This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. December 31, 2006

Note 1 Nature of Operations and Significant Accounting Policies

Nature of Operations—TradeLink L.L.C. (the "Company") is a registered securities broker-dealer and futures commission merchant. The Company operates as a market-maker and trader on various securities and commodities exchanges around the world. The Company is wholly owned by TradeLink Holdings, LLC.

Use of Estimates—The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash Equivalents—Cash equivalents are highly liquid investments, with original maturities of less than three months, that are not held for sale in the ordinary course of business.

Investment in Funds and Commodity Pools—The investment in funds and commodity pools is recorded at fair value based on the Company's ownership portion of these investments.

Securities and Derivative Financial Instruments—Transactions in securities and derivative financial instruments, and commission income and related expenses, are recorded on trade date. Securities owned and sold, not yet purchased, and open futures and options on futures contracts are carried at market value.

Amounts receivable and payable for securities transactions that have not reached their contractual settlement date are recorded net on the statement of financial condition.

Securities Purchased Under Agreements to Resell—The Company enters into transactions with broker-dealers and other financial institutions that involve purchases of securities under agreements to resell (resale agreements). These transactions are carried at their contracted resale amounts as specified in the agreements; such amounts include accrued interest. The Company takes possession of collateral under resale agreements with a market value equal to or in excess of the principal amount loaned under resale agreements. At December 31, 2006, the market value of collateral obtained under these agreements was $16,821,637.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments—Substantially all of the Company's assets and liabilities are considered financial instruments and, except for exchange memberships, are reflected at market or fair value, or at carrying amounts that approximate fair value because of the short maturity of the instruments.

Income Taxes—The Company is treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. Consequently, the Company does not pay federal income taxes on its earnings; the member is taxed on the Company's earnings.

Foreign Exchange Transactions—Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at year-end rates of exchange.

Note 4 Related-Party Transactions

The Company provides clearing services to persons, funds and commodity pools that are related by common ownership or in which the Company has an investment. Payable to noncustomers on the statement of financial condition represents amounts payable to these related parties. Accounts carried by the Company for these parties are considered to be proprietary accounts under the rules of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission and are not included in the Company's segregation or reserve requirement computations.

The following table represents the effect of related-party transactions on the financial statement as of December 31, 2006:

Nature of Transaction	Financial Statement Description	Amount

Certain exchange memberships owned by officers of the Company and by an affiliated entity are registered for and assigned to the Company in order to provide exchange membership and other privileges. The Company pays membership rent expense to the officers of the Company and the affiliated entity.

The Company is reimbursed by entities affiliated by common ownership for the use of certain trading systems, and for operating expenses incurred and paid on behalf of these entities.

Note 5 Commitments and Contingencies

The Company leases office space under noncancelable agreements that expire at various dates through December 11, 2011. The Company has an option to extend its primary office space lease at expiration. The Parent also leases office space under a noncancelable office space lease agreement that expires in 2018. It is expected that a substantial portion of this lease expense will be allocated to the Company. At December 31, 2006, the minimum annual rental commitments under the Company's leases and the Parent's obligation under the office space lease are as follows:

	Company	Parent

Note 5 Commitments and Contingencies, Continued

The Company has entered into deferred compensation arrangements with certain proprietary traders under which the traders will receive a portion of their compensation in January 2008, provided, among other terms, they remain a registered trader of the Company until that time. The maximum amount that would be recognized and due to these proprietary traders from 2006 activities is $1,222,669.

In the normal course of business, the Company is subject to litigation and arbitration matters. The Company vigorously defends against these claims and in the opinion of management, the resolution of these matters will not result in any material adverse effect upon the Company's financial position as represented in the accompanying statement of financial condition.

The Company also guarantees to certain clearing houses the performance of other members of these institutions and, under certain circumstances, would be subject to assessment.

Note 6 Employee Benefit Plan

The Company maintains a 401(k) profit-sharing plan covering all eligible employees, as defined by the plan. Under the terms of the plan, employer contributions are discretionary.

Note 7 Indemnifications

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties that provide indemnifications under certain circumstances. The Company's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. The Company expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Note 8 Financial Instruments

The Company, in connection with its proprietary market-making, and trading activities, enters into transactions in a variety of derivative financial instruments in order to reduce its exposure to market risk. A derivative is a future, forward, swap or option contract, or other financial instruments with similar characteristics such as caps, floors and collars. Generally, these derivative financial instruments represent future commitments to exchange interest payment streams or currencies or to purchase or sell other financial instruments at specific terms at specified future dates. Option contracts provide the holder with the right, but not the obligation, to purchase or sell a financial instrument at a specific price before or on an established date. Options written obligate the Company to deliver or take delivery of specified financial instruments at a contracted price in the event the option is exercised by the Holder. These derivative financial instruments may have market risk and/or credit risk in excess of those amounts recorded in the statement of financial condition.

Firm Trading—The Company's firm trading activities consist primarily of exchange traded futures and options. Arbitrage and market-making activities use interproduct and intermarket strategies. Directional trading activities hold small positions for a period of time.

TradeLink L.L.C.

Notes to the Statement of Financial Condition

Market Risk—Derivative financial instruments involve varying degrees of off-balance-sheet market risk whereby changes in the market values of the underlying financial instruments or commodities may result in changes in the value of the derivative financial instruments in excess of the amounts reflected in the statement of financial condition. Further, the Company has securities sold, not yet purchased, and will, therefore, be obligated to acquire those securities in the future at prevailing market prices that may exceed the amount recorded in the statement of financial condition. The Company's exposure to market risk is influenced by a number of factors, including the relationships between derivative financial instruments and the Company's proprietary securities and commodities positions, and the volatility and liquidity in the markets in which the financial instruments are traded. In many cases, the use of derivative financial instruments serves to modify or offset market risk associated with other transactions and, accordingly, serves to decrease the Company's overall exposure to market risk. The Company attempts to manage its exposure to market risk arising from the use of these derivative financial instruments through various analytical monitoring techniques.

Credit Risk—The Company also enters into various transactions with broker-dealers, banks and other financial institutions. Credit risk arises from the potential inability of counterparties to perform in accordance with the terms of the contract. This risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparties to these transactions. Exchange traded financial instruments, such as futures and options, generally do not give rise to significant counterparty exposure due to the cash settlement procedures for daily market movements or the margin requirements of the individual exchanges. It is the Company's policy to monitor the creditworthiness of each party with which it conducts business.

Note 9 Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the SEC's Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1). The Company has elected to use the alternative method permitted by the rule, which requires that the Company maintain minimum "net capital" equal to the greater of $250,000 or 2 percent of "aggregate debit items," as these terms are defined. The Company is also subject to the Commodity Futures Trading Commission Net Capital Requirements (Regulation 1.17) and the National Futures Association (Rule 7001), and is required to maintain "net capital" equal to the greater of $500,000, or the sum of 8 percent of customer and 4 percent of noncustomer risk "maintenance margin" requirements on all positions, as these terms are defined. Net capital, aggregate debit items, and maintenance margin levels change daily, but at December 31, 2006, under the most stringent of these rules, the Company had net capital and net capital requirements of $12,617,281 and $500,000, respectively. The net capital rules may effectively restrict the withdrawal of member's equity.
