Independent Auditors' Report

To the Member
CNS Securities, LLC
Richardson, Texas

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of CNS Securities, LLC as of December 31, 2006, and the related statements of operations, member's equity and cash flows for the year then ended. You are filing these statements pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of CNS Securities, LLC at December 31, 2006, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in supplemental schedules is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statements

1 ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF BUSINESS

CNS Securities, LLC ("CNS" or "the Company") was formed as a Texas limited liability company in June 2003. Mr. Chris Sifuentes of Richardson, Texas is the sole member. In June 2004, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD") approved the Company's application to provide broker-dealer services for the sale of corporate equity and debt securities, U.S. government and municipal securities, mutual funds and variable life insurance products. Active customer trading commenced in the fourth quarter of 2004, after Mr. Sifuentes completed the process necessary to transfer his client base from a previous broker-dealer to CNS.

The Company, which does not hold customer funds or safekeep customer securities, clears all transactions on a fully disclosed basis through an independent clearing firm.

2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Cash and Cash Equivalents – The Company considers all highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Estimates and Assumptions – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions. Such estimates and assumptions affect reported balances of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and reported totals of revenues and expenses. Because the use of estimates is inherent in the financial reporting process, actual results may differ from estimates and such differences may be significant.

Organization Costs – Organization costs are amortized by the straight-line method over a period of five years.

Income Taxes – For Federal income tax purposes, CNS, a limited liability company, has elected to be taxed as a corporation. Current provisions or benefits for income taxes are recorded based on estimates of actual income taxes or refunds thereof, as reported in federal and state tax returns.

The Company accounts for deferred income taxes using the asset and liability method. Under this method, deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income during the period that includes the enactment date. Additionally, deferred tax assets may be reduced by a valuation allowance to reflect tax benefits that may not be realized.

3 REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS

The Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital of $5,000 pursuant to Securities and Exchange Commission Rule 15c3-1(a)(2)(vi).

Since CNS does not hold customer funds or securities and uses a separate firm to clear transactions, it meets the exemptive provisions of Paragraph (k)(2)(ii) and, accordingly, is not required to maintain customer reserves.

CNS Securities, LLC
Year Ended December 31, 2006
Notes to Financial Statements

4 RESTRICTED FUNDS

Restricted funds of $14,658 represent amounts deposited by the Company with its independent clearing firm as security for any potential shortages or losses that could arise with the clearing of future customer transactions.

5 RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company's sole member, Mr. Chris Sifuentes, is the lessee of the office space occupied by CNS and CNS Insurance Services, LLC ("CNSI"), an affiliated company also owned by Mr. Sifuentes. Office rent and most operating expenses are allocated to CNS and CNSI at the member's discretion. In addition, significant income from the sale of variable life insurance or annuity products is allocated between the two entities at the discretion of Mr. Sifuentes. The existence of common control among CNS and CNSI could cause operating results or financial position to differ from those which might be obtained if these entities were completely autonomous.

Commission expenses of $68,698 were paid to Mr. Sifuentes in 2006. He also received compensation in the form of a director's fee in the amount of $4,000.

The owner signed a three year lease agreement for office space in Richardson, Texas. The lease began on February 1, 2006 and terminates January 31, 2009. CNS Securities subleases offices from the member, but has no formal commitment. In 2006 the Company paid $1,000 per month, or $12,000 total, in office rent to Mr. Sifuentes.

6 INCOME TAXES

At December 31, 2005, the Company had a net operating loss carry-forward of about $4,500 for both Federal income tax and financial reporting purposes. Since inception, CNS has experienced no significant differences between financial and income tax accounting. Hence, no temporary differences have arisen to create a deferred tax liability. Actual corporate income tax for the year ended December 31, 2006 was not significant.

Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Control
Required by SEC Rule 17a-5 for a Broker-Dealer
Claiming an Exemption from SEC Rule 15c3-3

To the Member
CNS Securities, LLC
Richardson, Texas

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of CNS Securities, LLC ("the Company") for the year ended December 31, 2006, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregated debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons
2. Recording of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate due to changes in conditions; or the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2006 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the member, management, the SEC and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers. This report is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
