Asset Description	Asset Life

Use of Estimates in Preparation of the Financial Statement –

The preparation of the financial statement in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statement. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

The original amount of the letter of credit will be automatically reduced on August 1 of each year to the following amounts:

(7) FINANCING AGREEMENT WITH CLEARING ORGANIZATION:

The interest rate charged on this financing is the federal funds rate plus 125 basis points. Pershing uses the inventory as collateral for the financing with the amount financed limited by the inventory and the Company's net capital requirements. Based upon the statement of financial condition and utilizing the weighted-average maturity mix of securities as of September 30, 2006, the maximum amount available from this financing arrangement would be approximately $6,700,000.

Under this rule, the Company is required to maintain net capital equivalent to $250,000 or six and two-thirds percent of aggregate indebtedness, whichever is greater, as these terms are defined. The net capital rule may effectively restrict the payment of cash dividends.

Net capital changes from day to day, but as of September 30, 2006, the Company had net capital and net capital requirements of approximately $1,910,000 and $250,000, respectively, leaving excess net capital of $1,660,000. The percentage of aggregate indebtedness to net capital as of September 30, 2006 was 15 percent. These amounts are not materially different from the unaudited amounts submitted in the Focus Report for the period ended September 30, 2006. The Securities and Exchange Commission rule 15c3-1 requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1, or 1500 percent. (9) FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS WITH OFF-BALANCE-SHEET RISK:

In the normal course of business, the Company's customer activities involve the execution and settlement of various securities transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance-sheet risk in the event the customer or other broker is unable to fulfill its contractual obligations and the Company has to purchase or sell the financial instrument underlying the contract at a loss. An estimate of the possible loss cannot be made based upon the quantity and size of all transactions.
