CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Results

HAECO reported a profit attributable to shareholders in 2007 of HK$1,073 million, which is an increase of 27% on HK$847 million profit in 2006. The strong profit growth in 2007 was driven by capacity expansion and continuing strong demand for the Group's services, particularly the heavy maintenance operations in both Xiamen and Hong Kong. Hong Kong Aero Engine Services Limited ("HAESL") and Singapore Aero Engine Services Pte. Limited ("SAESL") also experienced satisfactory growth in engine overhaul work.

Your Directors have recommended a final dividend for 2007 of HK$2.20 per share which, together with the interim dividend of HK$0.88 per share paid on 25th September 2007, results in a total distribution for the year of HK$3.08 per share.

Investments

Demand in general for the Group's services continued to be strong in 2007, and it is steadily expanding its facilities to support further growth. In Hong Kong, the Company opened its second hangar at Hong Kong International Airport in December 2006 and is constructing a third hangar with opening expected in the middle of 2009. Taikoo (Xiamen) Aircraft Engineering Company Limited's ("TAECO") fifth hangar was opened in June 2007 and a sixth hangar is under construction with operation scheduled for the second half of 2009. Taikoo (Xiamen) Landing Gear Services Limited, a 55.6%-owned subsidiary set up in Xiamen in March 2007, is constructing a landing gear overhaul facility to open in mid 2008. HAESL has opened an extension to its engine workshop which will commence operation in March 2008.

The Group continues to look at other opportunities to expand its aviation maintenance and repair services.

Staff

The Group continues to invest significantly in the recruitment and training of engineering staff. Its total headcount increased by 16% to 11,698 at the end of 2007, and further additional staff are being recruited and trained to cope with the anticipated growth in business.

On behalf of the shareholders, I would like to thank all staff for their hard work and continuing support which has produced another year's strong results.

Outlook

Demand for the Group's services remains good. Heavy maintenance operations should continue to benefit from the recently added hangar capacity in Hong Kong. Line maintenance operations should see moderate growth from additional movements at Hong Kong International Airport. TAECO's results will be moderated by cost increases in an inflationary operating environment and by the continuing appreciation of the Renminbi. HAESL has strong demand but was operating at near full capacity in 2007 and is anticipating modest growth. Although it is less likely that the very high rates of profit growth achieved in recent years can continue to be delivered, overall the prospects for 2008 are firm.

HAECO Hong Kong Operations

The Company's Hong Kong operations comprise heavy maintenance in its hangars, line maintenance at the passenger and cargo terminals at Hong Kong International Airport, component overhaul at Tseung Kwan O and inventory technical management services.

The operations in Hong Kong achieved good growth in 2007. This is attributable mainly to continuing strong demand for heavy maintenance services, coupled with the provision of additional hangar capacity following the opening of a second hangar at Hong Kong International Airport in December 2006. The heavy maintenance division provides a comprehensive range of scheduled maintenance checks, modifications and overhaul work on a wide variety of aircraft types. It competes on price, availability of space, turnaround time and quality of workmanship with other Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul facilities worldwide. Sold manhours increased from 1.85 million in 2006 to 2.53 million in 2007. Approximately 63% of the division's work was for airlines based outside Hong Kong.

The Company is building a third heavy maintenance hangar with opening planned for mid 2009. Space has also been provided for further hangar on an adjacent site to be built at a later date.

Line maintenance experienced moderate growth as a result of an increase in aircraft movements at Hong Kong International Airport. The average number of movements handled by HAECO was 266 per day in 2007, 6% up from 250 per day in 2006.

The component overhaul division occupies 7,000 square metre of workshop space at Tseung Kwan O. Revenue growth in 2007 was satisfactory as a result of growth in customers' fleets and the Company is continuing to invest further in this area of business.

The Company provides inventory technical management services for rotatable spares for various aircraft, including Airbus 340-600, 330-300 and 300-600F as well as Boeing 747 aircraft.

Total headcount for the Hong Kong operations increased by 4% during the year, reaching 4,523 at the end of 2007.

Taikoo (Xiamen) Aircraft Engineering Company Limited

TAECO performs heavy maintenance and passenger to freighter conversions using its five wide-body double bay hangars at Xiamen Gaoqi International Airport. It also performs line maintenance operations in Beijing, Shanghai and Xiamen, handling an average of 42 movements per day during the year.

TAECO's heavy maintenance business enjoyed strong growth in 2007, facilitated by additional capacity following the opening of its fifth hangar in June 2007 and very strong demand from core customers. Sold manhours increased from 3.58 million in 2006 to 3.87 million in 2007 and profit attributable to the Company's shareholders increased by 36% to HK$301 million. Three of TAECO's bays are dedicated to performing Boeing 747-400 passenger to freighter conversions for Boeing with 12 aircraft being completed during the year and three in progress at the year-end. The remaining hangar capacity is used for heavy maintenance with Cathay Pacific Airways, Japan Airlines and All Nippon Airlines ranking among the significant customers.

TAECO is building a sixth hangar which is expected to open in the second half of 2009. It is also building a new training centre which is to open by the end of 2008. At the end of 2007 TAECO's headcount totalled 5,086, compared to 4,098 at the end of 2006.

Hong Kong Aero Engine Services Limited

HAESL (45% owned) repairs and overhauls Rolls-Royce engines and engine components at its facility at Tseung Kwan O. Demand was strong throughout the year and the business operated at close to maximum capacity, handling 224 engine equivalents compared to 212 in 2006. SAESL, in which HAESL has a 20% interest, also had a strong year with satisfactory increases in both turnover and profitability. The Group's share of the after-tax profit of HAESL including its interest in SAESL rose by 20% to HK$338 million.

To provide for further growth, HAESL has opened an additional 3,000 square metre workshop which will commence operation in March 2008 and increased its headcount by 39. HAESL will expand its component repair capability further during 2008 following the award by Rolls-Royce of a "5th Centre of Excellence" for turbine and compressor seal fin repair.

Net liquid funds and financing

The Group had net liquid funds of HK$767 million at 31st December 2007 together with committed but undrawn banking facilities of HK$550 million. This is considered sufficient to meet its committed operating working capital and capital expenditure requirements for 2008.

Corporate governance

The Board is committed to a high standard of corporate governance and has adopted the Code on Corporate Governance Practices (the "Code") promulgated by The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited. It has complied throughout the year with all the mandatory code provisions and with all the recommended best practices with the following exceptions:

- Independent Non-Executive Directors representing one-third of the Board (Section A.3.2 of the Code).

- quarterly reporting (Section C.1.4 of the Code) which the Board considers would provide little information of additional value to shareholders while increasing administrative costs and pressure to focus on short-term results rather than long-term value creation.
- establishing a nomination committee (Section A.4.4 of the Code) as the Board considers it is in the best interest of the Company and potential new appointees that they collectively review and approve the appointment of new directors.

Details of corporate governance can be found in the 2007 annual report.

The annual results for the year have been reviewed by the Audit Committee of the Company.
