Independent auditor's Report

I have audited the accompanying statement of net capital of Scott James Group, Inc. including the statement of financial condition, as of December 31, 2007, the related statements of income, cash flows, changes in ownership equity, and the notes to the financial statements for the period then ended. These financial statements and notes to the financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and the notes to the financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements and the notes to the financial statements are free of material misstatements. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements and the notes to the financial statements. My procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of December 31, 2007 by correspondence with the custodian. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statements presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the financial statements and the notes to the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Scott James Group, Inc., as of December 31, 2007, the results of its operations and changes in net assets for the year then ended, and the notes to the financial statements as of December 31, 2007, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Report About Internal Control

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Scott James Group, Inc., "the Company", for the year ended December 31, 2007, I considered its internal control, including activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission, the SEC, I have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that I considered relevant in the objectives stated in Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13;
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

Management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the USA. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

MAYAH & ASSOCIATES, CPAs

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

My consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control component does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in their normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that I consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1974 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respect indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2007, to meet SEC objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the members, management, the SEC and the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
