NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2007

1. Significant Accounting Policies

Description of Business, Risks and Exposures

The Company processes broker-dealer transactions on a fully disclosed basis. Possible operational risks may arise in the incorrect processing of a customer's transactions. Company management has placed the proper operational controls to mitigate these risks.

While customer accounts are protected by an insurance policy at the clearing firm, in the unlikely event of the failure of the clearing organization, the Company has a credit risk to the extent there is any money due from the clearing firm. Presently there is no concentration of business from any one customer or group of related customers significant enough to negatively impact the Company should any one event, such as the loss of one customer, occur.

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts and disclosures in these financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Recognition of income

The Company, incorporated in California and a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., uses the settlement date for income and expense recognition of commissions.

Fixed assets and depreciation

Fixed assets, primarily furniture, computer equipment and an auto, are stated at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over an estimated useful life of from five to seven years.

Income taxes

Income taxes are provided on book income. Previously, the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes" (SFAS No. 109), which requires recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statements or tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax liabilities and assets are determined based on the difference between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. Such differences were immaterial and no deferred tax assets or liabilities are included in the accompanying financial statements.

Investments

The Company previously purchased warrants convertible into common shares in The NASDAQ Stock Market, Inc ("NASDAQ"). SFAS No. 115 (as amended by SFAS No. 133) requires that all investments in equities be carried at estimated fair market value, if readily determinable. During 2006, the Company exercised the warrants and purchased 1,500 shares, then sold 500 shares of NASDAQ common shares. During 2007 the balance of the shares were sold.

2. Net Capital Requirements

The Company, as a registered broker/dealer, is required under provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (SEA of 1934) Rule 15c3-1 to maintain a minimum net capital, and a ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital of not greater than 8 to 1. As of year-end, the Company's net capital was $304,563 which was $254,563 in excess of its required net capital. The Company's net aggregate indebtedness to capital ratio was 0.02 to 1.

3. Commitments

The Company's offices are presently rented on a month-to-month basis. Rent expense, excluding parking, totaled $39,091 for the year.

4. Income taxes

Deferred income taxes, when applicable, are primarily the result of timing difference between financial statement and tax reporting, and are presently immaterial. The difference between the statutory rate (fifteen percent for taxable income below $50,000) and the actual rate, is the State tax and the non-deductible portion of entertainment expense.
