The financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Ponder Securities, Inc. as of October 31, 2007, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles accepted in the United States of America.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year Ended October 31, 2007

Note 1 - Industry Operations

Ponder Securities, Inc. (the Company), is a registered securities broker-dealer company that provides investment banking and financial advisory services to not-for-profit hospitals throughout the United States of America. These services are provided in conjunction with the consulting services that are provided by Ponder & Co. (the Parent Company), an Illinois subchapter S corporation, the Company's sole stockholder.

Note 2 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Cash

The Company maintains its cash in bank accounts, which at times may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts. The Company believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

Income Taxes

The Company files a consolidated income tax return with its Parent Company.

Management Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue Recognition

For transactions related to the Company's customer bond offerings, revenue is recognized once a bond purchase agreement has either been signed or the sale of the bonds has been completed. For interest swap or derivative financing transactions, revenue is recognized once the Company's customers and financial institutions execute the transaction.

Note 3 - Related Party Transactions

By agreement, the Company pays a fee to its parent that approximates revenue received. The Parent Company pays all compensation, which is transactionally based. Other expenses of the Company are negligible and are paid by the Parent Company.

Ponder Securities, Inc.

Year Ended October 31, 2007

Note 4 - Uniform Net Capital Rule

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1). Per this rule, the Company, as a broker-dealer, is required to maintain "net capital" of 6-2/3 percent of "aggregate indebtedness" or $5,000, whichever is greater, as these terms are defined.

Net capital and net capital requirements change from day to day but, as of October 31, 2007, the Company had net capital and net capital requirements of approximately $15,000 and $5,000, respectively. The net capital rule may effectively restrict the payment of dividends.

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control

Board of Directors of Ponder Securities, Inc.
Chicago, Illinois

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Ponder Securities, Inc. (the Company) for the year ended October 31, 2007, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the reserve required by Rule 15c3-3(e). Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment of securities under Section 8(b) of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in the internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the Company's internal control and its operation, including controls for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

Our review indicated that Ponder Securities, Inc., although not exempt from Rule 15c3-3, had no reporting requirements because it did not transact a business in securities directly with or for other members of a national securities exchange and did not carry margin accounts, credit balances or securities for any person defined as a "customer" pursuant to Rule 17a-5(c)(4) and that, as of October 31, 2007, no facts came to our attention to indicate such conditions were not complied with during the period.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulation, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate as of October 31, 2007, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the NASD and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
