NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
For the year ended December 31, 2006

BWK Trinity Capital Securities, LLC (the "Company") is a registered broker-dealer engaged primarily in performing investment advisory and investment banking services to companies located in the United States of America. It is a single member limited liability company, wholly owned by Trinity Capital, LLC.

NOTE 1: SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue recognition:

Financial advisory fees are recognized during the period in which services are rendered. Investment banking fees are contingent on, and are recognized upon, the successful completion of a project. Revenue earned representing equity interests in privately owned entities are recorded upon receipt of cash from the sale of the equity interests, since no ready market exists. Revenues from customer agreements not currently earned are reported as deferred revenue. Investment banking and financial advisory fees are generated from services related to a limited number of transactions. Due to the nature of the Company's business, the size of any one transaction may be significant to the Company's operations for the period.

Investment banking receivables:

Investment banking receivables are reported at the customers' outstanding balances less any allowance for doubtful accounts. Interest is not accrued on overdue receivables.

Allowance for doubtful accounts

Management reviews the allowance for doubtful accounts on a quarterly basis based on information collected from customers, the length of time receivables are past due, and historical experience. The Company provides specific reserves when losses are probable. The Company charges investment banking receivable losses against the allowance when management believes the account is uncollectible. Subsequent recoveries, if any, are credited to the allowance.

Investment in equity securities:

Investment in equity securities consists of marketable equity securities with a trading restriction, carried at market value. Changes in the valuation of these securities are recorded as unrealized gains or losses. The first-in, first-out method is used by the Company to determine the cost of any securities sold.

Income taxes:

The Company is treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. Consequently, all tax effects of the Company's income or loss are the responsibility of its member.

Customer accounts:

The Company does not hold funds, securities or carry accounts for customers. In the opinion of management, the Company has complied with the exemptive provisions relating to the computation for determination of reserve requirements and information relating to the possession or control requirements under rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(i) of the Securities and Exchange Commission throughout the year ended December 31, 2006.

NOTE 2: CONCENTRATION

During the year ended December 31, 2006, the Company was provided services by its member and some costs were incurred by the Company's member on its behalf. In accordance with the expense sharing agreement between the Company and its member, the Company is not charged for services provided by the member, and is released from any liability relating to costs incurred by the member on behalf of the Company.

NOTE 4: NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1 or a minimum of $5,000. REPORT OF INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS ON INTERNAL CONTROL REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5

To the Member
BWK Trinity Capital Securities LLC

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of BWK Trinity Capital Securities LLC (the "Company") as of and for the year ended December 31, 2006, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3.

Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
