ALLSTON TRADING LLC
(An Illinois Limited Liability Company)

NOTES TO STATEMENT OF FINANCIAL CONDITION

DECEMBER 31, 2006

(1) NATURE OF BUSINESS

ALLSTON TRADING LLC (the Company) is a proprietary trading firm which develops and utilizes fully-automated algorithmic trading applications involving equities, equity derivatives, cash treasuries and spot currencies. The company is a registered broker/dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). The Company also maintains various memberships on U.S. and international exchanges.

(2) SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of Estimates

Generally accepted accounting principles require management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Firm Trading/Futures and Securities Transactions

Futures and securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Unrealized gains and losses on open futures contracts and securities positions are reflected in Firm Trading Revenue in the Statement of Income. Also included in Firm Trading Revenue are volume-based incentive fees earned from electronic-communications networks.

Equipment, Furniture, Software and Leasehold Improvements

Equipment, furniture, software and leasehold improvements are recorded at cost and are depreciated over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Financial instruments recorded at fair value on the Company's statement of financial condition include securities owned and securities sold, not yet purchased. Other financial instruments are recorded by the Company at contract amounts and include receivables from and payables to clearing broker. Financial instruments carried at contract amounts, which approximate fair value, either have short-term maturities, are repriced frequently, or bear market interest rates and, accordingly, are carried at amounts approximating fair value.

Comprehensive Income

The Company has not presented a Statement of Comprehensive Income because it does not have any items of "other comprehensive income".

(3) INCOME TAXES

The Company is taxed as a partnership under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and, accordingly, is not subject to federal income taxes. Instead, the Members are liable for federal income taxes on the taxable income of the Company.

(4) BANK LOAN PAYABLE

During the year, the Company entered into a loan agreement with a bank and drew funds made available through such agreement. The terms of the borrowing require that principal and interest be repaid based on a thirty-month amortization schedule. The loan bears interest at 1½% over prime, and is payable in its entirety no later than January 30, 2009. The loan agreement contains certain financial covenants requiring the maintenance of tangible net worth, as defined, of $40,000,000 at December 31, 2006, and excess net capital, as computed, of at least $500,000. The Company has been in compliance with all covenants.

In addition, the Company, under a revolving debt subordination agreement, has a line of credit with a lending institution in the amount of $5,000,000 at an interest rate of 2% over prime. The line of credit was unused at December 31, 2006.

(5) DERIVATIVE FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Derivative contracts are financial instruments whose value is based upon an underlying asset, index, or reference rate or a combination of these factors. The Company enters into derivative transactions, including futures and exchange-traded options. Options held provide the Company with the opportunity to deliver or take delivery of specified financial instruments at a contracted price. Options written (sold) obligate the Company to deliver or take delivery of specified financial instruments at a contracted price in the event the holder exercises the option. These derivative financial instruments may have market risk and/or credit risk in excess of the amounts recorded in the statement of financial condition. The Company also trades futures contracts. Futures contracts are commitments to either purchase or sell a financial instrument or commodity at a future date for a specified price.

Market Risk

Market risk is the potential change in an instrument's value caused by fluctuations in interest rates, equity prices, credit spreads, volatilities, correlations, liquidity, or other risks. Exposure to market risk is influenced by a number of factors, including the relationships between financial instruments and the volatility and liquidity in the markets in which the financial instruments are traded. In many cases, the use of derivative financial instruments serves to modify or offset market risk associated with other transactions and, accordingly, serves to decrease the Company's overall exposure to market risk. The Company utilizes various analytical monitoring techniques to control its exposure to market risk.

Credit Risk

Credit risk arises from the possible inability of counterparties to meet the terms of their contracts. For exchange-traded financial instruments, clearing corporations act as the counterparties of specific transactions and, therefore, bear the risk of delivery to and from counterparties for specific positions.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company utilizes several clearing brokers to clear its trades. In the event these clearing brokers do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. The Company attempts to minimize this risk by monitoring the creditworthiness of its clearing brokers.

Guarantees

In the normal course of trading activities, the Company trades and holds certain fair-valued derivative contracts, which may constitute guarantees under Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Interpretation No. 45, Guarantors Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others, (FIN 45). Such contracts may include written option contracts that are not settled in cash. These written option contracts obligate the Company to deliver or take delivery of specified financial instruments at a contracted price in the event the holder exercises the option. The maximum payouts for these contracts are limited to the notional amounts of each contract. Maximum payouts do not represent the expected future cash requirements as the Company's written options positions are typically liquidated or expire and are not exercised by the holder of the option. In addition, maximum payout amounts, in the case of the exercise of written call options, may be offset by the subsequent sale of the underlying financial instrument if owned by the Company. The fair values of all written option contracts as of December 31, 2006, are included in securities and derivative contracts sold, not yet purchased on the statement of financial condition.

(6) NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company, as a registered broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission, is subject to the net capital requirements of Rule 15c3-1 (the Rule) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. The Company computes its net capital requirement under the alternative net capital method and is required to maintain net capital equal to the greater of 2% of its aggregate deficit balances arising from customers transactions, as defined, or $250,000. At December 31, 2006, the Company had net capital of approximately $21,500,000, which was approximately $21,250,000 in excess of its required net capital.
