INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors and Stockholder of Zenith American Securities Corporation

I have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Zenith American Securities Corporation (the "Company") as of December 31, 2006 and the related statements of operations, cash flows and changes in stockholder's equity for the year then ended, that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statements presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, such financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Zenith American Securities Corporation at December 31, 2006, and the results of its operation and its cash flow for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

My audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements as a whole. The supplementary schedules listed in the accompanying Table of Contents are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the basic financial statements, but are supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These schedules are the responsibility of the Company's management. Such schedules have been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in my audit of the basic financial statements and, in my opinion, are fairly stated in all material respects when considered in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Very truly yours,

Joseph L. Gomeringer
Certified Public Accountant

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2006

A-ORGANIZATION

Zenith American Securities Corporation is a registered broker/dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). The Company's sole activities consisted of sales of shares of open-end investment companies and REITs.

B-SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

- (1) Assets, liabilities, revenue and expenses are recognized under the accrual method of accounting. The Company records income from securities transactions on a trade-date basis.
- (2) The Company has elected under the Internal Revenue Code and New York State tax code to be an "S" corporation. Any income or loss of the Company is reported by the individual stockholder on their personal income tax returns. Consequently, no provision is made by the Company for federal and New York State income taxes. New York City does not have comparable provisions in their tax code. Accrual for this tax has been provided for in the financial statements.
- (3) The presentation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires that management make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statement and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period.

Report on Internal Controls

Zenith American Securities Corporation
New York, New York

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of Zenith American Securities Corporation for the year ended December 31, 2006, I considered its internal control structure, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, I made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by Zenith American Securities Corporation that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. The Company is exempt from 15c3-3 based on [k][1] limited business activities, which are solely mutual funds. I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the accounts for customers or perform custodial functions related to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of the inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they be become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

My consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by American Institute of Certified Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relative low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur, and not be detected within a timely fashion period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I noted no matters involving the internal control structure that I considered to be a material weakness as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006 to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the New York Stock Exchange and other regulatory agencies, which rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.

Very truly yours,

Joseph L. Gomeringer
