AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

Board of Directors
Robbins Securities, Inc.
Chicago, Illinois

We have audited the statements on pages 3-10 in the Financial and Operational Combined Uniform Single Report Part IIA of Robbins Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2006 and for the year then ended, and have issued our report thereon dated February 12, 2007.

As part of our audit, we made a study evaluation of the internal control structure to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the structure as required by generally accepted auditing standards. Under these standards, the purpose of such evaluations are to establish a basis for reliance thereon in determining the nature, timing and extent of other auditing procedures necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements and to assist the auditor in planning and performing the audit of the financial statements.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instructions, mistakes of judgment, carelessness or other personal factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends upon segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion.

Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by management with respect either to the execution and recording of transactions or with respect to the estimates and judgments required in the preparation of financial statements. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions and that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our audit of the financial statements made in accordance with U.S. generally accepted auditing standards, including the study and evaluation of the corporation's internal control structure that was made for the purpose set forth in the first paragraph of this report, would not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system because it was based on selective tests of accounting records and related data. During our review of the control structure we did not become aware of any material weaknesses.

The foregoing conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of audit tests to be applied in our audit of the financial statements, and this report of such conditions does not modify our report dated February 12, 2007 on such financial statements.
