Independent Auditors' Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of NexTrend Securities, Inc., as of December 31, 2006, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholder's equity, changes in liabilities subordinated to the claims of general creditors, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement. An audit includes examining on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of NexTrend Securities, Inc., as of December 31, 2006, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedules I and II is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

NexTrend Securities, Inc. can no longer depend upon capital infusions from its corporate parent. The inability to secure such funding raises substantial doubt about the ability of NexTrend Securities, Inc., to continue as a going concern. Management does not currently have a plan to secure or replace the required capital funding. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

NexTrend Securities, Inc.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2006

Note A Organization and nature of business:

NexTrend Securities, Inc. was incorporated in the State of Texas, July 24, 1997. The corporation is a non-public broker-dealer in securities registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under (S.E.C.) Rule 15c3-3(K)(2)(ii) which provides that all the funds and securities belonging to the company's customers would be handled by a correspondent broker-dealer. The corporation's office is located in Dallas, Texas and its operations are currently inactive.

Note B Clearing:

The corporation operates under a "Fully Disclosed Correspondent Agreement" with Penson Financial Services, Inc., dated August 20, 2003. The Company does not carry customer accounts, clears all proprietary and customer's securities transactions on a fully disclosed basis through its clearing broker-dealer and is therefore, exempt under paragraph 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii) from the remaining provisions of SEC Rule 15c3-3. Any customer funds or securities received are promptly forwarded to the clearing broker-dealer.

Note C Contingencies and Commitments/Related Party Transactions

Contingencies - The corporation is subject to various claims and complaints arising in the ordinary course of operations. In the opinion of management, all such claims are without merit, and an unfavorable disposition would not have a material effect on the financial position of the corporation. Further, the corporation anticipates no losses due to environmental issues or hazardous employee working conditions.

Liquidity - The Company's corporate parent is limited in ability to invest the cash needed to continue future operations. The Company has required large sums of investment capital to supplement losses from operations. The parent corporation is no longer in operation.

Note D Significant accounting policies:

Income is recorded when services are completed and expenses are recorded when they are incurred. The corporation is on the accrual method of accounting.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Federal Income Taxes – NexTrend Securities, Inc. is wholly owned by NexTrend Technologies, Inc., and is consolidated with the parent company for federal income tax reporting. The current operating losses are benefiting the parent.

Cash Flows Presentation - For the purposes of the statement of cash flows, the corporation considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased, with maturities of three months or less, to be cash equivalents. The statement of cash flows was prepared using the indirect method.

Note E Capital Stock:

The corporation has 1,000 shares of no par value common stock issued and outstanding on December 31, 2006. The company is wholly owned by, NexTrend Technologies, Inc.

Note F Net Capital Requirements:

The corporation is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (rule 15c-3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1 (and the rule of the "applicable" exchange also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1). At December 31, 2006, the corporation had net capital of $6,858, which was $1,858 in excess of its required net capital of $5,000.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm on Internal Control
Required by SEC Rule 17a-5 for a Broker-Dealer Claiming
An Exemption from SEC Rule 15c3-3

The Board of Directors

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of NexTrend Securities, Inc., for the year ended December 31, 2006 we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11), and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any way for the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control, and the practices and procedures, are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

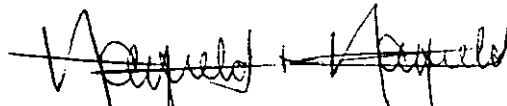

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies which rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be, and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
