Independent Auditors' Report

Roderick Scribner
Gramercy Securities, Inc.
3949 Old Post Road
Charlestown, RI 02813

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of Gramercy Securities, Inc. as of March 31, 2007 and the related statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Gramercy Securities, Inc. at March 31, 2007 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Gramercy Securities, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

1. Business Activity

The Company was organized as of October 29, 1979 in the State of New York as a registered broker dealer in securities and currently has branch offices in San Juan Capistrano, California and Laguna Niguel, California and an office of supervisory jurisdiction in Amarillo, Texas. The Company limits its operations as described in SEC Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii).

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Handling Customers' Funds

Customers' checks are made payable directly to the sponsors, escrow agents or other companies which clear the transactions ordered by the customer. The checks are promptly submitted to these firms, i.e., not held beyond overnight, and do not enter the accounts of the Company.

Revenue Recognition

Commission income from securities transactions is recorded on a trade date basis, or when earned.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Amounts Receivable

Management does not record an allowance for doubtful collections because of favorable historical performance and the nature of the receivable obligations.

Depreciation

Depreciation of property and equipment is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of 5 years. For federal income tax purposes, depreciation is computed using accelerated methods.

See independent auditors' report.

Gramercy Securities, Inc.

	3,579
Less accumulated depreciation	1,642
	$1,937

4. Corporate Income Taxes

The components of income tax expense at fiscal year ended March 31, 2007 are as follows:

Federal income taxes	$3,225
State income taxes	3,475
	6,700

5. Net Capital and Reserve Requirements

As a registered broker and dealer in securities, the Company is subject to the Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires that the Company maintain at minimum a net capital of $19,812 and a ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital not exceeding 15 to 1.

At March 31, 2007, the Company had a net capital of $48,249, which was $28,437 in excess of its required net capital of $19,812. At March 31, 2007, the Company's aggregate indebtedness to net capital ratio was 6.16 to 1.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The accompanying computation of net capital, computation of basic net capital requirement and computation of aggregate indebtedness (additional information) of Gramercy Securities, Inc. as of March 31, 2007 included in the accompanying prescribed form is presented for purposes of complying with the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and are not intended to be a complete presentation of the Company member's capital and changes in member's capital and is not a required part of the basic financial statements.

Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, presents fairly, in all material respects, the computation of net capital, computation of basic net capital requirements, and computation of aggregate indebtedness, in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole in accordance with the requirements of the SEC, which differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, this additional information in prescribed form is not designed for those who are not informed about such differences.

Roderick Scribner
Gramercy Securities, Inc.

Charlestown, RI 02813

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Gramercy Securities, Inc. for the year ended March 31, 2007, we considered its internal control structure, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including the tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors on a financial statement being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at March 31, 2007 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the SEC, the NASD, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties for any other purpose.
