INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

February 7, 2007

To the Board of Directors
of TNC Inc.

I have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of TNC Inc. as of December 31, 2006. This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statement of financial condition is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and the disclosures in the statement of financial condition. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as well as evaluating the overall statement of financial condition presentation. I believe that my audit of the statement of financial condition provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the statement of financial condition referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of TNC Inc. as of December 31, 2006, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Note 1 - Organization

TNC Inc. is a New Jersey corporation (the "Company") organized in July 1990 to act as a consultant and investment advisor primarily in the energy area. The Company is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission and the State of New Jersey as an investment advisor and as a broker-dealer, and is a member of the National Association of Security Dealers, Inc.

The Company does not have or intend to have security of or discretionary authority with respect to securities or funds of advisory or brokerage clients.

Note 2 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Marketable securities are valued at market value.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and disclosure of contingent amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 3 - S Corporation Income Tax Status

The Company, with the consent of its sole stockholder, has elected under the Internal Revenue Code to be an S Corporation. Under those provision, the Company's federal taxable income or loss and tax credits are passed through to the stockholder.

Note 4 - Net Capital

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1) which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital. As applied to the Company, the rule requires minimum net capital of $5,000. As of December 31, 2006, the Company had net capital of $23,381 which was $18,381 in excess of its required net capital.

Note 5 - Fee Revenues

All of the Company's fees were derived from one client.

Note 6 - Annual Report

Pursuant to Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Company's Statement of Financial condition as of December 31, 2006, is available for examination at the Company's office located at 32 Hogback Road, Pittstown, New Jersey 08867 and at the regional office of the Securities and Exchange Commission located at 3 World Financial Center, Room 4300, New York, New York 10281.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT OF INDEPENDENT AUDITOR

February 7, 2007

Board of Directors of TNC Inc.

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of TNC Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2006, I considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), I have made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by TNC Inc. that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g), in making periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the company in making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; and in obtaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by rule 15c3-3 because the company does not carry securities for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from the unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Board of Directors of TNC Inc.
February 7, 2007

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

My consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, recognizing it is not practicable in an organization the size of TNC Inc. to achieve the division of duties and cross-checks generally included in a system of internal control and that alternatively greater reliance must be placed on surveillance by management, I noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, that I considered to be material weaknesses as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and the practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objective in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.
