COCA-COLA AMATIL ACQUIRES PALM SPRINGS WATER BUSINESS

Coca-Cola Amatil (CCA) has reached agreement to acquire the assets of the home and office water delivery company Palm Springs Limited following an approach by Palm Springs Limited to CCA to purchase the business. The purchase price is $7.4 million plus a payment for those debtors to be taken over as at completion of the acquisition.

Completion of the acquisition is expected within the next three months and is subject to Palm Springs shareholder approval. The acquisition is subject to a number of conditions, including final approval by the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission.

Following acquisition the Palm Springs business will be integrated into CCA's existing bottled water company, Neverfail Springwater Co. Pty. Ltd.

Neverfail Springwater, which was acquired by CCA in 2003, is Australia's largest home and office delivery bulk water company, with 158,000 customers.

Palm Springs, established in 1988, is Australia's second largest home and office water business, with 25,000 customers and operations in Queensland, NSW and Victoria. Its sales revenue over the past 12 months was $18 million.

Managing Director for CCA's Australian Operations, Warwick White, welcomed the acquisition of Palm Springs.

"Palm Springs approached us to purchase its bottled water business and we saw it as an opportunity to leverage the value from our existing home and office water delivery business, Neverfail Springwater," Mr White said.

"The acquisition of Palm Springs will provide us with an opportunity to expand our existing customer relationships and service capabilities, and we will also be able to offer a broader array of products and services to existing Palm Springs customers."

Yours faithfully
