COBHAM EQUIPMENT SELECTED FOR USAF TANKER PROGRAMME

Cobham plc ('Cobham') congratulates Northrop Grumman on the selection of the KC-45A by the USAF for the multi billion dollar tanker programme and is pleased to confirm that the Group's all digital hose and drogue refuelling pods ('pods') will be fitted for under wing and fuselage refuelling. The aircraft will also be fitted with Cobham antennas and avionics equipment. It is anticipated that the total value to Cobham over the life of the programme will be up to $1bn.

The pods carry their own power system and can offload approximately 420 gallons of fuel per minute. They are fitted with 90 ft. long hoses and are designed for use with probe-equipped receiver aircraft, and are mounted on pre-existing outboard wing structures under the aircraft's wings. Cobham's fuselage refuelling unit, which also utilises the hose and drogue system, will also be part of the KC-45's refuelling capability. It is located within the aircraft fuselage, near the boom and can be used to refuel probe equipped Navy, Marine and allied forces aircraft. Cobham's antennas and avionics equipment are standard equipment on the A330.

Allan Cook, Cobham Chief Executive said:

"I am absolutely delighted that we will be continuing our long association with the USAF and Northrop Grumman on such an important programme. This is a huge boost to our business and gives us an excellent platform for further investment in our technology, capability and product offering to the customer. "

COBHAM COMPLETES US$240 MILLION PURCHASE OF SURVEILLANCE AND ATTACK BUSINESS

Further to the announcement of 19 December 2007, Cobham plc ('Cobham') announces that it completed the purchase of the Surveillance and Attack business unit of BAE Systems Inc on 22 February 2008 for a cash consideration of US$240 million on a debt and cash free basis. The goodwill arising on completion is an allowable tax expense with an estimated net present value of US$45 million, resulting in an effective acquisition price of US$195 million. The unit, which is based in Lansdale, Pennsylvania, USA, has been renamed Sensor and Antenna Systems, Lansdale Inc ('Lansdale') and is to be integrated into Cobham's enlarged Defence Electronic Systems Division ('CDES').

Lansdale is a world leading developer of Electronic Warfare ('EW') technology and supplier of EW subsystems for military aircraft. The equipment is used primarily for stand-off radar and communication jamming and also self-protection radar warning on US military aircraft. The acquisition is highly complementary to the existing CDES US microwave business, bringing additional subsystem product and design resource.

The acquisition of Lansdale is consistent with Cobham's stated strategy of increasing shareholder value through organic growth and selective, value enhancing acquisitions within the Aerospace and Defence sector. This acquisition is expected to be immediately earnings enhancing and it is anticipated that it will be increasingly accretive over time as it grows in line with Cobham's Technology Divisions.
