The Company was incorporated in Texas on June 6, 1988 and is registered as a dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Federal Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. The Company acts as a dealer/investment advisor for certain offerings and does not maintain discretionary accounts for its customers. There are no existing obligations of the dealer in regards to offerings made.

The Company also offers financial advisory and accounting services to its clients and the public at large. These operations are maintained separately from all dealer/investment activities.

(b) Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital, and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed certain limits.

(c) Income Taxes

There is no provision for Federal income taxes in the accompanying financial statements, as the Company has filed an election to be treated under Subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code, effective as of the date of incorporation. Income tax liabilities on net income are the responsibility of the stockholders.

(d) Property, Furniture and Equipment

Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the related assets which range from 5 to 7 years.

Major improvements significantly extending the useful lives of the assets are capitalized, while expenditures which do not improve or extend the useful lives of the respective assets are expensed in the current period.

(e) Cash Flows

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, cash equivalents include time deposits, certificates of deposit, and all highly liquid debt instruments with original maturities of three months or less.

(f) Concentrations of Risk

Concentrations of risk relate to cash. The Company places its cash with quality financial institutions and by policy, limits the amount of exposure to any one financial institution.

(3) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(4) Subordinated Liabilities

There were no liabilities which were subordinated to claims of general creditors at December 31, 2006, or during the year ended December 31, 2006.

(5) Common Stock

The Company is the beneficiary of certain life insurance policies covering the officers. It is the intention of management of the Company that the life insurance proceeds be utilized to acquire the related shares in the event of the death of one of the related stockholders.

The stock purchase agreements do not limit the stock acquisition price to the limits of the related life insurance; however, management of the Company contends such proceeds would be sufficient to acquire the related stock.

To the Board of Directors
Wilson Stephenson, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Wilson Stephenson, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2006, we considered its internal control structure, and its internal control over financial reporting, as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, and not to provide assurance on internal control, or for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons.
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control, and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the related practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute assurance, that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization, and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the preceding paragraph, and would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be significant deficiencies or material weaknesses. A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the Company's internal control. However, we noted no deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that the practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to previously in this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives, in all material respects, indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management and the SEC and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
