Gardner Financial Services, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of Gardner Financial Services, Inc. (an S corporation) as of December 31, 2006 and 2005, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Gardner Financial Services, Inc. at December 31, 2006 and 2005, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Gardner Financial Services, Inc.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

DECEMBER 31, 2006 AND 2005

1. Nature of the Company

Gardner Financial Services, Inc. (the Company) is a registered securities broker/dealer that maintains its headquarters and trading office in the Minneapolis suburb of Minnetonka, Minnesota. The Company sells primarily mutual funds and other securities and insurance products through a network of independent registered representatives and insurance agents who maintain their own offices.

The Company was incorporated May 11, 1987, under the laws of the State of Minnesota. As a securities broker/dealer, the Company is subject to the regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). In addition, the Company is subject to the various securities and insurance regulations of states in which it does business. The Company is also required to supervise its registered representatives and insurance agents. The Company is also required to supervise those registered representatives who are Registered Investment Advisors or associate advisors.

RBC Dain Correspondent Services, a division of RBC Dain Rauscher, Inc., maintains all stock and bond customer accounts for the Company's securities customers, and a portion of the mutual fund accounts. Other customer mutual fund partnership and annuity accounts are maintained by the individual sponsoring companies.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Accounting Method – The Company's financial statements are prepared using the accrual method of accounting. Receivables and payables from securities transactions are recorded on a settlement day basis, based on documentation received from the clearing entity and processed by the firm.

Concentration of Credit Risk – Customers' securities transactions may result in credit risk if customers are unable to fulfill their contracted trade settlement obligations. Should customers be unable to satisfy their obligations, the Company may be required to purchase or sell financial instruments at prevailing market prices in order to fulfill the customers' settlement obligations. The Company bears this risk of loss associated with transactions executed but not settled.

Accounting Estimates – Management uses estimates and assumptions in preparing its financial statements. Those estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and the reported revenues and expenses. Actual financial results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Equivalents and Related Risk – The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of less than three months to be cash equivalents. Cash balances on deposit may exceed insured limits.

Commissions Receivable – Amounts are based on negotiated rates for various types of investment activities. Because of this arrangement, no allowance for doubtful accounts is necessary.

Equipment – The Company owns office equipment with an original cost of approximately $40,000. This equipment is fully depreciated for financial statement purposes and there is no current depreciation expense. Replacement equipment is generally expensed in the year of purchase.

Income Tax – The Company is organized as an S corporation, and therefore the Company's taxable income or loss is reported on the individual income tax returns of the Company's stockholders. The Company does not pay any income tax.

SEC RULE 17a-5 FOR A BROKER-DEALER
CLAIMING AN EXEMPTION FROM SEC RULE 15c3-3

Gardner Financial Services, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Gardner Financial Services, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2006, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Page Two

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the SEC, the National Association of Security Dealers, Inc. and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Respectfully submitted,
