   Neither the US Securities and Exchange Commission nor any state securities commission has approved or disapproved of the new shares to be issued by R&E in the scheme of arrangement, or expressed a view as to whether to vote for or against the scheme of arrangement, or determined if this Circular is truthful or complete. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offence.

   The new shares to be issued by R&E in terms of the scheme of arrangement have not been, and will not be registered under the US Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or with any securities regulatory authority of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States and may not be resold in the United States unless such disposition is registered under the US Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and applicable state securities laws or is exempt from registration thereunder. R&E has no obligation or intention to register the new shares under the US Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or with any securities regulatory authority of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States. Furthermore, on 24 March 2008, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission issued an Order pursuant to Section 12(j) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, pursuant to which the registration of R&E's ordinary shares and ADRs in the United States was revoked. As a result of the Order by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, no member of a U.S. national securities exchange, U.S. broker, or U.S. dealer may make use of the mails or any means or instrumentality of U.S. interstate commerce to effect any transaction in, or to induce the purchase or sale of, R&E's ordinary shares and ADRs in the United States. The effect of this order is to prohibit trading in R&E's Ordinary Shares and ADRs in the United States. See paragraph 22 of this Circular.

   This offer is not being made, directly or indirectly, in any jurisdiction or to any JCI shareholder in any jurisdiction where this offer or the acquisition of R&E shares would or might constitute a violation of the laws of such jurisdiction or require registration or approval under the securities laws of such jurisdiction and accordingly JCI shareholders in any such jurisdiction may not tender their JCI shares or receive R&E shares or otherwise accept this offer or receive this Circular.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENT DISCLAIMER FOR R&E

Certain statements in this Circular as well as oral statements that may be made by the officers, directors or employees of each of R&E or JCI acting on its behalf relating to such information, contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the US Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, specifically Section 27A of the US Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the US Securities Exchange Act of 1934. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning the combined value of the net assets of R&E and JCI; the fairness of the proposed merger ratio; the ability of R&E and JCI to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities or, failing that, to successfully complete an arbitration or mediation in a costly manner; the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E and JCI and/or any of their respective subsidiaries to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E or JCI; the ability of each of R&E and JCI to complete its forensic investigation and prepare financial statements in accordance with IFRS; the time period for completing the forensic investigation and financial statements in accordance with IFRS; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI, and the ultimate impact on the previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including the business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets of R&E, JCI and RRL. Although R&E and JCI believe that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the combined values of the net assets of R&E and JCI, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations; the existence of any unknown liabilities; the age of the financial information included in this Circular and the absence of any financial statements in accordance with IFRS or unqualified fairness opinions; the ability of R&E to obtain the necessary regulatory dispensations and the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger or scheme of arrangement in light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E's assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the ability of any alleged perpetrators or any other party which has been sued by R&E and/or its subsidiaries to successfully counter-sue and/or join JCI in any of the litigation in which R&E and/or its subsidiaries are engaged, at any stage prior to or following the scheme of arrangement which would reduce the value of JCI and accordingly R&E; the acceptance of any statement and opinion of the Mediators by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E and JCI to successfully defend any counterclaims or proceedings against them; the ability of each of R&E and JCI and the forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to the transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities of R&E and JCI to complete the forensic investigation and prepare financial statements in accordance with IFRS; the willingness and ability of the forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited's willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any prospecting or mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or JCI or not currently considered material by R&E or JCI; and the risks identified in R&E's press releases and other filings and submissions previously made with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.

All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

LACK OF AUDITED FINANCIAL INFORMATION AND LIMITATIONS ON FINANCIAL INFORMATION

This Circular to shareholders does not contain any audited historical financial information that is ordinarily required by the South African and US Securities laws due to the frauds and misappropriations that are alleged to have occurred.

In addition, and for similar reasons, this Circular to shareholders contains only a Group NAV statement for R&E and JCI at 31 March 2008 and 31 October 2008, respectively, prepared in accordance with the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes thereto as set out in Annexures 5a, 5c, 6a and 6c, respectively, and on a combined basis at 31 March 2008 as set out in Annexure 7a. The consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 (which is in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS and not the presentation and disclosure requirements) as set out in Annexure 8a and the unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of R&E after the proposed transaction as set out in Annexure 9a does not include any historical statement of operations, financial information or any more recent balance sheet information than is ordinarily required by the South African and US securities laws.

The financial information included in this Circular to shareholders has been prepared by, and is the responsibility of the directors of R&E. The directors, comprising the present board of R&E (subsequent to 24 August 2005), have relied on the forensic reports referred to herein and used their respective reasonable endeavours to make available the information used in the preparation of the financial information included in this Circular to shareholders. Notwithstanding the reasonable endeavours of the directors as described herein, the attention of shareholders is drawn to the fact that:

- the newly constituted Board of R&E, and more specifically the present Board of R&E, was appointed subsequent to material events and circumstances which had a direct effect on the financial and other affairs of R&E and JCI;
- the directors, comprising the present board of R&E, have no further knowledge of the material circumstances and events which have affected the financial and other affairs of R&E and JCI; and
- due to the extent of the alleged frauds and thefts referred to herein, there may be other material events and circumstances or liabilities of which the directors are not aware, which may have a material effect on R&E and JCI and which may affect the accuracy and completeness of the information reflected in the financial information and/or may have the effect that the financial and other information does not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of R&E and JCI.

Whilst KPMG has provided reports in which they have provided limited assurance or review conclusions on certain of the financial information presented in this Circular (refer to Annexures 5b, 6b, 7b, 8b and 9b), KPMG has not performed any audits of this financial information in accordance with International Standards on Auditing, and accordingly has not expressed any audit opinions on such financial information.

As a result shareholders may have limited financial information upon which to evaluate the proposed merger ratio or to base a decision to approve or disapprove (or to the extent necessary ratify) the proposed transaction.

Given the inhibiting factors referred to above, the financial information presented in this Circular (refer to Annexures 5a, 5c, 6a, 6c, 7a, 8a and 9a) to shareholders could not be prepared in accordance with the published guidelines of the JSE or the SEC for the preparation and presentation of financial statements and pro forma financial information. Accordingly, this information does not include financial statements and financial information disclosures of all information that is required by the guidelines of the JSE and the SEC.

Shareholders should consult their own professional advisors if they are still in doubt or require clarification of the above.

DETERMINATION OF MERGER RATIO RIDER

The determination of the proposed merger ratio was based, in part, on the limited financial information available as at 31 March 2007 and with reference to developments subsequent to the date of that financial information.

R&E has not received a Fairness Opinion in regard to the proposed merger ratio as required in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements. The inability to produce a Fairness Opinion was motivated to the JSE. The Mediators' Report (being Annexure 1 hereto) and setting out the Mediators comments on the proposed merger ratio, has been included in this Circular.

Due to the limitations in the available financial information, the scope and magnitude of the alleged frauds and thefts, the uncertainties of any potential recoveries, the undisclosed nature of any potential liabilities or counterclaims against JCI (including the joinder of JCI in any action in which R&E is involved and the unknown consequences thereof including the extent to which a contribution may be exacted from JCI and its ability to meet same), the fact that it is not known to what extent the R&E claims and such other claims as are/may be enjoyed by R&E and its subsidiaries may be successful and the amount that any inter-company claim could ultimately realise; the merger ratio may not necessarily be acceptable to shareholders in all circumstances (including those not known).

In making a decision as to whether or not R&E should propose to JCI, that JCI and the JCI scheme participants should conclude the scheme of arrangement, R&E's shareholders should rely upon their own examination of R&E and JCI, and take account of the unknown circumstances enumerated above and in this Circular, including the financial information, and should consult their own professional advisors.

SALIENT FEATURES OF THE PROPOSED TRANSACTION

The interpretations and definitions on pages 14 to 22 of this Circular apply to the following Salient Features.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 On 23 April 2007, R&E and JCI announced on SENS, that pursuant to the recommendation of the Mediators, R&E intended to propose a scheme of arrangement between JCI and its shareholders (excluding R&E) which, if implemented, would result in R&E becoming the owner of the entire issued share capital of JCI (and JCI becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of R&E).

1.2 As a result of delays in concluding the proposed merger, R&E and JCI engaged in negotiations regarding a possible settlement and on 21 July 2008 signed an MOU with a view to a possible settlement agreement being concluded between the companies within 21 days thereof.

1.3 On 26 August 2008, R&E announced on SENS that the companies had not been able to achieve the settlement agreement envisaged in the MOU and furthermore, had not been able to execute the proposed merger as contemplated in the joint SENS announcement dated 23 April 2007. R&E announced that the merger having failed, the dispute between the companies would be referred to arbitration. In the same announcement R&E cited various parties in respect of which it has proceeded with legal action in an attempt to recover damages arising from the alleged misappropriation of its assets during the Kebble era.

1.4 Following the SENS announcement of 26 August 2008, certain of R&E's major shareholders approached the present Board of R&E and requested that R&E revisit a possible merger with JCI as an alternative to an immediate arbitration, which gave rise to the companies engaging in without prejudice discussions and which culminated in R&E making the proposal on 4 November 2008 (subject to R&E shareholder ratification and the approval of the resolutions detailed in the Notice of the R&E general meeting attached to this Circular).

1.5 Having regard to all the circumstances detailed in this Circular, the present Board of R&E regards the merger as a prudent, pragmatic and viable mechanism to resolve the difficulties between R&E and JCI. The proposed transaction requires R&E shareholders to ratify the proposal and approve the requisite resolutions to enable R&E to proceed with the proposed merger which forms the subject matter of this Circular.

2. PURPOSE OF THIS CIRCULAR AND THE R&E GENERAL MEETING

2.1 The purpose of this Circular is to provide R&E shareholders with the requisite information upon which to make a decision in respect of the proposed resolutions as set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting enclosed with this Circular relating to:

2.1.1 the approval required from R&E shareholders in order for the present Board of R&E to proceed with the proposed merger and to ratify the proposal made to JCI, that JCI and the scheme participants (excluding R&E), conclude the scheme of arrangement as proposed, and that each eligible scheme participant transfers its ordinary shares in JCI to the Company in exchange for the issue and allotment of shares in the Company, on the basis of the merger ratio being the allotment of one new ordinary R&E share for every 95 ordinary JCI shares held by JCI scheme participants, the further details of which and the manner in which fractions of shares are dealt with in respect of the proposed merger being provided on page 25 of this Circular.

2.1.2 The merger ratio enjoys the support of the present Board of R&E. The Mediators, as appears from the Mediators' Report, consider the merger commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of the Company in the particular circumstances.

3. BACKGROUND TO THE PROPOSED MERGER

3.1 The timeline at paragraph 3 (page 28) of this Circular sets out a brief summary of the timeline and sequence of events which have given rise to the circumstances in which the Company finds itself at present. Insightful detail as to the background leading up to the institution of the R&E claims and the mediation in which R&E and JCI have been engaged is also to be found in Annexure 2 (Overview of R&E's claims) and Annexure 3 (Summary of the forensic findings of JLMC) to this Circular, as well as in the Information Update (24 July 2008) (as already provided to shareholders and which is available for inspection in terms of paragraph 39 below).

3.2 During the Kebble era, R&E alleges that the R&E group was subjected to substantial frauds and thefts of their assets. The manner in which the affairs of R&E and JCI were conducted during the Kebble era gave rise to severe financial consequences for R&E on a scale unprecedented in South African corporate history. Following upon an in depth forensic investigation into the affairs of R&E, and the conclusion of the Mediation Agreement as a means of addressing any claims enjoyed by R&E against JCI, and vice versa, R&E formulated a series of claims (the R&E claims) against JCI, which cumulatively, as at the last practicable date, exceed approximately R14 billion, based on the maximum value thereof, determined prior to 31 March 2008. Such claims have been contested by JCI, which denies any liability to R&E. The factual basis of R&E's claims and the legal consequences which flow therefrom are disputed by JCI. An important legal question relates to whether the actions and conduct of Kebble and his accomplices can be ascribed to JCI so as to render it liable for the losses which R&E has sustained in consequence thereof. R&E contends in this regard that the perpetrators comprised the controlling mind of JCI, directed the affairs of JCI and that their actions are imputable to JCI, although JCI does not admit this. R&E's Counsel have opined that R&E enjoys a reasonable prospect of success in the arbitration, however litigation cannot be predicted with any degree of certainty. Should the merger between R&E and JCI not eventuate, the Mediation Agreement provides for arbitration.

3.3 On 26 August 2008, R&E published a SENS announcement in which it announced inter alia that the companies had not been able to achieve a settlement agreement as envisaged in the MOU concluded between the companies on 21 July 2008 "... and consequently, the merger having failed, the dispute between the companies (would) now be referred to arbitration". On 27 August 2008, JCI published a SENS announcement in which it announced that the failure on the part of the companies to achieve a settlement did not preclude the companies from continuing to endeavour to achieve a merger between them and that JCI intended engaging with R&E on the issues raised by R&E in its announcement. Following the SENS announcement by R&E, certain shareholders of R&E approached the Board of R&E and requested that R&E revisit a possible merger with JCI as an alternative to immediate arbitration.

3.4 On 31 October 2008, R&E published a cautionary announcement that it was engaged in "without prejudice" discussions with JCI regarding the possibility of a merger and on 6 November 2008 the companies published a joint announcement that "the boards of R&E and JCI have each resolved to proceed with the merger of the companies ..." and the proposed transaction "will be subject to regulatory approval being obtained, the shareholders of R&E and JCI voting in favour thereof, and the scheme of arrangement to be proposed by R&E to JCI shareholders (excluding R&E) being implemented in all respects by 31 March 2009."

3.5 The notion of a merger between R&E and JCI stems from the realisation that regardless of the extent of R&E's claims against JCI, any recovery which R&E may ultimately be able to achieve against JCI, is constrained by the extent of JCI's NAV. The present Board of R&E regards the proposed merger as pragmatic and sensible and a preferable option to immediate arbitration, for the reasons detailed in paragraph 5 below (Rationale for the proposed transaction).

3.6 R&E shareholders should note that it is important to preface what is contained in this Circular with the following, at the outset:

3.6.1 Much of what is described in this Circular occurred prior to the reconstitution of the Board of R&E on 24 August 2005;

3.6.2 The findings which gave rise to R&E's claims against JCI in the circumstances more fully described herein, were made by R&E's forensic investigators, JLMC. It was on the strength of such findings, that the Board of R&E directed that the R&E claims against JCI be formulated;

3.6.3 Many of the statements contained in this Circular have not yet been established as a matter of fact and/or law and have been made based on the assumption that such findings can be factually and legally sustained.

4. THE PROPOSED TRANSACTION

4.1 The proposed merger

4.1.1 The Business of R&E and JCI

The Business of R&E

R&E is an investment holding company with assets in the mining industry. The Company aims to invest in high quality assets that will ensure maximum return for its shareholders. It currently holds prospecting rights directly and indirectly (through subsidiary companies) which it plans to develop further in order to add value to its investments. R&E will only consider mining where the resource analysis proves that it is commercially prudent to do so. There are no operational mines in the group.

Recovery of assets

R&E alleges that the R&E group was the victim of widespread frauds and thefts of their assets during the Kebble era which resulted in the R&E group being stripped of the majority of their assets. Based on forensic investigations, legal assessments and the opinion of R&E's Counsel, R&E has embarked on a process of attempting to recover damages allegedly occasioned to the R&E group in respect of the alleged misappropriation of their assets.

The Business of JCI

JCI has invested in various industries having formerly had a strong mining background. R&E has lodged various claims against JCI, totalling approximately R14 billion based on the highest value of such claims up to 31 March 2008.

4.1.2 Vendors of JCI

Should the proposed merger be approved by R&E shareholders as contemplated in this Circular, and should the scheme of arrangement as proposed by the present Board of R&E (which is subject to the ratification of the R&E shareholders as requested in terms of this Circular) become unconditional, then the vendors will be all of the shareholders in JCI, save for R&E (to the extent that it is already a shareholder in JCI).

4.1.3 Effective date

The effective date of the proposed merger will be the date upon which the scheme of arrangement becomes unconditional.

4.1.4 Conditions precedent

The proposed merger is subject to the conditions precedent as set out in paragraph 2.6 of the Circular (page 26) that, inter alia, the resolutions as set out in the Notice of R&E general meeting attached to this Circular (if deemed acceptable) are approved by the requisite majority of R&E shareholders (entitled to vote thereon), and the scheme of arrangement proposed to JCI (and the JCI scheme participants), is approved by JCI shareholders (excluding R&E) and becomes unconditional by the condition precedent fulfilment date.

4.1.5 Other significant terms

The scheme of arrangement requires implementation prior to 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), failing which the scheme will no longer be valid. No goodwill arises in respect of the proposed transaction.

5. RATIONALE FOR THE PROPOSED TRANSACTION

5.1 Factors detracting from arbitration

JCI has denied all liability to R&E and litigation seems inevitable. Such litigation will be time consuming and very costly before resolution is obtained. In the interim, R&E may also not be able to pursue its ordinary business and executive management will need to be dedicated to the prosecution of the R&E claims. More importantly, the success of the arbitration is constrained by JCI's NAV of R1.02 billion at the last practicable date as set out in this Circular. There is no prospect of R&E being able to satisfy the R&E claims (if successful) beyond the extent of JCI's NAV. R&E's prospects of success in the arbitration, cannot be assured. The present Board of R&E is of the opinion that protracted and expensive litigation is not in the best interests of shareholders and regards the merger as a pragmatic means to restore shareholder value representing a sensible resolution to the impasse with JCI.

5.2 Support from various parties for the proposed merger

Certain of the shareholders of R&E have, since the R&E announcement dated 26 August 2008, requested the present Board of R&E to revisit a merger, as a possible means of bringing about a resolution to the difficulties faced by them, indicating their support therefor. The Mediators re-affirmed their support for a merger on 3 November 2008 as a commercially realistic basis for resolving the difficulties facing the companies as appears from the Mediators Report being Annexure 1 to this Circular. Faced with the alternatives to a merger, the Board of R&E supports a merger as a pragmatic means of resolving the difficulties which confront R&E and its shareholders.

5.3 R&E and JCI post the merger

The merger alternative affords the shareholders of both R&E and JCI, a mechanism whereby although the R&E claims remain unresolved, the new board of the combined R&E and JCI will be appointed for the benefit of all shareholders in R&E, and will be vested with the opportunity to determine how best to deal therewith. Management intends focussing on increasing value within the group (to the extent possible), and taking advantage of corporate opportunities which may arise for the benefit of R&E and its shareholders, including the JCI scheme participants.

6. PRO FORMA FINANCIAL EFFECTS

6.1 Pro forma financial effects of the proposed transaction based on the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008

The unaudited pro forma financial effects of the proposed transaction on R&E, before and after the proposed transaction, are set out below. The unaudited pro forma financial effects are presented in a manner consistent with the basis on which the consolidated balance sheet of R&E has been presented in Annexure 8a which is in accordance with the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes thereto as set out in Annexure 8a to this Circular (in compliance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS).

In the respective notes to the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 before the proposed transaction (Annexure 8a) and the Group NAV Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a), the respective directors highlight certain limitations relating to the lack of audited financial information as well as limitations on the completeness of financial information. For a better understanding of the circumstances and the basis of preparation of the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 and the Group NAV Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a), reference should be made to the respective notes thereto.

The unaudited pro forma financial effects have been prepared for illustrative purposes only and because of its nature and the inhibiting factors referred to above, the unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet after the proposed transaction may not give a fair reflection of R&E's financial position after the proposed transaction. It has been assumed for the purposes of the pro forma financial information that the proposed transaction took place on 31 March 2008. It does not purport to be indicative of what the financial position would have been had the proposed transaction been implemented on a different date. The unaudited pro forma financial effects of the proposed transaction are based on the estimates and assumptions set out in the notes to Annexure 9a to this Circular. The directors of R&E are responsible for the preparation of the unaudited pro forma financial effects.

The unaudited pro forma financial effects as set out below should be read in conjunction with the unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of R&E as set out in Annexure 9a to this Circular, together with any estimates and assumptions upon which the financial effects are based, as indicated in the notes thereto in Annexure 9a.

The independent reporting accountant's report relating to the unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of R&E as set out in Annexure 9a to this Circular is included as Annexure 9b to this Circular.

The pro forma financial effects after the proposed transaction presented below has been prepared from the information available to the directors of R&E and includes the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 8a) before the proposed transaction and the Group NAV Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a) together with adjustments as further set out in the notes to Annexure 9a to this circular.

Based on merger ratio of 95:1	Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008	Pro forma* Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008 after the proposed transaction	Percentage difference
Net asset value per R&E share (Cents)	766.72	2 523.77	229.16%
Net tangible asset value per R&E share (Cents)	766.72	2 523.77	229.16%

7. NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETING

A General Meeting of the shareholders of R&E has been convened and will be held at The Hilton, Rivonia Road, Sandton on Monday, 19 January 2009 at 10:00 for the purpose of considering and, if deemed fit, passing, with or without modification, the resolutions required to approve (and to the extent necessary ratify) the proposal in order for the present Board of R&E to implement the proposed transaction. 8. THE SCHEME DOCUMENT

8.1 Shareholders are hereby advised that the R&E board will make available for inspection a copy of the scheme circular issued by the board of JCI and place same on R&E's website, as soon as such scheme circular is made available to JCI shareholders. R&E will make an announcement on SENS informing all R&E shareholders as to when such scheme document is made available to JCI shareholders as set out above.

CIRCULAR TO R&E SHAREHOLDERS

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 On 23 April 2007, R&E and JCI announced on SENS, that pursuant to the recommendation of the Mediators, R&E intended to propose a scheme of arrangement between JCI and its shareholders (excluding R&E) which, if implemented, would result in R&E becoming the owner of the entire issued share capital of JCI (and JCI becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of R&E).

1.2 In the Information Update (dated 24 July 2008), shareholders were informed that as a result of delays in concluding the proposed merger, R&E and JCI had been engaged in negotiation regarding a settlement and on 21 July 2008 had signed an MOU, with a view to a possible settlement agreement being concluded between the companies within 21 days thereof.

1.3 On 26 August 2008, R&E announced on SENS that the companies had not been able to achieve the settlement agreement as envisaged in the MOU and furthermore, had not been able to execute the proposed merger as contemplated in the joint SENS announcement dated 23 April 2007. R&E announced further, that the merger having failed, the dispute between the companies would be referred to arbitration. In the same announcement R&E cited various parties in respect of which it has proceeded with legal action in an attempt to recover damages arising from assets which it alleges were misappropriated from it during the Kebble era. (It should be noted that the Mediation Agreement provides inter alia that should the merger fail for any reason whatsoever, the disputes between the companies would be referred to arbitration.)

1.4 On 27 August 2008, JCI published a SENS announcement in which it announced that in its view, there was no reason why the merger should be aborted and that JCI intended engaging with R&E in regard to the issues raised in R&E's announcement.

1.5 Following the SENS announcement of 26 August 2008, certain of R&E's major shareholders approached the present Board of R&E and requested that R&E revisit a possible merger with JCI as an alternative to immediate arbitration.

1.6 The present Board of R&E is mindful of the costs associated with pursuing a protracted arbitration with JCI at this stage and of its obligation to R&E shareholders to seek an expedient solution to the impasse with JCI, to the extent achievable.

1.7 Having obtained various regulatory dispensations and rulings from the JSE and SRP (regarding the formal disclosure requirements applicable to such a merger), due largely to the inability on the part of R&E and JCI to produce annual financial statements, the present Board of R&E is now in a position to formally seek the requisite approvals from R&E shareholders in order to proceed with a merger with JCI.

1.8 The present Board of R&E regards the merger as a prudent, pragmatic and viable mechanism to resolve the difficulties between R&E and JCI.

1.9 On 4 November 2008, the present Board of R&E made the proposal to JCI in line with the resolutions referred to in paragraphs 2.5.1 to 2.5.5 below.

1.10 The proposed transaction requires R&E shareholders to approve the requisite resolutions set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting, to enable R&E to proceed with the proposed merger (which forms the subject matter of this Circular), and in so doing to ratify the proposal.

2. PURPOSE OF THIS CIRCULAR AND THE R&E GENERAL MEETING

2.1 The purpose of this Circular is to provide R&E shareholders with the requisite information upon which to make a decision in respect of the proposed resolutions as set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting relating to the approval required from R&E shareholders in order for the present Board of R&E to proceed with the proposed merger and to ratify the proposal made to JCI, that JCI and the scheme participants (excluding R&E), conclude the scheme of arrangement as proposed, and that each eligible scheme participant transfers its ordinary shares in JCI to the Company in exchange for the issue and allotment of shares in the Company, on the basis of the merger ratio being the allotment of one new ordinary R&E share for every 95 ordinary JCI shares held by JCI scheme participants, the further details of which and the manner in which fractions of shares will be dealt with in respect of the proposed merger being set out in paragraph 2.5.1 below and the Notice of the R&E general meeting.

2.2 R&E shareholders should note that the merger ratio enjoys the support of the present Board of R&E. The merger ratio has been considered by the Mediators, as confirmed in their report which is attached hereto as Annexure 1. As appears from the Mediators' Report, the Mediators consider the proposed merger to be commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of R&E and JCI in the circumstances.

2.3 In order to give effect to the proposed merger, and to enable JCI to conclude a scheme of arrangement with its shareholders (excluding R&E) pursuant to the provisions of section 311(1) of the Act, the authorised share capital of R&E will need to be increased through the creation of the new R&E shares.

2.4 Accordingly, a General Meeting of the shareholders of R&E has been convened to take place at 10:00 on Monday, 19 January 2009, at 10:00 The Hilton, Rivonia Road, Sandton, Johannesburg, South Africa.

Resolutions to be tabled at the R&E general meeting

2.5 The purpose of the R&E general meeting is to consider and if deemed acceptable, to adopt the following resolutions, which appear in full in the Notice of the R&E general meeting enclosed with this Circular:

2.5.1 that R&E shareholders ratify the proposal, that JCI and the JCI scheme participants (excluding R&E), conclude a scheme of arrangement on or before 31 March 2009, or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), in terms whereof, subject to the fulfilment of the conditions precedent to such scheme of arrangement as proposed being fulfilled, each eligible scheme participant in South Africa and other permissable jurisdictions will transfer its ordinary shares in JCI to the Company in exchange for the issue and allotment of one new R&E share for every 95 ordinary JCI shares so transferred on the basis that where any fractional entitlement to a new R&E share arises from the application of the merger ratio and:

- such fractional entitlement to a new R&E share is 0.5 or more, such fraction will be rounded up to the nearest whole number; and
- such fractional entitlement to a new R&E share is less than 0.5, such fraction will be rounded down to the nearest whole number;

2.5.2 that the proposal be ratified by R&E shareholders subject to the further proviso that:

- the NAV of JCI at 31 March 2008 as set out in this Circular ("the JCI NAV") does not reduce by more than 10%, excluding the effect that any fluctuation in the prices of listed equities and derivatives and the JCI group's investment in Jaganda may have thereon; and/or
- the NAV of R&E at 31 March 2008 as set out in this Circular ("the R&E NAV") does not increase by more than 20%, excluding the effect that any fluctuations in the prices of listed equities and derivatives may have thereon; should either the JCI NAV or the R&E NAV fluctuate as set out above after the making of the proposal but prior to 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), or the date on which the last in time of the conditions precedent as set out in paragraphs 2.6.1 to 2.6.6 below, to be fulfilled, is fulfilled (whichever is the first occurring), the Board of R&E shall in either of such events be obliged to withdraw the proposal;

2.5.3 that subject to the passing of the resolution referred to in paragraph 2.5.1 above and the special resolution authorising the issue of the new shares, that the Company be authorised to make a cash payment to those eligible JCI scheme participants whose fractional entitlement to a new R&E ordinary share will be rounded down to the nearest whole number, in terms whereof such JCI scheme participants, having so elected, will receive a cash payment of R16.19 for any fractional entitlement to an ordinary R&E share that may be rounded downwards;

2.5.4 subject to the passing of the resolution referred to in paragraphs 2.5.1 above, and the fulfilment of the conditions precedent pertaining to the scheme of arrangement by 31 March 2009, or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), that the Company approve a special resolution increasing its authorised ordinary share capital by the creation of the new R&E shares so as to ensure that there are sufficient unissued R&E shares in the authorised share capital of the Company for the issue and allotment of the new R&E shares to eligible JCI scheme participants (in terms whereof the authorised and unissued shares in R&E's share capital, including those to be issued in terms of the proposed merger, will be of the same class and will rank pari passu in all respects);

2.5.5 following the adoption of the resolutions referred to in paragraphs 2.5.1 and 2.5.4 and any other resolutions which may be adopted, the new R&E shares are to be placed under the control of the present Board of R&E who are authorised to issue and allot such shares for the purposes of implementing the scheme of arrangement.

Conditions precedent

2.6 R&E shareholders should note that notwithstanding their approval of the proposed merger as contemplated in this Circular, in order for the scheme of arrangement to proceed there are various conditions precedent that will need to be fulfilled, which will include, inter alia, the following:

2.6.1 the approval by the requisite majority of R&E shareholders in general meeting of the resolutions ratifying the proposal (Ordinary Resolution Number 1), authorising the share capital of R&E to be increased by the new R&E shares (Special Resolution Number 1) and placing the new shares under the control of the Board of R&E with the authority to allot and issue such new shares (Ordinary Resolution Number 4) as tabled in the Notice of R&E general meeting attached to this Circular, by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009);

2.6.2 the approval by the requisite majority of eligible JCI scheme participants representing not less than three-fourths of the votes exercisable by such JCI scheme participants present and voting, either in person or by proxy at the meeting to give effect to the scheme of arrangement, by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009;

2.6.3 the Registrar of Companies registering Special Resolution Number 1 as set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009);

2.6.4 the High Court of South Africa sanctioning the scheme of arrangement by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009);

2.6.5 the Registrar of Companies registering a certified copy of the Order of Court sanctioning the scheme of arrangement in terms of the Act, by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009);

2.6.6 the approval of all regulatory approvals or consents to the extent required (including the Competition Authorities) being granted, necessary to implement the scheme of arrangement by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009);

2.6.7 if Ordinary Resolution Number 2 as set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting is passed, then by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), or the date on which the last in time of the conditions precedent detailed in paragraphs 2.6.1 to 2.6.6 above to be fulfilled, is fulfilled (whichever is the first occurring), the NAV of JCI at 31 March 2008 (as set out in Annexure 6a), shall not have reduced by more than 10%, excluding the effect that any fluctuation in the prices of listed equities and derivatives and the JCI group's investment in Jaganda (in liquidation), may have thereon;

2.6.8 if Ordinary Resolution Number 2 as set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting is passed, then by no later than Tuesday, 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), or the date on which the last in time of the conditions precedent detailed in paragraphs 2.6.1 to 2.6.6 above to be fulfilled, is fulfilled (whichever is the first occurring) the NAV of R&E at 31 March 2008 (as set out in Annexure 5a), shall not have increased by more than 20%, excluding the effect that any fluctuation in the prices of listed equities and derivatives may have thereon.

If any of the above conditions precedent shall not have been fulfilled by the date specified in paragraph 2.6 above for its fulfilment, the JCI scheme shall lapse and be of no force and effect.

General

2.7 The adoption of the resolutions referred to in paragraphs 2.5.1 to 2.5.5 above is subject to such resolutions being approved by the requisite majority of R&E shareholders, entitled to vote thereon, at the R&E general meeting.

2.8 The proposed merger is classified as a Category 1 transaction and as a related party transaction in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements and accordingly R&E is required to obtain shareholder approval (excluding those related parties as set out in paragraph 11 of this Circular), ratifying the proposal in general meeting. Accordingly, those related parties as described in paragraph 11 below will be taken into account for the purposes of determining a quorum in respect of Ordinary Resolutions Numbers 1, 2 and 3 as set out in the Notice of the R&E general meeting, but will not be entitled to vote thereon. All other R&E shareholders will be entitled to vote thereon, including the holders of the disputed R&E shares and ADR holders. Save for the restrictions placed on related parties from voting in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements, all shares in issue as held by R&E shareholders, whether or not disputed R&E shares, are entitled to vote at the R&E general meeting, including ADR holders.

2.9 In addition, in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements pertaining to related party transactions, the Board of R&E is required to obtain a Fairness Opinion in respect of the proposed transaction. The inability to produce a Fairness Opinion was motivated to the JSE. The Mediators' Report (being Annexure 1) has been included in this Circular.

2.10 The offer in terms of the scheme of arrangement is not being made, directly or indirectly, in any jurisdiction or to any JCI shareholder in any jurisdiction where this offer or the acquisition of R&E shares would or might constitute a violation of the laws of such jurisdiction or require registration or approval under the securities laws of such jurisdiction and accordingly JCI shareholders in any such jurisdiction may not tender their JCI shares or receive R&E shares or otherwise accept the offer as contemplated in terms of the scheme of arrangement or receive this Circular. The completion of the scheme of arrangement is subject to a number of conditions precedent being fulfilled, including, without limitation, shareholder approval by R&E and JCI and the receipt of regulatory approvals. Shareholders in certain jurisdictions outside of South Africa may not be entitled to receive any R&E shares as scheme consideration if such receipt would require registration or approval under local securities laws in R&E's sole discretion. R&E currently intends to put a mechanism in place, to the extent permitted, so that the shareholders in such jurisdictions may receive cash instead of such R&E shares. Such mechanism may include the implementation of an arrangement for the sale of the R&E shares in South Africa due to the eligible JCI scheme participants, which such shareholders would otherwise be entitled to in South Africa, and the distribution of the sale proceeds therefrom to such shareholders. R&E's shares currently only trade in the over-the-counter market in South Africa on a limited basis. As a result, there can be no assurance as to how long R&E would be able, if at all, to arrange for the sale of such R&E shares in South Africa, what price could be obtained, if any, for the sale of such R&E shares in South Africa or that R&E would be able to successfully implement such mechanism, should the Board of R&E indeed elect to utilise such mechanism. Notwithstanding any of the foregoing, R&E expressly reserves the right to implement any other mechanism, or no mechanism, that it determines in its sole discretion.

2.11 The scheme document

2.11.1 Shareholders are hereby advised that the R&E board will make available for inspection a copy of the scheme circular issued by the board of JCI and place same on R&E's website, as soon as such scheme circular is made available to JCI shareholders. R&E will make an announcement on SENS informing all R&E shareholders as to when such scheme circular is made available to JCI shareholders as set out above.

2.11.2 Shareholders are further advised that no SRP approval is required for the purposes of this Circular to R&E shareholders. Details pertaining to any application for rulings and rulings granted by the SRP in respect of the scheme circular will be documented in the scheme circular to be posted to JCI shareholders in due course and made available to R&E shareholders as referred to in 2.11.1 above.

3. BACKGROUND TO THE PROPOSED MERGER

3.1 The background to the R&E claims and the JCI dispute is best illustrated with reference to the following timeline:

Prior to 24 August 2005 (the Kebble era)	• R&E alleges that during the Kebble era, it was the victim of widespread frauds and thefts of its assets on a scale unprecedented in South African corporate history. • Kebble was the CEO of both R&E and JCI. • Dr Mark Bristow, the CEO of RRL, questioned whether R&E continued to hold its substantial investment in RRL (which comprised the majority of R&E's asset base). • Kebble maintained throughout that R&E still held its investment in RRL. • The uncertainty surrounding R&E's investment in RRL prevented R&E from publishing annual financial statements for the financial year ended 31 December 2004. • On 8 December 2004, PWC resigned as R&E's auditors. • On 8 December 2004, Charles Orbach was appointed as R&E's auditors. • As at August 2005, JCI was in a precarious financial position requiring funding.
1 August 2005	• R&E was suspended on the JSE (having failed to comply with the requirements of both the JSE and Nasdaq) as a result of it not being able to produce audited annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2004.

24 August 2005	• The boards of directors of R&E and JCI (as well as Western Areas and Matodzi) were reconstituted in consequence of Investec agreeing to extend a financial rescue package to JCIIF, (with the support of Allan Gray), which gave rise to Kebble and Roger, together with other R&E and JCI directors, resigning. • Gray and Lamprecht were appointed to the board of R&E as CEO and Financial Director, respectively. • Newly constituted R&E Board appointments resulted in an overlap between the boards of JCI and R&E in respect of Gray, Lamprecht and Nissen, and later Nurek (with effect from 7 October 2005). • Subject to the re-constitution of the various boards, Investec agreed to extend a financial rescue package to JCIIF of R460 million aimed mainly at enabling JCI to settle a judgment granted in favour of Benoryn Investments (Pty) Limited for approximately R70 million.
5 September 2005	• Charles Orbach resigned as auditors of R&E due to an inability to reconcile the financial affairs of the Company, including validating the existence of R&E's investment in RRL (and various other listed investments), thus precluding them from being able to finalise the audit for the year ended 31 December 2004.
14 October 2005	• The newly constituted Board of R&E appointed independent forensic auditors, JLMC (formerly Umbono), to embark on a forensic investigation on behalf of R&E.
Mid-October 2005	• JCI also appointed forensic investigators, KPMG Services, to undertake a forensic investigation into the affairs of JCI.
27 October 2005	• The newly constituted Board of R&E appointed KPMG to act as R&E's statutory auditors.
End of October 2005	• JLMC established that CMMS had not properly recorded the inter-company loan accounts between JCI and R&E as one of many mechanisms used to disguise alleged misappropriations. No meaningful explanation could be provided as to the whereabouts of the proceeds derived from the sale of R&E's shares in RRL. • The 1st interim forensic report of JLMC indicated that it appeared that there had been wide scale misappropriations of R&E assets from which it appeared further that the JCI group had benefitted therefrom. • JLMC continued with their investigations and the newly constituted Board of R&E appointed an independent legal team. • The forensic reports that followed indicated that the greater majority of R&E's assets had been misappropriated and that legal claims existed between R&E and JCI.
7 April 2006	• The Mediation Agreement was concluded. This provided for the mediation of the claims between the companies arising out of the Kebble era, and in the event of the mediation failing, arbitration. • Based on the findings of JLMC and contributions from witnesses, the R&E claims were formulated against JCI. • An analysis of the R&E claims and JLMC's findings indicated a series of complex and intricate transactions which occurred over many years. • The R&E claims amounted to R5,6 billion (based on the highest value thereof at the time), excluding interest. (JCI has contested such claims and denies any liability to R&E). • The Mediation Agreement provided for the appointment of the Mediators.
20 June 2006	• KPMG Services and JLMC exchanged the 8th of May report and forensic report of JLMC, respectively, which were prepared for the purposes of the mediation.

	• Subsequent to the 8th of May report, JCI served the further JCI report on R&E (which was not contemplated under the Mediation Agreement).
19 July 2006	• R&E and JCI concluded an addendum to the Mediation Agreement, extending the time period for the filing of Statements of Claim and by when the mediation should be resolved by.
8 September 2006	• JCI served a Statement of Defence on R&E, denying any indebtedness to R&E.
Mid-December 2006	• The Mediators requested additional financial information regarding the flow of funds between the R&E group and the JCI group, especially with regard to the disposal of R&E's listed investments.
19 – 22 February 2007	• The newly constituted Board of R&E and the Board of JCI endorsed the notion of a merger between the companies and resolved to canvass such possibility with the Mediators.
28 February 2007	• The Mediators issued an interim recommendation, followed by an explanatory note on 5 March 2007, in which they suggested that based on the NAV of JCI at the time an imputed settlement of between R1.2 to R1.5 billion represented a realistic starting point to resolve the disputes between the companies.
15 March 2007	• An update to R&E shareholders regarding the merger was published on SENS.
23 April 2007	• A joint SENS announcement was made by R&E and JCI indicating that pursuant to the recommendation of the Mediators, the respective boards proposed to recommend the proposed scheme of arrangement to their shareholders.
19 June 2007	• An application was submitted by R&E and JCI to the JSE and SRP for dispensation from complying with certain rulings and regulations regarding the proposed merger. • The shareholders of R&E and JCI were called upon to make submissions to the SRP in regard to the merger.
September 2007	• A Second Addendum to the Mediation Agreement was signed providing for the mediation to be referred to arbitration in the event of a merger failing for any reason whatsoever.

3.2 The matters referred to in the table above are in no way intended to be exhaustive of what follows in this Circular and shareholders are required to carefully study the contents thereof, as well as the Information Update (to the extent referred to in this Circular), and give consideration to the complex issues detailed herein.

4. THE PROPOSED TRANSACTION

4.1 The proposed merger

4.1.1 The Business of R&E and JCI

The Business of R&E

R&E is an investment holding company with assets in the mining industry. The Company aims to invest in high quality assets that will ensure maximum return for its shareholders. It currently holds prospecting rights directly and indirectly (through subsidiary companies) which it plans to develop further in order to add value to its investments. R&E will only consider mining where the resource analysis proves that it is commercially prudent to do so. There are no operational mines in the group.

Recovery of assets

R&E alleges that the R&E group was the victim of widespread frauds and thefts of their assets during the Kebble era which resulted in the R&E group being stripped of the majority of their assets. Based on forensic investigations, legal assessments and the opinion of R&E's Counsel, R&E has embarked on a process of attempting to recover damages allegedly occasioned to the R&E group in respect of the alleged misappropriation of their assets.

The Business of JCI

JCI has invested in various industries having formerly had a strong mining background. R&E has lodged various claims against JCI, totalling approximately R14 billion based on the highest value of such claims up to 31 March 2008.

4.1.2 Vendors of JCI

Should the proposed merger be approved by R&E shareholders as contemplated in this Circular, and should the scheme of arrangement as proposed by the present Board of R&E (which is subject to the ratification of the R&E shareholders as requested in terms of this Circular) become unconditional, then the vendors will be all of the shareholders in JCI save for R&E (to the extent that it is already a shareholder in JCI). The major shareholders of JCI (excluding R&E) who are eligible to participate in the scheme of arrangement are detailed in paragraph 23.2 of this Circular.

4.1.3 Effective date

The effective date of the proposed merger will be the date upon which the scheme of arrangement becomes unconditional.

4.1.4 Conditions precedent

The proposed merger is subject to the conditions precedent as set out in paragraph 2.6 that, inter alia, the resolutions as set out in the Notice of R&E general meeting attached to this Circular (if deemed acceptable) are approved by the requisite majority of R&E shareholders, and the scheme of arrangement proposed to JCI (and the JCI scheme participants), is approved by JCI shareholders (excluding R&E), and becomes unconditional by the condition precedent fulfilment date.

4.1.5 Other significant terms

The scheme of arrangement requires implementation prior to 31 March 2009 (or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009)), failing which the scheme of arrangement will no longer be valid. No goodwill arises in respect of the proposed transaction.

5. RATIONALE FOR THE PROSPOSED TRANSACTION

5.1 Factors detracting from arbitration

5.1.1 In the absence of a merger, the present Board of R&E will have little choice but to refer the R&E claims to arbitration. Much time and significant cost will be expended on preparing for and prosecuting the arbitration and it has been conservatively estimated that the arbitration will endure for a considerable period of time (the preparation and hearing thereof being estimated at approximately 18 months). The attrition associated with arbitration may detract from its desirability.

5.1.2 Should the R&E claims be successfully sustained after a lengthy arbitration, the final result may not vest in R&E a tangible financial advantage which R&E could not otherwise obtain through a responsibly negotiated resolution of the present impasse. More importantly, the success of the arbitration is constrained by JCI's NAV, of R1.02 billion as at the last practicable date, as set out in this Circular. There is no prospect of R&E being able to satisfy its claims (if successful) beyond the extent of JCI's NAV at present. The merger may therefore result in a saving of costs which could otherwise make inroads into JCI's NAV. Management's time will also be saved, as will the allocation of resources in pursuing the arbitration, with the concomitant advantages which could arise there from. In short, R&E may be in a more favourable financial position should the matter be resolved on the basis of a merger than it otherwise might be were the arbitration to proceed. (It should however be noted that R&E and certain of its subsidiaries have proceeded with a number of summonses against a variety of parties whom it is contended have occasioned R&E and such subsidiaries loss. The possibility exists that such parties may seek to hold JCI accountable in respect thereof, the likelihood and the extent of which and ability of JCI to meet same not being possible to quantify or determine.)

5.1.3 Should JCI fail in its defence in the arbitration, its liquidation could follow. Were JCI to be wound up, the costs of liquidation could substantially erode any possible recovery by R&E. Any reduction in the NAV of JCI will filter directly through to R&E and its shareholders, and impact directly upon the extent of the recovery available to R&E. A merger will not extinguish the R&E claims. Such claims will be preserved for the board of R&E to determine how best to deal therewith for the benefit of the shareholders of the merged entity in due course. Any possible liquidation may also hold grave implications in respect of JCI's portfolio of prospecting rights. In terms of the MPRDA Act, were JCI to be wound-up, the prospecting rights which it has converted to date may lapse.

5.1.4 During such arbitration process, the engagement of R&E's senior executive management and the commitment of vast financial resources to such process (which may extend to in the region of R10 to R35 million), will need to be dedicated to the prosecution of R&E's claims.

Such utilisation of management's time and resources could very well lead to the foregoing of possible business opportunities which may evolve. (To date R&E has incurred approximately R150 000 in respect of the arbitration, as it is only in its fledgling stage.)

5.1.5 The merger ratio of one new R&E share for every 95 JCI shares will effectively allocate approximately 77% of the combined companies to R&E shareholders and 23% to JCI scheme participants in the post-merger group (on the basis that the scheme of arrangement becomes unconditional).

5.1.6 This merger proposal is the final attempt by the Company to resolve the difficulties facing the companies in a commercially pragmatic fashion.

5.2 Support from various parties for the proposed merger

Certain of the shareholders have since the R&E SENS announcement dated 26 August 2008 requested the present Board of R&E to revisit a merger, indicating their support therefor. The Mediators have also expressed their support for the proposed merger as appears from the Mediators Report being Annexure 1 to this Circular. Faced with the alternatives to a merger, the Board of R&E supports a merger as a pragmatic resolution to the difficulties which confront R&E and its shareholders.

5.3 R&E and JCI post the merger

5.3.1 The merger alternative affords the shareholders of both R&E and JCI, a mechanism whereby although the R&E claims remain unresolved, the new board of the combined R&E and JCI will be appointed for the benefit of all shareholders in R&E, and will be vested with the opportunity to determine how best to deal therewith. Through a merger, the companies will be able to pool their collective energies in an attempt to benefit and create a revitalised group. The companies can then commit their combined resources to the pursuit of core business aimed at restoring each of R&E and JCI in so far as is possible.

5.3.2 Management will then be able to focus their attention on the pursuit of increasing value within the group and take advantage of corporate opportunities which may arise for the benefit of R&E and its shareholders, including the JCI scheme participants.

5.3.3 The shareholders in the merged entity (including the erstwhile shareholders of JCI), stand to benefit directly from all and any recoveries made against third parties although it is not possible to predict the extent to which such third parties may seek recourse against JCI and to what extent JCI will be undermined hereby.

5.3.4 The present Board of R&E is of the considered view that a merger will bring about relative certainty for R&E shareholders.

6. THE MEDIATION AGREEMENT AND THE R&E CLAIMS

6.1 The main features of the Mediation Agreement are that both R&E and its subsidiary and associated companies on the one hand and JCI and its subsidiary and associated companies on the other, would be treated as single entities. In terms of the Mediation Agreement, JCI is defined to include both it and its subsidiaries and associated companies, including its interest in CMMS. (A similar definition applies to R&E.) At the inception of the mediation, both R&E and JCI were obliged to exchange separate forensic reports, detailing the basis of any claims which either company alleged it enjoyed against the other. Both companies would thereafter formulate claims, by way of a Statement of Claim. Following the exchange of their respective Statements of Claim, both companies would exchange Statements of Defence. Three experienced professionals, consisting of a Senior Counsel, a Mediation Specialist and a Chartered Accountant, were to be appointed to manage the mediation process and make recommendations to the companies. The shareholders of both companies in general meeting would ultimately be required to decide whether or not to accept any recommendation that the Mediators may make. Failure by the shareholders to endorse the recommendation by the Mediators, would result in the claims being referred to arbitration in accordance with the expedited rules of AFSA, the outcome of which would be binding on the companies (and subject only to one right of appeal).

6.2 The formal mediation process commenced with the exchange by the parties of the 8th of May report as prepared by KPMG Services and JLMC's report of 20 June 2006. Such exchange took place on 20 June 2006.

6.3 R&E's Statement of Claim was served on JCI on 3 August 2006. JCI did not serve a Statement of Claim on R&E. On 8 September 2006 JCI however served its Statement of Defence on R&E.

6.4 A summary of the mediation process and the R&E claims, as well as the legal basis upon which they are predicated, is to be found in Annexure 2 to this Circular (Overview of R&E claims at 31 October 2008 against JCI).

6.5 Annexure 2 (Overview of R&E claims at 31 October 2008 against JCI) includes a table summarising the R&E claims at the time they were lodged against JCI, and updated for progress made to date.

7. THE PROSPECTS OF SUCCESS OF R&E'S CLAIMS

R&E's legal team were instructed to formulate the R&E claims with reference to the findings of JLMC, the forensic reports and the input of various witnesses. R&E's Counsel have furnished an opinion to R&E in terms whereof (on the basis of their analysis of the forensic reports and witnesses interviewed thus far) they indicate that in their view, a reasonable prospect of success exists in respect of the R&E claims, subject to the qualifications as more fully set out in the formal opinion by R&E's Counsel which is attached to this Circular as Annexure 4 (R&E's Senior Counsel's opinion in respect of the R&E claims).

8. THE GENESIS OF THE PROPOSED MERGER

In giving expression to the machinery of the Mediation Agreement, the Mediators were appointed. The newly constituted Board of R&E were of the view that given the complexity and magnitude of the alleged misappropriations and claims identified, the Mediators were the most suitable persons to mediate the claims. During mid December 2006 the Mediators requested financial information from both R&E and JCI. There was extensive co-operation between the respective boards (and specifically Steyn and Maxwell) as the prospect of a merger between R&E and JCI began taking hold as a pragmatic solution to the impasse at hand. The idea of a merger was favourably received by the newly constituted Board of R&E and the Board of JCI. During the period 19 February to 22 February 2007, the respective boards of R&E and JCI endorsed the notion of the merger and the idea was canvassed with the Mediators, given that the mediation process was well underway.

9. THE MEDIATORS' RECOMMENDATION AND THE EVENTS SUBSEQUENT THERETO

On 28 February 2007, the Mediators issued an interim recommendation that R&E and JCI merge. The Mediators went further to recommend that an imputed settlement of between R1.2 to R1.5 billion based on the NAV of JCI at the time (31 March 2007) represented "a realistic starting point to resolve the disputes between the companies – the basis being that the settlement figure be used to ultimately drive the merger ratio between the shareholders of the companies". On 3 November 2008, the Mediators furnished their updated Mediators' Report and indicated that owing to the fact that the NAV of JCI has roughly halved since February 2007, the aforementioned imputed or notional settlement range is no longer valid. Applying the exchange ratio, the Mediators indicate that "this implies a notional settlement figure of approximately R750 million which, having regard to the current financial position of JCI, is a figure which, in our opinion, is not unreasonable". The Mediators arrived at the ultimate conclusion that having regard to all of the factors taken into account, "our 14 April 2008 opinion remains of application, viz: In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI". It should however be noted that the proposed merger will not result in the R&E claims being compromised in any way, a position supported by the Mediators.

10. THE DETERMINATION OF THE MERGER RATIO

10.1 Background to the previously recommended merger ratio

10.1.1 In early 2007, it became clear that even if R&E were to be successful in the arbitration against JCI, in relation to the R&E claims (initially R5.8 billion based on the highest value of such claims at the time) the NAV of JCI was insufficient to meet same.

10.1.2 The respective Boards of R&E and JCI were cognisant of the Mediators' view that any merger should leave some value for JCI scheme participants. Accordingly, the Boards of R&E and JCI went about formulating a possible merger that left some value for the shareholders of JCI.

10.1.3 Ultimately, after much consultation with the major shareholders of both R&E and JCI a merger ratio of 95 JCI shares for every one R&E share was accepted by the respective Boards of R&E and JCI, as well as by major shareholders, and it was resolved that such merger ratio should be proposed to the respective shareholders of the companies. It was also resolved that the NAV's of R&E and JCI at 31 March 2007 should be utilised for the purpose of the determination of the merger ratio to be proposed at that time.

10.1.4 For the sake of completeness the board of R&E invites the attention of shareholders to the following considerations and circumstances that were taken into account in arriving at the previously recommended merger ratio.

10.1.5 During the early stages of 2007, Maxwell and Steyn together with KPMG Services and JLMC, engaged with the Mediators (and in particular Professor Harvey Wainer), regarding the extent of funds which had allegedly flowed from R&E to JCI in respect of R&E's assets. Whether a negotiated settlement of the claims between R&E and JCI was capable of being attained had to be considered.

10.1.6 It became obvious that a factor in support of the merger was that the NAV of JCI in relation to R&E's claims rendered a long and complex arbitration unattractive, even if R&E was to be substantially successful.

10.1.7 In the discussions which ensued between Maxwell and Steyn:

10.1.7.1 The unaudited NAV of JCI, excluding the R&E claims and any liability which may arise therefrom, was conservatively estimated by Maxwell during December 2006 to amount to between R1.4 billion to R1.8 billion;

10.1.7.2 It was determined that even on the assumption that R&E were to succeed with its claims in full against JCI, the unaudited NAV of JCI rendered a full recovery unlikely.

10.1.8 With reference to the figures then being discussed, Maxwell and Steyn took account of the view of the Mediators, namely that leaving no value for JCI scheme participants in implementing any merger as a possible solution to the complexities facing the companies, was both unrealistic and a poor alternative to litigation for JCI. In this context, Maxwell and Steyn agreed that a workable compromise could be found in a merger swap ratio which imputed a figure of 106 JCI shares for one R&E share at that time.

10.1.9 The proposed ratio initially found favour with the executive directors of both R&E and JCI at the time. It was formally unanimously endorsed by the Board of R&E, albeit that the assent of two of R&E's directors was conditional. The Board of JCI however did not formally endorse this ratio.

10.1.10 During a road show undertaken by Gray, Steyn and Maxwell to canvass the idea of a possible merger with the major shareholders of R&E (under confidentiality agreements), an exchange ratio of 106 JCI shares for one R&E share was tabled for discussion.

10.1.11 In consequence of the views expressed by the major shareholders in regard to the values of the individual assets and liabilities of R&E and JCI, Maxwell and Steyn revised the merger ratio to 95 JCI shares for one R&E share, which revised merger ratio was submitted to the Boards of R&E and JCI. Both of the Boards of R&E and JCI approved thereof.

10.1.12 The information which was initially imparted to the major shareholders of R&E was subsequently published in an update to all shareholders on 15 March 2007. There was an acceptance between the Boards of R&E and JCI at the time and the major shareholders of both companies, that subject to there not being any material or adverse change in the financial positions of either R&E or JCI, a merger should be proposed to the respective shareholders of both companies at a ratio of 95 JCI shares for one R&E share.

10.1.13 The Boards of R&E and JCI determined that pending the implementation of the merger, the proposed ratio should be 95 JCI shares for one R&E share, irrespective of changing market conditions which might prevail (but subject to other material changes which may eventuate, although none were anticipated).

10.1.14 The NAV statements of R&E and JCI at 31 March 2007 (excluding the R&E claims), incorporating limited assurance reports from KPMG were published on SENS on 13 December 2007.

10.1.15 These NAV statements reflected the NAV positions of R&E and JCI respectively at 31 March 2007, but excluded any assets in favour of R&E or any liability owing by JCI to R&E arising from the R&E claims and no contingent liabilities were raised in respect of any contribution which may have been found to be owing by JCI in respect of the third party claims. At 31 March 2007, the NAV Statement of R&E (excluding any asset which may result from the R&E claims), reflected an NAV of approximately R589 million, which equated to R8.196 per R&E share. The NAV Statement of JCI at 31 March 2007, reflected an NAV of approximately R2 088 million (excluding any liability which may arise from the R&E claims), which equated to R1.0324 per JCI share.

10.2 Basis of the merger ratio as set out in this Circular

10.2.1 Pursuant to the SENS announcement of 26 August 2008, with R&E having informed shareholders of its intention to pursue arbitration, and with the settlement and merger negotiations having failed, certain R&E shareholders approached the present Board of R&E and requested that it revisit a possible merger between R&E and JCI. In the light of such requests, the present Board of R&E resolved to pursue a merger as an alternative to immediate arbitration. The proposed merger is regarded as a possible mechanism of resolving the difficulties between the companies with a view to obtaining the necessary approval to proceed with the proposed merger on the basis as set out in this Circular, should the parties agree on such merger.

10.2.2 The present Board of R&E has determined the merger ratio, as reflected in this Circular, based on what it views as a pragmatic solution to the impasse between R&E and JCI and the resultant arbitration which seems inevitable. The present Board of R&E, having taken cognisance of the Mediators' previously recommended imputed settlement range and the background thereto as set out in paragraph 10.1 above, has based the merger ratio as reflected in this Circular on what it regards as being an equitable ratio for both R&E and JCI shareholders under the current circumstances.

10.2.3 Furthermore, the merger ratio enjoys the support of the Mediators as reflected in the report by the Mediators attached hereto as Annexure 1. Such Mediators' Report has been issued in lieu of a Fairness Opinion, the details of which are further set out in paragraph 11 below and in Annexure 1 to the Circular. The present Board of R&E regards the proposed merger as being in the interests of R&E shareholders and their opinion in this regard is set out in paragraph 19 below. The merger ratio allocates approximately 77% of the combined companies to R&E shareholders and 23% to JCI scheme participants in the post merger group. Such allocation will apply equally to any recoveries against third parties and correspondingly to any liabilities arising in respect thereof.

10.2.4 In terms of Ordinary Resolution Number 2 of the Notice of the R&E general Meeting, it is proposed, in ratifying the proposal, that the R&E shareholders attach the proviso that:

10.2.4.1 the JCI NAV at 31 March 2008 does not reduce by more than 10%, excluding the effect that any fluctuation in the prices of listed equities and derivatives and the JCI group's investment in Jaganda may have thereon; and/or

10.2.4.2 the R&E NAV at 31 March 2008 does not increase by more than 20% excluding the effect that any fluctuation in the prices of listed equities and derivatives may have thereon.

Should either the JCI NAV or the R&E NAV fluctuate as set out above, after the proposal date, but prior to 31 March 2009 or such later date as R&E and JCI may prior to 31 March 2009 agree in writing (provided that such later date shall not exceed 90 (ninety) days after 31 March 2009), or the date on which the last in time of the conditions precedent to such scheme of arrangement as set out in paragraphs 2.6.1 to 2.6.6 of the Circular to be fulfilled, is fulfilled (whichever is the first occurring), the Board of R&E shall in either of such events be obliged to withdraw the proposal.

10.2.5 Some of the other material factors which could materially affect the values of the companies and hence the abovementioned fluctuations include the outcome of litigation involving the Investec raising fee, R&E's claim against PWC, the third party claims which have been instituted and the litigation between JCI and Jaganda. (Shareholders are further reminded that recourse may also be sought against JCI in respect of the third party claims which if a contribution were to be exacted from it will undermine JCI.) Annexure 11 is a statement of the litigation in which R&E is currently engaged and the attention of shareholders is drawn thereto as well as to the Cohen Report (Annexure 10). A Litigation Statement furnished to R&E by JCI in respect of the litigation in which JCI is involved is set out in Annexure 14 to this Circular.

10.2.6 In terms of the 10% and 20% differential in thresholds as referred to in paragraph 10.2.4 above, R&E shareholders should note that the NAV of R&E at 31 March 2008 (as reflected in Annexure 5a) is approximately R600 million, while that of JCI at 31 March 2008 is approximately R2 billion (as reflected in Annexure 6a). The intention of the present Board of R&E is to allow for a greater fluctuation in R&E's NAV (up to a maximum of R120 million), before being obliged to withdraw the proposal. Should any of the factors contemplated in 10.2.5 above render an increase in R&E's NAV of R120 million or more, then the Board of R&E will be obliged to withdraw the proposal per paragraph 10.2.4 above. Considering that the R&E claims and third party claims could run into billions of Rands each, there is a likelihood that any recovery in terms thereof could exceed R60 million (or 10%) on its own. Accordingly, the present Board of R&E regards 20% as being a prudent threshold in respect of a fluctuation in R&E's NAV. On the same basis, considering JCI's much larger NAV, and the fact that the Board of R&E has little/any control over JCI's NAV, the present Board of R&E regards a 10% decrease as being sufficient cause for considering a withdrawal of the proposal. Such fluctuations in NAV are therefore deemed to be material by the Board and would render the merger ratio no longer commercially viable.

10.2.7 As at 31 March 2008, and bearing in mind the fluctuation in the NAV's of R&E and JCI, a merger ratio of 95 JCI shares for one R&E share effectively allocates approximately R1.8 billion to R&E shareholders and R522 million to JCI scheme participants in respect of the post-merger group, excluding the effect of the cross-shareholdings.

10.3 The impact of adverse market conditions on the merger ratio post 31 March 2008

10.3.1 By far the largest asset of JCI is its investment in Gold Fields. The investment in Gold Fields constitutes approximately 80% of JCI's NAV at 31 March 2008 and 73% of the combined post-merger NAV of the enlarged group (should the JCI scheme become unconditional).

10.3.2 Recently, the world equity markets have experienced significant downward trends, the Gold Fields share price being no exception, having decreased by some 42.57% from the monthly VWAP of R123.51 for March 2008 to R70.93 for the month of October 2008.

10.3.3 Based on the proposed merger ratio of 95 to one, this reduction in the value of the Gold Fields investment has contributed to the reduction in the NAV of JCI from approximately R2 billion at 31 March 2008 to R1.02 billion at 31 October 2008.

10.3.4 The board of R&E is of the opinion that the proposed merger ratio, after considering the above reduction, still remains a commercially acceptable proposition, especially in the light of the alternative to a merger, namely immediate arbitration, as an R&E shareholder will continue to share in approximately 77% of the combined assets and liabilities of the combined companies subsequent to the merger (if so approved by R&E shareholders).

10.3.5 The attention of R&E shareholders is also drawn to the Report of the Mediators and paragraph 11 hereof which details the events to which the Mediators had regard to subsequent to 14 April 2008.

11. RELATED PARTY INFORMATION AND THE MEDIATORS' REPORT

11.1 In view of the fact that JCI (and certain of its subsidiaries) hold in aggregate 10 634 023 shares in R&E, at the last practicable date, comprising 14.21% of the issued share capital of R&E, the proposed merger is classified as a related party transaction in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements.

11.2 Therefore JCI (and its associates, being CMMS and JCIIF), are regarded as related parties to R&E in terms of the JSE's Listings Requirements and will, in respect of Ordinary Resolution Numbers 1, 2 and 3 as set out in the Notice of R&E general meeting attached to this Circular relating to the proposed transaction, be taken into account in determining whether a quorum is present, but will be excluded from voting on such resolution.

The suitability of the Mediators and their reports

11.3 The inability to produce a Fairness Opinion was motivated to the JSE. The Mediators' Report (being Annexure 1 hereto) has been included in this Circular. The Mediators Report has been included in this Circular as it was not possible to produce a Fairness Opinion (as is ordinarily required in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements, having regard to the fact that the proposed transaction is a related party transaction). Annexure 16 sets out the motivation to the JSE for the Mediators' Report to be utilised.

11.4 With effect from 1 June 2007, R&E and JCI appointed the Mediators to express an opinion on the proposed transaction. In order to enable them to do so, the companies agreed, inter alia, to make available to the Mediators all forensic reports compiled by their respective forensic investigators, the companies' calculations relevant to the exchange ratio and generally undertook to act with the utmost good faith towards the Mediators in order to enable the Mediators to furnish an opinion.

11.5 On 3 November 2008, the Mediators' Report was issued, a copy whereof is Annexure 1 hereto. The Mediators concluded by way thereof that:

"Having regard to all of the above, our 14 April 2008 opinion remains of application, viz: "In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI."

The Mediators' Report considered

11.6 In terms of the Mediators' Report it will be noted that:

11.6.1 The Mediators were appointed during 2006, to mediate the dispute that had arisen between the companies;

11.6.2 As a result of the complexity of the matter, and the fact that there was little chance of identifying an independent expert more capable than the Mediators themselves, R&E and, JCI jointly motivated to the JSE the inability to produce a Fairness Opinion. The Mediators Report (being Annexure 1 hereto) has been included in this Circular. The opinion of the Mediators, as set out in the Mediators Report, has been included in this Circular as it was not possible to produce a Fairness Opinion as is ordinarily required in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements in respect of related party transactions. Annexure 16 sets out the motivation to the JSE for the Mediators' Report to be utilised in this manner;

11.6.3 By way of their statement, the Mediators recommended that a merger between the companies be pursued. The Mediators were subsequently approached by the companies to furnish an opinion on the terms of the share swap arrangement then being proposed by the directors of the companies in order to effect a merger;

11.6.4 In considering the matter at the time of their April 2008 opinion, the Mediators contend that they were subject to a number of constraints, inter alia, the background to the dispute related to the misuse of assets (belonging to R&E) by Kebble and others, a significant portion of which accrued to the benefit of the JCI group; the financial records of the R&E group and JCI group were in some respects incomplete; past financial statements appeared to have been materially misstated; KPMG were unable to audit the financial positions of the companies and could only provide limited assurances in respect of certain aspects thereof; prior to Kebble's death, certain arrangements were concluded between JCI and Investec providing, inter alia, for a profit share to be paid to Investec (the arrangement pertaining thereto being the subject of as yet unresolved litigation regarding its validity and enforceability); as at April 2008 there were certain directors who served on both of the boards of R&E and JCI (one of whom was Nurek, an employee of Investec) and potential conflicts of interest had to be considered by the Mediators. In addition, the Mediators could not verify the accuracy of any of the information provided by any of the directors or the auditors and relied on that information in arriving at their expressed opinion.

11.6.5 On 14 April 2008, the Mediators issued an opinion that "In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of R&E and JCI". In arriving at their assessment, the Mediators had regard, inter alia, to the financial position of each of the companies at 31 March 2007; the subsequent changes in the financial position of the companies between March 2007 and 31 July 2007; the potential outcomes of the dispute regarding the Investec loan facility; the quantum of the sustainable R&E claims against JCI; the probable value which would be lost in a litigation scenario and the costs associated therewith; the fact that any settlement proposal which left no value for JCI shareholders would, from JCI's perspective be unrealistic and a poor alternative to litigation, (irrespective of its probable outcome); the swap ratio was sensitive to relatively small changes in the NAV's of the companies and dependent on market prices of certain investments held by the companies, including the possible value of the Investec claim by JCI and the indicative range of settlement values referred to in the Mediators' February 2007 Statement. (The further factors which the Mediators took into account are set out in the Mediators' Report, being Annexure 1 hereto.)

11.6.6 In October 2008, the Mediators were requested to advise whether the opinion issued by them on 14 April 2008 still applied "in the significantly changed financial circumstances of R&E and JCI since issuing that opinion".

11.6.7 In reaching their conclusion, as set out in paragraph 11.5 above, the Mediators draw attention to the fact, inter alia, that various delays were encountered by the companies in advancing the proposed merger; R&E and JCI unsuccessfully attempted to negotiate a settlement of their dispute on the basis of a payment by JCI to R&E; the asset values of both R&E and JCI have reduced materially, primarily as a consequence of the dramatic fall in stock exchange prices; certain of the assets were realised and in the case of JCI exchanged for further shares in R&E (thus increasing the extent of the cross-holdings of shares between JCI and R&E); R&E has recently proceeded with the third party claims and changes to the board of directors of R&E and JCI has resulted in the elimination of certain of the potential conflicts of interest which previously existed (although a director of JCI is also a director of Investec).

11.6.8 In reconsidering their opinion the Mediators highlight further, inter alia, that a critical factor affecting the swap ratio is the notional value of the R&E claims, as this has the effect of reducing the NAV of JCI and increasing the NAV of R&E; in determining the notional settlement range of R1.2 billion to R1.5 billion indicated in their February 2007 Statement, the Mediators took account of the amount which R&E would probably ultimately realise in a litigation process; given that the NAV of JCI has roughly halved since February 2007, the notional settlement range is no longer valid; if one utilises the same swap ratio originally proposed (of 95 JCI shares for one R&E share), this implies a notional settlement figure of approximately R750 million which "having regard to the current financial position of JCI, is a figure which, (in the opinion of the Mediators), is not unreasonable".

11.7 A copy of the full Mediators Report is annexed to this Circular as Annexure 1. The curricula vitae of the Mediators are contained in Annexure 12 hereto.

11.8 The previous Mediators Report is available for inspection in terms of paragraph 39 below.

12. THE CONSTRAINTS UPON R&E IN PRODUCING MEANINGFUL ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND THE JSE'S RULINGS IN RESPECT THEREOF

12.2 On 31 March 2006, R&E's provisional unaudited and unreviewed results for the two years ended 31 December 2005 and the restated provisional results for the financial year ended 31 December 2003 were published (a copy of which is available for inspection in terms of paragraph 39 of this Circular). Although initially optimistic that such results could, through supplementation, be elevated to IFRS compliant financial statements, such belief held by the then Board of R&E was soon thwarted by revelations made during the forensic investigation process. In fact, it became apparent to the R&E board that even if financial statements could be prepared, such financial statements would be disclaimed by management and consequently an opinion would also have been disclaimed by R&E's auditors and therefore be meaningless to shareholders.

12.3 R&E remains unable to produce meaningful financial statements for the aforementioned periods in accordance with IFRS, and, in the opinion of the present Board of R&E, they will not be in a position to do so until a resolution in respect of the R&E claims is secured.

12.4 Given the inability of R&E and JCI to produce annual financial statements and JCI's denial of any indebtedness towards it, it has not been possible for R&E and JCI to comply with the formal requirements of the JSE and SRP. Accordingly, a substantive application was lodged by R&E and JCI with the SRP for leave to dispense with the requirement relating to the need to make available to shareholders updated financial statements, before the proposed merger may be implemented.

12.5 R&E shareholders are referred to the detailed summary of the above constraints as previously set out in the Information Update (24 July 2008) which is available for inspection in terms of paragraph 39 of this Circular.

12.6 Further, the JSE has also provided R&E with certain dispensations in respect of the JSE Listings Requirements relating to the disclosure of financial information for the purpose of this Circular. Such dispensations, rulings and confirmations are summarised below:

12.6.1 As a result of neither R&E nor JCI being in a position to produce audited historical financial information for the past three years, the JSE agreed that the companies could utilise their respective NAV Statements at 31 March 2008 with limited assurance reports thereon produced by KPMG and their respective NAV statements at 31 October 2008 (which have not been reviewed by or reported on by the independent auditor and reporting accountant), provided that all assets as referred to therein were supported by valuations from independent experts not more than six months old (to the extent applicable) Such independent valuations are included as Annexures 17 and 18 to this Circular, while other supporting documentation is available for inspection in terms of paragraph 39 below;

12.6.2 As a result of the complexity of the matter, and the fact that there was little chance of identifying an independent expert more capable than the Mediators themselves, R&E and JCI jointly motivated to the JSE the inability to produce a Fairness Opinion. The Mediators' Report (being Annexure 1 hereto) has been included in this Circular. The opinion of the Mediators, as set out in the aforementioned report, has been included in this Circular as it was not possible to produce a Fairness Opinion as is ordinarily required in terms of the JSE Listings Requirements in respect of related party transactions. Annexure 16 sets out the motivation to the JSE for the Mediators' Report to be utilised in this manner;

12.6.3 Due to the difficulties in preparing and updating the financial information of both R&E and JCI as described in this Circular, and the companies' inability to produce audited annual financial statements as set out above, the JSE have recently confirmed that provided the Circular was issued before 30 November 2008 (later extended to 5 December 2008), the NAV statements of the respective companies at 31 March 2008 as examined by KPMG and at 31 October 2008 (which have not been reviewed by or reported on by the independent auditor and reporting accountant) as prepared by the directors of the respective companies (who take responsibility for such preparation) could be utilised instead of audited historical financial information for the past three years prepared in terms of IFRS having to be provided; and 12.6.4 The JSE has most recently confirmed the inclusion of the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS (but not the presentation and disclosure requirements), also as a result of the company's inability to produce audited financial statements as set out above.

13. THE FATE OF THE R&E CLAIMS

13.1 The proposed merger will not on implementation result in the R&E claims being compromised in any way. Following the merger, the new board of the enlarged R&E group will determine how best to deal therewith, for the benefit of shareholders.

13.2 The shareholders of R&E (which will include the erstwhile shareholders of JCI), should jointly aspire to create a climate which will permit JCI to prosper to the fullest extent possible, so that the fruits of such growth may devolve on R&E and through it, to its newly constituted body of shareholders. At the appropriate time, the board of R&E will be able to address the manner in which the R&E claims should be dealt with.

13.3 The Mediators have expressed the view that a merger should not result in the R&E claims being compromised or settled. For R&E to liquidate JCI may not necessarily make commercial sense at this stage. The Board of JCI has represented to the Board of R&E that they are not aware of any material undisclosed liabilities, however the possibility remains that recourse may be sought against JCI in respect of the third party claims. It is not known what the extent of JCI's liability may be to those who might seek recourse against it. The present Board of R&E considers it commercially unwise for R&E to compromise or abandon its claims against JCI, as it will then not be able to exercise any influence in relation to JCI should JCI be liquidated (in the event of it being unable to pay the contributions which third parties may seek to enforce against it).

13.4 The need for R&E to assert that it is a creditor of JCI is imperative. In the absence hereof, R&E may find itself in the untenable position where it would not be able to lodge a claim against JCI in the event of JCI's liquidation. In such circumstances the benefits under a winding-up could accrue to those creditors of JCI other than R&E. The concomitant detriment to R&E and to its shareholders is self-evident.

14. RECOVERIES AGAINST THIRD PARTIES

14.1 As already mentioned, R&E and certain of its subsidiaries have formulated a number of claims against third parties, namely the third party claims. These include a claim launched in March 2008 against R&E's former auditors during the Kebble era, PWC, claiming an amount of approximately R7.6 billion, a claim against GFO of approximately R10 billion and claims against Charles Orbach, Investec and certain former directors of JCI and R&E, inter alia. Such claims are referred to in Annexure 11, being a Litigation Statement in respect of R&E at 31 October 2008.

14.2 Whilst litigation is by its very nature uncertain, and the likelihood of any recovery being made against these parties is not known and their ability to satisfy any judgments is unclear, R&E's shareholders should bear in mind that in the absence of a merger between R&E and JCI, any recovery which could be made in respect of the third party claims, would arise solely for the benefit of the shareholders of R&E.

14.3 Should the proposed merger be implemented, any recovery which R&E may make arising from this litigation (less all expenses incurred in doing so), will be shared between the combined shareholders of R&E and JCI in the post-merger R&E in the ratio of approximately 77% and 23%, respectively. This will apply equally to any recovery which JCI may make against Jaganda in the Jaganda matter and to any saving which JCI may succeed in obtaining in respect of the Investec raising fee in terms of paragraph 15 below. It should be borne in mind that Jaganda is presently in liquidation. Annexure 15 discusses the Jaganda claim in more detail, the attention of shareholders being drawn thereto. It should be noted further that the above ratios will similarly also apply to any liabilities which may arise having regard to the third party claims.

14.4 In June 2008, Cohen was appointed by R&E and JCI to provide a "prima facie assessment" of the claims referred to in the Cohen Report (a copy of which is Annexure 10 to this Circular), and based on a consideration of the information, pleadings and submissions in respect thereof, to indicate the likely value of the claims as far as possible. His assessment is intended to assist shareholders in evaluating the merger. However, it does not amount to a legal opinion on the merits of the claims considered therein, or the validity of the defences raised. With reference to the R&E claims against JCI, Cohen expressed a prima facie view in regard to the values of such claims (which at that stage comprised 15 in number) "that the total of the values assessed is R1 892 085 155.00". Cohen went on to state (with reference to an amount of R208 142 593.00 in respect of an alleged payment made by CMMS on behalf of R&E that "it seems to me prima facie that JCI is entitled to set-off the amount of R208 142 593.00 against the assessed claims totalling R1 892 085 155.00, resulting in a net liability of R1 683 942 562.00 by JCI to Randgold". In addition, Cohen had regard, inter alia, to the application by Letseng concerning the Investec raising facility, the Jaganda matter, certain claims against one Paul Main, the claim against PWC, the claim by Toico (Pty) Limited against JCI and certain proved claims in insolvent estates. R&E shareholders are referred to the Cohen Report (Annexure 10) where the above is discussed in more detail.

14.5 In considering the appropriateness of the merger ratio, the possible outcome of pending litigation is not possible to predict. Other than as detailed in the Litigation Statement, being Annexure 11 hereto, no other actions have to R&E's knowledge been instituted against R&E and there has been no intimation that any such actions will be instituted. R&E has been similarly advised by JCI that other than as previously disclosed to the board of R&E and as may be disclosed in the JCI Circular pertaining to legal actions instituted against JCI no actions have been instituted against JCI and there has been no intimation that any such actions will be instituted against JCI (although the possibility of JCI being joined by third parties for a pro rata contribution in respect of the third party claims cannot be excluded).

14.6 The fact that a third party may seek and obtain a contribution against JCI in any particular third party claim must inevitably hold the consequence that R&E's claim in that action will have been successfully prosecuted, if not in whole, then at least in part. If JCI is unable to satisfy such contribution which may be exacted against it, R&E may be required in law to restore to JCI the value of the assets which R&E may have received from it in consequence of the merger. R&E and the third parties who are successful in securing contributions will then enjoy claims against a pool of funds which will not exceed the value of the assets which R&E may have received from JCI in consequence of the merger and the value of such other assets as JCI may then own. Shareholders are reminded that the R&E claims will not be compromised by the merger, and it will be open to R&E to establish such claims at any stage thereafter.

15. THE INVESTEC LOAN AGREEMENT

15.1 On 25 August 2005, Investec, JCIIF, and JCI, concluded the Investec loan facility. In terms of the initial loan agreement, Investec agreed to make available to JCIIF, a facility of up to a maximum of R460 million. Investec subsequently advanced further amounts, the aggregate of which amounted to in excess of R1.1 billion and which amounts have been repaid.

15.2 As security for the loan indebtedness due by JCIIF to Investec, JCI pledged the shares which it held in the issued share capital of JCIIF, to Investec. Moreover, the assets which were purchased by JCIIF from JCI and certain JCI subsidiaries were ceded by JCIIF to Investec, as were the loan claims enjoyed by JCI and the JCI subsidiaries.

15.3 In consideration for the provision of the Investec loan facility, the agreements underpinning the Investec loan facility provided for a raising fee equal to the greater of R50 million or 30% of the increase in the value of each of the assets of JCIIF, together with an additional 10% of the amount representing the increase in the price of approximately 2,218 billion JCI ordinary shares ("the Investec raising fee").

15.4 JCI convened a general meeting of its shareholders to take place on 29 September 2006, for the purpose of passing certain resolutions relating to the Investec loan facility, including ratifying the Investec loan facility, paving the way for the Investec raising fee to be paid to Investec.

15.5 Prior to the general meeting of 29 September 2006, Letseng launched an urgent application to obtain an interdict restraining JCI from tabling the resolutions at the general meeting to be held for the ratification of the Investec facility. The parties to the urgent application agreed that the general meeting should be postponed to 30 November 2006. On 27 November 2006 an interim Order was granted by the High Court, interdicting JCI from tabling the resolutions at the adjourned general meeting scheduled for 30 November 2006 (or any adjournment thereof), and interdicting JCI and JCIIF from making any further payments to Investec in respect of the Investec raising fee. The application was postponed to 24 April 2007, and the Investec loan facility became the subject matter of two shareholder applications, the first by Letseng and the second by Trinity Management, Trinity Endowment and Eljay Investments (the latter three parties being referred to as Trinity). Both applications allege that the agreements giving rise to the Investec loan facility were invalid (the resultant effect of which is that it is contended that JCI and JCIIF are not liable to Investec in respect of the Investec raising fee).

15.6 In April 2007, the applications by Letseng and Trinity were dismissed by the Witwatersrand Local Division of the High Court, the court holding that Letseng and Trinity, in their capacity as shareholders of JCI, lacked locus standi to bring such applications. Letseng and Trinity each subsequently applied for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Appeal in regard to this issue. On 25 and 26 August 2008 the respective appeals were argued before a full bench. The decision of the Appeal Court is pending.

15.7 JCI has made a provision for the Investec raising fee of approximately R373 million. Investec contends that the extent of the Investec raising fee amounts to R575.6 million. Should a saving in respect of the Investec raising fee be made, the shareholders of the merged entity will (in the event of the merger ratio being applicable), share in such saving in the ratio of approximately 77% (to those R&E shareholders prior to the merger) and 23% (to JCI scheme participants), respectively.

16. SETTLEMENTS CONCLUDED BETWEEN R&E AND THIRD PARTIES POST THE NEWLY CONSTITUTED BOARD OF R&E

A Statement of Settlements which R&E has concluded with third parties is attached to the Information Update (24 July 2008). R&E shareholders are referred thereto. Such Information Update will be available for inspection together with the other documents referred to in paragraph 39 hereof.

17. THE SHARE CAPITAL OF R&E

17.1 As at the last practicable date:

17.1.1 The authorised share capital of R&E was R75 000, divided into 75 000 000 ordinary shares of R0.01 (one Cent) each;

17.1.2 The issued share capital of R&E was R74 813.13 divided into 74 813 128 ordinary shares of R0.01 (one Cent) each;

17.1.3 Subsidiaries of R&E held no R&E shares; and

17.1.4 JCI held 10 634 023 R&E shares comprising approximately 14.21% of R&E's issued share capital;

17.2 All of the issued R&E shares are listed in the "Mining: Gold Mining" sector of the JSE. Trading in R&E shares was suspended by the JSE on 1 August 2005 and remains so suspended.

17.3 ADRs were formerly listed on the Nasdaq. R&E's listing was terminated by the Nasdaq on 19 September 2005.

17.4 The share capital of R&E, before and following the merger, will be as follows:

	R
Authorised – Before the proposed transaction
75 000 000 ordinary shares of 1 Cent each	750 000
Issued – Before the proposed transaction
74 813 128 ordinary shares of 1 Cent each	748 131
Authorised – After the proposed merger (based on merger ratio)
105 000 000 ordinary shares of 1 Cent each	1 050 000

Irregular or invalid allotment of shares and reservation of rights

17.5 Apart from the claims which R&E asserts by way of its Statement of Claim as set out in Annexure 2 in respect of R&E shares which R&E claims were issued for no value, R&E (and it is understood JCI too), is investigating further possible bases upon which certain of R&E's (and JCI's) shares were allotted and issued, with a view to determining whether or not such allotments and issues were valid. Dependent upon the outcome of such investigations, R&E may take steps to set aside the allotment and issue of, inter alia, the disputed R&E shares which may be found to be irregularly or invalidly allotted and issued, including, without limitation, applying for the rectification of its share register.

17.6 Accordingly:

17.6.1 The inclusion as part of the scheme shares of any of the shares which may subsequently be found to have been irregularly or invalidly allotted and issued; and is not (and must not be construed as) an acceptance on the part of either R&E or JCI of the validity of the allotment and issue of such shares and is without prejudice to such rights which either R&E or JCI may have at law, in respect thereof.

17.6.2 The allotment and issue of R&E shares as part of the scheme consideration to JCI scheme participants who are the holders of any shares which are subsequently found to have been irregularly or invalidly allotted and issued,

18. THE SHARE CAPITAL OF JCI

18.1 As at the last practicable date:

18.1.1 The authorised share capital of JCI was R27 000 000, divided into 2 700 000 000 ordinary shares of R0.01 (one Cent) each;

18.1.2 The issued share capital of JCI was R22 247 989.93 divided into 2 224 798 993 ordinary shares of R0.01 (one Cent) each;

18.1.3 Subsidiaries of JCI held a total of 202 115 127 JCI shares comprising approximately 9.08% of JCI's issued share capital; and 18.1.4 R&E held 265 935 854 JCI shares comprising approximately 11.5% of JCI's issued share capital.

18.2 All of the issued JCI shares are listed in the "Mining: Gold Mining" sector of the JSE. Trading in JCI shares was suspended by the JSE on 1 August 2005 and remains so suspended.

Irregular or invalid allotment of shares

18.3 It must be noted that JCI is undertaking an investigation into the basis upon which certain of its shares were allotted and issued with a view to determining whether or not such allotments and issues were valid. Dependent upon the outcome of such investigation and on legal advice obtained, JCI may take steps to declare and accordingly set aside the allotment and issue of some or all of its shares which are found to be irregularly or invalidly allotted and issued, including, without limitation, applying for the rectification of its share register.

18.4 As more fully set out in note 17 in Annexure 6a to this Circular, approximately 90 874 834 JCI shares have been issued without any value having been received by JCI in respect thereof.

18.5 Accordingly:

18.5.1 The inclusion as part of the scheme shares of any of the shares which may subsequently be found to have been irregularly or invalidly allotted and issued; and

18.5.2 The allotment and issue of R&E shares as the scheme consideration to scheme participants who are the holders of any shares which are subsequently found to have been irregularly or invalidly allotted and issued, is not (and must not be construed as) an acceptance on the part of either JCI or R&E of the validity of the allotment and issue of such shares and is without prejudice to such rights which either JCI or R&E may have at law, in respect thereof.

19. OPINIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE R&E BOARD

19.1 The Board of R&E having considered the terms and conditions of the proposed transaction, the board members unanimously support the proposed transaction and are of the opinion that the terms thereof are fair and reasonable and in the interests of R&E shareholders given the current circumstances of R&E and JCI.

19.2 Accordingly, the Board of R&E supports the proposed transaction and recommends that R&E shareholders vote in favour of the resolutions to be proposed at the R&E General Meeting.

20. NAV STATEMENTS OF R&E AND JCI AND CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET OF R&E

20.1 Annexure 5a to this Circular summarises the NAV Statement of R&E at 31 March 2008 prepared by the Board of R&E and examined by KPMG in terms of a limited assurance report prepared by them and incorporated as Annexure 5b to the Circular. The JSE have accepted the presentation of the R&E NAV Statement for disclosure purposes and have waived the requirement for audited financial statements on the basis that R&E is unable to produce annual financial statements for the reasons as stated on page 40 in this Circular and the Information Update (24 July 2008). The preparation of the R&E NAV Statement at 31 March 2008 as set out in Annexure 5a in this Circular is the responsibility of the directors of R&E. Attention is drawn to the "Purpose of the Group Net Asset Value Statement" and the "Basis of Preparation" as contained in Annexure 5a to this Circular.

20.2 Annexure 6a to this Circular summarises the NAV Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008, which was prepared by the Board of JCI and examined by KPMG in terms of a limited assurance report prepared by them and incorporated as Annexure 6b to the Circular. The JSE have accepted the presentation of the JCI NAV Statement for disclosure purposes and have waived the requirement for audited financial statements on the basis that JCI is unable to produce annual financial statements. The preparation of the JCI NAV Statement at 31 March 2008 as included in Annexure 6a in this Circular is the responsibility of the Board of JCI and not of R&E. The present R&E Board however takes responsibility for the presentation of such Annexure 6a to the extent that it reflects the JCI NAV Statement at 31 March 2008 as published on SENS on 24 November 2008. Attention is also drawn to the "Purpose of the Group Net Asset Value Statement" and the "Basis of Preparation" contained in Annexure 6a to this Circular.

20.3 Annexure 5c to this Circular summarises the unaudited NAV Statement of R&E at 31 October 2008 prepared by the Board of R&E which has not been examined by KPMG. The JSE have accepted the presentation of the unaudited R&E NAV Statement for disclosure purposes and have waived the requirement for audited financial statements on the basis that R&E is unable to produce annual financial statements for the reasons as stated on page 40 in this Circular and the Information Update (24 July 2008). The preparation of the unaudited R&E NAV Statement at 31 October 2008 as reflected in Annexure 5c in this Circular is the responsibility of the directors of R&E. Attention is drawn to the "Purpose of the Group Net Asset Value Statement" and the "Basis of Preparation" as contained in Annexure 5c to this Circular.

20.4 Annexure 6c to this Circular summarises the unaudited NAV Statement of JCI at 31 October 2008, which was prepared by the Board of JCI and which similarly has not been examined by KPMG. The JSE have accepted the presentation of the unaudited JCI NAV Statement for disclosure purposes and have waived the requirement for audited financial statements on the basis that JCI is unable to produce annual financial statements. The preparation of the JCI NAV Statement at 31 October 2008 as included in Annexure 6c in this Circular is the responsibility of the Board of JCI and not of R&E. Attention is also drawn to the "Purpose of the Group Net Asset Value Statement" and the "Basis of Preparation" contained in Annexure 6c to this Circular.

20.5 Annexure 8a to this Circular summarises the consolidated balance sheet of R&E as at 31 March 2008 prepared by the Board of R&E in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS (and not the presentation and disclosure requirements) and examined by KPMG in terms of a qualified review report prepared by them and incorporated as Annexure 8b to the Circular. The JSE have accepted the basis of preparation of the consolidated balance sheet of R&E and have waived the requirement for a complete set of audited financial statements on the basis that R&E is unable to produce audited annual financial statements for the reasons as stated on page 40 of this Circular. The preparation of the consolidated balance sheet is the responsibility of the directors of R&E. Attention is also drawn to the "Background" and "Basis of preparation" paragraphs as contained in Annexure 8a to this Circular.

20.6 Annexure 7a to this Circular summarises the unaudited pro forma combined NAV statement of R&E, post the merger, subject to the implementation of the scheme of arrangement prepared by the Board of R&E and examined by KPMG in terms of a reporting accountant's report prepared by them and incorporated as Annexure 7b to the Circular. 27. R&E AND ITS DIRECTORS' INTERESTS AND DEALINGS

Directors' interests in R&E shares before and after the proposed transaction

As at the last practicable date, no directors held any beneficial or non-beneficial interest, whether directly or indirectly, in R&E shares nor will any such directors hold any such interests in respect of the enlarged group post the implementation of the proposed merger. Accordingly, there has been no change in the directors' interests in R&E shares nor will there be any such change in respect of the proposed enlarged group post the implementation of the proposed merger between the end of the preceding financial year and the last practicable date.

Directors' interests in transactions

27.1 Save as set out in paragraph 26, none of the directors have any material direct or indirect beneficial interests in any transactions which were effected by R&E during:

- the current or immediately preceding financial year; or
- an earlier financial year and which remain in any respect outstanding or unperformed.

28. FUTURE STRATEGY OF R&E AND THE ENLARGED GROUP

28.1 R&E was historically a mining investment company. R&E's main objective at present is to resolve the current impasse with JCI, in respect of which R&E has lodged the R&E claims against JCI amounting to approximately R14 billion based on the highest value thereof up to 31 March 2008.

28.2 Subsequent to the merger being implemented, the merged entity will review its strategic alternatives, which may include the following:

- To apply to the JSE for the lifting of the suspension in the trading of R&E shares on the JSE;
- To seek commercial opportunities and to successfully exploit them for the benefit of R&E and its shareholders;
- To distribute certain liquid assets (such as its Gold Fields shares), to shareholders and/or utilise its assets as leverage to further develop other assets or acquire and invest in assets to grow the current portfolio;
- To continue pursuing its claims against third parties and where possible to make recoveries against such parties;
- To reduce R&E's cost structure and to take advantage of synergies common to both R&E and JCI in the best interests of all concerned; and
- To realise value (insofar as is possible) from the existing prospecting rights portfolio.

28.3 Shareholders are informed that post the merger of the companies as contemplated, the new enlarged group will, having regard to the best interests of shareholders, maintain the current strategies of the separate entities. The board of directors of the enlarged merged group will, furthermore, having due regard for the considerations raised in paragraph 14.6 hereof, determine whether certain of the liquid assets should be distributed to shareholders, mindful always of such exposure as JCI may have in respect of the third party claims and consequently the ability of R&E to restore to JCI the value of any assets received from it, should R&E be required at law to restore the value thereof. The board of R&E will, post the implementation of the merger, subject to the requisite regulatory and shareholder approvals endeavour to de-list the enlarged group or alternatively make an application to the JSE in order to request the lifting of the suspension in the trading of R&E shares on the JSE. Shareholders are further informed that there can be no guarantee that the JSE will approve the lifting of the suspension post the merger.

28.4 Furthermore, a pre-listing statement, containing revised listings particulars of the combined entity, in compliance with the JSE Listings Requirements, will be posted to shareholders should the proposed merger as contemplated in this Circular occur. Detailed prospects of the combined group will be contained in the pre-listing statement.

28.5 R&E hereby undertakes to appoint three directors nominated by the board of JCI to the board of R&E immediately after the implementation of the proposed scheme of arrangement. JCI will nominate three appropriate candidates after the shareholders of JCI have approved the scheme of arrangement, and R&E will appoint the nominees within 10 days of the date of the implementation of the scheme of arrangement. Should a nominee however not be acceptable to R&E then JCI will be entitled to nominate another candidate on the same basis as set out above.

29. HISTORY OF CHANGES

R&E has not, in the past five years, had a controlling shareholder and currently does not have a controlling shareholder.

30. WORKING CAPITAL STATEMENT

32.2 Similarly, the current Board of JCI, which is responsible for and has prepared Annexures 6a and 6c (being the JCI NAV Statements at 31 March 2008 and the unaudited JCI NAV Statement at 31 October 2008, respectively) as well as Annexure 14 (JCI Litigation Statement) only, has not provided any assurances as to the correctness of the historical facts and allegations and financial information pertaining to JCI contained in this Circular which relates to the period preceding the reconstitution of the Board of JCI on 24 August 2005. Accordingly, such information including that contained in Annexures 6a, 6c and 14 is disclaimed.

Each shareholder who is entitled to attend and vote at the R&E general meeting may appoint one or more proxies (none of whom needs to be a shareholder of R&E), to attend, speak and vote in his stead. You should be aware that the issuer may purchase securities otherwise than under the exchange offer, such as in open market or privately negotiated purchases.

Neither the US Securities and Exchange Commission nor any state securities commission has approved or disapproved of the new securities to be issued by R&E in terms of the scheme of arrangement, or expressed a view as to whether to vote for or against the scheme of arrangement, or determined if the Circular to which this form of proxy forms a part is truthful or complete. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offence.

The new shares to be issued by R&E in terms of the scheme of arrangement have not been, and will not be registered under the US Securities Act 1933, as amended, or with any securities regulatory authority of any state or other jurisdiction in the United States and may not be resold in the United States unless such disposition is registered under the US Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and applicable state securities laws or is exempt from registration thereunder. R&E has no obligation or intention to register the new shares under the US Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or with any other securities or regulatory authority of any state or jurisdiction in the United States. REPORT OF THE MEDIATORS

Background

1. During 2006 we were appointed by the companies Randgold and Exploration Company Limited ("Randgold") and JCI Limited ("JCI") to mediate a dispute that had arisen between them.
2. Pursuant to that appointment, and after considering voluminous papers and various reports, engaging the parties and in particular, board members, the financial directors, the lawyers of the two companies and their forensic auditors, we issued a Statement on 28 February 2007. That Statement with a postscript thereto is attached marked "A" and "A1".
3. In the Statement we recommended that a merger between the two companies be pursued. We regarded this as the best practical solution for the reasons set out in the Statement. The proposed solution was supported by all the main role players.
4. We were subsequently approached by the two companies to provide an opinion on the terms of a share swap arrangement proposed by the directors of the companies to effect a merger. An opinion in this regard was issued in April 2008, as set out below. The April opinion has subsequently been updated, as set out in this report.

Limitations

5. In considering the issue at the time of our April 2008 opinion, we were subject to the following important constraints:
   - 5.1 the background to the dispute between Randgold and JCI relates to the misuse of assets of Randgold by the late Brett Kebble and others, a significant portion whereof accrued to the benefit of the JCI group of companies;
   - 5.2 in the relevant period, the financial records of the two companies and certain of their associated and related companies are incomplete;
   - 5.3 the past financial statements of Randgold and JCI were materially misstated;
   - 5.4 in the absence of proper documentation and explanations from management, it has not been possible for KPMG, the new auditors to Randgold and JCI, to audit the current financial positions and results of operations and KPMG could provide only limited assurance on certain aspects reflected in the financial reports examined by them;
   - 5.5 prior to the death of Brett Kebble, certain arrangements were entered into by JCI with Investec Bank Limited ("Investec") providing, inter alia, for a profit share to be paid to Investec on certain selected assets of JCI. This arrangement is the subject of as yet unresolved litigation regarding its validity and enforceability;
   - 5.6 as at April 2008, being the date of our original opinion on the proposed share swap arrangement to effect the merger, there were certain directors who served as directors on the boards of both JCI and Randgold (the JCI and Randgold chairman was an employee of Investec) and, accordingly, there were potential conflicts of interest which we had to consider in evaluating the proposals.
6. In addition it should be noted that:
   - 6.1 we could not verify the accuracy of any of the information provided by the directors or the auditors and had to rely on that information in arriving at the opinion expressed below;
   - 6.2 our report was prepared solely for the use of the shareholders of Randgold and JCI and for no other purpose;
   - 6.3 we did not provide an opinion regarding the values of the shares in JCI or Randgold.

7. Having regard to the unusual circumstances outlined above, the inherent limitations of our assessment were stressed.

Matters considered

8. In making our April 2008 assessment, we had regard, inter alia, to:

   8.1 the financial position of each of the companies as at 31 March 2007, being the date upon which the directors determined the proposed share swap ratio, including the financial information conveyed in the announcement to shareholders of 15 March 2007 and as contained in the circular of which this forms part;

   8.2 the subsequent changes in the financial position of the companies between March and 31 July 2007;

   8.3 the potential outcomes of the dispute regarding the Investec claim;

   8.4 the quantum of the sustainable claims of Randgold against JCI, which is likely to be for very substantial amounts;

   8.5 the probable value which would be lost in a litigation scenario and the costs of such litigation;

   8.6 the fact that any settlement proposal which left no value for JCI shareholders would have been unrealistic and would, from JCI's perspective, have been a poor alternative to litigation, irrespective of its probable outcome;

   8.7 the negative effects on shareholder value of the continued share suspension, uncertainty and litigation between Randgold and JCI;

   8.8 the fact that the swap ratio was sensitive to relatively small changes in the net asset values of the companies, which significantly affected the swap ratio;

   8.9 the cross-holding that exists between the companies (Randgold and JCI hold shares in each other), which was an additional unusual feature affecting the sensitivity of the swap ratios; and

   8.10 the fact that the net asset values of the companies are dependent inter alia on the market prices of certain investments held by the companies (which have been and are variable over time), the possible value of the Investec claim against JCI and the indicative range of notional settlement values used for the Randgold/JCI claim referred to in our February 2007 Statement. (By way of example, if a high or low point over period March to July 2007 in the market value of the investments held by both companies in Goldfields is utilised, the swap ratio was significantly affected, suggesting a far lower or higher number of JCI shares per Randgold share as a swap ratio.)

Opinion issued April 2008

9. On 14 April 2008, having regard to what is set out above, we issued the following opinion:

   In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI.

Events subsequent to 14 April 2008

10. In October 2008, we were requested to advise whether our opinion on the terms of the proposed share swap arrangement still applied in the significantly changed financial circumstances of Randgold and JCI since issuing that opinion.

11. After reporting in April 2008 as above, various events occurred, including, inter alia:

   11.1 various delays were encountered by the companies in advancing the proposed merger;

   11.2 Randgold and JCI unsuccessfully attempted to negotiate a settlement of their dispute on the basis of a payment by JCI;

11.3 the merger negotiations faltered, but were recently resurrected;

11.4 the asset values (and hence the net asset value per share) of both Randgold and JCI have changed significantly. The net asset values reduced materially, primarily as a consequence of the dramatic fall in Stock Exchange prices;

11.5 certain of the assets were realised and, in the case of JCI, certain of the assets were exchanged for further shares in Randgold, thus increasing the extent of the cross-holding of shares between JCI and Randgold;

11.6 Randgold instituted proceedings against various parties to recover substantial sums. These proceedings are all in an inception stage of the litigation;

11.7 there were changes to the board of directors of Randgold and JCI – at the date hereof there are no longer directors common to both boards. Thus, certain of the potential conflicts of interest, which previously existed, have been eliminated. (However, at the date hereof, the chairman of JCI is also a director of Investec.)

12. In re-considering our opinion, we also stress the following:

12.1 A critical factor affecting the swap ratio is the notional value of a settlement of the Randgold claims against JCI, as this has the effect of reducing the net asset value of JCI and increasing the net asset value of Randgold;

12.2 In our February 2007 Statement, we had indicated a notional settlement figure for the purpose of merger in the range of R1.2 billion to R1.5 billion. An important element in our determination of the notional settlement range was the amount which Randgold would probably realise ultimately in a litigation process, taking into account, inter alia, value destruction from forced sale circumstances, liquidation costs and legal fees (on both sides);

12.3 As the net asset value of JCI has roughly halved since February 2007, the notional settlement range is no longer valid;

12.4 If one uses the same swap ratio originally proposed (of 95 JCI shares for 1 Randgold share), then this implies a notional settlement figure of approximately R750m which, having regard to the current financial position of JCI, is a figure which, in our opinion, is not unreasonable;

12.5 But for certain of the potential conflict of interests referred to above, the limitations set out in this report remain extant.

Opinion – October 2008

13. Having regard to all of the above, our 14 April 2008 opinion remains of application, viz:

In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI.

OVERVIEW OF THE R&E CLAIMS AT 31 OCTOBER 2008 AGAINST JCI

1. Both Randgold and Exploration Company Limited ("R&E") and JCI Limited ("JCI") were formerly listed in the Mining Sector of the JSE Limited ("JSE"), and were suspended therefrom on 1 August 2005.

2. On 24 August 2005, the Boards of Directors of R&E and JCI were reconstituted.

3. Prior to the reconstitution of the Boards, the late Brett Kebble ("Kebble"), was the Chief Executive Officer of both R&E (from 24 July 2003 to 24 August 2005), and JCI (from 1 September 1997 to 24 August 2005).

4. As at 23 August 2005:

   4.1 The Board of R&E comprised:

      4.1.1 Roger Kebble ("Roger");

      4.1.2 Kebble;

      4.1.3 Hendrik Buitendag ("Buitendag");

      4.1.4 Brenda Madumise ("Madumise");

      4.1.5 Lunga Ncwana ("Ncwana"); and

      4.1.6 Andrew Nissen ("Nissen").

   4.2 The Board of JCI comprised:

      4.2.1 Roger;

      4.2.2 Kebble;

      4.2.3 Buitendag;

      4.2.4 Charles Cornwall ("Cornwall"); and

      4.2.5 John Stratton ("Stratton").

5. Having regard to investigations undertaken by R&E's forensic investigators John Louw & Co. (Pty) Limited (formerly known as Umbono Financial Advisory Services (Pty) Limited) ("JLMC") and information ascertained from third persons, R&E has reason to believe that during the era when Kebble was the CEO of R&E and JCI ("the Kebble era"), the R&E group was the victim of widespread frauds and misappropriations.

6. R&E has further reason to believe having regard to the findings of JLMC, that the frauds and misappropriations which were perpetrated against it and its subsidiaries and associated companies resulted in R&E's assets and those of its subsidiaries and associated companies being misappropriated and the channelling thereof (or the proceeds derived therefrom), to amongst others, the JCI group, either directly or indirectly, but not for the benefit of R&E.

7. Following the reconstitution of the Board of R&E on 24 August 2005 and the initial findings of JLMC coming to hand, the Board of R&E realised that it may enjoy a number of claims against the JCI group.

8. Arising herefrom, the Board of R&E considered that it would be in the best interests of R&E's shareholders for the R&E claims to first be attempted to be resolved by way of mediation as opposed to complex, time consuming and costly litigation and failing this, by way of formal arbitration. The Board of R&E believed that rather than pursuing the institution of a multiplicity of court actions against the JCI group, which could give rise to vigorously contested claims and protracted and costly litigation (and which could further take several years to resolve), it was advantageous, pragmatic and sensible, that a mediation and to the extent necessary an arbitration of such claims (in which JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies would be treated as a single entity), be pursued.

The Mediation/Arbitration Agreement

9. On 7 April 2006, R&E and JCI concluded a written Mediation/Arbitration Agreement ("the Mediation Agreement").

10. The main features of the Mediation Agreement are as follows:

11. Both R&E and its subsidiaries and associated companies on the one hand and JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies on the other, would be treated as single entities. In terms of the Mediation Agreement, JCI is defined so as to include both it and its subsidiaries and associated companies or in which JCI has an interest, whether direct or indirect, including its interest in Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited ("CMMS"). (A similar definition applies to R&E and its subsidiaries and associated companies and a reference to R&E and JCI herein incorporates a reference to each of their respective subsidiary and associated companies.);

    11.1 At inception of the mediation, both R&E and JCI would exchange separate forensic reports, detailing the basis of any claims which they believed they enjoyed against the other, including their respective forensic investigators' findings, relative to the mediation;

    11.2 Both companies would thereafter formulate claims against each other, by way of a Statement of Claim;

    11.3 Following the service of their respective Statements of Claim, both R&E and JCI would formulate Statements of Defence, which would similarly be served on each other;

    11.4 Three highly experienced and multi-disciplinary Mediators, comprising a Senior .Counsel, a Mediation Specialist and a Chartered Accountant, were to be appointed to manage the mediation process and make recommendations to the companies;

    11.5 The shareholders of both companies in general meeting would decide whether or not to accept any recommendations made by the Mediators;

    11.6 Failure by the shareholders of R&E and JCI to endorse the recommendations of the Mediators, would result in the claims being referred to adversarial arbitration.

12. Initially, the Mediation Agreement envisaged that the mediation would be concluded by 31 July 2006, failing which the matter would be submitted to formal arbitration.

13. R&E and JCI soon realised that it would not be possible to conclude the mediation by 31 July 2006, resulting in the parties concluding an addendum to the Mediation Agreement on 19 July 2006 ("the first addendum"), purposed at extending the time period within which the mediation was to have been concluded by, until 30 November 2006.

14. In November 2006, the Mediators requested that the time period regulating the conclusion of the mediation as provided for in the first addendum, be further extended to afford them a reasonable time frame within which to do so and discharge their duties thereunder responsibly.

15. R&E and JCI agreed to the Mediators' request that the Mediation Agreement be further amended to facilitate the Mediators being able to make their recommendations as soon as reasonably possible, resulting in the conclusion of an arrangement to cater herefor and the formalisation thereof by way of a second addendum to the Mediation Agreement, which was signed on 28 September 2007 ("the second addendum").

16. The second addendum provides, inter alia, that in the event of the intended merger between R&E and JCI not being implemented for any reason whatsoever, the matter shall immediately be submitted to formal arbitration, in accordance with the expedited Rules of the Arbitration Foundation of South Africa, the outcome of which will be binding on the companies and subject only to one right of appeal.

The claims instituted by R&E against JCI

17. Following the conclusion of the Mediation Agreement, the investigations of R&E's forensic investigators JLMC suggested that R&E enjoyed a number of claims against JCI.

18. These claims found expression in a dedicated forensic report which JLMC prepared for purposes of the mediation, dated 20 June 2006 ("the forensic report of JLMC").

19. JCI in turn, commissioned KPMG Services (Pty) Limited ("KPMG"), to prepare a forensic report for purposes of the mediation which report was dated 8 May 2006 ("the 8th of May report").

20. On 20 June 2006, the forensic report of JLMC and the 8th of May report were exchanged, marking the commencement of the formal mediation process.

21. Following the exchange of the forensic reports prepared by JLMC on behalf of R&E and KPMG Services on behalf of JCI (as contemplated under the Mediation Agreement), R&E prepared a Statement of Claim, comprising 13 claims initially, exceeding R5.8 billion at that stage, based on the highest value ascribable to the R&E claims.

22. As matters stand at present, the R&E claims against JCI comprise nineteen claims in total (R&E's Statement of Claim having been amended to include two new claims in January 2007 and further amended in September 2008 to include four further claims).

23. On 3 August 2006, R&E's Statement of Claim was served on JCI. No Statement of Claim was served by JCI on R&E, however on 8 September 2006, JCI served a Statement of Defence on R&E, contesting the R&E claims.

24. Although not contemplated under the Mediation Agreement, following the service by JCI of its Statement of Defence, JCI caused a further JCI report in response to the forensic report of JLMC, to be served. Whilst this further report was furnished to the Mediators in the last quarter of 2006, the 8th of May report was only furnished to the Mediators in April 2007, the existence of the 8th of May report having been brought to the attention of the Mediators at a meeting held with them and the legal teams of both companies on 24 November 2006 however.

25. R&E's claims are in the main founded on the assertion that JCI, as an alleged joint wrongdoer, was party to the alleged misappropriation of a vast array of listed securities beneficially owned by R&E, alternatively subsidiaries or associated companies controlled by it, while other claims arise from the alleged issue and allotment of shares in the issued share capital of R&E which R&E contends it received no value for ("the disputed R&E shares"). As to the quantum of damages which R&E would be entitled to were it to succeed with its claims against JCI, R&E approaches its claims on the basis of the alternatives (where applicable), as set out below.

26. JCI has denied any liability in respect of the claims proffered by R&E.

27. Following the service of R&E's Statement of Claim and the Statement of Defence by JCI, both R&E and JCI engaged in mediation.

28. The Mediation Agreement contemplates two distinct phases, the first, a mediation, the second, an arbitration. The arbitration phase will only commence in the event of the mediation failing for any reason whatsoever.

29. To date, none of the claims proposed by R&E against JCI have yet been proven, nor has R&E secured any formal awards against JCI in respect thereof.

30. On 28 February 2007, the Mediators issued an interim recommendation (followed by a postscript on 5 March 2007), in terms whereof the Mediators embraced the notion of a merger and indicated to both R&E and JCI that "it is recommended that an overall settlement be pursued on the basis of a merger between the two companies". They concluded further, that "having regard to all the above, a settlement figure in the range of R1.2 to R1.5 billion appears .... to be a realistic starting point to resolve the disputes between the companies – the basis being that the settlement figure be used to ultimately drive the merger ratio between the shareholders of the Companies".

31. On 14 April 2008, the Mediators provided a written Report in which they stated that:

"In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI."

32 On 3 November 2008, the Mediators updated their Report and concluded the following:

"Having regard to all of the above, our 14 April 2008 opinion remains of application, viz: 'In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI'."

33. What follows constitutes a broad overview of the R&E claims as featured in its Statement of Claim, purposed at informing R&E's shareholders of what such claims entail.

34. This Overview of the R&E claims is in no way proposed to be exhaustive, and no assurances as to the accuracy, completeness or otherwise of what follows is given, the contents hereof being subject always to the further findings of R&E's forensic investigators and legal team, the need to potentially amend R&E's Statement of Claim in future (based on such findings and legal advice), as well as any other factors which may require consideration in due course and which could impact upon the R&E claims and its Statement of Claim.

35. Nothing contained herein has yet been established as a matter of fact or law. This Overview of the R&E claims is intended merely as a broad and concise summary of the R&E claims (as they appear in the Statement of Claim), subject to the ongoing processes in which R&E is engaged and any revision to the Statement of Claim which may become necessary. Furthermore, none of what follows is disclosed on the basis that it can be factually or legally sustained or that an award for that matter will definitively result for R&E.

36. R&E's Counsel have furnished an opinion to R&E in terms whereof (on the basis of their analysis of the forensic reports and the witnesses interviewed thus far), they indicate that in their view, a reasonable prospect of success exists in respect of the R&E claims, subject always to the following:

    36.1 That the findings of JLMC are found to be accurate and capable of substantiation through evidence and the conclusions reached therein being able to withstand scrutiny;

    36.2 The legal principles upon which R&E's claims have been formulated being upheld; and 36.3 The evidence of third parties who have given input into the formulation of R&E's claims withstanding scrutiny and being upheld.

37. In turning to R&E's Statement of Claim, it is necessary to have regard to the following by way of background.

BACKGROUND

38. R&E's Statement of Claim assumes on the strength of, inter alia, the forensic findings (which have found expression in the Statement of Claim), the following, namely that at all material times:

    38.1 R&E carried on business as a mining investment and exploration company;

    38.2 JCI carried on business as a specialised mining finance resource company;

    38.3 JCI owned the issued share capital of Consolidated Mining Corporation Limited which in turn owned 98% of the issued share capital of CMMS;

    38.4 R&E alternatively its wholly-owned subsidiary, African Strategic Investments (Holdings) Limited, (formerly Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited) ("Holdings"), was the beneficial owner of 26 624 962 shares in Randgold Resources Limited ("RRL") (which shares were split 2-for-1 on 16 June 2004), as well as various other listed investments;

38.5 JCI was represented by a variety of persons formerly employed by it or with which it had a relationship, who constituted the directing and controlling mind and will of JCI and one or more of its subsidiaries and associated companies;

38.6 A number of persons, some of whom were formerly employed by JCI, alternatively associated with the JCI group and/or who served as Directors of JCI during the Kebble era, devised various schemes, aimed at, inter alia, providing the JCI group with working capital to fund their ongoing operations, to pay their liabilities, to further their general interests, and to otherwise provide the JCI group with sufficient funds to maintain their ongoing financial stability ("the perpetrators"). It is further alleged by R&E, that the perpetrators acted in concert with JCI, directed the affairs and business operations of the JCI group to the prejudice of R&E, either directly or indirectly, and in so doing, also acted in their personal capacities;

38.7 The perpetrators allegedly carried out various acts for the JCI group which were to their knowledge unlawful and to the prejudice of R&E, either directly or indirectly.

39. As a result of the conduct of the perpetrators (which R&E claims is attributable to JCI), R&E alleges that JCI is liable to it at law.

Broad Overview of the R&E claims against JCI

40. In forming an appreciation of the R&E claims against JCI, R&E's shareholders are informed that in most instances, the R&E claims have been prepared on the basis of a main claim and various alternatives thereto. If regard be had to R&E's first claim against JCI by way of example, the following is noteworthy:

- This claim is based on an alleged misappropriation of certain of R&E's RRL shares by JCI. On the assumption that this can be established, R&E alleges in the first instance, that JCI is liable to it for damages determined with reference to the highest value at which such shares (which it alleges were stolen from it), have traded subsequent to their theft. This constitutes R&E's main claim with reference to claim one.
- As an alternative to R&E's main claim (to claim one) and on the assumption that R&E does not succeed with an award for damages against JCI based on the highest value of its RRL shares, R&E claims that JCI is liable to return to it the number of RRL shares which it alleges were misappropriated from it.
- As a further alternative to the two previous claims and in the event that R&E is not successful in establishing a claim based on either of the above, R&E in this event, contends that there has been a theft of the proceeds arising from the sale of its RRL shares by JCI, thereby entitling it to recover the proceeds resulting from the sale of its RRL shares.
- As an alternative to all of the above claims and in the event that R&E is not successful in establishing either a theft of shares, or a claim for the return of its misappropriated shares or a theft of the proceeds resulting from the sale thereof, R&E in such event, claims that JCI received funds resulting from the sale of its RRL shares, knowing that such funds were tainted, thereby entitling R&E to the return of such funds received.
- A further alternative failing all of the above, is predicated on the assertion that JCI was enriched at the expense of R&E in that it received funds in consequence of an illegal cause.
- The final alternative claim (with reference to R&E's first claim against JCI, which pre-supposes that R&E does not succeed with any of the abovementioned claims), is based on the fact that no cause existed for JCI to receive payment of the amount which it did, arising from the sale of R&E's RRL shares, thereby giving rise to R&E enjoying a claim for damages against JCI herefor.
- What follows constitutes a brief overview of the R&E claims, in respect of which R&E has reason to believe that it may enjoy claims against JCI.
- R&E's main claims which are predicated upon theft and are detailed below, have been determined with reference to the highest price at which the shares forming the subject matter of such claims have traded between the date of their alleged theft and 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served on JCI. The shareholders of R&E are informed, that the highest price of the individual shares alleged to have been misappropriated is subject to ongoing fluctuation having regard to the price at which such shares continue to trade. At the appropriate time, R&E will cause an amendment to its Statement of Claim to be effected, to take account of the highest price at which such shares have traded, subsequent to their alleged theft.

41. The following table summarises the R&E claims against JCI and should be read in conjunction with the narrative in respect of each claim which is set out later in this Overview:

Notes:

1. R&E's main claim is based on the highest price at which the shares referred to in column I have traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006 when R&E's Statement of Claim was served, (save for claims 10, 11, 12 and 13 which are treated on the basis described in footnote 7 hereof).
2. For illustrative purposes R&E's main claims have been adjusted to take account of the highest price at which the shares referred to in column I have traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 31 March 2008.
3. The first alternative to R&E's main claim is for an Order that JCI deliver to it the number of shares allegedly misappropriated/ issued for no value received. For illustrative purposes the March 2007 VWAP of the shares referred to in column I has been utilised for purposes of determining the replacement cost of the shares referred to, save for where a contrary footnote indicates otherwise.
4. The second alternative to R&E's main claim is for an order that JCI return to R&E the proceeds resulting from the sales of the various shares referred to in column I, where this has been ascertained.
5. The third alternative to R&E's main claim is for an order that JCI makes payment to R&E of such amounts as were received by JCI on account of the sale of the shares referred to in column I, for which there was no just cause, where this has been ascertained.

6. Claim 5 is an alternative claim to claim 4 and is based on a Scrip Lending Agreement ostensibly concluded, the details of such claim being set out in the Overview of the R&E Claims. To avoid duplication no amounts have been included above.
7. For illustrative purposes R&E's main claims have been adjusted to take account of the projected post merger NAV per R&E share of R28.7392 as published in the JCI NAV Statement which was published on 13 December 2007.
8. Having regard to the fact that this claim was introduced in September 2008, the value thereof has been determined with reference to the highest price at which the shares in question traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 31 March 2008.
9. On 19 January 2007, Western Areas was converted to Gold Fields Operations, in consequence of which conversion, every shareholder holding 100 Western Areas shares received 35 Gold Fields Operations shares in replacement thereof. In consequence of the said conversion, the 28 000 Western Areas shares are currently equivalent to 9 800 Gold Fields Operations shares. A value of R142 per Gold Fields share is ascribed to each Gold Fields share for illustrative purposes.
10. R&E's claim herein is not prefaced on the basis of a theft of shares, but rather on the basis of moneys allegedly lent and advanced by R&E to CMMS.
11. R&E's 19th claim is in the alternative to claims 1 to 18 above and is based on the assumption that R&E does not in respect of claims 1 to 9 and 14 to 17 establish the schemes therein referred to and the thefts allegedly committed in respect thereof and on the further basis that the transactions referred to are found to be lawful and regular transactions in consequence of which the sale of the assets referred to is found to have been authorised for the benefit of the JCI group.

It should be noted that the values of the above claims are linked to the price of shares which are subject to ongoing fluctuation. In tandem therewith, the claim values may change. Moreover none of such claims and the values thereof have yet been established as a matter of fact or law, all of which are illustrative in nature and subject to change.

42. Subject to what is stated herein and based on the further assumption that such claims are factually and legally sustainable, R&E alleges in regard to each of its claims, inter alia, as follows:

Claim One

43. On 31 March 2002, R&E, alternatively Holdings, was the registered and beneficial owner of, inter alia, 12 360 000 shares in RRL. The number of shares are reckoned on their split which occurred during June 2004.

44. These shares are referred to as "the RRL shares".

45. By 1 April 2002, various trading accounts held at a stockbroker, known as Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Limited ("T-Sec"), were established by the perpetrators for the purposes and ends of JCI.

46. R&E contends that JCI devised a scheme in consequence of which the RRL shares were misappropriated and sold on the Nasdaq, the proceeds resulting, being remitted to T-Sec and used for the benefit of JCI.

47. During the period 5 April 2002 to 18 August 2005, R&E contends that the RRL shares were sold without its authority.

48. By virtue of the alleged scheme referred to, R&E asserts that JCI is liable to it for:

    48.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the RRL shares amounting to R1 968 082 800.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which the RRL shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R437.13 per RRL share which represents the highest price at which RRL shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R2 976 855 300.00. To the extent that the price of RRL shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

    48.2 Delivery of 12 360 000 shares in RRL to it, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 12 360 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E; alternatively

    48.3 Damages in the sum of R887 217 084.00, which amount represents the total proceeds allegedly received by JCI, alternatively damages resulting from JCI having allegedly received the lesser proceeds of R796 966 825.42 arising from the sale of the said RRL shares.

49. To the extent necessary, R&E has taken a cession from Holdings of any claim enjoyed by it against JCI, arising from the alleged misappropriation of the said RRL shares.

Claim Two

50. As at 12 September 1998, R&E, alternatively its wholly owned subsidiary First Wesgold, was the beneficial owner of, inter alia, 3 000 000 shares in Durban Roodepoort Deep, Limited ("DRD"), which shares were, as at 8 February 2002 held in a nominee account.

51. R&E claims that JCI devised a scheme to sell the 3 000 000 DRD shares.

52. The 3 000 000 DRD shares were misappropriated and subsequently sold in order to enable JCI to raise loan funds to acquire 32.5% of the issued share capital of JCI Gold Limited ("the minority interest") pursuant to a scheme of arrangement between JCI Gold Limited and its shareholders, which scheme of arrangement had been partially funded by BNC Investments (Pty) Limited.

53. R&E alleges that JCI was benefited from the sale of the 3 000 000 DRD shares.

54. By virtue of this alleged scheme, R&E contends that JCI is liable to it for:

    54.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 3 000 000 DRD shares amounting to R169 500 000.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which the 3 000 000 DRD shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R65.24 per DRD share which represents the highest price at which DRD shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R195 720 000.00. To the extent that the price of DRD shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

    54.2 Delivery of 3 000 000 DRD shares to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 3 000 000 DRD shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E; alternatively

    54.3 Damages resulting from the theft of the proceeds resulting from the sale of the 3 000 000 DRD shares amounting to R89 643 549.74; alternatively

    54.4 Payment resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 3 000 000 DRD shares in an amount of R89 643 549.74.

Claim Three

55. R&E's third claim pertains to 1 904 962 shares in RRL ("the 1 904 962 RRL shares").

56. R&E alleges that as at 5 April 2002, R&E, alternatively Holdings, was the registered and beneficial owner of, inter alia, the 1 904 962 RRL shares.

57. The reference to the 1 904 962 RRL shares is reckoned on their split which occurred during June 2004.

58. R&E alleges that JCI anticipated the need to raise cash to acquire the minority interest and in consequence thereof, devised a scheme which gave rise to the 1 904 962 RRL shares being sold.

59. R&E received no consideration from the sale of these shares.

60. JCI was benefited as a result of the sale of these shares, either directly or indirectly.

61. To the extent necessary, R&E has taken cession from Holdings of any claim enjoyed by it against JCI, arising from the alleged misappropriation of the said 1 904 962 RRL shares.

62. By virtue of the theft of the 1 904 962 RRL shares, R&E contends that JCI is liable to it for:

    62.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 1 904 962 RRL shares amounting to R303 327 099.26 which amount is based on the highest price at which the 1 904 962 RRL shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R437.13 per RRL share which represents the highest price at which RRL shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R832 716 039.06. To the extent that the price of RRL shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

62.2 Delivery of the 1 904 962 RRL shares to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 1 904 962 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E; alternatively

62.3 Damages resulting from the theft of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 1 904 962 RRL shares amounting to R64 326 241.35; alternatively

62.4 Damages resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 1 904 962 RRL shares in an amount of R64 300 000.00.

Claim Four

63. As at 1 July 2003, R&E was the beneficial and registered owner of 8 100 000 shares in The Afrikander Lease Limited ("Aflease").

64. R&E asserts, that the 8 100 000 Aflease shares were lodged in a trading account which T-Sec maintained in its books of account under the name CMMS.

65. R&E contends, that the 8 100 000 Aflease shares were misappropriated from it and used to benefit JCI, either directly or indirectly.

66. Accordingly, R&E contends that JCI in relation to such alleged theft of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares, is liable to it for:

66.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, amounting to R95 499 000.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which Aflease shares traded subsequent to their theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (On 9 January 2006, Aflease was converted to Uranium One Limited ("Uranium One"), in consequence of which conversion, every shareholder holding 100 Aflease shares received 18 Uranium One shares in replacement thereof. Having regard to such conversion, the 8 100 000 Aflease shares equate to 1 584 000 Uranium One shares. (For illustrative purposes, based on the cost to replace the 8 100 000 Aflease shares (now 1 584 000 Uranium One shares), taking account of a share price of R113.22 per Uranium One share (which represents the highest price at which Uranium One shares have traded prior to 31 March 2008), assuming that this price will not increase in the future, R&E's main claim equates to R165 078 000.00. To the extent that the price of Uranium One shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim); alternatively

66.2 Delivery of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E; alternatively

66.3 Damages resulting from the theft of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, amounting to R15 108 103.50; alternatively

66.4 Damages resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, in an amount of R11 292 341.59.

Claim Five as an alternative to Claim Four

67. In the alternative to Claim Four, R&E asserts that during 2004, R&E and CMMS entered into a Scrip Lending Agreement in terms whereof R&E purportedly loaned 8 100 000 shares in Aflease to CMMS.

68. R&E contends that as at 31 March 2005, CMMS became obliged to return to R&E the 8 100 000 shares in Aflease, or their current equivalent.

69. R&E alleges that CMMS failed to return the 8 100 000 shares in Aflease or their current equivalent, to R&E.

70. By virtue hereof, R&E contends that JCI is liable to it for:

    70.1 Delivery of the 8 100 000 shares in Aflease or their current equivalent to it; alternatively

    70.2 Payment of the value thereof being R31 590 000.00.

Claim Six

71. As at 27 September 2004, R&E, alternatively First Wesgold, was the beneficial owner of, inter alia, 94 000 000 Aflease shares ("the 94 000 000 Aflease shares").

72. R&E alleges that during the latter part of 2004, JCI devised a scheme which was intended to amongst other things wrongfully deprive R&E of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares and vest control thereof in JCI.

73. By virtue of this alleged scheme, R&E contends that JCI is liable to it for:

    73.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, amounting to R1 108 260 300.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which Aflease shares traded subsequent to their theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (Having regard to the conversion of Aflease to Uranium One on 9 January 2006, the 94 000 000 Aflease shares equate to 16 920 000 Uranium One shares. For illustrative purposes, based on the cost to replace the 94 000 000 Aflease shares (now 16 920 000 Uranium One shares), taking account of a share price of R113.22 per Uranium One share (which represents the highest price at which Uranium One shares have traded prior to 31 March 2008), assuming that this price will not increase in the future, R&E's main claim equates to R1 915 720 000.00. To the extent that the price of Uranium One shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

    73.2 Delivery of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent to it, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E; alternatively

    73.3 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, amounting to R165 083 164.47; alternatively

    73.4 Damages resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, in an amount of R144 711 877.39.

Claim Seven

74. In and during 1998, R&E was the beneficial owner of, inter alia, 2 000 000 DRD shares ("the 2 000 000 DRD shares").

75. R&E alleges that JCI devised a scheme, which alleged scheme was intended to wrongfully deprive R&E of the 2 000 000 DRD shares.

76. R&E alleges that such scheme resulted in JCI gaining control of the 2 000 000 DRD shares and the said shares being sold for the benefit of JCI.

77. By virtue of the alleged scheme, R&E contends that JCI is liable to it for:

    77.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 2 000 000 DRD shares amounting to R113 000 000.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which the 2 000 000 DRD shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R65.24 per DRD share which represents the highest price at which DRD shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R130 480 000.00. To the extent that the price of DRD shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

77.2 Delivery of 2 000 000 DRD shares to it, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the 2 000 000 DRD shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E.

80. By virtue of the alleged theft of the R&E Simmer & Jack shares, R&E alleges that JCI is liable to it for:

(For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R7.78 per Simmer & Jack share which represents the highest price at which Simmer & Jack shares have traded subsequent to their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R311 200 000.00. To the extent that the price of Simmer & Jack shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively 80.2 Delivery of 40 000 000 shares in the issued share capital of Simmer & Jack to it, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 40 000 000 Simmer & Jack shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to it.

82. R&E contends that JCI devised a scheme, which scheme was intended to deprive R&E of the 5 460 000 RRL shares and to vest control thereof in JCI.

83. In consequence hereof, R&E claims that JCI concluded an Overseas Securities Lending Agreement with Investec Bank UK PLC which entailed a loan of the 5 460 000 RRL shares, to Investec Bank UK.

84. Arising from the implementation of the said Overseas Securities Lending Agreement, R&E alleges that it was deprived of the 5 460 000 RRL shares by JCI.

85. To the extent necessary, R&E has taken a cession from Holdings of any claim enjoyed by it against JCI, arising from the alleged misappropriation of the said 5 460 000 RRL shares.

86.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 5 460 000 RRL shares amounting to R869 395 800.26 which amount is based on the highest price at which the 5 460 000 RRL shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R437.13 per RRL share which represents the highest price at which RRL shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R2 386 729 800.00. Claim Ten

87. During July 2003, R&E contends that JCI devised a scheme which was purposed amongst other things at:

87.1 Ostensibly creating legitimate capital of R&E, in an amount of R259 600 000.00;

87.2 Appropriating such capital through the invalid allotment of 8 800 000 R&E shares, from its authorised but unissued share capital;

87.3 Vesting control of the 8 800 000 R&E shares in JCI and one or more of its associated companies, so that the proceeds derived from any sale thereof might be applied for a purpose other than to benefit R&E.

88. The scheme is alleged to have been implemented through the conclusion of a purported agreement between R&E, Equitant Trading (Pty) Limited ("Equitant") and Phikoloso Mining (Pty) Limited for the ostensible sale by Equitant to R&E of the entire issued share capital of Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Limited ("Viking Pony") and the claims due by that entity to Equitant, in consideration for the allotment and issue by R&E of 8 800 000 fully paid up ordinary shares in the share capital of R&E to Equitant. R&E alleges that various shares which Viking Pony was warranted to own, in fact did not exist and that the said agreement was a simulation, resulting in the alleged issue and allotment of 8 800 000 R&E shares, R&E receiving no value in respect thereof.

89. R&E maintains that through this alleged scheme, JCI gained control either directly or indirectly, of the 8 800 000 R&E shares.

90. The 8 800 000 R&E shares were purportedly allotted in consequence of the said alleged scheme and were sold on the open market.

91. R&E alleges that it received no value in consequence of the purported allotment of the 8 800 000 R&E shares.

92. To regularise the position, R&E avers, that it will be required to purchase 8 800 000 R&E shares on the open market at a cost to it of R149 600 000.00 and to thereafter cancel their allotment in its issued share capital.

93. As a consequence of this alleged scheme, R&E contends that it has sustained damages for which JCI is liable to it for payment of, in the amount of R149 600 000.00.

94. Having regard to a projected post-merger NAV per R&E share of R28.7393, as published in the JCI NAV Statement which was published on 13 December 2007, the cost to R&E of regularising the position, based on a projected replacement cost of an R&E share (at R28.7393), would equate to R252 905 840.00.

Claim Eleven

95. In and during 2004, R&E alleges that JCI, together with the perpetrators, devised a scheme, which was intended to ostensibly create legitimate capital in R&E and to appropriate such capital through the invalid allotment of 5 160 000 R&E shares from its authorised but un-issued share capital.

96. In addition, R&E contends that JCI sought to vest de facto control of the 5 160 000 R&E shares in JCI.

97. R&E avers that the various agreements which were concluded in consequence of this alleged scheme were simulated, these involving the purported sale of an interest in a company in Angola ostensibly giving R&E access to diamond rights in Angola.

98. R&E alleges that the various agreements which were concluded in consequence of the alleged scheme were simulated.

99. The 5 160 000 R&E shares having been issued and sold in the open market, R&E alleges that it received no value in consequence of the allotment and sale of these shares.

100. R&E contends that it has suffered damages in that in order to regularise the position, it will be required to purchase the 5 160 000 R&E shares on the open market and thereafter to cancel such shares which were unlawfully allotted.

101. As a consequence of this alleged scheme, R&E contends that JCI is indebted to it for the sum of R87 720 000.00, being the amount that R&E will be required to expend in order to purchase the 5 160 000 R&E shares.

102. Having regard to a projected post-merger NAV per R&E share of R28.7393, as published in the JCI NAV Statement which was published on 13 December 2007, the cost to R&E of regularising the position, based on a projected replacement cost of an R&E share (at R28.7393), equates to R148 294 788.00.

Claim Twelve

103. In and during 2004, R&E alleges that JCI together with the perpetrators, devised a scheme, which was intended to ostensibly create legitimate capital in R&E and to appropriate such capital through the invalid allotment of 1 306 000 R&E shares from its authorised but unissued share capital.

104. In addition, R&E contends that JCI sought to vest de facto control of the 1 306 000 R&E shares in JCI.

105. R&E avers that the various agreements which were concluded in consequence of this alleged scheme were simulated, these involving the purported sale of an interest in a company in Angola ostensibly giving R&E access to diamond rights in Angola.

108. R&E contends that it has suffered damages and that in order to regularise the position, it will be required to purchase the 1 306 000 R&E shares on the open market and thereafter to cancel such shares which were unlawfully allotted.

109. As a consequence of this alleged scheme, R&E contends further, that JCI is indebted to it for the sum of R22 202 000.00, being the amount that R&E will be required to expend in order to purchase the 1 306 000 R&E shares.

110. Having regard to a projected post-merger NAV per R&E share of R28.7393, as published in the JCI NAV Statement which was published on 13 December 2007, the cost to R&E of regularising the position, based on a projected replacement cost of an R&E share (at R28.7393), equates to R37 533 526.80.

Claim Thirteen

111. In and during 2004, R&E alleges that JCI together with the perpetrators, devised a scheme, which was intended to ostensibly create further legitimate capital in R&E and to appropriate such capital through the invalid issue and allotment of 1 492 000 R&E shares from its authorised but unissued share capital.

112. In addition, R&E contends that JCI sought to vest de facto control of the 1 492 000 R&E shares in JCI.

113. R&E avers that the various agreements which were concluded in consequence of this alleged scheme were simulated, these involving the purported sale of an interest in a company in Angola ostensibly giving R&E access to diamond rights in Angola.

114. R&E alleges that the various agreements which were concluded in consequence of the alleged scheme were simulated.

115. The 1 492 000 R&E shares having been issued and sold in the open market, R&E alleges that it received no value in consequence of the allotment and sale of these shares.

116. R&E contends that it has suffered damages and that in order to regularise the position, it will be required to purchase the 1 492 000 R&E shares on the open market and thereafter to cancel such shares which were unlawfully issued and allotted.

117. As a consequence of this alleged scheme, R&E contends that JCI is indebted to it for the sum of R25 364 000.00, being the amount that R&E will be required to expend in order to purchase the 1 492 000 R&E shares.

118. Having regard to a projected post-merger NAV per R&E share of R28.7393, as published in the JCI NAV Statement which was published on 13 December 2007, the cost to R&E of regularising the position, based on a projected replacement cost of an R&E share (at R28.7393), equates to R42 879 036.60.

Claim Fourteen

119. In regard to claim fourteen, R&E alleges that as at 31 March 2002, it, alternatively Holdings, was the beneficial owner of, inter alia, 4 000 000 shares in RRL ("the 4 000 000 RRL shares").

120. R&E contends that in and during the period 2004 to 2005, JCI together with the perpetrators devised a scheme which was intended to wrongfully deprive R&E of the 4 000 000 RRL shares and to vest control thereof in JCI.

121. In pursuance of the said scheme, R&E alleges that the perpetrators acting for and on behalf of JCI caused the 4 000 000 RRL shares to be lodged with Société Generale ("SocGen") as security for scrip advanced by SocGen to JCI.

122. The 4 000 000 RRL shares were sold by SocGen for the benefit of JCI, and not for the benefit of R&E.

123. R&E thus asserts that it received no benefit on account of the sale thereof.

124. To the extent necessary, R&E has taken a cession from Holdings of any claim enjoyed by Holdings against JCI, arising from the alleged misappropriation of the said 4 000 000 RRL shares.

125. By virtue of the appropriation of the 4 000 000 RRL shares, R&E alleges that it has sustained damages and that JCI is liable to it for:

    125.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 4 000 000 RRL shares amounting to R636 920 000.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which the 4 000 000 RRL shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R437.13 per RRL share which represents the highest price at which RRL shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R1 748 520 000.00. To the extent that the price of RRL shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

    125.2 Delivery to it of 4 000 000 shares in Resources, alternatively payment to R&E of such amount as represents the value of the said 4 000 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to it; alternatively

    125.3 Damages resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 4 000 000 RRL shares amounting to R386 672 211.00; alternatively 125.4 Payment of the amount of R386 672 211.00 on the basis that JCI received funds in consequence of an illegal cause.

Claim Fifteen

126. By way of R&E's fifteenth claim against JCI, R&E alleges that on 31 March 2002, it, alternatively Holdings, was the registered and beneficial owner of, inter alia, 900 000 shares in RRL ("the 900 000 RRL shares").

127. R&E contends that during the period 1 April 2002 to 23 August 2005, the 900 000 RRL shares, inter alia, were allegedly misappropriated by the perpetrators (acting in collaboration with JCI), and which shares were lodged with one Paul Main.

128. R&E submits that the 900 000 RRL shares were appropriated from it for the benefit of JCI and that R&E received no benefit herefor.

129. To the extent necessary, R&E has taken a cession from Holdings of any claim enjoyed by it against JCI, arising from the alleged misappropriation of the said 900 000 RRL shares.

    130.1 Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 900 000 RRL shares amounting to R143 307 000.00 which amount is based on the highest price at which the 900 000 RRL shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft and prior to 3 August 2006, when R&E's Statement of Claim was served. (For illustrative purposes and based on a price of R437.13 per RRL share which represents the highest price at which RRL shares have traded subsequent to the date of their alleged theft, but prior to 31 March 2008, based on the assumption that this price will not increase in future, R&E's main claim equates to R393 417 000.00. To the extent that the price of RRL shares increases in future, such increase will result in a commensurate increase in R&E's main claim.); alternatively

    130.2 Delivery of the 900 000 RRL shares to it, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 900 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E; alternatively 130.3 Damages resulting from the sale of the 900 000 RRL shares amounting to R143 307 000.00.

Further Claims

131. Following the initial amendment to R&E's Statement of Claim in January 2007, R&E established that it may enjoy additional claims against JCI.

132. On 22 August 2008, R&E served an amendment to its Statement of Claim (which was formally amended in September 2008) and introduced four new claims.

133. Such further claims are set out below;

Claim Sixteen

134. R&E asserts by way of its sixteenth claim against JCI that as at 31 December 2002, it, alternatively First Wesgold was the beneficial owner of 12 574 836 shares in the issued share capital of JCI ("the 12 574 836 JCI shares").

135. 136. In consequence of the alleged theft of the 12 574 836 JCI shares, R&E alternatively through First Wesgold (the latter being a subsidiary company of R&E within the meaning of the Mediation Agreement, thereby rendering JCI liable for the debts of First Wesgold to R&E), has sustained damages as follows:

136.1 Damages amounting to R11 317 352.40, which amount is based on the highest price at which the 12 574 836 JCI shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft but prior to 31 March 2008, together with such amounts as represent the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the alleged misappropriation of the 12 574 836 JCI shares; alternatively

136.2 Delivery of the 12 574 836 JCI shares to it, together with such amount as represents the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the alleged misappropriation of the 12 574 836 JCI shares, in consequence of the dividends declared by JCI in respect thereof, subsequent to the date of the alleged theft of the said shares; alternatively

136.3 Such amount as represents the value of the 12 574 836 JCI shares as at the date on which JCI is found to be liable together with such amount as represents the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the misappropriation of the 12 574 836 JCI shares in consequence of the dividends declared by JCI in respect of the 12 574 836 JCI shares having been declared subsequent to the date of their alleged theft; alternatively

136.4 An amount of R8 042 099.67 which amount represents the net proceeds received by JCI arising from the sale of the 12 574 836 JCI shares, together with an amount equivalent to such growth as would have accrued to R&E on the 12 574 836 JCI shares, alternatively to First Wesgold, but for the alleged wrongful and unlawful appropriation thereof, together with such amount as represents the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the misappropriation of the 12 574 836 JCI shares in consequence of the dividends declared by JCI in respect thereof, subsequent to the date of their alleged theft.

Claim Seventeen

137. R&E asserts by way of its seventeenth claim against JCI that as at 31 December 2002, it, alternatively First Wesgold was the beneficial owner of 28 000 shares in the issued share capital of Western Areas ("the 28 000 Western Areas shares").

138. During the period 1 January 2003 to 11 June 2003, R&E alleges that a scheme was devised by the perpetrators which was intended through theft, to deprive R&E, alternatively First Wesgold of the 28 000 Western Area shares so that the benefit of such shares or the proceeds derived from any sale thereof might be applied for a purpose other than to benefit R&E, alternatively First Wesgold.

139. In consequence of the alleged theft of the 28 000 Western Area shares, R&E alternatively through First Wesgold (the latter being a subsidiary company of R&E within the meaning of the Mediation Agreement, thereby rendering JCI liable for the debts of First Wesgold to R&E), has sustained damages.

140. On 19 January 2007, Western Areas shares were converted to Goldfields Limited ("Goldfields") shares in consequence of which conversion, every shareholder holding 100 Western Areas shares received 35 Gold Fields shares in replacement thereof.

141. In consequence of the said conversion, the 28 000 Western Areas shares are currently equivalent to 9 800 Goldfields shares.

142. By virtue of the alleged theft of the 28 000 Western Areas shares, R&E alleges that it has sustained damages as follows:

143. Damages amounting to R1 391 600.00, which amount is based on the highest price at which the 28 000 Western Area shares traded subsequent to their alleged theft bur prior to 31 March 2008, together with such amounts as represent the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the alleged misappropriation of the 28 000 Western Area shares; alternatively

143.1 Delivery of the 28 000 Western Area shares to it, together with such amount as represents the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the alleged misappropriation of the 28 000 Western Area shares, in consequence of the dividends declared by JCI in respect thereof subsequent to the date of the alleged theft of the said shares; alternatively

143.2 Such amount as represents the value of the 28 000 Western Area shares as at the date on which JCI is found to be liable together with such amount as represents the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the misappropriation of the 28 000 Western Area shares in consequence of the dividends declared by JCI in respect of the 28 000 Western Area shares having been declared subsequent to the date of their alleged theft; alternatively

143.3 An amount of R924 294.21 which amount represents the net proceeds allegedly received by JCI arising from the sale of the 28 000 Western Area shares, together with an amount equivalent to such growth as would have accrued to R&E, alternatively First Wesgold on the 28 000 Western Area shares, but for the alleged wrongful and unlawful appropriation thereof, together with such amount as represents the dividend amounts to which R&E, alternatively First Wesgold would have become entitled, but for the misappropriation of the 28 000 Western Area shares in consequence of the dividends declared by JCI in respect thereof, subsequent to the date of their alleged theft.

Claim Eighteen

144. By way of its eighteenth claim, R&E alleges that during the period 30 June 2003 to 31 December 2005, pursuant to the conclusion of a series of oral agreements, R&E lent and advanced an amount of R121 198 224.50 to CMMS.

145. R&E alleges further that CMMS was obliged to make payment of interest on such amount at a rate of 1% above the prime rate of interest charged by FirstRand Bank Limited from time to time, compounded daily and capitalised monthly.

146. As at 31 December 2005, R&E contends that CMMS was indebted to it in the amount of R121 198 224.50.

147. By virtue of the loans referred to and the Mediation Agreement, R&E alleges that JCI is liable to make payment to it of R121 198 224.50, together with interest thereon at the rate of 1% above the prime rate of interest charged by FirstRand Bank Limited from time to time, compounded daily and capitalised monthly with effect from 1 January 2006 to date of payment, both days inclusive.

Claim Nineteen

148. In the alternative to claims One to Eighteen (as referred to above) and based on the assumption that R&E does not in respect of claims 1 to 9 and 14 to 17 establish the schemes referred to therein and more particularly, if it is established that the transactions in question were lawful and regular transactions in respect of which R&E, alternatively Holdings authorised the sale of their assets for the benefit of JCI and its subsidiary and/or associated companies, then and in this event, R&E, alternatively Holdings (where applicable), aver that having regard to the inter-company loan accounts between CMMS and JCI and CMMS and R&E (which R&E asserts CMMS was obliged to maintain), on a proper reconciliation of such loan accounts, R&E claims that CMMS and ultimately JCI, (by virtue of the provisions of the Mediation Agreement), is indebted to R&E in the amount of R1 243 527 309.64. R&E alleges that in addition to the said amount, interest thereon at the rate of 1% above the prime rate of interest charged by FirstRand Bank Limited from time to time, compounded daily and capitalised monthly with effect from 1 April 2007 to date of payment, is payable.

Interest

149. Unless otherwise specified, in addition to the above claims against JCI, R&E claims interest on the various amounts claimed, at the rate of 15.5% per annum.

JCI's Statement of Defence briefly considered

150. On 8 September 2006, JCI delivered its Statement of Defence to R&E's Statement of Claim.

151. JCI disputes that it is indebted to R&E for any amount.

152. JCI denies that the perpetrators constituted the directing and controlling mind and/or will of JCI. In the result, JCI disputes that R&E enjoys the claims which R&E asserts against it.

153. In answering R&E's Statement of Claim, JCI contends, inter alia, that:

153.1 Its main business was to carry on and invest in mining and property ventures as a principal;

153.2 Its main object was the investment in mining and property ventures as principal;

153.3 No ancillary powers were excluded;

153.4 To the extent that any of the perpetrators of JCI participated in or performed activities outside of the capacity of the relevant company for which they acted, such perpetrators were not authorised to do so, did not thereby bind such company(ies) nor did they act within the course and scope of their duties and therefore did not bind any of the companies to any consequence arising from their acts;

153.5 Neither it nor any of its subsidiaries and associated companies accepted the benefits arising from the conduct of the perpetrators.

154. JCI asserts that insofar as R&E is able to establish that the perpetrators committed unlawful acts, there is no basis upon which JCI should be held responsible for such unlawful acts given that JCI could not and would not have authorised such acts and in any event did not have the capacity or the plenary powers to do so.

155. JCI maintains that if R&E is ultimately able to impute liability to JCI or any one of its subsidiaries or associated companies, this can only be established on the basis that JCI and such subsidiaries or associated companies, were enriched. JCI however denies that there was any such enrichment and further denies in respect of the quantification of R&E's damages, that it is liable to R&E for damages as alleged.

156. R&E is yet to receive JCI's response to the four new claims which R&E formally introduced into its Statement of Claim in September 2008.

157. In addition to the above, JCI has indicated to R&E, that to the extent that JCI is found to be liable to R&E, it may enjoy claims against R&E on account of value allegedly given by JCI to R&E, arising from the proceeds of R&E's misappropriated assets, as follows:

157.1 An amount of R208 142 593.00 in respect of funding allegedly furnished by CMMS to R&E for the acquisition of certain Western Areas shares (allegedly acquired by R&E); and 157.2 An amount of R50 600.00 in respect of 1.5 million DRD shares.

158. No claims have been formally made by JCI against R&E for the abovementioned amounts, and accordingly it is premature for R&E to consider such alleged claims in the absence of such claims having been formally introduced. If and when formal claims are made by JCI in regard hereto, R&E will consider its position and respond appropriately.

CONCLUSION

159. R&E does not propose to comment on the defences raised by JCI herein, nor are any legal or other opinions asserted by way of this Overview of the R&E claims.

160. The adjudication of the R&E claims is subject to the mediation and/or arbitration referred to in the Mediation Agreement and the factual and legal sustainability of such claims.

SUMMARISED FORENSIC REPORT PREPARED BY JLMC FOR R&E

Introduction

1. The new Board of Directors of R&E who were appointed on 24 August 2005, were concerned inter alia as to the whereabouts of 26 624 962 RRL ordinary shares (calculated on a post split basis), beneficially owned by R&E, alternatively African Strategic Investment (Holdings) Limited (formerly R R(H), its wholly owned subsidiary. Prior to the Board's reconstitution, there had been much speculation in the media and frequent enquiries by shareholders as to whether R&E, alternatively R R(H) still held these shares.
2. The new Board appointed JLMC on 14 October 2005, to conduct an independent forensic investigation into the trade, dealings, affairs and property of R&E. JLMC was initially primarily tasked with investigating the so-called "missing" RRL shares and the Phikoloso Black Economic Empowerment transaction.
3. During the investigation undertaken, numerous other irregularities and alleged frauds involving the disposal of the greater part of R&E's assets were identified and investigated.
4. The forensic investigation indicated that material frauds were perpetrated by, inter alia, JCI and one or more of its subsidiaries and associated companies (acting in conjunction with former directors of JCI and/or employees associated either directly or indirectly with it), who misappropriated investments in listed shares belonging to R&E or entities controlled by it, or who caused new shares to be issued for no value and then sold with the proceeds being laundered through a web of special purpose vehicles with trading and bank accounts. Our findings suggest that misappropriated investments were concealed through a combination of improper scrip lending agreements, forged stockbroker confirmations and purported legal agreements.
5. The purpose of this report is to provide shareholders with a summary of findings of the forensic investigation, set out in numerous separate reports, including details of the assets misappropriated by some former directors of JCI acting in concert with JCI and executive officers of JCI, CMMS, a subsidiary of JCI and other related parties.
6. Furthermore, legal counsel has been instructed by the Board of Directors of R&E to formulate claims based on the findings of JLMC.

Summary of Forensic Investigation Findings

Overview

7. Our investigation has revealed that R&E was the victim of substantial frauds and thefts, which frauds and thefts were perpetrated largely by JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies, by misappropriating a vast array of listed securities beneficially owned by R&E (either directly or indirectly), or alternatively by JCI benefiting from the void issue and allotment of shares in the issued share capital of R&E, by channelling these securities (or the proceeds derived there from), to JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies, with the aim of providing inter alia these entities with amongst other things working capital to fund their ongoing operations, to pay their liabilities, to further their general interests, and to otherwise provide them with sufficient funds to maintain their ongoing financial stability.
8. JCI was represented by a variety of persons formerly employed by it or with which it had a relationship either directly or indirectly, who constituted the directing and controlling mind and will of JCI and one or more of its subsidiaries and associated companies ("the perpetrators"). The perpetrators performed acts which had the effect of benefiting JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies to the prejudice of R&E either directly or indirectly.
9. Our investigation has further revealed that R&E was largely an investment holding company and that the cash flow required by R&E and its subsidiaries would not have required a significant disposal of its listed securities. The level of resources required to manage its operations was negligible.

CLAIM # 1 – Disposal of RRL ordinary shares

General

10. A primary focus of our forensic investigation was to determine the whereabouts of R&E's investment in RRL shares (either held directly or indirectly through R R(H)) or where the proceeds of any sales of such shares had been credited or banked.

11. We were able to trace the sale of all RRL shares between 1 April 2002 and 18 August 2005 by reference to the database records of stockbroker, T-Sec. T-Sec appear to have acted on the instructions of JCI and the perpetrators and in turn gave instructions for the conversion sale of the RRL shares in ADR format. We interrogated the database records of T-Sec and compiled a spreadsheet of all sales of RRL shares by trading account, by year.

12. Many of the allegations and findings of JLMC, particularly with regard to the disposal of the RRL shares and their subsequent disguise by Bookmark, have been borne out by KPMG Services, being JCI's forensic investigators, in a report prepared by them, for purposes of the mediation, dated 8 May 2006. KPMG Services appear on the face of it, to have concluded, inter alia, that:
    - "The strategy adopted by the directors and officers of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries required access to significant funding for the execution of such strategy. We noted that JCI had little access to funding and we understand that the group did not enjoy support from financial institutions, save for the event of the Investec UK transaction, which generated funding to JCI of some R209.1 million initially, and an additional R48 million at a later stage. Hence, CMMS performed a treasury function in conjunction with T-Sec, and later with SocGen, essentially borrowing shares in the market and selling same for purposes of raising funds for the JCI Group, essentially hoping on a bear market to reduce the cost of funding, alternatively hoping that the return on assets of JCI would outperform the share market";
    - "We found no evidence indicating that JCI and its subsidiaries, particularly CMMS owned any RRL shares";
    - "RRL shares were traded in the CMMS trading accounts at T-Sec and that the proceeds of the sales of such RRL shares were applied towards CMMS";
    - "Having received the benefit from the sale of the RRL shares, it follows logically that CMMS may have to return the shares to R R(H) in the absence of a contrary agreement";
    - "CMMS benefited from the sale of the RRL shares";
    - "there had been an unauthorised dispossession of the RRL shares of R R(H) and that, upon the sale thereof, the proceeds of such sale were not used in the interest of R&E, but in the interest of CMMS with an intention to conceal such fact"; and
    - "Assuming that the RRL shares sold," which shares were sold for the benefit of JCI and its subsidiaries amounting to 16 686 794 post split shares as set out in the abovementioned report, "had to be returned to R R(H), and assuming a share price of US$17 for RRL shares and a Rand/US$ exchange rate of some R6.38/$1 an amount of R1.81 billion would then have been required to fund the return of the RRL shares."

Background

13. As at 5 October 2001 R R(H), a wholly owned subsidiary of R&E, was the registered shareholder of 13 312 481 (pre-split) RRL ordinary shares.

14. On 16 June 2004 RRL ordinary shares were split on a 2-for-1 basis.

15. RRL is a company incorporated in Jersey (registered number 62686) and is listed both on Nasdaq and the London Stock Exchange.

16. R&E, through its wholly owned subsidiary R R(H), had South African Exchange Control approval to hold these shares in a foreign listed company.

17. Despite the RRL shares being subject to exchange control restrictions, 13 372 467 (pre-split) RRL shares were pledged to ABSA for a debenture financing facility, prior to 5 October 2001. On 28 March 2002, ABSA returned one share certificate comprising 13 312 481 RRL shares to R&E, for splitting of the share certificate 59 986 shares were withheld by ABSA in lieu of a capital raising fee for the debenture facility Subsequent to the transfer secretaries splitting the certificate, 7 360 000 RRL shares were returned to ABSA as ongoing security for a rollover debenture financing facility without the authority of either R&E or R R(H).

18. By 1 April 2002, various trading accounts appear to have been either specifically opened at T-Sec by JCI and the perpetrators for purposes of disguising the sale of RRL shares, or where such trading accounts already existed in the names of entities or individuals which on the face of it appear to have had no connection to JCI, such trading accounts were also used for purposes of disguising the sale of RRL shares and later other listed securities for inter alia the benefit of JCI and others. These trading accounts included, amongst others, Alibiprops, New Heights, Paradigm Shift, Wolwekloof Carry, R B Kebble Carry, Consolidated Investments (Proprietary) Limited – Account No. 648410 ("CMMS trading account") and CMMS Demat.

Reconciliation of RRL shares held and the disposal thereof

19. A reconciliation of RRL shares held from 5 October 2001 to 19 January 2006 and an analysis of the proceeds resulting from the sale of such shares, has been prepared.

Shares sold in 2002

20. On 3 April 2002 share certificate 746 representing 13 312 481 (pre-split) shares was split by Computershare Investor Services (CI) into seven new certificates as follows:

	Number of shares
1 new certificate (899) of (returned to ABSA Bank Ltd)	7 360 000
5 new certificates (900/1/2/3/4 of 1 million shares each)	5 000 000
1 new certificate (905) of	952 481
Original certificate (746)	13 312 481

21. The 952 481 RRL shares (certificate 905) were subsequently split into 800 000 and 152 481 shares, respectively. The 800 000 shares were sold on 5 April 2002, with net proceeds of R54 115 233 being credited to a trading account in the name of New Heights, in the records of T-Sec. The monies derived from this sale of 800 000 RRL shares appear to have been transferred on the instructions of JCI in conjunction with the perpetrators, to a Mallinicks trust account on 16 April 2002. We found no resolution from the Board of R R(H) authorising such sale.

22. The balance of 152 481 RRL shares were sold, with the transaction being recorded in a trading account in the name of Wolwekloof Carry in the records of T-Sec. The mandate holder of this trading account was RAR Kebble. These shares were sold for R10 211 008 and the monies derived from this unauthorised sale of 152 481 RRL shares were transferred to a bank account styled "RAR Kebble – ABSA Private Bank" – an account with a R16 million overdraft facility which had been drawn down, at RAR Kebble's instruction, with the proceeds being used by CMMS.

23. The sale of 952 481 RRL shares was not recorded in the investment register of R&E in 2002. To conceal the fact that the shares had been sold without authority and without credit to R&E, these shares became the subject of a scrip loan between R&E (lender) and Kemonshey, a Gibraltan registered company, the directors of whom were Stratton and Buitendag.

24. In the calendar year 2003, 575 000 RRL shares on a pre-split basis (1 150 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold through BJM on the Nasdaq on the instructions of instructing broker T-Sec (T-Sec appearing in turn to have received instructions from JCI and the perpetrators) for R92 595 106, with the proceeds credited to a trading account in the name of CMMS in the records of T-Sec, which trading account was used by CMMS for purposes of trading in listed shares on behalf of CMMS. These shares were sold in seven individual transactions between 25 September 2003 and 20 October 2003. No entries were made in the books of either R&E or R R(H) until 30 November 2003. On that date R79 834 606 was debited to a general ledger account styled "loan asset – CMMS (RRL Shares)" and subsequently transferred on 31 December 2003 to a general ledger account styled "Loan asset – Masupatsela" and the balance of R12 760 000 was debited directly to a general ledger account styled "Loan asset – Masupatsela". This general ledger account was by design used to disguise related party transactions with CMMS and was even supported by a purported loan agreement between R&E and Masupatsela, this company having entered into a back to back agreement with CMMS.

25. A further 325 000 RRL shares on a pre-split basis (650 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold through BJM on the Nasdaq, on the instructions of instructing broker T-Sec (who in turn appears to have received instructions from JCI and the perpetrators), in eight individual transactions between 14 November 2003 and 6 December 2003, with the proceeds being credited to a trading account in the name of Alibiprops in the records of T-Sec. The net proceeds of R55 060 350 were deposited directly into Kebble's personal bank account (R40 960 350) and into Tuscan Mood's bank account (R14 100 000). No credit for these unauthorised sales was given to R&E.

26. During the calendar year 2004, 4 090 000 RRL shares on a combined pre and post split basis (6 810 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold through BJM on the Nasdaq on the instructions of instructing broker T-Sec, (following instructions which they appear to have received from JCI and the perpetrators), through four trading accounts in the name of R B Kebble Carry, CMMS, CMMS Demat and Alibiprops in the records of T-Sec. The CMMS Demat trading account (account number 660415) at T-Sec was also used for purposes of trading in listed shares on behalf of CMMS.

27. 75 000 RRL shares on a pre split basis (150 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold on the Nasdaq in two individual transactions on 26 and 27 February 2004, with the net proceeds of R9 425 400 credited to the R B Kebble Carry trading account in the records of T-Sec. The proceeds of these sales were credited to various bank accounts with some of the proceeds credited to the JCI Share Incentive Scheme trading account in the records of T-Sec.

28. 2 800 000 RRL shares on a combined pre- and post split basis (4 350 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold in 18 individual transactions on the Nasdaq between 6 April 2004 and 25 June 2004, with the net proceeds of R259 108 924 credited to the CMMS trading account in the records of T-Sec. Of these share sales, the proceeds from the sale of only 1 500 000 RRL shares on a pre-split basis (3 000 000 shares on a post split basis), being R186 171 496, was debited to a general ledger account styled "Loan asset – Masupatsela", being in substance the inter-company loan account between R&E and CMMS. The balance of the shares sold being 1 350 000 shares, (after the two for one share split) were never debited to R&E's loan account against CMMS. This represented 1 300 000 RRL shares (on a pre-split basis) sold for R72 937 428, being the net proceeds.

29. 31 000 RRL shares on a pre-split basis (62 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold in an individual transaction on 12 February 2004 with the net proceeds of R4 608 150 being credited to a trading account in the name of CMMS Demat in the records of T-Sec. These proceeds were transferred to CMMS and were debited to a general ledger account styled, "Loan asset – Masupatsela", being in substance the inter-company loan account between R&E and CMMS.

30. A further 1 184 000 RRL shares on a combined pre- and post split basis (2 248 000 shares on a post split basis) were sold in 22 individual transactions with the net proceeds of R154 692 754 credited to a trading account in the name of Alibiprops in the records of T-Sec. These proceeds were transferred to various bank accounts with Kebble being the beneficiary of R7 800 000, Tuscan Mood the beneficiary of R22 783 392, CMMS and a related entity of CMMS being the beneficiary of R101 497 425, Lunda Sul (an R B Kebble controlled bank account) was the beneficiary of R1 124 687 and the Western Areas trading account was the beneficiary of R21 505 250.

31. Between 30 December 2004 and 18 August 2005, 3 750 000 RRL ordinary shares (on a post split basis) were sold through BJM on the Nasdaq on the instructions of instructing broker T-Sec (T-Sec apparently having in turn received instructions from JCI and the perpetrators), yielding net proceeds of R311 726 397. These proceeds were credited to the CMMS trading account at T-Sec without a corresponding credit to R&E in its inter-company account with CMMS.

Bookmark and the R R(H) SLA

32. On 6 February 2004, R R(H) represented by Buitendag and Bookmark represented by S. Rasethaba, purportedly concluded an SLA in terms of which R R(H) purportedly loaned 10 million RRL shares (on a post split basis) to Bookmark.

33. An SLA was also entered into between JCI and Bookmark, to allow Bookmark to provide R R(H) with security cover for the above SLA.

34. The above SLA's do not appear to have been authentic and appear to have been part of the mechanisms used to conceal unauthorised sales, lending and misappropriations of RRL shares. This transaction resulted in the incorrect reporting of listed investments in RRL (9.9 million shares with a fair value of R666.1 million) as at 31 December 2003.

Conclusion

35. A claim has been formulated against JCI for the alleged theft of 14 264 962 RRL shares (on a post split basis), less 1 904 962 RRL shares on a post split basis (952 481 pre-split) used by BNC/Investage, (the subject of a separate claim #3 – refer paragraph 59), using the highest Rand price per share between 5 April 2002 and the date of this claim. On this basis, the total claim being 12 360 000 shares at R159.23 per share, which claim amounts to R1 968 082 800 has been formulated (claim # 1);

36. Alternatively, JCI may be liable for the delivery of 12 360 000 RRL shares to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 12 360 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E;

37. Alternatively, JCI may be liable for damages resulting from the alleged theft of the proceeds resulting from the sale of the 12 360 000 RRL shares amounting to R887 217 084;

38. Alternatively, JCI may be liable for damages having received proceeds arising from the sale of the RRL shares in the amount of R796 966 825.

39. This claim is of equal application against the perpetrators as reflected in the Overview of Claims, being Annexure 2.

40. A review of a report released by KPMG Services, the forensic accountants of JCI, for purposes of the mediation dated 8 May 2006, appears to have materially corroborated the above findings with reference to the RRL shares.

CLAIMS # 2 and 3 – Theft of 3 000 000 Durban Roodepoort Deep, Limited ("DRD") shares and 952 481 RRL shares (on a pre-split basis)

41. In April 2002, the then directors of Consolidated African Mines Limited ("CAM"), the forerunner to JCI, and of JCI Gold, announced CAM's intention to propose a scheme of arrangement between JCI Gold and its shareholders, other than CAM. In terms hereof JCI Gold would become a wholly owned subsidiary of CAM. It was also proposed that on implementation of the scheme, the listing of JCI Gold shares on the JSE would be terminated.

42. In terms of the scheme, CAM would acquire all of the scheme shares in return for which participants would receive:
    - a scheme consideration of 7 new CAM shares issued at R0.45 each, R4.00 in cash; and
    - 4 CAM debentures of R1.25 each for every one JCI Gold share.

43. Scheme participants were given the option of electing the share alternative, being 9 new CAM shares issued at R0.45 each and credited as fully paid, instead of the cash component.

44. The cash element of the funding required to enable CAM to acquire the minority interest in JCI Gold amounted to R155 million. In terms of the scheme, BNC and Investage undertook to lend CAM R155 million in order for CAM to meet its scheme obligations to minority shareholders. The scheme of arrangement was duly approved and an announcement to that effect was made on 27 June 2002. On 8 July 2002, CAM changed its name to JCI. BNC, Investage and JCI were not in a financial position to legitimately raise the said sum of R155 million, either in whole or in part, whether by way of non-related party borrowings or otherwise.

45. In a circular to JCI shareholders dated 19 August 2002, shareholders were advised of a renounceable rights offer by JCI of 344 488 942 new ordinary shares of 1 cent each at an issue price of 45 cents per ordinary share in the ratio of 24, 5 new ordinary shares for every 100 ordinary shares held in JCI at the close of business on 16 August 2002.

46. The purpose of the rights offer was communicated as follows:

    "The proceeds of the rights offer will be used to repay the underwriting loans made by BNC and Investage to JCI amounting to R155 million in order to facilitate the implementation of the scheme of arrangement between JCI Gold and its shareholders. The lenders BNC and Investage have agreed to underwrite the rights offer and shall subscribe to all of the rights offer shares not taken up by the JCI shareholders. The lenders' obligations to pay the subscription price in respect of the underwriters' shares shall be set-off against JCI's obligation to repay the underwriting loans."

47. The "underwriting lenders", BNC and Investage were private companies under the control of The Kebble family (RAR and R B Kebble) and of Cornwall respectively, all of whom were directors of JCI/CAM at the date of the abovementioned scheme of arrangement and rights offer.

48. At the time BNC committed itself as an "underwriting lender" in terms of the said scheme and rights offer, it was in default in respect of an obligation to redeem certain variable rate redeemable preference shares issued to SocGen, which had been entered into between BNC and SocGen in an amount of R125 million subscribed for on 26 May 1997, redeemable on 30 May 2001. The default capital obligation at that date was in respect of 46 593 unredeemed preference shares, the liability for which was approximately R46.6 million.

49. The directors of BNC and Investage, acting in concert with the directors of JCI, "raised" funds of R155 million to meet their "underwriting loan" commitments, being R85 million and R70 million, respectively, by misappropriating 3 000 000 DRD shares and 952 481 RRL shares, both of which were the property of R&E.

50. On 3 March 2000, CAM ostensibly "borrowed" 3 000 000 DRD shares from R&E, First Wesgold and Bentonite, being two wholly owned subsidiaries of R&E.

51. Our investigation has revealed that the missing 3 000 000 DRD shares as at 3 March 2000 may in all likelihood have been concealed as at 31 December 2000 by the use of an alleged false SLA dated 3 March 2000, entered into between R&E (as lender) and an Australian registered private company, Notable, however this agreement appears to have been backdated. The legal and beneficial owners of the shares in the issued share capital of Notable were Stratton and Buitendag, both directors of CAM.

52. The backdating of this alleged false SLA is further corroborated by the fact that prior to, but by no later than 13 November 2001, various parties and R&E signed a settlement deed whereby Notable, on behalf of CAM, was required to return 3 000 000 DRD shares to R&E, which shares were held on behalf of Notable by SGS.

53. On 10 December 2001, Mrs F Markides – secretary to RAR Kebble – took delivery of 3 000 000 DRD shares (in certificated form – certificate number 27786) from SocGen via SGS. These shares were registered in the name of Goudstad Nominees (SocGen's nominee company) and appear to have been dematerialised by at least 27 November 2001, according to Ultra Registrars. The CSD dematerialised control account had 3 077 173 DRD shares in it as at that date. We can only construct that 3 000 000 DRD shares were re-materialised into certificate 27786 and delivered to RAR Kebble on 10 December 2001, with 77 156 DRD shares having to be rematerialised and delivered to DRD in terms of the abovementioned settlement deed.

54. On 11 February 2002 this share certificate was delivered to T-Sec and placed in a trading account in the name of P B Bawden (P B Beale). Between 10 December 2001 and 11 February 2002 these shares must have remained in the custody of RAR Kebble and/or R&E.

55. It is instructive that on delivery of the 3 000 000 DRD shares to RAR Kebble, SocGen referred to its client as "SGJ Acc client RA Kebble". We interpret this as although the shares were registered in Goudstad Nominees, SocGen considered the beneficial owner to be RAR Kebble. RAR Kebble has confirmed to us that he was never the beneficial owner of 3 000 000 DRD shares.

56. Between 8 February 2002 and 25 February 2002, 3 000 000 DRD shares belonging to R&E were sold through the P B Bawden, New Heights and Hothouse Investments Limited trading accounts held at T-Sec and through The Chardonnay Trust trading account held at Rice Rinaldi Securities. The proceeds of these shares, being approximately R90 million, appear to have been channelled through a "myriad" of bank accounts held at Brait Merchant Bank, ABSA and Standard Bank and various trust accounts held at Bowman Gilfillan and Mallinicks and ultimately found their way into two term deposit accounts at Corpcapital Bank in the name of BNC and Investage.

57. In the meantime, however, approximately R28 million of the above proceeds were transferred to an 'escrow' account held by Frankel Consulting on 18 February 2002, pending the purchase of 22 622 variable rate redeemable preference shares in terms of a put option exercised by SocGen against Kebble. The default capital obligation in February 2002 was in respect of 46 593 unredeemed preference shares, the liability for which was approximately R46.6 million. On 12 April 2002, Frankel Consulting paid the sum of approximately R28 million to SocGen in terms of the put option against Kebble.

58. Further amounts of R25 million and approximately R1.8 million (net) cash from JCI, were demanded by BNC in repayment of its short term advances to CAM and JCI Gold to restore the balance of term deposits available for the underwriting loan funding. These monies were not used for underwriting loan purposes but were rather used to redeem a tranche of BNC's preference shares held by SocGen. A further R25 million loan was sourced by BNC/RAR Kebble from a third party, which loan was subsequently repaid by way of 55.6 million JCI shares originally acquired by BNC in terms of the JCI renounceable rights offer in August 2002.

59. 952 481 RRL shares (on a pre-split basis) were disposed of as follows:
    - 800 000 RRL shares were sold through the New Heights trading account at T-Sec, deriving proceeds of approximately R54.1 million which proceeds were then ultimately deposited into Corpcapital Bank term deposit account in the name of Investage; and
    - 152 481 RRL shares were sold through the Wolwekloof Carry trading account at T-Sec realising approximately R10.2 million which proceeds were then used to partially repay an overdraft account in the name of RAR Kebble, opened on behalf of CMMS.

60. On 15 July 2002, the proceeds from these misappropriated DRD and RRL shares, together with interest which had accrued in respect of these proceeds, and which had amounted to approximately R155 million, was transferred by BNC and Investage to a JCI Gold scheme bank account. Loan agreements were entered into between CAM and Investage and BNC for R70 million and R85 million, respectively. The proceeds from these loan accounts were to be used by CAM to distribute to scheme participants the cash component in terms of the JCI Gold scheme of arrangement.

61. On 19 August 2002, shareholders were advised of a renounceable rights offer by JCI, the reason for the rights offer being, inter alia, to raise sufficient cash to repay BNC and Investage in respect of the loans advanced. Due to the high price at which the rights offer had been underwritten, the underwriters being BNC and Investage, took up the majority of the shares issued and in settlement of the 'underwriting loans', Investage and BNC received approximately 155.4 million and 188.8 million JCI shares, respectively, – being approximately 1 share at 45 cents for every R1.00 lent.

62. On 25 September 2002, Cornwall – whilst a director of JCI – pledged Investage's 155.4 million JCI shares to Nedbank to secure increased personal overdraft facilities. Nedbank duly took possession of the said JCI shares, and appears to have transferred such shares into the name of its nominee company.

63. Acting on Investage's instructions, Nedbank commenced selling the JCI shares and by 30 January 2003, the bank had sold 75.2 million of the 155.4 million pledged JCI shares.

64. On 15 July 2003 a further 40.2 million JCI shares were sold by Nedbank, leaving a balance of 40 million JCI shares as at 30 September 2003.

65. On 4 December 2003 Investage passed a resolution authorising Nedbank to sell as many of the JCI shares pledged as security for the obligations of Cornwall and his property company, Silver Terrace Investments (Proprietary) Limited, as necessary in order to raise R30 million. The R30 million raised from the proceeds of the sale was to be apportioned as to R13 million and R17 million in reduction of Cornwall's personal debt and his property company's debt respectively. By 23 January 2004 all the JCI shares had been sold, the total proceeds of which were R101 million.

66. BNC, having raised long-term redeemable preference share debt in May 1997 of R125 million and short-term debt of R30.5 million from SocGen and SBC Warburg, both international banks, entered into a secured financing agreement with Hawkhurst, to refinance itself during 1999. At the time of entering into this agreement, Hawkhurst took a pledge of BNC's investment in JCI shares and JCI options which amounted to 79.8 million JCI shares and 35.6 million JCI options. BNC subsequently defaulted on repaying this debt and the offshore lenders appear to have perfected their security, being the original 79.8 million JCI shares, the JCI options and a further 132.4 million JCI shares that were transferred into their funds name. The 132.4 million JCI shares originated from the 188.8 million JCI shares received by BNC in settlement of their 'underwriting loan'.

67. Of the 188.8 million JCI shares received by BNC:
    - 132.4 million shares were transferred to the offshore lenders as a result of a pledge of shares and options agreement entered into with BNC;
    - 55.6 million shares were used to settle the loan of R25 million; and
    - 310 000 JCI shares were transferred into the Western Areas Share Incentive Trust trading account held at T-Sec.

68. BNC reduced/redeemed its R125 million redeemable preference share debt between May 1997 and December 2003 as follows: R28 million was raised by way of a preference share issue by MK Enterprises to SocGen and used to redeem 28 000 preference shares issued by BNC to SocGen; R30.4 million was sourced from Hawkhurst and applied in redemption of 30 407 shares in June 1999; 20 000 shares were purchased for R20 million, which was sourced from the alleged theft and sale of inter alia 2 788 000 DRD shares (claim # 7), held by entities within the R&E Group, for R31 million between 15 September 1999 and 5 October 1999, and applied in part reduction of the debt on 5 October 1999; 22 622 shares were purchased from SocGen for R22.6 million, which was sourced from the alleged theft and sale of 3 000 000 DRD shares, held by R&E, for R89 643 550 between 8 February 2002 and 1 March 2002 and applied in part reduction of the debt on 15 April 2002; R20 million was sourced from the alleged theft of a portion of the proceeds from the first tranche of R61.66 million paid by Investec Bank UK Ltd to T-Sec on the instructions of JCI (claim # 9), and was applied in redemption of 23 971 shares that T-Sec had purchased from SocGen in reduction of the debt on 31 December 2003.

The SLA's with Kemonshey and Notable

69. Two SLAs with several addenda to each, were entered into between R&E (and sometimes R R(H)) with Gibraltar-registered Kemonshey and with Australian-registered Notable.

70. The SLAs were both signed by Stratton, who claimed to be acting as agent for both Cornwall on the Kemonshey SLA and for Kebble on the Notable SLA. RAR Kebble signed for both R&E and R R(H).

71. The Kemonshey SLA was the mechanism used to conceal the misappropriation of 952 481 RRL shares in 2002 (claim # 3) and the Notable SLA to conceal the misappropriation of 3 000 000 DRD shares in 2000 (refer claim # 2).

72. In terms of relevant International Accounting Standards, shares lent in terms of SLAs, where the economic benefits and rights remain vested in the lender, are not derecognised as assets of the lender. Accordingly, the misappropriated shares used to fund BNC's and Investage's 'underwriting loan' commitments, as described in 71 above, were lent without the necessity for derecognition as assets in the books and records of R&E.

73. Subsequent to the concealment of the misappropriated listed investments by using SLAs, the settlement shares were varied by way of addenda to the SLAs, being:
    - 3.3 million WAL shares instead of 952 481 RRL shares; and
    - 660 000 WAL shares plus cash of R27 million instead of the 3 000 000 DRD shares.

74. These varied settlement shares and cash were never delivered nor paid and were fictitious and yet were brought to account as listed investments and an unimpaired loan receivable, replacing the misappropriated shares in the books and records of R&E in 2003 and 2004. These fictitious assets were finally derecognised as at 31 December 2005.

Conclusion

75. Evidence suggests that by at least the end of 2000 and 2002, 3 000 000 DRD listed shares, and 1 600 000 RRL shares (on a post split basis), respectively, being the property of R&E, were allegedly misappropriated, the proceeds of which were ultimately channelled into funding the underwriting loans made by BNC and Investage to buy out the minorities in JCI Gold, in terms of a scheme of arrangement. In June 2002 the proceeds from the sale of 304 962 RRL shares (on a post split basis), registered in the name of Durlacher Ltd Nominees, were credited to a trading account in the name of Wolwekloof Carry, a trading account under the control of RAR Kebble, held at T-Sec, and then transferred to a bank account at ABSA Private Bank in the name of RAR Kebble (t/a account 16). This account had been drawn down by CMMS to the extent of R16 million, at RAR Kebble's instruction.

76. Damages resulting from the alleged theft of the 3 000 000 DRD shares amounting to R169 500 000 and the 1 904 962 RRL shares amounting to R303 327 099 which amount represents the highest value of DRD and RRL shares subsequent to their alleged theft, have been formulated against JCI;

77. Alternatively, JCI and the perpetrators may be liable to return 3 000 000 DRD and 1 904 962 RRL shares to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 3 000 000 DRD and 1 904 962 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E;

78. Alternatively, JCI and the perpetrators may be liable for damages resulting from the alleged theft of the proceeds resulting from the sale of the 3 000 000 DRD and 1 904 962 RRL shares amounting to R89 643 550 and R64 326 241, respectively;

79. Alternatively, JCI may be liable for the payment resulting from the receipt by it of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 3 000 000 DRD and 1 904 962 RRL shares in an amount of R89 643 550 and R64 326 241, respectively.

80. This claim is of equal application against the perpetrators as reflected in the overview of claims report being Annexure 2.

CLAIMS # 4 & 6 – The Aflease Share Claims

81. R&E had in February 2004 concluded certain agreements with Aflease in terms of which R&E would provide funding to Aflease by subscribing for 24 million ordinary shares in Aflease for a consideration of R82.4 million and underwriting a R100 million Aflease rights offer.

82. These funding agreements were renegotiated into a Share Swap agreement and an R&E loan facility of R50 million.

83. In terms of the Share Swap, Aflease acquired 9 400 000 R&E shares and R&E through its wholly owned subsidiary, First Wesgold, acquired 94 000 000 Aflease shares. The Share Swap was valued at approximately R125 million.

84. First Wesgold acquired the Aflease Swap Shares in September 2004. These shares were immediately placed into the CMMS trading account at T-Sec. We could find no evidence that R&E or First Wesgold authorised the placing of these shares in this trading account.

85. From a reconstruction of the First Wesgold investment schedules as they pertain to investments in Aflease shares and from an internal analysis of the R&E Group holdings in Aflease shares it is evident that 93 000 000 Aflease shares were placed into First Wesgold's investment register in September 2004. The difference between the swap shares and the number of shares placed in the investment register of 1 000 000 shares represents a 'commission' paid, we understand, to Nexus Securities. 94 000 000 shares were without the authority of First Wesgold placed in CMMS's trading account and co-mingled with other Aflease shares belonging to R&E and CMMS.

86. Treating the sale of the shares on a FIFO basis the movement of the Aflease shares in the CMMS trading account would have been as follows:

Conclusion

The 8 100 000 Aflease shares

87. On 1 July 2003 R&E acquired 8 100 000 Aflease shares from Kabusha, the sale proceeds of which were to be applied by Kabusha in settlement of its commitment to pay the first tranche of R40 million to Benoryn in respect of the purchase of 23 000 000 Aflease shares. These shares were transferred to the CMMS trading account at T-Sec on the instruction of JCI, culminating in a claim against CMMS for having lost control or alternatively benefiting from the proceeds of these shares. Using the highest Rand price for SXR (formerly Aflease) shares at a conversion rate of 0.18 SXR share for every one Aflease share, subsequent to their alleged theft, a claim has been formulated against JCI for R95 499 000 (claim # 4);

88. Alternatively, delivery of 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current SXR equivalent, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E;

89. Alternatively, damages resulting from the alleged theft of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, amounting to R15 108 104;

90. Alternatively, damages resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 8 100 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, in an amount of R11 292 342.

The 94 000 000 Aflease shares

91. In October 2004, R&E entered into a share swap agreement with Aflease wherein 9 400 000 R&E shares were swapped for 94 000 000 Aflease shares. The Aflease shares were placed in the CMMS trading account and recorded in the investment ledger of First Wesgold, a wholly owned subsidiary of R&E. A claim has been formulated against JCI for the alleged theft of 94 000 000 Aflease shares based on the highest Rand price for SXR (formerly Aflease) shares at a conversion rate of 0.18 SXR share for every one Aflease share, being a claim of R1 108 260 300 (claim # 6);

92. Alternatively, delivery of 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current SXR equivalent, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E;

93. Alternatively, damages resulting from the theft of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, amounting to R165 083 164;

94. Alternatively, damages resulting from the receipt by JCI of the proceeds deriving from the sale of the 94 000 000 Aflease shares or their current equivalent, in an amount of R144 711 877.

CLAIM # 7 – Theft of 2 000 000 DRD Ordinary Shares

95. A scrutiny of DRD's share register reflects that R&E was the registered owner of 6 689 327 ordinary shares on 12 September 1998. According to the share register this is the highest number of shares held by R&E.

96. By 31 December 1998 the shareholding had declined to 2 709 842 ordinary shares. At 31 December 1999 the investment register in the books and records of R&E reflected a shareholding of 4 971 110 ordinary shares, which together with 1 447 433 ordinary shares in the name of its wholly owned subsidiary, First Wesgold, totalled 6 418 543 shares against 3 238 493 in the share register for both R&E and First Wesgold, being an overstatement of 3 180 050 shares.

97. During the period, 10 September 1999 to 1 October 1999, 2 788 000 DRD shares, belonging to R&E, First Wesgold and Bentonite were transferred to the CMMS trading account (Account No. 211615 at EW Balderson) being the predecessor account, to the CMMS trading account at T-Sec, for no value and without any authority from the Board of R&E. At this time, neither CMMS, nor any of the companies in the JCI Group held any DRD shares. These shares were disposed of, realising proceeds of R31 029 671. Of these proceeds, R20 543 952 was paid to SocGen, a preference shareholder in BNC. On 18 March 1999, RAR Kebble and R B Kebble, signed a letter of undertaking, whereby they undertook to 'purchase' 20 000 of the variable rate redeemable preference shares, issued to SocGen by BNC, by no later than 30 September 1999 for R20 000 000. It would appear that this payment of R20 543 952 was made in settlement of the above obligation.

98. During the 2000 calendar year, 788 000 DRD shares were returned by CMMS to the First Wesgold trading account, where these shares were subsequently disposed of.

99. By 31 December 2000 R&E had no DRD shares and First Wesgold had 4 169 DRD shares per the share register. By contrast, the audited group financial statements reflected a shareholding of some 5 000 000 ordinary shares with a market value of R25 000 000.

100. On 29 May 2002, CAM, addressed a letter to the directors of R&E, presumably for audit purposes, confirming that CAM was holding 2 000 000 DRD shares on behalf of R&E as at 31 December 2001.

101. According to the share register, R&E held no shares and FWG held 4169 shares as at 31 December 2001 and 2000. CAM went on to confirm that 1 500 000 shares were released and returned to R&E on 15 March 2002.

102. On 15 March 2002, 1 500 000 DRD shares were ostensibly recorded as having been sold by R&E for R42 576 771 through T-Sec. This sale, however, did not take place but was merely a mechanism used to remove 1 500 000 DRD shares from the investment register of R&E. The fictitious brokers note used to remove the shares from the books and records of R&E, was compiled by Poole. The JSE surveillance unit has further confirmed that no such trade of 1 500 000 DRD shares took place on the JSE on 15 March 2002.

103. The purpose of recording the fictitious sale of 1 500 000 DRD shares appear on available evidence to have been twofold:
    - It was designed to firstly remove 1 500 000 DRD shares from the investment register and books and records of R&E, which shares had already been sold by no later than September 1999;
    - It was designed to record the fact that the first payment in respect of the ABSA debenture facility, being a composite amount of R39 180 000, had been paid on 28 March 2002, when in fact this payment had been made directly by CMMS to ABSA.

104. The fact that CMMS was a party to this disguise by making such payment and ultimately not reflecting it as an amount owing by R&E, seems to be evidence that it conspired to disguise the fact that R&E's DRD shares were allegedly stolen by JCI on or before 15 March 2002.

105. Further evidence that JCI was a party to this disguise is supported by a purported confirmation from Tradek which appears to have been forged dated 5 June 2002 where CAM "confirmed" that the CAM trading account held 500 000 DRD shares as at 5 June 2002 and that the aforementioned shares were unencumbered.

106. Subsequent to the 2001 year end of R&E, various directors of JCI, all acting in concert with each other, and in concert with JCI, used a number of disguises to obviate the need to remove the ostensible 500 000 DRD shares still unaccounted for from R&E's records.

107. On 3 December 2004, Buitendag, ostensibly on behalf of R&E entered into a share swap agreement with Slipknot Investments 203 (Proprietary) Limited whereby R&E swapped 500 000 DRD shares in return for 14 000 000 JCI shares. This purported share swap was designed to eliminate the remaining "unaccounted" for 500 000 DRD shares, replacing them with 14 000 000 JCI shares which could be explained notwithstanding that no external audit was completed for the 2004 financial year-end.

108. These JCI shares were never received by R&E and have been derecognised as a listed investment.

Conclusion

109. R&E alleges that JCI in conjunction with the perpetrators, devised a scheme, which scheme resulted in JCI and one or more of the perpetrators, gaining control of the 2 000 000 DRD shares rendering JCI liable for damages resulting from the theft of the DRD shares amounting to R113 000 000, which amount represents the highest value of the 2 000 000 DRD shares subsequent to their theft;

110. Alternatively, JCI may be liable for the delivery of 2 000 000 DRD shares to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the 2 000 000 DRD shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E.

CLAIM # 8 – Theft of 40 million Simmer & Jack Mines, Limited ordinary shares

111. In late 2004 Simmers contemplated a rights issue. In the circular to shareholders dated 20 June 2005, the directors of Simmers asserted that JCI, through the holdings of its subsidiary and associated companies, held 77.6% of the issued share capital of Simmers.

112. This holding was made up as follows:

Shareholder	Number of shares (000's)	Percentage
CMMS	85 118	37.8
Continental Goldfields	40 000	17.8
Consolidated Mining Corporation	9 423	4.2
R&E	40 000	17.8
Total	174 541	77.6

113. The rights offer contemplated raising 516 241 685 new ordinary shares for R129 million, with cash raised of approximately R59 million.

114. The cash component, for which either cash or guarantees had to be in place, before the JSE would sanction the rights offer, was raised as follows:

Source	Number of shares	R'm
From Top-Gold AGmvK sale	116 000 000	29.0
Loan/Sale from JCI	100 000 000	25.0
From management consortium	20 000 000	5.0
Total	236 000 000	59.0

115. JCI in turn was to raise the R25 million it had committed to Simmers to facilitate the rights offer by obtaining a "loan" from Top-Gold of R25 million, secured by 100 000 000 Simmers shares.

116. It is not clear whether JCI lent the 100 000 000 Simmers shares to Top-Gold under a SLA or whether JCI actually sold the 100 000 000 shares to Top-Gold for R25 000 000.

117. What is of relevance though is that JCI did not have 100 000 000 shares to lend nor sell, as it had pledged its shares to secure financing from Sasfin.

118. The 100 000 000 shares which were transferred to Top Gold in December 2004 in terms of a "bookover" transaction executed through T-Sec, were sourced (in rounded numbers) from:

Shareholder	Number of shares	Value R
Continental Goldfields	40 000 000	10 000 000
R&E	40 000 000	10 000 000
Consolidated Mining Corp	9 000 000	2 250 000
Orlyfunt Holdings	11 000 000	2 750 000
Total	100 000 000	25 000 000

119. There is no evidence that R&E agreed to its investment in Simmers being either sold or lent to Top-Gold or JCI respectively, in order to facilitate JCI raising R25 million to meet its loan commitment to Simmers which, in turn, would facilitate Simmers' intended rights offer.

120. The directors of R&E asserted that R&E was the beneficial owner of 40 000 000 Simmers shares in the preliminary annual financial statements of R&E for the year ended 31 December 2004. No cognisance was taken of either a sale to Top-Gold, as evidenced by the "bookover" and transfer of the 100 000 000 Simmers shares, of which the 40 000 000 shares were part, nor of a SLA wherein all economic rights were transferred to Top-Gold, i.e. a sale. Top-Gold asserted in its unaudited half year financial report as at 31 December 2004 that it was the owner of the Simmers shares. There is also no evidence that R&E lent the shares to JCI, to allow JCI to on-lend the shares to Top-Gold.

121. We accordingly assert that the 40 000 000 Simmers shares were misappropriated by JCI in conjunction with other perpetrators, which together with other Simmers shares were used by JCI in order to raise R25 million.

Conclusion

122. By virtue of the alleged theft of the Simmers shares, R&E alleges that JCI is liable to it for the payment of R94 000 000 (which amount represents the highest price per share for Simmers shares between 1 December 2004 and the date of this claim);

123. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for the delivery of 40 000 000 Simmers shares, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 40 000 000 Simmers shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E.

CLAIM # 9 – Overseas SLA – Investec Bank (UK) Ltd – monetisation of 5 460 000 RRL shares allegedly stolen by JCI 124. As at 3 March 2004, R&E alternatively R R(H), was the beneficial owner of inter alia 5 460 000 RRL shares reckoned on a post split basis. On this date, JCI and IBUK entered into an Overseas SLA referred to as a "hedged equity transaction", the rationale for which was to allow JCI to borrow cash against a parcel of shares (the 5 460 000 RRL shares belonging to R&E or R R(H)) on better terms than a normal share cover loan would offer. No authority was given by R&E or R R(H) to lend these 5 460 000 RRL shares to JCI.

125. The structure required JCI to lend IBUK 5 460 000 RRL shares in ADR format. JCI received a fixed amount of collateral (being cash collateral) from IBUK as security against the share loan, and the RRL share parcel was hedged against the collateral by way of a range of put and call options.

126. JCI required the collateral amount to be paid in SA Rands ("ZAR"). To ensure that the ZAR collateral amount was never greater in value than the hedged parcel of shares (put options denominated in US$), JCI was required to purchase a US$ Put/ZAR Call FX Option from IBUK.

127. The settlement of these options was subject to the repayment by JCI of the ZAR collateral plus interest. The cost of the FX option was deducted from the collateral before it was paid to JCI.

128. The gross collateral amount was R221 975 537 which after deducting the option premium, yielded R208 794 833.

129. This was paid in four tranches; the first tranche of R61 659 084 was paid on 19 March 2004 to T-Sec. This R61,66 million was on the instructions of JCI channelled by T-Sec into a trading account controlled by Kebble from which R11.68 million was redirected to SocGen in partial settlement for an advance of R26.68 million (utilised previously to fund Western Areas to the extent of R21.68 million and CMMS to the extent of R5 million), R20 million was credited to a CMMS trading account and R29.98 million was transferred to a Western Areas trading account. Of the funds transferred out of the first tranche to the Western Areas' trading account, R20 million was recouped from this trading account and R15 million was recouped from a Western Areas bank account and used: (1) to partially redeem BNC's preference share obligation to SocGen in an amount of R20 million and (2) to repay the balance of SocGen's advance of R26.68 million, being R15 million.

130. The second and third tranches, amounting in total to R78 782 924 were paid to Investec Private Bank to settle various advances previously made to JCI Gold.

131. The fourth tranche of R68 352 825 was paid directly into CMMS's bank account.

132. A further R48 783 142 was paid to JCI on the restructuring of the equity options and collateral amounts by JCI in August 2004, by adjusting the equity put options upwards and adjusting the equity call options downwards.

133. On settlement of the FX option structure in May 2006, under the new Board, an amount of R29 182 964 was paid to R&E.

Conclusion

134. The 5 460 000 RRL shares are the subject of a claim against JCI, which claim has been formulated on the basis of an alleged theft of shares, using the highest rand price per share between April 2002 and the date of this claim. On this basis, the total claim is 5 460 000 shares at R159.23 per share which claim amounts to R869 395 800 (claim # 9);

135. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for delivery of 5 460 000 RRL shares, alternatively payment to R&E of such amount as represents the value of the said 5 460 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found liable to R&E;

136. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for the alleged theft of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 5 460 000 RRL shares amounting to R270 758 673;

137. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for damages resulting from the receipt by it of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 5 460 000 RRL shares in an amount of R270 758 673.

CLAIM # 10 – The Phikoloso Transaction

138. The transaction ostensibly structured to secure a BEE shareholding of some 19% in R&E by Phikoloso, appears to be on evidence available a mechanism to provide liquidity and personal gain for certain former directors, company officials and others as well as to benefit JCI either directly or indirectly.

139. The methodology was to issue and list new R&E shares ostensibly to acquire a newly incorporated special purpose vehicle with substantially fictitious assets, and then to gain control of such R&E shares and deal therewith to give effect to JCI's ends and purposes.

140. 8 800 000 R&E shares with an approximate market value of R259.6 million were issued in return for a 100% stake in Viking which purportedly held a 75% stake in a BEE company, Kabusha and a direct investment in certain listed shares.

141. Prior to Viking's incorporation, Kabusha had negotiated to acquire 23 000 000 shares in Aflease from Benoryn for R92 million, to be funded by JCI. The purchase consideration was to be paid in two tranches of R40 million and R52 million.

142. JCI did not meet its commitment to fund the first tranche and it would appear that the directors of Kabusha then agreed with the directors of R&E to "sell" 8 100 000 Aflease shares on the market to R&E, thereby securing settlement, and providing a source of funding to pay the first tranche.

143. R&E settled the transaction by transferring R40.7 million to its trading account at T-Sec and the Aflease shares were immediately transferred from R&E's trading account to CMMS's trading account, for no value.

144. Kabusha regarded and recorded this as a secured loan from Viking. At no stage did R&E record this transaction as an investment in Aflease shares; in fact it recorded this cash outflow as an acquisition of mineral rights in Sierra Leone. The financial director of R&E confirmed to the external auditors of Kabusha that it held the 8 100 000 Aflease shares on Kabusha's behalf, despite the fact that CMMS had "borrowed" these shares, as disclosed in the audited group financial statements of JCI for the year ended 31 March 2004. Whilst residing in the CMMS trading account, 2 000 000 shares were transferred in October 2004 to a trading account under the control of Kebble, with no value accruing to R&E and the remaining 6 100 000 shares were sold in the CMMS trading account realising proceeds of R11 292 342 (significantly less than their original purchase consideration).

145. The JCI commitment to fund the second tranche of R52 million was also not met. By this stage the funding requirement for the Aflease shares had been "regularised" by way of a loan agreement for R92 million between Viking and Kabusha. The R52 million second tranche was eventually settled, with interest, by JCI after litigation was instituted against JCI.

146. In a separate transaction purportedly with R&E, Kabusha desirous of raising funds to meet costs associated with the default on the second tranche, again sold 1 675 000 Aflease shares on the market on 22 July 2004 to ensure settlement. These shares were acquired in the Lunda Sul trading account at T-Sec, using funds sourced from the sale of new R&E shares issued for Angolan diamond concessions.

147. These shares, which Kabusha asserted as its property, were sold by the related party despite R&E confirming as at 31 December 2004 that CMMS was holding these shares on behalf of Kabusha.

148. Kabusha continued to account for both the 8 100 000 and the 1 675 000 Aflease shares in its financial statements, resulting in R&E including these shares in its group financial statements as at 31 December 2004, when in fact these shares had been sold.

149. In order to bolster Viking's net asset value at the date of acquisition to justify the purchase consideration, fictitious investments in Aflease (7.3 million shares), Harmony (315 000 shares) and Amplats (235 000 shares) had been created by way of false brokers notes. These non-existent shares were subsequently "sold" to R&E and the Harmony and Amplats shares were purportedly scrip lent to Bookmark in a SLA to disguise their non-existence.

150. At 31 December 2003 they were reflected as listed investments in the audited financial statements of R&E. They remained listed investments through 31 December 2004 and were finally derecognised as investments as at 31 December 2005. The non-existence of the Aflease shares was disguised by way of a forged stockbroker's confirmation as at 31 December 2003 and by way of a fraudulent legal agreement as at 31 December 2004. This investment was derecognised as at 31 December 2005.

Bookmark and the Harmony and Amplats SLA

151. On 1 October 2004, R&E represented by Buitendag and Bookmark represented by S. Rasethaba, purportedly concluded an SLA in terms of which R&E "lent" 315 000 Harmony and 235 000 Amplats shares to Bookmark.

152. The above SLA does not appear to have been authentic and appears to have been the mechanism used to conceal fictitious investments in Harmony and Amplats shares. This transaction resulted in the incorrect reporting of listed investments in Harmony (315 000 shares at a cost value of R34.2 million) and Amplats (235 000 shares at a cost value of R68.5 million). The fictitious Harmony and Amplats investments were reflected as assets of R&E as at 31 December 2004, with a fair value of R67.7 million in aggregate when in fact these assets did not exist.

Conclusion

153. In July 2003 R&E acquired the entire issued share capital of, and all shareholders' claims on loan account against Viking in exchange for the issue of 8 800 000 new R&E shares, equivalent to 19.7% of R&E's issued share capital. The new shares were issued in the name of Equitant and placed in that company's trading account at T-Sec.

154. In September 2003, 3 088 000 R&E shares were transferred out of the Equitant trading account to the Paradigm Shift trading account (a trading account under Kebble's control), whereupon 1 600 000 R&E shares were thereafter transferred to CMMS, on 1 December 2003, 3 000 000 R&E shares were transferred to a trading account of Letseng Diamonds (Proprietary) Limited (account number 0671982) held at Consilium Capital (SA) (Proprietary) Limited, and 300 000 R&E shares were transferred to the CMMS trading account at T-Sec on P B Beale's instruction.

155. The purported creation, allotment, listing and issue of 8 800 000 R&E ordinary shares for no apparent value received has culminated in a claim against JCI and other associated entities amounting to R149 600 000.

CLAIMS # 11, 12 and 13 – The Angolan Operations

156. Despite attempts by JCI to establish diamond mining operations in Angola, various projects entered into were transformed into opportunities to issue and list new R&E shares, ostensibly to acquire equity stakes in Angolan concessions obtained by South African companies and then to allegedly misappropriate such shares for cash for the benefit of JCI.

157. 4 960 000 R&E shares were issued in respect of three separate projects and placed in a trading account in the name of Lunda Sul at T-Sec. These shares, together with 200 000 R&E shares arising from an additional issue of 1 506 000 shares ostensibly issued for mining equipment (which shares were placed in dematerialised form in a Trans Benguela Logistics (Proprietary) Limited trading account at T-Sec), were then sold for R86.2 million. These proceeds were then transferred to various third party bank accounts. Of these funds, R30.8 million was channelled into the personal bank account of Kebble. Of the balance of 1 306 000 R&E shares, 200 000 shares were transferred to the Robinson Deep trading account at SA Stockbrokers, 607 000 shares were transferred to the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec, with 641 000 of these R&E shares being transferred to the CMMS trading account at T-Sec as securities were purportedly required to be used for a pledge. All the instructions to transfer the securities were issued by P B Beale who, in turn, was acting on instructions issued by the perpetrators.

158. A further 1 492 000 R&E shares were issued for a fourth Angolan project and placed in the CMMS trading account at T-Sec. The whereabouts of these shares and/or the proceeds of their sale was the subject of a separate forensic investigation. Without detracting from the basis of the legal claim, a minimum claim for the 1 492 000 R&E shares issued at R18.50 per share, for which R&E received no value, has been asserted against JCI.

159. On 23 June 2004 1 506 000 R&E shares were issued and listed at R18.50 per share, ostensibly to settle the purchase consideration for the acquisition of mining equipment from Trans Benguela Logistics. 200 000 of these shares were transferred to a trading account in the name of Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Ltd (refer 2.9.2 above). The balance of 1 306 000 is the subject of a separate claim.

160. The issue and listing of the 7 958 000 R&E shares was void and designed solely to make such shares available for misappropriation from R&E. The fictitious assets arising from these share issues, falsely reported in aggregate as having a carrying value of R162 million as at 31 December 2004, respectively, have been fully impaired. Recoveries are being sought from the recipients of these shares.

Conclusion

161. Between April and June 2004, 5 160 000 new R&E shares were issued, 2 268 000 at R25.00 per share and the balance at R18.50 per share. These shares were placed in a trading account at T-Sec in the name of Lunda Sul, disposed of, and the funds appear to have been misappropriated by JCI and the perpetrators from this trading account, culminating in a claim against JCI for damages. In order to regularise the position, R&E will be required to purchase the 5 160 000 R&E shares on the open market and thereafter to cancel such shares which were unlawfully issued and allotted in R&E's share register. Using the issue price of R25.00 per share (in respect of 2 268 000 shares) and R18.50 per share (in respect of 2 892 000 shares) – being the price at which R&E can buy these shares back – R&E contends that JCI is indebted to it for the sum of R87 720 000 (claim # 11).

162. On 23 June 2004, 1 506 000 new R&E shares were issued for mining equipment at R18.50 per share. These shares were placed in a trading account in the name of Trans Benguela Logistics (Pty) Ltd in the records of T-Sec, 200 000 of which were transferred to a trading account in the name of Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Ltd and are included in claim # 11 (refer paragraph 2.10.6.2 above). The balance of these shares were subsequently transferred to several trading accounts at various stockbrokers, with no value accruing to R&E. 641 000 R&E shares were transferred to a CMMS trading account culminating in a claim for damages. In order to regularise the position, R&E will be required to purchase the 1 306 000 R&E shares on the open market and thereafter to cancel such shares in its share register which were unlawfully issued and allotted. Using the issue price of R18.50 per share (being the price at which R&E can buy these shares back) R&E contends that JCI is indebted to it for the sum of R22 202 000 (claim # 12).

163. On 23 June 2004, 1 492 000 new R&E shares were issued at R18.50 per share, ostensibly for a participation in an Angolan diamond concession. These shares were placed in a CMMS trading account at T-Sec, culminating in a claim against JCI for damages. In order to regularise the position, R&E will be required to purchase the 1 492 000 R&E shares on the open market and thereafter to cancel such shares which were unlawfully issued and allotted. Using the issue price of R18.50 per share (being the price at which R&E can buy these shares back) R&E contends that JCI is indebted to it for the sum of R25 364 000 (claim # 13).

CLAIM # 14 – Theft of 4 000 000 RRL shares and disposal of 3 000 000 WAL shares to secure securities lending facility for JCI

164. As at 31 December 2003, R&E alternatively R R(H) was the beneficial owner of, inter alia, 4 000 000 RRL shares.

165. CMMS, through T-Sec, entered into a securities lending facility with SocGen thereby facilitating the raising of finance to meet its ongoing cash commitments for the benefit of JCI. In the first instance JCI/CMMS commenced this form of trading in approximately 2001/2002. On 3 March 2004, 1 000 000 RRL shares (on a pre-split basis) belonging to R R(H) were used for the first time as collateral for the SLA between SocGen and T-Sec when R R(H) purportedly authorised the pledging of these shares in favour of SocGen. In terms of the SLA, SocGen would have had recourse in the event of default to T-Sec and T-Sec would in turn have had recourse against CMMS/JCI. This was subsequently increased to 2 000 000 (pre-split) RRL shares by the pledge of an additional 1 000 000 RRL shares belonging to R R(H) on 30 April 2004. The share pledge letter, Crest transfer forms and pledge resolutions appear to be forgeries (with alleged forged Kebble and P B Bawden signatures) and did not constitute the written consent of the Board of Directors of R R(H). The R R(H) resolution purportedly authorising the pledge was dated 2 July 2004. The transfer secretaries were requested to "flag" these shares in the share register and under no circumstances should the "flag" be removed without authorisation from SocGen. This was the beginning of the pledging process with RRL shares being used to collateralise T-Sec's exposure to SocGen on the short sales position.

166. In order for JCI to borrow any particular security for immediate sale, T-Sec was required in terms of the JCI SLA with SocGen, to provide SocGen with sufficient collateral in respect of the scrip which it intended borrowing.

167. Collateral in the form of 4 000 000 RRL shares which appear to have been stolen, were ostensibly made available by JCI in respect of this SLA. Such shares were owned by R R(H) and were neither beneficially owned by JCI nor any of its subsidiaries.

168. The JCI SLA was utilised by JCI to borrow and sell securities to generate cash which could be used by JCI and its various subsidiaries and associate companies (including CMMS) to meet JCI's day-to-day business and other commitments.

169. Whilst JCI was selling the various counters (which it had through T-Sec borrowed from SocGen), short into the market, the market conditions were against the short sale of such scrip. The market was experiencing a "Bull run" at the time, and T-Sec had advised against the short sale of the borrowed shares when sales were executed, the concern being that in the event of the price of the relevant counters sold short into the Bull market escalating, JCI would be required to re-purchase the scrip sold by it on the maturity dates (when it would become liable to return the borrowed shares to SocGen), at prices far in excess of those at which the borrowed scrip had initially been sold. This gave rise to a loss being occasioned by JCI in having to buy back the scrip at far higher prices than the scrip was initially sold for.

Conclusion

170. By virtue of the alleged theft of the 4 000 000 RRL shares, R&E alleges that it has sustained damages and that JCI may be liable to it for an amount of R636 920 000 which amount represents the highest value of the 4 000 000 RRL shares subsequent to their alleged theft;

171. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for delivery of 4 000 000 RRL shares, alternatively payment to R&E of such amount as represents the value of the said 4 000 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E;

172. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for the theft of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 4 000 000 RRL shares amounting to R386 672 211;

173. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for damages resulting from the receipt by it of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 4 000 000 RRL shares in an amount of R386 672 211.

Alleged unauthorised use of 3 000 000 WAL shares to reduce losses occasioned by JCI on its scrip lending facility

174. On 26 October 2004, a trading account in the name of R&E – "the R&E Scrip Lending Account" was opened at T-Sec which appears to have been opened for the ends and purposes of JCI as mentioned herein, appointing T-Sec, as agent for this purpose. Up and until 27 January 2005 the R&E Scrip Lending Account at T-Sec largely remained inactive. Evidence indicates that minimal trading in this account had taken place prior to this date.

175. On 12 January 2005, a Global Master SLA was purportedly concluded between R&E and SocGen. This facility appears to have been almost exclusively used for the benefit of JCI and not R&E. On 27 January 2005, JCI caused a negative open position of R209 413 659 to be transferred from the CMMS/JCI Scrip Lending Account to the R&E Scrip Lending Account at T-Sec without any evidence or authority from R&E's Board.

176. The transfer of the said liability to the R&E Scrip Lending Account amounted to a fostering of a liability on R&E. The loss position which was assigned to the R&E Scrip Lending Account, was made up of various short positions as follows:

		R
Tiger Brands Limited	(300 000 shares)	28 815 000
Investec Limited	(477 472 shares)	81 026 999
Standard Bank Limited	(1 524 834 shares)	99 571 660
		209 413 659

177. This negative open position was transferred to the R&E Scrip Lending Account from the JCI/CMMS Scrip Lending Account for at least two reasons:
    (a) reduce JCI's/CMMS's losses attributable to scrip borrowing, which had reached R791 286 699 by December 2004 as a consequence of an apparent reckless disregard for market conditions at the time; and
    (b) to assist T-Sec in reducing its overexposure to a single client (JCI/CMMS), so that it could comply with its Counterparty Risk Requirement component of its overall Capital Adequacy requirement imposed by the JSE.

178. This adverse position was addressed through JCI/CMMS (together with other perpetrators), devising a scheme, which resulted in JCI/CMMS at the time, instructing T-Sec to transfer from the CMMS Scrip Lending Account a liability of R209 413 659 to the R&E Scrip Lending Account on 27 January 2005.

179. Certain collateral held by T-Sec and/or the scrip lender was also transferred on 27 January 2005 to ostensibly cover the scrip borrowing losses fostered upon R&E, (although such collateral fell well short of such position). These included:

	Number shares	Value R
JCI	89 526 009	30 438 843
Matodzi	52 896 597	35 969 686
WAL	2 000 000	60 000 000

180. 3 000 000 RRL shares, which shares under the unlawful control of JCI/CMMS had been pledged by JCI to SocGen in terms of the T-Sec Scrip Lending facility, were also transferred back to R&E ostensibly to cover the negative short position referred to, but these shares were the property of R R(H), were on R&E's Group balance sheet and did not constitute 'value' to R&E. The shortfall between the negative position fostered and the true collateral 'value' received was R83 005 130. The above collateral (being the JCI, Matodzi and WAL shares) was subsequently transferred out of the R&E Scrip Lending Account (back to CMMS) without value to R&E.

181. An analysis of the CMMS Scrip Lending Account (operated for JCI), revealed during December 2004, a loss of R791 286 699, being the aggregate of all losses that had arisen in the course of selling short into the market, the various shares which had been borrowed from SocGen.

182. The R&E Scrip Lending Account was operated with the apparent sole purpose of raising cash primarily for the benefit of JCI without due regard for prevailing market conditions. This is borne out by the fact that scrip which had been borrowed from SocGen was immediately sold into a rising market (against prevailing market conditions and advice) resulting in a spiralling loss position manifesting in the R&E Scrip Lending Account with each passing trade. Proceeds which resulted appeared to have been applied for the benefit of JCI.

183. In the course of running up the losses in the R&E Scrip Lending Account in the fashion described above, 79 parcels of shares (being various counters) were borrowed and sold short into the market.

184. During the period January 2005 to July 2006, our findings indicate that JCI in fact borrowed scrip from SocGen in the name of R&E, which it caused to be sold, through the R&E Scrip Lending Account, and the proceeds deriving therefrom were applied for the benefit of JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies and not for the benefit of R&E. The obligation to return the shares ostensibly borrowed by R&E in the R&E Scrip Lending Account, did not rest with R&E, but rather with JCI.

185. In trading the R&E Scrip Lending Account in the manner aforesaid, a share trading loss amounting to R389 823 969 built up in the R&E Scrip Lending Account between 27 January 2005 and 16 January 2006.

186. We are informed, that a short while after the security referred to in paragraph 179 above was transferred to R&E, being the JCI, Matodzi and WAL shares which were initially transferred to R&E, the majority were subsequently re-transferred back to the CMMS Scrip Lending account from the R&E Scrip Lending account.

187. Furthermore, the cash generated in the R&E Scrip Lending Account, being R109 922 499 was transferred to JCI and/or JCI related entities. A mere R6 million appears however to have been transferred to R&E's bank account of which R2 629 494 was transferred by R&E back into the R&E Scrip Lending Account in order to address further losses which had arisen.

188. Notwithstanding the theft of the 4 000 000 RRL shares referred to in paragraphs 164 to 173 above, SocGen on 19 January 2006 forced a sale of R&E's 4 000 000 RRL shares. The sale of the 4 000 000 RRL shares realised proceeds of R386 195 582, same being used to repurchase counters which needed to be returned and which had amounted to R389 823 969.

189. Our findings reveal that in terms of various agreements (the Consortium Sale Agreement and the Option Agreement including various amendments thereto) entered into on 2 December 2004 between R&E, Tawny, Anglo and Inkwenkwezi, Inkwenkwezi had acquired 3 434 625 WAL shares (being one quarter of the sale shares it was intended to acquire in terms of the Consortium Sale Agreement), the acquisition of which had been funded by a loan from R&E of R128 798 437 which loan carried interest at prime plus 150bps. In terms of the Consortium Sale Agreement, R&E had indemnified Anglo against liability, loss or damage which Anglo may suffer or sustain or which may be attributable to the failure by Inkwenkwezi to pay the purchase price for the sale shares or any portion thereof, together with interest thereon, or due to the cancellation and termination of the agreement on account of a breach by Inkwenkwezi of such agreement. In indemnifying Anglo, R&E had agreed that if a default occurred, R&E be required to pay to Anglo, by way of penalty, the amount of R70 million. As security for, inter alia, R&E's aforementioned obligations to Anglo, R&E pledged 5 268 800 WAL shares to Anglo. On 15 February 2005, Anglo agreed to release 1 317 200 of such shares from the pledge – this being due to Inkwenkwezi having honoured its obligations in respect of a quarter of the purchase price for the WAL shares. By July 2006, Inkwenkwezi was in breach of the Consortium Sale Agreement by failing to pay the purchase price for the remainder of the sale shares to Anglo and as a result of such failure Anglo cancelled the agreement. Pursuant to settlement negotiations, Anglo and R&E reached agreement on 4 August 2006 for R&E to pay R10 million to Anglo in full and final settlement of all claims arising from or connected with the Consortium Sale Agreement, on the cancellation and termination of such agreement, on account of Inkwenkwezi's breach. On receipt of the R10 million from R&E, Anglo agreed to release the pledge in respect of 3 951 600 WAL shares (being the difference between the original pledge by R&E of 5 268 800 WAL shares and 1 317 200 WAL shares which shares had been released from the pledge on 15 February 2005).

190. Our findings further reveal that 3 000 000 WAL shares, which shares had ostensibly been pledged to R&E by Inkwenkwezi as security for the aforementioned loan of R128 798 438 to acquire 3 434 625 WAL shares, were allegedly stolen by JCI and pledged to BJM as collateral for a JCI Scrip Lending facility and sold on 11 July 2006. The 3 000 000 WAL shares were subsequently sold in the R&E Scrip Lending Account as per agreement between Leonard Steenkamp of T-Sec and P Gray. SocGen, the lender, had demanded return of the various shares which had been sold short in the R&E Scrip Lending Account and in the CMMS Scrip Lending Account at T-Sec. In order to raise cash to fund the purchase of these shares which had been sold short in these trading accounts, Investec, presumably through the mechanism of a loan to JCI, agreed to provide finance. In addition 3 000 000 WAL shares standing to the credit of the Randgold Scrip Lending Account, which shares were owned jointly by R&E (being 1 410 013 WAL shares) and by Inkwenkwezi (being the balance), were sold by T-Sec, the proceeds being applied to acquire shares which had been sold short in the R&E Scrip Lending Account (these positions having been initially fostered upon R&E) and in the CMMS Scrip Lending Account. The proceeds from the sale of the 3 000 000 WAL shares of R122 506 887 were credited to the R&E Scrip Lending Account. On 12 July 2006, M van Zyl of T-Sec advised Trish Beale that the shares had been sold and sought authority for R80 million to be transferred from the R&E Scrip Lending Account to the CMMS Scrip Lending Account. On 12 July 2006 P Gray and R Pearcey duly instructed T-Sec to make the transfer.

191. On 24 July 2006, the directors of Inkwenkwezi mandated R&E to exercise its security interest in the 3 434 625 WAL shares in its sole discretion and authorised R&E to dispose of these shares and to apply the proceeds from the sale of the 3 434 625 WAL shares firstly to settle the R10 million Anglo penalty, secondly to repay the capital portion of the Randgold loan, thirdly to repay any interest which had accrued in respect of the loan and finally to refund Inkwenkwezi in respect of any residual remaining. Notwithstanding the fact that R&E had been mandated by Inkwenkwezi to dispose of the 3 434 625 WAL shares and to apply the proceeds thereof in the aforementioned manner (albeit that this permission had been obtained after the date on which 3 000 000 WAL shares had already been disposed of), JCI caused 3 000 000 WAL shares to be disposed of and the proceeds from the 3 000 000 WAL shares to be used to acquire shares which had been sold short and which needed to be returned to SocGen, an obligation which rested with JCI.

192. Upon further analysis of the R&E Scrip Lending Account, it is apparent that in December 2005, 1 183 504 WAL shares were subscribed for at a price of R18.00 per share in terms of a WAL rights offer dated 25 November 2005 and debited to the R&E Scrip Lending Account. It is insightful that 1 183 504 is the number of rights attaching to a holding of 3 951 600 WAL shares (the very same number of WAL shares registered in R&E's name in the records of Computershare at the time and pledged to Anglo in terms of the Consortium Agreement). At the time of the WAL rights offer, WAL shares were trading at a price of R37.00 per share. At the time when the R&E Scrip Lending Account was finally closed out in December 2006, R&E were not placed with these rights as they were allocated to JCI. This provides further corroborating evidence that the R&E Scrip Lending Account was purely opened to serve as a vehicle created by JCI as an extension of the JCI Scrip Lending Facility, thereby assisting T-Sec in reducing its overexposure to a single client (JCI/CMMS), so that it could comply with its Counterparty Risk Requirement component of its overall Capital Adequacy requirement imposed by the JSE.

Conclusion

193. Further claims are being formulated in respect of damages occasioned to R&E arising from the sale of 3 000 000 WAL shares (or Gold Fields Limited shares, being their current equivalent) which JCI caused R&E to sell, to repurchase shares which had ostensibly been borrowed from the scrip lender in the R&E Scrip Lending Account, and which were required to be returned to the scrip lender, notwithstanding that such obligation rested with JCI.

CLAIM # 15 – Net placing of 900 000 RRL shares offshore to secure liabilities of Paul Main 194. R&E alternatively, R R(H), was the beneficial owner of, inter alia, 900 000 (post split) RRL shares.

195. On 28 October 2003, 1 000 000 RRL shares (certificate 900), on a pre-split basis, were delivered to a firm of solicitors in London in respect of a pledge of shares to CPM Main to secure JCI's obligations to Concerto Nominees in respect of a proposed merger of Sociede Mineira Do Lumuanza mine in Angola with Letseng Diamonds There is no resolution in R R(H)'s statutory records authorising the delivery of the 1 000000 RRL shares and the R R(H) covering letter accompanying the share certificate contains a forged signature of P B Beale.

196. In June 2004 these shares were split (2-for-1) resulting in the pledged shares now numbering 2 000 000. Of the 2 000 000 RRL shares, only 1 100 000 RRL shares have been returned. These returned shares were themselves then allegedly stolen by CMMS/JCI and sold on the Nasdaq during the course of 2005. The returned shares are part of the claim relating to the 12 360 000 RRL shares (refer 2.2.9.1 above), of which 3 750 000 were sold in the CMMS trading account in 2005.

Conclusion

197. The 900 000 RRL shares remain outstanding and are the subject of a claim against JCI and others. A claim has been formulated against these parties on the basis of an alleged theft of shares, using the highest rand price per share between April 2002 and the date of this claim. On this basis, the total claim is 900 000 shares at R159.23 per share which claim amounts to R143 307 000 (claim # 15);

198. Alternatively, JCI may be liable for the delivery of the 900 000 RRL shares to R&E, alternatively payment of such amount as represents the value of the said 900 000 RRL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E.

CLAIMS # 16 and 17 – Further claims relating to the disposal of JCI ordinary shares and WAL ordinary shares

199. As at 31 December 2002, First Wesgold was the beneficial owner of inter alia, 28 000 fully paid-up ordinary shares in the issued share capital of WAL and 12 574 836 fully paid-up shares in the issued share capital of JCI.

200. In and during the period, January 2003 to 4 July 2003, 12 574 836 JCI shares and 28 000 WAL shares were disposed of with the proceeds of R8 969 188 being credited to a trading account in the name of First Wesgold in the records of T-Sec. These shares were sold in thirteen individual transactions between 23 May 2003 and 4 July 2003. The share proceeds were dispersed as follows: R3 140 438 was transferred to CMMS and R5 051 350 was paid to a director of JCI and CMMS at the time.

201. No entries were recorded in the books of R&E or First Wesgold until 30 June 2003 and then again on 31 August 2003. On these dates, five entries totalling R8 191 788 were debited to a general ledger account, styled "Loan asset – CMMS (shares)" and subsequently transferred on 31 December 2003 to a general ledger account, styled "Loan asset – Masupatsela". This general ledger account was by design used to disguise a related party transaction with CMMS and was even supported by a purported loan agreement between R&E and Masupatsela Investment Holdings (Proprietary) Limited, this company having entered into a back-to-back agreement with CMMS.

202. In the general ledger of CMMS, the amounts paid to the abovementioned director were debited to an account styled "Sundry debtors" on 30 September 2003 and was subsequently transferred on 31 March 2004 (JCI's year-end) to an account styled "Consolidated Investments – Alibiprops" to conceal a loan to a director.

Conclusion

203. By virtue of the alleged theft of the 12 574 836 JCI shares and the 28 000 WAL shares, R&E alleges that it has sustained damages and that JCI may be liable to it for an amount of R11 317 352.40 which amount represents the highest value of the 12 574 836 JCI shares subsequent to their alleged theft (claim # 16) as well as an amount of R1 391 600.00 which amount represents the highest value of the 28 000 WAL shares subsequent to their alleged theft (claim # 17);

204. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for delivery of 12 574 836 JCI shares and 28 000 WAL shares, alternatively payment to R&E of such amount as represents the value of the said 12 574 836 JCI shares and the 28 000 WAL shares on the date on which JCI is found to be liable to R&E;

205. Alternatively, JCI may be liable to R&E for the theft of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 12 574 836 JCI shares amounting to R8 042 099.67 and the theft of the proceeds arising from the 28 000 WAL shares amounting to R924 294.21;

206. Alternatively JCI may be liable to R&E for damages resulting from the receipt by it of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 12 574 836 JCI shares in an amount of R3 140 438.37 and the receipt by it of the proceeds arising from the sale of the 28 000 WAL shares in an amount of R396 894.21.

CLAIM # 18 – Monies lent and advanced to CMMS

207. This claim is not prefaced on the basis of a theft of shares, but rather on the basis of moneys allegedly lent and advanced by R&E to CMMS.

CLAIM # 19 – Alternative claim to claims 1 to 18

208. This claim is not the subject of this summarised forensic report.

Conclusion

209. Our findings have revealed that at law, R&E enjoys a cause of action against JCI due to the conduct of certain of the perpetrators being ascribed to JCI in that they controlled and directed the business and affairs of JCI. The perpetrators purportedly participated in, were privy to, authorised and instigated various acts for the benefit of JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies in the knowledge that such acts were unlawful, and which have been of prejudice to R&E either directly or indirectly. Because JCI has been sued as a joint wrongdoer, it would follow that similar claims will be brought against other third parties who purportedly acted unlawfully and in collusion with JCI.

ANNEXURE 4

R&E'S SENIOR COUNSEL OPINION REGARDING THE R&E CLAIMS

INTRODUCTION

1. We have been requested to consider and provide our views in respect of the prospects of success enjoyed by Randgold in its various claims against JCI.

2. The Randgold legal team was instructed to formulate claims against JCI, having regard, inter alia, to:

   2.1 the findings of Randgold's Forensic Investigators, Umbono Financial Advisory Services (Pty) Limited ("Umbono");

   2.2 the series of Forensic Reports prepared by Umbono;

   2.3 the contributions of various witnesses (the co-operation of which had been secured by Randgold's executive).

3. In formulating the Randgold claims against JCI, Randgold's legal team was instructed to assert the strongest possible case for Randgold against JCI.

4. We direct specific attention to the following:

   4.1 In accordance with the Mediation/Arbitration Agreement concluded on 7 April 2006 ("the Mediation Agreement"), both Randgold and JCI were obliged in terms thereof, to each independently prepare a Forensic Report relevant to their findings in respect of each of Randgold and JCI separately, and to thereafter exchange such Reports in accordance with the provisions of clause 7 of the Mediation Agreement;

   4.2 On 20 June 2006, and at a formal meeting held at the chambers of Farber SC, Randgold and JCI's legal representatives exchanged the said Reports;

   4.3 The JCI Report bears the date of 8 May 2006 ("the 8th of May Report"), whilst that of Randgold bears the date of 20 June 2006;

   4.4 Consequent upon the exchange of the aforesaid Forensic Reports, Randgold's legal team proceeded in accordance with its instructions, to formulate the claims enjoyed by Randgold against JCI, and which found expression in Randgold's Statement of Claim;

   4.5 Randgold's Statement of Claim was served on JCI on 3 August 2006;

   4.6 Consequent upon the preparation of the Statement of Claim, JCI served a further Forensic Report which was prepared by KPMG ("the further JCI Report"), although this was not contemplated under the Mediation Agreement;

   4.7 The further JCI Report constitutes a critique of the claims proffered by Randgold in its Statement of Claim against JCI;

   4.8 We note that the forensic findings of Umbono (on the strength inter alia of which Randgold's claims were formulated), appear to be echoed in the 8th of May Report;

   4.9 There appears further, to exist substantial parity between the Forensic Report by Umbono and the 8th of May Report by JCI; and

   4.10 We are fortified in our evaluation of the prospects of success in respect of the claim by Randgold against JCI, by the apparent disparity between the 8th of May Report and the further JCI Report.

5. We invite specific attention to the following excerpts from the 8th of May Report which appear to be largely congruent with and to lend credence to the basis upon which the Randgold claims have been formulated:

5.1 At page 1 of the 8th of May Report, the following appears:

"The strategy adopted by the Directors and Officers of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries required access to significant funding for the execution of such strategy. We noted that JCI Limited had little access to funding and we understand that the Group did not enjoy support from financial institutions, save for the event of the Investec UK transaction, which generated funding to JCI Limited....."

5.2 At page 78 and at lines 6 to 7, the following is stated:

"We found no evidence indicating that JCI Limited and its subsidiaries, particularly CMMS, owned any RRL shares."

5.2.1 Page 81 and at lines 12 to 14 the following is stated:

"Depending on the nature of the transaction underlying the sale of such RRL shares in the Alibiprops transactions, CMMS and its fellow subsidiaries appear to either have an obligation to return 1 916 652 RRL shares (due thereto that the Alibiprops transaction was performed prior to the split of the RRL shares) to RRH, in addition to those mentioned above, or to repay the monetary benefit obtained."

5.3 At page 83 and at lines 1 to 3 the following is recorded:

"Assuming a share price of USD 17 for RRL shares and a R/USD exchange rate of some R6.38, an amount of R1 809 849 677.24 would then have been required to fund the return of the RRL shares sold to RRH."

5.4 At page 105 and at lines 4 to 6, the following is stated:

"These facts are indicative of the following elements of the relationship between JCI Limited and REC as a result of the transactions mentioned at 7.2 supra:

- JCI Limited used the resources of RRH for its own benefit; and
- The executors of the transactions did not want to disclose such fact."

5.5 At page 135 at lines 13 to 21, the following is stated:

"We have indicated supra that the obligation to return RRL shares to RRH rests upon JCI Limited, due to an unauthorised appropriation thereof, the Investec UK structure and due to it having benefited from the sale of RRL shares in the Alibiprops account. As some 16 686 794 RRL shares have to be returned in this manner and would need to be purchased, the cost to JCI Limited could be some R1 809 849 677.24, provided an RRL share price of USD17 and a Rand/USD exchange rate of some R6.38. If the Settlement Agreement can be interpreted to mean that the obligation of JCI Limited in this regard is limited to R500 million, it means that an effective write off of some 12 076 800 RRL shares of RRH have been achieved, once again protecting JCI Limited against a claim of RRH."

6. It would appear that JCI has adopted a stance in the further JCI Report at variance with the stance adopted in the 8th of May Report. This apparent change in stance and the reasons giving rise thereto will be fully ventilated should the matter proceed to arbitration.

7. We draw attention to the following further considerations:

7.1 A large number of the claims proffered by Randgold against JCI in respect of which misappropriations have been alleged, find their origin in the findings of Umbono and other witnesses who contend that thefts have been perpetrated against Randgold;

7.2 The claims that have been proffered in respect of each such misappropriation of Randgold's assets, have been predicated on the structure of the alternatives set out in the Overview of the Randgold Claims;

7.3 At the highest level, Randgold asserts that to the extent that JCI is found to have misappropriated the assets of Randgold, in the manner contended for in the Statement of Claim, then and in those circumstances, the appropriate measure of damages and the appropriate degree of compensation by JCI to Randgold (based on Roman Dutch Authorities), is such that Randgold is entitled to recover from JCI the highest value ever achieved pertaining to the commodity stolen;

7.4 Were damages not to be awarded on this principle, Randgold in the second tier of its alternatives to such claims, contends that it is entitled to obtain a return from JCI of the equivalent number of shares misappropriated. The difference between this and damages based on theft may prove negligible;

7.5 The further alternatives on which these claims are based, would entitle Randgold to a lesser measure of damages;

7.6 It is to be borne in mind, that to the extent that Randgold does not establish its causes of action on these highest levels, that the measure of damages attainable would be a lesser amount;

7.7 Each of the above alternatives entitle Randgold to a different measure of damages. It goes without saying, that to the extent that the first or second alternatives were not to be upheld, the measure of damages would correspondingly reduce in respect of each of the various alternative claims.

8. Based on our analysis of the Forensic Reports and the witnesses who have been interviewed to date, we believe that the claims have a reasonable prospect of success subject always to the following:

8.1 The findings of Umbono being found to be accurate and capable of substantiation through evidence and the conclusions reached therein, withstanding scrutiny;

8.2 The legal principles upon which Randgold's claims have been formulated being upheld;

8.3 The evidence of third parties (who have given input into the formulation of Randgold's claims), and the claims themselves withstanding scrutiny and being upheld.

(Litigation, by its very nature, is uncertain and in the ultimate analysis the prospects or otherwise of Randgold's claims succeeding, will rely upon a wide spectrum of factors.)

CONCLUSION

9. In conclusion, the success of the claims proffered by Randgold against JCI, will depend upon Randgold and its witnesses being able to establish the facts in respect of each of the claims and of course the facts underlying each of the alternatives. In addition to establishing these facts, Randgold will be further required to establish the legal principles applicable to the various facts to be proved in order for Randgold to be entitled to the amounts asserted for in its Statement of Claim.

NOTES TO THE GROUP NET ASSET VALUE STATEMENT

1. PURPOSE OF THE GROUP NET ASSET VALUE STATEMENT

On 31 March 2006, R&E published provisional unaudited and unreviewed financial results for the years ended 31 December 2005 and 2004, and restated provisional results for the year ended 31 December 2003 ("provisional results").

In the accompanying commentary to these provisional results, the R&E directors indicated, inter alia, that due to the extent of the misappropriations, for which details were included in the commentary, there may be other material events and circumstances of which the R&E directors are not aware of and which may have a material effect on R&E. These may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information reflected in the provisional results and/or may have the effect that the provisional results do not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of R&E. In these circumstances the R&E directors disclaimed any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information reflected in the provisional results. This is still the position.

KPMG was appointed the independent auditor of R&E during October 2005. In view of the uncertainties relating to the provisional results and the disclaimer by the R&E directors, they were unable to, and did not, express an audit or review opinion on the provisional results. This is still the position.

On 14 July 2008, R&E announced, inter alia, that, the company is pursuing all options at its disposal to resolve the disputes with JCI. The options included the proposed merger of R&E and JCI, as announced on 23 April 2007, a settlement on commercial terms similar to that of the proposed merger or, finally, the less attractive option of arbitration. On 22 July 2008, the company published a joint announcement with JCI which stated that R&E and JCI had concluded an MOU, in terms of which, the companies would endeavour to conclude a binding settlement agreement within 21 days, which upon its implementation would result in a full and final settlement of all claims by R&E against JCI and vice versa. On 26 August 2008, the company announced that it had not been able to enter into a settlement agreement with JCI as envisaged in the MOU signed by the companies and furthermore had not been able to consummate the proposed merger as contemplated in the joint SENS announcement of 23 April 2007. A further joint announcement on 6 November 2008 indicated that the merger negotiations with JCI having been revisited, the companies would, subject inter alia to the requisite regulatory and shareholder approvals, seek to merge in an attempt to resolve the impasse between them in a commercially prudent manner as opposed to immediate arbitration. The Boards of R&E and JCI indicated in the announcement that they had each resolved to proceed with the merger of the companies based on a merger ratio of one R&E share in exchange for every 95 JCI shares (which is the ratio proposed in the announcement of 23 April 2007).

Because the R&E directors are still unable to prepare a complete set of financial statements for the years ended 31 December 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007, in accordance with IFRS, the R&E directors have prepared a Group Net Asset Value Statement, on the basis set out in note 2. The R&E directors consider the Group Net Asset Value Statement, including the accompanying Notes, suitable in the circumstances for the purpose of providing its shareholders with financial information relevant to the proposed merger with JCI.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared from information available to the R&E directors and may not be complete for the reasons given in note 1 above. In particular, the Group Net Asset Value Statement excludes all claims and counter claims between the R&E Group and the JCI Group.

Other than for these claims, the Group Net Asset Value Statement includes all known significant assets and liabilities of R&E, its subsidiaries and a proportionate share of the assets and liabilities of FSD (FSD is a 55.11% subsidiary of R&E) and its subsidiaries on a line-by-line basis.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared in Rand. All financial information presented in Rand has been rounded to the nearest thousand.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement required the R&E directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the basis of preparation and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Intra-group balances are eliminated in the preparation of the Group Net Asset Value Statement.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has not been prepared in terms of IFRS, but on the basis discussed under each heading below:

2.1 Listed investments

The Group's listed investments, except for the investment in JCI, are based on the VWAP for March 2008 comprising 19 trading days (2007: VWAP for March 2007 comprising 21 trading days).

The value of the JCI investment is based on the Net Asset Value per share of JCI at 31 March 2008 (2007: at 31 March 2007), which is based on the amount disclosed in the JCI Group Net Asset Value Statement, included in Annexure 6a to this circular (2007: as published on 13 December 2007). The JCI value is adjusted to reflect the proposed merger ratio of 95 to 1, as was announced on 6 November 2008.

R&E has accounted for all listed investments under its control and in its possession.

2.2 Prospecting rights

Where an agreement has been signed to sell prospecting rights as of the date of approval of the Group Net Asset Value Statement, the value is based on the consideration in the relative agreement. Where no such agreements are in place, but sufficient data and value exists, the R&E directors have determined a value which they believe is reasonable based on valuations performed by independent valuation experts using comparable transactions. All other prospecting rights have been impaired and are disclosed at zero value.

2.3 Other assets

Other assets include loans receivable, a payment under settlement agreement and cash and cash equivalents.

2.3.1 Loans receivable

The values of the loans receivable are based on current recoverability supported by signed loan certificates.

2.3.2 Payment under settlement agreement

The value of the outstanding settlement is based on the amount recovered subsequent to 31 March 2008 (2007: Subsequent to 31 March 2007 and up to 13 December 2007).

2.3.3 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash and cash deposits with banking institutions. The carrying amount of cash and cash deposits with banking institutions approximates fair value.

2.4 Provision for post-retirement medical benefit obligation

The provision for the post-retirement medical benefit obligation represents the present value of the estimated future cash outflows resulting from employees' services provided.

The Projected Unit Credit Method is used to determine the present value of the defined benefit obligation. An independent actuarial valuation was conducted.

2.5 Taxation

2.5.1 Income tax payable

Income tax payable comprises taxation payable, calculated on the basis of the expected taxable income, using the tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment of income tax payable for previous years.

Income tax payable has been calculated based on the best information currently available to management regarding taxable income (including prior year assessments and management's interpretation of current tax law) given the circumstances detailed in note 1 above.

2.5.2 Deferred taxation

Deferred taxation is provided based on temporary differences. Temporary differences are differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities reported in the Group Net Asset Value Statement and their tax base.

The amount of deferred taxation provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

A deferred taxation asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the associated unused tax losses, unredeemed capital expenditure and deductible temporary differences can be utilised. Deferred taxation assets are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

2.6 Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables include accruals and other amounts payable based on management's best estimate at the reporting date.

2.7 Contingent assets

Contingent assets are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised and are best estimates expected to be recovered. No contingent assets have been included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement as the recoverability cannot be reasonably assured.

R&E and JCI, and certain of their subsidiaries reached agreement with GFO during October 2007, in terms of which the R&E Group and the JCI Group relinquished their rights in favour of GFO for a collective purchase consideration of R395 million (excluding VAT). On 31 October 2007, R&E shareholders voted unanimously in favour of the transaction. The transaction was concluded in October 2007 and the R&E Group through its 55.11% shareholding in FSD became entitled to R218 million in cash.

7. PAYMENT UNDER SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT
RAR Kebble	4 000	8 667

On 1 October 2006, R&E concluded a settlement agreement with RAR Kebble. The settlement amount of R30 million payable by RAR Kebble to R&E, was to be repaid in monthly instalments with effect from November 2006 to January 2008. As at 31 March 2007, an amount of R19.2 million was owing to R&E in terms of the settlement agreement. A payment of R8.7 million was received under the settlement agreement between April and July 2007.

With effect from August 2007, further payments under the settlement agreement ceased. As a consequence, R&E cancelled the settlement agreement on 6 November 2007.

On 28 February 2008, R&E, JCI and RAR Kebble, concluded an agreement, the effect of which was to re-commence the settlement agreement concluded between the parties on 1 October 2006, subject to certain modifications. In terms thereof, RAR Kebble was obliged to pay a further R4 million to R&E which was due at 31 March 2008 and was subsequently collected in May 2008.

The above amounts includes income tax payable calculated by management for the R&E Group and includes any related penalties, except as noted in the next paragraph, and interest that may be due.

Income tax payable does not include any additional penalties that may become leviable upon assessment of outstanding returns by SARS as management believes that the R&E Group did not act fraudulently or in any other way to warrant incurring such additional penalties. Based on the ongoing negotiations with SARS, management believes that the penalties and interest calculated is sufficient and that no further penalties will be levied by SARS.

R&E's calculations reflect that R&E had no taxable income from 2002 to the reporting date as R&E was operating at a loss. SARS has, however, queried R&E's tax calculations from 1998 to 2001 and have subsequently recalculated that an amount of R44 million (2007: R39 million) in taxes is payable. R&E has and will continue to contest these queries. Given that such queries are under dispute, management believes that the amount is not payable and therefore no liability for this amount has been raised.

Deferred taxation arising on listed investments at 14% (2007: 14.5%)	(6 842)	(5 805)

Deferred taxation arising on the GFO transaction at 28% (2007: 29%)	–	(772)

The deferred taxation balance comprises temporary differences on listed investments and prospecting rights.

No deferred taxation assets were raised on the post retirement medical benefit obligation and assessable losses of the R&E Group as it is not probable that future taxable profits will be available to utilise the assessable losses or when the related deductible temporary differences are expected to reverse.

PAYE payable

R&E engaged independent tax advisors during 2006 who completed a PAYE audit and determined the amount payable, including penalties and interest thereon to be R13.5 million at 31 March 2007. Their report was submitted to SARS during 2007 and R&E settled the PAYE payable with SARS before 31 March 2008.

VAT payable

R&E engaged independent tax advisors who completed a VAT audit and determined the VAT payable, excluding penalties and interest thereon. Management added penalties and interest to the VAT payable. The penalties calculated by management, however, excluded the 200% section 60 VAT penalty as defined in the VAT Act, as R&E believes they did not act fraudulently. The report of the independent tax advisors has been submitted to SARS during the calendar year 2007. R&E has had various meetings with SARS but still awaits their final decision regarding settlement.

13. ISSUED SHARES

For the purpose of calculating the net shares in issue, the total number of shares in issue of R&E (issued share capital) has been notionally reduced by approximately 3 million R&E shares.

R&E has identified 2 943 087 R&E shares for possible cancellation in its issued share capital (which shares constitute a portion of the consideration shares purportedly issued and allotted on account of the Phikoloso transaction in respect of which R&E has asserted a claim against JCI), on the basis that such shares are alleged to have been issued for no value received.

The said shares have been identified to be in the possession of Letseng Diamonds. R&E have been informed by JCI that the shares in question were pledged by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, as security for a loan made by Letseng Diamonds to JCI.

R&E has been further informed by JCI that upon the repayment of the loan by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, the shares will be returned to JCI, whereupon JCI has undertaken to return such shares to R&E for cancellation. R&E has noted JCI's undertaking in respect of the 2 943 087 R&E shares without prejudice and/or waiver of any of its rights and entitlements which it may enjoy in consequence of the void issue and allotment of any of its shares.

14.1 Other prospecting rights

R&E is the beneficial owner of various prospecting rights held through its 55.11% shareholding in the issued share capital of FSD.

The prospecting rights comprise primarily of the Du Preez Leger project. The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The project area is located in the Free State goldfield of the Witwatersrand Basin. The areas of interest are located on exploration rights which are held by FSD.

During November 2008, management commissioned an independent third party valuation expert to compile an Independent Techno-Economic Valuation report, in the form of a Competent Persons Report ("CPR") on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger project.

The inferred resource was valued based on the following information:

	In Situ Grade g/t	Gold Content Moz	Area Hectare	Value per ounce US Dollar	US Dollar million	Rand/ US Dollar	Rand million	Value per hectare Rand
Du Preez Leger/ Jonkersrust	5.17	4.99	1 131	2.10	10.470	8.20	85.858	75 909

The Rebelkop area does not have any estimated mineral resources, and was valued using a value per hectare of R20 000, as determined relative to other areas, as detailed below:

For the March 2007 value, management commissioned an independent third party mineral project evaluation expert to evaluate the mineralisation of the Du Preez Leger project and place a value thereon. A value of R193 million was placed on the project based on this exercise.

A CPR was not obtained to support this value and the valuation at 31 March 2007 was based on reserves and not inferred resources. Management believed that this valuation was the best estimate of fair value for the Du Preez Leger project based on comparable transations at the time. The valuation also placed no value on the Rebelkop and the Tweepan areas as these areas did not have reported reserves.

15. CONTINGENT ASSETS – CLAIMS AGAINST THIRD PARTIES (EXCLUDING THE JCI GROUP)

R&E has identified various claims against third parties which R&E is proceeding with. Such claims could be substantial, although there is no guarantee that such claims will result in awards being granted in favour of R&E or for that matter that R&E will be able to make successful recoveries in respect thereof.

16. ENCUMBRANCES

No significant assets have been encumbered or pledged.

1. PURPOSE OF THE GROUP NET ASSET VALUE STATEMENT

On 31 March 2006, R&E published provisional unaudited and unreviewed financial results for the years ended 31 December 2005 and 2004, and restated provisional results for the year ended 31 December 2003 ("provisional results").

In the accompanying commentary to these provisional results, the R&E directors indicated, inter alia, that due to the extent of the misappropriations, for which details were included in the commentary, there may be other material events and circumstances of which the R&E directors are not aware of and which may have a material effect on R&E. These may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information reflected in the provisional results and/or may have the effect that the provisional results do not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of R&E. In these circumstances the R&E directors disclaimed any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information reflected in the provisional results. This is still the position.

KPMG was appointed as the independent auditor of R&E during October 2005. In view of the uncertainties relating to the provisional results and the disclaimer by the R&E directors, they were unable to, and did not, express an audit or review opinion on the provisional results. This is still the position.

On 14 July 2008, R&E announced, inter alia, that, the company is pursuing all options at its disposal to resolve the disputes with JCI. The options included the proposed merger of R&E and JCI, as announced on 23 April 2007, a settlement on commercial terms similar to that of the proposed merger or, finally, the less attractive option of arbitration. On 22 July 2008, the company published a joint announcement with JCI which stated that R&E and JCI had concluded an MOU, in terms of which, the companies would endeavour to conclude a binding settlement agreement within 21 days, which upon its implementation would result in a full and final settlement of all claims by R&E against JCI and vice versa. On 26 August 2008, the company announced that it had not been able to enter into a settlement agreement with JCI as envisaged in the MOU signed by the companies and furthermore had not been able to consummate the proposed merger as contemplated in the joint SENS announcement of 23 April 2007. A further joint announcement on 6 November 2008 indicated that the merger negotiations with JCI having been revisited, the companies would, subject inter alia to the requisite regulatory and shareholder approvals, seek to merge in an attempt to resolve the impasse between them in a commercially prudent manner as opposed to immediate arbitration. The Boards of R&E and JCI indicated in the announcement that they had each resolved to proceed with the merger of the companies based on a merger ratio of one R&E share in exchange for every 95 JCI shares (which is the ratio proposed in the announcement of 23 April 2007).

Because the R&E directors are still unable to prepare a complete set of financial statements for the years ended 31 December 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007, in accordance with IFRS, the R&E directors have prepared a Group Net Asset Value Statement, on the basis set out in note 2. The R&E directors consider the Group Net Asset Value Statement, including the accompanying Notes, suitable in the circumstances for the purpose of providing its shareholders with financial information relevant to the proposed merger with JCI.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared from information available to the R&E directors and may not be complete for the reasons given in note 1 above. In particular, the Group Net Asset Value Statement excludes all claims and counter claims between the R&E Group and the JCI Group.

Other than for these claims, the Group Net Asset Value Statement includes all known significant assets and liabilities of R&E, its subsidiaries and a proportionate share of the assets and liabilities of FSD (FSD is a 55.11% subsidiary of R&E) and its subsidiaries on a line-by-line basis.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared in Rand. All financial information presented in Rand has been rounded to the nearest thousand.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement required the R&E directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the basis of preparation and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Intra-group balances are eliminated in the preparation of the Group Net Asset Value Statement.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION (CONTINUED)

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has not been prepared in terms of IFRS, but on the basis discussed under each heading below:

2.1 Listed investments

The Group's listed investments, except for the investment in JCI, are based on the VWAP for October 2008 comprising 23 trading days and in respect of the Group Net Asset Value Statement at 31 March 2008, based on the VWAP for March 2008, comprising 19 trading days.

The value of the JCI investment is based on the Net Asset Value per share of JCI at 31 October 2008 (comparative at 31 March 2008), as disclosed in the JCI Group Net Asset Value Statement as at 31 October 2008 and 31 March 2008, respectively. The JCI value has been adjusted to reflect the proposed merger ratio of 95 to 1, as further set out in terms of the proposed merger between R&E and JCI.

R&E has accounted for all listed investments under its control and in its possession.

2.2 Prospecting rights

Where an agreement has been signed to sell prospecting rights as of the date of approval of the Group Net Asset Value Statement, the value is based on the consideration in the relative agreement. Where no such agreements are in place, but sufficient data and value exists, the R&E directors have determined a value which they believe is reasonable based on valuations performed by independent valuation experts using comparable transactions. All other prospecting rights have been impaired and are disclosed at zero value.

2.3 Other assets

Other assets include loans receivable, a payment under settlement agreement and cash and cash equivalents.

2.3.1 Loans receivable

The values of the loans receivable are based on current recoverability supported by signed loan certificates in respect of loans receivable as at 31 October 2008 and 31 March 2008, respectively.

2.3.2 Payment under settlement agreement

The value of the outstanding settlement is based on the amount recovered subsequent to 31 March 2008.

2.3.3 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash and cash deposits with banking institutions. The carrying amount of cash and cash deposits with banking institutions approximates fair value.

2.4 Provision for post-retirement medical benefit obligation

The provision for the post-retirement medical benefit obligation represents the present value of the estimated future cash outflows resulting from employees' services provided.

The Projected Unit Credit Method is used to determine the present value of the defined benefit obligation. An independent actuarial valuation was conducted as at 31 March 2008 and rolled forward by the directors to 31 October 2008.

2.5 Taxation

2.5.1 Income tax payable

Income tax payable comprises taxation payable, calculated on the basis of the expected taxable income, using the tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment of income tax payable for previous years.

Income tax payable has been calculated based on the best information currently available to management regarding taxable income (including prior year assessments and management's interpretation of current tax law) given the circumstances detailed in note 1 above.

2.5.2 Deferred taxation

Deferred taxation is provided based on temporary differences. Temporary differences are differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities reported in the Group Net Asset Value Statement and their tax base.

The amount of deferred taxation provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

A deferred taxation asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the associated unused tax losses, unredeemed capital expenditure and deductible temporary differences can be utilised. Deferred taxation assets are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

2.6 Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables include accruals and other amounts payable based on management's best estimate at the reporting date.

2.7 Contingent assets

Contingent assets are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised and are best estimates expected to be recovered. No contingent assets have been included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement as the recoverability cannot be reasonably assured.

The above amounts include income tax payable calculated by management for the R&E Group and include any related penalties, except as noted in the next paragraph, and interest that may be due.

Income tax payable does not include any additional penalties that may become leviable upon assessment of outstanding returns by SARS as management believes that the R&E Group did not act fraudulently or in any other way to warrant incurring such additional penalties. Based on the ongoing negotiations with SARS, management believes that the penalties and interest calculated is sufficient and that no further penalties will be levied by SARS.

R&E's calculations reflect that R&E had no taxable income from 2002 to the reporting date as R&E was operating at a loss. SARS has, however, queried R&E's tax calculations from 1998 to 2001 and have subsequently recalculated that an amount of R47 million (31 March 2008: R44 million) in taxes is payable. R&E has and will continue to contest these queries. Given that such queries are under dispute, management believes that the amount is not payable and therefore no liability for this amount has been raised.

10. DEFERRED TAXATION

Deferred taxation arising on other prospecting rights at 28%	(21 486)	(21 486)

The deferred taxation balance comprises temporary differences on listed investments and prospecting rights.

No deferred taxation assets were raised on the post retirement medical benefit obligation and assessable losses of the R&E Group as it is not probable that future taxable profits will be available to utilise the assessable losses or when the related deductible temporary differences are expected to reverse.

VAT payable

R&E engaged independent tax advisors who completed a VAT audit and determined the VAT payable, excluding penalties and interest thereon. Management added penalties and interest to the VAT payable. The penalties calculated by management, however, excluded the 200% section 60 VAT penalty as defined in the VAT Act, as R&E believes they did not act fraudulently. The report of the independent tax advisors has been submitted to SARS during calendar year 2007. R&E has had various meetings with SARS but still awaits their final decision regarding settlement.

12. ISSUED SHARES

For the purpose of calculating the net shares in issue, the total number of shares in issue of R&E (issued share capital) has been notionally reduced by approximately 3 million R&E shares.

R&E has identified 2 943 087 R&E shares for possible cancellation in its issued share capital (which shares constitute a portion of the consideration shares purportedly issued and allotted on account of the Phikoloso transaction in respect of which R&E has asserted a claim against JCI), on the basis that such shares are alleged to have been issued for no value received.

The said shares have been identified to be in the possession of Letseng Diamonds. R&E have been informed by JCI that the shares in question were pledged by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, as security for a loan made by Letseng Diamonds to JCI.

R&E has been further informed by JCI that upon the repayment of the loan by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, the shares will be returned to JCI, whereupon JCI has undertaken to return such shares to R&E for cancellation. R&E has noted JCI's undertaking in respect of the 2 943 087 R&E shares without prejudice and/or waiver of any of its rights and entitlements which it may enjoy in consequence of the void issue and allotment of any of its shares.

R&E is the beneficial owner of various prospecting rights held through its 55.11% shareholding in the issued share capital of FSD.

The prospecting rights comprise primarily of the Du Preez Leger project. The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The project area is located in the Free State goldfield of the Witwatersrand Basin. The areas of interest are located on exploration rights which are held by FSD.

During November 2008, management commissioned an independent third party valuation expert to compile an Independent Techno-Economic Valuation report, in the form of a Competent Persons Report ("CPR") on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger project.

The inferred resource was valued based on the following information:

	In Situ Grade g/t	Gold Content Moz	Area Hectare	Value per ounce US Dollar	US Dollar million	Rand/ US Dollar	Rand million	Value per hectare Rand

R&E has identified various claims against third parties which R&E is proceeding with. Such claims could prove to be substantial, although there is no guarantee that such claims will result in awards being granted in favour of R&E or for that matter that R&E will be able to make successful recoveries in respect thereof.

15. ENCUMBRANCES

NOTES TO THE GROUP NAV STATEMENT AT 31 MARCH 2008

1. PURPOSE OF THE GROUP NAV STATEMENT

On 7 April 2006, JCI published unreviewed, unaudited and restated provisional financial results for the six months ended 30 September 2005, and for each of the years ended 31 March 2004 and 31 March 2005 ("provisional results").

In the accompanying commentary to these provisional results, the JCI directors indicated, inter alia, that due to the extent of the misappropriations, for which details were disclosed in the commentary, there may be other material events and circumstances of which the JCI directors are not aware of and which may have a material effect on JCI. These may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information reflected in the provisional results and/or may have the effect that the provisional results do not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of JCI. In these circumstances the JCI directors disclaimed any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information reflected in the provisional results. This is still the position.

KPMG was appointed as the independent auditor of JCI during October 2005. In view of the uncertainties relating to the provisional results, and the disclaimer by the JCI directors, they were unable to, and did not, express an audit or review opinion on the provisional results. This is still the position.

On 15 March 2007, JCI and R&E published an update to shareholders and on 23 April 2007, JCI and R&E announced their intention to merge. Because the JCI directors are still unable to prepare a complete set of financial statements for the years ended 31 March 2005, 2006, 2007 and 2008, in accordance with IFRS, the JCI directors have prepared a Group NAV Statement on the basis set out in note 2. The JCI directors consider the Group NAV Statement, including the accompanying Notes, suitable in the circumstances for the purpose of providing shareholders with financial information relevant to the proposed merger with R&E.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Group NAV Statement has been prepared from information available to the JCI directors and may not be complete for the reasons given in note 1 above. In particular, the Group NAV Statement excludes major claims and counter claims between JCI and R&E.

Other than for these claims, the Group NAV Statement includes all known significant assets and liabilities of the JCI Group and associate companies. The Group NAV Statement includes JCI's proportionate share of FSD's (a 44.9% associate of JCI) assets and liabilities on a line by line basis.

The Group NAV Statement has been prepared in Rands. All financial information is presented in Rands and has been rounded to the nearest thousand. Foreign currency monetary and non-monetary items are reported using the closing rate at 31 March 2008.

The Group NAV Statement required the JCI directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the basis of preparation and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The assets and liabilities of subsidiaries are included in the Group NAV Statement, except in instances where the subsidiaries are considered as businesses held for sale, or if the subsidiaries are considered to be insolvent, or dormant, or if the ownership of the assets and liabilities could not be proven. However, insolvent subsidiaries' liabilities have been included to the extent where JCI or any of its other subsidiaries have guaranteed the liabilities.

Intra-group balances are eliminated in the preparation of the Group NAV Statement.

The Group NAV Statement has not been prepared in terms of IFRS, but on the basis discussed under each heading below:

2.1 Listed investments

The JCI Group's listed investments, except for the investment in R&E, are based on the VWAP for March 2008 comprising 19 trading days. (2007: VWAP for March 2007 comprising 21 trading days)

The value of the R&E investment is based on the NAV per share of R&E at 31 March 2008 (2007: 31 March 2007) which is disclosed in the R&E Group NAV Statement included in Annexure 5a to this circular after adjusting for the proposed merger ratio of 95 to 1, as was announced on 23 April 2007.

SAFEX futures are derivative instruments and are measured at the fair value of the instrument at 31 March 2008. The fair value of the futures is based on the amount of cash that would be received if the future contracts were closed out on 31 March 2008 which includes the profit/loss on the instruments.

2.2 Businesses held for sale

The fair values of these businesses are based on the latest offer received as an indication of the businesses' minimum values, where the business has been sold, the actual sales value was used.

2.3 Prospecting rights

Where an agreement is signed to sell the prospecting rights, the value is based on the consideration amount as quoted in the signed agreement. Where no such agreements are in place, but sufficient data and value exists, the JCI directors have determined a value which they believe is reasonable based on valuations performed by independent experts using comparable transactions.

2.4 Other assets

Other assets include investment properties and cash and cash equivalents.

2.4.1 Investment properties

Where an agreement is signed to sell the properties the value is based on the consideration in the signed agreement.

Where there are no such agreements in place, the value is based on the latest offer to purchase received from a third party.

Third party property acquisitions during the last year are stated at cost as the directors consider that to approximate fair value.

2.4.2 Loans

Loans are only brought into account when they are either certain of recovery or are secured by assets which value can be determined.

2.4.3 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash and cash deposits with banking institutions. The carrying amount of cash and cash deposits with banking institutions approximates fair value.

2.5 Taxation

2.5.1 Income tax payable

Income tax payable comprises taxation payable calculated on the basis of the expected taxable income using the tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment of income tax payable for previous years.

Income tax payable has been calculated based on the best information currently available to the directors given the circumstances detailed in note 1 above (including prior year assessments and management's interpretation of current tax law).

2.5.2 Deferred taxation

Deferred taxation is provided based on temporary differences. Temporary differences are differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities reported in the Group NAV Statement and their tax base.

The amount of deferred taxation provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

A deferred taxation asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the associated unused tax losses, unredeemed capital expenditure and deductible temporary differences can be utilised. Deferred taxation assets are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

2.6 Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables include accruals and other amounts payable, based on management's best estimate at the reporting date.

2.7 Contingent assets

Contingent assets are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised. The amounts disclosed are the best estimate of amounts expected to be recovered. Due to the complex nature of the legal and forensic proceedings underway the actual amounts to be recovered from the misappropriation of the JCI Group's assets could vary significantly. These amounts have not been included in the Group NAV Statement as the recoverability cannot be reasonably assured.

2.8 Contingent liabilities

Contingent liabilities are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised. The amounts disclosed are the best estimate of amounts expected to be paid.

All guarantees are disclosed even if the directors are of the opinion that they will not be called up or JCI is to be released from such guarantees on the sale of the underlying assets or businesses.

The value of the Goldfields SAFEX futures is based on the closing rate per future at 31 March 2008. The value represents the mark to market price of the futures at 31 March 2008 less the mark to market prices at the inception of the contract.

Each Goldfields SAFEX futures contract is convertible into 100 ordinary Goldfields Shares on expiry of the future contracts. Thus the 17 038 Goldfields SAFEX futures are convertible into 1 703 800 Goldfields shares on expiry date of the future contracts, these contracts expire every 3 months at the discretion of JCI.

The variance margin is the surplus cash in the JCI futures trading account that is used to settle the daily mark to market price movements.

The initial margin on the contract is the cash deposited with SAFEX held as security by SAFEX over the futures.

3.3 Merger Ratio

The value of the R&E investment is based on the adjusted NAV per share of R&E at 31 March 2008.

Loan to Kovacs	905	905
Total investment in Boschendal	160 988	127 043

The investment in Boschendal is held through a direct investment via Moregate and an indirect investment through a debenture agreement with Kovacs.

An offer to purchase the direct portion of the investment in Boschendal was received from a third party, fellow shareholder of Boschendal. This offer was at R2.250 million per percent. The directors of JCI used this offer to purchase to calculate the value of the investment in Boschendal.

The value of the debentures in Kovacs (the indirect holding in Boschendal) is based on the original investment amount plus accumulated interest and profit share supported by a financing agreement in place and secured by a loan from Kovacs to Boschendal. The directors are confident that the loan is recoverable. The loan has no fixed terms of repayment.

The JCI board is of the opinion that the valuation as detailed above of R161 million is fair and reasonable, however, the JCI board has indicated that the long term value of the investment could be in excess of this amount. An independent valuer calculated a value that was not significantly different from the value that the JCI directors have placed on the investment.

Subsequent to 31 March 2008, there has been a further offer to purchase of R2.5 million per percent interest in Boschendal. Kovacs has followed their pre-emptive rights in terms of this offer and purchased an additional 5.5% interest in and R10 000 000 of loans to Boschendal. This has been financed by JCI on a similar basis to the Debentures.

5. JAGANDA

The investment in Jaganda comprises 357 374 000 preference shares. The preference shares mature in June 2010.

During April 2006, JCI instituted an action against Jaganda for the delivery of 357 374 000 preference shares held by JCI in that company, which holds ordinary shares in Simmers. Jaganda has disputed the validity of the preference shares. Jaganda acknowledges that it is indebted to JCI for R89.3 million, which is the original value of the preference shares, but denies further obligations. Pleadings in respect of the disputes have closed and the matter has been postponed due to the application for liquidation of Jaganda. The liquidation application is contested by JCI. The directors of JCI have assessed the impact of the liquidation application of Jaganda and are confident it does not effect their valuation.

The preference shares carry interest at prime bank overdraft rate (South Africa) only in the event and to the extent that Simmers pays dividends to its shareholders. In addition, on redemption, 20% of the 30-day VWAP of the Simmers quoted share price on the JSE that exceeds 25 cents per share becomes payable to JCI in cash. At a Simmers share price of R5.7053, which is the VWAP for March 2008, the total upside of the Jaganda preference shares agreement is R479.3 million.

The JCI directors have placed a value of R284 million to the investment in Jaganda, this being the midpoint of the original face value of the preference shares (i.e. R89.3 million) and the total value of the 20% upside as detailed above. This may not be the fair value if concluded in an arms length transaction with a third party.

All the above businesses held for sale are valued by the JCI directors based upon signed sales agreements received for the investments. The above amounts have been received subsequent to 31 March 2008.

The JCI Group has other investments which have not been included as the JCI directors have not received any offers and are of opinion that it would not be prudent to attribute any value to these businesses at the current time. The JCI directors are of the opinion that they may, however, be able to generate value from these investments in the future. These include businesses such as Palfinger and Lyons, with the exception of the loans recoverable from the Lyons group.

13. INVESTEC RAISING FEE
Investec raising fee based on the Investec loan agreement	(373 335)	(373 335)

The Investec loan agreement provides for a raising fee to be paid to Investec on certain selected assets of JCI. The raising fee has been calculated based on the JCI directors' interpretation of the Investec loan agreement. Different values were used in calculating the Investec raising fee than those disclosed in the Group NAV Statement.

JCI and Investec are in the process of finalising the calculation of this raising fee arrangement. Currently, there are differences between JCI's and Investec's interpretation of the loan agreement. These differences relate to Investec's disagreement with JCI regarding the calculation of the value of the JCI shares, and the value of the investments in R&E, Boschendal and Jaganda used in JCI's calculation.

The Investec raising fee liability would be R575.6 million should the raising fee calculation be based on Investec's interpretation of the Investec loan agreement.

The JCI directors are strongly of the view that the amount disclosed will be the maximum amount agreed upon, subject to the court actions instituted by third parties regarding the Investec raising fee agreement.

No deferred taxation assets were raised on the assessed losses of the JCI Group as it is not probable that future taxable profits will be available when the related deductible temporary differences reverse.

Trade and other payables include provisions for unsettled legal claims and matters that JCI is engaged in. JCI has also raised provisions for amounts on which security has been signed and amounts which JCI believes will not be received from the principal debtor. Subsequent to 31 March 2008, JCI has reached a settlement in the RAWAS matter with DRD GOLD. The value of the settlement was R25 million of which JCI's share was R21 million and the balance by the other parties involved in the settlement. These amounts have been settled.

JCI have pledged 2 943 087 R&E shares as security for a debt of US$4.8 million from Letseng Guernsey Limited which is included in trade and other payables. These shares have not been included in the assets as the ownership of the shares are under dispute and R&E have indicated that they will possibly cancel these shares. Refer to note 3.

PAYE payable:

JCI engaged independent tax advisors who completed a PAYE audit. Their report was submitted to SARS. JCI have reached agreement with SARS and the relevant amounts have been settled.

VAT payable:

JCI engaged independent tax advisors who completed a VAT audit and determined the amount payable. SARS has considered JCI's submission and issued assessments for the amounts payable. JCI and SARS have reached agreement and the relevant amounts have been settled.

FSD group loans:

The total FSD group loan is an amount of R 134 million (see note 18 below). As JCI has a shareholding of 44.9% in FSD the intercompany portion of the loan needs to be removed.

18.1 Other prospecting rights
Valued at 7 November 2008	62 528	64 106

JCI is the beneficial owner of various prospecting rights held through its 44.89% shareholding in the issued share capital of FSD.

The prospecting rights comprise primarily of the Du Preez Leger project. The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The project area is located in the Free State goldfield of the Witwatersrand Basin. The areas of interest are located on exploration rights which are held by FSD.

During November 2008, management commissioned an independent third party valuation expert to compile an Independent Techno-Economic Valuation report, in the form of a Competent Persons Report ("CPR") on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger project.

	Area Hectare	Value per hectare Rand	Rand million

For the March 2007 value, management commissioned an independent third party mineral project evaluation expert to evaluate the mineralisation of the Du Preez Leger project and place a value thereon. A value of R193 million was placed on the project based on this exercise.

A CPR was not obtained to support this value and the valuation at March 2007 was based on reserves and not on inferred resources. Management believed that this valuation was the best estimate of fair value for the Du Preez Leger project based on comparable transactions. The valuation also placed no value on the Rebelkop and the Tweepan areas.

18.2 Loan receivable

The loans are receivable from JCI group companies and bear interest at the prime bank lending rate. No formal terms of repayment have been established. These loans are secured by the pledge of 79 million JCI shares and 1.666 million Goldfield shares. The Goldfields pledge came into effect on 20 May 2008. The loan receivable is eliminated in the preparation of the Group NAV Statement of JCI and is therefore not included in the assets of JCI.

19. CONTINGENT ASSETS

The JCI Group has several assets not included in the Group NAV Statement as their value, recoverability and ownership cannot be determined with any reliability at this time.

19.1 Claims against third parties (excluding R&E)

JCI has identified various claims against third parties. It is not prudent at this stage to disclose a claim value or a break-down thereof, or to identify a name or to disclose any other relating details as it might influence the recoverability of these claims.

20. CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

	At 31 March 2008 R'000
The JCI Group provided the following guarantees:
Nedbank Bank on behalf of Boschendal	109 503
Absa Bank on behalf of AML (to be released as part of the sale of AML to Mvelaphanda)	10 000
DME, SARS and financial institutions	4 062

No provision has been raised for these guarantees.

The directors have assessed all claims and have raised provisions for those claims which they consider to be probable and at values estimated to be the settlement values.

21. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The JCI group has entered into a back to back transaction with the sale of 1 000 000 Goldfields shares and a purchase of single stock future for 1 000 000 Goldfields shares subsequent to 31 March 2008. This has been done on the same basis as the SAFEX futures disclosed in the group NAV statement.

JCI has disposed of the investment in Matodzi on a share swop deal, JCI has swopped the 211 590 595 Matodzi shares for 1 679 289 R&E shares.

JCI has also entered a share swop agreement where 155 000 Goldfields shares were swopped for 1 000 000 R&E shares.

On 29 October 2008, JCI concluded a transaction to acquire the remaining 30% stake in the Lyons group of companies excluding the property management company for the settlement of their loan accounts.

It should also be noted that the listed investments and the valuation of Jaganda have been affected by the recent turmoil in the financial markets both locally and abroad.

No other material events occurred subsequent to 31 March 2008 other than those disclosed elsewhere in the Group NAV Statement.

22. ENCUMBRANCES

Except as noted above in the notes, no significant assets have been encumbered or pledged other than those disclosed elsewhere in the Group NAV Statement.

"The Directors
JCI Limited

Dear Sirs

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S LIMITED ASSURANCE REPORT IN RESPECT OF THE GROUP NAV STATEMENT OF JCI LIMITED AT 31 MARCH 2008

We have performed our limited assurance engagement on the Group NAV Statement of JCI Limited at 31 March 2008 and accompanying notes thereto ("the Notes"), as set out in Annexure 6a to the circular to Randgold & Exploration Company Limited shareholders to be dated on or about 28 November 2008 ("the circular") ("the Group NAV Statement") in which this report is included.

Directors' responsibility for the Group NAV Statement

The JCI Limited directors are responsible for the preparation and presentation of the Group NAV Statement in accordance with the basis of preparation, set out in the accompanying Notes to the Group NAV Statement, for the purpose of providing the shareholders of JCI Limited and Randgold & Exploration Company Limited with financial information relevant to the proposed merger with Randgold & Exploration Company Limited, as referred to in the Notes. This responsibility includes determining that the basis of preparation is an acceptable basis for preparing and presenting the Group NAV Statement and making accounting estimates, which, in the opinion of the JCI Limited directors, are reasonable in the circumstances.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to conclude on whether the Group NAV Statement at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 6a to the circular to which this report forms a part, has been prepared on the basis of preparation set out in the Notes, based on the procedures performed by us in a limited assurance engagement. There are no International Standards on Auditing (Engagement Standards) applicable to an engagement of this nature. In these circumstances we applied our professional judgement in planning and performing our procedures to obtain limited assurance on the Group NAV Statement in accordance with the basis of preparation set out in the Notes. Our evidence gathering procedures are more limited than for a reasonable assurance engagement, and therefore less assurance is obtained than in a reasonable assurance engagement. We believe that the evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our conclusion.

Summary of work performed

Our work included making enquiries of management and performing procedures to obtain evidence in respect of the amounts and disclosures in the Group NAV Statement in accordance with the basis of preparation set out in the Notes. We have evaluated the appropriateness of the basis of preparation in the circumstances and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the Group NAV Statement.

Conclusion

Based on the procedures performed by us, nothing has come to our attention that caused us to believe that the Group NAV Statement at 31 March 2008 has not been prepared, in all material respects, on the basis of preparation set out in the Notes.

Emphasis of matters

As indicated the Group NAV Statement is prepared in accordance with the basis of preparation, set out in the accompanying Notes, for the purpose of providing the shareholders of JCI Limited and Randgold & Exploration Company Limited with financial information relevant to the proposed merger, as referred to in the Notes. The Group NAV Statement and our limited assurance report may not be suitable for any other purpose.

The Group NAV Statement and our limited assurance report as reflected in Annexure 6a and this Annexure 6b of the circular will be included in a circular to the JCI Limited shareholders which is anticipated to be issued during the course December 2008.

NOTES TO THE GROUP NAV STATEMENT AT 31 OCTOBER 2008

1. PURPOSE OF THE GROUP NAV STATEMENT

On 7 April 2006, JCI published unreviewed, unaudited and restated provisional financial results for the six months ended 30 September 2005, and for each of the years ended 31 March 2004 and 31 March 2005 ("provisional results").

In the accompanying commentary to these provisional results, the JCI directors indicated, inter alia, that due to the extent of the misappropriations, for which details were disclosed in the commentary, there may be other material events and circumstances of which the JCI directors are not aware of and which may have a material effect on JCI. These may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information reflected in the provisional results and/or may have the effect that the provisional results do not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of JCI. In these circumstances the JCI directors disclaimed any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information reflected in the provisional results. This is still the position.

KPMG Inc. was appointed as the independent auditor of JCI during October 2005. In view of the uncertainties relating to the provisional results, and the disclaimer by the JCI directors, they were unable to, and did not, express an audit or review opinion on the provisional results. This is still the position.

On 15 March 2007, JCI and R&E published an update to shareholders and on 23 April 2007, JCI and R&E announced their intention to merge. Because the JCI directors are still unable to prepare a complete set of financial statements for the years ended 31 March 2005, 2006, 2007 and 2008, in accordance with IFRS, the JCI directors have prepared a Group NAV Statement on the basis set out in note 2. The JCI directors consider the Group NAV Statement, including the accompanying Notes, suitable in the circumstances for the purpose of providing shareholders with financial information relevant to the proposed merger..

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Group NAV Statement has been prepared from information available to the JCI directors and may not be complete for the reasons given in note 1 above. In particular, the Group NAV Statement excludes major claims and counter claims between JCI and R&E.

Other than for these claims, the Group NAV Statement includes all known significant assets and liabilities of the JCI Group and associate companies. The Group NAV Statement includes JCI's proportionate share of FSD's (a 44.9% associate of JCI) assets and liabilities on a line-by-line basis.

The Group NAV Statement has been prepared in Rands. All financial information is presented in Rands and has been rounded to the nearest thousand. Foreign currency monetary and non-monetary items are reported using the closing rate at 31 October 2008.

The Group NAV Statement required the JCI directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the basis of preparation and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The assets and liabilities of subsidiaries are included in the Group NAV Statement, except in instances where the subsidiaries are considered as businesses held for sale, or if the subsidiaries are considered to be insolvent, or dormant, or if the ownership of the assets and liabilities could not be proven. However, insolvent subsidiaries' liabilities have been included to the extent where JCI or any of its other subsidiaries have guaranteed the liabilities.

Intra-group balances are eliminated in the preparation of the Group NAV Statement.

The Group NAV Statement has not been prepared in terms of IFRS, but on the basis discussed under each heading below:

2.1 Listed investments

The JCI Group's listed investments, except for the investment in R&E, are based on the VWAP for October 2008 comprising 23 trading days (March 2008: VWAP for March 2008 comprising 19 trading days).

The value of the R&E investment is based on the NAV per share of R&E at 31 October 2008 (March 2008: 31 March 2008) which is disclosed in the R&E Group NAV Statement included in Annexure 5c to this circular after adjusting for the proposed merger ratio of 95 to 1, as was announced on 27 April 2007.

SAFEX futures are derivative instruments and are measured at the fair value of the instrument at 31 October 2008. The fair value of the futures is based on the amount of cash that would be received if the future contracts were closed out on 31 October 2008 which includes the profit/loss on the instruments.

2.2 Businesses held for sale

The fair values of these businesses are based on the latest offer received as an indication of the businesses' minimum values, where the business has been sold, the actual sales value was used.

2.3 Prospecting rights

Where an agreement is signed to sell the prospecting rights, the value is based on the consideration amount as quoted in the signed agreement. Where no such agreements are in place, but sufficient data and value exists, the JCI directors have determined a value which they believe is reasonable based on valuations performed by independent experts using comparable transactions.

2.4 Other assets

Other assets include investment properties and cash and cash equivalents.

2.4.1 Investment properties

Where an agreement is signed to sell the properties the value is based on the consideration in the signed agreement.

Where there are no such agreements in place, the value is based on the latest offer to purchase received from a third party.

Third party property acquisitions during the last year are stated at cost as the directors consider that to approximate fair value.

2.4.2 Loans

Loans are only brought into account when they are either certain of recovery or are secured by assets which value can be determined.

2.4.3 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash and cash deposits with banking institutions. The carrying amount of cash and cash deposits with banking institutions approximates fair value.

2.5 Taxation

2.5.1 Income tax payable

Income tax payable comprises taxation payable calculated on the basis of the expected taxable income using the tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment of income tax payable for previous years.

Income tax payable has been calculated based on the best information currently available to the directors given the circumstances detailed in note 1 above. (including prior year assessments and management's interpretation of current tax law)

2.5.2 Deferred taxation

Deferred taxation is provided based on temporary differences. Temporary differences are differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities reported in the Group NAV Statement and their tax base.

The amount of deferred taxation provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

A deferred taxation asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the associated unused tax losses, unredeemed capital expenditure and deductible temporary differences can be utilised. Deferred taxation assets are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

2.6 Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables include accruals and other amounts payable, based on management's best estimate at the reporting date.

2.7 Contingent assets

Contingent assets are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised. The amounts disclosed are the best estimate of amounts expected to be recovered. Due to the complex nature of the legal and forensic proceedings underway the actual amounts to be recovered from the misappropriation of the JCI Group's assets could vary significantly. These amounts have not been included in the Group NAV Statement as the recoverability cannot be reasonably assured.

2.8 Contingent liabilities

Contingent liabilities are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised. The amounts disclosed are the best estimate of amounts expected to be paid.

All guarantees are disclosed even if the directors are of the opinion that they will not be called up or JCI is to be released from such guarantees on the sale of the underlying assets or businesses.

The value of the Goldfields SAFEX futures is based on the closing rate per future at 31 October 2008. The value represents the mark to market price of the futures at 31 October 2008 less the mark to market prices at the inception of the contract.

Each Goldfields SAFEX futures contract is convertible into 100 ordinary Goldfields Shares on expiry of the future contracts. Thus the 7 384 Goldfields SAFEX futures are convertible into 738 400 Goldfields shares on expiry date of the future contracts, these contracts expire every 3 months at the discretion of JCI.

The variance margin is the surplus cash in the JCI futures trading account that is used to settle the daily mark to market price movements.

The initial margin on the contract is the cash deposited with SAFEX held as security by SAFEX over the futures.

3.3 Merger Ratio

The value of the R&E investment is based on the adjusted NAV per share of R&E at 31 October 2008.

The JCI Group has not included 2 943 087 R&E shares, which have been pledged as security for a liability owing by the JCI Group to Letseng Guernsey Limited. These shares have not been included in the Group NAV Statement of R&E as these shares are identified for possible cancellation.

Loan to Kovacs	905	905
Total investment in Boschendal	203 099	160 988

The investment in Boschendal is held through a direct investment via Moregate and an indirect investment through a debenture agreement with Kovacs.

Subsequent to 31 March 2008, there has been a further offer to purchase of R2.5 million per percent interest in Boschendal. Kovacs has followed their pre-emptive rights in terms of this offer and purchased an additional 5.5% interest in and R10 000 000 of loans to Boschendal. This has been financed by JCI on a similar basis to the Debentures.

The purchase offer as above has been used to value the interest in Boschendal.

The value of the debentures in Kovacs (the indirect holding in Boschendal) is based on the original investment amount plus accumulated interest and profit share supported by a financing agreement in place and secured by a loan from Kovacs to Boschendal. The directors are confident that the loan is recoverable. The loan has no fixed terms of repayment.

The JCI board is of the opinion that the valuation as detailed above of R203 million is fair and reasonable, however, the JCI board has indicated that the long term value of the investment could be in excess of this amount. An independent valuer calculated a value that was not significantly different from the value that the JCI directors have placed on the investment.

5. JAGANDA

The investment in Jaganda comprises 357 374 000 preference shares. The preference shares mature in June 2010.

During April 2006, JCI instituted an action against Jaganda for the delivery of 357 374 000 preference shares held by JCI in that company, which holds ordinary shares in Simmers. Jaganda has disputed the validity of the preference shares. Jaganda acknowledges that it is indebted to JCI for R89.3 million, which is the original value of the preference shares, but denies further obligations. Pleadings in respect of the disputes have closed and the matter has been postponed due to the application for liquidation of Jaganda. The liquidation application is contested by JCI. The directors of JCI have assessed the impact of the liquidation application of Jaganda and are confident it does not effect their valuation.

The preference shares carry interest at prime bank overdraft rate (South Africa) only in the event and to the extent that Simmers pays dividends to its shareholders. In addition, on redemption, 20% of the 30-day VWAP of the Simmers quoted share price on the JSE that exceeds 25 cents per share becomes payable to JCI in cash. At a Simmers share price of 2.17, which is the VWAP for October 2008, the total upside of the Jaganda preference shares agreement is R226.6 million.

The JCI directors have placed a value of R158 million to the investment in Jaganda, this being the midpoint of the original face value of the preference shares (i.e. R89.3 million) and the total value of the 20% upside as detailed above. This may not be the fair value if concluded in an arm's length transaction with a third party.

All the above businesses held for sale have been sold and amounts have been received subsequent to 31 March 2008.

The JCI Group has other investments which have not been included as the JCI directors have not received any offers and are of opinion that it would not be prudent to attribute any value to these businesses at the current time. The JCI directors are of the opinion that they may, however, be able to generate value from these investments in the future. These include businesses such as Palfinger and Lyons, with the exception of the loans recoverable from the Lyons group.

7. LOANS
Loan to R&E from Fredev Group	4 281	–
Loans to Lyons secured by immovable properties	11 000	16 000
	15 281	16 000

The loans to Lyons have been valued, based on the value of the concluded sale agreements of the properties held as security for the repayment of the loans.

There is an encumbrance of R7.5 million with a financial institution which will be offset against the proceeds receivable on the sale of the Sandton Emperors penthouse unit 1004 property. However, management has entered into an agreement with a third party where the third party has undertaken to have the encumbrance waived.

These properties are held through subsidiary companies. The value of the Houghton and St James Place properties are based on offers to purchase received, the St James Place offer is still be negotiated further by the directors. Investment House is valued at the purchase price which according to the JCI directors approximates fair value.

The raising fee has been calculated based on the JCI directors' interpretation of the Investec loan agreement. Different values were used in calculating the Investec raising fee than those disclosed in the Group NAV Statement.

JCI and Investec are in the process of finalising the calculation of this raising fee arrangement. Currently, there are differences between JCI's and Investec's interpretation of the loan agreement. These differences relate to Investec's disagreement with JCI regarding the calculation of the value of the JCI shares, and the value of the investments in R&E, Boschendal and Jaganda used in JCI's calculation.

The Investec raising fee liability would be R575.6 million should the raising fee calculation be based on Investec's interpretation of the Investec loan agreement.

The JCI directors are strongly of the view that the amount disclosed will be the maximum amount agreed upon, subject to the court actions instituted by third parties regarding the Investec raising fee agreement.

Investec hold the following assets as security for the outstanding fee:

The deferred taxation balance is as a result of temporary differences on listed investments, unlisted investments, investment properties and prospecting rights, except where the deferred tax liability has been offset against deferred tax assets in the respective JCI Group companies'.

No deferred taxation assets were raised on the assessed losses of the JCI Group as it is not probable that future taxable profits will be available when the related deductible temporary differences reverse.

Trade and other payables include provisions for unsettled legal claims and matters that JCI is engaged in. JCI has also raised provisions for amounts on which security has been signed and amounts which JCI believes will not be received from the principal debtor.

JCI have pledged 2 943 087 R&E shares as security for a debt of US$4.8 million from Letseng Guersney Limited which is included in trade and other payables. These shares have not been included in the assets as the ownership of the shares are under dispute and R&E have indicated that they will possibly cancel these shares. Refer to note 3.

PAYE payable:

JCI engaged independent tax advisors who completed a PAYE audit. Their report was submitted to SARS. JCI have reached agreement with SARS and the relevant amounts have been settled.

VAT payable:

JCI engaged independent tax advisors who completed a VAT audit and determined the amount payable. SARS has considered JCI's submission and issued assessments for the amounts payable. JCI and SARS have reached agreement and the relevant amounts have been settled.

FSD group loans:

The total FSD group loan is an amount of R 134 million (see note 17 below). As JCI has a shareholding of 44.9% in FSD the intercompany portion of the loan needs to be removed.

The above shares have been identified as fraudulent issues by the previous board. For the purpose of calculating the net shares in issue, the number of shares in issue has not been reduced by the shares identified for possible cancellation for the following reasons; firstly the 104 million JCI shares are in the possession of R&E and secondly the JCI board have decided to exclude the balance of 90 874 834 shares as legal proceedings have not yet been finalised.

17.1 Other prospecting rights
Valued at 7 November 2008	62 528	62 528

JCI is the beneficial owner of various prospecting rights held through its 44.89% shareholding in the issued share capital of FSD.

The prospecting rights comprise primarily of the Du Preez Leger project. The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The project area is located in the Free State goldfield of the Witwatersrand Basin. The areas of interest are located on exploration rights which are held by FSD.

During November 2008, management commissioned an independent third party valuation expert to compile an Independent Techno-Economic Valuation report, in the form of a Competent Persons Report ("CPR") on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger project.

(1) Management has adjusted the value of these prospecting rights on the basis that 26% thereof will be attributable in terms of the black economic empowerment requirements of the Minerals and Petroleum Resources Development Act.

17.2 Loan receivable

The loans are receivable from JCI group companies and bear interest at the prime bank lending rate. No formal terms of repayment have been established. These loans are secured by the pledge of 79 million JCI shares and 1.666 million Goldfield shares. The Goldfields pledge came into effect on 20 May 2008. The loan receivable is eliminated in the preparation of the Group NAV Statement of JCI and is therefore not included in the assets of JCI.

18. CONTINGENT ASSETS

The JCI Group has several assets not included in the Group NAV Statement as their value, recoverability and ownership cannot be determined with any reliability at this time.

18.1 Claims against third parties (excluding R&E)

JCI has identified various claims against third parties. It is not prudent at this stage to disclose a claim value or a break-down thereof, or to identify a name or to disclose any other relating details as it might influence the recoverability of these claims.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA COMBINED NET ASSET VALUE STATEMENT OF R&E AT 31 MARCH 2008, POST THE MERGER

The unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement of Randgold and Exploration Limited ("R&E") before and after the proposed transaction is set out below. The unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement is presented in a manner consistent with the basis on which the net asset value statement of R&E and JCI Limited ("JCI") has been presented which is in accordance with the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes thereto (which is not in accordance with IFRS) as set out in Annexures 5a and 6a to this circular, respectively.

In the respective notes to the net asset value statement of R&E at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 5a) and the net asset value statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a), the respective directors highlight certain limitations relating to the lack of audited financial information as well as limitations on the completeness of financial information. For a better understanding of the circumstances and the basis of preparation of the respective net asset value statement at 31 March 2008 of R&E (Annexure 5a) and JCI (Annexure 6a), reference should be made to the respective notes thereto.

The unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement has been prepared for illustrative purposes only and because of its nature and the inhibiting factors referred to above, the unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement may not give a fair reflection of R&E's net asset value position after the proposed transaction. It has been assumed for the purposes of the unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement that the proposed transaction took place on 31 March 2008. It does not purport to be indicative of what the net asset value would have been had the proposed transaction been implemented on a different date. The unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement is based on the estimates and assumptions set out in the notes below. The directors of R&E are responsible for the preparation of the unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement.

The independent reporting accountant's report relating to the unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement of the proposed transaction is included in this circular as Annexure 7b.

The unaudited pro forma combined net asset value statement after the proposed transaction presented below has been prepared from the information available to the directors of R&E and includes the respective net asset value statements at 31 March 2008 of R&E (Annexure 5a) and JCI (Annexure 6a) together with adjustments described below:

Notes:

1. This column is extracted from the Group Net Asset Value Statement of R&E at 31 March 2008 prepared on the basis of presentation described in the accompanying notes thereto, as detailed in Annexure 5a to this Circular. The R&E directors are responsible for the preparation and presentation of the Group Net Asset Value Statement of R&E at 31 March 2008. The limited assurance report issued by the independent auditor of R&E on the Group Net Asset Value Statement of R&E at 31 March 2008 is included in Annexure 5b to this Circular.

2. This column is extracted from the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI as at 31 March 2008 prepared on the basis of presentation described in the accompanying notes thereto, as detailed in Annexure 6a to this Circular. The JCI directors are responsible for the preparation and presentation of the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008. The limited assurance report issued by the independent auditor of JCI on the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 is included in Annexure 6b to this Circular.
3. This column represents combination adjustments to eliminate cross holdings between JCI and R&E as well as intergroup balances on combination post the implementation of the proposed merger.
4. It has been assumed that 20 619 612 R&E shares will be issued to scheme participants, in order to effect the merger as set out in terms of the merger ratio (as further disclosed in paragraph 10 of this circular), i.e. 1 R&E share for every 95 JCI shares.
5. For the purpose of calculating the net shares in issue, the total number of shares in issue of R&E (based on an issued share capital of 74 813 128 R&E shares) has been notionally reduced by 2 943 087 R&E shares, being the disputed R&E shares which R&E has earmarked for possible cancellation in its issued share capital (which shares constitute a portion of the consideration shares purportedly issued and allotted on account of the Phikoloso transaction in respect of which R&E has asserted a claim against JCI), on the basis that such shares are alleged to have been issued for no value received. The said shares have been identified to be in the possession of Letseng Diamonds. R&E has been informed by JCI that the disputed R&E shares in question were pledged by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, as security for a loan made by Letseng Diamonds to JCI. R&E has been further informed by JCI that upon the repayment of the loan by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, the shares will be returned to JCI, whereupon JCI has undertaken to return such shares to R&E for cancellation. R&E has noted JCI's undertaking in respect of the 2 943 087 R&E shares without prejudice and/or waiver of any of its rights and entitlements which it may enjoy in consequence of the void issue and allotment of any of its shares.
6. The net shares in issue has been calculated after the deduction of treasury shares held by subsidiary companies, excluding those held by Matodzi.
7. The 6 794 007 R&E shares held by JCI have been treated as treasury shares on combination post the proposed merger. Furthermore, JCI treasury shares of 202 115 127 shares, as set out in note 6 above, and after conversion into R&E shares at a merger ratio of one R&E share for 95 JCI shares, amounting to 2 127 528 R&E shares have also been treated as treasury shares on combination post the proposed merger.

Dear Sirs

Independent Reporting Accountant's limited assurance report on the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited at 31 March 2008

Introduction

We have performed our limited assurance engagement in respect of the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited ("Randgold") at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 7a and the pro forma financial effects of the proposed merger with JCI Limited ("JCI") in respect of such combined pro forma Net Asset Value Statement as set out in paragraph 21.2 of the main body of the circular and Annexure 7a to the circular to Randgold shareholders to be dated on or about 28 November 2008 ("the circular") ("pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement"), issued in connection with the proposed merger of Randgold with JCI ("proposed transaction").

The pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared for purposes of complying with the Listings Requirements of the JSE Limited ("JSE"), for illustrative purposes only, to provide information about how the proposed transaction might have affected the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement presented had the proposed transaction been undertaken on 31 March 2008.

Our conclusion below has been formed on the basis of, and is subject to the limitations relative to certain financial information which forms the basis of the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement. These limitations relate to the lack of audited financial information as well as limitations on the completeness of the financial information contained in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold at 31 March 2008 and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008, respectively, included in Annexures 5a and 6a, respectively, in the circular ("these net asset value statements"). In the notes to these net asset value statements, the respective directors of Randgold and JCI have described the circumstances giving rise to the basis of preparation of these financial statements and have highlighted certain inhibiting factors regarding the completeness of information. Our respective conclusions on the Group Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold at 31 March 2008 as included in Annexure 5b and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 as included in Annexure 6b provided limited assurance having regard to the basis of preparation and the basis of our assurance engagement. For a better understanding of the circumstances and the basis of preparation of these net asset value statements, reference should be made to the notes to each of these net asset value statement and our respective reports thereon.

Because of its nature and the inhibiting factors referred to above, the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement may not present a fair reflection of the net asset value position of Randgold after the proposed transaction.

Directors' responsibility

The directors are solely responsible for the compilation, contents and presentation of pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement contained in the circular and for the financial information from which it has been prepared, for the purpose of providing information to the shareholders as required in terms of Section 8.17 Nature of Information and Section 8.30 Adjustments of the JSE Listings Requirements. The directors' responsibility includes determining that the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement has been properly compiled on the basis stated, the basis is consistent with the basis of preparation described in the notes accompanying the Group Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold at 31 March 2008 and that the pro forma adjustments are appropriate for the purposes of the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement.

Reporting accountant's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express a limited assurance conclusion on the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement included in the circular to Randgold shareholders. We conducted our limited assurance engagement in accordance with the International Standard on Assurance Engagements applicable to Assurance Engagements Other Than Audits or Reviews of Historical Financial information and the Guide on Pro Forma Financial Information issued by The South African Institute of Chartered Accountants. The International Standard requires us to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence on which to base our conclusion.

We do not accept any responsibility for any reports previously given by us on any financial information used in the compilation of the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement, beyond that owed to those to whom the reports were addressed by us, having regard to the purpose for which those reports were prepared and any restriction in use contained in those reports, at the dates of their issue.

Sources of information and work performed

Our procedures consisted primarily of comparing the Group Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 5a attached to the circular and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 6a attached to the circular, with source documents, considering the pro forma adjustments in light of the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes to the Group Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 5a attached to the circular, considering the evidence supporting the pro forma adjustments, recalculating the amounts based on the information obtained and discussing the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement with the directors of Randgold. In arriving at our conclusion, we have relied upon financial information prepared by the directors of Randgold.

In a limited assurance engagement the evidence-gathering procedures are more limited than for a reasonable assurance engagement and therefore less assurance is obtained than in a reasonable assurance engagement. We believe that our evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our conclusion.

Conclusion on the pro forma adjustments included in the pro forma combined Net Asset Value Statement

Based on our examination of the evidence obtained, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that in terms of Section 8.17 Nature of Information and Section 8.30 Adjustments of the JSE Listings Requirements, the pro forma adjustments:

- have not been properly compiled on the basis stated;
- such basis is inconsistent with the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes to the Group Net Asset Value Statement of Randgold at 31 March 2008; and
- are not appropriate for the purposes of the pro forma financial information as disclosed pursuant to Section 8.17 Nature of Information and Section 8.30 Adjustments of the JSE Listings Requirements.

This conclusion has been formed on the basis of, and is subject to the inherent limitations outlined elsewhere in this independent reporting accountants' report.

Yours faithfully

NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET

at 31 March 2008

1. REPORTING ENTITY

Randgold & Exploration Company Limited (the "Company" or "R&E") is a company incorporated in the Republic of South Africa. The address of the Company's registered office is No. 10, Benmore Road, Sandton, 2146. The Consolidated Balance Sheet of the Company as at 31 March 2008 comprise the Company and its subsidiaries (together referred to as the "Group" and individually as "Group entities"). R&E is an investment holding company with assets in the mining industry. The Company aims to invest in high quality assets that will ensure maximum return for its shareholders. It currently holds prospecting rights directly and indirectly through subsidiary companies which it plans to develop further in order to add value to its investments.

2. BACKGROUND

On 31 March 2006, R&E published provisional unaudited and unreviewed financial results for the years ended 31 December 2004 and 2005, and restated provisional results for the year ended 31 December 2003 ("provisional results").

In the accompanying commentary to these provisional results, the Company's directors indicated, inter alia, that due to the extent of the misappropriations, for which details were included in the commentary, there may be other material events and circumstances of which the board of directors of R&E are not aware and which may have a material effect on the Group. These may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information reflected in the provisional results and/or may have the effect that the provisional results do not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of R&E. In these circumstances the board of directors of R&E disclaimed any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information reflected in the provisional results. This is still the position.

KPMG was appointed as the independent auditor of R&E during October 2005. In view of the uncertainties relating to the provisional results and the disclaimer by the R&E directors, they were unable to, and did not, express an audit or review opinion on the provisional results. This is still the position.

On 6 November 2008, the Company published an update to shareholders on the proposed merger negotiations between R&E and JCI Limited ("JCI").

Because the board of R&E is still unable to prepare a complete set of financial statements for the years ended 31 December 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007, and for the period ended 31 March 2008 in accordance with IFRS, the directors have prepared a Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008, comprising the Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008 and notes, which include a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes, in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"), but not its presentation and disclosure requirements, as described in note 3. The board of R&E, comprising the present board of R&E (subsequent to 24 August 2005), have relied on forensic reports and used their respective reasonable endeavours to make available information to prepare the Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008. Notwithstanding the reasonable endeavours of the directors, attention is drawn to the fact that:

- the newly constituted board of R&E, and more specifically the present board of R&E, was appointed subsequent to material events and circumstances which had a direct effect on the financial and other affairs of R&E;
- the directors, comprising the present board of R&E, have no further knowledge of material circumstances and events which have affected the financial and other affairs of R&E; and
- due to the extent of the alleged frauds and thefts, there may be other material events and circumstances or liabilities of which the directors are not aware, which may have a material effect on R&E and which may affect the accuracy and completeness of the information reflected in the Consolidated Balance Sheet and/or may have the effect that the Consolidated Balance Sheet does not reflect a true and complete account of the consolidated financial position of R&E at 31 March 2008.

The directors consider the Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008 suitable in the circumstances for the purpose of providing its shareholders with financial information relevant to the proposed merger with JCI.

3. BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008 has been prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS, but not its presentation and disclosure requirements, based on information available to the board of R&E and may not be complete for the reasons given in note 2 above. In particular, the Shareholders' Equity – Other is presented as the excess of consolidated assets over consolidated liabilities, ordinary share capital and minority interest.

The Consolidated Balance Sheet has been prepared in Rands, rounded to the nearest thousand, on the historical cost basis except for available for sale financial assets, which are measured at fair value; and includes all known significant assets and liabilities of R&E, and its subsidiaries. Accordingly, R&E has accounted for all listed investments under its control and in its possession at 31 March 2008.

The preparation of the Consolidated Balance Sheet in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS, requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from these estimates. Information about significant areas of estimation uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the consolidated balance sheet is included in the notes.

Corresponding figures have not been presented as the company is still unable to prepare historical financial statements, including comparative financial information.

4. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accounting policies set out below have been applied consistently by Group entities.

The following accounting policies are an extract of the Group's accounting policies only as relevant to the preparation of the consolidated balance sheet.

(a) Basis of consolidation

(i) Subsidiaries

Subsidiaries are entities controlled by the Group. Control exists when the Group has the power to govern the financial and operating policies of an entity so as to obtain benefits from its activities. In assessing control, potential voting rights currently exercisable are taken into account. The balance sheets of subsidiaries are included in the consolidated balance sheet from the date that control commences until the date that control ceases. The accounting policies of subsidiaries have been changed when necessary to align them with the policies adopted by the Group.

(ii) Transactions eliminated on consolidation

Intra-group balances and transactions, and any unrealised income and expenses arising from intra-group transactions, are eliminated in preparing the consolidated balance sheet.

(b) Foreign currency

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the reporting date are restated to the functional currency at the exchange rate at that date. Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are retranslated to the functional currency at the exchange rate at the date that the fair value was determined.

(c) Financial instruments

(i) Non-derivative financial instruments

Non-derivative financial instruments comprise investments in equity securities, trade and other receivables, cash and cash equivalents, loans receivables, and trade and other payables.

Non-derivative financial instruments are recognised initially at fair value plus, any directly attributable transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition non-derivative financial instruments are measured as described below.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash balances and call deposits measured at amortised cost which approximates fair value.

Available-for-sale financial assets

The Group's investments in equity securities are classified as available-for-sale financial assets. Subsequent to initial recognition, they are measured at fair value with fair value changes being recognised in Shareholders' Equity – Other.

Where the fair value of equity securities classified as available-for-sale financial assets is no longer reliably measureable, any gain or loss recognised directly in equity relating to these instruments is retained in equity.

The carrying value of the equity securities at the date where fair value is no longer reliably measureable is treated as its new cost. Subsequently the equity investment is carried at cost less impairment. Any impairment losses are recognised in Shareholders' Equity – Other.

Loans receivable; trade and other receivables

Loans receivable and trade and other receivables are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment losses.

Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables are measured at amortised cost.

(d) Share capital

Ordinary shares

Ordinary shares are classified as equity. Incremental costs directly attributable to the issue of ordinary shares are recognised as a deduction from equity, net of any tax effects.

(e) Intangible assets

Intangible assets include prospecting rights.

Prospecting rights are measured at cost less accumulated impairment losses. Prospecting rights are not amortised as they are not yet available for use.

Cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset.

For prospecting rights not available for use, the recoverable amount is estimated at each reporting date.

The recoverable amount of an asset is the greater of its value in use and its fair value less costs to sell. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

An impairment loss is recognised if the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its estimated recoverable amount. Impairment losses recognised in prior periods are assessed at each reporting date for any indications that the loss has decreased or no longer exists. An impairment loss is reversed if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. An impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of amortisation, if no impairment loss had been recognised.

(f) Impairment

(i) Financial assets

A financial asset is assessed at each reporting date to determine whether there is any objective evidence that it is impaired. A financial asset is considered to be impaired if objective evidence indicates that one or more events have had a negative effect on the estimated future cash flows of that asset.

An impairment loss in respect of a financial asset measured at amortised cost is calculated as the difference between its carrying amount, and the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the original effective interest rate. An impairment loss in respect of an available-for-sale financial asset is calculated by reference to its fair value. Individually significant financial assets are tested for impairment on an individual basis. The remaining financial assets are assessed collectively in groups that share similar credit risk characteristics.

An impairment loss is reversed if the reversal can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognised.

(g) Employee benefits

(i) Defined benefit plans

A defined benefit plan is a post employment benefit plan other than a defined contribution plan. The Group's net obligation in respect of defined benefit plans is calculated separately for each plan by estimating the amount of future benefit that employees have earned in return for their service in prior periods; that benefit is discounted to determine its present value, and the fair value of any related assets is deducted. The discount rate is the yield at the reporting date of instruments that have maturity dates approximating the terms of the Group's obligations. The calculation is performed at the reporting date by a qualified actuary using the projected unit credit method. The group recognises all actuarial gains and losses arising from defined benefit plans in Shareholders' Equity – Other.

(ii) Short-term benefits

Short-term employee benefit obligations are measured on an undiscounted basis and are expensed as the related service is provided.

A provision is recognised for the amount expected to be paid under short term cash bonus plans and accrued leave if the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past services provided by the employee and the obligation can be estimated accurately.

(h) Income tax

Current tax is the expected tax payable on the taxable income for the year, using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment to tax payable in respect of previous years.

Income tax payable has been calculated based on the best information currently available to management regarding taxable income (including prior year assessments and management's interpretation of current tax law) given the circumstances detailed in note 2 above.

Deferred tax is recognised using the balance sheet method, providing for temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes. Deferred tax is not recognised for the following temporary differences: the initial recognition of assets or liabilities in a transaction that is not a business combination and that affects neither accounting nor taxable profit, and differences relating to investments in subsidiaries and jointly controlled entities to the extent that it is probable that they will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates that are expected to be applied to the temporary differences when they reverse, based on the laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset if there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax liabilities and assets, and they relate to income taxes levied by the same tax authority on the same taxable entity, or on different tax entities, but they intend to settle liabilities and assets on a net basis or their tax assets and liabilities will be realised simultaneously.

A deferred tax asset is recognised to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the temporary difference can be utilised. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

Additional income taxes that arise from the distribution of dividends are recognised at the same time as the liability to pay the related dividend is recognised.

(i) Business Combinations

The purchase method is used when a business is acquired. A business may comprise an entity, group of entities or an unincorporated operation including its operating assets and associated liabilities.

On acquisition date, fair values are attributed to the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities. Minority interest at acquisition date is determined as the minority shareholders' proportionate share of the fair value of the net assets of subsidiaries acquired.

Fair values of the total of all identifiable assets and liabilities included in the business combination are determined by reference to market values of those or similar items, where available, or by discounting expected future cash flows using an appropriate discount rate to present values.

To the extent that these identifiable assets and liabilities, were already owned by the group, the adjustment to fair values related to these assets and liabilities is recognised directly in Shareholders' Equity – Other.

To the extent that the fair value of the net identifiable assets of the entity acquired exceeds the cost of acquisition, the excess is recognised in Shareholders' Equity – Other on acquisition date.

5. DETERMINATION OF FAIR VALUES

A number of the Company's accounting policies and disclosures require the determination of fair value, for both financial and non-financial assets and liabilities. Fair values have been determined for measurement and/or disclosure purposes based on the following methods. When applicable, further information about the assumptions made in determining fair values is disclosed in the notes specific to the asset.

(i) Investments in equity securities

The fair value of available-for-sale financial assets is determined by reference to their quoted closing bid price at the reporting date.

(ii) Loans receivable; trade and other receivables

The fair value of loans receivable and trade and other receivables is estimated as the present value of future cash flows, discounted at the market rate of interest at the reporting date.

South African normal tax	30 260

This amount includes income tax payable for the R&E Group and includes any related penalties and interest that may be due, except as noted in the next paragraph.

Income tax payable does not include any additional penalties that may become leviable upon assessment of outstanding returns by SARS as management believe, that the Group did not act fraudulently or in any other way to warrant incurring such additional penalties. Based on the ongoing negotiations with SARS, management believes that the penalties and interest calculated is sufficient and that no further penalties will be levied by SARS.

R&E's calculations reflect that R&E had no taxable income from 2002 to the reporting date as R&E was operating at a loss. SARS has, however, queried R&E's tax calculations from 1998 to 2001 and have subsequently recalculated that an additional amount of R44 million in taxes is payable. R&E has and will continue to contest these queries. Given that such queries are under dispute, management believes that the amount is not payable and therefore no liability for this amount has been raised.

The penalties calculated by management, however, excluded the 200% section 60 VAT penalty as defined in the VAT Act, as R&E believes they did not act fraudulently.

The report of the independent tax advisors has been submitted to SARS. R&E has had various meetings with SARS but still awaits their final decision regarding settlement.

16. CONTINGENT ASSETS

R&E has issued various claims against third parties which R&E is proceeding with. Such claims could be substantial, although there is no guarantee that such claims will result in awards being granted in favour of R&E or for that matter that R&E will be able to make successful reçoveries in respect thereof.

Dear Sirs

Independent Auditor's Review Report on the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited at 31 March 2008

We have reviewed the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited ("the company") at 31 March 2008, comprising the consolidated balance sheet at 31 March 2008 and notes thereto, which include a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes, as set out in Annexure 8a to the Circular to Randgold & Exploration Company Limited shareholders to be dated on or about 28 November 2008 in which this report is included ("the Consolidated Balance Sheet").

Directors' Responsibility for the Consolidated Balance Sheet

The company's directors are responsible for the preparation and presentation of the Consolidated Balance Sheet in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards, but not its presentation and disclosure requirements, for the purpose of providing the shareholders of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited with financial information relevant to the proposed merger of the company with JCI Limited, as referred to in note 2 to the Consolidated Balance Sheet. This responsibility includes determining that the basis of preparation described in note 3 to the Consolidated Balance Sheet is an acceptable basis for preparing and presenting the Consolidated Balance Sheet; designing, implementing and maintaining internal controls relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Consolidated Balance Sheet that is free from material misstatements, whether due to fraud and error; selecting and applying appropriate accounting policies; and making accounting estimates that are reasonable in the circumstances.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the Consolidated Balance Sheet based on our review. We conducted our review in accordance with the International Standard on Review Engagements 2410, which applies to a review of historical financial information performed by the independent auditor of the entity. Our review consisted of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. Our review was substantially less in scope than had we conducted an audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and consequently did not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Basis for Qualified Conclusion

As indicated in note 3 to the Consolidated Balance Sheet, the Consolidated Balance Sheet has been prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards, but not its presentation and disclosure requirements, based on information available to the company's directors. Note 2 to the Consolidated Balance Sheet offers an explanation for preparing the Consolidated Balance Sheet on this basis and for its purpose, and states that the directors have no further knowledge of material circumstances and events which have affected the financial and other affairs of the company. The note also states that there may be other material events and circumstances or liabilities of which the directors are not aware, which may have a material effect on the company and which may affect the accuracy and completeness of the information reflected in the Consolidated Balance Sheet and/or may have the effect that the Consolidated Balance Sheet does not reflect a true and complete account of the consolidated financial position of the company at 31 March 2008.

Qualified Conclusion

Based on our review, except for the possible effects of the matter relating to the accuracy and completeness of the information contained in the Consolidated Balance Sheet, as described in the preceding paragraph, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the Consolidated Balance Sheet at 31 March 2008 is not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards.

Restriction on use of this Report

As indicated, the Consolidated Balance Sheet is prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards, but not its presentation and disclosure requirements, for the purpose of providing the shareholders of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited with financial information relevant to the proposed merger of the company with JCI Limited. The Consolidated Balance Sheet and our review report may not be suitable for any other purpose.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET OF R&E, POST THE MERGER

The unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Randgold and Exploration Limited ("R&E"), before and after the proposed transaction, are set out below. The unaudited pro forma financial effects are presented in a manner consistent with the basis on which the consolidated balance sheet of R&E has been presented in Annexure 8a which is in accordance with the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes thereto as set out in Annexure 8a to this circular (in compliance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS).

In the respective notes to consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 before the acquisition (Annexure 8a) and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI Limited ("JCI") at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a), the respective directors highlight certain limitations relating to the lack of audited financial information as well as limitations on the completeness of financial information. For a better understanding of the circumstances and the basis of preparation of the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a), reference should be made to the respective notes thereto.

The unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet has been prepared for illustrative purposes only and because of its nature and the inhibiting factors referred to above, the unaudited pro forma consolidated balance sheet after acquisition may not give a fair reflection of R&E's financial position after the proposed transaction. It has been assumed for the purposes of the pro forma financial information that the proposed transaction took place on 31 March 2008. It does not purport to be indicative of what the financial position would have been had the proposed transaction been implemented on a different date. The unaudited pro forma financial effects of the proposed transaction are based on the estimates and assumptions set out in the notes below. The directors of R&E are responsible for the preparation of the unaudited pro forma financial information.

The independent reporting accountant's report relating to the unaudited pro forma financial information of the proposed transaction is included in this circular as Annexure 9b.

The pro forma consolidated balance sheet after acquisition presented below has been prepared from the information available to the directors of R&E and includes the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 8a) before the acquisition and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a) together with adjustments described below:

2. NOTES AND ASSUMPTIONS TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA BALANCE SHEET

1. This column is extracted from the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 prepared on the basis described in the accompanying notes thereto, which is in accordance with the recognition and measurement requirements of IFRS, as detailed in Annexure 8a to this circular. The qualified review conclusion issued by the independent auditor on the consolidated balance sheet of R&E at 31 March 2008 is included in Annexure 8b to this circular.
2. This column is extracted from the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 prepared on the basis of preparation described in the accompanying notes thereto, as detailed in Annexure 6a of this circular. The JCI directors are responsible for the preparation and presentation of the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008. The limited assurance report issued by the independent auditor of JCI on the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 is included in Annexure 6b to this circular.
3. This column represents the fair value adjustments to the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008. These adjustments represent the R&E directors' best estimate to reflect the acquired assets and liabilities at fair value based on available information included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 and subject is to the inhibiting factors referred to in this annexure.

   (a) The FSD group is a 55.11% subsidiary of R&E. All assets and liabilities of the FSD group are consolidated by R&E and the R&E consolidated balance sheet before the acquisition therefore reflects 100% of those assets and liabilities. JCI owns the remaining 44.89% of the FSD group. The Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 reflects JCI's proportionate share of the FSD group's assets and liabilities on a line by line basis as opposed to an investment in an associate as would be required by IFRS. After the proposed transaction, R&E will own 100% of the FSD group. It is R&E's accounting policy to recognise increases in its shareholders' interest directly in equity when there is no change in control. As a result of the proposed transaction, R&E will acquire the remaining 44.89% interest in the FSD group and will account for the acquisition as an equity transaction. Also, no change in the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities reflected in the consolidated balance sheet before the acquisition is recognised as a result of the acquisition of the minority interest.

   Given that the assets and liabilities are already reflected at 100%, all assets and liabilities of the FSD group included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 are reversed. The following assets and liabilities are reversed:

	R'000
Prospecting rights	62 528
Cash and cash equivalents	159 860
Tax payable	12 371
Deferred taxation	17 502
Trade and other payables	73 969

   (b) Listed investments in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 are valued based on the 19 trading day VWAP for March 2008, except for the investment in R&E which value is shown at the suspended value of 890 cents per share (the company was suspended on the JSE on 1 August 2005). It is R&E's accounting policy to value listed investments (available-for-sale financial assets) by reference to their quoted closing bid price at the reporting date. As a result, the following adjustment is required to reflect the listed investments at fair value:

Balance as at 31 March 2008	Number of shares	Value per share R	R'000
Gold Fields Limited	11 734 508	115.00	1 349 468
Matodzi Resources Limited	211 590 595	0.24	50 782
Randgold	6 794 007	8.90	60 467
Simmer and Jack Mines Limited	1 833 592	5.20	9 535
			1 470 252
As per the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (excluding derivative instruments)			1 703 094
Adjustment			(232 843)

(c) Assets and liabilities have been reflected in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008, as set out in Annexure 6a to this Circular, at values which the JCI directors believe is indicative of fair value, unless otherwise stated. The basis of calculating the values is disclosed in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008. The directors of R&E believe that given the information available to them, these assets or liabilities as reflected in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 are currently the best estimate of the fair value, and as a result, no purchase price adjustments are made.

(d) The shares will be converted on a ratio of one R&E share for 95 JCI shares held by scheme participants. Post the proposed transaction R&E will thus hold a 100% interest in JCI.

(e) The investment in Jaganda comprises 357 374 000 preference shares in respect of which the Board of JCI have placed a value of R284 million. Note 5 of the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008, which is attached to this Circular as Annexure 6a, provides full details as to the basis upon which the Board of JCI has valued this investment. This value is supported by the value placed on the investment by the Cohen Report, paragraph 17.2, which is attached to this Circular as Annexure 10.

(f) This value is based on the Investec Loan Facility as more fully set out in paragraph 15 of the Circular to which this Annexure 9a forms a part and as also referred to in note 13 of the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008, which is attached to this Circular as Annexure 6a. In terms of the aforementioned note 13, the Board of JCI have provided for an amount of R373 million, whilst Investec contends that such fee amounts to R575.6 million. The Board of JCI and Investec are in the process of finalising their differences in respect of the calculation of such raising fee. The Board of JCI are strongly of the view that the amount as disclosed in the aforementioned note 13 represents the maximum amount that will be agreed upon by the parties concerned. The Cohen Report attached to this circular as Annexure 10 indicates in paragraph 17 that this liability should be approximately R400 million. Given all the information available to the R&E directors, the R&E directors believe that the value placed on the liability by the JCI directors is the best estimate of fair value.

(g) The R&E directors have placed a fair value of R 8 657 719 on the contingent liabilities that may exist from third party claims against JCI not recognised in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008. The fair value was determined in consultation with JCI management and their legal counsel.

4. This column reflects the estimated fair value of assets and liabilities acquired, as determined by the directors of R&E, which is the best estimate of fair value based on available information included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 (Annexure 6a). Should additional information become available, the estimated fair values may change.

5. This column reflects the combined value of the entities assuming the proposed acquisition occurred on 31 March 2008, before any consolidation adjustments.

6. This column represents consolidation adjustments to eliminate cross holdings between R&E and JCI as well as inter-group balances.

7. It has been assumed that 20 619 612 R&E shares will be issued to the effect the merger as set out in terms of the merger ratio further disclosed in paragraph 24 of this circular. This results in a merger ratio of one R&E share for every 95 JCI shares.

8. The net shares in issue has been calculated after deduction of treasury shares held by subsidiary companies, excluding those held by Matodzi.

9. The 6 794 007 R&E shares held by JCI have been treated as treasury shares on consolidation post the proposed merger. Furthermore, JCI treasury shares of 202 115 127 shares as set out in note 8 above, and after conversion into R&E shares at a merger ratio of one R&E share for 95 JCI shares, amounting to 2 127 528 R&E shares, have also been treated as treasury shares on consolidation post the proposed merger. In addition, for the purpose of calculating the consolidation adjustments an adjustment has been made for the 2 943 087 R&E shares, being the disputed R&E shares which R&E has earmarked for possible cancellation in its issued share capital (which shares constitute a portion of the consideration shares purportedly issued and allotted in consequence of the Phikoloso transaction in respect of which R&E has asserted a claim against JCI) on the basis that such shares are alleged to have been issued for no value received. The said shares have been identified to be in the possession of Letseng Diamonds. R&E has been informed by JCI that the disputed R&E shares in question were pledged by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, as security for a loan made by Letseng Diamonds to JCI. R&E has been further informed by JCI that upon the repayment of the loan by JCI to Letseng Diamonds, the shares will be returned to JCI, whereupon JCI has undertaken to return such shares to R&E for cancellation. R&E has noted JCI's undertaking in respect of the 2 943 087 R&E shares without prejudice and/or waiver of any of its rights and entitlements which it may enjoy in consequence of the void issue and allotment of any of its shares.

INDEPENDENT REPORTING ACCOUNTANT'S LIMITED ASSURANCE REPORT ON THE PRO FORMA CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET OF R&E AT 31 MARCH 2008

"The Directors
Randgold & Exploration Company Limited
10 Benmore Road
Sandton
2146

24 November 2008

Dear Sirs

Independent Reporting Accountant's limited assurance report on the pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited at 31 March 2008

Introduction

We have performed our limited assurance engagement in respect of the pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Randgold & Exploration Company Limited ("Randgold") at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 9a and the pro forma financial effects of the proposed merger with JCI Limited ("JCI") in respect of such pro forma consolidated balance sheet as set out in paragraph 6.1 of the Salient Features and paragraph 21.1 in the main body of the circular to Randgold shareholders to be dated on or about 28 November 2008 ("the circular") ("pro forma consolidated balance sheet") and issued in connection with the proposed merger of Randgold with JCI ("proposed transaction").

The pro forma consolidated balance sheet has been prepared for purposes of complying with the Listings Requirements of the JSE Limited ("JSE"), for illustrative purposes only, to provide information about how the proposed transaction might have affected the pro forma consolidated balance sheet presented had the proposed transaction been undertaken on 31 March 2008.

Our conclusion below has been formed on the basis of, and is subject to the limitations relative to certain financial information which forms the basis of the pro forma consolidated balance sheet. These limitations relate to the lack of audited financial information as well as limitations on the completeness of the financial information contained in the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold at 31 March 2008, before adjustments, and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008, respectively, included in Annexures 8a and 6a, respectively, in the circular ("these financial statements"). In the notes to these financial statements, the respective directors of Randgold and JCI have described the circumstances giving rise to the basis of preparation of these financial statements and have highlighted certain inhibiting factors regarding the completeness of information. We expressed a qualified review conclusion on the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold at 31 March 2008 as included in Annexure 8b with regard to completeness of the information, while our conclusion on the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 as included in Annexure 6b provided limited assurance having regard to the basis of preparation and the basis of our assurance engagement. For a better understanding of the circumstances and the basis of preparation of these financial statements, reference should be made to the notes to each of these financial statement and our respective reports thereon.

Because of its nature and the inhibiting factors referred to above, the pro forma consolidated balance sheet may not present a fair reflection of the financial position of Randgold after the proposed transaction.

Directors' responsibility

The directors are solely responsible for the compilation, contents and presentation of the pro forma consolidated balance sheet contained in the circular and for the financial information from which it has been prepared, for the purpose of providing information to the shareholders as required in terms of Section 8.17 Nature of Information and Section 8.30 Adjustments of the JSE Listings Requirements. The directors responsibility includes determining that the pro forma consolidated balance sheet has been properly compiled on the basis stated, the basis is consistent with the basis of preparation described in the notes accompanying the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold at 31 March 2008, which is in accordance with the recognition and measurement criteria of International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") but not its presentation and disclosure requirements, and that the pro forma adjustments are appropriate for the purposes of the pro forma consolidated balance sheet.

Reporting accountant's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express a limited assurance conclusion on the pro forma consolidated balance sheet included in the circular to Randgold shareholders. We conducted our limited assurance engagement in accordance with the International Standard on Assurance Engagements applicable to Assurance Engagements Other Than Audits or Reviews of Historical Financial information and the Guide on pro forma Financial Information issued by The South African Institute of Chartered Accountants. The International Standard requires us to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence on which to base our conclusion.

We do not accept any responsibility for any reports previously given by us on any financial information used in the compilation of the pro forma consolidated balance sheet beyond that owed to those to whom the reports were addressed by us, having regard to the purpose for which those reports were prepared and any restriction in use contained in those reports, at the dates of their issue.

Sources of information and work performed

Our procedures consisted primarily of comparing the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 8a attached to the circular, before pro forma adjustments, and the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 6a attached to the circular, with source documents, considering the pro forma adjustments in light of the accounting policies described in the accompanying notes to the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold at 31 March 2008 as reflected in Annexure 8a attached to the circular, considering the evidence supporting the pro forma adjustments, recalculating the amounts based on the information obtained and discussing the pro forma consolidated balance sheet with the directors of Randgold. In arriving at our conclusion, we have relied upon financial information prepared by the directors of Randgold.

In a limited assurance engagement the evidence-gathering procedures are more limited than for a reasonable assurance engagement and therefore less assurance is obtained than in a reasonable assurance engagement. We believe that our evidence obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our conclusion.

Conclusion on the pro forma adjustments included in the pro forma consolidated balance sheet

Based on our examination of the evidence obtained, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that in terms of Section 8.17 Nature of Information and Section 8.30 Adjustments of the JSE Listings Requirements, the pro forma adjustments:

- have not been properly compiled on the basis stated;
- such basis is inconsistent with the accounting policies described in the accompanying notes to the Consolidated Balance Sheet of Randgold at 31 March 2008; and
- are not appropriate for the purposes of the pro forma financial information as disclosed pursuant to Section 8.17 Nature of Information and Section 8.30 Adjustments of the JSE Listings Requirements.

This conclusion has been formed on the basis of, and is subject to the inherent limitations outlined elsewhere in this independent reporting accountant's report.

Yours faithfully

ANNEXURE 10

REPORT BY CLIVE COHEN PERTAINING TO CERTAIN THIRD PARTY CLAIMS

Ex parte: RANDGOLD & EXPLORATION COMPANY LIMITED
and

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT ADVISOR

1. At the relevant time the directing and controlling minds of Randgold & Exploration Company Ltd ("Randgold") and JCI Ltd ("JCI") were Brett Kebble ("Brett"), who was the CEO of both Randgold and JCI, Roger Kebble ("Roger") and Buitendach, who were directors of both companies, JCI directors Cornwall and Stratton and other officers and directors of the companies and various of their subsidiaries or associated companies.

2. Both companies, but most significantly Randgold, were subjected during the Brett reign to extensive abuse by theft, fraud, misappropriation of their assets and those of their subsidiary and associated companies, including the proceeds derived from their assets, securities, and the void issue of shares used to raise money. The proceeds of this unlawful conduct was used to provide working capital for JCI or its subsidiaries, sometimes to fund the personal accounts of the perpetrators of the unlawful transactions or to fund their transactions. Frequently the unlawful transactions were conducted through CMMS, a subsidiary of JCI without any regard to the separate corporate identities of the companies or true ownership of the assets.

3. The extent of the unlawful transactions conducted over a lengthy period, the complexity of the transactions, the absence of reliable records, exacerbates the inherent difficulty of unravelling the legal and factual issues occasioned by the transactions. The absence of audited financial statements for both Randgold and JCI, the incomplete state of their financial records, misstatements of past financial statements, the unresolved issues which are or are to be the subject of litigation makes the preparation of proper financial statements reflecting a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of the companies an impossibility.

4. This state of affairs has led to disclaimers of the right to rely on their statements being issued by the current directors of Randgold and JCI, the present auditors of those companies and the mediators on the views expressed by them in their report. I too, particularly having regard to the limitations of my mandate, must disclaim any assurance of the validity of the views expressed in this report or of the accuracy, correctness or completeness of the information assessed by me and upon which I have relied.

5. An announcement was made of the intention to merge Randgold with JCI by means of a scheme of arrangement between the companies and their shareholders under section 311 of the Companies Act, resulting in JCI becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of Randgold. The merger ratio they finally determined was 95 JCI shares for 1 Randgold share.

6. The companies' inability, having regard to the state of affairs I have outlined, to comply with the disclosure and compliance requirements of the JSE and the SRP to the standards I believe they would have preferred, when weighed against the obvious business sense and advantages to be derived from the merger proposal on the terms approved by the present directors of both the Randgold and the JCI boards of directors led, I suspect, to both the SRP approval of the dispensation granted from the obligation to provide certain of the customary disclosures and to the invocation of Rule 3 of the Securities Regulation Code to consider this report (from an independent lawyer) on the validity and extent of the claims by and against Randgold and JCI.

7. As I understand my mandate, I am to provide a "prima facie assessment" of the likely value of the claims "as far as possible" and "based on a consideration of the information and pleadings ... and the submissions ... in respect thereof". This assessment is intended to assist shareholders to evaluate the proposal and is not a legal opinion on the merits of the claims or the validity of the defences.

8.1 I commence my assessment with a review of the Randgold claims against JCI both in law and on the facts and to JCI's defences and contentions both factual and legal.

8.2 These are by far the most significant issues for the shareholders of both companies and could ultimately have the most material bearing on the value of the companies.

9. Summons was issued and a plea filed. In summary the claims are based on the unlawful conduct of Brett and his cronies (referred to in paragraph 1 hereof) who conspired with JCI and its subsidiaries to plunder the assets of Randgold and its associated companies including its subsidiaries for the benefit of JCI and its associated companies including the cronies. The summons identifies fifteen claims and their alternatives.

10.1 The basis of the claims is the acts and conduct of Brett and cronies flowing from their conspiracies and is attributed to JCI and its subsidiaries all of whom are jointly and severally liable in law for the Randgold losses. It is contended that there is a sufficiently close link between Brett and co to JCI and its activities to attribute their acts and conduct to JCI and its subsidiaries. Included in the claims is reliance upon the condictio furtiva with its penal provisions to justify a claim for the highest value of an asset attained subsequent to the theft.

10.3 A mediation agreement was concluded between JCI and Randgold on 7 April 2006. My interpretation of the mediation agreement is that JCI on the one hand and Randgold on the other accepted responsibility for the liabilities of their subsidiaries and associated companies. My interpretation derives support from the definitions to the mediation agreement which defines "JCI" as "including the JCI subsidiaries as defined herein". The definition of JCI subsidiaries reads:

> "All and any subsidiary or associated companies of JCI or in which JCI has an interest, whether direct or indirect, including its interest in CMMS."

Although both Randgold and JCI contend for rectification of the mediation agreement it does not seem to me likely that rectification would be granted.

11. The defences raised by JCI to the Randgold claims vary and include the following:

11.1 Brett and his cronies controlled Randgold and acted for it in the conduct and the transactions which are complained about;

11.2 The business and objects of JCI did not permit them to represent it by their objectionable conduct;

11.3 The "highest value" approach applies in limited circumstances if at all, it does not apply in circumstances of vicarious liability;

11.4 The issues and allotments of the Randgold shares were void and in law do not permit of the proposed recovery of damages/losses;

11.5 Randgold did not own the assets stolen.

12. The claims by Randgold against JCI and my prima facie assessment of the value of the claims are dealt with seriatim.

12.1 The first claim (I use the numbering used in the pleadings) arises from the theft of 12 360 000 shares (after the shares had been split) in Randgold Resources Limited. The claim is computed based upon various alternatives. I assess this claim in the amount of R798 948 655.00. This is the amount received by JCI and its subsidiary/associated companies (including CMMS) from the sale of the shares by its brokers, T-Sec. I will deal with interest on the various capital amounts separately later in this Report.

12.2 3 000 000 shares in Durban Roodepoort Deep, Limited were removed from the custody of Randgold through a series of disguised transactions and payment conduits. JCI/Associates received an amount of R89 643 549.00. My assessment of the value of this claim is R89 643 549.00.

12.3 952 000 Randgold Resources shares (split into 1 904 962 shares) were stolen under simulated agreements. The net proceeds derived from these shares amounted to R64 326 241.00. Of these proceeds an amount 10 200 000 was paid into Roger Kebble's ABSA Bank account. JCI will have a claim against Roger for payment of R10.2 million. My assessment is that JCI is liable to Randgold for payment of R64 326 241.00.

12.4 Claims 4 and 6 should be viewed together. Randgold acquired 8 100 000 Aflease shares and subsequently acquired a further 94 million Aflease shares pursuant to a share swap arrangement with Randgold for 9 400 000 Randgold shares. The Aflease shares were moved into the Consolidated Investment account opened by JCI with T-Sec. The 8.1 million Aflease shares were transferred to the trading account of CMMS at T-Sec on the instructions of JCI and the proceeds derived from the sale of those shares amounted to R11 292 342. The proceeds derived by JCI from the sale of the 94 million Aflease shares amounted to R144 711 877.00. My assessment of the value of the claims in respect of the Aflease shares is: which JCI is liable to pay to Randgold.

(i) R11 292 341.00; and

12.5 The next claim is described as Claim 7 by Randgold. Randgold was the owner of 2 million Durban Roodepoort Deep, Limited shares which Brett and the conspirators obtained control of through a series of convoluted transactions. I am unable to determine the proceeds derived by the conspirators from the disposal of these shares but the forensic report of John Louw McKnight and Company states that "the highest value of these shares since JCI and the conspirators took control thereof amounts to R113 million". I accordingly assess the value of the claim in respect of the 2 million DRD shares at R113 million.

12.6 The next claim, Claim 8 relates to 40 million Simmer and Jack Mines Limited shares. These shares were held by Randgold as security for the debt of Continental Goldfields. JCI sold these shares together with a further 60 million Simmer and Jack Mines Limited shares to Topgold for R25 million. The pro rata proceeds received by JCI from the sale of the 40 million shares is R10 million. I have valued this claim in that amount.

12.7 The ninth claim relates to 5 460 Randgold Resources shares (after the two-to-one split). These shares were delivered to Investec UK by JCI under a script lending agreement. Investec sold the shares for a net amount of R208 794 833.00 and paid the amounts to JCI and other associate companies. In my assessment JCI is responsible to Randgold for the sum of R208 794 833.00.

12.8 The tenth claim arises from the Equitant and Phikolosa transaction in respect of which 8 800 000 Randgold shares were invalidly issued and allotted. The transaction was void. The shares were controlled by JCI. Randgold received no value for the shares which were dealt with in a variety of ways by JCI and its associates. Although the claim is for in excess of a billion rand, the value of the shares on the open market were R149 600 000.00. I assess the value of this claim at R149 600 000.00.

12.9 Randgold issued and allotted 5 160 000 Randgold shares purportedly for the various Angolan Diamond and related transactions including the Golden Diamond transaction. JCI and its associates controlled these shares for which Randgold received no payment. The issue price was R87 720 000.00. I assess the value of Randgold's claim in that amount.

12.10 The twelfth claim relates to the void issue and allotment of 1 306 000 shares in Randgold. The shares were issued at a price of R18.50 per share which was not paid to Randgold. 641 000 of these shares were placed in the Consolidated Investment trading account and used for the benefit of JCI and its associates. The issue price of these shares, which were used for the benefit of JCI and its associates amounts to R11 858 500.00. I assess this claim at R11 858 500.00.

12.11 Claim 13 relates to the void issue of 1 492 000 Randgold shares issued and allotted in contravention of section 92 of the Companies Act which was accordingly void. The shares were purportedly issued for the interest of Masupatsela Angola Mining Ventures (Pty) Ltd in prospecting concessions. Although the issue price was R25 364 000.00 the shares were sold by T-Sec for R27 602 000.00 which was used for the benefit of JCI. I assess this claim at R27 602 000.00.

12.12 4 million Rangold Resources shares were stolen from Randgold. It is contended that these shares were provided as security by Randgold for the Inkwenkwezi transaction. Furthermore the shares were used by T-Sec in various share transactions including transactions in which losses were suffered. JCI accepts that from the proceeds of these dealings and sales an amount of R31 280 159.00 was received by and for the benefit of JCI. I accordingly value this claim at R31 280 159.00.

Claim 15

12.13 Randgold was the owner alternatively Holdings was the owner of 900 000 Randgold Resources shares (Holdings has ceded its claim to Randgold). Brett and the conspirators procured the theft of the 900 000 Randgold Resources shares which were handed to one Paul Main. The value of the Randgold Resources shares is R143 307 000.00. I therefor value this claim at R143 307 000.00.

13. The total of the values assessed by me in paragraph 12 of this Report is R1 892 085 155.00.

14. Randgold purchased 3 324 830 WAR shares from Anglo. CMMS paid Anglo, from its Scrip Trading account the purchase price of R208 142 593.00 for the shares. Randgold contends that JCI has failed to counterclaim for this payment whilst JCI contends that Randgold's loss from the various thefts suffered by it (the proceeds of which were paid to CMMS) is reduced by set-off of this payment against the Randgold losses assessed by me in paragraph 12 hereof. It seems to me prima facie that JCI is entitled to set-off the amount of R208 142 593.00 against the assessed claims totalling R1 892 085 155.00 resulting in a net liability of R1 683 942 562.00 by JCI to Randgold.

15. There are two important considerations to bear in mind:

15.1 The capital amounts assessed by me in paragraph 12 hereof will carry interest at the rate of 15.5% a tempore morae. I have not attempted to assess the cumulative amounts of interest but they are clearly very material and will have a substantial impact on the resultant value of each of JCI and Randgold.

15.2 The proposed scheme of arrangement under section 311 does not settle or novate the claims and they remain of full force and effect against other wrongdoers such as the "joint wrongdoers".

16. My mandate extends to a consideration of various identified claims which relate to Randgold, mainly as a claimant, and JCI both as claimant and as defendant. Moreover my mandate is open-ended in that I am authorised to assess claims which "could have a material bearing on the values of the companies or are claims referred to in the 'Randgold litigation Statement' and the JCI litigation Statement" included in the draft Circulars.

17. As I have said I was requested to consider a further number of specified claims. I deal with them seriatim.

The Letseng application (the Investec raising fee/profit share claim)

17.1 This is a voluminous claim consisting of some ten files. Investec and JCI entered into a written agreement of loan which provided for a raising fee/profit share on the disposal of assets. JCI does not dispute the claim and will abide the decision of the Arbitrator should it come to arbitration. Letseng Diamonds Limited sought to intervene in the litigation to set aside the agreement between Investec and JCI. The Supreme Court refused Letseng's intervention, substantially on the basis that it did not have locus standi. Leave to appeal against that decision has been granted but the appeal has not yet been heard. On the basis that a written agreement exists between Investec and JCI and that the Supreme Court has refused to entertain the application to set aside the agreement I am prima facie of the view that Investec will succeed in its claim against JCI. The quantum of Investec's claim depends upon various interpretations of the agreement and the value of assets sold. My prima facie assessment is that Investec is entitled to a payment of approximately R400 million from JCI.

The Jaganda claim

17.2 JCI claims that it owns 357 374 000 preference shares in Jaganda and is entitled to delivery of the shares. Jaganda owns Simmer and Jack Mines Limited shares the market price of which fluctuates. The Board of directors of JCI and Randgold have placed a value of R284 million on the JCI investment in Jaganda. Jaganda acknowledges its debt in an amount of R89.3 million. I am informed by the legal representatives of Randgold and JCI that Jaganda has been placed in liquidation and that JCI is considering an application to have the liquidation set aside. Whether its assets are realised under liquidation or in the ordinary course the proceeds will be sufficient to meet the JCI claim. I accordingly assess the value of the JCI claim at R284 million.

The joint wrongdoers claim

17.3 I have been handed a draft particulars of claim which has still to be settled. Substantially these are claims against the concert parties referred to in paragraph 1 hereof on the claims assessed by me in paragraph 12 hereof. There are additional parties and claims and not everybody is to be held jointly and severally liable for all claims. Without pleadings including defences to be raised, reports of auditors and information relating to the claims other than, of course, the claims I have dealt with in paragraph 12 hereof it is not possible for me to assess the value of the claims. However joint wrongdoers would be liable jointly and severally with JCI for the claims and in the amounts I have assessed. I have no means of knowing whether any joint wrongdoer has assets available to satisfy the assessed claims in the event of JCI being unable to do so. I am accordingly not able to place a monetary value on the claims against the joint wrongdoers other than the amounts assessed by me in paragraph 12 hereof.

The first Main claim

17.4 Randgold has instituted action against Paul Main for the return of 900 000 Randgold Resources Limited shares which he took into his possession alternatively payment of the market value of the shares. The market value of the shares was at the time of the litigation statement, R148.5 million. A dividend of US10 cents per share amounting to US$90 000.00 was paid to Main. I assess the value of these claims at R148.5 million and US$90 000.00, respectively.

The second Main claim

17.5 JCI Gold has instituted an action in the Cape Provincial Division against Paul Main. I am advised by the legal representatives of JCI that it is likely that this claim will be settled for an amount of R11 million. I am instructed that there is uncertainty as to whether this claim is to be attributed in full to JCI or whether it is to be shared by JCI and Randgold. I assess this claim at R11 million.

The PWC claim

17.6 Randgold has instituted action in the Witwatersrand Local Division of the High Court against PricewaterhouseCoopers, who were its auditors, for delictual and contractual damages amounting to some R7 billion. In broad terms it is alleged that PWC failed to verify assets, detect and to report on the thefts, misappropriations and irregularities and breached their contract and duties as auditors in failing to observe the South African auditing standards and generally accepted accounting practice. I have no means of establishing whether the claim is justified but prima facie the claim is justifiable. I am unable to say that there is no merit in the claims which also might not be subject to constraints on their ability to meet a huge claim. There is as yet no plea so I am unable to comment on answers which may be raised to the plea. It is impossible, on the information I have at my disposal, to attempt any assessment of the validity of the claims or the extent of the claims.

The Toico claim

17.7 Toico (Pty) Ltd has instituted action against JCI in the Cape Provincial Division of the High Court for R27 845 818.00 damages for breach of pre-emptive rights relating to Pinnacle Point Casino. JCI was sued jointly and severally with one T Crowe. Toico gave notice of intention to amend its claim by withdrawing its claims against JCI. Crowe opposed the amendment but the High Court allowed the amendment and the claims against JCI have been withdrawn. This is not necessarily the end of the matter as Crowe, if ordered to pay damages, might seek to hold JCI liable in part. This is speculative but at this stage of the proceedings I give no value to this claim against JCI.

207

18. My mandate extended to a consideration of claims by and against third parties against Randgold and/or JCI which could have a material bearing on the value of the companies.

DRDGold Limited

18.1 DRDGold Limited and certain of its associated companies have sued JCI and various of the parties referred to in paragraph 1 hereof as the conspirators for damages of R77.8 million and AUS$6 million for their fraudulent conduct in relation to the acquisition of the Rawas mine in Indonesia. JCI and its co-defendants pleaded that the claims had been settled. This issue was decided by the High Court which dismissed the plea of settlement upon withdrawal of that defence by JCI. I am advised by the legal representatives of JCI that a strong prospect exists of the claim being settled for the sum of approximately R26 million. In my assessment this amount could have a material bearing on the value of JCI. I assess this claim at R26 million.

Proved claims

18.2 Randgold has proved claims in the deceased estate of Brett and in the estates of the following liquidated companies:

18.2.1 A claim has been proved against the deceased estate of Brett in the sum of R2 679 539 099.00. SARS is seeking to prove a preferential claim.

18.2.2 Tuscan Mood 1224 (Pty) Ltd. Randgold has proved a claim in the sum of R1.968 billion.

18.2.3 Investage 170 (Pty) Ltd. Randgold has proved a claim in the amount of R69 million.

18.2.4 BNC Investments (Pty) Ltd. Randgold has proved a claim in the amount of R169.5 million.

18.2.5 Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd. Randgold has proved a claim. I do not have the amount of the claim.

No liquidation and distribution accounts have yet been drawn. Although dividends might be declared in respect of the proved claims there is no basis upon which I can assess the value of any distribution to Randgold.

R&E'S LITIGATION STATEMENT AT 31 OCTOBER 2008

1. During the era when the late Roger Brett Kebble ("Kebble") was the Chief Executive Officer of Randgold and Exploration Company Limited ("R&E") and JCI Limited ("JCI") ("the Kebble era"), and with reference to the findings of R&E's forensic investigators John Louw & Co. (Pty) Limited, (formerly Umbono Financial Advisory Services (Pty) Limited) ("JLMC") and information furnished to R&E by third parties, R&E alleges that it and certain of its subsidiaries were the victim of substantial frauds and misappropriations of their assets.

2. R&E contends, with reference to the findings of JLMC that the frauds and misappropriations which appear to have been perpetrated against it and certain of its subsidiaries, comprised predominantly of the alleged misappropriation of R&E's listed securities and the channelling thereof (or the proceeds derived therefrom), to a variety of persons and entities, whom R&E has further reason to believe gave rise to it and certain of its subsidiaries sustaining damages.

3. In the wake of the discovery of the alleged defalcations, the board of R&E which was re-constituted on 24 August 2005, appointed JLMC to undertake a forensic investigation into the affairs of R&E. This led to R&E uncovering a variety of schemes which R&E alleges were perpetrated against it by the perpetrators (as defined in the Circular to which this annexure forms a part), including allegedly JCI. .

4. The forensic investigations have enabled R&E to identify various persons and entities whom R&E alleges may have caused R&E and its subsidiaries ("the R&E group") loss.

5. The above has led to R&E instituting actions against various such persons and entities .including, inter alia, JCI (having regard to the mediation/arbitration in which R&E and JCI are currently engaged), R&E's former auditors, PriceWaterhouseCoopers Incorporated ("PWC") and Goldfields Operations Limited (formerly Western Areas Limited) ("Goldfields"). Such claims are detailed below.

The Mediation against JCI

6. On 7 April 2006, R&E and JCI concluded a written Mediation/Arbitration Agreement ("the Mediation Agreement").

7. In terms of the Mediation Agreement, R&E and its subsidiaries and associated companies on the one hand and JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies on the other, were, for purposes of the mediation/arbitration, to be treated as single entities. JCI is defined to include both it and its subsidiaries and associated companies or in which JCI has an interest, whether directly or indirectly, including its interest in CMMS. (A similar definition applies to R&E and its subsidiaries and associated companies.)

8. The Mediation Agreement contemplates two phases, the first, a mediation, the second, an arbitration.

9. Following the conclusion of the Mediation Agreement, R&E's forensic investigators, JLMC, established that R&E enjoyed a number of claims against JCI.

10. Subsequent to the exchange of forensic reports prepared by JLMC on behalf of R&E and KPMG Forensic Services (Pty) Limited, on behalf of JCI, R&E served a Statement of Claim on JCI, on 3 August 2006, comprising initially 13 claims, approximating to R5.8 billion based on the highest value of such claims at the time of the issue thereof.

11. No Statement of Claim was served by JCI on R&E, however on 8 September 2006, JCI served a Statement of Defence on R&E.

12. In January 2007, R&E amended its Statement of Claim to introduce two new claims and in September 2008, amended its Statement of Claim to introduce four further claims. R&E's Statement of Claim presently comprises of 19 claims, albeit that claim 19 is an alternative claim to claims 1 to 18 proffered in R&E's Statement of Claim, amounting to R1 243 527 309.64.

13. R&E's claims are mainly founded on the assertion that JCI, which R&E alleges was a joint wrongdoer, misappropriated a vast array of listed securities beneficially owned by R&E, alternatively subsidiaries controlled by it, whilst other claims allegedly arise from the issue and allotment of shares in the issued share capital of R&E for no value received. R&E maintains that JCI was represented by a variety of persons formerly employed by JCI or with which it had a relationship, who constituted the directing and controlling mind and will of JCI and one or more of its subsidiaries and associated companies and whom are alleged to have collaborated with JCI in the implementation of various schemes which were devised, to the detriment of the R&E group.

14. In respect of the claims predicated on the assertion that R&E's securities were misappropriated, R&E seeks to recover damages against JCI on a measure of the highest value at which such listed investments have traded subsequent to their alleged misappropriation. There are a number of alternatives to the claims predicated on theft, each of which (if established), afford unto R&E a lower quantum of damages respectively. Such alternatives are set out in the Overview of the R&E claims (Annexure 2 to this Circular) to which the shareholders of R&E are referred.

15. JCI has denied in its Statement of Defence, that it was a wrongdoer or that it was a party to any frauds or misappropriations and consequently that it is indebted to R&E for the amounts claimed or at all. (JCI's response to the four new claims introduced by R&E into its Statement of Claim in September 2008, is still awaited.)

16. To date, none of the claims proposed by R&E against JCI have been proved, nor has R&E secured any formal awards against JCI in respect thereof. Such claims remain subject to the mediation and arbitration processes contemplated under the Mediation Agreement.

17. On 26 August 2008, R&E announced that the proposed merger had failed and that the dispute between the companies would be referred to arbitration. Should a merger with JCI not be concluded, the board of R&E is of the view that an arbitration with JCI is likely to be inevitable. If a merger with JCI is concluded, R&E's claims against JCI will not be extinguished, but remain unresolved for the new board of R&E post the merger to determine how best to deal therewith.

Claims against third parties

18. The following specific actions have been taken by the Board of R&E in the post-Kebble era:

Liquidation of various corporations

18.1 R&E has liquidated a number of entities whom it alleges participated in the schemes referred to either directly or indirectly, including inter alia, Tuscan Mood 1224 (Pty) Limited ("Tuscan Mood"), Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Limited, Investage 170 (Pty) Limited ("Investage") and BNC Investments (Pty) Limited ("BNC");

18.2 Sections 417 and 418 enquiries have been held in respect of these liquidated entities in order, inter alia, to identify persons who have wronged R&E, with a view to making possible recoveries against such persons;

18.3 R&E has proved a claim in the liquidated estate of Tuscan Mood in the amount of R1.968 billion and is hopeful of making a recovery from such estate. In the absence of the finalisation of the winding up of the estate of Tuscan Mood, this estate is subject to the possible proof by further creditors of additional claims (which could have a bearing on R&E's concurrent claim). It is at this stage uncertain whether R&E will receive a dividend out of this estate;

18.4 Additionally, R&E has proved claims in the liquidated estates of Investage in the amount of R69 million and BNC in the amount of R169.5 million, and hopes to make a recovery from such estates, however it remains to be seen whether or not it will;

18.5 On 1 October 2008 the liquidators of BNC obtained an order against R&E directing it to make payment of such legal costs as are incurred by the liquidators from time to time in the prosecution of legal actions which they may pursue.

Sequestration of Kebble

18.7 R&E initially proved a concurrent claim at the first meeting of creditors, in Kebble's estate, in the amount of R1.968 billion;

18.8 At a meeting specially convened by the trustees in Kebble's estate, in October 2006, R&E sought to prove further claims in Kebble's estate, sounding in an amount of R711 539 099.26 ("the additional claims"). The additional claims were rejected by the Master of the High Court. In consequence thereof, R&E brought an application to the High Court to review the decision of the Master, such application having come before the Cape Provincial Division of the High Court, in October 2007. The High Court overturned the decision of the Master and admitted the additional claims into proof. In the result, R&E has proved total claims in the deceased sequestrated estate of Kebble, in an amount of R2 679 539 099.26;

18.9 R&E is hopeful of making a recovery from Kebble's estate. Kebble's estate has however, not yet been finalised and it is conceivable that additional claims by third party creditors (which are likely to have a bearing on R&E's concurrent claims totalling approximately R2.67 billion), may still be proven;

18.10 Shareholders are further informed that the South African Revenue Services ("SARS"), sought to prove a claim in Kebble's estate at the first meeting of creditors in an amount of approximately R188 million. Such claim was rejected by the Master of the High Court whose decision is the subject matter of a review application which R&E understands is being opposed by the trustees of Kebble's estate. Were SARS to succeed in proving a claim, such claim could significantly impact upon R&E's entitlement to a recovery from such estate, if at all.

Action against Paul Main

18.11 On 2 October 2007, R&E served a summons on Paul Main ("Main") for, inter alia, the return of 900 000 shares in the issued share capital of Randgold Resources Limited ("RRL"). Such action was broadened and replaced by a summons served on Main in August 2008, to which African Strategic Investments (Holdings) Limited (formerly Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited) ("Holdings") was added as a party.

18.12 R&E alternatively Holdings claim that Main is obliged to return such shares and in the alternative hereto, the value thereof. In the further alternative, R&E and Holdings claim 550 000 RRL shares, alternatively the value thereof, based on an alleged undertaking from Main to return such shares.

18.13 R&E and Holdings also claim payment of the dividends which RRL declared for the financial year ended 31 December 2006 to holders of its shares, in respect of the RRL shares claimed.

18.14 In respect of both actions Main has indicated an intention to defend same.

Action against PriceWaterhouseCoopers

18.15 On 7 March 2008, R&E issued summons out of the High Court of South Africa against PWC, claiming R7.6 billion (based on the highest value of such claims at the time, but excluding interest and costs).

General

19. Certain of the claims feature in more than one action. 20. Certain of the Defendants who have filed Notices of Intention to Defend the actions instituted against them have indicated, inter alia, in the instances in which Holdings is a Plaintiff, that they require Holdings to furnish security for costs due to the fact that it is not resident in South Africa.

21. Although no formal applications in respect of security for costs have yet been received, disputes in regard hereto may arise.

23. Should this occur, such persons may seek a contribution from JCI, in respect of any indebtedness which may ultimately be found to be due by them to R&E, Holdings and First Wesgold as the case may be, if any.

24. The extent to which recourse may be sought against JCI and to what extent JCI may be joined, if at all, is not possible to determine.

JCI LITIGATION STATEMENT

Claims instituted against or intimated against JCI:

R&E claims

1. The largest claim against JCI is the claim lodged by R&E.
2. On 7 April 2006, R&E and JCI concluded the mediation agreement. The Mediation Agreement has already been referred to in the joint announcement dated 12 September 2006 and in further joint announcements and cautionary announcements and shareholders are directed to such announcements for further information.
3. Clauses 5 and 6 of the mediation agreement envisaged that forensic investigators appointed by the parties (i.e. JLMC on behalf of R&E and KPMG on behalf of JCI) would be in a position to produce finalised forensic reports by Friday, 21 April 2006 in respect of the parties' claims against each other and that such finalised reports would be exchanged between the parties within seven days thereof.
4. The forensic investigations in respect of the claims were far more complicated than the management of both Boards initially anticipated. As a result, the investigations were not finalised by 21 April 2006 and infact remain ongoing.
5. Subsequent to the replacement of the Brett Kebble board of directors, with a newly appointed board of directors, and having regard to the suspension of the listing of JCI because of an inability to produce annual financial statements, JCI appointed forensic auditors, namely KMPG, to investigate the company's entire financial situation in a manner which would assist JCI's new board of directors to understand the state of the company's finances including its assets and liabilities and to take legal advice thereon. R&E did the same and appointed JLMC to undertake its forensic investigations.
6. The KPMG investigations revealed that a major part of the difficulty in unraveling the facts was that JCI, R&E and all of their respective subsidiaries were treated as a single entity and without due regard to their separate corporate identities. Their record-keeping was, to say the least, a complete shambles.
7. What became clear however was that the major accounting and legal issues which confronted JCI and R&E, having regard to the conduct of Brett Kebble, were claims which either one of them may have had against the other. The mediation agreement was directed towards dealing with the claims which either JCI or R&E had against the other and their respective defences thereto. By this stage, KPMG forensics was already in the midst of its overall forensic investigation which involved but was by no means limited to potential claims between JCI and R&E.
8. Having regard to the mediation process however, the KPMG forensic investigation had two discernible strands, i.e. the investigation that related to the JCI/R&E mediation process and the investigation that related to the additional claims by or against JCI involving other third parties and thus fell outside the mediation process. The KPMG forensic investigation in respect of both strands was undertaken and prepared, inter alia, to enable JCI to obtain legal advice and with the highest level of confidentiality in order to protect JCI and its shareholders. The entire KPMG report is confidential and privileged. JCI will not waive such privilege as its disclosure will be prejudicial to JCI and its shareholders.
9. R&E prepared a Statement of Claim amounting to in excess of R5 billion. R&E's Statement of Claim was served on JCI on 3 August 2006.
10. The JCI Statement of Defence of 8 September 2006 drew on the forensic work which KPMG had done in relation to the R&E mediation up to that date. KPMG's work throughout this period (including ergo its reports as well as its draft 8 May 2006 report) were all confidential and constituted work in progress which was updated and/or changed from time to time on the basis of the discovery of new information.
11. The draft forensic reports obtained from KPMG deal with issues relating to potential litigation between JCI and R&E and were prepared to enable JCI to obtain legal advice in regard to such litigation as well as potential litigation between JCI and third parties. The reports reflect ongoing investigations and as yet, final reports have to be submitted. As such, they are confidential having been obtained for the purpose of obtaining legal advice and in respect of possible litigation or arbitration and are subject to legal privilege. KPMG's 14 November 2006 report, which is by no means final because new information arises, has been summarized but only insofar as it deals with the R&E mediation and the summary is attached to the circular.

12. Many transactions were purportedly concluded on behalf of JCI and/or its subsidiaries. Investigation of these have been, and continue to be, a time consuming exercise considering, inter alia, the great variety, number and complexity of such purported transactions. As a result, KPMG's investigations remain ongoing.

13. On 28 February 2007, the Mediators issued an interim recommendation. They concluded that a resolution of the impasses between both companies was probably best served through the process of a merger.

14. The mediators' statement records and recommends that on the basis of the figures that were disclosed to them a settlement figure between R1.2 billion to R1.5 billion is a realistic starting point to resolve the dispute between the companies.

15. We set out hereunder a summary of claims instituted against JCI by third parties:

DRDGold Limited

16. DRDGold Limited and its associated companies have served summons on JCI as co-defendant with Messrs R A R Kebble, J Stratton and H C Buitendag, claiming payment jointly and severally from the JCI, and co-defendants of R77.8 million and AUS$6 million.

17. The matter was defended and has recently been settled on the basis that JCI pays R25.5 million to the plaintiff, with Stratton contributing R3.0 million to this settlement amount. Action has been withdrawn.

Redbay Investments (Pty) Limited and Newshore Nominees (Pty) Limited

18. During July 2004, Redbay and Newshore jointly instituted an action against JCI for US$2.5 million, being the purchase price allegedly due by JCI for the buy-back of certain Startrack shares. JCI is defending the matter. A trial date has been allocated for 3 November 2008.

Letseng Diamonds Limited

19. The circular to JCI shareholders, dated 14 September 2006, incorporated, amongst others, resolutions to ratify the loan facility agreement between Investec and JCI, referred to in paragraphs 14 and 15. After the posting of the circular, an application to the High Court of South Africa (Witwatersrand Local Division) ("the Court") was made by a JCI shareholder, Letseng Diamonds Limited, to interdict and restrain JCI from tabling those resolutions at the general meeting held on 29 September 2006. JCI agreed that those resolutions would not be tabled at the general meeting of 29 September 2006.

20. The Court ordered that the general meeting be adjourned to 30 November 2006. That meeting was subsequently adjourned to 30 May 2007 and closed on that date.

21. Letseng, joined by another JCI shareholder, Trinity Asset Management (Pty) Limited subsequently expanded the scope of that litigation and now seeks to have the loan agreement set aside and/or invalidated on several grounds. JCI filed affidavits contending that the loan agreement is valid but took a decision that it would not take any proactive part in that litigation and will abide by the decision of the Court. The claim by Letseng and Trinity was, in the first instance, dismissed by the Court on the basis that they lack the necessary standing to seek such orders at all. Letseng and Trinity have been granted leave to appeal and the appeal has been argued. Judgment is awaited on the issue.

Baobab Aviation (Pty) Ltd

22. Summons has been issued against JCI by Baobab Aviation (Pty) Ltd in liquidation in an amount of R2 537 955.91 arising out of part of the proceeds of the sale of a Gulf Stream G500 aircraft. It is alleged by the Plaintiff that JCI undertook to repay the payment of R2 537 955.91 to the Plaintiff in order for it to validly pay claims of creditors of the Plaintiff. The alternative claim is that the payment to JCI was a dispassion in terms of section 26 read with section 2 of the Insolvency Act. JCI is defending the action.

Masupatsela Angola (Pty) Ltd

23. Summons has been issued by Masupatsela Angola Mining Ventures (Pty) Ltd against JCI Limited and Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited arising out of the sale of 1 492 000 Randgold Shares and, as a result, the Plaintiff's first claim is for an amount R42 880 080.00 representing the payment of such amount as represents the dividend amount to which the Plaintiff would have become entitled but for the misappropriation of the shares. The Plaintiff's alternative claim is for payment of the amount of R20 816548.00 which amounts represents the total proceeds of the sale of the shares. JCI and Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited are defending the action.

Sydney Frankel

24. Summons has been issued by Sydney Frankel against JCIF and R & E for payment of R3 311 000.00 claimed as fees due on disposal of Western Areas Limited's shares to Goldfields. The matter is defended and a counterclaim of R2 900 000.00 has been filed. A trial date has been allocated for 25 May 2009.

Marco Fishing (Pty) Ltd and others

25. Marco Fishing (Pty) Ltd and others have issued Summons against JCI for payment of approximately R711 000.00 for an alleged failure to make interim payments in terms of an alleged share sale transaction. The matter is defended and a trial date is awaited.

Estate Late Kebble

26. Summons was served on CMMS by the joint trustees of the insolvent deceased estate of Roger Brett Kebble, in which it is alleged that on 12 July 2002, Brett Kebble made a payment to CMMS in the sum of R15 419.75. It is further alleged that on 22 September 2004 Brett Kebble made a payment to CMMS in the sum of R1 500 000.00.

27. The first claim is that these payments constituted dispositions in terms of section 2 of the Insolvency Act and that the dispositions were not made for value and that they should therefore be set aside in terms of section 26 of the Insolvency Act.

28. The second claim is that CMMS has been unjustly enriched by receipt of the abovementioned amounts and that the amount of R1 515 419.75 should be repaid to the plaintiffs.

29. CMMS is defending the action and a plea has been served and filed.

Tuscan Mood 1224 (First Claim)

30. The joint liquidators of Tuscan Mood 1224 (Pty) Ltd have served summons on Alongshore, Alongshore Resources (Pty) Ltd ("Alongshore").

31. The basis of the claim is that Tuscan Mood made payments to Alongshore in the sum of R1 188 611.20 and that the payments constituted dispositions in terms of section 2 of the Insolvency Act and were not made for value. Accordingly the dispositions fall to be set aside in terms of section 26 of the Insolvency Act.

32. The second claim is that Alongshore has been unjustly enriched by receipt of the abovementioned amounts and that the amount of R1 188 611.20 should be repaid to the plaintiffs.

33. Alongshore is defending the action.

Tuscan Mood 1224 (Second Claim)

34. The joint liquidators of Tuscan Mood 1224 (Pty) Ltd have served summons on Catwalk Investments 394 (Pty) Ltd ("Catwalk").

35. The basis of the claim is that Tuscan Mood made payments to Catwalk in the sum of R231 000.00 and that the payments constituted dispositions in terms of section 2 of the Insolvency Act and were not made for value. Accordingly the dispositions fall to be set aside in terms of section 26 of the Insolvency Act.

36. Catwalk is defending the action.

Tuscan Mood 1224 (Third Claim)

37. The joint liquidators of Tuscan Mood 1224 (Pty) Ltd have served a summons on Onshelf Property Seventy Four (Pty) Ltd ("Onshelf"). 219

38. The basis of the claim is that Tuscan Mood made payments to Onshelf in the sum of R5 640 000.00 and that the payments constituted dispositions in terms of section 2 of the Insolvency Act and were not made for value. Accordingly the dispositions fall to be set aside in terms of section 26 of the Insolvency Act.

39. The second claim is that Onshelf has been unjustly enriched by receipt of the abovementioned amounts and that the amount of R5 640 000.00 should be repaid to the plaintiffs.

40. Onshelf is defending the action.

Claims by JCI

JCI has filed claims in the following estates:

41. Tuscan Mood 1224 (Pty) Ltd – R19 million in respect of proceeds received from the misappropriation of certain JCI assets. The winding-up of the estate is not finalised, may be subject to proof of further claims and it is not at all certain that JCI will receive a dividend out of the estate. The South African Revenue Service ("SARS"), may also seek to prove a claim in this estate with the attendant consequence of significantly impacting on any possible recovery from the estate by JCI.

42. Tuscan Mood have indicated that they intend instituting action against third parties. Shareholders are advised that it is possible that some or all of these third parties may in turn, join JCI as a defendant to such proceedings.

43. Insolvent Estate Late R B Kebble – R75 million in respect of proceeds received from the misappropriation of certain JCI assets. The South African Revenue Service ("SARS") sought to prove a claim in Kebble's estate recently in the amount of approximately R183 million. Such claim was rejected by the Master of the High Court whose decision is the subject matter of a review which is being opposed by the trustees of Kebble's estate. Were SARS to succeed in proving a claim, such claim is likely to significantly impact upon JCI's entitlement to a recovery from such estate, if at all.

44. The Trustees of the Kebble Estate have indicated that they intend instituting action against third parties. Shareholders are advised that it is possible that some or all of these third parties may, in turn, join JCI as a defendant to such proceedings.

45. We are unable to comment at this stage on JCI's prospects of recovery in respect of the above, even if JCI succeeds in the litigation.

JCI has instituted action against certain third parties:

Jaganda (Pty) Ltd

46. During April 2006, JCI and JCIF instituted an action against Jaganda (Pty) Ltd in relation to 200 million preference shares held by JCI in Jaganda (Pty) Limited which, in turn, held a substantial portion of the ordinary share capital of Simmer & Jack Mines Limited. Jaganda has contested the validity of JCI's ownership of such shares. Pleadings have closed and the matter was allocated a trial date of 11 June 2008. Jaganda has changed its name to Xelexwa Investment Holdings Proprietary Limited and was placed in final liquidation on 1 April 2008 by its shareholders. Provisional liquidators were appointed by the Court on 1 April 2008. JCI and JCIF instituted review and interdict proceedings to set aside the first meeting of creditors and various other decisions of the Master of the High Court, which was successful. As a result the statutory meetings of creditors and the rulings and appointments made by the Master at such meetings were set aside and the provisional liquidators were reinstated as provisional liquidators.

47. JCI and JCIF have furthermore obtained an Order that the first statutory meeting of creditors and members which was to be held on 22 October 2008, be postponed to 10 December 2008. JCI has launched another application to postpone the first statutory meeting of creditors and members for six months which application is to be heard on 4 December 2008.

48. JCI and JCIF have instituted an application in terms of section 354 of the Companies Act in the High Court on 10 October 2008 for an order setting aside the final winding-up Order granted on 1 April 2008. The respondents gave notice of their intention to oppose on 19 November 2008 and the matter is proceeding on an opposed basis.

These claims are presently being considered by JCI's legal team which has received KPMG's report in relation thereto prepared for purposes of JCI receiving legal advice.

56. Claims and or actions have been instituted as recorded herein and it is anticipated that other claims will be instituted. It would however be prejudicial to JCI and its shareholders if any further disclosure is made at this stage in relation to these claims and potential claims.

THE JAGANDA ACTION AND RELATED MATTERS

BACKGROUND

1. By 2005 Simmer and Jack Mines Limited ("Simmer & Jack") was moribund. Its shares on the JSE barely traded and its losses had for some years been funded on loan account by JCI. Roger Kebble ("Roger") devised a series of transactions to revive Simmer & Jack and to give value to JCI's loan account ("the scheme"). The scheme was governed by a suit of related agreements, including the JCI Preference Shares Subscription Agreement ("the agreement") concluded between JCI Limited ("JCI") and Xelexwa Investment Holdings (Pty) Limited (in liquidation") ("Jaganda") on 28 January 2005.

2. In terms of the scheme, Simmer & Jack offered approximately 500 million shares to existing shareholders. JCI renounced its entitlement to this rights offer in favour of certain investors and also in favour of a BEE aligned company, Jaganda. To enable Jaganda to take up the rights offer, JCI ceded its loan account claim of approximately R89 million against Simmer & Jack to Jaganda and in return JCI was issued with Jaganda preference shares.

3. Jaganda was acquired as a shelf company with the sole purpose of holding shares in Simmer & Jack. Jaganda's authorised share capital of 1 000 ordinary par value shares of R1.00 each was reconstituted and divided into 2 626 000 ordinary shares of R0.0001 each (R26.26) and 377 374 000 5% fixed rate non-cumulative redeemable preference shares of R0.00001 each (R3 773.74). The special rights, privileges, restrictions, conditions and terms of the preference shares were created by an amendment to Jaganda's articles of association ("the amended articles of association").

   3.1 All of Jaganda's ordinary shares are held by Richtrau No. 47 (Pty) Limited ("Richtrau").

   3.2 The preference shares were fully subscribed for by and allotted to JCI (357 374 000 preference shares) and the erstwhile management of Jaganda (20 000 000 preference shares).

4. Jaganda initially subscribed for approximately 51% of Simmer & Jack's shareholding (378 607 457 shares). It now owns approximately 26% (270 957 457 shares). In terms of the agreement, the sale of Jaganda's shareholding in Simmer & Jack is subject to JCI's consent for as long as JCI's preference shares in Jaganda have not been redeemed.

5. The amended articles of association provide that the preference shareholders will upon redemption receive the original 25 cents subscription price per share plus a premium of 20% of the increased value above 25 cents; and Jaganda will benefit to the extent of the 80% growth above 25 cents per share.

THE JAGANDA ACTION

6. The Jaganda action involves the determination of both legal and factual issues. The essential dispute relates to the creation and issue of the 357 374 000 preference shares to JCI ("the disputed preference shares").

7. JCI/JCIIF contend that Jaganda's preference shares (including the disputed preference shares) were created and the articles of association amended by a number of special resolutions ("the special resolutions") adopted at a shareholders meeting held on 28 February 2005.

8. During or about May 2005 JCI subscribed and paid for the disputed preference shares and was registered in Jaganda's members' register. The disputed preference shares were issued to JCI in two tranches and in terms of two certificates – one for 157 374 000 preference shares and another for 200 000 000 preference shares.

   8.1 During October 2005, JCI transferred 157 374 000 preference shares to JCIIF ("the disputed JCIIF preference shares").

8.2 During January 2006, JCI sought to transfer the remaining 200 000 000 preference shares to JCIIF ("the disputed JCI preference shares"), but Jaganda refused to effect the registration of such transfer in its share register and purported to cancel JCI's share certificate.

9. Jaganda denies that JCI or JCIIF was entitled to have been registered as owner of the disputed preference shares or to have received transfer thereof; and seeks to cancel the registration of the disputed preference shares in the name of JCI or JCIIF and to remove JCI and JCIIF from Jaganda's share register.

10. Jaganda denies that a shareholders' meeting alternatively a valid shareholders' meeting was held or conducted or that the special resolutions purportedly adopted thereat were validly adopted.

11. The renunciation by JCI of the rights offer in favour of Jaganda, and the cession by JCI of its loan account claim of approximately R89 million against Simmer & Jack to Jaganda, and the issue of the disputed preference shares to JCI, are all governed by the terms and conditions of the agreement. In this regard Jaganda contends (in the event of it being found that a valid shareholders meeting was held) that JCI's entitlement to subscribe for the disputed preference shares was dependent upon the agreement being rendered unconditional and that it failed to take effect and lapsed by virtue of the resolutions not having been adopted as contemplated therein; and in any event that JCI acted in material breach of its obligations in terms of the agreement by failing to transfer its loan account claim to Jaganda, in consequence whereof JCI did not become entitled to the disputed preference shares; and further that Jaganda was entitled to cancel the agreement because of JCI's alleged fraudulent alternatively negligent misrepresentations:

11.1 that JCI was able to cede to Jaganda its loan account claim plus an additional loan of R25 million (when in fact it was not able to do so);

11.2 that minorities would be eligible to take up shares pursuant to the rights offer up to a value of approximately R10 million (when in fact they were not able to acquire shares to that value); and

11.3 that its loan account claim was valid (when in fact it was not valid and/or enforceable to the full amount).

12. The Jaganda action was to have proceeded to trial in the High Court (Witwatersrand Local Division) on 11 June 2008, but was postponed due to Jaganda's liquidation. JCI has, however, given the liquidators notice in terms of section 359 of the Act that it intends to continue the same.

JAGANDA'S LIQUIDATION

13. Jaganda was wound up by final Order on 1 April 2008 in the High Court (South Eastern Cape Local Division) on the basis, inter alia, that it was unable to pay its debts.

13.1 In terms of section 348 of the Act, the winding-up is deemed to have commenced when the application was lodged with the Court on 17 March 2008.

13.2 The winding-up application was brought by Vulisango Holdings (Pty) Limited ("Vulisango"), JCI's erstwhile BEE partner and the holding company of Richtrau.

14. The amended articles of association provide that the preference shares shall not be entitled, on the winding-up of Jaganda, to any participation in the profits or assets or in the distribution of surplus assets. On winding-up, the preference shares shall rank prior to any ordinary share and shall be entitled only to the return of capital and premium paid in respect of the preference shares, and to all arrear and/or unpaid preference dividends due whether declared or not.

15. Section 341(1) of the Act precludes a transfer of shares without the sanction of the liquidators. In the normal course, the amended articles of association provide for a right of pre-emption in favour of other members, by providing that no member shall be entitled to transfer any share unless prior notice of such sale is given to Jaganda by way of an offer to sell which must remain available to other members for six months. Furthermore, and subject to certain notice requirements, the preference shares are transferable only to subsidiaries of the JCI group of companies and/or shareholders of Jaganda.

OTHER RELATED MATTERS

16. On 31 July 2008 JCI sought and obtained an Order in the High Court (South Eastern Cape Local Division) against the Master, inter alia, setting aside the proceedings and decisions taken at and consequent upon the first statutory meeting of Jaganda's creditors and members.

    16.1 The appointment of the final liquidators was set aside, two of whom revert to their status of provisional liquidators and continue to act in that capacity.

    16.2 JCI recently requested the various interested parties to consent to an adjournment (for at least six months) of the first statutory meetings which were rescheduled to take place on 22 October 2008. If the required consent was not received by 20 October 2008, JCI was to have made application to Court for such relief. Such consent was not forthcoming resulting in JCI launching a court application to extend the first meeting of creditors for six months. In the absence of opposition such application is due to be heard on 4 December 2008.

17. On 10 October 2008 JCI issued an application out of the High Court (South Eastern Cape Local Division), inter alia, against Vulisango and Richtrau in terms of section 354 of the Act to set aside the final winding-up Order. On 19 November 2008 Vulisango and Richtrau gave notice of their intention to oppose the application.

18. The provisional liquidators of Jaganda recently brought an application in terms of section 386(5) of the Act for leave to raise money, which application was opposed by JCI. The matter was heard on 16 October 2008 and judgment has been reserved.

CONCLUSION

19. R&E does not propose to comment on the veracity of the contentions and/or allegations raised by JCI or Jaganda or any other party, nor are any legal or other opinions asserted by way of this overview. This overview of the Jaganda action and other related matters is in no way proposed to be exhaustive and no assurances as to the accuracy, completeness or otherwise of what is set out above are given, the contents hereof being subject to any other factors which may require consideration in due course.

20. The adjudication of the Jaganda action and of the other related matters referred to above, and the factual and legal sustainability of any claims and/or defences arising therefrom, are subject to determination by the Courts.

SUMMARY OF MOTIVATION TO THE JSE REGARDING THE MEDIATORS' APPOINTMENT

1.1 The Mediators were appointed by the companies with effect from 1 June 2007 to furnish a written opinion on the suitability of the proposed transaction.

1.2 The Board of R&E is of the view that there are no better persons qualified to express an opinion on the suitability of the proposed transaction, other than the Mediators.

1.3 The lack of audited financial statements of R&E subsequent to 31 December 2003 (and the likelihood that such financial statements will invariably need to be restated), renders it impossible for R&E to produce a Fairness Opinion in respect of the proposed transaction as contemplated by the JSE Listings Requirements.

1.4 In these circumstances, the Board of R&E proposed by way of application to the JSE and SRP in July 2007, that the Mediators are the most appropriate persons to express an opinion on the suitability of the proposed transaction.

1.5 The Mediators have, since the inception of the mediation been exposed to all issues relevant to the impasse between R&E and JCI, they having had regard to the complex and diverse legal, accounting and associated issues having a bearing thereon.

1.6 The Mediators enjoy a diverse range of skills, which are complimentary to each other. Advocate Schalk Burger has been a practising Senior Counsel for in excess of twenty years. Charles Nupen is a mediation specialist of the highest calibre and Harvey Wainer is the former senior partner of a large auditing firm and has acted as an expert in a number of high profile matters.

1.7 The Mediators have over the past two years (since their appointment) been engaged in a methodical process of analysing the various issues which have a bearing on the impasse between R&E and JCI. For any institution to equal the expertise and level of understanding enjoyed by the Mediators would necessitate the following:

1.7.1 A team of persons equipped with a comparable degree of expertise and reputation to that of the Mediators in their respective fields would need to be appointed.

1.7.2 Substantial resources would need to be employed in educating the said persons to the same level of understanding as the Mediators and in particular of the complex legal and accounting issues bearing thereon.

1.7.3 Much of management's time would be taken up in the process of educating such team of persons in order to enable them to understand the key issues requiring them to opine on.

1.8 The delay and cost to the shareholders of R&E may not be in the interests of R&E and would invariably give rise to management's time being diverted away from the pursuit of ordinary business.

1.9 It is unlikely that another institution would be able to equal or better the attributes of the Mediators in the absence of substantial cost, analysis and familiarisation with the same issues which have already been painstakingly assessed by the Mediators.

1.10 The Mediators have had no prior association with either R&E or JCI. Each of the Mediators act as independent professionals in their respective fields of expertise.

1.11 Having evaluated the relevant issues resulting in their recommendations thus far, the Mediators are in the best position to express an opinion in regard to the suitability or otherwise, of the merger.

1.12 For the above reasons the JSE and SRP have accepted the suitability of the Mediators to express an opinion in regard to the proposed transaction.

1.13 On 3 November 2008, the Mediators furnished a written Report in which they concluded that:

Having regard to all of the above, our 14 April 2008 opinion remains of application, viz:

"In the unusual and variable circumstances enumerated above, the swap ratio proposed by the companies is in our opinion commercially prudent and not inequitable to the shareholders of Randgold or JCI."

1.14 Following the rendering of their Report, the Mediators were paid the following amounts:

1.14.1 S F Burger S.C, R1 150 000 plus VAT;

1.14.2 C Nupen, R1 150 000 plus VAT;

1.14.3 H E Wainer, R1 916 000 plus VAT.

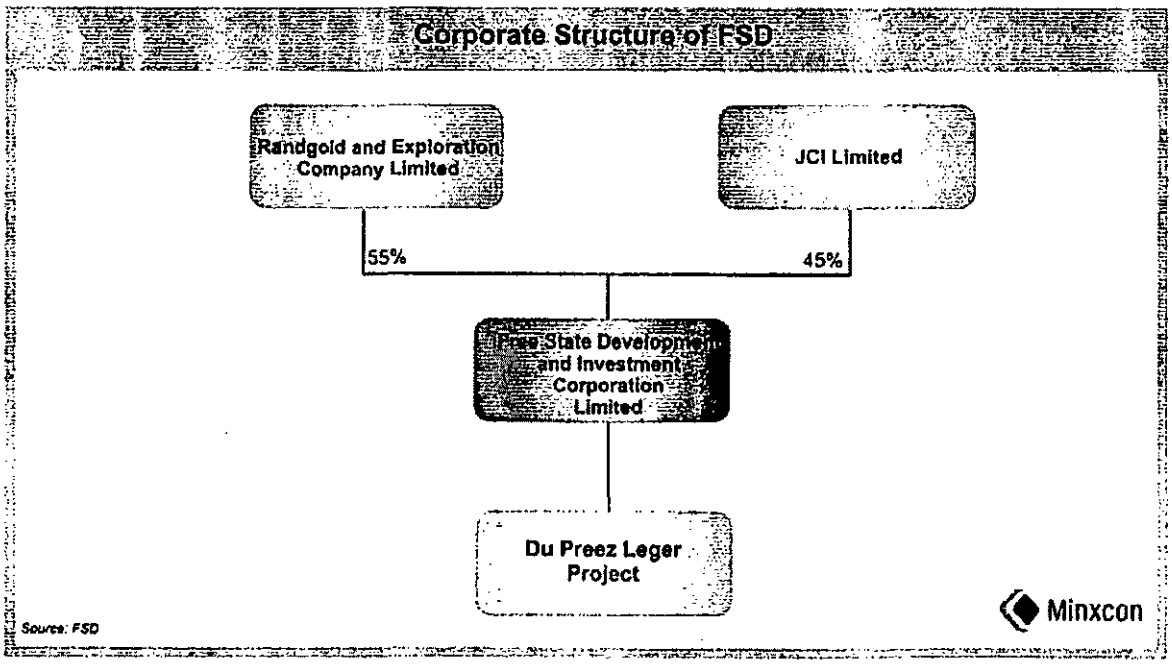
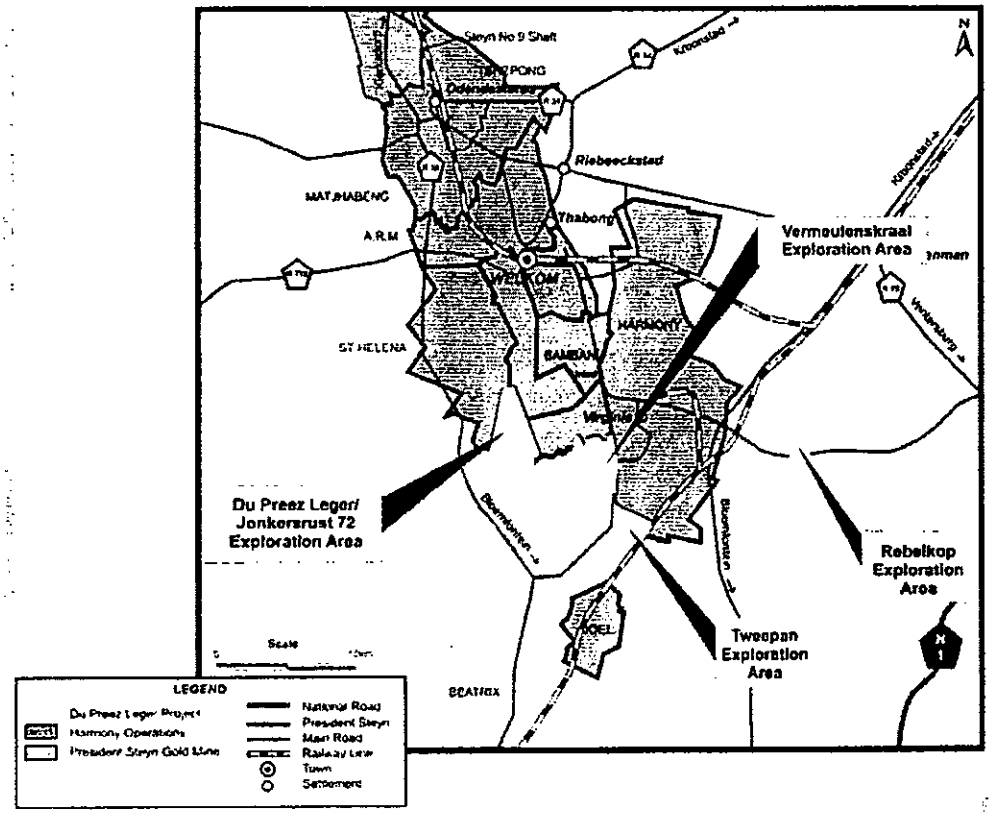
OVERVIEW OF THE COMPETENT PERSON'S REPORT IN MINERAL ASSETS OF THE DU PREEZ LEGER PROJECT



SUMMARY OF THE MINERAL ASSET VALUATION REPORT ON THE DU PREEZ LEGER PROJECT, FREE STATE PROVINCE, SOUTH AFRICA

INTRODUCTION

Minxcon (Pty) Ltd ("Minxcon") was commissioned by Free State Development and Investment Corporation Limited ("FSD") to compile an Independent Mineral Asset Valuation report on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger Project, located near the town of Welkom, Free State Province, South Africa. The REPORT is fully compliant with the South African Code for the Reporting of Exploration Results, Mineral Resources and Mineral Reserves ("the SAMREC Code"), the South African Code for the Reporting of Mineral Asset Valuation ("the SAMVAL Code") and Section 12 of the JSE Listings Requirements. Section 12.14b as well as most of Section 12.14a (excluding 12.14a i, 12.14a xi and 12.14a xiii) of the JSE Listings Requirements was not applicable as the Project is still at the exploration stage.



In order to describe the mineral assets in accordance with the JSE Listings Requirements, Section 12, the information recorded on each property was compiled according to a checklist that incorporated the compliance reporting requirements for the SAMREC and SAMVAL Codes.

The corporate structure of FSD is illustrated in the diagram below:

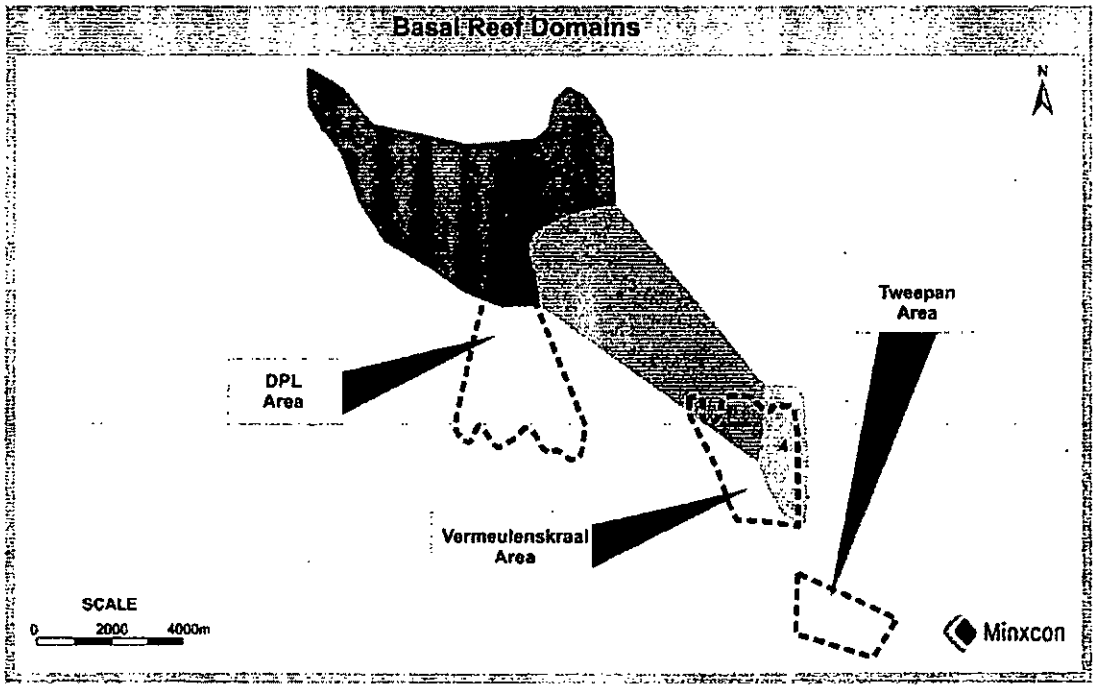
The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 ("Du Preez Leger") area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The areas of interest are located on exploration rights which are held by FSD, a subsidiary of Randgold and Exploration Company Limited ("R&E"). Due to the limited information available regarding the Rebelkop area, this area has not been evaluated for a Mineral Resource. The areas of interest are located on the Witwatersrand Basin, with adjacent producing gold mines including the President Steyn Gold Mine, Bambanani Mine, Harmony Mine, Beatrix Mine and St Helena Mine.

Location of the Exploration Areas of the Du Preez Leger Project

Source: President Steyn Gold Mine CPR, Minxcon, 2007

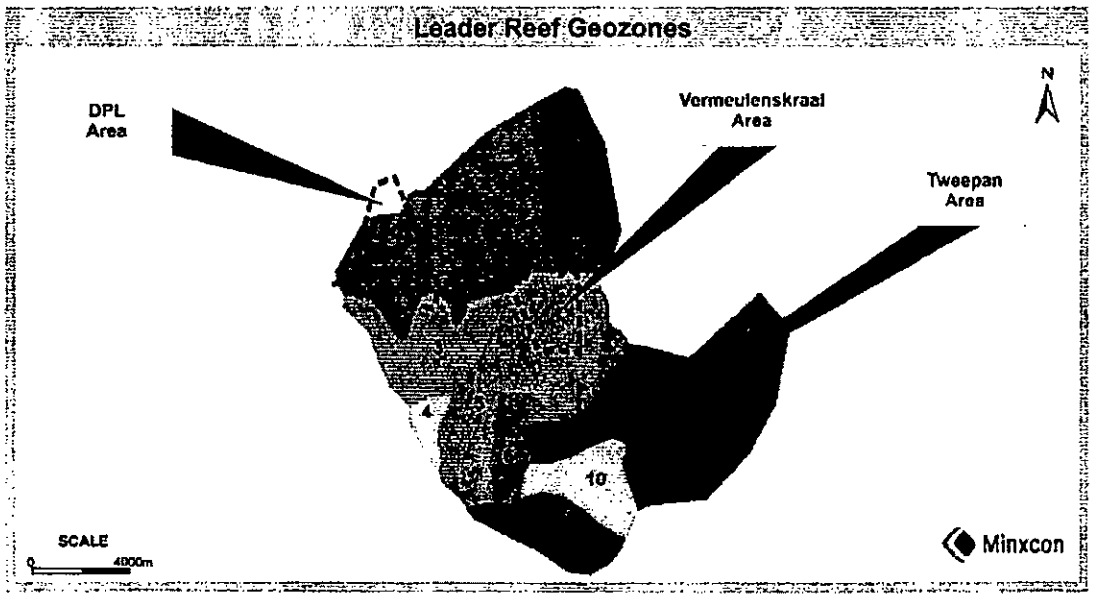
The project is also close to the Exploration Targets of Witwatersrand Consolidated Gold Resources ("Witsgold") with exploration targets in the area of interest. The company has drawn significant interest and has a market Capitalisation of ZAR1.080bn.

FSD has held the mineral rights pertaining to the Project area ('old order rights') since the early part of the twentieth century circa 1945. The prospecting right was converted to a New Order Right under the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act, 2002, on 7 November 2006. No invasive physical exploration activities have been conducted by FSD to date and, accordingly, the environment has not been impacted.



The Project area is located in the Free State goldfield of the Witwatersrand Basin. The placers of primary economic interest at the Project area are the Basal and Leader Reefs. Other reefs found in this area include the A and B Reefs, BPM (Sand River Reef), Aandenk and VS5/Beatrix Reefs. The Vermeulenskraal exploration area lies just to the south of the Sand River and is to the west of Harmony Mine. The Du Preez Leger exploration area lies to the south of the Harmony Brand and St Helena mines, and to the west of the Harmony Unisel Mine. These mines have mainly targeted the Basal and Leader Reefs. The A-Reef has also been extensively mined on Brand Mine to the north of the Project area.

Proposed further work on the Project will include an in-depth review of the available data by a competent geological consulting company with the possible progression, depending upon the results of the aforesaid review, to drilling of up to four geological boreholes as envisaged in the Prospecting works Programme. The estimated funding requirements for exploration for 2009 and 2010 are ZAR5.185 million, and the Company has sufficient cash resources to fund future exploration and environmental work.



RESOURCE EVALUATION

The Resource evaluation was undertaken using Minxcon's 'Res' geostatistical program which utilizes Datamine™ as the platform software. Full reef composite mining cut values (Au content (cm.g/t)) have been interpolated into a 2D block model. The block model size of 500X500m was determined from the drill hole spacing, and the continuous nature of the ore body ('stationarity' principal). Simple kriging estimation technique was used, based primarily on drill hole spacing. Detailed checks were carried out to validate kriging outputs, including input data, kriged estimates and kriging efficiency checks.

Four geostatistical domains (geozones) were modelled for the Basal Reef and eleven geozones were modelled for the Leader Reef, based on the grade relationships and data trends of the boreholes.

The drillholes represent full reef composites, i.e. one intersection value per drill hole. The composite was then used in the estimation process.

VALUATION OF THE PROJECT AREA

Based on the information available, the standard comparative value method was selected to value the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger Project. The outcomes were also benchmarked against recent market transactions involving similar assets, as well as current market value of listed entities holding similar assets.

Resource Area	Mineral Resource Category	In Situ Grade g/t	Gold Content Moz	Area Ha	Value per oz USD	Value million USD	Value million ZAR	Value per ha ZAR
Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust	Inferred	5.17	4.99	1 131.06	2.1	10.470	85.858	75,909
Vermeulenskraal	Inferred	4.99	4.30	913.5	2.1	9.028	74.030	81.040
Millo/Tweepan	Inferred	3.86	0.845	355	2.1	1.775	14.555	40,999
Total/Average		4.95	10.13	2 399.56	2.1	21.273	174.443	66,104

As part of the valuation methodology, similar JSE listed gold companies were assessed and their enterprise value ("EV") was calculated. From these, their average market related dollar per ounce of resource value was calculated:

Company	EV/oz
Aflease Gold	$3.00
Central Rand Gold	$3.55
DRD Gold	$1.85
Simmer and Jack Mines	$4.25
Pamodzi Gold	$7.83
Average	$4.096

Notes:

1. Includes Measured, Indicated and Inferred.
2. As at 6 Novemember 2008.

Other factors taken into account include the recent aquisition of the Orkney and President Steyn Mine operations by Pamodzi Gold. Minxcon calculated that the Orkney operation was aquired at $2.78/oz and the President Steyn Mine was aquired for $2.47/oz. It must be kept in mind that these operations are very mature, with limited resource and substantial associated environmental liabilities, which impact dramatically on the price received. As both these operations are well-developed mining operations, it was considered appropriate to further discount the value of the Du Preez Leger Project from $5.55/oz to a $2.1/oz value.

The Rebelkop area does not have any estimated Mineral Resources. In a study completed by the JCI gold unit, several boreholes were reported to intersected reef on neighbouring farms. A borehole WDR1 drilled in one corner of the farm intersected VS5, Leader and Basal Reef. Hence while no Resource was declared, Minxcon is of the opinion that exploration potential exists albeit with limited potential due to the sporadic nature of the leader reef and low grades of the other reefs intersected.

VS5	8.2	30.5	250
Leader	22.7	61	1 385
Basal	1	9.1	9

Hence the Project was valued using a value per hectare of ZAR20,000 as determined relative to the rand/hectare value of the other areas.

Resource Area	Area (ha)	Value per (ha)	Value (ZAR million)
Rebelkop	689.56	20,000	13.7912

The table below summarises the value of the Du Preez Leger Project, as determined by Minxcon:

Resource Area	Value (USD million)	Value (ZAR million)
Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust	10.470	85.858
Vermeulenskraal	9.028	74.030
Millo/Tweepan	1.775	14.555
Rebelkop	1.682	13.791

CONCLUSIONS

Minxcon have reached the following conclusions regarding the Du Preez Leger Project:

- The mineralised reefs of economic interest at the Project area are the Basal and Leader Reefs;
- The geology of the area is structurally complex;
- The Mineral Resources estimated at the Project area have been classified as INFERRED Mineral Resources, based on SAMREC classification standards;
- The total Inferred Mineral Resource for the Du Preez Leger Project at a cut off grade of 250cm.g/t is 63.613Mt at a grade of 4.95g/t;
- On balance the gold price is expected to return to the US$800-900/oz band over the next two years. The higher gold price has triggered renewed interest in some areas on the Witwatersrand Complex. This is evident in the listing of Witwatersrand Consolidated Gold Resources with a market Capitalisation of ZAR1.080bn, who owns mineral assets around the areas of interest; and
- Minxcon is of the opinion that ZAR188.233 million is a fair and reasonable value for the Du Preez Leger Project.

1. INSTRUCTION

I have been instructed by Mr Les Maxwell, Chief Financial Officer of JCI Ltd, to determine the market value of the abovementioned properties. This valuation updates the previous valuation with 1 March 2007 as the effective date of valuation.

Market value is defined as the estimated amount for which a property should exchange on the date of valuation between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction after proper marketing wherein the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion.

2. INTRODUCTION

The subject properties are two aggregates of various portions of the former Boschendal Estate of the Paarl and Stellenbosch Divisions, situated between Stellenbosch and Franschhoek.

The comparable sales method of valuation is most favoured for farm valuations and is applied in this case.

The aim of this valuation is to determine a realistic sales value.

3. EFFECTIVE DATE OF VALUATION

The market value of the subject properties was determined as at 30 April 2008.

4. DATE OF INSPECTION

The property was inspected on 20 May 2008

5. REGISTERED OWNERS

The registered owner of Farm 1674/1, 2, 4, 8, 9, 10, 12 Paarl Division is BOSCHENDAL LTD (hereafter referred to as Boschendal Ltd).

Deeds of transfer: T17501/2004

and

The registered owner of Farm 1647/1 and Farm 1674/3, 4, 6, 11, 13, 17 Paarl Division and Farm 153/1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 Stellenbosch Division, called the Residual Properties of Boschendal Ltd is AMFARMS REALISATION CO LTD.

Deeds of Transfer: T17499/2004

6. DESCRIPTION AND SIZE OF THE PROPERTY

Table 1 below shows the various portions of Boschendal Ltd and Table 2 shows the portions of Residual Properties of Boschendal Ltd. There was no change since the previous valuation:

7. SERVITUDES/RESTRICTIONS

Road and electricity power line servitudes are indicated in Tables 1 and 2. These incumbrances may have a negative impact on the value perception of a typical buyer of the subject property.

8. ZONING

The property is zoned as Agriculture 1.

9. SERVICES

The subject area is serviced with tarred and gravel roads. Electricity is supplied directly by ESKOM and via the Drakenstein Municipality.

Water for domestic purposes is obtained from the Wemmershoek line via the Drakenstein Municipality.

No municipal sewerage services are supplied.

10. SITUATION AND SUBJECT AREA

The discussion of the external factors shaping land-use patterns in the traditional wine producing areas is not repeated in this report, although they are still relevant.

The current downswing in general in the property market needs to be mentioned. Farm land prices stagnated the past year, specifically of larger farms in Stellenbosch. The waiting period to find a wiling seller increased. Prices of small lifestyle properties, especially in Franschhoek, were apparently not affected, as the buyers are normally not dependent on the income from the properties and are less sensitive for interest rate changes.

Boschendal Ltd won the appeal with regard to SAHRA's veto of the subdivision of the subject property. While progress has been made towards subdivision, final permission is needed. For valuation purposes Boschendal Ltd is still treated as one whole property and the Residual Properties of Boschendal Ltd as another independent subject property.

11. GENERAL

11.1 Information relating to the subject property has been supplied by Mr Clive Venning, CEO of Boschendal Ltd, and is accepted as being correct.

11.2 The property was valued on 30 April 2008.

11.3 This valuation is in respect of the fixed property only and excludes VAT.

11.4 This report may not be used for any purpose other than that for which it has been compiled. It may not be made available to any other party without the written consent of the author.

11.5 Although careful consideration has been given to the correctness of the information contained in this report, it is not guaranteed.

11.6 I did not inspect the woodwork or other parts of building structures which are covered, unexposed or inaccessible, and I am therefore unable to report whether such parts of the property are free of rot, beetle or other defects.

12. DESCRIPTION OF THE SUBJECT PROPERTY

Tables 1 and 2 describe briefly the extent of planted and non-planted arable land, non-arable land, water allocations, dams and building infrastructure. More detail on the buildings can be obtained from the previous valuation reports by Mr Danie Hofmeyr. The following general characteristics are derived from the inventories in Tables 1 and 2:

- Land
  - Extent: Most of the portions are relatively large compared to other properties in the subject area, which makes it more difficult to find comparable properties for valuation purposes. Sales prices per hectare of the generally small-transaction properties provide less reliable value guidelines, due to the effect of 'plattage', a valuation term that refers to the inverse relationship between extent and price per hectare.
  - Quality: The soils are generally of medium to low quality. The better soils are mostly to be found on the sides of the subject properties at higher altitudes.
  - Land-use categories: Perennial crops: Land use is categorized in terms of land under vineyards, and fruit orchards. A finer distinction in terms of broad land-quality classes is given mainly to provide a borad idea of the general land quality of the two subject properties.
- Water
  - Availability: The total amount of water for irrigation is sufficient for the total amount of arable land.
  - Distribution: The storage capacity in terms of dams is concentrated on some portions. The exiting pipeline network used to distribute water from the dams to the arable land, spread over most of the portions purposes, consists mainly of old asbestos pipes, the lifespan of which is long overdue and needs urgent replacement at high cost (estimated at R20 million) to allow efficient irrigation of any crop. Access to the water from the dams and replacement and maintenance of the water distribution network implies a significant interdependence among the various portions. While efficient access to water from the dams can to a large extent be ruled by servitudes, sharing of the capital and running costs of distributing the water will favour selling the two subject properties as aggregates, as opposed to selling the portions of the subject properties as individual farms.
- Road Infrastructure: Various road servitudes are registered to allow the different portions access to the main road. Selling the portions individually will entail incurring additional costs to ensure access to the main road for Nieuwedorp, Droëbaan, Mountain Vineyard, Excelsior and Rachelsfontein.
- Buildings: Farming activities on the two subject properties are adequately supported by the existing residential and non-residential building infrastructure.

13. VALUATION OF SUBJECT PROPERTIES: COMPARABLE SALES METHOD

A market research of comparable farm sales has been carried out in the wider subject area. The transaction properties have been identified and analysed, and can serve as a basis for valuation. See Table 3 for a description of the transaction properties in the Stellenbosch District and comparisons with the subject properties. See Table 4 for a description of transaction properties in the Franschhoek District and comparisons with the subject properties.

14. CONCLUSIONS: COMPARABLE SALES

The analysis of the transactions provides some value guidelines that will be applied to the subject properties.

14.1 THE INFLUENCE OF LOCATION

With regard to larger properties, transactions analysed for the previous valuation showed that the larger farms in the Franschhoek area were sold at lower prices per hectare than the larger Stellenbosch farms. The much higher price per hectare paid for the Franschhoek farm Normandy (1170/8) than for any Stellenbosch farm since the previous valuation must not be regarded as representative of the value of larger Franschoek farms. Normandy lies partly in town and its "address" carries the highest status in the Franschhoek district. The next door farm owner bought this portion and was willing to pay a major premium. Despite its larger size, it is still regarded as an outstanding lifestyle project. It does not provide a reliable value guideline for Boschendal.

14.2 THE INFLUENCE OF FARM SIZE

Small, lifestyle properties sold in Franschhoek and Stellenbosch since the previous valuation were ignored, as they are not comparable with the subject property and their per hectare price will provide inappropriate value guidelines.

Transactions 1, 2 and 4 are all small farms, but used for intensive production, in contrast with typical smaller lifestyle properties. Transactions 1 and 2 are both portions of Protea Heights where proteas are produced for export. Linked to the properties were plant breeder rights of novel protea cultivars developed on the property. Transaction 1 has a recently renovated luxurious manor house, a manager's house and the protea packing shed with cold storage facilities. Transactions 1 and 2 properties were sold, respectively, for R776 000 and R680 000 per hectare. Transaction 4 is a portion of Overgaauw with a big dam and vineyards. The water rights were retained by the seller. Transaction 4 was sold for R638 000 per hectare. All three properties are aesthetically very attractive, but lack the historical character of Boschendal. The overriding consideration here is the significantly smaller extent of all three properties, giving rise to relatively high prices per hectare.

Transaction 3 is much larger than 1, 2 and 6 and was sold for R544 000 per planted hectare. L'Olivier is aesthetically attractive. It is believed that this transaction provides a more reliable guideline of current farm land prices of larger farms in Stellenbosch.

In conclusion, the update of the previous valuation takes place amidst a stabilization of farm prices after rising rapidly for some years. Interviews with a number of estate agents in Franschhoek and Stellenbosch reveal that farm land prices stabilized the past year. Prices did not really decrease – it more a matter of waiting longer to find a willing buyer. Prices of small farms and smallholdings bought for lifestyle purposes were less affected than larger farms. The number of transactions of larger farms in Franschhoek and Stellenbosch the past year is so limited that no clear trend can be derived. A limited number of sales, mostly of smaller farms, took place since the last valuation. The effect of "plattage" suggests that these relative high values per hectare are too high to provide an appropriate value guideline for Boschendal. Their prices per planted hectare were all higher than R600 000. The larger L'Olivier obtained a price of R544 000 per planted hectare. If a premium is added for the outstanding historical character of Boschendal, a value guideline of R600 000 per planted hectare is obtained. This is nominally the same as the value guideline for the previous valuation. The nominal value of R50 000 per hectare of non-arable land and land occupied by infrastructure also remains the same.

Table 5 shows the application of value guidelines derived from the comparable transactions to the subject properties.

Mr Maxwell

I am of the opinion that farm properties sold in the vicinity of Boschendal Ltd and Residual Properties of Bochendal Ltd since June 2008 do not provide clear value guidelines that indicate a deviation from the last valuation of the abovementioned properties, mainly because of limited comparability with these two properties.

In this article references to transfer in writing shall include the use of electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

26. The instrument of transfer of a share shall be signed by the transferor and the transferee, unless the signature of the transferee is not required:

    (i) by any law from time to time in force in South Africa; or

    (ii) where the directors decide at their discretion to dispense therewith in such case or cases as they may deem fit.

    The transferor shall be deemed to remain the holder of the share transferred until the name of the transferee is entered in the register in respect thereof. All instruments of transfer, when registered, shall either be retained by the Company or disposed of in such manner as the directors shall from time to time decide; but any instrument of transfer which the directors may decline to register shall (unless the directors shall resolve otherwise) be returned on demand to the person who deposited it.

27. The directors may decline to register any transfer unless:

    (i) the instrument of transfer, duly stamped, is lodged with the Company, accompanied (unless the directors either generally or in any particular case otherwise resolve) by the certificate of the shares to which it relates, and such other evidence as the Company may reasonably require to show the right or capacity of the transferor to make the transfer and of the transferee to accept it; and

    (ii) the instrument of transfer is in respect of only one class of share.

28. If the directors refuse to register a transfer they shall within thirty days after the date on which the instrument of transfer was lodged, send to the transferee notice of the refusal.

If the person becoming so entitled shall elect to be registered himself he shall deliver or send to the Company a notice in writing signed by him stating that he so elects. If he shall elect to have his nominee registered he shall testify his election by executing to his nominee a transfer in writing of such share. All the limitations, restrictions and provisions of these articles relating to the right to transfer and the registration of shares shall be applicable to any such notice or transfer under this article as if the legal incapacity or other means had not occurred and the notice or transfer were a transfer executed by the member. In this article reference to notice in writing shall include electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

32. Save as otherwise provided by or in accordance with these articles, a person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the legal incapacity of a member or by any lawful means otherwise than by transfer in accordance with these articles shall (upon supplying to the Company such evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show his title to the share) be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the share except that he shall not be entitled in respect thereof to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company until he shall have been registered as a member in respect of the share.

37. Except so far as otherwise provided by the resolution creating it, by the conditions of issue or by these articles, any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered part of the present capital, and as consisting of ordinary shares and shall be subject to the provisions herein contained with reference to transfer and transmission, and otherwise as if it had been part of the present capital.

CONSOLIDATION, SUBDIVISION, ACQUISITION OF OWN SHARES, CONVERSION OF PREFERENCE SHARES, ALTERATION OF MEMORANDUM

(iv) subdivide its shares or any of them into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by or pursuant to its Memorandum of Association and so that the resolution whereby any share is subdivided, may determine that, as between the holders of the shares resulting from such subdivision one or more of the shares may have such preferred or other rights over, or may have such qualified or deferred rights, or be subject to any such restrictions as compared with, the other or others as the Company has power to attach to unissued or to new shares;

(v) vary, modify or amend any rights attached to any shares whether issued or not (including the conversion of any shares into preferred shares) subject to any consent or sanction required from the holders of that and/or any other class of shares under Article 41;

Whenever as the result of any consolidation a fraction of a share is included in the holding of any member such fraction may be sold by some person appointed by the directors for that purpose and the proceeds thereof paid to such member. When a fraction is sold as aforesaid the person so appointed to sell it shall be deemed to be authorised to make such sale the validity of which shall not be questioned.

40. All unclaimed amounts due as a result of any acquisition of shares or debentures issued by the Company or any consolidation or subdivision of capital or from any other cause (but excluding any unclaimed dividends) shall be held in trust by the Company until lawfully claimed by the member; provided that no such amount shall be lawfully claimable by the member if such claim has prescribed.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

41. Subject to the provisions of Section 102 of the Act and to any provisions of these articles, if at any time the Company's share capital, by reason of the issue of preference shares or otherwise, is divided into different classes of shares, all or any of the rights and privileges attached to any class may be modified or varied by agreement between the Company and any person purporting to contract on behalf of that class, provided such agreement is either:

(i) authorised or ratified in writing by the holders of at least three-fourths of the nominal amount of the issued shares of that class; or

(ii) confirmed by resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of the shares of that class, and all the provisions of Section 199 of the Act and the provisions hereinafter contained as to general meetings shall mutatis mutandis apply to every such meeting, except that the quorum therefor (subject to the provisions contained in Article 50 in regard to the quorum at adjourned meetings) shall be two members at least holding or representing by proxy not less than one-third of the nominal amount of the issued shares of that class, unless that class has only one member, in which case it shall be such member.

The creation or issue of additional preference shares ranking as to capital and dividend after the said preference shares and/or ordinary shares shall not be deemed to be a modification or variation of the rights of the holders of any preference shares in the Company. In this article reference to authorised or ratified in writing shall include the use of electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

42. The rights conferred upon the holders of the shares of any class shall not, unless otherwise expressly provided by the conditions of issue of such shares, be deemed to be varied by the creation or issue of further shares ranking pari passu therewith.

GENERAL MEETINGS

43. The Company shall hold a general meeting as its Annual General Meeting as provided in Section 179 of the Act at such time and place as the directors may determine.

44. The directors may, whenever they think fit, convene a General Meeting and a General Meeting shall also be convened on requisition as provided in Section 181 of the Act.

45. Save for any General Meeting convened by requisitionists as provided by Section 181 of the Act, all general meetings, and all adjourned general meetings and all separate meetings of the holders of any class of shares shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint.

NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETINGS

46. An Annual General Meeting and a General Meeting called for the passing of a special resolution shall be called by not less than twenty-one clear days' notice in writing and any other General Meeting shall be called by not less than fourteen clear days' notice in writing, so that the notice period shall not include the day on which the notice is served, or deemed to be served, or the day on which the meeting is to be held. A meeting may be called by shorter notice and shall be deemed to have been duly called if it is so agreed by a majority in number of the members having a right to attend and vote at the meeting, being a majority holding not less than 95% (ninety-five per centum) of the total voting rights of all members. Notice of a meeting shall specify the place, day and time of the meeting and in the case of special business the general nature of such business. In this article reference to notice in writing shall include the use of electronic communication and publication on a website in accordance with any applicable provisions in the Statutes or any other applicable rules or requirements.

47. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting or in cases where instruments of proxy are sent out with the notice, the accidental omission to send such instrument of proxy to, or the non-receipt or delay in receipt of notice of a meeting or such instrument of proxy by any person entitled to receive notice shall not invalidate the proceedings at that meeting.

PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

48. All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at a General Meeting other than an Annual General Meeting, and also all business that is transacted at an Annual General Meeting, with the exception of sanctioning or declaring a dividend, the consideration of the annual financial statements, the election of directors, and the appointment of the auditors of the Company.

49. Subject to the provisions of Section 199 of the Act in regard to the quorum for passing special resolutions, a quorum for a General Meeting shall be three members present in person and entitled to vote or, if a member is a body corporate, represented.

    No business shall be transacted by any General Meeting unless the requisite quorum be present when the meeting proceeds to business. A corporation, being a member of this Company, and present by a representative duly appointed in accordance with Section 188 of the Act, shall be deemed to be a member personally present for the purposes of these articles.

50. If within five minutes from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week (or if that be a public holiday to the next succeeding day other than a public holiday, a Saturday or a Sunday) at the same time and place or to such other day and at such other time or place as the chairman of the meeting shall appoint, which shall be a day not later than twenty-one days after the date of the meeting. If at such adjourned meeting a quorum as defined is not present within five minutes from the time appointed for holding the meeting, those members who are present in person and are entitled to vote shall be a quorum and may transact the business for which the meeting was called.

51. The Chairman (if any) of the directors or, in his absence, the Deputy Chairman (if any) shall preside as chairman at every General Meeting of the Company. If there be no such Chairman or Deputy Chairman, or if at any meeting neither the Chairman nor the Deputy Chairman is present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, or if neither of them be willing to act as chairman, the directors present shall choose one of their number to act, or if one director only be present he shall preside as chairman if willing to act. If no director be present, or if all the directors present decline to take the chair, the members present shall elect one of their number to be chairman.

52. The Chairman may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting) adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting except business which might lawfully have been transacted at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. Save as provided by Section 192 of the Act, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at any adjourned meeting.

53. At a General Meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided by a show of hands unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by the Chairman of the meeting or as provided in Section 198(1) (b) of the Act. Unless a poll be so demanded and the demand be not withdrawn a declaration by the Chairman of the meeting that a resolution has on a show of hands been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or not carried by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book containing the minutes of the proceedings of the Company shall be conclusive evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such resolution.

54. The result of a poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

55. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the Chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote in addition to the vote or votes to which he may be entitled as a member.

56. No poll shall be demanded on the election of the Chairman of the meeting or on any question of adjournment. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time and place and in such manner as the Chairman of the meeting directs, and any business, other than upon which a poll has been demanded, may be proceeded with pending the taking of the poll.

57. The Chairman of a meeting may appoint any firm or persons to act as scrutineers for the purpose of checking forms of proxy deposited for use and for counting the votes at such meeting and he may thereafter act on a certificate given by any such scrutineers without requiring production at the meeting of the forms of proxy or himself counting the votes.

58. CONVERSION OF SHARES INTO STOCK

23. The Company may, by special resolution, convert any paid up shares into stock, and may re-convert any stock into paid up shares of any denomination, and may by such a resolution provide that any shares shall when they are issued and fully paid up be automatically converted into stock.

24. When any shares have been converted into stock, the several holders of such stock may transfer their respective interests therein, or any part of such interest, in such manner as the Company in general meeting shall direct, but in default of any such direction, then in the same manner, and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any paid up shares may be transferred or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. Such conditions may enable any coupon provided for payment of dividends, instead of being used for that purpose, to be used for the purpose of obtaining an allotment or offer of shares or debentures or the exercise of any other rights to which members may become entitled in consequence of a capitalisation of profits, or an offer of shares or debentures for subscription, or for any other reason. No new share warrant shall be issued to replace one that has been lost unless the Company is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that the original has been destroyed.

The Directors may from time to time in their discretion borrow or raise or secure the payment of any sum or sums of money for the purposes of the Company provided that the total amount at any time owing in respect of monies so borrowed raised or secured by the Company shall not exceed the amount authorised by its listed holding company.

45. The notice shall be given in the manner hereinafter provided to such persons as are entitled under these presents to receive such notice from the Company.

46. In every notice calling a general meeting of the Company and upon the face of every proxy form issued at the expense of the Company there shall appear with reasonable prominence a statement that a member entitled to attend and vote thereat is entitled to appoint one or more proxies to attend, speak and vote on a poll in his stead and that a proxy need not be a member of the Company.

47. The accidental omission to give any such notice to any of the members or the non-receipt of such notice by any member shall not invalidate any resolution passed at any such meeting.

Any other business may be transacted at an ordinary meeting provided due notice thereof has been given and all such business, and all business transacted at an extraordinary meeting, shall be deemed special.

51. Two members personally present and entitled to vote of whom one shall be a representative of the Company to which this Company is a subsidiary shall be a quorum for a general meeting and subject to the provisions of Article 53, no business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless the quorum requisite be present at the time when the meeting commences business, and the meeting may then complete all the business for which it has been called notwithstanding any subsequent lack of quorum.

52. The Chairman of the Directors or, in his absence, the deputy chairman (if any) shall preside as Chairman at every general meeting of the Company. If such officers have not been appointed or if they be not present at a meeting within ten minutes after the time appointed for holding such meeting, or if they decline or neglect to preside or intimate their inability to be present, the Directors present or, in default, the members present, shall choose a Director as Chairman; if no Director is present or if all the Directors present decline to preside, then the members present shall choose one of their own number to be Chairman.

56. If a poll is demanded, as aforesaid, it shall be taken in such manner and at such time and place as the Chairman of the meeting directs, and either immediately or after an interval or adjournment (not exceeding seven days) and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded. The demand for a poll may be withdrawn. The Chairman may appoint scrutineers and, if he does so, one of them shall be a member of the auditors of the Company if he be present and willing to act. In case of any dispute as to the admission or rejection of a vote the Chairman of the meeting shall determine the same, whether scrutineers have been appointed to count the votes or not, and the decision of the Chairman made in good faith shall be final and conclusive.

57. The Chairman may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present, adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. The Chairman shall adjourn a meeting if required so to do upon a vote taken in terms of the Statutes, and save as provided in the Statutes it shall not be necessary to give any notice of any adjournment or of the business to be transacted or completed at any adjourned meeting.

58. The demand for a poll shall not prevent the continuance of a meeting for the transaction of any business other than the question on which a poll has been demanded.

59. It shall not be competent to demand a poll upon the question of the election of a Chairman, or of any adjournment.

60. Any minutes of resolutions and proceedings at general meetings made in one of the Minute Books of the Company and any extract therefrom if signed by any person purporting to be the Chairman of the meeting to which it relates, or by any person present thereat and appointed by the Directors to sign the same in his place, or by the Chairman of the next succeeding meeting of the Directors or by any two Directors, shall be receivable as evidence of the facts therein stated.

Several executors or administrators of the estate of a deceased member in whose name any shares are registered shall for the purpose of this Article be deemed joint holders thereof.

64. Any company which is a member may, by resolution of its Directors or other governing body, authorize such person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any meeting of the Company or adjournment thereof, and the person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the Company which he represents

Subject to the provisions of Article 62 the proxy representing a member may only vote for such member on a poll at the meeting or any adjournment thereof, for which such proxy is appointed. If the proxy acts under a power of attorney or other authority, his vote at any meeting or any adjournment thereof shall be valid only during the currency of such power. A proxy may, subject to the aforegoing, vote and speak for such member and may also demand or join in demanding a poll.

66. The proxy form and the power of attorney or other authority (if any) under which it is signed, or the power of attorney or other authority appointing a proxy, shall be deposited at the registered office or transfer office of the Company or at any of the offices of the Company at which a branch register is kept not less than forty-eight hours before the time for holding the meeting or adjourned meeting (as the case may be) at which the person named as the proxy proposes to vote or at such other places and within such time as the Directors may from time to time direct. No proxy form shall be valid after the expiration of twelve months from the date of its execution unless specifically so stated on the proxy form itself.

67. A vote given by a proxy shall be valid, notwithstanding the previous death of the principal, or the revocation of the proxy form or power of attorney or the transfer of ownership of the share in respect of which the vote is given, unless notice in writing of the death, revocation or transfer shall have been received at the office of the Company at which such proxy form or power of attorney shall have been deposited not less than forty-eight hours before the meeting.

81. Subject to the provisions of Article 87 of these presents, at the ordinary meeting held in each year one-third of the Directors, or if their number is not a multiple of three, then the number nearest to, but not exceeding one-third, shall retire from office. The Directors so to retire at each ordinary meeting shall be the Directors who have been longest in office since their last election or appointment. As between

ALTERNATE DIRECTORS

90. Each Director shall have the power to appoint a person to act as alternate director in his place, and at his discretion to remove such alternate director and to appoint another in his stead, provided that the appointment of such alternate director shall be made in writing and approved by the Directors. On such appointment being made and approved, the alternate director shall in all respects be subject to the terms and conditions existing with reference to the other Directors of the Company. Such alternate director shall be entitled to act at all meetings and in all proceedings in which, and on all occasions when the Director who appointed him shall not act himself. An alternate director shall look for his remuneration to the Director appointing him, and shall have no claim against the Company for such remuneration.

The appointment of an alternate director shall be cancelled and the alternate director shall cease to hold office whenever the Director who appointed him shall cease to be a Director or shall give notice in writing to the secretary that the alternate director representing him shall have ceased to do so. A Director retiring at any ordinary meeting and being re-elected shall not for the purposes of this Article be deemed to have ceased to be a Director.

A Director who is not within the Republic of South Africa shall not be entitled to notice of any such meeting, but notice shall be given to his duly appointed alternate (if any) if he is within the Republic of South Africa.

93. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes and in case of an equality of votes, the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote, provided that when only two Directors are present at a meeting the Chairman shall not have a casting vote.

94. The Directors may elect from members of their body a Chairman and deputy chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which such officers shall hold office, which period shall not exceed one year, but if no such Chairman or deputy chairman is elected or if at any meeting the Chairman or deputy chairman is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the Directors present shall choose one of their number to be Chairman of such meeting.

95. A meeting of the Directors at which a quorum is present shall be competent to exercise all or any of the authorities, powers and discretions by or under these presents or the regulations of the Company for the time being vested in or exercisable by the Directors generally.

97. The Directors may delegate any of their powers to an executive or other committee consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit. 99. All acts done at any meeting of the Directors or of any executive or other committee of the Directors, or by any person acting bona fide as a Director shall, notwithstanding that it shall afterwards be discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of the Directors or persons acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified or had vacated office or were not entitled to vote, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to act accordingly.

100. A Director may be employed by or hold any office of profit under the Company or under any subsidiary company in conjunction with the office of Director

POWERS OF DIRECTORS

102. The management of the business and the control of the Company shall be vested in the Directors, who in addition to the powers and authorities by these presents expressly conferred upon them, may exercise all such powers and do all such acts and things as may be exercised or done by the Company, and are not hereby or by the Statutes expressly directed or required to be exercised or done by the Company in general meeting, but subject nevertheless to such management and control not being inconsistent with these presents nor with any resolution passed at any meeting of the members in accordance therewith; but no resolution passed by the Company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors which would have been valid if such resolution had not been passed. The general powers given by this Article shall not be limited or restricted by any special authority or power given to the Directors by any other Article. It is hereby declared that although the Directors shall have power to enter into a provisional contract for the sale or alienation of the undertakings of the Company or of the whole or the greater part of the assets of the Company and the rights belonging thereto or connected therewith, such provisional contract shall pursuant to the provisions of the Statutes only become binding on the Company in the event of the specific transaction proposed by the Directors being ratified and confirmed by a resolution passed by a majority of the votes of the members present in person or by proxy at a general meeting in respect of which the notice convening the meeting shall contain as special business the requisite particulars of the specific transaction to be so ratified and confirmed.

103. The Directors may from time to time grant pensions, gratuities or other allowances of such amounts for such period or periods and generally upon such terms and conditions as the Directors in their discretion may think fit, to any person or to the widow or dependants of any deceased person in respect of services rendered by him to the Company as Managing Director, Executive Director or Manager or in any other office or employment under the Company, notwithstanding that he may have been or continues to be or be appointed or elected a Director of the Company.

For the purpose of this Article the expression "Executive Director" shall mean a Director receiving in addition to his fees as a Director, salary or remuneration for special services to the Company whether under a service agreement or otherwise. Provided that the granting of the aforesaid pensions, gratuities or allowances to any person or to the widow or dependants of any deceased person in respect of services rendered by him to the Company as Managing Director, Executive Director or in any other office or employment under the Company shall not be calculated on dividends declared or on profits earned by the Company from time to time. The Directors may authorise the payment of donations by the Company to such religious, charitable, public or other bodies, clubs or associations or persons as may seem to them advisable or desirable, in the interests of the Company.

LOCAL COMMITTEES

104. Without prejudice to the general powers conferred by these presents it is hereby expressly declared that the Directors shall be entrusted with the power to appoint persons resident in a foreign country (as defined by the Statutes) to be a local committee for the Company in that country, and at their discretion to remove or suspend such local committee, to fix and vary their remuneration, and also to open offices on behalf of the Company where necessary and to close the

The Directors are empowered to give the members of such committee or any such agents the power to appoint alternate committee-men or substituted agents and to remove such alternates and substitutes, to appoint others, or again to act themselves as also to grant to such committee-men or agents powers to delegate all or any of the powers, authorities or discretions for the time being vested in them and to appoint other persons as co-committee-men or joint agents. Any Director may act on a local committee whenever he is in the country for which the committee is appointed to act, and may take part in the proceedings of such committee and have the same rights and privileges as any member of the committee.

105. All appointments of alternate committee-men by any members of a local committee shall be subject to the approval of the remaining members of such local committee and each such alternate committee-man shall have full power and authority to act in the place of the - person -

106. The Company may be provided with a Seal, on which its name shall be inscribed in legible characters, and such Seal shall be affixed to such instruments and in such manner as the Directors may from time to time direct.

The Company may from time to time exercise the powers given by the Statutes with respect to official seals in foreign countries, and such power shall be vested in the Directors.

DIVIDENDS

107. The Company in general meeting or the Directors may from time to time declare a dividend to be paid to the members registered in the books of the Company at a specified date and to the holders of share warrants, if any, and such specified date shall be subsequent to the date of the declaration of the dividend.

108. No larger dividend shall be declared by the Company in general meeting than is recommended by the Directors, but the Company in general meeting may declare a smaller dividend.

109. Any dividend so declared may be paid and satisfied, in cash, either wholly or in part by the distribution of specific assets, and in particular of paid up shares or debentures of any other company, or in any one or more of such ways as the Directors may at the time of declaring the dividend determine and direct, and where any difficulty arises in regard to the distributions, they may settle the same as they think expedient, and in particular may fix the value of distribution of such specific assets or any part thereof and may determine that cash payments shall be made to any members upon the basis of the value so fixed in order to adjust the rights of all parties and may vest any such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the persons entitled to the dividends as may seem expedient to them.

110. No dividend shall be payable except out of the profits of the Company, and no dividend shall carry interest as against the Company. Dividends may be declared either free of or subject to the deduction of income tax and any other tax or duty in respect of which the Company may be chargeable, or which the Company may by law be required to pay. All unclaimed dividends may be invested or otherwise made use of by the Directors for the benefit of the Company and any dividend remaining unclaimed for a space of twelve years from the delcaration thereof may be forfeited by resolution of the Directors for the benefit of the Company. The Directors may at any time annul such forfeiture upon such conditions (if any) as they think fit.

111. The declaration of the Directors as to the amount of the profits of the Company shall be conclusive.

112. In case several persons are registered as the joint holders of any share, any one of such persons may give effectual receipts for all dividends and payments on account of dividends in respect of such share.

113. Each dividend may be paid by cheque, warrant or otherwise as the Directors may from time to time determine and may be sent by post to the registered address of the member entitled thereto, or in the case of joint holders, to the registered address of that one of them recognised by the Company as having any title in terms of Articles 9 or 22 of these presents, or in the case of holders of share warrants or of such members as so request to such address as any of such persons may request in writing, and the payment of such cheque or warrant shall be a complete discharge to the Company in respect thereof. Every such cheque or warrant shall, unless holders otherwise direct, be made payable to the order of the holder or joint holders, as the case may be, and shall be sent at the risk of the person entitled to the money represented thereby.

- of -

Dividends upon shares registered in the name of a member whose registered address is outside the Republic of South Africa (or in the case of joint holders, where the registered address of the first of such joint holders is outside the Republic of South Africa) may at the discretion of the Directors be payable by the local secretary or by the London bankers of the Company, if such have been appointed.

114. The Company shall not be responsible for the loss in transmission of any cheque, warrant or other document sent through the post as aforesaid.

- RESERVES -

RESERVES

115. The Directors may, before declaring or recommending any dividends, set aside out of the amount available for dividends such sum as they think proper as a reserve or an addition thereto. The Directors may divide the reserve into such special funds as they think fit, with full power to employ the assets constituting such fund or funds in the business of the Company or they may invest the same upon such investments (other than shares of the Company) as they may select without being liable for any depreciation of or loss in consequence of such investments, whether the same be usual or authorised investments for trust funds or not.

116. The reserve shall, at the discretion of the Directors, be applicable for the equalisation of dividends or for making provision for exceptional losses, expenses or contingencies or the extension or development of the Company's business or for writing down the value of any of the assets of the Company, or for repairing, improving and maintaining any buildings, plant, machinery or works connected with the business of the Company, or to cover the loss in wear and tear or other depreciation in value of any property of the Company, or for any of the objects of the Company as defined by the Company's Memorandum of Association, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the Company may be properly applied, and the Directors may at any time divide among the members by way of bonus or special dividends any part of the reserve which in their opinion is not required for the purposes aforesaid, and as may be permitted by the Statutes.

CAPITALISATION

117. Upon the recommendation of the Directors, the Company in general meeting may resolve at any time and from time to time that :-

(a) it is desirable to capitalise -

and

(ii) to apply that amount on behalf of the members and holders of share warrants in paying up in full debentures, debenture stock, or unissued shares of the Company, of a nominal amount equal to the amount in question, and which shares are to be allotted and distributed (credited as fully paid) to and amongst those shareholders in the proportion aforesaid.

Where any difficulty arises in respect of such distribution, the Directors may settle the same as they think expedient, and in particular they may issue fractional certificates, fix the value for distribution of any fully paid shares, debentures or debenture stock, make cash payments to any members and holders of share warrants on the footing of the value so fixed in order to adjust rights, and vest any shares or assets in trustees upon such trusts for the persons entitled in the appropriation or distribution as may seem just and expedient to the Directors. When deemed requisite a contract shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of the Statutes and the Directors may appoint any person to sign such contract on behalf of the persons entitled to the appropriation or distribution and such appointment shall be effective, and the contract may provide for the acceptance by such persons of the shares, debentures or debenture stock to be allotted to them in satisfaction of their claims in respect of the sum so capitalised.

1. RESOLVED AS A SPECIAL RESOLUTION that the authorised share capital of the company be increased from R500 000 divided into 50 000 000 ordinary shares of R0,01 each to R500 100 by the creation of 10 000 new variable rate cumulative redeemable preference shares of R0,01 each, carrying the special rights and subject to the special conditions contained in the new Article 25 which is to be added to the company's Articles of Association by special resolution No. 2.

2. RESOLVED AS A SPECIAL RESOLUTION that subject to the passing and registration of special resolution No. 1, the company's Articles of Association be amended by adding the following new Articles 24 and 25 thereto:

"24. The company's share capital is, as at the date of the passing of the special resolution adopting this new Article 24, R500 100 (five hundred thousand and one hundred Rand) divided into 50 000 000 (fifty million) ordinary shares of R0,01 (one cent) each and 10 000 (ten thousand) variable rate cumulative redeemable preference shares of R0,01 (one cent) each, carrying the special rights and subject to the special conditions contained in Article 25.

25. Each of the 10 000 (ten thousand) variable rate cumulative redeemable preference shares of R0,01 (one cent) each ("the preference shares") shall carry the following rights and be subject to the following conditions -

25.1 the right to receive out of the profits of the company which the company determines to distribute from time to time and in priority to all other shares for the time being issued by the company, a cumulative preference dividend calculated on the subscription price (being the par value plus the premium at which each preference share was issued) at a rate determined by the directors from time to time. Such dividend shall be referred to herein as "the preference dividend";

25.2 the preference dividend shall be calculated and paid half-yearly on 31 December and 30 June of each year (or the next business day should such day fall during a weekend or on a public holiday) and on the redemption date determined in terms of Article 25.7. The first preference dividend shall be calculated from the date of the allotment and issue of the preference shares to 31 December 1995, both days included. The last preference dividend shall be calculated from the day following the last day of the preceding dividend period until the redemption date, both days included;

25.3 the right on a winding up of the company or on a repayment of capital, to the repayment of the subscription price paid in respect of the preference shares together with the preference dividend (whether declared or not) calculated to the date of repayment, in priority to any other shares for the time being issued by the company;

25.4 save as set out in Articles 25.1 and 25.3, the preference shares shall not be entitled to any further participation in the profits of the company or any distribution of the assets or capital of the company;

25.5 the holder(s) of a preference share shall be entitled to receive notice of and to attend each general meeting of the company but shall, in accordance with the provisions of Section 194 of the Act, not be entitled to vote at any such meeting unless -

25.5.1 the preference dividend in respect of any period or any redemption moneys are in arrear and unpaid for more than seven days on the date upon which the notice convening that general meeting is given to members of the company, in which event the holder of each preference share shall be entitled to vote on all resolutions to be proposed at that meeting; or

25.5.2 if Article 25.5.1 does not apply, a resolution is proposed -

25.5.2.1 for the reduction of the company's share capital or share premium; or

25.5.2.2 for the cancellation of any of the preference shares; or

25.5.2.3 for the authorisation of the disposal of the whole or substantially the whole of the company's undertaking or the whole or a major part of the company's assets; or

25.5.2.4 which, directly or indirectly and adversely affects any of the rights or conditions set out in this Article, in which event the holder(s) of preference shares shall be entitled to vote on that resolution only: provided that the rights and conditions attaching to the preference shares shall not be deemed to be adversely affected by the creation or allotment of any further shares unless those new shares rank as regards participation in the profits or assets of the company in some or in all respects in priority to the preference shares;

25.6 if any holder of a preference share is entitled to vote in terms of Article 25.5, then on each resolution on which that holder is entitled to vote, that holder shall if present in person, have 1 (one) vote on a show of hands and if present in person or by proxy, have 1 (one) vote on a poll for each preference share in respect of each resolution on which he is entitled to vote;

25.7 subject to the provisions of the Act, the company shall redeem the preference shares on a date determined by the directors, provided that the preference shares shall be redeemed by no later than 3 (three) years and 1 (one) day after their date of issue (or the next business day should such day fall on a weekend or on a public holiday) (the "final redemption date"), in accordance with the following provisions -

25.7.1 all the preference shares shall be redeemed on the same date;

25.7.2 the preference shares shall be redeemed at their subscription price and the redemption moneys shall be paid subject to and in terms of Article 25.7.5;

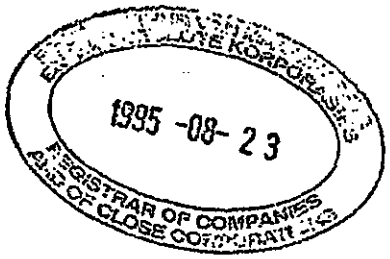
25.7.3 there shall be paid on the preference shares all preference dividends (including any which are in arrear) accrued in respect of those preference shares up to and including the date determined for their redemption, which preference dividend shall be paid subject to and in terms of Article 25.7.5;

25.7.4 if the directors determine that the preference shares are to be redeemed before the final redemption date, the company shall give 30 (thirty) days' notice of redemption of the preference shares to the registered holder(s) of the preference shares, which notice shall specify the time and place for payment of the redemption moneys and preference dividends due and specify an address for surrender to the company of the share certificates for the preference shares;

25.7.5 upon surrender to the company of the share certificate(s) for the preference shares by the registered holder(s) of the preference shares, the company shall pay to the registered holder(s) of the preference shares or their duly authorised agents, the amounts payable in terms of Articles 25.7.2 and 25.7.3;

25.8 should the company for any reason fail to pay any preference dividend, whether declared or not, on a due date, or fail to pay the redemption moneys together with any preference dividend then outstanding on the redemption date, the unpaid preference dividend or redemption moneys, as the case may be, shall bear interest at a rate equal to 59% (fifty-nine per centum) of the prime rate, being the publicly quoted basic rate of interest per annum (as certified by any General Manager of The Standard Bank of South Africa Limited whose appointment and authority it shall not be necessary to prove) at which The Standard Bank of South Africa Limited lends on overdraft, from the day after the due date in question, to the date of payment of the overdue amount by the company (both days included). The interest shall be compounded and payable monthly in arrear;

25.9 the rights and conditions attaching to the preference shares may be varied or cancelled by means of a special resolution passed by the company with -



25.9.1 the consent in writing of the holder(s) of all the preference shares concerned; or

25.9.2 the sanction of a resolution passed in the same manner, mutatis mutandis, as a special resolution of the company, at a separate class general meeting of the holder(s) of the preference shares;

25.10 the company shall not be liable to a holder of preference shares for interest on any unclaimed preference dividend or redemption moneys.

SHARES

7. Subject always to the provisions of Sections 221 and 222 of the Act, the listings requirements of any Stock Exchange on which the shares of the Company are listed or quoted and these articles, any shares for the time being unissued (whether forming part of the original or any increased capital) shall, subject as hereinafter provided, only be disposed of or dealt with in such manner as the Company in general meeting may have directed or may direct, but so that the Company in general meeting may resolve that all or any of such shares shall be at the disposal of the directors, who may in such event allot, grant options over, or otherwise deal with or dispose of them to such persons at such times, and generally on such terms and conditions, and for such consideration, whether payable in cash or otherwise, as they may think proper; but so that no shares shall be issued at a discount except in accordance with Section 81 of the Act.

8. Without prejudice to any special rights previously conferred on the holders of existing shares and subject to any provisions of these articles, any share in the Company may be issued with or have attached thereto such preferred, deferred or other special rights or such restrictions, whether in regard to dividend, return of share capital or otherwise, and (subject as provided by the Act) such limited or suspended rights to voting as the Company in general meeting may from time to time determine; provided that the Company may by resolution passed at a general meeting direct that shares shall be issued by the directors on such terms and conditions, and with such rights, privileges or restrictions attached thereto as the directors may determine.

9. The rights and privileges attaching to the redeemable preference shares of 1 cent each in the capital of the Company ("the preference shares") are as follows:

9.1 The preference shares confer upon the holders thereof the following rights and privileges:

9.1.1 To receive out of the profits of the Company, by way of a cumulative preferential dividend in respect of each preference share, an amount equal to the amount received by the Company by way of a dividend in respect of each ordinary share in South Deep Exploration Company Limited (Registration No. 1988/003931/06) ("South Deep") held by the Company. Such dividend will be declared and paid within 30 days after receipt by the Company of the dividend from South Deep; provided that if the Company should have insufficient profits or distributable reserves out of which to declare and pay the dividend in respect of the preference shares, then the dividend will be declared and paid as soon as the Company has sufficient profits or distributable reserves out of which to declare and pay such dividend, in preference to any dividend payable to ordinary shareholders, and the preference shares shall be cumulative in this regard. The dividend to preference shareholders shall be declared and paid in priority to any dividend to ordinary shareholders of the Company.

9.1.2 To participate in any offer or distribution made by the Company or made to the Company by South Deep of shares, rights to shares, or any other interests in South Deep, to the exclusion of the ordinary shareholders. The number of shares or rights or the amount of such interest so offered or distributed shall be apportioned to each preference shareholder in the proportion of which such number of shares or rights or amount of such interests are apportioned amongst the shares in South Deep held by the Company so that each preference share shall have attributed to it the same participation as is attributable to each share in South Deep held by the Company. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Article 9.1.2, if the participation by preference shareholders in the offer or distribution contemplated in this Article would cause material loss or cost to the Company for tax reasons, then the Company shall be entitled to retain the shares, rights to shares, or other interests in South Deep in question for the benefit of the preference shareholders and shall take such steps as may be appropriate and possible to pass the benefit in the shares, rights to shares, or interests in South Deep to the preference shareholders including, if deemed appropriate, by way of an issue of further preference shares having the rights and privileges set out in this Article 9.

9.1.3 To receive copies of the annual financial statements and notices of all general meetings of the Company and to attend and take part in the same, but not to vote thereat unless :

(a) the resolution before the meeting involves the winding up of the Company or the reduction of its capital or share premium account;

(b) the resolution before the meeting directly affects any of the rights attaching to the preference shares, or the interests of the holders thereof, which shall be deemed to include any resolution which relates directly or indirectly to the shares in South Deep held by the Company or the Company's holding or disposal thereof; or

(c) the dividend or any redemption payment on the preference shares remains in arrear and unpaid for more than six months after the due date for payment thereof, or where no due date is specified, after the end of the financial year of the Company in respect of which such dividend or any such redemption payment accrued, and for purposes hereof a dividend in regard to the preference shares shall be deemed to be in arrear if for whatever reason it is not declared and paid within 30 days after receipt by the Company of the corresponding dividend in respect of the shares in South Deep held by the Company.

9.1.4 To receive copies of the annual financial statements of South Deep and notices of all general meetings of South Deep and to attend and take part in the same as the proxy of the Company, and for this purpose the Company shall procure the sending of the annual financial statements of South Deep and notice of general meetings of South Deep to the holders of the preference shares and shall appoint each preference shareholder as its proxy at general meetings of South Deep in respect of so many

South Deep shares as may be attributable to the number of preference shares held on the basis set out in Article 9.5.

9.1.5 On a winding-up of the Company to receive out of the surplus assets of the Company in priority to any payment in respect of any other class of share in the capital of the Company then outstanding, a distribution in specie, by way of a liquidation dividend, of the shares in South Deep held by the Company on the basis that one share in South Deep held by the Company shall be transferred in respect of each preference share held by a preference shareholder at the date of winding-up of the Company or, if for whatever reason such a distribution in specie is not possible, to receive payment in respect of each preference share of an amount equal to the amount received by the Company on the disposal of each share in South Deep held by the Company, and in addition to receive an amount equal to all dividends in arrear down to the commencement of the winding-up, whether earned or declared or not.

9.2 Save as set out in Article 9.1, the preference shares shall not be entitled to participate in any rights or other offers, or any bonus or capitalisation issues or in any other distributions of income or capital which may be made by the Company from time to time. Furthermore, save as set out in Article 9.1, the preference shares shall not be entitled to participate in the profits or assets of the Company or, on a winding-up, in any of the surplus assets of the Company.

9.3 No resolution and no action (except as may be provided for in this Article 9) which relates directly or indirectly to the shares in South Deep held by the Company, or the Company's holding or disposal thereof, may be passed by the Company in general meeting or otherwise taken unless prior thereto the preference shareholders shall have consented to the passing of such resolution or the taking of such action at a separate class meeting of the preference shareholders held in terms of the Articles of Association of the Company.

9.4 At every meeting of the Company at which holders of the preference shares are entitled to vote:

(a) on a show of hands, each holder present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote, shall have only one vote; and

(b) upon a poll, each holder shall be entitled to that proportion of the total votes in the Company which the aggregate amount of the nominal value of the preference shares held by him bears to the aggregate amount of the nominal value of all the shares, including the preference shares, issued by the Company, and in determining the total votes in the Company each preference share shall entitle the holder thereof to one vote, and each ordinary share shall entitle the holder thereof to ten votes.

9.5 The rights attaching to the preference shares under Articles 9.1.1, 9.1.2 and 9.1.4 are determined on the basis that as at the date of adoption by the Company of this Article 9 the shares in South Deep held by the Company will be equal in both number and nominal value to the preference shares. Should the shares in South Deep held by the Company at any time be sub-divided or consolidated into shares of a smaller or larger amount then the entitlements of each preference share under those Articles aforesaid will be determined with reference to that number of sub-divided or consolidated shares in South Deep as are attributable to each South Deep share prior to such sub-division or consolidation, and a certificate issued by the Company's auditors as to such entitlements of the preference shareholders shall, in the event of dispute, be final and binding on the preference shareholders.

9.6 Subject to the provisions of the Companies Act 1973, as amended, and except as may otherwise be authorised by the preference shareholders in terms of Article 9.3, the Company :

9.6.1 shall be obliged, forthwith upon a disposal by the Company of the shares in South Deep held by it, or any of them, to redeem, in whole or part as the case may be, the preference shares at an amount per preference share equal to the amount received by the Company in respect of each share in South Deep so disposed of, together with an amount equal to all preference dividends accrued but unpaid on the preference shares as at the date of such disposal; provided that the Company shall not be entitled to dispose of any of the South Deep shares held by it within a period of three years from the date of issue of the preference shares;

9.6.2 may redeem the preference shares at any time by distributing and transferring to the holders thereof the shares in South Deep held by the Company on a basis of one share in South Deep for each preference share held provided that the shares in South Deep also have a par value of one cent per share;

The amount payable upon redemption in terms of Article 9.6.1 or the shares in South Deep to be transferred to the preference shareholders in terms of Article 9.6.2, as the case may be, shall be paid or transferred at the sole risk of the preference shareholders, and only upon surrender of the certificates for the preference shares to be redeemed together, in the case of a transfer of South Deep shares as contemplated in Article 9.6.2, with payment of an amount equal to any costs, duties and transfer taxes which may be attributable to such transfer; and the Company shall not be liable to the holders of the preference shares for interest on any unclaimed redemption monies or for any loss or damage suffered by any preference shareholder by any delay in transfer to him of the relevant shares in South Deep.

9.7 Payment in respect of preference dividends, and/or redemption monies shall be made by cheque, and certificates in respect of shares in South Deep transferred to preference shareholders shall be sent by registered post, all at the risk of the registered holder, to his address as recorded in the register of shareholders.

10. The Company may exercise the powers of paying commissions conferred by Section 80 of the Act, provided that the rate or amount of the commission paid or agreed to be paid and the number of shares which persons have agreed for a commission to subscribe absolutely will be disclosed in the manner required by the said section, and that such commission shall not exceed 10 % (ten per centum) of the price at which the shares in respect whereof the same is paid are issued. Such commission may be satisfied by the payment of cash. The Company may also on any issue of shares pay such brokerage as may be lawful.

11. If any shares of the Company are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the construction of any works or buildings or the provision of any plant which cannot be made profitable for a lengthy period, the Company may, subject to the conditions and restrictions mentioned in Section 79 of the Act, pay interest on so much of such share capital as is for the time being paid up and may charge the same to capital as part of the cost of construction of the works or buildings or the provision of plant.

12. Except as ordered by a Court of competent jurisdiction or as by law required, the Company shall be entitled to treat the registered holder of any share as the absolute owner thereof, so that no person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any share upon any trust, and the Company shall not be bound by or be compelled in any way to recognise (even when having notice thereof) any equitable, contingent, future or partial interest in any share or (except only as by these articles or by law otherwise provided) any other right in respect of any share except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in the registered holder.

CERTIFICATES

13. The certificates of title to shares, debentures or other securities of the Company shall be issued under the authority of the directors or of a local committee or board when authorised thereto by the directors, in such manner and form as the directors may from time to time prescribe, and shall (subject as hereinafter provided) bear the autographic signatures of two directors or of one director and one officer authorised thereto by the directors; or of two members of a local committee or board or of one member and the secretary of such local committee or board: Provided that:

14. If any shares are numbered, all such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression, beginning with the number one, and each share shall be distinguished by its appropriate number, and if any shares are not numbered, all share certificates in respect of such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression, and each share certificate shall be distinguished by its appropriate number, and by such endorsement as may be required by the Statutes.

15. Every person whose name is entered as a member in the register shall be entitled, without payment, to receive within one month after allotment or twenty-one days after lodgement of transfer one certificate for all his shares of any one class, or several certificates each for one or more of his shares of such class upon payment of such sum not exceeding five rands for every certificate after the first, as the directors shall from time to time determine. Every certificate of shares shall specify the number of shares in respect of which it is issued and the amount paid up thereon at the date of issue. In the case of a member who has transferred a part of his holding of shares of any class he shall be entitled to receive a certificate free of charge for the balance of his holding: Provided that notwithstanding anything herein contained or implied to the contrary where shares are registered in the names of two or more persons they shall be treated as one member for the purposes of this article.

16. If a share certificate be defaced, lost or destroyed, it may be replaced on payment of any stamp duty payable on the new certificate and on such terms (if any) as to evidence and indemnity and payment of the out-of-pocket expenses of the Company of investigating such evidence and, in the case of loss or destruction, of advertising the same, as the directors may think fit and, in the case of defacement, on delivery of the old certificate to the Company.

17. 20. The transfer books and register of members may upon notice being given by advertisement in the Gazette and a newspaper circulating in the district in which the office is situate, and in the case of any branch register in the manner required by the Statutes, be closed during such time as the directors may think fit, not exceeding in the whole sixty days in each year.

21. Transfer offices shall be maintained at such place or places whether in South Africa or elsewhere, as the directors may from time to time prescribe. 22. Subject to the provisions of the law for the time being in force relating to stamp duty or duty upon the estates of deceased persons or to any other statutory restrictions on transfer and to the provisions of these articles any member may transfer all or any of his shares but every transfer must be in writing in the usual common form or in such other form as the directors may approve and must be left at the transfer office where the register of transfers relating to the share comprised therein is for the time being kept or at such other place as the directors may prescribe accompanied (unless the directors either generally or in any particular case otherwise resolve) by the certificate of the shares to be transferred and such other evidence (if any) as the directors or other person in charge of such register may require to prove the title or capacity of the intending transferor or transferee or the rights of the intending transferor to transfer the shares. In this article references to transfer in writing shall include the use of electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

23. The instrument of transfer of a share shall be signed by the transferor and the transferee, unless the signature of the transferee is not required:

    (b) where the directors decide at their discretion to dispense therewith in such case or cases as they may deem fit.

    The transferor shall be deemed to remain the holder of the share transferred until the name of the transferee is entered in the register in respect thereof. All instruments of transfer, when registered, shall either be retained by the Company or disposed of in such manner as the directors shall from time to time decide; but any instrument of transfer which the directors may decline to register shall (unless the directors shall resolve otherwise) be returned on demand to the person who deposited it.

24. The directors may decline to register any transfer unless:

    (a) the instrument of transfer, duly stamped, is lodged with the Company, accompanied (unless the directors either generally or in any particular case otherwise resolve) by the certificate of the shares to which it relates, and such other evidence as the Company may reasonably require to show the right or capacity of the transferor to make the transfer and of the transferee to accept it; and

(b) the instrument of transfer is in respect of only one class of share.

25. If the directors refuse to register a transfer they shall within thirty days after the date on which the instrument of transfer was lodged, send to the transferee notice of the refusal.

Even after the giving and lodging of such notice, the Company shall be entitled to give effect to any instrument signed under the authority and certified by any officer of the Company as being in order before the giving and lodging of such notice. The Company shall not be bound to allow the exercise of any act or matter by an agent for a member or intending transferee of shares unless a certified copy of such agent's authority be produced and filed with the Company. In this article reference to notice in writing shall include the use of electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

TRANSMISSION OF SHARES

27. Subject always to the law for the time being in force relating to stamp duty or duty upon the estates of deceased persons, the executors or administrators of a deceased member (not being one of several joint holders) shall be the only persons recognised by the Company as having any title to a share registered in the name of such member, and in the case of the death of any one or more of the joint holders of any share, the survivors or survivor, or the executor or administrator of the deceased survivor, shall be the only person or persons recognised by the Company as having any title to or interest in such share, but nothing herein shall release the estate of a deceased joint holder from any liability in respect of any share jointly held by him.

28. Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the legal incapacity of a member, or by any lawful means otherwise than by transfer in accordance with these articles, upon producing such evidence as may sustain the character in respect of which he proposes to act under this article or of his title, as the directors may think sufficient, may, with the consent of the directors (which they shall not be under obligation to give) either be registered himself as a member in respect of such shares or elect to have some person nominated by him registered as the transferee thereof. If the person becoming so entitled shall elect to be registered himself he shall deliver or send to the Company a notice in writing signed by him stating that he so elects. If he shall elect to have his nominee registered he shall testify his election by executing to his nominee a transfer in writing of such share. All the limitations, restrictions and provisions of these articles relating to the right to transfer and the registration of shares shall be applicable to any such notice or transfer under this article as if the legal incapacity or other means had not occurred and the notice or transfer were a transfer executed by the member. In this article reference to notice in writing shall include electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

29. Save as otherwise provided by or in accordance with these articles, a person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the legal incapacity of a member or by any lawful means otherwise than by transfer in accordance with these articles shall (upon supplying to the Company such evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show his title to the share) be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the share except that he shall not be entitled in respect thereof to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the Company until he shall have been registered as a member in respect of the share.

UNCERTIFICATED SECURITIES

30. The provisions of the preceding articles insofar as they relate to share certificates, the register of members or the transfer or transmission of any share, shall not apply to the extent that they are inconsistent in any way with:

    (a) holding and dealing in securities in uncertificated form;

    (b) the settlement of any uncertificated securities transaction through the "STRATE" system on the JSE Securities Exchange South Africa; or

    (c) any provision of Section 91A of the Act.

32. The Company may increase its capital constituted by shares of no par value by transferring reserves or profits to the stated capital, with or without a distribution of shares.

33. New shares shall be subject to the same provisions as to transfer, transmission and otherwise as the shares in the original capital.

34. Except so far as otherwise provided by the resolution creating it, by the conditions of issue or by these articles, any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered part of the present capital, and as consisting of ordinary shares and shall be subject to the provisions herein contained with reference to transfer and transmission, and otherwise as if it had been part of the present capital.

CONSOLIDATION, SUBDIVISION, ACQUISITION OF OWN SHARES, CONVERSION OF PREFERENCE SHARES, ALTERATION OF MEMORANDUM

35. The Company may from time to time by special resolution:

(a) consolidate and divide all or any part of its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares, or consolidate and reduce the number of the issued shares of no par value;

(b) increase the number of its issued no par value shares without an increase of its stated capital;

(c) cancel any shares which, at the time of passing of the resolution in respect thereof, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person, and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the shares so cancelled;

(d) subdivide its shares or any of them into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by or pursuant to its Memorandum of Association and so that the resolution whereby any share is subdivided, may determine that, as between the holders of the shares resulting from such subdivision one or more of the shares may have such preferred or other rights over, or may have such qualified or deferred rights, or be subject to any such restrictions as compared with, the other or others as the Company has power to attach to unissued or to new shares;

(e) vary, modify or amend any rights attached to any shares whether issued or not (including the conversion of any shares into preferred shares) subject to any consent or sanction required from the holders of that and/or any other class of shares under Article 38;

(f) subject to the listings requirements of any Stock Exchange on which the shares or debentures of the Company are listed or quoted, approve the acquisition of shares or debentures issued by the Company or, if the Company is a subsidiary, issued by its holding company, which approval may be a general approval subject to the provisions of the Statutes or a specific approval for a particular transaction;

(g) convert all its shares of one class having a par value into stated capital constituted by shares of no par value or such of its stated capital as is constituted by shares of no par value into share capital consisting of shares having a par value;

(h) convert any of its shares, whether issued or not, into shares of another class;

(i) alter the provisions of its Memorandum of Association with respect to the objects and powers of the Company.

36. Anything done in pursuance of the last article shall be done in a manner provided and subject to any conditions imposed by the Act, so far as they shall be applicable, and so far as they shall not be applicable, in accordance with the terms of the special resolution authorising the same and, so far as such special resolution shall not be applicable, in such manner as the directors deem most expedient. Whenever as the result of any consolidation a fraction of a share is included in the holding of any member such fraction may be sold by some person appointed by the directors for that purpose and the proceeds thereof paid to such member. When a fraction is sold as aforesaid the person so appointed to sell it shall be deemed to be authorised to make such sale the validity of which shall not be questioned.

37. All unclaimed amounts due as a result of any acquisition of shares or debentures issued by the Company or any consolidation or subdivision of capital or from any other cause (but excluding any unclaimed dividends) shall be held in trust by the Company until lawfully claimed by the member; provided that no such amount shall be lawfully claimable by the member if such claim has prescribed.

MODIFICATION OF RIGHTS

38. Subject to the provisions of Section 102 of the Act and to any provisions of these articles, if at any time the Company's share capital, by reason of the issue of preference shares or otherwise, is divided into different classes of shares, all or any of the rights and privileges attached to any class may be modified or varied by agreement between the Company and any person purporting to contract on behalf of that class, provided such agreement is either:

    (i) authorised or ratified in writing by the holders of at least three-fourths of the nominal amount of the issued shares of that class; or

    (ii) confirmed by resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of the shares of that class, and all the provisions of Section 199 of the Act and the provisions hereinafter contained as to general meetings shall mutatis mutandis apply to every such meeting, except that the quorum therefor (subject to the provisions contained in Article 44 in regard to the quorum at adjourned meetings) shall be two members at least holding or representing by proxy not less than one-third of the nominal amount of the issued shares of that class, unless that class has only one member, in which case it shall be such member.

    The creation or issue of additional preference shares ranking as to capital and dividend after the said preference shares and/or ordinary shares shall not be deemed to be a modification or variation of the rights of the holders of any preference shares in the Company. In this article reference to authorised or ratified in writing shall include the use of electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

39. The rights conferred upon the holders of the shares of any class shall not, unless otherwise expressly provided by the conditions of issue of such shares, be deemed to be varied by the creation or issue of further shares ranking pari passu therewith.

GENERAL MEETINGS

40. The Company shall hold a general meeting as its Annual General Meeting as provided in Section 179 of the Act at such time and place as the directors may determine.

41. The directors may, whenever they think fit, convene a General Meeting and a General Meeting shall also be convened on requisition as provided in Section 181 of the Act.

42. Save for any General Meeting convened by requisitionists as provided by Section 181 of the Act, all general meetings, and all adjourned general meetings and all separate meetings of the holders of any class of shares shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint.

NOTICE OF GENERAL MEETINGS

43. An Annual General Meeting and a General Meeting called for the passing of a special resolution shall be called by not less than twenty-one clear days' notice in writing and any other General Meeting shall be called by not less than fourteen clear days' notice in writing, so that the notice period shall not include the day on which the notice is served, or deemed to be served, or the day on which the meeting is to be held. A meeting may be called by shorter notice and shall be deemed to have been duly called if it is so agreed by a majority in number of the members having a right to attend and vote at the meeting, being a majority holding not less than 95% (ninety-five per centum) of the total voting rights of all members. Notice of a meeting shall specify the place, day and time of the meeting and in the case of special business the general nature of such business. In this article reference to notice in writing shall include the use of electronic communication and publication on a website in accordance with any applicable provisions in the Statutes or any other applicable rules or requirements.

44. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting or in cases where instruments of proxy are sent out with the notice, the accidental omission to send such instrument of proxy to, or the non-receipt or delay in receipt of notice of a meeting or such instrument of proxy by any person entitled to receive notice shall not invalidate the proceedings at that meeting.

PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

45. All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at a General Meeting other than an Annual General Meeting, and also all business that is transacted at an Annual General Meeting, with the exception of sanctioning or declaring a dividend, the consideration of the annual financial statements, the election of directors, and the appointment of the auditors of the Company.

46. Subject to the provisions of Section 199 of the Act in regard to the quorum for passing special resolutions, a quorum for a General Meeting shall be three members present in person and entitled to vote or, if a member is a body corporate, represented.

    No business shall be transacted by any General Meeting unless the requisite quorum be present when the meeting proceeds to business. A corporation, being a member of this Company, and present by a representative duly appointed in accordance with Section 188 of the Act, shall be deemed to be a member personally present for the purposes of these articles.

47. If within five minutes from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week (or if that be a public holiday to the next succeeding day other than a public holiday, a Saturday or a Sunday) at the same time and place or to such other day and at such other time or place as the chairman of the meeting shall appoint, which shall be a day not later than twenty-one days after the date of the meeting. If at such adjourned meeting a quorum as defined is not present within five minutes from the time appointed for holding the meeting, those members who are present in person and are entitled to vote shall be a quorum and may transact the business for which the meeting was called.

48. The Chairman (if any) of the directors or, in his absence, the Deputy Chairman (if any) shall preside as chairman at every General Meeting of the Company. If there be no such Chairman or Deputy Chairman, or if at any meeting neither the Chairman nor the Deputy Chairman is present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, or if neither of them be willing to act as chairman, the directors present shall choose one of their number to act, or if one director only be present he shall preside as chairman if willing to act. If no director be present, or if all the directors present decline to take the chair, the members present shall elect one of their number to be chairman.

49. The Chairman may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting) adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting except business which might lawfully have been transacted at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. Save as provided by Section 192 of the Act, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at any adjourned meeting.

50. At a General Meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided by a show of hands unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by the Chairman of the meeting or as provided in Section 198(1) (b) of the Act. Unless a poll be so demanded and the demand be not withdrawn a declaration by the Chairman of the meeting that a resolution has on a show of hands been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or not carried by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book containing the minutes of the proceedings of the Company shall be conclusive evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such resolution.

51. The result of a poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

52. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the Chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote in addition to the vote or votes to which he may be entitled as a member.

53. No poll shall be demanded on the election of the Chairman of the meeting or on any question of adjournment. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time and place and in such manner as the Chairman of the meeting directs, and any business, other than upon which a poll has been demanded, may be proceeded with pending the taking of the poll.

54. The Chairman of a meeting may appoint any firm or persons to act as scrutineers for the purpose of checking forms of proxy deposited for use and for counting the votes at such meeting and he may thereafter act on a certificate given by any such scrutineers without requiring production at the meeting of the forms of proxy or himself counting the votes.

55. If any votes shall be counted which ought not to have been counted or might have been rejected or if any votes shall not be counted which ought to have been counted the error shall not vitiate the resolution unless it be pointed out at the meeting and not in that case unless it shall, in the opinion of the Chairman of the meeting, be of sufficient magnitude to vitiate the resolution. No objection shall be raised to the qualification of any voter except at the meeting or adjourned meeting at which the vote objected to is given or tendered, and every vote not disallowed at such meeting or adjourned meeting shall be valid for all purposes. Any such objection made in due time shall be referred to the Chairman of the meeting, whose decision shall be final and conclusive.

56. Any minutes of resolutions and proceedings at general meetings made in one of the minute books of the Company, if signed by any person purporting to be the Chairman of the meeting to which it relates, or by any person present thereat and appointed by the directors to sign the same in his place, or by the Chairman of a subsequent meeting of the directors, shall be receivable as evidence of the facts therein stated.

VOTES OF MEMBERS

57. Subject to the provisions of Section 195 of the Act and of these articles and to any special terms as to voting upon which any share may be issued or may for the time being be held, on a show of hands, every member present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote shall have one vote and, upon a poll, every member present in person or by proxy and entitled to vote shall have one vote for every share held by him.

58. Any corporation holding shares conferring the right to vote may, by resolution of its directors or other governing body, authorise such person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any General Meeting of the Company or at any meeting of holders of any class of shares of the Company, as provided by Section 188 of the Act and such representative shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the corporation which he represents as that corporation could exercise if it were an individual member of the Company. The directors may but shall not be obliged to require proof to their satisfaction of the appointment or authority of such representative to act.

59. In the case of joint holders of a share the vote of the senior who tenders a vote, whether in person or by proxy, shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint holders and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the register or in the case of persons entitled to a share by transmission the order in which their names were given in the notice to the Company of the fact of the transmission.

PROXIES AND VOTING UNDER POWER OF ATTORNEY

60. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the person granting such proxy or his attorney duly authorised in writing or, if the appointor be a corporation, under the hand of an officer or attorney so authorised. The holder of a power of attorney from a member may, if so authorised by the power of attorney, vote for and represent such member at any meeting of the Company. In this article reference to in writing or authorised in writing shall include the use of electronic communication, subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the directors.

96. The directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit. 2. SHARES

2.1 Subject to what may be authorised by the Act or the company in general meeting, any new shares which may be issued shall first be offered to existing members in proportion to their shareholdings unless they are issued for the acquisition of assets.

2.2 Where the company in general meeting has granted a general authority to the directors, the directors may in their discretion allot, grant options over or otherwise deal with or dispose of any unissued shares to such persons at such times and on such terms and conditions and for such consideration, whether payable in cash or otherwise, as the directors may think fit. The directors may from time to time determine the terms and conditions upon which share warrants shall be issued.

4.2 The bearer of a share warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the office of the company, and while the warrant remains deposited the depositor shall have the same right to sign a requisition to call a general meeting of the company and to attend, vote and exercise the other rights of a member at any meeting held after the end of 2 (two) clear days from the time of the deposit as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant. Not more than 1 (one) person shall be recognised as depositor of the share warrant. The company shall, on 2 (two) days' written notice, return the deposited share warrant to the depositor.

The holder of a share warrant shall be bound by any determination by the directors in terms of this article 4.4 for the time being in force whether made before or after the issue of such warrant.

4.5 A share warrant shall be transferred by delivery of the warrant and not by instrument of transfer, and the provisions of 8.7 to 8.17 inclusive shall not apply to share warrants.

5. PAYMENT OF COMMISSION

6.4 A member who has transferred some of his shares shall be entitled to receive a certificate for the balance of his shares.

6.5 Where shares are registered in the names of 2 (two) or more persons, they shall be treated as 1 (one) member for the purposes of this article.

6.6 If a share certificate be defaced, lost or destroyed, it shall be replaced, subject however to 6.8 and, in the case of defacement, to delivery of the old certificate to the company.

6.7 The directors may, as they deem fit, determine such terms (if any) as to evidence and indemnity and payment of the out-of-pocket expenses of the company of investigating such evidence and, in the case of loss or destruction, of advertising the same.

6.8 The certificates for shares registered in the names of 2 (two) or more persons shall be delivered to the person first named in the register in respect thereof, or to his authorised agent, and such delivery shall be a sufficient delivery to all joint holders of the share.

6.9 In the case of the legal incapacity of any 1 (one) or more of the joint holders of any shares, the survivor then first named in the register shall be the only person recognised by the company as being entitled to such certificate, or any new certificate which may be issued in place thereof.

18.4.1 shall retire at the following annual general meeting;

18.4.2 shall not be considered in determining the directors to retire by rotation;

18.4.3 shall be eligible for re-election.

18.5 If the company in general meeting increases or reduces the number of directors, it may also determine in what rotation such increased or reduced number is to retire.

18.6 The shareholding qualification for directors and alternate directors may be fixed and from time to time varied by the company in general meeting and unless and until so fixed, directors and alternate directors need not hold any qualification shares.

18.7 The directors shall be entitled to such remuneration as the company in general meeting may from time to time determine.

18.8 Any director who -

18.8.2 devotes special attention to the business of the company; or

18.8.3 goes or resides outside South Africa for the purpose of the company; or

18.8.4 otherwise performs or binds himself to perform services which, in the opinion of the directors, are outside the scope of the ordinary duties of a director, may be paid such extra remuneration or allowances in addition to or in substitution of the remuneration to which he may be entitled as a director, as the directors, excluding the director in question, may from time to time determine.

18.9 The directors shall also be paid all their travelling and other expenses necessarily expended by them in connection with -

18.9.1 the business of the company; and

18.9.2 attending general meetings of the directors or of committees of the directors of the company.

18.10 Without prejudice to the provisions, if any, in respect of retirement of directors by rotation or otherwise hereinafter determined, the office of a director shall be vacated in any of the following events -

18.10.1 if his estate is sequestrated (whether provisionally or finally) or he surrenders his estate or enters into a general compromise with his creditors;

18.10.2 if he is found to be or becomes of unsound mind;

18.10.3 if a majority of his co-directors sign and deposit at the registered office a written notice wherein he is requested to vacate his office (which shall become operative on deposit at the registered office) but without prejudice to any claim for damages;

18.10.4 if he be removed by a resolution of the company of which proper notice has been given in terms of the Act (but without prejudice to any claim for damages);

18.10.5 if he shall, pursuant to the provisions of the Act or any order made thereunder, be prohibited from acting as a director;

18.10.6 if he resigns his office by notice in writing to the company;

18.10.7.1 he is absent from meetings of the directors for 6 (six) consecutive months without leave of the directors otherwise than on the business of the company; and

18.10.7.2 he is not represented at any such general meetings during such 6 (six) consecutive months by an alternate director; and provided that the directors shall have power to grant to any director leave of absence for a definite or indefinite period.

18.10.7.3 the directors resolve that his office be, by reason of such absence, vacated,

18.11 A director may hold any other office or place of profit under the company (except that of auditor) or any subsidiary of the company in conjunction with his office of director, for such period and on such terms as to remuneration (in addition to the remuneration to which he may be entitled as a director) and otherwise as a disinterested quorum of the directors may determine.

18.12 A director of the company may be or become a director or other officer of, or otherwise interested in, any company promoted by the company or in which the company may be interested as member or otherwise and (except insofar as otherwise decided by the directors) he shall not be accountable for any remuneration or other benefits received by him as a director or officer of or from his interest in such other company.

18.13 Any director may act by himself or through his firm in a professional capacity for the company (otherwise than as auditor) and he or his firm shall be entitled to remuneration for professional services as if he were not a director.

18.14 A director who is in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or arrangement or proposed contract or arrangement with the company, shall declare the nature of his interest in accordance with the Act.

18.17 No director so contracting or being so interested shall be liable to account to the company for any profit realised by any such appointment, contract or arrangement by reason of such director holding office or of the fiduciary relationship thereby established.

18.18 A director may not be counted in the quorum for a general meeting at which a resolution is proposed for his own appointment as a director to any other office or position of profit in the company or any of its subsidiaries or in respect of any contract or arrangement in which he is interested nor vote on any such resolution, but this prohibition shall not apply to -

18.18.1 any arrangement for giving to any director any security or indemnity in respect of money lent by him to or obligations undertaken by him for the benefit of the company; or

18.18.3 any contract by a director to subscribe for or underwrite shares or debentures of the company; or

18.18.4 any contract or arrangement with a corporation in which he is interested by reason only of being a director, officer, creditor or member of such corporation, and these prohibitions may at any time be suspended or relaxed either generally, or in respect of any particular contract or arrangement, by the company in general meeting.

18.19 Any contract entered into contrary to the terms of 18.18 can be ratified by the company in general meeting.

18.20 The terms of 18.18 shall not prevent a director from voting as a member at a general meeting at which a resolution in which he has a personal interest is tabled.

18.21 The directors may exercise the voting powers conferred by the shares held or owned by the company in any other company in such manner in all respects as they think fit, including the exercise thereof in favour of any resolution appointing themselves or any of them to be directors or officers of such other company or for determining any payment of or remuneration to the directors or officers of such other company.

18.22 A director may vote in favour of a resolution referred to in 18.21 for the exercise of the voting rights in the manner described in 18.21 notwithstanding that he may be, or is about to become, a director or other officer of such other company and for that or any other reason may be interested in the exercise of such voting rights in the manner aforesaid.

19. ALTERNATE DIRECTORS

19.1 A director may -

19.1.1 appoint another director or any person approved for that purpose by a resolution of the directors to act as alternate director in his place and during his absence;

19.4 Any director acting as alternate director shall in addition to his own vote have a vote for each director for whom he acts as alternate.

19.5 An alternate director shall ipso facto cease to be an alternate director if his appointer ceases for any reason to be a director, provided that if any director retires by rotation or otherwise, but is re-elected at the same general meeting, any appointment made by him pursuant to this article 19 which was in force immediately before his retirement shall remain in force as though he had not retired.

19.6 In the event of the disqualification or resignation of any alternate director during the absence or inability to act of the director whom he represents, the vacancy so arising shall be filled by the chairman of the directors who shall nominate a person to fill such vacancy, subject to the approval of the board.

19.7 Any appointment or removal of an alternate director shall be effected by written notice delivered at the registered office and signed by the appointer.

19.8 The remuneration of an alternate director shall be payable only out of the remuneration payable to the director whose alternate he is and he shall have no claim against the company for any remuneration.

20.6 Retiring directors shall be eligible for re-election.

20.7 No person, other than a director retiring at the general meeting shall, unless recommended by the directors, be eligible for election to the office of a director at any general meeting, unless -

20.7.2 such notice sets out the member's intention to propose a specific person for election as director; and

20.7.3 notice in writing by the proposed person of his willingness to be elected is attached thereto (except where the proposer is the same person as the proposed).

20.8 Subject to 20.6 and 20.7, the company may at the general meeting at which a director retires by rotation, fill the vacated office by electing a person thereto and in default the retiring director, if willing to continue to act, shall be deemed to have been re-elected, unless -

31. DIVIDENDS

31.1 The company in general meeting or the directors may from time to time declare a dividend.

31.3 Dividends may be declared either free of or subject to the deduction of income tax and any other tax or duty in respect of which the company may be chargeable.

31.4 The directors may from time to time declare and pay to the members such interim dividends as the directors consider to be justified by the profits of the company.

31.5 The directors may also pay the fixed dividend payable on any share of the company bearing a fixed dividend half-yearly or on fixed dates, as the directors may deem fit.

31.6 Dividends shall be declared payable to members registered as such on a date at least 14 (fourteen) days after the date of the declaration of the dividend or on the date of confirmation of the dividend, whichever is the later.

31.7 The period between the date of declaration or date of confirmation of the dividend, whichever is the later, and the date of the closing of the transfer registers in respect of such dividend shall be at least 14 (fourteen) days.

31.8 No larger dividend shall be declared by the company in general meeting than is recommended by the directors, but the company in general meeting may declare a smaller dividend.

31.9 All unclaimed dividends may be invested or otherwise be made use of by the directors for the benefit of the company until claimed, provided that dividends unclaimed for a period of 3 (three) years from the date on which they were paid may be declared forfeited by the directors for the benefit of the company.

31.13 A holder or any 1 (one) of 2 (two) or more joint holders, or his or their agent duly appointed in writing, may give valid receipts for any dividends or other monies paid in respect of a share held by such holder or joint holders.

31.14 When such cheque or warrant is paid, it shall discharge the company of any further liability in respect of the amount concerned.

31.15 A dividend may also be paid in any other way determined by the directors, and if the directives of the directors in that regard are complied with, the company shall not be liable for any loss or damage which a member may suffer as a result thereof.

31.16 Any dividend may be paid wholly or in part -

31.16.1 by the distribution of specific assets; or

31.16.2 by the issue of paid-up shares, debentures or securities of the company or of any other company; or

or in any other way which the directors or the company in general meeting may at the time of declaring the dividend determine.

31.18 The directors may -

31.18.2 vest any such assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of the persons entitled to the dividend as the directors deem expedient; or

31.18.3 delegate the company's liability in respect of any unclaimed dividends to any bank or financial institution selected by the directors.

31.19 The directors may from time to time make such regulations as they may think fit regarding the payment of dividends to members having registered addresses outside South Africa. Such regulations may provide for the payment of such dividends in any foreign currency and the rate of exchange at which such payment shall be made and any other similar matters.

32. RESERVES

32.1 The directors may before recommending any dividend, whether preferential or otherwise, set aside out of the profits of the company such sums as reserves as they think proper.

32.2 Such reserves may at the discretion of the directors be applied for any permissible purpose and until so applied, may, at the like discretion -

32.2.1 be employed in the business of the company without being separated from the other assets of the company; or

32.3 The directors may in their sole discretion carry forward any profits which they may think prudent not to distribute, without placing the same to reserve.

32.4 The directors may -

32.4.1 divide any such reserve into any such funds as they may deem fit;

6. / ...

6. The Company in general meeting may delegate to the directors, to such extent and on such conditions as the Company may, in its sole discretion, see fit, the power conferred on the Company in terms of article 5 to prescribe to whom, at what time or times, and on what terms and conditions any unissued shares, or certain specified unissued shares, may be allotted and issued. Such delegated power shall be subject to the restrictions contained in Sections 221 and 222 of the Act.

7. 21. The several holders of any stock may transfer their respective interests therein, or any part of such interests, in such manner as the Company in general meeting shall direct, but in default of such directive then in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any paid-up shares may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. 35. (a) A member which is a company may (subject as hereinafter provided) at any time transfer all or any of the shares for the time being held by it to any company (hereinafter called "the Transferee Company") which is either its holding company or its subsidiary or a subsidiary of its holding company; provided that if the Transferee Company ceases to be such a holding or subsidiary company or subsidiary of the member's holding company the Transferee Company shall forthwith be deemed to have served a Transfer Notice (as hereinafter defined) in respect of all such shares.

(b) Any member may with the unanimous consent of the directors transfer any shares of which he is the registered holder to any person, whether a member or not, on such terms as he may think fit.

(c) Except in the case of a transfer pursuant to the preceding provisions of this article none of the shares of the Company shall be transferred except in accordance with the following provisions :

(i) every holder of shares in the Company who wishes to transfer his shares or any of them (hereinafter referred to as "the Transferor") shall notify the directors of the Company in writing of his wish so to do; such notification ("the Transfer Notice") shall constitute the directors his agents for the sale of such shares ("the Sale Shares") at the fair value (as hereinafter defined) and (save as hereafter provided) shall not be withdrawn;

certificate shall be borne as to half by the Transferor and as to the remaining half amongst the purchasers (if any) of the Sale Shares in proportion to the numbers of Sale Shares to be purchased by them respectively, or, if there are no such purchasers or if the Transferor gives a counter-notice pursuant to subparagraph (c)(v) of this article, such remaining half shall also be borne by the Transferor;

(iii) in the event of the fair value determined as aforesaid not being acceptable to the Transferor he may (save in the case where a Transfer Notice shall have been deemed to have been served pursuant to paragraph (a) of this article or shall have been served or deemed to have been served pursuant to paragraph (e) of this article) give notice in writing to the directors within 14 (fourteen) days of the issue of the certificate as aforesaid and thereupon the Transfer Notice shall be deemed to be withdrawn; if the Transferor gives notice hereunder he shall bear the whole of the fees and expenses of any such certificate as aforesaid;

(iv) forthwith upon the fair value being so agreed as aforesaid, or if (the price having been certified as aforesaid) the Transferor has not within a period of 14 (fourteen) days given a notice withdrawing the Transfer Notice pursuant to sub-paragraph (c)(iii) of this article, the directors shall forthwith offer the Sale Shares giving details of the number and price (being the fair value ascertained as aforesaid) of the Sale Shares on offer to all the then holders (other than the Transferor in each case) of shares of the same class as the shares on offer, pro rata as nearly as may be in proportion to the existing numbers of such shares held by them respectively and so that for the purposes of this sub-paragraph any shares held by any person by way of security only shall be deemed to be held by the person or persons for the time being beneficially entitled to those shares; the directors shall invite each such holder to state in writing within 21 (twenty-one) days from the date of the notice whether he is willing to purchase any of the Sale Shares so offered to him and if so, the maximum number thereof; if any of the shares so offered shall not be taken up by such holders the directors shall offer the same to the holders of shares of the other classes pro rata as aforesaid and if any such shares shall not be taken up within 21 (twenty-one) days of such offer by any of such holders or if there are no other classes of shares the directors may offer the same at the fair value to any person they consider it desirable to admit to membership;

(v) if the directors shall pursuant to the provisions of sub-paragraph (c)(iv) of this article find a person or persons willing to purchase all or any of the Sale Shares pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this article, or if they shall have been unable within 6 (six) months from the date on which the fair value shall have been agreed or certified as aforesaid to find any such person or persons willing to purchase the same, they shall give notice thereof to the Transferor. If the directors shall have found a person or persons willing to purchase some but not all of the Sale Shares, the Transferor may (save in the case where a Transfer Notice shall have been deemed to have been served pursuant to paragraph (a) of this article or shall have been served or deemed to have been served pursuant to paragraph (e) of this article) within 21 (twenty-one) days of the receipt of such notice from the directors give a counter-notice in writing to the directors, withdrawing the Transfer Notice, but if the directors shall have found a person or persons willing to purchase all the Sale Shares, or if no such counter-notice shall have been given by the Transferor within the aforesaid period, the Transferor shall be bound, upon receipt of the fair value, to transfer the Sale Shares (or such of the same for which the directors shall have found a purchaser or purchasers) to such purchaser or purchasers;

(vi) if the Transferor fails or refuses to so transfer the Sale Shares as aforesaid the directors shall, if so required by the person or persons willing to purchase such shares under the foregoing provisions, receive and give a good discharge for the purchase money on behalf of the Transferor and shall authorise some person to execute transfers of the Sale Shares in favour of the purchasers and shall enter the names of the purchasers in the Register of Members as the holders of such of the Sale Shares on offer as shall have been transferred to them as aforesaid;

(vii) if the directors shall pursuant to sub-paragraph (c)(iv) of this article find a purchaser or purchasers for some only of the Sale Shares, and the Transferor shall not have withdrawn the Transfer Notice pursuant to subparagraph (c)(v) of this article or if the directors shall not have found a purchaser for any of the Sale Shares, the Transferor shall be at liberty at any time within 6 (six) months after the expiry of the notice given by the directors to the Transferor pursuant to sub-paragraph (c)(v) of this article (subject to there being obtained all consents required by any applicable law, order or regulation) to sell and transfer to any person and in such manner as the directors may approve and at any price not being less than the fair value, all or any of the Sale Shares not so sold as aforesaid.

(d) The directors shall register any transfer made pursuant to or permitted by this article.

(e) For the purpose of ensuring that a transfer of shares is duly authorised hereunder, or that no circumstances have arisen whereby a Transfer Notice is deemed to have been served hereunder, the directors may require any member or the legal representatives of a deceased member or the liquidator of any corporate member or any person named as transferee in any transfer lodged for registration to furnish to the Company such information and evidence as the directors may think fit regarding any matter they deem relevant to such purpose. Failing such information or evidence being furnished to the satisfaction of the directors within a reasonable time after such request, the directors shall be entitled to refuse to register the transfer in question or, if no transfer is in question, to require by notice in writing that a Transfer Notice be served in respect of the shares concerned. Likewise, if any such information or evidence discloses that a Transfer Notice ought to be served in respect of any shares, the directors may require, by notice in writing, that a Transfer Notice be served in respect of the shares concerned. If the directors do require that a Transfer Notice be served, and the Notice is not duly served within 1 (one) month from the date on which it is so required to be served, such Notice shall be deemed to have been served at the expiration of the said period and the provisions of these Articles shall take effect accordingly.

INSTRUMENTS OF TRANSFER

36. Subject to such of the restrictions as may be applicable, any member may transfer all or any of his shares by instrument in writing in any usual or common form or any other form which the directors may approve.

37. Every such instrument shall be executed by the Transferor, or if the directors determine, by the Transferor and the Transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain the holder of the share until the name of the Transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

38. Every power of attorney given by a member authorising the transfer of shares, shall, when lodged, produced or exhibited to the Company or any of its officers, be deemed as between the Company and the grantor of the power to continue and remain in full force and effect, and the Company may allow that power to be acted upon until such time as express notice in writing of its revocation has been lodged at the transfer office. Notwithstanding receipt of such notice of revocation the Company shall be entitled to give effect to any instrument of transfer which is certified by an official of the Company to have been received by the Company prior to the receipt of such revocation provided that such instrument would, but for such revocation, have been validly and regularly executed. The Company shall not be bound to allow the exercise of any act or matter by an agent for a member unless a duly certified copy of that agent's authority be produced and lodged with the Company.

39. Every instrument of transfer shall be left at the transfer office accompanied by a certificate of the shares to be transferred unless such instrument of transfer has been certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act. The directors may dispense with the production of the certificate on good cause being shown. The directors may decline to recognise any instrument of transfer unless :

(a) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the share certificate to which it relates (or is certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act) and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the Transferor to make the transfer; and

(b) the share transfer duty thereon has been paid.

All instruments of transfer which shall be registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer which the directors may decline to register shall, except in the case of fraud, be returned, on demand, to the person depositing the same.

CONSTITUTION

40. The directors may at any time convene general meetings of the Company. The directors shall convene a general meeting upon the requisition of members in terms of Section 181 of the Act. The members empowered by Section 180 of the Act may convene a general meeting in terms of that section.

41. (a) The Company shall hold its first annual general meeting within 18 (eighteen) months after the date of its incorporation and thereafter it shall hold an annual general meeting in respect of each financial year; provided that not more than 15 (fifteen) months shall elapse between the date of one annual general meeting and that of the next, and that an annual general meeting shall be held within 6 (six) months after the expiration of each financial year of the Company. Other general meetings of the Company may be held at any time.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of article 41(a) the Company shall not be required to hold an annual general meeting if all the members entitled to attend and vote at an annual general meeting sign a resolution in accordance with the provisions of Section 179 of the Act before the expiration of the time limits referred to in article 41(a).

42. An annual general meeting or any other general meeting shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint unless the meeting is convened under Sections 179, 181, 182 or 183 of the Act, in which case such meeting shall be held at such time and

A meeting may be called by shorter notice and shall be deemed to have been duly called if it is so agreed by a majority in number of the members having a right to attend and vote at the meeting, being a majority holding not less than 95% (ninety-five per centum) of the total voting rights of all members.

44. Notwithstanding the provisions of article 43 no resolution requiring special notice shall be effective unless notice of the intention to move such resolution has been given to the Company not less than 28 (twenty-eight) days before the meeting at which it is to be moved, and unless notice of the resolution is given by the Company to the members in accordance with the provisions of Section 186 of the Act. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if notice of an intention to move a special resolution is given to the Company before the Company issues notice to its members calling a general meeting, then such notice of intention to move such resolution shall be deemed to be validly given even if the meeting is called for a day 28 (twenty-eight) days or less after such notice of intention to move such resolution is given to the Company.

45. Any notice calling a general meeting which is given by the Company to its members shall specify the place, the day and the time of the meeting and shall be given in the manner hereinafter specified or in such other manner, if any, as may be determined by the directors or by the Company in general meeting. Such notice shall comply with the provisions of Section 189 of the Act. If the Company maintains a branch register, then notice of the meeting may, in the case of members whose names are entered on the branch register, be given from the transfer office where such branch register is kept.

46. The Company shall, on the requisition in writing of such number of members as is specified in the Act, and unless the Company otherwise resolves, at the expense of the requisitioners, give to members entitled to receive notice of any annual general meeting notice of any resolution which is to be moved at that meeting and circulate to such members any statement prepared by the requisitioners relating to the matter referred to in the proposed resolution or to the business to be dealt with at that meeting, provided that such notice does not exceed one thousand words.

ADJOURNMENT

50. If within one-half hour after the time appointed for any meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved, and in any other case it shall stand adjourned to a date to be determined by the directors (which date shall not be earlier than 7 (seven) days and not later than 21 (twenty-one) days after the date of the meeting) at the same time

51. The chairman may, with the approval of any meeting at which a quorum is present (at the time of approval) and shall if so directed by the meeting, at any time and from time to time adjourn the meeting to a date, time and place specified by the meeting or in default of such specification to be determined by the directors.

58. Every resolution shall, unless a poll is demanded in terms of article 59, be decided on a show of hands. A declaration by the chairman that a resolution has on a show of hands been carried, or carried unanimously or by a particular majority, or rejected, and an entry to that effect in the book containing the minutes of the proceedings of the Company shall be conclusive evidence of this fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such resolution.

If a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman shall decide and either at once, or, if the chairman shall think fit, after an interval or adjournment or otherwise, provided that a poll on the question of an adjournment shall be taken at the meeting, without adjournment. No notice need be given of a poll not taken immediately. The demand for a poll shall not prevent the continuation of the meeting for the transaction of any business other than the question upon which the poll is demanded.

62. Notwithstanding any postponement of the taking of the poll the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll is demanded, and shall be subject to Section 203(2) of the Act.

ENTITLEMENT TO VOTE

63. Subject to any special provisions governing preference shares, and to the provisions of the Act, every member or the representative, proxy or agent of such member, as the case may be, shall on a show

64. On a poll a member entitled to more than one vote, or the representative, proxy or agent of such member, as the case may be, need not, if he votes, use all the votes of such member or cast all the votes which he uses in the same way.

ALLOTMENT AND ISSUE OF CAPITAL

2. Shares may, subject to the provisions of articles 4 to 19 inclusive, be allotted and issued by the Company to such persons, at such times, on such terms and conditions and with such preferred, deferred or other rights and with such restrictions in regard to dividend, voting, return of share capital or otherwise as the Company in general meeting may determine.

3. The Company in general meeting may delegate to the directors, to such extent and on such conditions as the Company may, in its sole discretion, see fit, the power conferred on the Company in terms of article 2 to prescribe to whom, at what time or times and on what terms and conditions any unissued shares, or certain specified unissued shares, may be allotted and issued. Such delegated power shall be subject to the restrictions contained in Sections 221 and 222 of the Act.

4. The Company may, before the issue of any new shares, determine that the same or any of them shall be offered in the first instance and either at par or at a premium or at a stated value in respect of shares having no par value, to all the members in proportion to the amount of the capital held by them, or make any other provision as to the allotment and issue of the new shares.

5. Except insofar as is otherwise provided by the conditions of issue or by these Articles, any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered part of the original capital, and shall be subject to the provisions herein contained with reference to transfer and transmission and otherwise.

6. Nothing contained in these Articles shall preclude the directors from allowing the allotment of any shares to be renounced in favour of some other person.

7. / ...

7. Shares may be issued at par or at a premium or, subject to Section 81 of the Act, at a discount, or may be issued at a stated value in respect of shares having no par value.

8. No partly paid-up shares shall be allotted or issued except in terms of Section 92 of the Act.

9. Where the Company issues shares at a premium, whether for cash, or otherwise, a sum equal to the aggregate amount or value of the premiums on those shares shall be transferred to an account to be called the Share Premium Account.

10. Subject to any restrictions contained in Section 80 of the Act, the Company may at any time pay a commission to any person in consideration for subscribing or agreeing to subscribe (whether absolutely or conditionally) for any shares in the Company or procuring or agreeing to procure any subscription (whether absolutely or conditionally) for any shares in the Company. Such commission shall not exceed 10% (ten per centum) of the issue price of such shares and may be paid or agreed to be paid out of capital or out of profit, whether current or carried forward or standing to reserve, or out of both capital and profit. Any such commission may be satisfied in whole or in part in fully paid-up shares in the Company, provided that no such commission, or any portion thereof, shall be paid in shares without the prior approval of the Company in general meeting.

11. Where shares are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray expenses incurred in the construction or provision of any works, buildings or plant, then, if such works, buildings or plant, as the case may be, cannot be made profitable for a lengthy period, interest may (subject to any restrictions contained in Section 79 of the Act), be paid at a rate to be determined by the Company, or by the directors. Such interest shall not exceed any maximum rate permitted in terms of Section 79 of the Act.

12. No shares shall be issued which are, or which at the option of any party are, liable to be redeemed, other than preference shares.

13. Where the Company issues, for cash, shares having no par value, the entire proceeds of the issue of the shares shall be transferred to the Stated Capital Account.

14. If shares having no par value are issued by the Company for a consideration other than cash, a sum equal to the value of the consideration as determined by the directors shall be transferred to the Stated Capital Account.

15. / ...

15. The Share Premium Account and the Stated Capital Account may be applied by the Company in writing off :

(a) the preliminary expenses of the Company;

(b) the expenses of, or the commission paid on, the creation or issue of any shares created or issued for cash or for a consideration other than cash.

16. No new capital may be issued in the form of stock but paid-up shares may be converted into stock in terms of article 19(j).

17. The rights, privileges and advantages enjoyed by any number of shares converted to stock shall accrue to the stock arising from such conversion and shall be enjoyed by the several stockholders in proportion to the quantities of stock respectively held by them. Notwithstanding the foregoing, at any meeting of the members of the Company and at any meeting of any class of members of the Company :

(a) on a show of hands, no stockholder shall be entitled to vote unless the stock held by him is proportionally equivalent to at least one of the shares from which such stock arises; and

(b) on a poll, each stockholder shall have the same number of votes as if such stock consisted of as many units of equivalent number and value as the number and par value of the shares so converted.

Save as aforesaid and subject to article 18, all the provisions contained in these Articles shall, as far as circumstances permit, apply to stock as well as to shares.

18. The several holders of any stock may transfer their respective interests therein, or any part of such interests, in such manner as the Company in general meeting shall direct, but in default of such directive then in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any paid-up shares may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. The directors may from time to time, if they think fit, fix the minimum amount of stock transferable.

ALTERATION OF CAPITAL

19. The Company may by special resolution :

(a) increase its authorised share capital by such sum divided into shares of such amount or by such number of shares of no par value as the resolution shall prescribe;

(b) increase its paid-up share capital constituted by shares of no par value by transferring reserves or profits to the Stated

Capital / ...

Capital Account, with or without an issue of shares, but no such shares shall be issued except to the extent authorised by the Memorandum;

(c) consolidate and divide all or any part of its shares having a par value into shares of a larger amount than its existing shares having a par value;

(d) increase the number of its no par value shares without an increase of its stated capital;

(e) sub-divide all or any part of its shares having a par value into shares of smaller amount than its existing shares having a par value;

(f) convert all of its ordinary or preference share capital consisting of shares having a par value into stated capital constituted by shares of no par value; provided that there shall be transferred to the Stated Capital Account :

(i) the whole of such ordinary or preference share capital, as the case may be; and

(ii) the whole of the share premium account or that part thereof attributable to the shares so converted;

(g) convert its stated capital constituted by ordinary or preference shares of no par value into share capital consisting of shares having a par value; provided that there shall be transferred to the Share Capital Account or Accounts of the Company the whole of the Stated Capital Account or that part thereof attributable to the shares so converted; fractions, fractional surpluses or amounts arising in respect of the nominal share capital or the Stated Share Capital may be rounded off but material reductions shall be placed to a non-distributable reserve;

(h) vary the rights attached to any shares whether issued or not yet issued;

(i) convert any of its issued or unissued shares into shares of another class;

(j) convert any of its paid-up shares into stock, and reconvert any stock into any number of paid-up shares of any denomination; or

(k) convert any of its issued shares into preference shares which can be redeemed, subject to the provisions of Section 99 of the Act.

20. If at any time the issued share capital is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class, unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of that class, may not be varied except with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than three-fourths of the issued shares of that class or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of shares of that class, and the provisions of Section 199 of the Act and the provisions of these articles shall mutatis mutandis apply to the said resolution and meeting as if the resolution were a special resolution and the meeting were a general meeting of the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the quorum of such a meeting shall be at least 3 (three) members, or 75% (seventy five per centum) of the members of that class, whichever is the lesser, present in person or by their representatives, agents or proxies, holding at least one half of the issued shares of that class. A share shall be a share of a different class from another share if the two shares do not rank pari passu in every respect.

REDUCTION OF CAPITAL

21. The Company may from time to time, by special resolution, reduce the share capital authorised by its Memorandum, or reduce its issued share capital, including, without limitation, any stated capital, capital redemption reserve fund and share premium account, in any way authorised by law.

22. In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the power in article 21, the Company may by special resolution :-

(a) cancel shares, which, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person, and diminish the amount of the authorised or issued share capital by the amount of the shares so cancelled;

(b) with or without extinguishing or reducing the liability on any of its shares :

(i) cancel any issued share capital which is lost, or unrepresented by available assets; or

(ii) pay off any issued share capital which is in excess of the requirements of the Company; or

(c) redeem any redeemable preference shares of the Company.

TITLE TO SHARES

23. The registered holder or holders of any shares shall, during his or their respective lifetimes and while not subject to any legal incapacity, be the only person or persons recognised by the Company as having any right to or in respect of such shares and, in particular, the Company shall not be bound to recognise :

(a) / ...

(a) that the registered holder or holders hold such shares upon trust for, or as the nominees of, any other person; or

(b) that any person, other than the registered holder or holders, holds any contingent, future or partial interest in such shares or any interest in any fractional part of any of such shares.

24. Where any share is registered in the names of two or more persons they shall be deemed to be joint holders. Accordingly where any member dies, the survivor or survivors, where the deceased was a joint holder, and the executor of the deceased, where the deceased was the sole holder, shall be the only persons recognised by the Company as having any right to the interest of the deceased in any shares of the Company.

25. The Company may enter in the register as a member, nomine officii, of the Company, the name of any person who submits proof of his appointment as the executor, administrator, trustee, curator or guardian in respect of the estate of a deceased member of the Company or of a member whose estate has been sequestrated or of a member who is otherwise under disability or as the liquidator of any body corporate in the course of being wound up which is a member of the Company, and any person whose name has been so entered in the register shall be deemed to be a member of the Company.

26. A person producing evidence of his entitlement to any shares in terms of article 25 shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the shares, except that he shall not, before being registered as a member in respect of such shares, be entitled to vote in respect of such shares at any general meeting, or at any meeting of the holders of that class of shares to which such shares belong, except in terms of the provisions of article 65 (b) and (c).

SHARE CERTIFICATES

27. Every person whose name is entered in the register of members as the holder of shares of any class and every person who transfers a part of his holding of shares of any class shall be entitled to receive within 21 (twenty-one) days after allotment or lodgment for transfer 1 (one) certificate for all, or for the balance of, his shares of that class, as the case may be. The Company may at its discretion adopt the certification procedure provided for in Section 136 of the Act. A certificate for any shares registered in the names of two or more persons shall be delivered to the person first named in the register as a holder thereof, and such delivery shall satisfy the entitlement of all joint holders of such shares to share certificates in pursuance of this article. If a share certificate is defaced, lost or destroyed, it may be renewed on payment of such fee, if any, not exceeding R2,00 (two Rand) [illegible] directors may think fit.

28. Certificates of title to shares, options on shares, or other documents of title shall be issued under the authority of the directors, or under the authority of any local committee duly authorised by resolution of the directors, in such manner and form as the directors shall, subject to articles 29, 30 and 31, from time to time prescribe.

29. Every certificate of title to shares or options on shares shall specify the number and type of shares in respect of which they are issued.

30. If any shares are numbered, all such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression beginning with the number one and each share certificate shall specify the numbers of the shares in respect of which it is issued. If any shares do not have distinguishing numbers, each certificate in respect of such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression and shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

31. The certificates of title to shares and debentures and to options on shares and debentures shall be issued under the authority of the directors, or of a local committee when authorised thereto by the directors, in such manner and form as the directors may from time to time prescribe. Such certificates shall bear the signature of two directors and of the secretary or transfer secretary or of two members of a local committee and of the local secretary or transfer secretary or, alternatively, shall be under the seal of the company and shall bear the signature of one director and of the secretary or transfer secretary or of one member of a local committee and of the local secretary or transfer secretary. All such signatures shall be autographic unless the directors by resolution shall determine that the said signatures generally or in any particular case shall be affixed by some method of mechanical signature which is controlled by the internal or external auditors or transfer auditors or bankers of the company or such other person as may be acceptable to any stock exchange upon which the company's shares may from time to time be listed or quoted.

SHARE WARRANTS

32. The directors or, if so authorised, any local committee appointed by them, may issue warrants relating to fully paid-up shares, stating that the bearer is entitled to the shares therein specified, and may provide, by coupons or otherwise, for the payment of future dividends on the shares represented by such warrants. The directors may from time to time determine the terms and conditions upon which share warrants shall be issued.

33. (a) The bearer of a share warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the transfer office of the Company, and while the warrant remains deposited the depositor shall have the same right to sign a requisition to call a meeting of the Company, and to attend, vote and exercise the other privileges of a member at any meeting as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant, provided that such share warrant shall be deposited at the transfer office not later than 48 (forty-eight) hours (Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays excluded) before the meeting. Not more than one person shall be recognised as depositor of the share warrant. The Company shall, on written request, return the deposited share warrant to the depositor.

(b) Except in terms of paragraph (a), no bearer of a share warrant shall sign a requisition to call a meeting of the Company, or shall attend, vote or exercise any other privilege of a member at a meeting of the Company, or be entitled to receive any notices from the Company; but the bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled in all other respects to the same privileges and advantages as if he were named in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the warrant.

(c) The bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled, on surrendering it for cancellation, to have his name entered as a member in the register of members.

34. The directors may from time to time determine :

(a) the conditions upon which any new share warrants or coupons may be issued in place of warrants worn out, defaced or destroyed; provided however, that no new share warrant shall be issued in place of one alleged to be lost unless and until it be proved to the satisfaction of the directors to have been destroyed; and

(b) the conditions upon which any share warrant may be surrendered for cancellation with a view to entering the name of the holder in the register of members and issuing in place of such share warrant a share certificate or certificates in respect of the shares in question.

The holder of a share warrant shall be bound by any determination by the directors in terms of this article 34 for the time being in force whether made before or after the issue of such warrant.

35. A share warrant shall be transferred by delivery of the warrant and not by instrument of transfer, and the provisions of articles 36 to 39 inclusive shall not apply to share warrants.

INSTRUMENTS OF TRANSFER

36. Any member may transfer all or any of his shares by instrument in writing in any usual or common form or any other form which the directors may approve.

37. Every such instrument shall be executed by the transferor, or if the directors determine, by the transferor and the transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain the holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

38. Every power of attorney given by a member authorising the transfer of shares, shall, when lodged, produced or exhibited to the Company or any of its officers, be deemed as between the Company and the grantor of the power to continue and remain in full force and effect, and the Company may allow that power to be acted upon until such time as express notice in writing of its revocation has been lodged at the transfer office. Notwithstanding receipt of such notice of revocation the Company shall be entitled to give effect to any instrument of transfer which is certified by an official of the Company to have been received by the Company prior to the receipt of such revocation provided that such instrument would, but for such revocation, have been validly and regularly executed. The Company shall not be bound to allow the exercise of any act or matter by an agent for a member unless a duly certified copy of that agent's authority be produced and lodged with the Company.

39. Every instrument of transfer shall be left at the transfer office accompanied by a certificate of the shares to be transferred unless such instrument of transfer has been certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act. The directors may dispense with the production of the certificate on good cause being shown. The directors may decline to recognise any instrument of transfer unless :

(a) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the share certificate to which it relates, (or is certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act), and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer; and

(b) the share transfer duty thereon has been paid.

All instruments of transfer which shall be registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer which the directors may decline to register shall, except in the case of fraud, be returned, on demand, to the person depositing the same.

CONSTITUTION

40. The Directors may at any time convene general meetings of the Company. The directors shall convene a general meeting upon the requisition of members in terms of Section 181 of the Act. The members empowered by Section 180 of the Act may convene a general meeting in terms of that section.

41. / ...

41. (a) The Company shall hold its first annual general meeting within 18 (eighteen) months after the date of its incorporation and thereafter it shall hold an annual general meeting in respect of each financial year; provided that not more than 15 (fifteen) months shall elapse between the date of one annual general meeting and that of the next, and that an annual general meeting shall be held within 6 (six) months after the expiration of each financial year of the Company. Other general meetings of the Company may be held at any time.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of article 41(a), if the Company is not a listed company, the Company shall not be required to hold an annual general meeting if all the members entitled to attend and vote at an annual general meeting sign a resolution in accordance with the provisions of Section 179 of the Act before the expiration of the time limits referred to in article 41(a).

42. An annual general meeting or any other general meeting shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint unless the meeting is convened under Sections 179, 181, 182 or 183 of the Act, in which case such meeting shall be held at such time and place, and subject to such conditions, as may be determined in pursuance of such sections.

43. If at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within one half hour after the time appointed for the meeting, the members present in person or by representative, agent or proxy shall be a quorum, unless the Company is a subsidiary of a listed company, in which case the meeting shall be dissolved.

No notice need be given of a poll not taken immediately. The demand for a poll shall not prevent the continuation of the meeting for the transaction of any business other than the question upon which the poll is demanded.

64. Notwithstanding any postponement of the taking of the poll the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll is demanded, and shall be subject to Section 203(2) of the Act.

The instrument appointing a proxy to vote at a meeting of the Company shall be deemed also to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll, and, for the purposes of Section 198 of the Act, a demand by a person as proxy for a member shall be the same as a demand by the member.

70. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointer or of his agent, or if the appointer is a body corporate, under the hand of an officer or agent authorised by the body corporate. The proxy need not be a member of the Company.

(i) guarantees in respect of the borrowing of moneys, where the amount of such borrowing is already included in the aggregate referred to in article 125;

(ii) guarantees of the obligations of any subsidiary where such obligations arise from acts which, if they had been performed by the Company as principal, would not constitute borrowings within the meaning of this Article;

provided that where the guarantees have been executed to secure bank overdraft or other facilities, of a variable nature, such guarantees shall only be deemed to be borrowings to the extent to which such overdraft or other facilities are used from time to time;

(b) not include any borrowing by the Company from any of its subsidiaries or by any of its subsidiaries from the Company or from any other of its subsidiaries.

127. In the event that the Company is a subsidiary of a listed holding company, the total amount owing by the Company in respect of monies so raised, borrowed or secured shall not exceed the amount authorised by its listed holding company.

RESERVES

130. The directors may, before declaring or recommending any dividends, set aside out of the amount available for dividends such sum as they think proper as a reserve or an addition thereto. The directors may divide the reserve into such special funds as they think fit, with full power to employ the assets constituting such fund or funds in the business of the Company or they may invest the same upon such investments (other than shares of the Company) as they may select without being liable for any depreciation of or loss in consequence of such investments, whether the same be usual or authorised investments for trust funds or not.

131. The reserve may, at the discretion of the directors, be applicable for the equalisation of dividends or for making provision for exceptional losses, expenses or contingencies or the extension or development of the Company's business or for writing down the value of any of the assets of the Company, or for repairing, improving and maintaining any buildings, plant, machinery or works connected with the business of the Company, or to cover the loss in wear and tear or other depreciation in value of any property of the Company, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the Company may be properly applied, and the directors may at any time divide among the members by way of bonus or special dividends any part of the reserve which in their opinion is not required for the purposes aforesaid, and as may be permitted by the Statutes.

133. No larger dividend shall be declared by the Company in general meeting than is recommended by the directors, but the Company in general meeting may declare a smaller dividend.

(b) No dividend shall bear interest against the Company.

(c) Dividends may be declared either free or subject to the deduction of income tax and any other tax or duty in respect of which the Company may be chargeable.

137. Any dividend declared may be paid and satisfied, either wholly or in part, by the distribution of specific assets, and in particular of shares or debentures of any other company, or in cash, or in any one or more of such ways, as the directors may at the time of declaring the dividend determine and direct. If any difficulty arises in the course of such distribution the directors may settle the manner of distribution as they think expedient, and in particular may assign a value to any specific assets, determine that cash payments shall be made to any members upon the basis of such valuation and vest any such assets in trustees upon trust for the persons entitled to the dividend in such manner as they see fit.

139. The payment of such cheque or warrant or the surrender of any coupon shall be a good discharge to the Company of the obligation to pay the amount specified in such document. ALLOTMENT AND ISSUE OF CAPITAL

2. Shares may, subject to the provisions of articles 4 to 19 inclusive, be allotted and issued by the Company to such persons, at such times, on such terms and conditions and with such preferred, deferred or other rights and with such restrictions in regard to dividend, voting, return of share capital or otherwise as the Company in general meeting may determine.

3. The Company in general meeting may delegate to the directors, to such extent and on such conditions as the Company may, in its sole discretion, see fit, the power conferred on the Company in terms of article 2 to prescribe to whom, at what time or times and on what terms and conditions any unissued shares, or certain specified unissued shares, may be allotted and issued. Such delegated power shall be subject to the restrictions contained in Sections 221 and 222 of the Act.

4. The Company may, before the issue of any new shares, determine that the same or any of them shall be offered in the first instance and either at par or at a premium or at a stated value in respect of shares having no par value, to all the members in proportion to the amount of the capital held by them, or make any other provision as to the allotment and issue of the new shares.

5. Except insofar as is otherwise provided by the conditions of issue or by these Articles, any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered part of the original capital, and shall be subject to the provisions herein contained with reference to transfer and transmission and otherwise.

6. Nothing contained in these Articles shall preclude the directors from allowing the allotment of any shares to be renounced in favour of some other person.

7. / ...

7. Shares may be issued at par or at a premium or, subject to Section 81 of the Act, at a discount, or may be issued at a stated value in respect of shares having no par value.

8. No partly paid-up shares shall be allotted or issued except in terms of Section 92 of the Act.

9. Where the Company issues shares at a premium, whether for cash, or otherwise, a sum equal to the aggregate amount or value of the premiums on those shares shall be transferred to an account to be called the Share Premium Account.

10. Subject to any restrictions contained in Section 80 of the Act, the Company may at any time pay a commission to any person in consideration for subscribing or agreeing to subscribe (whether absolutely or conditionally) for any shares in the Company or procuring or agreeing to procure any subscription (whether absolutely or conditionally) for any shares in the Company. Such commission shall not exceed 10% (ten per centum) of the issue price of such shares and may be paid or agreed to be paid out of capital or out of profit, whether current or carried forward or standing to reserve, or out of both capital and profit. Any such commission may be satisfied in whole or in part in fully paid-up shares in the Company, provided that no such commission, or any portion thereof, shall be paid in shares without the prior approval of the Company in general meeting.

11. Where shares are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray expenses incurred in the construction or provision of any works, buildings or plant, then, if such works, buildings or plant, as the case may be, cannot be made profitable for a lengthy period, interest may (subject to any restrictions contained in Section 79 of the Act), be paid at a rate to be determined by the Company, or by the directors. Such interest shall not exceed any maximum rate permitted in terms of Section 79 of the Act.

12. No shares shall be issued which are, or which at the option of any party are, liable to be redeemed, other than preference shares.

13. Where the Company issues, for cash, shares having no par value, the entire proceeds of the issue of the shares shall be transferred to the Stated Capital Account.

14. If shares having no par value are issued by the Company for a consideration other than cash, a sum equal to the value of the consideration as determined by the directors shall be transferred to the Stated Capital Account.

15. / ...

15. The Share Premium Account and the Stated Capital Account may be applied by the Company in writing off :

(a) the preliminary expenses of the Company;

(b) the expenses of, or the commission paid on, the creation or issue of any shares created or issued for cash or for a consideration other than cash.

16. No new capital may be issued in the form of stock but paid-up shares may be converted into stock in terms of article 19(j).

17. The rights, privileges and advantages enjoyed by any number of shares converted to stock shall accrue to the stock arising from such conversion and shall be enjoyed by the several stockholders in proportion to the quantities of stock respectively held by them. Notwithstanding the foregoing, at any meeting of the members of the Company and at any meeting of any class of members of the Company :

(a) on a show of hands, no stockholder shall be entitled to vote unless the stock held by him is proportionally equivalent to at least one of the shares from which such stock arises; and

(b) on a poll, each stockholder shall have the same number of votes as if such stock consisted of as many units of equivalent number and value as the number and par value of the shares so converted.

Save as aforesaid and subject to article 18, all the provisions contained in these Articles shall, as far as circumstances permit, apply to stock as well as to shares.

18. The several holders of any stock may transfer their respective interests therein, or any part of such interests, in such manner as the Company in general meeting shall direct, but in default of such directive then in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any paid-up shares may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. The directors may from time to time, if they think fit, fix the minimum amount of stock transferable.

ALTERATION OF CAPITAL

19. The Company may by special resolution :

(a) increase its authorised share capital by such sum divided into shares of such amount or by such number of shares of no par value as the resolution shall prescribe;

(b) increase its paid-up share capital constituted by shares of no par value by transferring reserves or profits to the Stated

Capital / ...

Capital Account, with or without an issue of shares, but no such shares shall be issued except to the extent authorised by the Memorandum;

(c) consolidate and divide all or any part of its shares having a par value into shares of a larger amount than its existing shares having a par value;

(d) increase the number of its no par value shares without an increase of its stated capital;

(e) sub-divide all or any part of its shares having a par value into shares of smaller amount than its existing shares having a par value;

(f) convert all of its ordinary or preference share capital consisting of shares having a par value into stated capital constituted by shares of no par value; provided that there shall be transferred to the Stated Capital Account :

(i) the whole of such ordinary or preference share capital, as the case may be; and

(ii) the whole of the share premium account or that part thereof attributable to the shares so converted;

(g) convert its stated capital constituted by ordinary or preference shares of no par value into share capital consisting of shares having a par value; provided that there shall be transferred to the Share Capital Account or Accounts of the Company the whole of the Stated Capital Account or that part thereof attributable to the shares so converted; fractions, fractional surpluses or amounts arising in respect of the nominal share capital or the Stated Share Capital may be rounded off but material reductions shall be placed to a non-distributable reserve;

(h) vary the rights attached to any shares whether issued or not yet issued;

(i) convert any of its issued or unissued shares into shares of another class;

(j) convert any of its paid-up shares into stock, and reconvert any stock into any number of paid-up shares of any denomination; or

(k) convert any of its issued shares into preference shares which can be redeemed, subject to the provisions of Section 99 of the Act.

20. If at any time the issued share capital is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class, unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of that class, may not be varied except with the consent in writing of the holders of not less than three-fourths of the issued shares of that class or with the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of shares of that class, and the provisions of Section 199 of the Act and the provisions of these articles shall mutatis mutandis apply to the said resolution and meeting as if the resolution were a special resolution and the meeting were a general meeting of the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the quorum of such a meeting shall be at least 3 (three) members, or 75% (seventy five per centum) of the members of that class, whichever is the lesser, present in person or by their representatives, agents or proxies, holding at least one half of the issued shares of that class. A share shall be a share of a different class from another share if the two shares do not rank pari passu in every respect.

REDUCTION OF CAPITAL

21. The Company may from time to time, by special resolution, reduce the share capital authorised by its Memorandum, or reduce its issued share capital, including, without limitation, any stated capital, capital redemption reserve fund and share premium account, in any way authorised by law.

22. In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the power in article 21, the Company may by special resolution :-

(a) cancel shares, which, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person, and diminish the amount of the authorised or issued share capital by the amount of the shares so cancelled;

(b) with or without extinguishing or reducing the liability on any of its shares :

(i) cancel any issued share capital which is lost, or unrepresented by available assets; or

(ii) pay off any issued share capital which is in excess of the requirements of the Company; or

(c) redeem any redeemable preference shares of the Company.

TITLE TO SHARES

23. The registered holder or holders of any shares shall, during his or their respective lifetimes and while not subject to any legal incapacity, be the only person or persons recognised by the Company as having any right to or in respect of such shares and, in particular, the Company shall not be bound to recognise :

(a) / ...

(a) that the registered holder or holders hold such shares upon trust for, or as the nominees of, any other person; or

(b) that any person, other than the registered holder or holders, holds any contingent, future or partial interest in such shares or any interest in any fractional part of any of such shares.

24. Where any share is registered in the names of two or more persons they shall be deemed to be joint holders. Accordingly where any member dies, the survivor or survivors, where the deceased was a joint holder, and the executor of the deceased, where the deceased was the sole holder, shall be the only persons recognised by the Company as having any right to the interest of the deceased in any shares of the Company.

25. The Company may enter in the register as a member, nomine officii, of the Company, the name of any person who submits proof of his appointment as the executor, administrator, trustee, curator or guardian in respect of the estate of a deceased member of the Company or of a member whose estate has been sequestrated or of a member who is otherwise under disability or as the liquidator of any body corporate in the course of being wound up which is a member of the Company, and any person whose name has been so entered in the register shall be deemed to be a member of the Company.

26. A person producing evidence of his entitlement to any shares in terms of article 25 shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the shares, except that he shall not, before being registered as a member in respect of such shares, be entitled to vote in respect of such shares at any general meeting, or at any meeting of the holders of that class of shares to which such shares belong, except in terms of the provisions of article 65 (b) and (c).

SHARE CERTIFICATES

27. Every person whose name is entered in the register of members as the holder of shares of any class and every person who transfers a part of his holding of shares of any class shall be entitled to receive within 21 (twenty-one) days after allotment or lodgment for transfer 1 (one) certificate for all, or for the balance of, his shares of that class, as the case may be. The Company may at its discretion adopt the certification procedure provided for in Section 136 of the Act. A certificate for any shares registered in the names of two or more persons shall be delivered to the person first named in the register as a holder thereof, and such delivery shall satisfy the entitlement of all joint holders of such shares to share certificates in pursuance of this article. If a share certificate is defaced, lost or destroyed, it may be renewed on payment of such fee, if any, not exceeding R2,00 (two Rand) and on such terms, if any, as to evidence and indemnity as the directors may think fit.

28. Certificates of title to shares, options on shares, or other documents of title shall be issued under the authority of the directors, or under the authority of any local committee duly authorised by resolution of the directors, in such manner and form as the directors shall, subject to articles 29, 30 and 31, from time to time prescribe.

29. Every certificate of title to shares or options on shares shall specify the number and type of shares in respect of which they are issued.

30. If any shares are numbered, all such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression beginning with the number one and each share certificate shall specify the numbers of the shares in respect of which it is issued. If any shares do not have distinguishing numbers, each certificate in respect of such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression and shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

31. The certificates of title to shares and debentures and to options on shares and debentures shall be issued under the authority of the directors, or of a local committee when authorised thereto by the directors, in such manner and form as the directors may from time to time prescribe. Such certificates shall bear the signature of two directors and of the secretary or transfer secretary or of two members of a local committee and of the local secretary or transfer secretary or, alternatively, shall be under the seal of the company and shall bear the signature of one director and of the secretary or transfer secretary or of one member of a local committee and of the local secretary or transfer secretary. All such signatures shall be autographic unless the directors by resolution shall determine that the said signatures generally or in any particular case shall be affixed by some method of mechanical signature which is controlled by the internal or external auditors or transfer auditors or bankers of the company or such other person as may be acceptable to any stock exchange upon which the company's shares may from time to time be listed or quoted.

SHARE WARRANTS

32. The directors or, if so authorised, any local committee appointed by them, may issue warrants relating to fully paid-up shares, stating that the bearer is entitled to the shares therein specified, and may provide, by coupons or otherwise, for the payment of future dividends on the shares represented by such warrants. The directors may from time to time determine the terms and conditions upon which share warrants shall be issued.

33. (a) The bearer of a share warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the transfer office of the Company, and while the warrant remains deposited the depositor shall have the same right to sign a requisition to call a meeting of the Company, and to attend, vote and exercise the other privileges of a member at any meeting as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant, provided that such share warrant shall be deposited at the transfer office not later than 48 (forty-eight) hours (Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays excluded) before the meeting. Not more than one person shall be recognised as depositor of the share warrant. The Company shall, on written request, return the deposited share warrant to the depositor.

(b) Except in terms of paragraph (a), no bearer of a share warrant shall sign a requisition to call a meeting of the Company, or shall attend, vote or exercise any other privilege of a member at a meeting of the Company, or be entitled to receive any notices from the Company; but the bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled in all other respects to the same privileges and advantages as if he were named in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the warrant.

(c) The bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled, on surrendering it for cancellation, to have his name entered as a member in the register of members.

34. The directors may from time to time determine :

(a) the conditions upon which any new share warrants or coupons may be issued in place of warrants worn out, defaced or destroyed; provided however, that no new share warrant shall be issued in place of one alleged to be lost unless and until it be proved to the satisfaction of the directors to have been destroyed; and

(b) the conditions upon which any share warrant may be surrendered for cancellation with a view to entering the name of the holder in the register of members and issuing in place of such share warrant a share certificate or certificates in respect of the shares in question.

The holder of a share warrant shall be bound by any determination by the directors in terms of this article 34 for the time being in force whether made before or after the issue of such warrant.

35. A share warrant shall be transferred by delivery of the warrant and not by instrument of transfer, and the provisions of articles 36 to 39 inclusive shall not apply to share warrants.

INSTRUMENTS OF TRANSFER

36. Any member may transfer all or any of his shares by instrument in writing in any usual or common form or any other form which the directors may approve.

37. Every such instrument shall be executed by the transferor, or if the directors determine, by the transferor and the transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain the holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

38. Every power of attorney given by a member authorising the transfer of shares, shall, when lodged, produced or exhibited to the Company or any of its officers, be deemed as between the Company and the grantor of the power to continue and remain in full force and effect, and the Company may allow that power to be acted upon until such time as express notice in writing of its revocation has been lodged at the transfer office. Notwithstanding receipt of such notice of revocation the Company shall be entitled to give effect to any instrument of transfer which is certified by an official of the Company to have been received by the Company prior to the receipt of such revocation provided that such instrument would, but for such revocation, have been validly and regularly executed. The Company shall not be bound to allow the exercise of any act or matter by an agent for a member unless a duly certified copy of that agent's authority be produced and lodged with the Company.

39. Every instrument of transfer shall be left at the transfer office accompanied by a certificate of the shares to be transferred unless such instrument of transfer has been certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act. The directors may dispense with the production of the certificate on good cause being shown. The directors may decline to recognise any instrument of transfer unless :

(a) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the share certificate to which it relates, (or is certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act), and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer; and

(b) the share transfer duty thereon has been paid.

All instruments of transfer which shall be registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer which the directors may decline to register shall, except in the case of fraud, be returned, on demand, to the person depositing the same.

CONSTITUTION

40. The Directors may at any time convene general meetings of the Company. The directors shall convene a general meeting upon the requisition of members in terms of Section 181 of the Act. The members empowered by Section 180 of the Act may convene a general meeting in terms of that section.

41. / ...

41. (a) The Company shall hold its first annual general meeting within 18 (eighteen) months after the date of its incorporation and thereafter it shall hold an annual general meeting in respect of each financial year; provided that not more than 15 (fifteen) months shall elapse between the date of one annual general meeting and that of the next, and that an annual general meeting shall be held within 6 (six) months after the expiration of each financial year of the Company. Other general meetings of the Company may be held at any time.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of article 41(a), if the Company is not a listed company, the Company shall not be required to hold an annual general meeting if all the members entitled to attend and vote at an annual general meeting sign a resolution in accordance with the provisions of Section 179 of the Act before the expiration of the time limits referred to in article 41(a).

42. An annual general meeting or any other general meeting shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint unless the meeting is convened under Sections 179, 181, 182 or 183 of the Act, in which case such meeting shall be held at such time and place, and subject to such conditions, as may be determined in pursuance of such sections.

43. An annual general meeting and a meeting called for the passing of a special resolution shall be called by not less than 21 (twenty-one) clear days' notice in writing and any other general meeting shall be called by not less than 14 (fourteen) clear days' notice in writing, so that the notice period shall not include the day on which it is served, or deemed to be served, or the date on which the meeting is to be held. A meeting may be called by shorter notice and shall be deemed to have been duly called if it is so agreed by a majority in number of the members having a right to attend and vote at the meeting, being a majority holding not less than 95% (ninety-five per centum) of the total voting rights of all members.

44. Notwithstanding the provisions of article 43 no resolution requiring special notice shall be effective unless notice of the intention to move such resolution has been given to the Company not less than 28 (twenty-eight) days before the meeting at which it is to be moved, and unless notice of the resolution is given by the Company to the members in accordance with the provisions of Section 186 of the Act. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if notice of an intention to move a special resolution is given to the Company before the Company issues notice to its members calling a general meeting, then such notice of intention to move such resolution shall be deemed to be validly given even if the meeting is called for a day 28 (twenty-eight) days or less after such notice of intention to move such resolution is given to the Company.

45. / ...

45. Any notice calling a general meeting which is given by the Company to its members shall specify the place, the day and the time of the meeting and shall be given in the manner hereinafter specified or in such other manner, if any, as may be determined by the directors or by the Company in general meeting. Such notice shall comply with the provisions of Section 189 of the Act. If the Company maintains a branch register, then notice of the meeting may, in the case of members whose names are entered on the branch register, be given from the transfer office where such branch register is kept.

46. If the Company is a listed company notice of all general meetings shall be given to the Manager (Listings) of The Johannesburg Stock Exchange at the same time as such notice is given to members.

123. Any such agent or attorney may be authorised by the directors to delegate all or any of the powers, authorities and discretions for the time being vested in them.

BORROWING POWERS

124. Subject to articles 125 and 127 the directors may from time to time at their discretion raise or borrow or secure the payment of any sum or sums of money for the purposes of the Company as they see fit, and in particular may pass mortgage bonds or issue debentures or debenture stock of the Company whether unsecured or secured by all or any part of the property of the Company, whether present or future.

125. Where the Company is a listed company and is not a subsidiary of a listed company, the aggregate amount owing in respect of moneys so raised, borrowed or secured by the Company and any of its subsidiary companies, exclusive of inter-company borrowings, shall not except with the consent of the Company in general meeting, exceed the aggregate from time to time of the issued and paid-up capital of the Company; together with the aggregate of the amounts standing to the credit of all distributable and non-distributable reserves (including / ...

(including minority interests in subsidiary companies and provisions for deferred taxation), any share premium accounts of the Company and its subsidiaries certified by the Company's auditors and as attached to or forming part of the last consolidated annual financial statements of the Company which shall have been drawn up to be laid before the Company in general meeting at the relevant time; provided that no such sanction shall be required to the borrowing of any monies intended to be applied and actually applied within 90 (ninety) days in the repayment (with or without any premium) of any monies then already borrowed and outstanding and notwithstanding that such new borrowing may result in the abovementioned limit being exceeded.

126. For the purposes of article 125 "borrowings" shall :-

(a) without limitation, include monetary guarantees executed by the Company or by any controlled company or subsidiary of the Company other than :

(i) guarantees in respect of the borrowing of moneys, where the amount of such borrowing is already included in the aggregate referred to in article 125;

(ii) guarantees of the obligations of any subsidiary where such obligations arise from acts which, if they had been performed by the Company as principal, would not constitute borrowings within the meaning of this Article;

provided that where the guarantees have been executed to secure bank overdraft or other facilities, of a variable nature, such guarantees shall only be deemed to be borrowings to the extent to which such overdraft or other facilities are used from time to time;

(b) not include any borrowing by the Company from any of its subsidiaries or by any of its subsidiaries from the Company or from any other of its subsidiaries.

127. In the event that the Company is a subsidiary of a listed holding company, the total amount owing by the Company in respect of monies so raised, borrowed or secured shall not exceed the amount authorised by its listed holding company.

128. No lender or person dealing with the Company shall be obliged to see or enquire whether the restrictions imposed by articles 125 and 127 are observed.

129. Debentures, debenture stock, bonds and other instruments of debt may be issued at par or at a discount or at a premium, and with any special privileges as to redemption, surrender and drawings, provided that no special privileges as to allotment of shares or stock, attending and voting at general meetings, appointment of directors or otherwise shall be given save with the sanction of the Company in general meeting.

RESERVES

130. The directors may, before declaring or recommending any dividends, set aside out of the amount available for dividends such sum as they think proper as a reserve or an addition thereto. The directors may divide the reserve into such special funds as they think fit, with full power to employ the assets constituting such fund or funds in the business of the Company or they may invest the same upon such investments (other than shares of the Company) as they may select without being liable for any depreciation of or loss in consequence of such investments, whether the same be usual or authorised investments for trust funds or not.

131. The reserve may, at the discretion of the directors, be applicable for the equalisation of dividends or for making provision for exceptional losses, expenses or contingencies or the extension or development of the Company's business or for writing down the value of any of the assets of the Company, or for repairing, improving and maintaining any buildings, plant, machinery or works connected with the business of the Company, or to cover the loss in wear and tear or other depreciation in value of any property of the Company, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the Company may be properly applied, and the directors may at any time divide among the members by way of bonus or special dividends any part of the reserve which in their opinion is not required for the purposes aforesaid, and as may be permitted by the Statutes.

DIVIDENDS

DECLARATION

132. The Company in general meeting or the directors may from time to time declare a dividend to be paid to the members in proportion to the number of their shares.

133. No larger dividend shall be declared by the Company in general meeting than is recommended by the directors, but the Company in general meeting may declare a smaller dividend.

134. No dividend shall be declared except out of the profits of the Company. The declaration of the directors as to the amount of the profits of the Company shall be conclusive.

135. / ...

(a) Dividends shall be declared in South African currency provided that the directors shall have power, where any members of the Company reside outside the Republic, to declare a dividend in any other relevant currency subject to such laws or regulations as may be applicable thereto, and in such event to determine the date on which and the rate of exchange at which it shall be converted into the other currency.

(b) No dividend shall bear interest against the Company.

(c) Dividends may be declared either free or subject to the deduction of income tax and any other tax or duty in respect of which the Company may be chargeable.

PAYMENT

136. Dividends shall be payable to shareholders standing registered as at a date to be determined which date shall be subsequent to the date of declaration or the date of confirmation of the dividend, whichever is the later. The period between the later of the said dates and the date of the closing of the transfer registers in respect of the dividend shall where the Company is a listed company, be not less than 14 (fourteen) days.

137. Any dividend declared may be paid and satisfied, either wholly or in part, by the distribution of specific assets, and in particular of shares or debentures of any other company, or in cash, or in any one or more of such ways, as the directors may at the time of declaring the dividend determine and direct. If any difficulty arises in the course of such distribution the directors may settle the manner of distribution as they think expedient, and in particular may assign a value to any specific assets, determine that cash payments shall be made to any members upon the basis of such valuation and vest any such assets in trustees upon trust for the persons entitled to the dividend in such manner as they see fit.

138. Any dividend may be paid by cheque, warrant, coupon or otherwise as the directors may from time to time determine, and may, if paid otherwise than by coupon, be sent by post to the last registered address of the member entitled thereto or, in the case of a joint holding, of the member first named in the register in respect of such holding, or may be sent to any other address specified for the purpose by such member or first named member, as the case may be.

139. The payment of such cheque or warrant or the surrender of any coupon shall be a good discharge to the Company of the obligation to pay the amount specified in such document. In any case where several persons are registered as the joint holders of any share, any one of such persons may give effectual receipt for all dividends and payments on account of dividends in respect of such share.

140. / ...

140. The Company shall not be responsible for the loss of, or any delay in, the transmission of any cheque, warrant or other document sent through the post to the registered address of any member whether or not such document was so sent at the request of such member.

141. All unclaimed dividends may be invested or otherwise made use of by the directors for the benefit of the Company until claimed. Any dividend remaining unclaimed for a period of 12 (twelve) years from the date of declaration thereof may be declared by the directors to be forfeited to the Company.

143. The reserves of the Company, including the non-distributable reserves, may at any time be applied in paying up shares of the Company and in issuing such shares to the members of the Company in accordance with the provisions of these Articles relating to the issue of shares. Any such shares may be distributed among existing holders of the class of shares to which such shares belong, pro rata to their existing holdings, or may be dealt with in such other manner as the Company or the directors, as the case may be, may, subject to these Articles, determine.

144. If any difficulty arises in the issue of any shares in terms of article 143 the directors may settle the same as they think expedient, and in particular they may issue certificates, fix the value for distribution of such shares, make cash payments to any holders of shares on the basis of the value so fixed in order to adjust rights, and vest any shares or assets in trustees upon trust for the persons entitled to participate in such issue as may seem just and expedient to the directors.

145. A contract or memorandum shall be filed where appropriate in accordance with Section 93 of the Act and the directors may appoint any person to sign such contract on behalf of the persons entitled to participate in the issue, and such contract may provide for the
