TAG Securities Corp.
Notes to Financial Statement
December 31, 2007

1. Organization and Nature of Business

TAG Securities Corp. (the "Company") is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"). The Company principally engages in executing transaction orders on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange on behalf of its clients.

At December 31, 2007, the Company was not in compliance with its minimum net capital requirement. Violation of this rule could result in action by the regulatory authority including requiring the Company to cease its brokerage operations. Upon learning of this violation, the Company took corrective action and on March 28, 2008, the shareholder infused $75,000 of capital into the Company.

On March 31, 2008, the Company's computation of net capital indicated that it was again in violation of its minimum net capital requirement. Upon realizing it was in violation the Company took corrective action and on April 9, 2008, the shareholder infused an additional $40,000 of capital into the Company.

On April 16, 2008, the Company made notification to its regulatory authority regarding such violations. As of the report date the Company's most recent computation of net capital indicates that it is in compliance with the minimum net capital rule as prescribed under Rule 15c3-1.

The Company's stockholder has indicated that he intends to fund any future financing or operating deficiencies in order to keep the Company in compliance with minimum net capital requirements.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Securities Transactions

Securities transactions and related commission revenue and expenses are recorded on a settlement date basis. Management deems the difference between recording securities transactions on a trade date basis and a settlement date basis to be immaterial.

Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all money market accounts and all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

TAG Securities Corp.
Notes to Financial Statement
December 31, 2007

Income Taxes

The Company has elected to be treated as an S Corporation under the applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, the Company is not subject to Federal income tax. The stockholder is required to report separately his distributive share of the Company's income or loss to Federal tax authorities. In addition, the Company has elected S Corporation status for New York State tax purposes and, accordingly, the Company pays New York State income tax at the minimum rate. New York City, however, does not recognize S Corporation status, and the Company is, therefore, taxed at regular corporation tax rates.

The Company uses the asset and liability method to calculate deferred tax assets and liabilities. Deferred taxes are recognized based on the differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The Company records a valuation allowance against the deferred tax asset when it is more likely than not that the deferred tax asset will not be utilized.

Deferred taxes are recorded to reflect the tax effect of the temporary differences arising as a result of the Company's utilizing the cash basis of accounting for income tax reporting purposes rather than the accrual basis of accounting used for financial reporting purposes.

3. Receivable from Broker, Dealer and Clearing Organization

Receivable from broker, dealer and clearing organization arises as a result of the Company's normal securities transactions.

4. Due from Former Stockholder

Due from former stockholder is non interest bearing and due on demand.

5. Income Taxes

Deferred taxes are a result of temporary differences arising primarily from commissions receivable and accrued expenses and other payables. However, a 100% valuation allowance has been provided for the tax benefit arising as a result of these temporary differences due to the uncertainty regarding near term utilization of such benefit. This has resulted in an increase in the valuation allowance amounting to $1,800. The deferred taxes consist of the following:

Deferred tax asset	$ 11,400
Deferred tax liability	(9,600)
Valuation Allowance	(1,800)
Net deferred taxes	$ -

6. Clearance Agreement

The Company operates principally under a clearance agreement with another broker, whereby such broker assumes and maintains the Company's customer accounts. As part of this agreement, the Company will be required to maintain cash or securities of not less than $100,000. This deposit is included with the receivable from broker, dealer and clearing organization.

7. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the uniform net capital requirements of rule 15c3-1 of the Securities and Exchange Commission, as amended, which requires a broker-dealer to have, at all times, sufficient liquid assets to cover current indebtedness. In accordance with the rule, the broker-dealer is required to maintain defined minimum net capital of the greater of $5,000 or 1/15 of aggregate indebtedness. At no time may the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital exceed 15 to 1.

At December 31, 2007, the Company had net capital, as defined, of $5,011, which was $23,727 below its required net capital of $28,738. At December 31, 2007, the Company had aggregate indebtedness of $431,069. The ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 86.02 to 1. (See Note 1)

8. Off-Balance-Sheet Risk

The Company, as an introducing broker, clears all transactions with and for customers on a fully disclosed basis with the clearing broker, who carries all of the accounts of such customers. The Company does not maintain margin accounts for its customers; therefore, there were no excess margin securities. However, the Company may be liable for chargebacks on introduced customer accounts carried by the clearing broker. In addition, the Company may be exposed to off-balance-sheet risk in the event the clearing broker is unable to fulfill its contractual obligations.

From time-to-time the Company has cash at a bank in excess of FDIC insured limits and is exposed to the credit risk resulting from this concentration.

9. 401(k) and Profit Sharing Plan

The Company sponsors a defined contribution plan under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, which provides that all eligible employees may defer salary up to statutory limitations. The Company is not required to make matching contributions.

The Company also sponsors a defined contribution profit sharing plan covering substantially all of the Company's employees. The contribution, which is at management's discretion, is determined annually.

10. Related Party Activity

The Company pays professional fees to a marketing consultant, who is related to the shareholder.

The Company's Statement of Financial Condition as of December 31, 2007 is available for examination at the office of the Company and at the Regional Office of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Independent Auditors' Report

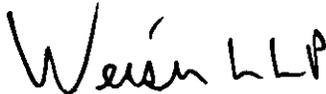

To the Board of Directors
TAG Securities Corp.

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of TAG Securities Corp., (the "Company") as of December 31, 2007, that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall consolidated financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of TAG Securities Corp. as of December 31, 2007, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

As discussed in Note 1 to the financial statements, the Company was not in compliance with its minimum net capital requirement. Such violation may have a severe impact on the Company's brokerage operations.
