Independent Auditors' Report

To The Board of Directors and Stockholders Firstrade Securities, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Firstrade Securities, Inc. (the "Company") as of June 30, 2008, and the related statement of operations and retained earnings and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Firstrade Securities, Inc. as of June 30, 2008, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in the attached schedules on pages 11 and 12 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Organization

Firstrade Securities, Inc. (the Company) is a registered broker-dealer in securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company acts as an introducing broker and provides discount brokerage services for its clients.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash Equivalents

For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid investment instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less at the time of purchase to be cash equivalents.

Securities Owned

Securities owned are valued at fair value based upon quoted market prices on the principal exchange on which such shares are traded, with related changes in market value included in the statement of operations. Securities not readily marketable are valued at fair value as determined by management, with unrealized gains or losses reflected in operations.

Investment in Limited Partnership

The Company is a limited partner in Lotus Capital Management, L.P which is an investment manager of a hedge fund for which transactions are initiated by complex algorithms (black box trading). The partnership interest is recorded at cost increased by any capital contributions and shares of earnings and decreased by distributions and share of losses. An impairment loss is recognized in the event of losses that are other than temporary.

Furniture, Equipment and Leasehold Improvements

Furniture, equipment and leasehold improvements are stated at cost. An accelerated depreciation method is used for furniture and equipment with useful lives of five to seven years. Leasehold improvements are depreciated using the straight-line method over the shorter of the economic useful life of the improvement or the term of the lease.

Firstrade Securities, Inc

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Intangibles

Intangible assets consist of trademarks, software and lease assignment costs and are recorded at cost. Amortization of trademarks is computed using the straight-line method over a period of 15-years. Lease assignment costs are amortized using the straight-line method over the 10-year life of the lease. Software development costs are amortized using the straight-line method over a useful life of 3 years; these costs which include consulting fees, payroll and payroll related costs are associated with various ongoing computer software based projects. As of June 30, 2008 several of these projects totaling $256,064 were at the application development stage.

Advertising

The Company follows the policy of charging the costs of advertising to expense as incurred. For the year ended June 30, 2008, advertising expense was $1,078,661.

Profit Sharing Plan

The Company maintains a contributory qualified 401(k) plan for eligible employees. The company made no contributions for the year ended June 30, 2008.

Income Taxes

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed annually for differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities that will result in taxable or deductible amounts in the future based on enacted tax laws and rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. Income tax expense is the tax payable or refundable for the period plus or minus the change during the period in deferred tax assets and liabilities. The components of temporary differences are software development costs, depreciation and unrealized losses on investments.

Statement of Exemption from Rule 15c3-3
Computation for Determination of Reserve Requirements

June 30, 2008

Firstrade Securities, Inc. clears all customer transactions through another broker-dealer on a fully disclosed basis and therefore claims exemptive provision (K)(2)(ii) of SEC Rule 15c3-3, which exempts the Corporation from the computation for determination of reserve requirements as provided for in that Rule.

See independent auditors' report.

Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Control Structure Required by SEC Rule 17a-5

To The Board of Directors and Stockholders
Firstrade Securities, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Firstrade Securities, Inc. for the year ended June 30, 2008, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company consideration of control activities for safe guarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c-3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliability in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at June 30, 2008, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
