RE Omission of Stockholder Proposal Submitted by Christina A. McCarthy

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Wells Fargo & Company, a Delaware corporation ("Wells Fargo" or the "Company"), hereby notifies the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") of its intent to omit a stockholder proposal (the "Proposal") and supporting statement submitted by Christina A. McCarthy (the "Proponent") from its proxy statement and form of proxy (the "Proxy Materials") for Wells Fargo's 2007 Annual Meeting of Stockholders (the "2007 Annual Meeting") pursuant to Rule 14a-8 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). A copy of the Proposal is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Wells Fargo hereby requests confirmation that the staff of the Division of Corporation Finance (the "Staff") will not recommend to the Commission that enforcement action be taken if Wells Fargo excludes the Proposal, or a substantial portion thereof, from its Proxy Materials for its 2007 Annual Meeting for the reasons set forth herein.

General

The 2007 Annual Meeting is scheduled to be held on or about April 24, 2007. Wells Fargo intends to file its definitive Proxy Materials with the Commission on or about March 16, 2007 and to commence mailing those materials to its stockholders on or about such date.

Pursuant to Rule 14a-8(j) under the Exchange Act, we enclose six copies of this letter and the Proponent's letter dated November 6, 2006 that sets forth the Proposal and its supporting statement. A copy of this letter is also being sent to the Proponent as notice of Wells Fargo's intent to omit the Proposal, or a substantial portion thereof, from its Proxy Materials for the 2007 Annual Meeting.

Summary of the Proposal

The Proposal essentially requests that "management list and post on the company website all the charitable organizations that are recipients of company donations," but as discussed in this request letter, the introductory "Whereas" clauses target Wells Fargo's support of specific types of organizations and causes.

Reasons for Exclusion of the Proposal

Wells Fargo believes that the Proposal and its supporting statement, or a substantial portion thereof, may be excluded from its Proxy Materials for the 2007 Annual Meeting on the following substantive bases:

1. The Proposal may be excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) because it pertains to Wells Fargo's ordinary business operations.
2. Substantial portions of the Proposal may be excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(3) because they contain impugning and other materially false and misleading statements in violation Rule 14a-9.

Analysis

1. The Proposal May Be Excluded Under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) because the Proposal Relates to the Company's Ordinary Business Operations.

Rule 14a-8(i)(7) permits a company to exclude a proposal that "deals with a matter relating to the company's ordinary business operations." The purpose of the exclusion is to reserve to management and the board of directors the day-to-day operation of the company's business, and to avoid involving the stockholders in the details of the company's routine operations by way of the proxy process. Exchange Act Release 34-12999 (November 22, 1976).

In its 1998 release amending the shareholder proposal rule, the Commission explained that one rationale for the "ordinary business" exclusion is to permit companies to exclude proposals on matters that are "so fundamental to management's ability to run a company on a day-to-day basis that they could not, as a practical matter, be subject to direct shareholder oversight." Exchange Act Release No. 34-40018 (May 21, 1998). As a second rationale for the "ordinary business" exclusion, the Commission pointed to "the degree to which the proposal seeks to 'micro-manage' the company by probing too deeply into matters of a complex nature upon which shareholders, as a group, would not be in a position to make an informed judgment." Id. The Commission noted that the second rationale may be implicated "where the proposal involves intricate detail, or seeks to impose specific time-frames or methods for implementing complex policies. Id. Wells Fargo believes that local decisions concerning the recipients of the Company's charitable contributions are the type of intricate decisions that fall squarely within the scope of the Company's ordinary business operations under the Commission's second rationale.

The Proponent's resolution and supporting statement appear to be facially neutral, however, when read with the Proponent's introductory statements in the preamble to the Proposal, we believe it is clear that the Proponent's true objective is to conduct a stockholder referendum (i) directing Wells Fargo to support the Boy Scouts of America and (ii) opposing Wells Fargo's support of charitable organizations that the Proponent appears to disfavor, namely, charitable organizations or groups that:

- "focus on shared sexual interests, especially the sexual interests of homosexuals, bisexuals, and those persons who feel the sexual identity with which they were born does not comport with their preferred 'gender expression' or 'gender identity'";
- are "concerned with AIDS education"; and
- perform abortions, including Planned Parenthood.

In the preamble to the Proposal the Proponent specifically targets two organizations, namely, the Boy Scouts of America and Planned Parenthood. Additionally, the vast majority of the Proposal is comprised of a number of statements and assertions, including references to a variety of survey statistics and reports, concerning sexual practices, sexual orientation, religion, sexually transmitted diseases, pedophilia and abortion. Thus, Wells Fargo believes that the Proposal simply represents the Proponent's campaign against homosexuality and abortion while masquerading as a facially neutral proposal on corporate transparency.

Given the Proponent's apparent true aim, Wells Fargo believes that the Proposal falls within the scope of a long line of no-action letters issued by the Staff that concur with the exclusion of proposals that seek to prohibit a company from making, or require a company to make, contributions to specific types of organizations. See, e.g., The Boeing Co. (avail. Jan. 21, 2005) (proposal directing the company's "gift matching program" to include the Boy Scouts of America as an "eligible organization"); Wachovia Corp. (avail. Jan. 25, 2005) (proposal recommending that the board disallow the payment of corporate funds directed at Planned Parenthood and any other organizations involved in providing abortion services); Bank of America Corp. (avail. Jan. 24, 2003) (facially neutral proposal to refrain from making charitable contributions to Planned Parenthood and organizations that support abortion); American Home Products Corp. (avail. Mar. 4, 2002) (facially neutral proposal that the company form a committee to study the impact of charitable contributions on the business of the company); Schering-Plough Corp. (avail. Mar. 4, 2002) (facially neutral proposal that the company form a committee to study the impact of charitable contributions on the business of the company); and The Walt Disney Co. (avail. November 10, 1997) (facially neutral proposal that the company refrain from making any charitable contributions).

Even where a proponent's resolution itself does not target specific charities or types of charities, the Staff allows exclusion of a proposal if the supporting statement makes clear that the proposal in fact would serve as a shareholder referendum on donations to a particular charity or type of charity. See, e.g., Bank of America Corp. (avail. Jan. 24, 2003) (supporting statement opposed abortion); American Home Products Corp. (avail. Mar. 4, 2002) (supporting statement opposed abortion); and Schering-Plough Corp. (avail. Mar. 4, 2002) (supporting statement opposed abortion). The proposal in American Home Products, using the same tactic employed by the Proponent, was an attempt to disguise a proposal aimed at a specific type of charitable contribution with a facially neutral proposal. Finding this proposal to be related to "charitable contributions directed to specific types of organizations," the Staff concurred that it could be omitted from the company's proxy materials in reliance on Rule 14a-8(i)(7). In reaching this decision, the Staff went beyond the face of the proposal in order to recognize the proponent's and the proposal's true objective.

In Schering-Plough, a facially neutral proposal requested that the company "form a committee to study the impact [that] charitable contributions have on the business of the company and its share value." The company argued that the proposal, along with its supporting statement, was "clearly designed to involve the company in the issue of abortion." The Staff concurred that the proposal could be omitted from the company's proxy materials in reliance on Rule 14a-8(i)(7) because the proposal related to the company's ordinary business operations (i.e., charitable contributions directed to specific types of organizations).

In Walt Disney, a facially neutral proposal requested that the company "refrain from making any charitable contributions." However, when read in combination with the proposal's supporting statement, it was clear that the proposal was directed at contributions to organizations advocating homosexual causes. Looking behind the face of the proposal in order to recognize the proponent's and the proposal's true objective, as was similarly done in Bank of America, American Home Products and Schering-Plough, the Staff concurred that the proposal could be omitted from the company's proxy materials in reliance on Rule 14a-8(c)(7) (the predecessor to Rule 14a-8(i)(7)) because the proposal related to the company's ordinary business operations (i.e., charitable contributions directed to specific types of organizations).

We are also aware that in certain circumstances the Staff has been unable to concur with the exclusion under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) of facially neutral shareholder proposals relating to charitable donations in which the companies argued that such proposals were actually directed to specific types of organizations. See PepsiCo, Inc. (avail. Mar. 3, 2006) (Staff unable to concur with the exclusion under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) of a proposal requiring that the company provide a report disclosing the company's charitable contributions and related information); Bank of America Corp. (avail. Mar. 8, 2004) (Staff unable to concur with the exclusion under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) of a proposal requesting that the company refrain from making direct charitable contributions); and Loews Corp. (avail. Jan. 19, 2004) (Staff unable to concur with the exclusion under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) of a proposal mandating that the company cease making charitable contributions). However, we believe that the instant Proposal is clearly distinguishable from each of the proposals that were the subject of the foregoing Staff decisions in that the supporting statements to those proposals arguably contained only minimal or isolated references to a specific charitable organization or cause. By contrast, the preamble to instant Proposal is predominantly comprised of statements and assertions targeting specific types of organizations and causes that have the collective effect of overshadowing the main thrust of the Proponent's underlying resolution.

Wells Fargo values the diversity of the communities in which we live and work and our corporate giving benefits those same diverse communities. For example, in 2005 Wells Fargo businesses and the Wells Fargo Foundation (a separate organization operated as a private foundation and supported by Wells Fargo contributions) gave $95 million to roughly 15,000 non-profit and community organizations, with most grants and contributions directed to local organizations that address specific needs of the communities in which we do business. As a result, Wells Fargo's community giving programs work in close partnership with local stakeholders to identify community needs and to formulate appropriate, locally relevant responses. Therefore, we believe that whether Wells Fargo businesses decide to commence or cease contributions to a particular organization falls squarely within the scope of our day-to-day business operations under Rule 14a-8(i)(7).

Furthermore, we fully anticipate that like the Proponent most, if not all, of Wells Fargo's stockholders (undoubtedly a diverse group of stockholders who are bound to possess a wide range of personal philanthropic goals and objectives) would favor charities they consider equally deserving of Wells Fargo's financial support. However, permitting stockholders to effectively transform an otherwise facially neutral stockholder proposal into a referendum targeting Wells Fargo's support (or lack thereof) to specific charitable groups or causes could potentially result in multiple stockholder proposals each year. Stockholders as a group are simply not well-positioned to "micro-manage," through the proxy process, the local grant-making decisions Wells Fargo businesses make on a daily basis in the diverse communities in which we conduct business.

Similar to the facially neutral proposals involved in the letters cited above and because the Proponent's true intent – to target specific kinds of the company's charitable contributions – is unmistakable, we believe that we may omit the Proposal from the Proxy Materials pursuant to 14a-8(i)(7) as relating to Wells Fargo's ordinary business operations.

2. Substantial Portions of the Proposal May Be Excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(3) because the Proposal Contains Impugning and Materially False and Misleading Statements in Violation of Rule 14a-9.

Rule 14a-8(i)(3) permits an issuer to omit a proposal from its proxy materials if the proposal or support statement is contrary to any of the Commission's proxy rules, including Rule 14a-9, which prohibits materially false and misleading statements in proxy solicitation materials. In 2004 the Staff further clarified its views on the application of Rule 14a-8(i)(3) as a basis for excluding false and misleading statements in communications to shareholders. Staff Legal Bulletin No. 14B (Sept. 15, 2004) ("SLB 14B").

Wells Fargo believes that virtually all of the Proponent's two introductory "Whereas" clauses – which primarily consist of a laundry list of assertions or references to survey statistics about sexual orientation, sexual practices and sexually transmitted diseases – suffer from a variety of deficiencies and inaccuracies that would require detailed and extensive editing to eliminate or revise their defective, inflammatory and/or irrelevant elements. Therefore, we believe that both introductory "Whereas" clauses must be excluded in their entirety under Rule 14a-8(i)(3) as materially false and misleading.

For instance, SLB 14B makes clear that reliance on Rule 14a-8(i)(3) to exclude a statement may be appropriate where statements "directly or indirectly impugn character, integrity, or personal reputation, or directly or indirectly make charges concerning improper, illegal or immoral conduct or association, without factual foundation." In the instant Proposal certain of the Proponent's introductory statements serve to impugn the company's reputation as well as the reputation and character of many of the diverse non-profit organizations that receive Wells Fargo's support. In particular, paragraph eight of the preamble to the Proposal states:

According to the Archives of Sexual Behavior: The best epidemiological evidence indicates that only 2% to 4% of men are attracted to other adult men (ACSF Investigators, 1992; Billy et al., 1993; Fay et al., 1989; Johnson et al., 1992) in contrast, around 25% to 40% of men attracted to children prefer boys (Blanchard et al., 1999; Gebherd et al., 1965; Mohr et al., 1964). Thus, the rate of homosexual attraction is 6 to 20 times higher among pedophiles.

Wells Fargo finds this statement and its link to pedophilia highly offensive and inflammatory. In the context of a stockholder proposal relating to Wells Fargo's charitable contributions, such statement can only serve to indirectly impugn the character, integrity and reputation of the Company, its board of directors and management by implying that Wells Fargo, through its community support programs, somehow indirectly supports or otherwise condones immoral and unlawful sexual activities with children. One of the fundamental tenets of Wells Fargo's Code of Ethics and Business Conduct is the expectation that team members adhere to the highest possible standards of ethics and business conduct with customers, team members, and the communities Wells Fargo serves, including complying with all applicable laws. A copy of Wells Fargo's Code of Ethics and Business Conduct for team members is publicly available on the Company's website at <https://www.wellsfargo.com/about/corporate/ethics/>. Consequently, any suggestion (whether intentional or not) of an indirect link or association between such immoral and unlawful conduct and Wells Fargo's community support programs or, alternatively the recipients of such contributions, without any factual foundation, is repugnant. The vast majority of Wells Fargo's stockholders who will be receiving the Proxy Materials are likely to find this statement, as well as others identified below, just as insulting.

The Company's view of these statements in the Proposal is consistent with the Staff's position on proposals that contain similar types of statements that, without factual support, have served to impugn the character, integrity or personal reputation of a company, its directors and management. See, e.g., American Telephone & Telegraph (avail. Feb. 12, 2001). In American Telephone & Telegraph, a shareholder's proposal requested that the company eliminate the words "sexual preference or orientation" from the company's equal opportunity statement. In connection with that proposal, the Staff agreed with the company that the portion linking "sexual preference or orientation" with child molestation and bestiality could be omitted as materially false or misleading. For similar reasons, paragraph eight of the instant Proposal must be excluded as materially false and misleading under Rule 14a-8(i)(3).

Furthermore, in SLB 14B the Staff also took the view that it may be appropriate to exclude statements when “substantial portions of the supporting statement are irrelevant to a consideration of the subject matter of the proposal, such that there is a strong likelihood that a reasonable shareholder would be uncertain as to the matter on which she is being asked to vote.” Such is the case here. Specifically, Wells Fargo believes that paragraphs three, four, five, six and seven of the Proposal must also be excluded because such statements are sufficiently inflammatory, irrelevant to the Proponent’s underlying resolution and therefore likely to mislead stockholders.

The Staff in International Business Machines Corp. (avail. January 26, 2006) recently directed that similar types of inflammatory statements be excluded from a shareholder proposal. In the proposal at issue in this no-action letter the proponent requested an amendment to the company’s written equal employment opportunity policy to exclude reference to any matters related to sexual interests, activities or orientation. In particular, the preamble to the proposal contained the following two statements that, among others, the Staff directed must be excluded from the proposal:

- “While there are thousands of charitable organizations, some charitable groups focus on shared sexual interests, especially the sexual interests of homosexuals, bisexuals and those persons who feel the sexual identity they were born does not comport with their preferred ‘gender expression’ or ‘gender identity.’ Individuals in this later group are sometimes referred to as ‘transgendered.’”
- “According to a 1999 Medical Institute of Sexual Health report, ‘Homosexual men are at significantly increased risk of HIV/AIDS, hepatitis, anal cancer, gonorrhea, and gastrointestinal infections as a result of their sexual practices.’”

These identical introductory statements also appear verbatim as paragraphs three and five of the instant Proposal and, for the very same reasons, should be excluded here as well.

We do note that in International Business Machines the company seemed to suggest that some of the statements contained in that particular proposal could have arguably been relevant to a different proposal addressing charitable contributions, presumably because several of the statements merely incorporated a “charitable” reference. Wells Fargo believes that even in the context of the instant Proposal only a few introductory statements contained in the first “Whereas” clause of the preamble may survive scrutiny under Rule 14a-9. Thus, as the Staff noted in Staff Legal Bulletin No. 14 (July 13, 2001) in those cases where a proposal or supporting statement would require “detailed and extensive editing” it may be appropriate to exclude the entire proposal, supporting statement, or both.

Finally, the Proponent falsely states in the second “Whereas” clause of the Proposal that Wells Fargo “refuses to make charitable contributions to the Boy Scouts of America.” To the contrary, Wells Fargo has a proud history of supporting the Boy Scouts and in 2005 alone contributed over $250,000 to local Boy Scout groups around the country. In fact, had the Proponent actually reviewed the Company’s website (ironically, where the Proponent requests in her Proposal that we post a listing of recipients of all company donations) she undoubtedly would have discovered a partial listing of several thousand local non-profit organizations that Wells Fargo supported in certain regions of the country in 2005, including the Boy Scouts of America. For instance, a partial listing of grantees in California in 2005 can readily be found on the Company's website at https://www.wellsfargo.com/about/charitable/ca_guidelines and for the convenience of the Staff a copy is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

It would appear that by singling out in the second "Whereas" clause such a false claim regarding Wells Fargo's lack of support to the Boy Scouts of America – a group that has publicly expressed the view that homosexual conduct is inconsistent with the values they seek to instill¹ – the Proponent has attempted to bolster her campaign to specifically target Wells Fargo's charitable support of specific diverse organizations. Nevertheless, in accordance with the Staff's position articulated in SLB 14B, it is appropriate to exclude this clause in reliance on Rule 14a-8(i)(3) when, as is the case here, the company "demonstrates objectively" that such factual statement is materially false and misleading.

Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, Wells Fargo intends to omit the Proponent's Proposal from its Proxy Materials for its 2007 Annual Meeting. Wells Fargo respectfully requests confirmation that the Staff will not recommend any enforcement action to the Commission if the Proposal in its entirety, or in the alternative a substantial portion of the Proposal specifically identified above, is excluded from Wells Fargo's Proxy Materials. We would be happy to provide you with additional information and answer any questions you may have regarding this request. Please do not hesitate to contact either the undersigned (at (515) 557-8167) or Mary E. Schaffner (at (612) 667-2367) regarding this request.

Please file-stamp and return the attached receipt in the enclosed self-addressed prepaid envelope.

Dear Ms. Holschuh:

I am the owner of 250 shares of Wells Fargo common stock. I have owned these shares continuously for over one year and intend to hold them through the time of the next annual meeting. At that meeting, I will present the following:

Whereas: Thomas Jefferson said in A Bill for Establishing Religious Freedom, "To compel a man to furnish contributions of money for the propagation of opinions which he disbelieves is sinful and tyrannical."

Charitable contributions come from the fruit of our employees' labor and belong to all shareholders as a group.

While there are thousands of charitable organizations, some charitable groups focus on shared sexual interests, especially the sexual interests of homosexuals, bisexuals, and those persons who feel the sexual identity with which they were born does not comport with their preferred "gender expression" or "gender identity." Individuals in this latter group are sometimes referred to as "transgendered."

A large number of our employees and shareholders come from Jewish, Christian or Muslim religious traditions. These faiths have condemned the practice of homosexuality for a thousand years or more.

According to a 1999 Medical Institute of Sexual Health report, "Homosexual men are at significantly increased risk of HIV/AIDS, hepatitis, anal cancer, gonorrhea, and gastrointestinal infections as a result of their sexual practices."

A study by A.P. Bell and M.S. Weinberg, Homosexualities: A Study of Diversity Among Men and Women, found that 43 % of white male homosexuals had sex with 500 or more partners, with 28 % having 1,000 or more partners.

Some charities are concerned with AIDS education. Despite massive amounts of money spent on AIDS education, some of it from large corporations, the incidence of unprotected anal sex increased 50% between 1997 and 1998, according to the Center for Disease Control.

According to the Archives of Sexual Behavior: The best epidemiological evidence indicates that only 2% to 4% of men are attracted to other adult men (ACSF Investigators, 1992; Billy et al., 1993; Fay et al., 1989; Johnson et al., 1992) in contrast, around 25% to 40% of men attracted to children prefer boys (Blanchard et al., 1999; Gebherd et al., 1965; Mohr et al., 1964). Thus, the rate of homosexual attraction is 6 to 20 times higher among pedophiles.

Other charities, Planned Parenthood for example, perform tens of thousands of abortions each year. Abortion, like homosexual sex, was illegal in the United States for many years.

Whereas: Our company refuses to make charitable contributions to the Boy Scouts of America.

Resolved: The shareholders request that management list and post on the company website all the charitable organizations that are recipients of company donations.

Supporting Statement: Full disclosure is integral to good corporate governance. Charitable contributions are something in which a company should take pride, and should help create goodwill for our company. Listing the recipients of our charitable funds on the company's website will cost little and will better inform employees, shareholders and the general public of the kinds of organizations the company supports.

Sincerely,

Christina A. McCarthy

DIVISION OF CORPORATION FINANCE
INFORMAL PROCEDURES REGARDING SHAREHOLDER PROPOSALS

The Division of Corporation Finance believes that its responsibility with respect to matters arising under Rule 14a-8 [17 CFR 240.14a-8], as with other matters under the proxy rules, is to aid those who must comply with the rule by offering informal advice and suggestions and to determine, initially, whether or not it may be appropriate in a particular matter to recommend enforcement action to the Commission. In connection with a shareholder proposal under Rule 14a-8, the Division's staff considers the information furnished to it by the Company in support of its intention to exclude the proposals from the Company's proxy materials, as well as any information furnished by the proponent or the proponent's representative.

Although Rule 14a-8(k) does not require any communications from shareholders to the Commission's staff, the staff will always consider information concerning alleged violations of the statutes administered by the Commission, including argument as to whether or not activities proposed to be taken would be violative of the statute or rule involved. The receipt by the staff of such information, however, should not be construed as changing the staff's informal procedures and proxy review into a formal or adversary procedure.

It is important to note that the staff's and Commission's no-action responses to Rule 14a-8(j) submissions reflect only informal views. The determinations reached in these no-action letters do not and cannot adjudicate the merits of a company's position with respect to the proposal. Only a court such as a U.S. District Court can decide whether a company is obligated to include shareholder proposals in its proxy materials. Accordingly a discretionary determination not to recommend or take Commission enforcement action, does not preclude a proponent, or any shareholder of a company, from pursuing any rights he or she may have against the company in court, should the management omit the proposal from the company's proxy material.

February 12, 2007

Response of the Office of Chief Counsel
Division of Corporation Finance

Re: Wells Fargo & Company
Incoming letter dated December 22, 2006

The proposal requests that management list and post on the company website all charitable organizations that are recipients of company donations.

There appears to be some basis for your view that Wells Fargo may exclude the proposal under rule 14a-8(i)(7), as relating to Wells Fargo's ordinary business operations (i.e., contributions to specific types of organizations). Accordingly, we will not recommend enforcement action to the Commission if Wells Fargo omits the proposal from its proxy materials in reliance on rule 14a-8(i)(7). In reaching this position, we have not found it necessary to address the alternative basis for omission of the proposal upon which Wells Fargo relies.

Sincerely,

Ted Yu
Special Counsel
