Management's Discussion & Analysis

Overall summary for the quarter ended 30th June 2006

During the quarter under review, petrochemical prices remained strong, primarily backed by firm crude oil and naphtha prices. Margins for majority of petrochemical products manufactured by IPCL remained stable during the quarter.

The domestic demand for both polymer and fibre intermediates remained robust, with polymer demand registering a growth of 14% and fibre intermediates of 17%, compared to corresponding previous period. Domestic demand for MEG increased by 20% while that of LAB also increased by 13%.

IPCL continued to operate its major plants at full capacity and production volume touched 1.32 million tonnes, Production volumes of polymers (PP, PE and PVC), ethylene and propylene was 2, 73,000, 2, 34,700 and 89,900 tonnes respectively. Production volume of LAB and PBR was 33,650 tonnes.

Comparison of financial results – quarter ended 30th June 2006 Vs quarter ended 30th June 2005

Net Turnover for the quarter increased 22% to Rs. 2,415 crore (US$ 525 million) from Rs. 1,983 crore. The increase of 22% in net turnover is on account of 8% increase in selling prices and 14% on account of sales volume. Increase in sales price was primarily on account of higher price of PE, PP, LAB, ACN, PVC and MEG.

Domestic sale of products manufactured by IPCL increased by 22% to Rs. 1959 crore (US$ 425 million) and accounted for 81% of the net turnover. Exports of manufactured products for the quarter increased by 15% to Rs. 419 crore (US$ 91 million) from Rs. 366 crore.

Consumption of raw materials increased by 23% to Rs. 1,110 crore (US$ 241 million) from Rs. 899 crore primarily on account of higher prices of gas, naphtha, propane, c2-c3 mix. Price of semi rich gas, propane and c2-c3 mix were higher by 98%, 16% and 48% respectively as compared to corresponding previous period.

Employee cost increased by 18% to Rs. 107 crore (US$ 23 million) from Rs. 91 crore primarily on account of performance linked incentive payment to employees.

Other expenditure decreased by 13% to Rs. 521 crore (US$ 113 million) compared to Rs. 599 crore for the corresponding previous period. The reduction is mainly on account of lower provision for excise duty on finished goods due to depletion of stock.

The other expenditure comprises primarily of manufacturing expenses like stores & spares, chemicals, packing material, power & fuel and water, selling expenses, repairs and maintenance, excise duty on stock, lease rent, foreign exchange differences and establishment expenses.

Operating profit before other income increased by 23% to Rs. 518 crore (US$ 113 million) from Rs. 422 crore primarily on account of higher sales price and lower other expenditure, partially offset by higher consumption of raw materials.

Interest expenditure increased by 55% to Rs. 45 crore (US$ 10 million) due to adverse exchange difference. Outstanding debt as on 30th June 2006 was Rs. 590 crore (US$ 128 million) against Rs. 627 crore on 30th June 2005.

Depreciation for the quarter was Rs. 112 crore (US$ 24 million) compared to Rs. 116 crore in the corresponding previous period.

As a result of the above factors, profit before tax and extraordinary items increased by 33 % to Rs. 421 crore (US$ 91 million) from Rs. 317 crore.

Deferred tax asset during the period under review was Rs. 27 crore (US$ 6 million) compared to Rs. 30 crore during the corresponding previous period.

As a result of the above factors, net profit after tax increased by 29% to Rs. 291 crore (US$ 63 million) from Rs. 225 crore.

The above unaudited results were reviewed by the Audit Committee. The Board of Directors at its meeting held on 18th July 2006 approved the above results and its release.

Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited

(the "Transferee Company")

b. IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P.O. Petrochemicals, Dist: Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India – a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation:

a. All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realization. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilization and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

b. Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilization of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilized for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

c. Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar

Certified copy of the Explanatory Statement pursuant to Section 192A(2) and Section 173(2) of the Companies Act, 1956 setting out all the material facts pertaining to the Special Resolution

The Board of Directors at their meeting held on April 25,2006 approved the proposal for amalgamation of six (6) polyester companies, namely, Apollo Fibres Limited, Central India Polyesters Limited, India Polyfibers Limited, Orissa Polyfibers Limited, Recron Synthetics Limited and Silvassa Industries Private Limited ("Transferor Companies") with IPCL ("the Transferee Company").

The said amalgamation would result in integration of the manufacturing facilities, optimum utilization of resources and competitive advantage in the value chain.

All the aforesaid Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. IPCL manufactures monoethylene glycol (MEG), the raw material used by the said Transferor Companies. The integration of the facilities can be conveniently and advantageously achieved, benefiting the stakeholders of both, the Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company.

In order to enable IPCL, the Transferee Company to carry on the business of the Transferor Companies, it is necessary to amend the Objects Clause of IPCL to include the business of the said Transferor Companies.

In terms of the provisions of Section 17 of the Companies Act, 1956, it is proposed to alter the Objects Clause of the Memorandum of Association of the Company to enable the Transferee Company to carry on business in Polyester Products. Further, in terms of Section 192A (1) of the Act, read with Rule 4 of the Companies (Passing of Resolution by Postal Ballot) Rules, 2001, , in case of listed companies, the said Special Resolution is required to be passed through Postal Ballot.

Members are requested to communicate their assent or dissent in writing in the Postal Ballot Form sent herewith in accordance with the instructions set out therein.

None of the Directors is, in any way, concerned or interested in the proposed Special Resolution.

The Board of Directors of the Company commends the Special Resolution as set out in the Notice for Members' approval.

2.8.3 The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India. After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India – a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under :

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL (are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Transferor Companies"). All the Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/ or conversion of various types of Polyester Products.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

C. Purpose of the Scheme

(a) To amalgamate each of the Transferor Companies (viz. AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL) with the Transferee Company (viz. IPCL).

(b) To restructure the outstanding liabilities of the Transferor Companies.

(c) In furtherance of the aforesaid, this Scheme of Amalgamation provides for the transfer and vesting of all of the undertakings, properties, assets and liabilities of each of the Transferor Companies to and in the Transferee Company and for various other matters consequential or otherwise integrally connected with the Scheme including increase in the issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of the Transferee Company.

D. Parts of the Scheme

This Scheme of Amalgamation is divided into the following parts:

(i) Part I deals with definitions of terms used in this Scheme of Amalgamation and share capital of the respective Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company;

(ii) Part II deals with the transfer of the Undertakings (as hereinafter defined) of each of the Transferor Companies to the Transferee Company;

2.8.3 The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India. After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India – a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under :

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL (are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Transferor Companies"). All the Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/ or conversion of various types of Polyester Products.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

C. Purpose of the Scheme

(b) To restructure the outstanding liabilities of the Transferor Companies.

(c) In furtherance of the aforesaid, this Scheme of Amalgamation provides for the transfer and vesting of all of the undertakings, properties, assets and liabilities of each of the Transferor Companies to and in the Transferee Company and for various other matters consequential or otherwise integrally connected with the Scheme including increase in the issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of the Transferee Company.

This Scheme of Amalgamation is divided into the following parts:

(i) Part I deals with definitions of terms used in this Scheme of Amalgamation and share capital of the respective Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company;

(ii) Part II deals with the transfer of the Undertakings (as hereinafter defined) of each of the Transferor Companies to the Transferee Company;

After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India – a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under :

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

SIPL is an unlisted company.

AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL (are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Transferor Companies"). All the Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/ or conversion of various types of Polyester Products.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

C. Purpose of the Scheme

(a) To amalgamate each of the Transferor Companies (viz. AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL) with the Transferee Company (viz. IPCL).

2.8.3 The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India. After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and of the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under:

   (a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

   (b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

   (c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of all the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL (are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Transferor Companies"). All the Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/ or conversion of various types of Polyester Products.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

(c) In furtherance of the aforesaid, this Scheme of Amalgamation provides for the transfer and vesting of all of the undertakings, properties, assets and liabilities of each of the Transferor Companies to and in the Transferee Company and for various other matters consequential or otherwise integrally connected with the Scheme including increase in the issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of the Transferee Company.

This Scheme of Amalgamation is divided into the following parts:

(i) Part I deals with definitions of terms used in this Scheme of Amalgamation and share capital of the respective Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company;

(ii) Part II deals with the transfer of the Undertakings (as hereinafter defined) of each of the Transferor Companies to the Transferee Company;

After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and of the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under:

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act; whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of all the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

(c) In furtherance of the aforesaid, this Scheme of Amalgamation provides for the transfer and vesting of all of the undertakings, properties, assets and liabilities of each of the Transferor Companies to and in the Transferee Company and for various other matters consequential or otherwise integrally connected with the Scheme including increase in the issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of the Transferee Company.

This Scheme of Amalgamation is divided into the following parts:

(i) Part I deals with definitions of terms used in this Scheme of Amalgamation and share capital of the respective Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company;

(ii) Part II deals with the transfer of the Undertakings (as hereinafter defined) of each of the Transferor Companies to the Transferee Company;

After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and of the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under:

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of all the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

SIPL is an unlisted company.

AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL (are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Transferor Companies"). All the Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/ or conversion of various types of Polyester Products.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

C. Purpose of the Scheme

(b) To restructure the outstanding liabilities of the Transferor Companies.

(c) In furtherance of the aforesaid, this Scheme of Amalgamation provides for the transfer and vesting of all of the undertakings, properties, assets and liabilities of each of the Transferor Companies to and in the Transferee Company and for various other matters consequential or otherwise integrally connected with the Scheme including increase in the issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of the Transferee Company.

This Scheme of Amalgamation is divided into the following parts:

(i) Part I deals with definitions of terms used in this Scheme of Amalgamation and share capital of the respective Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company;

(ii) Part II deals with the transfer of the Undertakings (as hereinafter defined) of each of the Transferor Companies to the Transferee Company;

(iii) Part III deals with restructuring of liabilities of the Transferor Companies;

(iv) Part IV deals with the issue of new equity shares by the Transferee Company to the equity shareholders of each of the Transferor Companies and payment to the preference shareholders of the First Transferor Company;

(v) Part V deals with the accounting treatment for the amalgamation in the books of the Transferee Company and dividends;

2.8.3 The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India. After its incorporation the Transferee Company commenced its business and is presently operating three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India – a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar. As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by polyester industry.

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and of the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under:

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of all the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL (are hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Transferor Companies"). All the Transferor Companies are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/ or conversion of various types of Polyester Products.

(b) IPCL or the "Transferee Company" means Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Limited, a company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its Registered Office at P. O. Petrochemicals, Dist. Vadodara 391 346, Gujarat. IPCL is a leading Indian integrated manufacturer of petrochemicals products. Its primary products are polymers, fibres and fibre intermediates and chemicals. The equity shares of IPCL are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange Limited and the National Stock Exchange of India Limited. The GDRs of IPCL are listed on the Luxembourg Stock Exchange.

The Transferee Company was established in March 1969, as a Government of India undertaking, with the objective of establishing a petrochemicals company and developing the petrochemicals industry and the petrochemicals market in India.

The Transferee Company operates three integrated petrochemicals complexes in India - a naphtha based cracker complex at Vadodara; a gas based cracker complex at Nagothane; and a gas based cracker complex at Gandhar.

As a part of its business, the Transferee Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Mono Ethylene Glycol ("MEG") used by the polyester industry.

B. Rationale for the Scheme of Amalgamation

(a) All of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL are engaged in the manufacture, sale and/or conversion of Polyester Products. IPCL is engaged in the manufacture, inter-alia, of MEG, which is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed by each of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL to consolidate operations and amalgamate with IPCL. Combining the resources of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL would ensure MEG utilization within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation. The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources. The Transferee Company has available additional capacity for manufacture of MEG, and the amalgamation will enable such additional capacity to be optimally and effectively utilised for higher realisation. The amalgamation would, therefore, enable the

Transferee Company to increase its value realisation of operations and confer a competitive advantage on the entire business. Considering the global dynamics of demand and supply of MEG, it is considered advantageous to convert MEG locally into value added Polyester Products, directly rather than export or supply MEG as an intermediate product. With integrated conversion processes, the Transferee Company can achieve global scales of operation and improved realisation in the value chain.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(d) With the aforesaid objectives, it is proposed to amalgamate AFL, CIPL, IPL, OPL, RSL and SIPL with IPCL pursuant to a Scheme of Amalgamation under Sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956. The Scheme would be advantageous to all parties concerned with complementary forward and backward integration.

C. Purpose of the Scheme

(b) To restructure the outstanding liabilities of the Transferor Companies.

(c) In furtherance of the aforesaid, this Scheme of Amalgamation provides for the transfer and vesting of all of the undertakings, properties, assets and liabilities of each of the Transferor Companies to and in the Transferee Company and for various other matters consequential or otherwise integrally connected with the Scheme including increase in the issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of the Transferee Company.

This Scheme of Amalgamation is divided into the following parts:

(i) Part I deals with definitions of terms used in this Scheme of Amalgamation and share capital of the respective Transferor Companies and the Transferee Company;

(ii) Part II deals with the transfer of the Undertakings (as hereinafter defined) of each of the Transferor Companies to the Transferee Company;

3. The details of the authorised, issued, subscribed and paid-up capital of each of the Transferor Companies and of the Transferee Company are set out in the Scheme.

4. Each of the Transferor Companies is engaged in the manufacture of Polyester Products. MEG is the critical raw material for manufacture of Polyester Products.

5. In order to meet global competition and obtain the advantage of consolidation, which would result in benefits from economies of scale, it is proposed that all the Transferor Companies be merged with the Transferee Company and the operations of all the Transferor Companies be consolidated with the Transferee Company. Combining the resources of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company would ensure MEG utilisation within the country, for the manufacture of Polyester Products, resulting in economies in logistics and higher realisation.

6. The other advantages that would result from the proposed amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company are as under:

(a) The twin advantage of assured feedstock utilisation and combined manufacturing facilities of Transferor Companies would enhance efficiencies throughout the value chain.

(b) Separate small companies carrying on similar business results in wastage of manpower and resources, and integrating and combining such businesses will lead to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

(c) Disadvantages of separate small entities engaged in the same business will be replaced with a single unified entity engaged both in manufacturing and marketing of the final product with in-house manufacturing of feedstock. This would also facilitate focussed technical attention with research and development being evolved and applied on a larger scale and at multiple levels. The carrying on of similar business by different small companies results in wastage of manpower and resources, which can be integrated and combined leading to greater and optimal utilisation of resources.

7. Keeping in mind the paramount and overall interest of the shareholders and creditors of the Applicant Company, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company and the respective Boards of Directors of the other Transferor Companies and the Board of Directors of the Transferee Company have thought it advantageous and fit that the undertakings and businesses of the Applicant Company and other Transferor Companies be consolidated by way of amalgamation thereof with the Transferee Company.

8. With the aforesaid objectives, the Board of Directors of the Applicant Company is of the opinion that the amalgamation would benefit the shareholders, creditors, employees and other stakeholders of the Applicant Company.

9. In the aforesaid circumstances, a Scheme of Amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company has been formulated under Sections 391 to 394 of the Act, whereby the whole of the undertakings and businesses of all the Transferor Companies shall be consolidated by the amalgamation of the Transferor Companies with the Transferee Company.

10. The salient features of the Scheme are:

(i) "Appointed Date" means 1st April 2005 or such other date as may be approved by the High Court;

(ii) "Effective Date" means the last of the dates on which the conditions referred to in Clause 21.1 of the Scheme have been fulfilled and the Orders of the High Court sanctioning the Scheme of Amalgamation are filed with the Registrar of Companies by each of the Transferor Companies and by the Transferee Company. Any references in the Scheme to the date of "coming into effect of the Scheme" or "effectiveness of the Scheme" or "Scheme taking effect" shall mean the Effective Date;
