established for each of the 10 trading days: (i) the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units for each day there was no

trading; (ii) the closing price of the Units for each day that there was trading if the exchange or market provides a closing price; and (iii) the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units for each day that there was trading if the market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day.

The "closing market price" for the purpose of the foregoing calculation will be:

- an amount equal to the closing price of the Units if there was a trade on the date and the exchange or market provides a closing price;
- an amount equal to the weighted average of the highest and lowest prices of the Units if there was trading and the exchange or other market provides only the highest and lowest prices of Units traded on a particular day; or
- the weighted average of the last bid and last asking prices of the Units if there was no trading on that date.

The total redemption price payable by the Fund in respect of all Units surrendered for redemption during any calendar month will be satisfied by way of a cash payment no later than the last day of the month following the month in which the Units were tendered for redemption, provided that Unitholders will not be entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of their Units if:

- the total amount payable by the Fund in respect of those Units and all other Units tendered for redemption in the same calendar month exceeds $50,000, provided that the Trustees may, in their sole discretion, waive this limitation in respect of all Units tendered for redemption in any calendar month;
- at the time the Units are tendered for redemption, the outstanding Units are not listed for trading on a stock exchange or traded or quoted on another market which the Trustees consider, in their sole discretion, provides representative fair market value prices for the Units; or
- the normal trading of Units is suspended or halted on any stock exchange on which the Units are listed (or, if not listed on a stock exchange, on any market on which the Units are quoted for trading) on the redemption date or for more than five trading days during the 10-day trading period commencing immediately after the redemption date.

If a Unitholder is not entitled to receive cash upon the redemption of Units as a result of one or more of the foregoing limitations, then each Unit tendered for redemption will, subject to any applicable regulatory approvals, be redeemed by way of a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes held by the Fund and a pro rata share of the Fund's cash and other property (less a pro rata share of any accrued liabilities of the Fund). The Fund will be entitled to all interest paid on the Countryside Canada Notes and the distributions paid on the common shares of Countryside Canada on or before the date of the distribution in specie. A Unitholder will be entitled to interest that has accrued on the Countryside Canada Notes and has not been paid to the Fund on or before the date of the distribution in specie. Where the Fund makes a distribution in specie of a pro rata number of common shares of Countryside Canada and Countryside Canada Notes and any cash and other property held by the Fund on the redemption of Units of a Unitholder, the Fund currently intends to designate to that Unitholder any income or capital gain realized by the Fund as a result of the distribution of those properties to the Unitholder.

It is anticipated that the redemption right described above will not be the primary mechanism for Unitholders to dispose of their Units. Common shares of Countryside Canada and/or Countryside Canada Notes which may be distributed in specie to Unitholders in connection with a redemption will not be listed on any stock exchange and no market is expected to develop in common shares of Countryside Canada or Countryside Canada Notes and they may be subject to resale restrictions under applicable securities laws. Common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other property so distributed may not be qualified investments for trusts governed by a Plan, depending upon the circumstances at the time.

Meetings of Unitholders

The Declaration of Trust provides that meetings of Unitholders will be called and held annually for the election of Trustees and the appointment of auditors of the Fund. The Declaration of Trust provides that the Unitholders will be entitled to pass resolutions that will bind the Fund only with respect to:

- the appointment or removal of Trustees;
- the appointment or removal of nominees of the Fund chosen by the Unitholders to serve as directors of Countryside Canada (except filling casual vacancies);
- the appointment or removal of the auditors of the Fund;
- the appointment of an inspector to investigate the performance by the Trustees in respect of their respective responsibilities and duties in respect of the Fund;
- the approval of amendments to the Declaration of Trust (but only in the manner described below under "— Amendments to the Declaration of Trust");
- the termination of the Fund;
- the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Fund;
- the exercise of certain voting rights attached to the securities of Countryside Canada held by the Fund;
- the termination of the Book-Entry System with respect to the Units;
- the dissolution of the Fund prior to the end of its term; and
- any other matters required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations to be submitted to Unitholders for their approval.

No other action taken by Unitholders or any other resolution of the Unitholders at any meeting will in any way bind the Trustees.

A resolution electing or removing nominees of the Fund to serve as directors of Countryside Canada and a resolution appointing or removing the Trustees or the auditors of the Fund must be passed by a simple majority of the votes cast by Unitholders. Any resolution on a matter which is required by securities law, stock exchange rules or other laws or regulations will be required to be passed in accordance with the requirements of such laws, rules or regulations. The balance of the foregoing matters must be passed by a special resolution requiring two-thirds approval (the "Special Resolution").

A meeting of Unitholders may be convened at any time and for any purpose by the Trustees and must be convened, except in certain circumstances, if requisitioned by the holders of not less than 10% of the Units then outstanding by a written requisition. A requisition must state in reasonable detail the business proposed to be transacted at the meeting.

Unitholders may attend and vote at all meetings of the Unitholders either in person or by proxy and a proxy-holder need not be a Unitholder. Two persons present in person or represented by proxy and representing in total at least 10% of the votes attached to all outstanding Units will constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings.

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions as to the notice required and other procedures with respect to the calling and holding of meetings of Unitholders.

Limitations on Ownership

In order for the Fund to maintain its status as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, the Fund must not be established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents of Canada within the meaning of the Tax Act. Accordingly, the Declaration of Trust provides that at no time may non-residents of Canada be the beneficial owners of more than 49% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis). In addition, in order for the Fund to be exempt from the registration requirements as an investment company under the United States Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"), at no time may more than 100 U.S. persons (using the principles for counting set forth in Section 3(c)(1) of the 1940 Act) be the beneficial owners of the Units, nor may any U.S. person be the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units. The Trustees may require declarations as to the jurisdictions in which beneficial owners of Units are resident. If the Trustees become aware that either of the foregoing limitations may be contravened, the Trustees will make a public announcement and will not accept a subscription for Units from or issue or register a transfer of Units to a person unless the person provides a declaration that the person is not a non-resident of Canada. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, the Trustees determine either that more than 49% of the Units are held by non-residents (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), that more than 100 U.S. persons are beneficial owners of Units, or that any U.S. person is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units, the Trustees may send a notice to the non-resident or U.S. holders of Units, as applicable, chosen in inverse order to the order of acquisition or registration or in any manner as the Trustees may consider equitable and practicable, requiring them to sell their Units or a portion of their Units within a specified period of not less than 60 days. If the Unitholders receiving the notice have not sold the specified number of Units or provided the Trustees with satisfactory evidence that they are not non-residents within that period, the Trustees may, on behalf of those Unitholders, sell those Units and, in the interim, will suspend the voting and distribution rights attached to those Units. Upon that sale, the affected holders will cease to be holders of the Units and their rights will be limited to receiving the net proceeds of the sale.

To avoid having the Fund become subject to the fiduciary and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code, the Declaration of Trust prohibits Units from being beneficially owned by any "ERISA Plan" (which, as described in the glossary to this prospectus, includes plans subject to such statutory provisions and entities that, by regulation, are deemed to hold assets of such plans), and provides that any transferee of beneficial ownership of Units (whether by initial purchase or subsequent transfer) will be deemed to represent to the Fund that it is not an ERISA Plan. Any purported transfer (whether or not the result of a transaction entered into through the facilities of the Toronto Stock Exchange) that, if effective, would result in any ERISA Plan beneficially owning any Units will be void from the date of the purported transfer, and the ERISA Plan that pursuant thereto would purport to have beneficial ownership of the Units will not acquire any interest in the Units. In the event of such a purported transfer, such Units will be transferred to a trust created by Countryside Canada and sold. The ERISA Plan will not have any beneficial interest in the trust, and the ERISA Plan's sole right with respect to the Units that were the subject of the purported transfer to the ERISA Plan will be to receive the net proceeds of sale of such Units by the trust. The Fund may require any person who attempts to acquire Units or who otherwise is purported to beneficially own Units to provide a written statement or affidavit to the Fund stating such information as the Fund may request in order to determine whether such person is an ERISA Plan or not.

Amendments to the Declaration of Trust

The Declaration of Trust may be amended or altered from time to time by the Trustees with the consent of the Unitholders by Special Resolution. The Trustees may, without the approval of the Unitholders, make certain amendments to the Declaration of Trust, including amendments:

- for the purpose of ensuring continuing compliance with applicable laws, regulations, requirements or policies of any governmental authority having jurisdiction over the Trustees or over the Fund;
- for the sole purpose of providing additional protection for the Unitholders, provided that the Trustees receive a legal opinion from legal counsel to this effect and that such additional protection is the sole purpose of such amendment;
- to remove any conflicts or inconsistencies in the Declaration of Trust or to make minor corrections which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable and not prejudicial to the Unitholders;
- which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are necessary or desirable as a result of changes in Canadian federal or provincial or United States federal or state taxation laws; and
- to ensure that the Fund continues to qualify as a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act and that the Units do not constitute "foreign property" for purposes of the Tax Act.

Notwithstanding the previous sentence, the Trustees may not (without a Special Resolution) amend the Declaration of Trust in a manner which would result in the Fund not being considered a "mutual fund trust" for purposes of the Tax Act or would result in the Units being treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the Tax Act.

Term of the Fund

The Fund has been established for a term ending 21 years after the date of death of the last surviving issue of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, alive on February 16, 2004. On a date selected by the Trustees which is not more than two years prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Trustees are obligated to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund so that it will terminate on the expiration of the term. In addition, at any time prior to the expiry of the term of the Fund, the Unitholders may by a Special Resolution require the Trustees to commence to wind up the affairs of the Fund.

The Declaration of Trust provides that, upon being required to commence to wind-up the affairs of the Fund, the Trustees will give notice to the Unitholders, which notice will designate the time or times at which Unitholders may surrender their Units for cancellation and the date at which the register of Units will be closed. After the date the register is closed, the Trustees will proceed to wind-up the affairs of the Fund as soon as may be reasonably practicable. Subject to any direction to the contrary in respect of a termination authorized by a resolution of the Unitholders, the Trustees will sell and convert into money the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes, and all other assets comprising the Fund in one transaction or in a series of transactions at public or private sales and do all other acts appropriate to liquidate the Fund. After paying, retiring, discharging or making provision for the payment, retirement or discharge of all known liabilities and obligations of the Fund and providing for indemnity against any other outstanding liabilities and obligations, the Trustees will distribute the remaining part of the proceeds of the sale of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes and other assets comprising the Fund among the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests. If the Trustees are unable to sell all or any of the common shares of Countryside Canada, Countryside Canada Notes or other assets comprising the Fund by the date set for termination, the Trustees may distribute the remaining common shares of Countryside Canada, the Countryside Canada Notes or other assets in specie directly to the Unitholders in accordance with their pro rata interests, subject to obtaining all required regulatory approvals.

Take-over Bids

The Declaration of Trust contains provisions to the effect that if a take-over bid is made for all of the Units and the offeror acquires not less than 90% of all outstanding Units (excluding Units held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror), the offeror will be entitled to acquire all Units held by Unitholders who did not accept the take-over bid on the terms offered by the offeror.

Information and Reports

The Fund will furnish to the Unitholders, in accordance with applicable securities laws, all financial statements of the Fund (including quarterly and annual financial statements) and other reports as are from time to time required by applicable law, including prescribed forms needed for the completion of the Unitholders tax returns under the Tax Act and equivalent provincial legislation.

Prior to each meeting of Unitholders, the Trustees will provide to the Unitholders (along with notice of the meeting) all information as is required by applicable law and by the Declaration of Trust to be provided to the Unitholders.

Trustees of the Fund and the directors, senior officers and other insiders of each of Countryside Canada and any other entities owned directly or indirectly by the Fund will be required to file insider reports and comply with insider trading provisions under applicable Canadian securities legislation in respect of trades made by such persons in Units of the Fund.

Book Entry Only System

Registration of interests in and transfers of Units will be made only through a book-based system administered by CDS. On the date of closing of the Offering, the Trustees will deliver to CDS one or more certificates representing the total number of Units subscribed for under the Offering. Units must be purchased, transferred and surrendered for redemption through a participant in the CDS depository service (a "CDS participant"). All rights of the Unitholders must be exercised through, and all payments or other property to which the Unitholder is entitled will be made or delivered by, CDS or the CDS participant through which the Unitholder holds the Units. Upon a purchase of any Units, the Unitholder will receive only a customer confirmation from the registered dealer which is a CDS participant and from or through which the Units are purchased.

The ability of a beneficial owner of Units to pledge those Units or otherwise take action with respect to the Unitholder's interest in those Units (other than through a CDS participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

The Fund has the option of terminating registration of the Units through the book entry system, in which case certificates for the Units in fully registered form would be issued to beneficial owners of those Units or their nominees.

Monitoring of Limitation of Ownership

Because all of the units are held in the name of CDS, it is extremely difficult to monitor ownership by U.S. residents or pension funds on an ongoing basis without undue expense and burden to the Fund. However, the employees of the Fund were notified at the time the Fund's initial public offering was consummated regarding limitations on ownership of Units by U.S. residents. Further, such employees have been advised that U.S. based employees of the Fund may not own Units (except for the Executives of the Manager) and may not encourage U.S. residents to purchase Units. In the event the Trustees or the Administrator learn of transactions or activities which potentially may result in Unit ownership in violation of the limitations described above, it may take further investigatory and remedial actions including those described above.

DESCRIPTION OF THE DEBENTURES

The Debentures will be issued under an indenture, to be dated as of the closing of the Offering (the "Indenture"), between the Fund, Countryside Canada and the Debenture Trustee.

The Debenture Trustee also acts as the trustee for the Countryside Canada Notes issued pursuant to the terms of the Countryside Canada Note Indenture. See "Description of Countryside Canada — Countryside Canada Notes".

The following is a description of the terms of the Indenture, a copy of which will be filed with the Canadian securities regulatory authorities. Capitalized terms used in this "Description of Debentures" section and not otherwise defined have the meanings set forth in the Indenture. The following summary of certain provisions of the Indenture is subject to, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, all the provisions of the Indenture.

General

The Debentures will be limited in the aggregate principal amount to a maximum of US$55 million. The Debentures will be dated as of the closing of the Offering and will mature on October 31, 2012. The Debentures will be issuable only as fully registered Debentures in denominations of US$1,000 and integral multiples thereof. The Debentures will bear interest from the date of issue at a rate of 6.25% per annum payable semi-annually in arrears on April 30 and October 31 in each year, commencing on April 30, 2006. The interest on the Debentures will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America, or at the option of Countryside Canada, by delivery of Units of the Fund to the Debenture Trustee for sale through the facilities of a registered broker/dealer, in which event holders of Debentures will be entitled to receive a cash payment equal to the interest owed from the proceeds of the sale of the requisite number of Units by the Debenture Trustee. The first interest payment will include interest from the date of closing of the Offering up to, but excluding, April 30, 2006.

The principal on the Debentures will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America or, at the option of Countryside Canada and subject to applicable regulatory approval, by delivery of Units as further described below under "— Payment Upon Redemption or Maturity" and "— Redemption and Purchase".

The Debentures will be direct obligations of Countryside Canada and will not be secured by any mortgage, pledge, hypothec or other charge and will rank senior to other liabilities of Countryside Canada as described under "Subordination" below. The Indenture does not restrict Countryside Canada from incurring additional indebtedness for borrowed money or from mortgaging, pledging or charging its properties to secure any indebtedness.

The Debentures will be transferable at, and may be presented for exchange at, the principal offices of the Debenture Trustee in Toronto, Ontario.

Exchange Privilege

The Debentures will be exchangeable at the holder's option into fully-paid, non-assessable and freely-tradeable Units at any time prior to 5:00 p.m. (Toronto time) on the earlier of the Maturity Date and the business day immediately preceding the date specified by Countryside Canada for redemption of the Debentures, at an exchange price of $10.75 per Unit, being an exchange ratio of 109.4884 Units for each US$1,000 principal amount of Debentures. No adjustment will be made to the record dates for distribution of Units issuable on exchange. Debenture holders exchanging their Debentures will receive accrued and unpaid interest thereon up to, but excluding, the date of exchange. Pursuant to the Indenture, a Debenture shall be deemed to be surrendered for exchange on the date on which it is so surrendered in accordance with the provisions of the Indenture and, in the case of a Debenture so surrendered by post or other means of transmission, on the date on which it is received by the Debenture Trustee, provided that if a Debenture is surrendered for exchange on a day on which the register of Units is closed, the Debentureholder entitled to receive Units shall become the holder of record of such Units as at the date on which such register is next reopened. No Debentures may be exchanged during the five business days preceding the last day of April and October in each year commencing April 30, 2006.

Subject to the provisions thereof, the Indenture provides for the adjustment of the Exchange Price in certain events including: (a) the subdivision or consolidation of the outstanding Units; (b) the distribution of Units (or securities convertible into or exchangeable for Units) to all or substantially all holders of Units by way of distribution or dividend, other than an issue of securities to holders of Units who have elected to receive distributions in securities of the Fund in lieu of receiving cash distributions paid in the ordinary course; (c) the issuance of options, rights or warrants to all or substantially all holders of Units entitling them to acquire Units or other securities exchangeable into Units at less than 95% of the then Current Market Price of the Units; and (d) a distribution by the Fund to all or substantially all the holders of outstanding Units of (i) units of any class other than Units and other than units distributed to Unitholders who have elected to receive dividends or distributions in the form of such units in lieu of dividends or distributions paid in the ordinary course, (ii) rights, options, or warrants (excluding rights, options or warrants entitling the holders thereof for a period of not more than 45 days to subscribe for or purchase Units or securities exchangeable into Units), (iii) evidences of its indebtedness, or (iv) assets (excluding dividends or distributions paid in the ordinary course). There will be no adjustment of the Exchange Price in respect of any event described in (a), (b), (c) or (d) above if, subject to prior regulatory approval, Debentureholders are allowed to participate as though they had exchanged their Debentures prior to the applicable record date or effective date. Countryside Canada will not be required to make adjustments in the Exchange Price unless the cumulative effect of such adjustments would change the Exchange Price by at least 1%.

No fractional Units will be issued on any exchange but in lieu thereof Countryside Canada shall satisfy fractional interest by a cash payment equal to the current market price of such fractional interest.

Payment Upon Redemption or Maturity

On redemption or at Maturity, Countryside Canada will repay the indebtedness represented by the Debentures by paying to the Debenture Trustee in lawful money of the United States of America an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Debentures, together with accrued and unpaid interest thereon, or at the option of Countryside Canada, upon at least 30 days' and not more than 60 days' prior notice, by delivery of a number of freely tradeable Units obtained by dividing the principal amount of the Debentures by 95% of the Current Market Price on the redemption date or at Maturity, as applicable.

Redemption and Purchase

The Debentures will not be redeemable on or prior to October 31, 2008. After October 31, 2008 and prior to October 31, 2010, the Debentures will be redeemable in whole or in part at the option of Countryside Canada on not more than 60 days and not less than 30 days prior notice at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest, provided that the weighted average trading price of the Units on the TSX for the 20 consecutive trading days ending on the fifth trading day preceding the day prior to the date upon which the notice of redemption is given is at least 125% of the Exchange Price. On or after October 31, 2010, the Debentures will be redeemable prior to Maturity in whole or in part at the option of Countryside Canada on not more than 60 days and not less than 30 days prior notice at a price equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest.

Subject to regulatory approval, Countryside Canada may, at its option, elect to satisfy its obligation to pay the principal amount of the Debentures on redemption or at maturity through, in whole or in part, the delivery of freely-tradeable Units. The Fund will take all actions and do all things necessary or desirable to enable and permit Countryside Canada, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations to deliver the requisite number of Units to the extent holders exercise their exchange right.

Countryside Canada or any of its affiliates will have the right to purchase Debentures in the market, by tender or by private contract, provided however, that if an event of default under the Indenture has occurred and is continuing, Countryside Canada or any of its affiliates will not have the right to purchase Debentures by private contract.

Canadian Withholding Tax

Any holder of Debentures who is not resident in Canada for the purposes of the Tax Act will be subject to withholding tax in respect of any payment or deemed payment of interest thereon. Applicable amounts will be withheld from cash payments of interest or deemed interest by Countryside Canada and used to satisfy this withholding tax obligation. To the extent that any such payment or deemed payment of interest is satisfied by Countryside Canada delivering Units to the non-resident holder, for example, on an exchange of Debentures into Units, Countryside Canada will withhold from the holder a portion of the Units that would have been so delivered to the non-resident holder. These withheld Units will be sold on the TSX and the proceeds from this sale will be used to satisfy the withholding tax obligation. Countryside Canada will be entitled to withhold that number of Units that, when sold on the TSX, will yield cash proceeds (net of applicable expenses) sufficient to satisfy the withholding tax obligation. Any net proceeds from this sale in excess of the withholding tax obligation will be remitted to the non-resident holder of Debentures.

Subordination

The payment of the principal of, and interest on, the Debentures will rank senior to Subordinated Intercompany Debt and subordinate in right of payment, as set forth in the Indenture, to the prior payment in full of all Senior Secured Indebtedness of Countryside Canada. The Debentures will be effectively subordinate to claims of trade creditors of direct or indirect subsidiaries of Countryside Canada. "Subordinated Intercompany Debt" means intercompany debt of Countryside Canada and its subsidiaries. "Senior Secured Indebtedness" of Countryside Canada is defined in the Indenture as all secured indebtedness, liabilities and obligations of Countryside Canada including the indebtedness under the Amended Credit Facility but excluding the Debentures, whether outstanding on the date of the Indenture or thereafter created, incurred, assumed or guaranteed in connection with the acquisition by Countryside Canada of any businesses, properties or other assets or for monies borrowed or raised by whatever means (including, without limitation, by means of commercial paper, banker's acceptances, letters of credit, debt instruments, bank debt and financial leases, and any other secured liability evidenced by bonds, debentures, notes or similar instruments) or in connection with the acquisition of any businesses, properties or other assets or for monies borrowed or raised by whatever means (including, without limitation, by means of commercial paper, banker's acceptances, letters of credit, debt instruments, bank debt and financial leases, and any other secured liability evidenced by bonds, debentures, notes or similar instruments) by others including, without limitation, any subsidiary (as defined in the Securities Act (Ontario)) of Countryside Canada, for payment of which Countryside Canada is responsible or liable, whether absolutely or contingently.

The Indenture shall provide that in the event of any insolvency or bankruptcy proceedings, or any receivership, liquidation, reorganization or other similar proceedings relative to Countryside Canada, or to its property or assets, or in the event of any proceedings for voluntary liquidation, dissolution or other winding-up of Countryside Canada, whether or not involving insolvency or bankruptcy, or any marshalling of the assets and liabilities of Countryside Canada, then those creditors entitled to Senior Secured Indebtedness will receive payment in full before the holders of Debentures will be entitled to receive any payment or distribution of any kind or character, whether in cash, property or securities, which may be payable or deliverable in any such event in respect of any of the Debentures or any unpaid interest accrued thereon. The Indenture also provides that Countryside Canada will not make any payments when an event of default has occurred under the Senior Secured Indebtedness and is continuing.

Priority over Unit Distributions

The Declaration of Trust provides that certain expenses and liabilities of the Fund must be deducted in calculating the amount to be distributed to Unitholders. Accordingly, the funds required to satisfy the interest payable on the Debentures, as well as the amount payable upon redemption or maturity of the Debentures or upon an Event of Default (as defined below), will be deducted and withheld from the amounts that would otherwise be payable as distributions to Unitholders.

Put Right Upon a Change of Control

Upon the occurrence of a change of control of the Fund involving the acquisition of voting control or direction over 66⅔% or more of the outstanding Units and securities exchangeable into or carrying the right to acquire Units by any person or group of persons acting jointly or in concert (a "Change of Control"), each holder of Debentures may require (the "Change of Control Put Right") Countryside Canada to purchase, on the date which is 30 days following the giving of notice of the Change of Control as set out below (the "Put Date"), the whole or any part of such holder's Debentures at a price equal to 101% of the principal amount thereof (the "Put Price") plus accrued and unpaid interest up to, but excluding, the Put Date.

If 90% or more in the aggregate principal amount of the Debentures outstanding on the date of the giving of notice of the Change of Control have been tendered for purchase on the Put Date, Countryside Canada will have the right to redeem all the remaining Debentures on such date at the Put Price, together with accrued and unpaid interest up to, but excluding, the Put Date. Notice of such redemption must be given to the Debenture Trustee prior to the Put Date and as soon as possible thereafter, by the Debenture Trustee to the holders of the Debentures not tendered for purchase. The principal on the Debenture will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America or, at the option of the Fund and subject to applicable regulatory approval, by delivery of Units to satisfy, in whole or in part, its obligation to repay the principal amount of the Debentures.

The Indenture shall contain notification provisions to the following effect:

(a) Countryside Canada will promptly give written notice to the Debenture Trustee of the occurrence of a Change of Control and the Debenture Trustee will thereafter give to the holders of Debentures a notice of the Change of Control, the repayment right of the holders of Debentures and the right of Countryside Canada to redeem untendered Debentures under certain circumstances; and

(b) a holder of Debentures, to exercise the right to require Countryside Canada to purchase its Debentures, must deliver to the Debenture Trustee, not less than five business days prior to the Put Date, written notice of the holder's exercise of such right, together with the Debentures with respect to which the right is being exercised, duly endorsed for transfer.

Modification

The rights of the holders of any series of Debentures may be modified in accordance with the terms of the Indenture. For that purpose, among others, the Indenture contains certain provisions that will make binding on all holders of Debentures resolutions passed at meetings of the holders of such Debentures by votes cast thereat by holders of not less than 66⅔% of the principal amount of the Debentures and then outstanding present at the meeting or represented by proxy, or rendered by instruments in writing signed by the holders of not less than 66⅔% of the principal amount of Debentures and then outstanding. In certain cases, the modification will, instead or in addition, require assent by the holders of the required percentage of Debentures of each particularly affected series. Under the Indenture, the Debenture Trustee will have the right to make certain amendments to the Indenture in its discretion, without the consent of the holders of the Debentures.

Events of Default

The Indenture shall provide that an event of default in respect of the Debentures will occur if any one or more of the following described events has occurred and is continuing: (i) failure for 15 days to pay interest on the Debentures, when due; (ii) failure to pay principal or premium, if any, on the Debentures, whether at maturity, upon redemption, by declaration or otherwise; (iii) certain events of bankruptcy, insolvency or reorganization of Countryside Canada under bankruptcy or insolvency laws; or (iv) default in the observance or performance of any material covenant or condition of the Indenture and the continuance of such default for a period of 30 days after notice in writing has been given by the Debenture Trustee to Countryside Canada specifying the default and requiring Countryside Canada to rectify same. If an event of default has occurred and is continuing, the Debenture Trustee may, in its discretion, and shall, upon the request of holders of not less than 25% in principal amount of the Debentures and then outstanding, declare the principal of and interest on all outstanding Debentures to be immediately due and payable. In certain cases, the holders of a majority of the principal amount of the Debentures, may, on behalf of the holders of all Debentures, waive any event of default under the Indenture and/or cancel any such declaration upon such terms and conditions as such holders shall prescribe.

Offers for Debentures

The Indenture shall contain provisions to the effect that if an offer is made for the Debentures then outstanding which is a take-over bid for the Debentures within the meaning of the Securities Act (Ontario) and not less than 90% of the Debentures then outstanding (other than Debentures held at the date of the take-over bid by or on behalf of the offeror or associates or affiliates of the offeror) are taken up and paid for by the offeror, the offeror will be entitled to acquire the Debentures held by holders of Debentures who did not accept the offer on the terms offered by the offeror, provided that holders of Debentures will have the right to elect to be paid the fair value of their Debentures by providing notice to the offeror and following the other procedures set forth in the Indenture.

Limitations on Ownership

In order for the Fund to maintain its status as a "mutual fund trust" under the Tax Act, the Fund must not be established or maintained primarily for the benefit of non-residents of Canada within the meaning of the Tax Act. Accordingly, at no time may non-residents of Canada be the beneficial owners of more than 49% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis). In addition, in order for the Fund to be exempt from the registration requirements as an investment company under the United States Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"), at no time may more than 100 U.S. persons (using the principles for counting set forth in Section 3(c)(1) of the 1940 Act) be the beneficial owners of the Units, nor may any U.S. person be the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units. Consequently, Countryside Canada may require declarations as to the jurisdictions in which beneficial owners of Debentures are resident. If Countryside Canada becomes aware that either of the foregoing limitations may be contravened, the directors of Countryside Canada will make a public announcement and will not accept a subscription for Debentures from or issue or register a transfer of Debentures to a person unless the person provides a declaration that the person is not a non-resident of Canada. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, Countryside Canada becomes aware that more than 49% of the Units are held by non-residents (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), that more than 100 U.S. persons are beneficial owners of Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), or that any U.S. person is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of the Units (on either a non-diluted or fully-diluted basis), Countryside Canada may send a notice to the non-resident or U.S. holders, as applicable, chosen in inverse order to the order of acquisition or registration or in any manner as Countryside Canada may consider equitable and practicable, requiring them to sell their Debentures or a portion of their Debentures within a specified period of not less than 60 days. If the Debentureholders receiving the notice have not sold the specified number of Debentures or provided Countryside Canada with satisfactory evidence that they are not non-residents within that period, Countryside Canada may, on behalf of those Debentureholders, sell those Debentures and, in the interim, will suspend the rights attached to those Debentures. Upon that sale, the affected holders will cease to be holders of the Debentures and their rights will be limited to receiving the net proceeds of the sale.

To avoid having the Fund become subject to the fiduciary and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code, no Debentures may be beneficially owned by any ERISA Plan and any transferee of beneficial ownership of Debentures (whether by initial purchase or subsequent transfer) will be deemed to represent to Countryside Canada that it is not an ERISA Plan. Any purported transfer (whether or not the result of a transaction entered into through the facilities of the Toronto Stock Exchange) that, if effective, would result in any ERISA Plan beneficially owning any Debentures will be void from the date of the purported transfer, and the ERISA Plan that pursuant thereto would purport to have beneficial ownership of the Debentures will not acquire any interest in the Debentures. In the event of such a purported transfer, such Debentures will be transferred to a trust created by Countryside Canada and sold. The ERISA Plan will not have any beneficial interest in the trust, and the ERISA Plan's sole right with respect to the Debentures that were the subject of the purported transfer to the ERISA Plan will be to receive the net proceeds of sale of such Debentures by the trust. Countryside Canada may require any person who attempts to acquire Debentures or who otherwise is purported to beneficially own Debentures to provide a written statement or affidavit to Countryside Canada stating such information as Countryside Canada may request in order to determine whether such person is an ERISA Plan or not.

Book-Entry, Delivery and Form

Debentures will be issued in the form of fully-registered global Debentures (the "Global Debentures") held by, or on behalf of, CDS or its successor (the "Depository"), as custodian for its participants.

All Debentures will be represented in the form of Global Debentures registered in the name of the Depository or its nominee. Purchasers of Debentures represented by Global Debentures will not receive Debentures in definitive form. Rather, the Debentures will be represented only in "book-entry only" form (unless Countryside Canada, in its sole discretion, elects to prepare and deliver definitive Debentures in fully-registered form). Interests in the Global Debentures will be represented through book-entry accounts of institutions (including the Underwriters) acting on behalf of holders of interests, as direct and indirect participants of the Depository (the "participants"). Each purchaser of a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture will receive a customer confirmation of purchase from the Underwriter or Underwriters from whom the Debenture is purchased in accordance with the practices and procedures of the selling Underwriter or Underwriters. The practices of the Underwriters may vary but generally, customer confirmations are issued promptly after execution of a customer order. The Depository will be responsible for establishing and maintaining book-entry accounts for its participants having interest in Global Debentures.

If the Depository notifies Countryside Canada that it is unwilling or unable to continue as depository in connection with the Global Debentures, or if at any time the Depository ceases to be a clearing agency or otherwise ceases to be eligible to be a depository and Countryside Canada and the Debenture Trustee are unable to locate a qualified successor, or if Countryside Canada elects, in its sole discretion, to terminate the book-entry system, with the consent of the Debenture Trustee, beneficial owners of Debentures represented by Global Debentures at such time will receive Debentures in registered and definitive form (the "Definitive Debentures").

Transfer and Exchange of Debentures

Transfers of interests in Debentures represented by Global Debentures will be effected through records maintained by the Depository for such Global Debentures or its nominees (with respect to interests of participants) and on the records of participants (with respect to interests of persons other than participants). Unless Countryside Canada elects, in its sole discretion, to prepare and deliver Definitive Debentures, beneficial owners who are not participants in the Depository's book-entry system, but who desire to purchase, sell or otherwise transfer ownership of or other interest in Global Debentures, may do so only through participants in the Depository's book-entry system. The ability of a holder of an interest in a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture to pledge the Debenture or otherwise take action with respect to such owner's interest in a Debenture represented by a Global Debenture (other than through a participant) may be limited due to the lack of a physical certificate.

Registered holders of Definitive Debentures may transfer such Debentures upon payment of any applicable taxes, duties or other charges incidental thereto, if any, by executing and delivering a form of transfer together with the Debentures to the Debenture Trustee at its principal offices in Toronto, Ontario, or such other city or cities as may from time to time be designated by Countryside Canada, with the approval of the Debenture Trustee, whereupon new Debentures will be issued in authorized denominations in the same aggregate principal amount as the Debentures so transferred, registered in the names of the transferees. No transfer or exchange of a Debenture will be registered on the date of any selection by the Debenture Trustee of any Debentures to be redeemed or during the seven preceding business days. In addition, no transfer or exchange of any Debentures which have been selected or called for redemption will be registered.

Holders of common shares of Countryside Holding are entitled to receive dividends as and when declared by the board of directors and are entitled to one vote per share on all matters to be voted on at all meetings of shareholders. Countryside Holding Note

The following is a summary of the material attributes and characteristics of the US$52,139,000 unsecured subordinated promissory note (the "Countryside Holding Note"), which will be issued by Countryside Holding to Countryside Canada on the closing of the Offering. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the provisions of the Countryside Holding Note, which contains a complete statement of those attributes and characteristics.

Interest and Maturity

The Countryside Holding Note will mature on the tenth anniversary of the closing date of the Offering (the "Closing Date"), subject to Early Maturity or redemption as described below. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Countryside Canada may, at any time after the sixth anniversary of the Closing Date but on or before the seventh anniversary of the Closing Date, elect to require that Countryside Holding repay the principal amount of the Note, and any interest then outstanding on the seventh anniversary of the Closing Date ("Early Maturity").

The Countryside Holding Note will bear interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum. Under the terms of the Countryside Holding Note, interest is accrued and is to be paid monthly within 15 days following the end of each month. The interest and principal on the Countryside Holding Note will be payable in lawful money of the United States by wire transfer or bankers' draft.

The Countryside Holding Note also contains restrictive covenants relating to, among other things distributions by Countryside Holding or any of its subsidiaries, incurrence of liens and the incurrence of indebtedness by Countryside Holding or its subsidiaries.

Payment upon Maturity

On maturity, or Early Maturity, Countryside Holding is required to repay the indebtedness represented by the Countryside Holding Note by paying to Countryside Canada, in lawful money of the United States, an amount equal to the principal amount of the outstanding Countryside Holding Note, together with all accrued and unpaid interest thereon to the maturity date or the Early Maturity date.

The Countryside Holding Note will be a general unsecured obligation of Countryside Holding and will be subordinate in right of payment to all existing and future senior indebtedness of Countryside Holding, and pari passu with all other existing and future unsecured indebtedness and other liabilities of Countryside Holding that is not subordinated indebtedness. Countryside Holding's subsidiaries (the "Guarantors") will guarantee the obligations of Countryside Holding under the Countryside Holding Note pursuant to a separate guarantee agreement. These guarantees will rank pari passu with all other senior unsecured indebtedness of the Guarantors, but will be subordinated to their guarantees with respect to any Senior Secured Indebtedness. The guarantees will allow the holders of the Countryside Holding Note to look to Countryside Holding's subsidiaries in case of default under the Countryside Holding Note. However, should any of the principal, interest or similar payments under any Senior Secured Indebtedness have either come due and not been paid or be in default, all obligations under any Senior Secured Indebtedness shall first be paid in full, in cash, before any payment on account of the principal or interest due under the Countryside Holding Note is paid.

Redemption and Prepayment

Provided Countryside Holding has available cash, the distribution of which is considered advisable by its board of directors and is not restricted by the terms of any Senior Secured Indebtedness, Countryside Holding may, to the extent of such available cash, and upon not less than 30 days' written notice to Countryside Canada, redeem all or any portion of the Countryside Holding Note without the consent of Countryside Canada, at specified redemption prices (expressed as percentages of principal amount), plus accrued and unpaid interest on the Countryside Holding Note to be prepaid to the date of redemption if redeemed during the 12-month period commencing on a specified date in each year.

- the Countryside Holding Note or any guarantee therefor ceases to be in full force and effect, except as contemplated by the terms thereof, or Countryside Holding or any Guarantor denies or disaffirms its obligations under the Countryside Holding Note or any guarantee therefor, except as contemplated by the terms of the Countryside Holding Note;
- a default by Countryside Holding or any Guarantor under any contract material to the business of Countryside Holding or the Guarantors, taken as a whole, which default is not rectified by Countryside Holding or the applicable Guarantor within the specified time period in relevant material contract; or
