Independent Auditors' Report

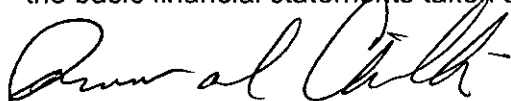

To The Partners'
Greenwood Partners L.P.

We have audited the statement of financial condition of Greenwood Partners L.P. as of December 31, 2007, and the related statements of income, changes in partners' capital, and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Greenwood Partners L.P. as of December 31, 2007, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements, taken as a whole. The information contained in schedules on pages 9-12 are presented for purpose of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Greenwood Partners L.P.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2007

NOTE 1 - BUSINESS AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Company was formed in August 1997 under the laws of the State of Delaware for the purpose of trading securities and other related financial instruments.

The following comprise the Company's significant accounting policies:

Method of Accounting

The Company maintains its books of account on the basis of recording revenue when earned and expenses when incurred (the accrual basis) in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Furniture and Equipment

Furniture and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is provided on the straight-line method over useful lives of the assets which is three or five years. Maintenance and repairs are charged to expenses as incurred; major renewals and betterments are capitalized. When items are sold or retired, the related cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is included in the results of operations.

Recognition of Revenue

Trading securities transactions are recorded on a trade date basis with related income on an unrealized basis.

Income Taxes

As a limited partnership company, the Company does not pay federal or state taxes on its taxable income. Instead, the partners' are liable for federal and state taxes on the Company's taxable income.

Cash

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company has defined cash equivalents as highly liquid investments, with original maturities of less than ninety days, that are not held for sale in the ordinary course of business.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Estimates also affect the reported amounts of revenues and expense during the reported period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTE 2 - COMMITMENTS

The Company has entered into a month to month for office space dated April 1, 2007. The following is a schedule of future minimum payments required under the lease as of December 31, 2007:

Period ending January 31, 2008:	1,800.
	$ 1,800.

The Company has an agreement with a clearing organization which is a registered broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission, to act as Greenwood Partners L.P.'s agent in providing certain broker services for the Company.

NOTE 3 - NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENT

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2007, the Company had a net capital of $1,499,135. which was $1,399,135. in excess of its required net capital of $100,000. The Company's net capital ratio was .28 to 1.

NOTE 4 - RETIREMENT PLAN

The Company has merged the money purchase pension plan with and into the profit sharing plan during 2007. All employees are eligible after completing one (1) Year of Service; which is defined as 1000 hours of service, has attained age 21, and is employed on the last day of the plan year. The Company chose to contribute twenty-five percent (25%) of the annual salary of employees on the last day of the plan year. For the year ended December 31, 2007, the contribution totaled $ 12,009. There are no unfunded liabilities from prior years.

NOTE 5 - FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Derivative financial instruments used for trading purposes, including economic hedges of trading instruments, are carried at market value or, if market prices are not readily available, fair value. Market values for exchange-traded derivatives, principally options, are based on quoted market prices. Fair values for over-the-counter derivative financial instruments, principally options, are based on pricing models intended to approximate the amounts that would be received from or paid to a third party in settlement of the contracts. Factors taken into consideration include credit spreads, market liquidity, concentrations, and funding and administrative costs incurred over the life of the instruments.

Derivatives used for economic hedging purposes include purchased options. Unrealized gains or losses on these derivative contracts are recognized currently in the statements of income as trading revenues. The Company does not apply hedge accounting as defined in FASB Statement No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, as all financial instruments are marked to market with changes in fair values reflected in earnings. Therefore, the disclosures required in paragraphs 44 and 45 of the Statement are generally not applicable with respect to these financial instruments.

NOTE 6 – EXTRAORDINARY INCOME

On November 28, 2006 NASD and NYSE Group announced a plan to consolidate their member regulation operations. In connection with the Transaction, a one-time special member payment of $35,000 was made to each NASD member firm in August 2007.

To The Partners'
Greenwood Partners L.P.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Greenwood Partners L.P. for the year ended December 31, 2007, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purposes of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17-a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we made a study of the practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17-a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of difference required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of the Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purpose in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2007, to meet the SEC's objectives

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, FINRA and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17-a-5 (9) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not to be used for any other purpose.
