Independent Auditors' Report

Board of Trustees
The Tavenner Company
Springfield, Ohio

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of The Tavenner Company (the Company) as of December 31, 2006 and 2005 and the related statements of income, changes in stockholder's equity and cash flows for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2006 and 2005 and the results of its operations and cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained on pages 8 – 10 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

THE TAVENNER COMPANY
Notes to the Financial Statements
December 31, 2006 and 2005

---

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

The following accounting principles and practices of the Company are set forth to facilitate the understanding of data presented in the financial statements:

Description of business

The Tavenner Company is an Ohio Corporation operating as a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and is a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). The Company is located in Springfield, Ohio.

Method of accounting

The Company prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis method of accounting.

Cash

For the purpose of financial statement reporting, the Company considers amounts on hand and in demand deposits and certificates of deposit with original maturities of three months or less to be cash.

Commission Receivable

Commissions receivable are stated at net realizable value due from correspondent brokers. No allowance for uncollectible accounts was recorded as management deems all amounts to be collectible.

Use of estimates

Financial statements prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of Ohio requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Property, equipment and depreciation

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is provided on the double declining balance method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets.

2. Operations:

The Company is a registered broker/dealer engaged primarily in selling mutual funds and variable life products. Customers' securities transactions are recorded on a settlement date basis and the related commission revenues and expenses are accrued on a trade date basis.

All securities transactions are carried on a fully disclosed basis.

The Company is exempt from special reserve requirements for brokers and dealers under rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This exemption is claimed under Section (k)(2)(ii).

3. Federal Income Taxes:

The Company has elected to be taxed under the provisions of Subchapter S of the Internal Revenue Code. Under those provisions, the Company does not pay federal corporate income taxes. Rather, the shareholder is liable for the individual federal income taxes on his respective share of the Company's taxable income.

4. Related Party Transactions:

The Company's sole stockholder also controls an insurance company. The Company leases on a month-to-month basis office space, equipment and obtains administrative and support services under an operating agreement between the Company and the commonly owned insurance company. The amounts expensed for these services include $15,000 each for 2006 and 2005 for office and equipment rent and $17,043 and $30,540 for 2006 and 2005, respectively, for administrative and support services.

5. Subordinated Liabilities:

The Company has not incurred any liabilities subordinated to general creditors as of December 31, 2006 and 2005. Therefore, no related reporting to regulatory agencies is required.

6. Net Capital Requirements:

The Company is subject to the Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This rule, which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital (both as defined) shall not exceed 15 to 1. The rule of the "applicable" exchange also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn, or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1. At December 31, 2006 and 2005 the Company had net capital of $14,853 and $17,572, which was $12,572 and $7,991 in excess of its required net capital of $5,000. The Company's aggregate indebtedness to net capital ratio was 2.16 to 1.0 and 0.88 to 1.0 for 2006 and 2005 respectively.

7. Contingent Liabilities:

The Company is party to a legal proceeding generally incidental to its business. Although the ultimate disposition of the proceeding is not determinable, management and its legal counsel does not believe that adverse determinations in any or all such proceedings will not have a material effect on the financial condition of the Company.

Independent Auditors' Report on Internal
Controls Required by SEC Rule 17a-5 for a
Broker-Dealer Claiming an Exemption From SEC Rule 15c3-3

Board of Directors
The Tavenner Company

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of The Tavenner Company (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2006, we considered its internal controls, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-3,
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System,
3. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customer as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters related to internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the NASD, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
