REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL STRUCTURE
BASED SOLELY ON THE UNDERSTANDING OBTAINED AND CONTROL ASSESSMENT MADE AS PART OF AN AUDIT OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS.

Pillar Financial Services, Inc.
1600 S. Main Street, suite 335
Walnut Creek, CA 94596

I have audited the financial statements of Pillar Financial Services, Inc., for the year ended December 31, 2006, and have issued my report thereon dated February 27, 2007.

I conducted the audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of Pillar Financial Services, Inc., I considered its internal control structure in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance in the internal control structure.

The management of Pillar Financial Services, Inc. is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures. The objectives of an internal control structure are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the transactions are recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the structure to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of the design and operation of policies and procedures may deteriorate.

For the purpose of this report, I have the following recommendation and comment. Management has and should continue to follow through on basic internal control procedures and review the bookkeepers work to help ensure proper classification.

Management has outsourced the routine bill paying and this results in strong controls. Management should coordinate classification and documentation of expenses more closely with the bookkeeping service so as to maintain proper classification of transactions. Management should follow through on ensuring that that the corporate minutes and state papers are maintained. The filing of the financial statements and all other procedures were done properly. Compliance with the NASD rules and guidelines (the main governing entity) appears to be in order. While the basis business structure and practices remained the same, several new account categories were used which more closely identified the expenses for management information. It has only a minor effect on the financial statement presentation and a negligible effect on the audit report. The overall internal control structure is adequate and provides a basis to render an opinion on the financial statement taken as a whole.

My consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be reportable conditions and accordingly, also considered to be material weaknesses as defined above. However, I believe none of the reportable conditions described above is a material weakness.

The report is intended for the information of the management of Pillar Financial Services, Inc.
