SECURITIES TRADING, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT
SEPTEMBER 30, 2006

1. Summary of significant accounting policies

Nature of operations – The Company is registered as a broker-dealer under the examining authority of the National Association of Security Dealers. The Company, on a fully disclosed basis, clears customer transactions through an unaffiliated broker-dealer who also maintains the customer accounts.

Use of estimates – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash equivalents – Liquid investments with maturities of three months or less when purchased are considered cash equivalents.

Marketable securities – Marketable securities are stated at market value and are classified as available for sale. The resulting difference between cost and market is included in income. The first-in first-out method is used to determine realized gains or losses.

Receivables – Receivables from clearing broker are commissions earned but not yet paid. The Company periodically reviews all receivables and records an allowance for doubtful accounts when it becomes unlikely to be collected. As of September 30, 2006 no allowance for doubtful accounts has been recorded as the Company believes all amounts are collectible.

Property and equipment – Property and equipment are recorded at cost reduced by accumulated depreciation. Depreciation expense is recognized over the assets' estimated useful lives using straight-line and accelerated methods. Estimated useful lives range from 3 to 7 years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the remaining term of the lease or the useful life of the improvement using the straight-line method. Depreciation expense was $1,618 in 2006.

Revenue recognition – The Company records revenues and expenses (commissions and brokerage expenses) directly related to security transactions on a settlement date basis, which approximates trade date basis.

Advertising – The Company records expense for advertising when liability is incurred. Advertising expense was $0 in 2006.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
SEPTEMBER 30, 2006

1. Summary of significant accounting policies - continued

Income taxes – Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the tax effects of differences between the financial statement and tax basis of assets and liabilities.

2. Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company has a retail and institutional customer base located generally in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. Under the correspondent agreement with its clearing broker, the Company has agreed to indemnify the clearing broker from damages or losses resulting from customer transactions. The Company is therefore exposed to off-balance sheet risk of loss in the event customers are unable to fulfill contractual obligations.

3. Related Party Transactions

The Company rents office space under an operating lease agreement with its sole shareholder. Rent expense amounted to approximately $9,000 in 2006. Future lease commitments are on a month-to-month basis.

4. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the uniform net capital rule of the Securities and Exchange Commission (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital not exceed 15 to 1 (as those terms are defined by the Rule). In addition, equity capital may not be withdrawn if the resulting net capital ratios would exceed 10 to 1. At September 30, 2006, the Company had net capital of $74,280 which was $24,280 greater than its required net capital of $50,000. The company's net capital ratio was .07 to 1.

5. Income Taxes

Deferred tax liabilities of $2,794 in the accompanying statement of financial condition, result from differences in book and tax depreciation lives and methods and unrealized gains on marketable equity securities as of September 30, 2006.
