(c) A director, notwithstanding his interest may be counted in the quorum present at any meeting whereat he or any other director is appointed to hold any office or place of profit under the Company or whereat the directors resolve to exercise any of the rights of the Company (whether by the exercise of voting rights or otherwise) to appoint or concur in the appointment of a director to hold any office or place of profit under any other company or whereat the terms of any such appointment as hereinbefore mentioned are considered or varied, and he may vote on any such matter other than in respect of his own appointment or the arrangement or variation of the terms thereof.

89. Nothing contained in article 88 shall be taken or construed to prevent or debar any director as a member of the Company from taking part in or voting upon any question submitted to a general meeting, whether that director be personally interested or concerned in that question or not.

ROTATION

90. If the Company is a listed company all the directors shall retire at the first annual general meeting of the Company and thereafter at each annual general meeting one-third of the directors, or, if the number is not a multiple of three, then the number nearest to, but not exceeding, one-third shall retire from office. Subject to the provisions of article 111 the directors retiring in terms of the preceding sentence shall be the directors who have been longest in office since their last election or re-election. As between directors of equal seniority, the directors to retire shall, in the absence of agreement, be selected by lot. Notwithstanding anything herein contained, if at the date of any annual general meeting any director shall have held office for a period of at least 3 (three) years since his last election or re-election, he shall retire at such meeting, either as one of the directors to retire in pursuance of the foregoing or in addition thereto. A retiring director shall act as a director throughout the meeting at which he retires.

91. Retiring directors shall be eligible for re-election, but no person not being a retiring director shall be eligible for election to the office of director at any general meeting unless he, or some member intending to propose him, has not less than 48 (forty-eight) hours (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays) before the meeting left at the office of the Company a notice in writing duly signed signifying his candidature for the office, or the intention of such member to propose him.

92. / ...

92. If the Company is not a listed company the above provisions relating to rotation of directors shall not apply.

VACATION OF OFFICE

93. The office of director shall, notwithstanding the provisions of any agreement between the Company and the director, be vacated, ipso facto, if the director :

(a) ceases to be a director or becomes prohibited from becoming a director by virtue of any provision of the Act; or

(b) ceases to be a director by virtue of rotation in terms of article 90, unless re-appointed; or

(c) resigns his office by notice in writing to the Company; or

(d) is removed by ordinary resolution of the Company of which special notice has been given, provided that the other formalities prescribed by Section 220 of the Act are complied with; or

(e) is removed by resolution in writing signed by all his co-directors; or

(f) is absent for more than 6 (six) months, without permission of the directors from meetings of directors held during that period, is not represented at any of the said meetings by an alternate director and is removed by resolution in writing signed by a majority of his co-directors; or

(g) becomes insane; or

(h) becomes insolvent or compounds with his creditors or is sequestrated, whether provisionally or finally.

94. Nothing contained in article 93 shall prejudice any claim for damages arising from a breach of any agreement of service entered into between the Company and a director.

ALTERNATE DIRECTORS

95. Each director shall have the power to nominate any person, whether a member of the Company or not, to act as alternate director in his place during his absence or inability to act as such director, provided that the appointment of such alternate director shall be approved by the board.

96. An alternate director, while acting in the place of the director who appointed him, shall exercise and discharge all the powers, duties and functions of the director he represents.

97. / ...

(a) that the registered holder or holders hold such shares upon trust for, or as the nominees of, any other person; or

(b) that any person, other than the registered holder or holders, holds any contingent, future or partial interest in such shares or any interest in any fractional part of any of such shares.

24. Where any share is registered in the names of two or more persons they shall be deemed to be joint holders. Accordingly where any member dies, the survivor or survivors, where the deceased was a joint holder, and the executor of the deceased, where the deceased was the sole holder, shall be the only persons recognised by the Company as having any right to the interest of the deceased in any shares of the Company.

25. The Company may enter in the register as a member, nomine officii, of the Company, the name of any person who submits proof of his appointment as the executor, administrator, trustee, curator or guardian in respect of the estate of a deceased member of the Company or of a member whose estate has been sequestrated or of a member who is otherwise under disability or as the liquidator of any body corporate in the course of being wound up which is a member of the Company, and any person whose name has been so entered in the register shall be deemed to be a member of the Company.

26. A person producing evidence of his entitlement to any shares in terms of article 25 shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the shares, except that he shall not, before being registered as a member in respect of such shares, be entitled to vote in respect of such shares at any general meeting, or at any meeting of the holders of that class of shares to which such shares belong, except in terms of the provisions of article 65 (b) and (c).

SHARE CERTIFICATES

27. Every person whose name is entered in the register of members as the holder of shares of any class and every person who transfers a part of his holding of shares of any class shall be entitled to receive within 21 (twenty-one) days after allotment or lodgment for transfer 1 (one) certificate for all, or for the balance of, his shares of that class, as the case may be. The Company may at its discretion adopt the certification procedure provided for in Section 136 of the Act. A certificate for any shares registered in the names of two or more persons shall be delivered to the person first named in the register as a holder thereof, and such delivery shall satisfy the entitlement of all joint holders of such shares to share certificates in pursuance of this article. If a share certificate is defaced, lost or destroyed, it may be renewed on payment of such fee, if any, not exceeding R2,00 (two Rand) and on such terms, if any, as to evidence and indemnity as the directors may think fit.

28. Certificates of title to shares, options on shares, or other documents of title shall be issued under the authority of the directors, or under the authority of any local committee duly authorised by resolution of the directors, in such manner and form as the directors shall, subject to articles 29, 30 and 31, from time to time prescribe.

29. Every certificate of title to shares or options on shares shall specify the number and type of shares in respect of which they are issued.

30. If any shares are numbered, all such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression beginning with the number one and each share certificate shall specify the numbers of the shares in respect of which it is issued. If any shares do not have distinguishing numbers, each certificate in respect of such shares shall be numbered in numerical progression and shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

31. Every certificate of title to shares or to options on shares shall bear the signature of 2 (two) directors or 1 (one) director and an officer of the Company authorised by the directors. The directors may by resolution determine either generally or in any particular case that their signatures and those of any officer may be affixed by mechanical means. Save as aforesaid, all signatures referred to in this article shall be autographic.

SHARE WARRANTS

32. The directors or, if so authorised, any local committee appointed by them, may issue warrants relating to fully paid-up shares, stating that the bearer is entitled to the shares therein specified, and may provide, by coupons or otherwise, for the payment of future dividends on the shares represented by such warrants. The directors may from time to time determine the terms and conditions upon which share warrants shall be issued.

33. (a) The bearer of a share warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the transfer office of the Company, and while the warrant remains deposited the depositor shall have the same right to sign a requisition to call a meeting of the Company, and to attend, vote and exercise the other privileges of a member at any meeting as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant, provided that such share warrant shall be deposited at the transfer office not later than 48 (forty-eight) hours (Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays excluded) before the meeting. Not more than one person shall be recognised as depositor of the share warrant. The Company shall, on written request, return the deposited share warrant to the depositor.

(b) Except in terms of paragraph (a), no bearer of a share warrant shall sign a requisition to call a meeting of the Company, or shall attend, vote or exercise any other privilege of a member at a meeting of the Company, or be entitled to receive any notices from the Company; but the bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled in all other respects to the same privileges and advantages as if he were named in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the warrant.

(c) The bearer of a share warrant shall be entitled, on surrendering it for cancellation, to have his name entered as a member in the register of members.

34. The directors may from time to time determine :

(a) the conditions upon which any new share warrants or coupons may be issued in place of warrants worn out, defaced or destroyed; provided however, that no new share warrant shall be issued in place of one alleged to be lost unless and until it be proved to the satisfaction of the directors to have been destroyed; and

(b) the conditions upon which any share warrant may be surrendered for cancellation with a view to entering the name of the holder in the register of members and issuing in place of such share warrant a share certificate or certificates in respect of the shares in question.

The holder of a share warrant shall be bound by any determination by the directors in terms of this article 34 for the time being in force whether made before or after the issue of such warrant.

35. A share warrant shall be transferred by delivery of the warrant and not by instrument of transfer, and the provisions of articles 36 to 39 inclusive shall not apply to share warrants.

INSTRUMENTS OF TRANSFER

36. Any member may transfer all or any of his shares by instrument in writing in any usual or common form or any other form which the directors may approve.

37. Every such instrument shall be executed by the transferor, or if the directors determine, by the transferor and the transferee, and

the transferor shall be deemed to remain the holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

38. Every power of attorney given by a member authorising the transfer of shares, shall, when lodged, produced or exhibited to the Company or any of its officers, be deemed as between the Company and the grantor of the power to continue and remain in full force and effect, and the Company may allow that power to be acted upon until such time as express notice in writing of its revocation has been lodged at the transfer office. Notwithstanding receipt of such notice of revocation the Company shall be entitled to give effect to any instrument of transfer which is certified by an official of the Company to have been received by the Company prior to the receipt of such revocation provided that such instrument would, but for such revocation, have been validly and regularly executed. The Company shall not be bound to allow the exercise of any act or matter by an agent for a member unless a duly certified copy of that agent's authority be produced and lodged with the Company.

39. Every instrument of transfer shall be left at the transfer office accompanied by a certificate of the shares to be transferred unless such instrument of transfer has been certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act. The directors may dispense with the production of the certificate on good cause being shown. The directors may decline to recognise any instrument of transfer unless :

(a) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the share certificate to which it relates, (or is certified in terms of Section 136 of the Act), and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer; and

(b) the share transfer duty thereon has been paid.

All instruments of transfer which shall be registered shall be retained by the Company, but any instrument of transfer which the directors may decline to register shall, except in the case of fraud, be returned, on demand, to the person depositing the same.

41. / ...

41. (a) The Company shall hold its first annual general meeting within 18 (eighteen) months after the date of its incorporation and thereafter it shall hold an annual general meeting in respect of each financial year; provided that not more than 15 (fifteen) months shall elapse between the date of one annual general meeting and that of the next, and that an annual general meeting shall be held within 6 (six) months after the expiration of each financial year of the Company. Other general meetings of the Company may be held at any time.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of article 41(a), if the Company is not a listed company, the Company shall not be required to hold an annual general meeting if all the members entitled to attend and vote at an annual general meeting sign a resolution in accordance with the provisions of Section 179 of the Act before the expiration of the time limits referred to in article 41(a).

42. An annual general meeting or any other general meeting shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint unless the meeting is convened under Sections 179, 181, 182 or 183 of the Act, in which case such meeting shall be held at such time and place, and subject to such conditions, as may be determined in pursuance of such sections.

An annual general meeting and a meeting called for the passing of a special resolution shall be called by not less than 21 (twenty-one) clear days' notice in writing and any other general meeting shall be called by not less than 14 (fourteen) clear days' notice in writing, so that the notice period shall not include the day on which it is served, or deemed to be served, or the date on which the meeting is to be held. A meeting may be called by shorter notice and shall be deemed to have been duly called if it is so agreed by a majority in number of the members having a right to attend and vote at the meeting, being a majority holding not less than 95% (ninety-five per centum) of the total voting rights of all members.

44. Notwithstanding the provisions of article 43 no resolution requiring special notice shall be effective unless notice of the intention to move such resolution has been given to the Company not less than 28 (twenty-eight) days before the meeting at which it is to be moved, and unless notice of the resolution is given by the Company to the members in accordance with the provisions of Section 186 of the Act. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if notice of an intention to move a special resolution is given to the Company before the Company issues notice to its members calling a general meeting, then such notice of intention to move such resolution shall be deemed to be validly given even if the meeting is called for a day 28 (twenty-eight) days or less after such notice of intention to move such resolution is given to the Company.

45. / ...

45. Any notice calling a general meeting which is given by the Company to its members shall specify the place, the day and the time of the meeting and shall be given in the manner hereinafter specified or in such other manner, if any, as may be determined by the directors or by the Company in general meeting. Such notice shall comply with the provisions of Section 189 of the Act. If the Company maintains a branch register, then notice of the meeting may, in the case of members whose names are entered on the branch register, be given from the transfer office where such branch register is kept.

46. If the Company is a listed company notice of all general meetings shall be given to the Manager (Listings) of The Johannesburg Stock Exchange at the same time as such notice is given to members.

47. The Company shall, on the requisition in writing of such number of members as is specified in the Act, and unless the Company otherwise resolves, at the expense of the requisitioners, give to members entitled to receive notice of any annual general meeting, notice of any resolution which is to be moved at that meeting and circulate to such members any statement prepared by the requisitionists relating to the matter referred to in the proposed resolution or to the business to be dealt with at that meeting, provided that such notice does not exceed one thousand words.

48. Subject to the provisions of article 51 no business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Three (3) members present personally or by representative and entitled to vote shall be a quorum, provided that :

(a) if the Company is a subsidiary (but not a wholly owned subsidiary) of a listed company then the quorum shall be the representative of its holding company together with 2 (two) other members present personally or by representative;

(b) if the Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of any company then the quorum shall be the representative of its holding company.

A company or other body corporate present at a meeting by its duly appointed representative shall be deemed to be personally present at the meeting and such representative shall enjoy all the powers conferred upon a representative under the provisions of Section 188 of the Act.

98. An alternate director shall cease to hold office :

(a) when the director who appointed him ceases to be a director; or

(b) when the director who appointed him gives notice to the Company that the alternate director representing him has ceased to do so; or

(c) when the alternate director resigns his office; or

(d) when the alternate director is removed by a resolution signed by all the directors, other than the director who appointed him; or

The directors may divide the reserve into such special funds as they think fit, with full power to employ the assets constituting such fund or funds in the business of the Company or they may invest the same upon such investments (other than shares of the Company) as they may select without being liable for any depreciation of or loss in consequence of such investments, whether the same be usual or authorised investments for trust funds or not.

131. The reserve may, at the discretion of the directors, be applicable for the equalisation of dividends or for making provision for exceptional losses, expenses or contingencies or the extension or development of the Company's business or for writing down the value of any of the assets of the Company, or for repairing, improving and maintaining any buildings, plant, machinery or works connected with the business of the Company, or to cover the loss in wear and tear or other depreciation in value of any property of the Company, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the Company may be properly applied, and the directors may at any time divide among the members by way of bonus or special dividends any part of the reserve which in their opinion is not required for the purposes aforesaid, and as may be permitted by the Statutes.

The period between the later of the said dates and the date of the closing of the transfer registers in respect of the dividend shall where the Company is a listed company, be not less than 14 (fourteen) days.

137. Any dividend declared may be paid and satisfied, either wholly or in part, by the distribution of specific assets, and in particular of shares or debentures of any other company, or in cash, or in any one or more of such ways, as the directors may at the time of declaring the dividend determine and direct. If any difficulty arises in the course of such distribution the directors may settle the manner of distribution as they think expedient, and in particular may assign a value to any specific assets, determine that cash payments shall be made to any members upon the basis of such valuation and vest any such assets in trustees upon trust for the persons entitled to the dividend in such manner as they see fit.

138. Any dividend may be paid by cheque, warrant, coupon or otherwise as the directors may from time to time determine, and may, if paid otherwise than by coupon, be sent by post to the last registered address of the member entitled thereto or, in the case of a joint holding, of the member first named in the register in respect of such holding, or may be sent to any other address specified for the purpose by such member or first named member, as the case may be.

139. The payment of such cheque or warrant or the surrender of any coupon shall be a good discharge to the Company of the obligation to pay the amount specified in such document. 144. If any difficulty arises in the issue of any shares in terms of article 143 the directors may settle the same as they think expedient, and in particular they may issue certificates, fix the value for distribution of such shares, make cash payments to any holders of shares on the basis of the value so fixed in order to adjust rights, and vest any shares or assets in trustees upon trust for the persons entitled to participate in such issue as may seem just and expedient to the directors.

145. A contract or memorandum shall be filed where appropriate in accordance with Section 93 of the Act and the directors may appoint any person to sign such contract on behalf of the persons entitled to participate in the issue, and such contract may provide for the

11 ISSUES OF SHARES

No Shares shall be issued other than by way of a pro rata rights offer to the Shareholders at the time. If any Shareholder does not follow its rights, it shall be deemed to have renounced the same to the other Shareholders who do follow their rights in those proportions in which they may follow their rights. If any Shareholder does not have the finances to follow its rights that fact shall not of itself constitute unfairly prejudicial, unjust or inequitable conduct to that Shareholder.

12 FUNDING OF THE COMPANY

12.1 It is recorded that the Company has obtained funding from its bankers through the Kovacs Financing Agreement on certain terms and conditions prior to the Signature Date. However, if further funds are required by the Company, such further funding of the Company will be effected by means of third party loans with reference to the relevant operating budget of the Company from time to time as approved by the Shareholders and through Shareholders loans in accordance with the provisions of clause 13.

12.2 If, at any time, the Company wishes to obtain funding from a third party, and that third party requires suretyships, guarantees and/or indemnities to be given to it by the Shareholders, and if the Shareholders agree in writing to provide such suretyships, guarantees and/or indemnities, then the Shareholders shall only provide such suretyships, guarantees or indemnities in a form acceptable to the third party, provided that the liability for such suretyships, guarantees or indemnities shall be limited to the amount of the funding.

12.3 The Shareholders agree that in respect of any and all suretyships, guarantees or indemnities given by them under clause 12.2 above for the obligations of the Company to third parties, the Shareholders shall provide such suretyships, guarantees or indemnities in proportion to the number of Shares held by each Shareholder in the Company at the time of giving such suretyships, guarantees or indemnities.

12.4 The Shareholders agree that in respect of any and all suretyships, or guarantees or indemnities given by them in terms of clause 12.3 above for the obligations of the Company to third parties, notwithstanding that any such suretyships, or guarantees or indemnities may have been given jointly and severally, they will, as between themselves, be liable in respect of any claims under such suretyships, or guarantees or indemnities by such third parties in proportion to the number of Shares held by each of the Shareholders in the Company at the time of giving such suretyships, or guarantees or indemnities, notwithstanding the terms and conditions of such suretyships, or guarantees or indemnities. The Shareholders accordingly indemnify and hold each other harmless against all and any claims instituted against any of the Shareholders under such suretyships, or guarantees or indemnities over and above their respective liabilities as set out herein. As security for such indemnity the Shareholders hereby cede and assign all right title and interest in and to their Claims to each other.

13 SHAREHOLDERS' LOANS

13.1 It is recorded that Bosch Trading, Kovacs, the Johnson Trust and Rocketship have advanced Shareholder loans to the Company. Such loans shall not bear interest unless so determined by the Board and approved by Shareholders in terms of 10.1.4 above.

13.2 Should the Shareholders resolve to make further loans to the Company, such loan accounts shall at all times be pro rata to the respective shareholdings of the Shareholders in the Company, subordinated to existing third party funding, and shall further be subject to such terms and conditions as are agreed upon between the Shareholders and the Company at the time of advancing the further funds.

13.3 The Shareholders loan accounts shall become immediately due and payable and shall be repaid on the passing of any resolution or the granting of any order (whether provisional or final):

13.3.1 placing the Company under judicial management; or 13.3.2 placing the Company into liquidation.

13.4 All payments in respect of the loan accounts by the Company to the Shareholders shall be made pro rata to each of the Shareholders in accordance with their shareholding from time to time in the Company.

13.5 Subject to clause 13.3 above, no loan account shall be called up by a Shareholder without the consent of the other Shareholders and no loan account may be repaid unless there are sufficient funds in the Company to do so, provided that if the Parties cannot agree whether there are sufficient funds in the Company to repay any loan account, the matter will be referred to an Expert for determination.

14 GOOD FAITH

14.1 The Parties shall at all times show to one another the utmost good faith in their dealings with each other, but such duty of good faith shall not:

14.1.1 constitute a partnership between any of the Shareholders;

14.1.2 constitute one Party to be the agent of another unless otherwise expressly agreed between them;

14.1.3 entitle a Shareholder to wind up the Company on the basis of that Shareholder's exclusion from participation in the affairs of the Company.

14.2 Each of the Parties undertake in good faith at all times to do all such reasonable things, perform all such reasonable actions and take all such reasonable steps as may be open to it and necessary for or incidental to the implementation of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

13.4 All payments in respect of the loan accounts by the Company to the Shareholders shall be made pro rata to each of the Shareholders in accordance with their shareholding from time to time in the Company.

14 GOOD FAITH

14.1 The Parties shall at all times show to one another the utmost good faith in their dealings with each other, but such duty of good faith shall not:

14.1.1 constitute a partnership between any of the Shareholders;

14.1.2 constitute one Party to be the agent of another unless otherwise expressly agreed between them;

14.1.3 entitle a Shareholder to wind up the Company on the basis of that Shareholder's exclusion from participation in the affairs of the Company.

14.2 Each of the Parties undertake in good faith at all times to do all such reasonable things, perform all such reasonable actions and take all such reasonable steps as may be open to it and necessary for or incidental to the implementation of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

15 SHAREHOLDERS NOT TO BIND THE COMPANY

15.1 None of the Shareholders will have the ability, power or capacity independently to bind the Company in any way.

15.2 Each of the Shareholders undertakes that it will not seek to bind the Company in any way and each of the Shareholders respectively undertakes not to hold itself out at any time, to any third party as having the authority to bind the Company in any manner whatsoever.

16 FINANCIAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES

16.1 The Shareholders shall procure as far as is possible that the financial policies of the Company shall be in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Practice applicable in the Republic of South Africa. These include policies as to:

16.1.1 the keeping of accounting records;

16.1.2 the preparation and format of strategic and management plans;

16.1.3 monthly financial and management reports.

17 PRE-EMPTIVE RIGHTS

17.1 Notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in this Agreement and the Company's Memorandum or Articles of Association for the time being, and the Restructure, and unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Shareholders:

17.1.1 the Shareholders may not sell or otherwise dispose of or alienate or transfer any of their Equity save in accordance with the provisions of clause 17; and

17.1.2 each of the Shareholders may only sell or otherwise dispose of or alienate or transfer any of their Shares if, in one and the same transaction, it likewise sells, disposes of or alienates or transfers pro rata to the Shares sold, disposed of, alienated or transferred its Claims.

17.2 Subject to 12.4 no Shareholder shall be entitled to cede, pledge or otherwise encumber any of its Equity held by it from time to time.

17.3 If a Shareholder ("the Offeror") receives an offer for its Shares from a bona fide third party or otherwise wishes to dispose of its Equity it shall first offer in writing to sell its Equity to the other Shareholders ("the Offerees").

17.4 The Offeror's offer in terms of clause 17.3 shall:

17.4.1 be in writing and delivered to the Offerees;

17.4.2 remain open for acceptance by the Offerees for a period of 20 (twenty) Business Days after receipt;

17.4.3 be accompanied, where applicable, by:

17.4.3.1 a written memorandum of the consideration and all the other terms and conditions that have been offered to the Offeror orally; or

17.4.3.2 a true and complete copy of any written offer made to the Offeror (which sets out the consideration and all other terms and conditions of such offer), by any bona fide third party in respect of the Equity which the Offeror wishes to accept, and which in either case must contain the name of the bona fide third party, and in the case where the bona fide third party is an agent, the name of his ultimate principal (if any);

17.4.4 if there is a bona fide offer from a third party, be deemed to be for the consideration and subject to, mutatis mutandis the terms and conditions set out in the memorandum or written offer;

17.4.6.1 the Offeror's offer may be accepted by the Offerees only on the basis that all of the Equity offered is to be purchased;

17.4.6.2 unless the written offer referred to in clause 17.4.4 or the Offeror's referred to in clause 17.4.5 provides to the contrary:

17.4.6.2.1 a written cession of the Claims offered and accepted and delivery of the share certificates in respect of the Shares offered and accepted together with transfer forms in respect of such Shares duly completed in accordance with the Articles of Association of the Company shall be made to the Offeree within 5 (five) Business Days after acceptance of the Offeror's offer;

17.4.6.2.2 the consideration referred to in clause 17.4.5 shall be payable against delivery as set out in clause 17.4.6.2.1 above;

17.4.6.3 the consideration shall be for cash and be expressed only in the currency of the Republic of South Africa;

17.4.7 not be subject to any other terms and conditions.

17.5 Should the Offerees fail to accept the Offeror's offer in terms of Error! Reference source not found. in respect of all of the Equity offered, the Offeror shall be entitled to dispose of the Equity not accepted by the Offerees to:

17.5.1 the bona fide third party whose offer was disclosed in the Offeror's offer referred to in clause 17.4 provided that:

17.5.1.2 the third party commits himself to the remaining Shareholders in writing to be bound by the provisions of this Agreement; and

17.5.1.3 the third party agrees to purchase all the Equity which was offered by the Offeror in terms of clause 17.3;

17.5.2 if the Offeror's said offer disclosed that there was no bona fide third party Offeror in respect of the Equity, then to any third party.

18 COME ALONG

If Shareholders holding in aggregate 85% or more of the Shares ("the Offerees") at any time receive a bona fide arms-length offer from an unconnected third party ("the Offeror") which such Offerees are disposed to accept and after complying with the provisions of 17 above the remaining Shareholders have failed to purchase the Offerees' Equity which the Offeror wishes to acquire, then, on receipt of written notice from any one of the Offerees after the acceptance by them of the Offeror's offer, the remaining Shareholders shall be obliged to and shall be deemed to have sold all their Equity to the Offeror at the same price per Share and on the same terms mutatis mutandis as the Offerees have accepted in respect of their Equity.

19 PUBLICATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Parties record their intention that, wherever practically possible, no public announcement other than announcements which may be required in terms of applicable legislation or the rules of the JSE Securities Exchange South Africa will be made by the Company or by any of the Shareholders concerning the Company without the prior approval of a simple majority of Shareholders.

20 DEEMED OFFERS

20.1 Notwithstanding any of the provisions for the time being of the Company's Memorandum and Articles of Association, if a Shareholder ("the Liquidated Shareholder") is liquidated, sequestrated or placed under judicial management, whether provisionally or finally, or attempts to enter into any general compromise, composition or arrangement with its creditors, then the Shareholder shall be deemed, on the day prior to that on which the event takes place, to have offered to sell its Equity to the remaining Shareholder upon the same terms and conditions, mutatis mutandis, set out in clause in 17.4, save that:

20.1.1 the price of the Equity shall be an amount equal to the fair market value of the subject Equity determined by an Expert who shall apply the provisions of clause 22 below in arriving at his determination.

20.1.2 the purchase price shall be payable against delivery of the relevant subject Shares in negotiable form and a written cession of the Claims to the purchaser thereof; and,

20.1.3 the period of acceptance shall be 20 (twenty) Business Days after receipt by the Offeree of the determination of the Expert;

20.2 The Liquidated Shareholder hereby constitutes the remaining Shareholder with power of substitution on its behalf to sign and complete all forms, declarations, agreements and the like that may be necessary or desirable to give effect to any acts referred to in clause 20.1.

21 ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

21.1 To the extent that the provisions of the Articles of Association of the Company may conflict with or fail to record the provisions of this Agreement:

21.1.1 any Shareholder may require the Articles of Association of the Company to be amended accordingly; and 21.1.2 the Shareholders shall vote in favour of all resolutions of the Company necessary to amend the Articles of Association of the Company in terms of clause 21.1.1.

21.2 Without detracting from the provisions of clause 21.1, to the extent that the provisions of this Agreement may conflict with the provisions of the Company's Articles of Association, the provisions of this Agreement shall take precedence and shall be given effect to accordingly by the Shareholders to the extent that it is legally possible.

22 DETERMINATION OF VALUE OF EQUITY

In the valuation of the Equity of a Shareholder as provided for in this Agreement, the Expert will take into account inter alia, the following principles:

22.1 the value of the Shares of a relevant Shareholder must be the market value of the Shares for the purpose of buying and selling;

22.2 the Expert will not take into account any potential disadvantage that the Company may suffer due to the loss of the contribution of the particular Shareholder to the Company;

22.3 the Expert will, in the determination of the value of the Equity of a Shareholder, allow the Shareholders an opportunity to make a representation to the Expert in respect of the deemed value of the said Shares;

22.4 the Expert will be obliged to disclose to the Shareholders the basis of their valuation of the relevant Equity on the date of determination of such value;

22.5 the value of the Claims will be determined at face value thereof except if the Expert is of the opinion that they should determine a lesser amount due to the fact that the Shareholder would on the liquidation of the Company receive a lesser amount from the Company. If the Claims reflect a debit balance, the amount of such debit balance will be set off against the value of the Shares of the Shareholder;

22.6 the costs of the Expert in effecting the aforesaid valuation will be borne by the Shareholders in proportion to their holding of Shares in the Company.

23 RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL IN RESPECT OF HISTORIC HOMES

In the event that the Board resolves to dispose of any of the historic homes that form part of the immovable properties acquired by the Company, it shall obtain an independent market valuation of the home to be sold. The Board shall afford each Shareholder the opportunity to bid, by way of a written offer delivered to the Company Secretary in a sealed envelope, for the historic home which the Board proposes to sell. The historic home shall be sold to the Shareholder with the highest bid, provided that the amount offered is not less than the independent market valuation obtained by the Board prior to the invitation to bid.

24 BREACH

24.1 Subject to the provisions of clause 24.2, in the event of any one of the Shareholders ("Defaulting Shareholder") committing a breach of any of the terms and conditions hereof and remaining in default for a period of 20 (twenty) Business Days after receipt by it of written notice from the Company calling for such breach to be remedied, provided that such breach cannot be remedied within that period of 20 (twenty) Business Days then the said period of 20 (twenty) Business Days shall be extended for such further period as may reasonably be required in the circumstances by the Defaulting Shareholder to remedy that breach, the Company, on behalf of the remaining Shareholders shall be entitled, without prejudice to any other rights it may have hereunder or in law, to terminate this Agreement by written notice to that effect given to the Defaulting Shareholder.

24.2 Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, the Company shall not be entitled to cancel this Agreement for any breach by the Defaulting Shareholder unless such breach is a material breach going to the root of this Agreement and is incapable of being remedied by a payment of money or, if it is capable of being remedied by a payment of money, the Defaulting Shareholder fails to pay the amount concerned within 20 (twenty) Business Days after such amount has fallen due.

25.5.2 shall be carried into effect, may be made an order of any Court of competent jurisdiction.

8.1.1 Equitant gives to R&E the warranties set out in Part I of Schedule 1 hereto in respect of the sale shares, the claims and the company, it being agreed that:

8.1.1.1 the warranties shall also be deemed to be representations and undertakings by Equitant in favour of R&E;

8.1.1.2 each warranty shall prima facie be deemed to be a representation of fact inducing R&E to enter into this agreement;

8.1.1.3 each warranty shall be presumed to be material unless the contrary is proved;

8.1.3 Unless otherwise stated or otherwise required by the context the warranties shall apply as at the signature date and the closing date and during the period between those dates.

8.1.4 In the event of any breach or non-fulfilment on or before the closing date of any of the representations, warranties or undertakings given by Equitant or in the event of any matter or thing arising or becoming known or being notified to R&E which is inconsistent with any such representation, warranty or undertaking or with any other provision of this agreement and which would give rise to a claim under any provision of this agreement or in the event of Equitant becoming unable or failing to do anything required to be done by Equitant on or before the closing date, R&E shall not be bound to complete the purchase of the shares and claims and may by notice in writing terminate this agreement without liability on its part. The right conferred upon R&E by this paragraph is in addition to and without prejudice to any other rights of R&E (including any rights to claim damages or compensation from Equitant by reason of such breach or non-fulfilment) and failure to exercise it shall not constitute a waiver of any of such rights.

8.2 R&E warranties

8.2.1 R&E gives to Equitant the warranties set out in Part II of Schedule 1 hereto in respect of the consideration shares, it being agreed that:

8.2.1.1 the warranties shall also be deemed to be representations and undertakings by R&E in favour of Equitant;

The right conferred upon Equitant by this paragraph is in addition to and without prejudice to any other rights of Equitant (including any rights to claim damages or compensation from R&E by reason of such breach or non-fulfilment) and failure to exercise it shall not constitute a waiver of any of such rights.

9. BENEFIT AND RISK

9.1 The benefit in and risk relating to the sale shares, the claims and the company shall be deemed to have passed to R&E with effect from the signature date.

9.2 The benefit in and risk relating to the consideration shares shall pass to Equitant on the closing date.

10. PHIKOLOSO UNDERTAKING

10.1 Phikoloso hereby warrants that, as at the closing date, it shall be the registered and beneficial owner of the entire issued share capital of Equitant.

10.2 Phikoloso hereby irrevocably and unconditionally undertakes in favour of R&E that it shall not, at any time before the third anniversary of the closing date, sell, transfer, dispose of and/or otherwise alienate (collectively "dispose") any of its shares in and/or claims against Equitant (collectively "the interest"), without the prior written consent of R&E, which (for the avoidance of doubt) may be withheld in the unfettered discretion of R&E.

10.3 Subject to clause 10.2, Phikoloso hereby undertakes that, in the event that it intends to dispose of the interest, or any portion thereof ("the sale interest"), it shall, before such disposal, offer in writing to R&E to sell the interest to R&E. Phikoloso shall, in such offer, set out the details of the sale interest, the terms and conditions of the offer, and the price at which Phikoloso offers to sell the sale interest to R&E (which price shall sound in money in South African Rand).

10.4 R&E shall be entitled, at any time within a period of 20 business days following receipt of the offer, to accept the offer in full and not in part only, by giving written notice to that effect to Phikoloso. Phikoloso shall forthwith on acceptance of the offer deliver the sale interest to R&E together with a share transfer form and a cession (if applicable) of the claims against the company, duly signed by Phikoloso as transferor and cedent and left in blank as to the transferees and cessionaries, against payment of the purchase price in respect of the interest.

10.5 During the 20 business day period referred to in 10.4, the offer shall be irrevocable.

10.6 If R&E rejects or does not accept the offer in full within the 20 business day period referred to in clause 10.4, Phikoloso shall be entitled, within a period of 20 business days after the rejection and/or non-acceptance of the offer by R&E, as the case may be, to sell the sale interest to a bona fide third party purchaser which wishes to purchase the sale interest, on the terms and conditions and at a price no more favourable to the third party than as offered to R&E. If the sale interest shall not be sold to a third party purchaser within the aforesaid 20 business day period on the basis stipulated in this clause 10, then Phikoloso shall again be obliged to follow the procedures set out and stipulated in this clause 10 if it wishes to dispose of the interest or any portion thereof.

11. BREACH

Should any party ("the defaulting party") commit a breach of any of the provisions hereof, then any of the other parties ("the aggrieved party") shall, if it wishes to enforce its rights hereunder, be obliged to give the defaulting party 14 days written notice to remedy the breach. If the defaulting party fails to comply with such notice, the aggrieved party shall be entitled to cancel this agreement against the defaulting party or to claim immediate payment and/or performance by the defaulting party of all of the defaulting party's obligations whether or not the due date for payment and/or performance shall have arrived, in either event without prejudice to the aggrieved party's rights to claim damages. The foregoing is without prejudice to such other rights as the aggrieved party may have at law.

ANNEXURE A

PURCHASE PRICE CALCULATION

This document is an annexure to the sale agreement ("the Sale Agreement") in terms of which JCI Ltd ("the Seller") sells 8000 shares in Bioclones (Pty) Ltd ("the Company") to Futuremed Pharmaceuticals (Pty) Ltd ("the Purchaser").

This annexure stipulates the manner of calculation of the Purchase Price.

This annexure comprises part of the Sale Agreement and all terms defined in the Sale Agreement shall have the same meaning in this annexure, save where specifically defined to the contrary herein.

1. Clause 10 of the Shareholders Agreement grants ABMI the right to convert the ABMI Loan Account into shares in the Company.

2. Clause 10.6 of the shareholders agreement stipulates that the subscription price per share shall be calculated by dividing the amount of R60 000 000.00 by the number of shares in the issued capital of the Company prior to the allotment and issue of the new shares to ABMI as a result of the conversion.

3. Prior to the conversion there are 20 040 ordinary shares in issue in the Company.

4. The parties consequently agree that (for the purpose of the Purchase Price calculation herein) the price per share at which shares will be hypothetically issued to ABMI will be R2 994.01 per share.

5. In terms of clause 3.1.3 of the Sale Agreement a certificate signed by the auditors of ~~the Company~~ ABMI shall be prepared and delivered to the parties which shall stipulate the face value of the ABMI Loan Account as at the Signature Date ("the Loan Certificate"). The certificate shall be final and binding on the parties.

6. The figure contained in the Loan Certificate shall be used to calculate the hypothetical number of shares which ABMI would be entitled to in the Company were it to have converted such loan account in the manner set out above.

7. The percentage by which the Shares would be diluted based on a hypothetical conversion of the loan figure reflected in the Loan Certificate shall then be calculated. The calculation shall be to the third decimal point with fractions thereafter rounded to the nearest decimal point with the number 5 rounded up.

8. For the purpose of the calculation in this agreement it is agreed that the Seller's current percentage holding of ordinary shares in the Company is 39.92%.

9. The sum of R5 000 000 shall then be multiplied by the percentage by which the Seller's 39.92% holding has diluted. The resultant figure will be subtracted off the sum of R5 000 000 and the Purchase Price payable by the Purchaser to the Seller will be the amount remaining after such subtraction.

10. By way of example:

    a. Should the Loan Certificate reflect that the face value of the ABMI Loan Account is R10 000 000 then the number of new shares which would be hypothetically issued to ABMI would be 3 340 (based on the agreed issue price reflected in point 4 above).

    b. Thus the share capital of the Company would be increased to 23 380 ordinary shares and the holding of the Seller would be reduced to 34.217%.

    c. The percentage reduction from 39.92% to 34.217% is 14.286%.

    d. R5 000 000 multiplied by 14.286% is 714 300.

    e. R5 000 000 less 714 300 is R4 285 700.

    f. Accordingly the Purchase Price would be R4 285 700 in the event that the amount reflected in the Loan Certificate were R10 000 000.

11. It is furthermore recorded that the ABMI Loan Account accrues interest and furthermore ABMI tends to advance funds on loan account from time to time to the Company. The ABMI Loan Account may therefore increase after the Signature Date.

However notwithstanding the aforesaid it is agreed that the calculation of the Purchase Price shall be based on the amount reflected in the Loan Certificate.

12. Lastly, it is recorded that the Purchase Price calculation reflected in this annexure is based on a hypothetical, not an actual, conversion of the ABMI Loan Account into share capital in the Company.

ANNEXURE B

This annexure forms part of the agreement between Futuremed Pharmaceuticals (Proprietary) Limited ("the Purchaser") and JCI Limited ("the Seller") in terms of which the Seller sells to the Purchaser all of its shares and loan account in Bioclones (Proprietary) Limited ("the Company").

The Purchaser shall be obliged to immediately notify the Seller in writing once it enters an agreement to give effect to any transaction contemplated in terms of clauses 8.1, 8.2 or 8.3 of the agreement to which this annexure is attached. The Purchaser shall in addition hereto be obliged on an annual basis after the end of each financial year of the Company to provide the Seller with a certificate stating whether or not there has been any transaction as contemplated in terms of the said clauses 8.1, 8.2 or 8.3 in the financial year in question.

9.4 The Seller will use all reasonable endeavours to procure that the tax affairs of the Company are up to date as of the Effective Date (tax calculation for audit purposes and appropriate tax returns).

11 GENERAL WARRANTIES

Each of the Parties hereby warrants to and in favour of the others that –

11.1 it has the legal capacity and has taken all necessary corporate action required to empower and authorise it to enter into this Agreement;

11.3 the execution of this Agreement and the performance of its obligations hereunder does not and shall not –

11.3.1 contravene any law or regulation to which that Party is subject;

11.3.2 contravene any provision of that Party's constitutional documents; or 11.3.3 conflict with, or constitute a breach of any of the provisions of any other agreement, obligation, restriction or undertaking which is binding on it.

12 NATURE OF WARRANTIES

12.1 Each warranty given by a Party to another in this Agreement will –

12.1.1 be a separate warranty and will in no way be limited or restricted by reference to or inference from the terms of any other warranty or by any other words in this Agreement;

12.1.2 be given as at the Signature Date and the Closing Date;

12.1.3 continue and remain in force notwithstanding the completion of the transactions contemplated in this Agreement; and

12.1.4 be deemed to be material and to be a material representation inducing the remaining Parties to enter into this Agreement.

12.2 It is recorded that each of the Parties has entered into this Agreement on the strength of the warranties given to it by the remaining Parties and on the basis that those warranties will be correct on the Signature Date and the Closing Date.

12.3 Without prejudice to any rights of any Party arising from any other provision of this Agreement, each of the Parties ("Indemnifying Party") hereby gives the other Parties ("Indemnified Party") an indemnity against and holds it harmless from all claims, liability, damage, loss, penalty, expense and cost (including legal costs on an attorney and own client scale) of any nature whatsoever which the Indemnified Party may sustain as a result of or attributable to a failure of any of the warranties or any undertakings given by the Indemnifying Party in this Agreement to be true and correct.

13 EXISTING OBLIGATIONS AND FORENSIC INVESTIGATION

13.1 Each of the Parties hereby records, agrees and acknowledges that unless expressly provided for herein, nothing in this Agreement will be construed so as to limit any right which a Party (or any member of the Lyons Group) has as at the Signature Date to claim any amount from any of the other Parties, whether known or unknown, disclosed or undisclosed, and whether actual or contingent.

13.2 It is further recorded, agreed and acknowledged that the forensic investigation into the Lyons Group, Lyons CRE and their respective affairs and businesses will continue after the Signature Date, and that none of the rights of the Parties emanating from or which become known as a result of such forensic investigation will be limited or affected, or be deemed to have been settled, by the provisions of this Agreement.

13.3 LYONS CRE and FROMENTIN undertake and agree to give the forensic investigators and/or any other IT specialist nominated by JCI free and unrestricted access to all the Books of account, documents and other accounting records in the possession of LYONS CRE and/or FROMENTIN including information stored on any of the Fixed assets. 13.4 JCI hereby undertakes that the aforesaid forensic investigations will be undertaken in a consultative manner, and insofar it is within JCI's control JCI shall procure that any report generated pursuant thereto will be factual and will not contain statements which are unnecessarily disparaging, denigrating or derogatory.

14 CONFIDENTIALITY

14.1 The Parties undertake that during the operation of, and after the expiration, termination or cancellation of, this Agreement for any reason, they will keep confidential –

14.1.1 any information which any Party ("Disclosing Party") communicates to any other Party ("Recipient") and which is stated to be or by its nature is intended to be confidential;

14.1.2 all other information of the same confidential nature concerning the business of a Disclosing Party which is within or comes to the knowledge of any Recipient.

14.2 Notwithstanding the provisions of clause 14.1, a Recipient shall be entitled to disclose any information to be kept confidential if and to the extent only that the disclosure is bona fide and necessary for the purposes of carrying out its duties in terms of this Agreement.

14.3 The obligation of confidentiality placed on the Parties in terms of this clause 14 shall cease to apply to a Recipient in respect of any information which –

14.3.1 is or becomes generally available to the public other than by the negligence or default of the Recipient or by the breach of this Agreement by the Recipient;

14.3.2 the Disclosing Party confirms in writing is disclosed on a non-confidential basis;

14.3.3 has lawfully become known by or come into the possession of the Recipient on a non-confidential basis from a source other than the Disclosing Party having the legal right to disclose same, provided that such knowledge or possession is evidenced by the written records of the Recipient existing at the Signature Date; or 14.3.4 is disclosed pursuant to a requirement or request by operation of law, regulation or court order, to the extent of compliance with such requirement or request only and not for any other purpose.

15 SUPPORT

The Parties undertake at all times to do all such things, perform all such actions and take all such steps and to procure the doing of all such things, the performance of all such actions and the taking of all such steps as may be open to them and necessary for or incidental to the putting into effect or maintenance of the terms, conditions and/or import of this Agreement.

16 BREACH

16.1 If a Party ("Defaulting Party") commits any breach of this Agreement and fails to remedy such breach within 5 (five) business days ("Notice Period") of written notice requiring the breach to be remedied, then the Party giving the notice ("Aggrieved Party") will be entitled, at its option –

16.1.1 to claim immediate specific performance of all or any of the Defaulting Party's obligations under this Agreement, with or without claiming damages, whether or not such obligation has fallen due for performance; or 16.1.2 to cancel this Agreement, with or without claiming damages, in which case written notice of the cancellation shall be given to the Defaulting Party, and the cancellation shall take effect on the giving of the notice.

16.2 An Aggrieved Party's remedies in terms of this clause 16 are without prejudice to any other remedies to which the Aggrieved Party may be entitled in law.

17 DISPUTE RESOLUTION

17.1 In the event of there being any dispute or difference between the Parties arising out of this Agreement, the said dispute or difference shall on written demand by any Party be submitted to arbitration in Johannesburg in accordance with the AFSA rules, which arbitration shall be administered by AFSA.

17.2 Should AFSA, as an institution, not be operating at that time or not be accepting requests for arbitration for any reason, then the arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with the AFSA rules for commercial arbitration (as last applied by AFSA) before an arbitrator appointed by agreement between the parties to the dispute or failing agreement within 10 (ten) business days of the demand for arbitration, then any party to the dispute shall be entitled to forthwith call upon the chairperson of the Johannesburg Bar Council to nominate the arbitrator, provided that the person so nominated shall be an advocate of not less than 10 (ten) years standing as such. The person so nominated shall be the duly appointed arbitrator in respect of the dispute. In the event of the attorneys of the parties to the dispute failing to agree on any matter relating to the administration of the arbitration, such matter shall be referred to and decided by the arbitrator whose decision shall be final and binding on the parties to the dispute.

17.3 Any party to the arbitration may appeal the decision of the arbitrator or arbitrators in terms of the AFSA rules for commercial arbitration.

17.4 Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent or prohibit a party to the arbitration from applying to the appropriate court for urgent relief or for judgment in relation to a liquidated claim.

17.5 Any arbitration in terms of this clause 17 (including any appeal proceedings) shall be conducted in camera and the Parties shall treat as confidential details of the dispute submitted to arbitration, the conduct of the arbitration proceedings and the outcome of the arbitration.

17.6 This clause 17 will continue to be binding on the Parties notwithstanding any termination or cancellation of the Agreement.

17.7 The Parties agree that the written demand by a party to the dispute in terms of clause 17.1 that the dispute or difference be submitted to arbitration, is to be deemed to be a legal process for the purpose of interrupting extinctive prescription in terms of the Prescription Act, 1969.

19 BENEFIT OF THE AGREEMENT

This Agreement will also be for the benefit of and be binding upon the successors in title and permitted assigns of the Parties or any of them.

20 APPLICABLE LAW AND JURISDICTION

20.1 This Agreement will in all respects be governed by and construed under the laws of the Republic of South Africa.

20.2 For the purpose of clause 17.4 or for the purpose of making the arbitration award an order of court, the Parties hereby consent and submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the Witwatersrand Local Division of the High Court of the Republic of South Africa in any dispute arising from or in connection with this Agreement. The Parties agree that any costs awarded will be recoverable on an attorney-and-own client scale unless the Court specifically determines that such scale shall not apply, in which event, subject to any specific determination by the Court, the costs will be recoverable in accordance with the High Court tariff, determined on an attorney-and-client scale.

21 GENERAL

21.1 This Agreement constitutes the whole of the agreement between the Parties relating to the matters dealt with herein and, save to the extent otherwise provided herein, no undertaking, representation, term or condition relating to the subject matter of this Agreement not incorporated in this Agreement shall be binding on any of the Parties.

21.2 No addition to or variation, deletion, or agreed cancellation of all or any clauses or provisions of this Agreement will be of any force or effect unless in writing and signed by the Parties.

21.3 No waiver of any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement will be binding or effectual for any purpose unless in writing and signed by the Party giving the same. Any such waiver will be effective only in the specific instance and for the purpose given. Failure or delay on the part of any Party in exercising any right, power or privilege hereunder will not constitute or be deemed to be a waiver thereof, nor will any single or partial exercise of any right, power or privilege preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise of any other right, power or privilege.

21.4 Save as otherwise provided herein, neither this Agreement nor any part, share or interest herein nor any rights or obligations hereunder may be ceded, delegated or assigned by any Party without the prior written consent of the other Parties.

21.5 This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, and all of which together shall constitute one and the same Agreement as at the date of signature of the Party last signing one of the counterparts.

22 COSTS

Each Party will bear and pay its own legal costs and expenses of and incidental to the negotiation, drafting, preparation and implementation of this Agreement.

11.5 A waiver of a breach of or default under any of the terms of this agreement will not prevent a party from subsequently requiring compliance with the waived obligation in respect of that breach (unless the waiver provides otherwise) or continued default.

11.6 The rights, powers and remedies provided in this agreement are cumulative and (subject as otherwise provided in this agreement and in particular in clause 8 above) are not exclusive of any right, power or remedy provided by law.

In the event that the borrower fails to comply with the provisions of this sub-clause, the aforegoing provisions of this clause apply to any such insurance mutatis mutandis.

2. FINANCIAL INFORMATION

2.1. The borrower shall, not later than six months after the end of the borrower's financial year end, deliver to Nedbank true copies of the annual audited financial statements of the borrower, its subsidiaries, the sureties and of any other party who has guaranteed or provided collateral security of any kind in respect of the obligations of the borrower, and all other information to which a shareholder/member is entitled by law, or which is furnished to the shareholders/members of the borrower.

6. PROOF OF INDEBTEDNESS

The nature and amount of the borrower's indebtedness to Nedbank in terms of this agreement, as well as the annual finance charge rate payable in respect thereof, will at any time be determined and proved by a written certificate purporting to have been signed by any Director or Manager for the time being of any branch or the Head Office of Nedbank, whose capacity or authority it will not be necessary to prove, which certificate will upon the mere production thereof be binding on the borrower and be prima facie proof of the contents of such certificate and of the fact that such amount is due and payable in any legal proceedings against the borrower, and will be valid as a liquid document against the borrower in any competent court.

No failure or delay on the part of either party in exercising any right, power or privilege will operate as a waiver, nor will any single or partial exercise of any right, power or privilege preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise of any other right, power or privilege.

9.4. The borrower is not entitled to cede any right as such to the capital or any part thereof, nor in the case of a building loan, to issue to Nedbank any instructions to pay to any person other than the contractor, any part of the capital without first obtaining the written consent of Nedbank. Since 1872

THE PARTIES

1. The parties to this Addendum are:

1.1 Randgold; and

1.2 JCI.

2. The parties wish to effect an amendment to the Mediation Agreement concluded between them on the 7th of April 2006 ("the Mediation Agreement") and amended in writing on 19 July 2006 ("the first addendum"), and to give effect to their intentions as provided for by way of this Addendum.

RECORDAL

3. The parties are cognisant of the time periods referred to in the Mediation Agreement relevant to the finalisation of the mediation process and the commencement of the arbitration process.

4. The parties wish to record that notwithstanding the time periods contemplated in the Mediation Agreement which regulates the finalisation of the mediation process, the parties are in agreement and record that:

4.1 Pursuant to the conclusion of the Mediation Agreement, the parties by way of the first addendum, agreed inter alia, to amend clause 10.3 of the Mediation Agreement so as to provide that the mediation process shall be concluded as soon as reasonably possible, but by not later than the 30th of November 2006, failing which, the RGE claims and the JCI claims shall immediately be submitted to formal arbitration in accordance with the Mediation Agreement.

4.2 During the course of November 2006, the Mediators indicated to the parties that they did not believe that they could responsibly conclude the mediation subject to the time limitations imposed by the Mediation Agreement and in particular as envisaged in clause 10.3 of the Mediation Agreement, as amended.

4.3 The Mediators requested that they be afforded a reasonable time within which to pursue the mediation process in order for them to be able to responsibly discharge their duties thereunder.

4.4 Randgold and JCI agreed to the Mediators' request and that clause 8.5.5 of the Mediation Agreement should be amended, so as to provide that they would co-operate fully with the Mediators and irrevocably pledge their support for the mediation process in order to facilitate the Mediators being able to make recommendations as soon as reasonably possible after the commencement of the mediation.

4.5 The above agreement between the parties (though not signed) was implemented, the parties having agreed to afford the Mediators the requisite support and time in order to conclude the mediation process.

4.6 In the course of the mediation process, the Mediators and the parties (through their respective Boards), embraced the notion of attempting to resolve the RGE claims through the mechanism of a proposed merger between the parties.

4.7 Given that the Mediators and the parties endorsed the notion of a merger as a salutary and efficacious mechanism for resolving the disputes between the parties, the parties have in pursuit of the mediation process, sought to bring about a merger between them.

4.8 The parties are agreed, that to the extent that the mediation process fails for any reason whatsoever, that they shall immediately thereafter refer the disputes between them, to arbitration.

5. AMENDMENT TO CLAUSE 8.5.5

The parties wish to substitute clause 8.5.5 of the Mediation Agreement hereby, as follows:

"8.5.5 The parties shall co-operate fully with the Mediators and hereby irrevocably pledge their support for the mediation process aimed at facilitating the Mediators being able to make recommendations to them as envisaged in clause 8.5.4 above as read together with clause 10.3

hereof, failing which, the mediation process shall be deemed to have failed in which event an arbitration shall ensue."

6. AMENDMENT TO CLAUSE 10.3

The parties wish to amend clause 10.3 of the Mediation Agreement (and more particularly the introduction thereof) hereby, as follows:

"10.3 as provided for in 8.5.4 above, alternatively, should the intended merger between them which they announced on 23 April 2007 by way of the attached Announcement (marked "A" hereto), fail for any reason whatsoever, the mediation process shall be deemed to have failed in which event, the RGE claims and the JCI claims shall immediately be submitted to formal arbitration in accordance with this Agreement, whereupon the following shall apply:."

7. WHOLE AGREEMENT

7.1 This Addendum as read together with the Mediation Agreement and the Addenda thereto, constitutes the parties' agreement and shall be read as one.

7.2 Insofar as there is any inconsistency between the Mediation Agreement, the first addendum thereto and this Addendum,

. this Addendum shall take precedence over the Mediation Agreement and the first addendum thereto.

REMAINING TERMS

8. Save for where the terms of the Mediation Agreement and the first addendum thereto are amended by this Addendum, this Addendum shall directly impact upon the time periods referred to in the Mediation Agreement relevant to the mediation process. Save for the aforegoing, the remaining terms of the Mediation Agreement and the first addendum shall remain binding on the parties and of full force and effect and nothing contained in this Addendum shall detract therefrom.

ANNOUNCEMENTS AND MEDIA COVERAGE

PRESS RELEASES

Joint Announcement by R&E and JCI (Collectively "The Companies" or "Both Companies") A Proposal for the Merger of the Companies and Further Renewal of Cautionary Announcement

23 Apr 2007 -

Randgold & EXPLORATION COMPANY LIMITED	JCI LIMITED
(Incorporated in the Republic of South Africa)	(Incorporated in the Republic of South Africa)
(Registration Number 1992/005642/06)	Registration number 1984/008854/06
Share code: RNG ISIN: ZAE000008819 (Suspended)	Share code: JCD ISIN: ZAE000039681 (Suspended)
ADR Ticker symbol: RNG	("JCI")
Nasdaq trading symbol: RANGY (Delisted).
("R&E")

1. Background
R&E and JCI shareholders are referred to the joint cautionary announcement published on 15 March 2007 wherein shareholders of both companies were advised that negotiations regarding a possible settlement between the companies were in progress.

Shareholders are reminded that on 28th February 2007, the Mediators issued an interim recommendation, in terms whereof they embraced the notion of a merger and indicated to both R & E and JCI that "....it is recommended that an overall settlement be pursued on the basis of a merger between the two companies ".

Pursuant to such recommendation the boards of R&E and JCI have each resolved to propose a merger of the companies ("the proposal") and to recommend such merger to their respective shareholders. They are currently in negotiations with each other in order to settle the terms of the proposal.

The purpose of this announcement is to update shareholders and to advise them of the process that will be required to bring the proposal into effect.

2. Proposed scheme of arrangement
The merger contemplated by the proposal ("the merger") will be effected by way of a scheme of arrangement ("the scheme") in terms of Section 311 of the Companies Act, 1973, as amended, ("Companies Act") between JCI and its shareholders other than JCI subsidiaries and R&E. R&E will be the proposer of the scheme. If acceptable to the shareholders of R&E and JCI, and subject to satisfaction of the conditions set out in paragraph 4 below and any others that may be proposed, JCI shareholders will be required to exchange their shares in JCI for shares in R&E, thereby effectively merging the two companies. The proposed exchange ratio, ("the exchange ratio") which has been approved by both companies' boards of directors, is 1 R&E share for every 95 JCI shares in issue.

If the merger is successfully concluded, R&E shareholders and JCI shareholders will, respectively own approximately 78% and 22% of the post merger R&E share capital and JCI will become a wholly owned subsidiary of R&E.

3. Applications for rulings from the Securities Regulation Panel ("SRP") and the JSE Limited ("JSE")
Shareholders are further advised that JCI and R&E are currently unable, given the circumstances previously announced, to fulfil certain of the published requirements of, respectively the JSE and the SRP including the disclosure of audited financial information and certain other information relating to events that occurred prior to the reconstitution of both company's Boards of directors in August 2005. The Boards of both companies and their advisers have made preliminary approaches to and intend to make application to the JSE and SRP to obtain rulings relating to the appropriate disclosures to be made and other requirements to be fulfilled within the companies' current abilities, including the obtaining of opinions from independent experts regarding the proposal. The boards of both companies advise that nothing contained in this announcement may be taken as a representation that the companies will be able to fulfil the requirements of the JSE and SRP.

4. Applicable conditions
There are a number of conditions to be satisfied before the scheme can become effective. These include but are not limited to:

- Agreement between the boards of both companies being reached on the detailed terms of the proposal and the relevant documentation;
- The approval of the relevant regulatory authorities, including those of the JSE, the SRP, the SA Reserve Bank, and the Competition Authorities ;
- The Supreme Court of South Africa ("Court") ordering that a meeting of shareholders of JCI be convened in order to consider and, if thought fit, to approve the scheme ("scheme meeting");
- Approval of the scheme by the requisite majority of JCI shareholders at the scheme meeting;
- Passing of the requisite resolutions by R&E shareholders that are required to implement the proposal;
- Court sanction of the scheme, and
- Registration by the Registrar of Companies of the Court Order sanctioning the scheme and of the applicable special resolutions to be passed by R&E shareholders.

5. Mediation
The companies continue to be bound by the terms and conditions of the Mediation Agreement concluded by them on 7 April 2006.

Nothing contained in this announcement is to be construed as a waiver by R&E or JCI of any of their rights, all of which will remain in force and unaffected by the merger.

6. Financial information and further announcements
Subject to obtaining favourable rulings as contemplated in 3 above, financial information, including a computation of the respective unaudited unreviewed net asset values of both companies and the pro forma financial effects of the proposal will be published once it is available.
Once the relevant approvals have been received, announcements will be made giving the salient dates pertaining to the proposal.

Documents relating to the proposed merger will be sent to shareholders in due course, if the High Court of South Africa orders the convening of the scheme meeting. Such documents will contain more details of the claims and assets and liabilities of the companies.

7. Renewal of cautionary announcement to JCI and R&E shareholders
Until the publication of further information as set out above, shareholders in both companies are advised to continue to exercise caution in trading their shares over-the-counter until the proposal is finalised.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENT DISCLAIMER FOR R&E

Certain statements in this announcement, as well as oral statements that may be made by R&E's officers, directors or employees acting on its behalf relating to such information, contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, specifically Section 27A of the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning the value of the net assets of R&E and JCI; the ability of the companies to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities, the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E; R&E's ability to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing its forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI, and the success of its mediation with JCI; the likelihood and economic parameters of any merger arrangement between JCI and R&E; the estimated valuations given to assets and liabilities in the NAV statement; and the ultimate impact on R&E's previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to Randgold Resources Limited, business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets. Although R&E believes that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the values of the net assets of the companies, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations, the existence of any unknown liabilities, the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger

In light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related there to following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation;the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the determinations of the mediators and acceptance of any such determinations by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E to defend successfully any counterclaims or proceedings against it; the ability of R&E and its forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to R&E's transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of R&E's forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited's willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or not currently considered material by R&E; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E's most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC.

All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

2.2.4 any statute, constitution, decree, treaty, regulation, directive, ordinance, by-law, order or any other enactment or legislative measure of Government (including local or provincial Government), statutory or regulatory body which has the force of law means the relevant enactment or legislative measure as at the signature date and as amended or re-enacted from time to time;

3. RECORDAL

3.1 On 7 April 2006, Randgold and JCI concluded the Mediation Agreement.

3.2 Pursuant to the conclusion of the Mediation Agreement the Mediators were appointed by Randgold and JCI to inter alia make recommendations to them, in regard to how the Randgold claims should be addressed and the impasse which had arisen between the companies resolved.

3.3 On 28 February 2007, the Mediators issued an interim recommendation (which was followed by a postscript thereto on 5 March 2007), in terms whereof they recommended that Randgold and JCI merge. They indicated further, that in their view a merger represented a pragmatic resolution to the impasse between Randgold and JCI and that an imputed settlement of between R1.2 to R1.5 billion represented "a realistic starting point to resolve the disputes between the companies – the basis being that the settlement figure be used to ultimately drive the merger ratio between the shareholders of the companies."

3.4 On 23 April 2007, Randgold and JCI published a joint announcement on South African News Service, indicating that the Boards of Directors of Randgold and JCI had each resolved to recommend and propose a merger of the companies to their respective shareholders, in terms of which it was contemplated that Randgold would be the proposer of the scheme of arrangement and if acceptable to the shareholders of Randgold and JCI (subject to the conditions precedent which would be applicable thereto), shareholders in JCI would be required to exchange their ordinary JCI shares for ordinary shares in Randgold in terms of the swap ratio.

3.5 In giving effect to the proposed transaction, Randgold and JCI would ordinarily be required to furnish a Fairness opinion as contemplated in the JSE Listings Requirements.

3.6 In the absence of audited financial statements of their respective companies and a ruling on the Randgold claims, Randgold and JCI are constrained from being able to comply with the JSE Listings requirements and furnish the said Fairness opinion.

3.7 In the circumstances, the companies believe that the Mediators are the best suited persons to express an opinion in regard to the proposed transaction and in consequence hereof, requested the Mediators in April 2007, to express an opinion in regard thereto.

3.8 The parties wish to formalise the appointment of the Mediators in terms hereof and the terms governing their appointment by way of this Agreement.

4. APPOINTMENT

4.1 Randgold and JCI hereby appoint the Mediators with effect from the effective date, to express an opinion on the proposed transaction.

4.2 Subject to what is contained in clause 5 hereof, the Mediators undertake to furnish the companies with a written opinion as contemplated in 4.1 ("the opinion"), as soon as reasonably practicable.

4.3 The Mediators in discharging their appointment shall:

4.3.1 be provided with all forensic reports compiled by their respective forensic investigators following the re-constitution of the Boards of Directors of each of the companies in August 2005;

4.3.2 have the right to consult with the Directors, office bearers and employees of Randgold and JCI (both current and former), and the respective forensic investigators and legal teams of each of the companies representing Randgold and JCI in the mediation;

4.3.3 be provided with the workings and models used by the companies in determining the net asset values of the companies and the swap ratio ;

4.3.4 answer questions from and furnish information requested by the JSE and SRP, to the extent that such may be required of them;

4.3.5 generally do all such things as they consider to be necessary in giving effect to the compilation of the opinion.

5. UNDERTAKINGS BY RANDGOLD AND JCI

Each of the companies undertake to furnish their full co-operation to the Mediators in order to enable them to discharge their functions in terms of clause 4 hereof and compile the opinion.

6. REMUNERATION

6.1 Within 30 (thirty) days of the Mediators furnishing the opinion to the companies, the companies shall jointly make payment of the following amounts to each of the Mediators (each of Randgold and JCI being liable for half thereof):

6.1.1 to SF Burger R1 000 000.00 (One Million Rand) plus Value Added Tax;

6.1.2 to Stratalign (Pty) Ltd R1 000 000.00 (One Million Rand) plus Value Added Tax;

6.1.3 to HE Weiner R1 666 667.00 (One Million Six Hundred and Sixty Six Thousand Six Hundred and Sixty SevenRand) plus Value Added Tax.

7. GOOD FAITH

Randgold and JCI undertake to act with the utmost good faith towards the Mediators, in order to enable the Mediators to furnish the opinion and shall do nothing calculated to frustrate any of the provisions of this Agreement.

8. VARIATION

No addition, variation, deletion or agreed cancellation of this Agreement shall be of any force or effect unless reduced to writing and signed by all the parties hereto.

9. ENTIRE AGREEMENT

This Agreement as read together with the Indemnity which is being executed simultaneously herewith, constitute the entire agreement between the parties as to the subject matter hereof and no agreements, representations, undertakings, conditions or terms other than those contained herein shall be binding on the parties, unless reduced to writing and signed by all the parties hereto.

2. BACKGROUND

2.1. Rocketship and IFA concluded the sale agreement on 20 June 2008.

2.2. In keeping with the requirements of the Boschendal shareholders agreement and the articles of association of Purple Plum, on 24 June 2008 Rocketship extended a pre-emptive offer in respect of the sale shares and its loan account against Boschendal to the remaining shareholders in Boschendal and Purple Plum, namely Kovacs and Citation.

2.3. The closing date for acceptance of the pre-emptive offer was Friday 25 July 2008, by which time both Citation and Kovacs notified Rocketship that they each intended to exercise their respective pre-emptive rights.

2.4. In August 2008, the South African Reserve Bank (Exchange Control Department) advised the parties that "no approval has been granted for the sale by Rocketship of any of its shares in Boschendal and Purple Plum or any portion of its loan account against Boschendal to parties not resident within the Common Monetary Area, including Citation."

2.5. The parties have been advised in writing by the South African Reserve Bank (Exchange Control Department) that there is no objection to Rocketship disposing of its shareholding in Boschendal and Purple Plum as well as its shareholder's loan account against Boschendal to IFA and/or Kovacs.

3. SALE OF THE ROCKETSHIP ASSETS

3.1. The parties have agreed, that notwithstanding the acceptance of the pre-emptive offer by Citation and Kovacs, and given the ruling by the South African Reserve Bank (Exchange Control Department), that the Assets to be sold by Rocketship will be purchased in equal proportions and on the same terms and conditions by IFA and Kovacs respectively and that Citation will accordingly not participate in the purchase and sale of any of the Assets.

5. SECURING OF THE PURCHASE PRICE

5.1. The consideration payable by IFA and Kovacs shall be secured as follows:

5.1.1. within 3 days of the signature date, Kovacs shall deposit into Rocketship's Attorney's trust bank account the amount of R23 809 437.50 (twenty three million eight hundred and nine thousand four hundred and thirty seven Rand and fifty cents), comprising;

5.1.1.1. R13 775 000 in respect of 76 000 of the sale shares;

5.1.1.2. R10 000 000 (being one half of the Boschendal loan account); and

5.1.1.3. R34 347.50 (being the stamp duty payable in respect of the transfer of the aforesaid sale shares).

5.1.2. within 3 days of the signature date, IFA shall furnish Rocketship with a Letter of Undertaking from Larson Falconer Inc, for the amount of R23 809 437.50 (twenty three million eight hundred and nine thousand four hundred and thirty seven Rand and fifty cents) which undertaking shall be expressed to be payable on the effective date and against receipt of the auditor's certificate referred to in clause 6.2 of the sale agreement.

6. CLOSING ARRANGEMENTS

6.1. On the effective date, Rocketship, IFA and Kovacs undertake to comply with all of their respective obligations relating to the sale of the Assets (unless any such obligation is clearly inconsistent with and has been superceded by this agreement).

6.2. The closing of the transaction relating to the sale of the Assets shall take place on the effective date, when Rocketship shall deliver to the Secretary of Boschendal the closing documents referred to in clause 6 of the sale agreement and Rocketship shall comply with its obligations in terms of clause 6.2 of the sale agreement.

rights under this agreement, nor shall it operate so as to preclude such party thereafter from exercising its rights strictly in accordance with this agreement.

8.4. This agreement shall be binding on and endure for the benefit of the parties successors-in-title as fully and effectually as if they were a party to this agreement.

8.5. This agreement may be executed in counterparts all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

8.6. This agreement shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the Republic of South Africa.

9. DOMICILIUM AND NOTICES

1. Background

1.1 Evidence exists confirming that RGE's assets were "looted" by the former directors, acting in concert with certain of the directors of JCI Limited, to fund their own lifestyles and to provide funding to the JCI Group, without receiving full value.

1.2 The assets that actually existed and had value were systematically misappropriated and sold with the proceeds laundered through a complex web of special purpose vehicles. The laundering of the funds derived from the theft of RGE's assets was done to disguise the source of the criminal funds. The funds were then channelled into numerous different bank accounts to provide a safe haven and then used to obtain a financial return by using legitimate and illegitimate businesses, often by investing the laundered proceeds back into JCI group companies (e.g. CMMS) by way of loan account or by investing in personal businesses.

1.3 Securities fraud was another means of misappropriating funds with the issue and listing of new RGE shares. At least 16,8 million RGE shares were issued and listed on the JSE and NASDAQ, between July 2003 and October 2004, disguised as being for the acquisition of shares in BEE companies, the purchase of mining equipment and interests in diamond concessions. The new shares were then sold in the market and the proceeds of the crimes laundered through a series of special purpose vehicles with trading accounts at a certain registered stockbroker.

1.4 The securities fraud extended to misappropriating funds from the theft of RGE's investments in RRL and DRD listed equities and then lending the proceeds to CAM to enable CAM (the predecessor to JCI) to take out the minority shareholders of JCI Gold Ltd in terms of a Companies Act section 311 scheme of arrangement that became operative in July 2002. The lent funds were then repaid to the perpetrators of the theft, Investage and BNC, in a classic money laundering transaction, providing liquidity to them to then take up their rights in a CAM rights offer and then to subsequently deal in the now JCI listed shares.

1.5 The assets of RGE as at 31 December 2003 had essentially been (or were in the process of being) misappropriated and replaced by fictitious assets through a series of fraudulent transactions designed to conceal the thefts.

1.6 The listed companies share capital had also been inflated by the fraudulent issue and listing of new shares in flagrant contravention of the JSE's listing rules, the Companies Act, 1973 and of the NASDAQ's securities laws.

1.7 The assertions made by the directors and the assurances provided by the external auditors in the audited financial statements of RGE for the year ended 31 December 2003 was fraudulent. Similarly the assertions made by the directors in the reviewed preliminary announcement for the year ended 31 December 2004 are fraudulent.

1.8 The directors of RGE as at 31 December 2004 and 2003 were responsible for the advancement of share owner interest in the company, through the assumption of responsibility for "directing" the management of RGE's assets and property.

1.9 We make the following observations based on the findings of our investigations:

- RGE has been systematically "looted" of its asset base through the fraudulent conduct of certain of its former directors;
- RGE has falsified its issued share capital base, diluting share owner interests;
- RGE has submitted false SEC filings, contravened JSE Listing and NASDAQ rules; and
- RGE has no meaningful economic resources that can be used to carry out its economic activities. Its depleted asset base cannot provide any future economic benefits that eventually will result in net cash inflows.

1.10 RGE has been fatally wounded by the fraudulent conduct of certain of its directors. In our opinion it has little prospect of recovering significant monies from claims it will have against those individuals and corporate entities that have stolen its assets and any such recoveries will be depleted by the legal costs in asserting such claims.

1.11 RGE should propose scheme of arrangements in terms of Section 311 of the Companies Act between itself, its members and its creditors, whereby its remaining tangible assets should be identified, measured and transferred to a Newco. Arrangements under Section 311 are of the widest character with the only limitations being that the scheme cannot authorise something contrary to the general law or wholly ultra vires the company. There are many variations of Section 311 schemes which can be considered and then proposed. We do not attempt to deal with these, but rather to suggest a way forward in broad terms.

1.12 Similarly, JCI, including its subsidiary CMMS, should follow a similar procedure with the transfer of its tangible assets to Newco. The Scheme should address the capitalisation of Newco including the ratio of shares to be issued to the former shareholder's of RGE and JCI. The ratio calculation would need to take into account the realistic claims each of the respective set of shareholders would have had against each other. This simplified mechanism would obviate the circumstance which may arise where the claims of the one company may result in the factual insolvency of the other which in turn could result in the factual insolvency of the claimant itself. If the sets shareholders are to salvage anything out of this corporate pillage, then in conjunction with the creditors of the three companies, the shareholders and creditors should approve and propose a workable scheme.

2. Umbono FAS mandate, scope, report format and qualifications to our report

2.1 Mandate

2.1.1 We were not presented with a written mandate. We attempted to encapsulate verbal requests from the chief executive and financial director into a written mandate but this was never approved and hence not signed. We have endeavoured to conduct the investigation throughout based on ad hoc requests and changes in emphasis by the executive directors.

2.1.2 In accordance with our unsigned engagement letter dated 14 October 2005, we were verbally mandated by the chief executive and the financial director, to conduct a limited investigation into certain aspects of the trade, dealings, affairs or property of RGE. The principal objectives of our investigation were to investigate:

- The shareholding of RGE/RR(H) in the RRL shares
- The Phikoloso transaction
- The alleged transfer of listed investments between RGE and JCI
- The factual solvency of RGE at 30 September 2005
- The role of the external auditors
- Investigation into potential market abuse

2.1.3 We were not mandated to and did not conduct an audit in compliance with generally accepted auditing standards.

2.2 Scope

2.2.1 The scope of our investigation was originally limited to those issues/objectives set out in 2.1.1 above.

2.2.2 We were not given a mandate to investigate all known irregularities nor were we given an open mandate to investigate issues arising from our findings.

2.2.3 During the course of our investigation and prior to 23 February 2006 (when our mandate was terminated by the Board of Directors) we were requested by the financial director to cease our investigations and produce a series of adjustments, based on our findings to date, for purposes of finalising the 2004 and 2005 annual financial statements. This was overridden by the chief executive who wished the investigation to continue, especially in regard to those issues raised as incomplete in our 5th interim progress report dated 26 January 2006.

2.3 Report format

2.3.1 Section 3 of the report sets out the work which we have performed. Section 4 provides a summary of our findings. Section 5 onwards deals with our detailed findings.

2.3.2 Our report has been prepared in conjunction with various annexures, which should be read in conjunction with this report.

2.4 Qualifications to our report

2.4.1 This report is provided solely as an internal document, for the addressees and their legal counsel, to assess the extent of the fraudulent conduct of the former directors of RGE, acting in concert with certain former directors of JCI and senior management of both companies, in the depletion of RGE's economic resources. It may not be used for any other purpose or disseminated to any person without the prior written consent of Umbono FAS.

2.4.2 Our report deals only with the documentation with which we have been provided, together with other information which we have been able to obtain from third parties.

2.4.3 In compiling this report, we have accepted and relied on representations from persons in the employ of JCI, CMMS and RGE, from persons formerly in the employ of these companies and from third parties and the authenticity of documents provided to us. In order to make these representations and documents admissible for Court purposes, the authors of the representations and documents would have to confirm these in the relevant Court process.

2.4.4 Should it come to light that material information has been withheld or additional information is brought to our attention, we have the right to amend our report.

2.4.5 In conducting searches on individuals and entities we have used publicly available databases, maintained by third parties. We cannot and do not guarantee the accuracy or currency of the information contained in these databases, which are themselves based on data maintained by Government and other agencies which is known to be out of date in some instances, either as a result of failure by the individuals and entities concerned to submit the required information in a timely manner or as a result of delays in processing.

2.4.6 This report is incomplete and accordingly does not cover all the suspected irregularities and frauds, which RGE has been the victim of. Our mandate was terminated on Thursday 23 February 2006 by the Board of Directors whilst we were in process of completing our investigations.

2.4.7 We have not completed the following aspects of our draft mandate:

- An examination of the role of the external auditors for the financial years ended 31 December 2002 and 2003
- The alleged transfer of listed investments between RGE and JCI; and
- The determination of the factual solvency of RGE at 30 September 2005;

3. Work performed

3.1 After preliminary discussions with the executive directors, former directors, company secretaries and other company officials it became clear that the investigation needed to centre around:

- The issuing and listing of new RGE ordinary shares and related allegations of market abuse;
- The whereabouts of the RRL shares and the proceeds from trading in such shares; and
- The alleged misappropriation of RGE's assets to fund the activities of JCI Ltd and its subsidiaries.

3.1.1 Accordingly our initial focus was to investigate the share dealing activities conducted by and through T-Sec. It soon became apparent that the Kebbles, Buitendag and Stratton, the company secretaries and Poole, the RGE Investor Relations manager, had dealt extensively in listed equities through a myriad of trading accounts at T-Sec, some of which were clearly abused to deal fraudulently in the property of RGE.

3.1.2 An investigation into the trade, dealings, affairs or property of RGE would be still born without a thorough investigation of the trading activities conducted by and through T-Sec.

3.2 The evidence of fraudulent conduct by certain of the former directors of RGE, acting in concert with certain of the former directors of JCI, was then analysed and summarised with a view to recovering the stolen assets of RGE. To this end we have been working closely with RGE's legal teams to (i) gather further evidence through the medium of section 417 enquiries into the insolvent estates of various entities against which RGE has material claims, and (ii) consider and formulate base and damages claims against JCI, CMMS and other related and third parties.

RGE/RR(H) only received direct benefit of R 292 800 152 from the sale of its RRL shares through T-Sec.

An additional base claim exists against JCI for the 5 460 000 RRL shares "borrowed" by JCI and on-lent to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd. This base claim has been computed at 31 December 2005 at R 111.40 per share, being R 608 244 000. This excludes any proceeds which may have been derived indirectly by RGE/RR(H) from the scrip lending/hedged equity funding structure between JCI and Investec Bank (UK) Ltd or from any funding by related parties out of the proceeds of such sales.

As at 31 December 2005 RGE/RR(H) have derecognised 5 460 000 RRL shares "borrowed" by JCI and on-lent to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd and a further 900 000 RRL shares purportedly held by Paul Main, presumably off-shore. RGE has disclosed in its most recent SEC schedule 13G/A Filing that it holds 4 000 000 RRL, being the shares pledged to SocGen as at that date.

4.2 The Phikoloso Transaction

This BEE transaction was contrived with two principal objectives:

ii) to secure a BEE shareholding of some 19% in RGE; and

ii) to issue and list new RGE shares as a purchase consideration for a newly incorporated special purpose vehicle, ostensibly owned by a BEE consortium, with substantially fictitious assets and then to deal in such shares to provide liquidity and personal gain for certain former directors and company officials.

8 800 000 RGE shares with an approximate market value of R 268 000 000 were issued in return for a 100% stake in Viking which purportedly was to hold a 75% stake in a BEE mining company, Kabusha. Prior to Viking's incorporation, Kabusha had negotiated to acquire 23 million shares in Aflease from Benoryn for R92 million, to be funded by JCI. The purchase consideration was to be paid into two tranches – the first R40 million, the second R52 million.

JCI did not meet its commitment to fund the first tranche and it would appear that the directors of Kabusha then decided to "sell" 8 100 000 Aflease shares on the market to secure settlement and thereby a source of funding to pay the first tranche. T-Sec bought these shares, RGE settled and the shares were immediately transferred from RGE's trading account to CMM's trading account. Kabusha has regarded this as a secured loan from RGE. At no stage did RGE record this transaction as an investment in Aflease shares, in fact it recorded this as an acquisition of mineral rights in Sierra Leone. RGE confirmed to the external auditors of Kabusha that it held the 8 100 000 Aflease shares on Kabusha's behalf, despite the fact that CMMS had "borrowed" these shares.

The JCI commitment to fund the tranche of R52 million was also not met. By this stage the funding requirement for the Aflease shares had been regularised by way of a loan agreement for R92 million between Viking and Kabusha. JCI, in its audited consolidated annual financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2004, disclosed these same shares as "borrowed". This amount was eventually settled, with interest, by JCI.

In order to bolster Viking's net asset value at the date of acquisition to justify the purchase consideration, fictitious investments in Aflease, Harmony Gold and Amplats had been created by way of false brokers notes. These non-existent shares were "sold" to RGE subsequently and then lent to Bookmark in a SLA to disguise their non-existence. At 31 December 2003 they were reflected as listed investments in the audited financial statements of RGE. They remained listed investments through 31 December 2004 and 31 December 2005.

The transaction is substantially fraudulent and the issue and listing of new RGE shares to consummate this BEE transaction constitutes fraud and market abuse.

4.3 The SLAs with Kemonshey and Notable

Two SLA's with several addendums to each, were entered into between RGE (and sometimes RR(H)) with Kemonshey and with Notable, a Gibralter and an Australian registered company respectively. Both SLA's were signed by Stratton, a director of JCI, acting in the capacity of agent for Cornwall and RBK for Kemonshey and Notable respectively.

The Kemonshey SLA was conceived to conceal the misappropriation of 952 481 RRL shares in 2002, the Notable SLA to conceal the misappropriation of 3 000 000 DRD shares in 2000.

Of the 952 481 RRL shares "lent" to Kemonshey, we have traced the sale of 800 000 shares through a T-Sec trading in the name of New Heights with the proceeds eventually being placed in a money market deposit account at Corpcapital Bank in the name of Investage. We have also traced the proceeds of the sale of the balance of 152 481 RRL shares to the Wolwekloof carry trading account at T-Sec. We are still awaiting confirmation from T-Sec as to the beneficiary of these funds.

The 3 000 000 DRD shares, the subject of the Notable SLA, were sold in February and March 2002, with the proceeds being paid to Frankel Consulting (R 27 986 984) for onward settlement of a RBK/BNC liability to SocGen, and the balance (R 62 035 094) being deposited into a RARK private bank account of ABSA. These proceeds were used as follows:

- R 34 500 000 was channelled through Brait to CorpCapital Bank in a term deposit in the name of BNC;
- R 25 000 000 was channelled through a Bowman Gillfillan trust account to Brait, then to CorpCapital in a term deposit in the name of BNC;
- The balance remained in the ABSA private bank account.

Both these SLA's were fraudulent and Stratton has admitted to this. (Refer 4.6 and 10. below)

4.4 Bookmark and the SLAs

The fictitious Aflease, Harmony Gold and Amplats shares, fraudulently imputed into Viking's balance sheet and subsequently sold to RGE (refer to 4.2), together with the "missing" RRL shares (refer 4.1) were the subject to of two separate SLAs, the first between RR(H) and Bookmark.

A third SLA between JCI and Bookmark, constructed to allow Bookmark to provide RR(H) with security cover for the second SLA was also entered into.

None of these SLA's, signed by Buitendag on behalf of each of RGE, RR(H) and JCI and by S. Rasethaba were given effect to. They are fraudulent SLA's designed to conceal fictitious shares and unauthorised sales, lendings and misappropriations of RRL shares.
These transactions, ostensibly designed to provide Bookmark with funding to consummate BEE transactions and with working capital are fraudulent and thereby voidable.

4.5 The Angolan Operations

Despite bona fide attempts to establish diamond mining operations in Angola, the various projects were transformed into opportunities to issue and list new RGE shares, ostensibly to acquire stakes in South African BEE concessions, and then to steal such shares originally placed in T-Sec trading accounts controlled by Poole and Beale.

4 960 000 RGE shares were issued in respect of three separate projects and placed in a single T-Sec trading account in the name of Lunda Sul. These shares were then sold and the monies placed in various bank accounts as follows:

	(R)
• RBK	30 810 000
• Tuscan Mood	22 800 000
• JCI Resources	4 200 000
• Gullivers Travels	8 000 000
• National Airways	6 400 000
	72 210 000

A further 1 492 000 RGE shares were issued for a fourth Angolan project and placed in a CMMS trading account at T-Sec. The whereabouts of these shares and/or the proceeds of their sale was the subject of a separate forensic investigation.

The issue and listing of the 6 452 000 RGE shares was fraudulent, in contravention of the JSE listing rules (in particular rule 4.14) and constitutes market abuse.

4.6 The Investage and BNC transactions

Commencing 8 February 2002 till 25 February 2002, 3 000 000 DRD shares belonging to RGE were sold through a "myriad" of trading accounts held at T-Sec and Rice Rinaldi. The proceeds of these shares being approximately R90 million were laundered through a "myriad" of bank accounts (inter alia – RARK's – ABSA Private bank account; New Height's – Current account held at Standard Bank Alberton, Brait's – term deposit account, Frankel Consulting's - Nedbank account) and ultimately found their way into two Corpcapital term deposit accounts in the name of BNC and Investage.

On 18 February 2002 R27 986 984 of the above proceeds were transferred to a Frankel Consulting Nedbank account (number 1426000170).

On 12 April 2002, Frankel Consulting made payment of the sum of R27 986 354.63 to Societe Generale Johannesburg Branch (SG) in part settlement of a debt which R.B. Kebble and his company BNC had incurred on 23 May 1997. This debt arose as a result of a breach in terms of a cumulative redeemable preference share scheme which had been entered into between BNC and SG in an amount of R125 000 000 subscribed for on 26 May 1997 and redeemable on 30 May 2001.

In addition to the DRD shares sold, 952 481 RRL shares were sold – 800 000 of these shares were sold through the New Heights trading account at T-Sec and derived proceeds of R54 115 088, 152 481 RRL shares were sold through the Wolwekloof carry trading account at T-Sec and realised R 10 211 008 – the proceeds were then deposited into a Corpcapital term deposit account in the name of Investage.

The above proceeds of the 3 million DRD and 952 481 RRL shares realised approximately R155 000 000. On 15 July 2002 an amount of approximately R155 000 000 was transferred to the JCI Gold scheme account held at First National Bank, Carlton Centre, account number: 6203 6044 494. Loan agreements were entered into between Investage and BNC in the amount of R 70 million and R 85 million respectively with CAM, the proceeds from these loan accounts to be used by CAM to distribute to scheme participants the cash component in terms of the JCI Gold Limited section 311 scheme of arrangement.

In order for CAM to redeem inter alia the above loans from Investage and BNC of R70 million and R85 million, CAM effected a rights offer. BNC and Investage acted as underwriters in this rights offer.

As a result of the above transactions, Investage and BNC each received approximately 155,4 million and 188,8 million CAM shares respectively– being approximately 1 share at 45 cents for every R1 lent.

With effect from 30/12/2002, Investage commenced selling the CAM shares (which had now become JCI shares) and by 30/01/2003, Investage had sold 75,2 million of the 155 million JCI shares. On 15/7/2003 a further 40,2 million JCI shares were sold by Investage, leaving behind a balance of 40 million JCI shares.

Of the 188.8 million JCI shares received by BNC; 132.4 million shares were transferred to Hawkhurst as a result of a pledge agreement entered into with BNC; 55.6 million shares were transferred to Fordcraw Properties trading account held at T-Sec in respect of a loan of R 25 million which had arisen in the past and 310 000 JCI shares were transferred into the Western Areas Share Incentive Trust trading account held at T-Sec, the mandate holder being Poole.

Our investigation has as yet not revealed the whereabouts of the remaining 40 million JCI shares held in the Investage account, nor the 0,5 million shares left in the CSDP account of BNC.

5. Shareholding in Randgold Resources Limited shares

5.1 Introduction

5.1.1 We were engaged by the Board of Directors of (RGE) to conduct an investigation into its indirect holding in RRL listed ordinary shares.

5.1.2 RRL shares were held directly by a company incorporated in the Channel Islands, RR(H), a wholly owned subsidiary of RGE. RRL has a dual listing, on the London Stock Exchange and on NASDAQ. Prior to our engagement to conduct the investigation there had been speculation in the media that millions of RRL shares held directly by RR(H) and indirectly by RGE were unaccounted for. We have completed our investigation into the alleged "missing" RRL shares, subject to tracing the sale consideration on a parcel of 152 481 RRL shares which were either sold or exchanged for Western Areas shares in line with the settlement terms of a SLA with Kemonshey (refer 7 below). We suspect these shares were stolen, the proceeds of which were used to take up rights in CAM (refer 10. below).

5.2 Reconciliation of RRL Shares Held

5.2.1 Attached as annexures 5.1 and 5.2 are reconciliations of the number of RRL shares held by ASIH (formerly RR(H)) at each of 31 December 2002, 2003 and 2004 and as at 15 November 2005.

5.2.2 The required restatement of RGE's annual financial statements for 31 December 2003, including the comparatives for 31 December 2002, and the reviewed preliminary results for the year ended 31 December 2004 are set out below (Refer annexure 5.2(a)):

5.2.3 Year ended 31 December 2003 - audited

Pre-split basis	Number of RRL shares

5.2.5 This cumulative difference in the number of shares of 4 248 000 is made up as follows:

Being shares sold by CMMS in 2004, not recorded as sales in either number nor value by RGE		1 350 000
	Par 5.2.4	4 248 000

5.2.6 At 31 December 2004, the reviewed preliminary results of RGE for the year ended 31 December 2004 (refer annexure 5.43) disclose that RGE had an indirect shareholding in RRL of 30,9%, being 18 358 000 RRL shares when in fact it had only 14 110 000 RRL shares or a 23,75% holding. The 14 110 000 includes 5 460 000 RRL shares lent by JCI to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd.

Paul Main		900 000
At 15 November 2005		10 360 000

Note 1 – Disclosure of how the 18 358 000 RRL shares purportedly on hand at 31 December 2004 was made in the Reviewed Preliminary Results for the year ended 31 December 2004 (Refer annexure 5.43). This disclosure is both fraudulent and misleading. The actual shares on hand were either 14 110 000, as reflected in the table above, or 8 650 000 if the 5 460 000 shares lent by JCI to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd are derecognised (Refer annexure 5.2(a)). No disclosure is made of the shares "borrowed" by JCI and on-lent, nor is any disclosure made of the 6 650 000 RRL shares pledged to SocGen. The Bookmark RR(H) SLA (Refer 8 below) was "manufactured" to obfuscate the fact that 5 460 000 RRL shares had been taken by JCI and that 4 248 000 RRL shares had been sold in 2003 and 2004 in excess of that disclosed.

Note 2 - These RRL shares were lent by JCI to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd in a hedged equity funding structure, with JCI receiving stock loans of R208 794 832.90 (refer annexure 5.23).

Note 3 – Subsequent to this date these shares, pledged to SocGen were converted into ADR format and sold on NASDAQ on 19 January 2006.

5.2.8 The above share movements and shareholdings have been reconstructed from:

- An analysis of all sales of RRL shares in the database records of stockbroker, T-Sec;
- An analysis and reconciliation of all "connected" trading accounts in the database records of stockbroker, T-Sec;
- Share trading records of Barnard Jacobs Mellet in Stamford, Connecticut – reconciling RRL shares sold in ADR format on the NASDAQ to the BDA pro-forma share trading records of the instructing broker, T-Sec in Johannesburg;
- Identifying RRL shares sold through various T-Sec trading accounts (refer 5.3.7 below) which were not recorded in the books and records of RGE and African Strategic Investment (Holdings) Ltd;
- A review of all SLAs where the scrip lending shares were RRL shares (refer 7 below)

- A review of RGE's annual financial statements for the years ended 31 December 2002 and 2003 as well as the Reviewed Preliminary Results for the year ended 31 December 2004; and

- Independent confirmations received directly from Investec Bank (UK) Ltd and SocGen, Johannesburg branch. We have not received any direct confirmations from Paul Main confirming the number of RRL shares in his possession at 31 December 2004 and 15 November 2005. The recoverability of these shares will need to be assessed by the directors and auditors of RGE when considering the fair value of RGE's indirect investment in RRL.

5.2.9 With an indirect shareholding of 14 110 000 RRL shares and 10 360 000 RRL shares as at 31 December 2004 and 15 November 2005 respectively, an assessment will need to be made as to whether RRL is an associate or simply a listed investment. If the shares lent to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd by JCI are to be derecognised as a financial asset by RR (H), then clearly the investment is merely a listed investment.

5.2.10 Analysis of the difference between the restated shareholding in RRL and that previously reported

At 31 December 2003, the annual financial statements in note 11 – Investment in Associate – has the following disclosure:

	Effective group holding		Number of shares held		Market value
	31 Dec 03 %	31 Dec 02 %	31 Dec 03 '000	31 Dec 02 '000	31 Dec 03 R'000	31 Dec 02 R'000
Shareholding
Randgold Resources	36,86	48,12	10 785	13 312	1 986 970	1 671 166
As restated	35,75	44,68	10 460	12 360	1 927 094	1 551 654
Difference	1,11	3,44	(1) 325	(2) 952	59 976	119 512

Note (1) The difference of 325 000 shares (pre-split) represents RRL shares sold by Alibiprops with a T-Sec trading account in the name of RBK, in 8 separate trades between 14 November 2003 and 8 December 2003, the net proceeds of which were R55 060 350 (refer 5.3.8).

Note (2) The difference of 952 481 shares represents RRL share certificate 906 (refer annexure 5.41), which was split out of the original RRL share certificate 746, registered in favour of RR(H), for 13 312 481 shares (refer annexure 5.42) on the instructions of DJ Haddon, the company secretary for RRL, dated 3 April 2002 (refer annexure 5.39).

5.3 RRL Share Split and the initial misappropriation of RRL shares

5.3.1 Haddon instructed Computershare to:

- return certificate 899 for 7 360 000 shares to ABSA Bank Limited as they were the subject of a pledge and

- return the remaining 6 certificates to RGE totalling 5 952 481 shares.
  (Refer annexure 5.39)

On 3 April 2002, some 3 hours after Haddon's instructions to split the shares, as set out above, RARK, in his capacity as chairman of RRL, varied the instruction to Computershare requesting that 952 481 shares be registered in the name of:

Durlacher Ltd (as nominee)
4 Chriswell Street
London
EC1L 4VD
Contact: Mr John Daniels (refer annexure 5.40)
Durlacher Ltd is a UK stockbroker according to Brian Brown of SA Stockbrokers.

The letter dated 3 April 2002 was signed by Jill Bailey (Buitendag's secretary) on behalf of RARK. It is not clear how RGE were able to access the RRL shares from their authorised dealer, The Standard Bank of South Africa Ltd.

5.3.2 The share split was performed by Computershare as follows:

	Annexures	Number of shares
1 new certificate (899) of		7 360 000
5 new certificates 900/1/2/3/4 of 1 million shares each		5 000 000
		12 360 000
1 new certificate 905 of	5.41	952 481
Original certificate 746 of	5.42	13 312 481

5.3.3 These same shares were scrip lent in terms of a SLA concluded by and between RGE and Kemonshey, incorporated in Gibraltar, on 28 March 2002 with subsequent addendums (refer to section 7 of this report dealing with the SLA). All addendums were done in the name of RR (H), as lender, and not in the name of RGE.

5.3.4 The above mentioned SLA is fictitious and was drawn to disguise the fact that these shares were sold in 2002. This back-dated SLA was used to assert that RR (H) was the registered owner of 13 312 481 RRL shares as at 31 December 2002 when in fact it only held 12 360 000 RRL shares. We have been able to trace the sale of 800 000 of these RRL shares through a trading account at T-Sec in the name of New Heights, a Poole company with Poole being the mandate holder. RBK was a director of this company together with Poole's spouse. The 800 000 shares were sold on 5 April 2002 for R54 176 850, with R54 115 088 thereof being transferred to a FNB bank account (account # 5145 232 5041) in Cape Town (branch # 261150). This is a Mallinick's trust account bank account (refer 10. below for further analysis).

5.3.5 The balance of 152 481 RRL shares were sold on 26 June 2002 through a trading account at T-Sec in the name of Wolwekloof carry account for R 10 211 008.35.

On 6 August 2003, in an internal reconciliation of RGE's indirect interest in RRL, the 952 481 shares were reflected as being sold in exchange for 3 300 000 Western Areas shares, deemed the "settlement shares" in a purported SLA amendment agreement between RGE and Kemonshey dated 23 December 2003. The purpose of this purported amendment agreement was to change the settlement shares from 952 481 RRL shares to 3 300 000 Western Areas shares.

5.3.6 Stratton, in a meeting held at RGE's offices on 28 February 2006, admitted that the Kemonshey SLA was fraudulent and drawn for the purposes stated above. He also stated he had sought indemnity from RBK for being a party to a fraudulent agreement.

5.4 Value of RRL shares misappropriated and the formation of base claims:

Note (1) – these shares may not have been misappropriated.
The external auditors have been requested to await where the proceeds have been credited. (refer to section 5.4.1).

5.4.1 Summary of base claims

	(R)
CMMS	72 937 428
Alibiprops/RBK	209 753 104
New Heights/Investage	54 115 233
Wolwekloof/RARK	10 211 008
Total – 31 December 2004	347 016 973

This summary excludes any base claim against CMMS for RRL shares sold in 2005. It is not clear whether CMMS gave full or partial credit to RR(H) or not, for 2005 RRL share sales. If no credit was given then the base claim against CMMS would increase by R311 726 397 – refer 5.4 above and annexure 5.3.

In addition the base claims set out above do not include any claim which RGE/RR(H) may have against JCI for the 5 460 000 RRL shares lent to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd (refer 5.3.4-note 1).

5.4.2 Based on our reconciliation of the so-called "missing" RRL shares we have formulated a base claim as at 31 December 2005 together with a computed loss to ascertain a damages claim against the recipients of the proceeds of the stolen shares.

Claim against	Number of shares (1)	Base claim (2) (R)	Computed loss (3) (R)	Total claim (4) (R)
Investage/BNC (5)	1 904 962 (6)	64 326 241	124 212 326	188 538 567
Alibiprops	2 898 000	209 753 104	113 084 096	322 837 200
Total	6 152 962	347 016 773	314 748 994	661 765 767

This computation of the base and total claim, excludes any claim against CMMS for RRL shares sold in 2005. If the RRL shares sold by CMMS on 2005 are imputed into the base claim (refer 5.4.1 above), then the total claim against CMMS would increase by R417 750 000 including an additional base claim of R 311 726 397 (refer annexure 5.4).

Notes:

(1) The number of shares is expressed on a post split bases

(2) The base claim represents the proceeds from the theft of RRL shares

(3) The computed loss represents the difference between the fair value of the RRL shares stolen as at 31 December 2005 (the financial year end of RGE) and at 31 January 2006 and the base claims

(4) The total claim being the sum of (2) and (3) above, excludes interest, and has been summarised by the recipient of the proceeds of the crime. Interest has still to be calculated on the base claim.

(5) Investage is a registered company, the directors of whom are CHDC and Poole. The proceeds of 952 481 (1 904 962 post split) RRL shares stolen and sold were diverted to this company and BNC, and together with a portion of the proceeds from the theft of 3 000 000 DRD shares, used to fund CAM's acquisition of the JCI Gold shares held by minorities in July 2002. BNC, a Kebble company, also funded CAM's acquisition of JCI Gold shares acting in concert with Investage out of the proceeds from the stolen DRD shares (refer 10. below)

(6) These shares represent the 952 481 RRL shares (pre-split) registered in the name of Durlacher Ltd nominees, 800 000 of which were sold by Poole through the New Heights trading account at T-Sec and a further 152 481 through the Wolwekloof carry trading account at T-Sec. The proceeds from the theft of 800 000 shares was laundered through a Mallinicks Trust Account in Cape Town and then subsequently placed in an Investage deposit account at Corpcapital Bank Ltd. The balance of 152 481 RRL shares were dealt with in a trading account in the name of Wolwekloof carry account – the mandate holder of which is RARK. The proceeds of the sale of these shares, being R10 211 008, were utilised as set out in section 10 of this report.

5.4.3 In RGE's reviewed preliminary results for the year ended 31 December 2004 disclosure is made of 2 000 000 RRL shares being held in escrow to secure an Angolan diamond concession option. No disclosure is made that this is on behalf of a third party, Paul Main, who through a company called Dayspring Holdings (Pty) Ltd has or is about to secure a diamond concession referred to as the Lumanza concession. We understand that this concession has now been acquired by Rob Still of Pangea Diamond Fields.

5.4.4 The above damages claim does NOT take into account any of the RRL shares confirmed as being in the possession of Investec Bank (UK) Ltd (5 460 000 shares) and of SocGen,

(4 000 000 shares) as at 15 November 2005. We have also not been able to independently confirm whether Paul Main holds 900 000 RRL shares nor have we been informed as to whether the directors of RGE believe this to be a recoverable asset. We understand that Paul Main sold at least 550 000 of these shares.

5.4.5 The 5 460 000 RRL shares scrip lent by JCI to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd could be deemed to constitute a claim by RGE against JCI. We need to be advised accordingly in this regard. We have also not been made aware of any of the details of the so called SocGen "Structured finance" deal. To whom did the economic benefits of such a structure accrue, notwithstanding that RRL shares were held by SocGen as collateral? If the economic benefits did not accrue to the RGE Group, then RGE would have a claim for the RRL shares "pledged" to SocGen.

5.5 Actual sales of RRL shares and analysis of proceeds repatriated to South Africa

5.5.1 Investigation work performed

5.5.1.1 We commenced our investigation by scrutinising previously disclosed holdings in RRL shares in the audited consolidated financial statements of RGE for the year ended 31 December 2003 and the Reviewed Preliminary Results announcement for the year ended 31 December 2004. The shareholding as disclosed in the Reviewed Preliminary Results announcement for the year ended 31 December 2004 was as follows:

	(R)	%
Shareholding at 1 January 2004	21 570 000	36.9%
Disposed of during the year	(3 212 000)	(6.0%)
Shareholding at 31 December 2004	18 358 000	30.9%
Lent to an Empowerment Entity	9 890 500	16.7%
Held in escrow to secure Angolan diamond concession option	2 000 000	3.3%
Held directly and indirectly at end of the year	6 467 500	10.9%
Shareholding at 31 December 2004	18 358 000	30.9%

5.5.1.2 We then focused our attention on reviewing and reconciling various 'connected' trading accounts at Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Ltd (T-Sec), a stockbroking member of the JSE Securities Exchange South Africa (JSE). T-Sec was the principal stockbroking firm through which share trading by RGE and its related parties was conducted, including trades in the non-JSE listed RRL shares. We interrogated T-Sec's database of all trading accounts to identify sales of RRL shares between April 2002 and August 2005, inclusive. This exercise provided us with details of the number of RRL shares sold in the various trading accounts together with the sale proceeds repatriated to South Africa, initially credited to T-Sec's main banking account and then transferred to 'client' accounts within the JSE Trustees system. The data extracted from T-Sec's database was then used to reconcile the number of RRL shares on hand as at 31 December 2005.

	Number of Shares	Comments
Balance at 31 December 2004	18 358 000
Shares sold in 2004, the proceeds of which were repatriated to South Africa but which were not accounted for by RGE/RR (H)	4 248 000	(Refer 5.2.5 above)
Adjusted balance at 31 December 2004	14 110 000
Shares sold in 2005, the proceeds of which were repatriated to South Africa.	(3 750 000)
Balance at 31 December 2005	10 360 000
Made up as follows:
Lent to Investec by JCI Ltd	5 460 000	(Refer 5.5.2.2 below)
Pledged to SocGen	4 000 000 9 460 000
Held in escrow for Angolan diamond concession	900 000	(Refer5.5.2.3 below)
Balance at 31 December 2005	10 360 000
Shares lent by JCI Limited to Investec – derecognised	5 460 000	(Refer 5.5.2.2 below)
Shares held in escrow	900 000	(Refer 5.5.2.3 below)
Adjusted balance at 31 December 2005	4 000 000	(Per SEC 13G/A filing)

5.5.2 Investigation work not performed

5.5.2.1 Notwithstanding that our interrogation of T-Sec's database included extracting details of all RRL shares sold through the Consolidated Investments and Consolidated Mining Management Services (both related parties to RGE), we did not have access to these trading accounts and accordingly we did not review the reconciliations of these trading accounts.

5.5.2.2 Although we became aware during the course of our investigations that JCI Limited had entered into a scrip lending/hedged equity funding structure with Investec Bank (UK) Ltd in March 2004 and that 5 460 000 RRL shares had been borrowed by Investec Bank (UK) Ltd, we limited our investigation to confirming directly with Investec Bank (UK) Ltd that they had borrowed these shares as at 31 December 2004. We did not investigate whether Investec Bank (UK) Ltd had dealt with these shares and whether the proceeds had been repatriated to South Africa. We understand that KPMG Services (Pty) Ltd have investigated this scrip lending agreement/hedged equity funding structure.

5.5.2.3 We have been unable to determine whether 900 000 RRL shares, originally placed in an escrow account to secure an Angolan diamond concession, have been sold or not. We have assumed that these shares are offshore but remain the property of RR(H). The directors of RGE, we understand, have not recognised these shares as an indirect investment as evidenced by their Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) 13G/A filing in February 2006.

5.5.3 Conclusion on RRL shares sold and repatriation of proceeds to South Africa

5.5.3.1 We set out in the table below the number of RRL shares sold by year and by trading account, including the net proceeds repatriated to South Africa and credited to the 'client' trading accounts in the books of T-Sec and simultaneously in the JSE Trustees Bank account (Refer annexure 5.9).

Year	Trading account	Net proceeds repatriated to South Africa (R)	Number of shares
2002		64 326 241	952 481
	New Heights	54 115 233	800 000
	Wolwekloof	10 211 008	152 481
2003		147 655 456	900 000
	CMMS	92 595 106	575 000
	Alibiprops	55 060 350	325 000
2004		427 835 228	4 090 000
	RB Kebble	9 425 400	75 000
		263 717 074	2 831 000
	CMMS	259 108 924	2 800 000
		4 608 150	31 000
	Alibiprops	154 692 754	1 184 000
2005	CMMS	311 726 397	3 750 000
TOTAL		951 543 322	9 692 481

5.5.3.2 Based on our investigations we can confirm, subject to the limitations set out in 5.5.2. above, that 9 692 481 RRL shares were sold between April 2002 and August 2005, inclusive, and that total proceeds of R 951 543 322, net of stockbroking fees and other related costs, were derived from the US Dollar proceeds of the shares sold on NASDAQ, were repatriated to South Africa and credited to the trading accounts set out in the table above.

5.5.3.3 We further confirm that the number of shares sold between April 2002 and August 2005 reconciles to our determination of the number of shares on hand at 31 December 2005, subject to the matters raised in 5.5.2 above.

6. Phikoloso transaction

6.1 Acquisition of Aflease shares by Kabusha

6.1.1. On 25 June 2003, Zelpy acquired in an "off market transaction" from Benoryn 23 000 000 ordinary shares in Aflease, a public company listed on the JSE, at a price of R4,00 per share (i.e. for a total consideration of R92 000 000). The market price of an Aflease share on this date was R4,69 per share.

6.1.2 The purchase price payable by Kabusha to Benoryn was to be paid as follows:

- R40 000 000 on 30 June 2003, and
- R52 000 000 plus interest at a variable date but no later than 31 October 2003 (refer sale of shares agreement - annexure 6.1).

6.1.3 JCI and Trinity bound themselves in favour of Benoryn as sureties and co-principal debtors, liable jointly and severally with Kabusha for the due performance by Kabusha of all its obligations in terms of the above sale agreement including specifically payment of the purchase price.

6.1.4 The first instalment of the purchase price being, R40 million, was paid by Kabusha from funds which it had derived from RGE. These funds were received by Kabusha by "selling" 8,1 million Aflease shares to RGE on 30 June 2003 at a price of R5,00 per share. (Refer to annexure 6.2 which is the T-Sec trading account statement). On receipt of the 8,1 million Aflease shares by RGE, these shares were transferred to the CMMS trading account held at T-Sec (account no 648410). RGE never reflected the purchase of the 8,1 million Aflease shares in its general ledger, nor did it reflect an amount owing by CMMS to RGE in respect of this "loan of shares". However, to disguise this cash outflow by RGE, it reflected mineral rights which had purportedly arisen as a result of an agreement entered into by RGE with Platgold Pacific Limited NL and Hazcare (Pty) Ltd on 20 June 2003, whereby it purportedly acquired mining rights in Sierra Leone (refer annexure 6.3). Discussions with Buitendag, the former financial director of RGE revealed that the purported acquisition and capitalisation of mineral rights was purely intended to disguise RGE's indirect funding of Kabusha's first instalment due in respect of its acquisition of 23 million Aflease shares from Benoryn.

This convoluted transaction was carried out with the intention of:

- disguising the misappropriation of 8,1 million Aflease shares at 31 December 2003, and
- Providing Kabusha with the cash flow to pay the first instalment of R 40 000 000 due to Benoryn on 30 June 2003.

On 22 July 2005 Buitendag confirmed to the auditors of Kabusha that RGE was holding 8,1 million Aflease shares belonging to Kabusha at 31 December 2004 (refer annexure 6.4). Although we have not had sight of a similar confirmation in respect of the year ended 31 December 2003, such a confirmation would have been necessary for the auditors of Kabusha to assert that Kabusha was the owner of these shares at 31 December 2003.

Further evidence that Kabusha had paid the R 40 000 000 would appear to be corroborated by the fact that in a subsequent high court matter, Benoryn only sued for the balance of the purchase price of R 52 000 000 plus accrued interest. This is further corroborated by the audited financial statements of Kabusha as at 31 December 2004 and 2003 which reflects that only R 52 000 000 plus accrued interest was due and payable to Benoryn (refer annexure 6.5).

The directors of Kabusha assert that they received the R 40 000 000 funding from RGE by way of loan account through Viking and that this loan was secured by placing 8 100 000 Aflease shares with RGE in the first instance.

Extract from audited financial statements of Kabusha (annexure 6.5)	31 December 2004	31 December 2003
Borrowings	(R)	(R)
Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd (Unsecured loan bearing interest at 4,5% per annum)	42 469 223	40 806 697
Benoryn (Unsecured loan bearing interest at prime interest rate)	62 122 150	55 518 380
SUB-TOTAL	104 591 375	96 325 077
Less: Current portion included in current portion of borrowings	104 591 375	-
TOTAL	-	96 325 077

The Viking audited financial statements as at 31 December 2003 (refer annexure 6.6) however reflected the following:

	31 December 2003
Loan receivable	(R)
Kabusha	74 596 873
The loan bears interest at 4% per annum and is repayable before or on 30 June 2008. The loan is secured by 23 million shares in Aflease.

The net balance of R74 596 873 due by Kabusha comprised of the following:

	(R)
Loan originated	92 000 000
Interest accrued	3 836 387
Loan impaired	(21 239 514)
TOTAL	74 596 873

Hence at 31 December 2003 Kabusha reflected an amount owing by it to Viking of R40 000 000 plus accrued interest, whereas Viking reflected an amount owing by Kabusha to it of R92 000 000 plus accrued interest. The possible reason for reflecting an amount of R92 000 000 as opposed to R40 000 000 was because of a loan agreement entered into by Viking with Kabusha (refer annexure 6.7) and this was further supported by a loan confirmation signed by Quinton George, a director of Kabusha, on 15 March 2004, whereby he confirmed that the amount owing by Kabusha to Viking at 31 December 2003 was an amount of R92 000 000 plus accrued interest (refer annexure 6.8). As a result of this misrepresentation, the 31 December 2003 RGE group financial statements did not reflect any amount owing to Benoryn.

6.1.5 The second instalment of the purchase price of R52 000 000 was not paid on the due date of 31 October 2003. Instead an addendum to the sale agreement was concluded on 18 November 2003. Essentially, Kabusha (and thereby automatically JCI and Trinity), was afforded an extension of time until 25 November 2003 (refer annexure 6.7).

6.1.6 The addendum to the sale agreement signed on 18 November 2003 provided for the balance of the purchase price of R52 000 000 and interest thereon at the prime rate with effect from 30 June 2003 to be settled by the delivery on 21 November 2003 of 327 000 ordinary RRL shares in negotiable form. If the market value on the JSE at the time of the delivery of the RRL shares was not sufficient to settle the purchase price of R52 000 000 plus accrued interest, the difference was to be settled by payment, on 25 November 2003. These RRL shares could be linked to the 325 000 RRL shares misappropriated by Alibiprops between 14 November 2003 and 8 December 2003 (refer paragraph 5.3.7 above), and the addendum to the sale agreement was perhaps a method of disguising the 325 000 missing RRL shares as at 31 December 2003.

6.1.7 Payment of the second instalment of the purchase price, then as provided for in the addendum, was again not made by 25 November 2003. At that stage a dispute arose between Benoryn and Kabusha. The dispute cantered on allegations of bad faith if not fraud and the like by and/or on behalf of Benoryn regarding the fortunes of Aflease. In the circumstances Kabusha (as also JCI and Trinity) did not then make any further payment to Benoryn and Kabusha retained ownership of the Aflease shares.

6.1.8 The dispute led to litigation initiated by Benoryn during January 2004 in terms whereof it sought payment of the outstanding balance from Kabusha, JCI and Trinity. In the alternative, it sought return of the Aflease shares. The litigation was finally resolved during August 2005 in favour of Benoryn. Kabusha, JCI and Trinity were ordered to pay the balance of R52 000 000 plus interest and costs to Benoryn.

6.1.9 Trinity made no payment to Benoryn. Kabusha initially made no payment. Benoryn caused a warrant of execution to be issued during August 2005 pursuant whereto, it recovered some R846 928.15 from Kabusha. Benoryn simultaneously demanded payment from JCI and on 8 September 2005 JCI made payment of the sum of R67 546 991.12 to Benoryn's attorneys.

6.2 Viking

6.2.1 On 4 July 2003 Viking was formed and 100 ordinary shares of R1,00 each were issued to Equitant.

6.2.2 On 7 July 2003, a directors' resolution was passed which authorised Viking to acquire the following shares on the JSE:

- 7 300 000 fully paid up shares in Aflease
- 235 000 fully paid up shares in Anglo American Platinum Corporation Limited, and
- 315 000 fully paid up shares in Harmony Gold Mining Company Limited.

(Refer annexure 6.9)

The funding for the purchase of shares referred to above was to be provided by Equitant on loan account.

6.2.3 On the following dates indicated in the table below. The above shares were "purportedly" acquired and reflected on "Tradek" brokers notes (refer annexure 6.10).

Date	Description of share acquired	Quantity	Price inclusive of brokerage
15/07/2003	Aflease	1 500 000	8 300 621.59
11/07/2003	Aflease	4 600 000	24 800 313.18
14/07/2003	Aflease	1 200 000	6 317 603.25
14/07/2003	Anglo American Platinum Corp Ltd	100 000	25 334 463.77
22/07/2003	Anglo American Platinum Corp Ltd	135 000	33 929 503. 56
14/07/2003	Harmony Gold Mining Co Ltd	70 000	6 818 030.00
21/07/2003	Harmony Gold Mining Co Ltd	200 000	18 650 005.82

Upon further scrutiny of the "Tradek" brokers' notes, it appears that these brokers' notes were forged. Scrutiny of all trades on the BDA system of the JSE on the above dates reflect that no transactions which agree either in quantity or price occurred thus confirming that no on market trades occurred in respect of the above acquisitions providing further corroborating evidence that these brokers notes were forged. Furthermore, no trading account with an account code 648411 exists at T-Sec, nor does Viking have a trading account at T-Sec.

Shaeeda Hoosen of FSB confirmed in an e-mail dated 1 December 2005 that "regarding the trades executed by Viking - according to the records of the JSE, these trades were not executed." (Refer annexure 6.11).

Poole, during the initial session of the section 417 enquiry into Viking, admitted that he had forged the said broker's notes on the instruction of Buitendag. He also confirmed that he had "Tradek" brokers notes in his possession.

6.2.4 On 15 July 2003, a directors resolution was passed authorising Viking to enter into an agreement with CMMS whereby it acquired 3000 "B" shares in the issued share capital of Kabusha from CMMS for a consideration of R25 875 000 (refer annexure 6.12).

A copy of this agreement is attached as annexure 6.13. Salient features of this agreement are that:

- The effective date of this transaction was 5 July 2003, only one day after Viking was incorporated.

- CMMS, represented by Buitendag duly authorised, warranted that it was the beneficial holder of the "entire issued share capital of Kabusha".

- Viking undertook on 5 July 2003 to make payment or procure payment to Benoryn on behalf of Kabusha for all the obligations in respect of the sale of shares agreement signed on 25 June 2003, between Benoryn, Zelpy to be renamed Kabusha, JCI and Trinity in the amount of R92 million. On 5 July 2003, however the liability should supposedly only have been R52 million plus accrued interest, as R40 million was paid by Kabusha to Benoryn on 30 June 2003.

6.2.5 The audited financial statements of Viking which were approved by Buitendag and RBK on 21 April 2004 for the period ended 31 December 2003 reflected an unlisted investment in Kabusha being a 75% participation in Kabusha being 3 000 ordinary "B" shares at a cost of R25 875 000. They also reflected the directors' valuation of this unlisted investment to be R56 062 500 at 31 December 2003 (refer annexure 6.6).

6.2.6 The audited financial statements of Kabusha for the year ended 31 December 2004 which were approved by Lethibela Mokela on behalf of the board of directors on 19 July 2005, however reflected that the 3 000 B shares (non-voting) had still not been allotted to Viking at 31 December 2004, as certain conditions of a signed "Subscription and Shareholders Agreement" had not been met.

6.2.7 On 1 November 2005, Trish Beale (the company secretary of Randgold) received a phone call from Lethibela Mokela of Kabusha requesting R3 000 as payment to issue the 3 000 "B" shares in Kabusha to Viking (refer annexure 6.14).

6.2.8 It would appear that the representation made by Viking that it had "paid" R25 875 000 to CMMS to acquire the 3 000 "B" shares in Kabusha conflicts with representations made by Kabusha that these shares were still to be allotted at an issue price of R1 per share.

6.3 Phikoloso "empowerment partnership"

6.3.1 On 28 July 2003 RGE entered into an "empowerment partnership" with Phikoloso in terms of which it acquired the entire share capital of, and all shareholders' claims on loan account against Viking in exchange for the issue of 8 800 000 new RGE shares, equivalent to 19.7% of RGE's share capital. At this date, Phikoloso held the entire issued share capital of Equitant which in turn held the entire issued share capital of Viking. Based on the closing market prices of an RGE share on the JSE on 24 July 2003, being the last practicable trading date before finalisation of this announcement ("the trading date"), the purchase consideration amounted to R268 million.

6.3.2 The "purported" assets of Viking being 235 000 Anglo American Platinum Corporation Limited shares, 315 000 Harmony Gold Mining Company Ltd shares, 7.3 million Aflease shares, as well as a participation in Kabusha which originally cost R25,875 million, and which in turn purported to hold 23 million shares in Aflease had a market value on the last trading date (24 July 2003) of R235 million.

6.3.3 On 5 December 2003 the directors of Viking passed a resolution to "purportedly" sell the shares listed below from Viking to First Wesgold, a wholly owned subsidiary of RGE for a total consideration of R126 617 500. This consideration was to be set off against the respective inter company loans in both the purchaser (RGE) and the seller (Viking) (refer annexure 6.15).

Number of shares	Details	Consideration (R)
315 000	Harmony Gold Mining Company Limited	30 082 500
235 000	Anglo American Platinum Corporation Limited	63 685 000
7 300 000	Aflease	32 850 000
	TOTAL	126 617 500

This resolution was only signed by two Viking directors being S.B. Mjongile and L.R. Ncwana, however at this date being 5 December 2003, S.B. Mjongile should no longer have been able to sign as a director of the company as he had resigned on 28 July 2003 (refer annexure 6.16) and had been replaced by Buitendag, RBK and M.B. Madumise. Furthermore, as has been explained in paragraph 6.2.3 above, Viking was neither the holder nor the beneficial owner of these shares, indicating that this board resolution was fraudulent and invalid, and provided no value to RGE in return for the reduction in its loan account with Viking. It appears from a scrutiny of RGE's trial balance that these "shares" were transferred directly to RGE.

6.3.4 Effectively RGE had given up value of R268 million for an investment in Viking which had no underlying value. Representations regarding this Phikoloso empowerment transaction constitute market abuse.

6.3.5 On 11 August 2003, P.B. Beale, the company secretary of RGE signed a letter on behalf of Mr. R.L. Ncwana acknowledging receipt of the share certificate for 8 800 000 RG&E shares which had now been registered in the name of Equitant (refer annexure 6.17).

6.3.6 On 27 August 2003, P.B. Beale sent a letter to Tradek (copy attached as annexure 6.18 page 1 of 4) requesting Tradek to urgently complete the CM42 attached to the share certificate for 8 800 000 RGE shares registered in the name of Equitant and to send it to Computershare Ltd in South Africa for dematerialisation. She also thereafter indicated that she would be opening an account at Tradek for Equitant and would be sending the necessary mandate and statutory documents to them on 28 August 2003.

6.3.7 On 28 August 2003, the trading account at Tradek was opened by Poole (as mandate holder) (refer annexure 6.19). He was duly assisted by P.B. Beale and Margie van Straaten. On 10 September 2003 Lunga Ncwana and Songezo Mjongile (as directors of Equitant) authorised P.B. Beale and Poole to administer the Equitant trading account on their behalf.

6.3.8 However by 9 September 2003, the following trading had already taken place on the Equitant trading account held at Tradek (account number 671982) (refer annexures 6.20 and 6.21 for a summary of Equitant's trading account and a reconciliation of the said trading account respectively):

Date	Action	Number of shares into/(out of)	Type shares	(To)/from trading account	Amount (R)

6.3.9 A summary of other trading after 9 September 2003 that occurred on the Equitant trading account held at Tradek is reflected in the table below:

Date	Action	Number of shares into/(out of)	Type shares	(To)/from trading account	Amount (R)
10/09/2003	Acquired	16 000 000	JCI		(12 709 393 .87)

6.3.10 It would appear that of the 8,8 million RGE shares received by Equitant that it only benefited from the proceeds of the disposal of 2 270 000 RGE shares. Of the 6 530 000 RGE shares transferred out of Equitant's trading account – Paradigm benefited by 3 088 000 RGE shares, CMMS benefited by 3 300 000 RGE shares and Trans Benguela benefited by 142 000 RGE shares.

 Mandate is missing from the CMMS T-Sec mandate file (trading account number 648410). From a scrutiny of the instructions in the rest of the file it would appear that the majority of the instructions were from Poole and Lieben Swanevelder.

6.4 Forged confirmations and fraudulent transactions entered into to disguise missing scrip at audit dates

6.4.1 It would further appear that to disguise for audit purposes the above misrepresentations that were made by various parties, the following confirmations/agreements were "manufactured" and forged by the guilty parties.

A. Confirmation by sole director of Rapitrade

6.4.2 Refer annexure 6.22. This confirmation purportedly signed by the sole director, L Laubscher was produced to disguise the 7,3 million Aflease shares which were supposed to be held by First Wesgold, a wholly owned subsidiary of RGE as at 31 December 2004. Of relevance, Rapitrade was incorporated in 2004, as a private company. Its only active director is Gafele Edwin Bogopa. CMMS are the company secretaries and L. Laubscher has never been a director.

The reason given by Rapitrade for holding the 7,3 million Aflease shares as at 31 December 2004 was because it was in the process of finalising a Sale of Rights Agreement dated 6 January 2005 between Rapitrade and RGE.

6.4.3 On 26 May 2005, the directors of RGE passed a resolution authorising RGE to enter into a Sale of Rights Agreement with Rapitrade. The Sale of Rights Agreement (refer annexure 6.23 page 4 of 9 to page 9 of 9) dated 6 January 2005 was entered into with Rapitrade who was reported to own an 18% interest in the Somba Sul alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in the Lunda Sul Province of Angola. RGE wished to purchase this interest for a purchase consideration of 7 300 000 Aflease shares which were to be delivered to Rapitrade on or before 10 January 2005.

6.4.4 The Sale of Rights Agreement was signed on 6 January 2005 by RBK for RG&E and by L. Laubscher for Rapitrade. L. Laubscher, was never a director of Rapitrade.

B. Confirmation by Martin van Zyl, Settlement Manager of Tradek

6.4.5 A confirmation letter purportedly signed by Martin van Zyl, the settlement manager of Tradek, was produced on 16 February 2004, confirming that as at 31 December 2003, Tradek were holding the following shares on behalf of RGE:

- 3 960 000 Western Areas Limited (refer section 7.1.5.)
- 7 300 000 Aflease
- 315 000 Harmony G M Co Ltd
- 235 000 Anglo American Platinum Ltd

The letter also confirmed that a further 660 000 Western Areas Ltd shares had been pledged in favour of RGE as at 31 December 2003. (Refer annexure 6.24)

6.4.6 Martin van Zyl has confirmed that the signature on this document is not his signature.

6.4.7 On 1 October 2004 Bookmark entered into a scrip lending transaction with RGE whereby the below mentioned securities were lent to Bookmark with effect from 30 September 2004.

Number of shares	Company name
235 000	Anglo American Platinum Corporation Ltd
315 000	Harmony Gold Mining Company Ltd

6.4.8 This agreement was purportedly signed by RBK for and on behalf of RGE and by S Rasethaba on behalf of Bookmark.

6.4.9 The securities lent to Bookmark were to be returned to RGE on 30 June 2006.

6.5 Conclusion

6.5.1 This transaction is fraudulent and constitutes a breach of fiduciary duties by the following directors:

- R.B. Kebble
- H.C. Buitendag
- M.B. Madumise
- R.A.R. Kebble
- L.R. Ncwana
- A.C. Nissen
- S.B. Mjongile

6.5.2 These directors acted in concert to deliberately defraud RGE of 8,8 million ordinary shares, being the purchase consideration for the acquisition of Viking and its purported subsidiary, Kabusha. No value was received and the proceeds from the sale of these shares were distributed to a number of bank accounts of related parties. Applications for the winding up of Equitant and Itsuseng, who currently have certain assets derived from the proceeds of a crime, have been prepared.

6.5.3 The section 417 enquiry into the affairs of Viking commenced on 10 February 2006. Poole confessed to forging the Tradek brokers notes relating to the fictitious purchase of 7 300 000 Aflease shares, the 315 000 Harmony shares and the 235 000 Angloplat shares. The FSB also confirmed that no such trades as reflected on the broker's notes actually took place on the JSE. Poole stated that Buitendag and Stratton had instructed him to forge the said broker's notes that were ultimately used to inflate Viking's net assets.

It was clear from the testimony given to date in the enquiry that the directors of Phikoloso were simply concerned with the allocation of their individual BEE consortiums' share allocation in Phikoloso and had no concept of their duties as directors, as vendors of Viking's (with its completely fabricated balance sheet) or that they were party to a fraudulent "BEE" transaction involving the new issue and listing of 8 800 000 listed shares in RGE.

6.5.4 Attached as annexure 6.25 is an analysis of the distribution of the shares and original proceeds of the 8 800 000 RGE ordinary shares issued and placed in Equitant's trading account.

7. The SLAs with Kemonshey and Notable

7.1 RGE/Kemonshey SLA

7.1.1 As detailed in 5.2.5 above, 952 481 RRL shares, certificate number 906, were the subject of a SLA between RGE (the lender) and Kemonshey (the borrower) dated 28 March 2002 (we are not in possession of the original SLA but have obtained this date from the various addendums to the said SLA).

7.1.2 Although these shares were ostensibly the subject of an SLA dated 28 March 2002, we make the following observations:

- The 952 481 RRL shares were an odd lot arising out of the share split of a single certificate # 746 for 13 312 481 shares, the split being performed by Computershare in terms of an instruction dated 3 April 2002 (refer annexure 7.1).

- The new share certificate of the 952 481 RRL shares was to be registered in the name of Durlacher Ltd (as nominee) on 3 April 2002, on the instruction of RARK (refer annexure 7.2).

- The 952 481 RRL shares were the scrip lending shares to Kemonshey and in terms of an agreement between RGE and Kemonshey dated 23 December 2003, the settlement shares were varied from 952 481 RRL shares to 3 300 000 ordinary Western Areas Shares (refer annexure 7.3 – page 3).

- 952 481 RRL shares lent on 28 March 2002 were recorded by RGE/RR(H) as being "sold" or swapped for 3 300 000 Western Areas shares on 6 August 2003 on a spreadsheet produced by RGE/RR(H) for the year ended 31 December 2003 reconciliation of their shareholding in RRL shares.

- On 5 April 2002 800 000 RRL shares were sold through a trading account held at T-Sec in the name of New Heights, the directors of which are Poole, Charmaine Pool and RBK. The sale proceeds were R 54 176 850 of which R 54 115 088 was transferred to an FNB bank account in Cape Town. This sale of RRL was never recorded as a sale by RGE/RR(H), as the balance of shares held at 1 April 2002 of 13 312 481 remained the same as at 31 December 2002, with no movement. The Kemonshey SLA was used to mask the missing 952 481 RRL shares.

7.1.3 The 952 481 RRL were sold in 2002, through T-Sec, without the authority and knowledge of RR(H) and that the Kemonshey SLA was entered into (back dated) to conceal these missing shares as at 31 December 2002.

7.1.4 The SLA's termination date was finally extended to 30 June 2003, with the settlement shares now varied by agreement to be 3 300 000 Western Areas shares.

7.1.5 We do not believe any such settlement took place in 2003 and that the Directors of RGE had to account for the missing Western Areas settlement shares, which had replaced the "missing" 952 481 RRL shares. This was achieved by obtaining a Tradek letterhead and falsifying a confirmation "signed" by Martin van Zyl dated 16 February 2004 stating that Tradek was holding, inter alia, 3 960 000 Western Areas shares made up as follows (refer annexure 7.4):

Share	Number of shares	SLA
Western Areas	3 300 000	Kemonshey
Western Areas	660 000	Notable Holdings
Total	3 960 000

Refer 7.2 on Notable SLA with RGE.

7.1.6 We have been informed by Poole that he would simply request Tradek/T-Sec letterheads and then, on the instructions of Buitendag, forge confirmation letters for audit purposes to mask the missing listed shares ostensibly lent and settled in terms of fictitious SLAs. Buitendag denies instructing Poole.

7.1.7 In terms of the Kemonshey SLA, collateral cover was required to secure the scrip "loan". An addendum to the SLA, number 2, between Kemonshey and now RR(H) calls for the borrower to "provide negotiable securities acceptable to the lender, equivalent to 1.5 times the value of loan securities at the quoted price of US$ per share on the London Securities Exchange on 1 May 2003." (Refer annexure 7.5).

7.1.8 Two forged Tradek letters dated 12 and 17 June 2003 respectively, with the forged signatures of Dawood Mndebele, purport to confirm that Tradek holds 3 020 000 (annexure 7.6) and a further 2 430 000 Western Areas Ltd shares (annexure 7.7), totalling 5 450 000 shares as cover for the 952 481 RRL shares lent. A "cover" computation, also forged, is attached to the letter dated 17 June 2003 (annexure 7.8). This further corroborates the fraudulent nature of the Kemonshey SLA.

7.1.9 Stratton has admitted that the Kemonshey SLA is fraudulent. Stratton asserts that he signed on behalf of Kemonshey as agent for Charles Cornwell.

7.2 RGE/Notable SLA

7.2.1 On 1 April 2000 RGE and Notable enter into a SLA with RGE the lender and Notable the borrower.

7.2.2 Notable is an Australian registered company, based in Perth, Western Australia. Its letterhead is in exactly the same style and font as that of Kemonshey and the SLA and all addendums thereto are signed by Stratton (refer annexures 7.9, 7.9(a), 7.9(b) and 7.9(c)).

7.2.3 The scrip lending shares or "loaned securities" were 3 000 000 ordinary shares in DRD. In a subsequent agreement dated 9 December 2003 between RGE and Notable the "settlement shares" were varied to mean "660 000 ordinary shares of R1 each in the ordinary share capital of Western Areas". Through a series of addendums the termination date of SLA was extended to 31 December 2003.

7.2.4 We make the following observations:

- The SLA was entered into in April 2000. This implies that the lending shares i.e. 3 000 000 DRD shares had already been misappropriated;

- The settlement shares were varied from 3 000 000 DRD shares to 660 000 Western Areas shares plus R27 000 000 on 9 December 2003.

- There were three addendums to the SLA, each of which extend the termination date to 30 April 2003, then 30 June 2003 and finally 31 December. The 3rd addendum was signed on 8 July 2003.

- The agreement varying the settlement shares states that the "closing date" means 14 days after the agreement is signed (i.e. 23 December 2003). This closing date refers to the delivery of the 660 000 Western Areas shares to RGE.

- The cash payment part of the settlement, being R27 000 000 must be made no later than 30 June 2004.

- An analysis of RGE's schedule 9 "Investment register" for its 2003 tax return reflects that RGE received 660 000 Western Area shares on 22 July 2003 in part payment for the DRD shares lent (now sold) to Notable. On the same schedule under the DRD share section, it is reflected that the 3 000 000 DRD shares are sold to Notable for a consideration of R51 090 000. This is made up as follows:

Settlement shares and cash	(R)
660 000 Western Areas @ R36.50	24 090 000
Cash (loan receivable raised)	27 000 000

(Refer annexure 7.10)

- The tax schedule relating to investments reflects the settlement date, for both the share and cash portions as 22 July 2003 when the 3rd addendum to the SLA dated 8 July 2003 (refer annexure 7.11) revises the termination date to 31 December 2003 and page 3 of the "settlement" agreement dated 9 December 2003 (refer annexure 7.12) introduces a cash settlement element to the SLA for the first time, same four months after the cash settlement portion is raised as a receivable from Notable.

- In note 12 to RGE's annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2003 "Other long-term assets" under sub caption of "Amounts Receivable" is an amount of R25 841 000 described as "Deferred payment of shares sold". The note goes on to state that "security has been provided for the deferred payment in the form of 660 000 Western Area ordinary shares, fairly valued at R27,39 million at 31 December 2003. These shares purportedly held as security are not to be confused with the 660 000 Western Areas settlement shares (refer annexure 7.13).

- The R 25 841 000 in other long term assets was fair valued down from R 27 000 000 to R 25 841 164.64 even though it was a short term receivable (payable no later that 30 June 2004). This is reflected in RGE's general ledger under the description of "loan asset – Notable Holdings" as at 31 December 2003 (refer annexures 7.14 and 7.14(a));

- On 30 December 2004, some six months after the agreed settlement date, the R 27 000 000 remained unpaid by Notable Holdings and was reclassified as a "loan asset – Masupatsela (interest free loan)" (refer annexure 7.14(b)). This "loan" remains unpaid as at 26 January 2006, providing further evidence that no such SLA or settlement agreement with Notable actually existed;

- In addendum 2 to the SLA dated 24 (?) June 2003, Notable agreed to "top up security equivalent to the differential face value of the original security and 1.5 times the current value of the borrowed securities..." and shall provide a certificate thereof to the lender (RGE) (refer annexure 7.9(b)).

- On 12 February 2003 a certificate was produced on a Tradek letterhead addressed to RGE, ostensibly signed by Dawood Mndebele, confirming that Tradek is holding 3 700 000 Western Areas Ltd shares on behalf of Notable. Tradek also confirms that these shares are pledged to RGE in terms of a SLA (refer annexure 7.15). A ttached to the Tradek confirmation letter is a schedule computing that the security cover stands at 2.13 times the value of DRD shares on loan (refer annexure 7.15(a)).

- In addition reference needs to made to the forged Tradek confirmation letter dated 16 February 2004 referred to in 7.1 above (annexure 7.4) where Tradek confirms that it holds the 660 000 Western Areas settlement shares and a further 660 000 Western Areas shares pledged in favour of RGE for the unpaid cash settlement portion of the SLA of R27 000 000.

7.2.5 Stratton has admitted that the Notable SLA is fraudulent. Stratton asserts that he signed on behalf of Notable as agent for RBK.

8. Bookmark Holdings Limited and the scrip lending agreements

8.1 Bookmark entered into (at least) three SLA', one with each of:

- RGE (annexure 8.1),
- RR(H) (annexure 8.2); and
- JCI (annexure 8.13).

The RGE SLA was entered into by Bookmark on 1 October 2004, signed by RBK on behalf of RGE (the lender) and by S Rasethaba on behalf of Bookmark (the borrower).

8.2.1 The loaned securities were the ordinary shares in the following companies:

Company name	Number of shares
Anglo American Platinum Corporation Ltd	235 000
Harmony Gold Mining Company Ltd	315 000

8.2.2 The effective date of the SLA was 30 September 2004; the termination date is 30 June 2006, subject to clause 8 of the agreement.

8.2.3 The purported purpose of the agreement was recorded as follows:

8.2.3.1 "Bookmark wishes to raise funding for its business activities and RG&E are willing to assist in providing the loan to Bookmark.

8.2.3.2 Bookmark will make available security for the loan.

8.2.3.3 In exchange for providing the loan, Bookmark will give to RGE 50% of the upside in respect of the projects to be funded."

8.2.4 On 22 April 2005 Bookmark addresses a letter to the external auditors of RGE confirming that Bookmark borrowed the following shares from RGE as at 31 December 2004

- 235 000 shares in Anglo American Platinum Corporation Limited
- 315 000 shares in Harmony Gold Mining Company Ltd

The letter is signed by S Rasethaba on behalf of Bookmark.

8.2.5 On 22 April 2005 the directors of Bookmark enter into a Resolution agreeing to enter into a SLA with RGE for the said shares as dealt with in 8.2.1 and 8.2.4 above. The same directors' resolution authorises S Rasethaba to sign all and any documentation which may be required in terms of the resolution to enter into the SLA. This despite the fact that the SLA was signed on 1 October 2004 by S Rasethaba wherein he warranted that he was duly authorised to enter into such an agreement (refer annexure 8.3).

8.2.6 On 22 April 2005 Bookmark addressed a letter to Messrs Charles Orbach & Co confirming that Bookmark had borrowed 235 000 Angloplats shares and 315 000 Harmony Gold shares from RGE as at 31 December 2004 (refer annexure 8.7).

The RR(H) SLA was entered into by Bookmark on 6 February 2004, signed by Buitendag on behalf of RR(H) (the lender) and by S Rasethaba on behalf of Bookmark (the borrower).

8.3.1 The loaned securities were ordinary shares not exceeding 5 000 000 shares (pre the 1 for 1 split on 16 June 2004) in (RRL), listed on the London and NASDAQ stock exchanges.

8.3.2 The effective date of the SLA was 1 February 2004; the termination date was either 30 May 2006 or the date of termination pursuant to clause 8 of the SLA.

8.3.3 The purpose of the SLA was recorded as follows:

8.3.3.1 "Bookmark wishes to purchase approximately 19 000 000 shares in Western Areas Ltd, currently held by Anglo American Corporation as well as to provide financing to Matodzi Resources Limited.

8.3.3.2 RR(H) has agreed to lend to Bookmark up to a maximum of 5 000 000 shares (10 000 000 shares post 1 for 1 split) in the capital of RRL to assist Bookmark in the funding of its activities.

8.3.3.3 Bookmark will make available all of its assets as security for the loan and will not borrow any money without prior approval of the lender.

8.3.3.4 Bookmark will also give an option to RR(H) to participate in any of the mineral rights and projects that emanate there from particularly in relation to the platinum prospects owned by Bookmark". (Refer annexure 8.16)

8.3.4 On 31 March 2005 Bookmark addressed a letter to the Chairman and directors of RR(H) confirming that RR(H) has loaned Bookmark a total of 9 890 500 RRL shares as at 31 December 2004 (refer annexure 8.8).

8.4 On 5th August 2004 JCI Ltd as lender and Bookmark as borrower enter into a SLA wherein the 'loaned securities' are defined as per annexure 'B' to a Deed of Pledge and Cession between Bookmark, RR(H) and RGE (Refer to annexure 8.13). The loaned securities are defined as:

200 000 000	Matodzi Resources Ltd Variable Rate Redeemable Convertible 'B' Preference Shares of 1 cent each;
85 540 655	Simmer & Jack Mines Ltd ordinary shares of 2 cents each; and
45 000 000	Matodzi Resources Ltd Ordinary Shares of

These are not the same shares or quantities of shares as set out in annexure 'B' to the Deed of Pledge and Cession (Refer to annexure 8.13). The SLA is signed on behalf of the lender by Buitendag and by the borrower by S Rasethaba. S Rasethaba confirmed in the section 417 enquiry that this SLA and Deed had not been given effect to.

8.4.1 On the 5th August 2004 Bookmark enters into a Deed of Pledge and Cession wherein Bookmark pledged, cedes, transfers and makes over unto and in favour of RR(H) and RGE 200 million Matodzi Resources Ltd unsecured convertible participating 'B' preference shares and 100 million Simmer & Jack Mines Ltd ordinary shares. These shares were borrowed from JCI, which JCI consented to subordinate in terms of the said Deed of Pledge and Cession. The stated purpose of the Deed of Pledge and Cession was to provide continuing covering security in respect of Bookmark's obligations to RR(H) and indirectly RGE in terms of the RR(H) SLA. (Refer Annexure 8.13) The real purpose of this Deed of Pledge and Cession was to deceive the external auditors and stakeholders of RR(H) and RGE into believing there was adequate cover for Bookmark's obligations in respect of the fictitious borrowing of 9 850 500 RRL shares. At a session of the Viking Section 417 Enquiry held on 3rd March 2006, Buitendag admitted that the Bookmark SLA's were fraudulent.

8.4.2 In or about August 2005 JCI briefed Taback's to draft a "Suretyship Undertaking" binding itself to RGE (Sic) as a surety for and co-principal debtor together with Bookmark in respect of the due and punctual performance by Bookmark of all its obligations arising from and/or in connection with the [RR (H)] SLA. (Refer annexure 8.14) The surety ship undertaking reflects, inter alia, that:

- RGE is the registered and beneficial owner of the RRL shares;
- RGE, at the request of JCI entered into the SLA;
- Bookmark is entitled to enter into derivative transactions in respect of and/or in connection with the RRL shares, provided that Bookmark shall be obliged to pay to RGE the proceeds of such derivative transactions and that on repayment to Bookmark of the proceeds, Bookmark must return the RRL shares;

- RGE received the derivative proceeds of derivative transactions undertaken by Bookmark in respect of and/or in connection with the RRL shares;

- RGE has lent the derivative proceeds to JCI and has permitted JCI to apply the derivative proceeds in respect of the facilitation by JCI of BEE transactions; and

- RGE requires that JCI binds itself RGE as a surety for and co-principal debtor together with Bookmark in respect of the obligations of Bookmark arising from and/or in terms of the SLA.

Although this "suretyship undertaking" is in draft only it provides insight into JCI's view of the Bookmark RR (H) SLA as late as August 2005. I/t is our view that this "Surety undertaking" was drafted with the purpose of giving credence to the said SLA, the false disclosures in the Reviewed Preliminary Results for 31 December 2004, and to regularising JCI's scrip loan to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd.

8.4.3 On 25 August 2005 an agreement styled "Settlement Agreement" between JCI and RGE is entered into. (Refer annexure 8.14(a)) This agreement is clearly derived from the suretyship undertaking referred to in 8.3.6 above. The settlement agreement incorporates a "Position Paper – Scrip Lending Agreement with Bookmark". (Refer annexure 8.16) The position paper asserts that 9 890 500 RRL shares were lent between the "Group" and Bookmark, being 53.9% of Randgold's investment in RRL. This is patently incorrect as RR (H) did not have 9 890 500 RRL shares to lend to Bookmark. The position paper also deals with the SLA of the fictitious Amplats and Harmony shares. The paper goes on to deal with the terms of the structure with Investec Bank (UK) Ltd (i.e. the SLA between JCI and Investec), the assistance provided to Inkwenkwezi Gold (Pty) Ltd, an associate of Bookmark, to obtain additional funding and the demands of Western Areas to obtain funding. The paper again appears to be an attempt to provide credence to the Bookmark SLA, to the false disclosures and to the irregular JCI SLA with Investec. By reason of the JCI position, JCI prepared, in full and final settlement of all claims of whatsoever nature arising against it in favour of RGE in respect of and/or in connection with the JCI position, to bind itself to RGE as a surety for and co-principal debtor together with Bookmark in respect of all of the obligations, subject to a maximum of R500 000 000,00 of Bookmark to RGE, as more fully described in Position Paper, and to give security to RGE in respect of its suretyship obligations arising in terms hereof. The Settlement Agreement explicitly states that "this agreement is entered into in full and final settlement of all claims of whatsoever nature, and whatsoever arising which RGE has or may in future have against JCI and Arising from and/or in connection with the JCI position (i.e. the Bookmark SLAs). Subsequently to the entering into this agreement, JCI shall have no liability to RGE in respect of any claim, damages, loss and/or expense made against and/or suffered by RGE as a result of, in respect of and and/or in any way connected with the JCI position.

8.5 Both The SLA's were fraudulent, designed to deceive the external auditors and stakeholders of RGE and RR(H) that (i) the non-existent listed shares, being Angloplats and Harmony Golds, (purportedly acquired from Viking (refer 6. above)) had been lent to Bookmark; and (ii) Bookmark had borrowed 9 890 500 RRL shares from RR(H) to cover for the RRL shares stolen between 2002 and 2004 and for the 5 460 000 RRL shares lent by JCI to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd, which neither the directors of RGE nor JCI wished to disclose in their 2004/5 annual financial statements (refer annexure 5.43). The JCI/Bookmark SLA was 'manufactured' by Buitendag with the assistance of S Rasethaba to provide comfort to the external auditors that Bookmark had provided adequate security cover to RR(H) for the Bookmark/RR(H) SLA to stand the scrutiny of an assessment of Bookmark's ability to perform under the SLA.

9. The "JCI Group Angolan Operations"

9.1 In a report styled Review of "JCI Group Angola Operations" prepared by Shaun Bryans, and addressed to Peter Gray and Chris Lamprecht dated August 2005, it is noted that RGE has the following diamond interests in Angola (Refer annexure 9.1):

"RGE has the following diamond interests in Angola:

Angolan project	Acquisition price (2004) R'm	Number of RGE shares issued	Date of share issue (1)	Investment -to-date (August 2005) R'm	Total investment R'm	Comment
Luembe Mining (Pty) Ltd/Projecto Cassanguidi	56,7	2 268 000	7/4/04	32	88,7	Effective holding 45,5%
Projecto Luxinge	24,4	1 319 000	23/6/04	4,6	29	Effective holding 24%

Projecto Dando Cuanza	27,6	1 492 000	23/6/04	3,9	31,5	Effective holding 20%
Total	134,1	6 452 000		40,5	174,6

Note (1) – This column has been inserted by UMBONO FAS.

Notes:
The interests in these projects were acquired from empowerment companies which we are associated with (Dando Kwanza – Masupatsela, Luxinge-Koketso, Somba Sul-MDG) or from the vendors (Luembe Mining – Cassanguidi) through the issue of Randgold shares.

Investment-to-date represents actual funding utilized on the Angolan projects. In the case of Luembe Mining (Pty) Ltd/Projecto Cassanguidi the bulk of the R32 million invested in the project was the purchase of earthmoving equipment and diamond processing plant (start-up costs)

JCI Limited ("JCI") holds a further 22% of Projecto Luxinge and CMMS Limited a further 20% of Projecto Dando Cuanza. These companies were involved in the original joint venture negotiations and therefore acquired their interest at no cost. They do, however, have a project funding obligation in terms of these Exploration or Mining Contracts.

Projecto Somba Sul has been fully impaired in the books of Randgold. Luembe Mining/Cassanguidi has been impaired to a value of R83 million."

9.2 The 4 960 000 RGE shares issued between 7 April 2004 and 23 June 2004 as per the above table (refer sub total) were placed in a Lunda Sul trading account (number 915983 at T-Sec) in 2004 as follows (Refer annexure 9.2):

Number of shares	Registered shareholder
2 268 000	T-Sec nominees
1 319 000	Koketso
1 373 000	Quantum African Mining
4 960 000

9.3 A further 200 000 RGE shares were transferred into the Lunda Sul trading account from Trans Benguela Logistics' trading account and a total of 5 160 000 were sold during 2004 for a total of R86 158 366. Net sales of other listed equities in this trading account resulted in a further R542 002 being credited to this account, totalling R91 546 293. Of this a net amount of R14 575 313 was transferred to the Alibiprops trading account with the balance, after earning interest of R84 945, being transferred to the following bank accounts (Refer annexure 9.3):

9.4 This issue and listing of 4 960 000 RGE shares, ostensibly to purchase equity stakes in BEE companies, was fraudulent with the shares being stolen, sold through T-Sec and the proceeds channelled to the bank accounts listed above. These shares issues are a contravention of the JSE listing rules and NASDAQ securities laws (Refer to annexure 9.3).

9.5 A further 1 492 000 RGE shares were issued and listed in respect of the Projecto Dando Cuanza/Matsupatsela BEE deal. We understand these shares were placed in a CMMS trading account at T-Sec and sold in a similar modus operandi to that of the RGE shares placed in the Lunda Sul trading account at T-Sec. We have not been given access to the CMMS trading account by T-Sec and presumably this fraud has been identified and reported on by KPMG (Refer to annexure 9.2).

9.6 Equitant, having sold 2 270 000 RGE shares and purchased 56 000 000 JCI shares through its trading account at T-Sec, then transferred R19 938 748 to the Itsuseng trading account at T-Sec. Itsuseng then used these funds, derived partially from the fraudulent issue of 8 800 000 RGE shares to Equitant to acquire Viking Pony, to purchase inter alia 9 013 410 Barnato Exploration shares (Refer annexure 9.4 and 9.3).

9.7 These Barnato Exploration shares were subsequently converted into 9 013 410 JCI shares and 9 013 410 JCI Debentures. On 16 January 2006 the JCI Debentures were redeemed and Andile Nkuhlu instructed T-Sec, in a fax to Leonard Steenkamp dated 13 December 2005, to redeem Itsuseng's JCI debentures and pay the proceeds into a legal trust account. On 18 January 2006 R11 266 762.50 was duly transferred by T-Sec into the nominated lawyers' trust account, despite Leonard Steenkamp and Martin van Zyl of T-sec knowing or who ought reasonably to have known that 's assets (property) in their T-Sec trading account was or formed part of the proceeds of unlawful activities. Under these circumstances T-Sec should not have engaged in any arrangement or transaction with anyone in connection with Itsuseng's assets (property) (Refer annexure 9.5).

9.8 Both Equitant and Itsuseng have share balances and cash balances in their trading accounts as of today's date and accordingly the legal team, in the interest of recovering assets, is preparing an interdict to freeze these assets, including the R11,3 million in a lawyer's trust account (Refer annexure 9.4 and 9.3).

These assets are made up as follows:

Balances as at 13 January 2006:

Trading account	Shares	Share type	Cash balances R	Cash in Bank R
Equitant	56 000 000	JCD	886 770.21	-
Itsuseng	25 870 589	JCD	3 003	11 266
	307 961 936	LYONS	070.83	762.50 (1)

(1) This money, the JCI Debenture redemption proceeds, could have flowed out of the legal trust account by now.

10. The Investage and BNC transactions

10.1 On 8 February 2002, P.B. Beale opened a trading account at T-Sec in her maiden name "P.B.Bawden" with account number 985168.

10.2 During early February 2002, P.B. Beale was approached by RBK and Poole and asked if they could make use of her trading account at T-Sec to trade shares "purportedly" belonging to them through her trading account.

10.3 3 000 000 DRD shares were placed in P.B. Bawden's trading account at T-Sec on 11 February 2002. According to P.B. Beale's affidavit (refer annexure 10.1.3) drafted for the South African Revenue Services, it was her understanding that the beneficial owner of the 3 000 000 Goudstad Nominees shares was RARK. P.B. Beale is still awaiting confirmation from Ultra (the registrars of DRD) as to who the beneficial owner of these shares were (refer annexure 10.2.1). We have, however, obtained verbal confirmation from RARK that these were not his shares and that these shares therefore belonged to RGE.

10.4 2 359 376 of the 3 000 000 DRD shares were sold through the P.B. Bawden trading account commencing on 8 February 2002 till 14 February 2002 as follows (refer annexure 10.1.3):

Date	Number of shares	Proceeds (R)
8/2/2002	590 000	17 306 026.25
11/2/2002	627 450	19 123 202.06
12/2/2002	717 491	20 981 309.31
14/2/2002	424 435	12 952 689.06
Total	2 359 376	70 363 226.68

10.5 540 624 and 100 000 of the 3 000 000 DRD shares transferred into P.B. Bawden's trading account were then transferred to New Heights (account number 924977) and Hothouse (account number 958512) trading accounts held at T-Sec respectively as follows (refer annexure 10.1.4):

Date	From P.B. Bawden trading account # 985168 (Number of shares)	To New Heights trading account # 924977 (Number of shares)	To Hothouse trading account # 958512 (Number of shares)
14/2/2002	(274 565)	274 565
18/2/2002	(232 659)	232 659
20/2/2002	(33 400)	33 400
1/3/2002	(100 000)		100 000
Total	(640 624)	540 624	100 000

10.6 Commencing 12 February 2002 till 19 February 2002, 540 624 DRD shares were sold in the New Heights trading account held at T-Sec realising R16 670 852.63 (refer annexure 10.4.4). Of these proceeds R16 086 786.97 was transferred back to P.B. Bawden's trading account in four separate transfers (refer annexure 10.1.4 and 10.4.3), the balance of the proceeds being R584 065.66 was transferred to RARK's private bank account held at ABSA (account number 40-5385-3779) (refer annexure 10.4.3). The 100 000 DRD shares transferred to Hothouse on 1 March 2002, were thereafter subsequently on 6 March 2002 transferred to the Chardonnay Trust trading account (account number 190322) held at Rice Rinaldi (refer annexure 10.3.1).

10.7 On 5 March 2002 and 7 March 2002, a total of 100 000 DRD shares were disposed of in the Chardonnay Trust trading account (account number 190322) held at Rice Rinaldi and realised R 2 609 470.43 (refer annexure 10.5.24).

10.8 On 13 March 2002 a cheque of R 2 609 470.43 was issued by Rice Rinaldi in favour of the Chardonnay Trust bank account held at Standard Bank Alberton branch account number 024742066 (refer annexure 10.5.26).

10.9 On 14 March 2002, an amount of R 2 500 000 was transferred out of the Chardonnay Trust bank account held at Standard Bank to RARK's private bank account number 1028311695 held at ABSA (refer annexure 10.5.27).

10.10 On 5 February 2002, 100 000 DRD shares were transferred from RARK's Wolwekloof carry trading account (account number 654780) held at T-Sec to the First Wesgold trading account (account number 664656) held at T-Sec (refer annexure 10.6.1). Immediately upon transfer of these shares they were sold in the First Wesgold trading account realising R2 987 999.21. On 25 February 2002 an amount of R 2 987 999.21 was transferred out of the First Wesgold trading account to RARK's private bank account at ABSA (account number 4053853779) (refer annexure 10.6.14).

10.11 A summary of the proceeds realised from the various trading accounts from the sale of the DRD shares in February 2002 was as follows:

Date	Number of DRD shares	Trading account	Trading account Number	Amount (R)
February 2002	2 359 376	P.B. Bawden	985 168	70 363 226.68
February 2002	540 624	New Heights	924 977	16 670 852.63
February 2002	100 000	First Wesgold	664 656	2 987 999.21
Total	3 000 000			90 022 078.52

10.12 The beneficiaries of these proceeds were as follows:

Beneficiary	Date	Bank account details	Amount (R)
RARK	25/2/2002	ABSA Private bank Account # 40-5385-3779	61 451 028.86 Annexure 10.7.25
Frankel Consulting	18/2/2002	Nedbank Account # 1426000170 Branch #142605	27 986 984.00 Annexure 10.8.1
RARK	26/2/2002	ABSA Private bank Account # 40-5385-3779	584 065.66 Annexure 10.7.25
Total			90 022 078.52

10.13 The R 27 986 984.00 was used by Frankel Consulting to settle a debt which had arisen out of a redeemable preference share scheme which BNC had entered into in 1997 (refer annexure 10.9.4). On 16 April 1999, SocGen Johannesburg Branch (SocGen), RBK, BNC, The Mandol Trust and Hawkhurst Investments Ltd had concluded a formal financing agreement in terms whereof, the put option agreement as per the original agreement was amended by deleting Mzi Khumalo as a shareholder (refer annexure 10.9.10). On 24 August 2001 due to BNC's default in the above agreement, SocGen had exercised their irrevocable put option against RBK in the amount of R 46 593 000 (refer annexure 10.9.1). On 12 April 2002 Frankel Consulting made payment to SocGen in the sum of R 27 986 354.63 (refer annexure 10.8.7 and 10.9.2) in respect of R 22 622 000 capital and R 5 364 180.63 interest on behalf of RBK, leaving an outstanding capital debt of R 23 971 000 together with interest thereon at SocGen's prime lending rate calculated daily as from 31 May 2001 and compounded monthly in arrears (refer annexure 10.9.13). As at 10 February 2004, a combined summons was issued by SocGen to RBK in respect of this debt (refer annexure 10.9.2).

10.14 On receipt of the proceeds of R62 035 094.52 (R 61 451 028.86 + R 584 065.66) by RARK in his ABSA private bank account, he issued instructions at the insistence of Buitendag (refer annexure 10.10.1) to ABSA to make the following transfers:

Annexure	Date	Amount (R)	Beneficiary	Bank
10.10.2 and 10.10.4	1 March 2002	34 500 000	Brait	Standard Bank Account # 022 682 325 Branch #019205
10.10.5	8 March 2002	25 000 000	Bowman Gilfillan Inc. Trust Account	Standard Bank Account # 022677631 Branch # 019205

10.15 On receipt of the R 34 500 000 by Brait on 1 March 2002, these funds were placed in a fixed deposit account at an interest rate of 10.75% with a maturity date of 20 May 2002 (refer annexure 10.10.4). However on 20 March 2002, an instruction (refer annexure 10.10.7) was given to Brait Merchant Bank Ltd to withdraw these funds and to transfer them to Mr. Jon Schlosberg at Bowman Gilfillan Inc. These funds were to be transferred on 22 March 2002 into the Bowman Gilfillan Inc. Trust account at Standard Bank Sandton branch (#019205), account number 022-677-631 (refer annexure 10.10.7).

10.16 On withdrawal of these funds on 22 March 2002, R 213 380.14 interest had accrued and therefore on transfer of these funds, R 34 713 380.14 was transferred (refer annexure 10.10.8).

10.17 Without confirmation at this stage, it would appear that the amount of R 34 713 380.14 was thereafter transferred by Bowman Gilfillan Inc. out of their trust account into a call account in the name of BNC at Corpcapital Bank on 28 March 2002 which was earning interest at 10.65% per annum. By 1 April 2002, R 40 514.79 interest had accrued on this call deposit and was capitalised to the account on 1 April 2002 (refer annexure 10.11.1).

10.18 On 10 and 11 April 2002, further deposits of R 25 781 660.95 and R 3 800 000 respectively were made into the above call account. The total deposits on 11 April 2002 therefore amounted to (refer annexure 10.11.1):

Date deposited	Amount (R)	Comments
28 March 2002	34 713 380.14	Deposit from Bowman Gilfillan Inc Trust account
1 April 2002	40 514.79	Interest capitalised
10 April 2002	25 781 660.95	Source of deposit unknown (May be RARK) ABSA 40 5385 3779 via Bowman Gilfillan Inc Trust account
11 April 2002	3 800 000	Source of deposit unknown
Sub total	64 335 555.88
17 April 2002	221 559.09	Interest capitalised
Total	64 557 114.97

10.19 On 16 April 2002, Poole sent an e-mail (refer annexure 10.11.3) to klalloobhai@corpcapital bank, advising her that the above funds presently held by Corpcapital in the name of BNC should be apportioned and reinvested at Corpcapital Bank as follows:

Amount (R)	Comments
49 435 555.88	To BNC
14 900 000.00	To Investage
64 335 555.88	Total

10.20 He further confirmed that an amount of R 54 115 088.39 would be forwarded to Corpcapital Bank to be invested in the name of Investage (refer annexure 10.11.3). These funds were the proceeds from the sale of RRL shares which had been sold by T-Sec through the New Heights trading account (refer annexure 10.4.2) and which had been transferred into a Mallinicks Trust account (refer annexure 10.4.10).

10.21 Poole also made reference in the same e-mail to the fact that Buitendag "had told him that Gerrie de Bruyn has offered an interest rate of 10.65% on the investment of the abovementioned funds, can you confirm this for me?" This provides further evidence that Buitendag had been fully aware of these funds and seems to have been integral to the negotiation of an interest rate to be earned on the above funds (refer annexure 10.11.3).

10.22 On 17 April 2002, Krushika Lalloobhai of Corpcapital Bank confirmed to Poole by e-mail (refer annexure 10.11.4) that she had placed on term deposit the funds as follows R 49 435 555.88 plus an amount of accrued interest of R 221 559.09 earned on the abovementioned call account i.e. a total of R 49 657 114.97 in the name of BNC from 17/4/2002 to 17/5/2002 at 10.95% and R 14 900 000 in the name of Investage from 17/4/2002 to 17/5/2002 at 10.95%.

10.23 On 18 April 2002 a further amount of R54 100 000 was deposited into Corpcapital Bank in the name of Investage (as previously mentioned in Poole's email) from a Mallinicks Trust account and emanated from the proceeds of 800 000 RRL shares (refer annexure 10.11.9). These funds were placed in a term deposit account from 18/4/2002 to 17/5/2002 at 10.95%.

10.24 On maturity of the above three term deposits, it would appear from the incomplete information at hand, that they were reinvested at Corpcapital Bank on 25 June 2002 We cannot account (due to missing information) for the period 17/5/2002 to 25/6/2002. The above deposits with accrued interest, which had matured on 17/5/2002, had now increased in value to:

Account Number	Depositor's name	Value of deposit on maturity date of 17/5/2002 (R)	Value of new term deposit on 25/6/2002 (R)
1517	BNC	49 657 114.97 + 446 914.03 (accrued interest) Annexure 10.11.6	50 602 323.86 Annexure 10.11.17

10.25 In addition to the above deposits further deposits were made into Corpcapital Bank as follows:

Account Number	Type of deposit	Maturity date	Depositor's name	Amount (R)	Interest accrual at 15 July 2002	Source from where funds were transferred from
1525	Term	15/7/2002	Investage	34 500 000 Annexure 10.11.15	107 280.82	Suspect Brait Merchant Bank – to be confirmed

1493	Call	None	Investage	96 372.32 Annexure 10.11.12	393.67	Portion of interest in respect of funds invested at Corpcapital

10.26 On 15 July 2002, Poole sent an e-mail to Krushika Lalloobhai (refer annexure 10.11.21) requesting Corpcapital Bank to transfer the funds from the abovementioned term and call deposits which totalled R156 470 773.32 to:

Bank:	First National Bank

10.27 On 19 April 2002, it was announced in the South African press that (refer annexure 10.12):

(a) CAM intended to propose a scheme of arrangement between JCI Gold and its shareholders, other than CAM, in terms whereof JCI Gold would become a wholly-owned subsidiary of CAM;

(b) It was proposing that on implementation of the scheme the listing of JCI Gold shares on the JSE would be terminated.

10.28 The details of the scheme were (refer annexure 10.12):

(a) That CAM would acquire all the scheme shares in return for which participants would receive a scheme consideration of 7 new CAM shares issued at R0.45 each, R4.00 in cash and 4 CAM debentures issued at R1.25 each for every one JCI Gold share held on the record date. Scheme participants were entitled to elect the share alternative being 9 new CAM shares issued at R0.45 each and credited as fully paid instead of the cash component.

(b) That the scheme would become operative on 15 July 2002 and that the scheme was subject to the fulfilment of the following conditions precedent:

i. CAM increasing its authorised share capital;

ii. Granting of listings by the JSE of the CAM debentures and CAM consideration shares;
iii. Approval of the terms of the scheme by CAM shareholders at the general meeting to be held on 26 June 2002
iv. Approval by not less than 75% of JCI Gold shareholders present and voting at the scheme meeting;
v. Sanction of the scheme by the Court; and
vi. The order of Court being registered by the Registrar in terms of the Act.

10.30 On 3 April 2002, BNC and Investage entered into loan agreements with CAM (refer annexure 10.13.1 and 10.13.2) to lend CAM amounts of R 85 million and R 70 million respectively. At this stage CAM was the majority shareholder of JCI Gold, and required an amount in the aggregate of R 155 million to enable it to pay the cash portion of the consideration payable to participants in the above mentioned 311 scheme of arrangement. CAM was also in the process of making a rights offer to its shareholders in order to enable it to repay a portion of the capital to BNC and Investage.

10.31 On 18 April 2002, Investage therefore signed a pledge and cession of monies held in its call/term deposit account held at Corpcapital Bank (being a deposit at that time of R 69 015 088.39 together with accrued interest) to enable Corpcapital to provide a guarantee to CAM which would enable the JCI Gold 311 scheme of arrangement to be sanctioned by the court (refer annexure 10.14.8).

10.32 Although we have not had sight of a similar pledge and cession of BNC's deposits held at Corpcapital, we are confident that this would have been the case.

10.33 The funds, which were ultimately paid by Corpcapital to CAM, and styled "loan agreements from BNC and Investage" in order to fund the JCI Gold scheme of arrangement, had emanated in the main from the proceeds of the stolen DRD and RRL shares as well as from a Loan Agreement which had been entered into between M.P. Crawford Holdings and Mr RARK in the amount of R 25 million.

10.34 Concurrently, and in order for CAM to repay BNC and Investage, CAM had a rights offer to its shareholders on 16 August 2002 (refer annexure 10.15).

10.35 BNC and Investage underwrote the rights offer (refer annexure 10.15), and as a result ended up taking up shares in JCI (previously CAM) of 188 713 570 and 155 411 176 respectively at an issue price of R 0.45 per share. This resulted in their respective "loan accounts" being settled by the issue of the shares as follows:

Lender	Loan Amount (R)	Number of Shares	Issue price of shares (R)	Settlement proceeds (R)
BNC	85 000 000	188 713 570	0.45	84 921 106.50
Investage	70 000 000	155 411 176	0.45	69 935 029.20

10.36 The quantity of shares received by Investage is apparent from an email sent on 16 July 2003 by PB Beale (refer annexure 10.16.1 and 10.16.2) to Poole confirming that:

a. 155 411 176 JCI ordinary shares had been transferred from the Investage account at Computershare on 25 September 2002 to Nedcor (contact person Leigh Ann Johnson on 011 710 -1347).

b. 40 176 978 JCI ordinary shares had been sold in the Investage account at Nedcor on 15 July 2003 (refer annexure 10.16.1 and 10.16.20). The client CHDC had instructed Nedcor to sell 80 176 978 JCI ordinary shares (total balance left in account), and then had phoned Nedcor to immediately stop the sales, which had resulted in only 40 176 978 being sold (which had left a balance in the account of 40 000 000 JCI shares).

10.37 This is also apparent from information obtained from a memo written by Poole (refer annexure 10.16.15) as well as copies of all trades as per STRATE records in JCI shares on the 15 July 2003, 21, 22 and 23 January 2003 (refer annexure 10.16.20; 10.16.16; 10.16.17 and 10.16.18 respectively). We have tried to reconstruct a schedule of sales of JCI shares by Investage from 30 December 2002 to 16 July 2003 from the above documents.

10.38 Various correspondence between Poole and Wendy Warrington took place from 16 July 2003 to 18 August 2003 (refer annexure 10.16.10 to 10.16.5) regarding the remaining 40 million JCI shares held by Nedbank on behalf of Investage. On 2 February 2004 (refer annexure 10.16.4) and 12 February 2004 (refer annexure 10.16.3) two further letters addressed by Poole to Wendy Warrington suggested that the 40 million JCI shares were still held at Nedbank. We are however unable at this stage to identify what happened to these shares after 12 February 2004.

10.39 On 11 September 2002 188 713 570 shares were placed in the BNC account at Computershare (refer annexure 10.17.9). On 11 March 2003, an email was sent from Beale to Tanya.ritz@ computershare (refer annexure 10.17.8) requesting them to transfer 56 000 000 JCI Ltd ordinary shares out of the BNC CSDP account number 214030914 to Tradek Balderson. This instruction was carried out by Beale at Buitendag's request and was in respect of the settlement of a loan agreement between RARK and MP Crawford Holdings. At a later date it was discovered that the loan had been for an amount of R 25 million and hence 56 000 000 JCI shares at a price of R0.45 per share resulted in too many shares being transferred. Therefore, on 6 June 2003 a fax was sent by Beale to Martin van Zyl of Tradek to transfer 444 445 JCI shares out of the Fordcraw Properties (Pty) Ltd trading account held at Tradek (account number 966168) to BNC's Computershare CSDP account number 214030914 (refer annexure 10.17.11).

10.40 On 15 April 2003, Trish Beale sent an email to Tanya.Ritz@computershare (refer annexure 10.17.10) to transfer 310 000 JCI shares out of the BNC CSDP account to Western Areas Share Incentive Trust trading account (account number 657122). Poole was the mandate holder of this account.

10.41 On 5 June 2003, Trish Beale sent a fax to Tanya Ritz of Computershare (refer annexure 10.17.1) to transfer 132 403 570 JCI shares from BNC CSDP account to NIB Securities (Pty) Ltd's account. This was done as can be seen from a fax sent by Beale to RBK (refer annexure 10.17.4) as a result of a Pledge Agreement entered into by BNC and Hawkhurst Ltd on 16 April 1999 (refer annexure 10.17.5).

10.42 A section 417 enquiry is to be scheduled into the trading, dealing, affairs and property of the insolvent estates of Investage and BNC. Additional information is in all likelihood to emerge from the enquiries which may shed additional light on the above matters.

1 Summary of findings

1.1 The funding of JCI Limited and the application thereof

1.1.1 The treasury activity performed by CMMS

The strategy adopted by the previous directors and officers of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries required access to significant funding for the execution of such strategy. JCI Limited had little access to funding and the group did not enjoy support from financial institutions, save for the event of a transaction with Investec UK, which generated funding of some R209 077 690.63, initially, and an additional R48 million at a later stage. Hence, CMMS performed a treasury activity in conjunction with T-Sec and, later, with Socgen through securities lending agreements, essentially borrowing shares in the market and selling same for purposes of raising funds for the JCI Limited group and for purposes of transactions peformed by REC, in particular the Inkwenkwezi transactions.

A securities-lending agreement entails the borrowing of shares in the market and then selling these to raise funds, hoping that a bear market will reduce the cost of funding, alternatively hoping that the return on assets of JCI Limited would outperform the share market. This funding mechanism originated during the 2003 financial year, when CMMS performed limited securities lending transactions to generate funding.

As part of their treasury function and to generate funds for the group, various trading accounts were opened at T-Sec. We focused on the following three trading accounts:

- Consolidated Investments ("Consolidated Investments"): Account number: 648410;
- Randgold Scrip Lending Account ("Randgold Scrip"): Account number: 633701; and
- JCI Gold ("JCI Gold"): Account number: 649558.

The bulk of the financing activities of CMMS were conducted through these three accounts with the majority of the trading, specifically relating to the securities-lending agreements, being transacted in the Consolidated Investments and Randgold Scrip accounts.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Although the trading accounts, for Randgold Scrip and JCI Gold, were opened on instructions received from two separate legal entities, the transactions, performed on the JSE and reflected on the two trading accounts, were in principle accounted for in the general ledger of CMMS. Whilst the Randgold Scrip account at T-Sec was consolidated in the accounts of CMMS, our investigation indicated that this trading account was opened to facilitate the scrip lending activity of a scrip lending agreement between REC and Socgen. Save for some R31 680 159.16 transferred from that account to JCI and JCI owned trade accounts, the activity in the Randgold Scrip trading account was unrelated to JCI Limited.

The primary trading strategy was to generate funding for the JCI Limited and REC group of companies via the securities-lending agreements that were in place on the Consolidated Investments and Randgold Scrip accounts. Initially, the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 was opened as an investment fund for JCI Limited and the objective of the fund was to generate growth on investments. The initial arrangement towards this funding mechanism lasted for a period of three months, which period was extended for a further two periods of three months, respectively, before ending in the current position. T-Sec had recommended the hedging of the liability incurred in the execution of the securities-lending arrangement. CMMS had always declined to do so. The initial agreement with Socgen was that the limit of the securities-lending arrangement would be capped at R700 million on the Consolidated Investment trading account, while T-Sec acted as an agent for JCI Limited. As security for this arrangement JCI Limited provided WAR share scrip and cash.

JCI Limited's and REC's funding requirements, particularly when REC had to fund the Inkwenkwezi transaction, exceeded that limit and, as a result, Socgen indicated a willingness to provide an additional facility. The additional facility was to be provided to another legal entity in order to satisfy prudential requirements, which restricted facilities to a maximum of R700 million per entity. A second agreement was then entered into between REC and Socgen. The limit, for the JCI Limited and REC groups, and CMMS, as the treasury of the groups, was effectively increased to R1 400 million, with separate facilities for both REC and JCI Limited. All of the transactions on the trading accounts were recorded in the general ledger of CMMS.

The trading activities of CMMS were primarily aimed at generating funds as and when required by CMMS. When the CMMS funding requirements increased, Socgen demanded more liquidity in terms of both shares and cash. In addition hereto, CMMS was exposed to significant trading losses on its treasury function, having generated R415 785 861.27 out of its trading activities, whilst incurring a liability in respect of such trading activity of some R697 832 052.76. It appears that the pressure caused by the above mentioned two events contributed to the need for some of the fund raising activities dealt with at section three below.

During our investigation of the trading accounts, it was evident that there was a minimum of documentation available to support the various transactions conducted through these accounts. Most of the supporting documentation consisted of internal documentation generated by T-Sec indicating that numerous trading instructions had been verbally received from CMMS staff.

1.1.2 Cash flows of the treasury and other activities of CMMS

A cash flow analysis was prepared (per financial year and consolidated for the period under investigation) indicating the flow of funds generated by the share trading. In addition, a cash flow analysis of funds received, other than through the three major trading accounts of CMMS, was also prepared. These two cash flow analyses of share trading and other cash receipts were then combined into a single combined cash flow analysis of CMMS. This combined cash flow analysis of CMMS indicated funds received from T-Sec, relating to share trading, and other funds received by CMMS and the subsequent application of such funds by CMMS.

1.1.2.1 Overview of the cash flows

Based on the cash flows prepared, a total amount of R2 944 331 179.45 was received by CMMS, whilst an amount of R2 968 500 007.25 was expensed during the period of the investigation. Ignoring opening balances on the various accounts, a shortfall of R24 168 827.80 existed for the period investigated.

The most significant flows of these funds can be summarised as follows:

It should be noted that an amount of R495 144 685 was paid from the share trading accounts to the bank account of CMMS. This outflow is not reflected in the above cash flow, as the full income generated by the share trading is taken into account and, by including the amount of R495 144 685, the accounting for this amount would be duplicated.

1.1.2.2 Funds received

Total funds of R2 944 331 179.45, generated during the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005, was sourced as described below.

Trading Activities – Major trade accounts

An amount of R1 372 468 859.85 was generated from trading activities with T-Sec as part of the two securities lending agreements. This amount represents the net trading activities after accounting for the movement incurred for collateral, dividend payments and interest payments associated with the securities borrowing/lending activities. We have not analysed or calculated the profit and losses generated by the trading activities on specific shares. Since the bulk of the activities involved the selling of borrowed securities and securities obtained as set out below, an inflow of funds to the account was generated.

Included in the above mentioned amount is an amount of R1 193 844 616.39, representing the net funds generated on the sale and purchase of listed shares of companies in the JCI Limited and REC groups of companies. This amount has been calculated, based on the net result of trading in these shares on the JSE. The net result of the trading in these shares can be summarised as follows:

- Net sales of 4 239 900 WAR: R128 007 667.22;
- Net sales of 11 055 444 REC: R274 993 825.54;
- Net sales of 7 126 000 RRL: R663 523 713.98;
- Net sales of 88 589 386 Aflease: R151 808 541.70; and
- Net purchases of 94 892 925 JCI Gold: (R24 489 732.05).

Trading activities – Paid directly to CMMS form other T-Sec trade accounts

An amount of R263 450 479.69 was received as a result of trading in shares, either from trade accounts held at T-Sec, which appear to have been controlled by directors or staff of JCI Limited and/or REC, or by means of the sale of investment shares controlled by CMMS. R144 684 436.28 thereof was received from other trade accounts held at T-Sec and can be analysed as follows:

Account name	Account Number	Amount (R000)
CMMS	620997	108 493.10
CMMS	660415	3 211 718.77
Kebble (Carry Account)	625087	8 231 420.67

Onshelf Investments	9867373	489 000.00
Total		144 684 436.28

The balance of R118 766 043.41 were derived from the sales of shares, such as:

- Rand Leases Properties;
- Bophelo (sale of LPVE);
- Tan Range;
- Investec/Aflease options; and
- Other.

Other Income

The other income, received on the account, can be categorised as funds received from:

- Alibiprops;

- The JCI Limited group companies and WAL;
- REC;
- Directors and related entities;
- Financial institutions; and
- Other sources and business activities.

The breakdown in the cash flow statement, attached to this summary at Annexure A, provides a detailed breakdown of the amounts received and the sources of such amounts received in each of these categories.

1.1.2.3 Outflow of funds

Classification of outflows of funds

R2 968 500 007.25 flowed from CMMS during the period under investigation. These can be allocated to the following major categories:

- Share trading and administration expenses;
- Loans to JCI Limited group entities and to WAL;
- Payments to Alibiprops;
- Funding of REC's activities;
- Investments and loans made by the JCI Limited group companies;
- Payments to financial institutions; and
- Corporate expenditure.

Some of the application of the above mentioned outflows of funds is dealt with at sections six and seven below.

Administration fees

All payments made to T-Sec and to the securities providers have been deemed administration fees for the purpose of this reconciliation. These fees have not been investigated and have been accepted at face value. The major portion of the fees identified, comprised securities lending fees and a portion of the salary of a T-Sec employee. The amount of the securities lending fees is based on a percentage of the value of the securities provided by the lender (being Socgen) to the borrower (being CMMS) for a specific month.

The amounts paid and determined to be administration fees, for the period investigated, were as follows:

- Securities lending fees R32 260 508.40;
- Structuring fees R36 581 882.87;
- Contribution to salary of T-Sec employee R2 362 500.00;
- Transaction charges on one million RRL shares R385 364.03;
- MST Anglo/WAL transaction R80 979.18;
- DRD assessment fee R2 400.00;
- Administration fees R1 896.00;
- Electronic transfer fees R450,00;
- Compushare fees R300.00; and
- Value Added Tax on the above fees R8 550 012.00.

1.2 Funds raising activities

1.2.1 Funds raised with the sale of RRL shares

The following sales of RRL shares, of which the proceeds were received in the trading account of CMMS, illustrates the increased pressure on the treasury operations of CMMS, referred to at section 2 above:

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- During the period 25 September 2003 to 21 November 2003, 575 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R92 595 105.66 in cash;
- During the period 7 April 2004 to 15 June 2004, 1 550 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R191 536 496.00 in cash;
- During the period 16 June 2004 to 19 August 2005, 5 000 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R379 298 824.00 in cash; and
- On 12 February 2004, 31 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R4 608 150 in cash.

The proceeds of these sales were credited to the share trading accounts of CMMS. No agreements or resolutions by the directors of the various companies, authorising these transactions, were found. Funds generated from the treasury activity of CMMS were lent to REC by CMMS. We have reservations whether these transactions were correctly and completely disclosed in the ledgers of CMMS and whether these transactions were accurately disclosed in the AFS of CMMS, JCI Limited and REC. The disclosure of these transactions was clearly problematic for JCI Limited as a series of documents were drafted during March 2005 (the ostensible contract between RRH and Bookmark), aimed at and achieving a representation that the RRL shares were lent to Bookmark as at February 2004 and that Bookmark had an obligation to REC in respect of these RRL shares sold. These documents included the following:

- A resolution by the directors of Bookmark, dated 1 February 2004, recording a decision to enter into an ostensible scrip lending agreement with RRH in respect of RRL shares;
- A document purporting to be a scrip lending agreement between RRH and Bookmark, dated 6 February 2004 and purporting to have recorded a loan of seven million RRL shares by RRH to Bookmark;
- A letter, on a Bookmark letterhead, signed and dated 31 March 2005, in which the author confirmed the obligation of Bookmark to RRH to return 9.89 million RRL shares to RRH;

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- In a further document of pledge, also dated 5 August 2004 and signed on behalf of JCI Limited, REC and RRH, and on behalf of Bookmark, Bookmark attempted to effect a pledge of 200 million unsecured convertible participating "B" preference shares and 45 million ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Matodzi and 85 540 655 Simmer & Jack shares to RRH and REC as covering security for the Bookmark contract; and

- A letter from JCI Limited to Bookmark, dated 7 April 2004, in which it was recorded that JCI Limited would guarantee put options required by Bookmark to purchase call options with.

The ostensible Bookmark contract, embodied in the documents referred to above, did not resemble the true economic effect of the sale of the 7.126 million RRL shares, mentioned above. It appears that the misrepresentations, contained in the documentation recording the ostensible Bookmark contract, were successfully made to the auditor of JCI Limited. This position was exacerbated when the position regarding the status of the transactions regarding the RRL shares sales and the implications thereof appear to have been misrepresented to Investec upon Investec having provided a loan of some R460 million to CMMS and its subsidiaries during August 2005. Besides the impact of the Bookmark contract on this position and prior to the event of the ostensible contract with Bookmark being put in place, a back to back arrangement was entered into with Masupatsela, ostensibly to mitigate this problem in that it provided some form of audit evidence for the failure to disclose the transactions between the two companies, as opposed to the relationship between CMMS and REC. This solution had a significant cost, comprising monthly payments, which had to be made to Masupatsela and, in respect whereof, we noted that such payments were classified as balance sheet items and not expenses. These transactions were aimed at not disclosing the fact that CMMS had a liability towards RRH regarding the sale of RRL shares in the share trading account of CMMS. The agreements embodying this relationship purported to have created a joint venture relationship.

Investec made a proposal to JCI Limited, dated 19 February 2004, for purposes of establishing what was named and styled a hedged equity funding mechanism, mainly to lower the cost of funding to JCI Limited. The funding of JCI Limited by means of this mechanism would have comprised a loan of RRL shares by JCI Limited to Investec UK, who would convert the RRL shares into ADR's and sell the ADR's in the market.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The proceeds of the ADR's, minus costs and fees, would be paid to JCI Limited as collateral for the obligation to return the shares and, ultimately, comprise the funding to be provided to JCI Limited in terms of the mechanism. The following sales of RRL shares were achieved by Investec UK in terms of the funding transaction between Investec UK and JCI Limited (The cash amounts, generated from the sales of these shares and, which were made available to JCI Limited, do not include R13 180 704.00, paid to Investec UK in the form of an option fee due in terms of the funding arrangement):

- On 19 March 2004, 811 265 RRL shares were sold, raising some R61 659 083.64. Investec UK was instructed to pay this amount directly to Socgen Johannesburg Branch on behalf of JCI Limited. Of this amount, R10 million was received in the CMMS bank account and R10 million was paid to Axon as collateral on behalf of CMMS;
- On 26 March 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R68 352 825.12. Investec UK was instructed to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account of CMMS;
- On 7 April 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R71 220 894.46. Investec UK was instructed to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account of Investec; and
- On 7 April 2004, 98 426 RRL shares were sold, raising some R7 544 887.41. Investec UK was instructed to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account number of Investec.

The RRL shares sold in the above transactions were owned by RRH. We found no evidence of resolutions taken by the directors of RRH and REC for the above mentioned use of the RRL shares. JCI Limited resolutions for the entering into of the transactions with Investec UK existed. JCI Limited and REC were related parties. Up to 31 March 2004, the nature and effect of the above mentioned transaction were disclosed in the AFS of JCI Limited, but it was not disclosed that RRL shares of RRH underpinned the transaction.

During the period 17 November 2003 to 30 March 2004, 1 389 000 RRL shares were sold, of which the proceeds were received Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec. Initially, these transactions appear to have been treated in the books of CMMS as a loan of RRL shares from REC, which were on lent to Alibiprops. These entries were however reversed in the books of CMMS. However, it is evident that, of the proceeds of some R202 168 144, generated from the sale of these shares, R139 484 675 was paid to or on behalf of CMMS and its fellow subsidiaries.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

It thus follows that CMMS and its fellow subsidiaries, among others, benefited from the proceeds of some 958 326 RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops trading account. No legal person, who could assume rights and obligations, existed in the name and style of Alibiprops. Such represented company served no purpose other than to create a share trading account at T-Sec for purposes of trading shares and that the share trading account number 669465 at T-Sec had no substantive owner. Alibiprops was the previous name of BNC. It is further apparent that RB Kebble appears to have used the previous name of BNC knowingly as BNC had already changed its name at the time when the mandate with T-Sec was completed. He used a previous name of the company and a non existent company registration number to open the trading account with.

1.2.2 Funds raised with the sale of Aflease shares

91 578 047 Aflease shares were sold in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec, raising some R166 749 131.44 in cash. Whilst CMMS held 3 359 152 Aflease shares, some 102.1 million Aflease shares were transferred into the Consolidated Investments trading account from REC of which balanced, transferred in as aforementioned, some 13 599 614 Aflease shares were transferred elsewhere and the remaining balance of those transferred in from REC, comprising some 88 500 386 Aflease shares, were sold as part of the 91 578 047 Aflease shares referred to above. The Aflease shares, received from REC, were received by REC in terms of the Phikoloso transaction and a share swap with Aflease. Cash generated by CMMS from these Aflease shares received from REC thus appears to have been approximated R161 145 197.80 ($\frac{\text{R166 749 131.44} \times \text{88 500 386}}{\text{91 578 047}}$ $\frac{}{1.}$).

In this regard we found evidence indicating an intention to sell these Aflease shares as at the end of 2004 due to the cashflow requirements of the Inkwenkwezi transaction performed by REC.

1.2.3 Funds raised with the sale of REC shares issued to Masupatsela Angola

R20 722 865.05 was credited to the trading account of CMMS at T-Sec, funded by the sale of some 1 492 900 REC shares owned by Masupatsela Angola. These shares were issued to Masupatsela Angola by REC in consideration for the acquisition of assets from Masupatsela Angola. The 1 492 900 REC shares appear to have been appropriated from Masupatsela Angola without the agreement of Masupatsela Angola, or its authorisation thereto. We have reservations whether this transaction was accurately recorded and disclosed by CMMS. The effect of this transaction was to alleviate the pressure on collateral required in terms of the treasury operations of CMMS.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

1.2.4 The sale of Simmer & Jack shares of Continental Goldfields and Orlyfunt

R25 million was credited to the trading account of CMMS at T-Sec. This was funded by the sale of 100 million Simmer & Jack shares to Topgold AG mvK. These shares were owned by CMC, held in the REC and Continental Goldfields trading accounts (which were owned by Continental Goldfield) and owned by Orlyfunt. These Simmer & Jack shares were not owned by CMMS. There appears to have been no agreements and authorisation underlying such appropriation and we have significant reservations regarding the truthfulness of the recording and disclosure of these transactions. R20 million of the cash, generated from the sale of these shares, instead of being forwarded to Simmer & Jack on behalf of Topgold AG mvK, were paid towards the collateral requirements of CMMS's share trading facilities. This resulted in JCI Limited having had to incur further liabilities of R18.5 million in order to meet its obligation to Topgold AG mvK to forward the full amount, received from Topgold AG mvK, to Simmer & Jack as part of a subscription payment by Topgold AG mvK to Simmer & Jack. As a result of the use of the shares of Continental Goldfields and, subsequent to Continental Goldfields having sold the 80 million Simmer & Jack shares to the International Financial Trust Company Limited, JCI Limited guaranteed payment of the International Financial Trust Company Limited's obligation to pay the purchase price of the shares to Continental Goldfields. This resulted in Continental Goldfields claiming payment of some R12.8 million from JCI Limited.

1.2.5 JCI Limited shares issued as payment for assets not acquired

Some 40 million JCI Limited listed ordinary shares were credited to the Consolidated Investments trading account. These shares were derived from the issuing of JCI Limited ordinary shares in transactions aimed at the acquisition of assets, in respect of which we have significant reservations as to their existence, and hence, whether such assets were truthfully recorded in the ledger of CMMS and disclosed in the AFS of JCI Limited. The transactions, from which these JCI Limited listed ordinary shares were derived, are set out below.

1.2.6 The sale of WAR and REC shares owned by JCI Gold

R432 408 329.05 was derived from the sale of WAR and REC shares owned by JCI Gold. A reconciliation by the JCI Limited accountants of the group's investment in WAR shares showed two different agreements with Itsuseng and Lembede under the heading "Scrip lending agreements". It appears that such entries on the said reconciliation were based on the documents described below.

An ostensible scrip lending agreement, entered into between JCI Gold and Itsuseng, recorded that Itsuseng borrowed 2 500 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold with a termination date of 30 September 2007. We also obtained a copy of a letter from Itsuseng, which was addressed to Charles Orbach & Co. The letter was dated 6 June 2005 and recorded that Itsuseng "confirm that we have borrowed 2,500,000 Western Areas ltd. Shares as at 31 March 2005 from the above mentioned company". The date, layout, font and wording of this letter are exactly the same as those of a letter ostensibly written by Lembede to Charles Orbach & Company. The only difference being the number of shares recorded.

An ostensible scrip lending agreement, entered into by and between JCI Gold and Lembede, recorded that Lembede borrowed 2 700 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold with a termination date of 31 October 2007. A copy of a letter, dated 6 June 2005, from Lembede and which was addressed to Charles Orbach & Co recorded that Lembede "confirm that we have borrowed 2,700,000 Western Areas ltd. Shares as at 31 March 2005 from the above mentioned company". We noted that the date, layout, font and wording of this letter are exactly the same as those of a letter ostensibly written by Itsuseng to Charles Orbach & Company. The only difference being the number of shares recorded.

No evidence was found indicating that actual loans of WAR shares were made to Itsuseng and to Lembede and our investigation of the WAR shares indicated that no WAR shares were transferred to these two companies, but that the relevant WAR shares were sold to raise cash for the JCI Limited group of companies. Representatives of Itsuseng and Lembede denied receiving the WAR shares referred to in these documents. To that extent, the abovementioned documentation conveyed misrepresentations of the assets of JCI Limited, which appear to have been successfully made to the accountants and auditors of JCI Limited. The implications hereof was that the cash, derived from the sales of WAR shares by JCI Gold, and the WAR shares sold, could both have been counted as assets of JCI Gold.

1.2.7 Summary of the impact of other shares sold on CMMS

The impact of sales of shares not owened by CMMS or companies in the JCI Limited group of companies can be set out as follows:

1.3 The acquisition of assets funded by the issuing of JCI Limited shares

As mentioned above, some shares, issued by JCI Limited, were also used to enhance the collateral and cash requirements of CMMS and the JCI Limited group. In total, some 573 624 746 JCI Limited shares were issued to various related parties in what appears to be transactions without substance, or transactions having as their purpose to have converted alleged stolen funds to equity held by related parties. These transactions are set out below.

1.3.1 Shares issued to Slipknot

On 21 July 2003, 89 million JCI Limited shares were issued to Slipknot for the acquisition of 3 million DRD shares, which were not acquired and did not exist. The share capital and share premium accounts of JCI Limited were credited with R53.4 million, whilst the recording of the DRD shares as an asset comprised a misrepresentation in the financial position of JCI Limited of such amount.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

On 18 October 2004, effective 31 March 2004, the ostensible DRD shares sold to JCI Limited, were revalued in the books of CMMS and ostensibly sold to Alibiprops for R64 860 000, the purchase price being treated as a loan by CMMS to Alibiprops. This misrepresented a transaction of some R64 860 000 in the financial statements of JCI Limited. The JCI Limited shares were distributed from the Slipknot trading account at T-Sec as follows:

- 20 million shares to Paradigm Shift;
- 13 million shares to Robinson Deep, most of which were sold in the market;
- 3 million shares to Alibiprops, eventually transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec;
- 20 million shares pledged to Advanced Medical Technologies;
- 30 million shares transferred to BNC and eventually ending up in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec; and
- 3 million shares transferred to the Chardonnay Trust and eventually sold in the market.

1.3.2 Shares issued to Paradise Creek

On 21 July 2003, 42.5 million JCI Limited shares were issued to Paradise Creek for the acquisition of Highland Night, a company without any substratum. The share capital and share premium accounts of JCI Limited were credited with some R25 500 000, whilst the asset recorded comprised a misrepresentation of the financial position of JCI Limited. It appears that these shares were held by Paradise Creek in escrow as suspended payment to Graceford Holdings for the sale of 3.4 million Skygistics shares to JCI Limited. These shares would have accrued to the eight beneficial owners of Skygistics shares held in nominal capacity by Graceford Holdings in the event of Skygistics having achieved certain sales targets. Due thereto that Skygistics did not achieve these sales targets, some 24 870 000 JCI Limited shares, held by Paradise Creek, should have been cancelled. This did not transpire as Paradise Creek already distributed the shares. The 42.5 million JCI Limited shares were distributed as follows:

- 5 million shares were transferred to SA Stockbrokers; and
- 37.5 million shares were transferred to BNC, of which some were transferred to the trading account of CMMS at T-Sec.

1.3.3 Shares issued to Moregate

On 11 May 2005, 98 million JCI Limited listed ordinary shares were issued to Moregate for the effective acquisition by Clifton Dunes 67 of 20% of the issued share capital in Boschendal from Citation. Clifton Dunes 67 and Citation were related parties to the extent that JCI Limited was the beneficial owner of shares in both companies held through a complex and non transparent corporate structure; hence JCI Limited was made to buy an asset already beneficially owned by it. JCI Limited was the majority shareholder in JCI IOM. JCI IOM did not directly hold shares in Moregate, but the ownership was established by means of indemnities and declarations of trust. In turn, the ownership of the shares in Clifton Dunes 67 vested upon declaration of trust. Some R24 500 000 was credited to the share capital and share premium accounts of JCI Limited, which, due to the nature of the transaction, comprised a misrepresentation of the financial position of JCI Limited. The JCI Limited shares were then distributed to the following share trading accounts:

- Aculsha Nominees: 32 598 578 shares;
- Continental Goldfields: 52 758 822 shares; and
- Moregate: 12 642 600 shares.

The shares transferred to Continental Goldfields and Aculsha Nominees were eventually applied as replacements of JCI Limited shares of Continental Goldfields, which were sold in order to generate cash with which a foreign loan unrelated to JCI Limited was repaid.

1.3.4 Shares issued to BNC

On 2 September 2002, 188 713 570 JCI Limited listed ordinary shares were issued to BNC in settlement of a loan of some R85 million made to JCI Limited by BNC. Affidavits, filed in the High Court of South Africa, and information provided by Umbono Forensics, indicate that the loan by BNC to JCI Limited was funded by the proceeds of RRL and DRD shares allegedly stolen from REC. To the extent that such was the case, the issuing of the JCI Limited shares in settlement of the debt due to BNC, comprised the conversion of allegedly stolen funds into share capital of JCI Limited. Whilst we were able to establish that BNC and Investage, dealt with at 1.3.5 infra, were funded by means of the sale of three million DRD shares and 982 481 RRL shares of RRH, we could not find evidence indicating that the three million DRD shares were owned by REC, whilst it appears that the 982 481 RRL shares were lent to Durlacher, who sold the said shares.

1.3.5 Shares issued to Investage

On 2 September 2002, 155 411 176 JCI Limited listed ordinary shares were issued to Investage in settlement of a loan of some R70 million made to JCI Limited by Investage. Affidavits, filed in the High Court of South Africa, and information provided by Umbono Forensics, indicate that the loan by Investage to JCI Limited was funded by the proceeds of RRL and DRD shares allegedly stolen from REC. To the extent that such was the case, the issuing of the JCI Limited shares in settlement of the debt due to Investage, comprised the conversion of allegedly stolen funds into share capital of JCI Limited. We refer to our findings mentioned at 1.3.4 supra regarding the sharss sold to fund Investage in this transaction.

1.3.6 Summary of impact upon JCI Limited of shares issued for no return

We set out the following summary recording the impact of the transactions in which shares were issued with no substance underpinning same.

1.4 The holding and disposition of WAR shares of JCI Gold

1.4.1 WAR shares

We investigated and reconciled the holding and disposition of WAR shares of JCI Gold to determine the number of WAR shares held by JCI Gold as at 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and at 22 November 2005, the latter date being the date when the reconciliation was completed. We furthermore investigated the historical sales and transfers of the WAR shares of JCI Gold. We obtained information and documentation from Computershare and T-Sec to confirm the number of WAR shares held by JCI Gold for the period 31 March 2004 to 22 November 2005. The sale, purchase and transfer of WAR shares between the trading accounts, held at T-Sec and Computershare were reconciled. The reconciliation further included WAR shares of JCI Gold held by other institutions and/or individuals.

1.4.1.3 WAR shares of Inkwenkwezi, REC and the WAL Share Incentive Trust

The share aggregate, as recorded in our reconciliation summary, includes WAR shares of which the beneficial ownership vested in JCI Gold, REC, Inkwenkwezi and the WAL Share Incentive Trust. We were able to establish through our reconciliation that Inkwenkwezi, REC and the WAL Share Incentive Trust were the beneficial owners of the WAR shares as set out below.

Inkwenkwezi was the beneficial owner of 3 434 625 WAR shares, which they obtained from Anglo. These shares were transferred into the share trading account of CMMS at T-Sec and are included in our calculation of WAR shares held in the account. These transfers were the following:

- 1 144 875 WAR shares on 6 December 2004;
- 922 402 and 222 473 WAR shares on 31 December 2004; and
- 1 144 874 WAR shares on 15 February 2005.

According to our reconciliation and information obtained, REC was the beneficial owner of 3 905 013 WAR shares. On 31 March 2005, the shares were held in the following accounts at T-Sec:

- Randgold Scrip account number 633701 – 2 000 000 shares; and
- REC trading account number 655050 – 1 905 013 shares.

The 1 905 013 WAR shares in the REC trading account number 655050 were transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 in several batches between April 2005 and September 2005. 400 000 shares were also transferred from the Randgold Scrip account number 633701 to the Consolidated Investments account number 648410. The effect of this was that the WAR shares of REC were held in the following accounts on 30 September 2005:

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- Randgold Scrip account 633701 – 1 600 000 shares; and
- Consolidated Investments account 648410 – 2 305 013 shares.

During November 2005, 1 724 830 WAR shares of REC were transferred from the Consolidated Investment account 648410 back to the Randgold Scrip account 633701. The effect of the transfer was that WAR shares of REC were held in the following accounts on 22 November 2005:

- Randgold Scrip account 633701 – 3 324 830 shares; and
- Consolidated Investments account 648410 – 580 183 shares.

Our reconciliation recorded that the WAL Share Incentive Trust was the beneficial owner of 641 shares on 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and 22 November 2005 respectively. In arriving at this aforesaid balance we took cognisance of the transfer of 700 001 WAR shares from the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 to the WAL Share Incentive Trust trading account number 657122 on 22 November 2004 and the transfer of 500 000 shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust trading account to the Consolidated Investments account on 30 November 2004. WAR shares were also transferred from the JCI Gold CSDP account at Computershare to the WAL Share Incentive Trust. These transfers are discussed elsewhere in this summary.

Another 100 000 WAR shares were also transferred out of the Alibiprops trading account. At the time of our report, T-Sec was unable to confirm to us who the recipient of the 100 000 WAR shares were that were transferred from the Alibiprops trading account. This aspect is still being investigated.

A reconciliation of the Pilgrims Rest trading account indicated that 257 000 WAR shares were received from the WAL Share Incentive Trust and sold in the Pilgrims Rest trading account. The shares were received and sold as tabled below:

Date	Shares	Proceeds R

According to a note made by Poole, RB Kebble also received the proceeds of the sale of 165 800 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust, sold in two separate transactions of 77 800 WAR shares and 88 000 WAR shares, respectively, both of which transactions are included in our reconciliation of the WAL Share Incentive Trust, set out below.

RB Kebble was also the recipient of 330 000 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust that were placed at Standard Bank. The shares were placed with two separate certificates "in terms of a banking facility for Mr RB Kebble" as recorded in a letter to Standard Bank on 19 December 2000.

WAL share certificate number 20400, in the name of Edwin W Balderson Nominees (Pty) Limited, covering 285 000 WAR shares and certificate number 19890, covering 45 000 WAR shares, were delivered to Standard Bank during December 2000 and January 2001 respectively. The latter certificate was also in the name of Edwin W Balderson Nominees (Pty) Limited.

In summary, RB Kebble and related entities received 1 182 800 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust. RB Kebble was entitled to 500 640 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust. RB Kebble and related entities therefore received 682 160 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust in excess of what they were entitled to, as summarised below:

The aggregate of 2 003 280 WAR shares were transferred to the accounts of JCI Gold (472 380 WAR shares) and CMMS (1 530 900 WAR shares) from the WAL Share Incentive Trust. JCI Gold returned the aggregate of 2 983 163 WAR shares from their Computershare CSDP account to the WAL Share Incentive Trust trading account.

The WAL Share Incentive Trust received 202 917 WAR shares less than the WAR shares transferred from the JCI Gold CSDP account at Computershare, into the WAL Share Incentive Trust in comparison to the shares transferred to Alibiprops, Pilgrims Rest, JCI Gold and CMMS.

1.5 Identified balance sheet items of CMMS

Sections two to five above sets out the nature and effect of various transactions performed in respect of major balance sheet items of CMMS and JCI Limited. Various other transactions, impacting the balance sheet of CMMS, which led to losses or prejudice to CMMS, or which comprised misrepresentations of the financial position of CMMS, were performed. More often than not, the corporate memory of CMMS in respect of these transactions was extremely poor. These transactions are summarised hereunder.

1.5.1 Loan due to Weston

The AFS of Weston indicate that Weston paid substantial amounts on behalf of JCI Limited towards legal costs relating to a dispute with DRD. The auditor of Weston furthermore recorded that JCI Limited provided Weston with an "indemnity regarding the resulting damages" related to the legal dispute. The loan account reflected a credit balance as at 31 October 2005 of R1 149 644.56 and, accordingly, created the impression that CMMS owed Weston the aforesaid amount. We were neither presented with a loan agreement regarding the aforesaid loan, nor did we view the indemnity document referred to by Weston's auditor.

1.5.2 Loan to CMC Jersey

An amount of R153 509 701.98, due by CMC Jersey, was recorded in the books of account of CMMS for which no underlying agreement exists and it is not evident what value CMMS or JCI Limited obtained from the said amounts. Included in the above stated outstanding debt were transactions for which we found limited or no detail. These include an amount of R7 997 500.00 that was paid to HSBC on behalf of CMC Jersey as a repayment of a loan, an amount of R27 450 000.00 that was paid to the Werksmans Inc. trust account as repayment of a loan to HSBC and an amount of R118 169 748.09, debited to the account during the 2005 financial year, which we were informed relates to transactions performed prior to 1998 when the "old JCI" traded offshore.

1.5.3 Loan to Dormell Properties

Dormell 211 was a wholly owned JCI Limited subsidiary who owned property in Cape Town that appears to have been partially financed via a bond from FNB for which JCI Limited stood surety. We were informed that Stratton purchased the shares in Dormell 211 for R100 from JCI Limited. It appears that a loan may have existed between RB Kebble and Stratton and that the bond repayments of the property, registered in the name of Dormell 211, as mentioned above, may have been channelled through CMMS and, ultimately, allocated to a sundry debtors loan account for the financial year ending 31 March 2005. The amounts processed via the CMMS bank account in this regard, for the 2006 financial year end, is still reflected in the Dormell 211 loan account. We could not be provided with a loan agreement for this particular loan. Should there be substance to the fact that a loan existed between Stratton and RB Kebble and that the bond costs were paid by CMMS, the overall bond costs to date, being R1 681 142.72, could be a claim against the estate of RB Kebble. Alternatively, the amount could be due by Stratton if a loan between him and RB Kebble cannot be proved. We were not supplied with sufficient proof that the bond, registered over the above said property, has been paid up and we were not provided with proof that the surety signed by JCI Limited in favour of all the debts of Dormell 211 to FNB has been cancelled. Furthermore, if RB Kebble owed money to Stratton, as alleged, it follows that RB Kebble settled such debt by giving Stratton property of JCI Limited whilst they were both directors of JCI Limited.

1.5.4 Loan to Misty Mountain

An agreement was entered into between JCI Limited and Misty Mountain in terms whereof a loan would have been made to Misty Mountain for the development of property and wherefrom JCI Limited would ultimately have shared in the profit, once the properties were disposed of after being developed. Shares, which were supposed to have been pledged to JCI Limited as security for the loan, were not in the possession of JCI Limited. It appears that the said shares, which were pledged, were held by Agliotti, a director of Misty Mountain. Furthermore, a declaration of trust was not in place to record the fact that the said shares were held by Agliotti on behalf of JCI Limited. Furthermore, two of the properties, which were held out in the agreement to be owned by Misty Mountain and where development as per the agreement should have taken place, appear not to have been registered in the name of Misty Mountain. Visual inspections of the premises, where development should have taken place, indicated that no construction was in progress at either of the premises. Different versions of what transpired were offered to us by Buitendag, Stratton and Agliotti. The outstanding loan amounted to R10 740 028.67. It is evident that R6 750 000.00 of the aforesaid amount relates to an incorrect allocation of a payment made to a consultant, styled Springlights, and that the said amount should have been allocated to consultants' fees, hence it appears that expenses were capitalised. Furthermore, an amount of R2 600 000.00 appear to have been paid to an entity styled Atlantic Nominees, of whom we have no detail or explanation.

1.5.5 Loan to Castle Ultra

A sale of shares agreement was entered into between Castle Ultra, a wholly owned subsidiary of CMMS, and Titan SD and RB Kebble in terms whereof Titan SD would sell 400 500 WAR and 30 481 900 CAM ordinary shares to Castle Ultra for a purchase price of R52 021 532. RB Kebble provided personal surety for the purchase price of the shares. The purchase price was to be settled in three payments. Some payments were made, but the overall payment structure was not adhered to, resulting in an amended purchase price structure being agreed. Castle Ultra did not honour the amended payment structure and an addendum to the original agreement was entered into allowing Titan SD to sell sufficient CAM shares to realize an amount of R15 994 502. To this extent, the CAM shares sold, were to be deducted from the total of 30 481 900 shares, mentioned above. As a result of the above entries, the trial balance of Castle Ultra, as at 30 September 2004, indicated investments valued at R10 102 500, being 400 500 WAR shares at R25 per share and the liabilities, recorded at this date, were indicated as a debt due to Titan SD. The net value, apparently available to CMMS to set off against the loan account, would amount to the market value of the WAR shares less the liability to Titan SD. Castle Ultra appeared to have been in financial distress at the time.

1.5.6 Loan to P Continental

According to accounting staff at CMMS, the entity "P-Continental" appears to have been a ledger account utilized for the processing of entries related to the holding of preference shares in Continental Goldfields. The transactions identified, do not appear to have any relation to the holding of preference shares, although they appear to have been related to Continental Goldfields. No documented agreements have been located relating to P-Continental. An agreement between REC and Continental Goldfields was located, in terms whereof Continental Goldfields acquired TGME for a price of R9 150 000, of which R550 000 was to be paid in cash and the balance by the issue of a convertible loan note for R8 600 000. Interest was to be compounded at a rate of five percent per annum with effect from 25 August 1999. This agreement was changed to the effect that Continental Goldfields would have settled the full purchase price in cash to be paid by way of a loan from REC to Continental Goldfields. This loan was settled when the right against Continental Goldfields was transferred to Weston, where it was set off against debt due by Weston to Continental Goldfields. Besides a number of entries in this loan account that appear to be uncertain as to the basis and recoverability thereof, it is evident that it recorded a debt of R550 000 plus interest, which was due by Continental Goldfields.

1.5.7 Loan to Tambo/Koketso

A loan agreement was entered into between JCI Limited and Tambo in terms whereof JCI Limited would inter alia lend to Tambo an amount of up to R4 200 000.00 and JCI Limited would purchase thirty percent of the shares in Koketso. The full amount of the loan, as specified in the loan agreement between CMMS and Koketso, has not been taken up and, in terms of the loan agreement, the loan could be recalled at any time. We were not presented with proof that JCI Limited owned thirty percent of the shares in Koketso as per the sale of shares agreement and it does not appear that the remainder of the shares in Koketso, which were supposed to have been pledged as security to JCI Limited, were provided to JCI Limited. Furthermore, we noted that 11 000 000 listed ordinary JCI Limited shares, which were lent to Tambo in terms of a scrip lending agreement, have not been returned, although the date of termination of the underlying scrip lending agreement was 31 August 2005.

1.5.8 Loan to Changing Tides/Masupatsela

A joint venture agreement was entered into between CMMS and Masupatsela in terms whereof the parties undertook to co-operate to identify, assess and execute projects for the mutual benefit of both parties. As consideration, CMMS had to fund the initial running expenses of the joint venture with some R850 000 per month. Despite the fact that the agreement mandated that the contribution of R850 000 per month for the joint venture's administration expenses would comprise a loan to which interest would accrue, it is clear that the loan was only repayable out of the commercial activity of the joint venture. Effectively, CMMS took all the risk of financial loss and Masupatsela had all the possibility of financial gain when the joint venture did nothing. It is evident from the terms of the agreement and the nature of the treatment of the items in this ledger account, particularly the transfer of the balance in the loan account, as at the 2005 financial year end and the sundry items transacted therein, that this account did not represent an asset of CMMS, but merely a recording device of funds expensed to Masupatsela and others. The transfer of the account balance as at 31 March 2005 to short term investments also indicates the difficulties that CMMS's accountants had in trying to account for an effective expense as an asset. Since the short term investments account of CMMS was in credit, this transfer of the balance in the Changing Tides/Masupatsela loan account overstated the financial position of CMMS by some R15 million.

1.5.9 Loan to Tantco

Various agreements comprising loan, subscription and shareholders' agreements were entered into between CMMS and Tantco, which inter alia provided that CMMS would make a loan of R16 389 804.66 to Tantco with a repayment date of 30 December 2003. JCI Limited had to receive 6 600 Tantco shares and a further 260 shares issued to one of the shareholders of Tantco as security for the loan. We found no evidence that these shares were held by JCI Limited. We furthermore noted 28 payments, exceeding R100 000.00 in value and aggregating R9 355 626.78, paid to Tantco without any supporting documentation. All in all, CMMS funded Tantco in the amount of R22 757 271.14 without all the necessary contractually agreed upon security as required by the agreements. Certain conditions precedent, as provided for in the agreements, were not adhered to before funds were advanced to Tantco. No evidence could be provided to us as to steps taken to recover the outstanding debt of R22 757 271.14. A provision was created against the full amount of the outstanding debt.

1.5.10 Loan to Itsuseng

We found no agreement of loan relating to this loan recorded in the books of CMMS. Costs, related to the Lyons and Icarus transactions, which related to construction and development in Centurion and Sandton, were debited to this particular loan account without any indication of the fact that these costs related to Itsuseng. To this extent it appears that an amount of R9 170 357.43 may have been debited to the loan account. The balance of this loan account, namely R35 173 819.07, was transferred to the short term investments account of CMMS. The balance in this account was zero after the said transfer. This entry had as its effect that the loan balances were transferred to the other assets of CMMS, instead of being written off in the income statement of CMMS. Since the short term investments account of CMMS was in credit, this transfer of the balance in the Itsuseng loan account overstated the financial position of CMMS by R35 173 819.07.

1.5.11 Loan to Luembe/Cassanguide

A joint venture agreement was entered into between Luembe and one Marsanto to exploit diamondiferous reserves. Luembe had to contribute the necessary capital expenditure, financing, equipment and expertise, as may have been required for the activities of the joint venture. A shareholders' agreement was subsequently entered into between Refraction, a wholly owned subsidiary of REC, WCIH, one Perrevos and Luembe, in terms whereof Refraction was required to contribute the initial funding to Luembe and in terms whereof the funding had to be used by Luembe solely for the purpose of conducting the business in terms of the joint venture agreement described above. It appears that expenses, related to the operating costs of the mining activities of Luembe/Cassanguide, have been allocated to this particular loan account.

1.5.12 Loan to Kaquala Investments/Lunga Ncwana

The loan account recorded an expense of R5 130 for legal fees and the subsequent writing off thereof. Sufficient information did not exist at CMMS to indicate the purpose and beneficiary of the expense.

1.5.13 Loan to Ikamva

An agreement was entered into between JCI Limited and Concerto in terms whereof JCI Limited would purchase thirty percent of the issued shares in Ikamva for an amount of R20 400 000.00. However, the said agreement recorded contract terms contradictory to those of two draft versions thereof pertaining to Ikamva and another entity styled Extra Props. It appears that the purchase price of the shares and claim in Ikamva and the purchase price of the shares in Extra Props were combined into the agreement with the purchase price for the final Ikamva agreement, which was signed on behalf of JCI Limited and Concerto. The claim, which forms part of the purchase price of Ikamva, was assumed by the CMMS accountants to be R3 000 000.00. It is possible that this assumption is incorrect, specifically in view of the fact that a document, attached to correspondence relating to the matter, indicates an amount of R2 400 000.00 as additional payment to Ikamva over and above the purchase price of the shares. The recordal of the price of the Ikamva shares in the books of account of CMMS, as R17 400 000.00, appears not to be correct. As per documentation viewed by us, the price of the Ikamva shares was R3 570 000.00 and the price of the Extra Props shares was R14 429 000.00. Accordingly, the purchase prices of the Ikamva and Extra Props shares should have been reflected in the books of account of CMMS as per the aforementioned values. We were not presented with evidence of shares held by JCI Limited in Extra Props and neither does anyone appear to know about the entity. It therefore seems that JCI Limited may not be in possession of the one hundred percent shareholding bought by them in the aforesaid entity. JCI Limited currently holds thirty shares in Ikamva as per the share register maintained by CMMS. The shares are in possession of Pandor and a declaration of trust was presented to us regarding the shares held by him on behalf of JCI Limited. JCI Limited should be holding thirty percent of the issued share capital in Ikamva. The issued share capital of Ikamva is 1 000 shares and therefore JCI Limited should hold 300 and not 30 shares in the entity. Accordingly, it seems that the share register, maintained by CMMS, who fulfils the function of company secretary to Ikamva, was not accurate and up to date. It appears that JCI Limited may have issued 20 000 000 shares to Concerto as payment for the thirty percent shareholding in Ikamva. The purchase consideration was recorded as 30 800 000 shares and the general ledger of CMMS indicated that 20 million shares were issued to Concerto. We were not furnished with satisfactory proof that the balance of the 30 800 000 shares, comprising the purchase consideration of 10 800 000 shares, were in fact issued. We cannot conclude at this stage whether an alternative form of payment was made in lieu of the 10 800 000 JCI Limited ordinary shares which were not provided to Concerto.

1.5.14 Loan to JCI East Africa

JCI East Africa, during May 1996, acquired 945 500 common shares in a company styled Tan Range, for which the purchase price appears to have been funded by loans from JCI IOM and Discus, who was the shareholder of JCI East Africa. The ultimate holding company of JCI East Africa was JCI Limited. No documented agreements have been located, recording the existence of a loan agreement between JCI Limited, CMMS and/or JCI East Africa. It appears that JCI East Africa acquired 4 892 600 shares in Tan Range, 3 947 100 initially and an additional 945 500 during April 1996. Of these shares, CMMS's records indicated that 4 470 600 shares were sold. The remaining Tan Range shares should thus number 422 000. The sale of 4 470 600 Tan Range shares generated R28 266 626.05, of which R937 500 was credited to the WAL loan account. The balance, being R27 329 126.05, was credited to the JCI East Africa loan account, of which R14 708 811.15 was transferred to the loan account of Discus, presumably to settle obligations between JCI East Africa and Discus, leaving an amount outstanding on the loan account, at 31 March 2005, of R17 130 296.20.

1.5.15 Loan to Matodzi/Diamond Works/Phikoloso and the loan to Equitant/Phikoloso

We noted two loan agreements, one between CMMS and Equitant and another between Equitant and Matodzi. The aforesaid agreements created a back to back relationship between the parties. The underlying transactions to the aforesaid agreements had as their purpose to facilitate financial assistance to Matodzi in the amount of R63 417 370 for the purchase of 126 834 740 ordinary listed JCI Limited shares and to attempt to prevent such fact from being disclosed. Matodzi undertook to pledge the said shares to Equitant as security for the loan and Equitant undertook to pledge the shares to CMMS as security for the loan. However, we found no evidence that the 126 million ordinary shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited, purchased by Matodzi, were pledged to CMMS as security for the loan made in this regard.

1.5.16 Loan to Matodzi Investment Holdings

A loan agreement was entered into between CMMS and Morgan Creek Properties 427 (Pty) Limited trading as Matodzi Mining and Energy, recording that Matodzi borrowed R4 500 000 from CMMS and that Matodzi would pledge 45 000 000 ordinary NMC shares, presumably as security for the aforesaid loan.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Apart from the R4 500 000 loan that was debited to the account, several other amounts of less than R50 000 each were debited to the account. Interest charges exceeding R1.6 million and an amount of R1 254 000, which relates to a transaction simply described as "Bookmark Hold Tech, Man." were debited to the account. We noted three amounts totaling R17 176 332.47 that were debited and credited to the loan account, resulting in a zero net effect. The inscriptions, relating to these transactions, indicate that they relate to Alibiprops, but we cannot conclusively comment on the nature thereof.

1.5.17 Loan to Sage Wise

No loan agreement could be provided to us in respect of the loan by CMMS to Sage Wise. Rasethaba informed us that he benefited from the R300 000.00 reflected in the loan account and that he was personally responsible for the repayment of the loan. We were subsequently informed that the outstanding amount of R300 000.00 had been settled.

1.5.18 Loan to Orlyfunt

An amount of R3 000 000.00 of the loan account balance of R7 844 414.31 was supported by an underlying agreement between CMMS and Orlyfunt. The said loan agreement recorded that the loan is not repayable until 1 March 2009. The remaining balance of R4 844 414.31 was not supported by the said underlying loan agreement and appears to relate to operational expenditure, travelling and amounts reflected in the T-Sec trading accounts. Included in the balance of the loan account were transactions processed by T-Sec, totalling R1 140 000.00.

1.5.19 The Masupatsela Randgold loan account

Loan agreements between CMMS and Masupatsela, and REC and Masupatsela, respectively, existed. The agreements created a back to back relationship between CMMS and REC via Masupatsela. The agreements had as their purpose to record the terms of a loan of R111 786 393.89, effectively made by REC to CMMS. The loan account in the ledger of CMMS had as its possible effect the non disclosure of related party contracts. For instance, the above mentioned loan amounts, contracted for, represented the effect of actual transactions between REC and CMMS at the time of concluding the agreements, which included, amongst others, the transfer of the proceeds of the sales of some of the RRL shares, referred to at section three above.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The loan between REC and CMMS was not disclosed in the AFS of CMMS as at 31 March 2004. It furthermore appears that CMMS was charged with R9 425 400 for the sale of 75 000 RRL shares out of the RB Kebble carry account at T-Sec. The proceeds of the aforesaid sales were used to acquire 5 million JCI Limited and 62 146 WAR shares. Cash transfers of R4 000 000 were also made from these proceeds.

1.5.20 Loan to Masupatsela (Notable Holdings)

In terms of a scrip lending agreement, entered into between REC and Notable Holdings, three million DRD listed ordinary shares, at value of some R27 million, were lent to Notable Holdings. It appears that Notable Holdings provided 3 700 000 WAR shares as security to REC for the DRD shares lent to them. We understand that this scrip lending agreement did not record an actual transaction. The ostensible debt of Notable Holdings to REC, created by means of the above mentioned scrip lending agreement, was transferred to CMMS. CMMS's accounting records then created the impression that Notable Holdings repaid the debt of R27 million to CMMS by the transfer and delivery of 40 million ordinary listed Simmer & Jack shares. We have not seen any evidence that 40 million ordinary listed Simmer & Jack shares were provided to CMMS. CMMS's accounting records furthermore created the impression that 40 million ordinary listed Simmer & Jack shares were reduced in value by R17 million and were then sold to Topgold AG mvK for some R10 million, which does not appear to be a true reflection of events.

1.5.21 Loan to Inkwenkwezi

The amount of R85 865 625, recorded as a debt due to CMMS by Inkwenkwezi in the books of account of CMMS, should actually have been recorded in the books of account of REC as such amount related to an empowerment transaction in which REC funded Inkwenkwezi. The funds, having been paid in respect of a transaction unrelated to CMMS, should have been charged against REC since REC borrowed the said amount from CMMS in order to fund Inkwenkwezi.

1.5.22 Shares in Simmer & Jack

Some R25 million was credited to the Consolidated Investments trading account of CMMS at T-Sec, funded by the sale of 100 million Simmer & Jack shares to Topgold AG mvK, which were owned by CMC, REC, Continental Goldfields and Orlyfunt. There appears to have been no agreements and authorization underlying such appropriation and we have significant reservations regarding the truthfulness of the recording and disclosure of these transactions. R20 million of the cash, generated from the sale of these shares, instead of having been advanced to Simmer & Jack on behalf of Topgold AG mvK, were paid towards the collateral requirements of CMMS's share trading facilities. That resulted in JCI Limited having had to incur further liabilities in order to meet its obligations to Topgold AG mvK. As a result of the use of the shares of Continental Goldfields and, subsequent to Continental Goldfields having sold the 80 million Simmer & Jack shares to the International Financial Trust Company Limited, JCI Limited guaranteed payment of the International Financial Trust Company Limited's obligation to pay the purchase price of the Simmer & Jack shares to Continental Goldfields. This resulted in Continental Goldfields claiming payment of some R12.8 million from JCI Limited. We could not identify these obligations in the trial balance of CMMS.

During early 2005, Simmer & Jack reported to their shareholders that "Jaganda, a black economic empowerment company will on completion of the rights offer, own 50,9% of the issued share capital of Simmers...". A purchase structure was proposed in the aforesaid circular to the Simmer & Jack shareholders. JCI Limited, inter alia, through the holdings of its subsidiaries and associated companies, agreed to facilitate the rights offer by using the proceeds of the repayment of the Jaganda loan account in the books of account of CMMS to subscribe for preference shares in Jaganda. Jaganda, in turn, would use the aforesaid proceeds, as well as a further R5 million, to be received for the preference shares in which the Simmer & Jack management would subscribe, to subscribe for the rights offer shares that would represent 50.9% of Simmer & Jack's issued share capital after the rights offer.

The cash received by CMMS, or the equivalent thereof, for the shares in Simmer & Jack, amounted to R128 838 633. The aforesaid amount agreed to the transaction value calculated by us. However, journal entries, processed by CMMS to the Simmer & Jack loan account, which reduced the loan to Simmer & Jack, were inflated by R5 408 557. Furthermore, a loan of R18 500 000, made by Newfound to CMMS, and directly paid to Simmer & Jack as part of the purchase structure, was not reflected in the Simmer & Jack loan account. This loan was required after CMMS paid an amount of R20 million, received from Topgold AG mvK, as set out above, towards the collateral requirements of its treasury operations instead of paying the said amount to Simmer & Jack.

1.5.23 Investment in Kirstenberry Lodge

RB Kebble was indebted to CMMS. Several properties, registered in the name of Kirstenberry Lodge and OT80, were pledged as security for the said loan. The loan was utilized to settle outstanding debt of RB Kebble in the books of account of CMMS. We found no resolution of CMMS authorising the said loan. The loan of RB Kebble was subsequently cleared in exchange for the shares in Kirstenberry Lodge and OT80, who owned the aforesaid properties pledged as security for the monies RB Kebble owed to CMMS. CMMS paid R15 863 000.00 of the bond instalments of the aforementioned properties whilst the properties were pledged as security for the loan to RB Kebble. An amount of R2 268 923.29 was refunded by CMMS to RB Kebble by reducing his sundry debt account in the books of CMMS for bond repayments and running expenses of the said properties, which costs were allegedly incurred by RB Kebble. Furthermore CMMS paid an excess of R6 724 654.85 of the estimated value of the property at the time when the properties were purchased from Kirstenberry Lodge and OT80. The loan, granted to RB Kebble and the purchase of the said properties did not hold any financial benefit to CMMS. RB Kebble, however, benefited in the amount of R24 856 578.14 from the various loans and the settlement thereof.

1.5.24 Exposure to SAFCO

JCI Limited, through CMMS, financed and facilitated the funding of SAFCO. The funding was used for a number of projects, which included the acquisition of seven fishing vessels from Australia. The two transactions for the acquisition of fishing vessels were structured to include Pacific Fisheries, a company incorporated under the laws of Mauritius and in which some directors of JCI Limited appear to have held an interest.

There were directors and key management personnel who were common to JCI Limited and SAFCO. These common directors and management could and did exercise significant influence over the affairs of SAFCO, in particular the structuring of the transactions to acquire the Australian fishing vessels. Our investigation points to the fact that these transactions were not in the best interest of SAFCO and were between related parties, being JCI Limited, SAFCO and its subsidiaries, and Pacific Fisheries. It appears that the purchase price of the vessels was inflated with the intention to realise a profit in Pacific Fisheries. Furthermore, it appears that the full extent and the true nature and objectives of the transactions were not disclosed to Investec, the other SAFCO directors and the SARB.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The costs of the four Australian fishing vessels, relating to the first transaction, amounted to R25 820 615.55, which includes an amount of R2 135 169.04 still due to Pacific Fisheries by the SAFCO subsidiaries. Only an amount of R1 300 000 (AUD265 070) was paid to Cocksmacknish as a deposit for the purchase of the three vessels relating to the second transaction. The balance thereof is still outstanding.

1.5.25 Investment in Skygistics

Skygistics was incorporated on 7 August 2000 as Daisy Street Investments No 154 (Pty) Limited (registration number 2000/018328/07). On 31 May 2001, the name of Daisy Street Investments No 154 (Pty) Limited was changed to Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited. On 31 March 2005 there was a further name change from Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited to Skygistics. The financial statements of Skygistics, dated 31 March 2005, described the nature of Skygistics's business as follows:

"The current business operations of the group are to provide services and sell products relating to electronic remote asset management systems and related activities."

Skygistics formed part of the Startrack Communications group, incorporated and administrated in Australia, who supported Skygistics's operations in South Africa. The initial shareholding in Skygistics was as follows:

- Startrack Communications Limited 10%;
- JCI Gold 36%;
- Graceford Holdings 34%;
- Matodzi Resources 10%; and
- Small investors 10%.

During its 2004 financial year, JCI Gold increased its shareholding in Skygistics from 36% to 72%. The initial cost of the investment in Skygistics, recorded in the books of JCI Gold, was R3 600.00, representing the issue of the shares at par value of R1.00 per share.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The additional 36%, acquired during the 2004 financial year of JCI Gold, was acquired at a cost of R27 945 000.00 from various shareholders, representing a significant increase in the share price of Skygistics. We could not identify any approval by the board of the directors of JCI Gold for any of the purchase transactions, or any information that a due diligence investigation of Skygistics was performed by JCI Gold. The additional 36% of the issued share capital of Skygistics was purchased from the following shareholders:

Transferor	Number of shares	Value R	Amount paid R	Transferee	Date Transferred
Graceford	3 400 000	7.50	25 500 000.00	JCI Gold	30 November 2003
J Haasbroek	35 000	9.14	320 000.00	JCI Gold	1 December 2003
J Haasbroek	65 000	15.38	1 000 000.00	JCI Gold	1 March 2004
LG Njenje	150 000	7.50	750 000.00	JCI Gold	31 March 2005

The 3 400 000 Skygistics shares (representing 34% of the issued share capital of Skygistics) were initially allotted to Graceford at 0.001 cent per share. It appears that these shares were held by Graceford on behalf of the following beneficiaries:

Beneficiary	Number of shares
Federal Trust (Mauritius) Limited – Diamond Trust	500 000.00
Federal Trust Co. Ltd Guernsey – Rogerwermel Trust	500 000.00
RAR Kebble	500 000.00
RB Kebble	500 000.00
AJB Haasbroek	500 000.00

A document, captioned "Sale Agreement between Graceford Holdings Limited and JCI Limited", dated 30 June 2003, reflected Graceford as the seller of 3.4 million shares in Skygistics to JCI Limited. As consideration for this sale, Graceford was to receive 42 500 000 ordinary listed shares (at 60 cents per share) in JCI Limited.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The price paid by JCI Limited to Graceford for these shares was R25 520 000, or R7.51 per share. The agreement, however, recorded that the seller warranted that Skygistics would achieve a growth target of at least 4 000 terminals during the financial year 1 July 2003 to 30 June 2004. Based on this warranty, 2.5 million JCI Limited listed ordinary shares had to be released to the seller, Graceford, whilst the balance of 40 million JCI Limited listed ordinary shares had to be held in escrow by Paradise Creek. As it turned out, 42.5 million shares were issued to Paradise Creek. A formula was also part of the agreement in terms whereof some of the JCI Limited ordinary listed shares were to be returned to JCI Limited in the event of the sales target of 4 000 terminals not being achieved by Skygistics. As Skygistics did not achieve the sales targets, 24 870 000 JCI Limited listed ordinary shares should have been returned to JCI Limited. This could not be done as these shares were disposed of by Paradise Creek as indicated at section four above.

Haasbroek sold his interest of 1% in the issued share capital of Skygistics to JCI Limited in two transactions, to wit:

- 1 December 2003, when Haasbroek sold 35 000 Skygistics shares to JCI Limited for a consideration of R320 000, or at R9,14 per share; and
- 1 March 2004, when Haasbroek sold 65 000 Skygistics shares to JCI Limited for a consideration of R1 000 000, or at R15.38 per share.

During March 2005, Njenje sold 150 000 shares in Skygistics to JCI Limited for R750 000, or at R5.00 per share.

At the time when these transactions were performed, Skygistics did not achieve its sales targets and experienced financial difficulty.

1.6 Investigation of transactions referred to in the inter company claim made by REC

On 20 June 2006 and on 3 August 2006 respectively, REC made claims against JCI Limited in respect of inter company balances due to REC by JCI Limited and/or its subsidiaries. We were required to investigate and find the facts relevant to these claims. We summarise hereunder the nature and amount of the claims, our factual findings in respect of the transactions underlying the claims and the impact of such transactions on JCI Limited.

Nature of claim	Date/period of transaction	Amount claimed by REC R	Summary of findings
Sales of 12 360 000 RRL shares, the prcoeeds of which were credited to various trading accounts at T-Sec.	2002-2005	1 968 682 800	Significant numbers of RRL shares were sold, of which the cash proceeds were received in the Consolidated investments trade account at T-Sec and into CMMS via the Alibiprops trade account at T-Sec. There is no evidence that CMMS agreed to borrow the RRL shares from RRH, or that such borrowing was authorised by the boards of JCI Limited and CMMS. The cash that remained in CMMS and which was used for subsidiaries of JCI Limited aggregated R682 333 645.17.
5 460 000 RRL shares beneficially owned by REC and which were lent by JCI Limited to Investec UK in terms of a scrip lending agreement.	2004	869 395 800	Whilst JCI Limited lent the RRL shares to Investec UK, it appears that the real financial effect of the transaction was the sale of RRL shares by Investec UK and the distribution of the proceeds of such sales to various bank accounts, of which R88 352 825.12 was received by or on behalf of CMMS.
4 000 000 RRL shares previously held as security by Socgen for a scrip lending agreement entered into by the prior board of JCI Limited and disposed of during January 2006, which shares are deemed to be recoverable from the JCI Limited group.	2006	636 692 000	Our investigation indicated that the scrip lending facility to which the RRL shares were applied was in fact made and entered into by Socgen and REC and had no relevance to a JCI Limited group company, save for the cash amount of R31 280 159.16 received in the CMMS bank account from the relative trade account at T-Sec.

In as far as the aircraft transaction was concerned, it appears that Paul Main was to broker the purchase of an aircraft by Friedshelf 366, which would inter alia be chartered to REC and JCI Limited. There is no evidence that JCI Limited and its subsidiaries benefited from these RRL shares or received the proceeds thereof.

Whilst we were able to trace the proceeds of the DRD and RRL shares sold, or at least parts thereof, to the funding applied by the companies in making the loans to JCI Limited, we have not been able to find evidence confirming that the three million DRD shares were the property of REC. Whilst we established that the RRL shares were owned by RRH, we found a resolution of the directors of REC authorising the lending of such shares to Durlacher or Kemonshey. These shares were then registered in the name of Durlacher.

Whilst this transaction appears to have diluted the interest of REC shareholders in REC, it did not affect the assets and liabilities of REC. JCI Limited then borrowed three million REC shares from Equitant, which were pledged to Letseng. 300 000 REC shares were transferred from the Equitant trading account to the CMMS trading account, but we found no contractual relationship between REC and CMMS in this regard.

Receipt of 1 600 000 REC shares by CMMS from the Paradigm Shift trading account at T-Sec, originally sourced from Equitant Trading. Whilst this transaction appears to have diluted the interest of REC shareholders in REC, it did not affect the assets and liabilities of REC. 1.6 million of these REC shares were transferred from Equitant to Paradigm Shift, from where they were transferred for the benefit of CMMS. We found no contractual relationship between CMMS and REC in respect of these transfers.

We found no evidence of any contractual relationship between CMMS and REC in respect of the application of these shares and we could not find any evidence of these shares, or the proceeds thereof, having benefited JCI Limited and its subsidiaries, save for an amount of R4.2 million, generated from the sale of these shares in the Lunda Sul trading account, which were transferred to the bank account of JCI Resources.

The fact that CMMS was party to this disguise by making the payment and not reflecting it as an amount owing by RGE, is evidence that it conspired to disguise the fact that the DRD shares were stolen before this date (1 500 000 x R56.50 per share).

1.7 Consultants' expenses paid by CMMS and JCI Gold

The manner in which the business of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries were conducted was also reflected in the expenses incurred by CMMS and JCI Gold, recorded as consultants' expenses. These expenses can be categorised as follows:

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- Consultants who provided investigative and intelligence services;
- Former directors of JCI Limited;
- Consultants providing other services; and
- Payments to attorneys.

1.7.1 Consultants who provided investigative and intelligence services

These consultants were mainly involved in providing investigative and intelligence services. The intelligence services rendered cover a spectrum of areas such as political intelligence, operational intelligence and intelligence relating to the dispute of the Kebbles, JCI Limited and REC with DRD and Wellesley-Wood. These consultants were mainly managed by RB Kebble and Stratton. A high level review of all payments, made by CMMS and JCI Gold, indicated that an amount in excess of R90 000 000 may have been spent in respect of the dispute with DRD. The consultants investigated inter alia included those set out below.

1.7.1.1 Abongile Consultancy

RB Kebble entered into a verbal agreement with Yengeni to assist him financially and offered to pay his legal fees in return for assistance with certain BEE transactions. A number of invoices of R60 000.00 each were rendered during the period July 2003 to April 2005, totalling some R1 320 000.00. We could not trace any payments made to Abongile and/or Yengeni in respect of these invoices. However, there are indications that RB Kebble made payments to Yengeni aggregating R120 000.00. RB Kebble recovered these expenses from CMMS. R879 061 was paid in respect of legal fees for Yengeni.

1.7.1.2 Capacity Building

It appears that Capacity Building was a communications service provider who specialised in issues pertaining to crisis management. Capacity Building entered into a written consulting agreement with the JCI Limited group of companies during 2001. The contract, inter alia, provided that Capacity Building would render communications related services to RB Kebble and JCI Limited agreed to pay to Capacity Building a retainer fee of R100 000.00 per month. Capacity Building claimed that this agreement was extended verbally for an indefinite period. Total payments to Capacity Building amounted to R6 209 137. This amount included an amount of R1 400 000.00, paid to Capacity Building as a settlement during the 2006 financial year of JCI Limited.

1.7.1.3 CNSG

It was alleged that CNSG entered into a written agreement with JCI Limited during 2005 and that the agreement expires during 2007. We found no documented evidence of an agreement between JCI Limited and CNSG. It appears that the services, rendered by CNSG, included guarding services to JCI Limited and its directors. In addition, CNSG also performed certain investigations. The nature of the investigations varied and included investigations of fraud, theft, robbery, corporate intelligence and profiling of customers. CNSG was also involved in the DRD dispute. The total amount of R7 428 889.48 was paid to CNSG in respect of consultancy fees and disbursements for the period June 2004 to October 2005.

1.7.1.4 Micromath Trading 485 CC

We found no documented evidence of an agreement between JCI Limited and Micromath. It appears that Micromath was used as a consultant by CNSG to conduct intelligence gathering exercises and to participate in internal investigations at JCI Limited. The reason for using Micromath was to conceal internal investigations and the involvement of CNSG therein. R1 970 000 was paid to Micromath, for the period February 2005 to October 2005. It was brought to our attention that Micromath may have been overpaid.

1.7.1.5 HSC

HSC entered into a written agreement with three directors of JCI Limited, namely RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and Stratton. JCI Limited was a contracting party and CMMS paid HSC's retainer fees and expenses. The agreement recorded that the services had to be rendered to inter alia RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and other interests held by the Kebble family. The services included legal auditing services and investigation services. Although there are indications that HSC performed various assignments for JCI Limited, they were mainly involved in matters relating the dispute with DRD and Wellesley-Wood. The initial monthly retainer fee of R230 000 was increased during February 2004 to R325 000. In addition to the retainer fee paid, HSC claimed funds from CMMS relating to payments made by HSC to third parties on behalf of JCI Limited. According to HSC, these payments were made on instruction of their client, JCI Limited. HSC was used by JCI Limited to make payments to potential witnesses who resigned their employment at AIN and DRD and who were then accommodated by JCI Limited.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Furthermore, JCI Limited assisted a number of former AIN employees to set up an entity styled Nutrx during 2003. By charging these payments as expenses of HSC to JCI Limited, the funding of these operations by JCI Limited was not transparent in the books and records of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries. The total amount, paid to HSC by CMMS, was R18 508 549.12, as at November 2005, with a then unpaid balance of R1 724 313.73. Of this amount paid, R9 661 500.00 was paid towards the monthly retainer fee of HSC.

1.7.1.6 Finerent

Although the representative of Finerent claimed that he entered into a written agreement with JCI Limited, we found no evidence of such a written agreement. The services rendered by Finerent included the conducting of investigations and gathering and provision of business intelligence to JCI Limited. According to the representative of Finerent, the specific services rendered, included the compiling of profiles on individuals and entities at RB Kebble's request and the performing of daily searches of the JCI Limited offices at Cape Town and Johannesburg for electronic monitoring devices. The total amount, paid to Finerent for the period April 2003 to October 2005, was R8 774 747.33.

1.7.1.7 Springlights/Misty Mountain

It appears that Springlights was used by JCI Limited and RB Kebble for special projects such as investigations, follow up and assessment of trading opportunities and active commercial intelligence. It was alleged that some of these services included the facilitation of payments to third parties at the request of some of the directors of JCI Limited. One such project involved the counter acting of an alleged smear campaign conducted by AIN and DRD, apparently directed against RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and JCI Limited. It appears that a total amount of R18 850 000 was paid to Springlights as consulting fees. In addition, an amount of R6 750 000 was still reflected in the Misty Mountain loan account as at 31 March 2005, relating to payments made to Springlights. It is alleged that some R26 684 000 was received by individuals and/or entities from JCI Limited. The investigation hereof is still ongoing as Nassif refused to inform us of the identity of the recipients of these funds.

1.7.2 Directors of JCI Limited

1.7.2.1 Stratton

Stratton held directorships of various companies, incorporated in Australia and in South Africa. It appears that Stratton was approached by RB Kebble to assist with a number of the JCI Limited management functions. RB Kebble appointed Stratton as an executive director of JCI Limited during 2003. It appears that his main responsibilities were to developing new business, directing certain existing group activities, assisting RB Kebble in seeking to improve the financial position of the JCI Limited group, manage the relationships with the security and intelligence consultants and to manage ongoing litigation. Stratton's remuneration included the payment of R250 000 per month plus the re-imbursement of expenses incurred. Stratton was remunerated monthly. It appears that he was paid on an alternating basis to his personal bank account and to the bank account of Edge to Edge. Payments to Stratton and to Edge to Edge aggregated R8 748 000. In addition, Stratton made a number of payments on behalf of JCI Limited to consultants, who included Palto, HSC, Lemonhouse, Care Products and H Halpern. These services were mainly rendered in respect of the RB Kebble and DRD claims and litigation.

1.7.2.2 RB Kebble

We could not locate any written consultancy agreement between RB Kebble and JCI Limited. Initially, R185 000 was paid to RB Kebble per month, but the amount was increased during October 2003 to R342 000 per month. RB Kebble received consulting fees, aggregating some R8 873 000 during the period investigated. It appears that RB Kebble made various payments on behalf of CMMS to a number of individuals and entities. These payments were made from RB Kebble's personal bank account and were re-imbursed by CMMS against the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibiprops loan account in the balance sheet of CMMS. The reimbursed expenses are set out below.

The following payments were described as payments by RB Kebble to the ANC:

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Description	Amount R
ANC Western Cape	5 750 000
ANC Youth League	930 000
ANC Eastern Cape	250 000
Total	6 930 000

R1 400 000 of this total amount was paid during the 2004 financial year of CMMS. Only the payments, made during the 2004 financial year of CMMS, were recorded in the books of CMMS. Although it appears that the balance of R5 530 000 was paid out by RB Kebble, such was not recorded in the books of CMMS as reimbursed to RB Kebble. We have not seen any resolution of the directors, or a minute of a directors' meeting, recording authority for such donations on behalf of any JCI Limited company. We have also not seen any evidence indicating that the ANC in fact received these funds and Ncwana did not provide proof of such deposits to the bank accounts of the ANC.

It appears that RB Kebble made a number of payments to Gleason Publications, aggregating R695 000. Gleason indicated that he received payments from RB Kebble for having provided financial intelligence to RB Kebble. He explained that the relationship was with RB Kebble and not with JCI Limited. Furthermore, it appears that Gleason was not aware that the payments to him were recorded in the books of CMMS. No evidence was found indicating that CMMS, or any other JCI Limited company benefited from the services. RB Kebble claimed the entire amount of R695 000 from CMMS.

It was recorded that RB Kebble made payments, reimbursed by CMMS, to a number of individuals, who inter alia included:

Name of beneficiary	Amount paid R	Amount recorded in the books of CMMS R	Description in CMMS books
Capacity Building	2 330 000	1 600 000	Consulting fees
TS Yengeni	120 000	60 000	Consulting fees
SJ Pandor	250 000	250 000	Consulting fees
EB Molefe	100 000	100 000	Loan EB Molefe
Ficcuseco	100 000	100 000	Consulting fees

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

It appears that RB Kebble made payments aggregating R2 000 000 in respect of what was described as bonuses during December 2003, which were reimbursed by CMMS. We identified payments and the recipients thereof in respect of R1 550 000 of the R2 000 000, mentioned above. We were unable to obtain evidence that the balance of the alleged bonuses, i.e. R450 000.00, were paid and to whom. It appears that these alleged bonuses were paid to individuals who were directors of REC and other entities related to REC and JCI Limited. The bonuses were apparently for the involvement in and contribution to BEE transactions by these individuals. It is however not clear why, for instance, CMMS had to be charged with the alleged bonuses to individuals unrelated to CMMS and JCI Limited. Furthermore, it appears that the R2 000 000, which was allocated to consulting fees, were not consulting fees and therefore might have been allocated incorrectly to consulting fees.

1.7.3 Consultants providing other services

1.7.3.1 Cygnus Marketing CC

Cygnus was appointed during October 2003 to provide financial accounting services to Letseng Diamonds. During April 2005, Cygnus was appointed to provide financial accounting services to REC. From November 2005, REC did not utilise the services of Cygnus any longer. The total amount paid to Cygnus for the period October 2003 to October 2005 amounted to R847 408.

1.7.3.2 Retrospective 81 CC trading as Geta Fish

We could not locate a written agreement between JCI Limited and Geta Fish. It appears that Geta Fish was, amongst other matters, required to identify potential fishing resources and market demands, and to evaluate infrastructures in Africa. To this extent, the principal of Geta Fish formed part of a team at SAFCO who designed a strategy around a business plan, which included a marketing strategy for a fishing project. Geta Fish was further required to assist with the applications for fishing licences. An amount of R445 850.76 was paid to Geta Fish, which excludes the amount of R43 332.94, representing reimbursements in respect of SAFCO.

1.7.3.3 Closenberg

It appears that Closenberg entered into a consulting agreement with JCI Limited. Although he confirmed that the agreement was in writing, Closenberg could not present a copy thereof. Closenberg indicated that, in terms of the contract, he was required to provide general legal advice for which he was paid a monthly retainer fee for a period of between one and two years. Closenberg was involved in facilitating transactions involving the investment by JCI Limited in Boschendal, Cue-incident, Mvelaphanda Properties, etc and managing the BEE relationships within these projects. We located invoices of R65 000.00 each for the period July 2003 to August 2005, aggregating R1 365 000.00. However, we could only locate payments aggregating R325 000 to Closenberg.

1.7.3.4 Marulelo Communications

Marulelo entered into an agreement with JCI Limited during August 2003. The services primarily related to external public relations and event management services. A monthly retainer fee of R175 000.00 was agreed upon, which was increased during December 2003 to R346 875.00 per month plus disbursements claimed by Marulelo. Marulelo also invoiced JCI Limited for services rendered by Revolution Events. The services, rendered and invoiced to Marulelo by Revolution Events, included those of security service providers, consultation by sub contractors and annual membership fees. The total amount, paid to Revolution Events, was R991 336.60. The total amount, paid to Marulelo in respect of consultancy fees and disbursements, for the period April 2003 to October 2005, amounted to R15 734 050.71. The services rendered by Marulelo cannot be defined as exclusive to JCI Limited. Certain payments made, were for the benefit of RB Kebble. JCI Limited and Marulelo entered into a settlement agreement during January 2006.

1.7.3.5 John Mason

It appears that JCI Limited requested Mason during May 2004 to assist with the assessment of fishing opportunities in South Africa. During August 2004, Mason was appointed as the CEO of SAFCO. It appears that a total amount of R203 701.28 was paid to Mason in respect of consulting fees and other expenses. The consulting fees comprised six payments of R20 000 each.

1.7.3.6 Shelley Street Design Consultant

Street was a design consultant, who specialised in interior decorating and design. It appears that Street entered into an agreement with RB Kebble during August 2003 to oversee the redecoration of the interior of Monterey for a fee of R15 000.00 per month. Street refurbished Monterey from 1 September 2003 to March 2004, when she proceeded to refurbish RB Kebble's personal property, "Fairseat". Street was paid the total amount of R353 970. The refurbishment of RB Kebble's personal home did not benefit JCI Limited whilst R234 270 of Street's fees related thereto.

1.7.3.7 Top Edge

Although Top Edge entered into an agreement with REC, it was never recorded in writing. Top Edge performed consultancy services to REC and JCI Limited for approximately eight years. Top Edge was responsible to manage aspects that could destabilise REC and JCI Limited and counter-act such aspects by creating a stable environment where state, labour and capital could co-operate with one other. Top Edge received a monthly retainer, which increased marginally over the period of the professional relationship. The relationship was terminated in August 2005. Monthly payments, aggregating R1 026 000.00, were made by JCI Gold and/or CMMS to Top Edge.

1.7.3.8 Ikamva

Ikamva was not a consultant to JCI Limited, but JCI Limited ostensibly held 30% of the issued shares in Ikamva. It appears that Ikamva submitted a monthly operations budget to JCI Limited and that it was agreed that the funding of travelling cost, professional fees and any other expenses would be discussed and authorised by JCI Limited. Ikamva submitted invoices to JCI Limited for payments totalling R563 655.75.

The detail on the invoices clearly related to operational expenses. A part-payment of R305 472.69 was made to Ikamva by CMMS during the 2006 financial year. Ikamva contracted two consultants, Tswelopele Associates CC and Thoughtfox. Thoughtfox claimed to have provided a wide range of services to Ikamva, including background work, the facilitation of deals, attending meetings and business advisory services. JCI Gold made payments to Thoughtfox of some R184 200. Tswelopele Associates CC was contracted to facilitate the promotion of Ikamva's mining interests. CMMS paid R50 000.00 to Tswelopele Associates CC.

1.7.3.9 Turbine Aviation (Pty) Limited

No written agreement existed between JCI Limited and Turbine Aviation. Although Turbine Aviation claimed payment in respect of consultancy services rendered to JCI Limited and/or CMMS, it appears that these claims were not for services provided by Turbine Aviation, but rather related to costs associated with Poole's monthly remuneration. CMMS made two payments of R120 000.00 each to Turbine Aviation.

1.7.3.10 Peter Williams

Williams entered into a written consulting agreement with JCI Limited. Williams was appointed to provide legal advice to JCI Limited with effect from August 2004 for a period of six months. Williams was further required to assist in a number of projects and to provide political intelligence in the Western Cape. Payments aggregating R225 000.00 were made to Williams.

1.7.3.11 Ian Wilson

Wilson, a quality assurance specialist in the fishing industry acted as a consultant to SAFCO. Based on the fact that JCI Limited funded some of the SAFCO operations, JCI Limited paid his remuneration and then allocated the cost to the SAFCO loan account. We established that, for the period October 2004 to March 2005, various monthly payments, totalling R128 336.50, were made to Wilson

1.7.3.12 ZK Mathews

There is no evidence of a contract entered into between JCI Limited and Mathews. The total amount paid to Mathews, for the period May 2004 to April 2005, aggregated R540 000.00 and appears to have represented the payment of fees towards the identification of mining opportunities in West Africa.

1.7.4 Legal fees

1.7.4.1 Introduction

CMMS and JCI Gold made payments to a number of attorneys, totalling in excess of R32 million for the period March 2003 to September 2005. JCI Limited and its subsidiaries did not receive the exclusive benefit of the legal services rendered by these attorneys, but a number of other persons and former JCI Limited directors also benefited from these services. These expenses are set out hereunder.

1.7.4.2 Moss-Morris

CMMS paid legal fees of R12 475 657.42 in respect of services rendered by Moss-Morris. However, JCI Limited did not benefit exclusively from the legal services rendered by Moss-Morris. The fees paid mainly related to the dispute with DRD and other matters involving former directors of JCI Limited. Payments relating to these matters amounted to R12 102 330.42.

1.7.4.3 Taback Inc

It appears that JCI Limited, JCI Gold and CMMS paid the aggregate of R14 667 560 as legal fees to Taback Inc. A number of these payments related to the dispute with DRD, the Skilled Labour Brokers matter and a matter involving the Financial Services Board. JCI Limited did not receive the exclusive benefit of the legal services in respect of matters that related to DRD, Skilled Labour Brokers and the Financial Services Board. The total amount allocated to these matters aggregated R4 650 451.09.

1.7.4.4 Mallinicks

Various payments, aggregating R4 915 049.03 were made to Mallinicks by CMMS in respect of services rendered. This amount included R1 000 000.00 paid on 16 November 2005 as part of a legal settlement. It appears that Mallinicks charged these legal fees in respect of services rendered to JCI Limited and to various BEE entities. It appears that legal fees of R881 663.61 were paid in respect of legal services rendered to previous directors of JCI Limited and other individuals.

1.7.4.5 Brink Cohen

Brink Cohen invoiced Southern Holdings for professional services rendered for the period 3 October 2003 to 24 June 2005. Brink Cohen was paid the amount of R59 351.10.

1.7.4.6 Booth

Legal fees aggregating R133 947.89 were paid by JCI Gold to Booth for professional services rendered by Booth to previous directors of JCI Limited and to another person.

1.8 Review of documentation relating to the contractual obligations between JCI and Trinity

RB Kebble, purporing to represent JCI Limited and Trinity entered into a shareholders' conversion agreement in terms whereof Trinity would have swapped and put seven million REC shared held by Trinity for 4 598 214 WAR shares to be held by JCI Limited. This agreement was further subject to the fulfillment of a condition that Aflease concluded a call option agreement with Mogwele, an SPV, in terms whereof Aflease granted a call option to Mogwele for six million REC shares held by Aflease with a put option against JCI Limited should Mogwele not exercise its call option. These transactions were not approved by the board of directors of JCI Limited and were also not disclosed to the directors at a board meeting. It appears that these agreements were founded upon an attempt by Froneman and George to mitigate the risk posed to Trinity and Aflease by their holding of REC shares after it became known to them that there were various concerns about REC. Whilst the agreement was initially intended to have been with REC, JCI Limited was made a contracting party at the request of Buitendag. This agreement was prejudicial to JCI Limited and exposed JCI Limited to the lack of investors' confidence in REC and to the weakened balance sheet of REC.

1.9 Claim instituted by Redbay and Newshore against JCI Limited

We have investigated the factual basis of a claim against JCI Limited by Jewitt for the payment of money to him. It appears that Stratton attempted to make a commitment on behalf of JCI Limited to have JCI Limited become liable for a transaction in which JCI (IOM) allegedly committed to Newshore and Redbay to purchase shares in Startrack. Besides the fact that the document, signed by Stratton, does not specify the claimant as a recipient of the guarantee, we also found no evidence indicated that JCI (IOM) incurred any obligations towards the claimant. The claimant is a foreigner and we found no SARB approval for the guarantee that the claimanat alleges was given by JCI Limited.

2 Objectives of the investigation

We were appointed to investigate various transactions, inclusive of any other issues identified by the directors of JCI Limited or during the audit of the financial statements of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries. The scope of the investigation has been revisited from time to time, to address further issues not originally identified. The objective of the investigation turns around the identification of assets and obligations of JCI Limited and determining whether any of the assets of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries has been misappropriated. As such, the investigation was focused upon:

- The safeguarding of information stored electronically;
- The safeguarding of information in hard copy format;
- The acquisition of assets funded by the issuing of shares in JCI Limited;
- The holding and disposition for WAR shares of JCI Gold;
- The exposure of CMMS to REC and RRH in respect of the sale of RRL shares;
- The reconciliation and application of funds generated by the treasury activity of CMMS;
- Identified balance sheet items of CMMS;
- Payments to and on behalf of RB Kebble; and
- Consultants' expenses paid by CMMS.

During May 2006, Gray requested us to perform the following procedures with regards to the Shareholding Conversion Agreement between Trinity and JCI Limited and the Call and Put Option Agreement:

- To perform an electronic search of the electronic document recording system and e-mails of the employees of JCI Limited for information relating to the abovementioned agreements to:
  - Establish the flow of documentation and information between various parties and/or entities regarding these agreements; and
  - Establish whether or not these agreements were created by any staff member or employee of either JCI Limited or RNG.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- To procure the services of a handwriting expert to establish whether the signatures on the Call and Put Option Agreement dated 27 July 2005, were the signatures of RB Kebble and Mjongile; and
- To review the statutory documentation of RNG and JCI Limited to establish:
  - Whether these agreements were entered into with the approval of either the directors of the two companies and/or shareholders of the two companies; and
  - Whether the appointment of the directors, as contemplated at clause 8.1.2 of the Put and Call Option Agreement was achieved.

Further during May 2006, we were requested to investigate elements of the claim made by REC against JCI Limited for purposes of an intended mediation of the inter-company relationship.

During June 2006, we were requested to perform investigations of the following matters:

- The rights of Molefe against CMMS for the delivery of Matodzi shares;
- The transactions relating to money ostensibly lent by CMMS from ABSA;
- A transaction relating to an ostensible obligation on JCI Limited to guarantee obligations incurred by Jewitt; and
- The loan account transactions in respect of an entity named and styled Hostprops.

3 Period under investigation

The engagement covers the period relevant to the transactions referred to at 2 supra. For purposes of the Trinity matter, our investigation was focussed on the period leading up to the signing of the Call and Put Option Agreement and the Shareholding Conversion Agreement on 25 July 2005 and 27 July 2005 respectively. The first document identified as relating to these transactions was dated 30 March 2005.

6 The acquisition of assets funded by the issuing of shares in JCI Limited

6.1 The issuing of 188 713 570 JCI Limited shares to BNC Investments (Pty) Limited

6.1.1 The transaction

On 2 September 2002, JCI Limited issued some 188 713 570 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited to BNC in settlement of a loan of some R85 million due to BNC by JCI Limited.

BNC was incorporated on 27 June 1996 as Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited with registration number 1996/008143/07 and subsequently had its name changed to BNC. RB Kebble and RAR Kebble were the directors of this company. This company was a representative of the interest of the Kebble family in JCI Limited.

6.1.1.1 Loan and underwriting facility provided to JCI Limited

It appears that, when JCI Limited wanted to acquire JCI Gold during 2002, the acquisition was to have been funded by means of a renounceable rights offer, underwritten by BNC and Investage, who provided underwriting loans to JCI Limited. These loans were repaid by means of the issuing of JCI Limited shares to BNC and Investage.

On 3 April 2002, a loan agreement was entered into by JCI Limited, on the one part, and by BNC, on the other part. The agreement was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by RB Kebble, on behalf of BNC[1].

The loan agreement recorded that JCI Limited required to borrow R155 million to enable it to pay the cash portion due to the participants in a scheme of arrangement for purposes of acquiring the entire issued share capital in JCI Gold. For such purposes, the parties agreed that BNC would lend R85 million to JCI Limited. This loan had to be repaid in cash and, in so far as there being a balance left between the amount of the loan and the rights offer proceeds, such balance would be repaid with JCI Limited shares, calculated by dividing the balance to be paid by R0.45.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

We noted that the rights offer was not fully subscribed for.

We noticed a further agreement, styled an underwriting agreement by and between BNC, on the one part, and JCI Limited, on the other part. The agreement was signed on 11 June 2002, by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by RB Kebble, on behalf of BNC[2]. The purpose of this agreement was merely to change the loan agreement into a proper underwriting agreement in that BNC committed itself to taking up the shares offered in the rights offer, which have not being taken up in the rights offer by JCI Limited.

6.1.2 Cash flows

For purposes of executing the scheme of arrangement, a JCI scheme account number 62036044494 was opened with FNB. On 15 July 2002, R156 470 773.32 was deposited into this account by Corpcapital Bank[3].

6.1.3 Accounting entries

Journal 1450 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited, recording the receipt into the scheme bank account in the following manner[4]:

- Debit bank with reference to the JCI Gold scheme of arrangement with R156 470 773.32;
- Credit BNC with R85 million;
- Credit Investage with R70 000 000; and
- Credit sundry creditors with R1 270 773.32.

The journal carried the following narration:

"Proceeds from loans i.t.o. undertaking"

6.1.4 Implications

JCI Limited has received value for the shares issued, in that cash was received as per the loan agreements.

---

[2] Refer Exhibit 1.1.2

The shares, issued to BNC, equate to the repayment of R84 921 107, when the agreed rate of R0.45, per the loan agreement is applied, probably due thereto that the rights issue was not fully subscribed for.

6.1.5 The source of the funds introduced to the JCI scheme bank account

We have been provided with an affidavit by Pearcey in the liquidation application of BNC by REC[5]. At paragraphs 4.4.5 and 5.15 thereof, Pearcey, with reference to a report of Umbono Forensics, explained that the proceeds of three million DRD shares were transferred through various accounts and entities until R49 435 555.18 was deposited into a term deposit account of BNC at Corpcapital Bank. Similarly, an amount of R14 900 000.00 was deposited into a term deposit account of Investage at Corpcapital Bank. The affidavit goes on to record that such funds were withdrawn on 15 July 2002 and paid to a third party without identifying the third party. At paragraph 5.1 of the affidavit, Pearcey stated that:

"During February 2002 the Applicant, through a nominee called Goudstad Nominees, owned the DRD shares which, at that stage, had a value of approximately R90,000,000.00."

Similar facts were recorded in an unsigned affidavit of Pearcey, provided to us and apparently used in the liquidation application of Investage by REC[6]. Based on the above, it appears that Umbono Forensics found that the DRD shares belonged to REC and that the proceeds of such shares contributed to the funding that BNC and Investage, as set out at section 6.2 of this report, contributed to the JCI scheme bank account.

Pearcey stated in his affidavit in the liquidation application of BNC by REC, that REC held 3 000 000 DRD shares through a nominee called Goudstad Nominees and that these shares were sold in the PB Bawden trading account[7]. We were however unable to obtain evidence that the 3 000 000 DRD share certificate, registered in the name of Goudstad Nominees, was an asset of REC.

We obtained correspondence and other documentation indicating that REC obtained 3 000 000 DRD shares from CMMS during 1999. Two DRD share certificates, namely certificate 9719 for 2 000 000 DRD shares and certificate 9720 for 1 000 000 DRD shares were transferred to REC during March 1999[8]. A new certificate number 13114 for 3 000 000 DRD shares were registered in the name of REC[9]. Due to the change in the accounting system at REC and CMMS, we were unable to determine if CMMS received payment from REC for the 3 000 000 DRD shares.

The 3 000 000 DRD shares, which REC obtained from CMMS and which were registered in certificate number 13114, were sold into the market between 30 June 1999 and 19 November 1999[10].

The Goudstad Nominees held DRD share certificate number 27786 for 3 000 000 DRD shares, which was dematerialised in the PB Bawden trading account, was re-materialised in certificated form on 10 December 2001[11]. The certificate was transferred to Tradek Balderson Nominees on 8 February 2002 and a new certificate number 28074 was issued. The DRD share certificate number 28704 for 3 000 000 DRD shares was dematerialised on 12 February 2002 in the PB Bawden trading account at T-Sec[12].

Certificate number 27786 in the name of Goudstad Nominees was delivered from SocGen London to SocGen Johannesburg for the account of RAR Kebble. The physical certificate was delivered to the office of RAR Kebble and his secretary signed receipt for the delivery[13].

The certificate was handed to Beale who instructed T-Sec to accept the shares and to dematerialise the shares in her PB Bawden trading account.

On the instruction of Beale, 2 359 376 DRD shares were sold in the PB Bawden trading account and proceeds of R70 363 226.68 were raised[14]. 540 624 DRD shares were transferred to the New Heights 120 trading account where it were sold and proceeds of R16 670 852.63 were raised[15]. R16 086 786.97 of such proceeds was transferred from the New Heights 120 trading account to the PB Bawden trading account[16]. The balance of R584 065.66 of the proceeds raised in the New Height 120 trading account was transferred to the RAR Kebble ABSA bank account on 26 February 2002[17].

The remaining balance of 100 000 DRD shares were transferred from the PB Bawden trading account to the Hothouse Investments trading account at T-Sec. The 100 000 DRD shares that were transferred to the Hothouse Investments trading account were again transferred to a trading account held at Rice Rinaldi on 6 March 2006[18].

The aggregate proceeds of R86 450 013.65, raised in the PB Bawden trading account from the dematerialised sale of the DRD shares, were transferred from that trading account to:

Date	Description	Amount R
18 February 2002	Frankel Consulting Nedbank account number 1426000170	27 986 984.00
25 February 2002	RAR Kebble ABSA account 4053853779	58 463 029.65
Total		86 450 013.65

The aggregate proceeds transferred from the PB Bawden trading account include the proceeds of R70 363 226.68 from the sale of the DRD shares in the PB Bawden trading account, as well as the proceeds of R16 086 786.97 that was raised from the sale of the DRD shares in the New Heights 120 trading account and transferred to the PB Bawden trading account[19].

We were unable to obtain any evidence to indicate that the 3 000 000 DRD shares, which were dematerialised and sold in the PB Bawden trading account, were in fact misappropriated REC assets.

The sale of 2 900 000 DRD shares in the PB Bawden and New Heights 120 trading accounts, raised proceeds of R87 034 079.31. Of these, the amount of R27 986 984 was transferred to Frankel Consulting for the account of RAR Kebble. RAR Kebble received R59 047 095.31 in his ABSA account.

We obtained an explanation from Tabacks in respect of how the R155 million was raised. This explanation is included in our exhibits. The explanation however does not show any evidence or indication of the origin of the 3 000 000 DRD shares re-materialised to form the Goudstad Nominee certificate number 27786[20].

6.2 The issuing of 155 411 176 JCI Limited shares to Investage 170 (Pty) Limited

6.2.1 The transaction

On 2 September 2002, JCI Limited issued some 155 411 176 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited to Investage in settlement of a loan of some R70 million due to Investage by JCI Limited.

Investage was incorporated on 14 August 2001 with registration number 2001/019101/07. Cornwall and Poole were the directors of this company. This company was a representative of the interest of Cornwall in JCI Limited.

6.2.2 Loan and underwriting facility provided to JCI Limited

It appears that, when JCI Limited wanted to acquire JCI Gold Limited during 2002, the acquisition was to have been funded by means of a renounceable rights offer, underwritten by BNC and Investage, who provided underwriting loans to JCI Limited. These loans were repaid by means of the issuing of JCI Limited shares to BNC and Investage.

[20] Refer Exhibit 1.1.18

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

On 3 April 2002, a loan agreement was entered into by JCI Limited, on the one part, and by Investage, on the other part. The agreement was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by Cornwall, on behalf of Investage[21].

The loan agreement recorded that JCI Limited required to borrow R155 million to enable it to pay the cash portion due to the participants in a scheme of arrangement for purposes of acquiring the entire issued share capital in JCI Gold Limited. For such purposes, the parties agreed that Investage would lend R70 million to JCI Limited. This loan had to be repaid in cash and, in so far as there being a balance left between the amount of the loan and the rights offer proceeds, such balance would be repaid with JCI Limited shares, calculated by dividing the balance to be paid by R0.45.

We noted that the rights offer was not fully subscribed for.

We noticed a further agreement, styled an underwriting agreement by and between Investage, on the one part, and JCI Limited, on the other part. The agreement was signed on 12 June 2002, by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by Cornwall, on behalf of Investage[22]. The purpose of this agreement was merely to change the loan agreement into a proper underwriting agreement in that Investage committed itself to taking up the shares offered in the rights offer, which have not being taken up in the rights offer by JCI Limited.

6.2.3 Cash flows

For purposes of executing the scheme of arrangement, a JCI Gold scheme account number 62036044494 was opened with FNB. On 15 July 2002, R156 470 773.32 was deposited into this account by Corpcapital Bank[23].

6.2.4 Accounting entries

Journal 1450 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited, recording the receipt into the scheme bank account in the following manner[24]:

- Debit bank with reference to the JCI Gold scheme of arrangement with R156 470 773.32;
- Credit BNC with R85 million;
- Credit Investage with R70 000 000; and
- Credit Sundry creditors with R1 270 773.32.

The journal carried the following narration:

"Proceeds from loans i.t.o. undertaking"

6.2.5 Implications

JCI Limited has received value for the shares issued, in that cash was received as per the loan agreements. We however refer to section 6.1 infra regarding the discussion of the source of funds used by BNC and Investage.

The shares issued to Investage, equates to the repayment of R69 935 029, when the agreed rate of R0.45, per the loan agreement is applied, probably due thereto that the rights issue was not fully subscribed for.

6.3 The issuing of 32 598 578 JCI Limited shares to Beachcove Holdings (Pty) Limited

6.3.1 The transaction

On 23 June 2003, JCI Limited issued 32 598 578 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited to Beachcove in settlement of a loan from Beachcove.

Beachcove was a wholly owned subsidiary of Continental Goldfields[25]. On 19 May 2005, the above mentioned JCI Limited shares were transferred from Beachcove to Continental Goldfields[26].

6.3.2 The loan by Beachcove to CMMS

We found a copy of a document, purporting to be an agreement of loan by and between CMMS, on the one part, and Beachcove, on the other part, dated 6 March 2003[27].

The agreement was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of CMMS, and Peter Landau and what appears to be a signature that resembles that of Stratton, on behalf of Beachcove. The document purports to record an agreement between the parties in terms whereof Beachcove advanced USD2.2 million to CMMS at a rate of interest equal to LIBOR plus 1% per annum. The loan was to be repaid within 24 months of the agreement date, i.e., from 6 March 2003.

On 20 March 2003, CMMS received R17 741 460 and on 2 April 2003 CMMS received a further R287 028.44.

A resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, signed by Buitendag, Cornwall, RAR Kebble, and Stratton and dated 23 June 2003, recorded a decision to repay the loan by means of issuing 32 598 578 JCI Limited ordinary shares[28]. These shares were then issued on 23 June 2003.

6.3.3 SARB approvals for the loan

On 18 March 2003, Swanevelder, on behalf of JCI Limited, applied to the authorised dealer of the SARB for approval for a foreign loan, with reference to the above referred to loan[29]. The approval from the SARB, dated 2 April 2003, was forwarded to Swanevelder on 4 April 2003[30].

On 5 June 2003, Swanevelder, on behalf of JCI Limited, applied to the authorised dealer of the SARB for the repayment of the loan by means of the issuing of JCI Limited shares[31]. It appears that the authorised dealer had queries regarding certain aspects of the request of Swanevelder[32]. We have not seen correspondence clearing these queries, or the authority of the SARB for the repayment of the loan in the manner applied for.

6.3.4 Accounting entries

Upon receipt of the above mentioned two amounts into the bank account of CMMS, the bank account in the ledger of CMMS was debited and a loan to Beachcove was credited.

Upon repayment of the loan, the share capital account and the share premium account in the books of JCI Limited were credited with R325 935.78 and R17 277 246.01 respectively. The cost of repayment of the loan, i.e. to create the paid up share capital in JCI Limited, was charged to CMMS and consequently, the loan account of CMMS in the books of JCI Limited was debited. Hence, in the books of CMMS, the loan account with JCI Limited was credited and the loan from Beachcove was debited with R17 603 231.79.

The remaining balance of R287 024.44, due to Beachcove, was debited in the loan account of Beachcove in CMMS's ledger and credited to the loan account of CAM Jersey.

6.3.5 Implications

Save for the uncertainty regarding the authority from the SARB in respect of the repayment of the loan to Beachcove, we found no incidences that caused loss to CMMS in this transaction.

6.4 The issuing of 89 000 000 JCI Limited shares to Slip Knot Investments 203 (Pty) Limited

6.4.1 The transaction

We were provided with a schedule of shares issued by JCI Limited for the acquisition of various assets. This schedule indicated that, on 21 July 2003, 89 000 000 listed ordinary shares in JCI Limited were issued to Slip Knot for the acquisition of three million DRD shares[33].

A JCI Limited resolution, dated 30 June 2003, appears to have been signed by Buitendag, RAR Kebble, Stratton and RB Kebble[34]. The resolution authorises the company to apply to the JSE for the listing of 131 500 000 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited for purposes, amongst others to issue:

[34] Refer Exhibit 1.4.2

"89 000 000 (eighty nine million) new ordinary shares in JCI at an issue price of 60 cents per share to Slip Knot Investments 203 (Pty) Limited, in terms of the attached Sale Agreement between Slip Knot Investments 203 (Pty) Limited and JCI;"

On 30 June 2003, Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and Beale, on behalf of CMMS, signed an application to the JSE for the listing of the 131.5 million JCI Limited ordinary shares[35]. On 17 July 2003, the JSE authorised the requested listing of JCI Limited ordinary shares[36]. On 23 July 2003, Beale instructed Computershare to issue 89 million JCI Limited ordinary listed shares to Slip Knot[37].

We found a document, purporting to be a contract of sale by and between Slip Knot, on the one part, and JCI Limited, on the other part, signed by apparently one Gasson, on behalf of Slip Knot, and Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited[38]. The document was dated 30 June 2003. It recorded a contract by and between JCI Limited and Slip Knot in terms whereof Slip Knot sold three million DRD shares to JCI Limited for some R53.4 million. The purchase price had to be settled by the issuing of 89 million JCI Limited ordinary listed shares to Slip Knot.

6.4.2 The constitution of Slip Knot

Publicly held information disclosed the following in respect of Slip Knot:

- The company was incorporated on 5 June 2003 with registration number 2003/012796/07;
- One Ralph Gasson was appointed a director of this company on 5 June 2003;
- One Christian Gouws was a previous director and, as we recorded at section 6.5 infra, the said Christian Gouws was a director of a professional shelve companies vendor;
- The registered address of the company was at 13 Dingle Street, Silverfields Park;
- The auditor of the company was AJ De Beer and Company; and
- We found no evidence of civil judgements, defaults, properties registered in the name of this company and any relevant media articles.

A company profile of Slip Knot, as at 16 November 2005, found at JCI Limited, recorded that R Gasson was the responsible person at Slip Knot and also the public officer. Malherbe Lourens was reflected as the auditor[39].

During an interview with Beale on 24 November 2005, she informed us that Slip Knot was a shelf company with R Gasson as the shareholder. This apparently was as a result of having requested Poole to issue the shares of Slip Knot to a friendly shareholder. R Gasson apparently was a friend of Poole, according to Beale, and Poole controlled Slip Knot. We found no evidence of a share certificate recording R Gasson as a shareholder of Slip Knot.

6.4.3 The DRD shares

We have found no evidence to indicate the existence of three million DRD shares that were referred to in the contract, referred to above. In the absence of any documentary evidence thereto, we had reference to the following anecdotal evidence regarding this transaction:

- During an interview with Buitendag, he indicated that these DRD shares did not exist;
- Beale informed us during an interview that she never saw the DRD shares and have not traded with any DRD shares owned by JCI Limited and/or group companies. She indicated that the auditor of JCI Limited indicated that the last DRD shares, held by the group, were sold during 2001; and
- The custodian of the DRD share register also indicated that they are unaware of DRD shares having being held by Slip Knot, although such confirmation may not be conclusive.

6.4.4 The constitution of Alibiprops

We performed a search for statutory information of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited in publicly available information data bases. This search revealed the following information in respect of this company[40]:

- A company, named and styled Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited, was incorporated on 27 June 1996 with registration number 1996/008143/07 and having RB Kebble and RAR Kebble as its directors; and

[39] Refer Exhibit 1.4.7
[40] This information is recorded in a KPMG Corporate Intelligence report which is not annexed hereto

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- This company changed its name to BNC Investments (Pty) Limited, being the legal entity representing the interests of RAR Kebble and RB Kebble in JCI Limited.

As can be seen below, RB Kebble signed a mandate with T-Sec with the information recorded as set out below.

A schedule of the particulars of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited, completed at T-Sec for the opening of trading account number 669465, recorded the following information[41]:

- Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited had a company registration number 1992/023597/07. This company registration number does not exist and hence no company was presented as an account holder;
- It had a postal address of PO Box 6257, Cresta and a physical address of 28 Harrison Street, Johannesburg. However, on 23 August 2003, Beale requested Martin van Zyl at T-Sec to change the postal address of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited to PO Box 11165, Johannesburg and to send the statements of the account for her attention;
- RB Kebble was the authorised person on this account; and
- It had a bank account named and styled Paradigm Shift cc with account number 020581548 at the Alberton branch of Standard Bank.

On 4 February 2003, RB Kebble and Steenkamp signed a document in terms whereof T-Sec received a consolidated limited discretionary trading mandate in respect of the above mentioned account at T-Sec[42].

On 3 August 2005, one Tertia Penkin of T-Sec advised Beale that T-Sec had no documentation for the Alibiprops account. Beale replied by indicating that she also did not have any statutory documents for Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited[43].

It is evident that Beale was of the view that there was a problem with the concept of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited as, on 11 February 2005, she wrote the following to Poole[44]:

"Do you have the company doc's on Alibiprops, and if so, please fax me a copy of the CM29? (If Barry is still on I must Back-date and get him off immediately)"

It appears that no company profile of Alibiprops existed at JCI Limited. We only found a company profile for Bookmark Alibiprops Investments (Pty) Limited[45]. On 19 October 2005, Beale advised Tertia Penkin of T-Sec that she never had any statutory documents of Alibiprops (Pty) Limited in her possession and that the company did not exist[46].

In his statement to Tabacks on 8 December 2005, Poole was recorded as referring to Alibiprops as another vehicle and one of RB Kebble's personal structures used for share dealing[47].

It thus appears that no legal person, who could assume rights and obligations, existed in the name and style of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited and that such represented company served no purpose other than to create a share trading account at T-Sec for purposes of trading shares and that the share trading account number 669465 at T-Sec had no substantive owner. It is further apparent that RB Kebble appears to have used the previous name of BNC Investments (Pty) Limited knowingly as BNC Investments (Pty) Limited had already changed its name at the time when the mandate with T-Sec was completed, without having wanted to commit BNC Investments (Pty) Limited as he used a previous name of the company without the correct company registration number.

6.4.5 Accounting entries processed

On 2 December 2003, Swanevelder authorised and processed a journal number 2183 in the books of JCI Limited, effective 21 July 2003, with the following entries[48]:

- Debit a loan to Slip Knot of some R53 399 900;
- Debit a short term investment in Slip Knot of some R100;
- Credit the share capital of JCI Limited with R890 000; and
- Credit the share premium account of JCI Limited with R52 510 000.

The narration of the journal reads as follows:

"Acq of Slip Knot Inv (3 000 000 DRD shares"

These entries were then recorded in the relevant ledger accounts of JCI Limited[49]. The above referred to entry appears to have replaced an erroneous entry in the recording of the transaction, which was made per journal number 1484 in the books of JCI Limited. This journal was dated 11 June 2004 and recorded the transaction at a value of R60 million[50]. A note on the journal, made by Swanevelder, instructed the reversal of this journal.

On 10 June 2004, journal 3030 was processed in the books of account of JCI Limited, effective 31 March 2004, i.e. on the financial year end of the JCI Limited group of companies. The following entries were processed[51]:

- Debit loan to CMMS of some R53 400 000;
- Credit short term investment in Slip Knot of some R100; and
- Credit loan to Slip Knot of some R53 399 900.

The narration of the journal reads as follows:

"TRF transaction as per agreement to CMMS-3 million shares in DRD"

We do not know what agreement was referred to here.

Similarly, in the books of CMMS, the following entries were processed:

- Debit shares in DRD with some R53 400 000; and
- Credit loan to JCI Limited with some R53 400 000.

The narration to this entry reads as follows:

"Acq of 3 million shares from Slip Knot (average price = R17.80)"

[49] Refer Exhibit 1.4.16
[50] Refer Exhibit 1.4.17
[51] Refer Exhibit 1.4.18

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The effect of the above mentioned entries does not make sense and do not agree with the agreement as the agreement mandated the purchase of 3 million DRD shares from Slip Knot, whilst the entries in the books of JCI Limited credited share capital with the issue of shares to Slip Knot and debited a loan to and investment in Slip Knot. This is a nonsensical transaction and probably reflective of the fact that the DRD shares did not exist. The journals, with which the investment in the DRD shares were attempted to be transferred to CMMS, are not in agreement with each other as the journal, processed in the books of JCI Limited, transferred a loan from Slip Knot to CMMS, whilst the journal, processed in the books of CMMS, transferred shares in DRD to CMMS. Be that as it may, these entries were processed in the ledgers of JCI Limited and CMMS[52]. The end result of these entries was that CMMS reflected a holding of three million DRD shares, paid for on loan account to JCI Limited, who in turn reflected Slip Knot as a shareholder.

On 18 October 2004, some four days before the directors of the JCI Limited group of companies approved the annual report of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries for the 2004 financial year end, journal number 2111 was processed in the books of CMMS, effective 31 March 2004. The supporting document to the journal was signed by Swanevelder on 18 October 2004, and effected the following entries[53]:

- Debit loan to Alibiprops with R64 860 000;
- Credit shares in DRD with R53 400 000; and
- Credit a provision regarding DRD with R11 460 000.

The narration of the journal reads as follows:

"Shares sold to Alibiprops as agreed between HCB/RB Kebble and Errol Steyn of CO & Co as verification could not be done"

It is thus evident that the ostensible DRD shares of CMMS were sold to Alibiprops on loan account, presumably as Alibiprops could not pay cash at the time. Simultaneously, the ostensible DRD shares were re-valued with reference to the then DRD share price as is evident from the following note, appended to the journal:

[52] Refer Exhibit 1.4.19
[53] Refer Exhibit 1.4.20

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

"Sold to Alibiprops @ m/v on 31/3/04 3 000 000 @ 21.62 = R64 860 000."

These entries were then processed in the ledger of CMMS, particularly in accounts 171719: Shares-DRD and 211505: Sundry Creditors-Alibi, effective 31 March 2004[54].

We found no contract for this transaction, but noted a document purporting to be a resolution of the directors of CMMS, taken on 7 October 2004 and signed by Buitendag, RAR Kebble, and Swanevelder. This document reads as follows:

"The Secretary reported that the Company sold 3 million DRD ordinary shares for a total consideration of R64,860,000 to Alibi props 13 (Pty) Limited on 30 March 2004, and it was therefore;

RESOLVED:

1. THAT the Company ratifies the sale of 3 Million DRD ordinary shares for a total consideration of R64,860,000 to Alibi Props 13 (Pty) Limited with effect from 30 March 2004,

2. THAT MR HENDRIK CHRISTOFFEL BUITENDAG, in his capacity as a director of the Company, be and he is hereby authorised to sign all and any documentation which may be required in terms of Resolution 1 above, on behalf of the Company."

Given the status of Alibiprops, no transaction could be performed with Alibiprops as it seems to have not existed at all.

It follows that, as the DRD shares did not exist, the sale thereof was also a fabrication. If the note of Swanevelder, made on the journal that documented the ostensible sale of the DRD shares, is a reflection of events, then it follows that Buitendag and the auditor could not establish the existence of the shares, yet agreed that a transaction be performed in respect of shares they did not know to exist and, which transaction would have had the effect of not only maintaining the notion that the DRD shares existed, but also re-valuing such shares upwards.

6.4.6 Disclosure of the transaction

The published annual report of JCI Limited for the 2004 financial year of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries were issued on 22 October 2004[55]. These financial statements were signed by Buitendag and RB Kebble.

It is evident from the journals and ledger entries, referred to above, that, as at 31 March 2005, CMMS, and upon consolidation, JCI Limited, recorded an asset of some R64 860 000 in their balance sheets.

The draft annual financial statements of JCI Limited were discussed at the JCI Limited audit committee meeting of 22 October 2004. The minute of this meeting was signed by RAR Kebble and the meeting was attended by RAR Kebble, Buitendag, Stratton, RB Kebble, Swanevelder and E Steyn from Charles Orbach and Company, the then auditor of JCI Limited. The drafts of the 2004 annual financial statements of JCI Limited were presented to the audit committee, discussed and approved. It appears from the minutes of the meeting that the 2004 financial statements of JCI Limited were prepared by E Steyn and Swanevelder. This is evident from the following text recorded in the minute[56]:

"After further discussion, the Committee thanked Messrs Steyn and Swanevelder for preparing the annual financial statements"

These financial statements appear to have been presented to the directors' meeting that followed immediately upon the meeting of the audit committee. It is not evident from the contents of a draft minute of this meeting that the financial statements were approved and the minutes of this meeting, found in the JCI Limited minute book, were not signed[57]. The results of CMMS would have been consolidated in the results of JCI Limited. We noted a resolution of the directors of CMMS, dated 3 June 2005, which reads as follows[58]:

"THAT the annual financial statements of the Company, as submitted, for the year ended 31 March 2004 be hereby approved on 30 September 2004, and that Messrs RB Kebble and HC Buitendag be hereby authorised to sign the financial statements on behalf of the Company."

6.4.7 Disposition of the JCI Limited shares issued

Slip Knot had a trading account number 986232 at T-Sec. It appears that the 89 million shares, which were issued to Slip Knot, were originally credited in this account. On 28 September 2004, Martin van Zyl at T-Sec provided a breakdown of the trades in this account to Beale. Beale made a note on this e-mail, recording the following[59]:

"Brett Kebble requested that I am not to give HCB this breakdown on Slipknot".

The following transactions were recorded on the trading account of Slip Knot:

Date	Transaction	Number of JCI Limited shares	Balance
03 September 2003	Transferred to Computershare for Paradigm Shift cc	20 000 000	69 000 000

Van Zyl provided us with a schedule recording the movement of JCI Limited shares in the Slip Knot account at T-Sec[60]. According to the reconciliation, Slip Knot received 89 000 000 JCI Limited shares on 20 August 2003. Van Zyl provided us with a copy of an e-mail, from one Issy van Schoor at Computershare, recording that the Slip Knot account at T-Sec received the 89 000 000 JCI Limited shares[61].

On 18 May 2004, a "matching control" document was completed at T-Sec for the transfer of 20 000 000 JCI Limited shares from Computershare to T-Sec[62]. This document was completed subsequent to an e-mail instruction that Computershare received from Beale on14 May 2004[63]. Beale requested Computershare to transfer 20 000 000 JCI Limited shares "out of the Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited CSDP Account No. 1900010836" to "Tlotlisa Securities for account no.986232". Beale referred to her e-mail, dated 29 January 2004, which dealt with "the transfer of 40 million JCI shares".

The e-mail, which Beale referred to in her mail on 14 May 2004, requested Van Zyl to "transfer 40,00,000 JCD shares out of Account No.986232 to Computershare for account no.1900010836 (Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited)"[64].

On 20 February 2004, Poole requested Van Zyl to transfer 3 000 000 JCI Limited shares "from Slipknot Investments to Alibi Props". He added that "There is no change in beneficial ownership"[65].

On 23 February 2004, a "Matching Control Form" was completed for the transfer of 3 000 000 JCI Limited shares from T-Sec to SA Stockbrokers[66]. The latter document was completed based on an instruction which Van Zyl received from Poole to transfer the 3 000 000 JCI Limited shares from the Slip Knot account to SA Stockbrokers account number 803502. Poole again recorded that "There is no change in beneficial ownership"[67].

On 24 February 2004, Poole requested Van Zyl in an e-mail to transfer 3 000 000 JCI Limited shares to Imara S.P. Reid, account number 719021. Poole again recorded that "There will be no change in beneficial ownership"[68]. The relevant "Matching Control Form" was completed at T-Sec for this transfer[69]. Imara S.P. Reid informed us that the account was held in the name of the Chardonnay Trust with Poole as the contact person. They further informed us that the shares were sold into the market.

On 4 March 2004, Van Zyl received an instruction from Poole to transfer 5 000 000 JCI Limited shares from Slip Knot to SA Stockbrokers account 803502[70]. The relevant "Matching Control Form" was completed at T-Sec for this transfer[71].

On 16 August 2004, Poole requested Van Zyl to transfer 5 000 000 JCI Limited shares out of the Slip Knot account to SA Stockbrokers[72].

The aggregate of 13 000 000 JCI Limited shares were transferred form the Slip Knot account to account number 803502 at SA Stockbrokers. We were informed by SA Stockbrokers that this account was the account for Robinson Deep with Poole as the contact person. SA Stockbrokers further informed us that the majority of the JCI Limited shares, transferred from the Slip Knot account to the Robinson Deep account, were sold into the market.

The share balance in the account, subsequent to this transfer, was 30 000 000 JCI Limited shares. Van Zyl received an instruction form Beale to inter alia transfer the balance of 30 000 000 JCI Limited shares from the Slip Knot account to the account of BNC at Computershare[73].

Beale prepared a reconciliation of the movement of JCI Limited shares in the BNC account at Computershare. This reconciliation and the subsequent movement of shares from the BNC account to the Robinson Deep account at SA Stockbrokers are discussed at section 6.5 infra.

It is apparent from the annotations and instructions, recorded in respect of the above transactions, that the shares, owned by Slip Knot as a result of the transaction dealt with herein, were controlled by RB Kebble and Poole.

The shares were also used for various purposes. One such purpose appears evident from the transfer of the 3 000 000 shares to the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec, where it comprised part of a parcel of twelve million JCI Limited shares that were transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec[74].

A schedule, recording the trades of JCI Limited shares in the BNC share account at Computershare, maintained by Beale, in turn recorded that, on 2 March 2005, 30 million JCI Limited shares were received from the account of Slip Knot, which in turn made up a balance from which 50 million JCI Limited shares were transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec[75].

It thus follows that one of the effects of the obtaining of the shares by Slip Knot in the manner in which it did, was to make shares available for the purposes of CMMS's treasury operations at T-Sec, whilst raising a false asset in the books of CMMS.

6.5 The issuing of 42 500 000 JCI Limited shares to Paradise Creek Investments 83 (Pty) Limited

6.5.1 The transaction

We were provided with a schedule of shares issued by JCI Limited for the acquisition of various assets. This schedule indicated that, on 21 July 2003, 42 500 000 listed ordinary shares in JCI Limited were issued to Paradise Creek for the acquisition of Highland Night 157[76].

A JCI Limited resolution, dated 30 June 2003, appears to have been signed by Buitendag, RAR Kebble, Stratton and RB Kebble[77]. The resolution authorised the company to apply to the JSE for the listing of 131 500 000 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited for purposes, amongst others, to issue:

"42 500 000 (forty two million five hundred thousand) new ordinary shares in JCI at an issue price of 60 cents per share to Paradise Creek Investments 83 (Pty) Limited, in terms of the attached Sale Agreement between Paradise Creek Investments 83 (Pty) Limited and JCI;"

On 30 June 2003, Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and Beale, on behalf of CMMS, signed an application to the JSE for the listing of the 131.5 million JCI Limited ordinary shares[78]. On 17 July 2003, the JSE authorised the requested listing of JCI Limited ordinary shares[79]. On 23 July 2003, Beale instructed Computershare to issue 42.5 million JCI Limited ordinary listed shares to Paradise Creek[80].

A document, purporting to be an agreement of sale by and between JCI Limited and Paradise Creek appears to have been signed on 30 June 2003 by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by D Bawden, on behalf of Paradise Creek[81]. The agreement had as its effect the sale of the entire issued share capital in and claims against Highland Night 157 by Paradise Creek to JCI Limited. The purchase price was R25 500 000, to be settled by the issue of 42.5 million JCI Limited ordinary listed shares. Clause 7.2.1 of the agreement reads as follows under the caption "Warranties and Indemnities":

"The SELLER is the beneficial holder of 34% of the entire issued share capital of Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited ....;"

6.5.2 Paradise Creek

Information, obtained from publicly held sources, recorded the following information in respect of Paradise Creek:

- The company was incorporated on 5 June 20003 with registration number 2003/012788/07;
- Barry Desmond Bawden was registered as a director of the company. We understand that this person is the brother of Beale;
- The registered address of the company was 24 Roodepoort Street, Warmbaths;
- The auditor of the company was Malherbe Lourens; and

- There were no recorded judgements, no default information; no properties registered in the name of the company and no relevant media articles.

A company profile, drawn as at 16 November 2005, at JCI Limited, recorded that Barry Desmond Bawden was appointed as the public officer of the company on 12 August 2003. This document indicated that Barry Desmond Bawden held the entire issued share capital of Paradise Creek, comprising 100 ordinary shares and that such shares were issued on 5 June 2003. The document further recorded that Barry Desmond Bawden was appointed a director of the company on 5 June 2003 and that he resigned as a director on 30 December 2004, at which date RB Kebble was appointed as a shareholder of the company[82].

We noted a document, purporting to be a resolution of the directors of Paradise Creek, taken on 20 June 2003 and apparently signed by "D Rawden", which authorised "Desmond Rawden" to enter into the agreement with JCI Limited, referred to supra[83]. We have seen no evidence of a Desmond Rawden being a director of Paradise Creek and we were advised by Beale on 20 January 2006 that the signature on this document is not that of her brother, Barry Bawden.

6.5.3 Highland Night 157

A certificate, issued by CIPRO on 1 December 2005, recorded that Highland Night 157 was incorporated on 6 June 2003 with registration number 2003/012888/07. The auditor of the company was Malherbe Lourens. The registered address of the company was 287 Lynnwood Road, Menlopark and the director of the company was one Christian Gouws[84]. This information agrees with the original statutory documents of this company, found at Margie van Straaten at JCI Limited. This information also agrees with that held in publicly available information bases. Such publicly held information recorded no civil judgements, no credit enquiry history, no bonds being registered by the company and no fixed property being owned by it. It is further evident that Christian Gouws is a director of the Shelf Company Warehouse (Pty) Limited, from whom the company was purchased[85].

Amongst the statutory documents, which were provided by Christian Gouws, was a share certificate, recording him as the holder of 100 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Highland Night 157 and a number of blank share transfer forms, signed by Christian Gouws to transfer the 100 shares to the new owner. None of these transfer forms were completed to indicate the new owner of the shares[86]. It is thus not clear in what manner did Paradise Creek obtain the shares in Highland Night 157, sold to JCI Limited.

A company profile, as at 14 January 2004, of Highland Night 157, which was found in a file on the company, held by Margie van Straaten, did not record any secretary, auditor, or public officer for this company. D Bawden was recorded as a director of the company with Poole as the contact person. Paradise Creek was however recorded as the holder of 100 ordinary shares in Highland Night 157[87]. A further document, tabulating information of various apparent shelf companies, recorded the shareholder of Highland Night 157 as "GWP" and "D Bawden"[88]. During an interview with Van Straaten on 1 December 2005, she informed us that the company had no directors, auditor or public officer. According to her, Poole and Buitendag always gave instructions in respect of this company.

On the file for Highland Night 157, we found a share transfer form purporting to transfer 100 ordinary shares in Highland Night 157 to JCI Gold. This form was not signed[89]. There was also a draft share certificate of Highland Night 157, purporting to record JCI Gold as the holder of 100 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Highland Night 157, also not signed[90].

We recorded supra that it was a warranty of the agreement of sale between JCI Limited and Paradise Creek that Highland Night 157 held 34% of the issued share capital of Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited. On the file of Highland Night 157, a draft share certificate was found, recording that Highland Night 157 held 3 400 000 ordinary shares in Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited, a company with registration number 2000/018328/07. This certificate was not signed, but it was indicated in manuscript that it had to be signed by "DB"[91]. On 25 April 2004, however, Beale sent an e-mail to Van Straaten in which she recorded the following under the caption "Highland Night Investments 157 (Pty) Limited and Paradise Creek Investments 83 (Pty) Limited"[92]:

"Please give me all the statutory doc's for the aforementioned companies, of which I'll keep in my safe. Hennie Buitendag has requested that these companies remain as shelf companies"

It is evident from the above that Highland Night 157 had never been anything more than a shelf company and never held the shares in Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited, which, in terms of the sale agreement for its sale to JCI Limited by Paradise Creek, appears to have been the major asset held by Highland Night 157. The company thus appears to have had no assets and no substratum. It is however apparent from our investigation of Skygistics, referred to infra, that Paradise Creek was used as a warehouse for the purchase price of Skygistics.

6.5.4 The accounting entries processed

The transaction was recorded in the books of JCI Limited by way of a journal, signed by Swanevelder on 8 July 2003. The journal instruction recorded that, effective 11 June 2003, the following entries were made in the ledger of JCI Limited[93]:

- Debit investment in Newco with R25 500 000;
- Credit share capital with R425 000; and
- Credit the share premium account with R25 075 000.

The narration of the journal reads as follows:

"Issue of 42 500 000 shares to NEWCO 3 for the acquisition of their 34% shares in Startrack (indirect)"

The transaction was explained further in manuscript as follows:

"Issue 42 500 000 shares to Newco 3 for the acquisition of Newco 4 for R25 500 000 (Note: Newco 4 owns 34% of Startrack Africa)"

A further journal, dated 21 July 2003, reflecting the same entries, carried the following narration[94]:

"Acq of 34% of Startrack"

On 22 April 2004, a journal was processed in the books of JCI Limited, recording the following entries, effective 21 July 2003[95]:

- Debit a loan to CMMS with R25 500 000; and
- Credit the investment in Highland Night 157 with R25 500 000.

The narration of the journal reads as follows:

"Reallocation of subs holding shares in Startrack to JCI Gold"

Also, on 22 April 2004, a journal was processed in the books of CMMS, effective 21 July 2003, which effected the following entries[96]:

- Debit a loan to JCI Gold for R25 500 000; and
- Credit a loan from JCI Limited for R25 500 000.

The narration of the journal reads as follows:

"Transfer of invest in Highland Nights from JCI Ltd (company that issued shares as remuneration) to JCI Gold where the group's holding in Startrack is"

From these journals it is evident that the effect of the sale agreement and the issuing of the shares by JCI Limited to Paradise Creek were the following as at 22 April 2004:

- JCI Limited increased its paid up share capital and share premium by R25 500 000; and
- JCI Gold showed an asset of R25 500 000, funded via loan account from JCI Limited, indirectly.

6.5.5 Disclosure of the transaction

The published annual report of JCI Limited for the 2004 financial year of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries were issued on 22 October 2004[97]. These financial statements were signed by Buitendag and RB Kebble.

Appendix C to the annual financial statements, setting out the investments of the group in associated companies, recorded that the JCI Limited group held 36% of the issued share capital of Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited during the 2003 financial year, represented by 3 600 000 shares, and nothing at the 2004 financial year end. This change is explained by means of a note that reads as follows:

"Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited became a subsidiary during the year."

The implication of this additional note to Appendix C is that, for Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited to be recognised as a subsidiary instead of an associated company, the shareholding of the group had to be increased beyond 34%. It thus appears that the transaction with Paradise Creek may have been recognised in the annual report of JCI Limited as at 31 March 2004 as an acquisition of additional shares in Skygistics. We deal with this matter infra.

The draft annual financial statements of JCI Limited were discussed at the JCI Limited audit committee meeting of 22 October 2004. The minute of this meeting was signed by RAR Kebble and the meeting was attended by RAR Kebble, Buitendag, Stratton, RB Kebble, Swanevelder and E Steyn from Charles Orbach and Company, the then auditor of JCI Limited. The drafts of the 2004 annual financial statements of JCI Limited were presented to the audit committee, discussed and approved. It appears from the minutes of the meeting that the 2004 financial statements of JCI Limited were prepared by E Steyn and Swanevelder. This is evident from the following text recorded in the minute[98]:

"After further discussion, the Committee thanked Messrs Steyn and Swanevelder for preparing the annual financial statements"

These financial statements appear to have been presented to the directors' meeting that followed immediately upon the meeting of the audit committee. It is not evident from the contents of a draft minute of this meeting that the financial statements were approved and the minutes of this meeting, found in the JCI Limited directors' minute book, were not signed[99].

The results of CMMS would have been consolidated in the results of JCI Limited. We noted a resolution of the directors of CMMS, dated 3 June 2005, which reads as follows[100]:

"THAT the annual financial statements of the Company, as submitted, for the year ended 31 March 2004 be hereby approved on 30 September 2004, and that Messrs and HC Buitendag be hereby authorised to sign the financial statements on behalf of the Company."

The resolution appears to have been signed by Buitendag, RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and Stratton. Lamprecht refused to sign this resolution.

6.5.6 Disposition of the JCI Limited shares issued to Paradise Creek

Paradise Creek had a share trading account number 986240 at T-Sec. We received a schedule of trades in JCI Limited shares on this account from Martin van Zyl of T-Sec, reflecting the following trades:

Date	Transaction	Number of JCI Limited shares	Balance
20 August 2003	Received into the trading account	42 500 000	42 500 000
25 February 2003	Transfer to Onshelf Investments	12 800 000	29 700 000
29 April 2004	Transfer from Onshelf Investments	12 800 000	42 500 000
27 September 2004	Lent to CMMS	42 500 000	0
18 October 2004	Returned by CMMS	42 500 000	42 500 000
26 October 2004	Transfer to SA Stockbrokers	5 000 000	37 500 000
29 November 2004	Lent to CMMS	37 500 000	0
23 February 2004	Returned by CMMS	37 500 000	37 500 000
04 March 2005	Transferred to Computershare	37 500 000	0

We obtained a reconciliation of the Paradise Creek account number 986240 that was performed by T-Sec on the movement of JCI Limited shares[101]. The reconciliation reflected that 42 500 000 JCI Limited shares were received into the account on 20 August 2003.

Van Zyl provided us with a copy of an e-mail, which was send by one Issy van Schoor at Computershare on 18 August 2003[102]. Van Zyl was one of the recipients of the e-mail. The e-mail recorded that 42 500 000 JCI Limited shares would be transferred to the Paradise Creek account and 89 000 000 JCI Limited shares to the Slip Knot account at T-Sec.

Van Zyl's reconciliation reflected that some of the JCI Limited shares were transferred to and from the Onshelf Investments and Consolidated Investments accounts between 25 February 2004 and 18 October 2004. The balance of the JCI Limited shares in the Paradise Creek account, on 18 October 2004, was 42 500 000 shares when the shares were returned from the Consolidated Investments account.

On 26 October 2005, 5 000 000 JCI Limited shares were transferred from the Paradise Creek account to SA Stockbrokers. The transfer was made on an instruction which T-Sec received from Beale in an e-mail on 22 October 2004[103].

Beale indicated in the e-mail that "At the request of Messrs G W Poole and R B Kebble, please transfer the following shares". Beale then requested that 200 000 REC shares be transferred from account 946772 (Trans Benguela) to SA Stockbrokers and 5 000 000 JCI Limited shares be transferred from the Paradise Creek account number 986240 to SA Stockbrokers. The contact person at SA Stockbrokers was reflected as Brian Deal.

SA Stockbrokers confirmed to us that they received the 5 000 000 JCI Limited shares into the account of Robinson Deep, account number 803502. They further informed us that Poole was the contact person in respect of this account.

In his reconciliation of the Paradise Creek account, Van Zyl indicated that 37 500 000 JCI Limited shares were transferred out of the account on 4 March 2005[104]. He provided us with a copy of the relevant instruction which he received from Beale in an e-mail dated 2 March 2005[105]. Beale recorded in the e-mail that "at the request of Mr R B Kebble" certain share transfers be effected. One of the transfers she requested was that the 37 500 000 JCI Limited shares in the Paradise Creek account be transferred to the account of BNC.

A reconciliation, performed by Beale on the BNC account held at Computershare, recorded that the aggregate of 67 944 445 JCI Limited shares were transferred into the account on 2 March 2005[106]. This transfer include a transfer of 444 445 JCI Limited shares from the Consolidated Investments account, 30 000 000 JCI Limited shares from Slip Knot and the 37 500 000 JCI Limited shares from the Paradise Creek account[107].

Beale's reconciliation further recorded five different transfers of JCI Limited shares to SA Stockbrokers "at the request of RB Kebble /GWP".

The instruction in respect of the first transfer of 5 000 000 JCI Limited shares to SA Stockbrokers was given on 7 March 2005 in an e-mail from Beale to Lowery at Computershare. Beale recorded the SA Stockbrokers account number as 803502 in the e-mail[108].

On 13 April 2005, Beale forwarded another e-mail to Lowery. Beale recorded "At the request of Mr R B Kebble, please transfer 2,000,000 JCI Limited ordinary shares to S.A. Stockbrokers (Pty) Ltd, Attention Mr Brian Deal on Tel: 011 214-7250 for account no.803502. There is no change in beneficial ownership"[109].

On 15 April 2004, Beale received an e-mail from Poole requesting her to "transfer an additional 2m on Monday"[110]. The e-mail, sent on 15 April 2004, included Beale's e-mail dated 13 April 2005. Beale requested Lowery in another e-mail on 15 April 2004 to "At the request of Mr R B Kebble, please transfer 2,000,000 JCI Limited ordinary shares to S.A. Stockbrokers (Pty) Ltd, Attention Mr Brian Deal on Tel: 011 214-7250 for account no.803502. There is no change in beneficial ownership"[111].

On 24 April 2005, Beale sent another e-mail to Lowery, referring to her e-mail, dated 15 April 2004. Beale also requested Lowery "on behalf of Mr R B Kebble, to please transfer a further 2,000,000 JCI Limited ordinary shares from the BNC Investments CSDP Account No.214030914 to S.A. Stockbrokers (Pty) Ltd, Attention Mr Brian Deal on Tel: 011 214-7250 for account no.803502". Beale further recorded "There is no change in beneficial ownership"[112].

Another instruction for the transfer of JCI Limited shares was given to Lowery on 26 May 2005. Beale requested in her e-mail to Lowery the transfer of 4 000 000 JCI Limited shares at the request of RB Kebble to the SA Stockbrokers account number 803502. Again Beale recorded that "There is no change in beneficial ownership"[113].

The aggregate of 15 000 000 JCI Limited shares were transferred from the BNC account at Computershare to the Robinson Deep account at SA Stockbrokers.

SA Stockbrokers informed us that the majority of the JCI Limited shares, which were transferred into the Robinson Deep account, were sold into the market.

The shares were clearly used for purposes of the treasury function of CMMS, given the various transactions of lending of the shares to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec. A schedule, recording the trades of JCI Limited shares in the BNC share account at Computershare, maintained by Beale, in turn recorded that, on 2 March 2005, 37.5 million JCI Limited shares were received from the account of Paradise Creek, which in turn made up a balance from which 50 million JCI Limited shares were transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec[114]. This appears to refer to the transfer of 37.5 million shares in the schedule above.

It thus follows that, one of the effects of the obtaining of the shares by Paradise Creek in the manner in which it did, was to make shares available for the purposes of CMMS's treasury operations at T-Sec. At it appears infra, these shares were supposed to have been warehoused in anticipation of being used as payment for the acquisition of Skygistics, not to be sold for CMMS's funding purposes.

6.6 The issuing of 105 000 000 JCI Limited shares to the Barnex shareholders

6.6.1 The transaction

On 14 October 2003, 105 million ordinary listed shares were issued in the issued share capital of JCI Limited to the previous shareholders of Barnex. These shares were issued in terms of a scheme of arrangement in terms of section 311 of the Companies Act, proposed by JCI Limited between Barnex and its shareholders.

[113] Refer Exhibit 1.5.24
[114] Refer Exhibit 1.5.18

The purpose of the scheme of arrangement was to procure that JCI Limited held the entire issued share capital of Barnex, comprising some 105 million listed ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Barnex. For every Barnex share held by a shareholder, such shareholder was to receive one ordinary listed share in JCI Limited and one debenture, issued by JCI Limited on the same terms and conditions as the then existing JCI Limited debentures.

6.6.2 The basis of the scheme of Arrangement

The basis of the scheme of arrangement was recorded in the scheme document[115].

The major reason for the scheme of arrangement, as recorded in the scheme document, was to combine the old order mineral rights of Barnex with those of JCI Limited in order to create an enlarged, less fragmented, mineral rights portfolio. JCI Limited would then have been better placed to participate in future anticipated empowerment transactions and the old Barnex shareholders would be participating in a venture exploiting a broader mineral rights base.

The scheme document further disclosed that JCI Limited held some 35.6% of the issued ordinary share capital of WAL, who in turn owned some 88.5% of the issued ordinary share capital of Barnex.

Besides the mineral rights, held by Barnex, the other major asset, held by Barnex, was a loan due by JCI Gold, of some R115.9 million. The loan was due for repayment at 30 September 2003 and accrued interest at a rate of prime plus 1.5% per annum.

The effect of successful implementation of the scheme of arrangement would thus have been to acquire the mineral rights of Barnex and to have the rights and obligations of the loan, due by JCI Gold to Barnex, in the same group. At that stage, JCI Limited held the entire issued share capital of JCI Gold and, upon successful completion of the scheme of arrangement, would have held the entire issued share capital of Barnex.

The annual report of JCI Limited, under group results, as at 31 March 2004, disclosed the loan due from Barnex, in the 2003 financial year at R115.89 million, and in the 2004 financial year as nil. The narrative thereto reads as follows[116]:

[115] Refer Exhibit 1.6.1
[116] Refer Exhibit 1.4.22

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

"Included in short term loans are the following amounts owed to associated companies:

Barnato Exploration Limited

- Loan bearing interest at prime plus 1%"

The net asset value of Barnex was recorded as 106 cents per share, based on the annual financial statements of Barnex as at 31 December 2002. The net asset value of JCI Limited was recorded as 47 cents per share, based upon the audited results of JCI Limited as at 31 March 2003. Given the contracted value of the debentures to be issued by JCI Limited, of some 125 cents, it appears that a premium would be paid for the Barnex shares.

6.6.3 Accounting entries recording the transaction

The transaction was recorded in the ledger of JCI Limited by means of journal 3005 on 25 November 2003, effective 13 November 2003[117]. The journal created the following entries:

- Debit investment in Barnex with R199 500 000;
- Credit share capital with R1 050 000;
- Credit share premium with R67 200 000; and
- Credit the A debentures with R131 250 000.

Journal 3036 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited on 6 July 2004, effective 31 March 2004[118]. The journal debited extraordinary items and credited provisions against the Barnex investment with R70 439 907. This was to record a write down of the investment in Barnex to net asset value.

Journal 3038 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited on 17 August 2004, effective 31 March 2004[119]. The journal recorded that an account, named Mining Rights, had to be debited with R70 439 907 and that extraordinary items be credited with such amount. The first mentioned reference is erroneous as it refers to the account number 130140, being the same account credited by journal 3036. The narration to this journal reads as follows:

"Reversal of w/off of coc, as the coc related to mineral rights held by Barnex"

6.6.4 Implications

It appears that JCI Limited partly paid for and partly refinanced the loan due by JCI Gold to Barnex and acquired the mineral rights held by Barnex. The premium, referred to supra, does not account for the value of the mineral rights as such were not included in the balance sheet of Barnex, recorded in the scheme document, and we do not know the value of such mineral rights.

6.7 The issuing of 69 838 668 JCI Limited shares in terms of what was styled the Rand Leases Limited property scheme

6.7.1 The transaction

On 1 February and 1 April 2004 respectively, JCI Limited issued an aggregated number of some 69 838 819 ordinary listed shares in the share capital of JCI Limited to the holders of 46 559 112 linked units in Rand Leases Properties. These shares were issued in terms of a scheme of arrangement proposed by JCI Limited between Rand Leases Properties and the holders of linked units in Rand Leases Properties.

6.7.2 The scheme of arrangement

The basis of the transaction was recorded in a scheme document[120].

The basis for the scheme of arrangement was recorded in the following manner by the scheme document:

"1. REASONS FOR THE SCHEME

1.1 With effect from 1 November 2002, disposed of its entire investment property portfolio to Redefine, for a consideration of R356,4 million, payable as to R6 million in cash and the balance net of mortgage bonds in Redefine linked units issued at a price of 247 cents per unit. All suspensive conditions have been fulfilled and the transfers of the properties are in the process of being registered. To date, 22 properties have been transferred and the company has received a proportion of the cash and Redefine linked units. The balance of the properties will be transferred as soon as Rates Clearance Certificates are obtained and Redefine issues irrevocable letters of allocation for the remaining units to be issued....

1.2 As a consequence of the disposal in 1 above, Rand Leases was repositioned as a property development company which impacted negatively on its results for the year ended 31 March 2003, with a loss of R2,5 million being incurred. Going forward, the disposal will result in an irregular income stream and distributions to linked unitholders.

1.3 The implementation of the scheme:

1.3.1 will eliminate potential for conflicts of interest between JCI and rand Leases in the development of properties, which are inter alia, no longer required for mining purposes following the disposal by Rand Leases of its entire investment property portfolio and its repositioning as a property development company;

1.3.2 recognises that the company's listing is under threat of suspension as the net assets and income attributable to the company's holding of linked units in Redefine presently exceeds the proportions permissible in terms of the Listings Requirements of the JSE;

1.3.3 will save the cost of maintaining Rand Leases as a separately listed company, the benefits of which are restricted by the company's small market capitalisation and public free float of linked units and the attendant illiquidity of such linked units;

1.3.4 will enhance the tradeability of the investment of linked unitholders due to the greater tradeability of the JCI shares they will receive over the illiquid units; and

1.3.5 will afford linked unitholders the opportunity to realise their linked units at a premium to the prevailing market price.

1.1.4. Consequently, JCI will propose the scheme. If the scheme is sanctioned, JCI will own all the Rand Leases linked units, thereby constituting Rand Leases a wholly-owned subsidiary of JCI, the listing of Rand Leases on the JSE will be terminated and the scheme participants will receive the scheme consideration."

For each 100 linked units held in Rand Leases Properties, JCI Limited would issue 150 JCI Limited ordinary listed shares.

6.7.3 Accounting entries

Journal 3018 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited on 21 April 2004, effective 13 February 2004[121].The journal created the following entries in JCI Limited:

- Debit loan to CMMS with R50 233 840.96;
- Credit share capital with R698 386.68; and
- Credit share premium with R49 535 454.28.

The narration to the journal reads as follows:

"Acquisition of RLP by JCI Group into Scheme of Arrangement 69 838 668 shares issued @75c/share"

The journal also recorded a further issue of some 151 shares in the share capital of JCI Limited for the same purpose.

Hence it appears that the investment in Rand Leases Properties was transferred to CMMS upon acquisition.

As such, journal 1909 was processed in the ledger of CMMS on 21 April 2004, effective 13 February 2004[122]. This journal created the following entries:

- Debit investment in Rand Leases Properties with R50 283 840.96; and
- Credit JCI Limited with R50 283 840.96.

We found no evidence indicating that this transaction was irregular.

6.8 The issuing of 98 million JCI Limited shares in settlement of the purchase price for 275 860 shares in Boschendal

6.8.1 The transaction

On 11 May 2005, Moregate, represented by who appears to be Baker, and Clifton Dunes 67, represented by Bray, entered into an agreement, which had the following salient terms[123]:

- That Moregate sold to Clifton Dunes 67 some 275 860 shares in the issued share capital of Boschendal; and

- That the purchase price would comprise some 98 million shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited, to be freshly issued to Moregate and listed on the JSE.

We noted that JCI Limited was not a signatory to the above mentioned agreement, but nevertheless took a resolution on 9 May 2005 to issue the 98 million JCI Limited shares to Moregate[124]. On 11 May 2005, Buitendag signed an application to the JSE for the listing of 98 million freshly issued JCI Limited ordinary shares on the JSE, in terms of the above mentioned agreement[125]. This application was granted on 18 May 2005[126].

On 17 May 2005, Shand and Baker signed an application form to open an electronic share trading account at T-Sec[127]. On 19 May 2005, Beale advised Computershare to transfer the issued shares to the trading account number 954487 of Moregate at T-Sec[128].

We noted that the following companies were part of the transaction structure relevant to the above transaction (Their roles in the transaction are examined infra):

- Clifton Dunes 67, who purchased the shares in Boschendal from Moregate;

- Moregate, who sold the shares in Boschendal to Clifton Dunes 67;

- Citation, who held the shares in Boschendal as a nominee of Moregate;

- Cardinal Trustees, who was the shareholder of Moregate;

- JCI Limited, who funded Clifton Dunes 67 to purchase the shares in Boschendal; and
- JCI (IoM), who initially beneficially owned the shares in Boschendal, later sold to Clifton Dunes.

6.8.2 The constitution of Clifton Dunes 67

Clifton Dunes 67 was incorporated on 20 May 2004 in terms of South African company laws with registration number 2004/013628/07. Barnes and Bray were appointed directors of this company on 20 May 2004 and resigned as directors on 17 January 2006. They were replaced with Morton, Lamprecht and Gray on 17 January 2006. The contact person of this company was recorded as Griffith[129].

The relevance of this company is evident from an e-mail by Griffith to Van Straaten on 24 May 2004, which reads as follows[130]:

"We are in the process of moving the Boschendal holding onshore. I need a shelfco which we can use for this purpose. Please supply details of such an entity to me urgently."

On 10 June 2004, Van Straaten confirmed in an e-mail to Griffith that Clifton Dunes 67 had been reserved for the purpose requested by Griffith in the above quoted e-mail. On 20 September 2004, Griffith advised Van Straaten, Beale, Buitendag and Bailey as follows per e-mail[131]:

"The directors and equal shareholders of the company are Vaughn Grantland Bray and Mark Angus Barnes, holding under declaration of trust for JCI Ltd. I have the original Declaration of Trust."

On 30 June 2004, Bray signed a declaration of trust, recording that he held shares in Clifton Dunes 67 on behalf of JCI Limited, who was the owner of such shares[132]. Similarly, on 28 July 2004, Barnes signed a declaration of trust, recording that he held shares in Clifton Dunes 67 on behalf of JCI Limited, the owner of such shares[133].

This position seems to have changed on 13 February 2006 as, since that date, JCI Investment Finance (Pty) Limited owned the shares in Clifton Dunes 67, presumably because such shares have been committed to the security provided to Investec for the loan granted to JCI Limited during August 2005[134].

6.8.3 The constitution of Citation

On 21 October 2004, Deneys Reitz attorneys advised the South African Reserve Bank of the following in respect of Citation, a société anonyme[135]:

- That Citation was incorporated in Luxembourg with registration number B17438;
- That the directors of Citation were Baker, Shand and Coorrine Nene;
- That Cardinal Trustees Limited was the shareholder of Citation (Baker and Shand were employed by Cardinal Trustees); and
- That Citation held 275 860 shares in the issued share capital of Boschendal on behalf of Moregate.

It appears that the shareholding in Citation, held by Cardinal Trustees Limited, may have been so held in nominal capacity, as, on 11 May 2005, Baker and Shand signed the following share certificates, issued by Citation:

- Certificate 7B, recording that Moregate was the holder of 29 class B preference shares in the issued share capital of Citation[136]; and
- Certificate 25, recording that Moregate was the holder of 348 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Citation[137].

6.8.4 The constitution of Moregate

Moregate was incorporated on 23 December 1999 in the British Virgin Islands in terms of the International Business Companies Act with registration number 358252[138].

Whilst being couched in wide terms, the business of this company appears to have mainly being the conducting of investment activities[139]. Baker and Shand were directors of this company. Upon incorporation, share certificate number one was issued to bearer, recording that the holder of the share certificate held 1 000 ordinary shares in the share capital of Moregate. On 9 September 2003, these shares were transferred to Cardinal Trustees Limited. Hence, share certificate number two was issued, recording that Cardinal trustees was the holder of the aforementioned 1 000 shares in the issued share capital of Moregate in nominative capacity[140].

The Boschendal Restructure Agreement, signed on 26 October 2005 by various parties, including Moregate, recorded, in an annexure thereto, that Moregate was invested in 54.8% of the issued share capital of Citation, giving it an effective holding of 20% of the issued share capital of Boschendal[141].

6.8.5 The constitution of JCI (IoM)

JCI (IoM) was incorporated in the Isle of Man. PEC Dexter, Buitendag, FA Pattison and DL Joubert were the directors of this company[142]. JCI (IoM) was a wholly owned subsidiary of JCI Limited, according to the annual report of JCI Limited for the 2004 financial year, approved by the directors of JCI Limited[143].

6.8.6 The relationship between Clifton Dunes 67 and JCI Limited

The relationship between Clifton Dunes 67 and JCI Limited, based on the evidence that Barnes and Bray held the shares in Clifton Dunes 67 on behalf of JCI, comprises a direct beneficial interest by JCI Limited in Clifton Dunes 67.

6.8.7 The relationship between Moregate and JCI (IoM)

The relationship between Moregate and JCI (IoM) is evident from the following evidence:

- On 17 July 2003, Buitendag signed an indemnity in respect of the actions of Baker and Shand in respect of Moregate, recording inter alia the following:

"THIS INDEMNITY is given this 17 July two thousand and three by the person named in the First Schedule (hereinafter called "the Owner") in favour of SIMON W BAKER and DAWN E SHAND of 15-17, Avenue Gaston Diderich, L-1420 Luxembourg (hereinafter called "the Directors") who have accepted the appointment as Directors of a company known as Moregate Investments Limited (hereinafter called "the Company")"[144].

JCI IoM was listed at the first schedule to the document. It thus follows that Buitendag acknowledged that JCI (IoM) was the owner of Moregate;

- On 24 July 2003, Beale advised Van Straaten as follows[145]:

  "Hennie has requested that "JCI (IOM) LTD" has a nominee to hold the shares in Moregate Investments i.e. we do not want to hold them directly, so please speak to Citadel Administration S.A. and ask them if they could register them in a nominee and then send me a copy of the Declaration of Trust"

  It appears that this communication by Beale resulted in the above mentioned change to the shareholder of Moregate;

- On 17 August 2003, Griffiths addressed a memorandum to RB Kebble and one Cheriff Rifaat in which he explained the transaction to the addressees of the memorandum. In the memorandum he mentioned that "The purchaser is our fellow subsidiary in Citation, Cornwall Holdings SA", obviously referring to Moregate in ownership terms[146];

- On 9 September 2003, Shand, on behalf of Cardinal Trustees Limited, signed a declaration of trust, recording that Cardinal Trustees Limited held the 1 000 shares in the issued share capital of Moregate, represented in the above mentioned certificate number two, on behalf of JCI (IoM)[147].

- On 30 July 2003, Cherif Rifaat addressed a memorandum to RB Kebble, Griffiths, Lamprecht and Leanda Visagie, in which was recorded an organogram indicating that JCI (IoM) had an interest in Moregate[148]; and

- We found a document, purporting to be an organogram of the transaction structure, recording the relationship of trust between Cardinal Trustees Limited and JCI (IoM) in respect of Moregate[149].

6.8.8 The relationship between JCI (IoM) and JCI Limited

We recorded supra that JCI (IoM) was wholly owned by JCI Limited.

6.8.9 The disposition of the JCI Limited shares issued to Moregate

We furthermore established that the 98 000 000 ordinary JCI Limited shares were transferred out of the Consolidated Investment account 648410 at T-Sec to the following accounts[150]:

- Aculsha Nominees's trading account number 957431 at T-Sec, receiving 32 598 578 ordinary listed JCI shares. The responsible persons on this account are Law How Hung and John Wallace McIlraith;

- Continental Goldfields's trading account number 657379 at T-Sec, receiving 52 758 822 ordinary listed JCI shares. This account was opened by Poole; and

- There are 12 642 600 ordinary listed JCI shares still remaining in the Morgate account at T-Sec. The responsible persons on this account are Shand and Baker.

We were informed by Beale that Stratton gave the instruction to her for the shares to be transferred to Aculsha Nominees and that she believes that Aculsha Nominees is an account held by Stratton. Van Zyl informed us that the Aculsha Nominees account is a non-resident account of an entity in Port Louis, Mauritius and that the 32 598 578 ordinary JCI shares are still in the account. We deal with Aculsha Nominees in detail elsewhere in this report, but noted a document, found amongst the documents at JCI Limited's office in Cape Town, indicating that Aculsha Nominees held one share in the share capital of Diamond Logistics[151]. We noted a further such document, recording that the Emerald Trust, the Mapalasi Trust and the Egoli Trust were shareholders of Diamond Logistics[152]. Continental Goldfields is a public listed company in Australia with JCI Limited being a major shareholder[153].

According to Beale, she recently confirmed the remaining balance of 12 642 600 ordinary JCI Limited shares in the Morgate account at T-Sec, due to an enquiry by Paul Main, who wanted to know how many shares remained in the account, as he stated that a number of shares were still owed to him in terms of a transaction with JCI Limited, of which the exact detail was unknown to Beale[154]. It is possible that this enquiry by Paul Main related to the Ikamva transaction[155].

6.8.10 Other contemplated transactions

We noted an unsigned agreement in terms whereof the shares in Clifton Dunes 67 were sold by Barnes and Bray to Orlyfunt during 2005[156]. We caution however that this is an unsigned agreement and that we did not find a copy of the signed agreement or any indication that the transaction was in fact concluded.

At the time of writing this report we were unable to find any correspondence pertaining to "the Morgate claim", which necessitated, as per the agreement, that the 98 000 000 ordinary shares issued by JCI Limited to Citation, for the twenty percent shareholding of Moregate in Boschendal, to be ceded to Clifton Dunes. We were informed that the origin of the transaction relates to JCI Limited guaranteeing a R140 million finance transaction pertaining to the purchase of Boschendal. In return for this, we were informed, that JCI Limited obtained the twenty percent shareholding which was vested in Moregate[157].

We perused documentation pertaining to the sale of Boschendal. It is evident from the Debenture Agreement and Amended Debenture Agreement between JCI Limited, Kovacs 608, Tackled Investments, Itsuseng, Newline and Ikamva that JCI Limited would provide financing to Kovacs to the amount of R60 000 000.00. This loan should not be confused with the transaction whereby JCI Limited purchased twenty percent of the shareholding in Boschendal from Citation. In terms of the loan from JCI Limited to Kovacs 608, JCI Limited would receive:

- Debentures in Kovacs; and

- Shares held by Newline, Tackled, Ikamva and Itsuseng in Kovacs 608 were to be pledged to JCI Limited as security for the loan of R60 000 000.00.

However, we did not find any of the Kovacs shares which were pledged to JCI Limited, but found an unsigned agreement during 2005 whereby it is stated that Orlyfunt would pay a portion, namely R51,9885 million, of the overall purchase price of R148 101 202.00 for Kovacs debentures which appear to have been sold to Orlyfunt. We were however informed that this agreement never materialised and that the Kovacs 608 debentures are kept with Investec as security for financing provided to JCI Limited[158].

6.8.11 Conclusion

The effect of the aforesaid transaction is however that JCI Limited owned the twenty percent shareholding in Boschendal via their shareholding in Moregate. By purchasing the twenty percent shareholding for an amount of R60 000 000.00, JCI Limited effectively purchased the shares already owned by JCI Limited.

The purchase consideration, appears to a large extent, to have been transferred to accounts which may ultimately have been under the control of Stratton.

7 The holding and disposition of shares of JCI Gold

7.1 WAR shares

We investigated and reconciled the holding and disposition of WAR shares of JCI Gold to confirm the number of WAR shares held by JCI Gold as at 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and the current position at 22 November 2005, the latter date being the date when the reconciliation was completed.

We furthermore investigated the historical sales and transfers of the WAR shares of JCI Gold.

7.1.1 Current position

We obtained information and documentation from Computershare and T-Sec to confirm the number of WAR shares held by JCI Gold for the period 31 March 2004 to 22 November 2005. The sale, purchase and transfer of WAR shares between the accounts held at T-Sec and Computershare were recorded and summarised on spreadsheets, attached to this report[159].

The reconciliation which we performed in conjunction with T-Sec is summarised in a separate schedule reflecting the number of WAR shares held by JCI Gold at 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and 22 November 2005, respectively, the latter date being when the reconciliation was completed. The summary further included WAR shares of JCI Gold that were held by other institutions and/or individuals[160].

Our reconciliation of the holding of WAR shares on 31 March 2005 was compared to the reconciliation of the WAR shares, owned by the JCI Group, which was provided to us by Schalkwijk[161]. The information, recorded on the reconciliation which we received from by Schalkwijk, was compared to our information to indicate differences and agreements. The latter reconciliation is discussed in a separate paragraph below.

JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation as at 3 March 2005

The reconciliation of the JCI Group investment in WAL, as at 31 March 2005, obtained from Schalkwijk, reflected under the heading "Consolidated Investments" that 18 864 220 WAR shares were kept in account 648410 at T-Sec[164]. This corresponds to our reconciliation.

The reconciliation however further indicated that 151 038 shares were held at Consolidated Investments for DAB Securities and 175 652 for Jubilee Prospectors, respectively[165]. We were informed by Beale that the latter formed part of the JCI Limited group. We were not able to obtain any independent confirmation of the shares held for the latter entities mentioned and therefore did not reflect them separately in our reconciliation.

Schalkwijk provided us with a copy of a letter on a T-Sec letterhead, dated 6 May 2005, that was addressed to Charles Orbach & Company[166]. The letter indicated that T-Sec held 151 038 WAR shares on behalf of DAB Securities and 175 652 WAR shares on behalf of Jubilee Prospectors respectively, in the Consolidated Investments account 648410.

Van Zyl confirmed that he signed the letter. He however indicated that the information, recorded in the letter in respect of the entities on whose behalf T-Sec held the shares, were provided to him by JCI Gold.

The reconciliation of the JCI Limited group investment in WAL further indicated that, as part of Consolidated Investments, 500 000 WAR shares, held in account number 648410, were held on behalf of the WAL Share Incentive Trust Fund[167].

Schalkwijk provided us with a copy of a scrip lending agreement between the WAL Share Incentive Trust and JCI Limited in terms whereof JCI Limited borrowed 500 000 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[168]. The termination date of this agreement was recorded as 31 March 2005.

Our reconciliation of the movement of the WAR shares reflects the transfer of the 500 000 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust to the Consolidated Investments account 648410 on 30 November 2004. According to our reconciliation, the shares have not been returned to the WAL Share Incentive Trust from the Consolidated Investments account. We however established that WAR shares were returned to the WAL Share Incentive Trust from JCI Gold's CSDP account held at Computershare. This matter is discussed elsewhere in this report[169].

Our reconciliation indicated that the WAL Share Incentive Trust held 641 WAR shares in account 657122 at T-Sec on 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and 22 November 2005 respectively[170].

The JCI Limited group investment reconciliation further reflected that 3 960 000 WAR shares were held in the Consolidated Investment account 648410, of which REC was the beneficial owner[171]. We were unable to obtain any confirmation to this effect during our investigation. The WAR shares of REC, which were held by JCI Gold, are discussed elsewhere in this report[172].

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation also reflected the 3 434 625 WAR shares of Inkwenkwezi, held in the Consolidated Investment account 648410[173]. This matter is also discussed elsewhere in this report[174].

The Peregrine futures of 700 000 WAR shares, reflected in the JCI Limited group investment reconciliation under the heading of Consolidated Investments, are also discussed elsewhere in this report[175].

In our reconciliation of the WAR shares, held at T-Sec, we recorded the 1 790 000 WAR shares were pledged to Finsettle through the Lyons Lease Fund[176]. These shares are shown separately in the JCI Limited group reconciliation under the heading Lyons Corporate Lease Fund[177].

The JCI Limited group reconciliation recorded the 212 WAR shares in the JCI Gold account number 649558 under the heading JCI Gold on 31 March 2005[178]. These shares were included in our reconciliation of the shares kept by T-Sec[179].

In our reconciliation we also included the 2 000 000 WAR shares of REC, held in account 633701. The JCI Limited group reconciliation reflected the 2 000 000 WAR shares under the heading Randgold Scrip lending account[180].

7.1.1.2 Computershare

KPMG and Computershare reconciliation

We obtained information and documentation from Computershare in respect of the JCI Gold CSDP account number 1900010909, held at Computershare. The information, obtained from Computershare, was also collated in the reconciliation schedule reflecting the share movement to and from T-Sec[181].

The holding of WAR shares in the CSDP account at Computershare on 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and 22 November 2005 are tabled below[182]:

We agreed in our reconciliation with the number of shares reflected in the JCI Limited group reconciliation, except for the fact that we did not include the 2 450 000 WAR shares which were pledged to SASFIN with the shares held at Computershare on 31 March 2005 as the transfer of the shares from T-Sec to Computershare was only performed in early April 2005.

7.1.1.3 WAR shares of Inkwenkwezi, REC and the WAL Share Incentive Trust

The share aggregate, as recorded in our reconciliation summary, includes WAR shares of which the beneficial ownership vests in JCI Gold, REC, Inkwenkwezi and the WAL Share Incentive Trust. We were able to establish through our reconciliation that Inkwenkwezi, REC and the WAL Share Incentive Trust were the beneficial owners of the WAR shares as set out below.

Inkwenkwezi

Inkwenkwezi was the beneficial owner of 3 434 625 WAR shares, which they obtained from Anglo. These shares were transferred into the Consolidated Investment account number 648410 at T-Sec and are included in our calculation of WAR shares held in the account in our reconciliation[184]. The transfers were made as follows:

- 1 144 875 WAR shares on 6 December 2004;
- 922 402 and 222 473 WAR shares respectively on 31 December 2004; and
- 1 144 874 WAR shares on 15 February 2005.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation on 31 March 2005 included the 3 434 625 WAR shares as discussed earlier in this report.

REC

According to our reconciliation and information obtained, REC was the beneficial owner of 3 905 013 WAR shares. On 31 March 2005, the shares were held in the following accounts at T-Sec[185]:

- REC Scrip account number 633701 – 2 000 000 shares; and

[184] Refer Annexures C and D

- REC Scrip account number 655050 – 1 905 013 shares.

The 1 905 013 WAR shares in the REC account number 655050 were transferred to the Consolidated Investments number account 648410 in several batches between April 2005 and September 2005. 400 000 shares were also transferred from the REC Scrip account number 633701 to the Consolidated Investments account number 648410. The effect of this was that the WAR shares of REC were held in the following accounts on 30 September 2005[186]:

- REC Scrip account 633701 – 1 600 000 shares; and
- Consolidated Investments account 648410 – 2 305 013 shares.

During November 2005, 1 724 830 WAR shares of REC were transferred from the Consolidated Investment account 648410 back to the REC Scrip account 633701. The effect of the transfer was that WAR shares of REC were held in the following accounts on 22 November 2005[187]:

- REC Scrip account 633701 – 3 324 830 shares; and
- Consolidated Investments account 648410 – 580 183 shares.

Lamprecht indicated to Beale and to us that REC should have had 9.8 million WAR shares. We were only able to reconcile the WAR shares to 3 324 830. Beale was unable to provide us with a breakdown substantiating that REC had 9.8 million WAR shares, indicated by Lamprecht.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation, that we obtained from Schalkwijk, reflected that REC was the beneficial owner of 9 816 613 WAR shares. The breakdown of the 9 816 613 WAR shares is recorded as follows[188]:

- Shares in the T-Sec REC account 655050:

	Amount R
WAR shares acquired from Anglo	5 268 800
Shares in Computershare account 1801140524[189]	(3 951 600)

Shares for the account of First Westgold	82 500
Shares for the account of Randgold	505 313
WAL shares in T-Sec account 655050[190]	1 905 013

The figure of 5 268 800 WAR shares, acquired from Anglo, as described in the table above, agrees to the agreement entered into between Tawny, Anglo, Chestnut and REC whereby 5 268 800 WAR shares were purchased by REC. The aforesaid transaction is described in more detail at paragraph 10.22 infra.

The balancing figure in the JCI Group reconciliation agrees to our reconciliation figure for account 655050[191].

- Other shares

	Amount R
Shares in T-Sec account 648410	3 960 000
Shares in Computershare account 1801140524[192]	3 951 600
Subtotal	7 911 600

The aggregate of the 1 905 013 and 7 911 600 shares is 9 816 613.

WAL Share Incentive Trust

Our reconciliation recorded that the WAL Share Incentive Trust was the beneficial owner of 641 shares on 31 March 2005, 30 September 2005 and 22 November 2005 respectively[193].

In arriving at the aforesaid balance we took cognisance of the transfer of 700 001 WAR shares from the Consolidated Investment account number 648410 to the WAL Share Incentive Trust account number 657122 on 22 November 2004[194], and the transfer of 500 000 shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust to the Consolidated Investment account on 30 November 2004[195].

During our reconciliation and investigation we noted that WAR shares were transferred from the JCI Gold CSDP account at Computershare to the WAL Share Incentive Trust. These transfers are discussed elsewhere in this report[196].

7.1.1.4 Kebble related securities

RAR Kebble

The share register, correspondence and a scrip lending agreement at JCI Limited indicated that RAR Kebble held 500 000 WAR shares.

Beale stated in an e-mail, dated 11 March 2004 to Jozeph Knoesen at ABSA, that RAR Kebble "is the beneficial owner of the 1,250,000 RNG shares and also the 500,000 WAR shares"[197].

We obtained a copy of a scrip lending agreement between JCI Gold and Antrim Properties, relating to 500 000 WAR shares[198]. The agreement stipulated that JCI Gold lent the 500 000 WAR shares to Antrim Properties. The termination date of the agreement was recorded as 31 December 2005.

We contacted RAR Kebble in respect of the 500 000 WAR shares. He telephonically confirmed to us that he has the 500 000 WAR shares as security for a loan. RAR Kebble further indicated that the agreement between JCI Gold and Antrim Properties might be related to the 500 000 WAR shares he was holding[199]. Upon his request, a copy of the agreement was faxed to him. We however have not yet received a reply from RAR Kebble in respect of the agreement and the termination date of 31 December 2005, or for that matter when he intends returning the shares.

RAR Kebble forwarded a "Declaration of Trust" to JCI of which a copy was made available to us[200]. The "Declaration of Trust", dated 15 December 2005, recorded that RAR Kebble declared that "The 500,000 (FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND) WESTERN AREAS LIMITED ("WAL") ORDINARY SHARES, REGISTERED IN MY NAME, are held by me as nominee for and on behalf of JCI GOLD LIMITED ("PRINCIPAL")".

The "Declaration of Trust" further recorded "That I will transfer, pay and deal with such share/s and with all dividends and rights (including voting rights), from time to time, accruing by virtue or in [illegible] of such share/s, in such a manner as the said "PRINCIPAL" may direct, from [illegible] to time".

RAR Kebble informed us that he would provide JCI Limited and ourselves with a complete set of documentation setting out the transactions in respect of the 500 000 WAR shares. We however have not yet received the documentation from him at the time of preparing this report.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation reflected the 500 000 WAR shares, held by RAR Kebble, under the name of Alibiprops[201].

Baobab Aviation

The WAL share register recorded that Baobab Aviation had 900 000 WAR shares. The reconciliation, obtained form Schalkwijk, also indicated that Baobab Aviation held the WAR shares on behalf of JCI Limited[202].

We found a statement, in the files kept by Beale, confirming that Investec held the 900 000 WAR shares as security for a loan from Investec for an aircraft acquired by Baobab Aviation[203]. The statement reflected an account number 1226612 and was dated 26 August 2005.

Investec confirmed to us that they held the 900 000 WAR shares as security for the Baobab Aviation loan[204]. We were further informed that the relevant aircraft was in the process of being sold and that the shares would be returned to JCI Gold once the sale was concluded.

We were unable to obtain any agreement between JCI Gold and Baobab Aviation, regulating the provision of the 900 000 WAR shares as security for the aircraft loan.

The JCI Limited investment in WAR reconciliation reflected the 900 000 WAR shares held by Investec as security for Baobab Aviation under the heading Baobab[205].

7.1.1.5 Voting shares

Beale confirmed that the 100 WAR shares, held by Poole, Beale, RB Kebble and VG Bray, were assets of JCI Gold. She informed us that the WAR shares were transferred by JCI Gold to the individuals as voting shares. The JCI Limited group investment in WAR shares also reflects the 400 voting shares.

7.1.1.6 Other holdings

BoE Stockbrokers – Catwalk Investments 394

On 24 February 2000, a scrip lending agreement was entered into between CMMS and Catwalk Investments 394[206]. In terms of the scrip lending agreement, CMMS lent the following shares to Catwalk Investments 394:

- 315 000 ordinary shares in DRD;
- 1 132 287 WAR shares; and
- 150 000 ordinary shares in JCI Gold.

The termination date of the scrip lending agreement was recorded as 31 December 2000. The agreement was signed on 24 February 2000 by Buitendag, on behalf of CMMS, and Irish, on behalf of Catwalk Investments 394[207]. According to a CMMS directors' resolution, Buitendag, in his capacity as director of CMMS, was authorised to sign the scrip lending agreement[208].

An addendum to the scrip lending agreement was signed on 26 March 2001 by Buitendag and Irish. The addendum recorded that the termination date of 31 December 2000, in the scrip lending agreement, be deleted and replaced by 28 September 2001[209].

A further addendum to the agreement was signed on 11 July 2001, recording that the loan of 150 000 JCI Gold ordinary shares referred to in the scrip lending agreement of 24 February 2000 was increased to 535 000 on 6 December 2000[210]. The addendum further recorded that the existing terms and conditions of the scrip lending agreement would continue in full force and effect.

No further addendums to the scrip lending agreement were found.

From the documents on Beale's computer, we obtained a document, drafted by Irish and declaring that with effect from 31 March 2004 "The 1,136,487 (ONE MILLION ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY SIX THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED AND EIGHTY SEVEN) WESTERN AREAS LIMITED shares registered in the name of CATWALK, are held by CATWALK as nominee for and on behalf of JCI GOLD LIMITED, Reg.No.1998/005215/06 ("PRINCIPAL")"[211]. This document was dated 21 September 2004.

A later e-mail, dated 24 October 2005 from Irish to Beale, obtained from Beale's files, reflected that Irish confirmed that Afrifocus "are holding 62 000 Western Areas and BOE 1 049 487" shares[212].

The same document reflects an e-mail that was sent by Beale to Irish on 23 October 2005. In the latter e-mail, Beale recorded that Afrifocus used to hold 87 000 WAR shares and that "it appears there are only 62,000 left".

From the above correspondence, it would appear that the 1 136 487 WAR shares, lent to Catwalk Investments 394, were kept at:

- BOE – 1 049 487 WAR shares; and
- Afrifocus – 87 000 WAR shares.

T-Sec confirmed that they received the 1 049 487 WAR shares kept at BoE Stockbrokers for Catwalk Investments 394 on 22 November 2005. These shares form part of our reconciliation of the WAR shares kept at T-Sec[213].

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation reflects that the 1 049 487 WAR shares were held in account 1359686 for Catwalk Investments 394 at BoE Stockbrokers[214]. Schalkwijk also handed us a copy of a statement from BoE Stockbrokers for Catwalk Investments 394's account number 1359686[215]. The statement reflected the 1 049 487 WAR shares held in the account.

Afrifocus – Catwalk Investments

As indicated in the paragraph above, 87 000 of the WAR shares, which Catwalk Investments 394 obtained in terms of the scrip lending agreement with CMMS, were held at Afrifocus.

Beale provided us with an e-mail which she received from Irish on 1 December 2005[216]. The e-mail included an e-mail that was forwarded to Irish by Mike Carlsson from Afrifocus. Carlsson's e-mail to Irish reflected the WAR shares that were sold by Afrifocus. We understood from Beale that the WAR shares were sold to settle a JCI Limited related loan at Afrifocus.

The WAR shares, which were sold by Afrifocus, as recorded in the e-mail referred to above to settle the loan, are tabled below:

Date	Shares	Share price R	Proceeds R
Opening balance	87 000	-	-
6 April 2005	(8 000)	27.00	214 668.12
7 April 2005	(3 000)	26.00	77 456.82
11 April 2005	(6 000)	26.55	156 292.76
Closing balance	70 000

Irish made share transaction statements of Afrifocus available to us for the months ended 1 July 2005, 29 July 2005 and 26 August 2005[217].

The share transaction statements for the months ending 1 July 2005 and 29 July 2005 respectively, reflect the number of WAR shares held for Catwalk Investments 394 as 70 000 shares[218]. The statement for the month ending 26 August 2005 reflected that another 8 000 WAR shares were sold on 12 August 2005[219]. We were informed by Beale that the proceeds of the sale were also utilised for the settlement of the JCI Limited related loan.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation reflected that 82 800 WAR shares were held for Catwalk Investments 394 at Afrifocus in account 160689[221]. We also obtained a copy of a statement of account 160689 for the month ended 1 April 2005 from Afrifocus[222]. The statement recorded that 87 000 WAR shares were held in the account for Catwalk Investments 394.

Titan Share Dealers – Castle Ultra

A sale of shares agreement was entered into between RB Kebble as the purchaser and Titan SD as the seller[223]. The agreement was signed on 1 July 2002 in Cape Town.

In terms of the agreement, RB Kebble acquired 400 500 ordinary WAR shares for R14 418 000.00 and 30 841 900 ordinary JCI Limited shares from Titan SD for R37 603 532.00, resulting in an aggregate purchase price of R52 021 532.00.

The aggregate purchase price of R52 021 532.00 had to be repaid by RB Kebble as follows:

- R26 010 766.00 on 31 July 2002;
- R13 005 383.00 on 30 August 2002; and
- R13 005 383 on 30 September 2003 (The contract reflects 2003 but we are of the view that it is a typing error as the closing date is recorded as 30 September 2002).

The agreement further stipulated that the "ownership in and to the sale shares shall pass to the purchaser on delivery in terms of clause 6 above". Clause 6 recorded that Titan SD would meet at 10h00 on 30 September 2002, the closing date in terms of the agreement, and that the documents of title would be delivered if the purchase price of R52 021 532.00 had been paid to Titan SD in full.

RB Kebble also signed a suretyship in terms whereof he bound himself in favour of Titan SD for the proper and timeous performance by CU of all its obligations in terms if the agreement of sale of shares entered into between CU and Titan SD[224].

An addendum to the share trade agreement between RB Kebble and Titan, which was dated 1 July 2002, was signed on 1 March 2003[225]. The addendum recorded that "the purchaser has paid twenty million rand (R20 000 000.00) of the purchase price that was due and payable in terms of clause 5 of the Sale of Shares Agreement to the seller" and that RB Kebble failed to pay the balance of the purchase price of R32 021 532.00 to Titan.

It was agreed in the addendum that RB Kebble would pay an extension fee to Titan and that the outstanding amount, owed to Titan, was R35 712 761.00, which was calculated as follows:

Description	Amount R
Outstanding portion of purchase price	32 021 532.00
Interest calculated up to 30 April 2003	3 191 229.00
Extension fee	500 000.00
Outstanding amount	35 712 761.00

The addendum stipulated that RB Kebble would pay the outstanding amount to Titan as follows:

A second addendum to the sale of share agreement was drafted and signed between Castle Ultra 295 and Titan on 5 September 2003[226]. The latter addendum recorded that the amount of R21 994 502.00 was still owed to Titan on 31 July 2003. In the addendum it was agreed that Titan "may sell a number of the CAM shares that will generate a purchase price equal to fifteen million nine hundred and ninety four thousand five hundred and two rand (R15 994 502.00) and that the seller may retain the proceeds ("Sale Proceeds") of the sale thereof".

The second addendum further recorded that RB Kebble owed Castle Ultra 295 and Titan SD an amount calculated by deducting the sale proceeds of the JCI Limited shares from the outstanding amount plus interest thereon, calculated up to the date of receipt of the sale proceeds.

Titan informed us that they have the 400 500 WAR shares of JCI Gold. They informed us that they are holding the shares as security for the outstanding amount for the shares that were bought from them. Titan provided us with a summary of the transaction for the period 31 July 2002 to 31 December 2005[227]. The information recorded on the summary is tabled below:

We obtained a copy of the financial statements of Castle Ultra 295 for the year ended 31 March 2004[228]. The financial statements were maintained in the files at JCI Limited.

The balance sheet of Castle Ultra 295, as at 31 March 2004 recorded that the company had non-current assets in the form of investments worth R13 016 250. The investments were recorded in the notes to the financial statements as the 400 500 WAR shares.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation, which we obtained from Schalkwijk, reflected the 400 500 WAR shares held at Titan SD as security[229]. Schalkwijk also provided us with a copy of a letter from Titan SD dated 4 May 2005[230]. The letter was addressed to Charles Orbach & Company and recorded that 400 500 WAR shares would be delivered to Castle Ultra 295 once their loan with Titan SD has been settled. The outstanding balance of the loan, on 31 March 2005, was reflected in the letter as R7 849 489.14.

ABSA Stockbrokers

ABA Stockbrokers confirmed that they were holding 130 000 WAR shares as security in account 0816017 for JCI Gold[231]. ABSA confirmed that the shares are held as security for a loan. They were not willing to share any further information on the loan.

We obtained a scrip lending agreement between JCI Gold and CAM with regard to 130 000 WAR shares[232]. This agreement was signed on 14 February 2002 and recorded that CAM borrowed the 130 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation, which we obtained from Schalkwijk, reflected the 130 000 WAR shares held at ABSA Stockbrokers in account 816017[233]. Furthermore Schalkwijk provided us with a copy of an ABSA statement of the JCI Gold account 816017 for the month ending 1 April 2005[234]. The statement reflected the 130 000 WAR shares held at ABSA Stockbrokers on behalf of JCI Gold.

Peregrine Equities

CMMS resolved by means of a directors' resolution, dated 24 January 2005, that CMMS agreed to enter into a "Contract For Difference Agreement" with Peregrine Equities[235]. It was also resolved that "the monetization of the (Seven hundred thousand) 700,000 Western Areas Ltd ("WAR") shares at Peregrine under an ISDA Agreement will solely be used to invest in the Isivuno Hedge Fund LLP, a fund which will be held in Safe custody at Peregrine Equities".

Chapman confirmed that they received the 700 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold. Of the initial 700 000 WAR shares, 175 000 was returned to the Consolidated Investment account 648410 at T-Sec on 14 June 2005[236]. JCI Gold therefore had 700 000 WAR shares with Peregrine Equities on 31 March 2005 and 525 000 WAR shares on 30 September 2005 and 22 November 2005, respectively[237].

We were unable to obtain copies of the agreements mentioned in the CMMS resolution.

Chapman further indicated that JCI Gold did not own the balance of he 525 000 WAR shares, but has exposure to the shares. He informed us that the WAR shares were sold and that Peregrine currently holds about R12 million in cash for JCI Gold.

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation, which we obtained from Schalkwijk, reflected the 700 000 WAR shares held at Peregrine as futures.

Letseng Diamonds

Beale handed us a copy of a letter, dated 24 May 2005, signed by Main of Letseng Diamonds, confirming that Letseng Diamonds "continue to hold One Million Western Areas Limited shares as security for settlement of payment due on the shares in Letseng Holdings South Africa (Pty) Limited"[238]. The letter was addressed to Charles Orbach & Company.

Lamprecht informed us that he met with Main in London during the end of November 2005 and that Main informed him that the 1 000 000 WAR shares were sold. Main indicated to Lamprecht that Letseng still owed the 1 000 000 WAR shares to JCI Gold.

7.1.1.7 Fictitious scrip lending agreements

The JCI Limited group investment in WAR reconciliation, which we obtained from Schalkwijk, reflected under the heading "Scrip lending agreements" two different agreements with Itsuseng and Lembede.

Itsuseng

We obtained a scrip lending agreement from Schalkwijk that was ostensibly entered into between JCI Gold and Itsuseng. The agreement was signed on 15 October 2004. According to the agreement, Itsuseng borrowed 2 500 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold with a termination date of 30 September 2007.

The agreement appears to be signed by RB Kebble, on behalf of JCI Gold and Ncwana, on behalf of Itsuseng. Cognisance should however be taken of our qualification at paragraph 10.10 infra regarding the signature of RB Kebble on this particular document.

We also obtained a copy of a letter from Itsuseng, which was addressed to Charles Orbach & Co. The letter was dated 6 June 2005 and recorded that Itsuseng "confirm that we have borrowed 2,500,000 Western Areas ltd. Shares as at 31 March 2005 from the above mentioned company".

We noted that the date, layout, font and wording of this letter are exactly the same as those of a letter ostensibly written by Lembede to Charles Orbach & Company. The only difference is the number of shares recorded.

During our consultation with Lamprecht in respect of the WAR shares that JCI Gold owned, he informed us that the scrip lending agreement between JCI Gold and Itsuseng was fictitious and that Itsuseng informed him that they never borrowed or received the 2 500 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold[240]. This was also confirmed to us by Andile Nkhulu during an interview with him.

Further reasons as to why the Itsuseng scrip lending agreement cannot be viewed as a true and genuine agreement are recorded at paragraph 10.10 infra. We were furthermore informed by Beale of the reasons why the said scrip lending agreement was fabricated[241].

Lembede

We obtained a copy of a scrip lending agreement from Schalkwijk that was ostensibly entered into by and between JCI Gold and Lembede on 21 October 2004. The agreement recorded that Lembede borrowed 2 700 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold with a termination date of 31 October 2007.

This agreement also appears to be signed by RB Kebble on behalf of JCI Gold, and Mjongile, on behalf of Lembede.

We further obtained a copy of a letter, dated 6 June 2005, from Lembede and which was addressed to Charles Orbach & Co. The letter recorded that Lembede "confirm that we have borrowed 2,700,000 Western Areas ltd. Shares as at 31 March 2005 from the above mentioned company".

We noted that the date, layout, font and wording of this letter are exactly the same as those of a letter ostensibly written by Itsuseng to Charles Orbach & Company. The only difference is the number of shares recorded.

During our consultation with Lamprecht in respect of the WAR shares that JCI Gold owned, he informed us that the scrip lending agreement between JCI Gold and Lembede was fictitious and that Lembede informed him that they never borrowed or received the 2 700 000 WAR shares from JCI Gold[242].

7.1.2 Historical WAR share sales

7.1.2.1 JCI Gold CSDP account 1900010909

Beale provided us with a schedule reflecting the share transactions in the JCI Gold CSDP account at Computershare for the period 31 March 2002 to 30 September 2004[243]. The schedule records a description of the transaction, the number of shares involved in the transaction and a separate column stating the "REASON FOR TRANSFER".

Beale informed us that she compiled the schedule and handed it to Poole to indicate the reason for the share movement recorded on the schedule. According to Beale, the handwriting in the "REASON FOR TRANSFER" column is that of Poole, which he completed upon the request of Beale.

Beale indicated in the schedule that she was unable to obtain information for the period 5 June 2002 to 2 October 2002. We obtained a computer printout of the CSDP account from Computershare, reflecting the WAR share movement for the period 5 August 2002 to 14 July 2005[244]. The schedule, prepared by Beale, reflected a balance of 2 800 049 WAR shares on 5 June 2002. The Computershare printout recorded that 473 359 WAR shares were transferred into the CSDP account during August 2002, when they took over the management of Mercantile Registrars, thus leaving a difference of 2 326 690 WAR shares that cannot be accounted for due to the system changes between Mercantile and Computershare.

We investigated the transfers from the CSDP account and recorded where the shares were transferred to and from in a schedule which we prepared, utilising the Computershare printout of the CSDP account for the period 5 August 2002 to 14 July 2005 as a starting point[245].

The transfer of shares from March 2004 onwards between Computershare and T-Sec are included in our reconciliation to establish the disposition and holding of WAR shares by JCI Gold as discussed earlier in this report[246].

Based on our investigation of the transfers to and from the CSDP account and the information recorded by Poole on the schedule compiled by Beale, we report in more detail on the following transactions:

- 500 000 WAR shares sold by SASFIN Frankel Pollack on 10 April 2002

  Poole indicated on Beale's schedule that the shares were sold to "RAISE FUNDS"[247].

  SASFIN Frankel Pollack confirmed to us that they have sold the 500 000 WAR shares. They provided us with a directors' resolution of JCI Gold, dated 8 April 2002[248]. This resolution resolved that an account be opened at SASFIN and that "the company sell 500,000 (five hundred thousand) ordinary shares in Western Areas Limited". Poole, in his capacity as "the Investor Relations Executive" of JCI Gold, was authorised to sign the required documentation in terms of opening the account at SASFIN.

  SASFIN Frankel Pollack also provided us with copies of the opening documentation of the account held by JCI Gold at SASFIN Frankel Pollack. The documentation was signed by Poole[249].

  According to SASFIN Frankel Pollack, the proceeds of the sale were kept in a Mercantile Bank account number 1900010909, the same number as the JCI Gold CSDP account number. Mercantile Bank confirmed that the proceeds of the sale of the 500 000 WAR shares, aggregating R15 275 401.81, were paid into account number 1900010909 on 12 April 2002. R15 000 000 of the proceeds were immediately transferred out of the account[250]. At the time of our report, Mercantile was unable to tell us where the funds were transferred to.

  We obtained from Beale an instruction from RAR Kebble[251]. The instruction was addressed to "Mr S Frankel". The instruction to Frankel Consulting was that they had to pay R15 000 000 from a deposit that was made to Frankel Consulting over to JCI Gold's Standard Bank account number 000 091 510. The instruction further reflected that "JCIG is in the process of selling 500 000 Western Areas Limited shares through Sasfin Frankel Pollack. JCIG will give instructions to Sasfin Frankel Pollack to pay the proceeds of this sale to Frankel Consulting".

Beale also provided us with a copy of a letter of authority from Buitendag to Computerhare/Mercantile, dated 8 April 2002[252]. The letter authorised "Sasfin Frankel Pollack to pay R15 000 000 (Fifteen Million Rand), of the proceeds from the sale of 500 000 Western Areas Limited shares (Deal ID 34) over to Nedbank Syfrets Private Bank, Account Frankel Consulting/Kebble Account No. 1154000087, Branch code: 115-409".

It would appear that RAR Kebble paid the R15 000 000.00 over to JCI Gold from his available funds at Frankel Consulting. He was again reimbursed with the payment of R15 000 000.00 from Mercantile to Frankel Consulting, subsequent to the sale of the 500 000 WAR shares.

- Shares transferred to Beale's PLJ account

  The aggregate of 300 000 WAR shares were transferred to Beale's PLJ account number 348177 on two separate occasions[253].

  The first occasion was on 10 October 2002 when 100 000 WAR shares were transferred to the PLJ account and the second occasion was on 5 November 2002 when 200 000 WAR shares were transferred. On the schedule, relating to transfers from the Computershare CSDP account, prepared by Beale, Poole noted against both the transfers "RAISE FUNDS (RB Kebble)"[254]. These two transfers are discussed in detail elsewhere in this report[255].

- Shares transferred to Alibiprops

  200 000 WAR shares were transferred to the Alibiprops account held at T-Sec[256]. Poole recorded on Beale's schedule that the transfer was to "RAISE FUNDS (RB Kebble)"[257]. The transfer of these shares is discussed in detail elsewhere in this report[258].

- Shares transferred to Socgen

  The aggregate of 4 350 000 WAR shares were transferred from the CSDP account to T-Sec to be pledged to Socgen[259]. The shares were transferred on six separate occasions, namely:

- 750 000 WAR shares on 22 December 2003.

- Shares transferred to the WAL Share Incentive Trust

  The aggregate of 1 904 000 WAR shares were transferred to the WAL Share Incentive Trust from the JCI Gold CSDP account[260]. The shares were transferred in four separate occasions:

  - 31 January 2003 - 1 214 500 WAR shares;
  - 7 January 2004 - 150 000 WAR shares;
  - 9 January 2004 - 484 428 WAR shares; and
  - 9 January 2004 - 55 072 WAR shares.

Poole recorded next to the entries on Beale's schedule that the shares were transferred to the WAL Share Incentive Trust "TO TOP UP SIT" in respect of the 31 January 2003 transfer[261]. In respect of the other three transfers, Poole recorded "REPLACED SHARES IN SIT"[262]. The transfer of shares to and from the WAL Share Incentive Trust is discussed in detail elsewhere in this report[263].

7.1.2.2 Beale's PLJ Financial Services account number 348177

Share movement and trading

During our investigation, Beale indicated to us that she informed SARS about share transactions that were concluded through an account which she opened at PLJ. The account was held under her maiden name, Bawden. We assisted her to draft an affidavit requested by SARS in respect of the share transactions concluded in the PLJ account[264]. The affidavit was drafted from a reconciliation which Beale performed on the account, based on PLJ statements that she had with her[265].

Beale e-mailed an instruction to Van Zyl at T-Sec on 30 August 2002 to transfer the following WAR shares to a CSDP account 00000 24172 2503 at ABSA[266]. The shares, to be transferred, were:

- 90 000 WAR shares from the RB Kebble Carry account;
- 8 962 WAR shares from the New Heights 120 account; and
- 151 038 WAR shares "you will be receiving from Computershare ("from the DAB Securities CSDP Acc) today".

These shares were transferred to Beale's PLJ account, where the aggregate of 250 000 WAR shares were sold into the market on 30 August 2002 for R8 216 959.66[267]. The majority of the proceeds of the sale of the 250 000 WAR shares was transferred from the PLJ account to the account of Hothouse Investments and Bullishprops 13 (Pty) Limited on 23 September 2002[268].

Beale sent the instruction for the transfer of funds to PLJ Financial Services in a facsimile dated 20 September 2002[269]. The fax was send under Beale's maiden name, Bawden, and reflected that R3 800 000.00 should be transferred to the Hothouse Investment account, kept at Standard Bank, Alberton with account number 00 8240 337 and R4 200 000.00 should be transferred to the Bullishprops 13 account, also kept at Standard Bank Alberton branch with account number 40 4490 093.

Beale received an instruction per e-mail from Poole to transfer R100 000.00 "out of the "Bawden" account to New Heights"[270]. The e-mail was dated 25 September 2002 and reflected the bank account details of New Heights. Poole also reflected that "The balance of the funds in the abovementioned broking a/c should be used to fund the purchases, and to fulfil the fee due to you". At the bottom of the e-mail, Poole recorded "Please destroy this e-mail once read".

On 26 September 2002 the amount of R100 000.00 was transferred form the PLJ account to the Standard Bank account of New Heights, account number 02 0626 428, kept at the Alberton branch as requested by Poole. This instruction was also given to PLJ by Beale on a facsimile dated 25 September 2002[271].

In her instruction, Beale further recorded that "there should be a balance of approximately (excluding interest) of R116,959.66 and please us this to pay for the purchase of 5,000 Randgold & Exploration Limited shares"[272]. The reconciliation of the PLJ account that we received from Beale, reflected that the aggregate of 5 000 REC shares were acquired for the amount of R94 644.90 between 20 September 2002 and 25 September 2002[273].

Beale's reconciliation of the PLJ account reflected that R50 000.00 was transferred from the account to her personal savings account held at Nedbank account number 2908725916 on 10 October 2002[274]. The instruction for the transfer of the R50 000.00 was given to PLJ in a facsimile dated 10 October 2002 from Beale[275].

The same instruction to PLJ requested PLJ to "accept 100,000 (one hundred thousand) Western Areas Limited ("WAR") shares from Computershare Services Limited, in my account no. 348177, and then immediately sell the 100,000 WAR shares at R37.50 or better"[276].

Beale forwarded an e-mail to Computershare on the same day, i.e. 10 October 2002, instructing them to transfer 100 000 WAR shares from the JCI Gold CSDP account to PLJ "(for the P B Bawden Account No. 348177)"[277]. Beale further recorded in the e-mail that "There is no change in beneficial ownership".

The 100 000 WAR shares were sold on 14 October 2002 for R3 704 175.09[278]. The amount of R3 700 000.00 of the proceeds of the sale of the WAR shares were transferred to the Standard Bank account of Bullishprops on 18 October 2002 as instructed by Beale in a facsimile dated 18 October 2002[279].

Bullishprops, in aggregate, received R7 900 000.00 from Beale's PLJ account with the transfers of R4 200 000.00 on 23 September 2002 and R3 700 000.00 on 18 October 2002.

According to a director's resolution that we obtained from Beale's computer, it was resolved by the director of Bullishprops that 100 ordinary shares at a nominal value of R1.00 each be transferred from Dennis Jacobus Bishop to RB Kebble with effect from 6 May 1999[280]. The resolution reflected the date of 10 June 1999. RB Kebble was also reflected on the resolution as the sole director of Bullishprops.

Another resolution, dated 17 October 2002 and obtained from the computer of Salmon, dealt with the opening of a current bank account at Investec for Bullishprops[281]. The resolution recorded that "MR SELLO MASHAO RASETHABA, in his capacity as a director of the company, MR ROGER BRETT KEBBLE, in his capacity as a director of the company, and MR GEORGE WILLIAM POOLE, in his capacity as an authorized signatory of the company", are authorised and empowered to sign documentation and to act on behalf of the company.

The minutes of a general meeting of the sole member of Bullishprops, held on 28 March 2003, was obtained from the hard drive of Van Straaten's computer[282]. The minutes recorded that the attendance was as per the attendance register, the latter reflecting RB Kebble as the sole shareholder of Bullishprops. The minutes of the general meeting recorded that it was resolved that the company change the name of Bullishprops to "5th Street Investments (Propriety) Limited". The reason for the name change was recorded "to change the name of the company to be more suitable for the trading activities of the company". The soft copy on Van Straaten's computer provided for the signatures of RB Kebble and Rasethaba.

Van Straaten recorded in an e-mail to Beale on 28 June 2005 that Bullishprops "is now called 5th Street Investments (Pty) Limited" and that "Sello and his wife are the directors and shareholders"[283]. "Sello" referred to Rasethaba.

A directorate list, obtained from JCI Limited, dated 26 January 2004, recorded that the directors of 5th Street Investments (Pty) Limited were "RASETHABA, Galetlale Juliana Rabaji" and Rasethaba[284].

Rasethaba confirmed to us during a consultation that he and his wife were the directors of Bullishprops 13. He further informed us that 5th Street, Houghton was the property he lives in. When we informed Rasethaba that the shares of Bullishprops were initialled owned by RB Kebble, he indicated to us that he indicated to RB Kebble that he wanted a housing allowance as part of his remuneration package. Rasethaba stated that Kebble then informed him that he could get the shares in Bullishprops as part of his remuneration package and as acknowledgement of work performed for JCI Limited.

Rasethaba indicated that, as far as he is aware, the deal was approved by the Remuneration Committee of JCI Limited. We were unable to obtain copies of the minutes or resolutions of the Remuneration Committee, authorising the Bullishprops deal as explained to us by Rasethaba. This is not surprising as the shares of Bullishprops did not belong to JCI Limited or its subsidiaries, but to RB Kebble.

On 14 October 2002, 135 000 REC shares were also sold in the PLJ account. The proceeds of the REC shares were R2 146 574.36[285]. The amount of R2 100 000.00 of the proceeds were transferred to the Standard Bank account of Hothouse Investments as instructed by Beale in a facsimile dated 21 October 2002[286]. Beale stated in her affidavit that JCI Gold was the beneficial owner of the 135 000 REC shares that were sold in the PLJ account[287].

We noted, during a reconciliation that we performed on the PLJ account, subsequent to the signing of Beale's affidavit, that 400 000 REC shares were received into the PLJ account on 14 October 2002[288]. According to Computershare, the REC shares were transferred from the WAL account held at Computershare to the PLJ account. The aggregate of 216 934 REC shares were sold into the market in the PLJ account between 15 October 2002 to 24 October 2002 for R3 389 943.72. This includes the 135 000 REC shares that Beale mentioned in her affidavit[289].

On 24 October 2002, 160 079 REC shares were acquired for R2 268 421.88. Another 56 855 REC shares were further acquired for R835 524.21 on 25 October 2002. The aggregate of the acquired shares was 216 934 REC shares, effectively replacing the shares sold at a profit of R285 997.63[290].

Computershare and PLJ confirmed that the 400 000 REC shares were transferred back to Computershare for the WAL account on 14 November 2002.

On 24 October 2002, Beale instructed Computershare to "Please urgently transfer 200,000 WAR shares from the JCI Gold CSDP Account No. 1900010909 to PLJ Financial Services Limited (for the account of P B Bawden No. 348177)"[291]. She further recorded that "There is no change in beneficial ownership".

The 200 000 WAR shares were sold on 7 November 2002 for R7 380 851.36[292]. Beale instructed PLJ in a facsimile, dated 13 November 2002, to transfer the amount of R4 500 000 to the bank account of Hothouse Investments[293]. She further instructed PLJ to also transfer the amount of R1 070 000 to the Hothouse Investments account[294].

In her reconciliation of the PLJ account, Beale reflected the amount of R45 000 that was transferred to the Standard Bank account of Hothouse Investment[295]. In her affidavit, she stated that the R45 000 was transferred from the PLJ account to the Standard Bank account of Hothouse Investments and that the amount was then transferred from the Hothouse Investments account to her personal savings account at Nedbank "as a bonus from Poole and Kebble"[296].

In the reconciliation that we performed on the PLJ account, we were unable to identify the transfer of R45 000, which, according to Beale were transferred to Hothouse Investments[297]. She stated in her affidavit that the amount of R45 000, deposited into her bank account, originated from Hothouse Investments. The only conclusion we can draw is that the R45 000, deposited into Beale's bank account, formed part of the R4 500 000 that was transferred from the PLJ account to the Hothouse Investments account.

The 5 000 REC shares that were acquired during September 2002 with the proceeds from the initial WAR shares sold, were sold on 5 December 2002 for R95 853.78[298]. Beale instructed PLJ in a facsimile dated 10 December 2002, to transfer the amount of R90 000.00 to the Hothouse Investments account. She further recorded in the facsimile that the "balance in the account after the aforementioned transfer should be R4 812.01"[299].

On 4 January 2003, Beale instructed PLJ to transfer the amount of R2 800.00 from the PLJ bank account to her Nedbank Gold Credit Card number 5412 8304 0995 7926. She also recorded that the "balance in my account no. 348177 after the aforementioned transfer should now be R2,091.25"[300].

On 8 April 2003, Beale requested PLJ to "close the aforementioned account and transfer the balance (after Admin fees etc) to the following bank account"[301]. The bank account listed in the instruction was Beale's Nedbank Gold Credit Card account number 5412 8304 0995 7926. Beale's reconciliation of the account reflected that the amount of R1 837.49 was transferred into her credit card account on 8 April 2003[302].

200 000 WAR shares from Computershare

According to the T-Sec reconciliation and the Computershare statements, 200 000 WAR shares were transferred to the Alibiprops account from the JCI Gold CSDP account kept at Computershare on 28 February 2003[306]. On the schedule which Beale compiled on the transfer of the WAR shares, Poole indicated the reason for the transfer as "RAISE FUNDS (RBK)"[307].

We obtained a copy of an e-mail that Beale forwarded to Computershare on 27 February 2003[308]. Beale requested Computershare in the e-mail to "Please transfer 200,000 (TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND) WAR shares out of the JCI Gold CSDP Account 1900010909 to Tradek Balderson". She further recorded that "There is no change in beneficial ownership".

The 200 000 WAR shares were sold in the Alibiprops trading account into the market for R6 491 891.40 on 3 March 2003[309].

The reconciliation reflected that there was a credit balance of R719.77 in the Alibiprops account prior to the sale of the 200 000 WAR shares. The balance in the account after the sale of the WAR shares and other credits of R776.25 was R6 493 387.42. The amount of R6 493 376.02 was transferred to the Standard Bank account number 000035386 of RB Kebble on 10 March 2003, leaving the balance of R11.40, which was debited for charges[310].

T-Sec provided us with a copy of an e-mail instruction that Van Zyl received from Poole[311]. The e-mail recorded that "funds accruing on this a/c (shortly) should be transferred". The Standard Bank account number 00 00353 86 of RB Kebble was recorded in the e-mail as the account where the funds should be transferred to. Van Zyl noted the amount of R6 493 376.02 on the e-mail and requested a lady by the name of Nicholene to pay the amount on 10 March 2003.

100 000 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust

On 24 March 2003, 100 000 WAR shares were transferred into the Alibiprops trading account from the WAL Share Incentive Trust account number 657122, held at T-Sec[312]. 50 000 WAR shares were sold on 20 March 2003 for R1 620 295.36. The amount of R1 601 012 of the proceeds of the WAR sale was transferred from the Alibiprops trading account to the Standard Bank account number 00003586 of RB Kebble on 28 March 2003.

On the same day the amount of R11 522.22 was transferred from the Alibiprops trading account to the WAL Share Incentive Trust account number 657122, held at T-Sec.

We received a copy of an e-mail from Van Zyl, dated 28 March 2003, from Poole to Van Zyl[313]. Poole instructed Van Zyl in the e-mail to "*Kindly transfer the settlement funds (less the R11,522-22) in the above account to" the RB Kebble Standard Bank account number 00 00353 86.

The e-mail further indicated, with regard to the R11 522.22, that "This amount was transferred from a/c no. 669465 to a/c no. 657122*". Account number 657122 is the account number of the WAL Share Incentive Trust held at T-Sec. A handwritten note on a computer printout of the Alibiprops account, attached to the e-mail, recorded the amount of R1 601 011.74.

The balance of 50 000 WAR shares were transferred to the account of Tuscan Mood, held at Rice Rinaldi, account number 137893, on 14 May 2003[314]. We obtained a copy of an e-mail, dated 7 May 2003, from Poole to Van Zyl at T-Sec. In the e-mail, Poole instructed Van Zyl to transfer the 50 000 WAR shares out of the Alibiprops account to "Rice Rinaldi Securities, a/c name Tuscan Mood CC, a/c no. 137893"[315].

- 9 June 2003 – 20 650.

On 12 June 2003, 100 000 WAR shares were transferred out of the Alibiprops trading account leaving a balance of 100 000 WAR shares. At the time of our report, T-Sec was unable to confirm to us who the recipient of the 100 000 WAR shares were that were transferred from the Alibiprops account.

The balance of 100 000 WAR shares were sold into the market from the Alibiprops trading account as follows:

- 6 June 2003 – 20 650 for R700 050.98;
- 10 June 2003 – 14 913 for R484 001.49; and
- 12 June 2003 – 64 437 for R2 022 381.25.

The aggregated proceeds of the sale of the above mentioned WAR shares were R 3 206 433.72.

On 6 June 2003, the Alibiprops account had a credit balance of R4 029 965.74. The balance increased to R7 236 348.48 with the proceeds of the WAR shares sold. The entire credit balance was transferred out of the Alibiprops account as follows:

- 13 June 2003 – R4 729 965.74 to FNB account number 50491812176 of CMMS;
- 17 June 2003 – R484 001.49 to RB Kebble's Standard Bank account number 000035386; and
- 18 June 2003 – R2 022 381.25 to RB Kebble's Standard Bank account number 000035386.

Van Zyl provided us with a copy of an e-mail that he received from Poole on 17 June 2003[317]. Poole requested Van Zyl in the e-mail to transfer the settlement amount due to the Standard Bank account of RB Kebble. Van Zyl noted on the e-mail that the amount of R484 001.49 should be paid immediately and the balance of R2 022 381.25 on the following day.

It is evident that the funds that were transferred to RB Kebble's account originated from the sale of WAR shares as the amount corresponded to the proceeds of the sale of the 14 913 and 64 437 WAR shares respectively sold. The proceeds of R700 050.98 from the sale of 20 650 WAR shares were transferred to the CMMS account. The balance of the funds transferred to the CMMS account originated from the sale of RDF shares[318].

- Pilgrims Rest account – R1 264 201.82; and
- Unknown cash and cheques – R1 818 262.57.

We are aware that RB Kebble and Buitendag had an investment account at FNB, Tyerberg. It is possible that the R1 400 000.00 could have been paid to such bank account.

Consolidated Investments

On 11 January 2002, Alibiprops received 13 310 WAR shares from Consolidated Investments. These shares were sold on 10 January 2002 when 20 000 WAR shares were sold for R527 874.22 at a price of R26.39 per share. The balance of 6 690 WAR shares were obtained from certificate 24080[332].

Reconciliation performed

We received a reconciliation of the WAL Share Incentive Trust from T-Sec. The reconciliation sets out the movement and transfers of the WAR shares in the T-Sec account, number 657122, for the period 9 February 2001 to 23 November 2004[336].

According to the reconciliation, the WAR share balance was opened on 9 February 2001 when 420 000 WAR shares were transferred into the account. The share balance, reflected on 23 November 2004, was 641 shares. This number reconcile to our reconciliation of the current position of WAR shares held by JCI Gold albeit that these shares were owned by the WAL Share Incentive Trust[337].

We performed a reconciliation of the WAL Share Incentive Trust account, utilising the T-Sec reconciliation as well as the statements of the EW Balderson account. We also utilised other information and reconciliations of the Alibiprops account, Hothouse Investments/Pilgrims Rest accounts, JCI Gold and Consolidated Investments accounts[338].

According to our reconciliation, the following WAR shares were transferred out of the WAL Share Incentive Trust to the reflected recipients:

Recipient	Shares
Morley Jepson	35 470
Ansbacher (Brownrigg)	305 165
Alibiprops	430 000
Hothouse Investments/Pilgrims Rest	257 000
JCI Gold	200 000
CMMS	1 530 900
Total	2 758 535

T-Sec further informed us that the majority of the share transfers, recorded above, were transferred on the instructions of Poole[339].

We established that the shares, transferred to Morley-Jepson and the Ansbacher accounts related to former directors of WAL, namely W Morley-Jepson and JF Brownrigg.

Our reconciliation of the WAL Share Incentive Trust reflected that 430 000 WAR shares were transferred to Alibiprops from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[340]. The Alibiprops reconciliation also reflected that 430 000 WAR shares were transferred from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[341].

Hothouse Investments received the aggregate of 257 000 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[342]. Hothouse Investments changed its name to Pilgrims Rest. The number of shares, recorded by T-Sec, as being transferred to Hothouse Investments, corresponds to the number of shares we already recorded that Pilgrims Rest received, earlier in this report[343].

The reconciliation from T-Sec recorded that CMMS received the aggregate of 1 530 900 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[344]. These shares are included in our reconciliation of inter alia the WAR shares in the Consolidated Investment account at T-Sec to establish the current holdings of WAR shares by JCI Gold, as reported on earlier in this report[345].

The 1 530 900 WAR shares received by CMMS for the WAL Share Incentive Trust, include the 500 000 WAL scrip lending agreement, reported on earlier in this report.

The reconciliation of T-Sec recorded that 200 000 WAR shares were transferred on 11 February 2001 form the WAL Share Incentive Trust to the JCI Gold account held at T-Sec[346]. This transfer is also included in our reconciliation of the current position of the WAR shares held by JCI Gold, as reported on earlier[347].

During our investigation, we established that 500 000 WAR shares were acquired by the WAL Share Incentive Trust during June 2001. The acquisition was done through HSBC Securities[348].

The shares were acquired from SFSS Nominees (Pty) Limited who held the share in certificate format with share certificate number 21096, for R9 089 201.53[349].

Poole instructed Issy van Schoor at Computershare, in a fax dated 20 June 2001, to split the 500 000 WAR shares as follows:

- To JCI Gold 272 380 WAR shares; and
- To Tradek Balderson Nominees 227 620 WAR shares[350].

Poole recorded on the fax that the 272 380 WAR shares to JCI Gold was as "Reimbursement of shares borrowed from JCI Gold by the Trust". He further recorded that the 227 620 WAR shares to Tradek Balderson Nominees was for the WAL Share Incentive Trust account.

Mercantile forwarded the WAR share certificates in respect of the split shares to Poole on 21 June 2001. The Mercantile letter recorded that the following certificates were issued as requested in Poole's fax dated 20 June 2001:

- Certificate number 22641, for 272 380 WAR shares to JCI Gold; and
- Certificate number 22642, for 227 620 WAR shares to Tradek Balderson Nominees[351].

Our reconciliation include the 227 620 WAR shares received by the WAL Share Incentive Trust in their account at T-Sec on 21 June 2001. We also included the acquisition of the balance of 272 380 WAR shares that went to JCI Gold. The net effect of the inclusion was that JCI Gold received 200 000 WAR shares that were transferred from the WAL Share Incentive Trust as well as the 272 380 WAR shares in certificated form. JCI Gold therefore in total received 472 380 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[352].

7.1.2.6 Cool Ideas T-Sec account 686923

T-Sec received 1 800 000 WAR shares in the Cool Ideas trading account number 686923, from ABSA Securities on 19 September 2002[353]. ABSA Securities confirmed to Van Zyl that the shares were transferred to T-Sec from an account held by RAR Kebble at ABSA Securities.

Sale of WAR shares

Of the WAR shares received, 1 100 000 were sold into the market between 18 September 2002 and 17 October 2002. On 29 October 2002, 500 000 WAR shares were transferred to Computershare, and the balance of 200 000 WAR shares were sold into the market between 18 November 1002 and 24 February 2003[354].

The total proceeds of the 1 100 000 WAR shares sold between 18 September 2002 and 17 October 2002, came to R40 004 975.51. The proceeds were transferred out of the Cool Ideas trading account to the following receipients[355]:

Recipient	Amount R	Date
REC	3 723 239.06	30 September 2002
RAR Kebble	19 714 324.27	2 October 2002
REC	3 396 772.00	9 October 2002
CMMS	13 174 517.95	25 October 2002

The total proceeds of the 200 000 WAR shares sold between 18 November 2002 and 24 February 2003, came to R7 805 997.09. The proceeds as well as interest received on the Cool Ideas trading account were transferred to an ABSA account number 1028311695, held by RAR Kebble[356].

In an e-mail, dated 22 November 2003, Swanevelder indicated to De Beer, that the 200 000 WAR shares that were sold, appear to have been lent to Antrim, an entity belonging to RAR Kebble, and requested De Beer to process the required entires. The effect of the entires passed, was the creation of a loan account between JCI Gold and CMMS[357].

Accounting entires

The journal entries in the ledger of CMMS, processed by Swannevelder in the account of the entity Cool Ideas, indicated the sale of the 200 000 WAR shares during the period October 2002 to February 2003 and subsequent payments made to RAR Kebble on 6 December 2002, 12 December 2002, 17 December 2002, 3 January 2003 and 24 February 2003[358].

Based on the limited information available, it appears that RAR Kebble benefitted from the sale of 200 000 WAR shares that used to belong to JCI Gold. We could not identify any transactions indicating the repayment of these shares.

The 13 174 517.95 CMMS received from the Cool Ideas trading account was acknowledged in the CMMS books on 25 October 2002 as a debit in an account styled "SUNDRY CREDITOR – RARK NO 13", account number 212200[359]. This entry appears erroneous as the R13 174 517.95 was genetrated from the sale of JCI Gold's WAR shares. The error was corrected with journal 491.

On 25 October 2002 journal 491 was processed in the books of CMMS[360]. The entries were:

The effect of the journal was that a JCI Gold inter company account in the books of CMMS was credited with the amount equal to the proceeds of the WAR shares sold in the Cool Ideas trading account. In the JCI Gold books of account the CMMS inter company loan account was debited with the proceeds of the WAR shares and the investment in WAL account was credited with the proceeds amount of R40 008 944.47[366]. These entries indicate that WAR shares of JCI Gold were sold and that the proceeds were received by REC, RAR Kebble and CMMS.

The entry in respect of the R13 714 324.27 cash that was received by CMMS, was recorded as a payment received from RAR Kebble with the credit in the CMMS account styled "RARK NO 13"[367]. The R13 174 517.95 credit was debited out of the account with journal 491 when the account styled "SUNDRY DEBT – RAR KEBBLE" account number 174520 was debited on 25 October 2002[368]. On 20 January 2003 the amount of R400 000.00, that was deposited into the CMMS bank account, was also debited to the account styled "SUNDRY DEBT – RAR KEBBLE". The aggregate of the debits of R19 714 32.27 transferred from the ("SUNDRY CREDITOR RARK No13th account with journal 505 on October 2002") and R400 000.00 was R20 114 324.27[369].

The R15 000 000.00 cash that CMMS received from the RAR Kebble ABSA Account 18, and credited to the account styled "LOAN – ABSA", was debited with interest out of the account with journal 577 on 31 March 2003[370]. The credit of R15 042 474.27 was processed as a credit to the account styled "SUNDRY DEBT – RAR KEBBLE"[371]. With journal 584, two further amounts of R2 016 893.50 and R1 660 970.80 were credited to the RAR Kebble sundry debt account whilst the amount of R3 117 055.52 was debited as interest. The amount of R2 016 893.50 was debited to an account styled "LOAN – BNC" and the amount of R1 660 970.80 debited to an account styled "LOAN – INVESTAGE"[372]. The effect of the credits and debit in the RAR Kebble sundry debt account was a debit balance of R4 511 041.22 that

RAR Kebble ABSA account 20

The R19 714 324.29 of the proceeds of the 1 100 000 WAR shares that was sold on the Cool Ideas trading account and transferred to RAR Kebble, was deposited into his ABSA account 20 on 2 October 2002. This deposit settled the overdraft on the ABSA account 20 of about R19 677 448. A summary of the account reflects that CMMS received the amount of R16 000 000 from the ABSA account 20 on 28 October 2001[374]. The R16 000 000 cash received by CMMS from RAR Kebble was credited to the account styled "SUNDRY CREDITOR – RAR KEBBLE" on 15 March 2002[375]. This amount was again debited out of the account with a credit in the account styled "LOAN – P – HOSTPROPS"[376].

We were unable to verify if the credit to "LOAN – P – HOSTPROPS" relate to a specific debit in the account. The only possible related debit is R24 304 600 that was debited to the loan account during December 1999. We were however unable to obtain any supporting documentation in respect of this debit as this account seems to have survived the old accounting system at CMMS. The records of the old accounting system did not record any information in respect of a possible benefit that RAR Kebble might have received.

7.1.2.7 Summary of historical WAR share movement

The historical movement of the WAR shares, as discussed above, is summarised in this paragraph. We also compiled a schedule setting out the summary of the JCI Gold WAR shares and the WAL Share Incentive Trust and WAR shares respectively. The schedule also reflects a summary of the proceeds of the above shares.[377].

The aggregate of 2 003 280 WAR shares were transferred to the accounts of JCI Gold (472 380 WAR shares) and CMMS (1 530 900 WAR shares)[379].

According to a note made by Poole, RB Kebble also received the proceeds of the sale of 165 800 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust. The two separate transactions of 77 800 WAR shares and 88 000 WAR shares are included in our reconciliation[380].

RB Kebble was also the recipient of 330 000 WAR shares from the WAL Share Incentive Trust that was placed at Standard Bank, Bruma[381].

The 330 000 WAR shares that were placed at Standard Bank, Bruma, were placed with two separate certificates.

Beale requested Mercantile on 19 December 2000 to 'issue a Western Areas Limited share certificate for 285 000 ordinary shares, to be registered in the name of EDWIN W BALDERSON NOMINEES PTY LTD, PO BOX 61037, MARSHALLTOWN, 2107:[382]

In the letter, Beale recorded "at the request of Mr RB Kebble, I hereby attach a Western Areas Limited Certified Deed No. 1039/20357 "CM41" for 285 000 (two hundred & eighty five thousand) Western Areas Limited shares respectively, to be pledged to Standard Bank of SA Ltd, in terms of a banking facility for Mr RB Kebble". Beale further indicated that she will "deliver an original Western Areas Limited share certificate for 285 000 ordinary shares on Thursday 21 December 2000."[383]

The letter to Standard Bank recorded that it was received on 19 December 2000.

On 21 December 2000, Beale received the WAL share certificate number 20400 in the name of Edwin W Balderson Nominees (Pty) Limited, covering 285 000 WAR shares as requested. Beale recorded on the covering letter from Mercantile that "These shares have been pledged at Standard Bank, Bruma (Debbie Mostert) from RBK's WAL S.I.S allocation". The "WAL S.I.S" refers to the WAL Share Incentive Trust[384].

The WAL share certificate for the 285 000 WAR shares was forwarded to Standard Bank on 21 December 2000[385].

On 9 January 2001, an additional 45 000 WAR shares, covered with certificate number 19890, was delivered to Standard Bank, Bruma. This certificate was also in the name of Edwin W Balderson Nominees (Pty) Limited[386].

The proceeds of the WAR shares, sold in the Alibiprops account, were transferred to[387]:

- RB Kebble's Standard Bank account – R9 525 379.32;
- CMMS – R700 050.98; and
- WAL Share Incentive Trust – R11 522.22.

The proceeds of the WAR shares, sold in the Pilgrims Rest account, were transferred to[388]:

- Pilgrims Rest account – R1 264 201.82;
- FNB Tygerberg – R1 400 000.00; and
- Unknown recipients – R1 818 262.57.

We are aware that RB Kebble and Buitendag had an investment account at FNB Tygerberg, account number 62009609613. We obtained confirmation form the hard drive of Poole that other transfers were made to this account at FNB from the Pilgrims Rest Standard Bank account[389].

Therefore, the possibility that the R1 400 000.00, transferred from the Pilgrims Rest account at T-Sec to the FNB Tygerberg bank account during March 2001, was transferred to the investment account of RB Kebble and Buitendag cannot be excluded at this stage.

JCI Gold returned the aggregate of 2 983 163 WAR shares from their Computershare CSDP account to the WAL Share Incentive Trust account[390].

Trust in comparison of the shares transferred to Alibiprops, Pilgrims Rest, JCI Gold and CMMS[391].

Conclusion

In conclusion, we record three separate scenarios that should be considered in the assessment of the position regarding the WAL Share Incentive Trust transactions.

WAL take full responsibility for all shares sold by or on behalf of RB Kebble

If WAL take full responsibility for the shares that RB Kebble and related entities obtained from the WAL Share Incentive Trust, they received 979 883 WAR shares in excess from JCI that should be returned to JCI. In this regard we need to point out that we have seen no evidence indicating a contract between JCI, or its subsidiaries, and the WAL Share Incentive Trust, regarding an obligation on JCI, or its subsidiaries, to assume the obligation to replace shares appropriated from the WAL Share Incentive Trust[392].

JCI take full responsibility for all shares sold by or on behalf of RB Kebble

If JCI take full responsibility for the shares that RB Kebble and related entities obtained from the WAL Share Incentive Trust, they should give 202 917 WAR shares back to the WAL Share Incentive Trust[393].

WAL and JCI share responsibility

If JCI accepts the responsibility for the WAR shares that RB Kebble and related entities obtained from the WAL Share Incentive Trust, that they were not entitled to, and WAL accepts the responsibility for the WAR shares that RB Kebble was entitled to, then the WAL Share Incentive Trust should give 297 723 WAR shares back to JCI[394].

Summary of inflow of funds to RB Kebble's Standard Bank account

We were provided with summarised schedules in respect of the annual inflow of funds pertaining to RB Kebble's Standard Bank account for the calendar years, the overall figures being depicted in the table below:

Calendar year	Overall Inflow of funds R	Overall Outflow of funds R
2001	28 980 639.47	31 463 261.68

Cognisance should however be taken that we did not verify the accuracy of the said schedules and the figures quoted in the tables above. We accepted the information provided to us in the above said schedules at face value.

We note that there appears to have been an inflow into RB Kebble's Standard Bank account of at least R205 039 862 during the 2002 to 2004 calendar years, which as per the schedules prepared by the accountant of RB Kebble, may relate to sources described in this paragraph of the report, where proceeds of sales of shares were generated and some thereof transferred to the Standard Bank account of RB Kebble.

7.2 REC shares

7.2.1 Current position

We obtained a reconciliation of the JCI Limited group investment in REC on 31 March 2005 from Schalkwijk[395].

According to the reconciliation, the JCI Limited group held the aggregate of 10 384 581 REC shares as tabled below:

Shareholder	Shares
JCI Limited	4 283 276
CMC	1 254 276
CMMS	4 847 029
Total	10 384 581

Schalkwijk indicated in the reconciliation that the 10 384 581 REC shares were held as set out below for each of the shareholders reflected above.

7.2.1.1 CMC CSDP account 1800052847

In the CMC CSDP account number 1800052847, there were 600 000 REC shares on 31 March 2005[396]. This was also confirmed by Computershare in a letter dated 9 May 2005 to Charles Orbach & Company[397].

[395] Refer Exhibit 2.2.1
[396] Refer Exhibit 2.2.1

Computershare recorded in the letter that the 600 000 REC shares were pledged to Sasfin. Schalkwijk noted in her reconciliation that the shares were pledged to Sasfin "for JCI Debentures". Computershare also recorded that 20 216 REC shares were not pledged.

The aggregate of REC shares in the CMC CSDP account on 31 March 2005 was 620 216.

7.2.1.2 JCI CSDP account 1900010887

Schalkwijk's schedule reflected that 2 650 000 REC shares were pledged to Sasfin from the JCI CSDP account at Computershare "for JCI Debentures"[398]. Computershare confirmed in their letter to Charles Orbach & Company that the 2 650 000 REC shares were pledged to Sasfin[399].

In her schedule, Schalkwijk further recorded that 3 000 000 REC shares were held as security "for Letseng Diamonds Gernsey shares". Schalkwijk further recorded that the shares were held in terms of a "Scrip lending agreement between Equitant and JCI Limited".

We obtained the relevant directors' resolutions from JCI Limited and Equitant from the hard drive of Van Straaten's computer[400].

The resolution of JCI limited recorded that "the Company had entered into a Scrip Lending Agreement ("the Agreement") with Equitant whereby the Company had borrowed 3,000,000 (three million) ordinary shares in Randgold & Exploration Company Limited, Registration No. 1992/005642/06, from Equitant for the period from signature date to 30 April 2004 or pursuant to clause 7 of the Agreement". It was resolved that "the Company enters into the Scrip Lending Agreement referred to in the preamble above, in accordance with the terms and conditions contained in the Agreement"[401].

The Equitant resolution recorded the same information and resolved that they enter into the scrip lending agreement with JCI Limited for JCI Limited to borrow the 3 000 000 REC shares[402].

We further obtained a copy of the scrip lending agreement between Equitant and JCI Limited from the hard drive of Beale's computer[403]. The agreement recorded that JCI Limited borrowed the 3 000 000 REC shares from Equitant. The agreement obtained from Beale's computer, indicated that the agreement was signed on 27 November 2003 in Johannesburg.

7.2.1.3 CMMS T-Sec account 648410

The T-Sec statement for March 2005 reflected the balance of 168 465 REC shares held in the account[404]. Schalkwijk recorded in her schedule that the 168 465 REC shares were "Pledged for positions with Axon"[405].

In her schedule, Schalkwijk further recorded 3 945 900 REC shares as "Scrip returned by SASFIN but only recorded by T Sec on 6 April 2005"[406]. Schalkwijk provided us with a copy of a letter from Sasfin, dated 1 April 2005[407]. This letter was addressed to Computershare for the attention of Lowery.

Sasfin confirmed to Computershare that the 3 945 900 REC shares, pledged by JCI Limited to Sasfin, could be released[408].

7.2.2 The sale of REC shares issued to Masupatsela Angola

7.2.2.1 The transaction

On 21 June 2004, REC published a notice through its sponsoring broker, Sasfin Corporate Finance, captioned "Acquisition of various strategic prospecting licenses, mining licenses, and mining assets in Angola". The effective date of these transactions would have been 23 June 2004 and one of the acquisitions was described in the following manner[409]:

"-Masupatsela Angola Ventures (Pty) Limited ("Masupatsela") – a 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in the BIE province of central Angola from Masupatsela for the issue of 1 492 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share;"

It is apparent that Masupatsela Angola did not exist at the time as, on 7 July 2004, Beale advised Van Straaten that the name of Masupatsela Angola Ventures had to be reserved for a shelf company named and styled Cream Magenta 17 (Pty) Limited[410]. The directors were to be Dwafina Ongama Koyana and Jose Josiah Mashele, appointed on 28 May 2004.

Masupatsela Investment Holdings (Pty) Limited would be the shareholder of this company, the shares to have been issued on 28 May 2004. The company profile of this company, maintained at JCI Limited, recorded that these shares were only registered on 11 August 2004. It appears that Masupatasela Angola was still a shelf company when the above mentioned transaction was announced and Masupatsela Angola would have acquired the assets to be sold to REC.

On 18 June 2004, Beale certified an extract of a resolution of the directors of REC, recording a resolution to the effect that REC would issue 1 492 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC to Masupatsela Angola[411].

We found a document purporting to be a sale of mining rights agreement by and between Masupatsela Angola and REC. It appears that this document was signed by Dwafina Ongama Koyana, on behalf of Masupatsela Angola, and by Buitendag, on behalf of REC[412]. The document recorded an agreement between the parties to the effect that REC purchased from Masupatsela Angola a 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza alluvial diamond prospecting concession in Angola and that, as consideration for such, REC would issue to Masupatsela Angola some 1 492 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC. These shares had to be delivered to Masupatsela Angola within ten business days from the date upon which the contract was signed. The last page of the document reflected a signature date of 18 June 2004, in manuscript.

REC share certificate number 63350, dated 22 June 2004, was issued to Masupatsela Angola, recording that 1 492 000 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of REC was issued to Masupatsela Angola[413].

To the above mentioned certificate was attached a share transfer form, signed by an unknown person[414]. It refers to the above mentioned shares and, at section B thereof, was recorded the following with a date of 2 November 2004:

"Handed to P. Gray at T-Sec"

The signature on the share transfer form appears to resemble that of the person who signed the sale of mining rights agreement on behalf of Masupatsela Angola, referred to above, but we stress that we cannot conclude thereon as we are not experts in the analysis of disputed documents.

On 3 December 2004, Beale asked Steenkamp at T-Sec to prepare a letter of confirmation to Charles Orbach and Co, with the following wording[415]:

"We hereby declare that Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Limited received a Randgold & Exploration Company Limited share certificate from Trish Beale on 2 November 2004, registered in the name of Masupatsela Angola Mining Ventures (Pty) Limited for 1,492,000 shares."

and Beale further recorded the following:

"For your info I handed the certificate + signed CM42 to Chris Lamprecht, who then handed it to Peter Gray on 2 November, and the auditors require this info "sorry"."

According to Lamprecht, CMMS was required to increase the collateral of the facility at Socgen and he enquired from Buitendag which shares, if any, were available for such purposes. Buitendag then gave him the certificate referred to herein supra.

The T-Sec account statement for the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 for the month ended 26 November 2004, recorded the following sales of REC shares[416]:

Date	Number of shares	Proceeds R
08 November 2004	1 000 000	14 707 782.56
15 November 2004	110 800	1 579 208.65
16 November 2004	66 100	943 221.05
17 November 2004	30 700	437 617.79

Date	Number of shares	Proceeds R
19 November 2004	100 000	1 400 922.30
23 November 2004	80 300	1 014 743.32
Total	1 432 900	20 722 865.05

We have seen no evidence of a loan agreement having been entered into by and between CMMS, who sold the shares, and Masupatsela Angola.

7.2.2.2 Effect of the transaction

Depending on whether Dwafina Ongama Koyana signed the share transfer form or not, the use of the shares, issued to Masupatsela Angola, may or may not have been with the authority of Masupatsela Angola. Irrespective thereof, CMMS received the benefit of the shares. We saw no evidence of CMMS having assumed an obligation in respect of such benefit received.

7.2.2.3 Accounting entries

Journal 2163, processed on 26 November 2004, recording the transactions performed by T-Sec on that day, credited the sale of the REC shares, issued to Masupatsela Angola, to ledger account 171761-Shares-Randgold and Exploration and the debit was processed to CMMS ledger account number 211 450-Sundry Creditor/T-Sec/Consolidated Investments.

The above journal was processed in the relevant ledger account 211450[417], recording a reduction in the outstanding debt in respect of the treasury facility at Socgen, and in ledger account 171671[418], recording a reduction in REC shares.

Effective 31 March 2005, a journal was processed in account 171761, debiting the holding in REC shares and crediting investments. This seems erroneous in respect of a credit of some R20 722 865.05, processed on 26 November 2004, as such credit represents the shares of Masupatsela Angola, sold as set out herein.

8 The exposure of JCI Limited to REC in terms of RRL shares sold

8.1 Introduction

RRH was a wholly owned subsidiary of REC during the period September 2003 to August 2005. At the beginning of this period, RRH, we understand, held approximately 39% of the issued listed ordinary shares of RRL. These shares were listed on the Nasdaq stock exchange. Both REC and RRL were issuers of financial statements, regulated by the SEC. JCI Limited was a related party to REC with ordinary shares listed on the JSE. JCI Limited was an issuer of financial statements in South Africa. We found no evidence indicating that JCI Limited and its subsidiaries, particularly CMMS, owned any RRL shares.

Effectively, at 16 June 2004, the RRL shares were split to the effect that the holder of an RRL share would, after such date, hold two RRL shares for every one RRL share held prior to such date. For purposes of the split, two RRL shares were then worth the value of the pre split value prior to further trading. In this regard, the Form 20F in respect of RRL disclosed the following[419]:

"As of June 11, 2004, RRL effectuated a subdivision of its ordinary shares, which increased its issued share capital from 29,273,685 to 58,547,370 ordinary shares. In connection with this "share split", RRL's ordinary shareholders of record on June 11, 2004 received two additional $0.05 ordinary shares for every one $0.10 ordinary share they held. Following the share split, each shareholder held the same percentage interest in RRL, however, the trading price of each share was adjusted to reflect the share split. ADR holders were affected the same way as shareholders and the ADR ratio remained 1 ADR to 1 ordinary share."

RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and Buitendag were directors of JCI Limited, REC and RRH during the above referred to period. Poole appears to have been the company secretary of JCI Limited and REC.

During the above mentioned period, significant numbers of RRL shares were sold for an aggregated amount of some R1.016 billion at the time. These transactions were all facilitated by T-Sec and Investec UK. (The mechanics of these sales are the subject of an investigation performed by Umbono Forensics and are not dealt with herein in so far as it is not necessary to do so).

In this section we set out such evidence that we could find, indicating the nature and extent of the obligations arising from the aforementioned sale of RRL shares, the identity of the party(ies) on whom the obligations rests and the manner in which the obligations were disclosed.

8.2 RRL shares sold

The RRL shares sales were effected by means of the following three transactions:

- Sales of RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 and the CMMS trading account number 660415 at T-Sec;
- Sales of RRL shares in terms of a funding arrangement between JCI Limited and Investec UK; and
- Sales of RRL shares in what we refer to as the Alibiprops transaction, ie RRL shares sold in the trading account named and styled "Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited" with T-Sec trading account number 669465.

The following sales of RRL shares were achieved in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec:

- During the period 25 September 2003 to 21 November 2003, 575 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R92 595 105.66 in cash[420];
- During the period 7 April 2004 to 15 June 2004, 1 550 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R191 536 496.00 in cash[421]; and
- During the period 16 June 2004 to 19 August 2005, 5 000 000 RRL shares were sold, raising R379 298 824.00 in cash[422].

The proceeds of these sales were credited to the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec[423].

On 12 February 2004, 31 000 RRL shares were sold out of the CMMS trading account at T-Sec, raising some R4 608 150 in cash[424]. The proceeds of this transaction were credited to the said trading account of CMMS at T-Sec[425].

The following sales of RRL shares were achieved by Investec UK in terms of the funding transaction between Investec UK and JCI Limited (The cash amounts, generated from the sales of these shares and, which were made available to JCI Limited, do not include R13 180 704.00, paid to Investec UK in the form of an option fee due in terms of the funding arrangement):

- On 19 March 2004, 811 265 RRL shares were sold, raising some R61 659 083.64[426]. Buitendag and Stratton instructed Investec UK to pay this amount directly to Socgen Johannesburg Branch, Swift code SOGEZAJJXXX, SARBZAJ2 for the account of T-SEC on behalf of JCI Limited[427];
- On 26 March 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R68 352 825.12[428]. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account number 5049 181 2176 of CMMS at FNB[429].
- On 7 April 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R71 220 894.46[430]. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account number 01389620307 of Investec at ABSA[431]; and
- On 7 April 2004, 98 426 RRL shares were sold, raising some R7 544 887.41[432]. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account number 01389620307 of Investec at ABSA[433].

Over and above the above referred to transactions, a transaction, generally referred to as the Alibiprops transaction, was performed during the period 17 November 2003 to 30 March 2004. In terms hereof, 1 389 000 RRL shares were sold by T-Sec in the Alibiprops trading account number 669 465 at T-Sec (It is our understanding that Umbono Forensics has investigated the authority of REC for these transactions and whether these transactions were in the interest of REC). Initially, these transactions appear to have been treated in the books of CMMS as a loan of RRL shares from REC, which were on lent to Alibiprops. These entries were however reversed in the books of CMMS. However, it is evident that, of the proceeds of some R202 168 144, generated from the sale of these shares, R139 484 675 was paid to or on behalf of CMMS and its fellow subsidiaries[434]. It thus follows that CMMS and its fellow subsidiaries benefited from the proceeds of some 958 326 RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction. Depending on the nature of the transaction underlying the sale of such RRL shares in the Alibiprops transaction, CMMS and its fellow subsidiaries appear to either have an obligation to return 1 916 652 RRL shares (due thereto that the Alibiprops transaction was performed prior to the split of the RRL shares) to RRH, in addition to those mentioned above, or to repay the monetary benefit obtained. This aspect would be determined with reference to the nature of the Alibiprops transaction, dealt with infra and would mainly depend on whether the facts indicate that Alibiprops was a party acting independently from CMMS in appropriating RRL shares from RRH and then lent an amount of money to CMMS, or not.

The result of the above mentioned transactions can thus be summarised as follows in the table below:

Transaction	Period	Number of shares sold	Amount of proceeds R
CMMS	12 February 2004	31 000	4 608 150.00
Consolidated Investments	25 September 2003 – 21 November 2003	575 000	92 595 105.66
Consolidated Investments	7 April 2004 - 15 June 2004	1 550 000	191 536 496.00
Consolidated Investments	16 June 2004 - 19 August 2005	5 000 000	379 298 824.82

Investec UK	7 April 2004	909 692	71 220 894.46
Investec UK	7 April 2004	98 426	7 544 887.41
Alibiprops	8 January 2004 – 30 March 2004	958 322	139 484 675.00
Total	25 September 2003 - 19 August 2005	10 843 397	1 016 300 942.11

8.3 The current effect of the transaction subsequent to the split in RRL shares

Assuming that the RRL shares sold, as set out above, had to be returned to RRH (we deal with this issue below), the amount of RRL shares, which would have to be returned to RRH, can be calculated as set out in the table below, providing for the effective split in the RRL shares at 16 June 2004:

Transaction	Period	Number of shares sold	Number of shares to be returned
CMMS	12 February 2004	31 000	62 000
Consolidated Investments	25 September 2003 - 21 November 2003	575 000	1 150 000
Consolidated Investments	7 April 2004-15 June 2004	1 550 000	3 100 000
Consolidated Investments	16 June 2004-19 August 2005	5 000 000	5 000 000
Investec UK	19 March 2004	811 265	1 622 530
Investec UK	26 March 2004	909 692	1 819 384
Investec UK	7 April 2004	909 692	1 819 384
Investec UK	7 April 2004	98 426	196 852
Alibiprops	8 January 2004 - 30 March 2004	958 322	1 916 644
Total	25 September 2003-19 August 2005	10 843 397	16 686 794

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Assuming a share price of USD17 for RRL shares and a Rand/USD exchange rate of some R6.38, an amount of R1 809 849 677.24 would then have been required to fund the return of the RRL shares sold to RRH[435]. This includes the effect of the shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction which, depending on the construction afforded the transaction, would account for either R207 879 208.24 or R139 484 675.00 in this balance.

8.4 The facts relating to the sale of RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments account

The Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 and the CMMS trading account number 660415 at T-Sec were used for purposes of trading in listed shares on behalf of CMMS. It is evident from the evidence, referred to at 8.2 supra, that the RRL shares were traded in these accounts and that the proceeds of the sales of such RRL shares were applied towards CMMS as explained infra. It thus follows that, given the fact that CMMS did not own RRL shares, some relationship must have existed in terms whereof CMMS obtained the right to sell the RRL shares and use the proceeds of such transactions.

8.4.1 The Bookmark transaction

The primary documents, which were drafted in order to represent this issue, comprised the following, although we have been advised that they may not have reflected the correct state of affairs:

- A resolution by the directors of Bookmark, dated 1 February 2004;
- A document purporting to be a scrip lending agreement between RRH and Bookmark, dated 6 February 2004; and
- A letter, on a Bookmark letterhead, signed by Rasethaba and dated 31 March 2005, in which Rasethaba confirms the obligation of Bookmark to RRH to return RRL shares to RRH.

The first mentioned document purports to be a resolution of the directors of Bookmark, signed on 1 February 2004 by Rasethaba, ME Mkwanazi and T Mosololi and having as its affect a decision by Bookmark to enter into a scrip lending agreement with RRH for borrowing from RRH some 5 000 000 RRL shares[436].

This document then refers to a document, purporting to be a scrip lending agreement by and between RRH, on the one part, and Bookmark, on the other part, signed on 6 February 2004 by Buitendag, on behalf of the former, and Rasethaba, on behalf of the latter. The agreement is simple to the extent that it achieves the borrowing by Bookmark of some 7 000 000 RRL shares from RRH, to be returned at 30 May 2006, or upon a termination notice being issued by RRH. It appears that the RRL shares were to be lent to Bookmark for purposes of Bookmark funding the purchase of approximately 19 000 000 million WAR shares from Anglo[437].

We found the soft copies of the above referred to documents amongst the documents imaged electronically. One set, bearing the date 2004 in the signature clauses and in other dating clauses, were sent to Griffiths on 18 April 2005. This e-mail reads as follows[438]:

The documents, attached to this e-mail, are the resolution of Bookmark and the scrip lending agreement referred to above. We found the electronic properties of these documents, which recorded the following information regarding the creation of the document:

It is apparent from the information, recorded in the properties, that the document was last saved by Beale on 18 March 2005 at 09h55:00 and, as per the e-mail header, then sent to Griffiths on 18 April 2005 at 16h24:41. We found another electronic copy of the above referred to agreement. The properties of this document, which was revision 16 of the said document, indicated that the author of the document was "MWelsfor" of the company "Western Areas Limited". The document was created on 14 March 2005 at 10h07:00, was printed on 15 March 2005 at 15h34:04 and modified by "tbeale" on 18 March 2005 at 12h34:00 after a total editing time of some 90 minutes.

Beale's e-mail of 18 April 2005 to Griffiths records that, on his and RB Kebble's instructions, she has attached the scrip lending agreement in accordance with a covering letter of Bookmark, dated 31 March 2005. We found the hard copy of such letter, attached to which was found a copy of the relevant scrip lending agreement, which must have been so attached after 31 March 2005 as, according to Beale's e-mail, she sent the draft of the agreement to Griffiths, it having being drafted in accordance with the Bookmark letter of 31 March 2005. This letter, appearing to have been signed by Rasethaba, recorded the following[439]:

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

"I hereby confirm on behalf of the board of Directors of Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Limited ("Bookmark"), that Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited has loaned Bookmark a total of 9,890,500 Randgold Resources Limited shares as at 31 December 2004, and refer to the attached Scrip Lending Agreement dated 6 February 2004."

We found the electronic copy of this document amongst the documents imaged by us[440]. The properties of this document recorded that it was authored by "29538" of the company "JCI". The document was created on 31 March 2005 at 12h56:10, was modified on 31 March 2005 at 14h27:53 and was printed on the same day at 13h22:00. The document comprised the fourth version thereof and was last saved by "tbeale" after a total editing time of some 34 minutes.

From the above it is evident that the scrip lending agreement and the relevant resolutions of Bookmark and RRH were created during March 2005. These documents were already, at the time of creation and modification, electronically dated for the year 2004. The letter by Bookmark was created on 31 March 2005. The scrip lending agreement and resolutions were sent to Griffiths on 18 April 2005. These documents thus appear not to have existed at 6 February 2004 and appear to have been backdated when they were signed. It is thus evident that these documents were made during 2005 and backdated to make it appear that the ostensible agreement, recorded therein, already existed in writing on 6 February 2004. It is clear that it did not.

As the agreement documents have been backdated, the question arises of what, if any, agreement existed between RRH and Bookmark regarding the disposition of the RRL shares, at least prior to March 2005.

We refer firstly to the confirmation letter by Rasethaba on 31 March 2005. This letter was clearly written to serve as a confirmation of debt to RRH due to the financial year end of REC being in December 2004. The letter recorded that 9 890 000 RRL shares have been lent to Bookmark as at 31 December 2004. This seems wrong as only 4 843 000 shares were sold by T-Sec as at 31 December 2004. If one calculates the post split obligation to return the RRL shares to RRH as at 31 December, then 8 388 000 shares had to be returned, again not agreeing to the confirmation set out in the letter. The number of shares lent, recorded in this letter, does not agree to the number of RRL shares to be lent in terms of the ostensible scrip lending agreement, being seven million.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

In the second instance, we refer to the following aspects of the scrip lending agreement that do not reflect what actually happened, given the fact that the document, embodying the ostensible agreement between RRH and Bookmark, were compiled during March 2005, after the fact, and when it would be reasonable to expect that it recorded events accurately:

- Clauses 1.3.9 and 1.3.10 of the document refer to 7 000 000 RRL shares being lent. Not only does this not agree with the 9 890 000 RRL shares, referred to in Rasethaba's letter, but it does not accord with any of the sales of RRL shares identified by us;
- Clause 3.2 of the document, read with clause 1.13.10 of the document, indicates that, prior to 6 February 2004, 2 000 000 RRL shares were lent to Bookmark. We could not identify these shares as part of the sales or transfers effected by T-Sec;
- Clause 4.2 seems to indicate that RRH would deliver the RRL shares to Bookmark as detailed in a borrowing notice from time to time, with the appropriate executed instruments to evidence the transfer of the securities. We have seen no evidence hereof in respect of the RRL shares referred to herein before and detailed in the tables above. In fact, in a statement, made to Tabacks Inc, Poole indicated that he received an envelope containing ten to twelve RRL share certificates, reflecting the existence of one million RRL shares each. Apparently, RB Kebble told him to keep these certificates safe until Poole was instructed to hand them to T-Sec, who would sell the shares in order to raise cash for JCI Limited and REC. This course of action does not agree with that which is recorded in the ostensible agreement between RRH and Bookmark; and
- The ostensible agreement with Bookmark does not explain why CMMS received the proceeds of the RRL shares sold.

Based upon the above mentioned facts, it appears that the ostensible agreement, recorded in the document purporting to be an agreement between RRH and Bookmark, and the letter of Rasethaba, dated 31 March 2005, is not a reflection of the transactions described at 8.2 and 8.3 supra. It does however not mean that these documents are not relevant to those transactions, but such relevance is examined hereunder at 8.8 infra.

8.4.2 The JCI Limited and Alibiprops draft contracts

It then remains to be determined what contract underpinned the transactions set out at 8.2 supra and who would be liable for the obligations set out at 8.3 supra.

The first indications of what these transactions were comprised of can be found in an e-mail to Steenkamp, which reads as follows[441]:

"----Original Message----

Hi Leonard

Thanks for this. Please also note that we need the board resolutions and letter as follows:

An official letter from Randgold Resources Limited (the local beneficial owners) confirming that the shares may be pledged to Societe Generale Johannesburg Branch as collateral for securities lending transactions entered into by Tsec. Note that the nominal value of the shares to be pledged must be stipulated.

A Board resolution from Randgold authorising the pledge and the official/s to issue the required letter."

We furthermore had sight of an e-mail of Beale, dated 11 February 2005, in which she refers to a number of attached draft agreements, dealing with the RRL shares. This e-mail reads as follows:[442]

Dear Brett, John, Hennie and George

I've attached draft agreements for your urgent comments, and Fulbright have requested that the 13G be faxed to them over the weekend so they can start preparing it (into the format required by SEC). They have also requested that John Berry should view the status of the RRL shares due to him being the legal representative for Randgold - I have not handed any documentation to John, and will only do so on the instruction from you.

The documents attached are as follows:

1st attachment - Schedule 13G completed last year for reference purposes.

2nd attachment - letter from Fulbright.

3rd attachment - URGENT - Schedule 13G for completion by Monday morning, 14/2.

4th attached agreement - these shares were sold in Consolidated Investments i.e. 3,638,000?

5th attached agreement - in possession of SG's statement for the 6,467,500 shares. In the 5th agreement I've added the 134,500 (shares sold) as Chris Lampbrecht requested so the total in the agreement is 6,602,000?

6th attached agreement - in possession of Investec's confirmations for 5,458,148 (our schedule 5,476,898 diff 18,750)?

7th attached agreement - shares sold by Alibiprops - 2,946,000?

I have not prepared a draft agreement for the 1,000,000 shares held by Paul Main - I require dates and will this agreement be between RR(H) and JCI (who lent to Paul Main)?

Please get back to me a.s.a.p.

In summary, these draft agreements purport to effect the following transactions:

- The scrip lending of 15 716 898 RRL shares by RRH to JCI Limited; and
- The scrip lending of 2 946 000 RRL shares by RRH to Alibiprops.

We were not able to agree these ostensible numbers of RRL shares lent with those actually sold in the Consolidated Investments and CMMS accounts, held at T-Sec, and those sold in the Alibiprops account at T-Sec, respectively. In this regard, these draft agreements do not reflect the reality of what transpired. However, these draft agreements more accurately reflect the parties who benefited from the sale of RRH's RRL shares, to wit JCI Limited (although CMMS, as subsidiary of JCI Limited, benefited directly from the sales of RRL shares) and Alibiprops with CMMS also benefiting indirectly from the sale of RRL shares in the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec. We also found no evidence that these draft agreements actually existed in hard copy format, signed by or on behalf of the parties recorded on them.

Hence, we conclude as follows in respect of the documents, purporting to establish lending agreements relating to the RRL shares sold, as indicated above:

- The document, purporting to be a transaction between REC and Bookmark, is signed in hard copy format, but does not resemble the actual transactions that have taken place and can thus not be an agreement underlying such transactions; and

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- The documents, purporting to create rights and obligations between REC, on the one part, and JCI Limited and Alibiprops, on the other parts, appear to never have been signed by the parties as agreements, although resembling the actual transactions more closely.

It is thus evident that the transactions, referred to at 8.2 supra, were not underpinned by documented scrip lending agreements.

Given the above findings, we then considered the evidence available, indicating:

- The nature and extent of the decisions of REC and JCI Limited regarding the sale of the RRL shares, particularly to determine the consent, if any, given by REC for the sale of the shares as indicated at 8.2 supra; and
- The intention of the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra, in order to understand the basis of the transaction.

8.4.3 The nature and extent of authority for the transactions

A perusal of the REC and JCI Limited directors' meetings minute books indicated a process whereby decisions were taken on a round robin basis, then recorded in resolutions, which were pasted into the minute books. At the following meeting of the directors, these round robin decisions were presented to the directors and ratified, or not. These round robin decisions and the acts of ratification were then also recorded in the relevant minutes of the meeting. We perused the directors' meetings minute books of RRH, CMMS, REC and JCI Limited, as well as the soft copy documents recorded on the JCI Limited server and could find no resolution of the directors of REC and JCI Limited, authorising the use of RRL shares of RRH in the manner set out at 8.2 supra. The only mention of the sale of RRL shares were found in the following documents:

- The minutes of a meeting of the directors of REC, held on 5 June 2003, indicated some sort of decision towards the disposal of some 500 000 RRL shares for purposes of settling REC's obligations towards ABSA. Mention was also made that, upon condition of RRL being accepted on the FTSE250 index at 11 June 2003, REC could sell RRL shares to rejuvenate REC. RAR Kebble was authorised to instruct brokers to sell up to one million RRL shares for such purposes. It was also mentioned that it was planned to reduce REC's investment in RRL to a holding of 36% of the issued shares of RRL on a controlled basis. This meeting was attended by RAR Kebble, G Fischer, Buitendag, D Ashworth and other officers and invitees of REC[444];

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- The minutes of a JCI Limited executive committee meeting, held on 25 June 2003, recorded that one million RRL shares were sold. This meeting was attended by RB Kebble, VG Bray, Lamprecht, Poole, S Tainton, L Visagie, GP Wanblad, K Eboral and Beale[445];
- A document was found in soft copy on the JCI Limited server, which purports to be a resolution of REC's directors on 1 August 2005 and authorising RB Kebble and Buitendag to sign all documents necessary for purposes of converting two million RRL shares to American Depository Receipts. We could not relate this ostensible decision to the transactions referred to at 8.2 supra. This document was furthermore not located as a signed document in the minute book of the REC directors' minutes[446];
- A further document was found in soft copy on the JCI Limited server, which purports to be a resolution of REC's directors on 13 May 2005 and authorising RB Kebble to sign all documents necessary for purposes of selling RRL shares owned by RRH and to dispose of the proceeds thereof[447]. This document was not found in signed hard copy format in the REC directors' minute book. Of import is the fact that a document of this nature had to be made effective 13 May 2005, indicating the absence of authority to RB Kebble to sell the RRL shares prior to that date. In this regard we refer to the statement of Poole to Tabacks Inc, in which he alleges that RB Kebble instructed him on the manner and extent of RRL shares to be sold;
- A draft minute of a meeting of the directors of REC, held at 18 November 2003 (We were informed that this minute was never signed and we could not find a signed copy thereof in the directors' minute book of REC), recorded that RB Kebble was granted a mandate by the directors of REC to settle the corporate loans and scrip lending arrangements of REC, and to settle the terms thereof[448]. The relevant submission document to this meeting of the REC directors however only referred to loans and scrip lending involving concerns named and styled Notable Holdings, Kemonshey Holdings, Continental Goldfields, a loan of R30 million to JCI Limited and a loan of some R11 million to CMMS[449]. The transactions, mentioned at 8.2 supra, were not recorded in this submission document. The relevant portion of the meeting, electronically recorded, was transcribed by company secretarial staff of REC and also did not disclose any mention of the transactions, mentioned at 8.2 supra, being included amongst those which RB Kebble was mandated to settle[450]; and

- A document, purporting to be a resolution of the directors of RRH, authorising the lending of 5 million RRL shares to Bookmark by RRH, was located. This document appears to have been signed by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and Buitendag on 1 February 2004[451]. We could not locate the electronic copy of this document amongst the documents maintained on the server at JCI Limited and, hence, could not study the properties of the document to obtain an understanding of the time and circumstances of it being made. It however clearly serves as a form of evidence of the authority for the Bookmark contract, dealt with supra. As the Bookmark contract does not resemble the transactions, mentioned at 8.2 supra, it follows logically that this resolution, whether a valid document of RRH or not, is irrelevant to the question whether the transactions, referred to at 8.2 supra, have been approved by RRH.

We have furthermore had sight of a document indicating that G Miller, an erstwhile director of REC, did not know the status of REC's investment in RRL shares. In this regard, we found a memorandum of G Miller addressed to B Madumise, another director of REC, on 28 February 2005, in which he raised reservations about REC's ownership of RRL shares, based upon the contents of press reports[452]. This seems to indicate that G Miller, as a REC director, was not even aware that the RRL shares were sold, as indicated at 8.2 supra.

8.4.4 The evidence indicating the intent and purpose of the transactions

In determining the intent and purpose of the transactions at 8.2 supra, we had regard to the following evidence:

- The statement made by Poole to Tabacks Inc;
- Correspondence with T-Sec during July 2004;
- The actual application of the funds generated from the sale of RRL shares;
- The content and context of the draft agreements between REC, on the one part, and JCI Limited and Alibiprops, on the other parts;
- The various explanations for the transactions by RB Kebble;
- The nature and effect of the ostensible Bookmark contract on the transactions set out at 8.2 supra; and
- The identity of the parties who assumed the benefits and risks in such transactions.

At paragraph five of Poole's recorded statement to Tabacks Inc, he indicated that the RRL shares sales were instructed by RB Kebble on the basis that it was necessary to raise cash for JCI Limited and REC, so that these two companies could fund certain investments[453]. This report is not concerned with REC, which has been subject to an investigation by Umbono Forensics. It is not quite clear in what manner JCI Limited would have been funded, according to the statement of Poole, as he also mentioned that the proceeds of the sale of RRL shares had to be paid to other companies, which he was responsible for establishing in a manner that they could not be related to JCI Limited. This suggests that there was a covert intent in respect of the sale of the RRL shares.

On 1 July 2005, Steenkamp addressed an e-mail to Lamprecht in which he requested information regarding the application of the RRL shares. It appears from this e-mail that approximately R425 million of the proceeds of the sale of RRL shares were pledged to Socgen, who provided a funding facility to JCI Limited.

The contents of the e-mail suggests that the proceeds were used to fund JCI Limited in following its rights in respect of a WAR rights issue and to fund an empowerment transaction[454]. Again, on 1 July 2004, one Johan Ras of Axon forwarded an e-mail to Steenkamp in which he requested a letter from RRH to the effect that the RRL shares could be pledged to Socgen as collateral for securities lending transactions by T-Sec[455]. This aspect, being the use of the RRL shares as collateral for securities lending transactions, was further mentioned in an e-mail from one Hugh Soellaart of Socgen to, amongst others, Gray and Steenkamp, on 6 July 2004, in which Hugh Soellaart indicated that the RRL shares were used for collateral[456]. Such treasury activities were performed by CMMS.

We have performed a detailed analysis of the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec[457]. The nature and extent of the transactions in this account indicate that T-Sec delivered a treasury function to CMMS by mainly trading in securities on behalf of CMMS. An analysis of the above mentioned trading account indicated that the trading account was used as part of the Treasury function perfomed by T-Sec and that the sales of RRL shares made a significant contributyion to the funds generated by CMMS on the Consolidasted Investments trading account at T-Sec[458]:

From the above it is evident that the proceeds of the RRL shares were confused with the proceeds of other trading activities and cash receipts and hence, became part of the treasury activity of CMMS at T-Sec. The same is not true in respect of the RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction, as R139 million of the proceeds of such sales were transferred in cash to or on behalf of CMMS.

In order to assess the content and context of the draft agreements of loan between RRH, on the one part, and JCI Limited and Alibiprops, on the other parts, it is necessary to consider the circumstances prevailing at approximately January to March 2005. REC's financial year end was December, hence audited financial statements had to be prepared at that time. Furthermore, REC, being an SEC issuer, also had to issue returns in terms of SEC rules. The financial year end of JCI Limited was March, hence audited financial statements for JCI Limited would have had to be drafted in due course. That the nature and extent of the transactions at 8.2 supra were not yet recorded, is evident from an e-mail of Oosthuizen, on 19 January 2005, to amongst others, Lamprecht, Beale and Buitendag, in which she indicated that information regarding the 18 358 000 shares in RRL, recorded in the records of REC, was required in order for her to complete the financial statements of REC[459]. By this time, RRH held significantly less RRL shares due to the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra, but which was apparently not known to the financial manager of REC at that time.

On 11 February 2005, Lamprecht forwarded an e-mail, to which was attached a reconciliation of the RRL shares sold, to Beale, with an instruction to forward same to RB Kebble and Buitendag for purposes of finalisation[460]. We accessed the properties of the attached schedule, which indicated that the schedule was created on 29 April 2004 by a person identified as "tn". We have established that "tn" refers to Thelma Nell, an employee of T-Sec. On the same day, Beale forwarded this document to Poole with the following message:

"Attached is the dreaded RRL share schedule and please speak to Brett about Note 6 for me. I think, the bottom line is we are in a "bit" of trouble with the SEC, Reserve Bank, and RG&E shareholders because even the shares held with Socgen, BJM and Investec (11,944,398) are not beneficially held in terms of the SEC.

Do you have the company doc's on Alibiprops, and if so, please fax me a copy of the CM29? (If Barry is still on I must Back-date and get him off immediately)"

The abovementioned e-mail of Beale was sent at 17h18. Some two hours later, at 19h46, Beale forwarded a further e-mail, to which was attached the draft JCI Limited and Alibiprops scrip lending agreements. Whilst the e-mail was sent to Poole and Stratton, the contents thereof were addressed to RB Kebble, Stratton, Buitendag and Poole, particularly to review the draft agreements attached. We have indicated supra that these agreements were drafted at around 14h00 to 15h00 on 11 February 2005, and probably based upon the content of the RRL share reconciliation sent to Beale by Lamprecht at 09h16 on 11 February 2005 and her understanding that RRH no longer held shares, as per her e-mail at 17h18 to Poole on 11 February 2005, hence the fact that she drafted these agreements indicating that JCI Limited and Alibiprops owed the shares to RRH. As such, it follows that the transactions, reflected in the reconciliation of the RRL shares, were not loans agreed to by the companies concerned, but something that Beale thought they ought to have been. As it turned out, these agreements never materialised and appear to have been discarded in favour of an ostensible agreement between Bookmark and RRH. The effect hereof is that it can be inferred that the parties, who signed the Bookmark agreement on behalf of RRH and those parties to whom the JCI Limited and Alibiprops agreements were sent, did not intend to commit JCI Limited and Alibiprops to obligations towards RRH to return the RRL shares sold as per the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra. The treatment afforded these draft agreements, prepared by Beale, thus does not agree with the notion that JCI Limited and Alibiprops were borrowing RRL shares from RRH, otherwise it could logically be expected that such drafts would have been signed.

It then remains to consider why the authors of the Bookmark transaction and the persons to whom the JCI Limited and Alibiprops draft agreements were forwarded to did not sign these agreements. If these agreements were signed, they would have founded the basis upon which RRH, and ultimately REC, would have had to record an asset, being a claim against JCI Limited, or more particularly, CMMS and Alibiprops for the return of the RRL shares. Similarly, CMMS would have had to record an obligation to return the RRL shares to REC. As it turned out, the Bookmark contract provided a basis for the recording of Bookmark as the debtor in the books of RRH, and ultimately REC. That would have had the following implications:

- CMMS would not recognise REC as a creditor in its books and financial statements;
- The fact that CMMS used the RRL shares of RRH may not have been disclosed; and

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- The nature and extent of the relationship between CMMS and Alibiprops, on the one part, and REC and RRH, on the other part, may well not have been disclosed in the financial statements of JCI Limited and REC.

These facts are indicative of the following elements of the relationship between JCI Limited and REC as a result of the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra:

- JCI Limited used the resources of RRH for its own benefit; and
- The executors of the transactions did not want to disclose such fact.

In this regard, cognisance should also be taken of the relationship between CMMS and Masupatsela, on the one part, and REC and Masupatsela on the other part. As discussed at section 10.20 infra, Masupatsela has been this set up to provide a solution regarding disclosure of the related parties transactions of JCI Limited and REC.

Prior to July 2005, documentation indicating evidence of an explanation by RB Kebble for the transactions, set out at 8.2 supra, was not found. The first evidence thereof was found in a document maintained on the JCI Limited servers (we found no hard copy thereof) and comprises a letter from RB Kebble to Bristow at RRL. It is instructive that this document was drafted subsequent to the signing of the ostensible contract by and between RRH and Bookmark. This letter, which appears to have been faxed to Bristow, reads inter alia as follows[461]:

"During 2004, Bookmark Holdings Limited borrowed 9.9 million shares in RRL from RG&E in order to assist Bookmark in financing the purchase from Anglo American of 19 million shares in Western Areas Limited. The purchase of these shares was undertaken by the Inkwenkwezi Consortium headed by Mafika Mkwanazi and Inkwenkwezi borrowed money from Bookmark – also headed by Mafika Mkwanazi – to pay for the shares. Bookmark sold the RRL shares into the market and has arrangements with its financiers to be able to repurchase certain shares at various levels. 5.4 million of these shares were put in a structure with Investec where funds were advanced by Investec in exchange for the granting of put and call options. The RRL shares are due to be returned to RG&E by Bookmark in June 2006."

In assessing the contents of this letter, we found that:

[461] Refer Exhibit 3.26

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- Bookmark did not borrow any shares from REC and it is clear that this statement was modelled upon the contents of the ostensible agreement made between Bookmark and RRH;
- We could not reconcile the 9.9 million shares sold by Bookmark as indicated here by RB Kebble;
- The shares were not sold by Bookmark;
- This does not explain the shares sold in the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec;
- The Investec structure, as is clear infra, did not entail the sale of 5.4 million RRL shares; and
- We are unaware of any facility in place by Bookmark for the return of the RRL shares. We could not find any evidence of anybody having any facility in place for the return of the RRL shares.

The second document, which we found, was also recorded in soft copy format on the JCI Limited server. This document was also addressed to Bristow of RRL and reads inter alia as follows[462]:

"RG&E mandated Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Limited to enter into fund raising arrangements with various institutions, most notably Investec and Societe Generale. RG&E has used the 11.9 million RRL shares as collateral for such fund raising in respect of which approximately R500 million has been raised over a period of time."

and further:

"The terms of the financing arrangements are that RG&E retains the beneficial and commercial risks in an to the RRL shares collateralised for the duration of the agreements and upon repayment of the facilities RG&E is entitled to redelivery of the RRL shares concerned..."

This contradicts the contents of the first mentioned letter, but an important aspect found in this document is that RB Kebble does not make any mention of the shares being lent to anybody, but creates the impression that the shares were used for the benefit of REC, i.e. to collateralise its fund raising activities.

[462] Refer Exhibit 3.27

This letter seems to convey an intention of covertness to the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra, as the shares were clearly used for the funding activity of CMMS and not REC, as this letter seems to suggest. This statement of RB Kebble conveys a message that REC benefited from the application of the RRL shares, whilst we could not find evidence of such, as indicated hereunder.

The third document found, comprises the text of a posting by Moneyweb on 8 July 2005, found amongst the e-mails recorded on the JCI Limited server. The gist of the contents of this document is that the RRL shares were lent to Bookmark.

That then raises the question of the nature and implications of the ostensible Bookmark contract, particularly as RB Kebble relied thereon in his explanations of the transactions. As we indicated supra, the contents of this document do not reflect the reality of the transactions, mentioned at 8.2 supra. This finding was put to Rasethaba during consultation and he agreed therewith. He indicated that he was approached by RB Kebble, who indicated to him that a problem existed and that he was asked to assist with such problem by signing the Bookmark contract. It is evident, given the circumstances set out at the outset of this section, that such problem comprised the manner in which the transactions, set out at 8.2 supra, had to be disclosed by REC as at 31 December 2005, and would have had to be disclosed by JCI Limited as at 31 March 2005. Evidence to this effect was found in a document, named and styled a "Proposed NASDAQ Script", attached to an e-mail of Scott R Saks, of Paul Hastings, the US counsel who represented REC at the SEC, on 11 August 2005. This scrip recorded the reasons for the failure of REC to file its Form 20-F timeously with the SEC and reads inter alia as follows[463]:

"In the course of obtaining the information with respect to Randgold's investment in Randgold Resources Limited and its other investments, Randgold discovered a number of accounting issues which have adversely affected completing the audited South African GAAP annual financial statements, which are required prior to the completion of its audited U.S. GAAP annual financial statements to be included in the FORM 20-F."

The script then goes on to refer to the Bookmark contract and the difficulties in deciding how to disclose REC's investment in RRL as a primary issue in the difficulties experienced. It is evident that, had it not being for the Bookmark contract, REC would have had to disclose CMMS and Alibiprops as a debtor.

[463] Refer Exhibit 3.28

Since the Bookmark contract does not reflect the actual transactions and has as its intent and effect that CMMS was covered against the disclosing of CMMS as the debtor, the Bookmark contract does not seem to have created actual substantive rights and obligations. Its intent and purpose goes no further than to have created a document for audit purposes.

In determining the identity of the parties, who assumed the benefit and the risk in the transactions, it is firstly necessary to draw a distinction between benefit and risk transferring, due to it being agreed in that manner, and benefit and risk transferring, due to it actually happening. In the first instance, the ostensible Bookmark agreement attempts to transfer the risk in the sold RRL shares to Bookmark. We indicated above our reservations in respect of the authenticity of the Bookmark contract. More importantly, Bookmark never received the benefit of the RRL shares having being sold, a fact that significantly militates against the notion that the Bookmark contract can be maintained as indicative of identifying the party who received the benefits and risks of the sale of the RRL shares. However, during the period April to August 2005, a number of agreements came into being, which had as their objective to create obligations on JCI Limited in respect of the Bookmark contract. These were the following:

- A document, purporting to be a resolution by the directors of JCI Gold and apparently signed by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag and Stratton, recorded that the directors of JCI Gold agreed that JCI Gold would pledge the reversionary rights in certain 8 463 501 WAR shares, at that stage already pledged to the IDC, to REC as security for the obligations of Bookmark in terms of the Bookmark contract[464]. This apparent resolution appears to have been dated 6 July 2005. A further document, captioned "Pledge of Reversionary Rights", was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Gold, and by Rasethaba, on behalf of Bookmark, apparently on 26 April 2005. This latter document refers to 9 890 500 RRL shares being lent to Bookmark by RRH and then recorded the following:

  "The reversionary rights are pledged in favour of RG&E as security for the due and punctual discharge by Bookmark of its obligations for the borrowed shares."

  "RG&E" however refers to REC and not RRH, from whom Bookmark apparently borrowed the RRL shares. We also noted that there appears to have been compiled two different documents, recording this pledge[465]; and

[464] Refer Exhibit 3.29
[465] Refer Exhibit 3.30

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- In a further document of pledge, also dated 5 August 2004 and signed by Buitendag on behalf of JCI Limited, REC and RRH, and by Rasethaba, on behalf of Bookmark, Bookmark attempted to effect a pledge of 200 million unsecured convertible participating "B" preference shares and 45 million ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Matodzi and 85 540 655 S&J shares to RRH and REC as covering security for the Bookmark contract[466]. Bookmark apparently did not have these shares as, on 4 July 2005, Rasethaba, T Mosololi and M Mkwanazi appear to have signed a resolution of Bookmark authorising the company to borrow such shares from JCI Gold[467]. This agreement, apparently signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Gold, and Rasethaba, on behalf of Bookmark, was dated 5 August 2005. This agreement mandated the lending by JCI Gold of the abovementioned shares to Bookmark and recorded the circumstance in which the agreement was entered into as follows[468]:

  "2.1 In terms of the Scrip Lending Agreement entered into between Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited and Bookmark dated 6 February 2004.

  Deed of Pledge and Cession dated 5 August 2004."

It is co-incidental that, given that these additional agreements were dated 5 August 2005 when the Investec term sheets, setting out the basis of the settlement agreement, were dated 11 August 2005, the effect of the abovementioned ostensible agreement was to create substance to Bookmark's ability to repay the debt by committing the assets of JCI Limited.

We could not find any basis in the Bookmark contract for JCI Gold taking on any risk for purposes of securing Bookmark's obligation to RRH, or REC, as the case might have been. In fact, clause 2.3 of that contract recorded that Bookmark would have made available all its assets as security for the loan and would not have borrowed any more funds without the consent of RRH[469]. We have, however, had sight of a document, purporting to be a letter from JCI Limited to Bookmark, ostensibly signed by RB Kebble on 7 April 2004 and reading inter alia as follows[470]:

"We are in receipt of the schedule detailing the put and call options proposed and confirm that we will guarantee the put options required to be given to purchase the call options detailed in your schedule."

The referred to schedule recorded that 9 349 000 put and call options were sold and bought[471]. This does not resemble any aspect of the transactions, referred to at 8.2 supra and, even if it did, 9 349 000 RRL shares were not yet transacted as at 7 April 2004, when no more than 1 964 000 RRL shares were sold, including those sold in the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec. This raises a suspicion that this document, signed by RB Kebble and dated 7 April 2004, may well have been drafted long after such date. We found no link between this supposed undertaking and the reality of the transactions. Given this absence of any document recording the reasons why JCI Limited was ostensibly bound to secure Bookmark's obligations as aforementioned, we had reference to some circumstantial facts, particularly a letter from Charles Orbach & Company, addressed to REC and dated 22 July 2005. This letter refers to an earlier letter from Charles Orbach & Company, dated 30 June 2005 and REC's reply thereto at 19 July 2005 at a meeting of the auditor and representatives of REC. Reference was made in this letter to the pledge of reversionary rights by JCI Gold, also mentioned supra, but the bulk of the letter, relating to the RRL shares of RRH, revolves around questions of the security and assurance that REC had that the RRL shares would be returned and the basis upon which the directors of REC were satisfied that Bookmark would be able to return the shares and that REC would not suffer any financial loss. It is apparent that the above referred to pledges and loan of shares had, as a necessary implication, that the ability of Bookmark to return the shares may have been enhanced. However, these agreements appear to be of no effect in supporting the notion that Bookmark assumed the benefit and risk of the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra, for the following reasons:

- These contracts derive their existence from the Bookmark contract. Once it is established that the Bookmark contract did not create the right and obligations in terms of the transactions mentioned at 8.2 supra, these contracts are of no further consequence and appears to be no more than further documents created to maintain the representation created by the Bookmark contract;
- These documents do not explain the reality of RRL share certificates having being presented to T-Sec, who initiated the sale thereof and credited the proceeds of such sales in the Consolidated Investments account at T-Sec, from where such proceeds were used for the benefit of CMMS and its co-subsidiaries;

[471] Refer Exhibit 3.35

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- Having received the benefit from the sale of the RRL shares, it follows logically that CMMS may have to return the shares to RRH in the absence of a contrary agreement. Whilst the Bookmark contract document purports to create such contrary agreement, we found no right or benefit obtained by Bookmark to base such assumption of liability on; and

- The intention, recorded in the unpublished draft agreements, created during February 2005, which incidentally agreed more with the actual transactions than the Bookmark contract, was clearly that JCI Limited would assume the risk of returning the RRL shares.

Hence in summary, it appears that the transactions, mentioned at 8.2 as having been transacted in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec, had the following attributes:

- The transactions were not authorised by resolutions of any of the REC, RRH, JCI Limited or CMMS boards of directors;
- There are no written contracts, setting out the terms of those transactions and we could not determine the existence of any contract of loan relating to such shares;
- CMMS benefited from the sale of the RRL shares as set out supra;
- The failure to implement a draft contract that had as its purpose to establish a share lending arrangement between RRH and CMMS, appears to indicate an absence of an intention to create an obligation on CMMS to return the shares to REC;
- We found no evidence of the proceeds of the sale of the RRL shares having been applied in the interest of RRH. The absence of an agreement of loan between RRH and CMMS furthermore casts doubt as to whether and asset was in fact created in the books of RRH; and
- Documentation was created in order to represent the transactions differently to what they were.

It therefore appears that there had been an unauthorised dispossession of the RRL shares of RRH and that, upon the sale thereof, the proceeds of such sale were not used in the interest of REC, but in the interest of CMMS with an intention to conceal such fact.

8.5 The facts relating to the sale of RRL shares in the Investec UK transaction

The following sales of RRL shares were achieved by Investec UK in terms of the funding transaction between Investec UK and JCI Limited (The cash amounts, generated from the sales of these shares and, which were made available to JCI Limited, do not include R13 180 704.00, paid to Investec UK in the form of an option fee due in terms of the funding arrangement)[472]:

- On 19 March 2004, 811 265 RRL shares were sold, raising some R61 659 083.64[473]. Buitendag and Stratton instructed Investec UK to pay this amount directly to Socgen Johannesburg Branch, Swift code SOGEZAJJXXX, SARBZAJ2 for the account of T-SEC on behalf of JCI Limited[474];
- On 26 March 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R68 352 825.12[475]. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account number 5049 181 2176 of CMMS at FNB[476].
- On 7 April 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R71 220 894.46[477]. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the account number 01389620307 of Investec at ABSA[478]; and
- On 7 April 2004, 98 426 RRL shares were sold, raising some R7 544 887.41[479]. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the account number 01389620307 of Investec at ABSA[480].

The transaction with Investec UK itself is not the subject of this investigation, but provides the contextual framework for this part of the investigation. This section deals with the following aspects of the transaction with Investec UK:

- The nature and extent of the transaction with Investec UK;
- The source of the RRL shares used in the transaction;

- The nature and extent of the authority for the use of the RRL shares; and
- The evidence indicating the intent and purpose of the transaction.

8.5.1 The nature and extent of the transaction with Investec UK

Investec made a proposal to JCI Limited, dated 19 February 2004, for purposes of establishing what was named and styled a hedged equity funding mechanism, mainly to lower the cost of funding to JCI Limited. The funding of JCI Limited by means of this mechanism would comprise a loan of RRL shares by JCI Limited to Investec UK, who would convert the RRL shares into ADR's and sell the ADR's in the market. The proceeds of the ADR's, minus costs etc. would be paid to JCI Limited as collateral for the obligation to return the shares and, in the end result, comprise the funding to be provided to JCI Limited in terms of the mechanism, i.e. an arrangement akin to a reversed loan. In order to price the structure, JCI Limited and Investec UK would enter into a series of put and call options with JCI Limited being a buyer of put options and a seller of call options for a two year term and the spot price of RRL shares as the reference point. Investec UK has set forth some scenarios at the end of the transaction term which includes the return of the shares to JCI Limited, or the return of a cash amount, after the collateral amounts have been returned to Investec UK plus interest to be charged on the collateral amount provided to JCI Limited by Investec UK[481]. The implementation of this proposal required that an Overseas Securities Lending Agreement be entered into between the parties. This agreement was signed by RB Kebble on an unknown date. The agreement provides for the lending of shares by JCI Limited to Investec UK and the providing of collateral by Investec UK to JCI Limited[482]. The transaction was then executed as set out supra. As indicated, the transaction appears to have been executed by CMMS and we noted that, subsequent to the pricing thereof having been adjusted, the transaction released additional collateral of some R48 million.

The hedged equity funding mechanism, as executed in this instance, required that RRL shares be lent to Investec UK.

8.5.2 The source of the RRL shares used in the transaction;

We found no evidence indicated that JCI Limited or its subsidiaries owned RRL shares.

On 11 February 2005, Lamprecht forwarded to Beale an e-mail to which was attached a document named and styled "randgold recon". The e-mail was captioned "R&E/RRL Reconciliation" and refers to the attached reconciliation to be forwarded to RB Kebble and Buitendag for finalisation[483]. This reconciliation clearly refers to the holding and movements on RRL shares owned by RRH and, ultimately, REC. It refers to shares sold during 2004 and records that the following sales took place:

- That during the period 18 March 2004 to 3 September 2004, some 2 008 449 RRL shares were sold as part of a transaction described as "Investec equity structure-shares shorted"; and
- That 730 000 RRL shares were involved, presumably sold, in what was described as the "Investec Pledge-equity derivative structure".

The total amount of shares, referred to in the reconciliation, forwarded to Beale by Lamprecht, aggregate some 2 738 449 RRL shares. This does not agree with the 2 729 075 RRL shares sold in the Investec UK transaction, as confirmed in correspondence underlying the findings of such shares sold, referred to supra. The dates of the sales, per the transaction confirmations and those per the above referred to reconciliation, also differs. It is however apparent that RRL shares, owned by RRH, were used in the Investec UK transaction.

3.5.3 The nature and extent of the authority for the use of the RRL shares

We noted a document in the JCI Limited directors' minute book, purporting to be a resolution by the directors of JCI, taken on 20 February 2004, to the effect that JCI Limited was authorised to enter into a hedged equity funding agreement with Investec (we presume this refers to Investec UK). This document was inter alia signed by Buitendag and Stratton. The resolution goes on to record that[484]:

"THAT MR HC BUITENDAG or MR RB KEBBLE, in their capacities as directors of the Company, be and they are hereby authorised and empowered to sign the Agreement, and do all things necessary for the implementation thereof, and as referred to in resolution 1) above, on behalf of the Company."

[483] Refer Exhibit 3.25
[484] Refer Exhibit 3.38

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

A document, purporting to be a minute of the meeting of the directors of JCI Limited, held on 24 March 2004, recorded that the above mentioned resolution was ratified by the directors of JCI Limited on 24 March 2004[485]. This minute was however not signed.

We noted the existence of a further document, purporting to be a resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, dated 1 April 2004 and signed by RAR Kebble, Buitendag, RB Kebble and Stratton, but not by Cornwall, indicating that any of Buitendag, Stratton and Swanevelder were authorised to sign any confirmation regarding the hedged equity funding transaction with Investec UK and that they were also authorised to generally provide payment instructions in respect of the facility[486].

The above mentioned resolutions and minute, although not properly signed, clearly conveys an authority from the directors of JCI Limited for the company to enter into the transaction with Investec UK. Despite the wide wording of the resolution of 20 February 2004, it appears that this resolution does not provide for the relationship between JCI Limited and RRH regarding the use of the RRL shares as the wide authority, given to Buitendag and RB Kebble in the second resolution, refers to the hedged equity funding agreement, to which neither RRH, nor REC were parties.

It does not appear to have been the intention that the above mentioned resolutions would serve as the authority for the relationship with RRH, or REC as the case may be, to use the RRL shares of RRH in the transaction with Investec UK as, in the minute book of the directors of JCI Limited, we found a document purporting to be a resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, carrying the date of 31 March 2004 and not signed by any director of JCI Limited, but recording that[487]:

"RESOLVED

1. THAT the Company agrees to enter into the Scrip Lending Agreement with Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited whereby Randgold Resources Limited has loaned the Company 2,729,074 Randgold ordinary shares in accordance with the terms and conditions contained in the Agreement, and*

2. THAT MR HENDRIK CHRISTOFFEL BUITENDAG, in his capacity as a director of the Company, be and he is hereby authorised to* sign the Scrip Lending Agreement, and any other documentation which may be required in terms of resolution 1 above, for and on behalf of the Company."

It is apparent that this resolution was created only during October 2004, as an e-mail from Beale to Margaret Brown of JCI Limited, dated 6 October 2004, recorded the following in respect of this transaction[488]:

"Please prepare a JCI resolution tomorrow for the attached Scrip Lending Agreement which will be dated 31 March 2004."

Although the resolution was not signed by the directors of JCI Limited, the document contains a reference in manuscript to the effect that it was ratified at the directors' meeting of JCI Limited, held at 22 October 2004. The minute book of the JCI Limited directors' meetings minutes recorded a document, purporting to be a minute of the meeting of the JCI Limited directors, held at 22 October 2004 and attended by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag, Stratton, Swanevelder and Beale. The above mentioned resolution was recorded as ratified at this meeting[489]. This minute was however not signed, but we understand that the minutes were normally drafted with reference to the tape recording of the meeting concerned. It is thus possible that the draft of the document recorded the resolutions taken by the directors at this meeting.

We perused the minutes of the meetings of the directors of REC and some minutes and resolutions of RRH, provided to us by Beale (we have no assurance of the completeness of these minutes and resolutions), but could not find any evidence that a scrip loan of RRL shares to JCI Limited was approved by these directors. It need however be kept in mind that these parties were related to JCI Limited, particularly as a result of common directors on the various boards. Effectively thus, if the directors, common to these boards, applied their minds towards this question at the JCI Limited board, it then follows that they must have intended for such decision to have been taken at RRH and REC. Having said this, it also need to be taken into consideration that there were directors, particularly non-executive directors, who were not common to the above mentioned companies.

8.5.4 The evidence indicating the intent and purpose of the transaction

We viewed a contract of loan in draft between RRH and JCI Limited for purposes of lending 2 729 074 RRL shares to JCI Limited[490]. We have not located a signed copy of this document. This document, together with the nature of the resolutions taken by JCI Limited, indicates that, at least in the minds of the directors of JCI Limited, a loan of RRL shares were to be established. It is also so that incomplete documentation renders it impossible to construe the existence of an agreed loan and, based on the absence of documentation to such effect in the minute books of REC and RRH, it is impossible to conclude that either RRH or REC authorised and agreed to such loan. A fact from which such could be inferred is the common directorships of the persons who made the decisions at JCI Limited that the shares would be lent from RRH. Such inference has as its logical conclusion that the directors of RRH and REC, not common to both CMMS and RRH may well not have made such decision. The utilisation of the cash, generated from the transaction, and the callapible nature of the structure again, on the other hand, point towards a different intention.

8.6 The facts of the transaction of RRL shares in respect of the Alibiprops transaction

A transaction, generally referred to as the Alibiprops transaction, was performed during the period 17 November 2003 to 30 March 2004. In terms hereof, 1 389 000 RRL shares were sold by T-Sec in the Alibiprops trading account number 669 465 at T-Sec. Based upon information, provided to us by T-Sec, some R202 168 144 was generated from the sale of these shares[491].

In this section, we set out the following:

- The nature and context of Alibiprops (Pty) Limited;
- The benefit obtained by CMMS from the proceeds of the Alibiprops transaction; and
- The intent and purpose of the Alibiprops transaction.

8.6.1 The nature and context of Alibiprops

We performed a search for statutory information of Alibiprops in publicly available information data bases. This search revealed the following information in respect of this company[492]:

- A company, named and styled Alibiprops, was incorporated on 27 June 1996 with registration number 1996/008143/07 and having RB Kebble and RAR Kebble as its directors; and
- This company changed its name to BNC, being the legal entity representing the interests of RAR Kebble and RB Kebble in JCI Limited.

As can be seen below, RB Kebble signed a mandate with T-Sec with the information recorded as set out below.

A schedule of the particulars of Alibiprops, completed at T-Sec for the opening of trading account number 669465, recorded the following information[493]:

- Alibiprops had a company registration number of 1992/023597/07. This company registration number does not exist and hence no company was presented as an account holder;
- It had a postal address of PO Box 6257, Cresta and a physical address of 28 Harrison Street, Johannesburg. However, on 23 August 2003, Beale requested Martin van Zyl at T-Sec to change the postal address of Alibiprops to PO Box 11165, Johannesburg and to send the statements of the account for her attention;
- RB Kebble was the authorised person on this account; and
- It had a bank account named and styled Paradigm Shift with account number 020581548 at the Alberton branch of the Standard Bank.

On 4 February 2003, Kebble and Steenkamp signed a document in terms whereof T-Sec received a consolidated limited discretionary trading mandate for RB Kebble in respect of the above mentioned account at T-Sec[494].

On 3 August 2005, one Tertia Penkin of T-Sec advised Beale that T-Sec has no documentation for the Alibiprops account. Beale replied by indicating that she also did not have any statutory documents for Alibiprops[495].

It is evident that Beale was of the view that there was a problem with the concept of Alibiprops as, on 11 February 2005, she wrote the following to Poole[496]:

"Attached is the dreaded RRL share schedule and please speak to Brett about Note 6 for me. I think, the bottom line is we are in a "bit" of trouble with the SEC, Reserve Bank, and RG&E shareholders because even the shares held with Socgen, BJM and Investec (11,944,398) are not beneficially held in terms of the SEC.

Do you have the company doc's on Alibiprops, and if so, please fax me a copy of the CM29? (If Barry is still on I must Back-date and get him off immediately)"

It appears that no company profile of Alibiprops existed at JCI Limited. We only found a company profile for Bookmark Alibiprops Investments (Pty) Limited[497]. On 19 October 2005, Beale advised Tertia Penkin of T-Sec that she never had any statutory documents of Alibiprops in her possession and that the company did not exist[498].

In his statement to Tabacks Inc on 8 December 2005, Poole was recorded as referring to Alibiprops as another vehicle and one of RB Kebble's personal structures used for share dealing[499]. During consultation, Swanevelder informed us that his perception of the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec was that it was used as a funding vehicle of RB Kebble.

It thus appears that no legal person, who could assume rights and obligations, existed in the name and style of Alibiprops and that such represented company served no purpose other than to create a share trading account at T-Sec for purposes of trading shares and that the share trading account number 669465 at T-Sec had no substantive owner. It is further apparent that RB Kebble appears to have used the previous name of BNC knowingly as BNC Investments (Pty) Limited had already changed its name at the time when the mandate with T-Sec was completed, without having wanted to commit BNC as he used a previous name of the company without the correct company registration number. As such, we found no facts indicating ownership of CMMS of such trading account, or the transactions performed therein.

3.6.2 The benefit obtained by CMMS from the proceeds of the Alibiprops transaction

The Alibiprops transaction raised some R202 168 144. With reference to the information, obtained from T-Sec, and a journal completed by Swanevelder to allocate the proceeds of the Alibiprops transaction and the proceeds of the Investec UK transaction, it is apparent that the proceeds of the Alibiprops transaction were applied in the following manner[500]:

- R50 098 102 was paid to the Standard Bank bank account number 35386 of RB Kebble. Clearly, this allocation did not benefit CMMS;
- R28 100 000 was paid to the Standard Bank bank account number 020581548 of Paradigm Shift cc. Clearly, this allocation did not benefit CMMS;
- R5 000 000 was paid to the Nedbank Limited bank account number 1232071188 of Mallinicks attorneys for purposes of making a payment for the account of Kovacs. This payment appears to be part of a loan of R43 958 310 made by JCI Limited to Kovacs 608 (Pty) Limited[501]. The obligation to make this loan was however assigned to CMMS by JCI Limited[502];
- R92 979 425 was allocated to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec. This trading account belonged to CMMS;
- R21 505 250 was allocated to WAL, of which R21 505 250 appears to have been credited to the WAL trading account number 671958 at T-Sec. This appears to be part of the funding provided to WAL by JCI Gold; and
- R20 000 000 was disbursed to Socgen on behalf of CMMS.

A total amount of R139 484 675 was thus allocated for the benefit of CMMS and JCI Gold. This represents some 68.994% of the total proceeds of R202 168 144, generated from the sale of 1 389 000 RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction. Proportionally, CMMS thus benefited from the proceeds of some 958 326 RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction. Because of the split in the RRL shares and, should CMMS have to return these shares to RRH, some 1 916 652 shares would have to be returned. However, due to the status of the Alibiprops trading account and the disconnected relationship between that account and CMMS, we found no relationship between the shares sold in that account and CMMS may be obligated to return such proceeds, being R139 484 675 to such account.

8.6.3 The intent and purpose of the Alibiprops transaction

There is little evidence indicating the intent and purpose of this transaction, but we found the following evidence indicating the purpose of the Alibiprops transaction:

- The authority for the trades by RRH;
- The accounting treatment of the transaction at CMMS; and
- The use of the trading account in the name of Alibiprops.

On 19 October 2005, Tertia Penkin at T-Sec requested Beale to forward to her the resolutions of directors authorising the trading on the Alibiprops account to Beale and Poole as they were the persons who actually traded on the accounts[503]. This was a response to an extract of a resolution, certified to be a true copy of a resolution of the directors of RRH, which reads inter alia as follows[504]:

"THAT the Company hereby ratifies the sale of 120,000 RRL ordinary shares in Alibi Props 13 (Pty) Limited account with effect from 13 October 2004"

We neither found, nor were we provided, with further resolutions of RRH authorising the sale of RRL shares in the Alibiprops trading account.

It would thus appear that authority for the sale of the balance of the RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction was not provided to T-Sec by Beale.

The transactions of the Alibiprops transaction were recorded in the ledger of CMMS in account number 171760, named and styled "Shares-Randgold Resources", in the following manner[505]:

Date	Description	Entry	Amount R
30 November 2003	Tradek Alibiprops transaction	Credit	24 972 140
31 December 2003	Tradek Alibiprops transaction	Credit	30 088 210
31 December 2003	Tradek Alibiprops transaction	Credit	17 077 976
29 February 2004	Tradek Alibiprops transaction	Credit	98 199 340
30 March 2004	Tradek Alibiprops transaction	Credit	31 830 478

[503] Refer Exhibit 3.44
[504] Refer Exhibit 3.45
[505] Refer Exhibit 3.46

It is evident from the above entries, processed in the ledger of CMMS that the Alibiprops transaction was considered, initially, as a loan of some 1 389 000 shares from RRH to CMMS. However, a journal, signed by Swanevelder on 19 May 2004, recorded the following in manuscript[506]:

"Reverse all Alibiprops transactions-per HCB"

"HCB" refers to Buitendag. During interview he however denied any knowledge of this journal. Swanevelder indicated that he would not have made the note if Buitendag did not instruct him in that manner. The effect of the journal was however to debit the entries in the CMMS ledger account and credit or allocate same to ledger accounts numbers 174 501: Sundry Debtors – RB Kebble – Consolidated Investments/Alibi and 211505: Sundry Creditor – Alibi in the CMMS ledger. This had the following entries resulting in the CMMS ledger account 171760:

Date	Description	Entry	Amount R
30 November 2003	Reverse all Alibiprop transact	Debit	24 972 140
31 December 2003	Reverse all Alibiprop transact	Debit	30 088 210
31December 2003	Reverse all Alibiprop transact	Debit	17 077 976
29 February 2004	Reverse all Alibiprop transact	Debit	98 199 340
31 March 2004	Reverse all Alibiprop transact	Debit	31 830 478

There was no lender of the RRL shares represented by the name in which the trading account number 669465 were opened and conducted. It is evident that shares were simply sold in the account and the proceeds were paid to relevant substantive parties. It thus appears that CMMS benefited directly from the sale of RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction. The evidence available indicated that the trading account was opened in the name of a non existent company.

8.7 Summary of bases upon which CMMS benefited from the sale of RRL shares

We concluded at 8.4 supra that there has been an unauthorised dispossession of the RRL shares of RRH to which CMMS benefited. As no loan agreement with repayment terms and security for the return of any RRL shares were put in place, we saw no evidence of the manner in which those transactions promoted the interests of RRH.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

We concluded at 8.5 supra that, in order to fund the Investec UK funding structure, JCI Limited had to borrow RRL shares. There is evidence indicating that these shares were intended to be borrowed from RRH. This intention is evident from the documentation compiled by JCI Limited. It appears that this obligation is due for execution when the funding agreement with Investec UK terminates. No agreements were however drafted and the RRH directors' minutes do not record authority thereto.

We concluded at 8.6 supra that CMMS received a cash benefit obtained from the Alibiprops transaction as it benefited directly from the sale of such shares as there had not been a substantive party being in place who borrowed the shares sold in the Alibiprops transaction.

On 24 January 2006, an overview of the evidence relating to this matter was provided to the directors of JCI Limited at a meeting of the directors. The directors decided to refer the evidence in this section eight to counsel for an opinion on what rights and obligations exist as between CMMS and RRH regarding the sales of the RRL shares. Hence, in dealing with the manner of disclosure of the transactions at section 8.8 infra, we assumed nothing in respect of the manner in which the transactions should have been disclosed and merely recorded the evidence thereto. Any reference towards rights and obligations are for purposes of understanding the manner in which the transactions were disclosed and do not constitute any finding of, or opinion of, the manner in which the transactions ought to have been disclosed or should be disclosed.

8.8 Disclosure of the obligation of CMMS, and consequently JCI Limited, in respect of the obligation towards RRH and, consequently, REC

As can be seen from the above, the transactions from which CMMS benefited, already came into existence from around September 2003. As JCI Limited has a March financial year end and, being a public listed company, had to issue half year financial statements, albeit not audited, as well, we examine below to what extent, if any, the sale and use by CMMS of RRL shares sold, were disclosed by JCI Limited to shareholders and other interested stakeholders. For purposes of this section, the disclosure of the following items is considered:

- The disclosure of the RRL shares transactions performed in the Consolidated Investments and CMMS trading accounts at T-Sec in the financial statements of JCI Limited;
- The disclosure of the RRL shares transactions performed in the Consolidated Investments and CMMS trading accounts to the funder of JCI Limited; and

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- The disclosure of the transaction with Investec UK.

At section 8.9 infra we set out the manner in which the transactions were recorded in the ledger of CMMS as such may be relevant to the findings in this section.

8.8.1 The disclosure of the RRL shares transactions performed in the Consolidated Investments and CMMS trading accounts at T-Sec in the financial statements of JCI Limited

We concluded above that the nature of the above captioned transactions comprised an unauthorised dispossession of the RRL shares of RRH to the benefit of CMMS and that, upon the sale thereof, the proceeds of such sale were not used in the interest of REC.

The annual report of JCI Limited, for its 2004 financial year, recorded the statements of the chairman of JCI Limited and the audited AFS of the company, signed on 22 October 2004, some seven months after the 2004 financial year end of the company. A perusal of these documents, indicate the following[507]:

- That the chairman's statement, signed by RAR Kebble on 22 October 2004, recorded the following:

  "Randgold's principal investment is a 31.36% holding in Randgold Resources Limited..... ";

- The auditor's certificate placed an emphasis on the matter of going concern, referring to a note in the directors' report which indicated significant borrowings and that the going concern concept was dependent upon further borrowings being achieved in future;
- The above mentioned borrowings of the JCI Limited group were disclosed and classified in the balance sheet as interest bearing and non interest bearing long term borrowings of some R682.922 million and interest bearing short term borrowings of some R901.133 million. Notes 17, 18 and 19 to the balance sheet provided more detail of these borrowings;
- Notes 17 and 18 to the balance sheet recorded the debentures issued by JCI Limited and various other long term obligations. No mention is made of the RRL shares sold. We noted that note 17 did disclose the receipt of a collateral amount received of some R221.976 million, which relates to the sale of RRL shares, but which were sold in the Investec UK transaction and hence, not relevant to this section;

[507] Refer Exhibit 1.4.22

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- Note 19 to the balance sheet refers to loans and not borrowings, but does not describe the short term borrowings of some R901.133 million in the group. The RRL shares were however sold in the trading accounts of CMMS. A perusal of the trial balance of CMMS, as at 31 March 2004, neither indicates a loan from RRH to CMMS, nor RRL shares lent. Hence it appears that these transactions were not included in the short term loans of the group, recorded in the balance sheet of JCI Limited[508]. If regard is had to the fact that the proceeds of these shares sold were credited to the Consolidated Investments account at T-Sec, which were recorded in short term investments in the ledger of CMMS, it means that, whilst the proceeds were recognised, the obligation, attaching thereto, was not recognised;
- Note 28.1 deals with commitments of JCI Limited and the group of companies and is quiet on the transactions regarding the RRL shares;
- Note 28.2 deals with scrip lending agreements, without identifying them in detail. The information, recorded therein, is not agreeable to the actual transactions performed with regards to the RRL shares sold. We once again reverted to the trial balance of CMMS and, as indicated above, could not identify the RRL shares transactions in there;
- Note 29 deals with related party transactions and, despite RRH, being a wholly owned subsidiary of REC, no mention was made of the RRL shares transactions in note 29; and
- We noted that the directors' report disclosed three items described as post balance sheet events. During the period 1 April 2004 and 21 October 2004, a further 2 800 000 RRL shares were sold in the Consolidated Investments account at T-Sec with the proceeds of R259 108924 being credited to the Consolidated Investments trading account. This resulted in 4 350 000 RRL shares having had to be returned to RRH. No mention of this change in the financial position of JCI Limited and the group companies were made in the directors' report as a post balance sheet event.

With regard to the above items in the annual report of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries, we have not identified any evidence that the obligations regarding the RRL shares were disclosed in the annual report of JCI Limited as at March 2004, save that the sale of 2 075 000 RRL shares and the sale proceeds thereof, aggregating some R278 766 101.66 was recorded in the CMMS ledger account number 151 810: Loan – Randgold Masupatsela, as explained hereunder.

The draft annual financial statements of JCI Limited were discussed at the JCI Limited audit committee meeting of 22 October 2004. The minute of this meeting was signed by RAR Kebble and the meeting was attended by RAR Kebble, Buitendag, Stratton, RB Kebble, Swanevelder and E Steyn from Charles Orbach and Company, the then auditor of JCI Limited. The drafts of the 2004 annual financial statements of JCI Limited were presented to the audit committee, discussed and approved. It appears from the minutes of the meeting that the 2004 financial statements of JCI Limited were prepared by E Steyn and Swanevelder. This is evident from the following text recorded in the minute[509]:

"After further discussion, the Committee thanked Messrs Steyn and Swanevelder for preparing the annual financial statements"

These financial statements appear to have been presented to the directors' meeting that followed immediately upon the meeting of the audit committee. It is not evident from the contents of a draft minute of this meeting that the financial statements were approved and the minutes of this meeting, found in the JCI Limited directors' minute book, were not signed[510]. The results of CMMS, upon whom the obligation to return the RRL shares to RRH rested, would have been consolidated in the results of JCI Limited. We noted a resolution of the directors of CMMS, dated 3 June 2005, which reads as follows[511]:

"THAT the annual financial statements of the Company, as submitted, for the year ended 31 March 2004 be hereby approved on 30 September 2004, and that Messrs RB Kebble and HC Buitendag be hereby authorised to sign the financial statements on behalf of the Company."

The resolution appears to have been signed by Buitendag, RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and Stratton. Lamprecht refused to sign this resolution.

The reviewed results of JCI Limited, for the six months ended 30 September 2004, were issued on 23 December 2004 by RAR Kebble and RB Kebble on behalf of the JCI Limited directors. This document, being in abbreviated form, does not hold any express mention of the RRL shares transactions and resultant obligations[512].

We have noted that the recordal of the effect of limited obligations of CMMS in this regard was achieved, as is evident from the contents of section 8.9. There is a note on the half year results, indicating that the going concern concept remains dependent upon further facilities being raised and income generated from investments, but with no detail of such envisaged transactions.

JCI Limited did not issue an annual report as at 31 March 2005. Hence it follows that the significant transactions with RRL shares have not been disclosed at such date, or to date. Having said that, it then remains to be determined what was intended to be disclosed by JCI Limited in this regard. There is no direct evidence available on this issue, but, as RRH was a wholly owned subsidiary of REC and the transactions brought about a direct relationship between RRH and CMMS, it is instructive to consider the manner in which the issue was dealt with at REC in order to determine the intent at JCI Limited, particularly as the two companies were related through common directors. Regard must be had to the fact that REC had to publish its financial statements and had to explain the suspected decrease in holding of RRL shares by RRH. Hence, the following events are relevant to determining the representations that REC was going to make in respect of the RRL shares transactions:

- On 11 February 2005, Lamprecht forwarded a number of schedules to Beale, recording amongst others the RRL shares sold in the Consolidated Investments account at T-Sec during 2003, 2004 and 2005 (There are differences in the numbers of sales recorded in this schedule and the records that we found, but it is a common factor that significant numbers of RRL shares were sold in the Consolidated Investments account at T-Sec)[513]. We have indicated supra that the properties of these schedules indicated that the schedules were originally created by one Thelma Nell at T-Sec. In his e-mail, Lamprecht informed Beale that she had to discuss the reconciliation, recorded in the schedules, with RB Kebble and Buitendag. He further included a note in the schedule, which reads as follows:

  "In terms of the shares sold in 2004 (Schedules 1, 2 &3) check with RBK and HCB on how to disclose:- Either shows as a outright sale or via scrip loan to a third party"

  Beale then also forwarded the schedule to Stratton;

- During the course of the afternoon of 11 February 2005, Welsford and Beale drafted the agreements setting out a scrip lending relationship by and between RRH and JCI Limited, as detailed above (Although the numbers of shares recorded in these draft agreements do not reconcile the actual numbers of RRL shares sold as indicated above, the draft agreements indicate that JCI Limited incurred a substantive direct obligation to RRH to return significant numbers of RRL shares, which reflect the actual nature of the transactions more closely and agreeing with the nature of the transactions as indicated above)[514]. A perusal of these drafted documents indicated that they do not agree to an outright sale of RRL shares by REC, but rather a scrip loan to another party, as suggested by Lamprecht in the schedule of the RRL shares sold, forwarded to Beale earlier on 11 February 2005. During the evening of 11 February 2005, Beale forwarded theses draft agreements, amongst other documents, to the e-mail addresses of Stratton and Poole with a request to RB Kebble, Stratton, Buitendag and Poole to provide urgent comment on the documents sent[515]. We found no evidence that these agreements were ever signed;
- During the period 14 March to 18 March 2005, Welsford and Beale drafted the Bookmark contract, referred to above, and apparently also the Bookmark letter of confirmation regarding the Bookmark contract[516]. These documents convey an opposite intention to that recorded in the draft agreements between JCI Limited and RRH, drafted on 11 February 2005, not recording JCI Limited as having a substantial, or any, obligation to RRH for the return of the RRL shares. Apparently, Beale was requested by Griffiths and RB Kebble to forward these documents to them and, on 18 April 2005, Beale forwarded these documents to Griffiths and Kebble. These documents were signed and held out as representative of the contracts underlying the transactions with the RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments account at T-Sec;
- At the REC directors' meeting of 26 April 2005, the provisional results of REC as at 31 December 2005, to be released on 29 April 2005, were discussed. This meeting was attended by RAR Kebble, Buitendag, MB Madumise and GT Miller.

The drafted minute of this meeting did not record much of the discussion regarding the intended accounting treatment of the RRL shares sold[517]. However, a draft of the minute, prepared by the company secretary, recorded the text of an actual transcript of the meeting, reflecting more information regarding the topic[518]. It is evident from this transcript that the disclosure of the holding of REC in RRL shares was an important issue of the discussion. In this regard, RAR Kebble indicated that there was pressure on REC to disclose its holding of RRL shares accurately and that shareholders and other persons were interested to know the position. He indicated that transparency was required, to which Buitendag agreed and indicated that he would discuss the matter of disclosure of the transaction with RB Kebble, who did not attend the meeting, the next day. RAR Kebble questioned Buitendag on the number of RRL shares still held of the original 18 million and Buitendag indicated that 4 million were still registered in the name of RRH. Both RAR Kebble and GT Miller questioned Buitendag on the manner in which the position of the RRL shares would be disclosed. Buitendag indicated that he would formulate the text the next day, but also indicated the following:

"HCB - I haven't thought that one through yet Gordon but I would imagine to say certain shares are pledged to financial institutions, certain shares are placed in a financial structure to raise finance. Once you repay the structure you get the shares back if you don't' repay the structure you wont get the shares back. So I think it is those two scenarios that we have to ..."

Based upon the information at our disposal, the latter mentioned scenario refers to the funding arrangement made with Investec UK, which is dealt with supra. The first mentioned scenario we could not identify with the actual sales of the RRL shares. The discussions at this meeting were instructive as regards the REC directors' view on the disclosure of the transaction, hence we refer to the following extract of the discussion:

"GTM - where would that reflect in the accounts with that raising of the finance. How was that accounted for ..

HCB - Well basically the money was raised and you pay Anglo American for the WAL shares that was R200 million paid to Anglo American about R100 million was paid to Anglo American in via Inkwenkwesi, theres about R15 million to Angola.

Roger - I think the big question that is banded about is this 31% that we have submitted and filed is possibly being questioned by not only these shareholders but all and sundry and the question that is asked is you know the shares were pledged at a price and then I believe there were some collars set on those things so lets assume that it was pledged at $10 to the institution and the institution that it was pledged to went out and sold the share and if we want them back no institution is going to buy them back and give them back to us at $10 and if they are running at $13 and that's.

HCB – there are put and calls are all over the show Roger.

Roger - that's the sort of transparency that they are looking for. Now if one can see that there is an arrangement between an institution on that basis then it would put this fire out. Now I don't know there seems to have been some difficulty in getting that information. I don't know. Is that going to be described in your verbage or not.

HCB - look I agree with you that we have got to be transparent and the whole exercise we will do it and then ... and ill speak to Brett tomorrow and well see what we disclose.

Roger - we have filed it as such haven't we?

HCB - yes 80 million shares

Roger - if you look into the detail of the share register we cant see those shares but behind that there is an agreement and we can call those shares back to sort whatever rate is and ... Shares in the meantime.

Roger - our 31% represents 80 million shares and in fact physically you hold how many.

HCB - there is physically 4 million still registered in our name

Roger - so 12 million have been sold with an arrangement behind it and 12 million shares at whatever rate

GTM - how would these financials be approved

HCB - basically it is approved now subject to final distribution to the board on Thursday morning

PBB - if you want we can go a further round robin board resolution on Thursday afternoon"

- It appears that Lamprecht was requested to formulate the notes in respect of the preliminary results of REC as at 31 December 2004 as, on 28 April 2005[519], Beale forwarded to RB Kebble a draft of the note to be included in the preliminary results of REC, to be published the next day. The draft note reflects a reference to 9 890 500 RRL shares having been lent to empowerment companies. This agrees with the contents of the Bookmark contract;
- On 29 April 2005, REC published its provisional results as at 31 December 2004 under the names of RB Kebble and Buitendag, who were authorised by the REC directors on 26 April 2005 to sign off on such results[520]. This document also recorded that 9 890 500 RRL shares were lent to empowerment companies; and
- A document, purporting to be a resolution by the directors of JCI Gold and apparently signed by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag and Stratton, recorded that the directors of JCI Gold agreed that JCI Gold would pledge the reversionary rights in certain 8 463 501 WAR shares, at that stage already pledged to the IDC, to REC as security for the obligations of Bookmark in terms of the Bookmark contract[521]. This apparent resolution appears to have been dated 6 July 2005. A further document, captioned "Pledge of Reversionary Rights", was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Gold, and by Rasethaba, on behalf of Bookmark, apparently on 26 April 2005. This latter document refers to 9 890 500 shares lent to Bookmark by RRH and then recorded the following:

  "The reversionary rights are pledged in favour of RG&E as security for the due and punctual discharge by Bookmark of its obligations for the borrowed shares."

It follows logically that the contents of this apparent pledge of reversionary rights by JCI Gold is not consistent with an intention to record JCI Limited or CMMS as disposing of a substantive obligation to return the RRL shares to RRH.

The evidence, referred to supra, conveys a clear intention not to disclose neither a substantive obligation of CMMS to return the RRL shares to RRH, nor the fact that the shares were appropriated from RRH without authority and used by CMMS.

We noticed the existence of a document purporting to be a settlement agreement by and between JCI Limited, on the one part, and REC, on the other part, signed as between the parties by Lamprecht and Gray respectively on 25 August 2005. This document records an agreement by and between the respective parties that JCI Limited bound itself as surety and co-principal debtor for the obligations of Bookmark in terms of the Bookmark contract to a maximum amount of R500 million. The contents of this document is consistent with the evidence, set out above, indicating an intention not to disclose the obligations and actions of JCI Limited and, more particularly, CMMS in the sale of the RRL shares. We detail hereunder the manner in which this settlement agreement came into existence, as well as the context and implications thereof.

8.8.2 The disclosure of the RRL shares transactions performed in the Consolidated Investments and CMMS trading accounts to the funder of JCI Limited

On 23 August 2005, RB Kebble reported to the directors of JCI Limited that Investec agreed to lend up to R460 million to JCI Limited on condition that[522]:

- JCI Limited was solvent; and
- The boards of directors of JCI Limited, REC and WAL were reconstructed. As far as JCI Limited was concerned, this entailed the resignation as directors of Stratton, Buitendag, Cornwall and RAR Kebble and the resignation of RB Kebble of his executive capacity. In their stead, Gray, Lamprecht, DM Nurek, DE Jowell and PRS Thomas were appointed as directors, the former two persons in executive capacity.

The loan would have been made to an SPV, Lexshell, who was to be a subsidiary in the JCI Limited group of companies. Certain assets had to be transferred to Lexshell and committed as security for the loans and that the right and title in the shares of Lexshell also be committed to Investec as security for the loan. It was further recorded in the minutes of this meeting that the directors of the company were satisfied that JCI Limited was solvent.

[522] Refer Exhibit 3.52

The minutes further recorded that Investec and Allan Gray Limited, as major shareholders of REC, requested clarity regarding the Bookmark contract in order to ensure that issues would not be arising following the reconstitution of the REC and JCI Limited boards of directors.

This resolution of the directors was embodied in the settlement agreement, referred to infra, between JCI Limited and REC[523]. The Bookmark contract and a position paper on JCI Limited, more fully dealt with infra, were attached to the settlement agreement.

The intent of this settlement agreement is clear to the effect that it had as its objective to create an obligation of JCI Limited to act as surety and co-principal debtor of Bookmark to RRH, but to limit such obligation to no more than R500 million. In this regard, clause 5 of the agreement reads as follows:

"Subject to the Investec Agreements, JCI hereby irrevocably and unconditionally binds itself to RG&E as surety for and co-principal debtor together with Bookmark in respect of the due and punctual performance by Bookmark of all its obligations to RG&E in respect of and/or in connection with the Shares (including, without limitation, the payment of all amounts due and the re-delivery of the Shares and/or any portion of the Shares) provided that the liability of JCI in terms hereof shall be limited and shall not exceed R500 000 000.00."

In turn, clause 4 of the agreement recorded that the obligation, referred to at clause 5 of the agreement, was agreed in full and final settlement of any claim of REC in respect of the position of JCI Limited as recorded in the attachment setting out the JCI Limited position. The shares, referred to at clause 5 of this agreement, were defined at the definitions clause of the agreement as 4 500 000 RRL shares, lent by RRH to Bookmark, as described in the position paper. This description appears at odds with the recording of RRL shares lent to Bookmark by RRH as set out in the position paper, based upon the following:

- In the first instance, the position paper recorded the following:

  "In terms of the scrip lending arrangements between the Group and Bookmark, 9 890 500 Randgold Resources Limited (Randgold Resources) shares ..... were lent to Bookmark."

[523] Refer Exhibit 3.53

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The reference to the term "Group" appears vague, but when regard is had to the Bookmark contract, attached to the settlement agreement, it is clear that it refers to REC and its subsidiaries. We have not seen any evidence indicating which of these shares were sold pre and post the split in the RRL shares and accept, for purposes of what follows, that no split is relevant to these shares; and

- In the second instance, the position paper recorded the following:

  "The terms of the structure with Investec Bank consist of three components:

  - A scrip loan of the 5.4 million Randgold Resources shares to Investec Bank, which were then sold into the market by Investec Bank.
  - A loan secured by the loaned Randgold Resources shares, which upon repayment of the loan would be returned to JCI and, in turn to Bookmark and Randgold"

Hence it was presented that RRH lent 5.4 million RRL shares to Bookmark, who lent them to JCI Limited and who lent them to Investec in terms of a derivative structure, resulting in JCI Limited may having to fund the repurchase of such shares to give back to Bookmark, who in turn had to give them back to RRH.

We attempted to follow the terms of this agreement to its logical conclusion, given the terms thereof and the information recorded in the position paper on JCI Limited and it appears that a total of some 15 290 500 RRL shares had to be returned by Bookmark to RRH. Assuming a RRL share price of USD17[524] and a Rand/USD exchange rate of R6.38, this translates to a financial obligation on Bookmark of some R1 658 407 630, of which R500 million would be met by JCI Limited, leaving some R1 158 407 630 to be met by Bookmark. If it is assumed that, in reality, Bookmark has no obligation or cannot meet such obligation, an effective write off of the assets of RRH would have been achieved whilst the assets of JCI Limited would remain protected against the claims of RRH, bar the amount of R500 million.

The difficulty we have in this regard comprises the difference between the contracted commitment of R500 million and the commitment of some R1 658 407 630, based on the number of shares apparently lent to Bookmark as per the position paper on JCI Limited.

Whilst the position paper seems to attempt to provide a basis for the commitment of R500 million, the amount contractually committed per the position paper appears rather arbitrary. The question then follows logically why such amount was chosen as it is clearly not based upon the numbers of RRL shares recorded in the position paper on JCI Limited as being lent by Bookmark. We deal with this question infra.

In this regard we refer to a document that RB Kebble seems to have sent to Bristow at RRL, referred to supra, in which document was recorded that 11.9 million RRL shares were used as collateral for some R500 million raised over a period of time. It is possible that this document could have influenced the amount agreed to in the settlement agreement.

We have indicated supra that the obligation to return RRL shares to RRH rests upon JCI Limited, due to an unauthorised appropriation thereof, the Investec UK structure and due to it having benefited from the sale of RRL shares in the Alibiprops account. As some 16 686 794 RRL shares have to be returned in this manner and would need to be purchased, the cost to JCI Limited could be some R1 809 849 677.24, provided a RRL share price of USD17[525] and a Rand/USD exchange rate of some R6.38. If the settlement agreement can be interpreted to mean that the obligation of JCI Limited in this regard is limited to R500 million, it means that an effective write off of some 12 076 800 RRL shares of RRH have been achieved, once again protecting JCI Limited against a claim of RRH.

Due to the implications of the settlement agreement on RRH and REC, we examined the basis upon which this agreement was reached. In this regard, we noted the following:

- Clause 5 of the settlement agreement records that, subject to the Investec agreements, JCI Limited bound itself as surety and co-principal debtor to REC for some R500 million. The Investec agreements were defined as to include inter alia the loan by Investec to Lexshell. It thus appears that the undertaking of JCI Limited to REC had to be made due to the existence of the loan to Lexshell. The term sheet of Investec, containing Investec's offer to JCI Limited on 11 August 2005 and signed by RB Kebble and Buitendag on behalf of JCI Limited, clearly recorded one of the conditions precedent to Investec lending money to Lexshell being the following[526]:

[526] Refer Exhibit 3.54

"Conclusion of a written arrangement between JCI, Bookmark and Randgold & Exploration Company Limited relating to certain indebtedness and contingent exposures between the parties, to the satisfaction of the Lender and Allen Gray Limited, such arrangement to be fully disclosed to the public in and at the appropriate manner and time."

This condition seems to have been appreciated by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag and Stratton at the JCI Limited directors' meeting of 23 August 2005 as they resolved to bind JCI Limited to REC as surety for the obligations of Bookmark to REC, based on the request of Investec and Allen Gray Limited for purposes of preventing issues regarding this relationship arising at a later stage[527];

- Clause 3.1 of the settlement agreement reads that:

  "JCI is in the JCI Position, as more fully described in the Position Paper"

  In turn, clause 3.2 reads inter alia that:

  "By reason of the JCI Position, JCI is prepared, in full and final settlement of all claims whatsoever nature arising against it in favour of RG&E in respect of and/or in connection with the JCI Position, to bind itself to RG&E as surety for and co-principal debtor together with Bookmark in respect of all of the obligations, subject to a maximum of R500 000 000,00, of Bookmark to RG&E, ..."; and

- The Investec term sheet, dated 11 August 2005, furthermore recorded the following conditions precedent to the loan contemplated to be made to JCI Limited[528]:

  "The Directors of JCI are to certify that JCI is solvent, having regard to all its actual and contingent liabilities and assets, within five business days of acceptance of this Term Sheet"

This aspect also appears to have been fully appreciated by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag and Stratton as, at the JCI Limited directors' meeting of 23 August 2005, the minutes of which referred to the JCI Limited balance sheet and annexures having been tabled and approved by the directors of JCI Limited, such directors have taken a resolution that JCI Limited was solvent[529].

We also found an extract of the above resolution, certified a true copy by Beale and to which was attached the JCI Limited balance sheet and annexures, apparently referred to in the minute of the JCI Limited directors' meeting of 23 August 2005.

It thus appears that the settlement agreement was based on the information contained in the attached position paper on JCI Limited and that the settlement agreement had to be made because of the existence of the loan from Investec to Lexshell, we presume in order to ensure that the financial relationship between REC and JCI Limited was determinable and fixed in as far as matters related to the RRL shares, appropriated from RRH, were concerned. It further appears than the solvency of JCI Limited was relevant to the lending of R460 million by Investec to JCI Limited. It thus appears that the following documents are of relevance to the decision of Investec to make a loan to JCI Limited:

- The Bookmark contract and the resultant settlement agreement;
- The JCI Limited position paper and the resultant settlement agreement; and
- The resolution on the solvency of JCI Limited and the attached balance sheet and annexures.

We set out hereunder our assessment of the veracity of the information recorded in the above mentioned documents.

In respect of the Bookmark contract and the related letters and resolutions, we have set out the facts and findings supra, indicating that the contents of these documents do not reflect the actual transactions performed and the intention and effect of such transactions[530]. It thus appears that, in so far as the settlement agreement was drafted to give effect to the Bookmark contract, it was formulated on an incorrect recordal of the transactions giving rise to the nature and extent of JCI Limited's obligation to REC, and particularly to RRH.

We understand from Lamprecht that the JCI Limited position paper was drafted by him, based upon information provided to him by RB Kebble and Buitendag. For purposes of investigating the position regarding the transactions with the RRL shares, the following information, recorded in the JCI Limited position paper, appear to be relevant:

[530] See supra

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- That 9 890 500 RRL shares were lent to Bookmark and that Bookmark had to return such shares to RRH by 30 May 2006;

- That Inkwenkwezi was an associated company to Bookmark and that REC and JCI Limited committed to assist Inkwenkwezi in acquiring 5.3 million WAR shares from REC. To fund this acquisition, JCI Limited entered into a funding arrangement with Investec in terms whereof 5.4 million RRL shares would be lent to Investec, who would have sold such shares into the market with the proceeds of such sales being paid to JCI Limited as collateral for the obligation to return the shares. Eventually the RRL shares would be returned to JCI Limited, and in return to Bookmark and to REC; and

- Bridging finance was provided to WAL on a back to back basis with Bookmark. This statement is devoid of detail, but seems to create the impression that Bookmark obtained funds, which it lent to JCI Limited, who in turn lent the funds to WAL.

We record the following findings relevant to the above mentioned information recorded in the Bookmark contract, JCI Limited position paper and the resolution regarding the solvency of JCI Limited:

- As recorded supra, we found that the transaction, recorded in the Bookmark contract represented neither the actual sale of 7 156 000 RRL shares sold, of which the proceeds were credited to CMMS, nor the 1 389 000 RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec, of which CMMS received the equivalent benefit of 958 322 RRL shares (this does not include the Investec UK transaction);

- We further found facts indicating that the intent and purpose of the Bookmark contract was to prevent a disclosure of the obligation of CMMS to RRH to return the above mentioned RRL shares. Even if it is argued that the Bookmark contract deals with RRL shares not included in the sales of RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments and Alibiprops trading accounts at T-Sec, the contents of the Bookmark contract would still be erroneous as RRH then would not have had enough RRL shares to lend to Bookmark, based upon the following reconciliation of the RRL shares held by RRH, prepared by T-Sec:

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Description	RRL shares
Starting balance as at 1 January 2004[531]	10 785 000
Add sales during 2003	900 000
Deduct pre split sales during 2004	3 620 000
Balance of shares left pre split	7 165 000
Balance of shares left post split	14 330 000
Post split sales	5 120 000
Pledged to Socgen in certificated format	4 000 000
Balance available	5 210 000

- As far as the representations regarding the funding of Inkwenkwezi are concerned, we noted that R85 865 625 were paid from T-Sec and eventually debited in the loan account of Inkwenkwezi in CMMS's books on 31 March 2005. This amount we understand should actually be reflected in REC's books. A further amount of R42 932 812.50 was paid from T-Sec and, after initially having been debited to the Inkwenkwezi loan account in CMMS's books, were transferred to the REC loan account in CMMS's books[532]. Assuming that these amounts were paid to or for the benefit of Inkwenkwezi for the purchasing of the WAR shares, it follows that these amounts would have been funded by the sales of a mix of RRL shares, referred to above, and normal share trading in the T-Sec treasury operation of CMMS. Hence it is not possible to determine whether RRL shares sold, funded these payments to Inkwenkwezi. That, however is not relevant, because the shares were sold by CMMS and CMMS, not Inkwenkwezi, had the obligation to return the RRL shares sold. Inkwenkwezi however had to repay the loan to CMMS, or, if it is correct that the loan was made to Inkwenkwezi by REC, as we were informed by the accounting staff of JCI Limited, then REC had to repay the loan to CMMS.

However, the crucial aspect of the representations in the JCI Limited position paper in respect of Inkwenkwezi, is that it was recorded that Inkwenkwezi was funded out of the Investec UK transaction, in which Bookmark was a party to the transaction structure. This is clearly not consistent with the evidence found.

[531] T-Sec indicated on their reconciliation that this balance was assumed based on information received from JCI Limited.
[532] Refer paragraph 10.22 infra

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Whilst we cannot determine the source of funding to Inkwenkwezi, due to the effects of mixing of money when paid into a common pool or account, it is clear from our analysis of the Investec UK transaction that neither did Bookmark participate therein and incur obligations in respect of the RRL shares forming part of that structure, nor did JCI Limited incur any obligation to Bookmark in terms of the RRL shares forming part of that transaction; and

- In respect of the representation that JCI Limited provided bridging finance to WAL on a back to back basis, it follows that Bookmark should then have lent money to JCI Limited to on lend to WAL and, if such arrangement was to affect JCI Limited's relationship with REC as regards the missing RRL shares, such shares should have been lent to Bookmark. As regards the first mentioned scenario, we found no evidence in the financial records of CMMS and JCI Gold that Bookmark lent money to CMMS or JCI Gold[533]. As regards the latter proposition, we refer to our findings supra regarding the Bookmark contract and repeat that we found no evidence of RRL shares having been lent to Bookmark.

It thus appears that, in so far as the settlement agreement was drafted to give effect to the information recorded in the JCI Limited position paper, it was formulated on an incorrect recordal of the transactions giving rise to the nature and extent of JCI Limited's obligation to REC, and particularly to RRH.

In the last instance, we considered the resolution of the directors to the effect that JCI Limited was solvent. No balance sheet of the JCI Limited group, as at 23 August 2005, was attached thereto, but balance sheets for the period ending 30 September 2004 and 31 March 2005 respectively were attached. The balance sheet at 30 September 2004 recorded a net asset value of some R736 579 712, but the annexures thereto provide no evidence of any obligations regarding the RRL shares transactions having been included. At that stage, CMMS benefited from the sale of some 7 093 397 RRL shares and had to give back some 12 936 794 RRL shares at a cost, if valued at 25 August 2005, of some R1 089 485 043.50[534].

[533] The only reference that we found to any money possibly received from Bookmark is an entry in the Matodzi loan account, indicating a receipt of R500 000 on 30 April 2004 and referenced "Bookmark Rasetaba".
[534] Assuming a RRL share price at the day of some USD13.20 and a Rand/USD exchange rate of some R6.38.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The balance sheet, at 31 March 2005, recorded a net asset value of some R545 294 000, but the annexures thereto provide no evidence of any obligations regarding the RRL shares having been included. At that stage, CMMS benefited from the sale of some 7 902 586 RRL shares and, upon the assumption that a scrip loan was made, had to give back some 13 745 983 RRL shares at a cost, if valued at 25 August 2005, of some R1 157 631 704.32[535]. We have not had sight of the balance sheet of JCI Limited as at 23 August 2005 and hence, cannot comment upon the solvency of JCI Limited at such date. At such date however, JCI Limited had an obligation to return some 16 686 794 RRL shares at a probable cost of some R1 405 295 045.50. It appears that this obligation was not disclosed at the time, otherwise the settlement agreement, based upon facts inconsistent with this obligation, could not have been called into being without a conscious decision to write down the major asset of REC.

8.8.3 The disclosure of the transaction with Investec UK

As we have recorded supra, this transaction was performed during March and April 2004. Hence we examined the following documents to determine the manner in which it was disclosed:

- The annual report of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries as at 31 March 2004;
- The half year results of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries as at 30 September 2004;
- The period ending 31 March 2005; and
- The transaction documentation relating to the loan from Investec to Lexshell and the settlement agreement.

The audited balance sheet of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries, as at 31 March 2004, disclosed interest bearing borrowings of some R677 078 million. Note 17 to the balance sheet recorded the following description for R221.976 million thereof:

"Collateral received from the borrower of listed securities. The collateral bears interest at rates varying between 9,65% and 9,71% and is repayable upon the return of the shares which will be on dates varying between 24 January 2006 and 24 May 2006."

[535] Assuming a RRL share price at the day of some USD13.20 and a Rand/USD exchange rate of some R6.38.

This aspect was further embroidered on at note 28.2, captioned scrip lending and reading inter alia as follows[536]:

"At year end,

- subsidiary companies had lent out listed securities having a carrying value of R371 354 000 and a market value of R438 524 000. Collateral received in respect of these listed securities amounts to R221 976 000.Refer note 17.
- the Company had borrowed listed securities having a market value of R72 000 000 and its subsidiaries had borrowed listed securities having a market value of R403 614 000.
  These shares were pledged as security for Group loans-refer Appendix D."

A perusal of Appendix D of the annual report makes no mention of RRL shares borrowed or lent. We noted the following in respect of the disclosure referred to supra:

- The contents of notes 17 and 28.2 appear to have reference to the Investec UK transaction; and
- Whilst the Investec UK structure, as indicated supra, required the borrowing from RRH and the lending to Investec UK of RRL shares, such fact was neither disclosed in Appendix D, apparently listing the shares borrowed and/or lent as dealt with in note 28.2, nor anywhere else in this annual report, as far as we could determine.

In so far as the nature and extent of JCI Limited's obligations are concerned in terms of the Investec UK transaction, note 32 to the financial statements of JCI Limited reads as follows[537]:

"An equity option structure maturing between 24 January 2006 and 24 May 2006, consisting of bought equity options and sold equity call options relating to the collateral provided referred to in Note 17, was entered into. The equity option structure was implemented in the American Depository Receipt market and the resultant equity options converted to rand through separate forward foreign exchange contracts. The equity options consist of 2,7 million bought put options with an average strike price of US$14.93 and 2,7 million sold call options with an average strike price of US$22.55. At 31 March 2004 the market value of the equities to which the bought put options related fell into a range between the put strike price and the call strike price. The related forward exchange contracts were acquired at rates varying between R6.55 and R6.67 to the US Dollar. Subsequent to the year-end the forward foreign exchange contracts were unwound."

The half year results of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries do not reflect any detail, save to record that non current interest bearing borrowings amounted to R686.345 million.

No disclosure of the Investec UK transaction was achieved by JCI Limited as at 31 March 2005, due to the failure of JCI Limited to issue AFS.

We have dealt with the circumstances of the loan from Investec to Lexshell and the settlement agreement in detail supra. Of relevance in this section is the fact that the Investec UK transaction was presented in the JCI Limited position paper as having Bookmark as a party thereto. The evidence recording the Investec UK transaction did not record Bookmark as a party thereto.

8.9 Accounting entries posted

During the 2005 financial year of CMMS, the following entries were posted in the CMMS ledger account number 171 760: Shares – Randgold Resources:

- On 30 April 2005, a credit of R186 171 496.00 was recorded. This entry represented the sale of 1.5 million RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec and which were credited to such account. This entry recorded such sales conducted during the period 7 April 2004 to 29 April 2004. The entry represents a short sale of the shares. However, effective the same day, R186 171 496.00 was debited to this account and credited to CMMS ledger account number 151 810: Loan-Randgold/Masupatsela, thus recognising that the shares were due to be returned to REC;

- On 3 May 2004, journal number 1927 was processed in the ledger of CMMS, crediting CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan – Randgold/Masupatsela with R111 756 893.89 and debiting account number 155 764: Loan – Randgold Funding with some R100 786 893.89. In this entry was recorded the sale of 575 000 RRL shares, aggregating some R95 594 605.66. As such, a debt in respect of the sale of these shares were recognised as due to REC. As is the case with the sale of the 1.5 million RRL shares referred to supra, the pre split status of these transactions has not been recognised; and

- During the period 25 June 2004 to 31 March 2005, some R123 808 393.48 was credited in the CMMS ledger account number 171760: Shares-Randgold Resources. These entries represented the sale of some 1 989 189 RRL shares sold in the Consolidated Investment trading account at T-Sec during the period 15 June 2004 to 31 March 2005. Effective 31 March 2005, this account was debited with R123 808 393.48 and account number 170 200: Investments – Short Term were credited with such amount, hence the obligation to return the RRL shares were shown as towards the treasury function at T-Sec and Socgen. Whilst the effect of this entry disclosed an obligation to return RRL shares, it failed to record RRH as the creditor. However, effective the same day, i.e. 31 March 2005, the transfer of the R123 808 393.08 to account number 170 200 was reversed and account 170 700: Investments-Other was credited with such amount. This entry negated the fact that CMMS had an obligation to return the shares to its owner and represented that CMMS liquidated its own RRL shares, which it of course did not own. Whilst the transaction mentioned at the first bullet above is consistent with an intention to recognise RRH as a creditor of CMMS, the latter entry was not consistent with such intention.

Neither the above entries recognised the fact that the RRL shares were split and that such influenced the nature and extent of the obligation towards RRH.

The accounting entries made in respect of the Alibiprops transactions are recorded at section 8.6 supra. We indicated that the transactions, initially recorded in the account 171760: Shares – Randgold Resources, were transferred from there to accounts number: 174504: Sundry Debtors- RB Kebble - Consolidated Investments/Alibi and 211 505: Sundry Creditor – Alibi, hence fully removing the Alibiprops transaction out of CMMS's balance sheet. The effects of these entries were a denial of any liability of CMMS to RRH in respect of the RRL shares sold in the Alibiprops account at T-Sec, and also a denial of the fact that CMMS had an obligation to return RRL shares to RRH proportionate to the benefit of some R139 million received from the sale of RRL shares in the Alibiprops account.

9 The reconciliation and application of funds generated

9.1 Introduction

The purpose of this section is to investigate the source of funds obtained by CMMS and the subsequent distribution thereof. During the investigation, we concentrated on the trading activities at T-Sec, specifically relating to the three major trading accounts, namely Consolidated Investments (648410); Randgold Scrip Lending (633701) and JCI Gold Limited (649558).

During the investigation we established that trading occurred in shares that may not have belonged to CMMS, but which were obtained through actions of the past directors of CMMS. We conducted an analysis of certain of the shares traded by CMMS to establish whether or not these belonged to CMMS at the stage when they were traded. Based on this analysis we calculated a possible liability where shares were sold by CMMS, which did not belong to them.

We also prepared a cash flow analysis (per financial year and consolidated for the period under investigation) indicating the flow of funds generated by the share trading. In addition, a cash flow analysis of CMMS was also prepared. These cash flows, including the share trading and other income, were then combined into a combined cash flow analysis of CMMS. This combined cash flow analysis of CMMS indicated funds received from T-Sec, relating to share trading, and other funds received by CMMS and the subsequent application of such funds by CMMS.

9.1.1 Activity of CMMS

In the directors' report to the audited financial statements, of CMMS, for the year ended 31 March 2004, the nature of CMMS's business was recorded as follows:

"NATURE OF BUSINESS

Your company operates in the fields of management and finance and also holds investments in property and finance companies and a farming company."

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

During consultations with the current management of the company, we were informed that CMMS acted as the treasury of the JCI Limited group of companies in that it obtained and provided finance for the rest of the group of companies. The majority of the funds obtained, appear to have been allocated to WAL as working capital. CMMS have held an interest of approximately 40% in WAL during the period under review.

A note in the directors' report recorded that the annual financial statements of CMMS had been prepared on the basis of accounting policies applicable to a going concern, despite the apparent accumulated losses of R676 166 000 and the group's total liabilities exceeding its assets by R638 685 000.

As at 31 March 2004, the short term borrowing, or collateral provided by CMMS, in relation to the scrip lending activities of CMMS, was reported to be R2 214 610. Note 13, "INTEREST-BEARING BORROWINGS", to the financial statements of CCMS, reflected the cost of collateral as follows:

"..... The collateral bears interest at rates varying between 9,65% and 9,71% and is repayable upon the return of shares which will be on dates varying between 24 January 2006 and 24 May 2006....."

In note number 22, "Commitments", it was recorded that CMMS had borrowed listed securities of a market value amounting to R422 855 000.

A review of the three major trading accounts recognised by CMMS[538], indicated that a gross amount of R339 803 528.20 had been generated by the sale and purchase of shares through the T-Sec accounts during the financial year ending 31 March 2004. The amount included the sale of shares such as WAR, REC, JCI Gold and RRL.

Based on a limited review of the financial statements and discussions with the current management of CMMS, it appears that the funding of the group was effected by way of share transactions, obtained through securities-lending agreements between CMMS and T- Sec[539] and between CMMS and Socgen[540].

9.1.2 Trading accounts operated at T- Sec by CMMS

As part of their treasury function and to generate funds for the group, CMMS was alleged to have transacted various trading accounts at T-Sec. Based on initial consultations and instructions, received from the current management of CMMS, we concentrated on the following trading accounts:

- Consolidated Investments ("Consolidated Investments"): Account number: 648410;
- Randgold Scrip Lending Account ("Randgold Scrip"): Account number: 633701; and
- JCI Gold ("JCI Gold"): Account number: 649558.

It is our understanding, based on consultations with management, that the bulk of the financing activities were conducted in these three accounts with the majority of the trading being transacted in the Consolidated Investments and Randgold Scrip accounts. It is further our understanding that these treasury activities were embarked on due to difficulty experienced by JCI Limited to obtain normal bank generated financing.

9.1.2.1 Consolidated Investments – Account number 648410

A trading account was opened in the name of Consolidated Investments (Pty) Limited. We were unable to obtain the original statutory documentation relevant to the opening of the account and the exact date of opening of the account is therefore uncertain.

During an internal review, performed by Saaiman of T-Sec, during November 2005, it became apparent that T-Sec had not obtained all of the required statutory documents relating to CMMS. This was subsequently rectified, according to e-mail communications between Beale, Tertia Penkin and Saaiman[541].

From the correspondence between Beale and Tertia Penkin, dated 9 November 2005, it appears that a company, Consolidated Investments (Pty) Limited, existed in Mafikeng, but did not form part of the JCI Limited group of companies. It is uncertain at this stage why the previous directors of CMMS opened a trading account in the name of Consolidated Investments (Pty) Limited, as it appears from the correspondence that they were aware of the existence of the entity styled Consolidated Investments. It appears that Beale, on behalf of CMMS, contacted the company with a view to purchase the entity, but did not receive any reply from them.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

It appears that the required statutory documentation, relating to CMMS, was then forwarded to T-Sec for this account, but that the account name was not changed and was still known as the Consolidated Investments trading account. This account is thus referred to as the Consolidated Investments trading account throughout this report.

A resolution of the directors of CMMS, passed on 16 November 2005, resolved that the name of the account be changed to CMMS and that the following directors be appointed as the representative officer and authorised signatories[542]:

- Gray – Representative Officer;
- Authorised "A" signatories: Gray and Lamprecht; and
- Authorised "B" signatories: Henning and Beale.

A new full discretion mandate between T-Sec and CMMS was also entered into and signed on 18 November 2005[543].

As part of the trading activities agreed between the previous directors of CMMS and T-Sec, T-Sec, on behalf of CMMS, had the authority to facilitate the borrowing of securities as and when funds were required by CMMS.

A Securities Lending Agreement between Tradek Balderson (Pty) Limited (currently T-Sec), and CMMS was signed on 13 February 2002[544]. The signatories to the agreement were Steenkamp, on behalf of T-Sec, and Poole, on behalf of CMMS. The purpose of the agreement was recorded as follows on page 10 of the agreement, under the heading "Part III – Main Agreement":

"1. PURPOSE OF THIS AGREEMENT

> The purpose of this agreement, is to appoint Tradek as the borrowers agent, for purposes of Tradek borrowing securities from a lender on terms and conditions to be determined by Tradek in its sole and absolute discretion (which shall bind the borrower) pursuant to the receipt of a borrowing instruction on behalf of the borrower from time to time, on the terms and conditions of this agreement".

[542] Refer Exhibit 4.1.2
[543] Refer Exhibit 4.1.3
[544] Refer Exhibit 4.1.4

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

It is apparent from the agreement that T-Sec could approach any lender and was not restricted to a specific lender in the industry. The agreement also stated, on page 12 at clause 3.

"3 SCOPE OF THIS AGREEMENT

This agreement, shall apply to all loans of securities which the borrower may wish to borrow from time to time from a potential lender, to be facilitated by Tradek, where Tradek has received borrowing instruction/s from the borrower."

Based on the above agreement, CMMS actively traded in various securities with the main objective of obtaining funding for the JCI Limited group of companies. Trading was effected by T-Sec and, more specifically, by Chivers. In paragraph 9.1.3 infra the trading objectives of CMMS, and the instructions given to the trader, are discussed.

During a consultation with both Steenkamp and Van Zyl, it was indicated that, during the initial stages of the securities lending agreement, T-Sec obtained securities from various sources and institutions. As from the 2004 financial year of CMMS and beyond, however, the scrip was mainly obtained from Socgen.

9.1.2.2 Randgold Scrip – Account 633701

The Randgold Scrip account was opened by RB Kebble 7 on February 2003[545]. A review of the transactions in this account indicated limited transactions being performed in this account to 31 December 2004.

On 16 February 2005, REC authorised T-Sec to perform Safex transactions on the Randgold Scrip account[546]. Consultations with the staff of T-Sec indicated that the Safex transactions were intended to be used as a "hedge" to the liability that would be incurred from time to time on the security lending activities. The transactions, performed on the derivatives account, have not been included in our review of transactions conducted by T-Sec on behalf of CMMS.

During a consultation with Steenkamp and Van Zyl, of T-Sec, they stated that the JSE had advised T-Sec, during December 2004, that the potential liability incurred in terms of the securities lending agreement was considered to be too high for a brokering firm and that the JSE had instructed T-Sec to stop acting as an agent for CMMS in terms of the scrip lending agreement.

[546] Refer Exhibit 4.1.6

Following this instruction from the JSE, the Randgold Scrip account, opened by RB Kebble in 2003, had been re-activated. REC then entered into a securities lending agreement with Socgen[547]. This agreement was signed on 26 October 2004 by Buitendag, on behalf of REC, and on 12 January 2005 by M Pasquier of Socgen. This aspect is dealt with in detail at section eleven infra.

Under the heading "APPLICABILITY", on page 1 of the agreement, the following was recorded:

"1 APPLICABILITY

1.1 From time to time the parties may enter into transactions in which one party ("Lender" Party A) will transfer to the other ("Borrower" Party B) securities and financial instruments ("Securities") against the transfer of Collateral (as defined in paragraph 2) with a simultaneous agreement by Borrower to transfer to Lender Securities equivalent to such Securities on a fixed date or on demand against the transfer to Borrower by Lender of assets equivalent to such Collateral....."

The collateral, referred to above, was defined as follows on page 2 of the agreement:

"....."Collateral" means such securities or financial instruments or transfers of currency as are referred to in the table set out under paragraph 1 of the Schedule as being acceptable or any combination thereof as agreed between the Parties in relation to any particular Loan and which are delivered by Borrower to Lender in accordance with this Agreement and shall include Alternative Collateral....."

In terms of the schedule, attached to the agreement, the collateral for each loan was not to be less than the consolidated market value of the loan securities and the margin percentages indicated in the following table:

Security/Financial Instrument	Margin %
Cash in South African Rand	105
South African Equities listed on JSE and included in ALSI 40	120
South African Bonds listed on the Bond Exchange of South Africa subject to prior approval of the lender	110

Although this trading account was opened, based on instructions received from REC, a separate legal entity, all the transactions, performed on the JSE and reflected on this trading account, were accounted for in the general ledger of CMMS. We presume that the transactions, conducted in this account, were conducted on behalf of CMMS and not on behalf of REC.

Following the instruction from the JSE to limit the possible liability of T-Sec, the following shares were "transferred" to the Randgold Scrip account as security for the lending transactions:

Share	Number of shares	Price at transfer R	Total R
JCI Limited	89 526 009	0.34	30 438 843.06
Matodzi Resources	52 896 597	0.75	39 672 447.74
WAR	2 000 000	30.00	60 000 000
Total value			130 111 290.80

In addition, the following short positions, incurred by CMMS in terms of the original securities lending agreement, were also transferred to this new account:

Share	Number of shares	Price at transfer R	Total R
Investec	477 472	170.80	81 552 217.60
Standard Bank	1 524 834	64.00	97 589 376.00
Tiger Brands	300 000	96.67	29 001 000.00
Value of "shorts"			208 142 593.60

During our investigation of the transactions and the sale and purchase of securities, it was noted that no transactions in shares of companies, forming part of the JCI Limited group of companies, were traded in this account.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

9.1.2.3 JCI Gold – Account Number 649558

The JCI Gold account was opened by Poole on 13 February 2003 according to the date of the discretionary mandate signed with Tradek[548]. Limited trading took place during the period February 2003 to February 2005.

During the period March 2005 to October 2005, the account reflected total net value in share trading of some R37 million. The main share scrip traded during this period was that of WAR, REC and S&J. These shares were transferred from various other trading accounts, controlled by the directors of the JCI Limited group, and subsequently liquidated through this account. No security lending activities and no share portfolio were maintained in this account.

Although this trading account was opened, based on instructions received from JCI Gold, a separate legal entity, all the transactions, performed on the JSE and reflected on the trading account, were accounted for in the general ledger of CMMS. We presume that the transactions, performed in this account, were performed on behalf of CMMS and not on behalf of JCI Gold.

9.1.2.4 Other related trading accounts

We noted an e-mail with the subject heading "Kebble Accounts", dated 18 February 2003, from Tertia Penkin of T-Sec, addressed to Steenkamp, indicating a total of 22 "Kebble Accounts"[549]. On a separate e-mail, dated 31 March 2003, from Tertia Penkin to Beale, four accounts on the original list had been closed, but the remainder had been maintained. A trading account in the name of S&J was included in the list.

During our investigation of the trading accounts, we identified the accounts tabled below. In the column next to the account number, we have indicated whether or not any transactions between these accounts and the three major CMMS accounts, as discussed at paragraphs 9.1.2.1, 9.1.2.2 and 9.1.2.3, were observed:

9.1.3 Activities on the major JCI Limited trading accounts at T-Sec

Based on consultations with Steenkamp and Chivers, it appears that the primary trading strategy was to generate funding for the JCI Limited group of companies via the securities lending agreements that were in place on the Consolidated Investments and Randgold Scrip accounts.

Chivers informed us that, initially, the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 was opened as an investment fund for JCI Limited and that the objective of the fund was to generate growth on investments.

According to Steenkamp and Chivers, RB Kebble began to comprehend the funding potential of a securities lending arrangement at the time when funds had been required for the purchase of T-Sec. RB Kebble agreed to assist with the purchase by providing finance. The required funding of approximately R18 million was made available within a day and, based on this transaction, RB Kebble entered into the initial securities lending agreement for the provision of funding to the JCI Limited group.

The initial arrangement for this funding was for a period of three months, which period was extended for a further two periods of three months before ending in the current position. T-Sec had recommended the hedging of the liability incurred through the securities lending arrangement. CMMS had always declined to do so.

The initial agreement with Socgen was that the limit of the securities lending arrangement would be capped at R700 million on the Consolidated Investment trading account, while T-Sec acted as an agent for JCI Limited. As security for this arrangement JCI Limited provided WAR share scrip and cash.

JCI Limited's funding requirements soon exceeded that limit and, as a result, Socgen indicated a willingness to provide an additional facility. The additional facility was to be provided to another legal entity in order to satisfy requirements imposed by their head office in France, which restricted facilities to a maximum of R700 million per entity. A second agreement was then drawn between REC and Socgen.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

Although the Socgen requirement was for two separate legal entities, the limit, for the JCI Limited Group and CMMS, as the treasury, was effectively increased to R1 400 million, with separate facilities for both CMMS and REC. All of the transactions on the trading accounts were reflected in the general ledger of CMMS.

We were informed that the JSE had advised T-Sec that the JSE, as regulator, believed that T-Sec's capital adequacy requirements were not sufficient to facilitate the arrangements as they were. In addition, the JSE did not recognise the shares of RRL that had been provided as collateral for the security lending arrangements agreed with Socgen.

During the period of the agreement, CMMS's funding requirements were such that the normal "Trade plus 5 days" arrangement became inadequate and an arrangement of "Trade plus 1 day" was required. For this reason T-Sec and/or Socgen provided the facility accordingly and funds were advanced on the basis of "Trade plus 1 day" and recovered on the basis of "Trade plus 5 days".

Chivers informed us that the trading activities were primarily based on generating funds as and when required by CMMS. Chivers was ultimately responsible for the selection of shares that were "short" traded on the account, although there were some trades effected through the account without his knowledge or consideration. Chivers maintained that he held daily consultations with RB Kebble regarding the trades and claimed that RB Kebble would sometimes insist on going "short" or "long" on specific shares.

At a stage when the CMMS funding requirements increased, Socgen demanded more liquidity in terms of both shares and cash. RB Kebble apparently distanced himself from the liquidity problem, and, during the 2005 financial year, Lamprecht began to take more responsibility for meeting the Socgen security and liquidity requirements.

During our investigation of the trading accounts, it was evident that there was a minimum of documentation available to support the various transactions conducted through these accounts. Most of the supporting documentation consisted of internal documentation generated by T-Sec indicating that numerous trading instructions had been verbally received from CMMS staff.

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

In a letter, dated 17 July 2003 and addressed to Swanevelder at JCI Limited, Saaiman, of T-Sec, informed Swanevelder that[550]:

"...1. Transfer by request of JCI Ltd

Tradek (Pty) Ltd regularly received request either from C Lamprecht, G Poole, R Kebble and B Kebble. Some of these transfers are requested in writing and other by recorded phone conversations. Therefore it is impossible to provide proof of every transfer. We do authenticate every transfer, hence the fact that all transfers are rooted through Mark Chivers."

9.2 Cash Flow Analysis of the Trade Accounts

9.2.1 Introduction

We prepared a cash flow analysis of the transactions conducted through the three major accounts, for the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005. The movements on all three accounts were consolidated into a single flow of funds for the period. As indicated at paragraph 9.1, the majority of the transactions were performed in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410. We have separated the total movements for each financial year and have discussed the inflow and outflow of funds accordingly. We have then consolidated the figures to establish the total inflow of funds into CMMS and the JCI Limited group.

9.2.2 Trading Activities

The trading activities on the JSE entailed T-Sec, or the investor, identifying shares, which, it was believed, would depreciate in terms of current share price. The trader would adopt a "short position" whereby shares, which were not owned by the trader, were sold. In order to deliver the shares to meet the JSE requirement of "Trading plus 5 days" for delivery of sold scrip, the trader had to borrow the specific shares sold from a securities lender and deliver them to the buyer of the shares. At a future date, the trader would acquire the same number of shares sold, hopefully at a lower price, and deliver these to the securities lender on due date, thereby making a turn on the price movement of the shares.

[550] Refer Exhibit 4.1.10

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

The net effect of the "short" trade described, was that funds were received on the sale of the shares. The trader borrowed shares for delivery to the buyer and incurred a liability towards the securities lender to return the specific number of shares borrowed at a future date. The movement in the price of the shares between date of borrowing and the date of delivery was at the risk of the trader as it is the scrip borrowed that had to be delivered and not a value of shares.

As part of a scrip lending agreement, the trader had to provide security, or collateral, to the lender that would normally have been equal in market value to the shares and/or securities borrowed from the lender. Collateral was normally in the form of cash or securities, as agreed between the parties. In terms of scriplending agreements, all income, namely dividends declared on the shares borrowed, were generally payable by the borrower to the scrip lender regardless of the fact that the borrower could have sold the shares on the market, would not have been in possession of the shares and would not have received the declared dividend. The arrangements, pertaining to the CMMS scrip borrowing, were set out at clause six "distributions and corporate actions" of the securities lending agreement[551].

9.2.3 Profit generated

For purposes of this report we have not calculated the profit generated on the trading of shares, but have merely calculated the net cash flow generated by the sale of shares less the funds used for repurchase. We also did not investigate movement in collateral or dividends paid and received on the account, but only calculated the net movement for these transactions. The value of overall trading activities, as reflected in the various cash flow statements, is the net figure resulting from share trading, movement in collateral, net amount in dividends and interest.

A securities lender normally charges a monthly fee on the securities provided in terms of these agreements. The fee is normally an agreed upon percentage on the total value of the securities borrowed. We did not verify or re-calculate these monthly charges, indicated as scrip lending fees on the cash flow analysis.

9.2.4 Cash inflow

The funds, received from the trading activities, are identified in the relevant financial years in the paragraphs below. We concentrated on the movements of the following shares:

- WAR;
- REC;
- Aflease;
- RRL; and
- JCI Limited.

9.2.5 Consolidated overview, for the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005

A consolidated flow of funds, on the three major trading accounts, for the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005, was prepared and is attached to this report[552]. Based on this, a total amount of R1 890 491 621.75 was generated and an amount of R1 888 258 788.37 was expensed by the trading activities. This leaves, taking the opening balances on the various accounts into account, a shortfall of R2 749 071.11 for the period under review.

9.2.6 Funds received

Total funds, generated on the three accounts for the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005, amounted to R1 890 491 621.75. This amount was sourced in the manner set out below.

9.2.6.1 Trading Activities

An amount of R1 372 468 859.85 was generated from trading activities with T-Sec as part of the two securities lending agreements. This amount represents the net trading activities after accounting for the movement incurred for collateral, dividend payments and interest payments associated with the securities borrowing/lending activities. We have not analysed or calculated the profit and losses generated by the trading activities on specific shares or through share "jobbing". Since the bulk of the activities involved the selling of borrowed securities, an inflow of funds to the account was generated.

[552] Refer Annexure L

Included in this amount is an amount of R1 193 844 616.39, representing the net funds generated on the sale and purchase of listed shares of companies that form part of the JCI Limited group of companies, as identified at paragraph 9.2.4 supra[553]. As can be seen from Annexure M, this amount has been calculated, based on the net result of trading in these shares on the JSE. The amount has been calculated as follows[554]:

- Net sales of 4 239 900 WAR: R128 007 667.22;
- Net sales of 11 055 444 REC: R274 993 825.54;
- Net sales of 7 126 000 RRL: R663 523 713.98;
- Net sales of 88 589 386 AFLEASE: R151 808 541.70; and
- Net purchases of 94 892 925 JCI Gold: R24 489 732.05.

An amount of R22 973 529.67, representing a sale of one million WAR shares on the overseas market via the brokerage firm Andisa Securities, should also be included in the overall amount. This has not been reflected in the trading as the sales were effected offshore and not locally on the JSE. These shares formed part of share certificate number 2197, representing two million WAR shares. Of this, one million was transferred to Investec and the other million was sold.

The net result of this is that the net amount generated from the Socgen facility, the funds received through the security lending agreements, after the effect of collateral, dividends and interest, was R155 650 713.79 for the period under review, calculated as follows:

Net income generated by share trading	R1 372 468 859.85
Less Share trading (Part of JCI Limited Group)	(R1 193 844 616.39)
Less WAR Shares sold – Andisa Securities	(R22 973 529.67)
Net Income – Socgen facility	R155 650 713.79

9.2.6.2 Other Income

9.2.7.2 Administration fees

All payments made to T-Sec and to the securities provider have been deemed administration fees for the purpose of this reconciliation. These fees have not been investigated and have been accepted at face value. The major portion of the fees identified, related to securities lending fees and a portion of the salary payable to one Nick Goodwin. The amount of the securities-lending fees are based on a percentage of the value of the securities provided by the lender (being Socgen) to the borrower (being CMMS) for a specific month.

The arrangement regarding the monthly salary of Nick Goodwin, amounting to R75 000, was explained by Saaiman, of T-Sec, in a letter, dated 17 July 2003 and addressed to Swanevelder[555]. The following was recorded at paragraph four of the letter:

"4. N Goodwin

This was negotiated by B Kebble and P Gray. The agreement was that Tradek (Pty) Ltd warehouse Nic, but that he would still provide services to JCI Ltd. We pay 25% of his salary and the rest is allocated to JCI Ltd. Due to statutory reasons we deducted the PAYE, UIF etc from his salary on JCI Ltd behalf and pay it over to SARS. It would be appreciated if possible that JCI ltd would provide a contract stating above if possible for Labour relations reasons....."

The amounts paid and deemed to be administration fees, for the period under review, were as follows:

- Securities lending fees: R32 260 508.40;
- Structuring fees: R36 581 882.87;
- N Goodman Salary: R2 362 500.00;
- Transaction charges one million RRL shares: R385 364.03;
- MST Anglo/WAL transaction: R80 979.18;
- DRD assessment fee: R2 400.00;

- Administration fees: R1 896.00;
- Electronic transfer fees: R450,00;
- Compushare: R300.00; and
- Value Added Tax on the above fees: R8 550 012.00;

9.2.7.3 Transfers to Futures account

During the period under investigation, an amount of R49 583 181.08 was transferred to the futures accounts on the Randgold Scrip account, number 633701, and to the CMMS futures account, number 689422.

We have not included these two futures trading accounts in our investigation, except where transfers to and from these two accounts have been recorded.

9.2.8 Financial year ending 31 March 2003 (1 April 2002 to 31 March 2003)

For the financial year ending 31 March 2003, only the CMMS trading account indicated any activity. Both the Randgold Scrip account and the JCI Gold account were inactive.

The combined reconciliation indicates funds received by CMMS of some R140 491 164.97 and funds outflow of R140 017 237.20, leaving a net available balance of R990 165.50 on the combined accounts, taking the opening balances into account[556].

9.2.8.1 Inflow of funds

The net inflow of funds was generated by trading activities on the JSE, in particular on the Consolidated Investments account number 648410, less payments of collateral, interest and dividends to the lender of the securities traded, as well as funds received from two RB Kebble related entities, namely[557]:

- Hothouse Investments: R425 000.00; and

- New Heights (Pty) Limited: R296 685.30.

Funds, generated by trading, aggregated some R154 235 719.77. Of this, an amount of R73 660 106.58 represented the net trading in shares of companies that form part of the JCI Limited group, as follows[558]:

Share name	Net number of shares traded	Total R	Net Sale/Buy
WAR	(2 317 501)	(76 524 408.23)	Sale
JCI Gold	1 299 000	509 199.32	Buy
AF Lease	573 000	2 355 102.33	Buy
Total Income		(73 660 106.58)

The liability, as at 31 March 2003, in terms of the shares borrowed to generate the funds on the account, amounted to R140 891 403.92. This represents the market value of the shares that were "short" or borrowed from the scrip lender for sale in the market.

The net effect can be represented as follows:

	Amount R
Funds generated	154 235 719.77
Less "JCI Limited group" shares	(73 660 106.58)
Funds received on "Agreement"	80 575 613.19
Liability – Agreement	140 891 403.92

9.2.8.2 Outflow of funds

We have categorised the outflow of funds from the three accounts as follows:

- Payments made to various entities: R115 612 751.26;
- Transfers to other trading accounts at T-sec: R20 826 746.68; and
- Administration charges: R3 577 738.87.

Payments made from the T-Sec Accounts

During the financial year ending 31 March 2003, various payments were made by T-Sec on instruction from various individuals at CMMS. As already indicated, we were unable to obtain comprehensive supporting documentation for such payments because of the following reasons:

- Documents having been archived by T-Sec and not yet retrieved; or
- Instructions were given verbally by CMMS personnel and, as such, no supporting documents were available.

Payments to CMMS

During this period, a total amount of R67 433 051.98 was paid into the bank account of CMMS held at FNB, account number 50491812176[559].

An amount of R4 000 000.00, paid into the CMMS bank account on 5 August 2002, was reflected as funds received from "RB Kebble" in the ledger of CMMS. We could not identify any entry in the statements, received from T-Sec, indicating that these funds were in fact received from RB Kebble.

Payments have been agreed to source documentation, located at T-Sec, as to amounts and instructions to pay. We also agreed the receipt of these funds in the CMMS bank account.

Payment to Titan Share Dealers (Pty) Limited

An amount of R20 291 613.00 was paid into the bank account of Titan Share Dealers (Pty) Limited relating to the purchase of WAR and JCI Limited shares[560]. This amount was paid in two payments, being:

- 1 August 2002: R14 500 000.00; and
- 2 August 2002: R5 791 613.00.

These payments were made on the instruction of Poole.

Payments to RB Kebble

During the year ending 31 March 2003, R8 003 383.62 were paid to either RB Kebble directly, or on his behalf, from the T-Sec trading accounts[561]. These payments were as follows:

- Payment of R800 000.00 on 20 December 2002 to bank account number 000035386 held at Standard Bank. This appears to be RB Kebble's personal bank account based on the information received. We were unable to find any supporting documentation for this payment and have been unable to identify the person who instructed this payment; and

- Payment made to an ABSA bank, account number 4050437514 in the amount of R7 203 383.62 on 21 January 2003. The narration on the January 2003, T-Sec statement recorded the following:

  "Transfer SBO SETTLEMENT REF 24370623001 ABSA"

  We were provided with a copy of an e-mail instruction to Steenkamp indicating that this appears to have been a settlement payment on behalf of RB Kebble[562]. The reference required by Saambou was 24370623001 – RB Kebble. Based on information, received from Saaiman, this payment had as its purpose to settle the carry account facility that RB Kebble established via T-Sec with Saambou Bank Limited. The carry account was a finance facility in terms of which Saambou Bank Limited lent funds to T-Sec's clients, based on shares held by T-Sec as collateral. The payment was made, based on a calculation by Saambou Bank Limited, to settle the facility and close the carry account on behalf of RB Kebble.

Payments to WAL

The total payments to WAL amounted to R19 832 972.66. Although no source documents are available, Saaiman informed us that these payments were "swift transfers" and that the only swift transfers that T-Sec had made were to the WAL bank account held at Investec[563]. These payments were normally requested by Magda Stolz on behalf of Lamprecht. All source documents are currently archived and, as a result, we have been unable to confirm these payments.

Payment to JCI Gold

We noted that the opening balance of R51 730.99 on the JCI Gold account number 633701 at March 2002 was paid out during May 2002[564]. The narration on the statement for May 2002 recorded the following:

"Cash paid on the account"

T-Sec informed us that they issued a cheque number 6002 for the amount of R51 730.99 to the benefit of JCI Gold Limited on the instructions of JCI Limited.

The result of this transaction was that the balance on the account was zero and remained zero until March 2005, when active trading was again conducted through this account. The reason for this payment appears to have been a decision to close the account, although this was never done.

9.2.8.3 Transfers from the CMMS trading account

Transfers were normally recorded via journal entries, according to Saaiman of T-Sec. He maintained that supporting documentation for journal entries was not always available, especially when the transaction involved a loan from T-Sec to a client or relating to a specific instruction to transfer funds between various trading accounts held by a single client, or entity, as in the case of CMMS.

Transfer to Gray Consortium – Trading Account Number 956888

During the 2002 financial year, JCI Limited assisted in the purchasing of T-Sec shares (then known as Tradek Holdings or "TDK") for the subsequent delisting of the company from the JSE. The transaction was conducted, according to Saaiman, by the Gray Consortium with assistance from Sasfin, who acted as financial advisors for the transaction. Gray was at that stage the chairman of T-Sec, who assisted with the transaction, and, as such, the account was labelled the Gray Consortium account.

[564] Refer Annexure O

The net amount, provided by JCI Limited to the Gray Consortium, was R22 172 744.64, An amount of R20 826 746.68 was transferred from the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 to the Gray Consortium trade account number 956888.

The payment was done in various transfers and can be summarised as follows:

Date	Amount R	Description
5 August 2002	1 802 806.50	The purchase of 18 028 065 TDK shares on the JSE. These shares were then transferred to trading account 956888
19 November 2002	10 134 032.76	Payment to Sasfin, to provide funding for the purchasing of minority shares.
19 November 2002	1 050 460.02	Payment to Saambou, shareholding of Saambou through their subsidiary – Fourth Dimension
22 November 2002	7 787 187.40	Payment to Sanlam for their shareholding
25 November 2002	52 260.00	Sasfin – Interest on loan finance
Total Paid	20 826 746.68

The balance of R1 344 000.00 was paid from the Consolidated Mining Management trading account number 620997.

The Gray Consortium and Sasfin established a SPV, Northpark Trading to conduct the transaction, on 31 March 2003, also the effective date of the delisting of Tradek Holdings. The shares and the liability in terms of the loan was transferred from Northpark Trading to Tlotlisa Financial Services and Dunrose in the ratio of 70% to Tlotlisa Financial Services and 30% to Dunrose, the latter of which was also the management company of Tradek Holdings Limited.

The loan, received from JCI Limited, was split in approximately the same ratio and was allocated as to R15 million to Tlotlisa Financial Services, and R7,5 million to Dunrose. In terms of the contract the loan of R15 million to Tlotlisa Financial Services would be split as follows:

- 50% to be converted to preference shares in Tlotlisa Financial Services; and

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- 50% reflected as a normal loan from JCI Limited to Tlotlisa Financial Services.

The payment of interest and the repayment of capital on this account were done via the payments to the trade accounts held at T-Sec.

We were not requested to investigate this matter any further and relied on the information provided by T-Sec to us in connection with the payments/transfers made from the trading accounts of CMMS.

9.2.8.4 Administration charges

The following administration fees were raised against the account during the year under investigation:

- Securities lending fees: R1 608 780.91;
- Structuring fees: 1 785 592.38;
- Administration fees: R432.00;
- Electronic transfer fees: R110.00; and
- Value Added Tax on the above fees: R182 823.58.

9.2.9 Financial year ending 31 March 2004 (1 April 2003 to 31 March 2004)

For the financial year, ending 31 March 2004, only the CMMS trading account revealed any activity. Both the Randgold Scrip account and the JCI Gold account were inactive.

The combined reconciliation indicates that a net amount of R415 305 366.30 was received on the accounts with a net outflow amounting to R417 406 049.93, leaving a net shortfall of R1 110 518.13 on the combined accounts, taking the opening balances into account[565]

9.2.9.1 Inflow of funds

Share trading activities.

During the year under investigation, a net amount of R339 803 528.20 was generated from the trading of securities on the JSE. Included in this sum is an amount of R154 233 095.18, representing the income generated from the sale of JCI Limited group of companies shares, as recorded at paragraph 9.2.4 supra. In addition, an amount of R7 390 133.02 was also received on the trade account from the sale of 250 000 REC shares via Computershare on 15 May 2003 and included in the amount of R339 803 528.20. We requested Van Zyl of T-Sec to provide us with information regarding this latter transaction, but at the date of this report, such information remained outstanding.

Trading results in JCI Limited group shares resulted in a net income of R161 623 228.20, comprising the following[566]:

Share name	Number of shares	Total R	Net sale/ Buy
WAR	237 841	8 615 427.43	Buy
AFLEASE	1 837 661	10 101 750.00	Buy
JCI Gold	369 900	(19 674.20)	Sale
RRL	575 000	(92 595 105.66)	Sale
REC	2 551 730	(80 335 492.75)	Sale
REC – Computershare	250 000	(7 390 133.02)	Sale
Total Income		(161 623 228.20)

Total net funds received from trading activities, after adjusting for the payment of collateral, dividends and interest, amounted to R258 301 800.88 for the year under investigation.

According to the T-Sec statement, as at 26 March 2004, the liability, in terms of the shares borrowed to generate the funds on the account, amounted to R431 580 866.87, being the market value of the shares that had been sold "short", or borrowed, from the scrip lender.

The net effect, as at 31 March 2004, can be represented as follows:

	Amount R
Funds generated	339 803 528.20
Less JCI group shares	161 623 228.20
Funds received on Agreement	178 180 300.00
Liability – Agreement	431 580 866.87

Funds received from JCI Limited

Aggregated receipts of R21 700 000.00 on the trading account have not been identified due to a lack of supporting documentation at T-Sec[567]. We requested T-Sec to follow up on these transactions and inform us as and when they are able to identify the transactions. T-Sec informed us that they have difficulty in identifying the source of the receipts as they only received a bank deposit slip or a transfer on their side. They presumed that the funds were paid from JCI Limited and, based on this explanation, we indicated these funds as receipts from JCI Limited.

The narrations on the T-Sec statements, on which these receipts were recorded, indicated the following sources of the receipts:

- Cash on account; or
- Receipts.

Transfers between trading accounts held at T-Sec (Funds Received)

On some occasions, CMMS required funds on an immediate basis and was unable or unwilling to wait for the funds to be paid into their account on the normal "trading plus 5 days". In these instances, T-Sec would provide the funds to them and subsequently recover the loan from the CMMS trading account.

The following funds were received from trading account 542225, held at T-Sec:

[567] Refer Annexure T

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- On 25 March 2004, T-Sec advanced an amount of R2 215 679.00 to CMMS on the Consolidated Investments account. This loan was paid back on 30 March 2004 by CMMS. As the repayment was effected after the cut-off date of the financial statements, it is reflected as funds received on the cash flow statement for the financial year ended March 2004, as prepared for the purposes of this report. Saaiman informed us that no supporting documentation is available relating to the transfer and that this was a short term funding arrangement that was agreed between the directors of T-Sec and the directors of CMMS[568]; and

- A similar transaction occurred on 12 May 2003, when CMMS did not have sufficient funds on their account to pay an amount of R8 600 000 to the securities lender as collateral. On this occasion, an amount of R3 496 370.62 was advanced to CMMS. This loan was subsequently repaid directly by Socgen to T-Sec. This transaction forms part of the collateral movement as reflected on the cash flow statement.

During the year under investigation, various transfers were made between various third party trading accounts, held at T-Sec, and the CMMS trading accounts. It appears that some of the past directors of CMMS had a controlling influence on these trading accounts and, as a result, could influence these transfers. As explained earlier in this report, there were not always supporting documentation available for these transfers and, as such, we only indicate the flow of funds at this stage. We prepared an analysis of all the transfers identified during the period under investigation[569].

An example of these transactions is the transfers received from Alibiprops No 13 (Pty) Limited and the three JCI Limited trading accounts. T-Sec was unable to provide us with supporting documentation for these transfers. The amount, received from the Alibiprops trading account, was R117 979 425.42 and was credited to CMMS ledger account number 211505, or "sundry creditors – Alibiprops".

Another example hereof is R4 100 000.00, received from the entity Paradigm Shift during July 2003 and the subsequent repayment thereof in August 2003. We were unable to obtained any explanation for this transfer.

Payment and transfers to Lyons Financial Services and related entities

We were informed that JCI Limited, through CMMS, funded Gary Formentein of Lyons Holdings Limited to buy Lyons Financial Solutions Limited from minority shareholders. The purpose and benefits of this transaction to JCI Limited are not clear at this stage and we were not mandated to specifically investigate these transactions. We were however requested to review the flow of funds from JCI Limited, via CMMS, to Lyons and confirmed the final amount due by Lyons to JCI Limited.

For purposes thereof we identified all payments and transfers made to Loyns Holdings and related entities and provided a summary of these payments and transfers to Steenkamp of T-Sec to confirm the transfers and provide an explanation of the transactions. During the 2004 financial year, an amount of R49 376 415.89 were either paid to or transferred to Lyons or related entities[573]:

The following payments, totalling R10 548 982.44, were identified during the 2004 financial year:

- Payments of R3 569 382.44, to an entity styled Lyons Miller Construction. According to Steenkamp, these funds were utilised in projects currently being developed by Lyons Property. This amount was paid in three instalments as indicated on Annexure V; and Icarus Nominees was utilised as a SPV to conduct these transactions[574].

The following transfers, totalling R38 827 433.45, were identified during the 2004 financial year[575]:

- An amount of R2 514 300.25 was transferred, on 29 July 2003 to the trade account of Itsuseng Strategic Investments. The narration on the statement reads as follows:

  "...EX 986166 64092703 LYS.....".

  During a consultation with Steenkamp, we were informed that, as with the Lyons Holdings Transaction, the identity of the beneficiaries and/or shareholders who received the funds from the buy-out transaction, has not been established. It was indicated to us that Itsuseng was involved in the transaction and may be the ultimate beneficiary of the funds. At this stage we have not received any proof of this and, according to Steenkamp, T-Sec did not investigate the matter. According to Steenkamp, no source documentation or agreements, relating to this transaction, exist and, as a result, he was unable to provide any proof of the transaction; and

- Transfers to the Lyons Guarantee Fund, T-Sec trade account number 671982, aggregating R36 313 133.20. These transfers were made on 12 September 2003 in an amount of R31 653 533.20 and on 15 September 2003 in an amount of R4 659 600.00. The transfer on 12 September 2003 refers to a sale of 1 020 000 REC shares sold on 5 September 2003. We are waiting an explanation from T-Sec regarding this transaction. Once a reconciliation has been provided by T-Sec we would be able to comment on these transactions.

On 5 September 2003, an amount of R5 000 000 was also paid to Matodzi. Again T-Sec was unable to provide supporting documentation with the same explanation as mentioned above regarding Metrofile.

9.3 The share trading in the T-Sec trade Accounts

9.3.1 Introduction

In order to establish whether or not JCI Limited sold shares in the market or provided such shares as collateral to fund the operations of the JCI Limited group of companies, we reviewed the movement of certain of the shares through the three major trading accounts held at T-Sec. These shares are:

- WAR;
- REC;

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- RRL;
- Aflease; and
- JCI Limited.

We tried to establish from which trading accounts or other sources these shares were received, the reason for the transfers, or to identify the transfers from the CMMS trading accounts to other trading accounts and the reasons for the movements. Since it was not possible to identify the movement of the shares between the various trading accounts, as the shares were not traded on the market and, as such, no movement was recorded on the statements, we had to rely on information provided to us by the staff of T-Sec.

The various balances, reflected in the discussion of the shares, were obtained from the portfolio section on the trading statements. In all cases, except where indicated, these were the balances per the Consolidated Investment trading account as very little movement or trades occurred on the other two trading accounts.

9.3.1.1 The WAR Shares

As at 1 April 2002, CMMS had 4 459 499 WAR shares in its portfolio, as reflected on the statement received from T-Sec. As at 31 October 2005, a shareholding of 18 346 938 WAR shares were shown on the T-Sec statement. Although trading in WAR shares were also conducted through the Randgold Scrip account and the JCI Gold account, it was of a limited quantity. A detailed reconciliation of the WAR shares is found at paragraph 7 supra. The bulk of the trading activities were conducted through the Consolidated Investment account.

The movement in the physical shares can be reconciled as follows:

	CMMS	JCI Gold	Randgold	Total
Opening Balance	4 459 499	1 000 000	-	5 459 499
Plus Purchases	2 582 822	53 899	-	2 636 721
Available shares:	7 042 321	1 053 899	-	8 096 220
Add net transfer of shares	19 591 699	(269 598)	1 600 000	20 922 101

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

	CMMS	JCI Gold	Randgold	Total
Transfers In	36 505 662	730 402	2 000 000	39 236 064
Transfers Out	(16 913 963)	(1 000 000)	(400 000)	(18 313 963)
	26 634 020	784 301	1 600 000	29 018 321
Less Sale of shares	(8 288 082)	(784 301)	-	(9 072 383)
Closing Balance	18 345 938	-	1 600 000	19 945 938

Although not clear from the reconciliation, some of the shares received via transfers were in fact utilised to assists the funding of CMMS in view of the fact that a total number of 9 072 383 shares were sold, whilst only 8 96 220 shares were available on the account prior to receiving the additional 20 922 101 shares via transfers. All the shares, transferred to the JCI Gold trading account, were in fact sold on the market. At 31 October 2005, CMMS had 19 945 936 WAR shares available in the three trading accounts. 17 806 861 WAR shares were transferred to Investec during November 2005.

Shares received

The WAR shares, received in the trading accounts, were divided into two categories namely:

- shares received from various entities and which did not reduce their investment value as they where obtained in the normal course of business, indicated as "Own Shares"; and

9.3.1.2 The REC Shares

As at 1 April 2002, CMMS had 1 258 400 REC shares in its portfolio as reflected on the statement received from T-Sec. As at 31 October 2005, a share holding of 796 168 REC shares are shown on the T-Sec statement. During our investigation, it was noted that the REC shares were also sold on the JCI Gold trading account number 649558. These transactions only occurred from May 2005 onwards and all the shares, sold on this account, were transferred from other trading accounts to this account.

The movement in the physical shares, on both trading accounts, can be reconciled as follows (It should be noted that the opening balance and closing balance of the number of shares are that of the CMMS trading account, as no portfolio of shares were held on the JCI Gold account. All the shares received on this account were sold in the month of receipt):

	CMMS	JCI Gold	Total
Opening Balance	1 258 400	-	1 258 400
Plus Purchases	170 966	-	170 966

It is apparent from the reconciliation that the shares, received via the transfers into the trading accounts, were sold to generate funds in the trading accounts.

9.3.1.3 The RRL Shares

Although, CMMS never had any RRL shares in its portfolio of investments, as reflected on the T-Sec statements, they sold a total number of 7 126 000 RRL shares during the period under investigation. The number of shares sold and the dates when they were sold are reflected in the table below.

9.3.1.4 The Aflease shares

As at 1 April 2002, CMMS had a short position of 573 000 Aflease shares in its portfolio as reflected on the statement received from T-Sec. This short position was subsequently settled in August 2002. During July 2003, CMMS started trading in Aflease shares and stopped such trading during May 2005, when the last of the Aflease shares was transferred out of the account.

The movement in the physical shares can be reconciled as follows:

Opening Balance – 1 April 2002	(573 000)
Plus Purchases:	3 332 152
Available shares:	2 759 152
Add net transfer of shares to CMMS	89 100 386

9.4 The cash flow of CMMS

We prepared an analysis of the cash-book, reflecting the transactions that occurred on bank account number 5049 1812 176, held at First National Bank. This analysis was done for the period 1 April 2002 to 13 October 2005. We did not performed a detailed analysis of any payments which occurred during the abovementioned period, except where payments were investigated as part of a specific transaction and reported on elsewhere in this report.

A detailed analysis of the three major trade accounts of CMMS was also conducted and the results of that analysis is discussed at paragraphs 9.2.8 to 9.2 11 supra.

A consolidated cash flow, based on the transactions per the cash book and the transaction per the trade accounts was then prepared, the purpose of which was to calculate a combined cash-flow of CMMS for the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005[613].

For the purposes of the cash-flow we attempted to allocate the income and/or expenses to the persons or entities to which they related or where inter relations were evident.

The flow of funds was split into the following categories:

- Funds generated through share trading; and
- Other funds received.

The "Other Funds" category was further divided into the following categories:

- Received from/Paid to JCI Limited subsidiaries;

[613] Refer Annexure Z

© 2007 KPMG . All rights reserved.

- REC related funds;
- Funds received from/paid to RB and RAR Kebble;
- John Stratton and related parties;
- Funds received from/paid to directors and other staff members;
- Funds received from/paid to other entities identified during the investigation;
- Funds received from/paid to banks and other related entities; and
- Company related income and/or expense.

Based on the consolidated cash flow exercise performed, it appears that CMMS generated an amount of R2 944 331 179.45 during the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005, during the same period an amount of R2 968 500 007.25 was used by CMMS to fund the operation of the JCI Limited group of companies. This leaves a shortfall of R24 168 827.88, ignoring opening and closing balances of the various sources[614].

9.4.1 Funds received

The individual source of funds can be analysed as follows:

Funds generated	Cash books[615] R	T-Sec trade accounts[616] R	Consolidated R

The shares, indicated in the number of shares column, are the net shares sold, after taking the opening balances and purchases into account. It is apparent that some of the shares were transferred from other trading accounts of other legal entities (either related or not to the JCI Limited group of companies) and subsequently sold. Shares were also transferred from the CMMS account to other trading accounts.

The balance of the share trading funds of R126 234 877.50 represents the net amount generated through the Socgen facility after taking into account the sales and repurchase of shares through the facility.

10 The investigation of identified balance sheet items of CMMS

10.1 Loan to Weston – Account number 151004

10.1.1 Introduction

Weston is a company registered in terms of Australian Company Law and has been operating in Australia since the acquisition of Weston Investments Ltd in 1997 by CAM Jersey. Weston took over as the management company for Australian interests from CAM Australia in January 2002. Weston's parent company is CAM Jersey, whose ultimate parent company is JCI[1].

Based on an e-mail and a supporting schedule thereto, which was sent from Turnbull to Beale on 23 August 2005, it appears as if CAM Jersey holds 99.8% of the shares in Weston[2].

The directors of Weston, as per the audited Financial Report of the entity as at 31 March 2005, were[3]:

- Stratton;
- Buitendag;
- RAR Kebble; and
- RB Kebble.

We were informed that the amounts featuring in the loan account of Weston in the books of account of CMMS related to loans being provided for the payment of legal costs, inter alia pertaining to the DRD and RAWAS matters[4]:

The information divulged by Buitendag, as stated above, is corroborated in broad terms by details appearing in the audited Financial Report of Weston as at 31 March 2005, where it is stated at note 23 that[5]:

"In February 2004, Weston Investments Pty Ltd ("Weston or Company") was joined as one of seven defendants in civil proceedings commenced by Durban Roodepoort Deep Limited and related entities ("DRD") in the Supreme Court of Western Australia. The claims against the seven Defendants allege that the Defendants conspired to affect, and were involved in, contraventions of the Corporations Law by certain former officers of DRD. The claims involve complex factual and legal issues and are unlikely to be resolved in the foreseeable future. In the proceedings involving the seven Defendants it is alleged that they are jointly and severally liable for damages in the amount of R77m and compensation in the amount of $AUD6m.

The claims are denied by Weston and all of the other Defendants and the proceedings are being vigorously defended. Weston is not involved in any of the other DRD proceedings and maintains that it has been improperly joined in this action. Given that JCI Limited is the ultimate parent company of Weston, JCI will meet the Company's costs in defending the proceedings and has provided Weston with and indemnity in respect of any resulting damages arising out of the proceedings."

10.1.2 Agreement

We found no agreement for the loan between CMMS and Weston and could not be presented with one when called for. According to Flegg, the previous financial controller of Weston, there is no agreement that she is aware of and Weston has been paying all of JCI Limited's legal costs in Australia, which costs we were informed relate to the DRD/Harmony case[6]. These costs appear to have been paid on behalf of JCI Limited

10.1.3 Findings

Although claimed by the auditors of Weston that an indemnity exists whereby JCI Limited indemnified Weston of damages arising out of the proceedings, we did not view such a document. We detail at section 10.23 infra further involvement of Weston in a transaction with Continental Goldfields involving Simmer & Jack shares.

[6] Refer Exhibit 5.1.1

The general ledger of CMMS indicates that the balance of the loan account of Weston, as at 31 March 2005, amounted to a credit balance of R1 149 644.56. We noted that the trial balance, extracted for the time frame 1 April 2005 to 31 October 2006 for the said loan account, neither reflects any movement of funds, nor a brought forward balance. We therefore assume that no transactions were allocated to this particular loan account after 31 March 2005 and that, as at 31 October 2005, the balance in the said account remained a credit balance of R1 149 644.56. We noted a CMMS journal entry J2506, which corroborates the fact that the balance of the loan account relates to an amount which was transferred as a credit to the loan account on an effective date of 31 March 2005. The aforesaid journal entry was processed on 25 August 2005 in respect of the financial year ending 31 March 2005 and is inter alia indicative of the following[7]:

- An amount of R1 149 644.56 was transferred to the credit of the Weston loan account from general ledger account 850700 in the books of account of CMMS;
- The description, appearing as part of the above said entry, is indicative of the fact that the expense relates to legal fees;
- Although we are not examiners of disputed documents we noted that the journal was prepared by one De Beer who we were informed has subsequently left the employment of JCI; and
- We noted a document, printed on white paper which, amongst other things, indicates the following:

  "Inv to CMMS for legal Expenses referred to debtors 239 312.35"

We also obtained a document from Weston, dated 29 July 2005 and addressed to the attention of De Beer. The said document inter alia indicates that CMMS owed Weston an amount of AUD$239 312.00[8]. It therefore appears that the loan of CMMS in the books of account of Weston relates to legal fees. Although the said letter was written to De Beer on 29 July 2005, the amount was outstanding already as at the financial year ending 31 March 2005.

According to information on public websites the rate of exchange between SA Rand and AUD$ was 4.85982 as at 31 March 2005, thus resulting in a conversion result of AUD$239 312, equalling R1 163 013.24 and which varies with R13 368.72 to the amount of R1 149 644.56, as reflected in the Weston loan account in the books of account of CMMS. In terms of the value of amounts converted, we view this variance as negligible and assume the amount was written off as a foreign exchange variation.

We found no evidence indicating that the Exchange Control at the SARB approved the incurring of a foreign debt.

10.1.3.1 Conclusion

The AFS of Weston is indicative of the fact that Weston paid substantial amounts on behalf of JCI Limited regarding legal costs pertaining to the DRD matter and that this related to legal fees paid by Weston on behalf of CMMS. The auditors of Weston furthermore stated that JCI Limited provided Weston with an "indemnity regarding the resulting damages" related to the legal dispute. The loan account reflected a credit balance as at 31 October 2005 of R1 149 644.56 and, accordingly, created the impression that CMMS owed Weston the aforesaid amount. We were not presented with a loan agreement regarding the aforesaid loan.

10.2 Loan to CMC Jersey - Account number 151055

10.2.1 Introduction

We did not obtain information generated from publicly available sources regarding CMC Jersey as it is a foreign entity.

10.2.2 Agreement

We found no agreement between CMMS and CMC Jersey.

10.2.3 Findings

We noted the following in respect of the loan account in the books of account of CMMS:

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The loan account in CMMS originated prior to 1999 with a balance of R45 010.74, of which we have no details regarding the breakdown thereof;
- The account increased during the 2000 financial year with an amount of R14 403.67, of which transactions we do not have sufficient detail to comment on. The balance outstanding at the end of the 2000 financial year end was R59 414.41;
- During the 2001 financial year, amounts of R89 122.92 were paid in respect of secretarial fees relating to what was described as per the general ledger description as Abacus. The loan account balance as at the end of the 2001 financial year was R148 537.33;
- During the 2002 financial year, an amount of R7 997 500.00 was paid to HSBC on behalf of CMC Jersey as a repayment of a loan. The loan account balance as at the end of the 2002 financial year was R8 126 037.33;
- An amount of R27 450 000.00 was paid to the Werksman Inc. trust account as repayment of the loan to HSBC. Originally the amount was debited to a sundry debt account and at year end the amount was transferred as a debit to the CMC Jersey loan account. The loan account balance at the end of the 2003 financial year was R35 576 037.33;
- The loan account was decreased by R287 028.44 during the 2004 financial year as a result of the proceeds on the sale of RRL shares having been transferred there. The amount was transferred from the Beachcove loan account 151112 within the books of account of CMMS to the CMC Jersey loan account. The balance of the loan account, as at the end of the 2004 financial year end, was R35 289 008.89; and
- The following two amounts were debited to the CMC Jersey loan account during the 2005 financial year:
  - An amount of R50 945.00 in respect of CMC Jersey secretarial fees; and
  - An amount of R118 169 748.09. We were informed that this amount relates to transactions performed prior to 1998 when the "old JCI" traded offshore. CMC Jersey collected the funds related to the trading from parties participating in the trading and invested the funds. The profits from the investment were given as a loan to CMMS. As no dividends have been declared yet, these amounts were still owed by CMMS to CMC Jersey. At the 2005 financial year end a decision was made to transfer the loan in CMC Jersey to CMMS[9].

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

As a result of the aforesaid transactions the closing balance in the CMC Jersey loan account, as at the 2005 financial year end, amounted to R153 509 701.98.

10.2.3.1 Conclusion

An amount of debt amounting to R153 509 701.98 is reflected in the books of account of CMMS for which no underlying agreement exists and it is not evident what value CMMS or JCI Limited obtained from the said amounts. The underlying transactions may require further investigation before we can conclusively comment thereon.

- Donna Raye Stratton, who were appointed on 9 March 2004. The previous directors of Dormell 211 were:

- RB Kebble; and
- Swanevelder.

The company secretary is indicated as Beale.

It appears that Stratton currently holds 100% of the issued shares in Dormell 211[10].

We were informed that this loan relates to the payment of Stratton's house by CMMS[11].

10.3.2 Agreement

An agreement, relating to the loan between CMMS and Dormell 211, could not be presented to us[12].

Stratton confirmed that a specific loan agreement did not exist regarding this particular loan. He did however inform us that a broadly termed agreement existed between him and RB Kebble regarding his settlement in South Africa. Part of this agreement was that RB Kebble would provide accommodation to him. To this extent, we were informed that Stratton was provided with the property at 25 Forest Avenue, Bishopscourt, Cape Town. The ownership of the said property vested in Dormell 211 and CMMS held the shares to the said entity. The said property was however not unencumbered and Stratton insisted that the property should be provided to him in unencumbered state. Stratton stated that RB Kebble therefore undertook to pay the bond instalments on the underlying bond to the property and the shares in Dormell 211 were transferred to Stratton[13].

Stratton did however provide us with a letter addressed by him to RB Kebble on 15 December 2003. The said letter inter alia states[14]:

"... The company will provide security at any residence occupied by me during the period of my appointment."

and further:

"... You have personally agreed to provide funding for the acquisition of a property plus two motor vehicles. The funds provided by you will be offset against funding provided by me to you on previous occasions.:

and further:

"... I still await formal transfer of the shares in Dormell Properties 211 as there was some mix up with the original company. I have expended money on some renovations and intend to embark on more major work and expenditure it is therefore essential that the formalities be completed."

We noted that RB Kebble responded to Stratton on 7 January 2004, in a letter, in which he inter alia stated[15]:

"I am in agreement with the terms and conditions of your proposed executive appointment as detailed in your letter of 15 December 2003 ..."

10.3.3 Findings

We were informed that[16]:

- The transactions appearing in this specific loan account relate to the payment of a house of Stratton in Cape Town;
- The monthly instalments were debited to the CMMS bank account;
- JCI Limited signed surety for the underlying debt related to the bond registered over the property[17];
- JCI Limited received a fax on 8 December 2005 from Stratton, in which Stratton requested JCI Limited to stop further bond payments as the bond relating to the said property has been fully paid up. We have not seen this particular fax.

Initially and in accordance with an unsigned Dormell 211 share certificate number two, all the shares in Dormell Properties 211 (Pty) Limited were held by JCI Property Development (Pty) Limited[18]. We noted correspondence in which a firm of attorneys, Mallinicks, recorded that the shares in the said entity were transferred to Stratton as per share certificate three and all related documentation to this effect was, according to Mallinicks, forwarded to Margie van Straaten at JCI Limited on 4 May 2004[19]. Further documentation on file is indicative thereof that the shares were transferred from JCI Properties (Pty) Limited to Stratton on 9 March 2004 by Griffiths[20].

We noted a document on file from the Department of Trade and Industry, indicating that the aforesaid changes to directorships of Dormell Properties 211 did take place as per a CM29 document received by the Registrar of Companies on 19 April 2004. The date of the resignation of the directors of Dormell 211 is indicated as 9 March 2004 on the relevant copy of the CM29 found by us on file at JCI Limited[21].

We noted a note on the Dormell 211 correspondence file, maintained by Margie van Straaten, dated 1 December 2005, which inter alia reads that[22]:

- The transfer of shares should not have taken place;
- A new share certificate in the name of JCI Property Development (Pty) Limited was issued, which was not signed[23]; and
- A Declaration of Trust was prepared and is on file, but is in an unsigned format[24].

We were informed by Van Straaten that she could not recall the exact reason for making the above stated note on the file, but based on the details of the note, she could only assume that, at that stage, Griffiths told her that the transfer should not have taken place. She furthermore stated that although she completed the necessary new share transfer documents for the shares to be held by JCI Property Development (Pty) Limited again, she was told to hold back and the documents were never signed.

Van Straaten said that she could not recall exactly who gave her the instruction, but it is possible that it might have been Buitendag[25]. Stratton informed us that the reason for the confusion was that the attorneys, tasked with the transfer of the shares, namely Mallinicks, made an error and wanted to transfer the shares in Dormell Properties 253 (Pty) Limited to him as opposed to that of Dormell 211[26].

We found no evidence that any purchase consideration was paid by Stratton for the shares, obtained by him, in Dormell 211 from JCI Property Development (Pty) Limited[27]. Stratton informed us, however, that he paid a nominal fee of R100.00 for the said shares[28].

Background searches, performed on public available information sources, the accuracy of which we cannot guarantee, indicate the following detail regarding a property registered in the name of Dormell 211:

- Erf 56369 Cape Town;
- Title deed number T31043/2003 (Cape Town);
- Purchase date – 21 February 2003;
- Registration date – 9 April 2003;
- Amount – R7 936 500.00;
- Bond – R5 850 000 with Firstrand Bank Limited;
- Previous owner – Fantini Trust; and
- Registered address of Dormell 211 is 25 Forest Avenue, Bishopscourt, 7708.

The amount of the registered bond, as specified above, agrees to that of the amount specified on the suretyship between JCI Limited and FNB. Accordingly, we assume that the property, registered in the name of Dormell 211, is that which is described above.

We consulted Griffiths and he informed us that:

- Companies named and styled "Dormell" had two properties registered in their names, namely that related to what he termed "211" and "253";
- "211" related to 25 Forest Avenue, Bishopscourt and was the house of Stratton;
- "253" belonged to RB Kebble and related to 25 Upper Primrose, a property adjacent to that at 25 Forest Avenue;

[27] As per consultation held with Beale on 8 December 2005 and informal discussion with Pieter Henning subsequently.
[28] As per consultation with Stratton on 16 January 2005

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- A loan existed between RB Kebble and Stratton. RB Kebble gave the shares in Dormell 211 to Stratton in settlement of the said loan; and
- RB Kebble sold "253" in December 2004 to Scott-Heely for a consideration of R6.5 million, the proceeds of which were paid to Stratton.

Based on the information divulged by Griffiths and that obtained from publicly available sources, as described above, we are assuming that the property, belonging to Dormell 211, is that at 25 Forest Avenue, Bishops Court, Cape Town.

Subsequent to the consultation with Griffiths, we have established that:

- There are two companies, namely:
  - Dormell Properties 211, who owns the property at 25 Forest Avenue, Bishopscourt, Cape Town; and
  - Dormell Properties 253 (Pty) Limited, who owns the property at 25 Upper Primrose, Bishopscourt, Cape Town.
- Although we noted details in the cash book of RB Kebble regarding the purchase of the property owned by Dormell Properties 253 (Pty) Limited, it does not appear to be of direct significance to the loan between CMMS and Dormell 211.

We noted that the following amounts were reflected in the general ledger of CMMS, relating to the loan between CMMS and Dormell 211 (account 151127):

- Year ending 31 March 2005: R1 335 901.34; and
- From 1 April 2005 to 1 November 2005: R345 241.38.

The entries up to 31 March 2005 represent, to a large extent, the bond instalments, which were debited by FNB to CMMS's bank account. The total, as at 31 March 2005, i.e. R1 335 901.34, was transferred on 31 March 2005 to the sundry debtors account number 174501 in the books of account of CMMS. The figure of R345 241.38, which also represents bond instalments which were debited by FNB to CMMS's bank account, is still reflected in the Dormell 211 loan account 151127, as at 1 November 2005.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

We requested proof that the suretyship, given by JCI Limited regarding the FNB bond was cancelled, but were not provided with proof thereof or satisfactory responses that this has in fact been done[29].

The above stated suretyship by JCI Limited to FNB inter alia states that:

".....Roger Brett Kebble in his capacity as Deputy Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of JCI Limited Reg. NO. 1894/000854/06.....bind themselves unto FNB as surety and co-principal debtor jointly and severally with Dormell Properties 211 (Pty) ("debtor") Ltd for the due payments by the debtor of all monies which the Debtor may now or from time to time hereafter owe to FNB from whatsoever cause and howsoever arising..."

Accordingly it is evident that, unless the suretyship has been cancelled, JCI Limited may be indebted to FNB for any current outstanding debt of Dormell 211. We asked Stratton regarding the indebtedness of Dormell 211 to FNB and he stated that he paid the bond and that there are no other outstanding debts between the two entities[30]. At the time of writing this report, we were still awaiting confirmation from FNB regarding this particular aspect.

10.3.4 Conclusion

We could not be provided with a loan agreement regarding this particular loan.

Although Stratton informed us that he paid a nominal value of R100.00 for the shares in Dormell 211, we could not be presented with proof by JCI Property Development (Pty) Limited that this was in fact the case.

Although, according to the records of the Registrar of Companies, transfer of shares in Dormell 211 took place, it appears that there may be some contradictory records and/or opinions within the files of the company secretaries of CMMS as to whether the shares in Dormell should have been transferred by JCI Property Developers (Pty) Limited to Stratton. This aspect was clarified during consultation with Stratton and, based on his explanations given to us, it appears that some confusion existed with the attorneys, Mallinicks, who handled the instruction to transfer the shares to Stratton. According to Stratton, Mallinicks wanted to transfer the shares in Dormell Properties 253 (Pty) Limited to him as opposed to the shares in Dormell 211.

[30] As per consultation with Stratton on 17 January 2006

It appears that a loan may have existed between Kebble and Stratton and that the bond repayments of Stratton may have been channelled through CMMS and ultimately have been allocated to a sundry debtors loan account for the financial year ending 31 March 2005. The amounts processed via the CMMS bank account in this regard, for the 2006 financial year end is still reflected in the Dormell 211 loan account. Should there be substance to the fact that a loan existed between Stratton and RB Kebble in this regard and that the bond costs were paid by CMMS, then the overall bond costs to date, being R1 681 142.72 should be claimed from the estate of RB Kebble. Alternatively the amount should be claimed from Stratton if a loan between him and RB Kebble cannot be proved. Furthermore, if RB Kebble owed money to Stratton, as alleged by Griffiths, it follows that RB Kebble settled such debt by giving Stratton property of JCI Limited whilst they were both directors of JCI Limited.

We did not view any documentation indicating that the suretyship given by JCI Limited to FNB, in respect of Dormell 211, has been cancelled.

10.4 Loan to Misty Mountain Trading 18 (Pty) Limited – Account number 151137

10.4.1 Introduction

Information, obtained from publicly available sources regarding Misty Mountain, is indicative of the following:

- Misty Mountain was incorporated on 13 June 2003;
- The director of the company is one Vivien Marleen Agliotti, who was appointed on 29 September 2003; and
- The nature of Misty Mountain's business, according to publicly available information, is retail trade.

10.4.2 Agreement with Misty Mountain

CMMS entered into a loan agreement with Misty Mountain on 25 February 2004 in which CMMS agreed to lend Misty Mountain up to a maximum amount of R16 000 000.00[31].

[31] Refer Exhibit 5.4.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The agreement inter alia recorded that Misty Mountain was in the business of buying, developing and selling properties and that the intention was for the loan amounts to be utilised for the purchase of properties and to repay such amounts including interest, on realisation of the completion of properties developed from time to time.

The agreement furthermore recorded that the following properties were registered in the name of Misty Mountain:

- Erf 18, Bryanston, situated at 29 Eaton Avenue, Bryanston;
- Erf 1932, Houghton Estate, situated at 7, 16th Avenue, Houghton Estate; and
- Portion 2 of Erf 48 Hyde Park, situated at 42(a) Morsim Road, Hyde Park.

The said agreement inter alia stipulates the following repayment conditions in respect of the loan:

- Misty Mountain agreed to repay the loan and the interest thereon to CMMS on or before 30 June 2005;
- Misty Mountain was obliged to make interim payments, which should have been equivalent to the net proceeds from the sale of any of the three properties mentioned above, within three days from the date of transfer of such property into the name of the purchaser. Interest accrued on the loan at a rate equal to the prime rate +2% and would have been calculated with effect from each date of advance and would be capitalised and compounded monthly in arrears. Furthermore, interest had to be paid to CMMS on or before 30 June 2005, failing which, such unpaid interest would thereupon form part of the total amount owing by Misty Mountain to CMMS.

The agreement indicated, on the last page thereof, Agliotti as a signatory to the agreement. The cover page of the agreement recorded that Agliotti would represent Misty Mountain in his capacity of director of the said entity and that he was also a party to the agreement. Although we have no specimen signature of Agliotti to compare the signature on the agreement with, we assume that the signature, appearing on the last page of the agreement, is in fact that of Agliotti.

Agliotti bound himself jointly and severally in favour of CMMS as surety and co-principal debtor in solidum with Misty Mountain in respect of all Misty Mountain's obligations under or arising out of the agreement. The liability of Agliotti would, however, be limited to the value of the shares in Misty Mountain or the underlying realisable value of the three properties mentioned above, whichever was the greater at the time of any default by Misty Mountain.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The ordinary shares of Misty Mountain, which, according to the agreement, were wholly owned by Agliotti, have been pledged as security for the loans made to Misty Mountain in terms of this agreement.

We also noted a separate agreement, entered into on 13 February 2004, between the following parties[32]:

- Agliotti;
- Misty Mountain;
- JCI Limited; and
- CMMS

in terms whereof it was agreed that any amount drawn down against the agreement in excess of R10 073 390.00 plus such interest as was outstanding, would be offset against monies owed to Agliotti or his companies for services rendered.

The above said agreement furthermore had an attachment to it, which attachment was not signed and which recorded that draw downs, amounting to R13 116 848.80, would be made in respect of development 1 (being Erf 18 Bryanston) and development 2 (being Erf 1932, Houghton Estate) respectively. The outlay of the draw downs is stipulated in an attachment to the agreement of 13 February 2004. The said outlay also reflected that a projected profit of R10 133 551.60 would be realised on developments 1 and 2.

10.4.3 Findings

A deeds enquiry, which was performed, inter alia indicates the following in respect of the three properties mentioned in the agreement between CMMS, Misty Mountain and Agliotti:

- Portion 2 of Erf 48 Hyde Park, situated at 42 Morsim Road, Hyde Park:

  The deed in respect of this property was held in the name of Misty Mountain. On perusal of the results of the deeds enquiry, performed by us, we noted that the form inter alia indicates the following:

[32] Refer Exhibit 5.4.2

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- A section indicating owners, in which a line item indicates "Name", which we assume to reflect the name of the owners of the property in respect of which the enquiry was done;
- A section indicating owners, in which a line item indicates "Purchase Price", which we assume to be the actual purchase price of the property and not the amount of the bond registered over the property, if any at all; and
- A section indicating owners, in which a line item indicates "Purchase Date", which we assume to be the actual date on which the property was purchased. To this extent we interpret the actual date indicated as year/month/day of purchase.

Accordingly, based on the results of the enquiry made and our assumptions, set out above, we find that the above stated property was owned by Misty Mountain and that the property was purchased on 10 July 2003 for an amount of R3 300 000.00.

- Erf 1932, Houghton Estate, situated at 7, 16th Avenue, Houghton Estate:

  Subject to our assumptions, specified above, the deed search indicates that this property was not held in the name of Misty Mountain. The property was held in the name of Sugar Tree. According to information, obtained from publicly available sources, Agliotti was a director of Sugar Tree. The property was purchased on 14 March 2003 for an amount of R2 700 000.00.

- Erf 18, Bryanston, situated at 29 Eaton Avenue, Bryanston:

  Subject to our assumptions specified above, the deed search indicates that the property was initially owned by Sugar Tree. As stated above, Agliotti was a director of the said entity. As per the deed search, it appears that the property was sold to Viking Pony 346 on 9 November 2004 for an amount of R3 550 000.00. We did not find evidence in the loan account of Misty Mountain, recorded in the books of account of CMMS, that the net proceeds of the aforesaid transaction were paid to CMMS in terms of the provisions of the loan agreement between the parties.

Based on the deed searches, mentioned above, it is evident that, of the three properties listed above, only one of the properties was owned by Misty Mountain.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

According to the agreement, the loan had to be repaid on or before 30 June 2005. To date, no payments have been allocated by CMMS to this loan account and, accordingly, we assume that no repayments were made by Misty Mountain to date.

We noted correspondence between CMMS and an entity styled FPM, in which FPM confirmed to CMMS that:

"In terms of instructions received from our client, Mr NG Agliotti, we are able to confirm that he is holding the shares in Misty Mountain Trading 18 (Pty) Limited for and on behalf of Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited as security for a loan"

The above wording is however not considered to be indicative of the fact that FPM was holding Misty Mountain shares on behalf of Agliotti, but secured to CMMS, but rather that Agliotti instructed FPM to inform CMMS that he was holding the shares in Misty Mountains for and on behalf of CMMS as security for a loan. If this is the case we would expect CMMS to have a Deed of Trust in place to the effect that Agliotti was holding the shares on behalf of CMMS. Beale subsequently admitted in consultation that the pledged shares were not with JCI Limited, but that they were in fact held by Agliotti and that there was no Deed of Trust in respect of this arrangement[33].

The loan account of Misty Mountain in the general ledger of CMMS, as at 31 March 2005, amounted to R10 740 028.67. This amount was represented by payments, as per the table below, which were made to the following entities and allocated to the Misty Mountain loan account during the time frame 1 March 2003 to 31 March 2005:

Date of transaction as per the GL	Beneficiary of payments	Amount SA R
12 December 2003	Atlantic Nominees	2 600 000.00
9 February 2004	Springlights	2 000 000.00
16 March 2004	Springlights	2 000 000.00
23 March 2004	Springlights	2 000 000.00
During year	Interest	162 297.04
Sub Total for the 2004 financial year		8 762 297.04

[33] As per consultation with Beale on 12 January 2006

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Date of transaction as per the GL	Beneficiary of payments	Amount SA R
Nett effect of various entries	Springlights	750 000.00
During year	Interest	1 227 731.63
Sub Total for the 2005 financial year		1 977 731.63
Grand Total as at 31 March 2005		10 740 028.67

It is evident from the above table that the balance in the loan account was represented by:

- Payments amounting to R6 750 000.00 to Springlights;
- A payment of R2 600 000.00 to Atlantic Nominees; and
- Interest amounting to R1 390 028.67 charged to the loan account.

Stratton authorised the transactions listed in the table above.

Cognisance should however be taken of the fact that:

- The net effect of the R750 000.00 paid to Spring Lights during the 2005 financial year was arrived at after initial payments, amounting to R25 600 000.00, were made to Spring Lights and debited to the Misty Mountain loan account in the books of account of CMMS of which a total of R18 850 000.00 was transferred from the aforesaid account to the consulting fees expense account in the books of account of CMMS. The net effect thereafter is a figure of R6 750 000.00 of payments, made to Springlights, which remained in the Misty Mountain loan account in the books of account of CMMS; and
- Of the R6 750 000.00, mentioned directly above, an amount of R750 000.00 relates to the 2005 financial year. The figure of R750 000.00 was arrived at after payments, amounting to R12 000 000.00, were initially processed and allocated to the Misty Mountain loan account. No supporting vouchers were submitted at the stage of processing such payments and supporting invoices, amounting to R11 250 000.00, were submitted ex post facto to support part of the R12 000 000.00 which was paid. Thereafter the amount of R11 250 000.00 was transferred as a debit to consultants' fees in the books of account of CMMS, thereby leaving a balance of R750 000.00 in the loan account of Misty Mountain. The amount of R11 250 000, which were transferred to consultants' fees, forms part of the figure of R18 850 000.00 transferred to the said account, the balance being the amount transferred in the 2004 financial year.

It is evident that the payments, which were allocated to the Misty Mountain loan account and which are representative of the balance of R10 740 028.67 in the account, were either authorised by Stratton, or by Buitendag.

The amount of R2 600 000.00, which was paid to Atlantic Nominees, is the same than that noted as the purchase price on a deed search performed in respect of Erf 18, Bryanston. The possibility that the two transactions relate to each other cannot be excluded at this stage, but will require further investigation.

We performed a visual inspection of the premises mentioned below, which inspection indicated the following:

- 29 Eaton Avenue, Bryanston:
  - The property is in a neglected state and appears to be uninhabited;
  - The dwelling on the property consist of a residence and there is no evidence of the development and building of 17 apartments to date[34]; and
  - There is a bill board at the fence of the property, which is indicative of the fact that a 2 500 square metre development named Sloane Precinct would take place. A contact name of Grant Maserow was recorded on the said bill board[35].
- 7, 16th Avenue Houghton Estate:

  We did not take photographs at this particular residence as individuals, who we assumed were the owners, were working in the garden. It is however evident that the residence on the property had been there for quite some time and that the garden was established. Accordingly, no development or construction is evident at this particular site either.

We consulted with Stratton regarding the matter and he informed us that[36]:

- At the stage of processing the payments, he noted progress certificates and also certificates that apartments were sold;

- The above stated certificates should be in the audit file of the previous external auditors of CMMS, Charles Orbach & Company;
- According to his recollection, the said progress certificates were handed to Buitendag and that this was where he noticed them; and
- If no development took place it may be that CMMS has been defrauded.

We also consulted with Buitendag, prior to consulting with Stratton regarding the matter. Buitendag informed us that the development did not take place due to the fact that services were not rendered by the relevant local authority to the area[37].

Agliotti informed us that Misty Mountain did not invoice JCI Limited and neither did Misty Mountain receive any payments from JCI Limited. He further stated that the anticipated project never materialised[38].

10.4.4 Conclusion

Shares pledged to JCI Limited as security for the loan provided to Misty Mountain were not in possession of JCI Limited. It appears that the said shares, which were pledged, were held by Agliotti. A Deed of Trust was not in place to place on record the fact that the said shares were in fact in possession of JCI Limited and held by Agliotti on behalf of JCI Limited.

Two of the properties, which were held out in the agreement to be owned by Misty Mountain, appear not to have been registered in the name of Misty Mountain, thereby placing doubt as to whether the said properties did in fact belong to the aforesaid entity.

Cognisance should however be taken of the fact that the one property, namely Erf 1932 Houghton Estate, was owned by Sugar Tree, which Agliotti is a director of. The second property, which was not owned by Misty Mountain, is Erf 18, Bryanston, which was owned by Viking Pony 346. Both of the said properties, which were not owned by Misty Mountain, were the properties where the development, as per the second agreement, dated 13 February 2004, should have taken place.

[38] As per consultation with Agliotti on 11 April 2006

The outstanding loan amount of R10 740 028.67 was due for repayment on 30 June 2005 and had, to the best of our knowledge, not been settled at the date of writing this report.

The possibility that the allocation of Springlights payments and costs between consulting fees and the Misty Mountain loan account may not be accurate and that further amounts should be transferred from the loan account to the consultants' fees account, cannot be excluded at this stage. To this extent, it appears that a further amount of R6 750 000.00 should be transferred to consultants fees.

Visual inspections of the premises, where development should have taken place, is indicative of the fact that no construction was in progress at either 29 Eaton Avenue, Bryanston, or at 7 Sixth Avenue, Houghton Estate.

It is evident from the consultation with Buitendag and Stratton that different versions were held out to us as to why development took place or did not take place at the properties in Bryanston and Houghton. If Buitendag's version was to be believed, the question arises why funds were advanced to Misty Mountain, yet it does not explain why the properties were not owned by Misty Mountain.

10.5 Loan to Castle Ultra - Account Number 151149

10.5.1 Background

CU appears to have been a wholly owned subsidiary of CMMS. A statutory background search revealed the directors to be[39]:

- Buitendag;
- RB Kebble;
- Lamprecht; and
- De Beer.

The company secretaries are indicated as CMMS.

[39] Refer Exhibit 5.5.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The objectives of the company are listed as retail and trade, except motor vehicles and motor cycles services sector.

The auditors are indicated as being Charles Orbach & Company.

10.5.2 Agreement for the sale of shares

A sale of shares agreement was made between CU, Titan SD and RB Kebble, dated 1 July 2002[40].

The agreement was for the sale of 400 500 WAR and 30 481 900 CAM ordinary shares by Titan SD to CU with RB Kebble providing a personal surety for the purchase price of the shares[41].

The purchase price for the shares amounted to R52 021 532[42], comprising:

- WAR: R14 418 000 i.e. at R36.00 per share; and
- CAM: R37 603 532 i.e. at R1.22 per share.

The payment terms were agreed to be[43]:

- R26 010 766 on 31 July 2002;
- R13 005 383 on 30 August 2002; and
- R13 005 383 on 30 September 2003. It would appear that this date should have been "2002" and not "2003", as indicated in the agreement.

10.5.3 Suretyship provided by RB Kebble

RB Kebble signed the suretyship agreement on 1 July 2002[44]. Included in the suretyship was a cession by RB Kebble to Titan SD of 22 500 000 CAM shares, the rights and title to which apparently belonged to RB Kebble, by way of an option granted on 29 June 2001.

10.5.4 Addendum to the agreement, dated 1 March 2003

This addendum related to the failure by CU to pay Titan SD the amount due in terms of the sale of shares agreement[45]. The addendum recorded that the purchaser had paid an amount of R20 000 0000, but had failed to pay the balance of R32 021 532. To this balance was to be added interest, calculated to 30 April 2003, amounting to R3 191 229 and an extension fee of R500 000, indicating a total outstanding balance of R35 712 761. This amount was to be paid as follows:

- R7 500 000 on 5 March 2003;
- R7 500 000 on 19 march 2003;
- R7 500 000 on 2 April 2003;
- R7 500 000 on 16 April 2003 and
- R5 712 761 on 30 April 2003.

The suretyship from RB Kebble remained in place.

10.5.5 Addendum to the agreement, dated 5 September 2003

The purchaser had not met the terms of payment for the shares and, at 31 July 2003, allegedly owed R21 994 502. The addendum was drawn up to overcome this shortfall[46].

It was agreed that the seller, Titan SD, was to sell sufficient CAM shares to generate an amount of R15 994 502 and retain the proceeds thereof. The number of CAM shares sold to realise this amount were to be deducted from the total of 30 481 900, stipulated in the original sale agreement.

RB Kebble remained bound to Titan SD in terms of the original surety.

10.5.6 Agreement between CMMS and CU

Both CMMS and CU passed directors' resolutions, dated 18 March 2003, in terms whereof the companies agreed to the subordination of the debt owing by CU to CMMS[47].

10.5.7 Accounting entries in the CMMS ledger

The CMMS ledger, dated 6 December 2005, reflected a balance of R40 121 417 as owing by CU to CMMS[48]. This balance is made up of the following:

- 9 October 2002 - A credit opening balance of R10 794 665, arising from the sale of 30 841 900 JCI shares to the JCI Share Incentive Scheme, via the JCI loan account, (JV1723)[49];
- 20 March 2003 - A debit of R15 000 000 in respect of a transfer of funds from CMMS to Titan SD, presumably connected to the sale of shares agreement (JV2173)[50];
- 31 March 2003 – A debit of R14 500 000 arising from a payment by Tradek, presumably to Titan SD in respect of the share of sales agreement (JV1708)[51];
- 31 March 2003 – A further debit of R5 791 613, also in respect of a payment by Tradek, presumably also to Titan SD (J1708)[52];
- 31 March 2004 – A credit of R100 in respect of share capital for CU accounting for the purchase of CU as a shelf company (JV1932)[53]; and
- 31 March 2004 – A debit of R15 624 569, in respect of 22 290 600 CAM shares sold, presumably in connection with the Titan SD deal (JV1965)[54].

10.5.8 Accounting entries in the CU ledger

According to documentation, provided to us by Cavanagh, the following significant entries were processed through the books of CU:

- 1 July 2002 – Assets valued at R52 021 532, comprised of 400 500 WAR and 30 841 900 CAM shares, were acquired from Titan SD[55];
- 1 August 2002 – The liability to Titan SD was reduced by R14 500 000 by means of a payment from CMMS[56];

- 5 August 2002 – The liability to Titan SD was reduced further by a payment of R5 791 613 by means of a payment from CMMS[57];
- 9 October 2002 – A loss of R26 808 867 was realised on the sale of 30 841 900 JCI shares to the JCI Share Incentive Scheme, sold at approximately R0.86 per share, having being purchased at R1.21 per share[58];
- 20 March 2003 – The liability to Titan SD was reduced by R15 000 000 by way of a payment from CMMS[59];
- 31 March 2003 – The liability to Titan SD was increased by R3 292 325, represented by interest on outstanding debt of some R2 792 325 and an extension fee amounting to R500 000[60]; and
- 30 September 2004 – The value of the WAR shares were adjusted downwards by R3 003 750 and interest was accrued to Titan SD in the amount of R732 622[61].

As a result of the above entries, the trial balance for CU, as at 30 September 2004, indicated investments valued at R10 012 500, being 400 500 Western Area shares at R25.00 per share[62]. Liabilities recorded at this date are indicated as a debt due to Titan SD, amounting to R7 343 894.15. Shareholders' funds amount to R2 668 605.85. Funding by shareholders' loans and share capital amounted to R40 121 517.47.

The net value, apparently available to CMMS to set off the loan account, would amount to the market value of the Western Area shares less the liability to Titan.

10.6 Loan to P Continental - Account Number 151160

10.6.1 Background

According to accounting staff at CMMS, the entity "P-Continental" appears to have been a ledger account utilised for the processing of "entries" related to preference shares in Continental Goldfields, understood to have been based in Australia. The transactions identified, do not appear to have anything to do with preference shares, although there would appear to be a link to Continental Goldfields.

10.6.2 Agreement

No documented agreements have been located relating to P-Continental.

An agreement between REC and Continental Goldfields, dated 14 September 2000[63], was located, in terms whereof Continental acquired TGME for a price of R9 150 000, of which R550 000 was to be paid in cash and the balance by the issue of a convertible loan note for R8 600 000. Interest at 5%pa was to be compounded with effect from 25 August 1999. As can be seen from section 10.23 infra, this agreement was changed to the effect that Continental would have settled the full purchase price in cash to be paid by way of a loan from REC to Continental to be settled later. This loan was settled when the right against Continental Goldfields was transferred to Weston, where it was set off against debt due by Western to Continental.

10.6.3 Accounting entries in the ledger of CMMS

31 October 1999

A balance of R923 608.29 is reflected as a debit balance[64]. The balance has been made up of an amount of R2 273 608.29, which represented a cheque made payable to Brait Merchant Bank, with the debit being allocated to Sundry Debtors, which, in this case appears to be "P Continental" on 21 October 1999[65]. A hand written note, attached to the journal voucher, indicates that the amount represented a "……short term loan to Moneyline for about 1 month". The note was signed by Buitendag.

On 31 October 1999, an amount of R1 350 000, representing 100 000 DRD shares, apparently received as part payment, was credited to the account "P Continental", leaving a debit balance of R923 608.29[66].

30 November 1999

An amount of R3 429 929.92 was charged as a loan to P Continental with the credit passed to Sundry Debtors. The description associated with the entry indicates "Reallocation #100741"[67]. We are still trying to establish the identity of #100741.

The amount of R3 429 929.92 appears to relate to an instruction to sell DRD shares of the same value. It would appear that the sales took place on 11, 12 and 15 November 1999, possibly through T-Sec, as it would appear that #100741 may have been "Balderson"[68]. The amount was reversed out on 1 April 2000 and charged to "CAMJ - #151150", which would be CAM Jersey[69].

30 November 2000

CMMS paid a cheque to REC for an amount of R550 000 and the Simmer & Jack loan account was debited[70]. The hand written instruction, accompanying the journal entry, indicates that the cheque for R550 000 was to be issued by CMMS and a cheque for R500 000 was to be obtained from Simmer & Jack. Both transactions were to be debited to Simmer & Jack loan account with the description referring to the cash portion of the TGME purchase price.

At the same time, an amount of R50 000 was charged to P-Continental. Attached to the journal voucher is a hand written note indicating that the R50 000 transaction should be transferred to the P-Continental loan account "....as per note". All the hand written notes have been signed by Swanevelder[71].

With reference to section 10.23 infra, it is evident that CMMS should not have paid R550 000 to REC and, when such was done, that Simmer & Jack should not have been debited, but that Continental Goldfields should have been debited.

31 March 2001

What appears to be an interest charge of R146 098.34, has been debited to the P-Continental loan account. Journal voucher 1217, which is referenced in respect of this transaction, has not been located. Attached to a subsequent journal voucher 1296, an interest schedule provides a calculation as to interest due on the P-Continental loan account, calculated at prime from 1 April 2000 to 31 March 2001, amounting to R146 098.34.

30 September 2001

Journal voucher 1296 indicates an interest charge for the period March to September 2001, in the amount of R80 725.29[72].

A charge of R50 000 has been allocated to P-Continental in respect of a cash transaction. No supporting documents have been located for this transaction[73].

6 February 2002

A charge of R30 000 has been allocated to P-Continental in respect of a cash transaction. No supporting documents have been located for this transaction[74].

31 March 2002

Interest at prime has been calculated on the outstanding balance of the loan account, including the two cash transactions, amounting to R80 000, in the amount of R89 207.19[75].

2 April 2002

A CMMS cheque for an amount of R60 000 was cashed and the proceeds handed to Buitendag. The amount was charged to the P-Continental loan account per journal voucher 1796[76].

5 June 2002

A cheque for R100 000, requested and authorised by Buitendag, was drawn in favour of Firth International (identity unknown at this stage) and charged to the P-Continental loan account per journal voucher 1856. The hand written instruction by Buitendag, attached to the cheque requisition, indicates that the amount should be charged to the Continental Goldfields No 2 account[77]. This amount was reversed out of the account on 11 July 2002 with the explanation "Repay loan"[78].

30 June 2002

Interest of R57 084.52, for the period 1 April to 30 June 2002, was charged to the account[79]. Similarly, interest was charged against the account for July, August and September 2002, amounting to R62 015.91[80].

23 November 2002

A charge for an air fare in respect of Buitendag, amounting to R37 489, was charged to the loan account from a Diners Club statement per journal voucher 1640[81]. This amount does not appear to have been included in the capital sum on which interest has been calculated.

30 October 2002 to 31 March 2004

Interest has been calculated and charged to the loan account on a monthly basis, amounting, to R392 768.02 for the period[82].

Interest, for subsequent periods, has been charged and reversed out of the account.

The closing balance, allegedly due by P-Continental, as at 1 November 2004, amounts to R1 978 996.56, of which R827 899.27 is in respect of interest. The balance comprises the opening loan amount of R923 608.29, unknown cash advances of R190 000 and the Diners Club charge of R37 489[83].

10.6.3.1 Conclusions

Besides a number of entries in this loan account that appears to be uncertain as to the basis and recoverability thereof, it is evident that it recorded a debt of R550 000 plus interest which was actually due by REC and not Continental Goldfields.

10.7 Loan to Tambo/Koketso - Account number 151166

10.7.1 Introduction

According to information obtained from publicly available sources pertaining to Koketso, the entity:

- Was incorporated on 4 July 2002 as C-Max Investments 205 (Pty) Limited;
- Changed its name to Koketso on 28 February 2003;
- Had as its main business financial intermediation;

- Had Saccorp Secretarial Services as its company secretary; and
- Had Tambo as its director.

Tambo held 100% of the issued shares in Koketso and 5% of the issued shares in Consology (Pty) Limited.

10.7.2 Agreement

A loan agreement was entered into between JCI Limited and Tambo on 21 September 2003 in terms whereof it was inter alia agreed that[84]:

- JCI Limited agreed to lend Tambo an amount up to R4 200 000.00;
- JCI Limited would purchase 30% of the shares in Koketso.

A sale of shares agreement was entered into on 21 September 2003 between JCI Limited and Tambo in terms whereof it was inter alia agreed that JCI Limited would purchase 30% of the shares in Koketso[85].

A deed of pledge of shares and cession of loans agreement was entered into on 21 August 2003 by JCI Limited and Tambo in terms whereof Tambo agreed to pledge 70% of the issued shares of Koketso and 5% of the shares in Consology (Pty) Limited as security for the loan from JCI Limited[86].

According to the loan agreement, the loan was repayable on demand, which demand would not be made within a time frame of twelve months after the date of signing the agreement, which was 21 September 2003. The detailed breakdown of the utilisation of the funds indicates that these funds would be used for payment of bonds, Tambo's living expenses, repayment of a shareholders loan and repayment of overdraft facilities.

10.7.3 Findings

The amount, raised to the loan account as per the trial balance for the period ending 31 March 2005, is R684 535.05. The entries raised relate to travel, payables and geology costs.

We called for the share certificates in Koketso, which were purchased and pledged to JCI Limited as stipulated above, but could not be presented with same. Accordingly, it seems that the underlying security for the loan was not provided to JCI Limited and that the shares were not transferred to JCI Limited[87].

Furthermore, we noted another agreement in terms whereof Tambo borrowed 11 000 000 JCI Limited ordinary listed shares from CMMS. The termination date of this specific agreement is 31 August 2005, at which date the agreement specifies that the said shares had to be returned to CMMS. The agreement inter alia specifies that the shares on loan would be transferred and registered in the name of the borrower, but remained the property of the lender[88].

Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, it appears that the above said scrip lending agreement was signed by RB Kebble and Tambo. According to Beale, the shares were held at Tambo's bankers as security[89]. The shares are now due to be returned to CMMS. A letter had been drafted, requesting Tambo to either return the shares or to reimburse CMMS with the value of these shares.

The share register of JCI Limited, as at 28 January 2006, indicated DDT Tambo as the beneficial shareholder of 11 000 000 shares[90]. We were informed that it is doubtful whether there was any true intention that the 11 000 000 shares, lent to Tambo, were supposed to have been returned[91].

10.7.4 Conclusion

The full amount of the loan by CMMS to Koketso has not been utilised. In terms of the loan agreement, the loan could be recalled at any time.

We were not presented with proof that JCI Limited owned 30% of the shares in Koketso as per the sale of shares agreement and it does not appear that the remainder of the shares in Koketso, which were supposed to have been pledged as security to JCI Limited, were provided to JCI Limited.

Furthermore, the 11 000 000 listed ordinary JCI Limited shares, which were lent to Tambo, have not been returned, although the date of termination of the underlying scrip lending agreement was 31 August 2005.

10.8 Loan to Changing Tides/Masupatsela

10.8.1 Masupatsela

Publicly available information recorded that Masupatsela was incorporated on 12 September 2003 with registration number 2003/022653/07. The company was originally named and styled Changing Tides 216 (Pty) Limited, until 31 October 2003, when its name was changed to M2K Properties (Pty) Limited, until 30 November 2003, when its name was changed to Masupatsela.

The main business of the company was recorded as insurance agents, brokers and services and activities auxiliary to financial intermediation.

The directors of the company were Jose Josiah Mashele and Dwafiba Ongama Koyana.

10.8.2 The contractual relationship between CMMS and Masupatsela

In the ledger of CMMS, there are four accounts related to Masupatsela, being the following:

- Account number 151810: Randgold Masupatsela, which is being dealt with at section 10.20 infra;
- Account number 151812: Shares Masupatsela Nutrition, which is being dealt with at section 12.8 infra;
- Account number 151813: Masupatsela (Notable Holdings), which is referred to at section 10.21 infra; and
- Account number 151193: Loan-Changing Tides/Masupatsela, which is the subject of this section.

An agreement, named and styled the "Masupatsela Joint Venture Agreement" was entered into by and between CMMS, on the one part, and Masupatsela, on the other part, on 5 December 2003[92]. It was signed by who appears to be Buitendag, on behalf of CMMS, and by persons unknown, on behalf of Masupatsela.

The agreement register cover page, under which this agreement was maintained at JCI Limited, described the agreement as an undertaking by the parties to co-operate to identify, assess and execute projects for the mutual benefit of both parties. Clause 5 of the agreement sets out the joint venture between the parties as comprising the mutual introduction of potential business opportunities and the joint exploitation of such opportunities.

That being said, we quote hereunder the contents of the contract in respect of the funding obligations and financing of the joint venture:

or such other account as Exco may from time to time instruct CMMS in writing;

9.3 The funds shall be applied, subject to the control of Exco, for meeting the JV to investigate potential projects for submission to Exco for its consideration;

9.4 The amount shall constitute a cumulative loan bearing interest at the rate of prime plus 2% (two percentum) n.a.c.m, due by the JV to CMMS and shall not be secured by any charge of any other encumbrance over any asset of the JV;

9.5 The amount of the account shall not be due and repayable by the JV to CMMS on any particular date, save that:

9.5.1 the repayment of the amount shall be made out of the JV's commercial activities and such repayment terms and amounts shall be agreed upon by both parties.

Despite the fact that the agreement mandated that the contribution of R850 000 per month for the joint venture's administration expenses would comprise a loan to which interest would accrue, it is clear from clause 9.5 that the loan was only repayable out of the commercial activity of the joint venture.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

There appears to be little commercial reality in this as the effect of these provisions was that the joint venture could actually earn an income out of this fee by doing nothing. Ordinarily, one would expect that the joint venture partners would jointly contribute to the joint venture and share the spoils of what they put into the joint venture. These provisions have as their effect that CMMS would not get anything back when the joint venture does nothing. This aspect is further built on in light of the following provisions:

- In terms of clause 9.2, the money would be paid to the bank account of Masupatsela; and
- Masupatsela had no obligation to contribute funds to the joint venture, hence it follows that, if the joint venture produced nothing, Masupatsela would not have had to repay any of the funds to CMMS which it had received in its bank account from CMMS on a monthly basis.

Effectively, CMMS took all the risk of financial loss and Masupatsela had all the possibility of financial gain when the joint venture did nothing.

10.8.3 Analysis of the transactions passed through the account

During the period 24 October 2003 to 31 March 2004, R9 484 595.55 was debited in this account and R133 300 was credited in this account. If payments were made to Masupatsela in accordance with the agreement between the parties, one would expect to find in there the monthly payments of some R850 000, i.e. some R2 550 000 for the three months since contracting, the expenses incidental to clauses 8.2.1 and 8.2.2 of the agreement and any repayments of the cash funds paid monthly by CMMS. An analysis of the debits in the account revealed the following spread of transactions:

- Creditors of some R7 627.50 were charged to the account;
- A sundry debtor, account number 174600: Sundry Debtor-J Stratton Advance Expenses, was cleared by debiting this account with R500 000;
- A sundry debtor, account number 174501 - RB Kebble - Consolidated Investments/ Alibiprops, was cleared by debiting this account with some R802 000;
- An aggregated amount of some R940 014, lent to REC, was debited in this account;
- R6 750 000 was debited to this account, having been paid to Masupatsela;
- Interest of some R254 418.95 was accrued; and

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Sundry items of R97 235.10 were debited to this account.

The only credit raised in this period comprised a credit entry of some R133 300, described as a loan to Letseng.

During the period 1 April 2004 to 31 March 2005, some R39 165 766.07 was debited to the account and some R33 930 278.98 was credited to the account, which included a misallocation, which were reversed, of some R15 412 046.50. An analysis of the major debits in the account during this year reflected the following:

- The sale of 4 599 614 Aflease shares to Masupatsela was debited to this account in the amount of R7 773 347.66;
- Creditors of some R394 290.58 were raised;
- An amount of R500 000 was passed through the account. The relevant journal voucher number 2443 does not explain this[93];
- Transferring balances of sundry debtors from accounts 151860: Loan-DO Koyana, 151861: Loan J Mashele and 151875: Loan D Mathe, aggregating R731 370.84, to this account;
- R8 843 709.16 was paid to Masupatsela;
- R1 992 543.64 was accrued in interest on the account; and
- Sundries of some R102 298.14 were debited to the account.

The only major credit passed in this account comprised an amount of R15 022 072.93, passed effectively on 31 March 2005 to clear this account. This transaction was described in the ledger as a "loan settlement". The source document of this ostensible settlement is journal voucher number 2507, which journal recorded the following entries[94]:

- Credit a loan to Itsuseng of some R35 173 819.07[95];
- Credit a loan to Masupatsela/Changing Tides with R15 022 072.93; and
- Debit CMMS's short term investments with R50 195 892.00.

The narration to the journal reads as follows:

"Settlement of loans"

Given the fact that the short term investments account in CMMS represented the treasury activity of CMMS and recorded the net obligations towards mainly Socgen in that regard, the effect of this journal was to basically settle the debt of Masupatsela and related parties with CMMS's own funds, i.e. an effective write down of the ostensible loans to Masupatsela was achieved. In the light of the provisions of the agreement with Masupatsela, we were not able to determine from the contents of journal 2507, or its attachments, that no income was generated by the joint venture. It thus appears that the management action, represented in the journal, was unrelated to the performance of the joint venture.

During the period 1 April 2005 to 17 August 2005, the following major items were debited in this account:

- R1 314 800 to REC, which appears to have been debited in the wrong ledger account and was transferred out to the Randgold/Masupatsela loan account;
- R530 000 to Masupatsela;
- R52 000 on behalf of Stratton;
- R100 000 on behalf of Edge to Edge; and
- R150 000 on behalf of MV Solutions.

It is obvious from the above that, during this last period, this account had very little relevance to the joint venture agreement between CMMS and Masupatsela. On 28 April 2004, we presume, Masupatsela sent a letter to CMMS, advising CMMS that the monthly payments of R850 000 were in arrears with some R2 815 000[96]. On 5 October 2005, CMMS settled the above outstanding amounts in the amount of R1.5 million and that appears to have been the end of this relationship[97].

10.8.4 Implications

It is evident from the terms of the agreement and the nature of the treatment of the items in this ledger account, particularly the write off of the balance at the 2005 financial year end and the sundry items transacted therein, that this account did not represent an asset of CMMS, but merely a recording device of funds expensed to Masupatsela and others. The write off of the account balance as at 31 March 2005 against short term investments also indicates the difficulties that CMMS's accountants had in trying to account for an effective expense as an asset.

The remaining issue then turns around the question what these payments were for. We deal with this question at section 10.20 infra.

10.9 Loan to Tantco - Account number 151195

10.9.1 Introduction

Information obtained from publicly available sources regarding Tantco indicated that:

- The previous name of the company was MGO Industries (Pty) Limited and that the name was changed to Tantco on 31 August 2002;
- No ultimate parent was identified and no subsidiaries or associates were identified either. Based on other information, obtained by us, the information recorded in publicly available data bases appears not to be correct. To this extent we are specifically referring to the operations of Tantco (Private) Limited, a company which was incorporated, as we understand it, in terms of Zimbabwean company law;
- Although no cross border activities were identified as per public searches, we are aware, based on the provisions of the loan agreement between CMMS and Tantco, that business activities in Zimbabwe could have taken place;
- The directors of Tantco were:
  - Karin Grete van der Merwe;
  - Robert Arnold van der Merwe; and
  - Michael Mkhuseli Matakata.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Tantco appears to have been conducting business in various sectors of mining, exploring, processing, purchasing, marketing, selling and distribution of Tantalite worldwide;

JCI Limited entered into two agreements on loan with Tantco, the detail of which is described below. The nature of the loan was to provide funding to a prospecting opportunity in Zimbabwe. We were informed that the venture was terminated due to the fact that it was not considered a viable proposition by JCI Limited anymore[98].

10.9.2 Agreements entered into

We noted the following agreements:

- An agreement entered into on 31 October 2003 between CMMS and Tantco in terms whereof[99]:
  - CMMS extended a loan of R350 000.00 to Tantco;
  - The said loan and interest thereon was repayable on 30 November 2003; and
  - As security for the above mentioned loan, KGvdM was required to sign as surety and as co-principal debtor to the loan. The loan agreement furthermore required her to cede and assign 260 shares in Tantco, constituting 70% of the issued share capital of Tantco, to CMMS.

  The abovementioned loan agreement was approved by the directors of CMMS as per a resolution dated 31 October 2003[100]. Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, it appears, based on the inscriptions indicating the parties who signed the resolution, that the following parties were signatory to the said document:
  - RB Kebble;
  - Buitendag;
  - RAR Kebble; and
  - Swanevelder.

[98] As per consultation with Buitendag on 15 December 2005

- A memorandum of agreement recorded that an agreement was reached between JCI Limited and KGvdM on 31 October 2003 that 260 shares of KGvdM in Tantco were pledged to JCI[101].

  Based on the fact that the agreement was entered into between KGvdM and JCI Limited, we assume that the signature of the pledgor on the said agreement is that of KGvdM. It appears that Swanevelder signed the agreement on behalf of JCI Limited.

  The covering letter, which was forwarded by Tantco to JCI Limited and to which it appears the signed pledge agreement was attached, is indicative of the fact that the letter was drafted by R van d er Merwe, who according to the inscription appearing on the said letter is the CEO of Tantco. Accordingly, we assume that the signature, appearing on the covering letter, is that of R van der Merwe.

  Accordingly it appears that both KGvdM and R van der Merwe had knowledge of the fact that KGvdM's shares were pledged to JCI Limited;

- An addendum to the agreement was entered into on 31 October 2003 between CMMS and Tantco, which addendum was signed on 21 November 2003, and in terms whereof[102]:
  - CMMS increased the loan of R350 000.00 with a further R1 150 000.00, the overall amount of the loan thus amounting to R1 500 000.00;
  - The repayment date of the loan being amended to 30 December 2003;
  - The original agreement being amended to include JCI Limited as a party to the agreement in terms of the shares which were pledged to JCI Limited; and
  - It being stipulated that the securities to be delivered in terms of the pledge agreement and the original agreement had to be unencumbered.

  It appears that Swanevelder signed the addendum on behalf of CMMS. We do not know who signed the addendum on behalf of Tantco;

- On 28 May 2004 JCI Limited entered into a Subscription and Shareholders' Agreement with Tantco. It is evident that the following individuals/entities were parties to the said agreement[103]:
  - KGvdM;

- DS Bradbury;
- J Ashburner;
- R Scott;
- PN Bentley;
- C Whelan;
- RA van der Merwe;
- Overberg Trust;
- Tantco (Private) Limited;
- Tantco Global (Proprietary) Limited; and
- JCI Limited.

- At the time of entering into the agreement, Tantco had 1 000 authorised shares of which 370 were issued at a par value of R1 each. The shares were, according to clause 5.2 of the agreement, owned by the following individuals:

Name	Number of shares
KG van der Merwe	260
DS Bradbury	20
J Ashburner	2
R Scott	17
PN Bentley	34
C Whelan	37
Total	370

- The authorised shares of Tantco were increased from 1 000 to 10 000 shares. According to the agreement, the full compliment of shares had to be issued to the following individuals and/or parties:

Name	Number of shares
KG van der Merwe	1 913

J Ashburner	15
R Scott	125
PN Bentley	250
C Whelan	750
JCI Limited	6 600
Overberg Trust	200
Total	10 000

- The agreement recorded that the above shares had to be issued to the respective parties as security for their loans to Tantco. The parties involved in lending money to Tantco were set out in Appendix A of the subscription agreement as follows:

Name of Shareholder	Amount due R
JCI Limited	9 389 804.66
R van der Merwe	2 741 370.00
KG van der Merwe	1 435 286.00

R Scott	100 000.00
C Whelan	333 750.00
Tantco (Private) Limited	95 000
Total	14 587 781.66

- The agreement stipulated, at clause 7.4.1 thereof, that JCI Limited had already provided a loan of R9 389 804.66 to Tantco and that a further additional loan of R7 000 000.00 would be granted. Accordingly, a total loan amount of R16 389 804.66 was specified in the agreement with Tantco. The agreement also stipulated, at clause 7.4.3 thereof, that the advance of the additional R7 000 000.00 was subject to Tantco producing and selling such quantities of Tantalite in accordance with what was referred to in the agreement as a Performance Schedule.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Furthermore, it was also stipulated, at clause 7.4.5.4 of the agreement, that the original loan of R9 389 804.66 would only be made upon JCI Limited acquiring signing powers (together with Van der Merwe) in respect of Tantco's bank accounts; and

- According to the agreement, the following security had to be provided by Tantco to JCI Limited for their loan of R16 389 804.66:

Security given	Amount R
The assets of Tantco, and Tantco (Private) Limited	4 730 636.79
Shares of KG vd Merwe (260)[104]	Value not known to us

10.9.3 Findings

We called for the Tantco shares issued to JCI Limited (6 600 shares) and for those held by KGvdM (260 shares), which were pledged to JCI Limited as security for the first loan of R1 500 000.00, but we were informed that the statutory file relating to Tantco was given to Van der Merwe and has not been returned yet. The possibility that the Tantco shares of JCI Limited and the shares of KGvdM, which were pledged to JCI Limited, may have been held in the said file cannot be excluded at this stage.

We investigated the ledger entries for the financial years 2004, 2005 and 2006 and noted the following:

- Various payments were made by CMMS on behalf of Tantco to their suppliers and creditors, which were debited to the Tantco loan account in the books of account of CMMS. We were informed by CMMS that they paid operational expenditure and creditors on behalf of Tantco in terms of clause 14.4.2 of the agreement, which costs relate to the business activity of Tantco in Zimbabwe[105];
- Vieira indicated to us that she was instructed by Buitendag to perform inter company transfers to Tantco, usually without supporting documentation[106]. To this extent we identified 28 payments, amounting to R9 355 626.78, made to Tantco without supporting documentation.

Cognisance should be taken of the fact that we concentrated on high value transactions (i.e. transactions exceeding R100 000.00 in value) only. We furthermore prepared a spreadsheet, listing the 28 transactions noted by us, which inter alia contain the following information[107]:

- The payee, i.e. the party who may have benefited from the payment made by JCI;
- The JCI internal document reference number; and
- An indication as to the reasons supplied to us for the lack of supporting documents.

- As at 31 March 2005, the total outstanding amount of the Tantco loan in the CMMS books of account amounted to R22 757 271.14. This amount was provided as a bad debt in the 2005 financial year. We were informed that the reason for the said provision was that the total amount was written off based on accounting principals and that the matter would only be taken further after the results of the KPMG forensic investigation was completed and known to JCI Limited[108].

Conditions precedent, provided for at clause four of the Subscription and Shareholders Agreement were not adhered to insofar as Tantco's statutory files were returned to them and accordingly we were unable to:

- Determine whether there was written approval by the Tantco directors of the agreement with JCI Limited. JCI Limited does not have any proof of such approval in their records either;
- Determine whether the authorised share capital of Tantco was increased to 10 000 shares; and
- Determine any documentation proving that Van der Merwe waived all his rights, title and interest in and to claims from the Deed of Cession, as was required.

Conditions precedent, recorded at clause 7.4.5.4 of the Subscription and Shareholders Agreement, were not adhered to insofar as we were informed that electronic transfers were processed by Tantco without JCI Limited being a party thereto. The agreement stipulated that JCI Limited should have been a co-signing party to such payments with Van der Merwe.

Conditions precedent, recorded at clause 7.8.2 of the Subscription and Shareholders Agreement, were not adhered to insofar as:

[107] Refer Annexure BB
[108] As per consultation with Morton on 15 December 2005.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Additional funding was provided without a feasibility study provided to JCI Limited. No proof was submitted to us that such a feasibility study was approved by the majority of the JCI Limited directors prior to the funds being advanced;
- We did not find proof of compliance with a performance schedule, which formed part of the above stated agreement; and
- We have seen no evidence that production schedules were produced and neither did the accounting department know of the whereabouts, existence and/or approval of such a schedule.

10.9.4 Conclusion

We noted 28 instances of amounts, exceeding R100 000.00 in value and aggregating R9 355 626.78, paid to Tantco without any supporting documentation.

JCI Limited could not provide us with the 6 600 shares in Tantco, which were issued to them as security for their loan to Tantco.

It was indicated in the subscription agreement that, as soon as the 6 600 shares were issued to JCI Limited, the pledge of the 260 Tantco shares owned by KGvdM to JCI Limited, as security for the initial loan of R1 500 000.00, would become void. Due to the fact that we were unable to obtain any evidence that the 6 600 shares were issued to JCI Limited, we assume that the said pledge would still be valid and, accordingly, we called for the said 260 shares of KGvdM, but this could also not be presented to us.

CMMS funded Tantco in the amount of R22 757 271.14 without all the necessary contractually agreed upon security as stipulated in the agreement.

No evidence could be provided to us as to steps taken to recover the outstanding debt of R22 757 271.14. A provision was created against the full amount of the outstanding debt.

10.10 Loan to Itsuseng - Account number 151196

10.10.1 Introduction

We understood the following from publicly available information regarding Itsuseng:

- The company was incorporated on 18 December 2002;
- The nature of the business of Itsuseng was recorded as financial intermediation, except insurance and pension funding;
- The current directors of Itsuseng was recorded as:
  - Luvuyo Mfuneko Bekwa;
  - Amanda Zolisa Cuba;
  - Lulamile Herbert Mntumni;
  - Raymond Lunga Ncwana;
  - Andile Reeves Nkuhle;
  - Peter Nyewe; and
  - A previous director indicated, was Thabo Sindisa Kwinana.

10.10.2 Scrip lending agreement between JCI Gold and Itsuseng

A scrip lending agreement was entered into between JCI Gold and Itsuseng during October 2004, in terms whereof the following were inter alia agreed between the parties[109]:

- JCI Gold would lend 2 500 000 shares in the capital of WAL to assist Itsuseng in the funding of their activities;
- Itsuseng was required to inter alia make available the following assets as security for the above stated scrip lending agreement:
  - 50 % of the shares in Lembede;
  - 30 % of the shares in Kovacs;
  - 20 % of the shares in Ikamva;

[109] Refer Exhibit 5.10.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- 30 % of the shares in Newline;
- 25 870 589 JCI Limited ordinary shares;
- 5 % interest in the Mphahlele 457ks mineral rights held via Lembede; and
- 70 % interest in the Himalaya Platinum Project.

- It was recorded that, prior to the signature date, the lender delivered the initial lent security to the borrower; and
- The termination date, on which the shares had to be returned, was 30 September 2007.

10.10.3 Findings

We noted a Pledge and Cession Agreement between JCI Limited and Kovacs 608, related to the purchase of the Boschendal Estate, in terms whereof Itsuseng pledged and ceded to JCI Limited all of the ordinary shares issued and held by it in the share capital of Kovacs 608. This particular agreement was signed on 6 January 2004 and, accordingly, we found it unlikely that there would be any Kovacs 608 shares available to be pledged as security as part of the scrip lending agreement between JCI and Itsuseng[110].

We were informed, during two consultations, that this particular scrip lending agreement is a false document[111]. One of the parties consulted, informed us that the document was drafted:

- After she could not reconcile the WAR shares of JCI Gold; and
- To satisfy questions asked by the auditors[112].

Another party informed us that the amounts, reflected in the Itsuseng loan account, relate to the funding of the ANC Youth League, amongst other things, and relating to the purchase of RLP shares[113].

The scrip lending agreement creates the impression that it was signed by RB Kebble. Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, the signature of RB Kebble on this particular document appears to be different from that on other documents, which were held out to us as being signed by RB Kebble.

Various transactions were noted, which were processed via the T-sec and Tradek accounts. Some of the transactions relate to a "Lyons" and an "Icarus" matters. During consultation with T-Sec, we were informed that these matters relate to aspects where the Lyons entity was dissolved and construction of properties in Centurion and Sandton were undertaken[114].

We also noted the following transactions, which were processed to the account:

- An amount of R7 908 893.26, allocated as a debit to the Itsuseng loan account on 31 July 2003 in respect of what was described in the journal entry as Rand Leases. The same amount was taken out of this particular account by a credit entry, on 30 September 2003 and debited to account 155900, namely Loan RARK, which we assume is the loan account of RAR Kebble in the books of account of CMMS;
- Debits of R16 857.18 and R2 514 300.25 respectively, on 31 August 2003, in respect of what was described as Itsuseng Strategies/Lyons;
- A debit of R4 659 600.00 on 30 September 2003 in respect of a "TT" (we assume this relates to a telegraphic transfer) relating to the Lyons guarantee. During consultations with T-Sec officials, we were provided with a reconciliation of transactions as per their records pertaining to the Lyons deal. We noted that their reconciliation indicated amounts of R4 000 000.00 and R11 659 600.00, of which we assume that R659 600.00 related to the original guarantee and further payments pertaining to the Icarus shares. The aforesaid amounts relate to the R4 659 600.00 described above[115];
- A debit of R340 400.00 on 30 September 2003 in respect of the Icarus guarantee. According to the reconciliation of T-Sec, as described supra, this particular amount related to a guarantee fee that was paid to FNB;
- A debit of R139 200.00 on 31 October 2003 in respect of the Icarus guarantee fee;
- A debit of R1 500 000.00 on 31 October 2003 in respect of a transaction described on the supporting journal entry as "TT Lyons – New Miller Construction". According to the reconciliation of T-Sec, as described supra, this particular amount related to a debt refund paid to one Neil Muller;
- A debit of R12 488.20 on 1 March 2004, which related to a payment made to GEO Consult International (Pty) Limited for Lanyon Vale Diamond Prospecting application;

[114] As per consultation with Steenkamp of T-Sec on 27 January 2006

- A debit was processed on 1 April 2004 in the amount of R9 180 000.00 in respect of 3.4 million Redefine shares at a value of R2.70 per share. The corresponding credit leg of the entry was processed to the RLP loan account. The narration of the relevant journal indicated a redistribution of the proceeds of the sale of Redefine shares by RLP;
- Ten transactions of R350 each in value, during April 2004, which represents payments classified as "payables". Due to the negligible value involved in the aforesaid transactions, we did not investigate the detail thereof;
- An amount of R1 075 168.78 relating to what was described as various year end entries, which amount was debited to the loan account on 31 March 2005; and
- Seven transactions, where interest totalling R4 157 807.92 was debited to the loan account during the time frame March 2004 to March 2005;

The closing balance in the account, as at 31 March 2005, amounted to R35 173 819.07 and was transferred from this account to the short term investments account, being general ledger account number 170200. The balance in this account was zero after the aforesaid transfer. We furthermore noted, as part this particular journal entry, that an amount of R15 022 072.93 was transferred from the Masupatsela/Changing Tides account to the said short term investment account. This latter transfer, and the effect thereof, is dealt with at section 10.8 supra.

We noted that a provision of R35 173 819.07 existed against the Itsuseng loan account and that this provision was reversed on the same date that the amount of R35 173 819.07 was transferred from the Itsuseng loan account to the short term investment account as described at the paragraph directly above. This latter entry had as its effect that the loan balances to Itsuseng were written off against the assets of CMMS, instead of in the income statement of CMMS.

10.10.4 Conclusion

The underlying scrip lending agreement to the Itsuseng loan was, by the admission of senior staff at CMMS, a false document.

Costs, related to the Lyons and Icarus transactions, which related to construction development in Centurion and Sandton, were debited to this particular loan account without any indication of the fact that these costs related to Itsuseng. To this extent it appears that an amount of R9 170 357.43 may have been debited to the loan account and ultimately included in the amount of R35 173 819.07, which was transferred to the short term investments account of CMMS.

10.11 Loan to Luembe/Cassanguide - Account number 151199

10.11.1 Introduction

We obtained the following information from publicly available sources regarding Luembe:

- The company was incorporated on 19 May 2003;
- The previous name of the company was IT Austin and Associates;
- The holding company is recorded as Refraction Investments (Pty) Limited;
- The ultimate parent company is recorded as REC;
- An entity styled Sub-Sahara Investimentos e Consutaria Limitada Inc is recorded as a subsidiary of Luembe. That company appears to have been incorporated in accordance with the company laws of Angola; and
- The directors of the company is recorded as:
  - Andrew John Smith;
  - Buitendag;
  - Shaun Alexander Bryans;
  - Stratton; and
  - Swanevelder.

10.11.2 Joint venture agreement between Luembe and Marsanto

We noted a joint venture agreement between Luembe and one Marsanto, which was entered into on 23 October 2003. The agreement inter alia stipulated that[116]:

- The joint venture was entered into by and between the parties to exploit diamondiferous reserves;
- Marsanto had to contribute the following to the joint venture:
  - Its rights and obligations under a concession to mine diamondiferous reserves;
  - The free use of moveable assets subject to certain conditions; and

[116] Refer Exhibit 5.11.1

- Assistance with infrastructure and logistical support, particular with regard to the procuring of licences that may have been required to conduct the joint venture mining operations.

- Luembe had to contribute the necessary capital expenditure, financing, equipment and expertise as may have been required for the activities of the joint venture.

We noted a shareholders' agreement between Refraction, WCIH, Perrevos and Luembe, entered into on 10 December 2003, which inter alia recorded the following[117]:

- Refraction would have been required to contribute the initial funding to Luembe;
- The funding had to be used by Luembe solely for the purpose of conducting the business in terms of the joint venture agreement, described above; and
- As consideration for the said funding, Refraction would receive shares in Luembe. The shareholding in Luembe, after the issue of shares to Refraction, would constitute the following:

Shareholder	Number of shares	Percentage shareholding in Luembe %
Refraction Investments	350	70
Perrevos	75	15
WCIH	75	15

10.11.3 Findings

We were informed of the following modus operandi regarding the accounting treatment of this specific loan account:

- Although Refraction was wholly owned by REC, CMMS fulfilled a treasury function regarding the funding of Luembe; and
- The said transactions were recorded in the loan account of Luembe/Cassanguide in the books of account of CMMS. In order to identify the transactions pertaining to the joint venture, a separate "Luembe/Cassanguide" loan account was used and the transactions were not confused with those in the loan account of Randgold/Masupatsela. REC, in turn, would raise the transactions, processed as a loan owed to CMMS, in their books of account.

[117] Refer Exhibit 5.11.2

The balance outstanding on the loan account as at 31 March 2004 was R2 116 450.69. The transactions identified, related to the operating expenses required for the mining operations. The transactions included geology costs, travel costs and operating costs. We noted that an amount of R418 290.82 was paid into one De Bruyne's bank account[118]. We were informed that the bank account for the joint venture was still in the process of being opened at the date on which the payments were made and that De Bruyne was the person responsible for the mining operations in Luembe[119]. An amount of R1 079 438.75 was paid into the bank account of Marsanto. Detailed supporting vouchers could not be presented to us to support the aforesaid payment. The CMMS request to FNB for an urgent telegraphic transfer of funds and FNB's internal application forms for the transfer of foreign currency were the only documents attached to the CMMS cheque requisition C2906[120]. We were informed that the said payment was to fund the operating expenses of the mine[121].

We furthermore noted that, during the 2005 financial year, an amount of R43 093 095.61 was debited to this particular loan account. We selected amounts exceeding R20 000.00 for investigation. The aforesaid transactions, investigated by us, inter alia related to capital expenditure, geology costs, salaries, travel costs and operating expenses. We also noted that the following amounts had no supporting vouchers, except for the request to transfer funds and a foreign exchange application form:

- A total amount of R829 499.88 was paid into De Bruyne's account for operating expenses. It appears that R100 000.00 of the aforesaid amount was in respect of the proceeds received from the sale of an excavator;
- R5 030 820.00 was paid into the Sub Saharan bank account. The Sub-Saharan company was a subsidiary of Luembe. We were informed that these payments were for operating expenses of the joint venture and that the payments were processed to this entity as the bank account of the joint venture was not opened yet[122]; and
- R1 724 200.00 was paid to the Randgold/Cassanguide bank account, which we were informed, was the bank account opened for the joint venture, and related to payments for operating expenses of the joint venture[123].

A net total of R4 232 000, pertaining to capital equipment, was transferred from the loan account of Luembe to a suspense account. At the time of writing this report we did not have full details regarding this particular transaction.

As at the 2005 financial year end, i.e. 31 March 2005, the net balance in the loan account, of some R35 429 133.63, had been transferred to the Randgold/Masupatsela loan account in the books of account of CMMS. The balance of the Luembe/Cassanguide loan account, after this transfer and as at the 2005 financial year end, amounted to nil.

We inter alia noted the following in the Luembe/Cassanguide loan account in the books of account of CMMS:

- The credit balance, per the general ledger, excluding the opening balance, was R245 590.28;
- The transactions, processed during this year, comprised salaries, travel costs and operating expenses;
- R450 227.95 was paid to the Randgold/Cassanguide bank account and raised to the loan account. This amount was subsequently reversed to the loan account of Randgold/ Masupatsela; and
- R627 000 was received into CMMS's books for the equipment that was sold by Luembe.

10.11.4 Conclusion

It appears that costs, which were related to the operating costs pertaining to the mining activities of Luembe/Cassanguide, have been allocated to this particular loan account.

10.12 Loan to Kaquala Investments/Lunga Ncwana - Account number 151243

10.12.1 Introduction

We found hundreds of companies with the name Kaquala Investments, but Ncwana was not registered as a director of one of the entities.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

10.12.2 Agreement underlying the loan account

We did not find an agreement pertaining to this particular loan account.

10.12.3 General ledger entries

We noted the following two transactions appearing in the above said loan account:

- A debit to the account on 13 September 2004, amounting to R5 130.00. The general ledger printout viewed, indicates in the reference column the wording:

  "Payables Trn Entry"

  and from this we are making the assumption that the amount was processed via the creditors' payment system at CMMS.

  A detailed general ledger extraction of CMMS's accounting system indicated the following additional information regarding the specific transaction:

  - The transaction related to legal fees;
  - The payment may have been made to Mallinicks, a firm of attorneys;
  - A further inscription indicated a number 69175, which we assume may be a document or invoice reference number of Mallinicks; and
  - An inscription L Ncwana appears, which we are assume may be an indication that the payment may have related to Ncwana.

  It therefore appears that legal costs, amounting to R5 130.00 in respect of Ncwana, was paid to Mallinicks attorneys; and

- A journal entry was processed on 31 December 2004 whereby the above stated cost of R5 130.00 was written off. The general ledger recorded journal voucher J2276 as a source document in this regard. The said journal entry bears an inscription:

  "Write off of loans – as per Thys de Beer"

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

It is however not evident that De Beer signed the document off or authorised such an entry as per the inscription on any of the underlying documents. We were however informed during consultation that negligible outstanding debt, appearing in the ledgers of CMMS, was written off during the 2005 financial year[124].

The effect of the above stated transactions was that the cost was incurred and subsequently written off.

During consultation with Ncwana we asked him what the nature of the transaction was, but he denied having any knowledge regarding the aforesaid transaction[125].

We furthermore checked in the cashbook and in the cashbook schedule, provided to us by the accountant of RB Kebble. We noted, as per the description of the latter mentioned cashbook schedule, that several costs were incurred by RB Kebble, which appear to have been paid to Ncwana. We stress however that we did not view such physical payments and are relying on information recorded in the said cashbook schedules and are assuming that, where Ncwana's name, either in the format of his surname, first name, initials or any combination thereof appear, that such payments may have been made to him. We do not know at this stage whether the said payments were funded by RB Kebble or by funds of CMMS, which may have been in the bank account of RB Kebble. We attach a schedule pertaining to the costs noted by us in this regard[126].

10.12.4 Conclusion

Sufficient information did not exist at CMMS to indicate what the R5 130.00 legal costs, allocated to this account, was for. Discussions with De Beer, who processed the journal entry writing the amount off, did not reveal any additional information that could be of assistance in this regard.

We found no specific costs pertaining to Ncwana evidenced by documentation reviewed by us.

10.13 Loan to Ikamva Investment Holdings - Account number 151310

10.13.1 Introduction

We obtained the following information from publicly available sources regarding Ikamva:

- The company was incorporated on 27 October 1998 as Seamo and changed its name to Ikamva on 29 November 2000;
- The nature of Ikamva's business was recorded as that related to financial intermediation, insurance, real estate and business services sector;
- The directors of the company were:
  - Oglobry Kagiso Chikane (appointed 1 November 2004);
  - Andile Reeves Nkuhlu (appointed 1 November 2004);
  - Sharif Joseph Pandor (appointed 2 March 1999); and
  - Barend Petersen (appointed 2 March 1999).

10.13.2 Agreement of loan between CMMS and Ikamva

An agreement relating to the loan between CMMS and Ikamva could not be presented to us. A response, provided to us by Pandor, regarding the JCI Limited/Ikamva relationship, is indicative thereof that a draft agreement existed between JCI Limited and Ikamva, but that the agreement was never signed due to reasons stipulated below as part of our findings related to the Ikamva loan account[127].

We obtained an agreement between Concerto and JCI Limited, which recorded the following[128]:

- Concerto sold 300 shares in and claims against Ikamva, representing 30% of the shareholding in the said entity, to JCI Limited;
- The purchase price for the shares amounted to the difference between the face value of the claims bought and R20 400 000.00; and

[127] Refer Exhibit 5.13.1
[128] Refer Exhibit 5.13.2

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Payment had to be made by JCI Limited to Concerto by way of cession of JCI Limited ordinary shares equal to the purchase price.

The agreement between Concerto and JCI Limited indicated CPM Main and RB Kebble as signatories to the agreement, on behalf of Concerto and JCI Limited, respectively, and accordingly, we assume that the parties who signed the agreement were the aforesaid individuals.

We furthermore obtained two draft agreements between Concerto and JCI Limited, which were styled in the same manner as the agreement between Concerto and JCI Limited, as mentioned above, which recorded:

- A purchase consideration of R5 970 775.00 and had the following inscription at the top of some of the pages of the agreement[129]:

  "C:\DOCUME-2\tbeale.JCI\LOCALS-1\Temp\sale of shares(IKAMVA).DOC t/o239562: 2004/04/30 09:52 AM"; and

- A purchase consideration of R14 429 225.00 and had the following inscription at the top of some of the pages contained of the agreement[130]:

  "C:\DOCUME-2\tbeale.JCI\LOCALS-1\Temp\sale of shares (EXTRA PROPS).DOC t/o 239562: 2004/04/30 09:53 AM".

Additionally, we obtained the following three documents:

- An acknowledgement of debt between the ETA and IAD, which was undated and not signed, except for an initial appearing on all the pages of the document. The said acknowledgement of debt inter alia recorded that[131]:

  - The ETA agreed to lend IAD the sum of R593 000.00 plus interest at prime plus 1%; and
  - A raising fee applicable to what we assume was for the raising of the loan, in the amount of R18 000.00.

  The document furthermore referred to specific Annexures A and B, which were not attached to the acknowledgement of debt;

- A resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, passed on 23 November 2004, in terms whereof JCI Limited bound itself to ETA as surety for the acknowledgement of debt by IAD[132]; and
- A Deed of Suretyship by JCI Gold to ETA, signed on 23 November 2004 in Cape Town, as surety for the debt described directly above. The document was signed by RB Kebble on behalf of JCI Limited, but ETA did not sign the document[133].

10.13.3 Findings

We consulted with CMMS, the company secretaries of Ikamva and established the following:

- Pandor took transfer of 100 shares from Seamo on 2 March 1999[134];
- Two new share certificates were issued, namely certificate two for 30 shares and certificate three for 70 shares. Both certificates were issued in October 2004 on an unspecified day. The certificates were not signed as at 23 January 2006, when we viewed the said certificates at CMMS[135]; and
- A Declaration of Trust and Special Power of Attorney was signed by Pandor on 20 October 2004 wherein which it was recorded that the 30 shares, reflected on certificate two, were the shares of JCI Limited and that they were held by Pandor[136].

We noted that a shareholders' agreement was entered into on 24 September 2000 between[137]:

- Sharif Joseph Pandor;
- Vuyani Lwazi Ngcuka;
- Barend Petersen; and
- Dayspring Management Services (Pty) Limited

in respect of Ikamva. This agreement inter alia recorded that Dayspring meant Main and that 200 shares in Ikamva, representing 20% of the authorised share capital of Ikamva, were held by Main. Furthermore, it was recorded that other shareholders held 800 shares in Ikamva, representing 80% of the authorised share capital of Ikamva.

We furthermore obtained a response from Pandor regarding the Ikamva/JCI Limited relationship on 13 January 2006, which response inter alia recorded the following[138]:

- During 2003, BEE shareholders owned 80% of Ikamva and Main owned 20% of the company;
- Main sold his shares to JCI Limited;
- JCI Limited had been prepared to finance Ikamva's share of prospecting costs at Mphahlele on condition that Main sold another 10% of his shareholding in Ikamva to JCI Limited;
- Ikamva was indebted to Main to the extent of R1 400 000 and an agreement was reached with Main to offset this debt by providing him with a further 10% shareholding in Ikamva;
- Ikamva had a meeting with JCI Limited, who confirmed to Ikamva that they had an agreement (presumably with Main) to buy Main's share of 20% plus the additional 10% shareholding, mentioned above; and
- The said response to us by Pandor inter alia indicated that the draft shareholders' agreement, presented by JCI Limited to Ikamva, remained unsigned because of:

  "2.1 Despite many enquiries from Ikamva and professionals subcontracted to work with us, JCI could not confirm the payment to Paul Main for the 30%.

  2.2 JCI wanted to hold its 30% stake through a BEE entity but could not submit the name and details to be included in the shareholder's agreement."

We noted the following accounting entries in the general ledger in respect of the Ikamva loan account:

- An amount of R5 038 100.00 was debited to the Ikamva loan account on 31 March 2004. The said amount was credited to the sundry debtor's account of RB Kebble in the books of account of CMMS to reduce his debt to CMMS as he incurred costs on behalf of the company, as we understand it. We extracted copies of the relevant journal entry relating to the said debit of R5 038 100.00 in the loan account and noted the following:

[138] Refer Exhibit 5.13.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Journal entry J1995, processed on 7 June 2004 in respect of 31 March 2004, where the narration of the journal entry recorded the following[139]:

  "Various payments by RB Kebble on behalf of CMMS"

  We assume that RB Kebble refers to RB Kebble as the abbreviation contained in the narration reflects the first letters of RB Kebble's names and surname;

- Supporting documents to the above referred to journal entry are indicative of the fact that:

  - An amount of R5 000 000.00 was paid as a part payment for an investment and that the balance was paid (presumably for the same investment) by the issuing of JCI Limited shares[140];

  - That the R5 000 000.00 was paid on the following dates out of RB Kebble's Standard Bank bank account:

Date	Amount SA (R)
9 October 2003	1 000 000.00
10 October 2003	2 000 000.00
17 October 2003	1 000 000.00
30 October 2003	1 000 000.00
Total	5 000 000.00

We agreed the payments, indicated in the above table, to a schedule provided to us by RB Kebble's accountant. Cognisance should however be taken thereof that we did not agree the said entries to the bank statements of RB Kebble's bank account[141]. The aforesaid schedule indicates that the transactions were allocated under a heading styled "More 2000 Investments". The inscription "Ikamva Concerto noms" also appears next to the aforesaid heading. Information, obtained by us from publicly available sources, inter alia indicates that Main was a director of Daybreak and More 2000 Investments;

- Details regarding the cost of R38 100.00 are limited, except for an inscription on a working paper recording that the said cost was allocated under a heading styled "IKAMVA INVESTMENT HOLDINGS"[142]. We consulted the financial manager at CMMS regarding the above said amount and whether there were any indications and/or working papers indicating what the amount related to, but were informed that they had no detail regarding the breakdown and/or nature of the amount[143];

- We furthermore noted that journal voucher J2446 was processed on 22 August 2005 in respect of the month end 31 March 2005 for an amount of R15 400 000.00. The said journal affects the following two accounts:

  - Debit to account 121776 (IU Ikamva): R15 400 000.00; and
  - Credit to account 171001 (Shares – JCI Ords): R15 400 000.00.

  The supporting document, attached to the said journal entry J2446, inter alia indicates that[144]:

  - 30 % equity in Ikamva (representing 300 shares of R1 each) may have been purchased at a purchase price of R20 400 000.00;
  - A cash deposit of R5 000 000.00 was paid against the said purchase price. We assume that the reference, made in this regard to the deposit of R5 000 000.00, relates to the R5 000 000.00 paid by RB Kebble on behalf of JCI Limited, described in more detail supra; and
  - A balance of R15 400 000.00 had to be paid by issuing 30 800 000 JCI Limited shares with a nominal value of 50 cents per share.

  The supporting document, attached to journal voucher J2446, which is inter alia described supra, was prepared on 7 September 2004 and signed by Buitendag, which is the same day on which the agreement between Concerto and JCI Limited was signed. It is also evident from the aforesaid attachment that Buitendag was under the impression that JCI Limited was purchasing 300 shares. This assumption is based on the fact that Buitendag made the following inscription on the right hand top of the said document:

  "30 % Equity (300 shares of R1 each)"

---

[143] As per consultation with Cavanagh on 24 January 2006
[144] Refer Exhibit 5.13.15

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

We were informed during consultation that Van Straaten informed Buitendag that Ikamva did not have sufficient issued shares to allow for the purchase of 300 shares. Van Straaten said that she informed Buitendag that Ikamva had an issued share capital of 100 shares and that Buitendag told her that JCI Limited owned 30 % of the shares in Ikamva and thereafter changed the inscription of 300 shares on his working paper to 30 shares[145]. Van Straaten thereafter prepared the Ikamva share certificates two and three to reflect a split between 30 and 70 shares respectively and drafted the Deed of Trust in respect of the 30 shares held by Pandor on behalf of JCI Limited[146].

From the general ledger of CMMS it is evident that JCI Limited shares, valued at R15 400 000.00 at the time, were issued. Based on the agreement between Concerto and JCI Limited, and Buitendag's working paper, which was described above, we assume this is the 30 800 000 ordinary shares with a net value of 50 cents each which relate to this particular transaction. We noted a document in which JCI Limited requested the JSE to list 30 800 000 ordinary shares[147].

We were informed that the intention of the letter was to list the 30 800 000 shares to enable JCI Limited to use the shares as payment to Main, as agreed to in the agreement between JCI Limited and Concerto. We were furthermore informed that the said document was not formalised, the shares were not issued and that JCI did not have sufficient shares to pay Main, ultimately resulting in a payment of 20 000 000 shares being processed as payment[148].

We were presented with e-mail documents indicating that requests were made for:

- The transfer of 20 000 000 JCI Limited shares from the JCI Gold CSDP account number 1900010909 to T-Sec for account number 692343. There is an inscription on the e-mail viewed that the last mentioned account number belonged to Paradigm Shift CC[149]; and

- Transfer of 20 000 000 JCI Limited ordinary shares out of account 986232 to the JCI Gold CSDP Account number 1900010909[150].

We were informed that the above mentioned 20 000 000 ordinary JCI Limited shares were used as payment to Concerto[151]. We noted however, that there was a time difference between the instructions regarding the transfer of shares, mentioned directly above, and the date of the agreement between JCI Limited and Concerto. The above e-mails reflect dates in June and September 2003, whereas the agreement with Concerto was dated in September 2004.

Furthermore, we obtained a facsimile document from Investec to Beale on 30 April 2004, in which Investec provided account details regarding the payment to Concerto Nominees. Attached to this document is a document styled "SALE OF SHARES AGREEMENTS WITH PAUL MAIN", which inter alia recorded the following:

- 30% shares were acquired in the issued share capital of Ikamva;
- 100% shares were acquired in the issued share capital of Extra Props;
- The purchase price was R20.4 million (inclusive of a loan of R2.4 million);
- The purchase price was allocated in the following ratio:
  - R5.97 million in respect of the shares in (R3.57 million) and loan to Ikamva (R2.4 million); and
  - R14.429 million in respect of Extra Props; and
  - R5 million was paid towards the purchase price at that time.

Although the document, described above, was attached to the facsimile received from Investec, it is doubtful whether it formed part of the document for the following reasons:

- It is not on Investec paper;
- It does not bear a facsimile transmission inscription on the top of the page, which inscription appears on the Investec document; and

[150] Refer Exhibit 5.13.19
[151] As per consultation with Beale on 23 January 2006

- The Investec facsimile recorded that only one page was transmitted.

- An amount of R619 968.55, which was debited to the Ikamva loan account on 25 February 2005 in respect of a payment to Mallinicks. To this extent we noted cheque requisition C4415 on 25 February 2005 with supporting documents indicating the following:
  - An electronic payment advice of FNB amounting to R619 968.55; and
  - An email from one Cecile-Ann Pearce at Mallinicks to De Beer at JCI Limited regarding the subject matter "IKAMVA AUCOR". The e-mail recorded that the following amounts were paid to Ikamva Asset Disposal (Pty) Limited on 21 November 2004, totalling R619 968.55:
    - Capital: R593 000.00;
    - Raising fee: R18 000.00; and
    - Interest on outstanding amount: R18 968.55.

  We furthermore noted an acknowledgement of debt document and Deed of Suretyship in terms whereof JCI Limited provided suretyship for the debt of IAD[152];

- An amount of R406 367.39 was debited to the Ikamva loan account on 31 March 2005. The amount was transferred from the JCI Gold Loan account in the books of CMMS to that of the Ikamva loan account. We obtained a ledger printout detailing the exact breakdown of this amount[153]. Based on the description in the audit trail of the transactions representing the above said amount it is evident that approximately half of the amount related to travel related expenditure and the other half to amounts paid to Thoughtfox. Thoughtfox was used as consultants on Ikamva related projects and the nature of their services and amounts paid to them are discussed in more detail at paragraph 12.22 infra;

- A credit of R2 000 000.00, which was transferred from Ikamva to the IU Ikamva account on 31 March 2005. The attachment to journal voucher J2446 inter alia indicates that the purchase price of the 30% equity in Ikamva amounted to R20 400 000.00 less an amount of R3 000 000.00 in respect of a balance in a loan account of which Griffiths had the details, thereby indicating that the cost of the shares amounted to R17 400 000.00. RB Kebble paid R5 000 000.00 as a deposit on the purchase price of R20 000 000.00, resulting in an outstanding amount of R15 400 000.00.

The difference between R17 400 000.00 and R15 400 000.00 amounts to R2 000 000.00. It therefore appears that the R2 000 000.00 transfer may relate to the difference between the cost of shares indicated as R17 400 000.00 and the net amount outstanding after RB Kebble's payment.

We established, during consultation with the financial manager of CMMS, that the R2 000 000.00 was transferred out of the loan account of Ikamva, based on the following rationale[154]:

- RB Kebble paid an amount of R5 000 000.00 on behalf of JCI Limited towards the purchase price of the shares;
- The amount of the claim, which formed part of the purchase price, was estimated at R3 000 000.00. To this extent, the accountant of CMMS based his assumption on the note of Buitendag, which was attached to journal voucher J2446, where he indicated an offsetting of a loan to the extent of R3 000 000.00; and
- The difference between the amount of R5 000 000.00 and the claim of R3 000 000.00 amounts to R2 000 000.00 and, accordingly, that was transferred out of the loan account, resulting in the assumed claim amount of R3 000 000.00 remaining. Furthermore, the result of transferring the R2 000 000.00 to the cost of shares account is that the cost of the shares was reflected as R17 400 000.00, which is in line with the indications as per Buitendag's note.

- A credit of R352 664.61, which relates to an adjustment of expenditure previously debited to the account. We could not obtain any detail as to what this transaction was all about[155];
- Interest calculations of R1 201 389.88, which was debited to the account on 31 March 2005;
- Sundry expenditure, such as professional fees, salaries, legal fees and telephone costs of R813 655.75, which were debited to the account during the time frame 1 April 2005 and 28 August 2005. As per the response by Pandor to us, dated 13 January 2005, it appears that operational costs of Ikamva were paid by JCI Limited as part of a joint venture agreement on various projects, inter alia the following:
  - Mphahlele platinum farm;
  - SAFCO (fishing);
  - Boschendal Wine Estate; and

- WAL.

Furthermore, we noted a letter from Ikamva to one Mphahlele, dated 25 February 2005, regarding his employment conditions at Ikamva. The letter recorded inter alia that an amount of R50 000.00 per month would be paid to Mphahlele as remuneration. Several amounts of R50 000.00 were included in the amount of R813 655.75 mentioned above. Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, an inscription stating "Ikamva Loan Acc" and "Us to pay" may have been made and signed off by Stratton on the letter of Ikamva[156]; and

- Further aspects, related to consultants' fees paid and relating to Ikamva, can be seen at section 12.22 infra.

10.13.4 Conclusion

The agreement between JCI Limited and Concerto recorded contradictory facts if compared to the two draft versions pertaining to Ikamva and Extra Props. It appears that the purchase price of the shares and claim in Ikamva and the purchase price of the shares in Extra Props were combined into the agreement with the purchase price for the final Ikamva agreement, which was signed by JCI Limited and Concerto. The document, attached to the facsimile received from Investec, in which bank account details of Concerto were recorded, confirms the suspicion that the signed agreement may not be a true reflection of the facts surrounding the purchase price and conditions for the shares and claim in Ikamva.

The claim, which forms part of the purchase price of Ikamva, was assumed by the CMMS accountants to be R3 000 000.00. It is possible that this assumption is incorrect, specifically in view of the fact that the document, attached to the Investec facsimile, indicates an amount of R2 400 000.00 as additional payment to Ikamva over and above the price of the shares.

The recordal of the price of the Ikamva shares in the books of account of CMMS as R17 400 000.00 appears not to be correct. As per the attachment to the Investec facsimile the price of the Ikamva shares was R3 570 000.00 and the price of the Extra Props shares was R14 429 000.00. Accordingly, the share prices of the Ikamva and Extra Props shares should have been reflected in the books of account of CMMS as per the aforementioned values.

[156] Refer Exhibit 5.13.21

We were not presented with shares, held by JCI Limited in Extra Props and neither does anyone appear to know about the entity. It therefore seems that JCI Limited may not be in possession of the 100% shareholding bought by them in the aforesaid entity.

JCI Limited currently holds 30 shares in Ikamva as per the share register maintained by CMMS. The shares are in possession of Pandor and a Deed of Trust was presented to us regarding the shares held by him in this regard. According to the agreement between JCI Limited and Concerto and the response received by us from Pandor, JCI Limited should be holding 30% of the issued share capital in Ikamva.

Based on the agreement between Ikamva and Dayspring, the issued share capital of Ikamva was 1 000 shares and, accordingly, JCI Limited should hold 300 shares in the entity and not 30. Accordingly, it seems that the share register, maintained by CMMS, who fulfils the function of company secretary to Ikamva, is not accurate and up to date.

It appears that JCI Limited may have issued 20 000 000 shares to Concerto as payment for the 30% shareholding in Ikamva. The purchase consideration was stipulated as 30 800 000 shares and the general ledger of CMMS indicates that the shares were issued. We were not furnished with satisfactory proof that the balance of the 30 800 000 shares, comprising the purchase consideration, being 10 800 000 shares were in fact issued. We cannot conclude at this stage whether an alternative form of payment was made in lieu of the 10 800 000 JCI Limited ordinary shares which were not provided to Concerto.

10.14 Loan to JCI East Africa - Account number 151325

10.14.1 Introduction

The company was incorporated in the IOM as JCI East African Exploration Company Limited, a financial services company, on 8 November 1995. Shareholders at date of incorporation are indicated as being Maitland Services Limited with 1 ordinary share. This share was transferred to Discus on 8 November 1995. Discus appears to be resident in the IOM[157].

[157] Refer Exhibit 5.14.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

JCI East Africa, at some date in May 1996, acquired 945 500 common shares in a company named and styled Tan Range[158]. The share acquisition document indicates that JCI Limited, the ultimate holding company of JCI East Africa, had entered into a joint venture with Tan Range. The document also indicates that JCI East Africa held 3 947 100 common shares of Tan Range.

The purchase of Tan Range shares appears to have been funded by loans from JCI (IoM) and Discus, because both entities subordinated their loan accounts in JCI East Africa[159].

10.14.2 Agreement

No documented agreements have been located, relating to any loan agreement between JCI Limited, CMMS and/or JCI East Africa.

10.14.3 Accounting entries in the CMMS ledger

29 October 2004

The T-Sec schedule of transactions, for the period 1 October 2004 to 29 October 2004, indicates that 1 112 200 Tan Range shares were sold and generated funds of R7 437 708[160]. Of the funds generated, an amount of R6 500 208 was credited to the JCI East Africa loan account in the CMMS ledger and R937 500 was credited to account 151780, "Loan WAL"[161]. Presumably the shares had been subject to a share lending scheme from JCI East Africa to CMMS. We have not located any documentation to support any share lending arrangement between the parties.

26 November 2004

The T-Sec schedule of transactions, for the period 1 November 2004 to 26 November 2004, indicates that 1 453 400 Tan Range shares were sold to generate funds of R8 801 683. This amount was credited to the JCI East Africa loan account[162].

30 December 2004

The T-Sec schedule of transactions, for the period 1 December 2004 to 31 December 2004, indicates that 1 780 000 Tan Range shares were sold to generate funds of R9 037 750. This amount was credited to the JCI East Africa loan account[163].

25 February 2005

The T-Sec schedule of transactions, for the period 1 February 2005 to 25 February 2005, indicates that 100 000 Tan Range shares were sold to generate funds of R454 000. These funds were credited to the loan account of JCI East Africa[164].

31 March 2005

Although no T-Sec transaction schedule has been located for the period ending 31 March 2005, it appears that 25 000 Tan Range shares were sold for an amount of R114 000, which amount was credited to the JCI East Africa loan account[165].

Also, on this date, an amount of R14 675 790.10 was transferred form the JCI East Africa loan account to Discus, presumably to settle amounts outstanding between JCI East Africa and Discus[166].

10.14.4 Summary

Sales of 4 470 600 Tan Range shares generated R28 266 626.05, of which R937 500 was credited to the WAL loan account. The balance, R27 329 126.05, was credited to the JCI East Africa loan account, of which R14 708 811.15 was transferred to Discus, leaving an amount outstanding on the loan account, at 31 March 2005, of R17 130 296.20.

It appears that JCI East Africa acquired a total of 4 892 600 shares in Tan Range, namely the 3 947 100, and the additional 945 500 acquired in April 1996. Of these shares, CMMS records indicated that 4 470 600 shares were sold. The remaining Tan Range shares should amount to 422 000.

10.15.2 Agreement relating to Matodzi

We noted the existence of two agreements, one between CMMS and Equitant, the other between Equitant and Matodzi. Although the detail thereof is described at paragraph 10.16 infra, it is repeated here for completeness and ease of reference.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Loan agreement between Equitant and CMMS

A loan agreement was entered into between Equitant and CMMS on 25 July 2003, in terms whereof it was inter alia agreed that[167]:

- CMMS would extend a loan of R63 417 370.00 to Equitant;
- Equitant would pledge 126 834 740 ordinary JCI Limited shares to CMMS;
- The loan had to be repaid with interest, in SA Rand, to CMMS by 31 August 2006; and
- In the event of Equitant failing to repay the loan amount and interest to CMMS on the due date, or failed to comply with any other term and condition of the agreement and failed to remedy such defect within seven days of receipt of written notice from CMMS to do so, CMMS was entitled to dispose of the shares which were pledged to them.

The agreement stipulated, on the cover page thereof, that CMMS would be represented by Swanevelder and Equitant by Ncwana and therefore, we assume that the inscriptions, appearing as duly authorised signatures on the last page of the agreement on behalf of CMMS and Equitant, are in fact those of Swanevelder and Ncwana.

We noted a resolution of the directors of CMMS, which was made on 25 July 2003, recording that it was resolved that CMMS and Equitant entered into the agreement described above. The resolution was signed by three individuals and an inscription next to each signature is indicative that the signatures may be those of Buitendag, RB Kebble and Swanevelder.

Loan agreement between Equitant and Matodzi

Equitant entered into a loan agreement with Matodzi on an unspecified date, in terms whereof it was inter alia agreed that[168]:

- Equitant would lend to Matodzi an amount of R63 417 370.00;
- Matodzi had to repay the loan together with interest to Equitant in SA Rand at Johannesburg on or before 31 August 2006;
- Matodzi agreed to pledge 126 834 740 ordinary shares in JCI Limited to Equitant as security for the loan; and

[167] Refer Exhibit 5.16.2
[168] Refer Exhibit 5.16.3

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- In the event of Matodzi failing to repay the loan on the stipulated date, or failing to comply with any other term or condition of the agreement and failed to remedy such defect within seven days of receipt of written notice from Equitant to do so, Equitant was entitled to dispose of the shares pledged to it as security for the loan.

The agreement stipulated on the cover page thereof that Equitant would be represented by Ncwana and Matodzi by Rasethaba, therefore we assume that the inscriptions, appearing as duly authorised signatures on the last page of the agreement on behalf of Matodzi and Equitant, are in fact those of Ncwana and Rasethaba respectively.

We noted a resolution of the directors of Equitant, which was taken on 25 July 2003 and recording that it was resolved that Equitant and Matodzi enter into the agreement described above. The resolution was signed by two individuals and an inscription next to each signature is indicative that the signatures may be that of Ncwana and Mjongile[169].

The two abovementioned agreements were clearly creating a back to back relationship.

10.15.3 Findings

The loan account in the general ledger of CMMS reflected a balance of R71 837 258.35. We specifically concentrated on amounts appearing in the loan account, which exceed R100 000.00 in value.

Some of the main aspects of the transactions are the following:

- Salary expenses of Matodzi, amounting to R4 540 131.49 for the financial years ending 2004, 2005 and the period up to 31 October 2005, were debited to the loan account;
- There was a payment received from T-Sec on 31 July 2003, amounting to R 12 000 000 (journal number 1804). On 30 September 2003 the amount was cleared from the account into the WAL account (journal number 1807). Upon investigating this transaction, the following were noted:
  - WAL received R12 000 000 from T-Sec on 31 May 2003;

[169] Refer Exhibit 5.16.4

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- A credit transaction was processed in the WAL loan account amounting to R12 000 000, on 31 July 2003 also with journal number 1804. From this it seems that the R12 000 000 was transferred from the WAL loan account to the Matodzi loan account; and

- On 30 September 2003, the WAL loan account was debited with R12 000 000, the credit for this journal being processed in the Matodzi loan account (journal number 1807).

No explanation for this journal could be provided to us to date, but it appears to have been an incorrect posting of a payment to WAL in the Matodzi loan account;

- On 31 March 2005, the Matodzi loan account was debited with R77 841 216.45. This related to the amount that was transferred from the Equitant loan account in respect of the loan to assist Equitant to purchase 126 million ordinary JCI Limited shares. This particular transfer is also discussed at paragraph 10.16 infra and the details of the composition of the said amount is accordingly not repeated here;

- An amount of R300 000.00 was paid in respect of Sage Wise and this was later transferred out of this loan account to the loan account of Sage Wise in the books of account of CMMS[170]. Further details regarding this amount can be found at paragraph 16.18 infra;

- We did however note that, on 7 July 2003, the date on which the money was transferred from CMMS to Equitant, an amount of R20 500 000 was credited via journal entry to the loan account with Matodzi. The net effect of the said journals was that the loan was decreased with an amount of R20 500 000.00. We were informed that the entry was processed by De Beer and that the party consulted, did not have any explanation for it[171]. We noted that there may be a correlation between this particular amount and the amount paid for the Ikamva shares, namely R20 400 000.00. We noted that shares, relating to the Ikamva transaction, may have been transferred on 7 July 2003 as per a note found amongst the records of CMMS[172]. We consulted with De Beer but he had no explanation for the entry[173];

- We noted an amount of R2 600 000.00 debited to the account. Save that we noted a similar amount in the Misty Mountain loan account in the books of CMMS, we do not know the purpose of this transaction[174];
- We noted twelve transactions, aggregating R9 266 120.30, representing payments made without any documentation to support such payments being found; and
- A transfer of an obligation of R18 514 588.08 was made from the Matodzi Diamond Works loan account number 151502 to the Matodzi/Diamond Works/Phikoloso loan account. The effect of the aforesaid transfer was that the Diamond Works loan account number 151502 was cleared and reflected a nil balance.

It is evident from the analysis of various accounts pertaining to Matodzi, Equitant and Phikoloso, which are described in more detail at paragraphs 10.16 and 10.17 infra, that it is necessary to attempt a combined analysis of the related loan accounts as funds were transferred between the accounts, presumably to correct accounting entries.

We therefore extracted transactions, which are considered to be of relevance to aspects investigated by us and which were extracted from the following accounts in the records of CMMS:

- Matodzi Investment Holdings – account 151800;
- Phikoloso/Equitant – account 151501;
- Sundry Creditors – account 211000;
- Matodzi/Phikoloso/Diamond Works – account 151500; and
- Matodzi Diamond Works – account 151502

and allocated entries pertaining to transactions of concern to the relevant T-accounts below. To this extent, we concentrated on the accounting treatment of the following transactions:

- A transaction of which the proceeds appear to have been obtained from trading out of the AlibiProps account at T-sec; and

[174] Refer paragraph 10.4

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The purchase of 126 834 740 ordinary JCI Limited shares by Matodzi Resources from Anglo.

We caution that the transactions, reflected in the T-accounts below:

- Are not an exercise where the corresponding entries will balance one hundred percent; and
- Are not necessarily all the transactions appearing in the books of account of CMMS, but only those considered to be relevant to aspects of importance, which are investigated by us.

The effect in essence of the purchase of 126 834 740 JCI Limited ordinary shares is that the accounting entries reflected that Matodzi/Phikoloso/Diamond Works owes an amount of R75 855 804 to CMMS (for the purchase of the shares and accumulated interest on the loan) and that CMMS had two obligations to third parties in respect of the financing of the loan amount, namely an obligation to sundry creditors (of which we have no detail regarding the identity of the creditor) amounting to R44 125 000 and Matodzi Diamond Works, in the amount of R18 514 588. We caution once more that our findings should not be viewed as final as we are concerned that we may not have all the relevant accounting entries related to the transactions in the table below. We are specifically concerned that we do not note any payments to Anglo for the purchase of the shares. We find it unlikely that Anglo would have sold the shares to Matodzi without being paid.

10.15.4 Conclusion

The transaction, which resulted in this loan account in the ledger of CMMS, had as its purpose to facilitate financial assistance to Matodzi in the purchasing of JCI Limited shares and to attempt to hide such fact from disclosure.

We found no evidence that the 126 million ordinary shares, purchased by Matodzi, were pledged to CMMS as security for the loan made to Matodzi in this regard.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The loan amount, transferred from Equitant to the Matodzi account, was decreased with R20 500 000. The possibility that this particular amount may be related to the purchase of Ikamva shares cannot be excluded at this stage and require further investigation.

Similarly amounts, which appear to have been transferred to the Alibiprops trading account (account number 669465) in the books of account of T-Sec, require further investigation.

The transactions, mentioned in the T-accounts above, should be investigated in more detail. Consideration should also be given to approach Anglo and establish what payment detail they have regarding the said transaction and trace the transaction back into the books of account of CMMS.

10.16 Loan to Equitant/Phikoloso - Account number 151501

10.16.1 Introduction

According to publicly available information, Equitant was incorporated on 9 April 2003 and the following individuals were directors of the company:

- Songezo Benton Mjongile; and
- Lunga Raymond Ncwana .

From correspondence presented to us it appears that, on 3 July 2003, Anglo entered into a sale of shares agreement and that subsequent to the agreement having been concluded, the following may have transpired[175]:

- Anglo sold 126 834 740 shares in JCI Limited at 50 cps to Matodzi;
- On 4 July 2003, a deposit of R15 500 000.00 was paid in respect of said shares;
- Matodzi defaulted, subsequent to the agreement of 3 July 2002 and prior to 3 February 2003 (exact date not identified in correspondence viewed by us) on the agreement, dated 3 July 2003, between them and Anglo;
- An extension of time, until 30 August 2003, was granted by Anglo to Matodzi to pay the balance of the purchase price, namely R47 917 370.00; and

[175] Refer Exhibit 5.16.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- That default interest of R900 706.94, agreed upon in terms of an "Indulgence Letter", was to be added to the outstanding amount and also become due and payable on 30 August 2003.

It appears that, subsequent to the above stated default and indulgence negotiations, Matodzi may have approached JCI Limited for a loan to purchase the JCI Limited ordinary shares held by Anglo and that a purchase structure via Equitant had been set up to facilitate the purchase of the said shares.

10.16.2 Agreements relating to the transaction

We noted the existence of two agreements, one between CMMS and Equitant, the other between Equitant and Matodzi. Although the detail thereof is described at section 10.15 supra, it is repeated here for completeness and ease of reference.

Loan agreement between Equitant and CMMS

A loan agreement was entered into between Equitant and CMMS on 25 July 2003, in terms whereof it was inter alia agreed that[176]:

- CMMS would extend a loan of R63 417 370.00 to Equitant;
- Equitant would pledge 126 834 740 ordinary JCI Limited shares to CMMS;
- The loan had to be repaid with interest, in SA Rand to CMMS by 31 August 2006; and
- In the event of Equitant failing to repay the loan amount and interest to CMMS on the due date, or failed to comply with any other term and condition of the agreement and failed to remedy such defect within seven days of receipt of written notice from CMMS to do so, CMMS was entitled to dispose of the shares which were pledged to them.

The agreement stipulated on the cover page thereof that CMMS would be represented by Swanevelder and Equitant by Ncwana and therefore, we assume that the inscriptions, appearing as duly authorised signatures on the last page of the agreement on behalf of CMMS and Equitant, are in fact those of Swanevelder and Ncwana.

We noted a resolution of the directors of CMMS, which was made on 25 July 2003, recording that it was resolved that CMMS and Equitant entered into the agreement described above. The resolution was signed by three individuals and an inscription next to each signature is indicative that the signatures may be those of Buitendag, RB Kebble and Swanevelder.

Loan agreement between Equitant and Matodzi

Equitant entered into a loan agreement with Matodzi on an unspecified date, in terms whereof it was inter alia agreed that[177]:

- Equitant would lend to Matodzi an amount of R63 417 370.00;
- Matodzi had to repay the loan together with interest to Equitant in SA Rand at Johannesburg on or before 31 August 2006;
- Matodzi agreed to pledge 126 834 740 ordinary shares in JCI Limited to Equitant as security for the loan; and
- In the event of Matodzi failing to repay the loan on the stipulated date, or failing to comply with any other term or condition of the agreement and failed to remedy such defect within seven days of receipt of written notice from Equitant to do so, Equitant was entitled to dispose of the shares pledged to it as security for the loan.

The Agreement stipulated on the cover page thereof that Equitant would be represented by Ncwana and Matodzi by Rasethaba, therefore we assume that the inscriptions, appearing as duly authorised signatures on the last page of the agreement on behalf of Matodzi and Equitant, are in fact those of Ncwana and Rasethaba respectively.

We noted a resolution of the directors of Equitant, which was taken on 25 July 2003 and recording that it was resolved that Equitant and Matodzi entered into the agreement described above. The resolution was signed by two individuals and an inscription next to each signature is indicative that the signatures may be that of Ncwana and Mjongile[178].

10.16.3 Findings

A loan agreement was entered into between Equitant and Matodzi on an unspecified date. Equitant and Matodzi however passed resolutions approving the said loan on 25 July 2003 and therefore the possibility that the loan agreement was signed on the same date, or a latter date, cannot be excluded. We noted that a similar agreement was entered into on 25 July 2003 between CMMS and Equitant. The following aspects are similar in the said two agreements:

- Outlay of the documents and annexures;
- The wording of the agreements, save for the different parties who entered into the agreement;
- The amounts of the loans;
- The repayment conditions; and
- The security pledged for the loans.

We were informed that the intention of the loan from CMMS to Equitant was ultimately to enable Matodzi to buy the 126 834 740 JCI Limited ordinary shares [179].

Section 38 of the Companies Act no 61 of 1973 inter alia reads that:

"No financial assistance to purchase shares of company or holding company. - (1) No company shall give, whether directly or indirectly, and whether by means of a loan, guarantee, the provision of security or otherwise, any financial assistance for the purpose of or in connection with a purchase or subscription made or to be made by any person of or for any shares of the company, or where the company is a subsidiary company, of its holding company.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) shall not be construed as prohibiting –

(a) the lending of money in the ordinary course of its business by a company whose main business is the lending of money; or

(b) the provision by a company, in accordance with any scheme for the time being in force, of money for the subscription for or purchase of shares of the company or its holding company by trustees to be held by or for the benefit of employees of the company, including any director holding a salaried employment or office in the company; or

[179] As per discussion with Kolobe Mashala on 21 Dec 2005.

(c) the making by a company of loans to persons, other than directors, bona fide in the employment of the company with a view to enabling those persons to purchase or subscribe for shares of the company or its holding company to be held by themselves as owners; or

(d) the provision of financial assistance for the acquisition of shares in a company by the company or its subsidiary in accordance with the provisions of section 85 for the acquisition of such shares.

JCI Limited subsequently indicated to us, during consultation, that the matter had been resolved in order to ensure that they are not in contravention of section 38 of the Companies Act[180].

We were provided with a copy of an e-mail, recording that Beale and Van Zyl communicated regarding the number of JCI Limited ordinary shares retained in the CMMS trading account at T-Sec. In the e-mail, Van Zyl confirmed that T-Sec held "126 million Matodzi JCI shares" in the CMMS trading account until an investigation (namely the forensic investigation at JCI Limited) was completed and that the shares needed to be returned to the Matodzi trading account 655530[181].

We investigated the general ledger entries relating to this particular loan account. It is evident that during the 2004 financial year, the account was opened with payments to Equitant in execution of the contract that they entered into with regards to the 126 834 740 shares that Matodzi acquired in JCI Limited. The aforesaid payment, amounting to R64 625 000, was represented by the following amounts transferred to the Phikoloso/Equitant loan account as per journal entry J1817[182]:

- R15 500 000.00 debited to the Phikoloso/Equitant loan account and the corresponding credit being reflected in the Matodzi loan account number 151500; and

- R15 000 000.00 debited to the Phikoloso/Equitant loan account and the corresponding credit being reflected as follows:

  - R5 000 000.00 in the Matodzi loan account 151500; and

  - R10 000 000.00 in the Sundry Creditor account 211000.

[180] As per consultation with Lamprecht on 5 January 2006
[181] Refer Exhibit 5.16.5
[182] Refer Exhibit 5.16.6

- R34 125 000.00 debited to the Phikoloso/Equitant loan account number 151501 at CMMS and the corresponding credit being reflected in the Sundry Creditor account 211000.

Interest, amounting to R4 993 367.86, was charged to the account during the 2004 financial year.

During the 2005 financial year, the loan account was debited with a further R8 380 000.16 in interest charges. Furthermore, transactions from the T-Sec trading account, amounting to R4 232 608.40, were debited to the loan account. At the time of writing the report we've had no details regarding the nature of the said T-Sec transactions. The balance in the loan account amounted to R 77 841 216.45 after all the aforesaid transactions and was transferred to the Matodzi loan account 151500, whereafter the Phikoloso/Equitant loan account reflected a balance of R4 389 759.99. By processing the loan to the Matodzi loan account, the loan by CMMS to Matodzi became more transparent.

10.16.4 Conclusion

Equitant was initially used as a vehicle to hide the financial assistance provided by CMMS to Matodzi to purchase JCI Limited ordinary shares. The matter became more transparent by Equitant being removed as a party to the loan and the loan eventually being recognised between CMMS and Matodzi.

10.17 Loan to Matodzi Investment Holdings - Account number 151800

10.17.1 Introduction

We obtained the following information from publicly available sources regarding Matodzi IH:

- The company was incorporated on 19 December 2000 with the nature of its business specified as real estate agents and managers;
- The current name of the company is Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Limited;
- The previous names of the company were:
  - Morgan Creek Properties 429 (Pty) Limited (changed on 30 April 2003); and
  - Matodzi Investment Holdings (Pty) Limited (changed on 30 December 2003).

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The current directors of the company were:
  - Rasethaba (appointed 19 December 2000); and
  - Thabo Mosololi (appointed 14 March 2003).
- The previous directors of the company were:
  - Christiaan Gouws;
  - Erwin Peter da Gama;
  - Eric Bamoza Molefe;
  - Muthanyi Robinsen Ramaite; and
  - Edmund Mafika Mkwanazi.

10.17.2 Agreements of loan

We noted an agreement between CMMS and Morgan Creek Properties 427 (Pty) Limited trading as Matodzi Mining and Energy, which inter alia indicates that[183]:

- Matodzi borrowed R4 500 000.00 from CMMS;
- The loan was repayable on 1 March 2007; and
- Matodzi IH would pledge 45 000 000 ordinary NMC shares (presumably as security for the loan).

We noted that the name on the agreement was recorded as Morgan Creek Properties 427 (Pty) Limited whereas our background searches indicated the name to be Morgan Creek Properties 429 (Pty) Limited. We assume that that there may either be a typing error on the agreement or, alternatively, that the information obtained from public available information may have been captured correctly.

10.17.3 Findings

Our analysis of the general ledger account at CMMS, pertaining to the Matodzi IH loan, indicated the following:

[183] Refer Exhibit 5.17.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- An amount of R4 500 000.00 was debited to the loan account on 1 March 2002. The description in the general ledger indicates that the transaction related to the sale of NMC Shares. It is furthermore evident from the audit trail of transactions that the amount was debited to the Matodzi IH account 151800 and credited to the Matodzi/Diamond Works/Phikoloso account number 151500 in the book of account of CMMS. Furthermore, it appears that the amount originated from the following entries into the account of Matodzi/Diamond Works/Phikoloso:

  - A debit entry of R4 500 000.00 to the Matodzi/Diamond Works/Phikoloso account number 151500; and

  - Credits to the following accounts:

    - R2 649 042 to the CMC loan account 151050;

    - R1 380 958 to the JCI Gold loan account 151200; and

    - R500 000 to the P-Hostprops loan account 158920.

    This transaction appears to relate to an agreement, dated 27 May 2002, in terms whereof CMMS sold the following shares to Morgan Creek Properties 427 (Pty) Limited trading as Matodzi Mining and Energy[184]:

    - CMC's 26 490 420 shares in NMC;

    - JCI Gold's 13 509 580 shares in NMC; and

    - Hostprops 5 000 000 shares in NMC.

- Several items of individual amounts below R50 000.00 were debited to the Matodzi IH loan account during the 2004 financial year. These items inter alia related to legal fees, a SARS payment and interest charges. Two entries, exceeding R1 million, were noted, namely:

  - R1 254 000.00 debited as per journal voucher J1884 on 31 December 2003, of which the general ledger recorded a description of the transaction as "Bookmark Hold Tech, Man."; and

  - Interest debited up to March 2004 (we assume from the date of the opening of the loan account), amounting to R1 648 983.90.

[184] Refer Exhibit 5.17.2

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- During the 2005 financial year the loan account increased with an amount of R277 280.29, mostly representative of interest charges. We did however note the following three transactions, aggregating R17 176 332.47, which were debited and credited in the loan account, resulting in a zero net effect as the entries cancelled each other completely:

  - R3 208 932.00;
  - R5 000 000.00; and
  - R8 967 400.47.

  The inscriptions in the general ledger are indicative thereof that the transactions related to:

  - "REALLOCATE TRF ALIBIPROPS"; and
  - "REALLOCATE ENERGEMS SOLD ALIBI"

We were informed during consultation that the amounts related to transactions allocated to the Alibiprops trading account at T-Sec[185].

We enquired about the 45 000 000 shares, which should have been pledged to CMMS in terms of the agreement and were informed that approximately 31 000 000 shares are kept in the computershare account and that the remainder may have been sold off in terms of other business transactions[186].

The Matodzi Investment Holdings loan account has a balance of R7 839 735.59 as at 31 October 2005.

10.17.3.1 Conclusion

We have no details regarding the origin or destination of the transfer into the Alibiprops trading account in T-Sec to the amount of R17 176 332.47.

Expenditure, not covered by the contents of the agreement between CMMS and Matodzi IH, were debited to the Matodzi IH loan account in the books of account of CMMS.

10.18 Loan to Sage Wise - Account number 151802

10.18.1 Introduction

There was only one entry in this loan account. No movement was recorded on the account, including interest charged.

10.18.2 Agreement

We called for the agreement relating to the loan between CMMS and Sage Wise and were referred to Rasethaba regarding the matter. During consultation with Rasethaba, he informed us that there was no loan agreement between CMMS and Sage Wise[187].

10.18.3 Findings

The general ledger of CMMS reflects the following in respect of the Sage Wise loan account:

- The balance of the said loan account in the books of account of CMMS amounted to R300 000.00 as at 31 October 2005; and
- Only one transactions appears in the loan account, namely that of a R300 000.00 journal entry which was allocated as a debit to this particular account. The credit leg of the entry was reflected in the Matodzi/Diamond Works/Phikoloso account (general ledger account number 151500)[188].

According to supporting documentation, attached to the journal entry, the amount relates to an advance that was given to Sage Wise[189].

Rasethaba indicated to us that he obtained the benefit from the R300 000.00 and he confirmed, during consultation, that he was personally responsible for the repayment of the said loan to CMMS[190].

10.18.4 Conclusion

No loan agreement could be provided to us in respect of the Sage Wise Loan.

By his own admission, Rasethaba informed us that he benefited from the R300 000.00 reflected in the loan account and that he was personally be responsible for the repayment of the loan.

We were subsequently informed that the outstanding amount of R300 000.00 had been settled[191].

10.19 Loan to Orlyfunt - Account number 151805

10.19.1 Introduction

We obtained the following information regarding Orlyfunt from publicly available sources:

- An entity Up on Point was incorporated on 30 June 2003 and changed its name to Orlyfunt on 31 March 2004;
- The nature of the business of Orlyfunt was financial intermediation, insurance, real estate and business services; and
- The directors of Orlyfunt were:
  - Lunga Raymond Ncwana;
  - Mafika Edmund Mkwanazi;
  - Rasethaba;
  - Andrew Mlangeni; and
  - Thuthukile Eddy Skweyiya.

10.19.2 Loan agreement between CMMS and Orlyfunt

CMMS entered into a loan agreement with Orlyfunt on 1 September 2004, which agreement inter alia recorded that[192]:

- CMMS agreed to lend Orlyfunt R3 000 000.00 to purchase shares and claims in Bobsat and Simmer & Jack;

[191] As per consultation with Cavanagh on 31 January 2005
[192] Refer Exhibit 5.19.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The purchase consideration, payable by Orlyfunt to Bobsat, was split as follows:
  - R750 000.00 for the sale shares and claims in Bobsat; and
  - R2 250 000.00 for the shares in Simmer & Jack.
- Orlyfunt had to repay the loan on or before 1 March 2009.

Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, we assume, based on the signature of the party signing on behalf of Orlyfunt, that the agreement was signed by Rasethaba .

10.19.3 Findings

The agreement was not signed by a representative of CMMS. Based on the inscriptions at the bottom right hand corner of each page of the agreement, it appears that Rasethaba initialled the agreement with another party, who we assume may be the representative of CMMS. Accordingly, it cannot be excluded that said representative of CMMS initialled the agreement, but may have neglected to sign the agreement[193].

Furthermore, we noted that the date on the last page of the agreement was initially typed as if the year in which the agreement was signed was 2005, but that this was changed in manuscript to 2004. The possibility that the agreement may have been drafted ex post facto can accordingly not be excluded at this stage[194].

The balance in the loan account, as at 31 October 2006, amounted to R7 844 414.31, which is represented by the transactions in the table below:

Comments	Amount SA Rand
Legal fees for the purchase of Dormac	55 962.04

Cognisance should be taken of the fact that some amounts quoted, may be representative of the grouping various transactions of the same category together.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

From the above analysis it is evident that the amount of R3 000 000.00 was allocated to the loan account in respect of the purchase of shares and claims in Bobsat and Simmer & Jack and that the aforesaid transaction corresponds to the specifications and intention of the loan agreement discussed supra. The remainder of the balance, reflected in the loan account, being R4 844 414.31, relates to costs allocated to the loan account, which are not supported by the intention of the underlying loan agreement. We furthermore noted that the transactions related to said amount inter alia included the following:

- Payments relating to legal fees;
- Travelling costs, including a trip to Disneyland for one Mlangeni and two children;
- Transactions, amounting to R1 463 045.98, for which no supporting vouchers could be supplied; and
- A T-sec transaction of R1 140 000.00.

10.19.4 Conclusion

An amount of R3 000 000.00 of the loan account balance of R7 844 414.31 is supported by the underlying agreement between CMMS and Orlyfunt. The remaining balance of R4 844 414.31 is not supported by the said underlying agreement and appears to relate to operational expenditure, travelling and amounts reflected in the T-Sec trading accounts.

The loan amount of R3 000 000.00 is not repayable until 1 March 2009, but as the remainder of the amount in the loan account is not related to the underlying agreement, CMMS may consider the following options:

- Call for the payment of the said amounts;
- Enter into an agreement to cover the excessive amount pertaining to operational expenses;
- Transfer the excessive amount from the loan account in the balance sheet of CMMS to the income statement as an expense; or
- Full details should also be obtained from T-Sec as to the nature of the trading transactions amounting to R1 140 000.00.

10.20 The Masupatsela Randgold loan account

10.20.1 Masupatsela

We refer to section 10.8 in respect of the statutory information of Masupatsela.

10.20.2 Control relationship between CMMS and REC

During the period in which the RRL shares were sold, as recorded at section 8 supra, the directors of REC comprised RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag, GT Miller, MB Madumise, AC Nissen and LR Ncwana. RRH was a wholly owned subsidiary of REC and the directors of RRH were RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and Buitendag.

The directors of JCI Limited, in turn, comprised RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag, Cornwall and Stratton. JCI Limited wholly owned CMC, who in turn held 98% of the issued share capital of CMMS. The directors of CMMS included RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag, Swanevelder, Stratton and Lamprecht, from time to time.

It is evident from the above and from the evidence, viewed by us in the investigation performed, that key management personnel were common to REC, RRH, JCI Limited and CMMS. This aspect was exacerbated by the fact that CMMS provided secretarial services to both the JCI Limited and REC groups of companies with Poole having exercised control over instructions to T-Sec on the transactions with RRL shares.

It is apparent that these common directors could, and did according to the evidence viewed by us, exercise significant influence over the affairs of the companies in the respective groups. It thus appears that, based upon the statements, recorded in AC126, the following had to be disclosed in respect of transactions performed by and between JCI limited group companies and REC group companies:

- The nature of related party relationships;
- The types of transactions entered into; and
- The elements of the transactions entered into.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

10.20.3 The contractual relationship between CMMS and Masupatsela

An agreement, by and between CMMS and Masupatsela, was dated 30 December 2003 and signed by a person who appears to be Swanevelder, on behalf of CMMS, and an unknown person on behalf of Masupatsela. The contract had as its purpose to record the terms of a loan made by Masupatsela to CMMS and thus had the following salient features[195].

- That, during the period 21 May 2003 to 25 November 2003, an aggregated amount of some R111 786 393.89 was lent to CMMS by Masupatsela;
- That R32 million of the above mentioned amount was repaid on 19 December 2003;
- That the remaining R79 786 393.89 would be repaid on or before 30 June 2004;
- That interest, calculated at a rate of prime plus 0.5% per annum, calculated on the daily balance and capitalised monthly in arrears, would be due and payable at 30 June 2004; and
- As security for the loan, CMMS pledged 104 million JCI Limited ordinary listed shares to Masupatsela.

An agreement, by and between REC and Masupatsela, was dated 30 December 2003 and signed by a person who appears to be Buitendag, on behalf of REC, and an unknown person on behalf of Masupatsela. The contract had as its purpose to record the terms of a loan made by REC to Masupatsela and thus had the following salient features[196]:

- That, during the period 21 May 2003 to 25 November 2003, an aggregated amount of some R111 786 393.89 was lent to Masupatsela by REC;
- That R32 million of the above mentioned amount was repaid on 19 December 2003;
- That the remaining R79 786 393.89 would be repaid on or before 30 June 2004;
- That interest, calculated at a rate of prime plus 0.5% per annum, calculated on the daily balance and capitalised monthly in arrears, would be due and payable at 30 June 2004; and

[195] Refer Exhibit 5.20.1
[196] Refer Exhibit 5.20.2

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- As security for the loan, CMMS pledged 104 million JCI Limited ordinary listed shares to Masupatsela.

These agreements clearly created a back to back relationship between CMMS and REC via Masupatsela.

10.20.4 Accounting treatment of the inter company account between CMMS and REC

Clause two of both the above mentioned contracts clearly refers to loans in existence due thereto that they recorded dates on which loans were made prior to the contract dates and an apparent repayment of some of the loans, which were also made prior to the contract dates. An analytical review, performed on the CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan-Randgold/Masupatsela, indicated that the terms of the above referred to contract were recorded in the ledger by means of CMMS journal number 1927 and CMMS journal number 1915.

Journal 1927, posted on 3 May 2004, recorded the following entries[197]:

- Credit CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan Randgold/Masupatsela with R111 786 893.89;
- Debit CMMS ledger account number 155764: Loan Randgold Funding with five transactions, aggregating R100 786 893.89; and
- Debit CMMS ledger account number 155900: Loan RARK Tradek with R11 million.

The intent and effect of this journal was to transfer balances from inter alia the Randgold Funding ledger account to the Randgold/Masupatsela ledger account. This clearly refers to historical transactions which initially, when they were performed, were recognised as transactions performed with REC, but which were transferred to CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan Randgold/Masupatsela to give effect to the above mentioned agreements.

It thus follows logically that the above mentioned contracts were intended to recognise such transactions as non related party transactions when they were in fact previously not recognised as such. In investigating whether the transactions, recorded in this journal, were in fact related party transactions, we noted that the documents attached to the journal, contained in manuscript, a reference to some 575 000 RRL shares at a price of R170.40, aggregating some R92 594 605.66.

We established that, during the period 12 September 2003 to 21 November 2003, 575 000 RRL shares of RRH were sold in the Consolidated Investments trading account of CMMS at T-Sec, of which the proceeds of some R92 595 105.66 were credited to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec. This was clearly a transaction between related parties and it thus appears that the purpose of CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan-Randgold/Masupatsela, read with the contents of the abovementioned contracts, was clearly to convert the disclosure of related party transactions to a non disclosure of related party transactions.

The re-allocation of the amount of R11 million from the CMMS ledger account number 155900: Loan-RARK Tradek to account number 151810 shed no light on the nature of the transactions underlying such amount due to a lack of supporting information to the entry.

Journal 1915, posted in the ledger of CMMS on 27 April 2004, recorded the following entries[198]:

- Debit CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan-Randgold/Masupatsela with R32 million;
- Credit CMMS ledger account number 151780: Loan: WAL with R1 360 000; and
- Credit CMMS ledger account number 171001: Shares JCI with R30 640 000.

The narration to the journal recorded the following:

"Reallocation of transfers-payment to WAL for 50 833 333 JCI ords obo Masupatsela (Shares registered in name of First Wesgold)"

The analytical review of CMMS ledger account 151810: Loan-Randgold/Masupatsela indicated the following further transactions during the period 7 July 2003 to 31 March 2004:

- Payments to or on behalf of REC, aggregating some R6 376 500;
- Payments to CMMS by REC of some R2 750 000; and

[198] Refer Exhibit 5.20.4

- The reallocation of sales of RRL shares from the CMMS ledger account number 171760: Randgold Funding, aggregating some R14 033 550. These entries were represented by the following sales of RRL shares[199]:

  - 31 000 RRL shares sold on 12 February 2004 in the CMMS trading account number 660415 at T-Sec; and

  - 36 000 RRL shares sold on 26 February 2004 and 39 000 RRL shares sold in the RB Kebble carry account number 625087 at T-Sec. This account does not appear to have belonged to CMMS and hence it appears that CMMS was charged with R9 425 400 for the sale of RRL shares in the RB Kebble carry account.

An analytical review of the transactions, performed during the period 1 April 2004 to 31 March 2005, revealed the following:

- Payments by CMMS to or on behalf of REC with supporting documents aggregated R2.5 million;

- Payments by CMMS to or on behalf of REC without supporting documents aggregated R7 946 000;

- Payments on behalf of Aflease to REC in part settlement of a loan of R30 million made by REC to Aflease, aggregating some R15 million;

- An amount of R15 412 046.50 was paid to REC in order to fund REC following its rights to take up 505 313 WAL rights due on its existing shareholding of 4 042 500 shares in WAL as at 26 July 2004. REC received the 508 313 WAR shares in their account number 655050, held at T-Sec on 27 July 2004;

- R204 954 871.58 was paid on behalf of REC from the Consolidated Investments trading account of CMMS at T-Sec for the acquisition of WAL shares[200];

- R128 798 437.50 was paid to Anglo as part of the acquisition by Inkwenkwesi of WAL shares. At year end, some R85 865 625 of this amount was erroneously transferred to the Inkwenkwesi loan account in the ledger of CMMS[201];

[201] This matter is dealt with in detail at paragraph 10.22 infra. The reallocation of part of this amount to the Inkwenkwesi loan account is erroneous due thereto that the WAL shares transaction existed as between REC and Inkwenkwesi.

- A loan balance due from Luembe/Cassanguide to CMMS was transferred to the Randgold/Masupatsela loan account due to the matter being a REC issue[202];
- R186 171 496 was credited to the loan account due to RRL shares having been sold. This entry is related to the sale of 1.5 million RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec during the period 7 April 2004 to 29 April 2004[203];
- R64 712 928 was credited to the loan account due to RRL shares having been sold. This entry is related to the sale of 1.15 million RRL shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec during the period 15 June 2004 to 24 June 2004. This entry was performed, based upon the transaction recorded on CMMS journal number 2027[204]. This entry appears to be a double counting of the obligation of CMMS in respect of this entry as the number of shares, represented in this entry, forms part of a batch of 1 989 189 RRL shares that were initially credited to the CMMS ledger account 171760: Shares: Randgold Resources[205], which were transferred in its entirety to CMMS ledger account number 170200: Investments-Short Term with journal number 2398[206]; and
- R27 million was credited to the account as a transfer from the Notable Holdings loan account and R10 million was credited in this account as representative of a sale of Simmer & Jack shares of REC to TopGold AG mvK[207].

It is clear that the transactions, recorded in this account during the 2005 financial year of CMMS, also comprised related party transactions, except the transactions which we indicated to have been misallocations.

10.20.5 Disclosure of the relationship between CMMS and REC

The annual report of the JCI Limited group of companies, as at 31 March 2004, were signed by the chairman of JCI Limited on 22 October 2004 and then issued[208]. The journals, which effectively created the entries in the CMMS ledger account number 151810: Loan-Randgold/Masupatsela for the period ending 31 March 2004, were made at least five months prior to the signing of the annual report.

Note one to the annual financial statements of the JCI Limited group of companies recorded that an associated company was one in which the JCI Limited group held shares as a long term investment and exercised significant influence over the affairs of such company. Clearly this refers to a related entity as well. Appendix C to the financial statements then recorded that REC was an associated company to the JCI Limited group. Note 29 to the financial statements referred to related party transactions and, in particular refers to note 19 in respect of loans received from related parties. In turn, note 19 disclosed a loan balance due to REC of some R17.101 million as at 31 March 2004 at a interest rate of prime plus 1%.

When regard is had to the annual financial statements of CMMS for the same period ending 31 March 2004, similar transactions with REC are not disclosed[209]. Note 23 to the financial statements recorded information regarding related party transactions. We could not identify any item in here having the following elements:

- A loan due to REC with a balance of 112 714 691.20 as at 31 March 2004;
- That such loan carried an interest rate of prime plus 0.5%; and
- That the repayment of such loan was secured by the pledging of 104 million JCI Limited shares to Masupatsela.

10.20.6 Proceeds of RRL shares sold in RB Kebble carry account

RB Kebble received the aggregate of 75 000 RRL shares in his carry account at T-Sec. These shares were sold into the market in two separate transactions.

The first transaction was for 36 000 RRL shares that were sold into the market on 27 February 2004 for R4 550 400.00[210]. The second transaction was for 39 000 RRL shares that were sold into the market on 1 March 2005 for R4 875 000.00[211]. With the proceeds of the sale of the 75 000 RRL shares, JCI Limited shares to the aggregate of 5 000 000 shares were acquired as well as 62 146 WAR shares[212].

Two cash transfers were also made from the proceeds, namely the amount of R1 500 000.00 to Standard Bank account number 020581548 on 9 March 2004 and R2 500 000.00 to the CMMS account at First National Bank, account number 50491812176 on 15 June 2004[213].

10.21.1 The CMMS trial balance

Ledger account number 151813-Loan Masupatsela (Notable Holdings) and ledger account 151814-Loan Notable Holdings in the ledger of CMMS both reflected nil balances as at 31 March 2005, with debit and credit balances of R27 million respectively. At face value it appears that these accounts facilitated in and out transactions.

10.21.2 Loan by REC to Notable Holdings

A document, purporting to be a scrip lending agreement by and between REC and Notable Holdings, appears to have been signed by RAR Kebble, on behalf of REC, and Stratton, on behalf of Notable Holdings[214].

The document was dated 1 April 2000. The document had as its purpose to record a loan of three million DRD ordinary listed shares by REC to Notable Holdings. These shares had to be returned on 31 December 2002. A scrip lending fee, equal to 2% of the value of the DRD ordinary listed shares for the period 1 March 2000 to 31 March 2000 on the JSE, would have been charged annually, to be paid when the DRD shares were returned to REC.

A document, purporting to be Addendum number 1 to the scrip lending agreement by and between REC and Notable Holdings, appears to have been signed by RAR Kebble, on behalf of REC, and Stratton, on behalf of Notable Holdings[215]. This document was dated 19 December 2002. This addendum extended the termination date of the above mentioned scrip lending agreement to 30 April 2003. As consideration for agreeing to extend the termination date, REC became entitled to an additional scrip lending fee of some R250 000. The addendum also provided for the provision of top up security to one and a half times cover.

On 29 May 2003, Stratton signed a letter, addressed to John Berry at REC and captioned "Scrip Lending Agreement", in which he recorded the following:

"At the time of the above meeting, we requested an extension of the termination date to 30 June 2003. I understand that this is acceptable to you on the following basis:

a) payment of R250 000 being the fee payable for the period 1 April 2002 – 30 April 2003;

b) provision of security as to 150% of the share value of the borrowed shares.

Given that the above is your understanding, we will pay to you all outstanding fees on or before 5 June 2003, and provided you with confirmation of security held to your account on or before the above date.

Further to the above, we will provide you with a fee equivalent to 2% of the traded value of the shares during the period 1st May – 30th June at conclusion of the trading period."

A document, purporting to be Addendum number 2 to the scrip lending agreement by and between REC and Notable Holdings, appears to have been signed by RAR Kebble, on behalf of REC, and Stratton, on behalf of Notable Holdings[216]. This document was dated 5 June 2003. This addendum extended the termination date of the above mentioned scrip lending agreement to 30 June 2003. As consideration for agreeing to extend the termination date, REC became entitled to an additional scrip lending fee of some R250 000. The addendum also provided for the provision of top up security to one and a half times cover.

A document, purporting to be Addendum number 3 to the scrip lending agreement by and between REC and Notable Holdings, appears to have been signed by RAR Kebble, on behalf of REC, and Stratton, on behalf of Notable Holdings[217]. This document was dated 8 July 2003. This addendum extended the termination date of the above mentioned scrip lending agreement to 31 December 2003. As consideration for agreeing to extend the termination date, REC became entitled to an additional scrip lending fee of some R750 000. The addendum also provided for the provision of top up security to one and a half times cover.

It appears that Notable Holdings provided 3 700 000 WAL shares as security for the DRD shares lent to Notable Holdings[218].

We noted a document purporting to be a resolution of the directors of CMMS, taken on 16 March 2005. This resolution reads inter alia as follows[219]:

"The Secretary refers to the Agreement between Notable and the Company, and reports that the parties wish to record that on 16 March 2005, a debt of R27 000 00 (sic) (Twenty Seven Million Rand) was repaid to the Company by the transfer and delivery of 40 000 000 (Forty Million) ordinary Simmer and Jack Mines, Limited shares, and it was therefore:

RESOLVED:

1. THAT the Company hereby agrees to enter into the Agreement with Notable, in accordance with the terms and conditions contained therein,"*

The resolution was signed by Buitendag, RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and Stratton. Lamprecht refused to sign the resolution.

Attached to the resolution was a document purporting to be an agreement by and between CMMS and Notable Holdings, apparently signed by RB Kebble, on behalf of CMMS, and an unknown person on behalf of Notable Holdings[220]. The document contains a recordal, which reads as follows:

"1. It is recorded that in order to enter into a share transaction, NOTABLE incurred a debt in the sum of R27 000 000.00 (twenty seven million Rand) with CMMS and CMMS confirms having advanced the aforesaid amount to NOTABLE.

2. NOTABLE repaid the debt by way of the transfer and delivery of certain shares to CMMS".

The shares, referred to in the recordal, were defined at clause 1.1.4 of the agreement as 40 million Simmer & Jack shares.

Paragraph two of the document reads as follows:

"2.1 CMMS advanced to NOTABLE, which has incurred, the Debt, subject to the terms and conditions contained in this agreement.

2.2 The Debt was advanced to NOTABLE in SA Rand and NOTABLE acknowledged that the Debt was received by it."

Paragraph three of the document reads as follows:

"The parties agree and record that on 16 March 2005, the Debt was repaid in full by NOTABLE to CMMS by the transfer and delivery of the Shares"

Paragraph 4.1 recorded a warranty that Notable Holdings was the beneficial owner of the 40 million Simmer & Jack shares.

10.21.3 Entries in the books of CMMS and REC

In an attempt to gain an understanding of the resolution of CMMS and contract between Notable Holdings and CMMS, we firstly had regard to the accounting entries posted in the accounts of REC, and secondly, to the accounting entries posted in the accounts of CMMS.

Extracts from the ledger of REC recorded a ledger account number 120715-100, named and styled Loan Asset-Notable Holdings[221]. This account reflected that, on 31 December 2004, a debit of R27 million was recorded with a description reading "3m DRD's for R27m + 660,0" (We understand that the 660 refers to 660 000 WAL shares[222]).

The ledger account number 120715-100 in the books of REC further recorded a credit of R27 million on 31 December 2004, reflecting a reference to a journal number 1179. Journal 1179 recorded that ledger account number 120715-100: Loan Asset-Notable Holdings were credited with R27 million and that ledger account number 120711-100: Loan Asset-Masupatsela was debited with R27 million. The narration to the journal reads as follows:

"Loan transferred from Notable Holdings to Masupatsela"

[221] Refer Exhibit 5.21.8
[222] Refer Exhibit 5.21.11

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

REC's books thus reflected that Masupatsela assumed the obligation of Notable Holdings to REC. Masupatsela, as we explained in this report, was not a substantive contract party to neither REC, nor CMMS, and acted merely as a conduit in the loan account between REC and CMMS, due to the related party nature of REC and CMMS.

Hence, we summarised the journals processed in the ledger of CMMS to obtain an understanding of the manner in which the transfer of the right against Notable Holdings in the ledger of Randgold, was recorded in the books of CMMS. The following entries were found to be related to such transfer:

From the above it can be seen that the loan account number 151813 of Masupatsela (i.e. the loan from Randgold) was credited with R27 million and that an account number 151814: Loan-Notable Holdings was debited with R27 million. In this fashion, the transfer of the right against Notable Holdings, recorded in REC's books, were recognised in the books of CMMS.

Journal 7547, in the books of CMMS, then credited the right against Notable Holdings in CMMS's books and debited ledger account number 122765:IL-Simmer & Jack, creating the impression that Notable settled its debt by transferring Simmer & Jack shares to CMMS to the value of R27 million. The electronic copy of journal 7547, recorded the following narration in respect of the credit entry[223]:

"Agreement S&J shares 40m", and the following narration in respect of the debit entry:

"Notable Holdings 40m S&J share".

Clearly, this journal recorded the effect of the resolution of CMMS and agreement between CMMS and Notable Holdings, referred to supra.

[223] Refer Exhibit 5.21.9

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

As we indicated hereunder, we have seen no evidence indicating that Notable held and/or transferred 40 million Simmer & Jack shares to CMMS and hence, concludes that this entry in the books of CMMS is not representing the truth and actual events. That this is so, appears to have been appreciated by the author of the entries in the books of CMMS, because journal number 2440 was drafted, having as its effect the following entries in the books of CMMS[224]:

- Credit the investment in Simmer & Jack with R27 million;
- Debit a loan to Top Gold with some R10 million; and
- Debit a revaluation of the Simmer & Jack shares with R17 million.

The effects of this journal was to write down the investment in Simmer & Jack shares, ostensibly received from Notable Holdings, with some R17 million and that the 40 million Simmer & Jack shares, ostensibly received from Notable Holdings, were then transferred to Top Gold AG mvK. This is also not a true reflection of events as CMMS did not transfer any of its own Simmer & Jack shares to Top Gold AG mvK[225].

Journal 2440, processed in the books of CMMS, then further effected the following entries:

- Debit a loan to Top Gold AG mvK of some R25 million;
- Credit CMMS's investment in Simmer & Jack shares with some R10 million;
- Credit the REC loan account with some R10 million;
- Credit the CMC loan account with some R2 335 750; and
- Credit ledger account number 171765: Shares-Simmer & Jack with Some R2 644 250.

This journal had as its purpose to transfer Simmer & Jack shares to Top Gold AG mvK and represented that these shares were obtained from CMMS, CMC, REC and CMMS, as received from Notable Holdings. This is proven by the following note in manuscript on the hand written journal voucher:

"9 423 000 from CMC

40 000 000 from CMMS (Notable Holdings)

40 000 000 from Randgold

10 577 000 from CMMS trading shares"

The contents of this latter part of journal 2440 are not reflecting the truth and actual events in the following manner:

- 10 577 000 shares were not obtained from the CMMS trading shares for purposes of transferring same to Top Gold AG mvK, but from Orlyfunt. It is however possible that this part of the journal reflected the return of the Simmer & Jack shares physically taken from the Orlyfunt trading account at T-Sec, as is reflected in the contents of journals 8260, 2395 and 2412, in the ledger of CMMS, which have as their effect that Simmer & Jack shares of CMMS were transferred to Orlyfunt; and
- CMMS did not transfer 40 million Simmer & Jack shares to Top Gold mvK as 40 million of Continental Goldfields's Simmer & Jack shares were transferred to Top Gold AG mvK[226].

10.21.4 Simmer & Jack shares owned and transacted by Notable Holdings

We found no evidence that Notable Holdings had and/or transacted in Simmer & Jack shares. In fact, we dispose of positive evidence to the effect that the basis of the transaction, referred to in the journals above, comprised Simmer & Jack shares that were owned by Continental Goldfields.

10.21.5 Implications

The resolution of CMMS and the contract between CMMS and Notable Holdings represented to record actual events that have taken place. To the extent that these documents recorded that CMMS lent Notable Holdings R27 million in Rands in South Africa and that Notable Holdings had repaid the debt by giving 40 million Simmer & Jack shares to CMMS, these documents contained a misrepresentation of the facts.

To the extent that the documents, dealt with in this section, recorded that Notable Holdings repaid a debt of R27 million to CMMS, such documents recorded a misrepresentation of the facts.

It is evident that Notable Holdings are still indebted to CMMS in the amount of R27 million.

[226] Refer paragraph 10.23 infra

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

In the event that Notable Holdings will argue that they assumed the claim of Continental Goldfields to demand the return of the 40 million Simmer & Jack shares that CMMS dispossessed from Continental Goldfields in executing the transaction with top Gold AG mvK, and that such was effectively set off against the debt due to REC, and hence CMMS after the transfer of the right against Notable Holdings from REC to CMMS, such would constitute a short payment of the debt due, reflected in the R17 million written down in the books of CMMS, referred to supra. We however doubt that Continental Goldfields ceded their claim against CMMS in this fashion as they still pursue their claim against CMMS for the return of the Simmer & Jack shares. If, indeed, they have ceded their claim against CMMS and that was set off against the claim of CMMS against Notable Holdings, Continental is currently misrepresenting their rights against CMMS and Notable Holdings is still due to pay R17 million to CMMS.

It is furthermore our understanding that the investigation result of Umbono Forensic at REC concluded that the original scriplending agreement between REC and Notable Holdings regarding the three million DRD shares was a fabrication of the truth. As we did not investigate the affairs of REC, we do not comment on that conclusion.

10.21.6 JCI shares held by Continental Goldfields

We were requested to comment on the JCI Limited shares held by Continental Goldfields. Our reconciliation pertaining to the balance of JCI Limited shares on hand as at 27 June 2005 is indicative of the following transactions giving effect to the build up of shares as at the aforesaid date. 10.22 Loan to Inkwenkwezi - Account number 151885

10.22.1 Introduction

In February and March 2004 it was announced that WAL would proceed with a rights offer of 13.2 million new shares in the ration of 12.5 new WAR shares for every 100 existing WAR shares, to raise R401.7 million (also referred to as the WAR rights offer). JCI Limited undertook to advance a bridging loan of up to R400 million to WAL, repayable out of the proceeds of the WAR rights offer. JCI furthermore agreed to follow its rights entitlement in respect of its entire 35.6% shareholding in WAL and to underwrite the balance of the WAR rights offer for which irrevocable undertakings to subscribe for rights offer shares were not received.

Subsequently to the above, Inkwenkwezi, a broad based empowerment consortium, majority owned and controlled by HDSA and led by Mkwanazi, the non executive chairman of WAL and RER, have agreed to acquire from Anglo and Tawny, wholly owned subsidiaries of Anglo American plc, their entire 18% shareholding of 19 million WAR shares at 3 750 cents per share, subject to certain adjustments.

10.22.2 The Consortium Sale Agreement

An agreement, termed the Consortium Sale Agreement was entered into on 9 June 2004 between Tawny, Anglo, Chestnut and REC in terms whereof Anglo agreed to sell 5 268 800 ordinary WAR shares and 13 738 507 ordinary WAR shares to Chestnut[229].

Simultaneously, an agreement termed the Randgold Sale Agreement was entered into on 9 June 2004 between Anglo and REC in terms whereof Anglo agreed to sell 5 268 800 ordinary WAR shares to REC by not later than 15 June 2004, providing certain conditions precedent were met. The shares purchased, would be pledged to Anglo as security until the obligations in terms of the purchase price were met by REC[230].

An Option Agreement was entered into between REC and Chestnut on a date not specified in the agreement in terms whereof REC undertook to sell their 5 268 800 ordinary shares to Chestnut upon release of the said shares from the pledge to Anglo[231].

In terms of a copy of a resolution, passed by the directors of Anglo on 8 June 2004:

- 5 268 800 ordinary shares would be sold to REC for an amount of R197 580 000.00 plus interest at 1.5% above prime from 1 April 2004, payable on or about 29 June 2004; and
- 13 738 507 ordinary shares would be sold to Chestnut for an amount of R515 194 012.50 plus interest at 1.5% above prime, payable by 1 November 2004. If Chestnut paid the purchase price in full by 1 November 2004, the purchase price would be reduced by R30 million.

Should Chestnut have failed to pay the purchase price by 1 November 2004, Anglo would be entitled to repurchase the 5 268 800 WAR shares at a R70 million discount, or claim a penalty of R70 million. As security for the abovementioned obligations, REC would pledge the 5 268 800 WAR shares in favour of Anglo.

10.22.3 Findings

On 3 November 2004, WWB addressed a letter to REC in which it was inter alia recorded that[232]:

- The closing date of the above stated Consortium Sale Agreement was 1 November 2004 and that, on the closing date, certain requirement had to be fulfilled;
- Prior to 1 November 2004, REC and Inkwenkwezi requested from Anglo and Tawny the opportunity to pay the purchase price of the sale shares in a number of instalments over a period to 13 December 2004. Inkwenkwezi had subsequently informed Anglo and Tawny that it would not be able to pay the purchase price in the manner proposed by it; and
- That Anglo and Tawny were willing to allow REC and Inkwenkwezi the opportunity until noon on 10 November 2004 to furnish Anglo and Tawny with a written proposal as to how REC and Inkenkwezi would like to deal with the situation.

We requested details of REC's response to the above stated correspondence by WWB, but could not be presented with any[233]. Accordingly we are not sure as to what response REC gave to WWB in this regard.

The general ledger of CMMS indicates that as at 31 March 2005, a loan account in the name of Inkwenkwezi was recorded, indicating that Inkwenkwezi was indebted to CMMS in an amount of R85 865 625.00. We established that this related to the following two payments made from the T-Sec trading account:

- 30 December 2004 – R42 932 812.50; and
- 30 December 2004 – R42 932 812.50.

The above stated amounts were transferred to the Randgold/Masupatsela loan account 151810 in the books of account of CMMS on 1 December and 31 December 2004 respectively. It is accordingly evident from the above that the one transaction, amounting to R42 932 812.50, was transferred out of the Inkwenkwezi Loan account (account 151885) on 1 December 2004 to the Randgold/Masupatsela loan account (account 151810) before the amount was allocated to the Inkwenkwezi loan account from the T-sec trading account.

We assume that the difference in actual transaction dates relate to the fact that some entries were processed as month end journals as opposed to the actual date on which the transaction took place. The overall amount, transferred to the Randgold/Masupatsela account, amounted to R85 865 625.00 and was transferred back to the Inkwenkwezi loan account at year end, being 31 March 2005, resulting in a debit balance in the account for the aforesaid amount.

We also noted a similar transaction, amounting to R42 932 812.50 in value, which was debited to the Inkwenkwezi loan account (account 151885) on 25 February from the T-Sec trading account and transferred at an earlier date, namely 15 February 2005, to the Randgold/ Masupatsela loan account. This amount was not transferred back at year end to the Inkwenkwezi loan account as was the case with the R85 865 625.00, described at the paragraph above.

During discussions with accounting staff at CMMS, we were informed that the amount of R85 865 625 should actually be reflected in the books of account of REC and that this entry would be corrected. We were informed that the entry has already been corrected in the books of Randgold[234]. The funds, having been paid in respect of a transaction unrelated to CMMS, should have been charged against REC if REC funded Inkwenkwezi.

10.23 Shares in Simmer & Jack

10.23.1 Background

An extract from the records of STRATE recorded that the following shareholders held shares in Simmer & Jack in beneficial capacity as at 29 October 2004[235]:

- CMMS: 85 117 855;
- REC: 40 000 000;
- Continental: 40 000 000;
- CMC:9 422 800; and
- SIS Segaintersettle AG: 19 728 327.

An extract from the records of STRATE recorded that the following shareholders held shares in Simmer & Jack in beneficial capacity as at 31 December 2004[236]:

- . CMMS: 85 117 855;
- REC: 0;
- Continental: 0;
- Orlyfunt: 344 600
- CMC:422 800; and
- SIS Segaintersettle AG: 109 342 289.

On 12 December 2005, one Landau of Continental addressed a letter to Gray in which he proposed a settlement by JCI Limited to Continental in respect of a position which he described in the following manner[237]:

"Subsequent to the 2004 transaction, it became apparent to John Stratton that the 80m Simmer and Jack shares had either been pledged or sold to third parties as part of a transaction whereby JCI disposed of its interest in Simmer and Jack Mines for the benefit of JCI/Randgold. It is now apparent that all or part of the 80m shares were disposed of for JCI's benefit without Continental's knowledge."

Hence, we were requested by Gray to determine whether Landau's claims had substance and, if so, whether further obligation arose on JCI Limited or CMMS. We thus set out hereunder the:

- Chronology of events relevant to the Simmer & Jack shares of Continental; and
- The facts relevant to the obligation in respect of Simmer & Jack shares sold by CMMS.

In addition to the above, we were requested to determine the basis on which the shareholding of Simmer & Jack was restructured to introduce Jaganda as a shareholder of Simmer & Jack. Hence, we set out hereunder the various share movements in the Jaganda deal and determine the basis of the loan account converted.

10.23.2 The sale of Simmer & Jack shares to Topgold AGmvK

On 25 August 1999, Continental exercised an option to purchase 75% of REC's holding in TGME in order for Continental to acquire 100% of the issued share capital of TGME[238]. The purchase price, due and payable by Continental to REC, comprised a cash payment of R550 000 and the issuing of a convertible note of R8 600 000 and such arrangement was changed effective 25 August 1999 to a cash payment of R9 150 000, which was settled by way of REC having made a loan in such amount to Continental, which loan had to be repaid by 30 June 2001.

On or about 4 October 1999, Continental sold its entire shareholding in TGME to Simmer & Jack for a purchase consideration of R32.5 million, which had to be paid by way of a cash payment of R500 000 to Beachcove and by way of 80 million Simmer & Jack ordinary listed shares being issued to Beachcove at an issue price of R0.40[239]. These shares were issued to Continental on 24 October 2000 and marked "Non Resident"[240].

On 14 September 2000, Continental however agreed with REC that the 80 million Simmer & Jack shares, so acquired, be pledged to REC as security for Continental's obligation to pay the purchase price for the acquisition of 75% of the shares in TGME from REC[241].

On 30 January 2002, Stratton advised the chair person of REC that Continental was in default of its obligation to repay the loan to REC and he indicated their willingness to vary the obligation of Continental to REC by transferring 40 million Simmer & Jack shares to REC in full and final settlement of Continental's obligation to settle the loan from REC[242]. Apparently Stratton received no response to this letter as, on 26 April 2002, he wrote another letter to the chair person of REC in which he recorded the following[243]:

"Further to my correspondence of 30 January 2002 and the subsequent conversation in respect of the Simmer & Jack shares held by Continental Goldfields, I confirm the following:

Continental holds 80,000,000 shares in the issued capital of Simmer & Jack.

I further confirm that we are prepared to relinquish 40,000,000 of those shares to Randgold & Exploration in full and final settlement of the indebtedness which exists between Continental and Randgold."

A minute of the meeting of the directors of REC, held on 25 October 2002, recorded that REC were happy to consider taking the 40 million Simmer & Jack shares from Continental, but after a due diligence review of Simmer & Jack had been performed[244]. This minute was signed by RAR Kebble on 5 June 2003. We noted an unsigned copy of a REC letter, dated 17 December 2002, in which Stratton was advised that REC extended the repayment date of the loan to 28 February 2003[245].

On 30 May 2003 and 6 July 2003, respectively, Stratton again offered to settle the loan due to REC by Continental by means of transferring 40 million Simmer & Jack shares to REC[246].

Amongst the documents, found on the servers at JCI Limited, we found, in soft copy, a document purporting to be an agreement between REC and Continental recording that Continental was indebted to REC in the amount of R13 831 469.18, apparently comprising the outstanding capital and interest of the loan due to REC, and that the parties agreed to the transfer of 40 million Simmer & Jack shares from Continental to REC in settlement of the said loan[247]. We could not determine whether this was actually signed and what the date of such agreement was, but it appears to have been implemented prior to January 2004 as the STRATE records at such date, referred to supra, indicate that REC held 40 million Simmer & Jack shares and that Continental held 40 million Simmer & Jack shares[248]. We set out infra the evidence indicating that, despite the aforementioned evidence, Continental may not have recognised this transaction.

On 4 November 2004, one M McChesney of Cheston Minerals (Pty) Limited advised Graham Goodwin of T-Sec to transfer 758 600 Simmer & Jack shares to the account of Orlyfunt as such shares were sold to Orlyfunt[249]. Again, on 4 November 2004, M McChesney again advised Screech Stephan, presumably also at T-Sec, to transfer 10 586 000 Simmer & Jack shares to the account of Orlyfunt, based on a sale of such shares from an entity, referred to as "EGH" to Orlyfunt. Orlyfunt had a trading account number 933549 at T-Sec[250].

It appears that, during December 2004, the Lion Capital Group AG had agreed to invest in Simmer & Jack. This appears from an e-mail message sent to JP Schumacher, the CEO of the Lion Capital Group AG, by RAR Kebble, which reads as follows[251]:

"I have just returned to South Africa and wish on behalf of the Simmer & Jack board to thank you both for your prompt and decisive decision to back the company on the basis that you did. It is indeed refreshing to deal with people like yourselves. I can assure you that all the stops will be pulled out in order to turn Simmers into a profitable and successful organisation.

The details of the "book over" of shares will be finalized this afternoon and further correspondence will be forwarded to you. The shares for cash which will be taken up by the executive team should be completed by early next week. In aggregate this will mean that Simmers will have been funded to the tune of R33 million (thirty three million rand)."

It is evident from the following e-mail from Miller to Oosthuizen that 100 million Simmer & Jack shares would have been bought by Lion Capital Group AG as part of the investment in Simmer & Jack, referred to above[252]:

"Hennie has been in touch with T-Sec to execute the bookover of 100m Simmers for R25m. Could you please execute the loan agreement between JCI and Simmers and arrange the banking details with T-Sec such that the funds are transferred to the Simmers Account as soon as T-Sec receive funds from Lion Capital."

Hence it appears that Buitendag instructed T-Sec on the transfer of the 100 million Simmer & Jack shares to Lion Capital Group AG and that the proceeds would be lent to Simmer & Jack by JCI Limited. Conceptually thus, it appears that it was intended that CMMS would sell Simmer & Jack shares and use the proceeds to create a debtor with, to wit Simmer & Jack.

On 10 December 2004, Beale forwarded an e-mail to JP Schumacher in which she recorded the following[253]:

"Please inform me when we will be receiving the R25m, and kindly give Mr Leonard Steenkamp of Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Limited the details of the share account, in order for us to transfer the 100,000,000 Simmer & Jack Mines Limited electronic shares."

For settlement on 28 December 2004, T-Sec was advised that the 100 million Simmer & Jack shares had to be transferred to FNB as custodians of SIS Segaintersettle AG on behalf of the Lion Capital Group AG. As such, the 100 million shares were transferred and sourced from the following trading accounts at T-Sec[254]:

- 11 million shares were transferred from the trading account of Orlyfunt;
- 40 million shares were transferred from the account of REC;
- 40 million shares were transferred from the account of Continental; and
- 9 million shares were transferred from the account of CMC.

A further document, found amongst the documents at JCI Limited, indicates a similar distribution in the sources of the Simmer & Jack shares for purposes of compiling the parcel of 100 million Simmer & Jack shares sold to the Lion Capital Group AG[255]. It thus follows that CMMS sold the shares of REC, Continental, Orlyfunt and CMC in this transaction. It appears that the shares would beneficially be held by Top-Gold AG mvK, an international gold investment fund[256].

R25 465 419 was received in the trading account of CMMS at T-Sec by way of payment for the shares so transferred[257]. R5 million was paid from here to a Standard Bank of South Africa Limited Bank account number 331359928, held in the name of Simmer & Jack and the balance was applied to the collateral of the treasury activity of CMMS.

On 15 April 2005, Claude Pillay of Computershare requested from Beale an analysis of the Simmer & Jack shareholders in respect of the SIS Segainstersettle account. Beale replied by recording that, at 31 December (we presume 2004), the beneficial owners of the shares in that account were Continental, Orlyfunt, REC and CMC, but indicated that the manner in which the shares had to be disclosed, would have had to be discussed with Buitendag[258].

We found a further document in soft copy amongst the documents, recorded in the server at JCI Limited, purporting to be a JCI Limited resolution recording that the transaction with Top Gold AG mvK comprises a loan of the 100 million Simmer & Jack shares[259]. We did not find any evidence that this document was in fact executed as a resolution of JCI Limited. The contents of this document seem to reflect a notion consistent with the contents of an e-mail from JP Schumacher to RAR Kebble and Miller, in which he wrote the following[260]:

"I forwarded the scrip lending agreement to Bank Frick. Please send me the wire instructions. I will arrange the transfer immediately thereafter"

On 1 August 2005, Newfound Capital (Pty) Limited addressed a letter to Buitendag in which the following was recorded[261]:

"In terms of the scrip lending agreement dated 6 December 2004, the JCI Group companies lent 100 million Simmers shares to Top-Gold at 25 cents per share. In terms of the addendum dated 2 February 2005 Top-Gold purchased the 100 million Simmers shares and undertook to subscribe for a further 116 million Simmers shares and for the purpose thereof issued a R29 million guarantee in favour of Simmers."

We have found the agreements, referred to in the above mentioned correspondence, but it is evident that such initial scrip loan was subsequently converted to a sale of the said shares. We have furthermore not found any agreements or resolutions regulating the manner in which the parcel of 100 million Simmer & Jack shares were compiled to transfer to Top Gold AG mvK.

10.23.3 Obligation on CMMS in respect of Simmer & Jack shares sold

From the above chronology of events it is evident that CMMS has an obligation to return the following Simmer & Jack shares:

- 40 million to Continental;
- 40 million to REC; and

[259] Refer Exhibit 5.23.22

- 11 million to Orlyfunt.

We have however noted an e-mail from Beale to Martin van Zyl at T-Sec, in which she requested T-Sec to transfer 11 000 000 Simmer & Jack shares from the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec to the trading account number 933459 for Orlyfunt[262]. This was to be funded from the transfer of some 85 540 655 Simmer & Jack shares from the Computershare register. However, as can be seen infra, these shares were merely transferred to and from the trading account of Orlyfunt.

We could not identify these obligations in the trial balance of CMMS.

It then remains to determine the manner in which the claim by Continental relates to the above mentioned state of affairs. The gist of Landau's letter to Gray was that JCI Limited had to give to Continental value equal to some AUD2.37 million, based upon the representations recorded in three agreements which Landau attached to his letter to Gray[263]. These agreements were the following:

- An agreement by and between Continental Goldfields and the International Financial Trust Company Limited, ostensibly signed on 14 June 2005 by persons unknown to us on behalf of the parties[264]. For purposes hereof, we refer to this agreement as the Sale Agreement;
- An agreement by and between JCI Limited, apparently signed by Stratton on the part of JCI Limited, and the International Financial Trust Company Limited, on whose part we cannot identify the signature. The agreement is dated 14 June 2005[265]. For purposes hereof, we refer to this agreement as the JCI Guarantee; and
- An agreement by and between Weston, the International Financial Trust Company Limited and JCI Limited, ostensibly signed on 21 July 2005[266].This agreement appears to have been signed by Stratton and Buitendag on behalf of Weston, by RB Kebble on behalf of JCI Limited and by an unknown person on behalf of the International Financial Trust Company Limited. For purposes hereof, we refer to this agreement as the Set-off Agreement.

In terms of the Sale Agreement, Continental sold 80 million Simmer & Jack shares to the International Financial Trust Company Limited for R12.8 million at R0.16 per share, utilising a rate of exchange between AUD and Rand of some R5.15. It is not clear why the purchase price was denominated in Rand. At 14 June 2005, Continental had no Simmer and Jack shares to sell in terms of the Sale Agreement due thereto that:

- 40 million of Continental's shares were transferred to Topgold AG mvK, apparently at the instance of Buitendag; and
- 40 million of Continental's shares were transferred to REC, from where they were transferred to Topgold AG mvK as set out supra.

The latter seems to be an important consideration as, should Continental contend that the said 40 million shares were not transferred to REC as aforementioned, it has as an implication that the loan from REC to Continental, in settlement of the purchase price for the interest in TGME and, which amounted to R9.7 million from 25 August 1999 at an annual compounded rate of interest of some 5%, remained unsettled.

In terms of the Sale Agreement, the International Financial Trust Company Limited had an obligation to pay the R12.8 million purchase price for the shares that Continental sold to it, but did not have. The JCI Guarantee refers to this agreement as its basis and recorded that JCI Limited guaranteed the obligations of the International Financial Trust Company Limited to Continental arising from the Sale Agreement.

The Set-off Agreement seems to be based upon the provisions of the Sale Agreement and the JCI Guarantee and recorded that since:

- The International Financial Trust Company Limited owed Continental AUD2 385 435 in terms of the Sale Agreement; and
- Weston owed the International Financial Trust Company Limited AUD2 974 472 due to a loan succession agreement.

The above mentioned two balances were set off against each other, leaving a balance due by Weston to the International Financial Trust Company Limited of some AUD589 037.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

We noted that clause 1.1 of the Set-off Agreement recorded that set-off of the two debts occurred, yet that Weston, and JCI Limited, if Continental called upon the guarantee, still had to pay the purchase price of the Simmer & Jack shares due to Continental by the International Financial Trust Company Limited.

From the above, it is evident that Landau's claims to Gray, in his letter of 12 December 2005, is founded upon the above mentioned agreements.

Lamprecht referred us to the annual financial statements of Weston for the financial year ended 31 March 2006. These financial statements appear to have been signed by Stratton. Whilst his apparent signature was not dated, the auditor's signature was dated 15 September 2005[267]. Note 3 to the financial statements of Weston was captioned "Non Cash Financing and Investing Activities" and reads inter alia as follows:

"During the period following various agreements between Weston Investments Pty Ltd, Randgold & Exploration Company Ltd "Randgold" and Continental Goldfields Limited "Continental", Weston Investments Pty Ltd was assigned an amount of AUD$3,074,472 owing to Randgold. An amount owing to Continental of AUD$2,374,064 was netted off leaving a residual unsecured balance liability from Continental of $700,408 (interest accruing quarterly at Australian bank bill rates)."

and further:

"On 2 March a Cession and Delegation agreement assigned the loan of $3,074,472 from Randgold to International Financial Trust Company Limited."

The following appears evident from the above:

- A debt, due by Continental to REC was assigned to Weston and the International Financial Trust Company Limited without any cash consideration being given to REC; and
- A debt due by JCI Limited to Continental was transferred to Weston where it was set of against the debt mentioned above.

The directors' report to the audited annual financial statements of Continental, as at 30 June 2005, signed by one CP Mostert on 30 September 2005, recorded the following[268]:

"As announced on 21 June 2005, the company entered into an agreement to dispose of its shareholding in Simmer and Jack Mines Limited for AUD$2.48m (being Rand 12.8m with a locked in conversion to AUD at Rand 5.15)"

This seems to agree with the provisions of the Sale Agreement and the JCI Guarantee, which are really matters separate and distinct from the Set-off Agreement. It is evident from note nine to the financial statements that Continental recorded the holding of 80 million Simmer & Jack shares in the comparatives, but not in their 2005 results.

Even though Continental appears to have been a party to the Set-off Agreement on 21 July 2006, some time prior to the issuing of these financial statements and despite the fact that Landau, a director of Continental, presented the Set-off Agreement to Gray, an amount of AUD2,38 million was still recognised as due to Continental at note seven to the annual financial statements. The debt due by Continental Goldfields to REC for the purchase price of TGME was settled when REC ceded its claim against Continental Goldfields to Weston on 30 June 2004, where it was set off against an amount due to Continental Goldfields by Weston[269].

It thus appears that Continental has paid REC for the acquisition of TGME and that JCI Limited owes Continental for the appropriation of the 80 million Simmer & Jack shares minus balances still due by Continental to Weston after settlement with the International Financial Trust Company Limited, the latter still owing money to REC.

10.23.4 The Jaganda deal and Simmer & Jack shares involved therein

During early 2005, Simmer & Jack reported in a circular to Simmers & Jack shareholders that "Jaganda, a black economic empowerment company will, on completion of the rights offer, own 50,9% of the issued share capital of Simmers which will assist Simmers becoming compliant with the Mining Charter and the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act, No. 28 of 2002, and at the same time fulfils the Company's vision for broad-based socio-economic upliftment"[270].

It was proposed, at paragraph 1.2 of the circular, that:

- JCI Limited would subscribe for 5 year redeemable preference shares in Jaganda for R89.3 million;
- A consortium of Simmers & Jack management would subscribe for 5 year redeemable preference shares in Jaganda for R5 million;
- Simmers & Jack would proceed with the rights offer of 516 241 685 new Simmer & Jack shares;
- Jaganda would use the subscription from JCI Limited and the consortium to subscribe for 377 374 000 Simmer & Jack shares in the amount of R94.3 million by following the rights of shareholders who have undertaken not to follow their rights;
- Jaganda would underwrite the rights offer;
- JCI Limited and its subsidiaries undertook not to follow their rights in terms of the rights offer and have undertaken to dispose of 40.3 million Simmer & Jack shares should minority shareholders follow their rights; and
- Top-Gold AG mvK would acquire directly from JCI Limited and/or its subsidiaries and subscribe in aggregate for 216 000 000, Simmer & Jack shares at 25 cents per share by following the rights of shareholders who have undertaken not to follow their rights.

The rights offer circular recorded that 516 241 685 Simmer & Jack shares were offered in Simmer & Jack at a ratio of "229.5 rights offer shares for every 100 Simmers shares held"[271]. The rights offer circular recorded under the heading "UNDERWRITING AND UNDERTAKINGS TO SUBSCRIBE FOR RIGHTS OFFER SHARES" that Jaganda, in terms of an undertaking agreement, "has undertaken to subscribe for 377 374 000 Simmers shares in the amount of R94 343 500 by following the rights of shareholders who have undertaken not to follow their rights, on the basis that the major shareholders have undertaken not to follow their rights offer entitlement in respect of no less than 377 374 000 shares".

It was further recorded that "Top-Gold will acquire directly from JCI and/or its subsidiaries and subscribe in aggregate for 216 000 000 Simmers shares at 25 cents per share by following the rights of the major shareholders who have undertaken not to follow their rights entitlement".

[271] Refer Exhibit 5.23.31

It was also recorded that JCI Limited, through the holdings of its subsidiaries and associated companies, agreed to facilitate the rights offer by:

- Using the proceeds of the repayment of its loan account of R69.752 million to subscribe for preference shares in Jaganda. Jaganda would then use the proceeds, obtained for the preference shares, as well as the R5 million of preference shares the Simmers & Jack management would subscribe for, to subscribe for the rights offer shares that would represent 50.9% of Simmer & Jack share capital after the rights offer; and

- Not following its rights offer entitlement and to the extent that minority shareholders followed their rights, to sell sufficient Simmer & Jack shares to result in Top-Gold AG mvK acquiring a shareholding of 21.90% in Simmer & Jack.

Pearcey confirmed the contents of the circular. He informed us that the rights issue was arranged for Jaganda to obtain the 377 374 000 Simmer & Jack shares.

Pearcey provided us with a copy of a schedule setting out the calculation of the shares[272]. This schedule is undated and reflected the aggregate of the issued shares before the rights issue and the share incentive shares, as 224 941 911 Simmer & Jack shares. The rights offer, at the ration of 229.5 shares for every 100 held, is reflected as 516 241 685 Simmer & Jack shares with total shares issued, after the rights offer, of 741 183 596.

The schedule further recorded the shareholding before the rights offer, the share entitlement with the rights offer and the shareholding subsequent to the rights offer. For ease of reference, we tabled the before and after shareholding in the table below:

Shareholder	Before	Rights ratio	After
CMMS	85 118 055	195 345 936	280 463 991

Pearcey, in an e-mail dated 1 June 2005 to Berry, recorded the shareholding in Jaganda "according to my interpretation of the various contracts". He recorded that Jaganda issued 262 000 ordinary and 377 374 000 5% fixed rate non-cumulative redeemable preference shares.

The holders of the ordinary shares were recorded as[273]:

Pearcey informed Computershare in an e-mail, dated 25 July 2005, "As instructed by the directors and in terms of the circular dated 20 June 2005, please issue 377 374 000 (three hundred and seventy-seven million, three hundred and seventy-four thousand) ordinary shares to" Jaganda. Kenneth Forsyth from Computeshare replied to Pearcey on the same day, informing him that the shares were allotted as requested[274].

According to Pearcey, Jaganda received their 377 374 000 Simmer & Jack shares as agreed and JCI Limited received 357 374 000 preference shares in Jaganda.

The preference shares that JCI Limited received, were confirmed in an e-mail from Beale to Henning on 26 July 2005[275]. In the e-mail she indicated to Henning that "there are only 157,374,000 Jaganda pref's available to JCI, the balance of 200,000,000 are pledged to New Found until 2006 in terms of the Simmers Rights Offer".

We believe that the schedule we received from Pearcey might be a planning schedule, as T-Sec confirmed to us that they received 85 117 855 Simmer & Jack shares from Computeshare into the Consolidated Investments account 648410 on 7 April 2005. The same day, 11 000 000 Simmer & Jack shares were transferred to the Orlyfunt account held at T-Sec. The 11 000 000 Simmer & Jack shares were returned to the Consolidated Investments trading account on 20 May 2005.

Later 74 500 000 Simmer & Jack shares were transferred to Sanlam Stockbrokers at Computershare as security for funding received from Newfound, dealt with infra. A document, which we obtained from the computer of Avril Field, indicated that 74 500 000 Simmer & Jack shares were sold to Newfound[276].

T-Sec informed us that 20 386 000 Simmer & Jack shares were transferred to Investec as security and that the balance of the Simmer & Jack shares in the Consolidated Investment account were sold into the market.

According to the general ledger of CMMS and statements of T-Sec, R25 000 000.00 was received from Topgold of which R20 000 000.00 was used for operational expenditure by CMMS and R5 000 000.00 was allocated to the Simmer & Jack loan account number 155766 in the books of account of CMMS.

We also noted that an internal reconciliation of CMMS reflected an amount of R1 500 000.00 as payment received, but we found no proof that such an amount was deposited into the bank account of CMMS. The possibility that the amount forms part of a guarantee that was provided cannot be excluded at this stage. We do however include the amount into our cash received calculation.

The following bank guarantees were issued:

[275] Refer Exhibit 5.23.35
[276] Refer Exhibit 5.23.36

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- R29 000 000.00 by Topgold AG mvK;
- R300 000.00 by RAR Kebble. It is our understanding that RAR Kebble stood in for Watson to this amount as part of the Management Consortium guarantee, which was, as we understand it, provided to Tabacks Attorneys and ultimately paid into their trust account[277];
- R4 700 000.00 by the Management Consortium, which, as we understand it, was provided to Taback Inc and ultimately paid into their trust account[278];
- R18 500 000.00 by Newfound, in the form of a bank guarantee from BOE, which was paid directly to Simmers & Jack[279]; and
- R308 364.00 from Jaganda in terms of a guarantee to underwrite the transaction.

The Simmer & Jack loan account in the books of account of CMMS amounted to R69 530 269.02 as at the end of December 2004[280]. The breakdown of the balance reflected in the said ledger account, is described infra. The balance, reflected in the said loan account as at 31 December 2004, was utilised as a swap for part of the purchase price of the shares obtained in Simmer and Jack.

Accordingly, our calculation of the cash received, or equivalent thereof, for the shares in Simmer & Jack, amounted to:

Detail	Amount R
Cash received	5 000 000.00
Other amounts	1 500 000.00
Guarantees received	52 808 364.00
CMMS loan account balance as at 31 December 2004	69 530 269.02
Total	128 838 633.02

The transaction consisted of 377 374 000 Simmer & Jack preference shares to be issued to Jaganda at a value of 25 cents per share resulting in an overall price of R94 343 500.00. The said overall price consisted of the following:

- The Simmers & Jack loan account in the books of account of CMMS, described infra, amounting to R69 530 269.02. We noted in correspondence that reference was made to the balance of the loan account as at the end of December 2004 as being R69.7 million, but we could not agree this amount to the balance reflected in the loan account of Simmer & Jack in the general ledger of CMMS as at 31 December 2004. We were however informed that the balance of the ledger account was reconciled and agreed upon by all relevant parties, hence the reference to R69.7 million in various correspondence[281]; and

- The R25 000 000.00 loan from Topgold AG mvK to CMMS regarding 100 000 000 Simmer & Jack ordinary shares, initially lent to and later sold to Topgold AgmvK.

By combining the R69 530 269.02 and R25 000 000.00 together, a result of R94 530 269.02 is obtained, which is different from the R94 343 500.00 specified as the purchase price; the difference we assume being mainly attributable to the fact that we could not find any substance to the fact that the Simmer and Jack loan account amounted to R69.7 million as at 31 December 2006, as described at the first bullet directly above.

Furthermore, the following guarantees provided, should also be included in the transaction:

- R5 000 000.00 in respect of the 20 000 000 Simmer and Jack preference shares purchased by the consortium;

- R29 000 000.00 in respect of the 116 000 000 Simmer and Jack preference shares purchased by Topgold AG mvK; and

- R308 364.00 in respect of a bank guarantee provided by Jaganda regarding the underwriting of the transaction.

The overall transaction value, if all the above aspects are taken into consideration, amounted to R128 838 633.02, which is equivalent to our cash received calculation as specified above.

[281] As per consultation with Charles Turner on 24 March 2006

We noted that the general ledger loan account number 155766 in the books of account of CMMS was styled Loan – "P +2% Simmer & Jack #2". The account reflected a debit balance of R69 530 269.02 as at the end of December 2004. The balance reflected in the ledger can be summarised as follows:

- Amounts previously on Accpac and transferred to Great Plains, of which we have no specific details – R14 385 465.91;
- Payments made by CMMS to Simmer & Jack – R36 708 771.64;
- Repayments by Simmer & Jack to CMMS – R4 000 000.00;
- Interest raised to the loan account by CMMS – R22 362 175.51;
- Other expenses paid on behalf of Simmer & Jack – R154 711.84; and
- Journal reallocation – R50 918.84 (credit);

Subsequent to the end of December 2004, the following entries were processed to the loam account:

- Interest for December to February – R2 248 806.11;
- Cash book payment to Simmer & Jack – R1 500 000.00;
- Interest of R801 519.15;
- A credit transaction in respect of R3 000 000.00, of which the corresponding entry was debited to the Orlyfunt loan account in respect of the Simmer & Jack/Bobsat shares and claims;
- A debit of R5 000 000.00 regarding an amount paid to Standard Bank account 331359928;
- Purchases amounting to R432.80; and
- A journal entry, crediting the loan account, with an amount of R94 752 057.00. The transaction had an inscription in the ledger indicating "Repayment loan by shares". The underlying journal voucher J2448 and supporting vouchers indicate that the transaction related to the purchase of 357 374 000 Simmer & Jack shares.

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The above stated transactions resulted in the account reflecting a credit balance of R18 669 026.42 as at the end of July 2005.

It is evident from the underlying agreements that the Simmer & Jack loan account in the books of account of CMMS, as at 31 December 2004, should have been utilised to the extent of R89 343 500.00 as an offset of part of the purchase price of the Simmer & Jack shares[282].

Accordingly we are not in agreement that the credit, amounting to R94 752 057.00, which was processed in terms of journal voucher J2448 to the Simmers & Jack loan account number 2, is correct and should be rectified to reflect a figure of R89 343 500.00[283].

Furthermore the R18 500 000 loan advanced by Newfound to CMMS, which was paid directly to Simmer & Jack, was not reflected in the Simmer & Jack loan account in the books of account of CMMS. Therefore, the said loan account should be debited with R18 500 000 and a Newfound loan account should be credited with the same amount. We understand that this amount, whilst representing a loan from Newfound to JCI Limited, was paid directly to Simmer & Jack.

10.24 Investment in Kirstenberry Lodge - Account number 101070

10.24.1 Introduction

We were informed that RB Kebble had a loan with CMMS in terms whereof the properties, mentioned below, were pledged as security for the said loan. The properties were sold to CMMS and the debt owed by RB Kebble was set off against the purchase price of the properties. The properties, related to the purchase price, were registered in the name of Kirstenberry and OT80 and it is our understanding that CMMS purchased the said companies from RB Kebble in order to obtain the properties.

We obtained the following information from publicly available sources in respect of Kirstenberry:

- No previous name, subsidiaries, associates or ultimate parent was identified;

[282] Refer Exhibit 5.23.39
[283] Refer Exhibit 5.23.32

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The current directors were:
  - Vauhan Grantland Bray (appointed 10 March 1935);
  - Buitendag (appointed 10 March 2004);
  - RB Kebble (appointed 10 March 2004);
  - Stratton ((appointed 10 March 2004);
  - Lamprecht (appointed 12 May 2005); and
  - Mattheys Johannes de Beer (appointed 18 November 2004).
- CMMS was the company secretary of the company.

10.24.2 Agreement of sale

A sale agreement was entered into between RB Kebble and CMMS on 17 March 2004. Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, the following parties appear to have signed the said agreement[284]:

- Swanevelder; and
- RB Kebble.

In terms of the agreement, CMMS purchased the shares of and claims in Kristenberry and OT80 for an overall purchase consideration of R30 224 655.00.

10.24.3 Findings

The mortgage bonds, registered over the said properties at the time of purchase, were as follows:

Property	Bank	Value of the bond in Rands
Erf 39 Bishopscourt	BOE	3 863 000
Erf 343 Bishopscourt	BOE	3 500 000

Total of above Bonds		15 863 000

RB Kebble was granted a loan of R30 244 654.85 from CMMS and the properties, mentioned above, were pledged as security for the said loan. The aforesaid funds were used to settle the following outstanding debt of RB Kebble in the books of account of CMMS:

Account number	Account name	Amount R
174000	Sundry Debtors	90 447.67
174501	Sundry Debt – RB Kebble Consolidated Investment	1 011 842.50

175747	Sundry Debt – New Heights	1 261 326.77
174505	Sundry Debt – C Cornwall	484 567.35
174520	Sundry Debt – RAR Kebble	4 511 041.22
212100	Sundry Creditor – RAR Kebble	5 217 115.12
	Total debt settled	30 244 654.85

The result of the aforesaid transaction was that the loan account 101070 was debited in the books of account of CMMS with R30 244 654.85 and the accounts, mentioned in the table above, were credited with the respective amounts indicated.

Subsequent to the original loan being advanced to RB Kebble, CMMS purchased the properties pledged to them as security, for a consideration of R30 244 654.85. When the properties were purchased by CMMS, the ledger account 101070 was credited with the said amount and the following accounts were debited with the respective amounts indicated in the table below:

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Account number	Account name	Amount R
151001	Loan – JCI (payment made to sundry creditors)	3 006 989.13

211000	Sundry Creditors	1 000 000.00
	Total debt settled	30 244 654.85

The asset in the JCI Property Developers (Pty) Limited ledger account has subsequently been transferred to the ledger account 121030, being Investments, in the amount of R20 721 071.31 and the balance to the loan account of Kirstenberry.

The bond repayments and running expenses for the properties, mentioned above, totalling R2 268 923.29, for the period 1 April 2003 to 31 March 2004, were allegedly paid by RB Kebble. CMMS reimbursed RB Kebble by decreasing his sundry debt account number 174501 and increasing the loan account number 151830 of Kirstenberry.

We obtained an independent valuation from Faranani in respect of the properties mentioned above and which were purchased by CMMS.

A comparison of values, related to the properties purchased by CMMS, was performed insofar as at the said valuations, the registered bond amounts and the amount paid for each respective property were compared with each other as are set out in the table below:

Property details i.e. stand number	Valuation by Faranani as at February 2005 R
39	6 500 000
343	4 480 000
347	4 640 000
348	4 480 000
Sub Total	20 100 000
344 #1	8 700 000
Total	28 800 000

#1: This property was sold in November 2005 to Moxley Paul Edward King.

The valuation by Faranani should be adjusted to reflect a valuation value as at March 2004. We were informed by Faranani that property value escalates by approximately 33.5% in the Bishopscourt area. We are however adopting a conservative approach and are reducing the value by 25% for an 11 month time frame. Accordingly, the value is reduced by R5 280 000.00 to reflect an amended value of R23 520 000 as at March 2004.

Our calculation of the losses, sustained by JCI regarding the purchase of Kirstenberry Lodge, is as follows:

	R
Bond instalments	15 863 000.00
Expenses allegedly paid by Kebble	2 268 923.29
Excess price paid if compared to valuation	6 724 654.85
	24 856 578.14

We found no resolution for the granting of the loan to RB Kebble. We did however find a resolution, passed on 12 March 2004, pertaining to the sale agreement between RB Kebble and CMMS. Swanevelder was granted the power to sign all documentation in this regard on behalf of CMMS[285]. This resolution was signed by RB Kebble, Buitendag and Swanevelder.

The resolution of the directors of Kirstenberry was passed on 2 August 2005[286]. An exclusive mandate for the sale of the properties was granted to Pam Golding. Griffiths was granted the authorisation to sign all documents relating to the sale of the property. The resolution was authorised by Bray, Buitendag, Kebble and Stratton.

10.24.3.1 Conclusion

The loan granted to RB Kebble and the purchase of the properties did not hold any financial benefit to CMMS. RB Kebble, however, benefited in the amount of R24 856 578.14 from the transaction.

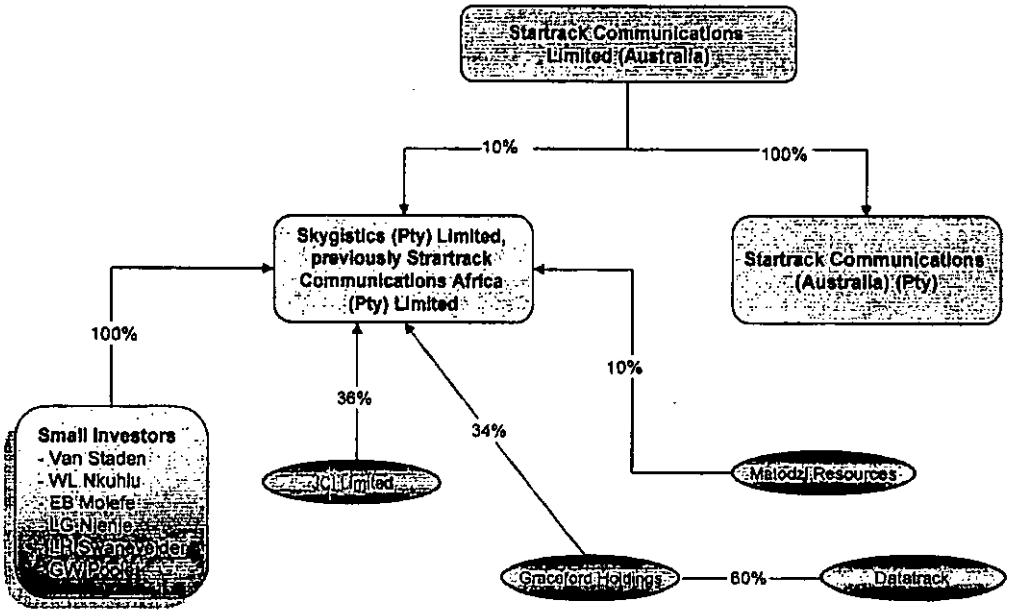
Erf 344 was sold for R7 500 000.00, whereas the independent valuation by Faranani indicated that the property was valued at R8 700 000.00.



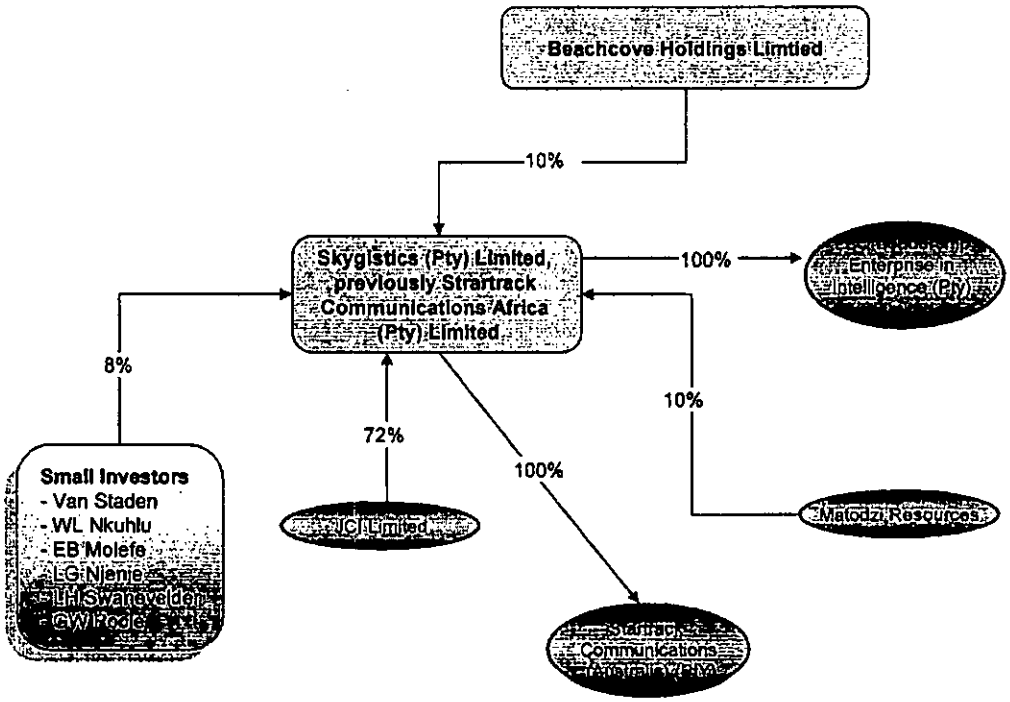
10.25 Investment in Skygistics

10.25.1 Introduction

Skygistics, previously Startrack Africa (Pty) Limited, was founded and incorporated in 2000. JCI Limited held a direct interest of 36% in Skygistics at the time. Skygistics specialised in enterprise asset management, offering visibility and management of core assets, utilising their "Globalwave System".

Startrack Communications, situated and incorporated in Australia, developed the Startrack ROAMS system, providing IT solutions for remote systems control, data acquisition and asset management. They have also developed the MarineTrack; EnviroTrack and TransTrack solutions, which provided marine and environment information, weather monitoring, and asset tracking facilities. The asset tracking facilities operated via an earth station located in Australia and which captured satellite signals (which are captured by a beam which covers a footprint of the earth), unbundled the data (by a process known as Packet Processing Switching) and transmitted the then user friendly data via radio signals to the client (+/-30-60 seconds later). It is our understanding that the satellite operations were housed in the company called Startrack Australia.

The initial group structure of the Stratrack group, identified during our investigation and limited to the involvement of JCI Limited in the group, was as follows during the 2000 financial year:



© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Through various transactions, as described in more detail in this report, JCI Limited increased its shareholding in Skygistics from 36% to 72% during the 2004 financial year. The original purchase price, as per the investment register of JCI Limited, reflected the purchase price as R3 600.00 in 2000. The additional 36%, which was acquired during the 2004 financial year, was acquired at a cost of R27 945 000.00 from various shareholders, a significant increase in the share price for a two year period. The shares were bought from the following shareholders:

- Graceford Holdings – 34%; and
- Various small investors 2%.

Based on a debt restructuring transaction, approved by the shareholders of Startrack Communications Limited (Australia), the full ownership of Startrack Australia was transferred to Weston on 8 January 2003. Weston was a wholly owned subsidiary of JCI (Jersey), of whom the ultimate parent company was JCI Gold. On 30 August 2004, Weston transferred the entire shareholding in Startrack Australia to Skygistics in terms of a sale agreement at a purchase price of AUD 1.00. During the period under investigation, Skygistics purchased the entity named and styled LEQ Leadership Enterprise in Intelligence (Pty) Ltd.

The current shareholding and group structure, based on our investigations, were as follows:

10.25.2 The Skygistics group

The companies, identified in this section, formed part of the Skygistics group, as identified during our investigation. Limited information of Startrack Communications was available and we were only able to obtain limited financial information and financial statements of the companies in the group for the period July 2000 to date.

10.25.2.1 Startrack Communications

Startrack Communications (registration number A.C.N. 009 155 971) was incorporated in Australia and listed on ASX. Its registered office was 945 Wellington Street, 4 Parker Place, West Perth WA 6005, Technology Park. Startrack Communications later changed its name to Konekt Limited.

Based on information obtained from the directors report to the interim results, dated 31 December 2002[287], Startrack Communications developed the Startrack ROAMS system, providing IT solutions for remote systems control, data acquisition and asset management. This was not a complete set of financial statements and we were unable to obtain any audited financial statements of Startrack Communications during our investigation.

As at 31 December 2002, the directors of Startrack Communications were:

- Stratton (Executive Chairman);
- Johan Haasbroek (Chief Executive Officer);
- Buitendag (Non Executive Director); and
- Landau (Non Executive Director).

As at 31 December 2002, Startrack Communications had a 10% equity interest in Skygistics, and a 100% equity interest in Startrack Australia.

10.25.2.2 Startrack Australia

Startrack Australia was incorporated in Australia, (registration number ABN: 79 086 437 283) and was a wholly owned subsidiary of Startrack Communications until 8 January 2003. Full ownership was then transferred to Weston in terms of a debt structuring transaction approved by the shareholders of Startrack Communications.

Evident from the director's report to the financial report, dated 31 March 2005[288], the principal activities of Startrack Australia were the selling of applications for the management and control of remote and mobile assets as well as the provision of accounting and company secretarial services. We were unable to obtain any financial records of this company during our investigation.

As at 31 March 2005, the directors of Startrack Australia were:

- Stratton; and
- Buitendag.

According to Eborall, Stratton was the driving force of the business, while Buitendag also played an active role, in that the building from which Startrack Australia operated was owned by Buitendag and Buitendag's son works for Startrack Australia. Buitendag, however, was no longer a director of Startrack Australia.

10.25.2.3 Skygistics

Skygistics was incorporated on 7 August 2000 as Daisy Street Investments No 154 (Pty) Limited (registration number 2000/018328/07) [289]. On 31 May 2001, the name of Daisy Street Investments No 154 (Pty) Limited was changed to Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited. On 31 March 2005 there was a further name change from Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited to Skygistics.

[288] Refer Exhibit 5.25.2

According to Van Staden, Startrack Australia was in operation approximately two years prior to Skygistics. When Skygistics was established, they used Startrack Australia to support their operations and hence chose a similar name for the company.

According to Eborall, the name change from Startrack Africa to Skygistics was due to the fact that LC du Preez was not satisfied that the name "Startrack" adequately portrayed the nature of the business.

The current directors of Skygistics were as follows:

- Buitendag (Appointed 7 August 2000);
- Stratton (Appointed 5 January 2001);
- Beale (Appointed 3 February 2002);
- Rasethaba (Appointed 12 August 2002);
- LC du Preez (Appointed 17 May 2004); and
- AR Nkuklu (Appointed 17 May 2004).

The company's business address was Time Square Office Park, Highveld Technopark in Centurion and its registered address was given as 28 Harrison Street, Johannesburg.

The financial statements of Skygistics, dated 31 March 2005[290], described the nature of Skygistics's business as follows:

"The current business operations of the group are to provide services and sell products relating to electronic remote asset management systems and related activities."

At the date of this report, Skygistics had the following subsidiaries:

- LEQ Leadership Enterprise in Intelligence (Pty) Limited; and
- Startrack Australia.

The shareholders of Skygistics

We obtained an un-audited copy of the financial statements of Skygistics, dated 30 June 2001[291]. In the directors' report to the financial statements, the following were noted in respect of the share capital:

"Share Capital

The company was incorporated on 7 August 2000 with and authorised share capital of R4,000, comprising 4,000 ordinary shares of R1 each. On 7 August 2000 1,000 shares were allotted as the initial share capital of the company.

On 8 February 2001, the authorised share capital was increased to R100,000, comprising 100,000 ordinary shares of R1 each. On this date the par value of the shares was changed from R1 each to 0,1 cent each. The company now has an authorised share capital of R100,000, comprising 100,000,000 ordinary shares of 0,1 cent each.

On 8 February 2001 a further 9,000,000 shares were allotted at a premium of R7,380,979, as additional capital of the company."

The initial shareholders of Skygistics were the following[292]:

Allottee	Number of shares	Percentage	Amount paid R
JCI Gold	3 600 000	36	3 600.00
Startrack Communications	1 000 000	10	1 000.00

Various small investors	1 000 000	10	1 000.00
Total	10 000 000	100	10 0000.00

It appears that the initial issue of shares was made to JCI Gold on 7 August 2000. The remainder of the allotments were made on 8 February 2001 and was reflected on the share register on 14 February 2001[293]. The share premium was not reflected, only the share capital paid.

Based on information in the register of members' share transfers, recorded on Cosec[294], it appears that, subsequent to the initial allotment, the following transfers of shares took place during the period under investigation:

Transferor	Number of shares	Value R	Amount paid R	Transferee	Date Transferred
Startrack Communications	1 000 000	0.48	482 370.00	Beachcove	17 November 2003
Graceford	3 400 000	7.50	25 500 000.00	JCI Gold	30 November 2003
J Haasbroek	35 000	9.14	320 000.00	JCI Gold	01 December 2003

Total	4 650 000		28 052 370.00

Based on the above, the average transfer price per share was R6.12, the highest price was paid by JCI Gold to J Haasbroek at R15.38 per share and the lowest price was R0.48 paid by Beachcove to Startrack Communications.

10.25.2.4 Graceford

Graceford was a 60% shareholder of Datatrack. The shareholders' agreement of Datatrack was signed by Van Staden in his capacity of director of Graceford. In an e-mail from Maillard to Van Staden, however, Maillard confirmed that the only director of Graceford was Laval Law How Hung.

In a letter, dated 28 August 2001 and addressed to Michelle Hancock of the Federal Trust Company Limited in Mauritius, Buitendag indicated the following regarding Graceford Holdings Limited[295]:

---

"The above shares are being held by Graceford Holdings Limited on behalf of The Graceford Trust."

and further:

Graceford is being managed by Inter-Ocean Management Limited..."

The letter further indicated that Inter-Ocean Management was situated in Mauritius.

Based on a copy of financial statements obtained of the Graceford Trust, it appears that the trust was set up for the benefit of inter alia Buitendag, Stratton, RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Diamond Logistics, Poole and various other trusts that appear to belong to Buitendag, the Kebbles and Stratton. This is based on a type of "analysis financial statements" that appears to split the income and expenses as well as the assets and liabilities of the trust in various columns, whilst the headings of the columns referred to the individuals/entities mentioned above. We did not investigate this matter any further at this stage.

As mentioned at section 10.25.2.3 supra, 3 400 000 Skygistics shares (being 34%) were initially allotted to Graceford at 0.001 cent per share. In a document captioned "Startrack Communications Africa (Pty) Limited", located on Bailey's computer, it was recorded that these shares were held by Graceford on behalf of the following beneficiaries[296]:

Beneficiary	Number of Shares
Federal Trust (Mauritius) Ltd – Diamond Trust*	500 000.00
Federal Trust Co. Ltd Guernsey - Rogerwermel Trust*	500 000.00
RAR Kebble*	500 000.00
RB Kebble*	500 000.00
AJB Haasbroek*	500 000.00
JMB Bertina*	500 000.00
R Bryer^	200 000.00
C M Mostert^	200 000.00
Total shares held	3 400 000.00

[296] Refer Exhibit 5.25.9

The above shareholding entitled the various beneficiaries either to a 5% shareholding (beneficiaries indicated with "*") or 2% shareholding (indicated with "^") in Skygistics.

10.25.2.5 The Rogerwermel Trust

Based on a discussion with Bailey, it appears that the Rogerwermel Trust was a personal trust of Buitendag. Various documents were also obtained that provided an indication that the Rogerwermel Trust was indeed the personal trust of Buitendag. The following documents were obtained from the hard drive of Bailey's computer[297]:

- In a letter, dated 25 November 1999, Buitendag provided the banking details of the Rogerwerwel Trust to Stratton;

- In two separate letters, dated 3 December 1999 and addressed to Mr Robert Meggy at the Federal Trust Company Limited and a Mr Klaus Pampel of Hüttenes-Albertus, Buitendag attached copies of the letter of wishes for the Rogerwermel Trust;

- In a document, dated 30 August 2000, there was an instruction by Buitendag to National Westminster Bank Plc, Sunningdale Branch, situated in Sunningdale, London, to make a transfer of GBP40 000. This transfer was in fact a donation to the Rogerwermel Trust by Buitendag. The instruction reads as follows:

  "From: Account No: 36249939, in the name of HC Buitendag & CE Buitendag - First Reserve Account

  To Account No:36249920 HC Buitendag & CE Buitendag – Current Plus."

- In a letter, dated 30 August 2000 and addressed to the manager of the Federal Trust Company, Buitendag included a cheque in the amount of GBP40 000 as a donation to the Rogerwermel Trust.

The ownership of the 500 000 Skygistics shares, belonging to the Rogerwerwel Trust and being paid for by Buitendag, was confirmed in a letter dated 28 August 2001 and addressed to the manager of the Federal Trust Company Limited, marked for the attention of Michelle Hancock and captioned "The Rogerwermel Trust".

[297] Refer Exhibit 5.25.10

In this letter, Buitendag appears to reply to an e-mail of 3 April 2001 from Michelle Hancock, in relation to the Skygistics and Bioprospect shares. With reference to the Skygistics shares, Buitendag wrote as follows[298]:

"1. Startrack

- The cost of the 500 000 shares was SA R500;
- Date of acquisition: 14 February 2001;
- The shares are not quoted;
- The full purchase price of SA R500 has been paid by me and the shares must be shown as an addition to the Trust Corpus".

In a letter, dated 28 August 2001 and addressed to Mitch Barrett of Inter-Ocean Management Limited, Buitendag stated the following with reference to the heading "The Graceford Trust"[299]:

"Would you kindly complete the attached Declarations (2) of Trust for the Startrack and Bioprospect shares held by you as nominee for the Federal Trust Company Ltd, as trustee for The Rogerwermel Trust".

10.25.2.6 Beachcove

This company was incorporated in Australia (registration number is 054 291 379) and the postal address was PO Box 487, South Perth 6951, Western Australia. This information was obtained from T-Sec as Beachcove operated a trading account with T-Sec[300]. The trading account number was 691493.

Based on the financial statements of Continental Goldfields, as at 30 June 2002, Beachcove was a wholly owned subsidiary of Continental Goldfields, but was sold during the year for nil consideration. Continental Goldfields was an Australian based company, its directors being Stratton, Buitendag and Peter Landau at the time.

Skygistics's largest debt, other than that due to JCI Limited owned companies, consisted of a loan from Beachcove.

According to Eborall, the directors of Beachcove were (we have found no evidence to support this fact):

- Stratton;
- Buitendag; and
- Haasbroek

As at 20 May 2005, the directors of Beachcove were:

- NR Sherry; and
- Landau.

10.25.2.7 Weston

Weston was a company, incorporated in Australia (registration number ABN 60 009 206 473), on 26 November 1986. The shareholder of Weston was JCI (Jersey) Limited (previously CAM (Jersey)) and the ultimate parent company was JCI Limited. The registered address of the company was 4 Parker Place, Bentley, Western Australia.

The directors of Weston were:

- RAR Kebble;
- RB Kebble;
- Buitendag; and
- Stratton.

In terms of the 31 March 2005 audited financial statements of Weston, the principal activities of the company included the following[301]:

[301] Refer Exhibit 3.1.5

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

"The principal activities of the consolidated entity during the course of the financial year were to seek out and invest in strategic investment opportunities and share trading, and the provision of accounting and company secretarial services."

10.25.2.8 Datatrack

Datatrack was a Mauritius based company who, according to Van Staden, was established by JCI Limited (on instruction from Haasbroek) to facilitate payments from Skygistics to KS Milford.

According to Van Staden, Dr KS Milford was a software developer, who supplied intellectual property to Startrack Africa and was currently based in Ireland. At some stage however, it appears that Haasbroek was not satisfied with the service provided by Dr KS Milford and stopped paying his fees. These fees continued to accrue in a loan account, some of which are still outstanding.

In a document, addressed to Haasbroek and dated 11 September 2001[302], Buitendag stated that the directors and the shareholders of Datatrack were the following:

- Directors:
  - Van Staden;
  - Kevin Milford;
  - Nathan Ross Sherry; and
  - A local director to be provided by Inter-Ocean Management.
- Shareholders:
  - Dr KS Milford, or nominee – 40%; and
  - Graceford (on behalf of the Graceford Trust) – 60%.

10.25.2.9 Grange Consulting

According to Eborall, the administration of Startrack Australia was performed by Grange Consulting. Grange Consulting was employed by Stratton and it appears that most of the employees of Grange Consulting were former employees of Startrack Australia.

Since the transfer of Startrack Australia from Weston to Skygistics, the South African directors of Startrack Australia agreed to pay Grange Consulting a monthly management fee of AUD58 500.00 to cover technical/engineering support.

According to Hattingh, in addition to the AUD58 500.00, for the period October 2004 to May 2005, there as a monthly fee of AUD10 000.00 to cover administration cost. According to an e-mail from Hattingh to Jane Flegg of Grange Consulting, dated 11 February 2005, it appears that the administration fee was only AUD5 500.00, which was to fall away, and the fee of AUD58 500.00 was to cover the Omnistar salaries.

10.25.2.10 Omnistar/Fugro

According to Van Staden, sales in Australia were not doing too well and Stratton proposed for Fugro to have exclusive distributorship of the Startrack product.

On 30 August 2004, Startrack Australia signed an exclusive distribution agreement with Omnistar and, from January 2005, all distribution of the services and products was undertaken by Omnistar. Omnistar is owned by Fugro, who is based in Holland. According to Van Staden, the remaining Startrack Australia staff moved into the Fugro offices and sales improved thereafter.

10.25.3 Changes in the structure of the Skygistics group

During the period under investigation, the following changes in the structure of the Skygistics group occurred, resulting in the current group structure. The changes were as follows:

- Startrack Australia was transferred from Startrack Communications to Weston in terms of a debt restructure arrangement;
- Startrack Australia was sold by Weston to Skygistics;

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The shares held in Skygistics by Graceford in nominated capacity, were sold to JCI Gold;
- 10% of the shareholding of Startrack Communications was sold to Beachcove;
- Haasbroek sold his shares in Skygistics to JCI Gold; and
- Njenje sold his shares in Skygistics to JCI Gold.

10.25.3.1 Transfer of Startrack Australia from Startrack Communications to Weston

Background

In the directors report to the 2002 Interim Financial Statements of Weston, issued on 31 December 2002, the following were stated under the heading "Review of Operations"[303].

"The past six months, 1 July 2002 to 31 December 2002, have been the most difficult since the commercialisation of the products and applications of Startrack Communications Limited ("Startrack" or "the Company") started. The negative outlook toward telecommunications in general also affected Startrack and made it difficult to achieve the expected orders or obtain enough interest for capital raisings needed".

As a result of these difficulties, the directors of Startrack Communications proposed a debt reconstruction proposal to the convertible note holders of the company, the reason of this according to the directors report was:

" ....to place the company in a comparatively sound position with the release of significant debts."

The debt restructuring proposal

In the directors' report, under the heading "Events Subsequent to Reporting Date", the following was stated:

"The company will transfer its wholly owned subsidiary, Startrack Communications (Australia) Pty Ltd to Weston Investments Pty Ltd; Weston Investments Pty Ltd will release and extinguish the Convertible Notes and other loans/debts due to it by the company totaling $4million (including interest)"

[303] Refer Exhibit 5.25.1

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

We obtained a copy of a document, captioned Notice of Annual General Meeting and Explanatory Statement[304]. In terms of this document, an annual general meeting of the shareholders of Startrack Communications was held on 8 January 2003 at the Technology Park Function Centre, 2 Brodie Hall Drive, Bentley, Western Australia. The reason for this general meeting of the shareholders was to vote on the acceptance of the debt restructuring proposal that was put forward by the directors of Startrack Communications.

Based on a Pro-Forma Statement, contained on page eight of the document recording the unaudited financial position of Startrack Communications, as at 30 September 2002, the "Interest Bearing Liabilities" of the company were recorded as AUD4 767 870.00. From the explanatory note, we gathered that this debt mainly comprised funding supplied to the company by the issuing of "Convertible Notes" by Startrack Communications to the note holders.

It was further recorded on page six of the document that the convertible note holders indicated that their support to Startrack Communications may not continue since Startrack Communications has been unable to achieve strategic sales.

From a document, headed "Startrack Communications Limited DRAFT, Paper – Proposed Sale of Assets to Startrack Africa", it appears that the company's convertible debt (excluding accrued interest) comprised the following[305]:

Creditor	AUD
Convertible debt
Weston	2 597 267.00
JCI (IOM)	677 783.00
Graceford	757 250.00
Total	4 032 300.00
Other debts
JCI (IOM)/Weston Investments	360 212.00
Total	4 392 512.00

[304] Refer Exhibit 5.25.14
[305] Refer Exhibit 5.25.15

In terms of the debt restructuring proposal, Startrack Communications would have sold Startrack Australia, it being a wholly owned subsidiary of Startrack Communications, and its associated assets, to Weston, in exchange for the release and cancellation of the convertible note due to Weston.

It appears that the Weston debt included the JCI (IoM) debt as well, but excluded the Graceford debt. It is uncertain at this stage why the debt due to JCI (IoM) and Weston was combined into a single amount. In terms of the proposal, on page seven of the proposal document, the assets sold and liabilities settled were as follows:

Item	AUD
Assets
Stock and inventory	509 603
Trade debtors and other receivables	219 466
Property, plant and equipment	1 069 163
Satellite technology rights	2 761 356
Sub Total	4 559 588
Liabilities
Payables	(318 101)
Provisions for employee entitlements	(94 541)
Total	4 146 946

According to the proposal document, at page nine thereof, after the above settlement, there was still an amount due AUD890 827 due to Graceford.

10.25.3.2 The sale of Startrack Australia to Skygistics

Startrack Australia was subsequently sold by Weston to Skygistics for the consideration of AUD 1.00. We obtained an unsigned sale agreement made between Skygistics asnd Startrack Australia[306]. According to the audited financial statements of Weston, as at 31 March 2005, this transaction occurred on 30 August 2004[307].

[306] Refer Exhibit 5.25.16
[307] Refer Exhibit 5.1.3

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

In terms of note 25, "Related Parties Transactions" to the audited financial statements of Weston, an amount of AUD 10 654 519.00 was due by Startrack Australia to Weston, but was fully provided for in the financial statements of Weston[308]. No mentioned of this loan was made in the sale agreement entered into between the parties. As we were unable to obtain any financial statements of Startrack Australia, we could not verify whether or not this loan still existed or whether it was still due to Weston.

In the 2005 consolidated financial statements of Skygistics, a loan of R51 779 048 was indicated as due to Weston. It is uncertain whether this is the Startrack Australia loan, or whether it is a Skygistics loan.

According to Hattingh, negotiations for this sale were only completed during January/February 2005 and the sale was backdated. Hattingh further mentioned that there was no formal discussion or decision taken to buy Startrack Australia, but rather that it was an instruction/ruling made by the board. According to Hattingh, there was no due diligence performed on Startrack Australia prior to the acquisition by Skygistics.

Based on the financial statements of Skygistics, dated 31 March 2005[309], it appears that, at the time of the acquisition of Startrack Australia by Skygistics, Startrack Australia owed an amount of R4 641 198.00 to Skygistics.

10.25.3.3 The sale of shares in Skygistics to Beachcove by Startrack Communications

As indicated earlier, Startrack Communication had a 10% interest in Skygistics, held from the incorporation of Skygistics[310]. This 10% interest comprised a million shares in Skygistics. In the debt reconstruction document, this investment was valued at AUD1 500 000. According to Cosec this interest was sold to Beachcove on 17 November 2003. The amount paid by Beachcove for these shares was reflected as R482 370.00, or R0.48 per share[311].

We do not have a copy of this sale agreement, or any other documentation relating to this sale of shares.

10.25.3.4 The sale of the shares by Graceford

On 30 June 2003, Graceford decided to sell its shares in Skygistics. Initially it appears that it was the intention to sell the shares to JCI Limited via Highland Night. These two transactions (ie the intended sale and the actual sale) are discussed below:

Intended sale via Highland Night

We identified a CM42 form reflecting the transfer of 3 400 000 shares in Skygistics from Graceford to Highland Night[312]. This CM42 form was signed by Laval Law How Hung, on behalf of Graceford. However, it appears that this transfer was not registered. Whilst this CM42 form was not dated, it appears to have been faxed to an unknown recipient on 22 October 2003. There is also a handwritten note on the document, dated 19 April 2004.

We obtained a document captioned "Sale Agreement between Paradise Creek Investments 83 (Pty) Limited and JCI Limited", from Van Straaten[313]. This document reflected Paradise Creek as the seller of 100% of the shares of Highland Night to JCI Limited. The document further reflected Highland Night as the beneficial holder of 34% of the issued share capital of Skygistics. As consideration for this sale, Paradise Creek was to receive 42 500 000 ordinary listed shares (at 60 cents per share) in JCI Limited. This document was signed by Buitendag on behalf of JCI Limited and by D Rawden on behalf of Paradise Creek on 30 June 2003. This matter has been dealt with at section 6 supra.

Paradise Creek and Highland Night were shelf companies, incorporated on 5 June 2003 and 6 June 2003 respectively. We identified a printout from Cosec, reflecting a transfer of the 3 400 000 shares from Graceford to Highland Night. However, on reviewing the live status of Cosec, this transaction was not recorded. Van Straaten mentioned that, in the event of a mistake being entered on Cosec, such could be deleted, without an audit trail. We could find no further proof that a share certificate was ever issued to Highland Night.

Actual sale by Graceford to JCI Limited

We identified a CM42 form reflecting the transfer of 3 400 000 shares from Graceford to JCI Limited[314]. This CM42 form was signed by Laval Law How Hung, on behalf of Graceford on 30 November 2003. This CM42 was stamped on 28 April 2004, reflecting that stamp duty of R63 750.00 for this transaction had been paid. We also located the official SARS receipt, reflecting that the stamp duty had been paid on this date for this transaction[315].

We obtained a document from Hattingh, captioned "Sale Agreement between Graceford Holdings Limited and JCI Limited" and dated 30 June 2003[316]. This document reflected Graceford as the seller of 3 400 000 shares of Skygistics to JCI Limited. As consideration for this sale, Graceford was to receive 42 500 000 ordinary listed shares (at 60 cents per share) in JCI Limited. This document was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, Stratton on behalf of Skygistics, and Laval Law How Hung, on behalf of Graceford. The pages of this document were initialled and it appears that this transaction took place.

The price paid by JCI Limited to Graceford for these shares were R25 520 000, or R7.51 per share.

Clause 7.2, under section 7 captioned "Warranties", of the above mentioned agreement, however recorded the following:

"The SELLER warrants that the COMPANY will achieve its growth target by selling 4000 terminals during the year 1 July 2003 to 30 June 2004. To this end the purchase consideration of 42,500,000 shares in JCI Limited will be placed in escrow with Paradise Creek Investments 83 (Pty) Limited, Registration No. 2003/012788/07 of 287 Lynwood, Pretoria, 0001, who shall act as referee on the following conditions:

a) 2,500,000 shares in JCI Limited will be released to the SELLER on 30 September 2003.

b) The balance of the 40,000,000 shares in JCI Limited will be released to the SELLER when the sales target of 4 000 terminals by the COMPANY is achieved. If by 30 June 2004 the sales target has not been achieved then the price of the SHARES will be reduced and JCI Limited shares will be returned to the PURCHASER for cancellation based on the following formula:

JCI Limited shares to be returned:

Shortfall in sales target for terminals x 40 000 000 JCI Limited shares
Sales target for terminals

For example: only 3 200 terminals sold and shortfall therefore 800 terminals:

800 x 40 000 000
4 000 1

= 8,000,000 JCI Limited shares to be returned"

We obtained the following sales figures from Van Staden relevant to the contractual sales period, referred to supra:

Month	MT2000 units sold
July 2003	40
August 2003	35
September 2003	57
October 2003	227
November 2003	101
December 2003	153
January 2004	85
February 2004	141
March 2004	228
April 2004	133
May 2004	124
June 2004	189
Total	1 513

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

From the table above it is clear that 2 487 units were not sold for the period specified in the contract. Thus, based on the above formula, per the contract and quoted above, it appears that 24 870 000 JCI shares should have to be returned to JCI Limited.

The effect of this was that the purchase price of the Skygistics shares was changed from R7.51 to R2.67 per share. This is due to the effect that the purchase price changed from 40 000 000 (2 500 000 shares already released in terms of section (a) of clause 7.2 of the agreement) JCI Limited shares to 15 130 000 JCI Limited shares. At 0.60 cent per share, this equates to a purchase price of R9 078 000 for the 3 400 000 shares in Skygistics.

Sale of Skygistics shares by Haasbroek to JCI Limited

Haasbroek sold his interest of 1% to JCI in two instalments, to wit:

- 1 December 2003, Haasbroek sold 35 000 Skygistics shares to JCI Limited for a consideration of R320 000, or R9,14 per share; and
- 1 March 2004, Haasbroek sold 65 000 Skygistics shares to JCI Limited for a consideration of R1 000 000, or a share price of R15.38 per share.

We were unable to locate any documentation relating to this purchase of shares. It is unckear how Haasbroek could convince JCI Limited to pay him a R1 000 000 in March 2004 as it would have been clear at that stage that Skygistics would not be able to reach the sales target as set out in the contract between JCI Limited and Graceford. A further fact is that Skygistics was already financially in trouble at that stage.

During a consultation with Baily, she indicated that the purchase of the Skygistics shares from Haasbroek may have related to his resignation from Skygistics.

The sale of Skygistics shares by Njenje to JCI Limited

During March 2005, Njenje sold 150 000 shares in Skygistics to JCI Limited for a consideration of R750 000, or R5.00 per share. We were unable to identify any documentation relating to this transaction.

The share price of Skygistics

It is clear that the price paid by the various parties for Skygistics shares were not the same, even in instances were the various parties where presented by the same individuals. In addition to this, the individuals involved in the all the transactions were either Buitendag or Stratton.

The various transactions relating to the change in ownership in Skygistics can be summarised in the following manner:

Date	Seller	Purchaser	Number of shares	Amount R	Rand per Share
17 November 2003	Startrack Communications	Beachcove	1 000 000	482 370.00	0.48c
30 November 2003	Graceford Holdings	JCI Gold	3 400 000	25 520 000	7.51
1 December 2003	Haasbroek	JCI Gold	35 000	320 000	9.14
1 March 2004	Haasbroek	JCI Gold	65 000	1 000 000	15.38
31 March 2005	Njenje	JCI Gold	150 000	750 000	5.00
Average			4 650 000	28 072 370	6.08

It should be noted that Startrack Communications, Skygistics, Beachcove and JCI Limited were always presented by at least Stratton and Buitendag on all these transactions.

During a review of the minute book of the directors' meeting of JCI Gold we could not identify any approval for any of the abovementioned purchase transactions by the board of the directors of JCI Gold.

10.25.4 Skygistics borrowings

The financial statements of Skygistics indicated net current borrowings of the Skygistics group as follows:

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

	31 March 2005 R[317]	31 March 2004 R[318]	30 June 2003 R[319]	30 June 2002 R[320]	30 June 2001 R[321]

Startrack Australia	0

We have not investigated the details of these borrowings. However, based on our discussion with Hattingh, a brief description of each of these amounts are set out hereunder.

10.25.4.1 Loan from JCI IoM

This is a loan from JCI IoM to Skygistics.

According to Hattingh, when Skygistics was established, there were certain licensing requirements that had to be met and JCI IoM assisted with this and with capital requirements.

At the time, Startrack Australia was renting space from the earth station in New York. However, when Startrack Africa was established, it was established that it would be cheaper to use the "PPC" in Australia and a license was needed for this purpose, which JCI IOM assisted with. A possible reason for using JCI IOM, as opposed to JCI Limited, for this purpose could be due to the fact that the Rand decreased in value at the time and JCI Limited had cash flow problems.

10.25.4.2 Loan from Datatrack

This is a loan from Datatrack to Skygistics.

Datatrack was set up by JCI Limited in Mauritius in order to facilitate the payments to Dr KS Milford for intellectual property. According to Van Staden, at some stage there was a directors' decision to stop paying Dr KS Milford and the loan account was therefore used to accrue for the payments not made.

10.25.4.3 Loan from Beachcove

This is a loan from Beachcove to Startrack Australia.

According to Hattingh, Startrack Australia experienced cash flow difficulties and a loan of AUD800 000.00 was sourced from Beachcove, using MT2000 stock as collateral. Based on the loan agreement, dated 29 April 2003, once the stock was sold, the payments received from the sales were supposed to have offset this loan[322]. It was noted that this agreement was signed by Stratton in his capacity as director on behalf of both Startrack Australia and Beachcove. The repayment of this loan is dealt with at Section 6 supra.

10.25.4.4 Loan from Weston

This is a loan from Weston to Startrack Australia.

The financial report of Startrack Australia, dated 31 March 2005, recorded a non-interest bearing loan from Weston to Startrack Australia[323]. This financial report indicated that Weston was a related party to Startrack Australia, and that Stratton and Buitendag were both directors of Weston.

According to Hattingh, this loan was probably used for funding the operational expenditure in Australia (ie: marketing, salaries, and development costs).

10.25.4.5 Loan from JCI Gold

This is a loan from JCI Gold to Skygistics.

According to Hattingh, this was a loan from Investec to JCI Limited of approximately R50 million for the funding of Skygistics. JCI Limited then lent the money to Skygistics. According to Hattingh, R20 to R25 million of this loan was used for start-up costs. The balance was used to cover shortfalls on salaries, travel expenditure, director fees, and operational costs.

According to Hattingh, the difference between the R50 million loan granted and the amount currently outstanding of R139 870 330, comprised interest that accrued at a rate of prime plus 1% per annum.

10.25.4.6 Loan from Startrack Australia

As at 31 March 2004, there was also an amount owed by Startrack Australia to Skygistics of R4 642 198.00. Hattingh was unsure how this loan arose, but mentioned that this could have been to fund travel costs incurred by the CEO of Skygistics, Haasbroek.

During 2004 however, there was a movement of stock of 1 000 MT2000 units from Startrack Australia to Skygistics to the value of AUD974 000.00 (R4 417 226.31)[324]. According to Hattingh, Skygistics did not have the necessary funding for these units and it was therefore decided to set off the cost of these units against the loan amount owing to Startrack Australia[325]. According to Hattingh, Stratton was not pleased with this arrangement and he preferred payment for the stock.

In addition, we noted a document in the SAFCO directors' meeting minute file, purporting to be a resolution by the directors of SAFCO, taken on 22 June 2005, that[337] "... the Company hereby approves and adopts the following Policies ...". One of the policies listed was the "Directors Code of Conduct". The code specifically dealt with a number of issues relevant to our factual findings on conduct of some of the SAFCO directors. The following salient features were listed in the directors' Code of Conduct[338]:

- The purpose of the Code of Conduct was to set ethical standards for the directors of SAFCO. It was recorded that "...Where an opportunity presents itself and is within the scope of a company's objectives, Directors must seek to obtain any benefits for the company and not themselves...";

- The Code of Conduct also referred to the fiduciary duties of directors and it was recorded that directors have to disclose potential conflicts of interest that they might have regarding any matter that could come before the Board. Conflict of interest was defined as "...A conflict of interest by a Director may be defined as any action or omission, which could be construed as being to the advantage of the Director and the detriment of SAFCO..."; and

- It was further recorded that "...Directors are liable to compensate a company for any loss caused to it if they have used their powers otherwise than for the benefit of the company. Likewise Director's must account to the company for any profit they have made by the use of their powers as Directors without consent of the company..."

10.26.2 Background on SAFCO

Amongst the documents, recorded in soft copy on the servers of JCI Limited, we found a number of documents, which appear to be authored during September 2005[339]. The document provided background on SAFCO and, in particular, explained the "SAFCO management and control" and the involvement of the JCI Limited Group. The document dealt with the matters set out below.

10.26.2.1 Involvement of the JCI Limited Group

It was recorded that JCI Limited was directly and indirectly involved in:

- SAFCO; and
- Premier Fishing (Pty) Limited.

10.26.2.2 Overview of SAFCO

It was recorded that the SAFCO group held eleven fishing licences and interest in vessel owing entities, of which SAFCO wholly owned one company and held 51% of the issued share capital of the other ten companies. Furthermore, SAFCO was also involved in fishing processing operations.

10.26.2.3 SAFCO management and control

The SAFCO management team consisted of a number of local and international fishermen, which included Mason, Nissen and Stratton.

10.26.2.4 Operating status and the development of a Namibian Tuna Fishery

It appears that SAFCO applicant companies applied for fifteen fishing licences in 2004, of which they were awarded eleven licenses. Six applicants already had existing vessels at the time when applications were made to MCM. Nine applicants undertook to build new vessels, if they were successful. Only two of the existing vessels were licenced and the other four vessel owning companies were not successful with their applications.

SAFCO apparently appealed the outcome not to award licences to the four unsuccessful vessel owning companies, alternatively, SAFCO asked MCM to allow the four unsuccessful applicants to transfer their vessels into the successful applicant companies. This apparently sparked industry speculation that SAFCO had never intended to build new vessels. SAFCO indicated that they identified the need to commence operations immediately to support both the employment mandate with partners in Port Nolloth and to commence operations with sufficient critical mass in order to ensure viability. SAFCO further indicated that they would not have been able to achieve these objectives, had they introduced the vessels to the fleet over the 24 to 36 month vessel construction period. In keeping with this strategy, SAFCO also ordered an additional three vessels. It was recorded that, whilst Fisheries SA decided on the future of SAFCO in SA, SAFCO had no option than to start fishing in Namibia.

10.26.3 Financing of SAFCO

10.26.3.1 Funding requirements

Investec provided us with a document styled "Funding application for a strategy in Tuna Longline Fishing". The document was dated 7 September 2004 and it appears that the application was submitted by SAFCO[340]. We noted that the following information was provided:

- There were two vessels, Barbara Louise II and Allison, from the Mennolow fleet, which could be acquired as the intention was to liquidate Mennolow. A report in respect of the acquiring of these two vessels follows infra; and

- In addition thereto, it was recorded that SAFCO purchased four new 22 meter seawater vessels, at a total cost of AUD4.96 million, from Australia. These vessels were modern fibre glass boats and they were the subject of the first part of the funding application lodged. A detailed report on the acquisition of these four vessels follows infra.

We noted that the following were funding needs recorded in respect of the funding requirements:

- Four Australian vessels to be delivered to Cape Town during November 2004, at a cost of R5.95 million each; and

- R10 million to cover the offer to be made to creditors under section 311 of the Companies Act, to purchase and refit the Mennolow vessels.

During 2005, an additional R23.8 million was required in respect of four vessels to be built by Tallie Marine at Saldanha Bay. These vessels would match the Australian vessels as closely as possible in form, function and price.

In addition, funding was requested in respect of a fish processing plant and cold storage facility, the funding of a fish marketing company and the upgrade of the processing plant and logistics chain in Port Nolloth.

The total funding requirement amounted to R89 770 000.00.

10.26.3.2 Funding application and documentation

Barrett provided a bundle of documents relating to the above mentioned funding agreements. Contained in the bundle were a Project Funding Agreement, Pledge and cession in security, Seed financing loan agreement, Inter-company loan agreement and a letter from Investec relating to funding.

It appears from the agreements, listed above, that all, except the letter in respect of the facility with Investec, were signed on 6 April 2005.

For the purposes of the agreements, fishing companies mean, the subsidiaries of SAFCO who have submitted the applications and have identified to acquire certain fishing vessels.

Project funding agreement

The parties to the Project Funding Agreement were SAFCO, CMMS, C-Chest Trading, the fishing companies, FAMDA, the processing companies and Off the Shelf Investments 119.

CMMS provided and facilitated certain funding to SAFCO. This agreement not only dealt with providing funding, but also assistance to the SAFCO group to securing funding.

We noted the following salient features which appear in the agreement[341]:

- The total funding requirements for the project was an amount of R96 295 000, which consisted of:
  - R10 500 000 in respect of a fish trading facility;
  - R22 195 000 in respect of two fish processing facilities;
  - R57 600 000 in respect of the acquisition of ten fishing vessels; and
  - R6 000 000 in respect of seed capital.

[341] Refer Exhibit 5.26.8

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- CMMS agreed to assist SAFCO to arrange financing using its best endeavours to facilitate the funds required;

- CMMS agreed to provide debenture funding in respect of R79 795 000, which amounted to 20% of such amount. The amount would not exceed R16 000 000;

- CMMS agreed to provide a guarantee and security to the commercial lender for the funding;

- CMMS would advance seed capital of R6 000 000 to SAFCO;

- CMMS was granted the exclusive right to facilitate and/or provide all further finance required by the SAFCO Group; and

- In return for the guarantee and security provided by CMMS to the commercial lender, SAFCO and the shareholders each jointly and severally indemnified and kept CMMS indemnified and holds it harmless against all actions, proceedings, liability, claims, damages, costs and expenses relation to the guarantee and security provided to the commercial lender. The shareholders agree to pledge and cede in securitatem debiti all the shares they held in SAFCO to CMMS.

Letter from Investec

It is evident from a letter captioned "FACILITY WITH INVESTEC BANK LIMITED", dated 26 January 2005, that Investec was to be the commercial lender and approved the application submitted by SAFCO in respect of a loan facility[342]. It appears from the document that the total amount approved, was R64 000 000. The funding was approved on the following terms and conditions:

- The interest rate, to be charged by Investec on the loan was the Investec prime interest rate, being a nominal annual, compounded monthly rate;

- For the services of arranging and reserving the funds for the facility, Investec required an upfront fee of R300 000. This fee was not refundable and would have been capitalized into the loan facility when the first payment in terms of this facility was made;

- Investec would also enter into a profit participation agreement with SAFCO;
- The funds advanced in respect of each asset would be allocated to the specific assets loan facility, each of which would be repayable over a maximum period of 60 months from the date of first advance;

  - A minimum valuation of R5 950 000.00 for each of the 22M GRP refrigerated seawater fishing vessels; and
  - A minimum valuation of R5 000 000 each, of fishing vessels, Allison and Barbara Louis II.

Pledge and cession in security

The project funding agreement referred to the pledge and cession in security agreement. The parties to the pledge of cession in security were Off the Shelf Investments 119 and FAMDA, who pledged the securities in favour of CMMS[343].

We note the following salient features which appear in the agreement:

- The shareholders jointly and severally pledged and ceded in securitatem debiti to and in favour of CMMS all the shares held by the shareholders, as well as any shares the shareholders may acquire in SAFCO in the future to be held by CMMS as security for the due, proper and punctual performance by the shareholders of all the obligations; and

- This pledge should remain in force as a continuing covering security for the obligations of the Shareholders notwithstanding any intermediate settlement of account or novation, and should remain in full force and effect until such time as all the secured obligations have been fully and finally discharged.

Seed financial loan agreement

The parties to the Seed financial loan agreement were SAFCO and CMMS[344]. We noted the following salient features which appear in the agreement:

- CMMS agreed to lend SAFCO seed capital amounting to R6 000 000;

- The seed capital should be used to fund the project until the results of the fishing licence applications were announced and finalized through the prescribed appeal and confirmation process;

- The seed capital was advanced to SAFCO as risk capital for the project;

- As compensation for the risk to CMMS, SAFCO agreed to pay the coupon amount equal to 50% of the seed capital, as a return on the seed capital to CMMS; and

[343] Refer Exhibit 5.26.10
[344] Refer Exhibit 5.26.11

- The seed capital and coupon should be paid by SAFCO to CMMS in equal amounts over a period of twenty four months as a charge against the operating income of the SAFCO group of companies, with the first on 31 May 2005 and on the last day of each month thereafter.

Inter-company loan agreement

The parties to the inter-company loan agreement were SAFCO, C-Chest Trading, the fishing companies and the processing companies[345].

We noted the following salient features which appear in the agreement:

- SAFCO holds either all or 51% of the issued share capital in each of the subsidiary companies and agreed to procure and/or facilitate certain funding for the subsidiary companies;

- The subsidiary companies were subsidiaries of SAFCO and required or require funding to set up their businesses, purchase vessels in the case of the fishing companies and certain assets, in the case of the processing companies;

- SAFCO secured funding for the subsidiary companies and has advanced or wishes to advance this funding to the subsidiary companies as set out herein. The subsidiary companies at the same time wish to acknowledge their liability to SAFCO in respect of certain costs incurred on their behalf and the funding advanced;

- The subsidiary company agreed that they were liable for the seed capital and coupon to SAFCo, in the following proportions:

  - C-Chest, 25% thereof;

  - The fishing companies, 65% thereof, in equal proportions; and

  - The processing companies, 10% thereof, in equal proportions.

[345] Refer Exhibit 5.26.12

- The Investec funding of each of the subsidiary companies would be repaid by such subsidiary companies to SAFC mutatis mutandis with the provisions of the Investec loan agreement.

10.26.3.3 SAFCO directors resolution in respect of funding

We found a document purporting to be a resolution of the directors of SAFCO, dated 14 February 2005 and signed by all the SAFCO directors, except Mason[346]. The document recorded the following:

"RESOLVED THAT:

1. That the Company entered into the loan facility with Investec referred to in the preamble above with effect from Wednesday, 26 January 2005 and;

2. THAT MR JOHN STRATTON and/or HENDRIK CHRISTOFFEL BUITENDAG, in their capacity as directors, be and they hereby authorised to sign all documents necessary to give effect to this resolution, on behalf of the Company."

10.26.3.4 JCI Limited directors resolution in respect of funding to SAFCO

We found a document purporting to be a resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, dated 17 March 2005 and signed by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Stratton and Buitendag[347]. Cornwall did not sign the resolution. It is recorded in the resolution that:

"RESOLVED:

10.26.4 Acquisition of two fishing vessels ("Barbara Louise II and Allison")

Barrett provided a document purporting to be the minutes of the SAFCO directors' meeting, held on 12 November 2004[348].

The following were recorded under the heading "Purchase of fishing vessels":

- It was agreed that SAFCO would submit offers to purchase the Barbara Louise II and the Allison;
- Buitendag suggested that a maximum amount should be offered for the boats at the auction; and
- It was agreed to pay a maximum of R4m for the Allison and R3.5m for the Barbara Louise.

It appears from a document, purporting to be the minutes of the SAFCO directors' meeting, held on 8 November 2004[349], that "...the purchase of the Barbara Louise and The Allison each was allocated R5m from the budget..."

It appears from copies of documents, filed in case number A150/2004 in the High Court of South Africa, Durban and Coast Local Division, that the court ordered that the Allison and the Barbra Louise II be sold to Coral Lagoon Investments 57 and Chestnut Hill Investments 178[350]. This includes the bunkers, equipment, furniture and stored on the ship.

It appears from court papers that the following entities were the highest bidders for the two vessels:

- Allison:
  - Highest Bidder: Coral Lagoon Investments 57 (Pty) Limited;
  - Representative of highest bidder: John Masson in his capacity as Director;
  - Highest bidding amount: R1 000 000; and
  - Auction date: 1 December 2004.
- Barbara Louise II:
  - Highest Bidder: Chestnut Hill Investment 178 (Pty) Limited;
  - Representative of highest bidder: John Masson;
  - Highest bidding amount: R1 500 000; and
  - Auction date: 1 December 2004.

We performed a search of statutory information of Coral Lagoon Investments 57 in public available information data bases. This search revealed that Coral Lagoon Investments 57 was incorporated on 1 July 2004 with registration number 2004/088404/07 and having Mason, Pandor, Baron and Cloete as directors. It appears from a document, provided by Barrett, that SAFCO was the only shareholder in Coral Lagoon investments 57[351].

The statutory search, performed on Chestnut Hill Investments 178, revealed that Chestnut Hill Investments 178 was incorporated on 20 June 2004 with registration number 2000/015317/07 and having Baron, Cloete, Stratton as directors. It appears from documents, provided to us by Barrett, that SAFCO was the only shareholder of the company.

We received a schedule of payments, made by Investec, in respect of the acquisition of the two fishing vessels; the Barbra Louise and the Allison. CMMS paid R1 500 000 for the purchase of the vessel. R1 350 000 was paid by T-Sec and raised against the loan account of SAFCO in CMMS. R150 000 was paid by CMMS to Shepstone & Wylie and raised against the loan account of SAFCO in the books of CMMS.

Investec paid R1 738 000 to SAFCO as a refund of the advance. According to Ward, of SAFCO, this amount, received from Investec, was used for operating expenses, according to the project funding agreement in terms whereof, Investec would fund 80% and CMMS would funds 20% of the purchase price of the vessels.

R516 666.67, as part of the R3 100 000, was paid by Investec to SAFCO in respect of delivery, survey and reflagging. The basis of this transaction is discussed infra.

The amount R9 268.88 was paid by Investec to Shepstone & Wylie in respect of mortgage fees.

Accounting for the transactions by SAFCO

The accounting records for each vessel were maintained by SAFCO. All receipts and payments were processed via SAFCO's cashbook and recorded, either in the intergroup loan account, or expenses capitalised to the asset account 6000 for each fishing vessel. The transactions, relating to the purchase price of the vessel, were processed by Barrett.

Payment made by CMMS

As per the project funding agreement, CMMS funded 20% and Investec 80% of the purchase price of the vessels. Any payments, made by CMMS for the purchase of the asset, or capitalisation of the asset, were journalised to the debenture accounts. The amount of R1 500 000 was debited to the Fishing vessel – Barbara Louise account 6000 and credited to the debentures account 8050.

Payment made by Investec

The initial entry for the payment of R1 738 000 was raised as a debit to the account 6000 and credited to the account 9050. It was subsequently reversed. The final entry processed to record the payment to SAFCO was a debit to the SAFCO cashbook account 7100 and a credit to the Investec loan – Barbara Louise account - 9711.

Amounts capitalised to the account 6000 – Asset account of the fishing vessel.

SAFCO provided us with the general ledger in respect of account 6000. It appears from the accounts that a total amount of R2 127 708.37 was capitalised to account 6000, of which R1 083 775.58 related to refurbishment, towage and upgrades to equipment and electrical equipment. These costs have been correctly capitalised. R1 043 932.79 related to costs such as reimbursement of travel expenses, wages and salaries, repairs and maintenance and spares purchased that should not have been journalised to the asset account 6000[353]. According to Ward, these were start up costs that Barrett requested it to be capitalised.

Allison

It appears from our analyses that the following payments were made by CMMS and Investec in respect of Allison[354]:

Date	Description of payment	CMMS R	Investec R	Total R
30 December 2004	TSEC	900 000.00		900 000.00

Amounts capitalised to the asset account of the fishing vessel

We reviewed a general ledger account number 6000, which was provided by SAFCO. It appears that the total net amount of R1 302 620.33 was capitalised to account 6000 of which R672 199.56 related to refurbishment, towage and upgrades to equipment and electrical equipment. These costs have been correctly capitalised. R630 420.77 related to costs such as reimbursement of travel expenses, wages and salaries, repairs and maintenance and spares purchased that should not have been journalised to the asset account 6000[355]. According to Ward, these were start up costs that Barrett requested to be capitalised.

10.26.5 Acquisition of four fishing vessels from Lamoson

As reflected in the SAFCO's application in respect of funding from Investec, it appears that SAFCO acquired four Australian fishing vessels during 2004[356].

It is evident that there were directors and key management personnel whom were common to JCI Limited and SAFCO. It is apparent that these common directors and management could, and did exercise significant influence over the affairs of SAFCO and specifically the structuring of the transactions, to acquire the Australian fishing vessels. Our investigation points to the fact that these transactions were not in the best interest of SAFCO and were between related parties. Furthermore, it appears that the true nature and objectives of the transactions were not disclosed to Investec, the SAFCO directors and the SARB.

10.26.5.1 Relevant companies participating in the transaction

We identified a number of companies both on and off shore, which participate in the transaction, which included:

Seeter, trading as Great Barrier Reef Tuna

We performed a search of statutory information of Seeter in publicly available information data bases. This search revealed the following information in respect of the company:

[355] Refer Annexure FFF
[356] Refer Exhibit 5.26.7

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The company was an Australian company, limited by shares, with registration number 28/5/1985;
- Seeter was the registered proprietary for Great Barrier Reef Tuna;
- The nature of business is seafood and tuna processing, and retail; and
- Great Barrier Reef Tuna was incorporated on 9 August 1993, with registration number 28/5/1985 and having Lamason and Ann Louise Lamason as directors and shareholders.

Kelco International

It appears from documentation reviewed that Kelco International was used by Lamoson and that he had an interest in the company.

Pacific Fisheries

It appears from evidence reviewed, that Griffiths, Mason, Stratton and Buitendag were involved in/or aware of the incorporation process of Pacific Fisheries. In addition, we found evidence indicating that Stratton, Buitendag and RB Kebble, all directors of JCI Limited at the time, had an interest in Pacific Fisheries.

Pacific Fisheries appears to be a company incorporated in terms of the law of Mauritius.

Amongst the documents recorded, in soft copy on the servers of JCI Limited, we found a number of documents relating to the incorporation process of Pacific Fisheries. We noted the following:

- An e-mail message from Maillard to Griffiths, on 3 August 2004, confirming a telephonic conversation. Maillard indicated that the name Atlantic Fisheries was not available with the Registrar of Companies for reservation. He explained that he managed to reserve the name Pacific Fisheries[357];
- Griffiths instructed Maillard to proceed with the incorporation of Pacific Fisheries[358];
- Maillard informed Griffiths, on 9 August 2004, that the company Pacific Fisheries was incorporated[359], and

- The physical address of the company, as provided by Maillard, was[360]:

  Pacific Fisheries Limited
  c/o Inter-Ocean Management Limited
  Suite 320, 3rd Floor
  Barkly Wharf
  Le Caudan Waterfront
  Port Louis
  Mauritius

Furthermore, we found a number of documents providing additional information in respect of Pacific Fisheries. On 2 September 2004, Griffiths requested Maillard to advise him on who the authorised signatory and shareholders of the company were[361]. Maillard responded on 3 September 2004, providing the following information[362]:

"...1. Director - Laval Law How Hung

2. Shareholder - Aculsha Nominees Ltd (our nominee company)

3. Secretary - Inter-Ocean Management Ltd...".

We noted that the shareholder was reflected as Aculsha Nominees Limited. Therefore, it appears that Aculsha Nominees may have held the shares on nominated capacity.

We noted that the subject of the e-mails reads: "New entity – GBLZ". According to the website of Inter-Ocean Management Limited, the GBLZ was a special company in that it was totally exempt from taxes in Mauritius, provided it did not conduct business with residents of Mauritius or have a resident of Mauritius as the beneficial owner of it's shares[363].

It appears that the e-mail recording all the information relating to the incorporation of Pacific Fisheries, as mentioned supra, was also sent to Stratton on 3 September 2004. The e-mail reads[364]:

"...John,

Is this how you wish the co to remain?

Gareth Griffiths..."

Although we did not have sight of Stratton's response, this is evidence that Stratton was informed of the fact that Griffiths requested Inter-Ocean Management to set-up an entity in Mauritius. Based on the fact that Griffiths requested approval from Stratton, it appears that Stratton was involved in structuring this transaction.

It appears from e-mail correspondence between Griffiths and Maillard that both Laval Law and Maillard could sign agreements on behalf of Pacific Fisheries[365].

We had sight of an e-mail, dated 15 October 2004, from Laval Law to Bailey. The e-mail address, recorded for Laval Law was Laval Law (mailto:lalaw@inter-oceanmgt.com) [366].

The details of Laval Law, provided at the end of the e-mail, reflected the following:

"...INTER-OCEAN GROUP OF COMPANIES
Tel: +230 210 9334
Cell: +230 255 5722
Fax: +230 210 8524
Website: www.inter-oceanmgt.com..."

It is evident from the Inter-Ocean Management Limited website, www.inter-oceanmgt.com, that both the telephone number and the fax number, provided on the e-mail message by Laval Law, was consistent with that of Inter-Ocean Management. Hence, it appears that Laval Law, the sole director of Pacific Fisheries, was an employee of Inter-Ocean Management Limited.

It is evident from Inter-Ocean Management Limited's website that the company was established to facilitate international trade from the tax friendly environment of Mauritius. As is reflected later in the report, the purpose and the nature of the transactions were to realise a profit in a tax friendly environment. It appears from the website that this is specifically what Inter-Ocean Management facilitated.

It is evident from an e-mail message, dated 6 September 2004, that Maillard and Griffiths discussed a number of issues relating both to Pacific Fisheries and the acquisition of the vessels, which include the following issues[367]:

- The opening of a bank account for Pacific Fisheries as the agreement, presumably the agreement of sale, stipulated that the funds should be paid into the bank account of Pacific Fisheries.
- Maillard requested information relating to the sale of the vessels; and
- Maillard indicated that he needed the information to enable him to draft the necessary resolutions.

We noted that the above mentioned e-mail was also distributed to Stratton.

Maillard drafted the minutes of the first Pacific Fisheries' directors' meeting. It appears that Maillard sent the minutes to Griffiths on 9 September 2004 and requested his comments[368]. Amongst the documents, recorded in soft copy on the servers of JCI Limited, we found two documents, purporting to be minutes of the directors of Pacific Fisheries, held on 23 August 2004 in Port Louis, Mauritius. According to the properties of the documents, it appears that it was authored during September 2004. It appears that both the documents were part of the documents retained by Griffiths. The first document was saved as "First Board-04-08-23.doc"[369]. There were a number of questions reflected in the document, presumably for Griffiths's guidance and approval. We noted the following was recorded in the first document:

- The meeting was held of 23 August 2004;
- Laval Law was present as a director and Maillard attended representing Inter Ocean Management at the meeting;
- The company had been incorporated on 5 August 2004 under the provisions of the Companies Act 2001;

- Laval Law was appointed as first director of the company. Maillard also requested whether any additional directors should be appointed;

- It was resolved to ratify the appointment of Inter-Ocean Management Limited as secretary of the company;

- It was resolved that the sole shareholder of the Company was Aculsha Nominees Limited, who held one share of USD 1. Maillard requested whether Griffiths required any transfer of shares or issuing;

- It was resolved that a bank account be opened in the name of the company at HSBC, Mauritius and that the said bank be instructed to accept instructions executed jointly by one Group A and one Group B signatory;

- It was noted that the Company has identified four vessels that are currently held by Seeter Limited and on which Kelco International Limited has a purchase option. It was recorded that the Company would like to purchase the four vessels for an agreed purchase price of AUD2,860,000 from Seeter and that Kelco has agreed to assign its purchase rights to the Company;

- It was noted that the purpose for purchasing the vessels would be to dispose them at a price of AUD1,250,000 each t four South Africa companies;

  - Eagle Creek Investments 215;
  - Eagle Creek Investments 200;
  - Eagle Creek Investments 250;
  - Eagle Creek Investments 194.

- It was resolved that the purchase option available to Kelco for the purchase of the four vessels be assigned to the company subject to the terms and conditions of the deed of assignment and that any one director and/or Stratton be authorized to represent the company to execute the deed of assignment.

The second document was saved as "First Board-04/08/23 (with comments).doc". The following changes and/or comments were recorded in the second document[370]:

- Under the heading appointments of directors, Griffiths responded that they did not need any additional directors but that this would be reviewed in three months time;
- Under the heading issue of shares Griffiths responded that they did not need any additional directors but that this would be reviewed in three months time;
- Griffiths added an number of names under the group A signatories which included his own, Stratton, Buitendag and sherry; and
- In respect of the purchasing of the vessels, Griffiths added that the consideration payable in respect of the agreement was AUD 1 600 000.

We noted the following from the two sets of minutes:

- The minutes and resolutions are consistent with the detail provided in the e-mail to Levin on 10 August 2004 in respect of the structure of the transactions, discussed infra;
- Aculsha Nominees was the shareholder of Pacific Fisheries and Griffiths indicated that "they" would asses this in three months' time;
- Pacific Fisheries, would have acquired the four vessels for the total purchase price of AUD4 460 000, where after the Pacific Fisheries would sell them to four companies for the amount of AUD5 000 000; and
- Stratton was authorised to represent Pacific Fisheries to execute the deed of assignment.

Griffiths and Barrett instructed Maillard that Inter-Ocean Management had to prepare the, management accounts of Pacific Fisheries[371]. Maillard requested Barrett to provide him with the "suggested year end and whether there was any additional income or expenses".

It is evident from the string of e-mail messages and documents, referred to supra, that Griffiths, although not a director of Pacific Fisheries, provided all the guidance and information. Laval Law, the director of Pacific Fisheries, did not partake in the decisions taken.

A number of the SAFCO and JCI Limited directors were involved in the incorporation process and management of Pacific Fisheries. In this regard we noted a number of documents, recorded in soft copy, on the servers of JCI Limited. Griffiths requested from Maillard the first hereof is an e-mail, which reads[372]:

"---Original Message-----
From: Gareth Griffiths [mailto:ggriffiths@jci.co.za]*
Sent: Monday, May 16, 2005 12:18 PM*

Subject: URGENT  PACIFIC FISHERIES*
Importance: High*

Dear Kenneth,

Please advise the tax status of Pacific Fisheries on the following transaction:

1. Australian vessel owner grants Pacific an option over a fishing vessel for equivalent of R6,000,000 (6 million Rand)

2. Pacific Fisheries finds an Australian buyer willing to pay R8,250,000

3. Profit of R2,25m is made in Pacific Fisheries..."

Mallard replied as follows on 16 May 2005:

"...Hi Brian

From a Mauritius perspective, there will be no tax on the profits or capital gains realised (depending on how you treat it in the books). However, any income which will flow from Pacific Fisheries to the ultimate beneficial owner (e.g Hennie, John Stratton etc), will be accounted for as income in the hands of beneficiaries and would therefore be taxed at domestic rate in remittance jurisdiction.

Laval, this is just to keep you posted from an accounting perspective. I believe this will be the next deal..."

Maillard once again confirmed, on 17 May 2005, that the shareholder in Pacific Fisheries was Aculsha Nominees.

Although the latter quoted e-mail related to the profit to be made by Pacific Fisheries in the following transaction involving the acquisition of three fishing vessels, we noted the following:

- It was confirmed that Aculsha Nominees was the shareholder of Pacific Fisheries; and
- The ultimate beneficiaries of Pacific Fisheries were "Hennie, John Stratton etc".

Diamond Logistics

Although Diamond Logistics was not a party to the agreements, we noted that they share a common shareholder with Pacific Fisheries, in Aculsha Nominees.

We had sight of a single page document styled "DIAMOND LOGISTICS LIMITED", provided to us by Barrett[373]. This document was attached to the financial statements of Pacific Fisheries. The document appears to be the management accounts for the accounting period 1 January 2005 to 30 September 2005. We noted the following in respect of Diamond Logistics:

- Shareholders: Aculsha Nominees Ltd – 1 Ordinary Shares of USD 1 each;
- Directors: Laval Law How Hung; and
- Company Secretary: Inter-Ocean Management Limited.

Hence, it appears that Pacific Fisheries and Diamond Logistics Limited have a common director and shareholder in Laval Law and Aculsha Nominees respectively. In addition, they also shared a common company secretary.

Furthermore, amongst the documents, recorded in soft copy on the servers of JCI Limited, we found a number of documents relating to Diamond Logistics. We noted the following from a shareholders' structure relating to Diamond Logistics. This structure was attached to management accounts of to the Emerald Trust[374]. The shareholders of Diamond Logistics were recorded as the Emerald Trust (33.33%), Mapalasa Trust (33.33%) and the Egoli Trust (33.34%). The following was also recorded on these documents:

- The beneficiaries of the Emerald Trust appears to have been Stratton and Donna Rae Stratton. During a meeting with Stratton, he confirmed that he was a beneficiary of the Emerald trust;
- The beneficiary of the Mapalasa Trust appears to have been Buitendag; and
- The beneficiaries of the Egoli Trust appears to have been RB Kebble, Ingrid Jean Kebble, Matthew Kebble, Elizabeth Kebble, Buddy Kebble, Hannah Kebble and any further children of RB Kebble.

Background on the South African companies, who acquired the four fishing vessels

We performed searches of statutory information of the four South African companies in publicly available information databases. The searches revealed the following:

- A company, named and styled Eagle Creek Investment 194, was incorporated on 6 July 2004 with registration number 2004/018919/07 and having Craig Baron, Cloete, Nissen; and Williams as directors;
- A company, named and styled Eagle Creek Investment 200 was incorporated on 9 July 2004 with registration number 2004/019169/07 and having Baron, Cloete, Mason and Pandor as directors;
- A company, named and styled Eagle Creek Investments 215 was incorporated on 8 July 2004 with registration number 2004/019091/07 and having Baron, Cloete, Nissen and Williams;

- A company, named and styled Eagle Creek Investments 250, was incorporated on 13 July 2004 with registration number 2004/019445/07 and having Baron, Cloete and Stratton.

10.26.5.2 Structure of the transactions and the progression thereof

It is evident that a number of the SAFCO directors were involved in the negotiations with the sellers, the structuring of the transaction to acquire the fishing vessels and the inflation of the selling price. It appears that the intention was to realise the inflated amount in Pacific Fisheries.

We found a number of e-mail messages, relating to the acquisition of the four vessels, amongst the documentation imaged electronically. We refer to a number of these documents infra.

It appears that Mason, personally, negotiated the purchase prices in respect of the four Australian vessels with Lamoson. This is evident from an e-mail message that Mason sent to Griffiths on 23 July 2004.The e-mail reads as follows[375]:

"...Hi Gatreth, Information for you and John Stratton only.

Negotiated price position with Bob Lamason 4 vessels.
Balance AUD $1.05 mil
Hooked AUD $1.05 mil
Connect AUD $1.15 mil
Extractor AUD $0.95 mil

Estimated price for delivery AUD $60000 per vessel..."

We noted, that Mason instructed Griffiths that the information was for him and Stratton only. It appears that the total price, in respect of the four vessels, including delivery, amounted to AUD4 440 000.

On 27 July 2004, Mason informed Griffiths on the progress in respect of the acquisition of the four vessels[376]. Attached to the e-mail message were two option agreements. We noted the following salient features, recorded in the two option agreements. The first of the above mentioned agreements reflected the following features:

- The agreement was styled "Option agreement";

- JCI Limited appears to have been the purchaser and the seller of the vessels was an Australian company, to have been nominated;
- The vessels, were described at Annexures A to D and, in each case included, the gear, equipment and spare parts on board the vessels;
- The seller granted the purchaser the sole and exclusive option to purchase the vessels for a total purchase price of AUD2,860,000, which was to be apportioned as follows:
  - Vessel described in Annexure A, the sum of AUD650 000;
  - Vessel described in Annexure B, the sum of AUD650 000;
  - Vessel described in Annexure C, the sum of AUD700 000; and
  - Vessel described in Annexure D, the sum of AUD600 000.
- Delivery of the vessels had to be given and taken on the delivery date in the port of Cape Town.

The second of the above mentioned agreements reflected the following features:

- The agreement was styled "Option agreement";
- JCI Limited appears to have been the purchaser and the seller was an company in Japan, to be nominated;
- The seller granted the purchaser the sole and exclusive option to purchase the vessels for a total purchase price of AUD1 600 000, which had to be apportioned as follows:
  - Vessel described in Annexure A, the sum of AUD400,000;
  - Vessel described in Annexure B, the sum of AUD400,000;
  - Vessel described in Annexure C, the sum of AUD450,000; and
  - Vessel described in Annexure D, the sum of AUD350,000.
- Delivery of the vessels had to be given and taken on the delivery date in the port of Cape Town.

It appears from the two agreements that the total purchase price in respect of the four vessels mentioned at annexures A to D was:

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Annexure	Total amount AUD
A	1 050 000
B	1 050 000
C	1 115 000
D	950 000
Total	4 165 000

These amounts represented the exact amounts negotiated by Mason, as reported to Griffiths on 23 July 2004. These amounts excluded the delivery cost of approximately AUD60 000 per vessel.

On the same day, 28 July 2004, Mason requested Griffiths to delete the agreements completely and replace them with two new agreements[377]. Attached to the e-mail were similar agreements to the two option agreements, mentioned supra. We noted that changes to the agreements indicated the total purchase price per vessel was increased by AUD65 000, aggregating AUD260 000. A provision was included to allow for the amount of AUD260 000 to be drawn for the exclusive use to pay for cost relating to the delivery of the four vessels.

On 28 July 2004, Mason notified Griffiths of additional changes to the option agreement[378]. Mason recorded that the one Option Agreement would be replaced by a "simple contract" in terms of which JCI Limited would pay the seller AUD1 600 000upon delivery in Cape Town. It was further recorded that the seller in this case would be a company in Japan providing an invoice for the funds to be paid into a Japanese account.

There was one agreement attached to the e-mail, which was almost identical to the agreement between JCI Limited and the Australian company, mentioned in the second e-mail sent by Mason on 28 July 2004, as mentioned supra. We noted that "the seller" was defined as the Great Barrier Reef Tuna. The amount of AUD1 600 000 appears to be the balance of the purchase price, including the delivery cost, as discussed supra. On 28 July, Mason informed Griffiths, that the company, to be included in the agreement relating to the AUD1 600 000 (to be paid on delivery of the vessel in Cape Town) was Kelco International[379].

We noted, that Mason requested Griffiths, on 29 July 2004, to insert the words "Seeter Trading as" in front of the words, Great Barrier Reef Tuna, in the vessel option agreement[380].

Griffiths notified Levin of significant changes in the structure of the transaction, relating to the purchase of the four Australian vessels. It is evident from the document, that the e-mail was also distributed to Buitendag[381]. The e-mail reads:

"...Dear John, the agreements have changed significantly since we spoke last.

The arrangements are now:

1. Pacific Fisheries Ltd (see attached) will first acquire the vessels in terms of the following arrangements:

   1.1 There are 2 separate parts to the contract as Seller wants to recognize a lower vessel price in Australia. The first part of the agreement relating to AUD2,86m of the purchase price is attached. The second part of the agreement is based on funds going into Japan as Seller wishes to leave those funds off shore. We need to tie the 2 parts of the contract together from the Japanese side rather than the Australian side.

   1.2 Part 2 requires that a simple contract is to be drawn up whereby Pacific Fisheries Ltd will pay the seller the balance of AUD1.6m upon delivery of the vessels in Cape Town in compliance with the aforementioned vessel option agreement delivery clause 5. The seller in this case will be a company in Japan providing an invoice for the funds to be paid into a Japanese account. The details are: Kelco International Ltd.,Suite 401, Hanahara Building No 5, 7-8-17 Nishinakajima Yodokawa-ku, Osaka 532-001, JAPAN.

Simultaneously with 1, four SA shelf companies (details to be supplied to you) will acquire the vessels from Pacific Fisheries on similar terms to the combined arrangements at 1. The only difference will be that the purchase price is inflated by R500, 000 per vessel (AUD113,636 @ R4,40 per AUD). Could you also modify the original agreement for this purpose?

2. JCI will lend funds to Pacific Fisheries Ltd for the initial purchase price, which will require a FOREX approval. JCI will also lend funds to the Shelfco's for the acquisition of the vessels on the way into the SA co's, which will require a second Forex approval, albeit that the purchase price will be paid on loan account between the SA Newco's and Pacific Fisheries Ltd. The intention is that the funds will be recovered by JCI by refinancing the Newco's in due course..."

We noted the following from the above mentioned e-mail message:

- Pacific Fisheries would acquire the four vessels from Seeter, who was the registered owner of the four vessels as at 10 August 2004[382];
- Pacific Fisheries would make payments to two entities, being Seeter, in the amount of AUD2 860 000, and to Kelco International, in the amount of AUD1 600 000. The primary reason for this structure was that Lamoson, intended to retain a portion of the selling price off shore (not in Australia);
- The total purchase price, to be paid by Pacific Fisheries in respect of the four vessels was AUD4 460 000. The difference between this amount and the purchase price, including delivery, agreed on between Mason and Lamoson as mentioned in the e-mail of Mason on 27 July 2004, was AUD20 000 (this was included as delivery cost);
- The above represented a total price per vessel of AUD1 115 000;
- Pacific Fisheries, through Griffiths, inflated the price paid for the vessels with R500 000 (or AUD113 636@ R4.40) per vessel before selling it to the four South African shelf companies;
- JCI Limited would have lent funds to Pacific Fisheries for the initial purchase of the vessels;
- JCI Limited would have funded the South African companies to acquire the vessels from Pacific Fisheries;
- The purchase price would have been paid on loan account between the South African companies and Pacific Fisheries; and

- Attached to this e-mail message was an option agreement.

We noted that the parties to the option agreement were Seeter and Pacific Fisheries. However, the definition in respect of the purchaser still read JCI Limited[383].

10.26.5.3 Final agreements entered into in respect of the four Australian Vessels

The transaction was concluded in two phases. Firstly, as recorded in the documents mentioned supra, the transaction with Lamoson was recorded in two separate agreements. An "Option Agreement" between Seeter and Kelco International and a "Deed of Assignment Agreement" between Kelco International and Pacific Fisheries were entered into. Both agreements were entered into on 23 August 2004. Secondly, Pacific Fisheries, entered into four separate "Sale Agreements" with entities, all incorporated in terms of South African law, to sell the Australian vessels.

Option agreement

The following salient features were reflected in this agreement[384]:

- Seeter granted the Kelco International the sole option to purchase four vessels for the total purchase price of AUD2 860 000, which were apportioned as follows:
  - Vessel described in Annexure A, the sum of AUD 715 000;
  - Vessel described in Annexure B , the sum of AUD715 000;
  - Vessel described in Annexure C, the sum of AUD765 000; and
  - Vessel described in Annexure D, the sum of AUD665 000.
- We could not locate Annexures A to D, referred to in this agreement. However, it appears that they referred to the vessels Balance, Hooked, Connect and Extractor. This was also appearing from the agreement of sale, discussed infra;
- Seeters' attorneys were Bottoms English Lawyers, situated in Australia;

[383] Refer Exhibit 5.26.22
[384] Refer Exhibit 5.26.35

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- In respect of the payment of the purchase price, it was agreed that:
  - 10% of the purchase price had to be paid to the Seeters' attorney's trusts account when the option was exercised subject thereto that AUD260 000 could be released to the seller to pay the cost of delivery of the vessels to the port of Cape Town, South Africa;
  - 70% of the purchase price had to be paid, prior to the vessels departing Australia for delivery in the port of Cape Town; and
  - The balance of the purchase price had to be paid upon compliance by the Seeter with its obligation in respect of delivery in the Port of Cape Town South Africa.
- Delivery of the vessels had to be given and taken in the port of Cape Town;
- All risks attaching to the vessels, would have passed to the purchaser on the delivery date upon compliance by the Seeter with all its obligations;
- Seeter had to maintain the vessels in the condition as at the date of signature of the agreement. Seeter would have been required to carry out any repairs to the vessels prior to the delivery date; and
- Kelco International was entitled to assign its rights under the agreement to a third party. Kelco International remained liable to Seeter and renounced the benefit of all of exceptions and benefits which may be available to the surety but for this remuneration.

It appears that the agreement was signed by Lamoson, on behalf of Seeter, and by John Kellett, on behalf of Kelco International.

Deed of Assignment Agreement

Kelco International entered into an assignment agreement with Pacific Fisheries[385]. The following salient features were reflected in this agreement:

- Kelco International assigned to Pacific Fisheries, who accepted such assignment, all the rights and obligations that Kelco International held under the option agreement, mentioned supra;

[385] Refer Exhibit 5.26.36

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- In consideration of the assignment, Pacific Fisheries undertook to pay Kelco International the sum of AUD1 600 000 upon delivery of the vessels in the port of Cape Town;
- The agreement was conditional upon:
  - Pacific Fisheries concluding a satisfactory agreement for the on-sale of the vessels in South Africa;
  - Pacific Fisheries obtaining a loan from JCI Limited for the aggregate of the consideration payable under this agreement and the option agreement; and
  - JCI Limited obtaining Exchange Control approval from the South African authorities in respect of the loan between JCI Limited and Pacific Fisheries.
- It appears that the agreement was signed by John Kellett, who represented Kelco International, and by Stratton who represented Pacific Fisheries.

Sale Agreement

On 1 September 2004, Pacific Fisheries entered into four separate sale agreements with South African registered companies. The following salient features were reflected in this agreement:

- The four entities, who entered into agreement with Pacific Fisheries, were Eagle Creek Investment 194[386], Eagle Creek Investment 200[387], Eagle Creek Investment 215[388] and Eagle Creek Investment 250[389];
- The names of the four vessels were Extractor, Hooked, Balance and Connect. Included in the definition of what comprised a vessel were:
  - The gear, equipment and spare parts relating to and on board the vessel; and
  - All radio installation, navigation and other spares on board the vessel;
- Pacific Fisheries sold the vessels for the purchase price of AUD1 250 000 per vessel;
- In respect of the payment of the purchase price, it was agreed that:
  - 10% of the purchase price, would be paid upon conclusion of the agreement;

- 70% of the purchase price prior would be paid to the vessels departing Australia for delivery in the port of Cape Town; and

- The balance of the purchase price was due upon compliance by the seller with its obligation in respect of delivery in the port of Cape Town South Africa; and

- It appears that the agreement was signed by Laval Law, on behalf of Pacific Fisheries on 1 September 2004, and by Griffiths, representing all four purchasers, on 3 September 2004.

10.26.5.4 Exchange control application for the transfer of fund off shore

We located four letters, captioned "EXCHANGE CONTROL APPLICATION FOR THE TRANSFER OF PURCHASE PRICE", all dated 8 September 2004[390]. The letters were addressed to the Manager, Foreign Exchange Division, FNB and were signed on behalf of Nissen, Pandor and Griffiths. The applications were in respect of the four South African companies, which entered into agreement with Pacific Fisheries for the purchase of the fishing vessels.

We located these identical letters on the JCI Limited server and it is evident from the properties that Griffiths was the author thereof. In addition, the name "G Griffiths" was reflected in all the headers of the applications. The following salient features were reflected in these applications:

- The applicant was a shelf company and did not have a trading history;

- The sole asset of the applicant would be the vessel acquired with the funding mentioned in the application;

- CMMS would lend the funds in respect of the acquisition of the vessels to the applicant;

- The shareholding and the directors of the applicant were provided in respect of each of the applicants;

- The applicant acquired a fishing vessels from Pacific Fisheries for a purchase price of AUD1 250 000;

[390] Refer Exhibit 5.26.41

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- A number of benefits, mostly relating to the financial feasibility to South Africa, were listed; and

- The applicant requested approval for the transfer of the purchase price as payment for the vessels.

Attached to the applications, were the sale agreements between Pacific Fisheries and the applicants as well as the "REVENUE MODEL" in respect of each vessel. The sale agreements, attached to the applications, were identical to the agreements mentioned in respect of the four vessels mentioned supra.

We noted the following in the exchange control applications and the attachments thereto:

- The entire transaction, as mentioned above, were not reflected in the application, but only the last leg of the transaction between the applicants and Pacific Fisheries; and

- The inflated purchase price and the other leg to the transaction were not disclosed.

We obtained the exchange control applications submitted by FNB to the SARB[391]. It was recorded that JCI Limited approached FNB on behalf of the applicant, requesting urgent application, in order to obtain approval to submit funds abroad. It was reflected that the purchase price of the vessel was AUD1 250 000. It appears that the following documents were attached to the application:

- Agreement of sale between Pacific Fisheries and the applicants; and

- Schedule, reflecting the financial feasibility of the fishing project and the projected income and expenditure relating to the projects.

It was recorded on all the applications that Pacific Fisheries was the beneficiary of the funds. It appears that the SARB approved the applications on 21 September 2004. The applications were awarded numbers 10119, 10120, 10116 and 10115.

10.26.5.5 Payments made in respect of the acquisition and accounting treatment thereof

We received a schedule of payments made by Investec in respect of the acquisition of the four fishing vessels; Hooked, Balance, Extractor and Connect. Furthermore, we performed a review of the SAFCO ledger accounts in the books of CMMS[392]. The payments effected are reflected in the table set out below.

Based on the calculations, the costs of the four Australian vessels amounted to R23 753 948.88. This amount excludes R2 066 666.67, but includes the amount of R2 135 169.04 which is still due to Pacific Fisheries by the vessel owning companies Eagle Creek 194 (Fishing vessel – Extractor), Eagle Creek 200 (Fishing vessel – Hooked), Eagle Creek 215 (Fishing vessel – Balance), Eagle Creek 250 (Fishing Vessel – Connect).

The amount of R2 066 666.67 which is excluded from the amount mentioned above, forms part of the R3 100 000 that was paid by Investec. It is evident from the Investec schedule, that the amount of R3 100 000 was allocated to the six vessels purchased, viz, Barbara Louise, Allison, Balance, Extractor, Connect and Hooked. The schedule, received from Investec, indicated that this payment was made in respect of delivery, reflagging and survey.

It is evident from an e-mail message dated 21 April 2005, that Barrett notified Price about a shortfall in funding requirements[393]. Barrett explained the following in respect of the Barbara Louise II and the Allison:

"...The actual costs shall exceed our expectations by as much as R920, 000. We need to adjust the facility within the prescribed limits to make allowance for this?..."

In respect of the vessels Hooked, Balance, Extractor and Connect, Barrett explained "...The capital budget in the overall facility was the contracted capital cost of the vessels excluding any ancillary costs. We have incurred unexpected/unforeseen delivery/survey/reflagging costs amounting to some R3.1m. Once again, we need to adjust the facility within the prescribed limits to make allowance for this?..."

Price responded as follows:

---

[392] Refer Annexure DDD
[393] Refer Exhibit 5.26.66

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

"...Albeit that you are advising that SAFCO is "over budget" by R4 000 000, thus on the 80-20 split, Investec would be "contributing" R3 200 000, we'll only be able to apply to JHB for an additional R3 100 000 based on current security (which should be supported by the asset values which we have thus far obtained). Will this be sufficient?..."

We note the following from this document:

- The cost exceeded the budgeted cost with R920 000 in respect of the Barbara Louise II and the Allison; and
- The cost exceeded the budgeted amount by R3 100 000 and this can be contributed to unexpected/unforeseen delivery, survey and reflagging cost.

The delivery cost of the four vessels was included in the purchase price as mentioned above. Furthermore, Ward indicated that the R3 100 000, or the R516 666.67 per vessel, was used for repairs and maintenance costs. There are no specific invoices to substantiate this amount.

The total amount of R23 905 230.44 were paid by the following entities:

- Investec: 21 326 446.28;
- CMMS: 1 438 159.16; and
- Stratton: 1 140 625.00

Such total amount was applied in the following manner:

We noted the following in respect of the above payments:

- CMMS paid R359 539.79 (AUD75 000) per vessel to Bottoms English as a deposit. An amount of R1 173 708.92 (AUD250 000) was paid by CMMS to Seeter as part of the purchase price for the vessel, however Investec subsequently repaid this amount to CMMS;
- The total amount paid by Investec for the purchase of the vessel was R5 329 874.00. R3 586 290.00 (AUD752 403.64) was paid directly to Diamond Logistics. The role of Diamond Logistics is unknown and we have not verified whether they have paid the seller on behalf of Pacific Fisheries;
- The amount of R9 268.88 was paid by Investec to Shepstone & Wylie in respect of mortgage fees;
- Investec paid the customs VAT of R962 329.19 to Berry & Donaldson. A VAT refund of R932 195.06 was subsequently refunded to Investec, leaving a net balance of R30 134.13 actually paid;
- A valuation fee of R13 804.40 was paid to David Abromowitz; and
- Stratton paid R285 156.25 (AUD 62 500) per vessel as part of the purchase price.

Accounting for the transactions by SAFCO

The accounting records for each vessel owning company are maintained by SAFCO. All receipts and payments are processed via SAFCO's cashbook and either recorded in the intergroup loan account, or if the payment must be capitalised, in the account 6000: "Fishing vessel – Balance". It appears that the transactions relating to the purchase price of the vessel were processed by Barrett.

Journal entries processed

Payments made by CMMS and Stratton

As recorded in the project funding agreement, CMMS would fund 20% and Investec 80% of the purchase price of the vessels. Any payments made by CMMS for the purchase of the asset or capitalisation of the asset would be journalised to the debentures account.

The total of R644 696.04, being the combined amounts of R359 539.79, paid by CMMS and R285 156.25 paid by Stratton, was debited to the Fishing vessel – Balance, account 6000 (ref 1) and credited to debentures – account 8050 (ref 2).

Payments made by Investec

The amounts paid by Investec of R1 173 708.92 (ref 3) and R13 805.40 (ref 4) were debited to the account 6000 and the customs VAT of R962 342.19 (ref 5) paid by Investec was debited to the account 7350 – VAT Control Account. The amount totalling R2 149 838.51 (ref 6) was credited to the account 9050 – Inter group loan account. R3 586 290.00 (ref 4) was debited to the account 6000 and credited (ref 8) to the account 9050.

Journal entries in respect of purchase price processed to Pacific Fisheries loan account.

A Pacific Fisheries loan account existed, in each of the four Australian vessels ledger accounts.

The payments, made by CMMS and Stratton, mentioned above, have been subsequently reversed (ref 9 and 13). The new entries processed were a debit to Pacific Fisheries loan account - 9020 and a credit to Debentures – 8050 (ref 19 and 20). The payments made by Investec mentioned above have been reversed (ref 10,11,12,14 and 15, 16).The new entry raised for amounts of R1 173 708.92 (ref 22) and R3 586 290.00 (ref 28) was processed to the Pacific Fisheries loan account as a debit and a credit (ref 21, 27) to inter group loan account - 9050. The amount of R962 324.29 was debited to account 7350 (ref 23) and credited (ref 24) to account 9050. R13 805.40 has been debited to account 6000 (ref 26) and credited to account 9050 (ref 25). R11 491.23 has been raised as debit (ref 29) to account 6000 and credited to account 9020 (ref 30). The amount, owed to Pacific Fisheries of R5 950 000.00 (ref 18), has been credited to Pacific Fisheries and debited to the account 6000 (ref 17). The balance owing to Pacific Fisheries is R533 813.81. These journals are depicted as follows:

Accounting for the R516 666.67 in the books of SAFCO

The R516 666.67 was received as part of the R3 100 000. The R3 100 000 was processed as a debit to SAFCO's cashbook and credited to the Investec loan account in the ledger of the fishing vessel – Balance.

Capitalisation of expenses

We reviewed the general ledger account 6000, provided to us by SAFCO. A total net amount of R317 232.28 was capitalised to account 6000, of which R136 084.27 related to refurbishment, towage and upgrades to equipment and electrical equipment[395]. These costs have been correctly capitalised. R181 148.01 related to costs such as reimbursement of travel expenses, wages and salaries, repairs and maintenance and spares purchased that should not have been journalised to the asset account 6000. According to Ward, these were start up costs that Barrett requested to be capitalised.

Payments made in respect of the fishing vessels Extractor, Connect and Hooked

The payments and the accounting treatment in respect of the vessels, Extractor, Connect and Hooked were consistent with that of Balance as discussed supra. The only significant amounts that differ from the amounts recorded in respect of Balance, were the amounts in respect of the customs VAT. The amounts relating to the customs VAT were:

- Extractor: R958 612.32;
- Connect: R958 769.72; and
- Hooked: R974 059.24.

10.26.5.6 Confirmation of payments made in respect of the acquisition of the fishing vessels

It appears that, on 15 May 2005, Barrett provided Stratton with information relating to the acquisition of the four vessels[396]. The message was also distributed to Buitendag, Griffiths and Mason. We noted the following from the e-mail:

- The total cost of the vessels were AUD4 460 000, but there were additional cost amounting to AUD487 000. These additional amount related to "sunk cost, gear and spare parts";
- The total amount paid in respect of the acquisition of the four fishing vessels was AUD4 559 000 and the outstanding balance was AUD 388 000;

[395] Refer Annexure GGG
[396] Refer Exhibit 5.26.44

- The total purchase price of the vessels were AUD5 000 000; and
- The profit in Pacific Fisheries was AUD53 000.

10.26.5.7 Pacific Fisheries financial statements

It is evident from a copy of the income statement of Pacific Fisheries, for the period ending 30 September 2005, that an amount of AUD5 000 000 was realised in respect of the sale of four fishing vessels[397].

We noted the following being recorded in the income statement:

- The cost of sale amount to AUD4 947 269.98 and included:
  - Purchase price of the four Australian vessels: AUD460 000.00;
  - Vessels spare parts: AUD259 412.98;
  - Delay cost: AUD227 857.00; and
- Net profit: AUD50 342.52.

10.26.6 Acquisition of additional fishing vessels from Australia

It appears that there is evidence pointing to the fact that, although the transactions were structured differently than in the previous acquisition, the elements and objectives in the acquisition of the four additional vessels stayed the same.

Once again, the transactions were related party transactions, with the same directors and management involved. It is evident from the evidence reviewed that the purchase price of the three vessels was inflated with the intention to realise a profit in Pacific Fisheries.

10.26.6.1 Relevant companies participating in the transaction

We identified a number of companies both on and off shore, which participate in the transaction. We performed searches of statutory information of the companies mentioned infra in public available data bases. The results of these searches are discussed below:

[397] Refer Exhibit 5.26.45

Tasmanian Bluefin

Tasmanian Bluefin was the owner of the three Australian fishing vessels. A company, named and styled Tasmanian Bluefin was incorporated on 5 July 1996 under Australian Law and having SJ Davis, and GW Heilmann as directors.

Three Australian companies acquiring the three vessels

Fireside

A company, named and styled Fireside was incorporated on 19 May 2005 under Australian Law and having Sherry and Landau. It appears from the Sale of Shares Agreement that Beachcove held 100% of the shares in Fireside. Turnbull provided Beale with a schedule on 23 August 2005[398]. It was recorded in the schedule, that Diamond Logistics was the ultimate parent company if Fireside.

Borderall Investments

Borderall Investments was incorporated on 19 April 2005 under Australian law and having the Sherry and Landau as directors. It appears that Beachcove is the only shareholder in Borderall Investments. It was reflected in the schedule provided by Turnbull that Diamond Logistics was the ultimate parent.

Triland Investments

Triland Investments was incorporated on 19 May 2005 under Australian law and the directors were reflected as Sherry and Landau. Beachcove was the sole shareholder of Triland Investments. It was reflected in the schedule, provided by Turnbull, Diamond Logistics was the ultimate parent company of Triland Investments.

Beachcove

A Company, named and styled Beachcove Holdings was incorporated on 22 November 1991 under Australian law and having Sherry and Landau as directors. It appears further that both Stratton and Buitendag were former directors of Beachcove, but have since resigned in 2003. We noted from the schedule which Turnbull provided to Beale, mentioned above, that Graceford Holdings was the shareholder in Beachcove, but that the shareholding was transferred to Diamond Logistics on 7 April 2004[399]. In addition, as reported supra, the shareholders of Diamond Logistics were the Emerald Trust, Mapalasa Trust, and the Egoli Trust.

10.26.6.2 The structure of the transactions and the progression thereof

It appears from documents, recorded in soft copy on the servers of JCI Limited, that Pacific Fisheries were once again used to facilitate the transaction. It appears from an e-mail message dated, 16 May 2005, that Griffiths requested advice from Maillard in respect of the tax status of Pacific Fisheries on a specific transaction[400]. The e-mail was also referred to supra.

We noted the following in this document:

- Pacific Fisheries secured an option to purchase the four Australian vessels for the equivalent of R6 000 000 each, from an Australian company;
- Pacific Fisheries found an Australia buyer, prepared to pay R8,250,000 in respect of each the vessel; and

[400] Refer Exhibit 5.26.32

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Pacific Fisheries would make a profit of R2 250 000 per vessel.

It is evident from the response of Maillard that the income would not be taxed, but only income that would flow to the beneficiaries, would be taxed at domestic rate in the remittance jurisdiction.

In addition, we had sight of two documents, recorded in soft copy on the JCI Limited server. It appears from the properties of the documents that both were created by Griffiths on 16 May 2005, the same day when he forwarded the above mentioned e-mail, relating to the profit to be made in Pacific Fisheries. The one document was a memorandum recording the structure of the transactions, and the second document, in PowerPoint format, depicted the transaction. The first document reflected the following[401]:

"...1 Seller gives Pacific Fisheries a mandate to realize R6m for vessel. [PF could also hold an option at R6m]

1. Whatever is realised in addition to R6m is commission / profit to Pacific Fisheries.

2. S/H funds Aus 1 on loan account to acquire Vessel 1 from Seller, through brokerage of Pacific Fisheries (or other broker) for R8,25m. Pacific invoices Aus 1 for R8,25m (R6m to seller and R2,25m to Pacific in comm.)

3. Invested finances SA 1 to acquire shares in Aus 1 for R8,25m from S/H as to:

   a. R1,00 for equity in Aus 1;

   b. R8,25m for S/H loan claim against Aus 1 at face value.(asset sale)

4. At end of Yr1, Aus 1 sells vessel to SA1 and SA 1 cancels loan claim against Aus 1..."

We noted the following from the two documents:

- It appears that the intention with this structure was to realise profit, in a tax friendly environment;

[401] Refer Exhibits 5.26.46 and 5.26.47

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The shareholder in Australia 1 would provide the financing to Australia 1 to purchase the vessels, but the names of the entities were not mentioned;
- The South African company would then purchase the equity in Australia 1 from the shareholder in Australia 1 for the amount of R1; and
- It appears that this transaction would constitute a related party transaction.

It appears that Griffiths sent the above mentioned structure again to MacNish on 20 June 2005 with the following comments[402]:

"...The agreement on its own, does not achieve what we had set out to achieve, namely to gross up the value of the vessels in a tax neutral environment. Please see the original deal structure which is attached as a .ppt file which relates to the original set of agreements, also attached. I have been away on leave and in my absence it looks like you might have only received the assignment agreement from John Mason. The Assignment agreement is one agreement of a suite of three agreements in respect of the acquisition of each boat..."

Attached to the e-mail message was the PowerPoint structure, reflected above, and a set of agreements. The agreements included an Agreement of Sale, an Option Agreement, an Assignment Agreement and a Sale of Shares Agreement.

We note the following from these documents:

- The e-mail was distributed to Macnish, Stratton and Barrett;
- It appears that Mason was actively involved in the process of completing the agreements; and
- Peter Landau also provided information relevant to the transaction.

Schedule of cost relating to the three vessels

We found a schedule on the JCI Limited server, reflecting the purchase price and the additional cost relating to the transactions[403]. It appears from the properties of the document that Griffiths was the author and that the document was created on 20 May 2005. It appears that the schedule was drafted to determine the amounts to be included in the various agreements, being the Sale of Vessel Agreements, the Commission Agreements and the Sale of Share Agreements

[402] Refer Exhibit 5.26.48
[403] Refer Exhibit 5.26.49

The schedule reflected the following amounts in respect of the first vessel, Fortuna II[404]:

F/V Fortuna II	AUD	Rate	ZAR
Purchase price	1 300 000	5.05	6 565 000
Delivery	100 000	5.05	505 000
Gear	40 000	5.05	202 000
Spares	15 000	5.05	75 750
			7 347 750
Grossed up	1 818 750		9 184 688

We noted that the formulae used in performing the various calculations, were still active in the spreadsheet, which enabled us to observe the manner in which the various totals were calculated. The totals in respect of the purchase price, delivery, gear and spares were inserted into the spreadsheet as totals (a fixed amount in AUD). These totals were multiplied by 5.05, representing the conversion rate from AUD to South African Rand. The sum of the purchase price, delivery, gear and spares, in South African Rand, amounted to R7 347 750. The sum of these totals in South African Rand, was divided by 0.8 and amounted to R9 184 688. This represented a mark up of 25%. The amount was once again converted to AUD, which amounted to AUD1 818 750.10. This amount was mentioned as the "gross up" amount and was rounded to AUD1 818 750.

Furthermore, it appears from the schedule that the purchase price of AUD1 300 000 (provided as a fixed amount), consisted of the following:

- Price: AUD1 250 000 (this amount included the deposit of AUD75000); and
- Gear: AUD50 000.

The commission in respect of the Commission Agreement was calculated, using the AUD1 818 750 and subtracting the actual purchase price (AUD1 250 000) and the gear (AUD50 000), which amounted to AUD518 750.

[404] Refer Exhibit 5.26.49

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The total in respect of the "loan amount" in the Equity Agreement was calculated, using the total value of the equity (AUD100) and subtracting it from the gross up amount (AUD1 818 750), which amounted to AUD1 818 650[405].

It appears from the schedule that the purchase price of AUD1 300 000, already included AUD50 000 in respect of gear, as mentioned above. An additional AUD40 000 was included in the schedule and it appears that this might have been a duplication.

An additional column was added next to the equity agreement totals, reflecting the exchange rate from AUD to South African Rand of R4.75, and not R5.05, as per the rest of the schedule. Although it is not clear why two separate exchange rates were used, it is evident that, by using the higher of the two figures, the total adjustment to the price in respect of the Fortuna II would have been increased by R545 625. The actual exchange rate, as on 20 May 2005, was R4.86 to the AUD.

The calculations in respect of the other vessels, the Ocean Dawn and the Sarah J, were performed using the same formulae, with different figures in respect of the actual purchase price. The purchase price and the various agreement cost relating to these vessels as reflected in the schedule were[406]:

Ocean Dawn

F/V Fortuna II	AUD	Rate	ZAR
Purchase price	1 000 000	5.05	5 555 000
Delivery	100 000	5.05	505 000
Gear	40 000	5.05	202 000
Spares	15 000	5.05	75 750
			6 337 750
Grossed up	1 818 750		9 184 688
Commission agreement	468 750
Equity agreement	1 568 650

[405] Refer Exhibit 5.26.49
[406] Refer Exhibit 5.26.49

The difference in respect of the gross up amount, when using the two different exchange rates as illustrated above, R5.05 and R4.75, would have been R470 625.

Sarah J

F/V Fortuna II	AUD	Rate	ZAR
Purchase price	955 000	5.05	4 822 750
Delivery	100 000	5.05	505 000
Gear	40 000	5.05	202 000
Spares	15 000	5.05	75 750
			5 605 500
Grossed up	1 387 500		7 006 875
Commission agreement	432 500
Equity agreement	1 387 400

The difference in respect of the gross up amount, when using the two different exchange rates as illustrated above, R5.05 and R4.75, would have been R414 250.

These grossed up South African Rand totals were the same amounts approved by the SAFCO directors on 27 June 2005 in respect of the purchasing of the three vessels[407]. This might be the explanation for the higher exchange rate used in the calculations, as it results in a difference of R1 432 500 to the total approved. Hence the SAFCO board approved the higher amount.

A summary of the above mentioned cost schedule was attached to an e-mail that Griffiths sent to Natalie, from Cocksmacnish attorneys on 5 July 2005[408]. Attached to the same e-mail message was an option agreement with a note on the first page, which reads:

[407] Refer Exhibit 5.26.50
[408] Refer Exhibit 5.26.51

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

"...IT IS THE INTENTION THAT THE OPTION FEE BECOMES THE DEPOSIT ONCE THE OPTION IS EXERSIZED AND IS APPLIED AGAINST THE PURCHASE PRICE. [PLEASE SEE ATTACHED EXCEL SPREADSHEET.] THE PURCHASE PRICE INCLUDES THE DEPOSIT. E.G. $1,3M FOR FORTUNA IS ACTUALLY $1,25M TO THE SELLER AND $75K TO MODIFY THE VESSEL. THE DELIVERY, GEAR SPARES AND GROSS UP ALLOWANCES ARE FUNDS WHICH REMAIN IN PACIFIC AS THE CONSIDERATION FOR ASSIGNMENT OF THE OPTION AND ARE USED TO COVER THOSE EXPENSES. MY CONCERN IN STRUCTURING THE AMOUNT NECESSARY TO MODIFY THE VESSEL AS PART OF THE PURCHASE PRICE IS THAT GST, IF PAYABLE, WILL THEN BE PAID ON THE FULL $1,3M AND NOT THE NET AMOUNT OF $1,25M TO THE SELLER. WE CAN RELOOK AT THIS DEPENDING ON NATHAN'S ADVICE.."

We noted the following from the documents:

- The purchase price for the Furtuna of AUD1 300 000, of which AUD75 000 was for the seller to modify the vessel, is contradicting the figures of the spreadsheet, mentioned above. According to the spreadsheet, the AUD1 300 000 included AUD50 000 in respect of gear. Hence, the purchase price was AUD1 175 000 and the AUD75 000 was for modification of the vessel, which brings the total to AUD1 250 000; and
- The amount allocated to gear, delivery, gross up and spares remained with Pacific Fisheries. Taking in consideration that the total amount in respect of gear, according to the spreadsheets, amounted to AUD90 000 (AUD50 000 in the purchase price and AUD40 000, which forms part of the commission).

It is evident from the notes that the Fortuna's cost was AUD1 250 000 and that the AUD75 000 component was in respect of cost relating to the modification of the vessel. It appears that the AUD75 000 was the option fee, which became the deposit after the option was exercised.

It is evident from documents, obtained from the JCI Limited server that there were a number of e-mail messages sent to various parties in structuring the transactions. In another of these discussions, Griffiths commented that. "This is the agreement with which we apply to the bank for a loan and the RESERVE BANK for Foreign Exchange approval...[409]"

Resolution taken by SAFCO

We found a document, purporting to be a resolution of the directors of SAFCO, dated 27 June 2005 and signed by all the SAFCO directors[410]. The resolution was in respect of the "Purchase of the MFV Sarah J by Four Arrows Investments, Fortuna II by little Swift Investments 77, MFV Ocean Dawn by Clifton Dunes Investments 114 (PTY) Limited from Pacific Fisheries".

It was recorded that

"... 1 THAT the Company agrees to the purchase of

a. Sarah J Purchase price R7,006,875

b. Fortuna II Purchase price R9,184,688

c. Ocean Dawn Purchase Price R7,922,188

From the Seller on the terms and conditions set out in the respective Sale of Vessel Agreement between the Seller and the Purchaser and according to Statutory and Lenders Approval..."

We noted that only the Sale of Vessel agreement was mentioned in the resolution taken by the directors. Furthermore, the purchase prices, reflected in the resolution in respect of all three vessels, were the same total prices as reflected in the schedule drafted by Griffiths on 20 May 2005, mentioned above.

On 11 July 2005, Griffiths responded to a number of queries, by Cockmacnish attorneys, relating to the option to purchase agreement and sale equity agreement[411].Under the heading sale equity agreement, Cockmacnish commented*"... I was not aware that you were proceeding independently with a Sale Equity Agreement ..."*

Griffiths responded:

"...EXPEDITE THE PROCESS AND THE RESERVE BANK APPROVAL IS ALWAYS THE CRITICAL PATH – SOMETIMES TAKING UP TO A MONTH. PROVIDED WE DON'T CHANGE THE AMOUNTS, WE ARE AT LIBERTY TO USE A DIFFERENT AGREEMENT UNDER THE SAME APPROVAL..."

Cockmacnish commented:

"...The document you have provided is clearly not as comprehensive as the other documents. It seems to be largely the precedent you provided earlier.

In a commercial transaction involving the sale of shares I would expect there to be extensive provisions as set out in my draft. In particular I would expect to see due diligence provisions and extensive warranties. I think it would be pointless for me to compare each document clause by clause. This will only increase the cost of this exercise..."

Griffiths responded:

"... THIS IS CORRECT – HOWEVER, THIS IS A RELATED PARTY TRANSACTION STRUCTURED IN THIS WAY TO ACHIEV A CERTAIN END, WHERE THE VENDOR AND THE PURCHASER ANSWER TO THE SAME MASTER..."

On 4 August 2005, Griffiths provided Mason with an explanation of the transaction relating to the acquisition of the three fishing vessels[412]. Griffiths made it clear that the e-mail message was only to explain the transaction to him and it was not for Tasmanian Bluefin. The following were recorded in the document:

- The option agreement was signed between Pacific Fisheries and Tasmanian Bluefin.
- The option fee (75k Fortuna & Sarah J; 100k – Ocean Dawn) was paid to Cocks Mcnish against signature of the option agreement;
- Pacific Fisheries immediately sold the option to Fireside;
- Fireside immediately exercised the option. In so doing Fireside became the purchaser and the option fee became the deposit;
- Once the option was exercised by Fireside, the conditions of sale to be fulfilled include:
  - Acceptable inspection of vessel;

[412] Refer Exhibit 5.26.55

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- All repairs and alterations completed satisfactorily within 21 days; and
- Option holder getting finance and foreign exchange approval within 21 days of exercise of option – we have both already – but we need to keep this in anyway.

We noted the following from the above:

- It was confirmed that the option fee be used for refurbishing the vessels; and
- The option holder, Fireside, had already secured financing and approval from the SARB to transfer the funds offshore.

Although the elements and effects of the transactions remained the same, it is evident that Griffiths made a number of changes to the structure of the transaction during the entire process. This is evident from an e-mail message that Griffiths sent to Sherry on 17 August 2005[413]. Attached to the e-mail were two documents, one a word document captioned Memorandum of the Deal Structure, and the second document, in PowerPoint format, depicted the transaction. It appears from the properties of the documents that both were created by Griffiths on 17 August 2005. The following were recorded in the memorandum:

"...Immediate

1. Beachcove notionally "lends" $1,25m to Fireside to acquire the vessel;
2. Fireside pays for the vessel;
3. Investec Bank lends Little Swift $1,455,000 while CMMS lends $363,750 (this amount is not advanced);
4. Little Swift then:
   a. Buys the shares in Fireside from Beachcove for $100,00;
   b. advances a loan to Fireside to "repay" the loan to Beachcove of R1,25m;
   c. Purchases gear from Tasmanian Bluefin for $50,000.
5. Fireside then:

[413] Refer Exhibit 5.26.56

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

a. repays the loan to Beachcove of $1,25m;

b. Settles the commission due to Pacific Fisheries of $518,750, $155,000 in cash and $363,000 on loan account

In ensuing months

6. CMMS settles the Pacific claim of $363,000 against Fireside obo Fireside directly to Pacific, Fireside excuses Little Swift loan of $363,000 and Little Swift excuses CMMS loan of $363,000.

7. Vessel sold from Fireside to Little Swift

a. Price $1,25m plus $155,000 = $1,405m = Fireside book value.

b. Settled by Little Swift agreeing to cancel its claim against Fireside."

We noted the following from the e-mail and attachments thereto:

- That the e-mail was also distributed to Stratton; and
- The total price (cost of the vessel, including gear and commission) amounted to AUD1 818 750. This is consistent with the figures reflected in the schedule prepared by Griffiths, as discussed above.

10.26.6.3 Final agreements in respect of the purchase of the three vessels

The acquisition of the three fishing vessels was governed by a number of agreements. We obtained a signed copy of the full set of agreements from Barrett. Except for a number of changes relating to price and specific detail relating to the vessels, the agreements were identical in respect of the three vessels, Ocean Dawn, Sarah J and Fortuna II. The following agreements related to the acquisition of Fortuna II:

- Agreement for the sale of vessel "Fortuna II" between Tasmanian Bluefin and Fireside[414];
- Commission agreement between Pacific Fisheries and Fireside[415];

[414] Refer Exhibit 5.26.57
[415] Refer Exhibit 5.26.58

- Bareboat Charterparty of the vessel "Fortuna II" between Fireside and Little Swift Investments 77[416]; and
- Sale of Share Agreement between Fireside, Beachcove, Little Swift Investments 77 and Landau[417].

Agreement of sale

The copy of the agreement of sale of the vessel "Fortuna II", provided to us, between Tasmanian Bluefin and Fireside, was dated 17 August 2005 and was only signed on behalf of Tasmanian Bluefin. The following salient features were reflected in this agreement:

- The purchase price of the fishing vessels was recorded as AUD 1,250,000, this included the amount of AUS75 000 relating to the deposit for the vessel;
- Owner's wharf at Mooloolaba, Queensland was recorded as the place of delivery;
- The title to the property in and risk of the vessel remained with Tasmanian Bluefin until settlement;
- The agreement was conditional upon Fireside obtaining funding for the full purchase price and if the funding was sourced South Africa, SARB approval of the advance to Tasmanian Bluefin; and
- Tasmanian Bluefin had to ensure that, at the settlement date, the repairs and alterations have been carried out at the cost of the owner and to the complete satisfaction of the Fireside.

Commission agreement

It appears that the commission agreement was entered into between Pacific Fisheries, and Fireside, on 15 November 2005. The following salient features were reflected in this agreement:

[416] Refer Exhibit 5.26.59
[417] Refer Exhibit 5.26.60

- Fireside appointed Pacific Fisheries as its agent for the purpose of meeting, negotiating and dealing with the Tasmanian Bluefin for the purpose of agreeing the terms of the contract to be made between the Tasmanian Bluefin and Fireside;

- Fireside shall pay commission to Pacific Fisheries to the amount of AUD 518,750. Should the sum of the cost of the goods and services contemplated herein exceed the commission, Fireside would increase the commission payable to cover such shortfall;

- The duties of Pacific Fisheries included:

  - Meet, negotiate and deal with the Tasmanian Bluefin as directed by Fireside;

  - Provide to Tasmanian Bluefin details of what repairs and alterations were requires to be carried out with respect to the Vessel;

  - Agree with Tasmanian Bluefin the terms of a contract;

  - Source, purchase and bring abroad the vessel such additional engineering spares for the vessel as were specified by Fireside;

  - Source, purchase and bring abroad the vessel such additional fishing gear of a capital nature for the vessel as was specified by Fireside;

  - Prepare the vessel with bunkers, vitals and spares for delivery thereof to South Africa;

  - Crew the vessel according to Australian safe manning requirements for the delivery voyage to South Africa;

  - Depart the vessel under the control and at risk of Pacific Fisheries bound for South Africa;

  - Within six months of the delivery in South Africa of the vessel, undertake the re flagging of the vessel as South African; and

  - Undertake such other duties and perform such other functions as may from time to time be mutually agreed.

Bareboat Charterparty of vessel (Lease of vessel agreement)

The copy of the agreement, provided to us, entered into between Fireside and Little Swift Investments 77 was dated 23 September 2005. The following salient features were reflected in this agreement:

- Fireside leased the vessel to Little Swift Investments 77 for the period of 36 months;
- Although it was recorded that Little Swift Investments 77 should pay hire due to the Fireside in accordance with the terms of this agreement, no monthly amount was recorded;
- During the charter period Little Swift Investments 77 should have kept the vessel insured at its expense against hull and machinery, war and protection and indemnity risks; and
- Little Swift Investments 77 should also remain responsible for and should effect repairs and settlement of costs and expenses incurred thereby in respect of all other repairs not covered by the insurances.

Sale of shares agreement

It appears that the sale of shares agreement entered into by Fireside, Beachcove, Little Swift Investments 77 and Landau were dated 23 September 2005. The following salient features were reflected in this agreement:

- Fireside was incorporated on 19 May 2005 and was a proprietary company limited by shares with an issued share capital of 100 shares which shares were fully paid;
- Fireside would have been, at settlement be the owner of, inter alia, the fishing vessel;
- Fireside would have been, indebted to the Beachcove in the amount of AUD1 818 650;
- Beachcove was the owner of the shares in Fireside;
- Beachcove wished to sell and transfer the shares in Fireside to Little Swift Investments 77;
- The parties acknowledged and agreed that the purchase price for the purchase of the shares had been calculated on the basis that the assets of Fireside included but were not limited to the vessel and the other assets and the liabilities of the Fireside consisted of the loan funds; and

© 2006 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The p*urchase* price, to be paid by Little Swift Investments 77 for the shares, had to be the sum of AUD100.00;

We noted the following:

- Tasmanian Bluefin sold the vessels to Fireside, who purchased these vessles;
- The Australian company, in this case, Fireside, paid a commission to Pacific Fisheries to perform a number of tasks;
- Beachcove held the entire shareholding in Fireside;
- Beachcove lent the purchase price to Fireside;
- Little Swift Investments 77 purchased the 100% shareholding in Fireside form Beachcove for AUD100; and
- In addition, Little Swift Investments 77 paid the loan amount (loan between Fireside and Beachcove) to Fireside.

The agreements, entered into in respect of the other two vessels, the Ocean Dawn and the Sarah J, were identical to the agreements mentioned supra. The only differences related to the vessels specifications and the values reflected in the agreements.

Differences in agreement terms regarding Ocean Dawn

The purchase price for the Ocean Dawn, as reflected in the Agreement of Sale, entered into between Tasmanian Bluefin and Borderall Investments, was AUD1 050 000 and the deposit due was recorded as AUD100 000[418]. The commission, reflected in the Commission Agreement between Pacific Fisheries and Borderall Investments, amounted to AUD468 750[419]. Clifton Dunes entered into a Sale of Shares agreement with Beachcove, acquiring the shares in Borderall Investments from Beachcove for AUD 100[420]. The loan funds, reflected in the Sale of Shares Agreement, amounted to AUD1 568 650. Clifton Dunes entered into a Bareboat Charter Agreement with Borderall Investments to lease the vessels, but no amount was provided in respect of the monthly charter of the Ocean Dawn[421].

Differences in agreement terms regarding Sarah J

The purchase price for the Sarah J, as reflected in the Agreement of Sale, entered into between Tasmanian Bluefin and Triland Investments, was AUD905 000 and the amount relating to the deposit was recorded as AUD100 000[422]. The commission, reflected in the Commission Agreement between Pacific Fisheries and Borderall Investments, amounted AUD432 500[423]. Four Arrows Investments 148, entered into a Sale of Shares Agreement with Beachcove, acquiring the shares in Triland Investments from Beachcove for AUD 100[424]. The loan funds, reflected in the Sale of Shares Agreement, amounted to AUD1 387 400. Four Arrows Investments 148, entered into a Bareboat Charter Agreement with Borderall Investments to lease the vessels, but no amount was provided in respect of the monthly charter of the Ocean Dawn[425].

10.26.6.4 Exchange control application

Barrett submitted a letter dated 8 July 2005 to Investec[426]. The letter was captioned "Letter of motivation: Exchange control approval acquisition of further fishing vessels from Australia"

The contents of the letter include a background of SAFCO and the shareholding structure thereof. Reference was also made to the previous successful application submitted in respect of the four Australian vessels. This was followed by reasons why it was decided to purchase the equity in the Australian Companies, rather than to purchase the vessels.

Barrett also provided a pro forma balance sheet of both the Australian and the South African companies. The following was included:

Under the heading "Running the Australian companies" Barrett reflected the following:

"These companies are simply temporary vehicles that are being used to achieve a particular commercial result for the South African owners. These companies shall be administered by SAFCO's Australian appointed attorneys Over and above the capital outlay for the purchase of the fishing vessels the only fees that shall be paid from South Africa shall be legal fees incurred in the dismantling of the structure and ad hoc fees for regulatory compliance..."

10.26.6.5 Payments made in respect of the acquisition and accounting treatment thereof

According to the schedule and the supporting documents, received from Investec, an amount of R1 300 000 (AUD265 070) was paid to Cocksmacknish as a deposit for the purchase of the three vessels. We have obtained and reviewed the general ledger account of SAFCO. The funds, referred to above, were transferred to an Investec Corporate Call account held in the name of SAFCO. The funds were paid out of this account. The amount of R1 300 00 has been capitalised to an account called "Deposits – other" account number 7381. The total amount of expenses capitalised was R63 222, which included costs such as crew wages, insurance and other general expenses have been capitalised to this account.

11 Investigation of the transactions referred to in the inter company claim made by REC

On 20 June 2006, the preliminary claim of REC against JCI Limited was recorded in an Umbono document. On 3 August 2006, Van Hulsteyns Attorneys issued a document recording the final claim of REC against JCI Limited in a document. As these claims had to be subjected to mediation, it necessitated the investigation of the matters referred to in this section. We set out hereunder the evidence found in respect of the elements of the claim by REC against JCI Limited.

11.1 Claim submitted by Randgold

11.1.1 Background

11.1.1.1 Introduction

In their report styled, Formulation of claims against the JCI Group by REC, Umbono calculated and described as claim 1 in their claim document, a claim of 12 360 000 RRL shares to the value of R1 968 682 800 against the JCI group. This claim is calculated, based on the value of the shares allegedly misappropriated by JCI for their benefit, adjusted for the subdivision of the RRL shares, on 16 June 2004, and multiplied by the highest Rand price per RRL share between April 2002 and the date of the claim.

This claim should be evaluated by initially considering the number of shares claimed and then the share price to be applied. Section seven of our report of 8 May 2006 sets out background information regarding the transactions of CMMS relating to the RRL shares sold.

11.1.1.2 The shares claimed

Based on the Umbono claim document, we prepared a calculation on the number of shares claimed, determined by whether the claim was pre-or-post split of the shares[1]. As it stands, the claim relating to the number of shares is based on a post split basis, although the shares were issued and subsequently sold on a pre-split basis (i.e. prior to 16 June 2004). REC is claiming back a portion of the shares (the shares issued prior to 16 June 2004) on a post split basis, (i.e. double the number of shares issued). This can be set out in the following table:

[1] Refer Annexure HHH

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Year	Actual shares issued	Post split correction	Shares claim
2003	900 000	900 000	1 800 000
Up to 16 June 2004	2 720 000	2 720 000	5 440 000
After 16 June 2004	1 370 000	-	1 370 000
2005	3 750 000	-	3 750 000
Total number of shares	8 740 000	3 620 000	12 360 000

The effect is that REC claims an additional 3 620 000 RRL shares based on the subdivision of the Randgold shares as at 16 June 2004. These shares were sold, according to Umbono's claim document (paragraph 2.1) on the NASDAQ National Market between 1 April 2002 and 18 August 2005. The proceeds of these sales were then credited to various trading accounts held at T-Sec. The allocation of the proceeds was to the following trading accounts:

- CMMS trade account number – 648410 named Consolidated Investments;
- CMMS trade account number – 660415;
- Alibiprops trade account number – 669465; and
- RB Kebble trade account – 625087.

Based on the number of shares sold, the final allocations were as follows:

Trading account	Actual shares received	Shares claimed
CMMS Trade Account – 648410	7 125 000	9 250 000
CMMS Trade Account – 660415	31 000	62 000
Alibiprops Trade Account – 669465	1 509 000	2 898 000
RB Kebble Carry Account – 625087	75 000	150 000
Total	8 740 000	12 360 000

11.1.1.3 The amount claimed

The actual funds received in the various trade accounts during the period, as indicated in the Umbono claim document, were the following:

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Trade Account	Funds actually received R	Funds claimed R
CMMS Trade Account - 648410	663 430 430.00	1 472 877 500.00
CMMS Trade Account - 660415	4 608 150.00	9 872 260.00
Alibiprops Trade Account – 669465	209 753 104.00	461 448 540.00
RB Kebble Carry Account – 625087	9 425 400.00	23 884 500
Total	887 217 084.00	1 968 082 800.00

In paragraph 2.8.1 of their claim document Umbono states that the claim was calculated on the following basis:

"using the highest Rand price per share between April 2002 and the date of this claim."

Umbono's claim is based on the number of shares, after correction for the share split, multiplied by the highest unit Rand price of RRL shares between April 2002 and 20 June 2006, being the date of their claim. The share price was calculated at R159.23, according to Annexure 1, attached to the claim.

11.1.1.4 Shares received versus Funds received

The transaction at T-Sec

At paragraph 2.2.4 of their claim document, Umbono recorded the following:

"ABSA returned 13 312 481 shares to RGE for further splitting. 7 360 000 RRL shares were returned to ABSA as ongoing security for the debenture financing facility."

Evident from the above statement is the fact that the initial control over the RRL shares vested with REC and not with JCI. It is further our understanding that the actual RRL share certificates were given to Poole, previous company secretary of REC, for safe keeping on behalf of REC.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

During a discussion with senior management at T-Sec, we were informed that the physical share certificates were brought to T-Sec by Poole. As RRL shares were not listed on the JSE, it cannot be reflected as part of a share portfolio in a local trade accounts and, as a result, the shares were never reflected as part of the share portfolio of either CMMS or JCI.

We were further informed that the original RRL share certificates, delivered by Poole, were accompanied by a signed "Crest transfer" form and a resolution by the directors of REC, authorising the sale of the shares. T-Sec forwarded the share certificates to the stockbroker firm BJM, based in London. The RRL share certificates were converted into ADR's by BJM and kept in a nominee account of BJM, with T-Sec being reflected as the beneficiary of the relevant ADR's.

Thereafter, Poole would instruct either T-Sec or BJM to sell a number of these converted ADR's from time to time. Based on these instructions, BJM sold the required number of ADR's and transferred the proceeds of the sale to a T-Sec bank account. Upon receipt of the funds, T-Sec transferred the funds to designated trade accounts, as specified by Poole. The value transferred to the trade accounts was calculated at the Rand / UK Pound exchange rate applicable at the time of the transaction.

Based on the explanation received from T-Sec regarding the trade in the RRL shares it appears that JCI could not have received the actual shares in their trade accounts and as such could not trade in these shares in the normal sense of the word for their benefit.

Further is it clear that JCI, in their trade accounts only received the funds generated on sale of the RRL shares by BJM, upon instruction thereto by Poole.

Accounting entries - CMMS

The initial accounting entries, reflecting the transactions in the records of CMMS, were made in the ledger account styled Randgold Resources, account number 171760. Subsequently the credit of this account was transferred to a ledger account styled Masupatsela, account number 151810. For the reason behind this transfer of the balance in the ledger refer to the section below, headed Masupatsela.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Accounting entries - REC

Based on information recorded at Annexure 4 of the Umbono claim document, it appears that the transactions were recorded in account number 120709-100 styled "Loan Asset – CMMS (RRL Shares)".

The amounts were reflected in this account represented the value obtained in the sale of the shares by T-Sec. The balance of this account, an amount of R79 834 605.66 was transferred on 31 December 2003 the ledger account styled "Loan Masupatsela Inv" in the ledger of REC.

Masupatsela Investments

Publicly available information recorded that Masupatsela was incorporated on 12 September 2003 with registration number 2003/022653/07. The company was originally named and styled Changing Tides 216 (Pty) Limited, until 31 October 2003, when its name was changed to M2K Properties (Pty) Limited, until 30 November 2003, when its name was changed to Masupatsela.

The main business of the company was recorded as insurance agents, brokers and services and activities auxiliary to financial intermediation. The directors of the company were Jose Josiah Mashele and Dwafiba Ongama Koyana.

Based on our initial investigation it became apparent that this account did not represent an asset of CMMS, but merely a recording device or conduit for the flow of funds expensed to Masupatsela and others and as such prevent the recording and subsequent disclosure of related party transactions.

Summary

In both JCI and Randgold it would appear that the understanding was that funds received from the sale of RRL shares be repaid by JCI in cash and not in the form of shares.

11.1.1.5 The claim against JCI in respect of shares allocated to other trade accounts

Umbono's claim document indicates that the claim, instituted against JCI, includes transactions in RRL shares that were allocated to other trade accounts not operated or controlled by JCI. These include the transactions allocated to the following trade accounts:

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Alibiprops trade account number – 669465; and
- RB Kebble trade account number – 625087.

These accounts were not opened by CMMS and the transactions performed in these accounts were not accounted for in the accounting records of CMMS. Any funds generated in these accounts and subsequently transferred to CMMS were accounted for by way of a loan in the records of CMMS.

It was noted from Umbono's claim document, as supported by their Annexure 1, that the funds generated by the sale of RRL shares in some of the above mentioned trade accounts were never allocated to or received by CMMS, but were allocated to and paid to other beneficiaries.

During 2003, the proceeds of R55 060 350.00 on the sale of some 325 000 RRL shares in the Alibiprops trade account, were paid to:

- RB Kebble's personal bank account – R40 960 350.00; and
- Tuscan Mood – R14 100 000.00.

Based on a review of Annexure 1 attached to Umbono's claim document, it appears that R434 713 217.28 was generated from the sales of RRL shares and allocated to the Allibiprops trade account during the period September 2003 to October 2004. These funds were distributed to various entities and/or individuals, including CMMS. These funds were transferred to the following entities/individuals:

- CMMS;
- Tuscan Mood;
- Kovacs;
- Western Areas; and
- RB Kebble.

Funds, allocated to CMMS, were received either in the trade account of CMMS, account number 648410, or in the CMMS bank account held at FNB.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Summary

REC is claiming from JCI all of the RRL shares sold through the Alibiprops trade account, regardless of whether the funds were actually paid to CMMS or to other entities and / or individuals.

It appears that the funds, received by CMMS, from Alibiprops should be treated as a loan and not as shares advanced to CMMS as CMMS did not control the RRL shares in the Alibiprops trading account, which was also not owned by CMMS. Further, the claim should be limited to the actual amount received by CMMS and not the total amount of RRL shares allocated to the Alibiprops trade account, again because CMMS did not control or own the Alibiprops trading account.

Based on Annexure 1 attached to Umbono's claim document, we have prepared an analysis of the funds actually received in trade accounts and subsequently allocated to various beneficiaries.

Annexure JJJ indicates that the funds, actually allocated to CMMS, amounted to R767 018 005.42. This includes the funds allocated to the CMMS trade account number 648410 and to their bank account[2].

Summary of claim

REC claimed from JCI, not only the actual shares and the funds received on the sale of those shares, but also the additional shares that they claim to have lost due to the share split that occurred on 16 June 2004.

REC have applied the highest unit price of a RRL share during the period April 2002 and 16 June 2006, being the date of the claim. It should be investigated whether REC would have kept the RRL shares as an investment and sold it at the highest price or whether they would have sold it as and when they required funds for their operations.

The claim received from REC, namely the adjusted share volume multiplied by the highest price, compared to the actual amount received by JCI, generated from the actual shares sold and the funds generated and allocated to the relevant trade accounts, have been reflected in Annexure KKK[3]. From the analysis in Annexure KKK, it is evident that REC wishes to claim an additional 3 620 000 shares at a value of R1 080 865 716, arising from the adjustment for the effect of the subdivision of the RRL shares on 16 June 2004. This also includes the shares sold and the proceeds allocated to other beneficiaries, i.e. RB Kebble, Tuscan Mood, Western Areas and Kovacs.

Based on the argument that JCI only received the funds and not the shares from REC it appears that the claim should at best be calculated as the actual Rand amount received from REC, based on the funds generated during the sale thereof.

The REC claim should be reduced therefore from R1 968 682 800 to an amount of R887 217 084, being the total of actual funds generated on the sale of the shares on all four trade accounts as identified by Umbono.

In addition, it appears that the REC claim should be further adjusted to exclude funds paid out from the trade accounts styled:

- RAR Kebble Carry account;
- Allibiprops account; and
- Other entities and individuals, because neither JCI, nor CMMS, owned and controlled these accounts.

The adjusted claim, amounting to R887 217 084.00 should be further reduced with an amount of R120 199 078.58 to an amount of R767 018 005.42 as set out in Annexure KKK. Based on an analysis, of Annexure 1 attached to Umbono's claim document, the amount of R120 199 078.58 were paid to the following entities and/or individuals:

- RB Kebble R48 760 350.00;

[3] Refer Annexure KKK.

- Tuscan Mood R39 005 587.52;
- JCI SIT R5 425 400.00;
- Kovacs R5 000 000.00; and
- Western Areas R21 505 250.00.

Based on our initial investigation into JCI and information obtain we made further adjustments to the claim as discussed in the paragraphs referred to below:

Entity	Amount R	Further adjustment	Net claim	Refer to paragraph
CMMS – 648410	663 430 430.00	(133 010 801.82)	530 419 628.18	11.1.2.2
CMMS – 660415	4 608 150.00	(1 949 316.00)	2 658 834.00	11.1.2.3
Allibiprops	96 479 425.42	52 775 489.58	149 254 915.00	11.2.2

Total	767 018 005.42	(34 013 826.42)	684 8333 377.18

The two CMMS accounts are discussed below and the Alibiprops account is discussed in paragraph 11.2.

11.1.2 Consolidated Investments trade account – 648410

11.1.2.1 Background

In the directors' report to the audited financial statements of CMMS, for the year ended 31 March 2004, the nature of CMMS's business was recorded as follows:

"NATURE OF BUSINESS

Your company operates in the fields of management and finance and also holds investments in property and finance companies and a farming company."

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

During consultations with the current management of the company, we were informed that CMMS had acted as the treasurer for the JCI Limited group of companies in that it obtained and provided finance for the rest of the group of companies. Due to the difficulty experienced by JCI Limited to obtain normal bank generated financing, the company and more specifically CMMS, turned to trading shares by way of a script lending facility provided initially by T-Sec, who acted as agent, and subsequently directly with Socgen, in order to operate and fund the treasury function.

As a result the funds received in the CMMS trade account consist of proceeds from the sales of shares borrowed in terms of the script lending agreement, sale of RRL shares and funds transferred from various other trade accounts and entities. These funds were then utilised to fund the operations of the JCI Limited group of companies.

During the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005, total funds amounting to R1 857 520 045.20 were generated on the CMMS trade account. Of this total, an amount of R1 242 113 220.22 was generated from share trading activities[4]. These share trading activities included:

- the sale of shares borrowed from T-Sec;
- the repurchase of these borrowed shares;
- payment and receipt of dividends on shares; and
- the funding of collateral as and when required by the script lender.

For the purposes of this letter the funds received on the sale of the RRL shares and allocated to the trade account of CMMS has been included in this amount.

Due to the number of transactions that flowed through this account, it is difficult to establish the actual usage of the funds received or to link them to specific transactions.

11.1.2.2 The sale of the RRL shares in the CMMS trade account 648410

During the period 1 April 2002 to 31 October 2005, the proceeds on the sale of 7 125 000 RRL shares for a value of R663 430 697.99 were allocated to the CMMS trade account[5]. Due to the number of transactions, as explained above, that flowed through this account it is not possible to accurately establish the actual usage of the funds received in this account.

In their claim, Randgold includes the value of the shares after the adjusting for the effect of the share split. Since the actual shares were not allocated or received in the CMMS trade account, and neither CMMS nor JCI issued instructions to sell the shares, it can be argued that CMMS was the beneficiary of only the proceeds on the sale of the RRL shares.

It should be contended that CMMS received the funds or cash by way of loans and is only liable to pay back the actual cash received. For the purpose of this report we have calculated the liability of CMMS based on the actual cash received.

We tried to establish the actual receipt of the funds received on a month to month basis, by reconciling the outflow of the funds to the inflow. The purpose of this was to establish whether CMMS actually received the funds and utilised it in its treasury function or whether it acted merely as a conduit for other beneficiaries. For this purpose, we applied a "First In First Out" or FIFO – approach to the inflow and outflow of funds associated with the RRL shares. Where the amount that was paid out of the trade account could be exactly matched to the funds received on the sale of the RRL shares, we allocated the funds to either to the benefit of CMMS or the party who received it. We acknowledge that the funds allocated in this manner may not be accurate, but in our opinion, this is the only method that could be applied in an effort to follow the funds received on the sale of the RRL shares[6].

Based on our analysis, it is evident that CMMS utilised the funds received in terms of its treasury function of the JCI Group. Of these the most evident were the following:

- Funding provided to WAL;
- Alibiprops;

---

- Lyons transaction; and
- Collateral for the facilities at Socgen.

At this stage it appears that it could be argued that CMMS acted as a conduit for an amount of R133 010 801.82, that, although it received the funds, it was actually for the benefit of the entities and/or individuals indicated below.

- WAL R95 370 375;
- WALJV Funding R21 000 000;
- ADR Charges R330 000;
- Reversal of sale R93 283.50
- Kebble R12 198 897.72; and
- Boabab Aviation R4 018 245.60.

It could be argued that the amount of R133 010 801.81 should be deducted from the amount of R663 430 697.99, being the finds received through the CMMS trade account.

11.1.2.3 Sale of RRL shares in the CMMS trade account 660415

A total of 31 000 RRL shares were sold on this account on 12 February 2004, generating an amount of R4 608 150. T-Sec informed us that on the same day these funds were utilised to purchase the following shares:

- 600 000 Aflease shares; and
- 83 713 RNG shares.

These shares were subsequently transferred to other trade accounts, at this stage T-Sec are unable to indicate to us where these shares were transferred to, although they indicated that it may be the CMMS trade account 648410, they will however investigate the matter and informed us in due course.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

From a review of shares traded in the CMMS trade account 648410, it appears that RNG shares as well as Aflease shares were transferred to this account, although it is unclear at this stage from which trade accounts these shares were transferred.

Transfers of more or less the amount of these shares were transferred in October 2004 to the CMMS trade account, 648410. Based on the average share price at that stage the value transferred to the account could be calculated as follows:

Share	Number shares	Average price R	Value R
Aflease	600 000	1.92	1 152 000.00
RNG	83 713	18	1 506 834.00
Total			2 658 834.00

It could be argued that the amount of R2 658 834 should be the claim that we will pay back to Randgold as this represents the actual amount of value that we received on the date of the transfer.

Based on this the value deemed to be "lost" is R1 949 316.00, calculated as R4 608 150 (amount generated on RRL shares) minus R2 658 834 (value transferred)

11.1.2.4 Conclusion

Based on the transactions above we believe that only the cash amount of R668 038 847.99 generated on the sale of 7 156 000 RRL shares, and actually paid into the trade account of CMMS, could be claimed and as such be repaid by CMMS. This amount is calculated as follows:

Trade Account	Number shares	Amount R
CMMS – 648410	7 125 000	663 430 697.99
CMMS 660415	31 000	4 608 150.00

11.2 The Alibiprops Trade Account

11.2.1 Background

We performed a search for statutory information of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited, contained in publicly available information data bases. This search revealed the following information[7]:

- A company, named and styled Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited, was incorporated on 27 June 1996, registration number 1996/008143/07, with RB Kebble and RAR Kebble as its directors; and
- The company changed its name to BNC Investments (Pty) Limited, being the legal entity representing the interests of RAR Kebble and RB Kebble in JCI Limited.

As can be seen below, RB Kebble signed a mandate with T-Sec with the information recorded as set out below.

A schedule of the particulars of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited, completed at T-Sec for the opening of trading account number 669465, recorded the following information[8]:

- Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited with the company registration number 1992/023597/07. This registration number does not exist and the information was presented to T-Sec was fake;

[7] This information is recorded in a KPMG Corporate Intelligence report which is not annexed hereto
[8] Refer Exhibit 6.2.1

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- It had a postal address of PO Box 6257, Cresta and a physical address of 28 Harrison Street, Johannesburg. However, on 23 August 2003, Beale requested Martin van Zyl at T-Sec to change the postal address of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited to PO Box 11165, Johannesburg and to send the statements of the account for her attention;
- RB Kebble was the authorised person on this account; and
- A bank account named and styled Paradigm Shift cc with account number 020581548 at the Alberton branch of Standard Bank.

On 4 February 2003, RB Kebble and Steenkamp signed a document in terms whereof T-Sec received a consolidated limited discretionary trading mandate in respect of the above mentioned account at T-Sec[9].

On 3 August 2005, one, Tertia Penkin of T-Sec, advised Beale that T-Sec had no documentation for the Alibiprops account. Beale replied by indicating that she also did not have any statutory documents for Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited[10].

It is evident that Beale was of the view that there was a problem with the concept of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited as, on 11 February 2005, she wrote the following to Poole[11]:

"Do you have the company doc's on Alibiprops, and if so, please fax me a copy of the CM29? (If Barry is still on I must Back-date and get him off immediately)"

It appears that no company profile of Alibiprops existed at JCI Limited. We only found a company profile for Bookmark Alibiprops Investments (Pty) Limited[12]. On 19 October 2005, Beale advised Tertia Penkin of T-Sec that she never had any statutory documents for Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited in her possession and that the company did not exist[13].

In his statement to Tabacks on 8 December 2005, Poole was recorded as referring to Alibiprops as another vehicle and one of RB Kebble's personal structures used for share dealing[14].

It thus appears that no legal entity, which could assume rights and obligations, existed in the name and style of Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited. The name served no purpose other than to create a share trading account at T-Sec for purposes of trading shares and that the share trading account number 669465 at T-Sec had no substantive owner. It is further apparent that RB Kebble appears to have used the previous name of BNC Investments (Pty) Limited knowingly as BNC Investments (Pty) Limited had already changed its name at the time when the mandate with T-Sec was completed, without having wanted to commit BNC Investments (Pty) Limited as he used a previous name of the company without the correct company registration number.

It is evident that the Alibiprops trading account is a separate account and did not fall under the control or was operated to the benefit of CMMS or JCI. The ultimate beneficiary of the Alibiprops account was RB Kebble.

11.2.2 The sale of the RRL shares through the Alibiprops trade account

We obtained a reconciliation, prepared by T-Sec, of the Alibiprops trade account, account number 669465, for the period 3 January 2002 to 3 March 2005[15].

From the reconciliation it is evident that various shares were sold during the period under review, and that the proceeds were allocated to various entities and or individuals. Included in these funds were amounts transferred to this account from various other trade accounts. These were also utilised in the operation of the Alibiprops trading account.

A total of R434 713 217.28 was paid from the Alibiprops trade account to various entities, of which R161 679 915.00 was paid to CMMS as follows:

- In CMMS bank account – R21 233 089; and
- In the trade account, 648410 –R140 446 826.

The amount of R140 446 826, allocated to the CMMS trade account number 648410 appears to have been utilised as follows:

[15] Refer Annexure OOO

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Amount received	R140 446 826.00

Paid to:

• CMMS – Bank account	R43 500 000.00
• Paid Socgen – Collateral	R55 500 000.00
• Paid RB Kebble	R10 000 000.00
• Left in trade account – utilised in transactions	R31 446 826.00

From the reconciliation prepared, we further observed that an amount of R2 425 000 had also been transferred from the CMMS trade account to the Alibiprops account as part repayment of the funds received. This amount should be deducted from the amount received from Alibiprops.

Since the actual shares were not allocated or received in the CMMS trade account and neither CMMS nor JCI issued instructions to sell the shares, it can be argued that CMMS did not actually received the shares but only the proceeds thereof. As mentioned previously, neither JCI nor CMMS, controlled or owned the Alibiprops trading account.

Further, the account was not opened or operated by CMMS or by a director claiming to open it on CMMS behalf. In fact it appears that RB Kebble used this account as a personal bank account and the bulk of the payments from this account were in fact for his personal benefit.

The fact that REC wants to claim back the full amount of RRL shares traded through this account, regardless to whom the proceeds were paid, can also not be correct.

11.2.3 Conclusion

The final claim, based on the reconciliation performed by T-Sec, could be:

11.3 The RRL shares lent to Investec UK Limited ("Investec UK")

11.3.1 Background

The claim document prepared by Umbono indicated that REC claims from JCI R869 395 800 in respect of the loan of some 5 460 000 RRL shares, beneficially owned by REC, by JCI to Investec UK. It is not clear on what basis this claim was computed as Umbono did not detail the facts of the relationship between REC and JCI in respect of these shares, which we anticipated would have been necessary to determine the basis for the claim.

The background facts of this transaction were recorded at section seven of our report of 8 May 2006 and we set out hereunder that evidence relevant to the claim of REC.

As a point of departure, we noted that the claim computed by REC was basis on 5 460 000 RRL shares on a post split basis being applied to this transaction. The actual number of shares applied in the transaction, on a post split basis, was in fact 5 458 150 which, if multiplied by the share price used in the REC claim, of some R159.23 per RRL share, aggregates a claim of some R869 101 224.50. For purposes hereof, we hence assume that this is the amount that REC wished to claim.

11.3.2 The transaction

11.3.2.1 The facts relating to the sale of RRL shares in the Investec UK transaction

The following sales of RRL shares were achieved by Investec UK in terms of the funding transaction between Investec UK and JCI Limited (The cash amounts, generated from the sales of these shares and, which were made available to JCI Limited, do not include R13 180 704.00, paid to Investec UK in the form of an option fee due in terms of the funding arrangement):

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- On 19 March 2004, 811 265 RRL shares were sold, raising some R61 659 083.64. Buitendag and Stratton instructed Investec UK to pay this amount directly to Socgen Johannesburg Branch, Swift code SOGEZAJJXXX, SARBZAJ2 for the account of T-SEC on behalf of JCI Limited;

- On 26 March 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R68 352 825.12. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the bank account number 5049 181 2176 of CMMS at FNB.

- On 7 April 2004, 909 692 RRL shares were sold, raising some R71 220 894.46. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the account number 01389620307 of Investec at ABSA; and

- On 7 April 2004, 98 426 RRL shares were sold, raising some R7 544 887.41. Swanevelder instructed Investec UK to pay the proceeds of this transaction to the account number 01389620307 of Investec at ABSA.

The transaction with Investec UK itself is not the subject of this investigation, but provides the contextual framework for this part of the investigation. This section deals with the following aspects of the transaction with Investec UK:

- The nature and extent of the transaction with Investec UK;

- The source of the RRL shares used in the transaction;

- The nature and extent of the authority for the use of the RRL shares; and

- The evidence indicating the intent and purpose of the transaction.

11.3.2.2 The nature and extent of the transaction with Investec UK

Investec made a proposal to JCI Limited, dated 19 February 2004, for purposes of establishing what was named and styled a hedged equity funding mechanism, mainly to lower the cost of funding to JCI Limited. The funding of JCI Limited by means of this mechanism would comprise a loan of RRL shares by JCI Limited to Investec UK, who would convert the RRL shares into ADR's and sell the ADR's in the market. The proceeds of the ADR's, minus costs etc. would be paid to JCI Limited as collateral for the obligation to return the shares and, in the end result, comprise the funding to be provided to JCI Limited in terms of the mechanism, i.e. an arrangement akin to a reversed loan. In order to price the structure, JCI Limited and Investec UK would enter into a series of put and call options with JCI Limited being a buyer of put options and a seller of call options for a two year term and the spot price of RRL shares as the reference point. Investec UK has set forth some scenarios at the end of the transaction term which includes the return of the shares to JCI Limited, or the return of a cash amount, after the collateral amounts have been returned to Investec UK plus interest to be charged on the collateral amount provided to JCI Limited by Investec UK. The implementation of this proposal required that an Overseas Securities Lending Agreement be entered into between the parties. This agreement was signed by RB Kebble on an unknown date. The agreement provides for the lending of shares by JCI Limited to Investec UK and the providing of collateral by Investec UK to JCI Limited. The transaction was then executed as set out supra. As indicated, the transaction appears to have been executed by CMMS and we noted that, subsequent to the pricing thereof having been adjusted, the transaction released additional collateral to CMMS of some R48 million.

The hedged equity funding mechanism, as executed in this instance, required that RRL shares be lent to Investec UK.

11.3.2.3 The source of the RRL shares used in the transaction;

We found no evidence indicated that JCI Limited or its subsidiaries owned RRL shares.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

On 11 February 2005, Lamprecht forwarded to Beale an e-mail to which was attached a document named and styled "randgold recon". The e-mail was captioned "R&E/RRL Reconciliation" and refers to the attached reconciliation to be forwarded to RB Kebble and Buitendag for finalisation. This reconciliation clearly refers to the holding and movements on RRL shares owned by RRH and, ultimately, REC. It refers to shares sold during 2004 and records that the following sales took place:

- That during the period 18 March 2004 to 3 September 2004, some 2 008 449 RRL shares were sold as part of a transaction described as "Investec equity structure-shares shorted"; and
- That 730 000 RRL shares were involved, presumably sold, in what was described as the "Investec Pledge-equity derivative structure".

The total amount of shares, referred to in the reconciliation, forwarded to Beale by Lamprecht, aggregate some 2 738 449 RRL shares. This does not agree with the 2 729 075 RRL shares sold in the Investec UK transaction, as confirmed in correspondence underlying the findings of such shares sold, referred to supra. The dates of the sales, per the transaction confirmations and those per the above referred to reconciliation, also differs. It is however apparent that RRL shares, owned by RRH, were used in the Investec UK transaction.

11.3.2.4 The nature and extent of the authority for the use of the RRL shares

We noted a document in the JCI Limited directors' minute book, purporting to be a resolution by the directors of JCI, taken on 20 February 2004, to the effect that JCI Limited was authorised to enter into a hedged equity funding agreement with Investec (we presume this refers to Investec UK). This document was inter alia signed by Buitendag and Stratton. The resolution goes on to record that:

"THAT MR HC BUITENDAG or MR RB KEBBLE, in their capacities as directors of the Company, be and they are hereby authorised and empowered to sign the Agreement, and do all things necessary for the implementation thereof, and as referred to in resolution 1) above, on behalf of the Company."

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

A document, purporting to be a minute of the meeting of the directors of JCI Limited, held on 24 March 2004, recorded that the above mentioned resolution was ratified by the directors of JCI Limited on 24 March 2004. This minute was however not signed.

We noted the existence of a further document, purporting to be a resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, dated 1 April 2004 and signed by RAR Kebble, Buitendag, RB Kebble and Stratton, but not by Cornwall, indicating that any of Buitendag, Stratton and Swanevelder were authorised to sign any confirmation regarding the hedged equity funding transaction with Investec UK and that they were also authorised to generally provide payment instructions in respect of the facility.

The above mentioned resolutions and minute, although not properly signed, clearly conveys an authority from the directors of JCI Limited for the company to enter into the transaction with Investec UK. Despite the wide wording of the resolution of 20 February 2004, it appears that this resolution does not provide for the relationship between JCI Limited and RRH regarding the use of the RRL shares as the wide authority, given to Buitendag and RB Kebble in the second resolution, refers to the hedged equity funding agreement, to which neither RRH, nor REC were parties.

It does not appear to have been the intention that the above mentioned resolutions would serve as the authority for the relationship with RRH, or REC as the case may be, to use the RRL shares of RRH in the transaction with Investec UK as, in the minute book of the directors of JCI Limited, we found a document purporting to be a resolution of the directors of JCI Limited, carrying the date of 31 March 2004 and not signed by any director of JCI Limited, but recording that:

"RESOLVED

1. THAT the Company agrees to enter into the Scrip Lending Agreement with Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited whereby Randgold Resources Limited has loaned the Company 2,729,074 Randgold ordinary shares in accordance with the terms and conditions contained in the Agreement, and

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

2. THAT MR HENDRIK CHRISTOFFEL BUITENDAG, in his capacity as a director of the Company, be and he is hereby authorised to sign the Scrip Lending Agreement, and any other documentation which may be required in terms of resolution 1 above, for and on behalf of the Company."

It is apparent that this resolution was created only during October 2004, as an e-mail from Beale to Margaret Brown of JCI Limited, dated 6 October 2004, recorded the following in respect of this transaction:

"Please prepare a JCI resolution tomorrow for the attached Scrip Lending Agreement which will be dated 31 March 2004."

Although the resolution was not signed by the directors of JCI Limited, the document contains a reference in manuscript to the effect that it was ratified at the directors' meeting of JCI Limited, held at 22 October 2004. The minute book of the JCI Limited directors' meetings minutes recorded a document, purporting to be a minute of the meeting of the JCI Limited directors, held at 22 October 2004 and attended by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, Buitendag, Stratton, Swanevelder and Beale. The above mentioned resolution was recorded as ratified at this meeting. This minute was however not signed, but we understand that the minutes were normally drafted with reference to the tape recording of the meeting concerned. It is thus possible that the draft of the document recorded the resolutions taken by the directors at this meeting.

We perused the minutes of the meetings of the directors of REC and some minutes and resolutions of RRH, provided to us by Beale (we have no assurance of the completeness of these minutes and resolutions), but could not find any evidence that a scrip loan of RRL shares to JCI Limited was approved by these directors. It need however be kept in mind that these parties were related to JCI Limited, particularly as a result of common directors on the various boards. Effectively thus, if the directors, common to these boards, applied their minds towards this question at the JCI Limited board, it then follows that they must have intended for such decision to have been taken at RRH and REC. Having said this, it also need to be taken into consideration that there were directors, particularly non-executive directors, who were not common to the above mentioned companies.

11.3.2.5 The evidence indicating the intent and purpose of the transaction

We viewed a contract of loan in draft between RRH and JCI Limited for purposes of lending 2 729 074 RRL shares to JCI Limited. We have not located a signed copy of this document. This document, together with the nature of the resolutions taken by JCI Limited, indicates that, at least in the minds of the directors of JCI Limited, a loan of RRL shares were to be established. It is also so that incomplete documentation renders it impossible to construe the existence of an agreed loan and, based on the absence of documentation to such effect in the minute books of REC and RRH, it is impossible to conclude that either RRH or REC authorised and agreed to such loan. A fact from which such could be inferred is the common directorships of the persons who made the decisions at JCI Limited that the shares would be lent from RRH. Such inference has as its logical conclusion that the directors of RRH and REC, not common to both CMMS and RRH may well not have made such decision.

11.3.2.6 Disposition of funds paid from the Investec UK transaction to Investec

On 19 March 2004, 811 265 RRL shares were sold, raising some R61 659 083.64. Buitendag and Stratton instructed Investec UK to pay this amount directly to Socgen Johannesburg Branch, Swift code SOGEZAJJXXX, SARBZAJ2 for the account of T-Sec on behalf of JCI Limited. However, it appears that this amount was not received at T-Sec on behalf of JCI as a T-Sec trading account statement for account 669465, held in the name of Alibiprops, recorded that an amount of R49 979 588.00 was received in that account on 19 March 2004 from the sale of RRL shares[16]. A reconciliation of the Alibiprops trading account number 669465, prepared by T-Sec, however reflects that R61 659 083.64 was received in the Alibiprops trading account on 19 March 2004 from the Investec UK structure[17]. These funds were applied as follows:

- R11 679 784.00 was paid towards Socgen. It appears that this amount was a settlement of a loan to Alibiprops, hence showing on the reconciliation, but not on the trading account statement as it was unrelated to the trading activity of Alibiprops. It also appears to have been unrelated to JCI;

- R20 million was applied towards CMMS when R10 million was transferred to the bank account of CMMS with the balance having been transferred as collateral to Axon; and

[16] Refer Exhibit 6.3.1
[17] Refer Exhibit 6.3.2

- R29 979 836.40 was transferred to the WAL trading account number 671958. Again, JCI did not benefit from this transfer.

11.3.3 Implications

Whilst there is no evidence in the corporate memory of REC, indicating an approval of a scrip loan of RRL shares to JCI and the terms of such loan, it appears from the corporate memory of JCI that such a scrip loan might have been intended by the JCI directors although the terms thereof is not clear. However, Buitendag and Stratton, being directors of both JCI and REC signed a resolution of JCI to enter into the Investec UK structure and hence, must have anticipated that JCI would have had to borrow the RRL shares in order for JCI to execute the Investec UK transaction. Buitendag and Stratton also gave the payment instruction that led to part of the proceeds of the transaction ending up in the Alibiprops trading account where same were applied as set out above. Given the application of the cash generated by the transaction, it appears doubtful whether the use of the RRL shares was intended to benefit JCI Limited. The collapible nature of the structure furthermore can lend to different conclusions regarding the manner in which the structure was intended to unwind.

11.4 The sale of RRL shares held by Société Générale as security for scrip lending facilities granted to Consolidated Mining Management Services Limited

11.4.1 Background

REC claims some R636 692 000 from JCI in respect of the sale of four million RRL shares and the crediting of the proceeds thereof to a scrip lending facility at Socgen. The REC claim, ostensibly prepared by Umbono Financial Advisory Services, does not provide the factual basis upon which the claim is made, save to allege that the relevant scrip lending agreement with Socgen was entered into by the previous board of JCI. From what follows, it is immediately clear that that was not the case. The only other information that we could gather to support the claim being made against JCI was a decision of the REC directors on 23 March 2006 to the effect that a claim needed to be made against JCI when the said RRL shares were sold after the REC 2004 financial year end. That in itself does not seem to provide evidence that JCI is due to pay the claim.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

It is evident from the evidence related at section 9 of this report that there were two facilities with Socgen, one entered into on 13 February 2002 in terms of an agreement between Socgen, on the one part, and T-Sec and CMMS on the other parts, the transactions of which were performed in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec, and the other entered into on 12 January 2005 between Socgen and REC, the transactions of which were performed in the Randgold Scrip Lending account number 633701 at T-Sec. As can be seen from the referred to report, the transactions performed in the latter mentioned trading account were accounted for in the accounting records of CMMS, probably being the reason why the sale of the said four million RRL shares is claimed against JCI.

We set out hereunder the evidence we found in respect of the scrip lending facility provided to REC by Socgen as well as evidence relating to the Inkwenkwezi transaction, which appears to provide context to the existence of this particular scrip lending facility.

11.4.2 The Inkwenkwezi transaction

During June 2004, Anglo held some 18 784 834 WAR shares and Tawny held some 222 473 WAR shares[18]. It was agreed that these shares would have been sold to REC and to Inkwenkwezi in terms of the following agreements:

- On 9 June 2004, Anglo and REC entered into a sale agreement in terms whereof Anglo sold to REC some 5 268 800 WAR shares for a cash consideration of R197 580 000. The effective date of the transaction was three days from the date upon which all the conditions precedent were met by REC, which appears to have happened at 7 September 2004. The purchase price for the shares had to be paid in cash at the tenth business day after the day on which the conditions precedent were met. In addition, REC also granted Inkwenkwezi an option to purchase these shares. Interest, calculated at a rate of prime plus 1.5 %, was accruing on the purchase price from 1 April 2004 to the date of payment. CMMS funded REC's obligation to Anglo in the amount of R204 954 871.58[19]; and

- On 9 June 2004, Anglo, Tawny, REC and Inkwenkwezi entered into a share sale agreement in terms whereof Anglo and Tawny sold to Inkwenkwezi some 13 738 507 WAR shares for a total cash consideration of R515 194 012.50, due and payable at 1 November 2004. Interest, calculated at prime plus 1.5% accrued from the signing date of the agreement to the date of actual payment. A settlement discount of R30 million applied if the purchase price was paid in time. Randgold incurred various financial obligations to support the transaction[20].

On 3 November 2004, the attorneys acting for Anglo in the matter addressed a letter to Inkwenkwezi in which they recorded that Inkwenkwezi was in default of its obligations to Anglo arising from the latter above mentioned agreement and that Inkwenkwezi advised that alternative payment plans, aimed at settling the purchase price by 13 December 2004, would also not materialise. Hence, they requested Inkwemkwezi to propose a solution by 10 November 2004[21]. We could determine that CMMS funded some R128 798 437.50 of the purchase price due to Anglo by Inkwenkwezi, paid in three equal amounts, of which the first two amounts were paid on 1 and 31 December 2004 respectively, more fully set out at paragraph 11.15[22].

11.4.3 The facility to which the four million RRL shares, referred to in the REC claim, relates

On 26 October 2004, Buitendag, on behalf of REC, sign a securities lending agreement with Socgen. The agreement was signed by Matthieu Pasquier, on behalf of Socgen, on 12 January 2005. In terms of this securities lending agreement, Socgen undertook to lend securities to REC and the terms of each loan of securities would be determined prior to each loan. As such, this agreement constituted a facility agreement. The agreement also provided for the providing of collateral by REC to Socgen, which had to be delivered simultaneously with the loan of securities to which such collateral related[23].

Whilst the above mentioned agreement appears to have been signed towards the latter part of 2004, it is evident that the facility, embodied in that agreement, might have been implemented at an earlier date. To this end, we refer to the following documents viewed:

- A letter from REC to Socgen on 1 September 2004 in which REC pledged two million REC shares in terms of a share lending agreement between Socgen and T-Sec (We understand that T-Sec became a party to the securities lending arrangement due thereto that they had to transact the lending of the securities as agent for REC[24];

- Attached to the above document was a letter from Barnard Jacobs Mellet USA, dated 7 July 2004, in which they advised Socgen that they have set up a Tlotlisa/Socgen Collateral Account and that they have instructed that 2 650 000 RRL shares are transferred to such account[25];

- On 13 October 2004, Socgen confirmed to T-Sec that T-Sec availed of a securities borrowing facility of some R700 million[26];

- On 22 October 2004, Steenkamp of T-Sec advised the directors of JCI that a securities lending facility of R700 million has been put in place for JCI for the purchasing of WAR shares from Anglo. He further advised that R200 million thereof had already been utilised for the purchase of 5.3 million WAR shares and that the utilization of the balance of the facility was dependent upon appropriate security being put in place[27];

- On 25 October 2004, however, Steenkamp forwarded to Lamprecht a draft of a schedule to the master securities lending agreement with Socgen and a Socgen new client application form with a request that the REC board authorises the appointment of T-Sec as its agent in the transaction, the person who would be signing the agreement and that REC could enter into a general securities lending relationship. The attached drafts clearly referred to REC as the contract party with Socgen[28]; and

- On 24 November 2004, Margeret Brown, a member of the CMMS secretarial staff, drafted a REC resolution for the purposes set out in the above mentioned correspondence of Steenkamp to Lamprecht on 25 October 2004[29].

On 14 February 2005, Beale queried Van Zyl at T-Sec on the number of RRL shares held by Socgen as security. She referred to a schedule which Steenkamp of T-Sec forwarded to Lamprecht, recording that Socgen held some 6 467 500 RRL shares as security[30]. This differs somewhat from a confirmation by Socgen to Umbono on 21 November 2005, in which they confirmed holding some 6 650 000 RRL shares as security in respect of the securities lending transaction between Socgen, T-Sec and REC as at 31 December 2004, whilst holding some four million RRL shares for such purposes as at 15 November 2005[31].

It is evident that REC also published to other parties that Socgen gave them a scrip lending facility secured by the RRL shares and that such was applied towards the Inkwenkwezi transaction. Such appears from the following documents found:

- A draft letter for REC to Mark Bristow of RRL, in which it was recorded that RRL shares were used for purposes of raising some R500 million, which appears to relate to the Inkwenkwezi transaction[32]; and

- A letter from the auditor of REC asking details of the financial leveraged structure entered into by REC for which RRL shares were pledged to Socgen[33].

On 5 August 2005, a chain of events commenced that eventually led to the sale of the four million RRL shares in order to settle the obligations of REC towards Socgen in terms of the scrip lending facility at Socgen. These were the following:

- On 5 August 2005, Socgen advised REC that, in respect of the REC trading account 633701 at T-Sec, REC was in default of the collateral levels agreed to in the schedule to the global master scrip lending agreement, signed on 26 October 2004, and that, should the collateral levels not be improved, Socgen would take any action it deemed fit to redress the position, including the selling of existing collateral[34];

- On 25 October 2005, Socgen advised REC that the default, of which REC was advised on 5 August 2005, was not rectified up to that point in time and asked REC to rectify the default before close of business on 26 October 2005[35];

- The minutes of the combined meeting of the directors of REC and JCI, held on 16 November 2005, made mention of REC having closed out Socgen, but it is not clear from the minutes what exactly was discussed and reported to the various boards[36];

- On 21 November 2005, Socgen advised Umbono, who were employed by REC, that four million RRL shares were held by Socgen as security for REC's scrip lending facility at Socgen[37];

- The minutes of the joint meeting of the directors of JCI and REC, held on 8 December 2005, recorded that it was reported to the REC directors that the Socgen structure which REC has entered into was in default and, whilst Socgen requested REC's permission to sell the shares held as security, such consent was withheld. It was further reported that the four million RRL shares, pledged for the transaction between Anglo and Inkwenkwezi, would soon be released and that these shares would be placed with Socgen. It is not clear what shares are referred to here in the light of Socgen's letter to Umbono on 21 November 2005 and the fact that, at this stage, all the RRL shares appears to have been sold save the four million RRL shares claimed by Socgen to have been held by them[38];

- The minutes of the joint meeting of the directors of JCI and REC, held on 20 December 2005, recorded that Lamprecht informed the meeting that a meeting with Anglo had been rescheduled[39];

- The minutes of the joint meeting of the directors of JCI and REC, held on 11 January 2006, recorded that, in respect of REC issues, it was reported to the directors of REC that the transaction with Anglo (it appears that this relates to the transaction between REC, Inkwenkwezi, Anglo and Tawny) had been cancelled and that a letter was being sent to Anglo requesting Anglo to release the four million shares, held by Anglo, to REC[40];

- On 19 January 2006, Socgen advised RRL that it was interested in four million RRL shares. This letter did not record the nature of the interest claimed by Socgen, but such is probably defined by the evidence mentioned hereinbefore[41];

- On 23 January 2006, Socgen advised REC that they confirmed the sale of four million RRL shares from Socgen's Johannesburg account number SOX-006774 at an average price of USD16.50[42]; and

- On 25 January 2006, REC recorded in a media statement that Socgen advised REC that they sold four million RRL shares in terms of a scrip lending arrangement between REC and Socgen, which shares were held on behalf of REC by Socgen[43].

11.4.4 Cash flows in and out of the REC scrip lending account number 633701

We traced the cash flows from the REC scrip lending account number 633701 to JCI and JCI owned trading accounts and found that R400 000 was paid from the trading account number 655050 to the bank account of CMMS, whilst R31 280 159.16 was transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec, aggregating some R31 680 159.16 transferred to JCI or JCI owned trading accounts.

11.4.5 Implications

From the evidence, referred to above, it is evident that, in order to fund the Inkwenkwezi transaction, which appears to have been initiated at the instance and with the support of REC, and in which REC participated, REC entered into a scrip lending arrangement with Socgen for which RRL shares were provided as security and in terms of which arrangement the RRL shares were sold. We found no evidence of JCI's involvement in this arrangement and the recording of these transactions in the books of account of CMMS therefore appears erroneous.

Save for the cash amounts received by CMMS and in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 from T-Sec trading account number 633701, amounting to R31 280 159.16, we do not find any relevance of the above mentioned evidence to the REC claim of R636 692 000 against JCI.

11.5 RRL shares held by Paul Main

11.5.1 Background

The background to this transaction vested in one million RRL shares (pre split), which were transferred to Main in respect of an agreement between RRH and Main. After the splitting of the shares effective 16 June 2004, 1 100 000 RRL shares were returned to REC and there is a balance of 900 000 RRL shares outstanding to REC. REC is now claiming the 900 000 RRL shares, held by Main as security for an aircraft lease agreement, presumably with REC and JCI, from JCI.

In this section, we set out the evidence relevant to this transaction and consider the implications of such evidence to the claim made by REC.

11.5.2 The Transaction

11.5.2.1 Transfer of 1 000 000 RRL shares to Main

On 28 October 2003, RRH sent a letter to Lee & Pemberton in respect of the transfer of 1 000 000 RRL shares[44]. It was recorded that "...attach herewith certificate no. 00000900 for 1,000,000 (one million) Randgold Resources Limited shares, for pledging in terms of an agreement between Randgold and Mr. Paul Main..." The letter was signed by Beale in her capacity as the group company secretary[45]. We could not locate the agreement referred to above between RRH and Main.

Share certificate number 00000900 appears to be one of seven new RRL share certificates issued after certificate number 746, representing 13 312 481 RRL shares, was split by Computershare Investor Services.

On 13 November, Beale on behalf of RRH, confirmed to Investec Mauritius that 1 000 000 ordinary shares in RRL had been transferred to Concerto Nominees, a Main related entity[46].

Although it appears that the pledge of the RRL shares were to facilitate the security to purchase the aircraft as mentioned below, they were also indications that the 2 000 000 RRL shares, held by Concerto, a Main related entity, was in respect of a proposed diamond concession transaction as was reflected in a document drafted by Meininghaus during April 2005[47].

11.5.2.2 Contractual relationship relating to the acquisition of an aircraft between Main, JCI and REC

It appears that Main, JCI and REC were contractually bound to an acquisition of a Lear 45 aircraft by International Fruit Marketing, through the securities as recorded in the agreement. It appears from a series of agreements that International Fruit Marketing purchased a Lear 45 aircraft during December 2003[48]. This acquisition was financed through a loan which International Fruit Marketing, a company incorporated with limited liability in accordance with the laws of Mauritius, entered into with RMB Mauritius Limited. It was recorded in the loan agreement that one of the suspensive conditions of the agreement was that International Fruit Marketing enter into a lease agreement with Friedshelf 366. It appears from statutory searches performed that Friedshelf 366 was incorporated on 22 September 2003 with Main and Douglas Gary Tullis listed as the directors. It was further recorded that Friedshelf 366 would enter into charter agreements with REC and JCI and that Friedshelf 366 would cede all its rights under these agreements as security in favour of RMB Mauritius.

Although we are awaiting confirmation, it appears that the aircraft was registered in South Africa as ZS-PDG to Friedshelf 366 on 9 February 2004.

Further evidence, indicating that both REC and JCI entered into charter agreements with Friedshelf 366, included the "Cession and Pledge of Deposits Agreement" and correspondence dated 2 June 2005 in which RB Kebble and Buitendag informed Main, in two separate letters, that neither REC nor JCI had any objection to Main selling the aircraft and that both the companies will cancel their respective lease agreements[49]. We could not find any signed "Aircraft Lease Agreement" between JCI, REC and Friedshelf 366[50].

It appears that, from the latter part of 2004, REC and JCI attempted to recover the 2 000 000 RRL shares from the control of Main. The evidence relating to these attempts and negotiations include the following:

- On 1 October 2004, RB Kebble and Main agreed that 600 000 of the RRL shares would have been kept as security for the use agreement on the aircraft and that the balance, 1 400 000 RRL shares, would have been returned after splitting the share certificates[51]. In addition, it was recorded that, as soon as the aircraft participation had been refinanced, Main would have released the remaining 600 000 shares. Both RB Kebble and Main signed the letter. Although the letter was on a JCI letterhead, it was not clearly defined whether the "use agreement on the aircraft" was in respect of JCI, REC, or both. We assume, based on the evidence mentioned supra, that the use agreement on the aircraft applied to both JCI and REC. We could not locate any resolution by either REC, or JCI, authorising RB Kebble to conclude the agreement contained in the letter mentioned supra;

- It appears from an unsigned letter, dated 25 November 2004, that Buitendag, in his personal capacity, confirmed discussions in respect of the settlement of the obligations in relation to the Lear 45 aircraft[52]. We noted from the letter that Buitendag created the impression that Main acted as an agent for them and not the principal of the transaction. It was recorded that "...Certainly there would have been no other basis upon which shares were pledged to cover the deposit as well as the lease obligations...";

- On 25 March 2005, Simoes advised Buitendag of the Concerto/JCI transaction[53]. It appears that the essence of the transaction, which were recorded in three agreements comprising a sale of aircraft agreement, a loan agreement and a share swop agreement, was for JCI to purchase the Lear 45 aircraft, and also to recover the 2 000 000 RRL shares from Concerto. We found no evidence indicating that these agreements were finalised and/or implemented;

- We noted that there were a series of correspondence from both REC and JCI to Global on 16 May 2005 and on 19 May 2005 respectively, requesting their assistance in obtaining the release of the 2 000 000 RRL shares. It appears that both Unterhalter and Koppel were involved in the negotiations for Global[54].

  It appears from a certified copy of resolution by both REC and JCI that the 2 000 000 RRL shares were held by Investec Mauritius as security for a claim they had against Concerto[55]. It was recorded in the certified copies that Investec Mauritius was only prepared to release the shares on instruction of Concerto and payment being made to Investec Mauritius of US 2 800 000. It was further recorded that Concerto was not prepared to instruct Investec Mauritius to release the shares unless JCI and REC made payment to Investec Mauritius of US 2 800 000 and had lent to Chartered Investments, a Concerto related entity, the amount of US 4 000 000. The resolutions were certified true copies by Beale.

  The letters, dated 19 May 2005, were updated versions of the letters dated 16 May 2005 and the following were inter alia recorded[56]:

  - REC was the beneficial owner of the 2 000 000 RRL shares;
  - Shares were at the time held by Investec Mauritius as security for a claim they had against Concerto;
  - Investec Mauritius was only prepared to release the shares on instruction by Concerto and payment of US2 800 000 being made to Investec Mauritius;
  - Concerto was not prepared to instruct Investec Mauritius to release the shares unless JCI made payment to Investec Mauritius in the amount of US2 800 000, and lend to Chartered Investments, a Concerto related entity, an amount of US4 000 000;
  - REC, JCI and Discus, a wholly owned subsidiary of JCI, confirmed the arrangements made by Global and confirmed inter alia the following:

- Global had procured a loan for Discuss in the amount of US4 000 000; and
- Discus had entered into a loan agreement with Chartered Investments in terms whereof Discus lent Chartered Investments an amount of US4 000 000.

The letters were all signed by Buitendag and Beale, representing REC and JCI, and by Gray on behalf of TSEC.

- On 31 May 2005, Main undertook to arrange and/or procure the delivery of 550 000 RRL shares within six months after the date of the letter[57]. By implication, this meant that he was only prepared to release or instruct the release of 1 450 000 of the 2 000 000 RRL shares. These changes were confirmed in a JCI resolution dated 1 June 2005, which was signed by Beale.

- In a letter, dated 1 June 2005, which replaced the letters from JCI and REC of 19 May 2005, the following were recorded[58]:
  - REC was the beneficial owner of the 2 000 000 RRL shares;
  - Investec Mauritius and HSBC held 1 450 000 RRL shares as security for a claim against Concerto. Investec Mauritius was only prepared to release the shares on instruction of Concerto and upon receipt of payment of US2 800 000. HSBC was only prepared to release the shares on instruction of Concerto and upon receipt of payment in the amount of US3 600 000;
  - Concerto was not prepared to instruct Investec Mauritius and HSBC to release the 1 450 000 RRL shares unless JCI made or arranged to make payment to Investec Mauritius and lend or arranged a loan of US3 600 000 to Chartered Investments;
  - Main had undertaken to deliver to JCI the 550 000 remaining shares within six months from 31 May 2005;

- Global had procured funding for Discuss who, in turn, funded the loan to Chartered Investments and other payments to be made by Discuss as recorded in this letter. The amount of US 4 000 000 was deposited in trust for this purpose; and
- It was recorded that all the actions and agreements recorded in this document had been approved and ratified by the boards of directors of REC, JCI and Discus. The document was signed by Buitendag and RB Kebble, on behalf of REC and JCI, and by Gray on behalf of T-Sec.

- On 2 June 2005, both Buitendag and RB Kebble notified Concerto that, after and subject to the release and delivery of the shares, they would regard the payment of US2 800 000 as payment of outstanding sums due by JCI to Concerto[59]. In addition, they informed Main that they do not have any objection to him selling the aircraft[60].

11.5.2.3 Payment in the amount of US2 800 000 to Investec Mauritius

We noted from a series of e-mails that Beale informed Jane Flegg from Grange Consulting that Weston Investments would have received US2 800 000[61]. It was recorded that, as soon as Jane Flegg received the funds she had to contact Stratton and Gray, where after she had to transfer it to the account of Coutts & Co, which appears to be the account of Lee & Pembertons attorneys.

On 27 May 2005, Beale informed Jane Flegg that the Weston Investments bank account would not receive any funds. The series of e-mails were copied to Stratton, Gray Lamprecht, Buitendag and Steenkamp[62].

On 27 May 2005, Stratton, as a director of Continental, authorised Steenkamp of T-Sec to transfer R18 083 578.57 from the Continental trading account number 0657379 at T-Sec, to Coutts & Co. T-Sec sold 75 500 000 JCI shares on 20 May 2005 from the Continental trading account, which raised the R18 083 578.57[63]. On 31 May 2005, T-Sec transferred the R18 083 578.57 to Coutts & Co[64].

We noted in a Continental income tax schedule captioned "STATEMENT OF MOVEMENT OF EQUITIES SOLD DURING THE TAX YEAR" for the year ending February 2005, the movement of JCI shares through the account of Continental[65]. The schedule recorded four transactions illustrated infra:

Date acquired	Date disposed of	Movement	Sale proceeds R	Balance of shares
Balance brought forward				56 027 698
20 May 2005		32 598 578		88 626 276
	20 May 2005	75 500 000	18 120 000	13 126 276
	02 June 2005	5 000 000	1 350 000	8 126 276
21 June 2005		52 758 822		60 885 098

We noted that the transfer of 32 598 578 JCI shares was made from trading account number 691493 at T-Sec in the name of Beachcove on instruction of Beale[66]. The other transfer of 52 758 822 was made from trading account number 954487 at T-Sec in the name of Morgate[67].

It appears that the transfer of the 52 758 822 JCI shares were part of the newly issued 98 million JCI shares to Morgate in terms of an agreement relating to the transfer of JCI's interest in Boschendal[68]. Of these issued shares, 52 758 822 shares were transferred to Continental to replace some of the shares used to raise the funds which were paid to Coutts & Co.

The 32 598 578 JCI shares were transferred from Beachcove to Continental on 20 May 2005 as mentioned above[69]. However, on 27 June 2007, Buitendag instructed Beale to transfer 32 598 578 of the 98 million JCI shares issued in terms of the Boschendal transaction to Aculsha, instead of back to the Beachcove trading account at T-Sec[70]. Therefore, it appears that the 32 598 578 JCI shares sold in the Continental trading account were also effectively replaced with the portion of the 98 000 000 newly issued JCI shares[71].

11.5.2.4 The Discus Loan

As mentioned above, Global procured a loan for Discus in the amount of US4 000 000. This amount was apparently placed in trust with Lee & Pembertons. It is not clear who provided the funding to Discus[72].

On 6 June 2005, Discus a wholly owned subsidiary of JCI IOM, Chartered Investments, Chartered Holdings and Concerto entered into a loan agreement in which Discus made available to Chartered Investments the amount of US3 615 000[73].

Although we did not locate the loan agreement between Discus and the party who funded the US4 000 000 assuming that Discus needed fund its loan to Chartered Investments[74], we noted in the minutes of an informal joint meeting of the directors of JCI and REC, held on 11 January 2006, that Koppel of Global confirmed that US4 000 000 was owed to him[75].

11.5.2.5 Transfer of RRL shares

It appears that 1 100 000 RRL shares were transferred to REC. The balance of 900 000 RRL shares appears to be under the control of Main.

11.5.3 Implications

From the evidence, viewed by us, it appears that the 1 000 000 RRL shares (pre split) were transferred to Main, apparently as security in respect of an agreement between REC and Main.

It appears that Main and related entities were involved in the acquisition of a Lear 45 aircraft and both JCI and REC were linked to the transaction through their respective charter agreements with Friedshelf 366.

During May 2005, JCI and REC requested Global to assist the companies to negotiate the release of the 2 000 000 RRL shares (post split) from Concerto. It transpired that REC was the beneficial owner of the 2 000 000 RRL shares. However, Investec Mauritius and HSBC held 1 450 000 of the 2 000 000 RRL shares as security for a claim against Concerto, and were only prepared to release the shares on instruction of Concerto and upon receipt of payment of the amount owed by Concerto Nominees.

Main undertook to instruct both Investec Mauritius and HSBC to release the 1 450 000 of the 2 000 000 RRL shares upon payment of US2 800 000 to Investec Mauritius and after receiving a loan of US3 600 000. Main confirmed that he would deliver the balance of the shares within six months from 31 May 2005.

JCI caused the funding of the payment through Continental in the amount of R18 083 578.57 for the release of the 1 100 000 RRL shares to REC. Furthermore, Discus a wholly owned subsidiary JCI secured a loan of US 4 000 000 to be able to provide a loan to Chartered Investments. Despite JCI performing according to the undertakings made by JCI and REC, it appears that only 1 100 000 RRL shares were delivered to REC. Hence, it appears that JCI shareholders were diluted to fund the payment to Investec Mauritius to effectively have the RRL shares released. However, this does not affect the assets and liabilities of JCI.

11.6 Proceeds from the sale of 152 481 RRL shares

11.6.1 Background

The background to the 152 481 RRL shares sold vests in the fact that Durlacher received certificate number 906 for 952 481 RRL shares on 3 April 2002. This was confirmed in correspondence between RAR Kebble and Computershare Investor Services, Channel Islands. Besides this, the REC claim document does not record anything else against which this claim can be considered.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

11.6.2 The transaction

The directors of REC passed a resolution on 28 March 2002, resolving that the directors of RRH be authorised to lend and register 952 481 RRL shares in the name of Durlacher for a period of six months from 1 April 2002. It was further resolved that a scrip lending agreement should be entered into with Durlacher, or with its subsidiary, Kemonshey[76].

The scrip lending agreement was made between RRH and Kemonshey for the loan of 952 481 RRL shares to Kemonshey with a termination date of 30 September 2002[77].

RAR Kebble instructed Computershare Investor Services, Channel Islands, in a letter dated 3 April 2002, that the certificate for 952 481 RRL shares must be registered in the name of Durlacher[78]. In a letter, dated 4 April 2002, RAR Kebble requested Computershare Investor Services, Channel Islands, to confirm to John Daniels of Durlacher that they have a certificate for the 952 481 shares in Durlacher's name[79].

The RRL share certificate number 906 recorded that Durlacher was the holder of 952 481 RRL shares on 3 April 2002[80]. A computer screen dump printout of the RRL share register, kept by Computershare Investor Services, also confirmed that Durlacher held 952 481 RRL shares on 3 April 2002[81].

Three addendums to the scrip lending agreement between RRH and Kemonshey were made and signed. The agreements extended the termination date of the scrip loan as follows:

- Addendum number 1 – extention to 30 April 2003[82];
- Addendum number 2 – extention to 30 June 2003[83]; and
- Addendum number 3 - extention to 31 December 2003[84].

In a letter, dated 6 August 2003 and addressed to REC for the attention of RB Kebble, Stratton, as "Registered Agent" of Kemonshey, indicated that Kemonshey sought a variation to the agreement by offering 3 000 000 WAR shares in full and final settlement of all their obligations[85]. RB Kebble replied to Kemonshey in a letter, dated 28 August 2003, that they require a further 300 000 WAR shares for a total of 3 300 000 WAR shares to achieve a value equal to 952 481 RRL shares[86].

The latter was accepted by Kemonshey in a letter, dated 3 September 2003, and an agreement to this effect was drafted between REC and Kemonshey[87]. The agreement indicated the closing date as 14 days after signature of the agreement. This agreement was signed by RB Kebble on 9 December 2003 in Johannesburg and a representative of Kemonshey on 23 December 2003 in Gibraltar[88].

A reconciliation performed by T-Sec on the Wolwekloof Investments trading account number 654780, held at T-Sec, indicated that 152 481 RRL shares were sold in the account on 14 June 2002[89]. According to Van Zyl, the Wolwekloof trading account was opened by RAR Kebble and the proceeds of the sale of the 152 481 RRL shares were transferred to an ABSA private bank account that belongs to RAR Kebble[90].

11.6.3 Implications of the transaction

Of the 952 481 RRL shares registered in the name of Durlacher, 152 481 RRL shares were sold in the Wolwekloof trading account held at T-Sec. The balance of 800 000 RRL shares were sold in the New Heights 120 trading account at T-Sec, as discussed at Annexure H. The proceeds of the 152 481 RRL shares were transferred to an ABSA bank account of RAR Kebble.

It is recorded in the REC claim that the ABSA bank account, account number 16, to which the proceeds were transferred, had an overdraft facility of R16 million. The ABSA bank accounts, allegedly used by CMMS, were accounts opened by RAR Kebble. From the ABSA accounts, RAR Kebble funded loans to CMMS. CMMS, however, was not the only recipient of the funds from these accounts. The accounts were therefore not used by CMMS as set out in Annexure FB, a letter addressed to Gray in respect of RAR Kebble's ABSA bank accounts number 18 and 20.

11.7 Credit of R292 800 152 granted to CMMS

The REC claim document records a credit to CMMS of some R292 800 152, apparently in respect of the sale of 2 181 000 RRL shares of RRH having been sold. This translates to an average price per share of R134.25, which does not reflect the basis used by REC of computing the claim against JCI. There is thus an inconsistency in the manner in which the REC claim against JCI was computed in that, when REC claims against JCI, the highest share price of RRL shares since April 2002 to the date of the claim was used, whilst, when credit was given to JCI, it appears that the actual price at which the shares were sold, was used. The principles used in this item of the claim document are thus not consistent with the balance of the items in the claim document. Nothing however turns on this point, as is evident from what follows, although this point illustrates the lack of consistency in computing of the REC claim.

Over and above the point raised in the preceding paragraph, it appears that this so called credit is derived from the entries in the books of account of REC where, when RRL shares were sold and the proceeds of such sales were transferred to CMMS or JCI, the accountants of REC debited JCI or CMMS in the books of account of REC. This aspect relates to the accounting treatment of substantive transactions and bears no relation to the substantive claims subject to mediation. It is a confusing of two concepts, on the one hand the substantive claims emanating from actual transactions performed, and on the other hand the presentation thereof in the books of account of REC. Including the latter aspect into the claim document is irrelevant to the actual claim as between the companies. The manner in which a transaction is presented in the books of account is merely a representation of the transaction itself and not the substantive transaction.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

This item should therefore not be part of that which the mediators would be assessing as it is not a transaction. Similarly, those entries in the books of account of JCI and/or CMMS should also not be part of the mediation process.

11.8 Proceeds from the sale of 3 000 000 DRD and 800 000 RRL shares

11.8.1 Background

In the REC claim, it is recorded that 3 000 000 DRD shares and 800 000 RRL shares, of which REC was the beneficial owner, were misappropriated and that proceeds of the sale of these shares were utilised to raised funds of R155 million to meet the underwriting loan commitments of BNC and Investage of R85 million and R70 million respectively.

The 3 000 000 DRD shares were dematerialised in the PB Bawden trading account at T-Sec, and the 800 000 RRL shares were sold through a trading account at T-Sec.

11.8.2 The transaction

11.8.2.1 800 000 RRL shares

The 800 000 RRL shares sold in the New Heights 120 trading account at T-Sec, comprised the balance of RRL shares that Durlacher obtained per certificate 906, on 3 April 2002, totalling 952 481 RRL shares as discussed in paragraph 11.6 supra.

The 800 000 RRL shares were sold in the New Heights 120 trading account on 5 April 2002 and the proceeds, aggregation R54 115 088.39, were transferred to the trust account of Mallinicks Attorneys, held at FNB on 8 April 2004[91].

11.8.2.2 3 000 000 DRD shares

Pearcey stated in his affidavit in the application of REC and BNC that REC held 3 000 000 DRD shares through a nominee called Goudstad Nominees and that these shares were sold in the PB Bawden trading account[92]. We were however unable to obtain evidence that the 3 000 000 DRD share certificate, registered in the name of Goudstad Nominees, was an asset of REC.

We obtained correspondence and other documentation indicating that REC obtained 3 000 000 DRD shares from CMMS during 1999[93]. Two DRD share certificates, namely certificate 9719 for 2 000 000 DRD shares and certificate 9720 for 1 000 000 DRD shares were transferred to REC during March 1999[94]. A new certificate number 13114 for 3 000 000 DRD shares were registered in the name of REC[95]. These shares were however sold into the market between 30 June 1999 and 19 November 1999[96]. Due to the change in the accounting system at REC and CMMS, we were unable to determine if CMMS received payment from REC for the 3 000 000 DRD shares.

The 3 000 000 DRD shares which REC obtained form CMMS and which were registered in certificate number 13114, were sold into the market between 30 June 1999 and 19 November 1999[97].

The Goudstad Nominees held DRD share certificate number 27786 for 3 000 000 DRD shares, which was dematerialised in the PB Bawden trading account, was re-materialised in certificate form on 10 December 2001[98]. The certificate was transferred to Tradek Balderson Nominees on 8 February 2002 and a new certificate number 28074 was issued[99]. The DRD share certificate number 28704 for 3 000 000 DRD shares was dematerialised on 12 February 2002 in the PB Bawden trading account at T-Sec[100].

Certificate number 27786 in the name of Goudstad Nominees was delivered from SocGen London to SocGen Johannesburg for the account of RAR Kebble. The physical certificate was delivered to the office of RAR Kebble and his secretary signed receipt for the delivery[101].

The certificate was handed to Beale who instructed T-Sec to accept the shares and to dematerialise the shares in her PB Bawden trading account.

On the instruction of Beale, 2 359 376 DRD shares were sold in the PB Bawden trading account and proceeds of R70 363 226.68 were raised[102]. 540 624 DRD shares were transferred to the New Heights 120 trading account where it were sold and proceeds of R16 670 852.63 were raised[103]. R16 086 786.97 of such proceeds was transferred from the New Heights 120 trading account to the PB Bawden trading account[104]. The balance of R584 065.66 of the proceeds raised in the New Height 120 trading account was transferred to the RAR Kebble ABSA bank account on 26 February 2002[105].

The remaining balance of 100 000 DRD shares were transferred from the PB Bawden trading account to the Hothouse Investments trading account at T-Sec[106]. The 100 000 DRD shares that were transferred to the Hothouse Investments trading account were again transferred to a trading account held at Rice Rinaldi on 6 March 2006[107].

The aggregate proceeds of R86 450 013.65, raised in the PB Bawden trading account from the dematerialised sale of the DRD shares, were transferred from that trading account to[108]:

The aggregate proceeds transferred from the PB Bawden trading account include the proceeds of R70 363 226.68 from the sale of the DRD shares in the PB Bawden trading account, as well as the proceeds of R16 086 786.97 that was raised from the sale of the DRD shares in the New Heights 120 trading account and transferred to the PB Bawden trading account.

We were unable to obtain any evidence to indicate that the 3 000 000 DRD shares which were dematerialised and sold in the PB Bawden trading account were in fact misappropriated REC assets.

The sale of 2 900 000 DRD shares in the PB Bawden and New Heights 120 trading accounts, raised proceeds of R87 034 079.31. Of these, the amount of R27 986 984 was transferred to Frankel Consulting for the account of RAR Kebble. RAR Kebble received R59 047 095.31 in his ABSA account.

It is recorded in the REC claim that the R155 million that BNC and Investage raised to meet their underwriting loan commitments was funded with the misappropriation if 3 000 000 DRD shares and 952 481 RRL shares.

The 2 900 000 DRD shares sold, raised proceeds of R87 034 079.31 (paid to Frankel Consulting and RAR Kebble) whilst the RRL shares raised proceeds of R54 115 088.39 from 800 000 RRL's (paid to Mallinicks) and R10 211 008.35 for 152 481 RRL's (paid to RAR Kebble)[109].

The aggregate of these proceeds is R151 360 176.05.

We obtained an explanation from Tabacks in respect of how the R155 million was raised. This explanation is included in our exhibits. The explanation however does not show any evidence or indication of the origin of the 3 000 000 DRD shares re-materialised to form the Goudstad Nominee certificate number 27786[110].

11.8.3 The underwriting loans provided to JCI by BNC

On 2 September 2002, JCI Limited issued some 188 713 570 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited to BNC in settlement of a loan of some R85 million due to BNC by JCI Limited.

BNC was incorporated on 27 June 1996 as Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited with registration number 1996/008143/07 and subsequently had its name changed to BNC. RB Kebble and RAR Kebble were the directors of this company. This company was a representative of the interest of the Kebble family in JCI Limited.

It appears that, when JCI Limited wanted to acquire JCI Gold during 2002, the acquisition was to have been funded by means of a renounceable rights offer, underwritten by BNC and Investage, who provided underwriting loans to JCI Limited. These loans were repaid by means of the issuing of JCI Limited shares to BNC and Investage.

On 3 April 2002, a loan agreement was entered into by JCI Limited, on the one part, and by BNC, on the other part. The agreement was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by RB Kebble, on behalf of BNC[111].

The loan agreement recorded that JCI Limited required to borrow R155 million to enable it to pay the cash portion due to the participants in a scheme of arrangement for purposes of acquiring the entire issued share capital in JCI Gold. For such purposes, the parties agreed that BNC would lend R85 million to JCI Limited. This loan had to be repaid in cash and, in so far as there being a balance left between the amount of the loan and the rights offer proceeds, such balance would be repaid with JCI Limited shares, calculated by dividing the balance to be paid by R0.45.

We noted that the rights offer was not fully subscribed for.

We noticed a further agreement, styled an underwriting agreement by and between BNC, on the one part, and JCI Limited, on the other part. The agreement was signed on 11 June 2002, by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by RB Kebble, on behalf of BNC. The purpose of this agreement was merely to change the loan agreement into a proper underwriting agreement in that BNC committed itself to taking up the shares offered in the rights offer, which have not being taken up in the rights offer by JCI Limited[112].

For purposes of executing the scheme of arrangement, a JCI scheme account number 62036044494 was opened with FNB. On 15 July 2002, R156 470 773.32 was deposited into this account by Corpcapital Bank.

Journal 1450 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited, recording the receipt into the scheme bank account in the following manner[113]:

- Debit bank with reference to the JCI Gold scheme of arrangement with R156 470 773.32;
- Credit BNC with R85 million;
- Credit Investage with R70 000 000; and
- Credit sundry creditors with R1 270 773.32.

The journal carried the following narration:

"Proceeds from loans i.t.o. undertaking"

JCI Limited has received value for the shares issued, in that cash was received as per the loan agreements.

The shares, issued to BNC, equate to the repayment of R84 921 107, when the agreed rate of R0.45, per the loan agreement is applied, probably due thereto that the rights issue was not fully subscribed for.

11.8.4 The underwriting loans provided to JCI by Investage

On 2 September 2002, JCI Limited issued some 155 411 176 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of JCI Limited to Investage in settlement of a loan of some R70 million due to Investage by JCI Limited.

Investage was incorporated on 14 August 2001 with registration number 2001/019101/07. Cornwall and Poole were the directors of this company. This company was a representative of the interest of Cornwall in JCI Limited.

It appears that, when JCI Limited wanted to acquire JCI Gold Limited during 2002, the acquisition was to have been funded by means of a renounceable rights offer, underwritten by BNC and Investage, who provided underwriting loans to JCI Limited. These loans were repaid by means of the issuing of JCI Limited shares to BNC and Investage.

On 3 April 2002, a loan agreement was entered into by JCI Limited, on the one part, and by Investage, on the other part. The agreement was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by Cornwall, on behalf of Investage[114].

The loan agreement recorded that JCI Limited required to borrow R155 million to enable it to pay the cash portion due to the participants in a scheme of arrangement for purposes of acquiring the entire issued share capital in JCI Gold Limited. For such purposes, the parties agreed that Investage would lend R70 million to JCI Limited. This loan had to be repaid in cash and, in so far as there being a balance left between the amount of the loan and the rights offer proceeds, such balance would be repaid with JCI Limited shares, calculated by dividing the balance to be paid by R0.45.

We noted that the rights offer was not fully subscribed for.

We noticed a further agreement, styled an underwriting agreement by and between Investage, on the one part, and JCI Limited, on the other part. The agreement was signed on 12 June 2002, by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI Limited, and by Cornwall, on behalf of Investage. The purpose of this agreement was merely to change the loan agreement into a proper underwriting agreement in that Investage committed itself to taking up the shares offered in the rights offer, which have not being taken up in the rights offer by JCI Limited[115].

For purposes of executing the scheme of arrangement, a JCI Gold scheme account number 62036044494 was opened with FNB. On 15 July 2002, R156 470 773.32 was deposited into this account by Corpcapital Bank.

Journal 1450 was processed in the ledger of JCI Limited, recording the receipt into the scheme bank account in the following manner[116]:

- Debit bank with reference to the JCI Gold scheme of arrangement with R156 470 773.32;
- Credit BNC with R85 million;
- Credit Investage with R70 000 000; and

11.8.5 Implications of the transaction

We were unable to obtain evidence that the 3 000 000 DRD shares, re-materialised to form the Goudstad Nominees certificate number 27786, originated from DRD shares that REC was the beneficial owner of. The amount of R27 million from the proceeds of the DRD shares sold in the PB Bawden trading account was utilised to settle a debt of RB Kebble at SocGen.

The balance of the proceeds was transferred to bank accounts held by RAR Kebble.

The 800 000 RRL shares sold in the New Heights 120 trading account was in the name of Durlacher. The proceeds of the sale of theses shares were transferred to the Mallinicks trust account. According to Tabacks the proceeds was again transferred to CorpCap to form part of the funding of BNC and Investage.

Over and above the evidentiary difficulties with the basis of the REC claim, mentioned above, it is further evident that BNC and Investage lent funds to JCI, which loans were repaid to BNC and Investage by JCI. Hence we fail to find any evidence indicating indebtedness to REC in respect of REC assets having been liquidated and the proceeds having been transferred to BNC and Investage, even if it can be proved that REC owned the DRD shares that REC claim were sold to fund BNC and Investage.

11.9 Receipt of three million REC shares by JCI/CMMS from Equitant

11.9.1 Background

The background of the transaction in which 8.8 million REC shares were transferred to Equitant and in which REC claims R97 350 000 from JCI is vested in what is referred to as the Phikoloso transaction. As we understand the claim of REC, formulated by Umbono, REC has a claim against JCI because some of the REC shares, issued to Equitant in pursuance of the execution of the Phikoloso transaction, were transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account of CMMS at T-Sec.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Our understanding of the Phikoloso transaction, in summary, is that Equitant was a subsidiary of Phikoloso and that Viking Pony was a wholly owned subsidiary of Equitant at the time of the transaction[117]. In terms of the Phikoloso transaction, REC issued 8.8 million REC shares to Equitant against which Equitant transferred all the shares it held in Viking Pony to REC. As we understand it, the underlying value of Viking Pony vested in certain listed securities which Viking Pony ostensibly held and which Umbono found was not the case. In addition, Viking Pony would also have held 75% of the issued share capital in Kabusha, who in turn would have held 23 million Aflease shares. As Umbono found, and as is evident from Annexure L, these shares in Kabusha were not issued to Viking Pony. Furthermore, Kabusha had to purchase the 23 million Aflease shares from Benoryn and had to borrow money to do so. We have indicated at Annexure I, that, from that perspective, the Phikoloso transaction, in so far as it relates to the acquisition of Kabusha, was flawed as REC issued shares to Equitant for an asset which would have been balanced with the obligation to repay the funds to be borrowed for purposes of buying the Aflease shares with, hence having no net asset value at the time of the transaction.

In this section, we set out the evidence relevant to two separate transactions and consider the implications of such evidence to the claim made by REC. Relevant documents are referred to at annexure JA.

11.9.2 The Transaction

11.9.2.1 Transfer of 3 000 000 REC shares from Equitant

It was recorded in a resolution by the directors of JCI Limited, dated 27 November 2003, that the secretary reported that JCI entered into a scrip lending agreement with Equitant, in terms whereof JCI borrowed 3 000 000 REC shares from Equitant[118].

It is evident from a scrip lending agreement, dated 27 November 2003, that Equitant lent to JCI 3 000 000 REC shares[119]. The effective date of the agreement was 27 November 2003 with the repayment date recorded as 30 April 2004. The scrip lending fee was recorded as "....the equivalent of 1% per month of the value of the loaned securities based on a price of R35.00 per share ....". It was recorded that the securities should remain the property of Equitant. We could only locate a copy of the agreement signed by Buitendag on behalf of JCI.

Furthermore, we located an addendum to the scrip lending agreement mentioned above between Equitant and JCI[120]. The termination date of the agreement was amended from 31 April 2004 to 30 April 2006. The addendum was signed on 30 April 2004 by both Ncwana, on behalf of Equitant, and by Buitendag, on behalf of JCI.

On 28 November 2003, Beale instructed Van Zyl to transfer 3 000 000 REC shares out of account number 0671982, the Equitant trading account at T-Sec, to Consilium Capital, account number 199208 or Letseng Diamonds[121]. It was recorded in the instructions that there were no changes in beneficial ownership of the shares and that the 3 000 000 shares would be pledged to Letseng.

On 1 December 2003, 3 000 000 REC shares were transferred from account number 669465, the trading account of Equitant, to account number 199208, the trading account of Letseng Diamonds held at Consilium Capital[122].

It appears that JCI pledged the 3 000 000 REC shares to Letseng Diamonds in terms of an agreement entered into between JCI and Letseng on 27 November 2003. It was recorded in this agreement that JCI signed an acknowledgement of debt to Letseng on 6 December 2002 in the principle sum of US$6 500 000[123].

It appears that JCI did not pay to Equitant the monthly scrip lending fee as recorded in the agreement mentioned above.

11.9.2.2 Transfer of 300 000 REC shares from Equitant

On 22 January 2004, 300 000 REC shares were transferred from account number 0671982 the Equitant trading account at T-Sec to account number 648410, the Consolidated Investments trading account, which was the trading account used by CMMS at T-Sec[124].

The only evidence that we could locate relating to the instruction to T-Sec to transfer the 300 000 REC shares to Consolidated Investments, is a handwritten note made by T-Sec[125]. the following was recorded, "more 300,000 RNG to Acc 648410 as per George Poole on ext 370 – 1905 at 156h25 ...."[126]. Furthermore, it was recorded in schedules, prepared by T-Sec, that the shares were to be sold for top-up collateral to the stock lender.

11.9.3 Implications

Equitant received 8 800 000 REC shares on 9 January 2003 in terms of an agreement with REC. JCI was not a party to this agreement.

JCI borrowed 3 000 000 REC shares from Equitant and these were pledged to Letseng. Equitant is still the owner of the shares as ownership was never transferred.

There is no contractual relationship between CMMS and REC in respect of the 300 000 REC shares transferred from Equitant to the CMMS trading account. We found no evidence in respect of the abovementioned transfers indicating that such transfers had an effect on the assets and liabilities of REC.

11.10 Receipt of 1 600 000 REC shares by CMMS from Paradigm Shift CC

11.10.1 Background

The background of the transaction in which 8.8 million REC shares were transferred to Equitant and 3 088 000 RGE shares were transferred to a Paradigm Shift trading account whereupon 1 600 000 REC shares were transferred to CMMS in which REC claims R47 200 000 from JCI, is vested in what is referred to as the Phikoloso transaction. The broad structure of the Phikoloso transaction is described at Paragraph 11.9[127].

In this section, we set out the evidence relevant to two separate transactions and consider the implications of such evidence to the claim made by REC. Relevant documents are referred to at annexure KA.

11.10.2 The Transaction

On 4 September 2003, Beale instructed van Zyl to transfer 1 800 000 REC shares from account number 671982, the trading account of Equitant at T-Sec to account number 692343, the Paradigm Shift trading account at T-Sec[128]. The 1 800 000 shares were transferred as per the instruction as referred to above.

On 24 October 2003, Poole instructed van Zyl to transfer 600 000 REC shares from the Paradigm Shift account to the trading account of CMC at Computershare[129]. It was recorded that there were no change in ownership of the shares. The shares were transferred to the trading account of CMC on 27 October 2003.

On 27 October 2003, Poole instructed van Zyl to transfer 1 000 000 REC shares from the Paradigm Shift trading account at T-Sec to the trading account of Consolidated Investments, the trading account used at T-Sec by CMMS[130]. The shares were transferred according to the instruction as mentioned above.

There appears to be no contractual relationship between CMMS and REC in respect of the shares transferred to CMMS and its subsidiaries.

11.10.3 Implications

Equitant received 8 800 000 REC shares on 9 January 2003 in terms of an agreement with REC. JCI was not a party to this agreement.

There appears to be no contractual relationship between CMMS and REC in respect of the transfer of the 1 600 000 REC shares transferred from Equitant to Paradigm Shift and then transferred for the benefit of CMMS. We found no evidence in respect of the above mentioned transfers indicating that such transfers had an effect on the assets and liabilities of REC.

11.11 8 100 000 Aflease shares transferred to REC from Kabusha

11.11.1 Background

The background of the transaction in which 8.1 million Aflease shares were transferred to REC and in respect of which REC claims R95 499 000 from JCI is vested in what is commonly referred to as the Phikoloso transaction. The broad structure of the Phikoloso transaction is described at paragraph 11.9.

The part of the Phikoloso transaction that is relevant to the issue dealt with in this section concerns the purchase by Viking Pony of 75% of the issued share capital of Kabusha, Viking Pony having become a wholly owned subsidiary of REC as a result of the Phikoloso transaction. In turn, Kabusha had to purchase 23 million Aflease shares from Benoryn to create the value in the transaction.

In so far as the treatment of the 8.1 million Aflease shares are concerned, it is noteworthy from the terms of the Phikoloso transaction that REC would have issued 8.8 million REC shares to Equitant for, amongst others, the purchase of 75% of the issued share capital of Kabusha, who was supposed to have 23 million Aflease shares as its asset, which it did not have at the time of issuing the REC shares to Equitant. It thus follows that, at that stage, at least part of the REC shares issued would not have been matched to an underlying asset, which of course has a dilutory effect on the value of then existing REC shareholders' shares. The underlying value could only be established if and when Kabusha purchased the Aflease shares, which needed to be funded as Kabusha appears not to have had the assets with which to fund the purchase of the Aflease shares from Benoryn. Should that funding have been provided by REC as a loan to Kabusha, it would not have mitigated the dilutory effect of this part of the transaction.

In this section, we set out the evidence relevant to this transaction and consider the implications of such evidence to the claim made by REC. Relevant documents are referred to at annexure LA.

11.11.2 The transaction

It is evident from the draft minutes of a JCI group executive committee meeting, held on 25 June 2003, that the transaction between Benoryn and Kabusha regarding the acquisition of the 23 million Aflease shares would have been a transaction for which REC was responsible. In this regard, RB Kebble reported to the meeting that Skeat wanted to sell 23 million Aflease shares and that REC would set up a BEE vehicle to facilitate the transaction[131]. This is further supported by the following documents:

- The draft shares certificate of Viking Pony and the 2003 AFS of REC, recognising Viking Pony as a wholly owned subsidiary of REC[132]; and
- The 2003 AFS of REC disclosing information regarding the ostensible effect of the transaction on REC's financial position[133].

In pursuance of the above referred to concept, REC, Equitant and Phikoloso, on 28 July 2003, signed an agreement in terms whereof Equitant sold, amongst others, the entire issued share capital of Viking Pony to REC against payment comprising a fresh issue of 8.8 million REC shares to Equitant[134]. This leg of the transaction is dealt with in more detail at paragraph 11.9.

On 30 January 2004, Kabusha, Viking Pony, Nexus, Covenant, Umlilo and the Covenant Trust entered into an agreement having as its purpose the restructuring and issuing of Kabusha's shares capital. It appears that, at that stage, Nexus, Covenant, Umlilo and the Covenant Trust held 1000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of Kabusha. In terms of this agreement, such shares were to be converted to 1000 A ordinary voting shares to be held by these mentioned parties. In addition, and in order to establish the holding of 75% of the issued share capital of Kabusha by Viking Pony, Kabusha would have issued 3000 B non voting ordinary shares in the share capital of Kabusha to Viking Pony[135].

As mentioned hereunder, these 3000 B non voting ordinary shares in the share capital of Kabusha were never issued. Prior hereto, we noted a sale agreement by and between CMMS and Viking Pony, dated 15 July 2003 and in terms of which CMMS would purchase the 3000 B shares in Kabusha from Viking Pony on 5 July 2003 for some R25 875 000[136]. We found no evidence that this agreement was ever implemented. As is also evident from the documents described hereunder, Viking Pony could in any event not perform in terms of this agreement as the 3000 B shares in Kabusha were not issued to Viking Pony. This matter was outstanding even as at 1 September 2005.

On 25 June 2003, a sale of shares agreement was concluded by and between Benoryn, Kabusha, Nexus, JCI and Trinity. In terms of this agreement, Benoryn sold 23 million Aflease shares to Kabusha for R92 million. R40 million of the purchase price was due and payable at 30 June 2003 and the remaining balance plus interest thereon was due and payable by no later than 31 October 2003. The shares would have been transferred to Kabusha on 30 June 2003. The relevance of Nexus in the agreement was that Nexus ostensibly brokered the transaction, hence would have been earning a commission of R920 000, to be funded by the first payment by Kabusha to Benoryn of some R40 million. Clause 14 of the agreement sets out the relevance of JCI and Trinity to the agreement and arranged that JCI and Trinity bound themselves jointly and severally in favour of Benoryn as sureties and co-principal debtors in solidum with Kabusha[137].

We mentioned above that the transaction appears flawed in that the REC shares would have been issued to Equitant whilst the assets, that would have been underpinning the issue of the shares, still had to be purchased by Kabusha and that such purchase still had to be funded at the time of the transaction. Apparently, in response to this problem, on 19 June 2003, a letter was drafted, apparently by Deneys Reitz, to be addressed by REC to Kabusha and confirming that REC would lend Kabusha the amount of R92 million for purposes of funding the obligation of Kabusha to pay R92 million to Benoryn for the acquisition of 23 million Aflease shares from Benoryn. We saw no evidence indicating that this letter was actually published[138]. However, on 25 June 2003, a loan agreement was drafted by Deneys Reitz. This agreement, entered into between Viking Pony and Kabusha, was signed, apparently, sometime during January 2004. In terms of this agreement, Viking Pony would lend to Kabusha the R92 million purchase price on the relevant dates when Kabusha had to make payment to Benoryn for the 23 million Aflease shares purchased from Benoryn.

The loan would have accrued interest and, as security for the loan, Kabusha pledged to Viking Pony the 23 million Afflease shares purchased from Benoryn[139].

The first payment of R40 million for the purchase of the 23 million Aflease shares from Benoryn was due by Kabusha as at 30 June 2003. In response hereto, we noted that a reconciliation by T-Sec of the REC trading account number 655050 recorded that, on 27 June 2003, REC purchased 8.1 million Aflease shares for R40 722 759. There was not enough cash funds in this trading account to settle this ostensible purchase with, hence, on 2 July 2003, we suspect when settlement was due, a cash amount of R40 722 759 was transferred into this account. We understand from accounting staff at REC that this transfer was funded from a Standard Bank bank account of REC. Then, on 22 July 2003, the 8.1 million Aflease shares were transferred to the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec[140]. It appears from a reconciliation by T-Sec of the Aflease transactions in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec that the 8.1 million shares, transferred there, were confused with Aflease shares already in that account, of which some 6 085 406 were sold and some 2 million were transferred to Nedcor Securities on 13 September 2004. These shares were transferred back to the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 on 27 October 2004, having apparently been lent to Aflease, where after 2 million Aflease shares were again transferred to the Alibiprops trading account number 669465 at T-Sec, apparently to be sold in that account[141]. On 6 May 2005, Martin van Zyl of T-Sec again described the transaction of the 8.1 Aflease shares in the REC trading account number 655050 as a purchase of those shares by REC when he confirmed the existence of the transaction to Beale[142]. Despite this, we have seen the following evidence suggesting that REC did not purchase the 8.1 million Aflease shares, but in fact received same as security for a loan to Viking Pony, who in turn lent the funds to Kabusha for purposes of paying Benoryn:

- On 15 March 2004, George, on behalf of Kabusha, addressed a letter to Oosthuizen of REC, confirming that, as at 31 December 2003, Kabusha had a loan outstanding to Viking Pony of some R92 million, excluding interest[143]. This appears true to the extent of R40 million having been received, but is indicative that Viking Pony lent money to Kabusha. If the above mentioned advices of T-Sec are correct to the effect that REC purchased the 8.1 million Aflease shares, it is difficult to comprehend how Kabusha could still be indebted to Viking Pony for the amount of the first payment of the purchase price due to Benoryn by Kabusha, on the one hand, and on the other hand, how REC could purchase the security provided to Viking Pony by Kabusha for the loan from Viking Pony to Kabusha when Kabusha still owned the 8.1 million shares, such shares forming part of the 23 million Aflease shares pledged to Viking Pony as security for the loan in terms of the loan agreement of January 2004, particular in light thereof that Kabusha had until 30 June 2008 to repay the loan;

- We have been placed in possession of a draft of the affidavit of Gray, we understand of which a signed copy was lodged at court in the application by REC for the liquidation of Viking Pony. Attached to this affidavit was a selective extract from the AFS of Viking Pony as at 31 December 2003. Note three thereto recorded an amount due to Viking Pony by Kabusha per a loan between the parties, which amount was secured by 23 million Aflease shares and repayable as at 30 June 2008. If REC has purchased the 8.1 million Aflease shares, there could not have been 23 million Aflease shares securing the debt due to Viking Pony by Kabusha[144];

- Also attached to a supplementary affidavit of Gray in the liquidation application of Viking Pony, of which we have been provided a draft of, was a copy of a letter from CAP Chartered Accountants to REC, dated 22 July 2005, in which they require REC to confirm that REC held 8.1 million Aflease shares belonging to Kabusha as at 31 December 2004[145]. This was acknowledged by Buitendag on 10 August 2005. Instructive in this regard is the acknowledgement of Buitendag that the shares belonged to Kabusha, even though we noticed that REC did not hold the Aflease shares, referred to, in its trade accounts at T-Sec as at 31 December 2004; and

- An e-mail from George to Beale on 19 April 2005, in which he refers to a discussion he had with RB Kebble and in which he indicated that the 8.1 million Aflease shares, purchased by REC, could be disposed of by REC in full settlement of REC's claim against Kabusha[146]. Whilst George used the term purchase, it is clear that he could not have used such term in the context of REC acquiring ownership of the 8.1 million REC shares in 2003 as, if that was the case, REC did not require approval from George to dispose of the shares.

Effectively, at that stage it seems that George agreed to set off between the outstanding debt of Kabusha to Viking Pony and the 8.1 million Aflease shares held by REC, apparently not as owner, but as security at that stage. At that stage however, REC did not hold the 8.1 million Aflease shares, having transferred same to the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec, from where 2 million Aflease shares have again been transferred to the Alibiprops trading account.

Kabusha did not pay the second portion of the purchase price to Benoryn at the agreed date, possibly because Viking Pony did not fund Kabusha as per the loan agreement of January 2004. Following litigation between Benoryn and Kabusha, JCI and Trinity as a result of such non payment, Benoryn obtained judgement against Kabusha. As the judgement debt could not be satisfied against Kabusha, despite the fact that Viking Pony had an obligation to lend the funds for the second payment to Kabusha, JCI, in its position of surety for the obligations of Kabusha, settled the judgement debt in the amount of R67 546 991.12.

11.11.3 Implications of the transaction

From the evidence, viewed by us, it appears that the 8.1 million Aflease shares, initially transferred to REC, apparently as security for the advancing of some R40 million to Kabusha, and which were later relinquished to REC in what appears to have been a set off transaction, were transferred at no value to the Consolidated Investments trading account of CMMS at T-Sec, where most of such shares were sold, save for 2 million Aflease shares which were transferred again for no value to the Alibiprops trading account.

When Viking Pony did not comply with its loan obligation to Kabusha to fund the payment of the second part of the purchase price plus interest due on the acquisition of the 23 million Aflease shares, JCI paid R67 546 991.12.

11.12 The sale of REC shares issued to Masupatsela Angola

11.12.1 Background

On 21 June 2004, REC published a notice through its sponsoring broker, Sasfin Corporate Finance, captioned "Acquisition of various strategic prospecting licenses, mining licenses, and mining assets in Angola", relating to the acquisition of four alluvial diamond prospecting and mining licenses[147]. The effective date of these transactions would have been 23 June 2004 and the acquisitions were described in the following manner[148]:

"- the Koketso Angola Joint Venture ("Koketso") – a 24% interest in the Luxinge alluvial diamond mining license situated in the Lunda Norte province of Angola from Koketso for the issue of 1 319 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

- Masupatsela Angola Ventures (Pty) Ltd ("Masupatsela") – a 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in the BIE province of central Angola from Masupatsela for the issue of 1 492 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

- Quantum African Mining (Pty) Ltd ("Quantum") – a 20% interest in the Somba Sul alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in Lunda Sul province of Angola from Quantum for the issue of 1 373 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

- Trans Benguela Logistics (Pty) Ltd ("Benguela") – purchase of mining equipment and assets ("the assets") from Benguela for the issue of 1 506 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share".

In terms of these acquisitions, REC was to issue a total of 5 690 000 shares at R18.50 per share for a total consideration of R105 265 000[149].

The notice further indicated that the net asset value per share of REC would, as a result of the transactions, decrease from R18.48 to R17.21 and that earnings per share would decrease from R3.67 to R3.33[150]. This indicates a dilution of the then shareholders' interest in REC and is achieved because the investments in the concessions had no determinable value at such time. Effectively, REC thus advised its shareholders that it will invest in an asset with no determinable value at that time, that REC would not fund the acquisition cost and that the shareholders of REC were effectively to fund the acquisition by means of diluting their interest in REC.

In this regard the said notice inter alia reads:

"For balance sheet purposes, the total purchase consideration has been attributed to the prospecting, mining licences and mining assets of the entities. For income statement purposes and pending completion of the start-up programme, the entities will not be income producing and the acquisitions will thus be earnings dilutionary. On reaching full production, the acquisitions should enhance Randgold's earnings per share."

It is therefore evident that the transactions relating to the concessions at Dando Kwanza, Luxinge and Somba Sul were part of REC's exploration business and that the finances raised for these ventures was by means of the issuing of fresh REC shares. Consequently, the shareholders of REC funded these transactions, since, it appears, cash was not available. The SENS announcement also recorded that the result of the issuing of shares would result in the interest of REC's shareholders becoming diluted since the investment, at that stage, was not matched in value to the cost of acquisition.

The transactions relating to Koketso Angola Joint Venture Company and Quantum African Mining (Pty) Ltd are detailed at section 6.13 below, and the transaction relating to Trans Benguela Logistics (Pty) Ltd is detailed at section 6.14 below.

11.12.2 REC's claim against JCI Limited

REC claims that RB Kebble, Buitendag and Stratton, in their capacities of directors of JCI Limited, devised a scheme to allot 1 492 000 REC shares and vest the de facto control of these shares in JCI Limited (or one of its associated companies) so that the proceeds derived from the sale thereof be applied for purposes other than to benefit REC.

[150] Refer Exhibit 6.12.1

REC further maintains that the agreement entered into between REC and Masupatsela Angola was a simulation and never intended to give rise to enforceable rights and obligations. Rather, the agreement was a façade to provide ostensible legitimacy to justify the issue and allotment of REC shares, whereas these shares were to be applied to the benefit of JCI Limited.

Therefore, REC concludes that they received no value from the transaction and suffered a loss requiring them to regularise their positions by purchasing the said amount of shares in the open market at a cost of R25 364 000 and thereafter cancel the allotment of shares, this amount being the damages suffered by REC as a result of the fraudulent agreement entered into and the pursuant issue of shares.

11.12.3 Ownership of the rights to the concession situated at Dando Kwanza

The ownership of the concessions was based on contractual arrangements agreed to by the parties. We located an agreement entered into by the following parties relating to the concession at Dando Kwanza[151]:

- Endiama;
- Sombo – Mining, LDA (an Angolan company);
- Gebede – Mining SARL (an Angolan company);
- CMMS; and
- Masupatsela Investment Holdings (Pty) Limited.

The said contract is recorded in Portuguese, but it is clear from the contract that the ownership of the concession was divided amongst the parties along the following lines[152]:

- Endiama – 35%;
- Gebede – 10%;
- Sombo – 15%;
- CMMS – 20%; and
- Masupatsela Angola – 20%.

According to Tainton, a geologist previously employed by JCI Limited, the obligations of CMMS were to provide funding which was to be applied to the mining operations at Dando Kwanza[153]. The other parties were not obliged to provide further funding for the concession[154]. The general ledger of CMMS records that an amount of R2 635 408 was paid by CMMS relating to expenses incurred at the Dando Kwanza concession.

11.12.4 The nature of the concession situated at Dando Kwanza

The concession is situated in the BIE province in Angola and was subject to a geological evaluation prior to the investment by JCI Limited and REC. Tainton explained that the concession was economically viable, but that it was extremely difficult, if not impossible, to accurately value the concession without actually performing mining activities at the concessions[155]. Due to the fact that little or no mining had taken place at the concession, he was not satisfied with the amount agreed on to purchase Masupatsela Angola's interest in the concession, being R27 602 000 (i.e.1 492 000 shares issued at R18.50 per share), as this valuation might not have been an accurate reflection of the economic potential of the concession[156].

The potential economic viability of the Dando Kwanza concession is evidenced in a memorandum drafted by Tainton and addressed to RB Kebble and Buitendag on 8 June 2005, which details the concessions, inter alia, at Dando Kwanza[157].

Furthermore, Tainton explained that he and Bryans a previous employee of JCI and project manager of the Angolan operations, representing JCI Limited, negotiated on behalf to Masupatsela Angola, with Endiama to secure the 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza concession[158]. Tainton also indicated that Masupatsela Angola did not expend any amount in securing the above interest in the concession[159].

According to Tainton, the viability of each concession was dependent on optimisation by means of funding to the mining operations. In this instance JCI Limited failed to provide adequate funding for the concession, which contributed to the failure in the concession in becoming fully optimised[160].

11.12.5 The transaction

It is apparent that Masupatsela Angola did not exist at the time of the abovementioned announcement since, on 7 July 2004, Beale advised Van Straaten that the name of Masupatsela Angola Ventures had to be reserved for a shelf company named and styled Cream Magenta 17 (Pty) Limited[161]. Beale also informed Van Straaten that the directors of Masupatsela Angola were to be Dwafina Ongama Koyana ("Koyana") and Jose Josiah Mashele, appointed on 28 May 2004, and that Masupatsela would be the shareholder of this company, the shares to have been issued on 28 May 2004[162]. The company profile of this company recorded that these shares were only issued on 11 August 2004[163].

The minutes of a meeting between shareholders of Cream Magenta 17 (Pty) Ltd, held on 20 July 2004, record that a further meeting was to take place on 11 August 2004 to resolve to change the name of the company to Masupatsela Angola Mining Ventures (Pty) Ltd[164].

It therefore appears that Masupatasela Angola was still a shelf company when the above mentioned transaction was announced, which announcement recorded that Masupatsela Angola would have acquired the assets to be sold to REC.

On 18 June 2004, Beale certified an extract of a resolution of the directors of REC, recording a resolution to the effect that REC would issue 1 492 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC to Masupatsela Angola[165].

We found a document purporting to be a sale of mining rights agreement by and between Masupatsela Angola and REC[166]. It appears that this document was signed by Koyana, on behalf of Masupatsela Angola, and by Buitendag, on behalf of REC[167]. The document recorded an agreement between the parties to the effect that REC purchased from Masupatsela Angola a 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza alluvial diamond prospecting concession in Angola and that, as consideration for such, REC would issue to Masupatsela Angola some 1 492 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC[168]. These shares had to be delivered to Masupatsela Angola within ten business days from the date upon which the contract was signed[169]. The last page of the document reflected a signature date of 18 June 2004, in manuscript[170].

REC share certificate number 63350, dated 22 June 2004, was issued to Masupatsela Angola, recording that 1 492 000 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of REC was issued to Masupatsela Angola[171].

To the above mentioned certificate was attached a share transfer form, signed by an unknown person. It refers to the above mentioned shares and, at section B thereof, was recorded the following with a date of 2 November 2004[172]:

"Handed to P. Gray at T-Sec".

The signature on the share transfer form appears to resemble that of the person who signed the sale of mining rights agreement on behalf of Masupatsela Angola, referred to above (i.e. Koyana)[173].

On 3 December 2004, Beale asked Steenkamp at T-Sec to prepare a letter of confirmation to Charles Orbach and Co, with the following wording[174]:

"We hereby declare that Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Limited received a Randgold & Exploration Company Limited share certificate from Trish Beale on 2 November 2004, registered in the name of Masupatsela Angola Mining Ventures (Pty) Limited for 1,492,000 shares."

and Beale further recorded the following[175]:

"For your info I handed the certificate + signed CM42 to Chris Lamprecht, who then handed it to Peter Gray on 2 November, and the auditors require this info "sorry"."

According to Lamprecht, CMMS was required to increase the collateral of the facility at Socgen and he enquired from Buitendag which shares, if any, were available for such purposes. Buitendag then gave him the certificate referred to herein supra.

The T-Sec account statement for the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 for the month ended 26 November 2004, recorded the following sales of REC shares[176]:

Date	Number of shares	Proceeds R
08 November 2004	1 000 000	14 707 782.56

11.12.6 Implication of the transaction

Depending on whether Koyana signed the share transfer form or not, the use of the shares, issued to Masupatsela Angola, may or may not have been with the authority of Masupatsela Angola. Irrespective thereof, CMMS received the benefit of the shares. We saw no evidence of CMMS having assumed an obligation in respect of such benefit received. We however found no evidence indicating that the assets and liabilities of REC were affected by the sale of the REC shares in CMMS's trading account. JCI also appears not to have been a party to the transaction described in this section.

Furthermore, the following should be considered in respect of REC's claims:

- The transaction was an exploration type transaction which accorded with the main business of REC;
- REC's shareholders effectively funded the transaction and they were so advised in the announcement;
- Due to the nature of the concession purchased, it had no determinable value at the time of the transaction and such was disclosed to the shareholders where it was disclosed that the transaction would dilute their shareholding;
- If developed, this concession could generate a return to REC and shareholders were advised thereof;
- That the transaction, because it was funded by REC's shareholders, had no effect on the assets and liabilities of REC; and
- The fact that JCI Limited spent some R2 635 408 on this concession seems not to accord with the REC claim that the transaction was simulated.

11.13 The sale of REC shares issued to Lunda Sul, Koketso Angola and Quantum

11.13.1 Background

During the period January 2004 to June 2004, REC entered into five transactions relating to diamond mining operations in Angola. The first transaction related to the purchase of an interest in the Angolan diamond mining operation situated at the Cassanguidi concession in the Lunda Norte province of Angola. This transaction was summarised in the REC Annual Report for the year 2004, which reads[177]:

"On 5 January 2004 Randgold entered into a call option agreement to acquire 100 per cent of the shares of Lunda Alluvial Operations (Pty) Limited which in turn holds 100% of the issued shares of Refraction Investments (Pty) Limited. This company in turn holds 70 per cent of the issued shares of Luembe Mining (Pty) Limited ("Luembe"), which is a participant in an alluvial diamond mining joint venture with an Angolan company, Marsanto Limitada. This call option was exercised on 30 March 2004, and Randgold issued 2.268-million ordinary shares to Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Limited, to acquire the above companies."

A further four transactions relating to the acquisition of interests by REC in Angolan diamond mining operations are summarised in a general notice published by Sasfin Corporate Finance on 21 June 2004, captioned "Acquisition of various strategic prospecting licenses, mining licenses, and mining assets in Angola"[178]. This notice related to the acquisition of alluvial diamond prospecting and mining licenses in Angola[179]. The effective date of these transactions was 23 June 2004 and the acquisitions were described in the following manner[180]:

"-the Koketso Angola Joint Venture ("Koketso") – a 24% interest in the Luxinge alluvial diamond mining license situated in the Lunda Norte province of Angola from Koketso for the issue of 1 319 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

-Masupatsela Angola Ventures (Pty) Ltd ("Masupatsela") – a 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in the BIE province of central Angola from Masupatsela for the issue of 1 492 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share[181]; and

-Quantum African Mining (Pty) Ltd ("Quantum") – a 20% interest in the Somba Sul alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in Lunda Sul province of Angola from Quantum for the issue of 1 373 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

-Trans Benguela Logistics (Pty) Ltd ("Benguela") – purchase of mining equipment and assets ("the assets") from Benguela for the issue of 1 506 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share[182].".

In terms of these acquisitions, REC was to issue a total of 5 690 000 shares at R18.50 per share for a total consideration of R105 265 000[183].

The notice further indicated that the net asset value per share of REC would, as a result of the transactions, decrease from R18.48 to R17.21 and that earnings per share would decrease from R3.67 to R3.33[184]. This indicates a dilution of the then shareholders' interest in REC and is achieved because the investments in the concessions had no determinable value at such time. Effectively, REC thus advised its shareholders that it will invest in an asset with no determinable value at that time, that REC would not fund the acquisition cost and that the shareholders of REC were effectively to fund the acquisition by means of diluting their interest in REC.

In this regard the said notice inter alia reads[185]:

"For balance sheet purposes, the total purchase consideration has been attributed to the prospecting, mining licences and mining assets of the entities. For income statement purposes and pending completion of the start-up programme, the entities will not be income producing and the acquisitions will thus be earnings dilutionary. On reaching full production, the acquisitions should enhance Randgold's earnings per share."

It is therefore evident from the announcement that the transactions relating to the concessions at Dando Kwanza, Luxinge and Somba Sul were part of REC's exploration business and that the finances raised for these ventures was by means of the issuing of fresh REC shares. Consequently, the shareholders of REC funded these transactions, since, it appears, cash was not available. The announcement also recorded that the result of the issuing of shares would result in the interest of REC's shareholders becoming diluted since the investment, at that stage, was not matched in value to the cost of acquisition.

We did not locate a similar announcement relating to the acquisition of mining rights at the concession situated at Cassanguidi. It is however clear that the same principle would have applied in this instance, in that the venture was funded by REC shareholders and that the issuing of REC shares resulted in the dilution in value of REC shares in the short term. The investment could, in the medium to long term, become profitable and hence boost REC's earnings per share if the concessions were developed and it is evident that the announcement recorded such uncertainty with the use of the word "should".

11.13.2 REC's claim against JCI Limited

Due to the fact that the following REC shares, were placed in the trading account of Lunda Sul at T-Sec, from where they were utilised for purposes other than Angolan diamond mining operations, REC claims the full value of the REC shares issued to the above entities from REC:

- Lunda Alluvial (2 268 000 shares);
- Koketso Angola (1 319 000 shares);
- Quantum (1 373 000 shares); and
- Trans Benguela (200 000 shares).

REC claims that RB Kebble, Buitendag and Stratton, in their capacities of directors of JCI Limited, devised a scheme to allot 5 160 000 REC shares and vest the de facto control of these shares in JCI Limited (or one of its associated companies) so that the proceeds derived from the sale thereof be applied for purposes other than to benefit REC.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

REC further maintains that the agreements entered into between the abovementioned parties were simulations and never intended to give rise to enforceable rights and obligations. Rather, the agreements were a façade to provide ostensible legitimacy to justify the issue and allotment of REC shares, whereas these shares were to be applied to the benefit of JCI Limited.

Therefore, REC concludes that they received no value from the transactions and suffered a loss requiring them to regularise their positions by purchasing the said amount of shares in the open market at a cumulative cost of R87 720 000, and thereafter cancel the allotment of shares, this amount being the damages suffered by REC as a result of the fraudulent agreements entered into and the pursuant issue of shares.

11.13.3 The transactions

11.13.3.1 The transaction relating to Lunda Sul

Ownership of the rights to the concession situated at Cassanguidi

According to Bryans, Marsanto Limitada, an Angolan company, entered into a joint venture with Luembe Mining to mine the concession at Cassanguidi[186]. REC then became involved in the concession by exercising an option to purchase the entire issued share capital of Lunda Alluvial, which held the entire issued share capital of Refraction, which in turn held 70% of the issued share capital of Luembe Mining[187].

Although JCI Limited was not a party to an agreement relating to this concession, it is evident that from a review of the general ledger of CMMS that payments amounting to R46 762 996 were made by CMMS relating to expenses incurred at the Cassanguidi concession.

It furthermore appears that the total amount of expenses paid by CMMS was reversed to the REC/Masupatsela account in the CMMS general ledger.

The nature of the concession situated at Cassanguidi

The concession is situated in the Lunda Sul province in Angola and was subject to a geological evaluation prior to the investment by JCI Limited and REC. Tainton explained that the concession was economically viable, but that it was extremely difficult, if not impossible, to accurately value the concession without actually performing mining activities at the concessions[188]. The concession situated at Cassanguidi had perhaps the most potential out of all the concessions mentioned in the SENS announcement to provide a return on investment[189]. The concession had been previously mined and evidence suggested that the mine would be economically viable. Furthermore, Luembe Mining represented by one Smith and one Perrevos had invested in the concession and sought financial assistance from REC to optimise the concession. Tainton stated that lack of funding resulted in the purchase of sub standard equipment and that equipment failures and a lack of resources contributed to the concession at Cassanguidi not being optimised[190].

This resulted in Luembe publishing a document during June 2005 addressed to potential parties wishing to acquire equity in Luembe[191]. This document described the potential economic viability of the diamond mining concession at Cassanguidi[192]. It furthermore resulted in REC selling its interest in Luembe back to Andrew Smith (the shareholder of WCIH) and Perrevos on 15 December 2005[193].

The potential economic viability of the Cassanguidi concession is evidenced in a memorandum drafted by Tainton and addressed to RB Kebble and Buitendag on 8 June 2005, which details the concessions, inter alia, at Cassanguidi[194].

As stated above, 2.268 million REC shares were to have been issued to Lunda Alluvial for REC's eventual investment in Luembe Mining (which had a joint venture with Marsanto Limitada). Although these shares were placed in a trading account at T-Sec in the name of Lunda Sul, the shares were sold and the proceeds applied to entities and individuals unrelated to the concession situated at Cassanguidi.

Call option agreement

A call option agreement was entered into by Lunda Sul in favour of REC in respect of Lunda Alluvial on 5 January 2004, in terms whereof REC was provided with the option to purchase the entire issued share capital of Lunda Alluvial from Lunda Sul[195]. The call option would have expired on 31 March 2004 and REC would have issued 2 268 000 REC shares in consideration of the above, should they have exercised the option[196].

As mentioned above, the call option agreement records that Lunda Alluvial held the entire issued share capital of Refraction, who held 70% of the issued share capital of Luembe. Furthermore, Luembe held certain rights to mine for diamonds at the Cassanguidi concession in Angola[197].

On 30 March 2004, the directors of REC approved the exercise of the call option[198] and on 1 April 2004, the directors of REC applied to the JSE for the listing of 2,268,000 new shares to be allotted at R25 per share[199].

On 5 April 2004, REC issued 2 260 000 shares to "Ylotlisa Securities Nominees (Pty) Ltd"[200].

Entities established pursuant to the call option agreement

The incorporation of Lunda Sul

A share certificate of Lunda Sul recorded the issuing of 100 ordinary shares to Perrevos on 23 October 2003 (dealt with below)[201]. A resolution of the directors of a company, named and styled Double Flash Investments 193 (Pty) Limited, however, records that on 24 March 2004, the directors resolved to change the name of the company from Double Flash Investments 193 (Pty) Limited to Lunda Sul[202]. Publicly held information records that the abovementioned change in company name took place on 31 March 2004[203].

On 5 April 2004 Van Straaten, on behalf of CMMS who acted as company secretary for Lunda Sul, sent a letter to the SARS informing them that Double Flash Investments 193 (Pty) Ltd had changed its name to Lunda Sul and that Perrevos was to be appointed as the public officer of the company should SARS have no objection to his appointment[204].

Therefore, despite the abovementioned share certificate recording the existence of Lunda Sul at 23 October 2003 and the fact that 100 shares were issued to Perrevos by Lunda Sul, it is evident that the company did not exist at the time when the call option agreement was entered into. The company was, however, in existence one day after the call option was exercised by REC on 30 March 2004.

The incorporation of Lunda Alluvial

On 8 March 2004 the director of Magnificent Mile Trading 150 (Pty) Limited convened a meeting of shareholder on 30 March 2004 to resolve to change the name of the company from Magnificent Mile Trading 150 (Pty) Limited to Lunda Alluvial[205]. Pursuant to this, the minutes of a meeting of the sole director of Magnificent Mile Trading 150 (Pty) Limited, held on 30 March 2004, records that the company had resolved to change its name from Magnificent Mile Trading 150 (Pty) Ltd to Lunda Alluvial[206].

Publicly held information records that the abovementioned change in name of the company took place on 30 April 2004[207]. It is therefore evident that Lunda Alluvial was neither in existence at the time when the call option agreement was entered, nor at the time when the call option was exercised by REC on 30 March 2004.

The incorporation of Refraction

A share certificate of Refraction purportedly records the issuing of 100 ordinary shares to Lunda Alluvial on 5 December 2003[208]. Minutes of a meeting of the director of Blue Cloud Investments 250 (Pty) Ltd, however, record that a meeting had been convened on 15 March 2004 to change the name of the company from Blue Cloud Investments 250 (Pty) Limited to Refraction[209].

Publicly held information records that the abovementioned change of name of the company took place on 31 March 2004[210].

Therefore, despite the abovementioned share certificate recording the existence of Refraction and Lunda Alluvial at 5 December 2003, it is evident that the Lunda Alluvial and Refraction were not in existence at the time when the call option agreement was entered into. Refraction was, however, in existence one day after the call option was exercised by REC on 30 March 2004.

The incorporation of Luembe

Background information records that Attica Trading (Pty) Limited was incorporated in South Africa on 19 May 2003[211]. The name was changed from Attica Trading (Pty) Limited to Luembe on 30 November 2003 and that Smith and Perrevos were the directors of the company.

Transactions entered into pursuant to the call option agreement

Refraction's investment in Luembe

A shareholders' agreement between Refraction, WCIH, Perrevos and Luembe was entered into on 10 December 2003[212]. In terms of this agreement WCIH and Perrevos wished to include Refraction as an investor and operating partner in Luembe[213]. As a result of the agreement, Refraction acquired 350 shares in Luembe and thereby held 70% of the issued share capital of Luembe[214].

The directors of Refraction resolved to enter into the above transaction at the same time when the shareholders' agreement was signed[215].

Lunda Alluvial's investment in Refraction

As mentioned above, a share certificate of Refraction ostensibly records that 100 ordinary shares were issued by Refraction to Lunda Alluvial on 5 December 2003 (The authenticity of this share certificate is, however, questionable due to the fact that Refraction only came into existence on 15 March 2004, by virtue of Blue Cloud Investments 250 (Pty) Ltd changing its name.)[216].

On 5 January 2004, Perrevos notified the directors of Refraction that he resigned as the public officer of Refraction[217]. On the same day, the directors of Refraction resolved to accept the resignation of Perrevos and to appoint RB Kebble and Buitendag as directors of Refraction[218]. RB Kebble and Buitendag were elected as directors of Refraction in the capacity of nominees of REC.

A memorandum, issued by Luembe during June 2005 on behalf of its shareholders to a limited number of parties who had expressed an interest in acquiring equity in Luembe, recorded that REC owned the entire issued share capital of Refraction[219].

REC's investment in Lunda Sul

On 30 March 2004, the directors of REC resolved to exercise their option in terms of the call option agreement and to issue 2 268 000 REC shares to Lunda Sul[220]. Consequently, on 5 April 2004, Lunda Alluvial issued 100 shares to REC[221]. On the same day, REC issued 2 268 000 REC shares to "Tlotlisa Securities Nominees (Pty) Ltd" in respect of the call option agreement[222]. Despite the share certificate being placed in the account of Lunda Sul at T-Sec, it is apparent that such was not provided to Perrevos and Smith and was used for purposes other than that of pursuing diamond mining operations at the Cassanguidi concession in Angola. These transactions, which were performed by T-Sec, are dealt with below.

Lunda Sul's ownership of Lunda Alluvial

We did not locate a share certificate, other than the share certificate mentioned above, which recorded the share capital of Lunda Sul being transferred to Perrevos on 23 October 2003 and thus indicated Lunda Sul's ownership of Lunda Alluvial[223].

Resolutions of the directors of Lunda Alluvial and Lunda Sul recorded the resolutions to enter into the call option agreement by these two companies.

11.13.3.2 The transaction relating to Koketso Angola

The ownership of the rights to the concession situated at Luxinge

In a consultation with Tainton it was explained that the ownership of the concession situated at Luxinge was divided roughly amongst four parties, being:

- Endiama (an Angolan state owned company);
- An Angolan company (a company usually involved in the actual mining of the concessions);
- JCI Limited (providing funding for the concessions); and
- Koketso Angola[224].

Tainton explained that each of the above entities roughly owned a quarter of each concession (he added that in practice, Endiama ended up owning more than a quarter of each concession, which resulted in each of the other parties' percentage of ownership diminishing)[225].

He explained further that a similar contract as that relating that of the concession situated at Dando Kwanza was entered into between the parties[226]. In terms of the contract, JCI Limited was required to provide funding which was to be applied to the mining activities at the concession[227]. Furthermore, the other parties to the contract were not required to fund the concession in any way[228].

It is evident that from a review of the general ledger of CMMS that payments amounting to R3 808 169 were made by CMMS relating to expenses incurred at the Luxinge concession.

The nature of the concession situated at Luxinge

The concession is situated in the Lunda Norte province in Angola and was subject to a geological evaluation prior to the investment by JCI Limited and REC[229]. Tainton explained that the concession was economically viable, but that it was extremely difficult, if not impossible, to accurately value the concession without actually performing mining activities at the concessions[230]. Due to the fact that little or no mining had taken place at the concession, he was not satisfied with the amount agreed on to purchase Koketso Angola's interest in the concession, being R24 401 500(i.e. 1 319 000 shares issued at R18.50 per share), as this valuation might not have been an accurate reflection of the economic potential of the concession[231].

The potential economic viability of the Luxinge concession is evidenced in a memorandum drafted by Tainton and addressed to RB Kebble and Buitendag on 8 June 2005, which details the concessions, inter alia, at Luxinge[232].

Furthermore, Tainton explained that he and Bryans, representing JCI Limited, negotiated on behalf to Koketso Angola, with Endiama to secure the 24% interest in the Luxinge concession[233]. Tainton also indicated that Koketso Angola did not expend any amount in securing the above interest in the concession[234].

The incorporation of Koketso Angola

It is apparent that Koketso Angola did not exist at 21 June 2004, being the date of the abovementioned published notice, as on 5 July 2004 Kim Long of Koketso Holdings sent an e-mail to inter alia Beale wherein which Long requested Beale to establish whether Koketso Angola had in fact been incorporated, since her earlier enquiries relating to the same had revealed that Beale and Bryans, at 28 June 2004, were not aware of the incorporation of the company[235]. Beale forwarded the abovementioned e-mail from Long to Buitendag and stated "Please will you speak to Brett and inform me of what we are going to tell them."[236].

On 8 July 2005, Long addressed a letter to RB Kebble which records that she could find no record of Koketso Angola having been incorporated in South Africa[237].

This prompted Long to negotiate a further agreement with JCI captioned "Sale of Shares Agreement between Dali David Tambo, Adelaide Frances Tambo, Limitless Investments (Pty) Ltd and JCI Limited"[238]. We however did not locate a signed copy of this agreement.

In terms of this agreement, JCI agreed to purchase the entire issued share capital of Koketso Capital, which purportedly held a 24% interest in the Luxinge diamond concession[239]. The effective date of this agreement would have been 20 July 2004, notwithstanding the fact that the document was only created on 8 July 2005[240]. The purchase price for the shares in Koketso Capital was R11 million (plus interest), which was to be paid by JCI[241].

It is noteworthy that Tambo had entered into a prior loan agreement with JCI during September 2003 in terms whereof JCI lent Tambo an amount of R4.2-million[242]. It appears that this loan was utilised inter alia for geology costs. Furthermore, this loan has not been repaid by Tambo.

In addition to the above, Tambo borrowed 11 million ordinary listed JCI shares from CMMS. The termination date of the agreement was 31 August 2005[243]. To date, Tambo has not returned the shares or reimbursed CMMS with the value of the shares[244].

The purchase by REC of the mining rights license in Luxinge from Koketso Angola

On 18 June 2004, Beale certified an extract of a resolution of the directors of REC, recording a resolution to the effect that REC would issue 1 373 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC to Koketso Angola[245].

We found a document purporting to be a sale of mining rights agreement by and between Koketso Angola and REC. It appears that this document was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of REC[246]. We do not know the identity of the person who signed this agreement on behalf of Koketso Angola.

The document recorded an agreement between the parties to the effect that REC purchased from Koketso Angola a 24% interest in the Luxinge alluvial diamond mining license situated in the Lunda Norte province of Angola. REC would issue 1 319 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share in consideration for the above[247]. In terms of the agreement, these shares were to be delivered to Koketso Angola within ten business days from the date upon which the contract was signed[248]. The last page of the document reflected a signature date of 18 June 2004, in manuscript[249].

On 21 June 2004, a letter was addressed to the General Manager of the Listings Division of the JSE, wherein which REC applied for the listing of 5,690,000 ordinary shares in respect of inter alia the Sale of Mining Rights Agreement by Koketso Angola and REC, in terms of which 1 319 000 ordinary shares at R18.50 were to be issued to Koketso Angola[250].

REC share certificate number 63349, dated 22 June 2004, was issued to Koketso Angola, recording that 1 319 000 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of REC were issued to Koketso Angola[251].

A blank share transfer form (CM 42) was attached to the abovementioned REC share certificate, recording that, at 28 June 2004, Koketso Angola were to transfer the shareholding of 1 373 000 REC shares to a third party[252]. The signature appearing on this document appears to be the same as that of the person who signed the abovementioned sale of mining rights agreement on behalf of Koketso Angola[253]. The name(s) of the third party(s) to whom the shares were to be transferred were not entered on the share transfer form[254].

On 28 June 2004, Beale requested Van Zyl to dematerialise the share certificate belonging to Koketso Angola[255].

11.13.3.3 The transaction relating to Quantum

The ownership of the rights to the concession situated at Somba Sul

Bryans informed us that the ownership of the above concession was divided roughly amongst three parties, being:

- Endiama;
- Mineral Density Group ("MDG"), who had negotiated a joint venture with Endiama to mine the concession; and
- An Angolan company[256].

Bryans stated further that MDG entered into an agreement with REC, whereby which REC issued shares to Quantum in order to provide funding to MDG (it appears that MDG is the sole shareholder of Quantum, and the individuals representing MDG are, in fact, the same individuals representing Quantum)[257]. Therefore, in this instance JCI Limited and its subsidiaries played no part in funding the mining operations at the concession.

Despite the above, CMMS made payments amounting to R132 434 relating to expenses incurred at the Somba Sul concession.

The nature of the concession situated at Somba Sul

The concession is situated in the Lunda Sul province in Angola and was subject to a geological evaluation prior to the investment by JCI Limited and REC. Tainton explained that the concession was economically viable, but that it was extremely difficult, if not impossible, to accurately value the concession without actually performing mining activities at the concessions[258]. Due to the fact that little or no mining had taken place at the concession, he was not satisfied with the amount agreed on to purchase Quantum's interest in the concession, being R24 400 500 (i.e.1 373 000 shares issued at R18.50 per share), as this valuation might not have been an accurate reflection of the economic potential of the concession[259].

The potential economic viability of the Somba Sul concession is evidenced in a memorandum drafted by Tainton and addressed to RB Kebble and Buitendag on 8 June 2005, which details the concessions, inter alia, at Somba Sul[260].

The incorporation of Quantum

It is apparent that Quantum did not exist at the of the abovementioned public notice published on 21 June 2004, as on 7 July 2004, Beale advised Van Straaten, in an e-mail, that the name of Quantum had to be reserved for a shelf company named and styled Move-On-Up 209 (Pty) Limited[261]. The abovementioned e-mail also recorded that the directors were to be "Lazarus" and "Experience", appointed on 28 May 2004, and MDG would be the shareholder of this company, the shares to have been issued on 28 May 2004 (the identity of "Lazarus" and "Experience" is provided below)[262]. Due to the fact that we did not locate any evidence, held in the public domain, recording that "Quantum African Mining (Pty) Ltd" was in fact incorporated, it appears that Quantum African Mining (Pty) Ltd was not incorporated. It rather appears that a company named and styled Quantum Facility for African Value Mining Resources (Pty) Ltd was incorporated in its place[263]. The company profile of Quantum Facility for African Value Mining Resources (Pty) Ltd recorded that the shares to be issued to MDG, as per Beale's correspondence with Van Straaten on 7 July 2004, were never issued to MDG[264].

Publicly held information records that Move-On-Up 209 (Pty) Ltd changed its name to Quantum Facility for African Value Mining Resources (Pty) Ltd on 31 May 2005[265].

The abovementioned company profile records that the directors of Quantum Facility for African Value Mining Resources (Pty) Ltd were, at that date, Ayanda Dlodlo, Dennis Jacobus Bishop, Experience Zikalala and Lazarus Musandiwa[266].

The purchase by REC of the mining license in Somba Sul from Quantum

On 18 June 2004, Beale certified an extract of a resolution of the directors of REC, recording a resolution to the effect that REC would issue 1 373 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC to Quantum[267].

We found a document purporting to be a sale of mining rights agreement by and between Quantum and REC[268]. It appears that this document was signed by Buitendag on behalf of REC[269]. We did not establish the identity of the person who signed the agreement on behalf of Quantum. The document recorded an agreement between the parties to the effect that REC purchased from Quantum a 20% interest in the Somba Sul alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in Lunda Sul province of Angola from Quantum for the issue of 1 373 000 REC ordinary shares at R18,50 per share[270]. These shares had to be delivered to Quantum within ten business days from the date upon which the contract was signed[271]. The name(s) of the third party(s) to whom the shares were to be transferred were not entered on the share transfer form[277].

11.13.3.4 Transactions performed by T-Sec

On 8 April 2004, Beale sent Van Zyl a letter requesting him to open a trading account at T-Sec in the name of "Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Ltd"[278]. We located a further unsigned letter by Perrevos on behalf of Lunda Sul, requesting Chivers to open a trading account at T-Sec on behalf of Lunda Sul[279]. A T-Sec discretionary mandate was signed by Perrevos on behalf of Lunda Sul on 6 April 2004[280]. Although Perrevos signed this mandate, it was confirmed with Beale that she was instructed by the previous directors of REC and JCI to instruct Van Zyl to transfer the shares to various trading accounts at T-Sec.

An analysis of this account records that 5 160 000 REC shares were sold from the trading account during the period 8 April 2004 to 14 October 2004 for a total consideration of R86 158 365.94. Included in the amount of 5 160 000 REC shares sold during the abovementioned period, were 200 000 REC shares which were transferred from the T-Sec trading account of Trans Benguela Logistics to the Lunda Sul account on 11 October 2004. These shares were sold in the market.

A complete analysis of the transactions performed on behalf of Lunda Sul indicates the following:

11.13.4 Implication of the transactions

As mentioned above, it is contended by REC that they received no value from the issuing of shares to the various parties and that in order to regularise their positions it was necessary for REC to purchase the equivalent amount of shares in the market at a combined cost of R87 720 000, and thereafter cancel the allotment of shares, thereby reducing its authorised share capital. The combined amount is made up by the following:

- R38 556 000 for the purchase of 2 268 000 REC shares;
- R22 423 000 for the purchase of 1 319 000 REC shares;
- R23 341 000 for the purchase of 1 373 000 REC shares; and
- R3 400 000 for the purchase of 200 000 REC shares.

From the above it is evident that the following should be considered in respect of REC's claims:

- The transactions were exploration type transactions which accorded with the main business of REC;
- REC's shareholders effectively funded the transactions and they were so advised in the announcement;
- Due to the nature of the concessions purchased, they had no determinable value at the time of the transactions and such was disclosed to the shareholders where it was disclosed that the transactions would dilute their shareholding;
- If developed, these concessions could generate a return to REC and shareholders were advised thereof;
- That the transactions, because they were funded by REC's shareholders, had no effect on the assets and liabilities of REC; and
- The fact that JCI Limited spent some R50.7 million on these concessions seems not to accord with the REC claim that the transactions were simulated.

11.14 The sale of REC shares issued to Trans Benguela

11.14.1 Background

As mentioned above, on 21 June 2004, REC published a notice captioned "Acquisition of various strategic prospecting licenses, mining licenses, and mining assets in Angola", relating to the acquisition of four alluvial diamond prospecting and mining licenses. The effective date of these transactions would have been 23 June 2004 and the acquisitions were described in the following manner[281]:

"-the Koketso Angola Joint Venture ("Koketso") – a 24% interest in the Luxinge alluvial diamond mining license situated in the Lunda Norte province of Angola from Koketso for the issue of 1 319 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

-Masupatsela Angola Ventures (Pty) Ltd ("Masupatsela") – a 20% interest in the Dando Kwanza alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in the BIE province of central Angola from Masupatsela for the issue of 1 492 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

-Quantum African Mining (Pty) Ltd ("Quantum") – a 20% interest in the Somba Sul alluvial diamond prospecting concession situated in Lunda Sul province of Angola from Quantum for the issue of 1 373 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share; and

-Trans Benguela Logistics (Pty) Ltd ("Benguela") – purchase of mining equipment and assets ("the assets") from Benguela for the issue of 1 506 000 Randgold ordinary shares at R18,50 per share.".

The notice further indicated that the net asset value per share of REC would, as a result of the transactions, decrease from R18.48 to R17.21 and that earnings per share would decrease from R3.67 to R3.33. This indicates a dilution of the then shareholders' interest in REC and is achieved because the investments in the concessions had no determinable value at such time. Effectively, REC thus advised its shareholders that it will invest in an asset with no determinable value at that time, that REC would not fund the acquisition cost and that the shareholders of REC were effectively to fund the acquisition by means of diluting their interest in REC.

[281] Refer Exhibit 6.12.1

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

The said notice inter alia reads[282]:

"For balance sheet purposes, the total purchase consideration has been attributed to the prospecting, mining licences and mining assets of the entities. For income statement purposes and pending completion of the start-up programme, the entities will not be income producing and the acquisitions will thus be earnings dilutionary. On reaching full production, the acquisitions should enhance Randgold's earnings per share."

It is therefore evident that the transactions relating to the ostensible purchase of mining equipment from Trans Benguela was part of REC's exploration business and that the finance raised for this ventures was by means of the issuing of fresh REC shares. Consequently, the shareholders of REC funded the transaction, since, it appears, cash was not available. The announcement also recorded that the result of the issuing of shares would result in the interest of REC's shareholders becoming diluted since the investment, at that stage, was not matched in value to the cost of acquisition.

The trading account of Trans Benguela held at T-Sec records that 200 000 REC shares were transferred on 11 October 2004 to the Lunda Sul trading account held at T-Sec. These shares were subsequently sold in the market and have been included in the claim made by REC against JCI relating to thee transactions of Lunda Sul, as set out at Section 6.13 above.

The amount claimed by REC from JCI, in this respect, is R 24 161 000, and appears to be based on the valuation of 1 306 000 REC shares issued to Trans Benguela at R18.50 per share.

The transactions relating to Koketso Angola Joint Venture Company and Quantum African Mining (Pty) Limited are detailed at section 6.13 above, and the transaction relating to Masupatsela Angola is detailed at section 6.12 above.

11.14.2 The transaction

It is apparent that Trans Benguela did not exist at 21 June 2004, being the date of the abovementioned published notice, as on 7 July 2004 Beale requested Van Straaten to have a shelf company, which had been incorporated in 2003, to be reserved for Trans Benguela[283].

[282] Refer Exhibit 6.12.1
[283] Refer Exhibit 6.12.4

Beale also advised Van Straaten that the director of Trans Benguela was to be Deacon Sekibela Mathe ("Mathe"), appointed on 21 July 2003 and that the shares of the company should reflect that they had been transferred to Mathe on 21 July 2003[284].

The company profile of this company recorded that these shares were issued on 5 December 2003 and that the company, which was then named and styled New Heights 576 (Pty) Limited, was incorporated on 3 December 2003[285]. It is therefore likely that REC did not provide the shelf company, as suggested by Beale on 7 July 2004.

It is apparent that New Heights 576 (Pty) Limited had not changed its name to Trans Benguela at the time of the public notice, since on 1 July 2004, a notice of a general meeting of the members of New Heights 576 (Pty) Limited records that a meeting of the members of New Heights 576 (Pty) Limited was to take place on 29 July 2004, during which the change of the name of the company to Trans Benguela was to be discussed[286]. Pursuant to this, on 29 July 2004, the members of New Heights 576 (Pty) Limited resolved to change the name of the company to Trans Benguela[287].

Publicly held information records that the abovementioned change in name only took place on 31 August 2004, well after the transaction took place[288].

Bryans stated that he was not aware of any equipment being purchased from Trans Benguela for any of the diamond concessions in Angola mentioned in the abovementioned public notice and at the Cassanguidi concession. Furthermore, in Bryans's opinion, no mining equipment was purchased from Trans Benguela.

On 24 June 2004, Beale certified an extract of a resolution of the directors of REC, recording a resolution to the effect that REC would issue 1 506 000 ordinary shares in the issued share capital of REC to Trans Benguela in respect of the purchase of equipment[289]. A copy of this resolution records that the meeting was purportedly held on 18 June 2004[290].

On 5 August 2004, Van Straaten, on behalf of CMMS who provided company secretarial services to Trans Benguela, sent a letter to Van Zyl requesting that a trading account at T-Sec be opened in the name of Trans Benguela[291]. The letter also reads, "I enclose original share certificate No.63352 for 1506000 Randgold & Exploration Company Limited shares together with signed CM42"[292].

We found a document purporting to be an equipment sale agreement by and between Trans Benguela and REC[293]. This agreement was signed by representatives of the parties on 18 June 2004. It appears that this document was signed by Buitendag, on behalf of REC[294]. We do not know the identity of the person who signed this agreement on behalf of Trans Benguela[295].

The document recorded an agreement between the parties to the effect that REC purchased from Trans Benguela equipment, which was listed at Annexure A to the agreement[296]. REC were to issue 1 506 000 REC ordinary shares at R18,50 per share in consideration for the above. In terms of the agreement, these shares were to be delivered to Trans Benguela within ten business days from the date upon which the contract was signed[297].

On 21 June 2004, a letter was addressed to the General Manager of the Listings Division of the JSE, wherein which REC applied for the listing of 5,690,000 ordinary shares in respect of inter alia the Sale of Equipment Agreement by Trans Benguela and REC, in terms of which 1 506 000 ordinary shares at R18.50 were to be issued to Trans Benguela[298].

REC share certificate number 63352, dated 22 June 2004, was issued to Trans Benguela, recording that 1 506 000 ordinary listed shares in the issued share capital of REC were issued to Trans Benguela[299].

A blank share transfer form (CM 42) was attached to the abovementioned REC share certificate, and merely records the signature of the party holding the security[300]. The signature appearing on this document appears to be the same as that of the person who signed the abovementioned sale of equipment agreement on behalf of Trans Benguela[301].

An analysis of the transactions, performed by T-Sec on behalf of Trans Benguela, indicates that the REC shares were not sold, but were rather transferred to other trading accounts at T-Sec and another account at a stockbroker. An analysis of the account indicates the following:

- On 16 September 2004, a further 142 000 REC shares were transferred into this account (we did not establish the underlying transaction for this transfer of shares, which appears to be unrelated to the transaction discussed in this section);
- On 11 October 2004, 200 000 REC shares were transferred to the trading account of Lunda Sul at T-Sec;
- On 26 October 2004, 200 000 REC shares were transferred to a trading account at SA Stockbrokers. On 22 October 2004, Beale sent an e-mail to Van Zyl requesting him to transfer 200 000 REC shares to SA Stockbrokers[302]. We were informed that the account into which the shares were transferred was that of "Robinson Deep Investments";
- On 5 November 2004, 327 000 REC shares were transferred to the trading account of Alibi Props. On 5 November 2004, Beale sent an e-mail to Van Zyl which reads, "At the request of Brett Kebble, please transfer 327 000 Randgold & Exploration Company Limited ("RNG") shares from account no.946772 to the Alibi Prop's account immediately and proceed to sell them."[303].
- On 22 November 2004, 280 000 REC shares were transferred to the trading account of Alibi Props. On 22 November 2004, Beale sent an e-mail to Van Zyl which reads, "At the request of Mr RB Kebble, please transfer 280 000 Randgold shares from the Trans Benguela Logistics Account....to the Alibi Prop's account and proceed to sell the shares."[304]; and

- On 24 December 2004, 641 000 REC shares were transferred to the trading account of Consolidated Investments (account number 648410).

An analysis of the Consolidated Investments account records that 641 000 REC shares were received into the account during December 2004[305]. The balance of REC shares, held in this account prior to the abovementioned transfer of shares, was nil[306]. During January 2005, 275 035 REC shares were sold for a total consideration of R3 019 087.97 and during February 2005, 147 500 REC shares were sold for a total consideration of R182 660.04[307]. It appears from a review of the Consolidated Investments trading account that these funds were either used to lend to WAL, or to place the money on call account for scrip lending agreements[308].

The Consolidated Investments trading account records that, at March 2005, 168 465 REC shares are still held in the account[309].

We have seen no evidence of a loan agreement having been entered into by and between CMMS, who sold the shares and who currently also hold 168 456 REC shares, and Trans Benguela.

11.14.3 Implication of the transaction

Depending on whether a representative of Trans Benguela signed the share transfer form or not, the use of the shares, issued to Trans Benguela, may or may not have been with the authority of Trans Benguela.

Furthermore, and in particular, we did not establish any benefit received by JCI from the above transaction in respect of which it could become liable to REC for such. We also saw no evidence of CMMS having assumed an obligation in respect of such benefit received. Furthermore, we found no evidence indicating that the assets and liabilities of REC were affected by the sale of the REC shares in CMMS's trading account. JCI also appears not to have been a party to the transaction described in this section.

11.15 93 million Aflease shares acquired in share swap

11.15.1 Background

The REC claim document recorded that, of the 94 million Aflease shares acquired by REC in terms of a shares swap with Aflease, some 93 million Aflease shares were transferred to the trading account of CMMS and were sold there without the authority of REC. The claim is based upon the highest price achieved for sXR shares at a conversion rate of o.18 sXR shares for each Aflease share sold, raising a claim for R930 615 888. The manner in which the claim is calculated is clearly based upon the assumption that, had the Aflease shares not been sold, such would have been available for conversion to sXR shares which could have been sold at the highest sXR share price to the date of the REC claim.

We set out hereunder the evidence we found in respect of the matters relating to the sale of the Aflease shares found in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec and listed the relevant documents at Annexure PA hereto.

11.15.2 The transaction

As early as 10 February 2004, it appears that negotiations were entered into between REC and Aflease for purposes of REC providing funding to Aflease by means of loans and capital. These negotiations were recorded in the following documents:

- Heads of agreement between REC and Aflease, signed on 10 February 2004, in which it was recorded that REC would subscribe for 24 million Aflease shares for a purchase price of R82.5 million and an option for the purchase of a further 24 million Aflease shares at R5 per share. Further, that REC would have the right to subscribe for a further 24 million Aflease shares for a subscription price of R88.5 million and an option to take up a further 24 million Aflease shares at a subscription price of R5 per share. In addition, REC would lend R30 million to Aflease[310]. On 26 February 2004, the contents of these heads of agreement were recorded in an agreement[311]. As far as we could determine, the subscription agreement was not implemented, although the loans were made to Aflease, more fully set out below;

[310] Refer Exhibit 6.15.1
[311] Refer Exhibit 6.15.2

- On 17 March 2004, REC confirmed to Aflease in a letter apparently signed by RB Kebble that REC would underwrite an Aflease rights offer in the amount of R100 million[312]. On 17 May 2004, an agreement between Aflease and REC was signed by inter alia RB Kebble on behalf of REC, in which REC undertook to underwrite the Aflease rights issue by R100 million. This appears to have been a commitment in cash by REC. It further appears that Aflease intended to launch the rights issue towards the end of June 2004, which would have required REC to commit cash to the uptake of the rights issued by Aflease[313];

- On 9 June 2004 the Inkwenkwezi transactions was announced (we described this transaction and the requirements thereof on REC at paragraph 11.4) which had implications for the future cash flows of REC[314];

- On 20 July 2004, Marais of Aflease forwarded a draft letter to Buitendag which he wanted Buitendag to address to Aflease in order for Aflease to forward same to Nedbank, Aflease's banker in order to satisfy Nedbank of Aflease's liquidity position. We do not know if this letter was signed by Buitendag, but it recorded the following matters[315]:

  - That REC would issue 10 million REC shares to Aflease in return for Aflease issuing some 100 million Aflease shares to REC and JCI would provide a European style put option to Aflease so that Aflease could put the REC shares to JCI, ostensibly for sale purposes for which JCI would receive a placement fee of 0.5% for each exercise of the option. The effect of this, we assume proposed, transaction was that the same effect would have been obtained as in the previously agreed underwriting agreement in respect of the liquidity of Aflease, but REC would not have been required to pay cash for the rights issue shares of Aflease whilst it appears that the share price of REC could be protected via the placement mechanism embedded in the put option to be granted; and

  - The previously agreed to loan of R30 million by REC to Aflease appears to already have been extended to R40 million at that stage and this draft letter suggested that it be agreed to further increase this loan to some R50 million;

- On 29 July 2004, a loan agreement between REC and Aflease was reduced to writing, signed by inter alia Buitendag on behalf of REC, having as its effect that REC would lend some R50 million to Aflease, but in effect recording that R40 million had already, at that stage, been lent to Aflease. The agreement also mentioned a share swap agreement to be entered into between REC and Aflease, simultaneously with the entering into of the loan agreement. In terms of the share swap agreement, some 9.4 million REC shares were to be issued to Aflease by REC, which were required to be pledged to REC by Aflease as security for the loans made to Aflease[316]; and

- Whilst we have not yet located a copy of the share swap agreement, we refer to a number of e-mail correspondences recording the fact that REC swapped 9.4 million REC shares issued with 94 million Aflease shares issued by Aflease[317].

Essentially then, the negotiations, mentioned above, culminated in REC lending Aflease some R50 million and REC received some 94 million Aflease shares from Aflease in terms of the share swap between the two companies. We set out hereunder the manner in which these two elements of the transaction between REC and Aflease were treated.

As far as the loan was concerned, we noted that the loan agreement of 29 July 2004 recorded that the amounts of R15 million, on 27 February 2004, R15 million on 15 April 2004, R5 million on 18 June 2004 and R5 million on 12 July 2004 have been lent to Aflease by REC in terms of the loan agreement between the parties. We found source documents at JCI, recording that CMMS physically paid the amounts of R15 million on 27 February 2004 and R15 million on 15 April 2004 to Aflease's bank account and that the accounting staff at JCI considered these payments as loans to REC. Hence, whilst it was an obligation of REC to lend money to Aflease in terms of the above mentioned loan agreement, it is evident that CMMS advance REC the funds with which to make these loans. We have not located source documents for the balance of R10 million, recorded in the loan agreement, as having been paid on 18 June 2004 and 12 July 2004 respectively. In this regard, we determined that CMMS in fact paid a total amount R40 872 751.25 to Aflease. We inspected the books and records of CMMS and established that R40 million comprised payments to Aflease, representing the loans made to Aflease as per the above mentioned loan agreement. The R872 751.25 was a payment for equipment in respect of the Cassangude project, which was a REC transaction as is evident from Annexure N.

In respect of the treatment of the 94 million Aflease shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account number 648410 at T-Sec, we attach hereto at Annexure PB a reconciliation detailing the disposition of these shares. Essentially, all these shares were sold during the latter part of 2004 and early 2005. The proceeds of the sale of these shares were confused with the proceeds of the sale of other shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account at T-Sec during this period of time. We noted that, respectively on 1 December 2004 and 31 December 2004, R42 932 812.50 per transaction were paid to Inkwenkwezi in order to fund the Inkwenkwezi transaction with Anglo. In total, some R128 798 437.50 was paid to Inkwenkwezi by CMMS for purposes of funding Inkwenkwezi's obligations to Anglo and some R204 954 871.58 was paid by CMMS to Anglo to fund REC's obligations to Anglo for purposes of acquiring WAR shares from Anglo. It is evident from the cash flow forecast, prepared by Swanevelder, that the Inkwenkwezi transaction posed significant cash flow challenges to REC at around November 2004[318]. This is also evident from the agreement for the sale of the WAR shares to Inkwenkwezi by Anglo. We have also identified the following documents evidencing this predicament at that time:

- On 3 November 2004, Webber Wentzel Bowens, acting for Anglo, advised Inkwenkwezi that they were in default of their payment obligations and recorded that Inkwenkwezi advised that they would also not be able to meet the alternative payment date of 13 December 2004, hence they invited Inkwenkwezi to provide them with a payment solution by 10 November 2004[319];

- On 9 November 2004, Mkwanazi advised Van Straaten and Rasethaba that he needed to be re-instated as a director of Inkwenkwezi due to the funding problems experienced by Inkwenkwezi and that he would again step down when such funding problems were resolved[320];

- On 29 November 2004, Nortier of Aflease addressed an e-mail to Lamprecht, Buitendag, RB Kebble and Froneman in which he criticised the selling of Aflease shares that was taking place at that time without such shares being placed through Aflease, which Nortier alleged prejudiced the share price of Aflease. It is evident that these shares were sold at this time in a manner aimed at generating cash flow and not necessarily to obtain the highest prices for such shares, supporting the inference that REC needed cash at that time[321]; and

[320] Refer Exhibit 6.15.13

- On 6 December 2004, Lamprecht advised one Sam Coetzer of Placer Dome and RB Kebble that they were experiencing a cash crunch at that time that has occurred as a result of helping a BEE grouping to make a payment to Anglo in respect of the Inkwenkwezi transaction[322].

From the above it is evident that the Inkwenkwezi transaction placed significant cash flow requirements on REC at the time when the Aflease shares, issued to REC, were sold in the Consolidated Investments trading account. It is evident that, at least part of the purpose of the sale of these shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account was to fund the Inkwenkwezi transaction, as is evident from the payment of some R85 million to Inkwenkwezi from this account in December 2004 alone.

11.15.3 Implications

The evidence, detailed above, indicates that, at around December 2004, REC required significant amounts of cash with which to support the Inkwenkwezi transaction and that the sale of the Aflease shares at that time is indicative of an intention to generate such cash. Provided the fact of the sale of such shares in the Consolidated Investments trading account and the funds transferred from there to Inkwenkwezi, it appears that there was an intention at that time to sell the Aflease shares in order for REC to be able to support the Inkwenkwezi transaction. Such actions and intention appears inconsistent with the calculation method applied by REC in its claim against JCI in respect of these Aflease shares as the calculation method of REC assumes that REC would have kept the Aflease shares to sell same at the time when the shares had their highest price.

11.16 The alleged sale of 500 000 DRD shares

11.16.1 Background

The REC claim recorded that 500 000 DRD shares were misappropriated and disguised by confirmation signed by Stratton indicating that JCI were holding the 500 000 DRD shares as at 31 December 2003 on behalf of REC. The REC claim further indicated that REC entered into a share swap agreement with Slipknot whereby REC agreed to swap 500 000 DRD shares for 14 000 000 JCI shares and that these shares were never received by REC. The claim document does not record anything else against which this claim can be considered.

[322] Refer Exhibit 6.15.15

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

11.16.2 The transaction

The only reference to 500 000 DRD shares we were able to obtain was contained in an e-mail from Beale to RB Kebble on 18 April 2005[323]. Beale informed RB Kebble in the e-mail that Ultra Registrars informed the auditors that 500 000 DRD shares were transferred to Standard Bank Nominees on 4 December 2003 and that a new certificate number 23735 was issued.

A subsequent e-mail from Martie Kohne at Ultra Registrars to Beale indicates that the DRD share certificate number 23735, registered in the name of Standard Bank Nominees, only recorded 115 931 DRD shares and not 500 000 DRD shares[324].

We asked Stratton about the document that he signed confirming that JCI held 500 000 DRD shared on 31 December 2003 on behalf of REC. Stratton informed us that he had no recollection of the matter.

11.16.3 Implications of the transaction

We obtained no evidence that the 500 000 DRD shares were sold. There is also no evidence that JCI received any benefit. In terms of the share swap agreement, REC should claim the JCI shares they have not received from Slipknot.

11.17 The purported sale of 1 500 000 DRD shares

11.17.1 Background

The REC claim indicated that 1 500 000 DRD shares were purportedly sold by REC on 15 March 2002 for R42 576 771.01 through Tradek. This statement vested in the fictitious Tradek contract note that recorded the transaction[325]. The claim further indicated that the proceeds were purportedly used to settle the first payment of R39 180 000 to ABSA in respect of a debenture facility that was granted during September 2001. The claim against JCI vested in the accounting entries in the records of REC that indicated that the amount was owed to CMMS by ABSA and subsequently as an amount owing by JCI Gold to CMMS.

The REC claim stated that CMMS was a party to disguise the theft of the DRD shares by making the payment to ABSA and not reflecting it as an amount owing by REC. Documents, referred to herein, are listed at Annexure RA.

11.17.2 The transaction

A Debenture Roll Over Facility Agreement between ABSA and REC was made on 28 March 2002[326]. The agreement specified that the "roll over date" was 28 March 2002 and that REC would, on the roll over date, redeem 30 000 000 of the initial debentures by paying ABSA the nominal value thereof of R30 000 000, together with interest in the amount of R4 620 000. A further capital raising fee of R4 560 000 was also payable to ABSA by REC. The aggregate of the payment REC had to make to ABSA on 28 March 2002 was R39 180 000.

CMMS instructed FNB on 28 March 2002 to transfer R39 180 000 to an ABSA account recorded in paragraph 8.1 of the Debenture Roll Over Facility Agreement between ABSA and REC[327].

11.17.2.1 CMMS accounting records

The payment was recorded in the CMMS accounting records as a debit of R39 180 000 on 28 March 2002 in the account styled "LOAN – P + 1% - RANDGOLD & EXPLO – ABSA" with account number 155762[328]. Interest was accrued in the account on a monthly basis. On 1 October 2003 a credit of R53 922 977.67 was processed, leaving a credit balance of R3 327 123.11. The credit balance was however reduced with interest entries in the account to a nil balance on 31 March 2004[329].

The credit of R53 922 977.67 was passed with journal 1069 on 1 October 2003. The account "LOAN – JCI GOLD", account number151200, was debited with R50 600 000.00 and "INTEREST RECEIVED – OTHER" debited with R3 322 977.67[330].

11.17.2.2 JCI Gold accounting records

The debit of R50 600 000 in the "LOAN - JCI GOLD" account in the CMMS accounting records, was reflected as a credit in the account "LOAN – CMMS", account number 151100 in the JCI Gold accounting records on 1 October 2003[331]. On the same day, the credit of R50 600 000 in the account "LOAN – CMMS" was debited out and the credit processed on the account styled "MINERAL RIGHTS", account number 102010. The "MINERAL RIGHTS" account was cleared in the JCI Gold accounting records on 31 March 2005 with journal 9226 when the accounts "PROV – MINERAL RIGHTS" and "REVALUATION OF INV. (ACC133)" was debited with R49 824 375.00 and R5 011 170 respectively. Hence, the loan due by REC to CMMS, were recorded as a loan due to CMMS by JCI Gold[332].

11.17.2.3 REC accounting records

In the REC accounting records, journal 148 was processed on 31 March 2002[333]. The account "LISTED INVESTMENTS – TRADING – DRD GOLD" was credited with the amount of R42 660 000 and the following accounts were debited:

- Input VAT – R21 273.00;
- Debtor – Share Sales (DRD) – R3 396 772.00;
- ABSA Loan – R39 180 000.00; and
- Profit or Loss on Sale – R61 955.00.

The balance in the "LISTED INVESTMENTS – TRADING – DRD GOLD" account prior to the credit processed was R141 827 614.97[334].

The source document in respect of the sale of the DRD shares was a Tradek Contract Note, dated 15 March 2002, in respect of account 655050, a trading account for REC at T-Sec. The Contract Note recorded the sale of 1 500 000 DRD shares for R42 750 000. T-Sec confirmed that this transaction did not take place and that the Contract Note was fictitious[335].

When the R39 180 000.00 was debited to the ABSA Loan account in the accounting records of REC, the account had a credit balance of R73 934 620.57. The initial credit in the ABSA loan account relates to a loan REC obtained from "Visual Ignition" of R70 000 000. The account was credited with the R70 000 000 on 3 September 2001.

11.17.3 Implications of the transaction

CMMS made the payment of R39 180 000 to ABSA on behalf of REC on 28 March 2002. The accounting entry initially made in the books of CMMS reflects the correct entry that CMMS made the payment on behalf of REC. This amount was transferred to the accounting records of JCI Gold and eventually written of in the "MINERAL RIGHTS" account of JCI Gold, although JCI Gold remained a creditor of CMMS, instead of REC.

JCI Gold therefore can institute a claim against REC for the R39 180 000 paid on there behalf on 28 March 2002. Interest on the payment at prime plus one percent, computes to R31 456 196.88, bringing the total claim to R70 639 196.88.

12 The investigation of consultants' expenses paid by CMMS and JCI Gold

We have investigated the consultants listed below. We reviewed the financial position, with specific focus on actual amounts paid by JCI Gold and CMMS for the financial years 2004 to 2006. We consulted with various role players in order to establish the contractual relationship as per the documentation provided to us, in addition to the actual relationship.

12.1 Abongile Consultancy

12.1.1 Background

A statutory search performed on Abongile reflected that there was a number of entities styled Abongile. We understand that Yengeni was a director of Abongile Consultancy.

Accordingly, we presented Yengeni with a list, on which the names of various Abongile entities appeared, whereafter he indicated that Abongile Policy and Management (registration number, 2003/007629/07) was his company. Based on his assertion, we conducted a background search and it reflected that he is not a director of this particular entity. All subsequent attempts to contact him have been unsuccessful. It appears from a statutory search that Yengeni was listed as a director of three other companies, which are not subject to our review.

We have obtained an original invoice for Abongile Consultants for August 2003 and noted that the invoice reflected charges relating to the Boschendal development[336].

12.1.2 Contractual relationship

We could not locate any written contract between Abongile, on the one part, and JCI Limited, CMMS or RB Kebble, on the other part.

12.1.3 Actual relationship

Yengeni revealed to us that, during 2003, he approached RB Kebble and advised him that his (Yengeni's) funds have been exhausted due to the legal matter in which he was involved and that he was in need of financial assistance.

RB Kebble agreed to assist him financially and offered to pay his legal fees. RB Kebble committed to provide him with money on a monthly basis on condition that Yengeni, inter alia, assisted with certain BEE deals, the terms of which Yengeni accepted[337]:

- According to Yengeni, RB Kebble agreed to assist in respect of the following:
  - To pay his legal fees to Mallinicks, relating to the arms deal matter, and to Fink Attorneys, relating to a complaint being lodged against him at the Public Protector;
  - To pay a monthly consulting fee of R60 000;
  - To purchase of a motor vehicle for him; and
  - To pay his expenses in respect of travelling and accommodation for the legal matters mentioned above.
- The agreement was not in writing;
- He received payments of R60 000 per month for the period from an unspecified date during 2003 to December 2004, whereafter RB Kebble informed him that he (RB Kebble) was experiencing financial constraints and ceased the payments;
- Yengeni only submitted invoices for the first three months, whereafter it was indicated to him that it was not necessary any longer. Yengeni was not specific on who instructed him not to submit invoices; and
- He also received a vehicle as agreed with RB Kebble. Yengeni explained that he traded his Volvo in as a deposit on the new vehicle provided to him.

Yengeni confirmed that RB Kebble paid the legal fees as was agreed between them, which also included expenses in respect of travelling and accommodation related to these matters.

Yengeni explained that, during the period in which he received consulting fees, he was involved in a number of projects which included the following:

- To build a Justice Centre in Goodwood;
- Buying of the Pollsmoor land in order to relocate the prison and then use the land for residential purposes; and

- Mining ventures in Zimbabwe, during which he met with the governments of both South Africa and Zimbabwe.

After showing Yengeni a copy of an invoice, dated 24 March 2005, he confirmed that the last payment he received was during December 2004. We have not established why invoices were generated in March 2005 when Yengeni indicated that he received his last payment during December 2004.

Yengeni further indicated that Stratton was aware of the agreement with RB Kebble. Yengeni confirmed that he reported verbally to RB Kebble on a regular basis.

Stratton confirmed that he was aware of the agreement between RB Kebble and Yengeni. However, Stratton explained that he only discovered that Yengeni received a Land Rover vehicle through Friedshelf after becoming involved in the administration of RB Kebble's estate[338].

We have examined various documents, which appear to suggest that Yengeni provided services to JCI Limited in respect of the above-mentioned projects, the detail of which is described at paragraph 12.15 infra.

12.1.4 Financing of Yengeni's car

It appears from a document, dated 4 September 2003, that an enquiry was made by Yengeni relating to the settlement amount of his 2000 Volvo C70 model[339].

As stated supra, Yengeni informed us that he traded his Volvo in on the new vehicle, which was purchased for him. He also stated that the financing of the new vehicle was borne by an entity named Friedshelf[340].

It was recorded in an unsigned memorandum, dated 25 September 2003 (author unknown) and addressed to Ncwana, that[341]:

".. Tony's vehicle will be owned by Friedshelf 350 (Pty) Limited.

The director of Friedshelf 350 (Pty) Limited is yourself ...."

Orman & Associates confirmed, in a fax dated 10 November 2003, that JCI Limited was the sole shareholder of Friedshelf 350[342]. It appears from information recently obtained from public available searches that Friedshelf 350 was a private company with registration number 2003/021425/07 and that the sole director of the company was Ncwana.

Ncwana indicated that the instalments of the Land Rover vehicle were paid by Friedshelf 350[343].

Ncwana indicated to us that RB Kebble requested him to join him as a director of Friedshelf. Ncwana explained that, although listed as a director, he was not actively involved in the company. He only signed documents presented to him by Griffiths.

12.1.5 Financial information/payments

We noted a number of invoices of R60 000.00 each for the period July 2003 until April 2005[344]. We could not establish who issued the invoices. The total of the aforesaid invoices amounted to R1 320 000.00. Yengeni told us that he only received payments amounting to R1 080 000.00 for the time frame July 2003 to December 2004. This is not supported by the facts.

We were unable to trace any payments made to Abongile and Yengeni by CMMS and/or JCI Gold.

Stratton provided us with a schedule of cashbook transactions pertaining to the Standard Bank account of RB Kebble. We did not verify any of the entries appearing on this schedule as it was apparently prepared by the accountant of RB Kebble and neither have we viewed the source documents it was prepared from or any of the payments made in this regard.

According to our analysis of the list and, based on the inscription relevant to the name of Yengeni, it appears that payments of R120 000.00 in total may have been made by RB Kebble to Yengeni. The cashbook of RB Kebble is also described in more detail at paragraph 12.16.4 infra.

Stratton provided us with contradictory information. Initially, he indicated to us that he did not know how Yengeni was paid[345]. Subsequently, he informed us that Poole was used as a medium to process payments to Yengeni[346].

Poole confirmed that he made payments to Yengeni on RB Kebble's instruction from the Tuscan Mood bank accounts. He also confirmed that he was not aware of any written agreement between Abongile and RB Kebble[347].

During a consultation with Stratton, we were provided with a list of payments which were made to contractors. Stratton furthermore said to us that he obtained this list from the desk of RB Kebble after his death. The said list has an inscription at the top, which is styled "loan account" and accordingly we will in future refer to it as the schedule styled "loan accounts which were provided to us by Stratton". The above said schedule is indicative of a payment, or payments, made to a party named "Tony Yengeni" for an amount of R1 140 000.00.

We furthermore noted that the total amount, paid in respect of legal fees for Yengeni, was R879 061[348].

12.1.6 Authorisation

It appears that RB Kebble authorised payments made to Abongile/Yengeni in respect of consultancy fees claimed, in particular those processed by Poole to Yengeni[349].

It further appears that Stratton authorised the payments made to attorneys in respect of legal fees[350].

12.1.7 Benefit to JCI Limited

Yengeni indicated that, as at the stage of RB Kebble's death, he (Yengeni) facilitated all the relevant ministerial support, except that of the Minister of Finance, for JCI Limited related entities and that that was the benefit derived by JCI Limited from the contractual relationship with him. RB Kebble has however passed away long after Yengeni received such payments.

12.2 Capacity Building

12.2.1 Background

It appears from information obtained from public available searches that Capacity Building was a private company with registration number is 1997/006617/07 and that its main purpose of business was described as import and export. Ntsele appears to be the sole director of Capacity and he advised us that Capacity was a communications company that specialised in issues pertaining to crisis management. Ntsele indicated that he was hired by RB Kebble at a time when JCI Limited and its group of companies were investigated by the FSB and were enduring substantial negative publicity[351].

12.2.2 Contractual relationship

Capacity entered into a written consulting agreement with RB Kebble and the JCI Limited group of companies on 12 September 2001, effective July 2001 to June 2002 and which was considered for renewal at the end of March 2002. The contract, inter alia, provided that Ntsele would provide communication counselling services to RB Kebble and the parties agreed to remunerate Ntsele with a fee of R100 000.00 per month, excluding VAT[352].

12.2.3 Actual relationship

Ntsele acted as consultant to RB Kebble and provided communications counselling services as well as performing intelligence services to RB Kebble. He advised that he provided his services exclusively to RB Kebble and could only undertake additional assignments with the approval of RB Kebble[353].

Ntsele further advised that the contract was verbally renewed for an indefinite period and that the fee was also increased to R200 000.00 per month, excluding VAT. Ntsele was not prepared to reveal names of references who assisted him, as he was of the opinion that it would affect his professional relationship with these individuals. We can confirm that, with effect from September 2003, Ntsele's consultancy fee increased to R200 000.00 per month, excluding VAT.

Both Stratton and Poole confirmed that Ntsele performed the above referred to services on behalf of JCI Limited and RB Kebble.

Gray terminated the public relation services, provided by Ntsele to the JCI Limited group of companies, on 24 November 2005[354].

12.2.4 Financial information/payments

We noted invoices for the period April 2003 to December 2005, aggregating R6 740 000.00 (VAT inclusive) [355]. The consultancy fee, charged by Capacity Building until September 2003, amounted to R114 000.00 per month[356]. With effect from October 2003 until December 2005, the consultancy fee increased to R228 000.00 per month, which is an increase of 100% if compared to previous monthly invoices paid[357].

Total payments to Capacity Building amounted to R6 209 137. This amount includes an amount of R1 400 000.00, paid to Ntsele as a settlement. A further R30 000.00 was paid to Capacity Building on 3 September 2003, which appears to relate to a donation by JCI Limited on Capacity Building's behalf to The Sports Trust Golf Challenge[358].

However, according to Morton, JCI Limited and Capacity Building reached a settlement during November 2005, after which there was no further outstanding financial obligation to Capacity Building. Morton Iprovided us with an unsigned letter, confirming this arrangement[359].

In terms of the settlement, JCI Limited paid Capacity Building R1 400 000. Ntsele further advised that he received bonus payments from RB Kebble aggregating approximately R1 600 000.00 during their entire professional relationship.

In addition, Ntsele explained that RB Kebble personally paid him at least three monthly retainers, since JCI experienced financial difficulties. At the time of writing we were not yet able to confirm his version of the settlement amount.

We cannot exclude the possibility that the R1 600 000, mentioned above, forms part of the payments by RB Kebble, dealt with at paragraph 12.16.

12.2.5 Authorisation

It appears from the majority of invoices that the two group accountants of CMMS, namely Swanevelder and De Beer, authorised the transfer of funds to Capacity Building.

We noted that payment authorisation for payments made to Capacity Building were done by various individuals. Although we do not profess to be examiners of disputed documents, the CMMS/JCI Gold transfer of funds forms are indicative that:

- Poole;
- De Beer; and
- Swanevelder

were signatories to the document and we therefore accept that the signatures, appearing on the said forms, were in fact that of the aforesaid individuals.

12.2.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

Ntsele advised that his services were of substantial benefit to JCI Limited and that it reduced the number of instances in which JCI Limited and its stakeholders would have been subjected to pressure within the media, considerably.

It further appears from our interviews that Capacity Building performed public relations services to JCI Limited and RB Kebble. It is evident from the agreement that Capacity Building assisted not only JCI Limited but also RB Kebble in his personal capacity[360].

The schedule of cashbook transactions, obtained from Stratton, is indicative of payments made to Ntsele for an amount of R2 330 000 as described in more detail at paragraph 12.16 infra.

The schedule styled "Loan accounts", which was provided to us by Stratton, reflects a party named "Dom Ntsele" for an amount of R2 250 000.00.

During consultation with Poole, he explained that payments were made from Tuscan Mood. We did not verify whether there is any relation between the schedule, provided by Stratton, and the payments processed by Poole.

12.3 Central National Security Group

12.3.1 Background

It appears from information obtained from public available sources that CNSG was a private company. The directors of CNSG were recorded as:

- Clinton Ronald Nassif; and
- Collin Stephen Sander.

The nature of business of the company is reflected as investigation and security activities.

12.3.2 Contractual relationship

Bailey stated that she maintained a contract register of all contracts entered into by JCI Limited and its subsidiaries. Bailey stated that she had no records of any contracts or consultancy agreements entered into between JCI Limited companies and CNSG[361]. Sander informed that there was a written agreement between CNSG and JCI Limited. The agreement was, according to Sander, signed during 2005 and expires during 2007[362]. The agreement, according to Stratton, was initially signed by him and, thereafter, the renewal clauses were signed by Buitendag during March or April 2005[363].

We found no documented evidence of an agreement between JCI Limited and CNSG.

12.3.3 Actual relationship

Stratton stated that the contract for the provision of security guards was changed to CNSG after the previous contractor, BOSASA, became disorganised[364]. Stratton also confirmed that the provision of security guard services at senior JCI Limited personnel's residences and the JCI Limited offices were being rendered by CNSG.

The monthly charge for providing security guards for various JCI Limited senior personnel, including Stratton and RB Kebble, was R5 800.00 per person, as is inter alia reflected on invoice number 162[365]. Guard fees were also included for senior personnel at other related persons, namely, "RAR Kebble" and "Mr Rasithaba", as recorded in the aforesaid invoice. The cost pertaining to guards, provided for the other persons, were allocated to such persons' respective loan accounts in the books of accounts of CMMS.

Schultz stated that there was a contract between JCI Limited and CNSG. Schultz stated that the rates, charged for the guards, were agreed by Stratton and RB Kebble[366]. Stratton denied having been involved in determining the rates charged by CNSG, stating that Buitendag had been involved in determining the aforesaid rates, which were charged to JCI Limited.

Stratton confirmed that, in addition to the provision of guards, CNSG also conducted certain investigations that were initiated either by himself or by RB Kebble[367]. Stratton stated that the monthly retainer of R300 000.00, as invoiced by CNSG, was for ad-hoc investigation services, which were provided to JCI Limited.

The retainer was invoiced with the description of "Professional services rendered for the month"[368]. Stratton stated that one of the investigations that he had requested CNSG to conduct was an investigation on "George Poole". Stratton stated that Nassif, Anders and Sabbatini provided verbal feedback on investigations done by CNSG. Sabbatini also stated that one of the assignments, performed by Micromath and invoiced to JCI Limited, was the "George Poole" investigation[369]. This is discussed at the section dealing with Micromath at paragraph 12.15 infra.

Sander stated that the monthly retainer of R300 000.00 was for investigations performed by CNSG for JCI Limited. The type of investigations varied and included investigations of fraud, theft, robbery, corporate intelligence and profiling of customers. Sander stated that he did not have copies of the reports as these had been handed to Gray[370]. Gray provided us with the report given to him by Sander; this report only detailed the investigations in progress and not all the reports on work done by CNSG.

Sander stated that he had also provided copies of the reports to Stratton on various occasions. Stratton confirmed that he had requested CNSG to perform certain investigations and that he had received verbal feedback on most of these investigations.

In response to a question on his knowledge of Sabbatini and Micromath, Sander stated that Sabbatini was an associate from another company, that is, Micromath and that Sabbatini was used as a consultant by CNSG to conduct intelligence gathering. Sander further stated that the payments made by JCI Limited to Micromath were for work done on internal investigations at JCI Limited. Sander stated that Stratton had negotiated the use of Micromath to conceal internal investigations. Sander confirmed that the work done by Micromath and invoiced to JCI Limited by Micromath was in fact work done by CNSG[371].

Schultz was asked to explain the charge for "cell phone", reflected on invoice numbers 362 and JC1022[372]. Three separate "cell phone" charges are reflected on this invoice for amounts of R8 743.48, R5 934.02 and R6 770.05 for August 2005, September 2005 and October 2005 respectively. Schultz stated that these charges were for investigations relating to the tracing and collection of cellular phone records.

Sander stated that the cellphone costs, reflected on their invoices, were for phones (Nokia 6310) that CNSG arranged for KB Kebble, Stratton and other JCI Limited staff members[373]. Stratton denied that he received any cell phones from CNSG and he stated that he was not aware that the "cell phone", reflected on the invoices, related to cellular phones provided to JCI Limited personnel.

In explaining invoices, reflecting CMMS making payments (deposit's) for vehicles, reflected on invoice number JC1003, Schultz could not provide any explanation and referred us to Sander[374]. Sander stated that RB Kebble or Stratton requested that guards be collected and dropped-off at the various sites and, due to the fact that CNSG did not have vehicles, they could not provide these services, whereupon JCI Limited agreed to assist CSNG by paying the deposits on the vehicles acquired by them for this service[375]. The remaining monthly instalments, according to Sander, were paid by CNSG. Stratton stated that the reason for JCI Limited making these payments may have been to assist CNSG in acquiring vehicles to transport the guards, but he could not recall whether he was party to the negotiations on this matter[376].

12.3.4 Payments

The total amount, invoiced by CNSG in respect of consultancy fees and disbursements for the period June 2004 to October 2005, was R7 428 889.48. Of the aforesaid amount, an amount of R973 028.55 was outstanding for payment as at 31 October 2005[377].

12.3.5 Authorisation

The services provided by CNSG were authorised by Stratton.

12.3.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

CNSG provided JCI Limited with security guards and conducted ad-hoc investigations on behalf of JCI Limited.

12.4 Cygnus Marketing CC

12.4.1 Background

Information obtained from public available sources indicates that Cygnus was incorporated in 2002 with registration number 2002/086817/23. The main business of the close corporation was recorded as trade retail. The Close Corporation had two members, namely;

- Johannes Theophile Schalkwijk; and
- Schalkwijk.

At present, Schalkwijk is an employee of REC.

12.4.2 Contractual relationship

Schalkwijk informed us that there were no written agreement between Letseng Diamonds or REC and Cygnus[378].

[377] Refer Annexure FF
[378] As per consultation with Schalkwijk

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

12.4.3 Actual relationship

Schalkwijk indicated that Cygnus was appointed during October 2003 to provide financial accounting services to Letseng Diamonds. We were informed that Victor Song, then CFO of Letseng Diamonds, authorised the appointment. All the payments to Cygnus were made by CMMS[379].

During April 2005, Cygnus was appointed to provide financial accounting services to REC by Lamprecht. During November 2005, Lamprecht appointed Schalkwijk as the financial accountant of REC and, as a result thereof, REC did not utilise the services of Cygnus any longer.

It therefore appears that Cygnus may have been a personal services company who provided accounting services to Letseng and REC, prior to Schalkwijk having being offered a permanent position at REC.

12.4.4 Financial information

The total amount paid to Cygnus for the period, October 2003 to October 2005, amounted to R847 408, excluding VAT. These payments are summarised[380]. It is evident that all the payments to Cygnus were made by CMMS and that the payments made between November 2003 to June 2005, were debited against the loan account of Letseng in the books of account of CMMS.

12.4.5 Authorisation

With regard to the authorisation of payments to Cygnus, we noticed the following:

- Subject to our standard qualification regarding signature of parties, it appears that payments, made for the period November 2003 to March 2004, were primarily authorised by Swanevelder and/or De Beer and Poole; and
- From April 2004 until October 2005, the payments were made electronically.

Edge to Edge was a private company of which Stratton was a director. Stratton was using Edge to Edge to invoice CMMS in respect of his consultancy fees.

These payments are reported on at paragraph 12.10 infra.

12.6 Finerent

12.6.1 Background

Information obtained from public available sources indicated that Finerent was a close corporation. The members of Finerent were recorded as Leonie Jackson and Clement John Jackson.

12.6.2 Contract

Bailey stated that she had no records of any contracts or consultancy agreements entered into between JCI Limited, or its subsidiaries, and Finerent[381].

We were informed by Jackson that there was a contract for the services rendered by Finerent[382]. Jackson stated that he had given RB Kebble a contract to sign, which contract was signed by RB Kebble on behalf of JCI Limited. Jackson furthermore stated that he had not received or retained a copy of the contract. Jackson stated that, since he reported almost daily to RB Kebble, he was not concerned at not having a signed contract as he was being paid regularly for the services rendered.

Jackson stated that Finerent leased performing services for JCI Limited and that they have submitted a proposal to Gray for the provision of services in future, which proposal was then being considered by JCI Limited.

12.6.3 Actual relationship

The type of services rendered by Finerent included the conducting of investigations and gathering and provision of business intelligence to JCI Limited [383]. According to Jackson, the specific services rendered, included the compiling of profiles on individuals and entities at RB Kebble's request and daily search of the JCI Limited offices in Cape Town and Johannesburg for electronic monitoring devices[384]. Jackson stated that he did not have any copies of any reports since he "discarded" these reports after RB Kebble's death.

Stratton stated that Finerent was retained by RB Kebble and provided security services, which included searches for electronic monitoring devices at the premises of RB Kebble and at JCI Limited's offices. Stratton stated that Finerent reported personally to RB Kebble and he was not aware of any signed contract with Finerent[385].

12.6.4 Payments

The total amount, invoiced by Finerent for the period April 2003 to October 2005, was R8 978 296.61[386]. The amount, outstanding to Finerent as per the general ledger of CMMS on 31 October 2005, was R203 549.28[387].

12.6.5 Authorisation

According to Stratton, the services of Finerent were authorised by RB Kebble. Stratton also stated that the JCI Limited board members were aware of the services being rendered by Finerent[388].

12.6.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

Jackson stated that the services rendered, were for JCI Limited related issues and not for the personal benefit of RB Kebble. He also stated that feedback was provided to RB Kebble in verbal format and, in some instances, written reports were produced.

Security services were rendered by Finerent and, based on the admission of Stratton, the board members were aware of the nature of such services. However, from the limited information made available to us, we are unable to determine whether these services were in fact rendered at the frequency claimed by Jackson.

In addition, we cannot exclude the possibility that some of the profiling and business intelligence was done in respect of the dispute with DRD.

12.7 Retrospective 81 CC trading as Geta Fish

12.7.1 Background

Information, obtained from public available sources, indicated that Geta Fish was a close corporation with registration number 2002/017955/23 and had its main purpose of business as the export of sword and tuna fish.

Jason Burgess was the only registered member of Geta Fish. Burgess was initially contracted as a consultant to JCI Limited until SAFCO was formed, whereafter he provided consulting services to SAFCO.

12.7.2 Contractual relationship

Burgess subsequently indicated that no written contractual agreement with either JCI or SAFCO existed. We were not presented with an agreement between JCI Limited and Geta Fish[389].

12.7.3 Actual relationship

Burgess, inter alia, stated the following[390]:

- He consulted for a company named and styled Mennolow Fishing and that Mennolow Fishing later approached JCI Limited to enter into a joint venture opportunity;
- He was a seafood consultant and specialised in Sashimi (raw) Tuna and he ensured that it was of the highest grade. He was thus also qualified to grade the fish;

[389] As per consultations with Bailey, Vieira and Burgess
[390] As per consultation with Burgess

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- He used to export Tuna and Sword Fish to overseas markets, i.e. Japan and the United States of America, which also entailed an element of marketing;
- Brian Barrett and Ernie Louw, both working for Mennolow Fishing at the time, requested him to accompany them to a meeting during May or June 2004 with JCI Limited, where they met with, amongst others, Griffiths. At this meeting, Tuna fishing opportunities in South Africa and Namibia were discussed. During the meeting Griffiths enquired about Burgess's expertise and indicated that JCI Limited also wanted to look at other opportunities in the Tuna industry as JCI Limited was considering a fishing venture. According to Burgess, JCI Limited later contracted with Mason from Australia and asked Burgess to shadow Mason;
- He initially provided consulting services to JCI Limited and invoiced JCI Limited directly. However, after the formation of SAFCO, he invoiced SAFCO directly;
- As a consultant to JCI Limited, he was, amongst other matters, required to identify potential fishing resources, market demands and evaluate infrastructures in Africa. To this extent, he formed part of a team at SAFCO that designed a strategy around a business plan, which included a marketing strategy for the project. Griffiths was one of the team members at SAFCO;
- Burgess was further required to assist with the applications for fishing licences and met on a weekly basis with RB Kebble and Stratton in this regard;
- His primary role was to endeavour that tuna and sword fish of the highest quality would be caught, which entailed the consideration of various factors and performing of various procedures;
- Geta Fish invoiced JCI Limited, or SAFCO as the case may have been, monthly, which included the services rendered by himself and his employees. Burgess received payment from CMMS, JCI Gold and on one occasion he received payment from RB Kebble. According to Burgess, payments were made electronically and once by cheque;
- After SAFCO was awarded various fishing licences during December 2004, Geta Fish continued to invoice for services rendered. Burgess and his staff were offered, and they accepted, full-time employment at SAFCO. Geta Fish subsequently closed their offices; and

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Burgess never signed a written contract of employment as he was not satisfied with certain clauses of the draft employment contract. As a result of the fact that he and SAFCO could not reach a conclusion regarding his employment contract, he subsequently terminated his employment with SAFCO during July 2005.

Barrett stated that Geta Fish performed services prior to SAFCO's formation and thereafter. He explained that Geta Fish was instrumental in the operations of SAFCO prior to being awarded the fishing licences[391]. Williams and Barrett also confirmed that Burgess and his employees joined SAFCO effective from February 2005.

Benjamin, the former administrator of Geta Fish, inter alia, confirmed that Geta Fish performed services to SAFCO and JCI Limited [392]. She also indicated that, with effect from 1 February 2005, staff of Geta Fish were employed by SAFCO.

We reviewed the SAFCO employment contracts of the former Geta Fish employees and can confirm that these employment contracts were signed during March 2005, effective 1 February 2005[393]. We were not provided with any written employment contract for Burgess.

12.7.4 Financial information/payments

We have noted invoices, submitted by Geta Fish, for payment of their consultancy fees in respect of the period August 2004 to January 2005, amounting to of R462 695.17, including VAT[394]. This total included six invoices in respect of the aforementioned period, which related to the monthly retainer for consultancy fees of R45 600.00 each. The remainder of the charges, reflected on the invoices, relate to disbursements incurred by Geta Fish in the performance of their services to SAFCO.

We established that, of the R462 695.17, an amount of R445 850.76 was paid into Geta Fish's bank account at Standard Bank, Milnerton, account number 711 864 41, by JCI Gold and CMMS[395]. The figure of R445 850.76 was arrived at by using the JCI Gold (134 909.95) total payments from CMMS (R354 273.75), but excluding the amount of R43 332.94 which represents reimbursement in respect of SAFCO.

These payments were then debited to the loan account of SAFCO in the books of account of CMMS[396]. It therefore appears that an amount of R16 844.41 may still be owing to Geta Fish. However, Burgess indicated that he may have received one payment from RB Kebble personally. Burgess was of the opinion that there were no outstanding amounts in respect of the consultancy services rendered by Geta Fish.

A further R43 332.94 was paid to Geta Fish on 4 March 2005, which related to a reimbursement in respect of SAFCO's February salaries commitment to Geta Fish's former employees. The aforesaid figure was arrived at by combining the second, third and fourth cheques deposited into Getafish's bank account as per the deposit slip dated 4 March 2006[397].

12.7.5 Authorisation

Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, it appears that the payments made to Geta Fish were authorised by either Stratton and/or Barrett[398].

12.7.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

It appears that the direct benefit of Geta Fish's services would have been to SAFCO. SAFCO was formed and also awarded various licences in terms of which Geta Fish's inputs/expertise were utilised.

12.7.7 Outstanding obligations

Burgess has indicated that JCI Limited had no outstanding and/or future obligation towards him.

12.8 HSC

Attached to the letter was an acceptance document pertaining to the terms and conditions, recorded in the letter mentioned above. The acceptance document was signed by Heath on behalf of HSC, and by three individuals, RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and Stratton[400].

It appears from the acceptance document that RB Kebble, RAR Kebble, and Stratton accepted the agreement in their personal capacities, although that may be debatable and a legal opinion should be obtained on the interpretation of the signing convention applied in this document.

12.8.2.1 The beneficiaries of the services rendered by HSC

It appears from the agreement, mentioned above, that HSC performed the work on behalf of RB Kebble and RAR Kebble and other interests in which the Kebble family held interest. On the question whether any services were rendered to JCI Limited and/or CMMS, Heath explained that[401]

"...The two Kebbles and John Stratton signed a document reflecting our contract. It was agreed that they would discuss the agreement on company level and that this company would become the other contracting party. We were subsequently advised that JCI would be the party to our contract and that it was agreed that CMMS would be the vehicle to effect payment to our account..."

Stratton indicated that the services of HSC were retained during the time when the JCI Limited group and the Kebble family were involved in a dispute with Wellesley-Wood, the chairman of DRD. Stratton indicated that, although it might appear from the contract that the object was to deliver services to the Kebble family and to protect their interest, the JCI Limited group was involved. He said that there were furthermore other forces who tried to discredit the Kebbles and JCI Limited. In addition, Stratton confirmed that HSC worked on a number of assignments for JCI Limited, not only matters relating to the DRD matters.

[400] Refer Exhibit 7.8.2
[401] Refer Exhibit 7.8.3

According to Stratton, there is no doubt that HSC performed work which was to the benefit of the JCI Limited group. Based on the fact that the letter captioned "Legal Auditing Services – HSC Retainer", was addressed to RAR Kebble, as Managing Director of REC, and to RB Kebble, as Managing Director of JCI Limited, it appears to indicate that these two companies were part of the business interest of the Kebble family. JCI Limited and CMMS were only the vehicles to facilitate the agreement and payments to HSC. Furthermore, Stratton stated that, if the dispute related to the Kebble family and their interest, then both JCI and REC would form part of it[402].

12.8.3 Retainer

The agreement between JCI Limited and HSC specified the payment of a monthly retainer. HSC did not submit monthly reports, as required by the contract, but both Heath and Stratton explained that it was decided that HSC would submit reports as and when required[403].

There are indications that HSC worked on various investigations and assisted in a number of legal matters. This was confirmed by Morton, the legal advisor for JCI Limited. Morton provided us with a document reflecting 41 legal matters, of which she stated that HSC was involved in 13[404]. In addition, Morton provided us with a document styled "SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE IN CRIMINAL MATTER – STATE Vs R.A.R KEBBLE/SKILLED LABOUR BROKERS CC" from which it is evident that HSC has provided services in respect of that criminal matter[405]. We noted that this document was prepared by HSC.

In addition, HSC invoiced their disbursements separately from the monthly retainer as specified in the contract, mentioned supra. It is evident from the invoices submitted that there were also disbursements claimed on behalf of a number of individuals who acted as witnesses during the DRD matter[406]. The detail of the witnesses and the background of the specific matters are discussed at section 12.8.4 infra.

12.8.3.1 Increase in monthly retainer

We noted that, in a letter dated 6 February 2004, Heath requested an increase in the monthly retainer[407]. The monthly retainer was increased from R230 000 to R325 000. Although we could not locate a letter in which this increase was approved by either JCI Limited or CMMS, the increased monthly invoices were subsequently approved by Stratton for payment.

12.8.4 Payments to third parties by HSC on behalf of JCI Limited

During our investigation, we established that HSC invoiced CMMS in respect of "Consultancy and Research by third parties transferable by HSC". The details of the third parties were not reflected on the invoices obtained from CMMS.

In addition to these invoices, we obtained invoices styled "Consultancy and Research by third parties transferable by HSC", in which it was recorded that the payments had to be made into the trust account of HSC[408]. The bank details of the trust account were recorded as FNB, Tygerberg (201410), 6203686 4537.

Heath responded in a letter to us that HSC[409] "...had to pay third parties on instruction of our clients and that we used our "Trust" Account as a vehicle for that purpose. Our clients arranged these payments and we only served to make such payments. That was the full extent of our involvement in relation to these payments..."

Heath explained that the "HSC Trust Account" was not a trust account in terms of the Attorneys Act, Act number 53 of 1979. This account was used mainly for the purpose of facilitating payments to third parties on behalf of clients[410].

Although the invoices, submitted to CMMS, did not reflect the service details, Stratton explained that he managed the relationship and that the service details were submitted to him. He further explained that the details were not attached to the invoices, submitted to CMMS, because of the sensitive nature thereof[411].

HSC provided to us a set of invoices, including supporting documentation. We noted that not all the invoices were accompanied by the service details in respect of payments to the third parties. The following categories of third parties were paid by HSC:

- Potential witnesses in the DRD matter;
- Payments to other individuals; and
- Payments to Spring Lights.

12.8.4.1 Payments to potential witnesses in the DRD matters

Legal actions and basis for payments by HSC

Stratton explained that the JCI Limited group and the Kebble family were involved in extensive litigation with DRD and Wellesley-Wood[412].

This sentiment was shared by Van Staden of Taback Inc, who prepared a summary of the background to the litigation related to DRD. Van Staden summarised it as follows at paragraph seven of a letter, issued by him on 22 December 2003[413]:

"... We reiterate that, in our view, the litigation war was fuelled largely by animosity between Kebble and MWW resulting from what are essentially boardroom disputes. It may not be correct to say that it is all a storm in a teacup, but certainly the claims and charges against Kebble are motivated more by a desire by MWW to entrench control over a now valuable commercial enterprise than by other consideration"

Van Staden listed various matters, which were part of the litigation and which include:

- A FSB case, resulting in criminal charges against RAR Keble, RB Kebble and Buitendag;
- Criminal charges of fraud against RAR Kebble arising from the insertion of Skilled Labour Brokers CC in the Watson/DRD relationship. This investigation and prosecution were allegedly funded by DRD;

[412] As per consultation with Stratton
[413] Refer Exhibit 7.8.10

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- DRD issued a summons against Kebble alleging "competitive trading" by RAR Kebble with DRD subsequent to the conclusion of restraint of trade agreements;

- Various claims for damages instituted by RAR Kebble against Wellesley-Wood, DRD and others arising from constitutional breaches of privacy, spying, bribery and the like, allegedly committed by DRD and its private investigators, AIN; and

- These activities have resulted in formal complaints to the Director of Public Prosecutions.

Morton and Stratton explained that there were a number of individuals who provided information to the Kebbles and JCI Limited. The individuals were mainly from DRD and AIN[414].

Morton provided documentation, filed in the High Court of South Africa, Witwatersrand Local Division. It appears from the documentation that, during February 2003, RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, JCI Limited, R Watson and Global Economic Research applied for an Anton Pillar order to gain access to certain DRD and AIN premises[415]. The order was for searching in order to enable identified individuals, from the Kebble and JCI Limited group, to point out to the Sheriff originals and copies of certain specific documents and or other evidence.

This application followed allegations of an infringement of privacy of a number of individuals by AIN while conducting an assignment for DRD.

The information, obtained through the searches and information obtained from former AIN and DRD employees, formed the basis of the claim instituted by RB Kebble and RAR Kebble against Wellesley-Wood, DRD and AIN. It appears from the particulars of the claim that Wellesley-Wood, CEO of DRD, instructed AIN inter alia to[416]:

- Acquire personal and confidential information of RAR Kebble and RB Kebble;

- Build profiles of RAR Kebble and RB Kebble; and

- Embarrass, denigrate, humiliate and defame RAR Kebble and RB Kebble.

In addition, we obtained a document styled "SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE IN CRIMINAL MATTER – STATE Vs. R.A.R. KEBBLE/SKILLED LABOUR BROKERS CC", which was prepared by HSC. This clearly highlighted the fact that the information, obtained through the Anton Pillar order and from former AIN employees was used in the criminal matter of RAR Kebble.

It appears from supporting documentation seen that HSC made payments to former DRD and AIN employees, who included[417]:

Individual	Former employer	Monthly amount R
Morton	DRD	52 500
Paul Eloff	DRD	60 000
Marina Eloff	DRD	60 000
Louw Wepener	AIN	60 000
D Tonkin	AIN	17 828
Mike Moss	AIN	34 000
Mara Moss	AIN	10 000
Hercules Erasmus	AIN	18 500
Andre Bayards	AIN	18 500

All the names, listed above, were potential witnesses during the above mentioned matters and left their employment at either AIN or DRD. Stratton explained that RB Kebble, Heath and he were involved in negotiating appointments and/or monthly remuneration for these individuals[418].

Stratton indicated that, after obtaining legal advice, it was decided to employ a number of these individuals. Stratton further explained that to ensure "the right to legal privilege", it was decided not to pay these individuals directly from CMMS, but to use HSC to make these payments. HSC would then, on a monthly basis, claim the payments from CMMS[419]. The effect of this was that JCI Gold or CMMS paid the aforesaid individuals, albeit on a non-transparent method. We do not understand how payments to these persons via HSC would ensure the right to legal privilege.

Contractual agreement with potential witnesses

We have located one written agreement, that of Morton, in respect of these individuals who received payments from HSC[420].

Stratton indicated that he was not aware of any other written agreement with these potential witnesses[421].

Morton provided us with this agreement, dated 17 March 2003 and styled "Indemnity and appointment as Legal Advisor"[422]. For the purpose of our investigation, the following clauses are of importance:

1. Indemnity

> Mr. John Stratton (Stratton) indemnifies you as follows with regards to your resignation from your employment as Legal Advisor to Durban Roodepoort Deep Limited (DRD).
> Stratton indemnifies you against any claim or dispute which may arise from your resignation from DRD on the basis of a constructive dismissal of yourself by DRD. Without derogating from the generality of the afore-going indemnity, the following indemnity is given..."

It was recorded that, in the event that DRD failed to honour certain payments, Stratton committed to settle such. These included the following:

- Morton's salary for the month of March 2003;
- Outstanding leave; and
- A bonus voucher in respect of a free vacation Morton was given by DRD.

Stratton further indemnified Morton in respect of any claims that DRD might have instituted arising from the termination of her contract of employment, including the legal cost arising from such a claim.

Paragraph two of the agreement reflected the terms of her appointment and recorded that:

"We have been instructed to confirm your appointment as a legal advisor in a company, to be nominated by Stratton on, inter alia, the following conditions:

2.1 An all-inclusive package of R 572 000.00 (Five Hundred and Seventy-Two Thousand Rand) per annum is offered. This package shall be reconsidered by the employer at the end of the first six months of employment.

2.2 Both parties shall be entitled to terminate this agreement with one months notice in writing. Stratton and/or the company shall only be entitled to give notice of termination on the grounds provided for by the provisions of the Labour Law."

The document was not signed by Heath, but there is a hand written note "Confirmed J Stratton 17 March 2003". It appears that it was signed by Stratton[423].

Morton indicated, in a letter dated 22 September 2005 and addressed to Peter Gray, that[424]:

"In terms of the agreement concluded between myself, John Stratton and Brett Kebble before I resigned from DRD in March 2003, it was agreed that I would be offered a position in the group and would work for whichever company Johan Stratton nominated.

Although I was based at Tabacks at all times, I was initially on the payroll of Heath Executive Consultants and later that of Tabacks. The main reason for this was that of protecting the right to privilege that may have been an issue if any of the civil and criminal court cases against JCI and its directors proceeded to trail. This rationale has fallen away due to the recent settlement reached with DRD and the court's dismissal in January 2005 of the charges brought against Roger Kebble in the SLB case. I thus have effectively been employed by JCI since April 2003 and wish to have that service recognised."

Morton further requested an acknowledgement from JCI Limited that the indemnity, as referred to above, covered a loss which she suffered in respect of an unsuccessful claim against DRD. Morton described the claim as "..... it was agreed that I would institute a claim against DRD for constructive dismissal due to the invasion of may right to privacy as a result of the alleged spying by AIN, the costs of which would be paid for. I was indemnified against all and any losses which I may incur as a result of the termination of my employment with DRD. I instituted an action in the CCMA claiming an amount equal to may annual salary at the time (R510 000.00) and lost the case, mainly due to a lack of evidence. It was our understanding that such loss would be covered by the indemnity and I thus wish to request such acknowledgement"

[423] Refer Exhibit 7.8.14

It appears from the agreement that Morton was only indemnified against any claims or disputes arising from her resignation from DRD on the basis of constructive dismissal and it did not include an unsuccessful claim against DRD as contended by her. Morton agreed that such was not included in the indemnity letter, but indicated that it was her understanding of the agreement. She explained that it was certainly the understanding during the verbal negotiations[425].

Nutrx

Stratton indicated that a number of the potential witnesses, formerly employed at AIN, were accommodated in Nutrx[426].

Nutrx was a private company and was incorporated on 6 May 2003 with registration number 2003/010049/07.

The authorised share capital of Nutrx, as per the company register, dated 6 May 2003, was 1 000 ordinary shares[427]. It appears from the register of allotments that 100 shares were issued on 6 May 2003 and another 100 shares were issued on 30 April 2004[428].

On 15 July 2003, the following parties entered into a shareholders' agreement in respect of Nutrx[429]:

- JCI Limited ("the lender");
- Eloff;
- Wepener SR;
- Moss;
- Wepener JR; and
- Tonkin.

The following clauses of the agreement are relevant for the purpose of our investigation:

"Whereas Wepener Sr makes available his intellectual property;

And whereas Eloff makes available his management and business skills;

And whereas the lender, an established investment company with interests in the gold mining industry, makes financing available for the development of NurRx (Pty) Limited (Company); and

Whereas the parties have agreed to acquire shares in the company to be established which is at this stage called Nutrix (Pty) Limited (the Company) and which will be engaged in the manufacture, marketing and distribution of Soya based food products,

Therefore the parties agree as follows:

1.1 The parties will acquire the following shareholding in the issued ordinary shares of the company as at date of signing this agreement:

1.1.1	Wepener Sr	28.33%
1.1.2	Moss	28.33%
1.1.3	Wepener (Jnr)	28.33%
1.1.4	Tonkin	10.00%
1.1.5	Eloff	5.00% of issued share capital at any point in time"

The shareholding was changed in a new column, which was recorded in manuscript with the heading "Now". The new shareholding comprised:

Wepener (Snr)	30%
Moss	0%
Wepener (Jnr)	30%
Tonkin	10%
Eloff	30%
	100%

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

It was recorded at paragraph 10 that:

"10.1 With reference to contract to be signed between Stratton and Wepener Jr., Stratton and Tonkin and Stratton and Moss, the latter which incorporate compensation for Moss' wife, the parties record that the terms and conditions of those contracts will continue to be exercised in terms of the provisions of those contracts.

10.2 The company which has limited financial resources, will benefit from the continuation of such contracts (subject to the conditions of such contracts) as Moss, Moss' wife, Tonkin and Wepener Jr. will continue to receive the monthly financial compensation in terms of those contracts which will absolve the company from paying salaries to Moss, Moss' wife, Tonkin and Wepener Jr. during the duration thereof."

It appears from the wording of clause 10.2 that a number of the individuals would receive monthly financial compensation in terms of those contracts.

During a discussion with Stratton, he indicated that he was not aware of such contracts[430].

Despite the fact that Stratton indicated that he was not aware of these contracts, it is clearly mentioned in the agreement. Although we have not located the contracts, it might be in respect of those contracts that Wepener Jnr, Moss, Moss's wife and Tonkin received monthly payments from HSC.

The members' share accounts reflected that the shares were issued as follows[431]:

Name	No of shares	Date	No shares transferred	Date transferred	Balance
Bishop	100	Incorporation	50	22 May 2003
			50	05 March 2002	0
Moss	50	22 May 2003	22	7 July 2003

	1	29 July 2003
	1	29 July 2003			30
Masupatsela Nutrition	100	30 April 2003			100
Total					200

The date reflected in the register in respect of transfers to and from Eloff and Wepener was "7/29/2003". We assume that it referred to "29/7/2003".

For the period 7 July 2003 to 30 April 2004, three of the four shareholders of Nutrx were recorded in the list of potential witnesses in the matters mentioned supra. They were:

- Tonkin;
- Wepener (Snr); and
- Eloff.

Stratton explained that Wepener (Snr) was the father of Wepener (Jnr), who was involved in the development of a product which they wanted to market and sell through Nutrx[432].

Moss only held shares for the period 22 May 2003 to 29 July 2003[433]. We could not establish whether he was paid for the shares upon disposal thereof.

Loan agreements entered into by Nutrx

The directors of Nurtx resolved, on 7 July 2003, to enter into a loan agreement with JCI Limited for an amount not exceeding R1 800 000[434]. It appears that this resolution was taken after the shareholders' agreement was entered into.

We obtained an addendum to the shareholders' agreement, entered into by JCI Limited, Eloff, Wepener (Snr), Wepener (Jnr), Tonkin and Masupatsela Nutrition[435].

Clause three of the addendum reads that "The Lender has elected, in terms of clause 8.3 of the Shareholders Agreement to convert the value of the finance into equity in the company and to transfer such equity to a black empowerment company, as provided for in clause 8.4." The addendum was signed on 20 April 2004.

We obtained a further loan agreement entered into by CMMS, Nutrx, Masupatsela and the individual shareholders[436]. It was recorded that, "NUTRX will borrow certain sums of money from CMMS and CMMS will lend the relevant amounts up to a maximum of R1 000 000.00 (one million Rand) to NUTRX as and when required, subject to the terms and conditions contained herein". One of the witnesses signed the document on 30 April 2004[437].

HSC entered into an agreement with Nutrx in which HSC agreed to lend Nutrx an amount of R300 000[438]. Clause two of this agreement recorded the following:

"2.1 The Borrower wishes to borrow the Loan Amount from the Lender to enable them to pay the monthly salary of Mr Paul Eloff, duly employed by the Borrower. The Lender hereby lends the Loan Amount to the Borrower on the terms and conditions as set out in this Agreement."

Clause three of the agreement recorded the following:

"3.3 The total Loan Amount shall be advanced to the Borrower by way of monthly instalments of R30 000.00 per month for the months of April 2004 and May 2004 and of R60 000.00 per month for the remainder of the period referred to in 3.4 being 4 months ("the Loan Period").

3.4 The monthly instalments will be paid to the Borrower by the Lender on the last business day of the month, for the duration of this Agreement. The payments will be made on the following dates or on the nearest business day prior to the last day of each month-

3.4.1 30 April 2004;

3.4.2 31 May 2004;

3.4.3 30 June 2004;

3.4.4 30 July 2004;

3.4.5 31 August 2004;

3.4.6 30 September 2004."

For the purposes of this agreement the advance date meant "the date when Loan Amount shall be advanced by the Lender to the Borrower, which will be 30 April 2004". The agreement was signed on 25 June 2004 by both HSC and Nutrx.

It appears from the invoices, submitted by HSC, that Eloff received R60 000 per month from March 2004 to June 2004. These payments might have related to the agreement entered into between HSC and Nutrx. We are currently awaiting information from Stratton in respect of the total amounts paid to these individuals.

Resignation of director of Nutrx

On 1 July 2004, it was resolved that Koyana, Thomas and Mashele be appointed as directors of Nutrx, effective from 20 April 2004[439]. It was further resolved that Eloff and Van der Molen would resign as directors of the company. CMMS was appointed as the company secretaries with effect from 20 April 2004.

It is evident that 100 additional shares were issued to Masupatsela Nutrition on 30 April 2004[440].

Sale of Nutrx shares agreement and payment for such shares

It was resolved on 1 October 2004, that the shares in Nutrx be transferred to Masupatsela Nutrition. The shares were transferred as follows[441]:

Transferor	Number of shares	Consideration R	Transferee
Eloff	30	50 000	Masupatsela Nutrition (Pty) Limited
Wepener (Snr)	30	50 000	Masupatsela Nutrition (Pty) Limited
Wepener (Jnr)	30	50 000	Masupatsela Nutrition (Pty) Limited
Tonkin	10	16 666	Masupatsela Nutrition (Pty) Limited
Total		166 666

Masupatsela Nutrition entered into four separate agreements of sale with Eloff, Wepener (Snr), Wepener (Jnr) and Tonkin to purchase their shares in Nutrx[442]. Masupatsela Nutrition agreed to purchase the shares for the amounts recorded in the table above.

On 6 October 2004, Nutrx requested CMMS to make payment to Eloff, Wepener (Snr), Wepener (Jnr) and Tonkin as agreed[443].

HSC submitted invoice number 09000045, dated 26 November 2004 to CMMS for payment. The total amount, recorded on the invoice, was R230 877.93, which was calculated as follows[444]:

Description	Amount R
Contractor's remuneration	60 000.00
Interest payable to contractors	4 211.27
Sub-total	64 211.27
P Eloff – Purchase of Nutrx Shares	50 000.00

Description	Amount R
D Tonkin – Purchase of Nutrx Shares	16 666.66
Sub-total	166 666.66

These amounts correlate with the amount agreed for the sale of shares between the individuals and Masupatsela Nutrition. Furthermore, the description on the invoices refers to the purchase of Nutrx shares.

The total amount, claimed by HSC in respect of the shares, was R166 666.66 and it was debited against the loan account of Masupatsela in the books of CMMS as mentioned supra.

Nutrx is currently in provisional liquidation.

12.8.4.2 Payments to other individuals

It appears from the invoices, provided by HSC, that payments were inter alia made to the following individuals[445]:

- Stemmet; and
- Luci.

In addition, we noticed payments made to Spring Lights by HSC, in addition to those dealt with elsewhere in this report at section 12.19 infra.

Stemmet

Stratton explained that Stemmet negotiated a retainer with RB Kebble during the course of the DRD matter. Stratton, only, managed the relationship with Stemmet. Stratton explained that Stemmet provided intelligence to JCI Limited[446]. Stratton indicated that he terminated the agreement with Stemmet because he was not satisfied with the intelligence provided.

Moss referred to Stemmet in an affidavit used to obtain the Anton Pillar order. The affidavit reflects the following:

[445] Refer Exhibit 7.8.28
[446] As per consultation with Stratton

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

"17. The following people accessed illegal information during my employ at Associated Intelligence Network:..."

"...17.9 Captain Paul Stemmet is stationed with PALTO, a special undercover front for the South African Police Intelligence services. He reports directly to Deputy Commissioner Raymon Lala, and has access to any information contained within the police intelligence data base."

It appears that Stemmet was first implicated in assisting AIN with regard to the illegal access to information, whereafter he negotiated a retainer with RB Kebble to assist by providing intelligence.

Based on Stratton's explanation that Stemmet's services were retained during the DRD matter, the cost should be shared by the other parties who benefited from the services. This includes RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and REC.

We could not determine the total amount of money paid to Stemmet as we are awaiting the information from Stratton. It is not possible to reconstruct the exact amounts paid to Stemmet from the information recorded in the HSC invoices.

In addition, payments were made to Palto, of which Stemmet appears to have been a director. These payments are discussed at section 12.10 infra.

Luci

Stratton indicated that these payments were for the daughter of Luci Ficcuseco. According to Stratton, Ficcuseco was apparently involved in the process of co-opting the AIN employees to provide information on the modus operandi and operation of AIN. According to Stratton, RB Kebble offered her a position at JCI Limited and Stratton did not agree with the appointment. It was decided that JCI Limited would not appoint her but that she would receive compensation[447].

Spring Lights

It is evident from the detailed invoices, provided by HSC, that a number of payments were made to Spring Lights, which included the following[448]:

Date	Description	Amount R
25 March 2004	Expenses	121 894.60
25 March 2004	Legal Fees	100 000.00
25 March 2004	Consulting	33 900.00

We have not determined whether Agliotti received these payments from HSC. These transactions are dealt with in detail at section12.19 infra.

A detailed report on Spring Lights is found at paragraph 12.19 infra.

Other independent contractors

It appears from the detailed invoices, provided by HSC, that the following payments were made to independent contractors instructed by Stratton. (We are awaiting the detail of the independent contractors)[449]:

Date	Description	Amount R
25 January 2004	Fee	40 000
25 January 2004	Fee	30 000
25 January 2004	Fee Jan and Feb R50 000	100 000
25 February 2004	Fee	40 000

12.8.5 Financial information/payments

The total amount invoiced by HSC appears to be R20 232 862.85[450]. This total invoiced amount includes the amount of R370500. The supporting documentation was not on record but HSC provided the invoice as part of their submission.

The total amount paid to HSC by CMMS was R18 508 549.12 as at November 2005, with a balance due to them of R1 724 313.73. Of this, the amount of R9 661 500.00 was paid in respect of the monthly retainer of HSC.

We could not establish the total amount paid to each individual or entity mentioned at paragraph 12.8.4 above due to a lack of supporting documentation. We are awaiting these details from Stratton.

12.8.6 Authorisation

It appears that Stratton managed the relationship with HSC, but that such relationship was authorised by RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and Stratton. The invoices were mainly authorised by Stratton and Buitendag.

12.8.7 Benefit to JCI Limited

Although there are indications that work was performed for the benefit of JCI Limited, the Kebbles and other entities also benefited from work performed by HSC. It is however difficult at this stage to comment on the apportionment of such costs due to the nature of the matters having been dealt with.

12.8.8 Conclusion

JCI Limited and CMMS were used to facilitate the agreement with HSC. The actual benefit of the services of HSC accrued to RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, REC and JCI Limited.

The cost in respect of the expenses incurred, insofar as it is applicable to the DRD matters, were incurred whilst performing services for the four parties.

HSC was used by JCI Limited to make payments to potential witnesses who defected from AIN and DRD.

JCI Limited assisted a number of former AIN employees to set up an entity styled Nutrx during 2003 by providing a loan. During April 2004, the loan was converted to equity. The equity, owned by the initial owners (AIN and DRD employees), was also transferred to Masupatsela Nutrition. HSC paid the purchase price in respect of the shares transferred to Masupatsela Nutrition. These funds were claimed from CMMS by HSC.

The request by Morton in respect of an acknowledgement from JCI that the indemnity given by Stratton covered the unsuccessful claim against DRD was not covered in the indemnity provided.

12.9 Closenberg

12.9.1 Background

Closenberg was a director at Mallinicks. According to Closenberg, he was approached by RB Kebble to act as consultant for JCI Limited[451].

12.9.2 Contractual relationship

Closenberg indicated that he entered into a consulting agreement with JCI Limited. Although he confirmed that the agreement was in writing, he could not present a copy thereof, even though he undertook to provide a copy on 13 December 2005[452]. We have not been able to obtain a copy of the contract from JCI Limited either[453].

12.9.3 Actual relationship

On 13 December 2005, Closenberg indicated that, in terms of the contract, he was required to provide general legal advice for which he received a monthly retainer. Closenberg explained that he received these payments for a period of between one and two years[454].

On 18 January 2006, Closenberg revealed that[455]:

- He entered into the consultancy agreement with RB Kebble, which was in writing;
- The contract was effective from March to February of each year and renewable thereafter;
- To the best of his knowledge, the consultancy agreement commenced in March 2003 and was valid until February 2006. Unless renewed, it would automatically lapse at the end of February 2006 (written notice of termination was not required);

- As consultant, he was involved in facilitating transactions like Boschendal, Cue Incident, Mvelaphanda Properties, etc and managing the BEE relationships within these projects;
- He charged separately for legal services rendered. For example, when Mallinicks required him to assist them with certain legal affairs, he would charge for those services rendered in addition to his consultancy fee payments;
- Mallinicks invoice numbers 57969 and 58165, dated 7 March 2003 and 17 March 2003 respectively, were in respect of services rendered by Closenberg[456];
- Invoice 58165 related to a criminal matter and, even though Moss Morris Incorporated handled the criminal matter, he was required by RB Kebble to conduct the negotiations with the National Director of Public Prosecutions;
- Stratton and Griffiths would be able to verify the existence of the contract; and
- He performed services to JCI Limited after August/September 2005 and that we should request detail relating to such services performed from Griffiths and Stratton[457].

Stratton confirmed that Closenberg received a retainer and that he requested Closenberg to continue the relationships with JCI Limited's BEE partners. It was his understanding that Closenberg was still communicating with Gray[458]. Stratton could not confirm the exact terms of Closenberg's contract. Stratton explained that his understanding was that Closenberg's contract entailed the following:

- Delivery of transactions, like Boschendal; and
- General legal services; which included negotiations and the drafting of contracts.

Stratton also indicated that he did not have the understanding of Closenberg's contract, as set out by Closenberg[459].

We have examined various documents which are suggestive that Closenberg was providing services to JCI Limited in respect a number of projects in which JCI Limited was involved. These included:

- Boschendal;

- Cue Incident; and
- Mvelaphanda Properties.

We noted a document, in which Griffiths advised Gray of the following[460]:

- RB Kebble told him (Griffiths) that Closenberg would dedicate a certain number of hours per week to JCI Limited matters;
- He has never seen a written consultancy agreement recording the consultancy arrangement with Closenberg; and
- RB Kebble regularly encouraged him to make use of Closenberg's legal consulting services in carrying out his tasks for JCI Limited as JCI Limited had engaged with and paid Closenberg in terms of the consulting arrangement.

12.9.4 Financial information/payments

We noted invoices of R65 000.00 each for the period July 2003 to August 2005 (invoices for August 2003, March and May 2005 excluded), aggregating R1 365 000.00 (VAT inclusive)[461].

It is evident that both the invoices submitted in January 2004 and February 2004, were in respect of "To consultancy fees for February 2005 ...". It appears that the same template was used to create the invoices presented for the different months.

However, we could only locate three payments made by JCI Gold into the bank account of Closenberg at Nedbank Bank (St. Georges Street, Cape Town), account number 1009006460. These payments, of R65 000.00 each, were made on 25 February 2005 (December 2004 consultancy fee), 15 July 2005 (March 2005 consultancy fee) and 18 November 2005 (April 2005 consultancy fee).

In addition, it appears that a further payment of R130 000 was effected from CMMS to Closenberg on 8 September 2005. This payment also appears to relate to invoices for the period March and May 2005[462]. The aforesaid five payments aggregated R325 000. It is therefore evident that we could not identify payments amounting to R1 040 000.00, which appear not to have been settled by CMMS or JCI Gold.

Poole indicated to us that he paid the consultancy fee of a number of consultants, on RB Kebble's instruction, from Tuscan Mood[463]. Poole confirmed that Closenberg was one of the consultants paid from Tuscan Mood.

In addition, we obtained a list styled "Loan accounts", in which Closenberg's name appears with the amount of R1 170 000 next to it. The list was reported on at paragraph 12.16 infra. Although we have not verified the payments, we can not exclude the possibility that the amounts, recorded in the list, were paid by Tuscan Mood.

12.9.5 Authorisation

Griffiths appear to have been giving the written authorisation for the payment of the above-mentioned invoices[464]. Generally, however, it appears that RB Kebble authorised the relationship with Closenberg.

12.9.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

It appears as though Closenberg has provided services in respect of the above agreement as mentioned.

12.9.7 Outstanding obligations

Closenberg indicated that JCI Limited was three or four months in arrears with his monthly consultancy payments. Vieira confirmed that there are three unpaid invoices for June, July and August 2005[465].

Gray indicated that he agreed with Closenberg that Closenberg would only be paid a consultancy fee for the period ending August 2005, since the consultancy agreement was between Closenberg and RB Kebble[466]. Gray and Closenberg further agreed that Closenberg would be paid for services rendered as and when requested.

12.10 Stratton

12.10.1 Background

It appears from public available information in Australia that Stratton held directorships in numerous entities registered with the Australian Securities and Investment Commission.

Stratton confirmed that, during the 1990's, he met RB Kebble and that he was involved in a number of business ventures with RB Kebble. Stratton explained that, in particular, he was involved in a number of cash generating businesses. Stratton divulged that he was approached by RB Kebble to assist with a number of the JCI Limited management functions. According to Stratton, RB Kebble also requested his assistance to improve the financial position of JCI Limited[467].

It appears from statutory searches that Stratton held a number of directorships in companies incorporated in terms of the South African Companies Act. The following companies are relevant for the purposes of our investigation:

- CMMS;
- Dormell 211;
- Edge to Edge;
- JCI Limited; and
- JCI Gold.

12.10.2 Contractual relationship

Stratton indicated that, although he did not enter into a formal written contract when he commenced as an executive of JCI Limited, he confirmed his position and the terms thereof in a letter to RB Kebble [468].

Stratton provided to us a copy of a letter to RB Kebble, dated 15 December 2003, in which he confirmed the following[469]:

---

[468] As per consultation with Stratton

- Stratton's rolls and responsibilities:
  - Developing new business;
  - Directing certain existing group activities;
  - Assisting RB Kebble in seeking to improve the financial position of the JCI Limited group;
  - Manage the relationships with the security and intelligence consultants; and
  - Manage ongoing litigation.
- Remuneration and other benefits:
  - Stratton would receive a package of R250 00 per month plus expenses;
  - JCI Limited would provide security at the Stratton residence for the period of his appointment;
  - Travelling cost for both Stratton and his spouse twice a year to visit Australia; and
  - Reimbursement of all removal expenses to Australia if Stratton choose to return to Australia at termination of the appointment.
- The contract period was four years. In addition, Stratton would not have sought any reappointment thereafter. It was stated that the contract commenced on 1 July 2003;
- JCI Limited would reimburse Stratton in respect his relocation cost to Cape Town; and
- Stratton was in the process of applying for permanent residence in South Africa on the basis of "economic migration" and that therefore, Stratton needed to pay surety of R100 000. The option was left open for further discussions between RB Kebble and Stratton whether JCI Limited would also reimburse this amount.

It appears from a letter captioned "RE APPOINTMENT EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR – JCI LIMITED" that RB Kebble agreed with the terms and conditions recorded in the letter of 15 December 2003[470]. It was further recorded that "...To avoid confusion please liaise with Hennie Buitendag as to the structure of your remuneration package, etc."

[470] Refer Exhibit 7.10.2

Stratton explained that he had an arrangement with JCI Limited that he would initially invoice JCI Limited in his own name and, thereafter, under the name and style of Edge to Edge[471].

12.10.3 Actual Relationship

We detail, at the various sections of this report, the role played by Stratton in the matters investigated.

Stratton explained that he was extensively involved in the management of the JCI Limited group and was particularly responsible for the following[472]:

- Management of the consultants;
- Co-ordination of litigation and the security and intelligence for JCI Limited; and
- Management of the process of trying to create cash flow (new business ventures).

Stratton also authorised most of the payments to these consultants, which is an indication of his involvement.

A number of consultants divulged that, after they evaluated new business opportunities, they reported to Stratton, who then decided whether it would be in the interest of JCI Limited or not. It further appears that Stratton was involved in new business ventures. The following entities are relevant:

- SAFCO; and
- Ikamva.

12.10.4 Payments made by Stratton on behalf of JCI Limited

It appears that Stratton made a number of payments on behalf of JCI Limited in respect of consultants[473]. Stratton claimed these payments back from CMMS. Payments were either made to Stratton in cash, or Stratton's sundry debtors account in the books of account in CMMS was credited, thereby reducing any amount which he might have owed the company from time to time.

We noted that Stratton, as was the case with HSC, also paid other persons, which payments were recovered from CMMS. The invoices, submitted by Stratton, recorded the entity to whom and the amount that he paid. It appears from these invoices that the following consultants were paid by Stratton[474]:

- Palto (Pty) Limited;
- HSC;
- A Halpern;
- Lemonhouse (Pty) Limited; and
- Care products.

We have not verified whether these payments were actually made to the entities.

12.10.4.1 Payments made to Palto (Pty) Limited

Information, obtained from public available sources, indicated that Palto was incorporated on 7 May 1999 with registration number 1999/014333/07. The directors of the company were recorded as:

- Stemmet; and
- Viljoen.

Stemmet was appointed as a director on 20 August 1999. It appears to be the same Stemmet which was paid by CMMS through HSC, mentioned at paragraph 12.8 supra.

Stratton indicated that Stemmet provided intelligence with which he was not satisfied and he terminated the agreement with Stemmet and Palto[475]. The detail, provided as per the invoices submitted by Stratton, reflected that Palto performed forensic services in the legal action and claims between DRD and JCI Limited.

Stemmet explained the following in respect of his relationship with JCI Limited:

[474] Refer Exhibit 7.10.3
[475] As per consultation with Stratton

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- He was a director of Palto;
- Palto was not a front company for the SAPS, but had a contractual agreement with them;
- Palto had a contractual agreement with JCI Limited to provide protection services to some of the directors. In addition thereto, Palto was involved in a number of investigations for JCI Limited;
- Palto submitted monthly invoices and was paid accordingly. JCI Limited requested Palto to invoice, using an entity other than Palto, due to the negative publicity that it received in the press;
- Stemmet submitted invoices using the entity name Lemouhouse; and
- Stemmet was never paid in his personal capacity, but always through one of these entities.

These expenses were for the benefit of RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, REC and JCI Limited.

12.10.4.2 Payments made to A Halpern

We could not identify any entity in which A Halpern was either a director or member. This is based on the limited information available to us.

The detail, provided in the invoice submitted by Stratton, reflected that A Halpern was involved in public relations for RB Kebble and JCI Limited in the DRD matter.

Stratton indicated that A Halpern is also a former AIN employee who assisted with the DRD matter.

12.10.4.3 Payments made to HSC

The payments to HSC and the basis thereof are dealt with at paragraph 12.8 supra

It appears that, in addition to the payments reflected at paragraph 12.8 supra, HSC received additional payments from Stratton.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

12.10.4.4 Payments made to Lemonhouse (Pty) Limited

We could not identify any registered entity with this name.

Detail provided, as per the invoices submitted by Stratton, reflected that Lemonhouse performed searches for electronic devices in both the Johannesburg and Cape Town offices of JCI Limited.

It appears that Palto used this name to invoice JCI Limited as mentioned supra.

12.10.4.5 Payments made to Care Products

We could not identify the nature of this recipient of monies. Stratton indicated that, although he is not sure, he thinks that the Care Products payments were linked to Agliotti.

Agliotti confirmed that he was involved in Care Products and would provide detail on the payments during a consultation scheduled for 25 February 2006. This consultation was cancelled and we have not had the opportunity to consult with Agliotti.

12.10.5 Financial information/ payments

12.10.5.1 Consulting fees

Stratton was remunerated monthly. It appears from the payments made that he was paid on an alternating basis to his personal account and to the account of Edge to Edge. Payments to Stratton and Edge to Edge aggregate R8 748 000[476]. These payments were made as follows:

Payments to Stratton

Year	Paid

12.10.5.2 Payments made by Stratton on behalf of JCI Limited

It is evident from a review of Stratton's sundry debtors account in the CMMS general ledger that Stratton made payments to a number of entities and/or individuals.

The following payments of this nature were identified:

12.10.6 Authorisation

The payments in respect of the consultancy fees paid to Stratton were primarily authorised by Buitendag. The invoices, in respect of the payments made to consultants on behalf of JCI Limited, were authorised by Stratton and Buitendag.

12.10.7 Benefit to JCI Limited

12.10.7.1 Consulting Services

It appears that JCI Limited did receive the benefit of services rendered by Stratton. Stratton, as a director, was responsible for dealing with the consultants, especially the consultants who performed work in respect of providing intelligence investigations. His involvement with JCI Limited and its subsidiaries is further evident from the contents of this report.

12.10.7.2 Payments to consultants on behalf of JCI Limited

It is evident from the descriptions on the invoices, submitted by Stratton, that most of these services were rendered in respect of the RB Kebble and DRD claims and litigation. The background thereto is recorded at paragraph 12.8 supra. He also managed litigation in which JCI Limited was involved.

It appears that these services were not only to the benefit of JCI Limited, but also to the benefit of RAR Kebble, RB Kebble and REC. Based on our investigation, there is evidence indicating that significant time may have been spent on these matters, of which a large percentage might have had to do with the AJN and DRD litigation, and WAL. Therefore the possibility that not only JCI Limited benefited from his services, but also the Kebble family and REC, cannot be excluded at this stage.

12.10.8 Conclusions

We obtained documentation reflecting that there was an agreement between RB Kebble and Stratton regarding his executive appointment. It appears that Stratton fulfilled his obligations in terms of the agreement with RB Kebble. Stratton was remunerated in accordance with the agreement. A significant portion of the funds, paid by Stratton on behalf of JCI Limited, was also to the benefit of RAR Kebble, RB Kebble, REC and JCI Limited.

12.12 Marulelo Communications

12.12.1 Background

Information, obtained from public available sources, indicated that Marulelo was a private company with registration number 2000/018341/07. Barrett was a director of Marulelo.

12.12.2 Contract

A contract was entered into between JCI Limited and Marulelo on 12 August 2003[477]. The effective date, as per the contract, was 1 September 2001. The types of services to be rendered included the following:

"3.1.1 the provision of strategic advice;

3.1.2 external public relations;

3.1.3 image and issue management;

3.1.4 to create and manage media strategy;

3.1.5 to arrange for press conferences as circumstances dictate;

3.1.6 to liaise with the client's executive committee, as requested;

3.1.7 political lobbying;

3.1.8 event management; and

3.1.9 such other services as are specifically agreed will form part of the standard services."

The contract further recorded that:

[477] Refer Exhibit 7.12.2

"4.3.1 The monthly retainer does not include disbursements and/or out of pocket expenses ("disbursements") incurred by Marulelo for and on behalf of the client in rendering the services. All such disbursements will be reimbursed by the client to Marulelo in accordance with invoices and/or vouchers rendered by Marulelo to the client from time to time.....Such disbursements shall include, but not be limited to, the costs of all travelling, telephone calls, telefaxes, related entertainment, the costs of any sub-contractors and agents as well as any venue hire...".

A monthly retainer of R175 000.00 was agreed upon as per the contract, signed on 12 August 2003. A Variation Agreement was signed between the contracting parties on 23 November 2003[478], wherein the monthly retainer, as previously agreed upon, applied till the end of December 2003 and was then increased to R346 875.00.

In addition to the monthly retainer, significant monthly disbursements were claimed by Marulelo, ranging from approximately R100 000.00 to R400 000.00.

The contract stipulated a 12% escalation rate at the end of July of each year in respect of the retainer. The retainer increased by 13% for the month of August 2003 to R196 875.00[479] (R129 375.00 + R67 500), instead of 12%, resulting in an excess monthly payment of R875.00.

Included in Marulelo's monthly disbursement charge was a monthly charge of R75 000.00 (R100 000 from February 2005) for another media consultant, Strauss[480]. Straus informed us that she was informed by Barrett that he had negotiated a separate contract for her services. It appears from the supporting documentation, that included in the disbursements were amounts of R75 000.00[481] and R50 000.00[482], relating to bonuses paid to Strauss.

According to Strauss, she invoiced Marulelo for services and Marulelo invoiced JCI Limited for the same amount[483]. Strauss invoiced Marulelo under two separate invoices for any given month, one for an amount of R50 000.00 (R60 000.00 from February 2005), with the invoice reference for example "VAT invoice – Junech" being the applicable month, and another invoice of R25 000.00 (R40 000.00 from February 2005) with an invoice reference being REV 19[484]. Strauss stated the REV 19 reference may have been for projects that involved events organising. Strauss could not provide explanations to substantiate the amounts that she received from Barrett.

Marulelo also invoiced JCI Limited for services rendered by Revolution Events. Revolution Events was also owned by Barrett. The services, rendered and invoiced to Marulelo by Revolution Events, included the following:

- Security services for a guard at Torquay Road for an amount of R3 157.90 per month[485];
- Invoice number 0015 reflected an amount of R25 000.00 for consultation fees due to Strauss for March 2004[486]. This was in addition to the amounts charged as disbursements for Straus' monthly retainer of R75 000.00; and
- Invoice number 0041 reflected an annual membership of R10 964.91[487].

The disbursements charges for May 2004, June 2004 to May 2005, reflected amounts of R100 000.00 for April 2004 and May 2004 and R50 000.00 for the other months, described as "Professional Services Local"[488]. There were no supporting invoices for this claim.

One P van der Merwe appears to have been another subcontractor used by Marulelo and R20 000.00 was charged for P van der Merwe's services in the September 2004 disbursement charges of R339 774.22[489].

We were informed by P van der Merwe, that he was a writer and that he had written a series of articles for Strauss[490]. In respect of this specific charge of R20 000.00, Van der Merwe stated that the only work that he had done for JCI Limited was an article written on Buitendag and that the R20 000.00, as recorded, was an excessive charge for that article.

Van der Merwe further stated that he had done other articles on the Kebble Art Awards, but that those did not relate to the same invoice that he had submitted to Marulelo. Van der Merwe stated that he was introduced to Marulelo by Strauss. The invoice of Van der Merwe stated "Retainer: August 2004". Van der Merwe stated that he did not receive any retainer from Marulelo and that the reason for him describing the service as a retainer was on instruction from either Barrett or Strauss.

12.12.3 Relationship

According to Stratton, Marulelo performed public relations services for the JCI Limited group.

12.12.4 Payments

The total amount invoiced by Marulelo in respect of consultancy fees and disbursements, for the period April 2003 to October 2005, was R18 155 760.57[491]. An amount of R2 421 709.86 was outstanding as at 31 December 2005, including the disbursements charge and retainers for November 2005 and December 2005, respectively.

12.12.5 Authorisation

There is a contract for the services rendered by Marulelo. The contract was signed by RB Kebble. According to Stratton, RB Kebble informed the other directors of the work conducted by Marulelo.

12.12.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

Marulelo had conducted public relations and events coordination for JCI Limited; however the services rendered by Marulelo cannot be defined as exclusive to JCI Limited. Certain payments made were for the benefit of RB Kebble, for example the monthly cell phone charge of over R1 630.39[492], as well as expenses incurred in respect of arts advertising[493]. Furthermore, the payments made in respect of disbursements, were not always supported by documentation.

Barrett has subsequently initiated a claim against JCI Limited for outstanding amounts due and for a twelve months' notice payment. According to Morton the claim was in excess of R8 million, comprising the outstanding amounts and notice payment. We were informed by Morton that the matter had been resolved on 6 January 2005 and a settlement payment was made to Marulelo for outstanding amounts due and for termination of the contract[494]. According to the settlement, JCI Limited would pay an amount of R4 million plus VAT of R580 000.00 to Marulelo in full and final settlement of all liabilities and obligations of either party to the other.

12.13 John Mason (SAFCO)

12.13.1 Background search

It is evident from Mason's Curriculum Vitae that he was involved in the fishing industry since the 1960's[495]. Mason was based in Australia. It appears that Stratton requested Mason, during May 2004, to assess tuna fishing opportunities in South Africa[496]. Stratton explained that he knew Mason for many years. Stratton confirmed that, after JCI Limited realised that there was an opportunity in the fishing industry, he decided to approach Mason for assistance[497].

It appears from an unsigned draft letter dated 19 August 2004 and captioned "Re: APPOINTMENT: MR JOHN MASON AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF SOUTHERN ATLANTIC FISHING COMPANY" that Mason was appointed as CEO of SAFCO[498].

12.13.2 Contractual relationship

We could not locate any written consulting agreement between Mason and JCI Limited.

It appears that Mason submitted invoices in respect of consultants' fees for the period August 2005 to January 2005. We noted the following from a letter dated 15 March 2005:

- Mason was appointed as Chief Executive Officer of SAFCO;
- SAFCO commenced operating on 1 March 2005;
- During the formation of SAFCO, Mason was paid as a consultant of JCI Limited. It was confirmed that a percentage of his remuneration would have continued to be derived from consultancy to JCI Limited in the amount of R40 000 per month; and
- The letter was signed on behalf of Stratton.

12.13.2.1 Additional agreement between JCI and Mason

We located an agreement, entered into between Mason and JCI Limited on 11 April 2005[499]. The following clauses thereof are relevant to our investigation.

"1. JCI and JM have been involved together in the assessment and realisation of a strategy in the Tuna Long Lining Fishery in Southern Africa since May 2004..."

"... 4. JCI has assumed considerable risk under the SAFCO strategy and has engaged with JM to ensure that the SAFCO operation commenced timeously and ran profitably to protect JCI's exposure to the debt and equity advanced to SAFCO. The terms of JM's engagement with JCI are recorded below..."

"...10. The terms of JCI's engagement with JM are completely independent of the terms of JM's engagement with SAFCO as the Chief Executive Officer..."

"...Participation

"1.1 JM shall be entitled to participate in JCI's returns, to the extent that such returns actually accrue to JCI, as recorded in the Project Financing Agreement and the DSA limited to the extent herein recorded.

1.2 JM's participation shall be limited to the right to 10% of JCI's entitlement under the following relevant paragraphs:

1.2.1. Under the Project Funding Agreement

1.2.1.1 paragraphs 5.4.2 and 5.4.3;

1.2.2 Under the DSA

1.2.2.1 Paragraph 6; and

1.2.2.2 Paragraph 8.1 not including the Capital Amount under the definition of Redemption Amount, to which amount JCI shall continue to hold the exclusive Claim";

1.2.2.3 Paragraph 9.1, not including the Capital Amount under the definition of Redemption Amount, to which amount JCI shall continue to hold the exclusive claim;

[499] Refer Exhibit 7.13.4

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

1.3 For purposes of clarity, the 10% referred to at clause 1.2 refers to 10% of whatever JCI is entitled to from time to time..."

It is evident from clause one of the agreement that Mason was involved in the realisation of a strategy and that JCI Limited financed SAFCO. JCI Limited engaged Mason to ensure that the operation was profitable to protect JCI Limited's exposure to SAFCO. We noted that, at clause ten, it was recorded that this agreement was independent from the agreement between Mason and SAFCO.

Attached to the agreement was an Annexure A, which reflected on "fees paid to Mason" and "outstanding payments" to him. The total amount outstanding, according to Annexure A, was AUD 175 438[500]. It was recorded in the agreement that JCI Limited would pay the amount to Mason within thirty days of receipt of written demand.

Although it appears that this agreement did not govern the consulting arrangement, it had possible financial implications for JCI Limited. We cannot comment on these implications as we are still awaiting the project financial agreement and the debenture subscription agreement.

12.13.3 Payments made to Mason

It appears that the total amount of R203 701.28 was paid to Mason in respect of consulting fees and other expenses[501]. The consulting fees comprised six payments of R20 000 each.

All the payments in respect of the consulting fees were debited to the loan account of SAFCO in the books of CMMS.

We do not know whether the AUS 175 438 was paid to Mason and, if paid, where it was accounted for.

Mason provided a schedule indicating that the total amount outstanding appears to be R470 000, which relates to invoices number 111 to 120 for August to December. It as not recorded which year the invoices represented. We note that there appears to be two invoices in respect of each month, one for R60 000 and one for R40 000. Based on the letter, dated 15 March 2005 mentioned supra, it appears that JCI Limited committed to pay Mason the R40 000 per month and that the R60 000 was to be paid by SAFCO.

12.13.4 Authorisation

It appears that Stratton authorised most of the payments to Mason.

12.13.5 Benefit to JCI Limited

Mason made a contribution to SAFCO.

12.14 Masaputsela/Changing Tides

Due thereto that expenses, incurred by CMMS to Masupatsela, were recorded in the balance sheet of CMMS and treated there, we refer to section 10.8 supra.

12.15 Micromath Trading 485 CC

12.15.1 Background search

Information, obtained from public available sources, indicated that Micromath was a close corporation with registration number 2001/071851/23 and that Sabbatini was the sole member of Micromath.

12.15.2 Contract

There is no evidence of a contract entered into between JCI Limited and Micromath. Sabbatini stated that there was a contract, but that he had not retained a copy of the contract[502]. Stratton stated that he was not aware of any contract between JCI Limited and Micromath[503].

Bailey stated that she had no records of any contracts or consultancy agreements entered into between JCI Limited and Micromath[504].

12.15.3 Relationship

The types of services rendered by Micromath, according to the invoices rendered, were for "Consultants Fees Re civil engineering and E.M.P/R".

Two invoices were received from Micromath, styled "Invoice No. JCI Properties".

The first invoice, dated 17 February 2005[505], was for an amount of R1 050 000.00 and was signed by Buitendag on the same date. The invoice description reads as follows:

"Mossel Bay Valodrom Project – 3 months

Consultants Fees Re civil engineering and E.M.P/R

September 2004 R330 000.00

December 2004 R350 000.00

January 2005 R370 000.00"

The second invoice, for an amount of R920 000.00[506], was also dated 17 February 2005. The invoice description reads as follows:

"Mossel Bay Voladrom Project

Provision for architectural and development concepts together with models and presentation to the Mossel Bay administration"

This transaction was initially posted to the JCI Property Development loan account and then reallocated to consulting fees in the ledger of CMMS.

The following details, appearing on the invoice of Micromath, were the same as those appearing on the invoice of CNSG:

"Please fax deposit slips to (011) 493 1897/499 1387"

We established that Micromath and CNSG shared the same telephone numbers. An employee at CNSG, Christine, informed us that she administered the correspondence and the cheques for Micromath[507].

Sabbatini informed us that there was no such project as described on the invoices submitted to JCI Limited, but that he was instructed by Stratton to use this description to conceal confidential investigations that were co-ordinated by him[508]. However, Stratton stated that the description, appearing on the invoices, was for an investigation on the tendering for a development in Mossel Bay[509].

Sabbatini stated that Micromath had not performed any investigations, but rather that he co-ordinated various investigations performed by other companies. He stated that he had used the services of CNSG investigators. Sabbatini listed the following investigations as those that he coordinated:

- George Poole on helicopters, bank and share dealing searches. According to Sander, this was an ongoing investigation by CNSG, for which a monthly retainer of R300 000.00 was paid. Stratton also confirmed that he had instructed CNSG to conduct this investigation;
- Different share dealings into different bank accounts;
- Kabusha;
- RB Kebble's taxes (continued after initial work performed by Heath);
- Removal of council offices; and
- Research on Peter Skeat which, according to Sander, was an ongoing investigation by CNSG, for which a monthly retainer of R300 000.00 was paid;

Sabbatini stated that all the reports generated, were given to Stratton. Sabbatini initially agreed to make these reports available to us, but later stated that he had given the originals, as well as his copies of the reports, to Stratton[510]. Sabbatini was unable to elaborate on the detail of any of the investigations. He claimed that the investigations were performed and stated that we should ask Stratton for the details.

According to Stratton, Micromath was associated with CNSG. Stratton stated that he had requested Micromath to conduct certain internal investigations. Stratton explained, in relation to the above invoices, that the total of the work performed by Micromath should not have exceeded R1 000 000.00[511]. Stratton agreed to provide us with information regarding what he termed a "duplicate payment" to Micromath. At the time of writing this report, Stratton had not provided us with any feedback thereon.

12.15.4 Payments

The total amount, invoiced by and paid to Micromath for the period February 2005 to October 2005, is R1 970 000.00[512].

12.15.5 Authorisation

Stratton stated that he had authorised the work performed by Micromath.

12.15.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

According to Stratton the payment of almost R2 million for services rendered by Micromath cannot be justified. Stratton stated that, at most, only half of this amount should have been paid to Micromath for services rendered[513].

The services rendered, as claimed by Sabbatini, were contradicted by both Sander and Stratton.

12.16.2 Contractual relationship

We could not locate any written consultancy agreement between RB Kebble and JCI Limited, JCI Gold or CMMS.

12.16.3 Consulting fees

Payment of the consultancy fees to RB Kebble were mainly made by JCI Gold. Only the last four payments to RB Kebble, of R300 000 per month during 2005, were made by CMMS[515].The initial amount of the consultancy fees, paid to RB Kebble, was R185 000 per month, but it was increased during October 2003 to R342 000, including VAT[516].We obtained the invoices submitted by RB Kebble, in which it was recorded that the claims were in respect of fees for services rendered.

12.16.4 Payment made by RB Kebble on behalf of CMMS

Journal voucher J 1995, dated 31 March 2004, recorded that RB Kebble made various payments on behalf of CMMS[517]. Attached to the voucher were a number of documents, which include the following:

- A document in manuscript and captioned "Adjust Journals – 31/3/04";
- A list of payments made out of RB Kebble's Standard Bank bank account; and
- Proof of payments in respect of some of the payments reflected in the list mentioned above, styled "Payment Receipts".

In addition to these documents, we obtained a reconstructed cashbook of the RB Kebble Standard bank account. The cashbook covers the calendar years 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004[518].

According to RB Kebble's cashbook, the payments, made from RB Kebble's bank account, inter alia included the following:

- Donations to the ANC;
- Consulting fees paid to Gleason Publications;
- Consulting fees paid to Capacity Building;
- Consulting fees paid to Yengeni;
- Consulting fees paid to SJ Pandor;
- Loan made to EB Molefe;
- December 2003 bonuses paid by RB Kebble; and
- Consulting fees paid to Ficcuseco.

Total	6 930 000

As recorded in the above-mentioned schedule, there were copies of receipts attached to the journal. There were receipts for all except three of these payments, which were the first two payments reflected on the list and one of the payments of R150 000 on 11 March 2004.

We could only trace one payment of R150 000, which was recorded in the reconstructed cash book on 12 March 2004. We could not find a second transfer of R150 000.

According to the receipts, all the payments, in respect of the ANC Youth League, were transferred to Nedbank Permanent Peoples Bank acc no 0019 8458 2429. According to the receipts, the beneficiary was Ncwana[520].

The receipt, in respect of the payment of R5 000 000 for the ANC Western Cape, was not clear, but it appears that the account number corresponds to the account number, of which the beneficiary was specified as Ncwana[521].

There is also a discrepancy between the information in the reconstructed cash book and the payment receipts. The reconstructed cash book reflected two additional payments on 8 April 2004, which were[522]:

Date	Detail	Amount R	Sundries
8 April 2004	Cash	45 000	"ANC 30 000 Brett 15 000"
8 April 2004	RL Ncwana	30 000	"Instruction Brett"

Therefore, it appears that the receipts, attached to the journal, refer to the second transaction, reflected in the reconstructed cash book, whereas RB Kebble's accountant referred to the R30 000 transactions to the ANC as the first cash transaction.

Ncwana confirmed that bank account number 00194582429, at Nedbank Permanent Bank, was his personal account. He further indicated that he received various amounts of money from RB Kebble as donations for the ANC, whereafter he then transferred the funds to the account of the ANC. Ncwana indicated that the payments, in respect of donations, were treated in this manner because RB Kebble did not want people to know that he donated money to the ANC[523]. Ncwana's comments created the impression that these donations were made by RB Kebble and not by a JCI Limited company. We have not seen any resolution of the directors, or a minute of a directors' meeting, recording authority for such donations on behalf of any JCI Limited company.

Although Ncwana undertook to provide confirmation that these donations were transferred to the ANC, we have not received such confirmations at the date of this report.

It appears from the payments receipts that the payment, on 30 April 2004 in respect of the ANC Eastern Cape, was made to an FNB account number 0526 4004 6639[524]. The beneficiary name, according to the receipt, was the ANC Eastern Cape[525].

The payment receipt in respect of the transfer of R250 000 on 5 May 2004 to the ANC Western Cape, recorded that the payment was made to Nedbank Permanent Peoples Bank account number 0010 1110 0312. The beneficiary name, reflected on the receipt, was Friedshelf 403 (Pty) Limited[526].

It appears from a statutory search that Friedshelf 403 (Pty) Limited was a company with registration number 2004/001187/07, incorporated on 21 January 2004. The directors of the company were registered on 21 January 2004 and were:

- Griffiths; and
- Ncwana.

It is unclear why RB Kebble's account was used to transfer funds in respect of donations. We are awaiting confirmation that the funds were transferred to the ANC.

It appears from handwritten notes that the first five payments amounted to R1 400 000 and that the last four payments were made after the 2004 financial year end of CMMS.

The handwritten journal reflected that CMMS ledger the account 850500: Donations had to be debited with the amount of R1 400 000 and that ledger account number 174501: Sundry Debtors-RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props had to be credited with the same amount in the books of CMMS[527].

The entries, in the handwritten journal, were entered in the general ledger of CMMS during the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors-RB Kebble/ Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props was reduced to the benefit of RB Kebble.

12.16.4.2 Gleason Publications

It appears from the list that RB Kebble made a number of payments to Gleason Publications and one payment to ED Gleason.

It appears from information, obtained from public available sources, that Gleason Publications was incorporated on 8 August 1996 with registration number 1996/010505/07. The directors of Gleason Publications were reflected as:

- Gleason;
- Mary Louise Greig; and

- Myrle Van der Straeten.

Ntsele was a director of Gleason Publications until he resigned on 28 February 2005.

It appears from public available sources that Gleason Publications were owned by:

- Brait – 10%;
- Terry Roseburg– 5%;
- Vernon Rice– 5%;
- Gleason – 52%;
- Mary Louise Greig– 23%; and
- Myrle Van der Straeten - 5%.

It appears that the following payments were made to Gleason Publications and to ED Gleason[528].

The inscriptions, appearing in the last column of the table above, were quoted as per the inscriptions appearing in the reconstructed cash book of RB Kebble.

There were payments receipts in respect of all the payments, which indicates that all except one were transferred to the same bank account, being Standard Bank, bank account number 460761. The beneficiary of the account was also reflected on the receipt as Gleason Publications[529]. Our statutory searches confirmed that these bank account details were listed under "the Bankers" details in respect of Gleason Publications. The other payment, to ED Gleason, was made to Nedbank, Permanent Peoples Bank, bank account number 19 7205 2799[530].The following was recorded in an e-mail message, attached to the payment receipts[531]:

"Our cash flow projection for Gleason Publications for February and to mid-March shows a requirement of R90 000.

Can you please arrange, as we discussed, for payments to be made as follows:

The e-mail was dated 23 February 2004. The following hand written notes appeared on the e-mail"

"27/02

Brett approved verbally"

And

"1/03

Jill will pay today"

Stratton explained that David Gleason was in partnership with Ntsele[532]. We have not confirmed whether the "DN" in the e-mail referred to Ntsele. Gleason indicated the following:

- He received payments from RB Kebble;
- He provided financial intelligence to RB Kebble;
- His relationship was with RB Kebble and not JCI Limited;
- He never performed any work for JCI Limited;
- He was not aware that the payments to him were recorded in the books of CMMS; and
- He received one payment of R255 000 from RB Kebble, which was paid via the account of Ntsele.

No evidence was found indicating that CMMS, or any other JCI Limited company benefited from the services.

The handwritten journal reflected that the CMMS ledger account 801500: Consulting Fees Paid had to be debited with the amount of R695 000 and that ledger account number 174501: Sundry Debtors: RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments, had to be credited with the same amount in the ledger of CMMS[533].

The entries in the handwritten journal were entered in the general ledger of CMMS during the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibiprops was reduced with the amount of R695 000, which was to the benefit of RB Kebble.

12.16.4.3 Capacity Building

It appears from the list that RB Kebble made a number of payments to Capacity Building[534]. As mentioned at section 12.2 supra, Ntsele was listed as the sole director of Capacity Building.

It appears that the following payments were made to Capacity Building[535].

Payee	Amount R	Date	Receipt attached to Journal	Confirmed against RB Kebble reconstructed cash book
Capacity Building	160 000	30 October 2003	Nedbank, Permanent Peoples Bank acc no 16 8612 1431	"Instruction Brett/Dominic Ntsele"

Total	2 330 000

There were payments receipts in respect of all the payments, which indicated that all payments were made to the same account being Nedbank, Permanent Peoples Bank account number 16 8612 1431. The beneficiary was also reflected on the receipt as Capacity Building[536].

It appears from a handwritten note that the first five payments, which amounted to R1 660 000, resorted in the 2004 financial year and that the rest of the payments, which amounted to R670 000, resorted in the 2005 financial year[537].

Capacity Building was a consultant of JCI Limited, as discussed at paragraph 12.2 supra.

The handwritten journal reflected that the CMMS ledger account: 801500, Consulting Fees Paid had to be debited with the amount of R1 660 000 and that ledger account number 174501: Sundry Debtors-RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments had to be credited with the same amount in the books of account of CMMS[538].

12.16.4.4 TS Yengeni

It appears from the list that RB Kebble made two payments to TS Yengeni[539]. The details of the two payments were as follows:

Payee	Amount R	Date	Receipt attached to Journal	Confirmed against RB Kebble reconstructed cash book
TS Yengeni	60 000	09 September 2003	No payment receipt	"Instruction Brett for Tony Yengeni"
TS Yengeni	60 000	16 April 2004	No payment receipt	"Brett's Instruction"

We did not obtain any payment receipts in respect of these payments and can not confirm to which bank account the funds were transferred. Yengeni did however provide consulting services under the entity Abongile Consulting, as discussed at section 12.1 supra.

A handwritten note on the list reflected that the second payment resorted in the next financial year of CMMS, which was 2005[540].

The handwritten journal reflected that the CMMS ledger account 801500: Consulting Fees Paid had to be debited with the amount of R60 000 and that ledger account number 174501: Sundry Debtors-RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments had to be credited with the same amount in the books of CMMS[541].

The entries in the handwritten journal were entered in the general ledger of CMMS in the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props was reduced with the amount of R60 000, which was to the benefit of RB Kebble.

12.16.4.5 SJ Pandor

It appears that the RB Kebble made the following payment to SJ Pandor[542].

Payee	Amount R	Date	Receipt attached to Journal	Confirmed against RB Kebble reconstructed cash book
SJ Pandor	250 000	08 September 2003	No payment receipt	"Instruction Brett for Sharif Pandor"

We did not locate any payment receipt in respect of this payment. We have not found any agreement underlying this payment. No resolution of the directors of any JCI Limited company was found authorising this payment.

The handwritten journal reflected that the CMMS Ledger account 801500: Consulting Fees Paid had to be debited with the amount of R250 000 and that ledger account number 174501: Sundry Debtors-RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments had to be credited with the same amount in the books of CMMS[543].

The entries in the handwritten journal were entered in the general ledger of CMMS in the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props was reduced with the amount of R250 000, which was to the benefit of RB Kebble.

Pandor indicated that he cannot recall the payment to him, but the he would come back to us and provide clarity thereon. AT the time of drafting this report, the information was still outstanding.

12.16.4.6 EB Molefe

It appears from the list that RB Kebble made the following payment to EB Molefe[544].

Payee	Amount R	Date	Deposit slip attached to Journal	Confirmed against RB Kebble reconstructed cash book/sundries
EB Molefe	100 000	22 August 2003	ABSA Acc no 5349 1100 000 16044	"Vacation instruction Brett"

[543] Refer Exhibit 7.16.3
[544] Refer Exhibits 7.16. 3 and 7.16.4

The deposit slip reflected that the funds were deposited to EB Molefe's, ABSA bank account with number 5349 1100 000 16044[545]. The description given in the RB Kebble reconstructed cash book is "Vacation instruction Brett". It appears that the "2004" was altered to reflect 2003. The word loan was also written on the left of the date under the payment to EB Molefe[546]. It appears from the reconstructed cashbook that this payment was not made in respect of any services rendered, but was to pay for Molefe's vacation.

The handwritten journal reflected that the CMMS ledger account 174510: Loan EB Molefe had to be debited with the amount of R100 000 and that ledger account number 174501: Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments had to be credited with the same amount in the books of CMMS[547].

The entries in the handwritten journal were entered in the general ledger of CMMS in the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props was reduced with the amount of R100 000, which was to the benefit of RB Kebble.

12.16.4.7 December 2003 bonuses paid by RB Kebble

It appears from the list that, in addition to the printed list of payments, there were a number of payments made, recorded in manuscript[548]. One of the hand written items reflected "Dec BonusR2M". There was no payment receipt attached to the hand written journal in respect of the December bonuses.

It appears from the reconstructed cash book that the following payments were made and, according to the description as per the cashbook of RB Kebble, comprised bonuses to the following persons[549]:

Date	Recipient	Amount R	Description
18 December 2003	Sello Rasethaba	300 000	"Sello & Mafika bonuses"

18 December 2003	Andrew Mlangeni	150 000	"Bonus"
Total		1 550 000

It is not evident from the cashbook entries to whom the balance of the bonuses, i.e. R450 000.00, were paid.

We describe hereunder the interests, held by each of the individuals, in entities considered relevant to our investigation and we recorded their explanations given to us regarding their involvement in the said entities and the payments received.

Andile Nkhulu's interest in entities relevant to the investigation

Nkhulu was a director of:

- Ikamva;
- Skygistics; and
- Tlotlisa Financial Services (Pty) Limited.

Nkhulu explained the following[550]:

- He was an executive of JCI Limited and worked on a number of projects;
- He received the amount of R150 000 during December 2003;

[550] As per consultation with Nkhulu

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- The payment was in respect of a year end bonus; and
- Nkhulu was not aware that the payment was made from the account of RB Kebble, but was under the impression that it was made by JCI Limited.

Brenda Madumise's interest in entities relevant to this investigation

Madumise was a director of:

- REC;
- Tlotlisa Financial Services (Pty) Limited; and
- Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Limited.

Madumise was a director of REC and served on the Audit Committee of REC during the period August 2003 to date.

Madumise explained the following[551]:

- She received the amount of R150 000 during December 2003. She was contacted by Ncwana, who apparently notified her that she would receive a bonus for the good work she had done during the year. She was not aware that the transfer was made from RB Kebble's personal account. She was a non-executive director of REC at the time;
- She served on the audit committee of REC;
- She was aware that these bonuses were not approved by either the board of directors of REC or the remuneration committee of REC;
- She did not serve on the board of JCI Limited; and
- In addition, Madumise recorded she also received bonuses of this nature during 2002 and 2004. She would however confirm this and provide information as to where it was paid from.

Chris Nissen's interest in entities relevant to this investigation

Nissen was a director of:

[551] As per consultation with Madumise

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Boschendal Limited;
- Kovacs Investments 608 (Pty) Limited; and
- REC.

Nissen did not confirm that he received the R150 000 payment as he needed to confirm the receipt thereto with his bank. Nissen did however confirm that he received the following payments from RB Kebble[552]:

Date	Amount R
22 July 2004	650 000
15 September 2004	100 000
3 December 2004	150 000
Total	900 00

We could not determine whether these amounts were funded by CMMS. Nissen explained the following:

- He received the payments as consulting fees and success fees;
- Nissen did not submit invoices in respect of the consulting fees;
- The success fees were negotiated with RB Kebble on a project by project basis;
- These agreements were never recorded in writing; and
- Nissen did not realise that the payments were made from RB Kebble's account.

Although Nissen indicated that he was not aware that the payments were made from RB Kebble's bank account, the description on Nissen's bank statements reflected the name "RB Kebble".

Songezu Mjongile's interest in entities relevant to this investigation

Songezu Mjongile had the following interest in entities relevant to this investigation:

[552] Refer Exhibit 7.16.2

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- Equitant Trading (Pty) Limited;
- Phikoloso Mining (Pty) Limited; and
- Tlotlisa Financial Services (Pty) Limited.

Mjongile explained the following:

- He received payment from JCI Limited, but could not confirm this specific payment. He would verify it on his bank statements;
- The payments were bonuses in respect of work performed on various BEE transactions; and
- Various individuals had to negotiate with different parties during these transactions to ensure the co-operation from all parties.

We did not have the opportunity to interview the individuals, listed infra, to confirm whether they received the payments reflected in RB Kebble's cash book, which are listed in our main table above:

	Amount R
Sello Rasethaba	300 000
Samora Gobo	150 000
Bonga Mlambo	150 000
Thobile Mtwazi	150 000
Charles Quint	100 000
Andrew Mlangeni	150 000

Bonus payments to Ncwana

According to the reconstructed cash book, Ncwana received various payments. During a consultation, Ncwana indicated that he received a bonus from RB Kebble during December 2003 and 2004[553].

[553] As per consultation with Ncwana

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Ncwana explained the following:

- RB Kebble paid these bonuses, but he was not specific on the detail thereof;
- Ncwana thought it was for the work he performed collectively on all the boards on which he served with RB Kebble, in addition to the work he performed on various projects; and
- He was a non-executive director of REC during December 2003 and December 2004.

The hand written journal reflected that Consulting Fees Paid, in the ledger of CMMS, had to be debited with the amount of R2 000 000 and that account number 174501: Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments, had to be credited with the same amount in the books of CMMS[554].

The entries in the hand written journal were entered in the general ledger of CMMS in the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props was reduced with the amount of R2 000 000, which was to the benefit of RB Kebble.

It appears that RB Kebble may have paid bonuses to individuals in respect of work performed by them. It is however not clear why, for instance, CMMS had to be charged for the bonuses of individuals unrelated to CMMS.

Furthermore, it appears that the R2 000 000, which was allocated to consulting fees, may have been paid in respect of bonuses and therefore might have been allocated incorrectly to consulting fees.

12.16.4.8 Ficcuseco

It appears from the list that, in addition to the printed list of payments, there were a number of payments recorded in a manuscript[555]. One of the hand written items reflects "LFL Ficcosseco R100 000".

[554] Refer Exhibit 7.16.3
[555] Refer Exhibit 7.16.3

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

It appears from the reconstructed cash book that a payment in the amount of R100 000 was made to LFL Ficossecco on 3 July 2003[556]. The description, recorded under sundries, reads "Instruction Brett".

Although we have not confirmed the transaction with Ficcuseco, it is possible that this payment related to Luci Ficcuseco, mentioned at paragraph 12.8 supra. Should this be the case, the expense may relate to matters relevant to the dispute with DRD and Mark Wellesley-Wood.

The handwritten journal reflected that Consulting Fees Paid had to be debited in the CMMS ledger with the amount of R100 000 and that account number 174501: Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments had to be credited with the same amount in the books of CMMS[557].

The entries in the handwritten journal were entered in the general ledger of CMMS in the 2004 financial year, with the effect that the balance of the Sundry Debtors RB Kebble/Consolidated Investments/Alibi Props was reduced with the amount of R100 000, which was to the benefit of RB Kebble.

12.16.5 Financial information/payments

12.16.5.1 Consulting Fees

RB Kebble received consulting fees, aggregating some R8 873 000 in the financial years tabled below[558].

Year	Amount R
2004	3 213 000
2005	3 042 000
2006	2 100 000

12.16.6 Authorisation

12.16.6.1 Consulting Fees

The payments in respect of consulting fees to RB Kebble were primarily authorised by the two group accountants, Swanevelder and De Beer of which we attach an example[559]. We have not seen any directors' resolutions authorising the payment of consulting fees to RB Kebble.

12.16.6.2 Payments to other consultants by RB Kebble

We recorded supra our findings in respect of the authority that we could determine in respect of payments made by RB Kebble to other consultants, which were charged to CMMS.

12.16.7 Possible additional payments made through Tuscan Mood

During a consultation with Stratton, he provided a list titled "LOAN ACCOUNTS"[560]. Stratton explained that this document was obtained from RB Kebble's desk after a meeting between RB Kebble and Poole during July or August 2005[561].

Representatives of Umbono Forensics indicated that these payments were made through Tuscan Mood. We did not verify these payments[562]. Due to a request made by Umbono Forensics thereto, we did not present Poole with a copy of the document. Umbono Forensics and the legal advisors REC were apparently planning to use this schedule during a Section 417 enquiry of Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Limited (in liquidation), when questioning Poole[563].

Irrespective of the abovementioned obstruction to our investigation, Poole confirmed that he made payments to a number of individuals from Tuscan Mood, who included[564]:

- Rasethaba;
- Ncwana;
- Ntsele;
- Closenberg;

- Nissen.

Poole further explained that he would provide us with a list, reflecting which individuals were paid through Tuscan Mood. Poole further stated that he did not know the reasons why these payments were made, but confirmed that they were always made on RB Kebble's instruction.

The following names were reflected on the list mentioned supra[565]:

Total	95 650 000.00

It appears that the total reflected for this schedule in incorrect. The total amount should be R97 394 732.77. We have no explanation regarding this difference.

We did not verify whether the payments made and whether the parties listed, received these payments. The list also did not disclose the purpose of the said payments.

We indicated in the body of this report, particularly at section I I infra, that various amounts of money paid to the bank account of RB Kebble, or to companies related to RB Kebble, from the funds of CMMS or the proceeds of assets of CMMS and JCI Gold. Similarly, we have seen evidence of the proceeds of assets of REC having been paid to the bank account of RB Kebble, or companies related to RB Kebble. It thus follows that, the funds with which the payments, listed in the cashbook of Kebble and the above mentioned list provided by Stratton, were made, may well comprise a mixture of RB Kebble's own funds, proceeds of CMMS and JCI Gold's assets and proceeds of REC's assets, insofar as such payments were not part of those claimed back from CMMS, as recorded above. Due to the confusing effect of such money being deposited into a bank account, specific transactions cannot always be linked in a bank account.

12.17 Revolution Events

12.17.1 Background

Information obtained from publicly available sources indicated that Revolution Events was a private company with registration number 2003/005213/07. The sole director of the company appears to have been Barrett. The postal address of the company was 42 Upper Torquay Avenue, Bishopscourt. Revolution Events was a public relations and event management company.

12.17.2 Contractual relationship

Barrett informed us that Revolution Events was an agent for Marulelo. Marulelo had a contract with JCI Limited, in terms whereof a monthly retainer and expenses were paid by JCI Limited for their services, as mentioned at paragraph 12.12 supra.

12.17.3 Actual relationship

According to Barrett, Revolution Events was involved in public relations and event management, i.e. the planning of parliamentary lunches, catering, guest lists, invitations, etc. We note that Revolution Events invoiced certain expenses to CMMS through Marulelo as mentioned at paragraph 12.12 supra. As such, it appears that the services of Revolution Events were closely related to those of Marulelo.

The invoices, received from Revolution Events, ranged from "Consultation fees for Gail Strauss", payment for "BASA Awards", "Security services" to "Annual membership" fees as mentioned in paragraph 12.12 supra.

12.17.4 Financial information/Payments

We were provided with invoices of Revolution Events, which were addressed to Marulelo. Marulelo would in turn invoice JCI Limited as discussed at paragraph 12.12 supra. The total amount, paid to Revolution Events, was R991 336.60[566].

12.17.5 Benefit to JCI Limited

As mentioned at paragraph 12.12 supra, it is not certain whether the services, which were provided, were exclusively to the benefit of JCI Limited. We did not have the opportunity to conduct a final consultation with Barrett as he initiated a claim against JCI Limited as discussed at paragraph 12.12 supra.

12.18 Shelley Street Design Consultant

12.18.1 Background

Street is a design consultant, who specialised in interior decorating and design. She had her principal place of business in Cape Town. Her address was 3 Maynard Road, Gardens, Cape Town.

12.18.2 Contractual relationship

Street entered into an agreement with RB Kebble during August 2003. On 1 September 2003, Street confirmed the terms of the agreement in a letter addressed to RB Kebble at JCI Limited, Monterey in Bishopscourt. Street confirmed that she would oversee the redecoration of the interior of Monterey for a fee of R15 000.00 per month excluding VAT[567]. The agreement commenced on 1 September 2003 and would run until such time as the project is completed or the agreement was cancelled by either party with two months' written notice thereto[568].

12.18.3 Actual relationship

Street confirmed that she was responsible for aspects pertaining to the purchase and/or refurbishment of antiques, new curtains, blinds, carpets and the board room. She stated that she worked at Monterey from 1 September 2003 to March 2004, when she proceeded to work on RB Kebble's personal property, "Fairseat". She confirmed that she was aware that "Fairseat" was RB Kebble's personal property but continued to submit invoices to JCI Limited. Street's contract was terminated in April 2005[569].

12.18.4 Financial information/Payments

The following amounts were paid to Street by JCI Gold[570]:

Year	Amount R
2004	119 7000
2005	188 100
2006	46 170
Total	353 970

12.18.5 Authorisation

During 2003 and the beginning of 2004, separate authorisation was provided in a letter of instruction to the bank to transfer funds. Subsequent to that, electronic transfers were done. The transfers were authorised by the two group accountants, Swanevelder and De Beer.

12.18.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

The refurbishment of RB Kebble's personal home does not benefit JCI Limited. RB Kebble benefited personally from these services. It appears that Street was entitled to the amount of R119 700.00, which she received during 2004. Therefore the balance R234 270 was due to JCI Limited and forms part of the claim against RB Kebble.

12.19 Spring Lights/Misty Mountain

12.19.1 Background

Information, obtained from public information sources, indicated that Spring Lights was a private company with registration number 2001/025517/07. It appears that the sole director was Martin Flint and his identification number was 380717 508 084. The nature of the business was stated as "Direct Selling Establishments" and the company had its registered address at 33 Langermann Drive, Kensington, 2094.

Stratton stated that the contact person for Spring Lights was Agliotti.

[570] Refer Annexure SS

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

12.19.2 Contractual relationship

Agliotti explained that he was appointed by RB Kebble and Stratton to protect the integrity of JCI Limited as a result of DRD's appointment of AIN. He had a verbal agreement with them, of which Buitendag was also aware[571]. Agliotti further had a written agreement with CMMS which he signed on behalf of Misty Mountains. In terms of that agreement, CMMS would provide a loan to Misty Mountains as reported on at section 10.4 supra.

12.19.3 Actual relationship

It is evident from a submission made by Flint and Agliotti that both Spring Lights and Agliotti had a relationship with JCI Limited and RB Kebble. We noted the following from the submission:

- Spring Lights commenced trading during November 2001, but the company was not financially viable and was virtually dormant by December 2002;
- Flint was requested by Agliotti, who represented RB Kebble and JCI Limited, whether he had a trading company available;
- Spring Lights was sold by Flint subject to the repayment of his shareholders' loan of R350 000, as agreed with RB Kebble. The loan was paid on 9 December 2003;
- According to RB Kebble, Spring Lights was required for special projects such as investigations, follow up and assessment of trading opportunities and active commercial intelligence;
- Furthermore, RB Kebble authorised payments into and out of Spring Lights in terms of his requirements. Agliotti further explained that one of the projects involved was the countering a smear campaign conducted by AIN and DRD, which was directed against RB Kebble, RAR Kebble and JCI Limited;
- According to Agliotti, Nassif was also involved in this special project;
- Agliotti was involved in identifying trading opportunities in Africa; and [571] As per consultation with Agliotti

- Agliotti indicated that, although Stratton was involved in the day-to-day management of some of the projects, he mainly reported to RB Kebble.

12.19.4 Financial information/Payments

It appears from our review that a total amount of R18 850 000 paid to Spring Lights as consulting fees.

As mentioned at 10.4 supra, an additional amount of R6 750 000 was still reflected in the Misty Mountain Loan account as at 31 March 2005, relating to payments made to Spring Lights.

Flint provided details of payments received by individuals and/or entities from JCI Limited:

Name of individual and/or entity	R

Sterling cc	3 200 000
Sterling Asset Management	8 020 000

Total	26 684 000

The Misty Mountain loan account is reported on at section 10.4 supra.

In addition, it appears that HSC made payments to Spring Lights on behalf of JCI Limited. The payments amounted to R255 794.60, as mentioned at section 10.8 supra.

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

12.19.5 Authorisation

It appears that during 2003 and during the beginning of 2004, separate authorisations were provided in letters of instruction to the bank to transfer funds. The main signatories of these letters were Buitendag, Swanevelder and De Beer. Later, electronic transfers were done. Most of the Spring Lights invoices were authorised for payment by Stratton.

12.19.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

Agliotti explained that the services were to counter the smear campaign by AIN against RB Kebble, RAR Kebble, REC and JCI Limited. The details of the AIN/DRD matters are reported on at paragraph 12.8 supra.

12.20 Thoughtfox

Payments to Thoughtfox were closely related to the payments to Ikamva, hence, for completeness sake, we deal with these payments at paragraph 12.22 infra.

12.21 Top Edge Investments (Pty) Limited

12.21.1 Background

Information, obtained from publicly available sources, indicated that Top Edge was a private company with registration number 1995/006599/07. Its main purpose of business was described as financial intermediation, insurance, real estate and business services. Watson was listed as the only director of Top Edge.

12.21.2 Contractual relationship

Watson indicated that, although he entered into an agreement with Flack of REC, it was never recorded in writing[572]. We could not locate a written agreement with CMMS or JCI Gold.

12.21.3 Actual relationship

Watson, inter alia, revealed to us that[573]:

[572] As per consultation with Watson
[573] As per consultation with Watson

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- He had an intelligence background and consequently did not wish to enter into any written contractual relationship;
- He had performed consultancy services to REC and JCI Limited for approximately eight years;
- At the time, when the terms of his consultancy agreement were negotiated with Flack, he was employed by REC;
- In terms of the agreement, he was responsible to manage aspects that could destabilise REC and JCI Limited and counter-act such aspects by creating a stable environment where state, labour and capital could co-operate with one other;
- He dealt with various conflict situations and was required to meet and/or bring different parties together in order to resolve differences;
- He received a monthly retainer, which increased marginally over the period of the professional relationship;
- He provided verbal feedback; and
- He terminated the professional relationship in August 2005.

Stratton confirmed that he never personally managed Watson and he understood that Watson was responsible for attending to certain labour matters and provided covert industrial intelligence[574]. He understood that Watson "was sorting out the problems".

12.21.4 Financial information/payments

We have located a number of invoices of R34 200.00 each, for the period April 2003 to September 2005 (excluding invoices for February and March 2004)[575], totalling R957 600.00 (total amount of R1 026 000.00, inclusive of February and March 2004). Even though we have not located the aforementioned two invoices, it appears as if payments in respect of those two invoices were also made on 9 March 2004 and 20 March 2004, respectively[576].

[574] As per consultation with Stratton
[575] Refer Exhibit 7.21.2
[576] Refer Exhibit 7.21.2

However, we have established that monthly payments, totalling R1 026 000.00 in respect of the abovementioned period, were made by JCI Gold and/or CMMS into the bank account of Top Edge, ABSA Bank (Strand Street, Cape Town), account number 010 101 818 91[577].

The amount of R1 026 000.00 did not include the payment of R34 200.00 on 10 April 2004, which related to consultancy fees for March 2003.

Watson also indicated that he received payments on a monthly basis for the last eight years.

12.21.5 Authorisation

According to Vieira, the payments to Top Edge were part of a monthly arrangement, which was verbally approved by RB Kebble and Buitendag[578].

12.21.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

Even though Watson insisted that Top Edge added substantial value to the operations of JCI Limited and its subsidiaries, we were unable to ascertain whether Top Edge added such value, due to the unreasonable nature of the service Top Edge allegedly provided. The initial agreement was entered into with Flack of REC, which is an indication that Watson may not only have provided services to JCI Limited, but also to REC.

12.21.7 Outstanding obligations

According to Watson he terminated the consultancy relationship with JCI Limited during August 2005. We have also examined documentation confirming the termination of the agreement[579]. Accordingly, it appears as though no outstanding or future obligations rest on JCI Limited in this regard.

12.22 Ikamva

12.22.1 Ikamva Investment Holdings (Pty) Limited

12.22.1.1 Background

Information obtained from public available sources indicated that Ikamva was a private company with registration number 1998/021327/07. The previous name of the company was Seamo Investment Holdings and the name was changed to Ikamva during November 2000. The directors of Ikamva were listed as:

- Pandor;
- Barend Petersen;
- Oglobry Kagiso Chikane; and
- Nkuhlu.

Pandor responded to questions in a letter dated 13 January 2006 recording that[580], "Ikamva was founded as a BEE investments holding company. Paul Main had come into Ikamva as a strategic partner who would finance the cost of our operations and help raise funding for buying into cash generating businesses." It was also further reflected that, "In 2003, Ikamva BEE shareholders owned 80% with the remaining 20% held by Paul Main. After Ikamva obtained a 5.5% stake in Mphahlele, a platinum farm in Limpopo, Paul Main informed Ikamva that he had sold his 20% shares to JCI. He indicated that JCI had agreed to finance Ikamva's share of prospecting costs at Mphahlele on condition that we sell to him additional 10% since JCI did not want to come into Ikamva with less that 26% equity shares". It was further reflected that, "Ikamva agreed that Paul Main could get an additional 10% to offset his loan account of R1.4 million in Ikamva. Ikamva had wanted to sell the 10% directly to JCI so that we could pay off Paul Main".

12.22.1.2 Nature of the relationship between Ikamva and JCI

It appears from the explanation, provided by Pandor, that Ikamva was not a consultant to JCI Limited, but that JCI Limited had a 30% shareholding in Ikamva. This aspect had been explained at section 10.13 supra.

[580] Refer Exhibit 7.22.2

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

Pandor further explained in his letter that Ikamva submitted a monthly operations budget to JCI Limited and agreed that travelling cost, professional fees and any other expenses would be discussed and authorised by JCI Limited[581].

12.22.1.3 Payments to Ikamva

Ikamva submitted invoices to JCI Limited for payment. A total of R563 655.75 was invoiced[582]. According to the details on the invoices, these payments were made in respect of:

- Bookkeeping costs;
- Legal fees;
- Postage;
- Salaries;
- Steve Wormald;
- Stationery;
- Siemens small switchboard;
- Telephone; and
- Tilus.

In respect of the 2005 financial year, an amount of R6 709.90 was owed by CMMS.

A part-payment of R305 472.69 was paid out to Ikamva from the CMMS bank account in the 2006 financial year. An amount of R258 183.00 was outstanding to Ikamva[583].

Pandor explained that it was recommended that Ikamva use Wilfred Orman as same auditors. It was further agreed that Mallinicks attorneys would draft the shareholders' agreements. Pandor indicated that it was decided to make use of two consultants, Maredi Mphahlele (Mphahlele) of Tswelopele Associates CC and Thoughtfox for purposes of drafting the shareholders' agreement and other corporate aspects of the relationship[584].

12.22.2 Thoughtfox

12.22.2.1 Background

Information, obtained from publicly available sources, indicated that Thoughtfox was a private company with registration number 2003/012206/07. The previous name thereof was Mallinicks Business Development Unit (Pty) Limited. The directors of Thoughtfox were listed as:

- Jill Hilary Singer,
- Wormald,
- James David Steward Beaumont, and
- Gerald Mallinick.

12.22.2.2 Nature of the relationship between Ikamva and Thoughtfox

In the letter from Pandor, he indicated that Wormald was employed to assist in tidying up the asset register and related financing requirements.

An e-mail correspondence by Wormald to Griffiths recorded that[585]: "I agree that R30 000.00 per month is acceptable (excluding vat). I suggest however that this does not include disbursements that may be incurred as a result of travel etc. These disbursements can be discussed and a system put in place ie pre-clearance for expected expenses by yourselves etc. As mentioned I am working on some other projects other than for Ikamva, but I will keep an accurate of time spent on Ikamva..." Griffiths forwarded this email to Vieira, to which he added that "Brett has taken on Steven Wormold as a consultant from August at 30k per month."

During a telephonic conversation with Wormald, he indicated that he provided a wide range of services to Ikamva including[586]:

- Background work;
- Facilitating deals;
- Attending meetings; and
- Business advisory.

When we asked Wormald for a copy of his record of time spent on Ikamva, he replied that the payment he received was not worth the effort to keep such a record because he spent many hours on the project[587].

12.22.2.3 Payments to Thoughtfox

We noted that Thoughtfox invoiced CMMS on six occasions, totalling R184 200[588]. Five of the six payments were approved by the two group accountants, Swanevelder and De Beer. The transaction on 18 February 2005 was approved by Buitendag and Beale. Payments were made to Thoughtfox from the JCI Gold bank account. The total paid to Thoughtfox was R184 200.00.

12.22.3 Tswelopele Associates CC

12.22.3.1 Background

Information, obtained from publicly available sources, indicated that Tswelopele was a close corporation with registration number 1997/000390/23[589]. The members were listed as:

- Mphahlele; and
- Daniel Jacobus Bailey.

12.22.3.2 Nature of the relationship between Ikamva and Tswelopele

Pandor recorded in a letter that Mphahlele was appointed to facilitate Ikamva's mining interests[590]. During an interview with Mphahlele he explained that, when JCI Limited entered into an agreement with an Australian listed company, named Pan Palladium, he was appointed to drive the process. A company called Ikamva Mining was formed for this purpose[591]. It appears from information obtained from publicly available sources that Ikamva Mining was a private company with registration number 2005/010027/07. The previous name thereof was Kovacs Investment 726 (Pty) Limited. The directors of Ikamva Mining were:

- Oglobry Kagiso Chikane;
- Mphahlele;
- Nkuhlu; and
- Pandor.

It appears that Mphahlele and Pandor entered into an agreement on 25 February 2005[592] It was agreed that Mphahlele would be the managing director of Ikamva Mining. It was agreed that his tasks would include the "facilitation and implementation of the Ikamva strategy, formed jointly between ourselves, relating to other platinum mining including but not limited to the consolidation of the BEE interests in Mahube Mining (Pty) Ltd and Tameng Mining and Exploration (Pty) Ltd...".

The remuneration, agreed upon, was R50 000 per month. It was further agreed that Mphahlele "... be issued twenty five percent of the Issued share capital in Ikamva Mining, which will be issued to you as fully paid up share capital in return for the introduction of your effective Interests of 25 percent of the issued share capital in Ixia Trading 350 (Pty) Ltd".

This document was signed by Stratton and the document recorded "Ikamva loan account. Us to pay."

It is evident from a resolution, taken by the directors of Ikamva that Mphahlele's "salary be added to the loan account that Ikamva Holdings has with CMMS" [593]. We obtained a copy of a fax, which was sent to Stratton by Closenberg and attached to the memorandum of agreement between Ikamva and Mphahlele[594]. We noted that this document contained a section that was reflected in the agreement mentioned above. This section referred to "SWAP ARRANGEMENTS" to be implemented. It was recorded that "... on the basis that 33 percent of the ordinary share capital of the Company shall be exchanged for 50 (fifty) percent of the ordinary share capital of Yonke Mining & Resources (Pty) Ltd (registration no. 2001/017440/07) (Yonke Mining), and that the Executive shall procure the waiver of any pre-emptive rights (to the extent necessary) of any other shareholder in Yonke Mining".

This agreement was not signed by any party. However an inscription, appearing to be an initial, of a party unknown to us appears on the bottom right corner of each page of the agreement.

12.22.3.3 Payments

Mphahlele explained that JCI Limited undertook to provide financial support to Ikamva[595].

Mphahlele also explained that he used the Tswelopele letterheads to invoice Ikamva in order to facilitate the administration process. The fees, earned from his services to Ikamva, were not reflected as part of the income of Tswelopele.

According to the supporting documentation provided for payment, Tswelopele invoiced Ikamva for professional fees. The invoice on record showed that R200 000 was claimed in this regard. CMMS made a part payment of R50 000.00 pertaining to this invoice[596]. The money was deposited via internet transfer from the CMMS bank account directly into the bank account of Tswelopele as per the banking details quoted on their invoice. The payment was approved by Stratton. Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, it appears that the payments made, were authorised by Griffith.

12.23 Turbine Aviation (Pty) Limited

12.23.1 Background

Information, obtained from publicly available sources, indicated that Turbine Aviation was a private company with registration number is 2004/004948/07. The main purpose and business of the company was described as activities auxiliary to financial intermediation. The directors were listed as:

- Poole;
- Marthinus Ignatius Lindeque; and
- HNW Administration and Advisory CC.

12.23.2 Contractual relationship

Poole indicated that no written contractual agreement existed between JCI Limited and Turbine Aviation[597]. We also could not locate one either[598].

12.23.3 Actual relationship

Poole, an executive director of Turbine Aviation, revealed, inter alia, that[599]:

- He was an employee of JCI Limited for 18 years and, as far as he was concerned, was still and employee of JCI Limited, even though JCI Limited ceased to pay his salary from December 2004 onwards;
- At the time when he was still paid by JCI Limited, RB Kebble and Buitendag advised him that he would head up the aviation business of JCI Limited;
- At the time when they stopped paying his salary, he called RB Kebble with regard to the matter and, in desperation, enquired as to what he should do. RB Kebble advised him that he should invoice his salary through Turbine Aviation;
- JCI Limited may have paid him one to two payments of R120 000.00 each. Such payments were unrelated to the possible charter services Turbine Aviation may have rendered and was paid by JCI Limited as an ongoing commitment to him as an employee of JCI Limited;
- Turbine Aviation was in discussion with JCI Limited to formalise a contractual relationship, which he was made to understand would consist of Turbine Aviation managing aircraft, which in all probability was going to be JCI Limited's own aircraft;
- The discussions did not, to date, cumulate into a draft written contract, even though there was supposed to be a contract;
- He was a shareholder and executive director of Turbine Aviation;
- He was not aware as to whether Turbine Aviation provided any services to JCI Limited. However Turbine Aviation could have provided charter services to directors of JCI Limited via a sub- contracting agreement; and

[597] As per consultation with Poole
[598] As per consultations with Bailey and Vieira
[599] As per consultation with Poole

- Turbine Aviation was going to purchase helicopters, which was supposed to be funded by banks and not by JCI Limited.

On the contrary, Lindeque, also an executive director of Turbine Aviation, revealed the following[600]:

- That he was the managing director of and Poole was the CEO of Turbine Aviation;
- Turbine Aviation did not provide any services to JCI Limited; however, they sub- contracted a charter service to Lesotho, which JCI Limited required;
- Turbine Aviation invoiced JCI Limited for the charter service rendered by its sub-contractor;
- He is not aware of any other services provided to JCI Limited by Turbine Aviation;
- He was unaware that Turbine Aviation was in any discussion with JCI Limited for any contractual relationship; and
- That Poole did not inform him of his negotiations with JCI Limited to provide services.

Stratton further confirmed that he had seen a letter of resignation, drafted by Poole, on RB Kebble's desk when he was attending to the financial affairs of RB Kebble after RB Kebble's death[601].We have examined the personnel file of Poole and we were unable to locate a letter of resignation. Poole advised that he was in a labour dispute with JCI Limited and that the matter was set down at the CCMA for the week of 30 January 2006 to 3 February 2006.

We have established that CMMS has paid various amounts of R120 000.00 each, based upon invoices reflecting that consultancy service have been rendered by Turbine Aviation to JCI Limited and/or CMMS[602]. However, based on the versions of Poole and Lindeque, it appears as though these invoices were not-for services provided by Turbine Aviation, but rather related to costs associated with Poole's monthly remuneration.

12.23.4 Financial information/payments

We noted invoices of R120 000.00 each for the period February 2005 to May 2005[603].

We noted two payments made from CMMS to Turbine Aviation of R120 000 each. The following banking details were provided on the invoices of Turbine Aviation: Standard Bank (Alberton), account number 20 1967 693. These payments were made on 1 March 2005 and 15 July 2005 respectively[604]. These payments were made in respect of the February and March 2005 invoices.

12.23.5 Authorisation

Although we are not examiners of disputed documents, it appears that the payment on 1 March 2005 ("February consultancy fee") was authorised by Buitendag[605]. It further appears that the payment on 15 July 2005 was authorised by Buitendag or De Beer[606].

12.23.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

It appears that neither JCI Limited, nor CMMS, received value from Turbine Aviation in respect of the payments which were made to them. The possibility that the payments were made as concealed salary payments to Poole cannot be excluded at this state.

12.24 Peter Williams (SAFCO)

12.24.1 Background

It appears that Williams, identification number 670627 5616 080, provided consultancy services to JCI in his personal capacity[607]. He was a director of SAFCO and held a 5% interest therein. SAFCO was an empowerment company and had an agreement with JCI Limited [608].

12.24.2 Contractual relationship

Williams entered into a written consulting agreement with JCI Limited on 16 August 2004. Williams was appointed to provide legal advice to JCI Limited, effective from 1 August 2004 for a period of six months, renewable for a further six months upon the request of JCI Limited. In terms of the agreement, Williams would be paid R25 000.00 per month on a cost to company basis for these services.

We were furthermore provided with a draft employment contract between Williams and SAFCO[609]. This agreement was unrelated to his services as consultant and is thus not discussed any further.

12.24.3 Actual relationship

Williams stated that the consultancy agreement with JCI Limited was in his personal capacity[610]. He previously worked for Alexkor as company secretary and also provided legal advice. During 2004, he met RB Kebble at an Itsuseng/Sekunjalo function. He was introduced to RB Kebble, who then requested Williams to meet him at Monterey at a later stage.

During 2004, RB Kebble and Williams met each other from time to time. Williams stated that he wanted to resign from Alexkor. He spoke to various parties in order to consider various options. At some stage, RB Kebble enquired about his financial needs. He indicated to RB Kebble that he would feel comfortable with a remuneration amount of R70 000.00 per month. He was earning R63 000.00 per month, on a cost to company basis, at Alexkor during that time. RB Kebble indicated that he would be able to accommodate him. RB Kebble informed Williams that JCI Limited would pay him R25 000.00 per month and that he would earn the remainder of his salary from SAFCO. Williams commenced consulting for JCI Limited whilst still employed by Alexkor, which he stated that he declared to Alexkor. He subsequently resigned from Alexkor and started employment at SAFCO with effect from 1 January 2005.

In addition, JCI Limited required the following from Williams:

- To provide political intelligence, as he was close to the ANC in the Western Cape;

---

[609] Refer Exhibit 7.24.3
[610] As per consultation with Williams

© 2007 KPMG Services (Proprietary) Limited. All rights reserved.

- To maintain his relationship with Alexkor as JCI Limited was interested in Mariculture, Agriculture as well as mining opportunities with Alexkor;
- JCI Limited utilised his legal skills in order to enhance JCI Limited's value in Ikamva, particularly in respect of two projects. These projects were ongoing and he was participating as a team member therein;
- To drive the Wingfield development process by using his legal and political skills to present business opportunities to JCI Limited in which it could participate; and
- To obtain political support from the Northern Cape provincial government for SAFCO's fishing licence application.

Williams confirmed that, in respect of political matters and Alexkor, he reported verbally to RB Kebble. However functionally, he reported to Stratton on business related matters. Williams negotiated the terms of the consultancy agreement with RB Kebble. The agreement however, was signed by Stratton. The agreement covered all the above mentioned services.

According to Williams, during January/February 2005, prior to the lapse of the written consultancy agreement, he had a discussion with Stratton and RB Kebble with regard to the renewal of his consultancy agreement. Williams stated that he entered into a new agreement with JCI Limited. The contract was verbal. However, the terms of the new contract were as follows:

- There would be no fixed term retainer payments;
- His fees would be paid on a month to month basis;
- The agreement was terminable with one month's notice; and
- Should he be successful with any of the business opportunities he was negotiating, the agreement would lapse and he would then derive benefit from these new business opportunities.

Williams explained that, on occasion, he asked for a written contract and RB Kebble responded that he would attend to the matter. He has performed consultancy services during and after the first agreement was made[611]. According to Williams, he never submitted any invoices as he understood that the JCI Limited's system would generate the invoices internally.

Williams indicated that he only became aware that Stratton was no longer a director of JCI Limited during November 2005.

Williams was of the view that JCI Limited still owed him outstanding consultancy fees and that the contract with him had not yet been terminated by JCI Limited. During mid December 2005, he spoke to Stratton about his payments and Stratton advised him that he would discuss it with Gray. Williams stated that Stratton had firsthand knowledge of the services rendered by him and should have informed Gray thereof. Williams was of the opinion that from the explanations he had given us, it is clear that the new agreement was an indefinite one, terminable by one month's notice[612].

12.24.3.1 Consultation with Stratton

Stratton confirmed the services rendered by Williams during the duration of the consultancy agreement and further advised that Williams was duly paid. However, Stratton denied Williams's version of events in respect of the new verbal agreement mentioned above. Stratton categorically stated that his contract was never renewed verbally and a new contract was not negotiated. Williams's contract naturally lapsed after the six month period. He further indicated that, if further payments were made to Williams, it must have been done erroneously[613]. Stratton indicated that he may have asked Williams to provide a further service, but that there will be supporting documentation, should he have so requested[614].

Stratton was also of the view that Williams would have known by September 2005 that he resigned as director of JCI Limited as the resignation was extensively covered by the media[615]. He confirmed meeting with Williams in December 2005, but denied advising Williams that he would discuss the payments with Gray. He indicated that, upon Williams's claim that JCI Limited still owed him money, Stratton advised Williams that, if he felt he had a claim, he could inform Gray in writing.

Vieira also indicated that the first six consultancy fee payments made to Williams were authorised by Stratton and/or Buitendag and/or Griffiths. According to Vieira and Henning, the three additional payments, made by CMMS to Williams, were paid as part of their monthly commitments to consultants. Vieira could not confirm that, at the time when she processed these payments, the directors of JCI Limited had authorised the three additional payments. It therefore appears that the three additional payments, made to Williams, may have been made erroneously and without authorisation.

12.24.4 Financial information/Payments

The invoices submitted, related to a monthly retainer of R25 000.00 for consultancy fees and included VAT.

We furthermore established that, for the period 10 September 2004 to 14 September 2005, payments amounting to R225 000.00 in respect of the above-mentioned invoices, were paid into Williams's bank account at Standard Bank (Athlone), account number 077 973 143, by CMMS and JCI Gold[616]. We established that an amount of R5 279.00 have been reimbursed to Williams in respect of an expense he has incurred relating to a fishing project[617]. This amount was also debited to the loan account of EBS Africa in the books of account of JCI Gold and it was later re-allocated to JCI Gold's travelling expense account[618].

12.24.4.1 Accounting treatment of the transactions

We established that payments, totalling R175 000.00, were debited to the loan account of EBS Africa in the book of accounts of JCI Gold[619]. These payments were later re-allocated to the sundry debtors account in the books of JCI Gold. Vieira confirmed that the payments were re-allocated from EBS Africa to the sundry debtors account and advised that it must have been processed by De Beer as it was his handwriting on the manual journal voucher evidencing the transaction[620].

During October 2005, De Beer processed the journal entries, in term whereof he allocated R175 000.00 to SAFCO because he knew Williams was involved in SAFCO. De Beer stated that the various allocations and re-allocations were definitely not done to inflate the debtor's account of SAFCO.

12.24.5 Authorisation

It appears that the first six consultancy fee payments, processed in favour of Williams, were authorised by Stratton, Buitendag or Griffiths. According to Vieira and Henning, the three additional consultancy payments processed by CMMS and JCI Gold to Williams, were paid as part of their monthly commitments to consultants[621].

12.24.6 Benefit to JCI Limited

It appears that the projects, on which Williams have been providing services, are still on-going. Furthermore, SAFCO was not a subsidiary of JCI Limited.

12.24.7 Outstanding obligations

Williams was of the opinion that JCI Limited owed him outstanding consulting fees for a nine months time frame to the end of June 2006 in terms of an extended verbal agreement between him and JCI Limited. He stated that Stratton entered into the agreement with him[622]. It appears that JCI Limited did not have any agreement with Williams and may have over paid him in the amount of R75 000.

12.25 Ian Wilson

12.25.1 Background

Wilson worked for his own account at the time when he was acting as a consultant for SAFCO. Wilson considered himself a quality assurance specialist in the fishing industry[623].

Dear Peter

Forensic investigation: 1st interim progress report

1. Introduction

1.1 We have made good progress on our investigation into the RRL shares and the Phikoloso Mining transaction. We have been engaged at both the offices of Randgold and at T-Sec. We provide interim feedback on our progress to date together with our recommendations.

2. Shareholding in RRL shares

2.1 Reconciliation of shares

2.1.1 We have been able to complete a preliminary reconciliation of the number of RRL shares held by RR(H) as at 31 December 2003 with movements to 31 December 2004.

TABLE 1

RRL share register	6 467 500	**
• RRH	4 000 000
• ?BJM nominees	2 467 500

2.1.2 We believe that little reliance can be placed on this reconciliation as it is our preliminary view that the shares "accounted" for as being lent under a Scrip Lending Agreement (SLA) to Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Ltd constitute the concealment of some 4,5 million RRL shares, the proceeds on disposal of which are the subject of our investigation.

2.1.3 We await independent confirmation of:

(i) the number of RRL shares held in Escrow (and the movement therein since 31 December 2004) by Mr Paul Main; and
(ii) the number of shares pledged and held by Societe Generale/BJM.

2.1.4 We deal with the disposal of RR(H)'s shares in RRL shares, based on our investigations to date of T-Sec's records, in 2.2 below.

2.2 Analysis of sales of RRL shares held by RR (H)

2.2.1 Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Ltd

2.2.2.1 A trading account in the name of this entity was opened at EW Balderson (Pty) Ltd on 27 November 1996, with Mr Brett Kebble as the reference. Various searches of the Registrar of Companies records revealed that no such company exists.

2.2.2.2 Between 17 November 2003 and 30 March 2004 our analysis of the Alibiprops 13 trading account reveals that 1 389 000 RRL shares were sold with the proceeds credited to the following bank/trading accounts as per T-Sec's records:

TABLE 2

Name	Bank	Account no	R	%
RB Kebble	Std Bank	000035386	50 098 102	16
Paradigm Shift	Std Bank	020581548	28 100 000	9
Kovacs	Nedbank	1232071188	5 000 000	2
Consolidated Investments	T/A: T-Sec	648410	117 979 425	38
Western Areas	T/A: T-Sec	671958	73 164 871	24
Soc Gen			31 679 784	10
Unknown			2 672 900	1
Total			308 695 083	100

2.2.2.3 On the 19th and 20th October 2004 a further 120 000 RRL shares were sold into the market for R7 584 960 with part of the proceeds being credited as follows:

TABLE 3

Name	Bank	Account no	R
Paradigm Shift	Std Bank	020581548	6 425 000
RB Kebble	Std Bank	000035386	500 000
Total			6 925 000

2.2.2.4 It would appear that of the total proceeds of R7 584 960, R659 960 was included in a transfer of R1 124 687 to Lunda Sul's T-Sec trading account. Lunda Sul is a related party to Randgold & Exploration Co/JCI. This will be investigated further.

2.3 Paradigm Shift CC

2.3.1 This close corporation, formerly Pagecraft CC, registration number 1993/014004/23 was registered on 14 June 1993.

2.3.2 It has a trading account at T-Sec (account number 692343) opened by Barry Desmond Bawden (ID# 570914 5868 080) on 26 June 2003.

2.3.3 Its banking details were given as "Tuscan Mood CC" (sic), Standard Bank, Alberton Branch, account no 020581548".

2.3.4 This bank account number is exactly the same as in the banking details given for Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Ltd being "Paradigm Shift CC, Standard Bank, Alberton Branch, account no 020581548" ostensibly signed by RB Kebble on the then Tradek Balderson (Pty) Ltd (now T-Sec) "Particulars Schedule to the Consolidated Limited Discretion Mandate", on 4 February 2003.

2.3.5 Alibiprops 13, Paradigm Shift CC and Tuscan Mood 1224 CC appear to be "alto ego's" of each other. Mr G.W. Poole and Mr B.D. Bawden appear to be the members of Paradigm Shift CC and Tuscan Mood 1224 CC, although a search of The Registrar of Companies records reveals that Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Ltd does not exist as a company and that Paradigm Shift CC has no members. We understand that Mr BD Bawden is a relative of Mrs PB Beale, the Group Company Secretary.

2.4 Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Ltd

2.4.1 On 6 February 2004 Randgold Resources (Holdings) Limited entered into a Scrip Lending Agreement (SLA), as lender, with Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Limited, as borrower. The SLA provided for "loaned securities", being ordinary shares in Randgold Resources Ltd, not exceeding 5 000 000 shares (10 000 000 after the split).

2.4.2 The SLA was ostensibly entered into in the following circumstances:

- "Bookmark wished to purchase approximately 19 000 000 shares in Western Areas Limited currently held by Anglo American Corporation as well as to provide financing to Matodzi Resources Limited."
- "RR(H) has agreed to lend to Bookmark up to a maximum of 5 000 000 shares in the capital of Randgold Resources Limited to assist Bookmark in the funding of its activities."
- "Bookmark will make available all of its assets as security for the loan and will not borrow any monies without prior approval of the lender."
- "Bookmark will also give an option to RR(H) to participate in any of the mineral rights and the projects that emanate there from particularly in relation to platinum prospects owned by Bookmark."

2.4.3 Prior to the drafting and signing of the SLA, Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Ltd (BMH) had borrowed 2 000 000 (pre-split) RRL shares from RR(H), described as the "initial loaned securities" and as signed for by BMH on 6 February 2004.

2.4.4 There is no further record of BMH borrowing any further shares under the SLA, as evidenced by "borrowing notices" or resolutions of the directors of BMH.

2.4.5 The SLA appears, prima facie, to be a sham designed to cover for missing RRL shares. This will be investigated further.

3. The Phikoloso Mining transaction

3.1 With effect from 28 July 2003 Randgold and Exploration Co. Ltd (RNG) acquired the entire issued share capital of Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd (Viking Pony) and claims in terms of a sale of shares agreement between RNG, Equitant Trading (Pty) Ltd (Equitant) and Phikoloso Mining (Pty) Limited (Phikoloso) dated 28 July 2003, amended on 7 August 2003.

3.2 The purchase consideration for the shares and claims was 8 800 000 RNG shares (valued at approximately R259 million) in exchange for 100% of the issued share capital of Viking Pony (including its 75% interest in Kabusha Mining and Finance (Pty) Ltd (Kabusha).

3.3 Viking Pony's consolidated financial position at the date of acquisition was represented as follows:

TABLE 4

	# of shares	R'000
- Available for sale investments		241 450
• Harmony Gold	315 000
• Angloplats	235 000
• The Afrikander Lease Ltd (direct)	7 300 000
• Afrikander Lease Ltd (Kabusha)	23 000 000
- Minority interest		(6 249)
- Long term liability		246 301
Negative fair value of net assets acquired		(11 100)

3.4 No due diligence appears to have taken place prior to the acquisition of Equitant's 100% interest in Viking Pony. It would appear that the available for sale investments in Harmony Gold Mining Co. Ltd (Harmony Gold), Anglo American Platinum Corporation Ltd (Angloplats) and the direct investment in Afrikander Lease Ltd (AFL) did not exist at the date of acquisition. We have been presented with, it is alleged, forged T-Sec brokers notes purporting to represent the purchase of these shares in the name of Viking Pony on various dates in July 2003 immediately prior to the acquisition of Viking Pony by RNG on 28 July 2003. Extracts from the allegedly forged brokers notes are summarised below:

TABLE 5

Appendix #	Transaction date	# of shares	Description

3	11/07/2003	4 600 000	The Afrikander Lease Ltd

10	14/07/2003	200 000	Harmony Gold Mining Co Ltd
	Sub-total	315 000	Harmony Gold Mining Co Ltd

3.5 A review of JSE trades in AFL, Harmony and Angloplats shares on the relevant dates reflects no such trades.

3.6 In addition, Viking Pony has never had a trading account at T-Sec or at any of its predecessor firms, the trading account number 648411 is fictitious and the brokers notes are incorrectly in the name of Tradek, not T-Sec – the name of the JSE member in July 2003.

3.7 On 5 December 2003 Viking Pony sold its shares to First Wesgold Mining (Pty) Ltd in reduction of its loan account payable to RNG.

3.8 On 1 October 2004, RNG, as lender, entered into a share lending agreement with BMH, as borrower, wherein RNG lent 235 Angloplats shares and 315 000 Harmony Gold shares (refer paragraph 3.4). Again this SLA would appear to be a sham to disguise the fact that these shares did not exist.

3.9 Equitant is in breach of its warranty that no material liabilities existed at the date of acquisition. On 27 July 2003 Kabusha was indebted to Benoryn (Pty) Ltd for R52 000 000 plus accrued interest to date, being the balance of the R92 000 000 purchase price for 23 million shares in Afrikander Lease Ltd. It remains unclear as who paid the initial R40 million. This will be investigated further.

3.10 JCI signed as surety and co-principal debtor (with Trinity Holding (Pty) Ltd) for this outstanding debt and was called upon under the surety to settle this amount (with accrued interest). Trinity did not pay anything under the joint suretyship.

3.11 It would appear that the only value RNG obtained in exchange for its purchase consideration, settled by way of the new issue of 8 800 000 RNG shares to Equitant was:

TABLE 6

Asset/(liability)	# of shares	R
The Afrikaner Lease Ltd	23 000 000	92 000 000
Benoryn (Pty) Ltd - outstanding purchase price	(13 000 000)	(52 000 000)
Net assets acquired	10 000 000	*40 000 000
 = refer par 3.9

3.12 The consideration received by Equitant of 8 800 000 RNG shares was dealt with as follows from an examination of T-Sec's trading account for Equitant (account number 669465) (refer appendix 1 to this report).

TABLE 7

4. Hothouse Investments Ltd

4.1 We will investigate the purchase and sale of 502 118 WAR securities which appear to have been largely funded by Consolidated Investments. The proceeds on the disposal of the various shares transactions were deposited by way of 20 cash payments into a bank account at Standard Bank, Alberton Branch (account no 008240337), amounting to R17 833 801.82 during the period 1 March 2002 to 15 January 2003. Our investigation will need to establish the ownership of these securities which appear to be substantially those of Consolidated Investments.

4.2 The directors of this company appear to be RB Kebble and BD Bawden.

5. New Heights 120 (Pty) Ltd

5.1 Similarly the sale of primarily WAR securities through this company's trade account at T-Sec will need to be analysed as to where the cash proceeds went.

5.2 The director of this company was George William Poole.

6. Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Ltd

6.1 Again, numerous purchases and sales of RNG, JCD, WAR, AFL and GFI shares were transacted through this company at T-Sec. These will need to be analysed to determine where the proceeds of these sales went.

6.2 Again, this company appears to be a related party with the sole director being Dimitrios Perrevos.

7. Trans Benguela Logistics (Pty) Ltd

7.1 This company's trading account at T-Sec was established by Mrs PB Beale with no bank account details and is considered a related party.

8. General Matters

8.1 We have not had sight of any of RR(H)'s purported Board Resolutions required to sell RRL shares on the NASDAQ Stock market. We understand that The Bank of New York is compiling duplicates of each purported resolution in their possession for T-Sec, who have lost or misplaced their file of documents sent to The Bank of New York. We suspect that these resolutions have been fraudulently prepared and signed and are not a true extract of the Board Resolutions as certified by Mrs PB Beale, the Group Secretary. We believe that the documents in the possession of The Bank of New York should be inspected prior to the finalisation of the investigation. We believe that the minute book of RR(H) maintained by Abacus Financial Services Ltd in Jersey should be inspected immediately to determine the veracity of the board resolutions authorising the disposal of RRL shares.

8.2 We are still to analyse the sale of WAR, RDF and RNG shares through related party trading accounts at T-Sec. T-Sec has undertaken to gather all supporting documentation underlying these transactions.

8.3 We will need to establish BR Kebble's proprietary holdings in RRL, JCD, WAR, RNG and other listed entities to establish with completeness and accuracy the extent of any misappropriation of RNG's assets.

9. Recommendations

9.1 We suggest that an urgent application be brought to wind up Paradigm Shift CC and Tuscan Mood 1224 CC who appear to have received R millions from the sale of RR(H)'s shares in RRL. This will allow for an enquiry under S424 of the Companies Act to be convened, greatly facilitating our investigation.

9.2 Similarly an urgent application should be brought to wind up Viking Pony and its subsidiary Kabusha Mining where RNG appears to have been duped into acquiring net assets of R40 000 000 (10 000 000 paid up AFL shares) in exchange for 8 800 000 RNG shares, worth approximately R259 million. This should be the subject of a S417 enquiry and a criminal investigation.

10. Conclusion

10.1 Although our investigation is at a preliminary stage, it is clear that a material fraud has been perpetrated by the former directors, undetected by the external auditors, against Randgold & Exploration Company Limited (RNG), a company listed on the NASDAQ stock market. The gravity of this situation cannot be over emphasised.

10.2 In an enquiry into the affairs of Viking Pony and Paradigm Shift CC (see 9 above) the conduct of the former directors and officers of RNG should be scrutinised.

10.3 At an enquiry the former directors, external auditors and executive management of RNG should be interrogated as to fraudulent conduct of the business affairs of the company, including the misrepresentation of the financial position of the company, the results of the company, the dissipation of the company's assets for the personal benefit of certain of the directors and officers of the company and the fraudulent filing of SEC registrar returns. There is every likelihood that the directors and officers of the company will be found guilty of Securities fraud in the United States of America. The company is fatally wounded and cannot be turned around.

10.4 The audited annual financial statements for the financial year ended 31 December 2003 grossly misrepresent the financial position of the listed company. The former directors, officers and external auditors should be subject to both civil and criminal sanction. This process should commence immediately. The current Board of Directors should distance themselves from accusations of trading recklessly.

10.5 The fraud perpetrated against the company extends into the hundreds of millions of Rands. There can be no explanation for the outright misappropriation of the assets of the company, even if it can be shown through the fullness of time that certain of the proceeds of the crime were eventually re-invested in the company or its associates.

Yours Faithfully

Dear Peter

Forensic investigation: 2nd interim progress report

1. Shareholding in RRL shares

1.1 We await copies of RR(H) Board Resolutions, Crest Transfer Forms and other relevant supporting documentation from BONY to evidence the sale of RRL shares on the NASDAQ stock exchange.

1.2 We have been informed by TABACKS that P.B. Beale, the Group Company Secretary, made a statement on 1 November 2005 that she produced "certified extracts of RR(H) Board Resolutions", which did not necessarily exist, to support the sale of RRL shares. She alleges that she was instructed to do so by G.W. Poole. In our interview with P.B. Beale on Friday, 28 October 2005, she stated that she had not produced any false Board Resolutions or certified extracts, with the exception of one for the sale of 120 000 RRL shares in the Alibiprops 13 (Pty) Limited T-Sec trading account no. 669465, on 19 October 2004.

1.3 We have still to investigate the RRL shares held in ESCROW (and the movement therein since December 2004) by Mr Paul Main and the number of shares pledged and held by Societe Generale/BJM.

Dear Peter

Forensic investigation: 3rd interim progress report

1. Shareholding in RRL shares

1.1 We have received no documentation from BONY, Barnard Jacobs & Mellet (BJM) or the clearing and settlement agents. Through BJM we are planning a visit to New York to inspect the "supporting" documentation lodged to execute the conversion and sale of RRL shares.

1.2 Despite numerous requests we have had no confirmation of the RRL shares pledged/held by Societe Generale, Investec and Mr Paul Main.

1.3 We have traced the sale of 1 469 000 RRL shares between 2002 and 2004 through the following trading accounts at T-Sec, excluding the CMMS trading account:

TABLE 1

Trading account	Year	# of RRL shares
Alibiprop 13	2003	325 000
	2004	1 184 000
New Heights 120	2002	800 000
CMMS
TOTAL		1 469 000

= KPMG are reconciling the CMMS trading account through which RRL shares were sold

1.4 An allegedly forged Tradek confirmation letter as at 31 December 2003 asserts that 925 000 RRL shares were held by Lee & Tembertons in London on behalf of RR(H). See 2.3(4) below.

2. Suspicious transactions

2.1 G.W. Poole

2.1.1 A meeting with G.W. Poole was held on Friday 11 November 2005 at the offices of Fluxmans Attorneys in Rosebank. G.W. Poole was represented by Phillip Vallet, who stated that he had not been consulted by G.W. Poole as yet. He advised G.W. Poole not to answer any questions we may have and he sought an indemnity for his client on the grounds that he may be an accomplice to the misappropriation of assets of RGE, JCI and CMMS. Lourens van Staden (LVS) of TABACKS indicated that criminal charges had not yet been contemplated and the question of an indemnification could not be taken further. LVS then suggested that a Mareeva Injunction (freezing order) against G.W. Poole be applied for. We understand TABACKS are in the process of doing this.

2.1.2 Mareeva Injunction

At the request of LVS we prepared a report to facilitate the preparation of a High Court application for a Mareeva Injunction. Our confidential report is attached. The salient features of our asset identification process were:

2.1.3 G.W. Poole is a director of Turbine Aviation (Pty) Ltd (T/A). TA is the registered owner of 5 helicopters, 4 of which are mortgaged to Nedbank (2), Wesbank and Standard Bank.

2.1.4 G.W. Poole and CJ Poole own three properties in Fancourt, Knysna and Helikon Park (a property acquired from New Heights 120 (Pty) Ltd – a company through which millions of Rands of share sales were executed – refer interim report # 2). These three properties were acquired for an aggregate purchase consideration of R7.4 million during 2003 and 2004.

2.1.5 G.W. Poole also owns three luxury motor vehicles, a Porsche Cayenne, a Lamborghini and a Mercedes CLK.

2.1.6 His gross remuneration in his last year of employment in 2004 was R940 000.

2.1.7 We have bee informed by Peter Gray that G.W. Poole phoned RAR Kebble after our meeting on 11 November 2005 and indicated he had assisted Brett Kebble "move" shares and monies out of RGE, JCI and CMMS and had in return received R5 million.

2.2 Cool Ideas 59 (Pty) Ltd

2.2.1 Despite statutory information to the contrary, this company appears to be controlled by RAR Kebble. Its trading account at T-Sec is in the name of a Mr G.R. Vine, who appears to be a front for RAR Kebble, who has admitted to us that he used this trading account to trade in shares during "closed" periods. The same modus operandi appears to have been adopted in the case of P.B. Bawden's trading account at T-Sec. These matters will continue to be investigated.

2.3 Forged/fraudulent documentation

2.3.1 In addition to the RR(H) Board Resolutions authorising the sale of RRL shares on the NASDAQ stock exchange, the following documents were allegedly forged:

TABLE 2

2.4 Continental Goldfields Ltd

2.4.1 we need to discuss the affairs of this company, in conjunction with Moregate Investments, Aculsha Nominees, Notable Holdings and Kemonshey with John Stratton and Hennie Buitendag.

2.4.2 Continental Goldfields' trading account at T-Sec (# 657379) was placed with 96 806 498 JCI Ltd shares between 3 June 2003 and 21 June 2005, including 32 billion shares from Beachcove Holding and 52,8 shares from Moregate Investments.

2.5 Paradise Creek Investments and Slipknot Investments

2.5.1 As reported in the Umbono interim report # 2 these two companies were used as a conduit for the placing of a 131 500 000 ordinary JCI Ltd shares and the subsequent transfer of these share to other stockbrokers and CSDP accounts. Investigations are continuing.

3. Preliminary estimated claim against R.B. Kebble's estate

3.1 We are only able to make a very rudimentary estimate at this stage of the investigation due to the fact that we have as yet not been able to establish R.B. Kebble's proprietary investments in listed equities.

3.2 Alleged misappropriation of RRL shares

3.3 In addition to the total banked, a claim should be intimated against the estate in respect of the fraudulent Phikoloso transaction (see 4. below) We assert that RGE lost its entire investment of approximately R268 million. RGE cannot assert that it has an indirect investment in Kabusha Mining & Finance (Pty) Ltd (an unregistered name) through Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd, as Kabusha never issued any shares to Viking, a wholly owned subsidiary of Randgold & Exploration Company Ltd. This damages claim can also be made against other directors party to this fraudulent transaction (see 4. below).

Dear Sir

Forensic investigation: 4th interim progress report

1. Introduction

1.1 We are experiencing difficulty in verifying the completeness and accuracy of the "reconciliations" of connected party trading accounts at T-Sec. This exercise is designed to provide invaluable information relating to the unauthorised share dealings on the JSE and foreign stock exchanges including transfers between connected/related parties of assets that were the property of RGE, JCI and CMMS. Such information is crucial to a successful civil claim against those who misappropriated the said companies' assets.

1.2 In addition we have focused our investigation on asset recovery strategies. We have provided input into the drafting of a Mareeva Injunction against George Poole who orchestrated the misappropriation and laundering of hundreds of millions rands generated from the unauthorised sale of RRL and other listed equities. We have now assisted Tabacks draft a Particulars of Claim against Hennie Buitendag, George Poole and John Stratton. We suggested that the losses claimed of R941 249 080 in respect of the misappropriated RRL shares should be extended to include the loss of R268 000 000 associated with the issue of 8 800 000 RGE ordinary shares in exchange for a 100% equity stake in Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd, a company that had no assets at the date of acquisition.

2. Summary of interim progress reports previously tabled

2.1 The salient features of our investigation to the date of submitting our fourth interim report dated 7 December 2005 are as follows:

2.2 RRL shares

Between April 2002 and August 2005 9 540 000 RRL shares were sold on NASDAQ with a Rand value of R941 249 080. RR(H), and thereby TGE, received no value from the sale of these assets. The proceeds from the sale were credited to the following trading accounts at T-Sec:

Trading account	R'million
New Heights (G.W. Poole company)	54,0
Alibiprops 13 (R.B. Kebble company)	209,8
R.B. Kebble	9,4
CMMS	668,0
Total	941,2

2.3 Claim against estate late – R.B. Kebble

Based on payments made to R.B. Kebble's private bank at Standard Bank from T-Sec trading accounts

Trading account	R'million
R.B. Kebble	84,0
Lunda Sul	30,8
Paradigm Shift	2,0
Total	116,8
JCI Gold Scrip account - Baobab	4,5
Total	121,3

2.4 Phikoloso transaction

We concluded that the entire transaction was a sham to achieve a BEE status for RGE of 19,7%. RGE's share capital was diluted by the issue of 8 800 000 ordinary shares to Equitant Trading in return for no value, thereby impairing RGE's capital to the full extent of the credit issued share capital. The group annual financial statements for 2003 were also misstated by way of the consolidation of Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd and its purported subsidiary, Kabusha Mining. Viking had no assets and no investment in Kabusha. Our investigation has revealed new information on this transaction – refer section 5 of this report.

2.5 G.W.Poole/Tuscan Mood/Turbine Aviation

- We discovered that the following amounts had been realised from the sale of equities and deposited into bank accounts controlled by G.W. Poole:

	R'million
Sale of RRL shares	82,1
Sale of JCD shares	13,6
Sale of WAR shares	29,8
Sale of DUR shares	6,0
Sale of RNG shares	41,3
Total	172,8

- G.W. Poole has 3 fixed properties at a cost of R7,5 million, 5 helicopters and 3 luxury motor vehicles.
- We have provided inputs into the drafting of a Mareeva Injunction against G.W. Poole to freeze his assets. At the date of this report we understand that the accompanying affidavit has yet to be signed.

3. RRL shares

As part of our investigation into the RRL shares once held by Randgold Resources (Holdings) Ltd (RR(H)), now African Strategic Investment (Holdings) Ltd, we visited the registered office of RR(H) in Jersey, Computershare in Jersey and Barnard Jacobs Mellett in Connecticut. We report back as follows:

3.1 Inspection of RR(H) statutory records at RR(H)'s registered office

We visited the office of Abacus Financial Services Group and were presented with extracts from the RR(H) statutory records, including correspondence between the company secretaries and the directors of RR(H). We found only one Board Resolution authorising the sale of 500 000 RRL shares dated May 2003 (refer appendix 1). There were no other Board Resolutions authorising the sale of any other RRL shares, despite the fact that between 2002 and 2005, 9 540 000 RRL shares were sold through T-Sec/Barnard Jacobs Mellett alone.

3.1.1 Confirmation of RR(H) holdings in RRL shares at various dates

(GMCK to complete from Abacus records)

3.1.2 Other matters

The directors of RR(H) remain R.A.R. Kebble, R.B. Kebble and H.C. Buitendag as of today. This complicates obtaining letters of authority, declarations etc. to pursue the investigation into the "missing" RRL shares. We have arranged with Abacus to send the necessary wording to Benita Morton to have these directors removed from office and new directors appointed.

3.2 Discussions with Computershare, Jersey

Computershare were reluctant to allow access to any share register records of RRL and were adamant that a declaration be received authorising access. No such declaration had been signed by any RG&E executives or by the company secretary of RR(H) at the time of our visit. Despite requests from T-Sec (we understand), Computershare Jersey had made little to no effort in gathering transfer documentation and "Board Resolutions" purportedly authorising the transfer, conversion and sale of RRL shares. We have been subsequently informed by Abacus that Computershare have made available transfer documents used to support the transfer and conversion of RRL shares into bearer form and subsequently into ADR form for trading on NASDAQ.

3.3 Visit to Barnard Jacobs Mellett (BJM) (Stamford, Connecticut)

3.3.1 Despite representations to the contrary, BJM informed us that they received RRL shares in ADR format (i.e. post transfer and conversion) and that they simply execute the sale instructions of the instructing broker, T-Sec. They do not rely on RR(H) Board Resolutions and in fact do not require nor retain copies thereof. We were able to match T-Sec's records of the number of RRL shares sold and the date thereof to those of BJM, providing assurance of the completeness and accuracy of the two stockbrokers' records.

3.3.2 We found only one RR(H) board resolution at BJM. This resolution, dated 2 July 2004, dealt with the pledge of 2 650 000 RRL ADR's, authorising R.B. Kebble, as director, and P.B. Beale, as company secretary to pledge the ADR's to Soc-Gen, and to delegate such authority to Tradek or its nominee as the authorized broker of RR(H). Although the signatures on the Board Resolution and Crest Transfer form are patently false, they did become the specimen signatures of Kebble and Beale for RR(H) transactions.

3.3.3 BJM had the following documents only in their possession:

#	Document	Addressee	Date
1.	RR(H) Pledge of 2 650 000 RRL ADR's Crest transfer form attached purportedly signed by R.B. Kebble and P.B. Beale RR(H) resolution attached with false signatures.	Societe Generale	2 July 2004

4. Interview with H.C. Buitendag – 23 November 2005

Jointly with KPMG, we interviewed the former financial director of RGE and JCI, H.C. Buitendag (HCB).

HCB admitted that:

- The purchase of mining rights/licences in Sierra Leone for R40 million from Pacific Gold was completely fictitious and was an attempt to disguise the fact that RGE had acquired 8 100 000 AFL shares in a bookover transaction directly with Kabusha Mining, in order to fund Kabusha Mining's first instalment (R40 million) payable to Benoryn for the purchase of 23 million AFL shares.

- The scrip lending agreements with Bookmark Holdings (Pty) Ltd (between both RR(II) and RGE), with Notable Holdings and Kemonshey Investments were fictitious and used to provide assurance to the various companies external auditors that the subject securities were still held by the RGE/JCI groups.

- That the RGE audited group annual financial statements had been so falsified and that he had been a party to such falsification by signing the financial statements.

5. Phikoloso Transaction - update

Our ongoing investigation has provided clarity on certain issues.

5.1 Funding for payment of R40million to Benoryn

Kabusha Mining sold 8 100 000 AFL shares in July 2003 in a bookover transaction with RGE buying the shares for 500.07 cents per share, for a total consideration of R40 722 759.00, against Kabusha's off-market price of R4.00 per share agreed with Benoryn. This should have resulted in a profit to Kabusha of approximately R8,1 million, although there is no evidence that such a profit was recorded in Kabusha's income statement for the period ended 31 December 2003. The bookover transaction provided the funding ex RGE to pay Benoryn the first instalment of R40 million for the acquisition of 23 million AFL shares @ R4.00 each.

According to H.C. Buitendag, RGE's purchase of the 8 100 000 AFL shares was disguised as the purchase of a mineral licence, from an Australian registered company, in Sierra Leone.

The purchase was set out in a legal agreement which H.C. Buitendag has admitted to being totally false. The 8 100 000 shares were transferred to CMMS and misrepresentations were made to the auditors/directors of Kabusha that there shares were held as collateral against a CMMS loan. Kabusha would appear to have included the 8 100 000 shares as an asset as at 31 December 2003.

The RGE in its group annual financial statements accounted for both the mineral rights (fictitious) ad 75% (effectively) of the 8 100 000 AFL shares purportedly held by Kabusha, when in fact Kabusha was not a subsidiary of Viking.

6. Analysis of JCD, WAR and DUR shares sold through connected trading accounts at T-Sec

We have during the course of our review of T-Sec "connected" trading accounts got an analysis of the sales of these shares by trading account. We will provide KPMG Forensics with the details as it pertains to the investigation.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sirs

Forensic investigation: 5th interim progress report

1. Shareholding in RRL shares

1.1 We have completed our investigation into the alleged "missing" RRL shares, subject to tracing the sale consideration on a parcel of 152 481 RRL shares which were either sold or exchanged for Western Areas shares in line with the settlement terms of a scrip lending agreement with Kemonshey Holdings Ltd (refer 2 below).

1.2 Attached as annexures 1 and 2 to this interim report are reconciliations of the number of RRL shares held by African Strategic Investment (Holdings) Ltd (formerly Randgold Resources (Holding) Ltd) at each of 31 December 2002, 2003 and 2004 and as at 15 November 2005.

Note 1 – These RRL shares were lent by JCI Ltd to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd in a hedged equity funding structure, with JCI Ltd receiving stock loans of R208 794 832.90 (refer annexure 20).

Note 2 – Subsequent to this date these shares, pledged to Societe Generale – Johannesburg Branch, were converted into ADR format and sold on the NASDAQ National Market on 19 January 2006.

1.3.5 The above share movements and shareholdings have been reconstructed from:

- An analysis of all sales of RRL shares in the database records of stockbroker, T-Sec;
- An analysis and reconciliation of all "connected" trading accounts in the database records of stockbroker, T-Sec;
- Share trading records of Barnard Jacobs Mellet in Stamford, Connecticut – reconciling RRL shares sold in ADR format on the NASDAQ National Market to the BDA pro-forma share trading records of the instructing broker, T-Sec in Johannesburg;
- Identifying RRL shares sold through various T-Sec trading accounts (refer 1.3 below) which were not recorded in the books and records of RGE and African Strategic Investment (Holdings) Ltd;

- A review of all scrip lending agreements where the scrip lending shares were RRL shares (refer 2 below)

- A review of RGEs annual financial statements for the years ended 31 December 2002 and 2003 as well as the Reviewed Preliminary Results for the year ended 31 December 2004; and

- Independent confirmations received directly from Investec Bank (UK) Ltd and Societe Generale, Johannesburg branch. We have not received any direct confirmations from Paul Main confirming the number of RRL shares in his possession at 31 December 2004 and 15 November 2005. The recoverability of these shares will need to be assessed by the directors and auditors of RGE when considering the fair value of RGE's indirect investment in RRL.

1.3.6 With an indirect shareholding of 14 110 000 RRL shares and 10 360 000 RRL shares as at 31 December 2004 and 15 November 2005 respectively, an assessment will need to be made as to whether RRL is an associate or simply a listed investment.

1.3.7 Analysis of the difference between the restated shareholding in RRL and that previously reported

At 31 December 2003, the annual financial statements in note 11 – Investment in Associate – has the following disclosure:

	Effective group holding		Number of shares held		Market value
	31 Dec 03	31 Dec 02	31 Dec 03	31 Dec 02	31 Dec 03	31 Dec 02

Randgold Resources	36,86	48,12	10 785	13 312	1 986 970	1 671 166
As restated	35,75	44,68	10 460	12 360	1 927 094	1 551 654
Difference	1,11	3,44	(1) 325	(2) 952	59 976	119 512

Note (1) The difference of 325 000 shares (pre-split) represents RRL shares sold by Alibiprops (13) (Pty) Ltd, a non-existent company with a T-Sec trading account in the mandate name of RB Kebble, in 8 separate trades between 14 November 2003 and 8 December 2003, the net proceeds of which were R55 060 350 (refer 1.3.8).

Note (2) The difference of 952 481 shares represents RRL share certificate 905 (refer annexure 5), which was split out of the original RRL share certificate 746, registered in favour of Randgold Resources (Holdings) Ltd, for 13 312 481 shares (refer annexure 6) on the instructions of DJ Haddon, the company secretary for Randgold Resources Limited, dated 3 April 2002 (refer annexure 3).

The share split was performed by Computershare Investor Services (CI) Ltd (Computershare) as follows:

	Annexures	# of shares
1 new certificate (899) of		7 360 000
5 new certificates 900/1/2/3/4 of 1 million shares each		5 000 000
		12 360 000
1 new certificate 905 of	5	952 481
Original certificate 746 of	6	13 312 481

Haddon instructed Computershare to:

1. return certificate 899 for 7 360 000 shares to ABSA Bank Limited as they were the subject of a pledge and
2. return the remaining 6 certificates to RGE totalling 5 952 481 shares.

(refer annexure 3)

On 3 April 2002, some 3 hours after Haddon's instructions to split the shares, as set out above, RAR Kebble, in his capacity as chairman of Randgold Resources Limited, varied the instruction to Computershare requesting that 952 481 shares be registered in the name of:

Durlacher Ltd (as nominee)

4 Chriswell Street

London

EC1L 4VD

Contact: Mr John Daniels (refer annexure 4)

Durlacher Ltd is a UK stockbroker according to Brian Brown of SA Stockbrokers.

The letter dated 3 April 2002 was signed by Jill Bailey (Hennie Buitendag's secretary) on behalf of R.A.R. Kebble.

These same shares were scrip lent in terms of a scrip lending agreement concluded by and between RGE and Kemonshey Holdings Ltd, incorporated in Gibralter, on 28 March 2002 with subsequent addendums (refer to section 2 of this report dealing with the scrip lending agreements). All addendums were done in the name of Randgold Resources (Holdings) Ltd, as lender, and not in the name of RGE.

We believe that the above mentioned scrip lending agreement (SLA) is fictitious and was an attempt to disguise the fact that these shares were sold in 2002. This back-dated SLA was used to assert that Randgold Resources (Holdings) Ltd was the registered owner of 13 312 481 RRL shares as at 31 December 2002 when in fact it only held 12 360 000 RRL shares. We have been able to trace the sale of 800 000 of these RRL shares through a trading account at T-Sec in the name of New Heights 120 (Pty) Ltd, a GWP company with GWP being the mandate holder. RB Kebble was a director of this company together with GWP's spouse. The 800 000 shares were sold on 5 April 2002 for R54 176 850, with R54 115 088 thereof being transferred to a FNB bank account (account # 5145 232 5041) in Cape Town (branch # 261150).

The balance of 152 481 shares should be claimed back from Kemonshey Holdings Limited, a company associated with Charles Cornwell and John Stratton.

On 6 August 2003, in a reconciliation of RGE's indirect interest in RRL, the 952 481 shares were reflected as being sold in exchange for 3 300 000 Western Areas shares, deemed the "settlement shares" in a purported SLA amendment agreement between RGE and Kemonshey Holdings Ltd dated 23 December 2003. The purpose of this purported amendment agreement was to change the settlement shares from 952 481 RRL shares to 3 300 000 Western Areas shares.

At 31 December 2004, the reviewed preliminary results of RGE for the year ended 31 December 2004 disclose that RGE had an indirect shareholding in RRL of 30,9%, being 18 358 000 RRL shares when in fact it had only 14 110 000 RRL shares or a 23,75% holding.

This cumulative difference in the number of shares of 4 248 000 is made up as follows:

	Reference	# of shares
Difference in opening balance of shares on hand at 1 January 2004 (being the 325 000 pre-split shares sold by Alibiprops (13) (Pty) Ltd in 2003)	1.3.2	650 000

The above base claims do not include interest from the date of misappropriation. In addition the base claims set out above do not include any claim which RGE/RR(H) may have against JCI for the 5 460 000 RRL shares lent to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd (refer 1.3.4).

We are still in the process of investigating the sale of 152 481 RRL shares and the identify of the recipient of the proceeds from the sale of the 800 000 RRL shares.

1.3.10 Potential damages claim in respect of RRL shares

2. The scrip lending agreements (SLAs)

2.1 RGE/Kemonshey Holdings Ltd (Kemonshey)

As detailed in 1.3.7 above, 952 481 RRL shares, certificate number 905, were the subject of a SLA between RGE (the lender) and Kemonshey (the borrower) dated 28 March 2002 (we are not in possession of the original SLA but have obtained this date from the various addendums to the said SLA).

Although these shares were ostensibly the subject of an SLA dated 28 March 2002, we make the following observations:

- The 952 481 RRL shares were an odd lot arising out of the share split of a single certificate # 746 for 13 312 481 shares, the split being performed by Computershare in terms of an instruction dated 3 April 2002 (refer annexure 3).

- The new share certificate of the 952 481 RRL shares was to be registered in the name of Durlacher Ltd (as nominee) on 3 April 2002, on the instruction of R.A.R. Kebble (refer annexure 5).

- The 952 481 RRL shares were the scrip lending shares to Kemonshey and in terms of an agreement between RGE and Kemonshey dated 23 December 2003, the settlement shares were varied from 952 481 RRL shares to 3 300 000 ordinary Western Areas Shares (refer annexure 7 – page 3).

- 952 481 RRL shares lent on 28 March 2002 were recorded by RGE/RR(H) as being "sold" or swapped for 3 300 000 Western Areas shares on 6 August 2003 on a spreadsheet produced by RGE/RR(H) for the year ended 31 December 2003 reconciliation of their shareholding in RRL shares.

- On 5 April 2002 800 000 RRL shares are sold through a trading account held at T-Sec in the name of New Heights (120) (Pty) Ltd, the directors of which are G.W. Poole, Charmaine Pool and B.R. Kebble. The sale proceeds were R54 176 850 of which R54 115 088 was transferred to an FNB bank account in Cape Town. This sale of RRL was never recorded as a sale by RGE/RR(H), as the balance of shares held at 1 April 2002 of 13 312 481 remained the same as at 31 December 2002, with no movement. The Kemonshey SLA being used to mask the missing 952 481 RRL shares.

We suspect that the 952 481 RRL had been sold in 2002, 800 000 through T-Sec and the balance trough another unidentified stockbroker, without the authority and knowledge of RR(H) and that the Kemonshey SLA was entered into (back dated) to conceal these missing shares as at 31 December 2002.

The SLA's termination date was finally extended to 30 June 2003, with the settlement shares now varied by agreement to be 3 300 000 Western Areas shares.

We do not believe any such settlement took place in 2003 and that the Directors of RGE now had to account for the missing Western Areas settlement shares, which had replaced the missing 952 481 RRL shares. This was achieved by obtaining a Tradek (Pty) Ltd letterhead and falsifying a confirmation "signed" by Martin van Zyl dated 16 February 2004 stating that Tradek were holding, inter alia, 3 960 000 Western Areas shares made up as follows (refer annexure 8):

Share	# of shares	SLA
Western Areas	3 300 000	Kemonshey
Western Areas	660 000	Notable Holdings
Total	3 960 000

Refer 2.2 on Notable Holdings (Pty) Ltd's SLA with RGE.

We have been informed by G.W. Poole that he would simply request Tradek/T-Sec letterheads and then, on the instructions of Hennie Buitendag, forge confirmation letters for audit purposes to mask the missing listed shares ostensibly lent and settled in terms of fictitious SLAs.

In terms of the Kemonshey SLA, collateral cover was required to secure the scrip "loan". An addendum to the scrip lending agreement, number 2, between Kemonshey and now RR(H) calls for the borrower to "provide negotiable securities acceptable to the lender, equivalent to 1.5 times the value of loan securities at the quoted price of US$ per share on the London Securities Exchange on 1 May 2003." (refer annexure 9).

Two forged Tradek letters dated 12 and 17 June 2003 respectively, with the forged signatures of Dawood Mndebele, purport to confirm that Tradek holds 3 020 000 (annexure 10) and a further 2 430 000 Western Areas Ltd shares (annexure 11), totalling 5 450 000 shares as cover for the 952 481 RRL shares lent. A "cover" computation, also forged, is attached to the letter dated 17 June 2003 (annexure 12). This further corroborates the fraudulent nature of the Kemonshey SLA.

2.2 RGE/Notable Holdings (Pty) Ltd (Notable)

On 1 April 2000 RGE and Notable enter into a scrip lending agreement with RGE the lender and Notable the borrower.

Notable holds itself out as an Australian registered company, based in Perth, Western Australia. Its letterhead is in exactly the same style and font as that of Kemonshey and the SLA and all addendums thereto are signed by John Stratton (refer annexures 13, 13(a) 13(b) and 13(c)).

The scrip lending shares or "loaned securities" are 3 000 000 ordinary shares in Durban Roodepoort Deep Ltd (DRDs). In a subsequent agreement dated 9 December 2003 between RGE and Notable the "settlement shares" were varied to mean "660 000 ordinary shares of R1 each in the ordinary share capital of Western Areas". Through a series of addendums the termination date of SLA was extended to 31 December 2003.

We make the following observations:

- The SLA is entered into in April 2000. This usually means that the lending shares i.e. 3 000 000 DRDs have already been misappropriated;

- The settlement shares are varied from 3 000 000 DRD shares to 660 000 Western Areas shares plus R27 000 000 on 9 December 2003.

- There are three addendums to the SLA, each of which extend the termination date to 30 April 2003, then 30 June 2003 and finally 31 December. The 3rd addendum is signed on 8 July 2003.

- The agreement varying the settlement shares states that the "closing date" means 14 days after the agreement is signed (i.e. 23 December 2003). This closing date refers to the delivery of the 660 000 Western Areas shares to RGE.

- The cash payment part of the settlement, being R27 000 000 must be made no later than 30 June 2004.

- An analysis of RGE's schedule 9 "Investment register" for its 2003 tax return reflects that RGE received 660 000 Western Area shares on 22 July 2003 in part payment for the DRD shares lent (now sold) to Notable. On the same schedule under the DRD share section, it is reflected that the 3 000 000 DRD shares are sold to Notable for a consideration of R51 090 000. This is made up as follows:

Settlement shares and cash	R
660 000 Western Areas @ R36.50	24 090 000
Cash (loan receivable raised)	27 000 000
	51 090 000

(refer annexure 14)

- The tax schedule relating to investments reflects the settlement date, for both the share and cash portions as 22 July 2003 when the 3rd addendum to the SLA dated 8 July 2003 (refer annexure 15) revises the termination date to 31 December 2003 and page 3 of the "settlement" agreement dated 9 December 2003 (refer annexure 16) introduces a cash settlement element to the SLA for the first time, same four months after the cash settlement portion is raised as a receivable from Notable.

- In note 12 to RGE's annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2003 "Other long-term assets" under sub caption of "Amounts Receivable" is an amount of R25 841 000 described as "Deferred payment of shares sold". The note goes on to state that "security has been provided for the deferred payment in the form of 660 000 Western Area ordinary shares, fairly valued at R27,39 million at 31 December 2003. These shares purportedly held as security are not to be confused with the 660 000 Western Areas settlement shares (refer annexure 17).

- The R25 841 000 in other long term assets was fair valued down from R27 000 000 to R25 841 164.64 even though it was a short term receivable (payable no later that 30 June 2004). This is reflected in RGE's general ledger under the description of "loan asset – Notable Holdings as at 31 December 2003 (refer annexures 18 and 18(a));

- On 30 December 2004, some six months after the agreed settlement date, the R27 000 000 remained unpaid by Notable Holdings and was reclassified as a "loan asset – Masupatsela (interest free loan)" (refer annexure 18(b)). This

"loan" remains unpaid as at 26 January 2006, providing further evidence that no such SLA or settlement agreement with Notable actually existed;

- In addendum 2 to SLA dated 24 (?) June 2003, Notable agrees to "top up security equivalent to the differential face value of the original security and 1.5 times the current value of the borrowed securities..." and shall provide a certificate thereof to the lender (RGE) (refer annexure 13(b)).

- On 12 February 2003 a certificate was produced on a Tradek letterhead addressed to RGE, ostensibly signed by Dawood Mndebele, confirming that Tradek is holding 3 700 000 Western Areas Ltd shares on behalf of Notable. Tradek also confirms that these shares are pledged to RGE in terms of a SLA (refer annexure 19). Attached to the Tradek confirmation letter is a schedule computing that the security cover stands at 2.13 times the value of DRD shares on loan (refer annexure 19(a)).

- In addition reference needs to made to the forged Tradek confirmation letter dated 16 February 2004 referred to in 2.1 above (annexure 8) where Tradek confirms that it holds the 660 000 Western Areas settlement shares and a further 660 000 Western Areas shares pledged in favour of RGE for the unpaid cash settlement portion of the SLA of R27 000 000.

Refer attached report.

4. Incomplete aspects of the investigation

4.1 The beneficiary of the sale proceeds of the 3 million DRD shares still requires further investigation. 3 million DRD shares were traded through essentially three trading accounts namely:

Trading account	Dates sold	# of shares traded	Proceeds
P.B. Bawden	8 Feb – 14 Feb 2002	2 359 376	70 363 227
New Heights	12 Feb – 19 Feb 2002	520 778	16 086 787
New Heights	19 Feb 2002	19 846	584 066
First Wesgold	5 Feb 2002	100 000	2 987 999
Total		3 000 000	90 022 079

The beneficiaries of these proceeds are:

Beneficiary	Date	Account details	Branch #	Amount (R)
RAR Kebble	25/26 Feb 2002	ABSA account # 4053853779	Private bank account	62 035 095
Frankel Consulting	19 Feb 2002	Nedbank account # 1426000170	142605	27 986 984
Total				90 022 079

A significant amount of the transfer into RAR Kebble's ABSA private bank account 4053853779 of R62 035 095 subsequently was transferred to essentially 2 sources namely:

Date	Details	Amount (R)
1 March 2002	Brait Std 019205022682325	34 500 000
8 March 2002	Bowman Gilfillan Std 019205022677631	25 000 000
Total		59 500 000

4.2 A full analysis of Tuscan Moods banking and trading account activities funded largely from the unauthorised sale of RRL's. These include material disbursements in the form of political donations/bribes, gratuitous payments to former directors, officials and consultants which should be claimed back by RRH/RGE (refer annexure 21).

4.3 The whereabouts of the Aflease shares and/or the proceeds of the Aflease shares originally acquired by Kabusha Mining.

4.4 The beneficiaries of the proceeds of the sale of 952 481 RRL shares sold in 2002 which was the subject of the fictitious SLA with Kemonshey.

4.5 A complete and accurate analysis of all trading accounts (including share transfers in/out, cash account transfers in /out and payments made to bank accounts) remains only partially complete. Until such time as all "connected" trading accounts are reconciled, and with each other, we will not be in a position to establish the inter company claims and claims against third parties for the misappropriation of shares and related cash proceeds/transfers.

4.6 A full analysis of RGE's shares issues to determine whether such shares were "fully paid up" and therefore valid. Detailed below are the RGE share issues not yet fully investigated:

RG&E issued RNG shares

Date	Detail	Share price	# of shares	Amount (R)
23 June 2004	Koketso Angolan Joint Venture	18.50	1 319 000	24 401 500	Acquisition of 24% interest in Luxinge Alluvial Diamond mining licence for R24 401 500

Total				105 265 000

4.7 A comparison of our forensic findings with those of KPMG on common issues remains outstanding.

Dear Sirs

Forensic Investigation: 6th interim progress report

1. Introduction

New evidence continues to surface confirming that RGE's assets were "looted" by the former directors, acting in concert with certain of the directors of JCI Limited, to fund their own lifestyles and to provide funding to the JCI Group, without receiving value.

The assets that actually existed and had value were systematically misappropriated and sold with the proceeds laundered through a complex web of special purpose vehicles. The laundering of the funds derived from the theft of RGE's assets was done to disguise the source of the criminal funds. The funds were then channelled into numerous different bank accounts to provide a safe haven and then used to obtain a financial return by using legitimate and illegitimate businesses, often by investing the laundered proceeds back into JCI group companies (e.g. CMMS Ltd) by way of loan account or by investing in personal businesses.

Securities fraud was another means of misappropriating funds with the issue and listing of new RGE shares. At least 16,8 million RGE shares were issued and listed on the JSE Securities Exchange and NASDAQ National Market, between July 2003 and October 2004, disguised as being for the acquisition of shares in BEE companies, the purchase of mining equipment and interests in diamond concessions. The new shares were then sold in the market and the proceeds of the crimes laundered through a series of special purpose vehicles with trading accounts at a certain registered stockbroker.

The securities fraud extended to misappropriating funds from the theft of RGE's investments in RRL and DRD listed equities and then lending the proceeds to Consolidated African Mines Ltd (CAM) to enable CAM (the predecessor to JCI Limited) to take out the minority shareholders of JCI Gold Ltd in terms of a Companies Act section 311 scheme of arrangement that became operative in July 2002. The lent funds were then repaid to the perpetrators of the theft, Investage 170 (Pty) Ltd and BNC Investments (Pty) Ltd, in a classic money laundering transaction, providing liquidity to them to then take up their rights in a CAM rights offer and then to subsequently deal in the now JCI listed shares.

The assets of RGE as at 31 December 2003 had essentially been (or were in the process of being) misappropriated and replaced by fictitious assets through a series of fraudulent transactions designed to conceal the thefts.

The listed companies share capital had also been inflated by the fraudulent issue and listing of new shares in flagrant contravention of the JSE Securities Exchange's listing rules, the Companies Act, 1973 and of the NASDAQ National Market's securities laws.

The assertions made by the directors and the assurances provided by the external auditors in the audited financial statements of RGE for the year ended 31 December 2003 were fraudulent. Similarly the assertions made by the directors in the reviewed preliminary announcement for the year ended 31 December 2004 are fraudulent.

The directors of RGE as at 31 December 2004 and 2003 were responsible for the advancement of share owner interest in the company, through the assumption of responsibility for "directing" the management of RGE's assets and property.

This report provides a high level summary of the issues that we have investigated and of our findings to date.

2. RRL shares

Based on our reconciliation of the so-called "missing" RRL shares we have formulated a base claim together with a computed loss (excluding interest) to ascertain a damages claim (excluding interest) against the recipients of the proceeds of the stolen shares.

As at 31 December 2005

Claim against	# of shares (1)	Base claim (2)	Computed loss (3)	Total claim (4)
		R	R	R
Investage (Pty) Ltd (5)	1 904 962 (6)	64 330 567	124 208 000	188 538 567

Total	14 264 962	951 547 647	613 894 920	1 565 442 567

As at 31 January 2006

Claim against	# of shares (1)	Base claim (2)	Computed loss (3)	Total claim (4)
		R	R	R
Investage (Pty) Ltd (5)	1 904 962 (6)	64 330 567	142 091 115	206 421 682
Alibiprops	2 898 000	209 753 104	104 274 176	314 027 280

R.B. Kebble	150 000	9 425 400	6 828 600	16 254 000
Total	14 264 962	951 547 647	594 203 635	1 545 751 282

Notes:

(1) The number of shares is expressed on a post split bases

(2) The base claim represents the proceeds from the theft of RRL shares

(3) The computed loss represents the difference between the fair value of the RRL shares stolen as at 31 December 2005 (the financial year end of RGE) and at 31 January 2006 and the base claims

(4) The total claim being the sum of (2) and (3) above, excludes interest, and has been summarised by the recipient of the proceeds of the crime. Interest has still to be calculated on the base claim.

(5) Investage 170 (Pty) Ltd is a registered company, the directors of whom are Charles Cornwall and George Poole. The proceeds of 952 481 (1 904 962 post split) RRL shares stolen and sold were diverted to this company and together with a portion of the proceeds from the theft of 3 000 000 DRD shares, used to fund CAM's acquisition of the JCI Gold shares held by minorities in July 2002. BNC Investments (Pty) Ltd, a Kebble company, also funded CAM's acquisition of JCI Gold shares acting in concert with Investage 170 (Pty) Ltd out of the proceeds from the stolen DRD shares (refer 5. below)

(6) These shares represent the 952 481 RRL shares (pre-split) registered in the name of Durlacher Ltd nominees, 800 000 of which were sold by G.W. Poole through the New Heights 120 trading account at T-Sec. The proceeds from the theft of these shares was laundered through a Mallinicks Trust Account in Cape Town and then subsequently placed in an Investage (Pty) Ltd deposit account at Corpcapital Bank Ltd. We are still in the process of tracing the missing 152 481 RRL shares.

The above damages claim does NOT take into account any of the RRL shares confirmed as being in the possession of Investec Bank (UK) Ltd (5 460 000 shares) and of Societe Generale, Johannesburg Branch (4 000 000 shares) as at 15 November 2005. We have also not been able to independently confirm whether Paul Main holds 900 000 RRL shares nor have we been informed as to whether the directors of RGE believe this to be a recoverable asset.

The 5 460 000 RRL shares scrip lent by JCI Ltd to Investec Bank (UK) Ltd could be deemed to constitute a claim by RGE against JCI. We need to be advised accordingly in this regard. We have also not been made aware of any of the details of the so called Societe Generale, Johannesburg Branch "Structured finance" deal. To whom did the economic benefits of such a structure accrue, notwithstanding that RRL shares were held by Society Generale as collateral? If the economic benefits did not accrue to the RGE Group, then RGE would have a claim for the RRL shares "pledged" to Societe Generale.

3. Phikoloso/Viking Pony Transaction

The section 417 enquiry into the affairs of Viking Pony Properties 359 (Pty) Ltd commenced on 10 February 2006. George Poole confessed to forging the Tradek brokers notes relating to the fictitious purchase of 7 300 000 Afrikander Lease shares, the 315 000 Harmony shares and the 235 000 Angloplat shares. The FSB also confirmed that no such trades as reflected on the brokers notes actually took place on the JSE. George Poole stated that Hennie Buitendag and John Stratton had instructed him to forge the said brokers notes that were ultimately used to inflate Viking Pony's net assets.

It was clear from the testimony given to date in the enquiry that the directors of Phikoloso were simply concerned with the allocation of their individual BEE consortiums' share allocation in Phikoloso and had no concept of their duties as directors, as vendors of Viking Pony (with its completely fabricated balance sheet) or that they were party to a fraudulent "BEE" transaction involving the new issue and listing of 8 800 000 listed shares in RGE.

4. The "JCI Group Angolan Operations"

In a report styled "JCI Group Angola Operations" prepared by Shaun Bryans, and addressed to Peter Gray and Chris Lamprecht dated August 2005, it is noted that RGE has the following diamond interests in Angola:

"Randgold & Exploration ("Randgold") has the following diamond interests in Angola:

Angolan project	Acquisition price (2004) R'm	# of RGE shares issued	Date of share issue (1)	Investment-to-date (August 2005) R'm	Total investment R'm	Comment
Luembe Mining (Pty) Ltd/Projecto Cassanguidi	56,7	2 268 000	7/4/04	32	88,7	Effective holding 45,5%
Projecto Luxinge	24,4	1 319 000	23/6/04	4,6	29	Effective holding 24%
Projecto Somba Sul	25,4	1 373 000	23/6/04	nil	25,4	Effective holding: 20%
Sub-total	106,50	4 960 000		36,6	143,10
Projecto Dando Cuanza	27,6	1 492 000	23/6/04	3,9	31,5	Effective holding 20%
Total	134,1	6 452 000		40,5	174,6

Note (1) – This column has been inserted by UMBONO FAS.

Notes:

- The interests in these projects were acquired from empowerment companies which we are associated with (Dando Kwanza – Masupatsela, Luxinge-Koketso, Somba Sul-MDG) or from the vendors (Luembe Mining – Cassanguidi) through the issue of Randgold shares.

- Investment-to-date represents actual funding utilized on the Angolan projects. In the case of Luembe Mining (Pty) Ltd/Projecto Cassanguidi the bulk of the R32 million invested in the project was the purchase of earthmoving equipment and diamond processing plant (start-up costs)

- JCI Limited ("JCI") holds a further 22% of Projecto Luxinge and CMMS Limited holds a further 20% of Projecto Dando Cuanza. These companies were involved in the original joint venture negotiations and therefore acquired their interest at no cost. They do, however, have a project funding obligation in terms of these Exploration or Mining Contracts.

- Projecto Somba Sul has been fully impaired in the books of Randgold. Luembe Mining/Cassanguidi has been impaired to a value of R83 million."

The 4 960 000 RGE shares issued between 7 April 2004 and 23 June 2004 as per the above table (refer sub total) were placed in a Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Ltd trading account (number 915983 at T-Sec) in 2004 as follows:

of shares	Registered shareholder
2 268 000	T-Sec nominees
1 319 000	Koketso
1 373 000	Quantum African Mining
4 960 000

A further 200 000 RGE shares were transferred into the Lunda Sul trading account from Trans Benguela Logistics' trading account and a total of 5 160 000 were sold during 2004 for a total of R86 158 366. Net sales of other listed equities in this trading account resulted in a further R542 002 being credited to this account, totalling R91 546 293. Of this a net amount of R14 575 313 was transferred to the Alibiprops trading account with the balance, after earning interest of R84 945, being transferred to the following bank accounts:

Cash payments made in 2004

This issue and listing of 4 960 000 RGE shares, ostensibly to purchase equity stakes in BEE companies, was fraudulent with the shares being stolen, sold through T-Sec and the proceeds channelled to the bank accounts listed above. These shares issues are a contravention of the JSE listing rules and NASDAQ National Market securities laws.

A further 1 492 000 RGE shares were issued and listed in respect of the Projecto Dando Cuanza/Matsupatsela BEE deal. We understand these shares were placed in a CMMS trading account at T-Sec and sold in a similar modus operandi to that of the RGE shares placed in the Lunda Sul trading account at T-Sec. We have not been given access to the CMMS trading account by T-Sec and presumably this fraud has been identified and reported on by KPMG.

Equitant Trading (Pty) Ltd, having sold 2 270 000 RGE shares and purchased 56 000 000 JCI shares through its trading account at T-Sec, then transferred R19 938 748 to the Itsuseng Strategic Investments trading account at T-Sec. Itsuseng then used these funds, derived partially from the fraudulent issue of 8 800 000 RGE shares to Equitant Trading to acquire Viking Pony, to purchase inter alia 9 013 410 Barnato Exploration shares.

These Barnato Exploration shares were subsequently converted into 9 013 410 JCI shares and 9 013 410 JCI Debentures. On 16 January 2006 the JCI Debentures were redeemed and Andile Nkuhlu instructed T-Sec, in a fax to Leonard Steenkamp dated 13 December 2005, to redeem Itsuseng's JCI debentures and pay the proceeds into a legal trust account. On 18 January 2006 R11 266 762.50 was duly transferred by T-Sec into the nominated lawyers' trust account, despite Leonard Steenkamp and Martin van Zyl of T-sec knowing or who ought reasonably to have known that Itsuseng's assets (property) in their T-Sec trading account was or formed part of the proceeds of unlawful activities. Under these circumstances T-Sec should not have engaged in any arrangement or transaction with anyone in connection with Itsuseng's assets (property).

Both Equitant Trading and Itsuseng Strategic Investments have share balances and cash balances in their trading accounts as of today's date and accordingly the legal team, in the interest of recovering assets, is preparing an interdict to freeze these assets, including the R11,3 million in a lawyer's trust account.

These assets are made up as follows:

Balances as at 13 January 2006:

Trading account	Shares	Share type	Cash balances R	Cash in Bank R
Equitant trading	56 000 000	JCD	886 770.21	0
Itsuseng Strategic Investments	25 870 589 307 961 936	JCD LYONS	3 003 070.83	11 266 762.50 (1)

(1) This money, the JCI Debenture redemption proceeds, could have flowed out of the legal trust account by now.

5. The misappropriation of funds through the channel of Investage 170 (Pty) Ltd and BNC Investments (Pty) Ltd

Commencing 8 February 2002 till 25 February 2002, 3 000 000 Durban Roodepoort Deep Limited (DRD) shares belonging to Randgold & Exploration Ltd (RGE) were sold through a "myriad" of trading accounts held at Tlotlisa Securities (Pty) Ltd (T-Sec) and Rice Rinaldi Securities (Pty) Ltd. The proceeds of these shares were laundered through a "myriad" of bank accounts (inter alia – R.A.R. Kebble's – ABSA Private bank account; New Heights 120 (Pty) Ltd's – Current account held at Standard Bank Alberton, Brait Merchant Bank Limited's – term deposit account, Frankel Consulting's - Nedbank account) and ultimately found their way into two Corpcapital Bank Limited term deposit accounts in the name of BNC Investments (Pty) Ltd (BNC) and Investage 170 (Pty) Ltd (Investage).

On 18 February 2002 R27 986 984 of the above proceeds were transferred to a Frankel Consulting Nedbank account (number 1426000170). On 27 March 2002, Mr. S. Frankel of Frankel Consulting was instructed by Mr. R.A.R. Kebble to pay

R10 million of the above deposit into the Consolidated African Mines Limited (CAM) Standard bank account, held at the Johannesburg Branch (account number 000127000). CAM was apparently in the process of selling 10217320 Rand Leases Properties linked units through SASFIN Frankel Pollak, and would give instructions to SASFIN Frankel Pollak to pay the proceeds of this sale to Frankel Consulting.

On 8 April 2002, Mr. S. Frankel of Frankel Consulting was instructed by R.A.R. Kebble to pay R15 million of the above deposit into the JCI Gold Limited (Gold) Standard Bank account, held at the Johannesburg Branch (account number 000 091 510). Gold was apparently in the process of selling 500 000 Western Areas Limited shares through SASFIN Frankel Pollak, and would give instructions to SASFIN Frankel Pollak to pay the proceeds of this sale to Frankel Consulting.

On or about 15 April 2002, Frankel Consulting made payment of the sum of R27 986 354.63 to Societe Generale Johannesburg Branch (SG) in part settlement of a debt which R.B. Kebble and his company BNC had incurred on 23 May 1997. This debt arose as a result of a breach in terms of a cumulative redeemable preference share scheme which had been entered into between BNC and SG in an amount of R125 000 000 subscribed for on 26 May 1997 and redeemable on 30 May 2001.

In addition to the DRD shares sold, 952 481 Randgold Resources Limited (RRL) shares were sold – 800 000 of these shares were sold through the New Heights 120 (Pty) Ltd trading account at T-Sec and derived proceeds of R54 115 088 – the proceeds were then deposited into a Corpcapital Bank Limited term deposit account in the name of Investage. The above proceeds of the 3 million DRD and 952 481 RRL shares realised approximately R155 000 000.

On 15 July 2002 an amount of R155 000 000 was transferred to the JCI Gold scheme account held at First National Bank, Carlton Centre, account number: 6203 6044 494 in terms of loan agreements entered into by Investage and BNC to be used by Consolidated African Mines Limited (CAM) to distribute to scheme participants the cash component in terms of the JCI Gold Limited section 311 scheme of arrangement proposed by CAM. These loan agreements were entered into by Investage and BNC whereby they lent R70 million and R85 million respectively to CAM.

In order for CAM to redeem inter alia the above loans from Investage and BNC of R70 million and R85 million, CAM effected a rights offer, the proceeds of the rights offer was to be used by CAM to settle the above loans by way of cash or CAM shares.

As a result of the above transactions, Investage and BNC each received approximately 155,4 million and 188,8 million CAM shares – being 1 share at 45 cents for every R1 lent. The redemption proceeds of the above loans were used by Investage and BNC to take up their rights in CAM.

With effect from 30/12/2002, Investage commenced selling the CAM shares (which had now become JCI shares) and by 30/01/2003, Investage had sold 75,2 million of the 155 million JCI shares. On 15/7/2003 a further 40,2 million JCI shares were sold by Investage, leaving behind a balance of 40 000 000 JCI shares.

The above fraud resulted in Mr. C.H.D. Cornwall and Mr. R.B. Kebble acting in concert with each other personally benefiting from the proceeds of approximately 344,2 million JCI shares.

6. The Afrikaner Lease Limited (Aflease) Share Swop

On 4 October 2004, RGE issued and listed 9 400 000 ordinary shares and in terms of an agreement with Aflease swapped these shares for 94 000 000 new ordinary shares of Aflease. This share swop was linked to R 50 000 000 Randgold convertible loan facility granted at the same time.

The 94 000 000 Aflease shares were placed in CMMS's T-Sec trading account in October 2004. By 31 March 2005 all 94 000 000 Aflease shares had been disposed of. According to a SA Stockbrokers Statement of account dated December 2004, 807 714 of these Aflease shares had been sold, on the instruction of GW Poole, with the proceeds credited to a "Lunda Sul Holdings (Pty) Ltd" bank account. We do not believe such a bank account exists. 3 791 900 Aflease shares were sold for R6 971 499 through T-Sec in the Alibiprops 13 trading account. 8 000 000 Aflease shares were placed with Investec "in terms of an option agreement". The balance of the shares (excluding 1 000 000 shares) appear to have been sold by CMMS (for and on behalf of First Wesgold), the trading account of which has not been made available to us. In the absence of detailed information we can only assert a claim by RGE against CMMS and Alibiprops 13.

Nexus Securities (Pty) Ltd confirmed that it received a total of 1 000 000 Aflease shares in settlement of a corporate raising fee for the conclusion and negotiation of the Aflease/Randgold deal.

7. The way forward

As discussed with the chief executive, Mr Peter Gray, we make the following observations based on the findings of our investigations to date:

- RGE has been systematically "looted" of its asset base through the fraudulent conduct of certain of its former directors;
- RGE has falsified its issued share capital base, diluting share owner interests;
- RGE has submitted false SEC filings, contravened JSE Listing and Nasdaq National Market rules; and
- RGE has no meaningful economic resources that can be used to carry out its economic activities. Its depleted asset base cannot provide any future economic benefits that eventually will result in net cash inflows.

RGE has been fatally wounded by the fraudulent conduct of certain of its directors. In our opinion it has little prospect of recovering significant monies from claims it will have against those individuals and corporate entities that have stolen its assets and any such recoveries will be depleted by the legal costs in asserting such claims.

RGE should propose scheme of arrangements in terms of Section 311 of the Companies Act between itself, its members and its creditors, whereby its remaining tangible assets should be identified, measured and transferred to a Newco. Arrangements under Section 311 are of the widest character with the only limitations being that the scheme cannot authorise something contrary to the general law or wholly ultra vires the company. There are many variations of Section 311 schemes which can be considered and then proposed. This report does not attempt to deal with these, but rather to suggest a way forward in broad terms.

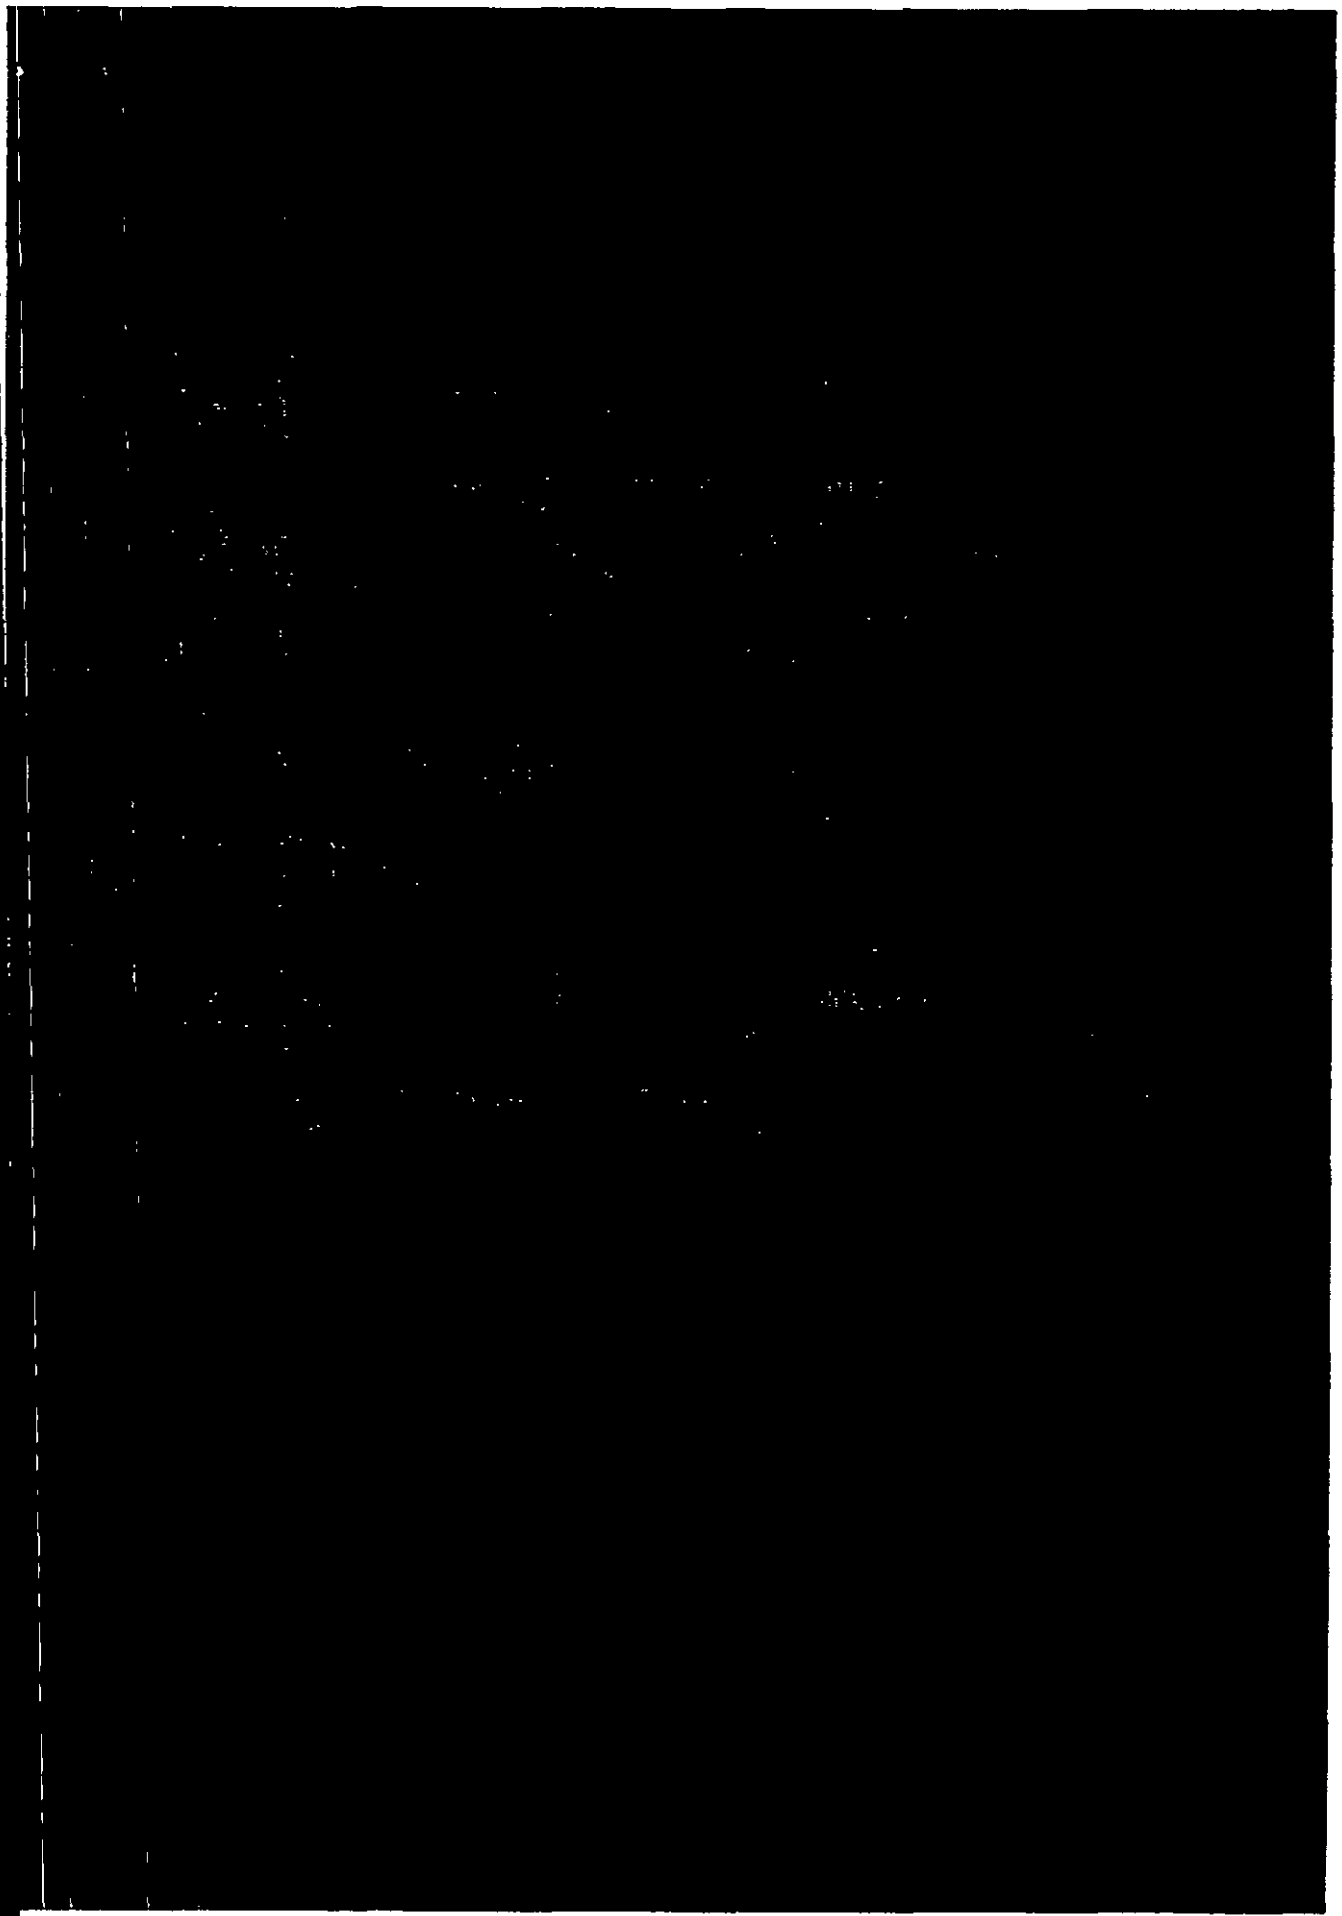
Similarly, JCI Limited, including its subsidiary CMMS Ltd, should follow a similar procedure with the transfer of its tangible assets to Newco. The Scheme should address the capitalisation of Newco including the ratio of shares to be issued to the former shareholder's of RGE and JCI. The ratio calculation would need to take into account the realistic claims each of the respective set of shareholders would have had against each other. This simplified mechanism would obviate the circumstance which may arise where the claims of the one company may result in the factual insolvency of the other which in turn could result in the factual insolvency of the claimant itself. If the sets shareholders are to salvage anything out of this corporate pillage, then in conjunction with the creditors of the three companies, the shareholders and creditors should approve and propose a workable scheme.



Yours faithfully

John Louw

STELLENBOSCH DIVISION

1. INSTRUCTION

I have been instructed by Mr Les Maxwell, Chief Financial Officer of JCI Ltd, to determine the market value of the above-mentioned properties. This valuation updates the previous valuation with 1 March 2007 as the effective date of valuation.

Market value is defined as the estimated amount for which a property should exchange on the date of valuation between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's-length transaction after proper marketing wherein the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently, and without compulsion.

2. INTRODUCTION

The subject properties are two aggregates of various portions of the former Boschendal Estate of the Paarl and Stellenbosch Divisions, situated between Stellenbosch and Franschhoek.

The comparable sales method of valuation is most favoured for farm valuations and is applied in this case.

The aim of this valuation is to determine a realistic sales value.

3. EFFECTIVE DATE OF VALUATION

The market value of the subject properties was determined as at 30 April 2008.

4. DATE OF INSPECTION

The property was inspected on 20 May 2008.

5. REGISTERED OWNERS

The registered owner of Farm 1674/1, 2, 4, 8, 9, 10, 12 Paarl Division is BOSCHENDAL LTD (hereafter referred to as Boschendal Ltd).

Deeds of transfer: T17501/2004

and

The registered owner of Farm 1647/1 and Farm 1674/3, 4, 6, 11, 13, 17 Paarl Division and Farm 153/1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 Stellenbosch Division, called the Residual Properties of Boschendal Ltd is AMFARMS REALISATION CO LTD.

Deeds of Transfer: T17499/2004

6. DESCRIPTION AND SIZE OF THE PROPERTY

7. SERVITUDES/RESTRICTIONS

Road and electricity power line servitudes are indicated in Tables 1 and 2. These incumbrances may have a negative impact on the value perception of a typical buyer of the subject property.

8. ZONING

The property is zoned as Agriculture 1.

9. SERVICES

The subject area is serviced with tarred and gravel roads. Electricity is supplied directly by ESKOM and via the Drakenstein Municipality.

Water for domestic purposes is obtained from the Wemmershoek line via the Drakenstein Municipality.

No municipal sewerage services are supplied.

10. SITUATION AND SUBJECT AREA

The discussion of the external factors shaping land-use patterns in the traditional wine producing areas is not repeated in this report, although they are still relevant.

The current downswing in general in the property market needs to be mentioned. Farm land prices stagnated the past year, specifically of larger farms in Stellenbosch. The waiting period to find a willing seller increased. Prices of small lifestyle properties, especially in Franschhoek, were apparently not affected, as the buyers are normally not dependent on the income from the properties and are less sensitive for interest rate changes.

Boschendal Ltd won the appeal with regard to SAHRA's veto of the subdivision of the subject property. While progress has been made towards subdivision, final permission is needed. For valuation purposes Boschendal Ltd is still treated as one whole property and the Residual Properties of Boschendal Ltd as another independent subject property.

11. GENERAL

11.1 Information relating to the subject property has been supplied by Mr Clive Venning, CEO of Boschendal Ltd, and is accepted as being correct.

11.2 The property was valued on 30 April 2008.

11.3 This valuation is in respect of the fixed property only and excludes VAT.

11.4 This report may not be used for any purpose other than that for which it has been compiled. It may not be made available to any other party without the written consent of the author.

11.5 Although careful consideration has been given to the correctness of the information contained in this report, it is not guaranteed.

11.6 I did not inspect the woodwork or other parts of building structures which are covered, unexposed or inaccessible, and I am therefore unable to report whether such parts of the property are free of rot, beetle or other defects.

12. DESCRIPTION OF THE SUBJECT PROPERTY

Tables 1 and 2 describe briefly the extent of planted and non-planted arable land, non-arable land, water allocations, dams and building infrastructure. More detail on the buildings can be obtained from the previous valuation reports by Mr Danie Hofmeyr. The following general characteristics are derived from the inventories in Tables 1 and 2:

- Land
  - Extent: Most of the portions are relatively large compared to other properties in the subject area, which makes it more difficult to find comparable properties for valuation purposes. Sales prices per hectare of the generally small-transaction properties provide less reliable value guidelines, due to the effect of 'plattage', a valuation term that refers to the inverse relationship between extent and price per hectare.
  - Quality: The soils are generally of medium to low quality. The better soils are mostly to be found on the sides of the subject properties at higher altitudes.
  - Land-use categories: Perennial crops: Land use is categorised in terms of land under vineyards, and fruit orchards. A finer distinction in terms of broad land-quality classes is given mainly to provide a broad idea of the general land quality of the two subject properties.
- Water
  - Availability: The total amount of water for irrigation is sufficient for the total amount of arable land.
  - Distribution: The storage capacity in terms of dams is concentrated on some portions. The existing pipeline network used to distribute water from the dams to the arable land, spread over most of the portions purposes, consists mainly of old asbestos pipes, the lifespan of which is long overdue and needs urgent replacement at high cost (estimated at R20 million) to allow efficient irrigation of any crop. Access to the water from the dams and replacement and maintenance of the water distribution network implies a significant interdependence among the various portions. While efficient access to water from the dams can to a large extent be ruled by servitudes, sharing of the capital and running costs of distributing the water will favour selling the two subject properties as aggregates, as opposed to selling the portions of the subject properties as individual farms.
- Road infrastructure: Various road servitudes are registered to allow the different portions access to the main road. Selling the portions individually will entail incurring additional costs to ensure access to the main road for Nieuwedorp, Drosbaan, Mountain Vineyard, Excelsior and Rachelsfontein.

- Buildings: Farming activities on the two subject properties are adequately supported by the existing residential and non-residential building infrastructure.

13. VALUATION OF SUBJECT PROPERTIES: COMPARABLE SALES METHOD

A market research of comparable farm sales has been carried out in the wider subject area. The transaction properties have been identified and analysed, and can serve as a basis for valuation. See Table 3 for a description of the transaction properties in the Stellenbosch District and comparisons with the subject properties. See Table 4 for a description of transaction properties in the Franschhoek District and comparisons with the subject properties.

14. CONCLUSIONS: COMPARABLE SALES

The analysis of the transactions provides some value guidelines that will be applied to the two subject properties.

14.1 THE INFLUENCE OF LOCATION

With regard to larger properties, transactions analysed for the previous valuation showed that the larger farms in the Franschhoek area were sold at lower prices per hectare than the larger Stellenbosch farms. The much higher price per hectare paid for the Franschhoek farm Normandy (1170/8) than for any Stellenbosch farm since the previous valuation must not be regarded as representative of the value of larger Franschhoek farms. Normandy lies partly in town and its "address" carries the highest status in the Franschhoek district. The next door farm owner bought this portion and was willing to pay a major premium. Despite its larger size, it is still regarded as an outstanding lifestyle project. It does not provide a reliable value guideline for Boschendal.

14.2 THE INFLUENCE OF FARM SIZE

Small, lifestyle properties sold in Franschhoek and Stellenbosch since the previous valuation were ignored, as they are not comparable with the subject property and their per hectare price will provide inappropriate value guidelines.

Transactions 1, 2 and 4 are all small farms, but used for intensive production, in contrast with typical smaller lifestyle properties. Transactions 1 and 2 are both portions of Protea Heights where proteas are produced for export. Linked to the properties were plant breeder rights of novel protea cultivars developed on the property. Transaction 1 has a recently renovated luxurious manor house, a manager's house and the protea packing shed with cold storage facilities. Transaction 1 and 2 properties were sold respectively for R776 000 and R680 000 per hectare. Transaction 4 is a portion of Overgaauw with a big dam and vineyards. The water rights were retained by the seller. Transaction 4 was sold for R638 000 per hectare. All three properties are aesthetically very attractive, but lack the historical character of Boschendal. The overriding consideration here is the significantly smaller extent of all three properties, giving rise to relatively high prices per hectare.

Transaction 3 is much larger than 1, 2 and 6 and was sold for R544 000 per planted hectare. L'Olivier is aesthetically attractive. It is believed that this transaction provides a more reliable guideline of current farm land prices of larger farms in Stellenbosch.

In conclusion, the update of the previous valuation takes place amidst a stabilization of farm prices after rising rapidly for some years. Interviews with a number of estate agents in Franschhoek and Stellenbosch reveal that farm land prices stabilized the past year. Prices did not really decrease – it more a matter of waiting longer to find a willing buyer. Prices of small farms and smallholdings bought for lifestyle purposes were less affected than larger farms. The number of transactions of larger farms in Franschhoek and Stellenbosch the past year is so limited that no clear trend can be derived. A limited number of sales, mostly of smaller farms, took place since the last valuation. The effect of "plateau" suggests that these relative high values per hectare are too high to provide an appropriate value guideline for Boschendal. Their prices per planted hectare were all higher than R600 000. The larger L'Olivier obtained a price of R544 000 per planted hectare. If a premium is added for the outstanding historical character of Boschendal, a value guideline of R600 000 per planted hectare is obtained. This is nominally the same as the value guideline for the previous valuation. The nominal value of R50 000 per hectare of non-arable land and land occupied by infrastructure also remains the same.

Table 5 shows the application of value guidelines derived from the comparable transactions to the subject properties.

Mr Maxwell

I am of the opinion that farm properties sold in the vicinity of Boschendal Ltd and Residual Properties of Bochendal Ltd since June 2008 do not provide clear valuo guidelines that indicate a deviation from the last valuation of the above mentioned properties, mainly because of limited comparability with these two properties.

Mineral Asset Valuation Report on the Du Preez Leger Project, Free State Province, South Africa

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Minxcon (Pty) Ltd ("Minxcon") was commissioned by Free State Development and Investment Corporation Limited ("FSD") to compile an Independent Mineral Asset Valuation report on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger Project, located near the town of Welkom, Free State Province, South Africa. The REPORT is fully compliant with the South African Code for the Reporting of Exploration Results, Mineral Resources and Mineral Reserves ("the SAMREC Code"), the South African Code for the Reporting of Mineral Asset Valuation ("the SAMVAL Code") and Section 12 of the JSE listing requirements. Section 12.14b as well as most of Section 12.14a (excluding 12.14a i, 12.14a xi and 12.14a xiii) of the JSE listing requirements was not applicable as the Project is still at the exploration stage. 12.9 (i) i T1.1 (ii) 12.9 (e

The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 ("Du Preez Leger") area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The areas of interest are located on exploration rights which are held by FSD, a subsidiary of Randgold and Exploration Company Limited ("R&E"). Due to the limited information available regarding the Rebelkop area, this area has not been evaluated for a Mineral Resource. The areas of interest are located on the Witwatersrand Basin, with adjacent producing gold mines including the President Steyn Gold Mine, Bambanani Mine, Harmony Mine, Beatrix Mine and St Helena Mine. 12.9 (i) T1.1 (i)

FSD has held the mineral rights pertaining to the Project area ('old order rights') since the early part of the twentieth century circa 1945. The prospecting right was converted to a New Order Right under the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act, 2002 on 7 November 2006. No invasive physical exploration activities have been conducted by FSD to date, and accordingly the environment has not been impacted. 12.9 12.9 f

The Project area is located in the Free State goldfield of the Witwatersrand Basin. The placers of primary economic interest at the Project area are the Basal and Leader Reefs. Other reefs found in this area include the A and B Reefs, BPM (Sand River Reef), Aandenk and VS5/Beatrix Reefs. The Vermeulenskraal exploration area lies just to the south of the Sand River and is to the west of Harmony Mine. The Du Preez Leger exploration area lies to the south of the Harmony Brand and St Helena mines, and to the west of the Harmony Unisel Mine. These mines have mainly targeted the Basal and Leader Reefs. The A-Reef has also been extensively mined on Brand Mine to the north of the Project area. 12.9

Proposed further work on the Project will include an in-depth review of the available data by a competent geological consulting company with the possible progression, depending upon the results of the aforesaid review, to drilling of up to four geological boreholes as envisaged in the Prospecting works Programme. 12.9(

The estimated funding requirements for exploration for 2009 and 2010 is ZAR5.185 million, and the Company has sufficient cash resources to fund future exploration and environmental work.

Based on the information available, the standard comparative value method was selected to value the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger Project. The outcomes were also benchmarked against recent market transactions involving similar assets, as well as current market value of listed entities holding similar assets.

A 2009 forecast rand/dollar exchange rate of R8.20 to the US$ as reported in the Investec 3rd quarter of 2008 macro-economic forecasts was used in the conversion of the US$.

The Rebelkop area does not have any estimated Mineral Resources, and as the Rebelkop area has been held by FSD since the early twentieth century, no information is available which could be used to apply the historical cost method of valuation. A borehole WDR1 drilled in one corner of the farm intersected VS5, Leader and Basal Reef. Hence while no resource was declared, Minxcon is of the opinion that exploration potential exists. The Project was valued using at a considerable discounted value per hectare of ZAR20,000 as determined relative to the rand/hectare value of the other areas.

Resource Area	Area (ha)	Value per ha	Value (ZAR million)
Rebelkop	689.56	20,000	13.7912

The table below summarises the value of the Du Preez Leger Project, as determined by Minxcon:- 12.9(i) xi

Conclusions

Minxcon have reached the following conclusions regarding the Du Preez Leger Project:-

- The mineralised reefs of economic interest at the Project area are the Basal and Leader Reefs;
- The geology of the area is structurally complex;
- The Mineral Resources estimated at the Project area have been classified as INFERRED Mineral Resources, based on SAMREC classification standards;
- The total Inferred Mineral Resource for the Du Preez Leger Project at a cut off grade of 250cm.g/t is 63.613Mt at a grade of 4.95g/t;
- On balance the gold price is expected to return to the US$800-900/oz band over the next two years. The higher gold price has triggered renewed interest in the areas previously ignored on the Witwatersrand Complex. This is evident in the listing of Witwatersrand Consolidated Gold Resources with a market Capitalisation of ZAR1.080bn, who owns mineral assets around the areas of interest, and
- The Du Preez Leger Project has a value of ZAR188.233 million.

DISCLAIMER AND RISKS

This Report was prepared by Minxcon (Pty) Ltd ("Minxcon"). In the preparation of the report, Minxcon has utilised information relating to operational methods and expectations provided to them by various sources. 1 INTRODUCTION AND TERMS OF REFERENCE

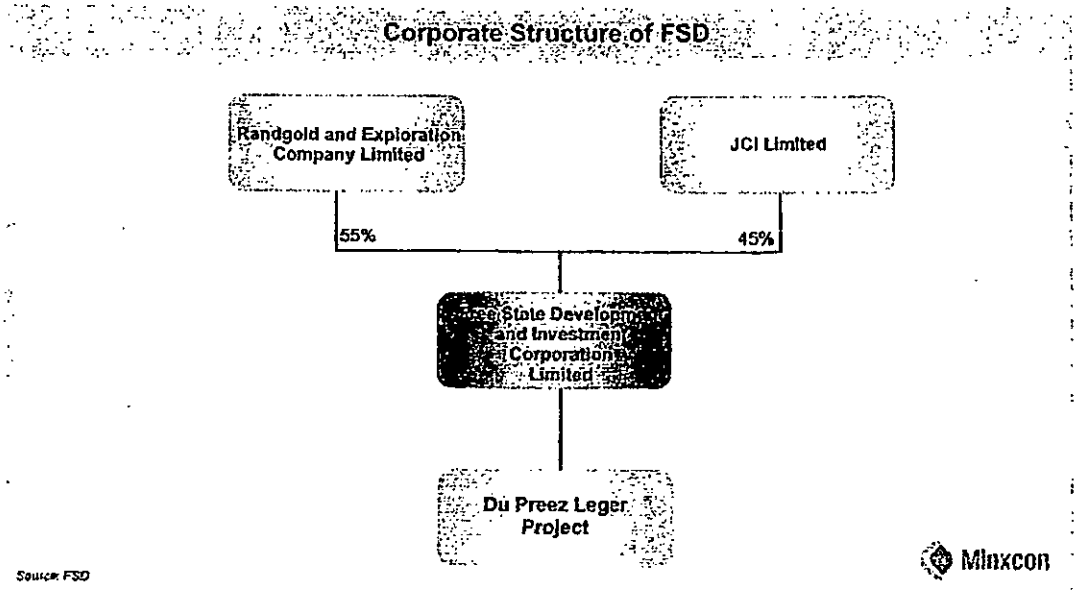
Minxcon (Pty) Ltd ("Minxcon") was commissioned by Free State Development and Investment Corporation Limited ("FSD") to compile an Independent Mineral Asset Valuation report on the mineral assets of the Du Preez Leger Project, located near the town of Welkom, Free State Province, South Africa. T1.1 f



The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas (prospects) in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust 72 ("Du Preez Leger") area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. The prospects are secured by a New Order prospecting permit held by FSD, a subsidiary of Randgold and Exploration Company Limited ("R&E"). Due to the limited quantitative information available regarding Rebelkop, no Mineral Resources was estimated for this prospect. T5.4B

This report is an evaluation of the Project for the purpose of inclusion in a circular to R&E shareholders, and has been compiled in accordance with the South African Code for the Reporting of Exploration Results, Mineral Resources and Mineral Reserves ("the SAMREC Code") and the South African Code for the Reporting of Mineral Asset Valuation ("the SAMVAL Code"). T1.1 f

In order to describe the mineral assets in accordance with the JSE Listings Requirements, Section 12, the information recorded on each property was compiled according to a checklist that incorporated the compliance reporting requirements for the SAMREC and SAMVAL Codes. The checklist is attached as Appendix 2 to this report. 12.9 (

The corporate structure of FSD is illustrated in the diagram below:-

The following persons are listed on the register of Directors of FSD:-

- Reviewed the information supplied relating to the Geology and Mineral Resources of the deposits; and
- Reviewed the technical information supplied; accepting all reports supplied by other parties in good faith and accepting no responsibility for their accuracy.

Module 2 - Geological and Resource Modelling
Minxcon conducted Geological Modelling and Mineral Resource estimation on the Du Preez Leger, Vermeulenskraal and Tweepan orebodies.

Module 3 - Report Compilation
Minxcon incorporated all information obtained during the independent due diligence exercise and Valuation of the Projects into this concise Report. The report and opinion were prepared in compliance, in all material aspects, with local and international codes and regulations governing the reporting of mineral Project valuations. Site visits were undertaken by C.Birch of Minxcon on 12 November 2008.

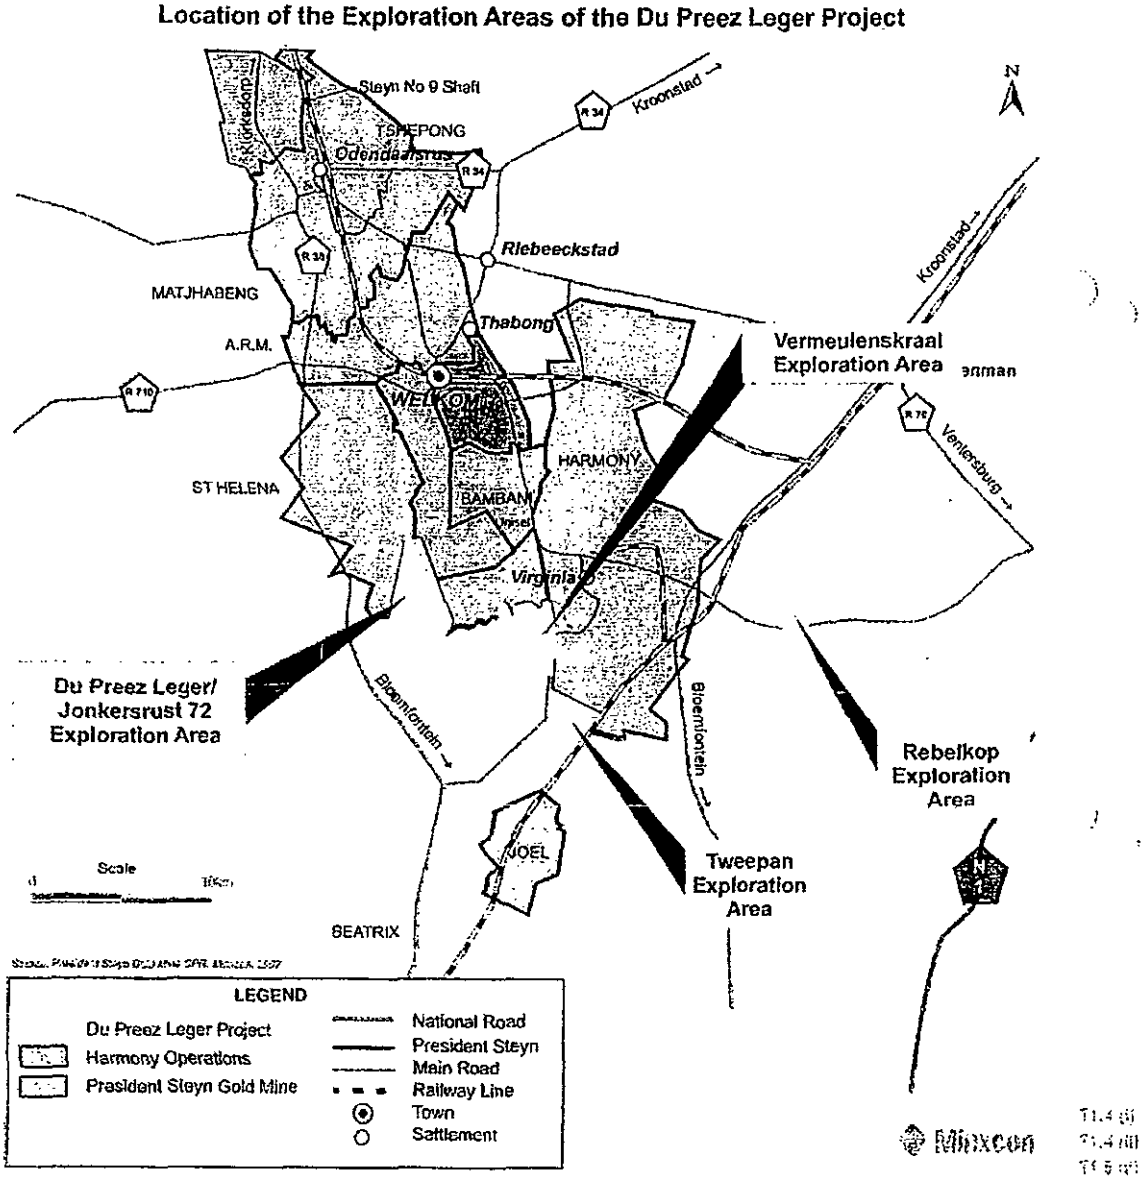
4 GENERAL PROJECT DESCRIPTION



4.1 Project Description and Location

The Du Preez Leger Project encompasses the farms Du Preez Leger 324, Jonkersrust 72, Millo 639, Rebelkop 456, Tweepan 678 and Vermeulenskraal 223, located in the district of Virginia in the Free State Province, South Africa. T1.1

T1.2

The Du Preez Leger Project comprises four exploration areas (prospects) in the Free State Province; namely the Du Preez Leger area, the Vermeulenskraal area, the Rebelkop area and the Tweepan area. Due to the limited information available regarding the Rebelkop area, no Mineral Resource was estimated for this prospect. The areas of interest are located on the Witwatersrand Basin, with adjacent producing gold mines including the President Steyn Gold Mine, Bambanani Mine, Harmony Mine, Beatrix Mine and St Helena Mine (Figure 2).

The Vermeulenskraal prospect area is situated on portions of the farm Vermeulenskraal 223 and has an aerial extent of 913.5027ha.

The Du Preez Leger prospect area is located on the farms Du Preez Leger 324 and Jonkersrust 72 and covers an area of 1131.079Ha.

The Rebelkop prospect area is located on the farm Rebelkop 456 and covers an area of 689.5639Ha.

The Tweepan prospect area is located on the Remaining Extent of Millo 693 and the entire farm Tweepan 678, and covers an area of 355.0105Ha.

4.2 Access and Infrastructure

The Project area is located south of the town of Welkom, and is approximately three hours drive from the city of Johannesburg. Welkom is accessible by road, rail or air. The main road structure to and around the project are in good condition; the Du Preez Leger and Vermeulenskraal deposits can be accessed via the R34 main road through the town of Welkom. T1.5

The main electric railway line in this area is the Bloemfontein-Virginia-Johannesburg line, and an airport and 13 airstrips are situated in the area.

Power is supplied by ESKOM, and Sedibeng Water supplies water mainly from the Vaal River. Sedibeng Water is a state owned company which was opened in 1979. Limited mid-term power availability may constrain development of new mining projects in the region. The location of the two deposits, as well as the general infrastructure of the area, is illustrated in Figure 2.

4.3 Topography and Climate

T1.6

The Free State experiences a continental climate, characterized by warm to hot summers and cool to cold winters. Areas in the east can experience snowfalls in the winter months, whereas the western areas are prone to extremely hot summers. The area receives summer rainfall. The climatic conditions are not excessively extreme, and mining operations can continue throughout the year.

The surface topography of the area surrounding Welkom is characterized by gently undulating plains. The Du Preez Leger Project is situated at an elevation between 1,300m above sea level ("asl") and 1,340masl (Figure 3).

4.4 History of the Project

T1.3.

FSD has held the mineral rights pertaining to the Project area ('old order rights') since the early part of the twentieth century circa 1945. These rights were converted to a New Order Prospecting Rights on 7 November 2006, under the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act, 2002. The New Order prospecting right expires on 6 November 2011.

Historical Mineral Resources were estimated for the Vermeulenskraal prospect in 1988, but these were not done in accordance with the SAMREC or any other Mineral Resource reporting code. T1.

FSD has undertaken historical exploration at the project area which has been detailed in Section 4.4 of this report.

4.5 Adjacent Properties

4.5.1 Current Operations

The Bambanani Mine, the St Helena Mine and the Harmony Gold Mine as well as the separately owned President Steyn Gold Mine.

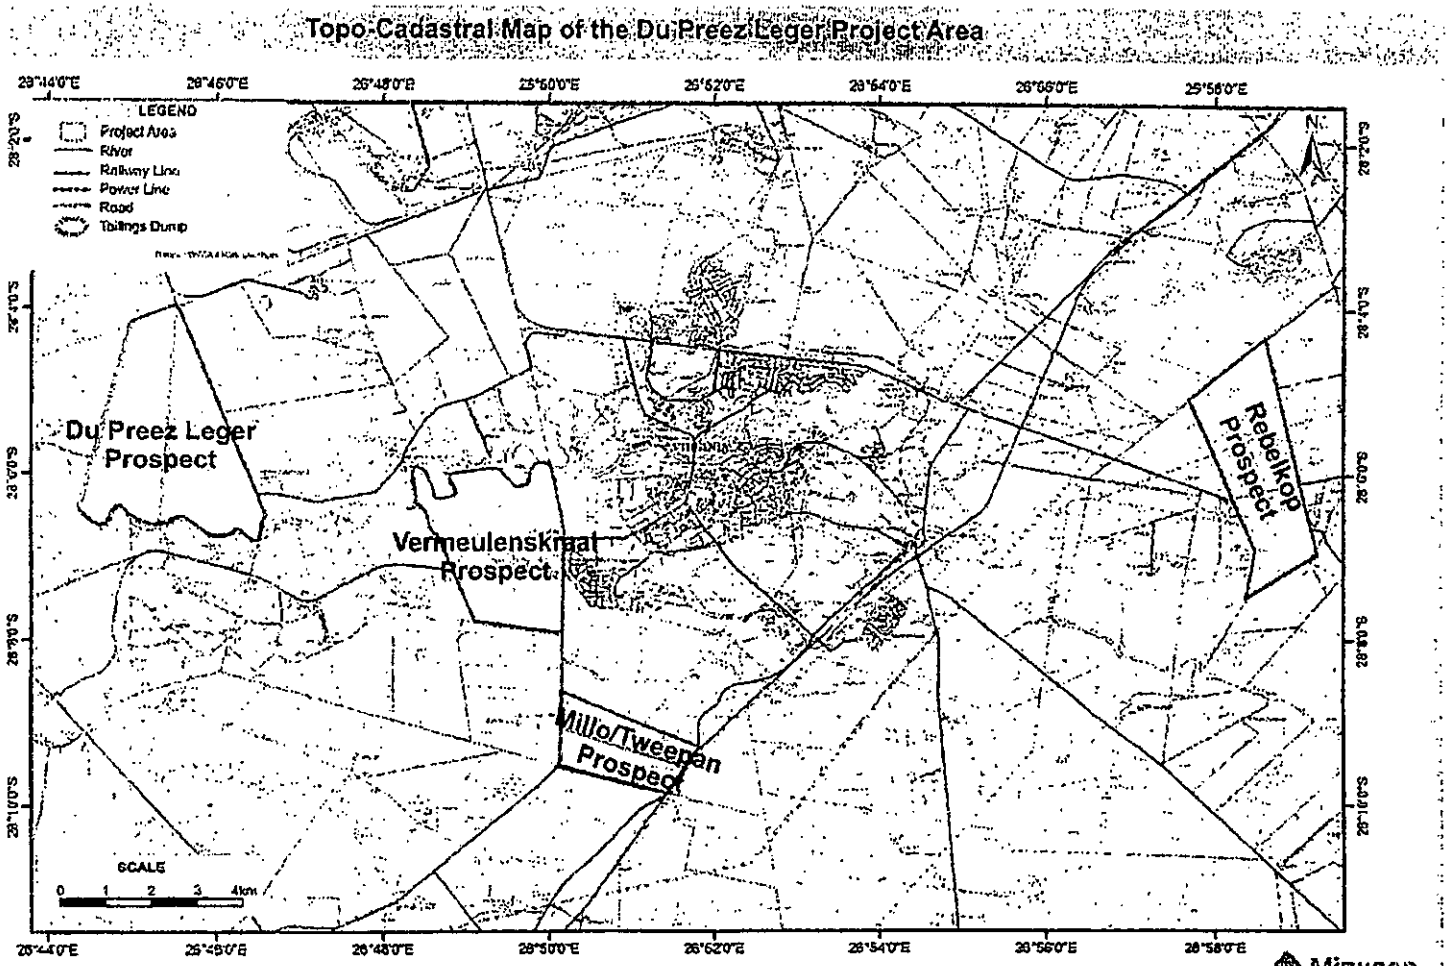
4.5.2 Exploration Target

4.5.2.1 Wits Gold

Wits Gold is a Johannesburg based gold and uranium exploration company with substantial resources in the area of interest. Since the Company's inception in 2003, the Company has raised $26 million by way of five private placements. On 24 April 2006, Wits Gold successfully listed on the JSE Limited in South Africa and currently has a Market Capitalisation of ZAR1.080bn.

Hakkies Project

The Hakkies project is adjacent to the Vermeulenskraal Project. The principal exploration targets in this northern area are the Leader and Upper Leader Reefs that occur at depths of 1,350 to 2,200 metres below surface. Lower grade reefs dominate the northern sector of the project area, with grades increasing towards the south.



The Bloemhoek Project

The Bloemhoek project borders the Tweepan project to the South. Wits Gold has received a positive scoping study on its Bloemhoek Project. This independent study was based on an indicated mineral resource of 52.3Mt at an average grade of 6.7g/t, containing 11.3Moz of gold. This 43-101 compliant mineral resource is hosted by the Beatrix, Kalkoenkrans and Leader Reefs that occur at depths of 1300 - 2400 metres below surface.

Beisa North

The Du Preez Leger/Jonkersrust Area ajoins the Beisa Mine and Beisa North Area. Geographically, Beisa North in the southern Free State can be divided into two sectors by the westerly flowing Sand River. In the area to the north of the Sand River, 14 boreholes were completed by Gencor mainly during 1977-1979 as part of their regional exploration programme for the Beisa Reef. Although some of these boreholes intersected the Beisa Reef at depths in the range of 450-1500 metres below surface. The Wits Gold objective will be to produce a SAMREC compliant resource estimate for Beisa North.

Table 1: New Order Prospecting Rights relating to the Du Preez Leger Project

Farm Name	PR Number	Applicable Minerals	Holding Company	Effective Date	Expiry Date
Du Preez Leger 324	FS30/5/1/1/2/252PR	Gold ore and Silver ore.	Free State Development and Investment Corporation Limited	7 November 2006	6 November 2011
Jonkersrust 72

Vermeulenskraal 223 (Remaining Extent of Ptn 1)

The Prospecting Right detailed in the table above was granted in accordance with the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act (No 28 of 2002) ("MPRDA"). The approved Prospecting Right dated 7 November 2006 states the area covered by PR252 as 2,775.6300ha in extent. This area was found to be incorrect after perusal of the relevant surveyor general diagrams ("SG diagrams"), and was instead found to be 3,089.1167ha. This amendment has been approved by the DME and the contract amendment is currently awaiting signature. T5.1

The area covered by PR252 is illustrated in Figure 3 (Refer to Appendix 3 for proof of granting of PR252).

5.2 Surface Rights

FSD does not hold the surface rights to the Project Area.

5.3 Property Boundaries and Survey Certificates

T2.2A (i)

The farms relating to the Project area can be located on Government 1:50,000 Topo-cadastral sheets (March 2005):-

- Skoonspruit;
- Landskroon;
- Odendaalsrus; and
- Riebeeckstad.

The farms Du Preez Leger 324 and Jonkersrust 72 were originally known as the farm Du Preez Leger 224 which was subdivided in 1922 into two farms of 565.5395ha in extent each. SG diagrams 2214/0, SG3904 and SG2325/0 all dated 1992 apply.

The farm Rebelkop 456 was originally recorded in 1915 as Rebelkop 1246 with an area of 689.5639ha. SG diagrams 2121 (1915) and 564/1967 apply.

The farm Millo 693 is the remaining extent of the farm Morijah 415, originally registered in the District of Winburg. The farm Morijah 415 was subdivided in 1930 into the farm Tweepan 2278 (now Tweepan 678) and a remaining extent which was named Millo 1639 (now Millo 693). Each farm has an area of 177.5055ha. SG diagram 34/30 applies.

Vermeulenskraal 223 was first registered in 1895 in the District of Winburg with an area of 6,671.1109ha (SG diagram 936/1895). From 1907 to 1924 various subdivisions took place resulting in the farms Vermeulenskraal Noord 480, Video 835, Jurgens Hof 1658, Tarka 1659 and Hakkies 1953. The remaining extent of 913.5028ha became known as Vermeulens Kraal (or Vermeulenskraal) 223 in the District of Ventersburg at some time between 1924 and 1939.

5.4 Environmental Aspects

No invasive physical exploration activities have been conducted by FSD to date, and accordingly the environment has not been impacted. T5.2A T5.2B T5.2B

The original Environmental Management Programme ("EMP") was approved by the Regional Manager, Free State Region of the DME, Welkom, on 1st September 2005 as indicated in Appendix 4. The environmental rehabilitation liabilities could include the restoration of the possible borehole sites in an estimated amount of R40,000 (forty thousand rand). Funding for such environmental rehabilitation has been proposed in the overall project budget and a Bank Guarantee (as required by the regulations to the MPRDA) in the amount of R10,000 (ten thousand rand) has been lodged with the DME.

5.5 Agreements T1.7 (

There are currently management or service agreements in place relating to the Project area.

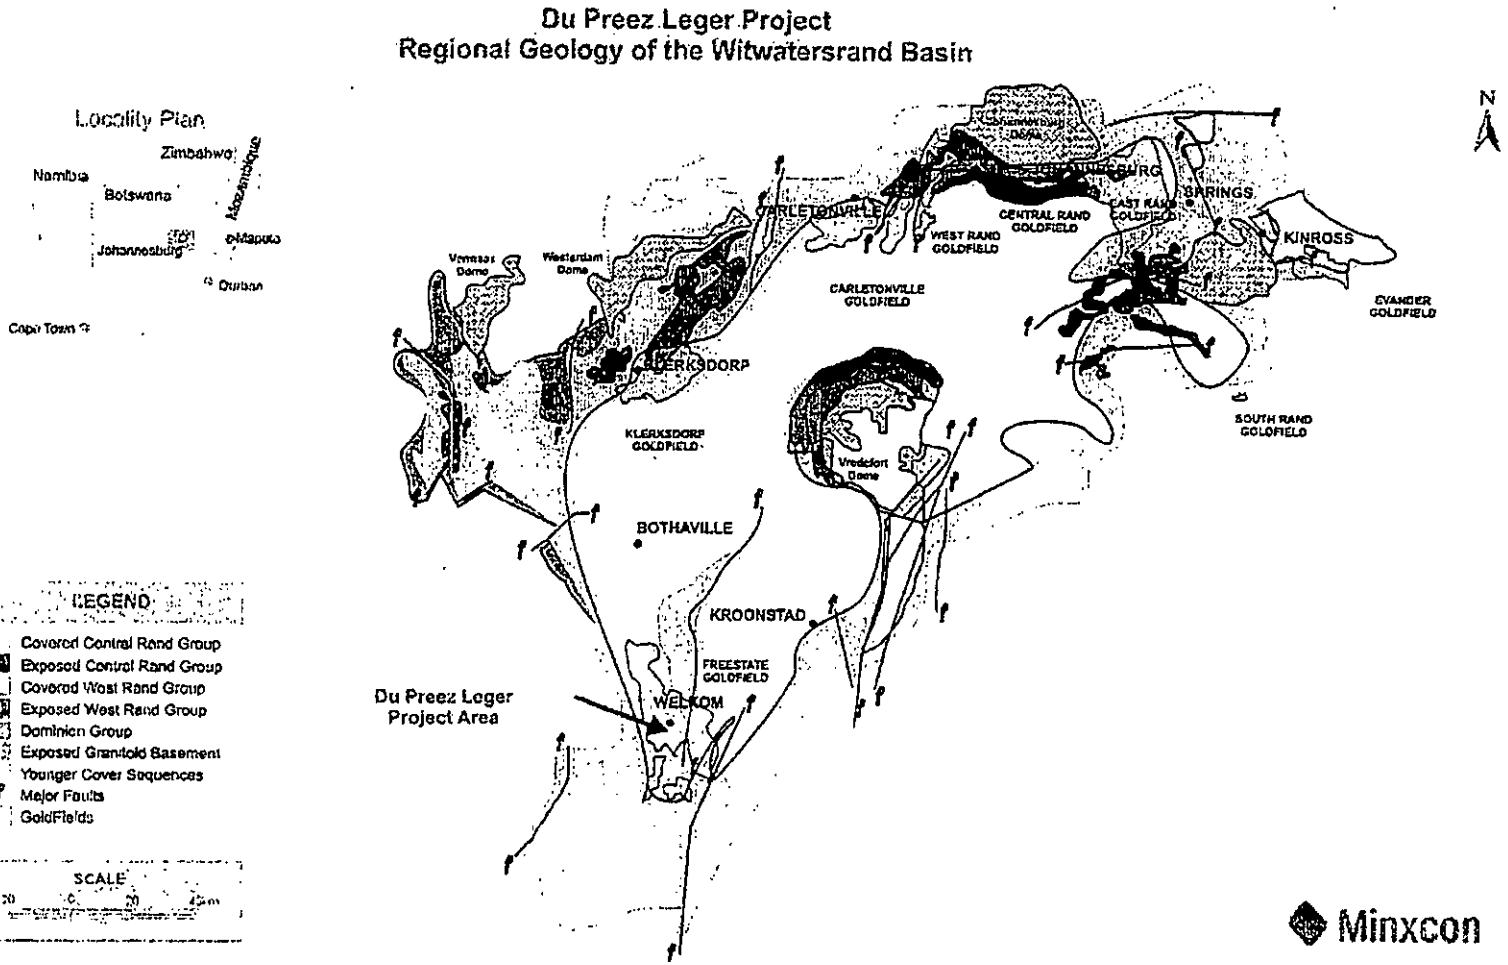
5.6 Summary of Legal Aspects and Tenure T1.7 (

There are no legal proceedings that may influence the rights to explore for minerals (See Appendix 5).

6 GEOLOGY

6.1 Regional Geology

T4.1A (i)



The Witwatersrand Basin is located in the Kaapvaal Craton, South Africa. It represents a remnant of a large Achaean sedimentary basin that hosts the world's largest gold reserves within a series of conglomerate horizons. The Witwatersrand Basin comprises a 60,000km^2 Northeast trending elliptical structure, extending from the east of Johannesburg to south of the town of Welkom (Figure 4).

The basin is the largest known gold province in the world and the deposits have been exploited for in excess of on hundred years. Gold is currently produced from seven of eight goldfields within the basin, mainly from conglomerate horizons of the Witwatersrand, Ventersdorp and Transvaal Supergroups. The Du Preez Leger Project is situated in the Free State Goldfield and is situated on the southern edge of the Witwatersrand Basin.

The Witwatersrand Supergroup is underlain by an Archaean (>3.1Ga) granite-greenstone basement and the 3.086-3.074Ma Dominion Group. It is unconformably overlain by rocks of the Ventersdorp (2.7Ga), Transvaal (2.6Ga) and Karoo (302-180Ma) Supergroups. The Witwatersrand Supergroup is divided into two groups, the West and Central Rand Groups. The reefs that occur at the Project area are located within the Central Rand Group ("CRG").

The CRG unconformably overlies the West Rand Group. Lithologies in this group are characterised by sandstone and conglomerate which dominate over shale. The CRG comprises the Turfontein and Johannesburg Subgroups, which both contain conglomerates in their lower and upper portions. At least ten basin wide unconformities are known, each overlain by conglomerate beds. The conglomerates of the CRG contain a variety of pebble types. A distinctive feature of the conglomerates is an overall increase in clast size, recorded from the base to the top of the group.

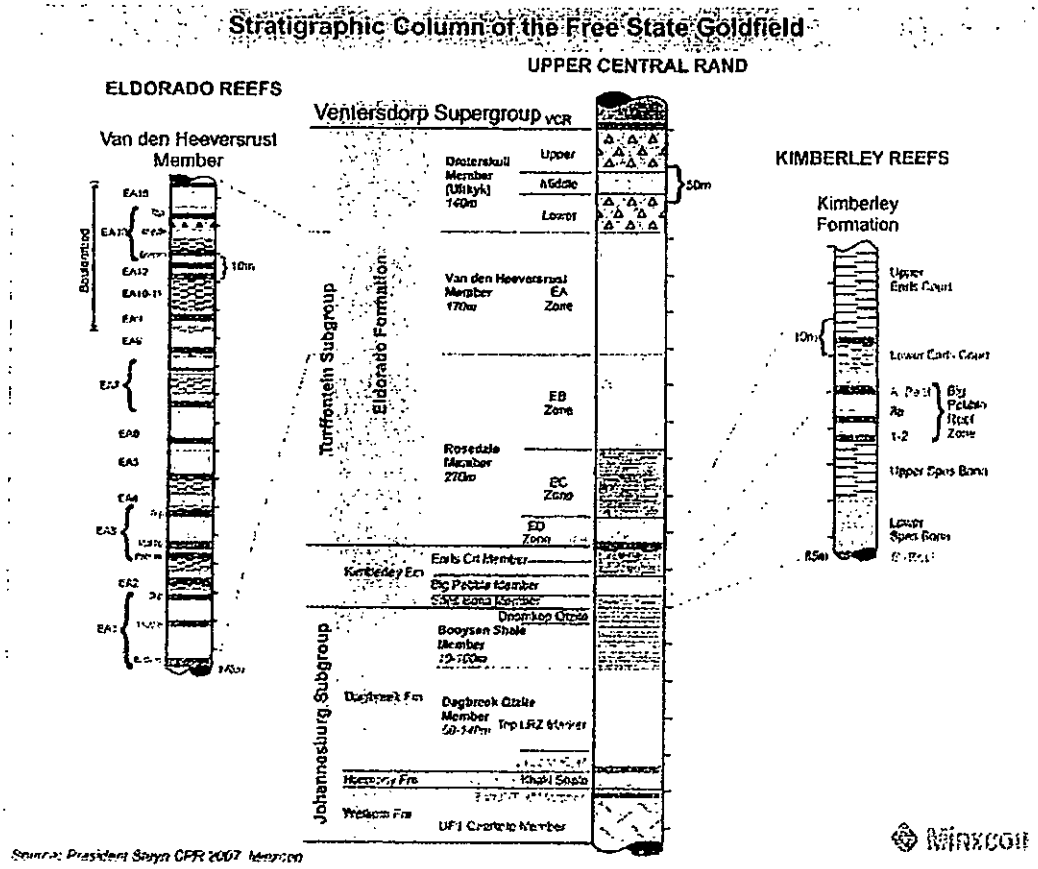
6.2 Local Geology



The Free State Goldfield lies approximately 270km from Johannesburg on the southwest rim of the Witwatersrand Basin.

The dominant structural features of the Free State Goldfield are the north-northwest striking Ventersdorp age normal faults, such as the De Bron fault, and the north-south trending syncline developed along the western margin of the gold field (The Mineral Resources of South Africa, 1998). This syncline extends across the entire North-South span of the Free State Goldfield, and is associated with several reverse faults such as the Rheedersdam fault. Compression associated with this faulting led to the occurrence of severely deformed, and in some places, overturned Witwatersrand sediments on the western edge of the Free State Goldfield, and therefore complicates the exploration and/or mining of gold in this area.

The post-Witwatersrand faulting, represented by normal faults such as the De Bron and Homestead faults, form the De Bron horst. This block of uplifted lower Witwatersrand sediments demarcate the eastern boundary to mining in the Free State Goldfield.

The ore bodies of the Free State Goldfield occur within the CRG, and the major gold-producing unit is the Basal (or Steyn) Reef, which together with the Leader Reef, occurs throughout the goldfield. Other important economic horizons are the A, B and Eldorado Reefs (Figure 5).

The important gold-bearing reefs in the Odendaalsrus-Virginia area are tabulated below:-

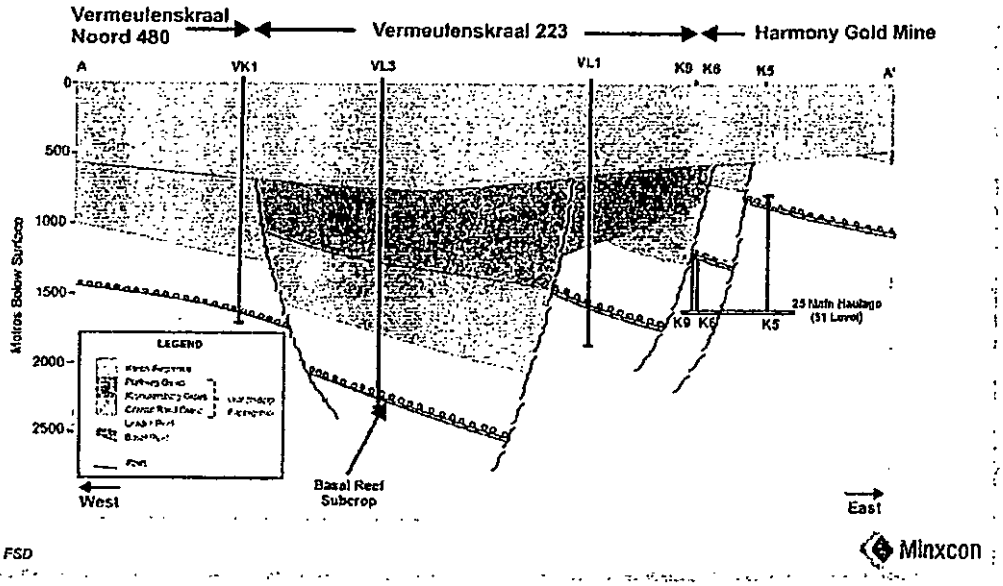
6.3 Project Geology

T4.
T4.

The Project is located in an area which has been extensively mined for gold, and the local geology is therefore considered to be fairly well understood and interpreted. The placers of primary economic interest at the Project area are the Basal and Leader Reefs. Other reefs found in this area include the A and B Reefs, BPM (Sand River Reef), Aandenk and VS5/Beatrix Reefs. The Vermeulenskraal prospect lies just to the south of the Sand River and is to the west of Harmony Mine. The Du Preez Leger prospect lies to the south of the Harmony Brand and St Helena mines, and to the west of the Harmony Unisel Mine. These mines have mainly exploited the Basal and Leader Reefs. The A-Reef has also been extensively mined on Brand Mine to the north of the Project area.

The other two prospect areas comprise Tweepan (comprising the farms Millo 693 and Tweepan 678) and Rebelkop. Limited information is available for these two prospects.

Tweepan is located south of the Harmony Merriespruit mine, and Rebelkop is situated to the east of the Harmony Virginia mine. Leader Reef is developed on both of these areas. The Basal Reef on Tweepan is developed only on the farm Tweepan 678 and not on farm Millo 693. B Reef is also developed only on Tweepan.



The sizes of the prospects as listed previously are: Vermeulenskraal: 913 Ha, Du Preez Leger/ Jonkersrust: 1,101 Ha, Millo/Tweepan: 355 Ha and Rebelkop: 689 Ha.

6.3.1 Stratigraphy

The sediments of the Central Rand Group are overlain by the Karoo and Ventersdorp Supergroup rocks in the Project area. The Karoo sediments at the Project area varies in thickness from 550-700m. These are underlain by the lavas and sediments of the Ventersdorp Supergroup, which are mainly comprised of andesitic lavas of the Klipriviersberg Group. In places these have been eroded by Ventersdorp sediments of the Klippan Formation (thick sequences of poorly sorted debris flows). Towards the south of the Welkom Goldfield, there has been a thinning of the Central Rand Group stratigraphy and the Basal Reef subcrops against the Leader Reef, which is developed over the entire Project area. This subcrop results in Basal Reef only being formed on approximately 45% of Vermeulenskraal and on a little over 10% of the Du Preez Leger prospect.

There is less information available on the overlying stratigraphy of the Central Rand Group on the prospects south and east of the Harmony Merriespruit and Virginia mines, but these would also comprise Karoo and Ventersdorp Supergroup rocks. Tweepan is characterised by Central Rand Group sediments underlying the entire property and Rebelkop by Central Rand Group underlying approximately 70% of the area.

6.3.2 Structure

The economic reefs are found at different depths below surface. On Vermeulenskraal, the Basal Reef varies in depth from 2,100m to 2,350m to the west of the NNE-SSW trending Vermeulenskraal Fault, whilst to the east the depth varies between 1,400m and 2,000m. The reefs dip on average approximately 15° towards the east, but local variations have been noted. The Leader reef overlies the Basal Reef at varying distance intervals, with the Basal Reef eventually subcropping against the Leader Reef to the south of the property - on a roughly east-west trend. On the Du Preez Leger prospect, the Basal Reef is found at depths of between 1,000m and 1,200m. The Leader Reef is found at depths between 1,000m and 1,900m. The dips of the reefs are to the east on St Helena and Unisel mines, which are contiguous to the north and east of the Du Preez Leger prospect area, and vary between 20 and 45°. On Tweepan, the Leader Reef is found to be 1,200m to 2,300m below surface. The Basal reef on Tweepan is 1,300m to 2,300m deep, whilst the B Reef is located at depths between 1,300 and 2,300m. On Rebelkop, the Leader Reef is present at depths between 1,100m and 2,000m.

The general structure of the Welkom Goldfields comprises north-south normal faults which successively displace the orebodies downwards to the west. The regional dip is 15° towards the east but variations are caused due to local structural controls. These dips are found to be almost vertical along the western margin to very flat-lying in the eastern parts of the goldfield. The largest of these faults is the De Bron Fault, which transects the Tweepan prospect. The Du Preez Leger and Vermeulenskraal prospects are to the west of this fault, whilst Rebelkop is to the east. The displacement along this fault is in the order of 1,000m. The local structural environment of the Vermeulenskraal prospect is dominated by the NNE-SSW trending normal Vermeulenskraal Fault as well as associated sub-parallel faults. They display downward displacements to the west. The Du Preez Leger prospect is located west of the Stuurmanspan Fault. This is another large normal fault which displays strong dextral lateral shifts too. On Unisel and St Helena mines large scale E-W thrusting has been noted, thus causing duplication of the ore body towards the south. The potential for the occurrence of similar structures on the Du Preez Leger Project is great.

6.4 Mineralisation at the Project Area

The Basal Reef, which is the major ore horizon of the Free State goldfield, varies in character in different parts of the goldfield. In general, it is thicker and more robust in the south, where it may consist of several bands of conglomerate with interstitial quartzite layers, the total reef package being up to 1.5m thick in the south of President Brand and President Steyn leases and up to 3m thick in the Virginia-Merriespruit area. Gold mineralisation is often associated with fairly coarse buckshot pyrite. The reef thins towards the north to often not more than a few centimetres and is usually a single band of conglomerate or coarse grit with associated carbon. Scour channels, both pre- and post-Basal Reef in age, are fairly common, especially in the eastern sector.

The Leader Reef is a persistent conglomerate, present over the entire Free State Gold Field, which usually carries low amounts of gold. It has been mined in certain localised areas and is likely to contribute considerable ore reserves in the future as it is in stratigraphic proximity to the Basal Reef and as a result does not require significant additional underground development to explore and exploit.

The A Reef and the B Reef, both in the Kimberly Stage, are widespread but have not been extensively mined although rich patches of B Reef have historically been exploited in the northern part of the goldfield.

The Elsburg Reefs consist of lenses of auriferous conglomerate occurring in a thick quartzite succession. The Elsburg Reefs (or Rainbow Reefs) differ from the normal, essentially barren, Elsburg conglomerate beds (locally referred to as zones VS 1 to VS 4) with which they are correlated; whereas the pebbly constituents of the latter consist of a variety of rock types, those of the former are composed of quartz and chert pebbles, or may pass into grit essentially composed of quartz and chert fragments. It is believed that older Witwatersrand reefs, which were truncated and eroded along the western side of this goldfield, contributed the gold in these reefs.

7 HISTORICAL EXPLORATION AND SAMPLING METHODS

T2.1
T2.3

The four prospects have different exploration histories. On Vermeulenskraal, three exploration phases took place. During the late 1940's, FSD sunk a single borehole (HV1) on the boundary of Vermeulenskraal 223 and Hakkies 735 which intersected Leader Reef as well as faulted successions. Rand Mines completed a second phase of drilling in March 1975. Six surface holes (VL1 to VL6) as well as three underground holes were drilled from the boundary of Harmony Gold Mine. The third phase of exploration was a haulage developed from Merriespruit 1 Shaft which exposed 422m of Leader Reef. This was the only reef exposed.

On the Du Preez Leger prospect, fourteen boreholes within or adjacent to the property have been used for evaluation purposes of the Leader Reef. The Basal Reef has only been intersected in 3 boreholes. This is due to most of the area being south of the Basal/Leader Reef subcrop.

There is no record of previous drilling on Tweepan or Rebelkop; thus the grades have been estimated from mining and drilling values available on adjoining properties.

T2.1
T3.

The original hard copy borehole logs for the Vermeulenskraal holes are available. Electronic information is available for the other prospects. This information was however not validated by Minxcon against the original data for purposes of this resource estimation. The positions of the Leader-Basal Reef subcrop and prospects were also made available in electronic format. The holes on Vermeulenskraal were drilled by FSD and Rand Mines, whilst the holes on the Du Preez Leger prospect were drilled by Anglo American.

Details of historic borehole surveys, sampling methods, drilling techniques, sample recovery, logging techniques and other sources of information were not available. No details regarding the Quality Assurance and Quality Control ("QA/QC") for the sampling and assays were available. Minxcon did not receive any details regarding the assay laboratory and assaying procedure. As such, there can be no comment on the integrity of sampling results, but this is relied upon as being accurately recorded by current and previous Project owners for evaluation purposes. T2.1B (i

9 MINERAL RESOURCE ESTIMATION

9.1 Density Estimation

A density of 2.7t/m^3 was applied to the Mineral Resource estimates. This value is based on an average known density for Witwatersrand orebodies.

9.2 Grade Estimation

T4.2b

9.2.1 Domaining

Four geostatistical domains (geozones) were modelled for the Basal Reef and eleven geozones were modelled for the Leader Reef, based on the grade relationships and data trends of the boreholes (Figure 7 and Figure 8).

9.2.2 Compositing

The drillholes represent full reef composites, i.e. one intersection value per drill hole. The composite was then used in the estimation process.

9.2.3 Geostatistical Evaluation Method

The following applies to the Resource area and was undertaken using Minxcon's 'Res' geostatistical program which utilizes Datamine™ as the platform software. Full reef composite mining cut values (Au content (cm.g/t)) have been interpolated into a 2D block model. The block model size of 500X500m was determined from the drill hole spacing, and the continuous nature of the ore body ('stationarity' principal). Simple kriging estimation technique was used, based primarily on drill hole spacing. Detailed checks were carried out to validate kriging outputs, including input data, kriged estimates and kriging efficiency checks.

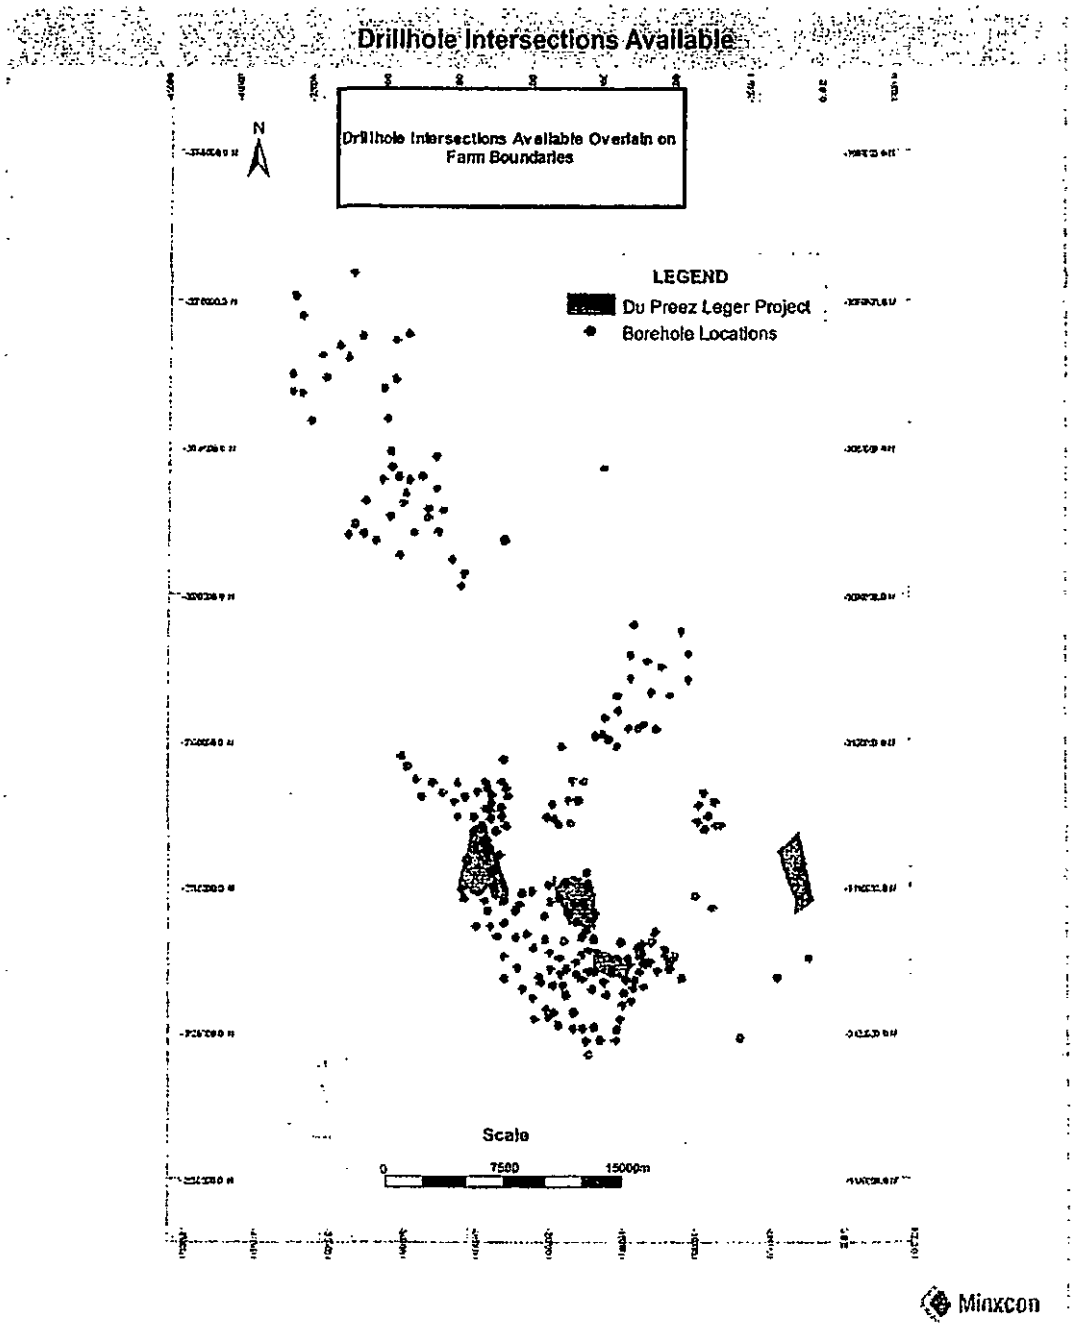
The following parameters were used in the kriging process for both reef horizons:

- Point data - metal content (Au (cm.g/t)) and thickness (cm);
- 500m x 500m x 1m block size (X,Y,Z);
- Subcells employed;
- Parent cell estimation;
- Discretisation 5 x 5 x 1 for each 500m x 500m x 1m block;
- First search volume - approximately 1.5 times the variogram range (m);
    - Minimum number of samples 4 in search volume one (SVOL1);
    - Maximum number of samples 40 in search volume one (SVOL1);
- Second search volume 1.5 times first search volume;
    - Minimum number of samples: 2;
    - Maximum number of samples: 40;
- Third search volume was not employed due to drill hole spacing being adequate for search volumes 1 & 2;
- Interpolation method - Simple kriging.

- Metal Grade (Au g/t) was calculated from metal content and mining width;

9.2.4 Assumptions and Adjustments

T2.5 (l)
T4.1A (
T4.1B
T8 (ll)



The Basal Reef and Leader Reef at the Project Area are defined as consistent tabular ore bodies across the Project Area, which allowed a 2 dimensional ("2D") approach to the Mineral Resource estimation. Simple kriging estimation was employed. The estimation process utilised the gold metal content (cm.g/t) and thickness (cm).

A total of 110 accepted Basal Reef and 135 Leader Reef intersections were available for the Mineral Resource estimation, of which 15 Basal Reef intersections fell within the Resource area, and 124 Leader Reef intersections fells within the Resource area. The distance between drill holes varied between 600m and over one kilometre. The gold metal grade was estimated from metal content and mining width.

No audits or reviews have been conducted on the data used in the Mineral Resource estimation.

True widths of reef intersections were used for the Mineral Resource estimation.

9.2.5 Statistical Analyses

Statistical analyses were performed on the gold content (Au cm.g/t) and mining width (cm) of each domain within the Project Area, to develop an understanding of the statistical characteristics and sample population distribution relationships, in order for valid and geostatistically sound models to be generated. This section guides the manner in which the estimation is undertaken and reconciled to. The tables below summarises the key descriptive statistics that should always be undertaken on data prior to modelling. Descriptive statistics in the form of histograms (frequency distributions) and probability plots (used to evaluate the normality of the distribution of a variable) were used to develop an understanding of such statistical relationships (refer to Appendix 6). Negative values in the tables below represent log space values.

9.2.6 Variography

Variograms are an essential tool for investigating the spatial relationships of samples. Variograms for metal content (Au cm.g/t) and mining width ("CW") were modelled. Anisotropy was investigated, although all variograms are deemed best represented by omni-directional models. The tables below summarise the variogram model parameters for the Resource area.

Cutting/Capping

Cutting/capping of outlier data is undertaken in the variography process in order to model the population variance which is not unduly influenced by outlier values. No Capping or cutting is undertaken during the kriging exercise. Use of the log normal and normal probability plots aids in determining the outliers that would be capped/cut in the variography stage. The following domains were capped/cut in the variography process:-

Table 7: Capped/Cut Values for Basal and Leader Reef Domains

	2	500
	3	280
Leader Reef	4	300

9.2.7 Resource Classification

The accuracy of the Mineral Resource classification is a function of the confidence levels inherent in the entire process comprising drilling, sampling, geological understanding and geostatistical relationships. The following aspects or parameters were considered for Mineral Resource classification:

1. Sampling - quality assurance & quality control (QA/QC):
    a. Measured: high confidence, no problem areas;
    b. Indicated: high confidence, some problem areas with low risk;
    c. Inferred: some aspects might be of medium to high risk.
2. Geological confidence:
    a. Measured: high confidence in the understanding of geological relationships, continuity of geological trends and sufficient data;
    b. Indicated: Good understanding of geological relationships;
    c. Inferred: geological continuity not established.
3. Number of samples used to estimate a specific block:
    a. Measured: at least 4 boreholes within variogram range and minimum of twenty one-metre composited samples;
    b. Indicated: at least 3 boreholes within variogram range and a minimum of twelve one-metre composite samples;
    c. Inferred: less than 3 boreholes within the variogram range.
4. Kriged variance:
    a. This is a relative parameter and is only an indication and used in conjunction with the other parameters.
5. Distance to sample (variogram range):
    a. Measured: at least within 60% of variogram range;
    b. Indicated: within variogram range;
    c. Inferred: further than variogram range.
6. Lower confidence limit (blocks):
    a. Measured: less than 20% from mean (80% confidence);
    b. Indicated: 20%-40% from mean (80%-60% confidence);
    c. Inferred: more than 40% (less than 60% confidence).
7. Kriging efficiency:
    a. Measured: more than 40%;
    b. Indicated: 20-40%;
    c. Inferred: less than 20%.
8. Deviation from lower 90% confidence limit (data distribution within Resource area considered for classification):
    a. Measured: less than 10% deviation from mean;

b. Indicated: 10-20%;
c. Inferred: more than 20%.

9.3 Effect of Modifying Factors

T5.5B (

No account of any modifying factors such as mining methods, metallurgical treatment processes and parameters, taxation, socio-economic, marketing or political factors have been taken into account.

9.4 Technical Parameters affecting the Resource Declaration

No mining or plant recoveries factors have been built into the Mineral Resource model. However, the Mineral Resource is calculated based on mining cut widths.

10 MINERAL RESOURCE CLASSIFICATION

10.1 Summary of Mineral Resources

The table below details the Mineral Resource with regards to reef versus Resource cut (minimum stoping width of 120cm) both at a zero cut-off and a cut-off of 250cm.g/t. This cut-off was based on cut-offs used by the adjacent gold mines, e.g. Harmony operations.

Notes:
3. SW – Minimum Stoping Width of 120cm
4. CW – Corrected Channel Width

The total Inferred Mineral Resource (diluted to stoping width) for the Du Preez Leger Project at a cut off grade of 250cm.g/t is 63,613,393t at a grade of 4.96g/t.

Possible opportunities that may affect the Mineral Resources include:-

T19B

- Mine reefs on incremental basis, in order to incorporate low-grade areas into production;
- Increases in the Mineral Resources could result from significant change to the commodity prices and modifying factors which impact the cut-off grade currently used to state the Resources; and
- Review of the uranium potential of the mineralised horizons.

10.2 Basis of Classification of Mineral Resources

All the aspects of the Project Mineral Resource estimate are compliant with the specifications embodied in the SAMREC Code. The Mineral Resource pertains to Au grades (g/t) at a cut-off of 250cm.g/t. All Mineral Resource estimation carried out by Minxcon adheres to the guidelines stipulated in the SAMREC Code.

Only Mineral Resources have been estimated for this report. All Mineral Resources have been classified as Inferred Mineral Resources, according to the specifications of the SAMREC code.

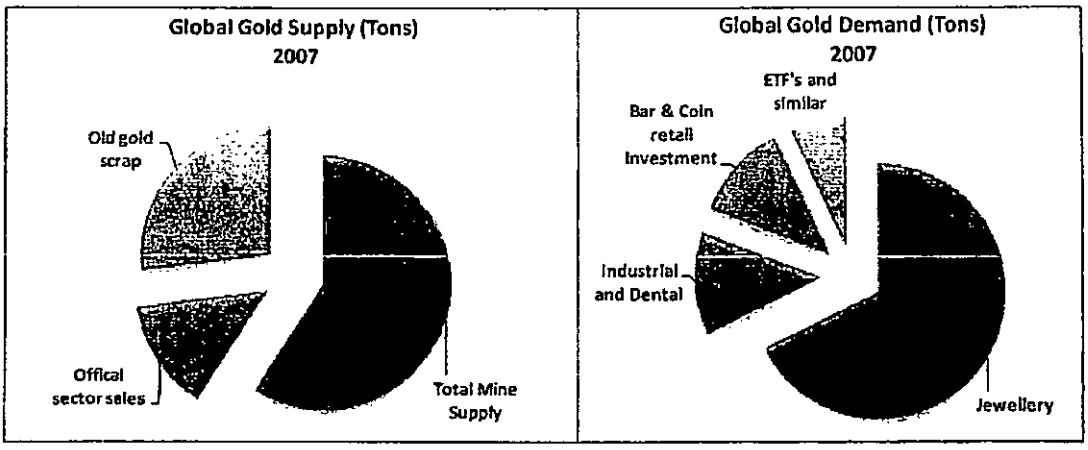
Based on the drill hole spacing and kriging efficiencies of the estimates, and a number of other parameters, the Mineral Resource estimate was deemed to fulfil the requirements of being an Inferred Mineral Resource. T7B

10.3 Relationship of the QP to the Issuer

Apart from having been contracted to compile this report, the QP's have no commercial or other relationship with FSD. The QP who undertook the Mineral Resource estimation and compilation of this Technical Report was Mr C J Muller (B.Sc. (Geol.) Rand Afrikaanse University, Pr. Sci. Nat. (400201/04)).

11 FURTHER WORK

Proposed further work on the Project will include an in-depth review of the available data by a competent geological consulting company with the possible progression, depending upon the results of the aforesaid review, to drilling of up to four geological boreholes as envisaged in the Prospecting works Programme.



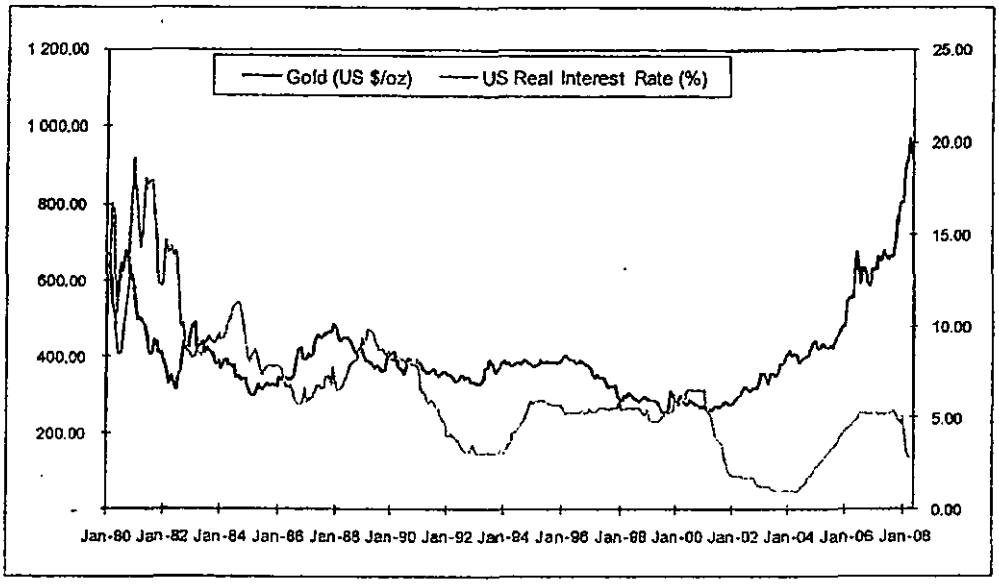
The estimated funding requirements for exploration for 2009 and 2010 is ZAR5.185 million, and the Company has sufficient cash resources to fund future exploration and environmental work. 12.9 i

12 GOLD MARKETS T5.8 i

Since 2001, the US$ gold price has steadily been increasing, reaching a high of US$1,011/oz in March 2008, which is the highest gold price ever recorded. The average quarterly price for the first quarter of 2008 was US$924.83/oz, up US$138.58/oz from the final quarter of 2007. An encouraging sign is that both consumers and investors pushed demand for gold to a record level of US$79.2 billion in 2007 (a 20% increase from 2006 figures), according to figures published by the World Gold Council ("WGC"), with all categories of demand (jewellery, industrial and investment) recording double-digit year-on-year growth in dollar terms.

In 2007, the supply of gold fell by 3% below 2006 levels to 3,469 tonnes. Mine output remained similar to that of 2006. An increase in de-hedging, which rose to 400 tonnes from 373 tonnes, and a 15% fall in scrap supply were largely, but not entirely offset, by higher level of central bank sales (World Gold Council Website, April 2008).

Figure 10: Global Gold Supply and Demand Distribution



For now, the outlook for gold remains buoyant. Historically drivers for gold creating market uncertainty and prompting investors to opt for gold as alternative investment were:-

- political uncertainty;
- currency fluctuation;
- stock market uncertainty;
- high inflation and low real interest rates;
- global economic uncertainty.

Although the gold market has never again experienced hyperinflation like was seen in the early 1980's, it still has an impact as illustrated in the figure below, effectively lowering the real interest rate in the US.

Source: Kitco; Economic Research - Federal Reserve Bank of St Louis

The real rate of short term interest is currently following a downward trend, going close to negative territory therefore forcing investors to find alternative investments. In addition to this, the continued credit crisis and depreciation of the US$ has led to increased gold purchases as a safe haven asset and dollar hedge. These factors underpinned the gold price reaching levels above US$1000/oz. The gold price has seen a significant turnaround since March 2001, when the price hovered around the US$260/oz level, currently trading at between US$750/oz to US$900/oz, levels last seen in the 1980's.

Gold prices during 2007 have largely been attributed to the interplay between investors and the jewellery sector. The year saw capital flowing into such homes as exchange traded funds ("ETF's"), allocated metal accounts and the futures markets. The United States and world markets are currently dominated by the fallout from the housing and financial sector crisis in the US. The first quarter of 2008 was beset by announcements of massive sub-prime related write downs and record losses in the banking sector. Sharp falls in the value of financial stocks dragged down world equity markets.

Despite the recent financial market turmoil which usually boosts the demand for the metal, the price of gold has fallen in recent months. However in recent days investors have showed renewed interest in Gold as an alternative investment.

On balance the price is expected to return to the US$800-900/oz band over the next two years. The higher gold price has triggered renewed interest on the areas previously ignored on the Witwatersrand Complex. This is evident in the listing of Witwatersrand Consolidated Gold Resources with exploration targets in the area of interest. The company has drawn significant interest and has a market Capitalisation of ZAR1.080bn

13 SOUTH AFRICA'S FINANCIAL AND ECONOMIC STATUS

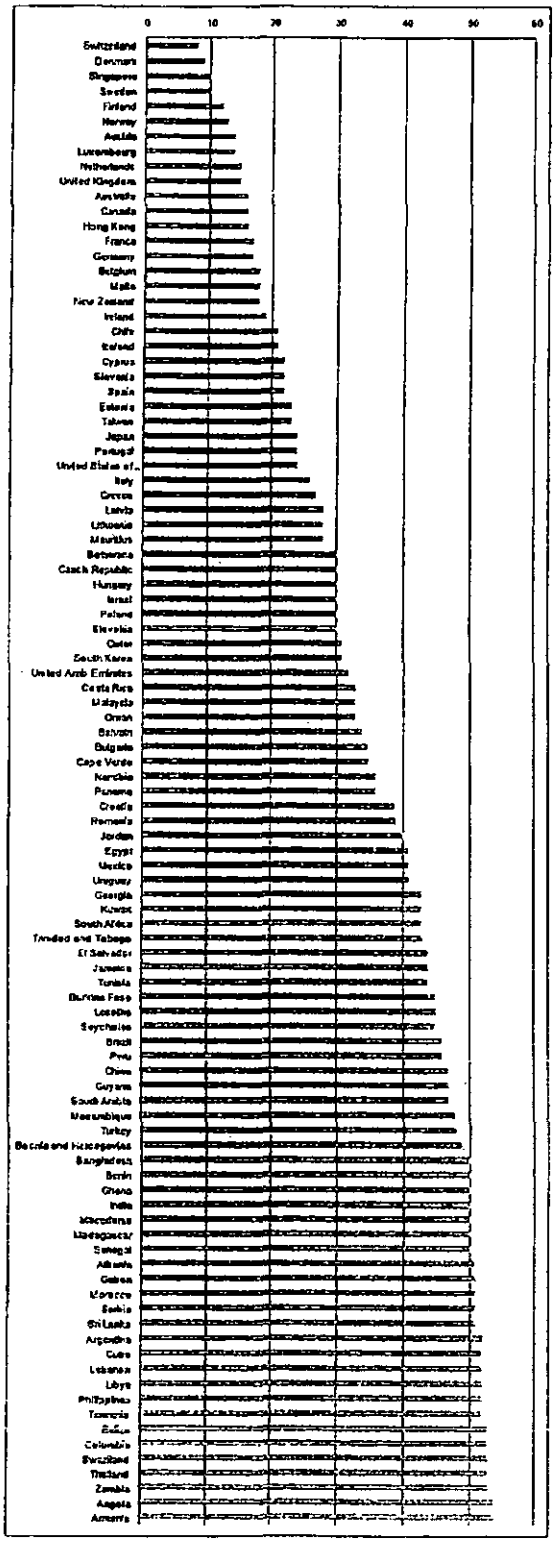
Since its democracy, the country has enjoyed a period of relative political and social stability. South Africa has been considered to have the most advanced economy on the African continent and it also provides the gateway to Sub-Saharan Africa. It is classified as a middle-income emerging market with well developed financial, legal and judicial systems and modern infrastructure. It has a stock exchange that ranks among the 10 largest in the world.

The South African government promotes and encourages foreign investment although foreign investors are treated substantially the same as domestic investors. They receive access to the same export incentive programs and tariffs, tax allowances and other trade regulations. Profits earned by a non-resident shareholder in a South African company can be freely remitted through an authorized dealer or bank in South Africa.

South Africa is rich in mineral resources and is the world's largest producer of gold, chromium, platinum and vanadium, and ranks within the top ten in production of diamonds, iron ore, palladium, manganese, nickel and titanium.

South Africa's GDP was estimated at US$587.5bn for 2006 with an annual real growth rate of 5%. South Africa's inflation rate has decreased over the last ten years and is estimated at 4.6% for 2006 and South Africa's exports amounted to US$63.7bn for 2006 (CIA World Fact Book, 2008).

South Africa's economic policy is fiscally conservative, but pragmatic, focusing on targeting inflation and liberalizing trade as means to increase employment and of the national income (CIA World Fact Book, 2006).



Recent legislation has created a changing business environment in South Africa. Black Economic Empowerment ("BEE"), increased social responsibility, new regulations relating to employment opportunities for historically disadvantaged South Africans ("HDSA's) and ownership of all mineral rights reverted to the state have become important social and political issues.

Figure 14 illustrates the Economist Intelligence Unit's Business Environment ranking for the first 100 out of 150 countries the unit analysis. The operational risk model quantifies the risks to business profitability in each of the countries covered by the service. In these assessments the EIU takes into account present conditions and their expectations for the coming two years. The operational risk model considers ten separate risk criteria:

- security
- political stability
- government effectiveness
- the legal and regulatory environment
- macro-economic risks
- foreign trade and payments issues
- labour markets
- financial risks
- tax policy
- the standard of local infrastructure

The EIU then assess the ten criteria on a scale of 0-100, with 0 indicating very little risk to business profitability and 100 indicating very high risk.

14 SOUTH AFRICAN MINING LAW

The Mineral and Petroleum Resource Development Act of 2002 ("MPRDA" or "the Act") was enacted in South Africa on 1 May 2004. This Act defines the State's legislation on Mineral Rights and Mineral transactions in South Africa. One of the focus points of the Act is that it emphasises that the government does not accept the dual State and private ownership of Mineral Rights in South Africa, and the long-term objective is for all Mineral Rights to vest in the State.

The Act entrenches a "use it and keep it" principle that will be applied to companies or individuals who owned old order, i.e. rights in force immediately before the date on which the Act took effect, Mineral Rights, Prospecting Permits and Mining Licences under the previous legislation. Under the provisions of the Act, privately held old order Mineral Rights must be transferred into Rights to prospect and Mine. In due course, all Minerals in South Africa will vest in the State and private persons and mining and exploration companies must apply for new order rights to mine or prospect for Minerals. In the Act, the State has reaffirmed its commitment to guaranteeing security of tenure in respect of prospecting and mining operations. However, the Act does not allow for the hoarding Mineral rights to the exclusion of new entrants to the Minerals industry.

A further objective of the Act is the pursuance of the government's policy of furthering black economic empowerment ("BEE") within South Africa's Minerals industry, by encouraging Mineral exploration and mining companies to enter into equity partnerships with BEE companies.

The Act also makes provision for the implementation of social responsibility procedures and programmes by Mineral Resource companies. Applicants for rights to prospect and Mine will be required to provide details of these criteria under Schedule II of the Act, which details the Transitional Arrangements.

Schedule II of the Act outlines certain transitional arrangements whereby holders of old order Mineral Rights were required to lodge for conversion of the right within one year. This deadline therefore lapsed on 1 May 2005 and all old order Mineral Rights that were not converted to new order Prospecting or Mining Rights was transferred back to the State.

Any old order Prospecting Permits continued in force for a period of two years from the date on which the Act took effect. This deadline lapsed on 1 May 2006 and if companies had not lodged for conversion of the permits to new order Prospecting Rights, the old order Prospecting Permits became invalid.

Old order Mining Licences or Authorisations continue in force for a period of five years from the date on which the Act took effect and will lapse on 1 May 2009 or on the date up to which the Mining Licence is valid, if this date precedes 1 May 2009. Applications to convert these rights to new order mining rights must be lodged before 1 May 2009.

Holders of unused old order rights had the exclusive right to apply for a Prospecting or Mining Right within one year of the Act coming into effect, failing which the right ceased to exist.

14.1 Mining Charter

The Mining Charter, which came into effect on 1 May 2004, provides a framework to assist mining companies to carry out their obligation to comply with sections 2(d) and 2(f) of the MPRDA. The Mining Charters main objectives are:-

- to promote equitable access to South Africa's Mineral Resources for all the people of South Africa;

- to substantially and meaningfully expand opportunities for historically disadvantaged South Africans ("HDSA's"), including women, to enter the mining and minerals industry and to benefit from the exploitation of South Africa's Mineral Resources;
- to utilise the existing skills base for the empowerment of HDSA;
- to expand the skills base of HDSA to serve the community;
- to promote employment and advance the social and economic welfare of mining communities and areas supplying mining labour; and
- to promote beneficiation of South Africa's mineral commodities beyond mining and processing, including the production of consumer products.

The Mining Charter also clarifies that it is not the Government's intention to nationalise the mining industry. To achieve these objectives, the Mining Charter requires that each mining company achieves a 15% HDSA ownership of mining assets within five years and a 26% HDSA ownership of mining assets within 10 years. Ownership can comprise active involvement, through HDSA controlled companies (where HDSA own at least 50% plus one share of the company and have management control), strategic joint ventures or partnerships (where HDSA own at least 25% plus one vote and there is joint management and control) or collective investment vehicles (the majority ownership of which is HDSA based) or passive involvement, particularly through broad based vehicles like employee stock option plans.

When considering applications for the conversion of existing licenses, the government will take a "scorecard" approach to ascertain a company's compliance with the charter. In February 2003, the Department of Minerals and Energy ("DME") published the scorecard, which is intended to facilitate the application of the Mining Charter and measure compliance with the empowerment requirements of the MPRDA for the purpose of determining whether an application for conversion of old order rights to new order rights should be granted. The scorecard sets out the requirements of the Mining Charter in tabular form, which allows the DME to check areas where a mining company is in compliance. The scorecard covers the following areas:-

- Human Resource development;
- Employment equity (including participation in management and participation by women);
- Migrant labour;
- Mine community and rural development;
- Housing and living conditions;
- Ownership and joint ventures;
- Beneficiation; and
- Reporting.

The Mining Charter, together with the scorecard, provides a system of "credits" or "offsets" with respect to measuring compliance with HDSA ownership targets. The charter also requires mining companies to submit annual, audited reports on progress towards their commitments.

14.2 The Royalty Bill

The National Treasury recently released the fourth draft of the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Royalty Bill, for a final round of public comment and parliamentary review. The tax base for the Mineral and Petroleum Resources royalty regime as defined in both the first and second draft Bills was gross sales. In the latest draft of the Bill, gross sales are confirmed as the tax base, but it also takes into account the process of beneficiation. In general, beneficiation expenses in the gold industry relate to smelting, refining and processing. These expenses qualify as deductible expenditure, but in the case of gold are very low at 0.4%. In addition to a revised tax base, the royalty rates have also been reviewed. Both the first and second draft Bills incorporated specific, but differential royalty rates for the various minerals.

In the second draft Bill the specific royalty rates were reduced and, in addition, dual royalty rates were introduced for certain minerals (with a lower rate for refined minerals). The latest royalty rate structure will be based on a formula that takes into account the profitability of a company, as follows:-

$$\text{Royalty Rate} = \frac{0.5 + \text{EBIT} \times 100}{\text{Gross sales for the assessment period} \times 12.5}$$

15 VALUATION OF THE PROJECT

12.9 (g)

The value enhancement of mining Projects typically takes on the shape of an S-curve over the different stages of the Mineral Resource upgrade, from the discovery of the deposit through to the mineral Project's commissioning stage.

The methodologies used in valuing a Project differ depending on whether the Project is at the exploration stage or the producing stage. Minxcon considered the following valuation methodologies, which are internationally acceptable methods of valuing mineral Projects:-

- Historical Cost Method: Used to value early stage exploration Projects ("moose pasture" with a few boreholes drilled and encouraging results obtained);
- Comparative Value Approach: Used to value middle stage exploration Projects (several boreholes drilled with encouraging results) and a resource statement;
- Discounted Cash Flow: Used to value late stage exploration Projects through to development Projects (pre-feasibility study already completed with positive results decision made to carry out a full bankable feasibility study, the bank financing lined up or construction to begin in the next 6 months).

The following table illustrates the acceptable methods of mineral Project valuation compared to a Projects development level as detailed in the SAMVAL Code:-

Table 9: Acceptable Methods of Mineral Project Valuation

Valuation Approach	Valuation Methodology	Dormant Properties	Exploration Properties	Development Properties	Mining Properties	Defunct Properties
Cash Flow Capitalisation (DCF)	DCF	No	No	Yes	Yes	No
Sales\Market Comparisons	Comparable		Yes	Yes		Yes
Cost	Historical cost	Yes		No	No

	Most Acceptable Method and Widely Used
	Acceptable Method and quite widely used
	Less acceptable method, less widely used and poorly understood
	Not Generally Used

Standard Methods of valuation were used to value the Du Preez Leger Project, which in this instance comprised the comparative value method of valuation. The analysis was also compared to most recent transactions in the market and the market value of listed companies.

15.1 Comparative Value Method

The Comparative Value Method is based upon other, preferably recent, arm's length transactions of a similar nature. It is generally based upon a monetary value per unit of Resource (where available) or per unit of defined mineralisation. Minxcon has plotted the total values of transactions of a similar nature on a graph in relation to their specific stage of exploration, in order to make the necessary comparisons.

The Minxcon Gold Value Curve is based on a database of 30 historical transactions. This methodology, particularly when used on Projects located in the reasonably consistent Witwatersrand Complex, provides some guidance to the valuator and gives a range of values paid for prospective ground. The valuation was also benchmarked against other valuations that Minxcon and other institutions conducted on properties in the area. However, one of the biggest shortfalls of this valuation method is that a transaction between two parties took place at a specific point in time in the past, and therefore fixes the value at a specific Gold Price and Rand/Dollar exchange rate. A mechanism was developed by Minxcon that takes this into account.

It is well known that mining share prices are highly geared towards changes in economic business cycles, not only because of financial gearing, but also as a result of market expectations. The same applies to the value of exploration companies and targets. Inflated prices, as a result of higher demand, and strategic decisions are factored into a Project and result in an increase in value. To cater for this, Minxcon recorded a three month average gold price and Rand/Dollar exchange rate that preceded the valuation date.

By comparing the historical metal prices and exchange rates to those used to evaluate the prospective Project, an adjustment can be made to the historical transaction value to enable the valuator to compare Projects using a similar price basket. This is a simple linear calculation, which is conservative considering that the gearing of mining profits could be as much as 40% on price changes of 10%.

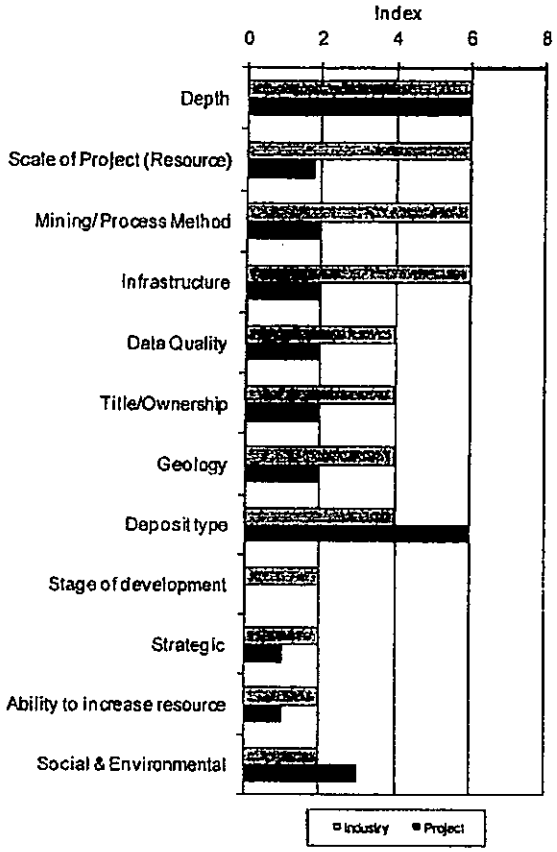
Once these values had been adjusted, the numbers were used to produce an S-curve from a Gompertz Curve formula, a mathematical model for a time series, where value increase is the slowest at the start and end of a time period, a phenomenon associated with mineral Projects. This was then plotted on a graph showing the increase in value during the process of Mineral Resource upgrade.
It is important to bear in mind that although historic transaction values were scientifically calculated, a valuation of a resource still remains largely subjective. However, in the absence of other reliable valuation methods, Minxcon prefers this method as it gives the user some guidance to what price ranges to expect. These numbers are also regularly tested against DCF values on a per oz basis, taking into account the dilution factors associated with the Resource to Reserve conversion.

15.1.1 Price Adjustment

T5.7

In order to determine the value of the reported Resources, historic transaction prices were used. These transaction prices were however adjusted to current terms by using a 3 month historic average preceding the calculation date. The following gold price and exchange rate were used in the price adjustment to current day terms:

Exchange Rate:	R8.51/US$
Gold Price:	US$825/oz



Gold Price (ZAR)	ZAR225,832/kg

This principle is used to reflect the current market expectation that is likely to drive the fair market value. Whilst this curve reflects the average industry values, Minxcon then calculate a project specific comparative, that is based on the risks associated with that specific project.

15.1.2 Principal Project Risk

There are specific project risks associated with each stage of project development. Initially, risk associated with the physical characteristics of an orebody is high. As a project moves past the feasibility stage and into detailed design, construction, start-up, and full operation, the uncertainty associated with the risk components is reduced. There is, however, less reduction in uncertainty with regard to the resources, mine life, and grade until well into the operating life, and because of the inherent unknowns in geology, some uncertainty persists until the end of the life of a mine. Figure 15 was derived from the results of a CIM survey where the respondents were asked to rank a list of mining project risks. Minxcon adopted these principles to calculate project specific risk and made minor changes that emulates the characteristics of the South African gold mining industry. The Project value attributors are measured against what Minxcon believes are the major influencing factors in the decision making process to determine the value of a Project, at its specific stage of development. Figure 15 represents the combined index (From 0 to 10) for the different Projects which were each analysed, on its own merit against an industry average.

The following table illustrates how the average US$/oz of the Du Preez Leger Project stack up against the industry norm and these factors were also taken into account in the valuation of the Project area. A discount was placed on the value due to the relatively low confidence levels in the Project as illustrated in Figure 15.

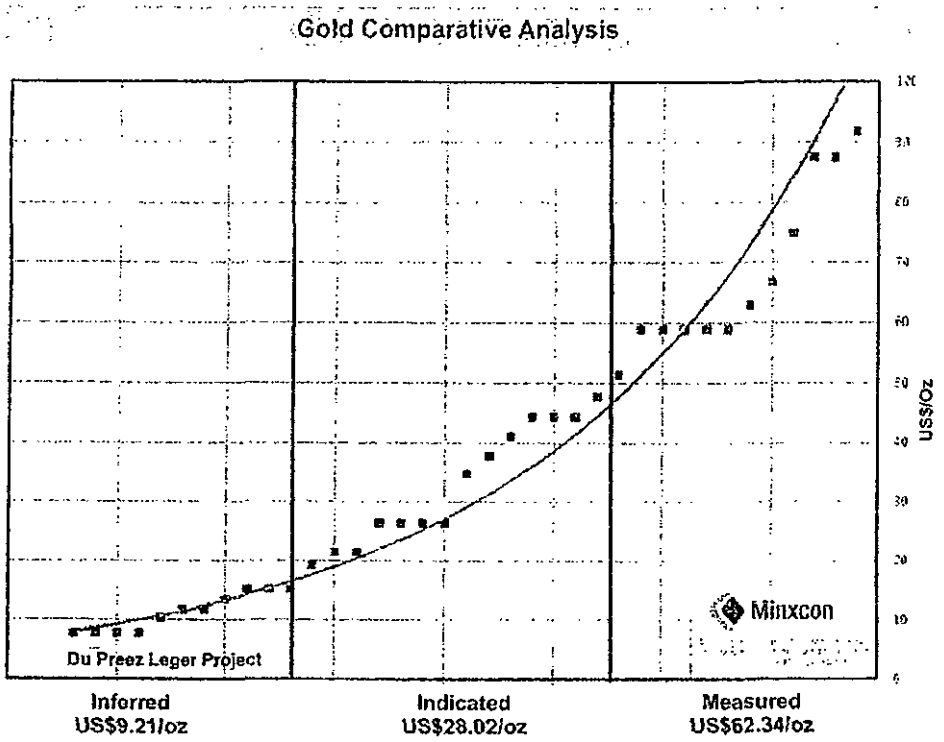

Table 10: Values Attributable to the Du Preez Leger Project

	Du Preez Leger Average	Industry
Inferred	$5.55/oz	$9.21/oz

15.1.3 Valuation Curve

The following diagram illustrates the derived industry valuation curve developed by Minxcon for historic Gold transactions and plotted onto it, the Du Preez Leger Project, which was valued on a comparative basis.

Note: Dots and Curve are derived from actual numbers by using Gompertz Curve

15.1.4 Market Comparison

As part of the valuation methodology, similar JSE listed gold companies were assessed and their enterprise value ("EV") was calculated. From these, their average market related dollar per ounce of resource value was calculated:-

Table 11: Market Related Values Per Ounce of Mineral Resource

Company	EV/oz
Aflease Gold	$3.00
Central Rand Gold	$3.55
DRD Gold	$1.85
Simmer and Jack Mines	$4.25
Pamodzi Gold	$7.83
Average	$4.096

Note: 1.Includes Measured, Indicated and Inferred
2.As at 6 Novemember 2008

Other factors taken into account include the recent aquisition of the Orkney and President Steyn Mine operations by Pamodzi Gold. Minxcon calculated that the Orkney operation was aquired at $2.78/oz and the President Steyn Mine was aquired for $2.47/oz. It must be kept in mind that these operations are very mature, with limited resource and substantial associated environmental liabilities, which impact dramatically on the price received. As both these operations are well developed mining operations, it was considered appropriate to further discount the value of the Du Preez Leger Project from $5.55/oz to a $2.1/oz value.

Witwatersrand Consolidated Gold Resources is currently exploring for gold in the area of interest and most of the properties discussed in this document are adjacent to that of Witsgold. The company has drawn significant interest and has a market Capitalisation of ZAR1.080bn. Value in these properties cannot be merely ignored. The successful listing and Market Capitalisation of Witsgold therefore demonstrates the value of such properties.

15.1.5 Project Value

A 2009 forecast rand/dollar exchange rate of R8.20/US$ as reported in the Investec 3rd quarter of 2008 macro-economic forecasts was used in the conversion of the US$.

The Rebelkop area does not have any estimated Mineral Resources, and as the Rebelkop area has been held by FSD since the early twentieth century, no information is available which could be used to apply the historical cost method of valuation. Hence the Project was valued using a value per hectare of ZAR20,000 as determined relative to the rand/hectare value of the other areas. In a study completed by the JCI gold unit, several boreholes were reported to intersected reef on neighbouring farms. A borehole WDR1 drilled in one corner of the farm intersected VS5, Leader and Basal Reef. Hence while no Resource was declared, Minxcon is of the opinion that exploration potential exists albeit with limited potential due to the sporadic nature of the leader reef and low grades of the other reefs intersected.

16 CONCLUSIONS

Minxcon have reached the following conclusions regarding the Du Preez Leger Project:-

- The mineralised reefs of economic interest at the Project area are the Basal and Leader Reefs;
- The geology of the area is structurally complex;
- The Mineral Resources estimated at the Project area have been classified as INFERRED Mineral Resources due to the lack of data for the area;
- The total Inferred Mineral Resource for the Du Preez Leger Project at a cut off grade of 250cm.g/t is 63.613Mt at a grade of 4.95g/t;
- On balance the gold price is expected to return to the US$800-900/oz band over the next two years. The higher gold price has triggered renewed interest in the areas previously ignored on the Witwatersrand Complex. This is evident in the listing of Witwatersrand Consolidated Gold Resources with a market Capitalisation of ZAR1:080bn, who owns mineral assets around the areas of interest, and
- The Du Preez Leger Project has a value of ZAR188.233 million.

Yours Sincerely

18 GLOSSARY OF TERMS

T10A (

Term	Definition
Adit	An opening driven horizontally into the side of a mountain or hill for providing access to a mineral deposit.
Acid Rock Drainage	The exposure, usually as a result of mining, of sulphide-bearing minerals to air and water, forming sulfuric acid. This acid dissolves metals such as lead, zinc, copper, arsenic, selenium, mercury, and cadmium, into ground and surface water. Acid rock/mine drainage can poison ground and drinking water and destroy aquatic life and habitat. Commonly mined ore bodies that pose the risk of acid rock drainage include gold, silver, copper, iron, zinc, and lead.
Alluvial	Deposited by running water.
Amsl	Above mean sea level
Achaean	A period of time between 4,000Ma and 2,500Ma.
Assay	Process to determine the proportions of metal in an ore.
Assay laboratory	A facility in which the proportions of metal in ores or concentrates are determined using analytical techniques.
Auriferous	A synonym for gold bearing.
Bearing	Strike
Black Economic Empowerment company ("BEE")	The following recommendations have been made to the South African government by the Black Economic Empowerment Commission regarding the definitions of different levels of company ownership by Black people that qualify for BEE status: • A 'Black company' is one that is 50.1% owned and managed by Black people; • A 'Black empowerment company' is one that is at least 25.1% owned and managed by Black people; and • A 'Black influenced company' is one that is 5% -25% owned and managed by Black people.
Blank	Samples that contain no mineral content that are sent to the assay laboratory for quality control.
Block model	Technique of modelling which divides the resources into mineable blocks.
Borehole	A hole drilled usually drilled from surface but also from underground, in which core of the rock strata is cut by a diamond-impregnated bit or crown as the cutting edge. This core can be studied and split with one half being sent for the determination of any contained metals (called assaying).
Bulk sample	Large sample which is processed through a small-scale plant and not a laboratory.
Buckshot Pyrite	Pyrite that has crystallised in a cubic shape.
Carbon-In-Pulp (CIP)	A common process used to extract gold from cyanide leach slurries. The process consists of carbon granules suspended in the slurry and flowing counter-current to the process slurry in multiple-staged agitated tanks. The process slurry, which has been leached with cyanide prior to the CIP process, contains solubilised gold. The solubilised gold is absorbed onto the carbon granules, which are subsequently separated from the slurry by screening. The gold is then recovered from the carbon by electrowinning onto steel wool cathodes or by a similar process.

It is based on detailed and reliable exploration, sampling and testing information gathered through appropriate techniques from locations such as outcrops,

Term	Definition

Mineable	That portion of a resource for which extraction is technically and economically feasible.
Mineral Reserve	The economically mineable material derived from a Measured and/or Indicated mineral Resource. It is inclusive of diluting materials and allows for losses that may occur when the material is mined. Appropriate assessments, which may include feasibility studies, have been carried out, including consideration of, and modification by, realistically assumed mining, metallurgical, economic, marketing, legal, environmental, social and governmental factors. These assessments demonstrate at the time of reporting that extraction is reasonably justified. Mineral Reserves are sub-divided in order of increasing confidence into Probable Mineral Reserves and Proved Mineral Reserves (SAMREC definition).
Mineral Resource	A concentration (or occurrence) of material of economic interest in or on the earth's crust in such form, quality and quantity that there are reasonable and realistic prospects for eventual economic extraction. The location, quantity, grade, continuity and other geological characteristics of a mineral resource are known, estimated from specific geological evidence and knowledge, or interpreted from a well-constrained and portrayed geological model. Mineral Resources are subdivided, in order of increasing confidence in respect of geoscientific evidence, into Inferred, Indicated and Measured categories (SAMREC definition).

Rehabilitation	The process of restoring mined land to a condition approximating to a greater or lesser degree its original state. Reclamation standards are determined by the South African Department of Mineral and Energy Affairs and address ground and surface water, topsoil, final slope gradients, waste handling and re-vegetation issues.
Relative Density	Relative density (also known as specific gravity) is a measure of the density of a material. It is dimensionless, equal to the density of the material divided by some reference density (most often the density of water, but sometimes the air when comparing to gases)

STATEMENT BY THE MEDIATORS
IN THE MEDIATION BETWEEN:
RANDGOLD AND EXPLORATION COMPANY LTD ("R&E") Claimant
and
JCI LIMITED ("JCI") Defendant

STATEMENT BY THE MEDIATORS

The mediation agreement in terms whereof we were appointed

"... to mediate the disputes and insofar as is possible make recommendations to the parties as to how the R&E Claims and the JCI Claims should be resolved"

provided, as a precursor to the mediation process, for an exchange of pleading in the nature of High Court pleadings, accompanied by all documents relied upon by each party to support its respective claim and the exchange of comprehensive reports from forensic accountants for both R&E and JCI.

In view of these comprehensive procedures, the optimistic timetable to address and try and resolve the issues between the parties soon turned out to be unachievable and led to an amended timetable.

R&E filed a statement of claim. In its plea thereto JCI denied that it was, in terms of the mediation agreement, liable for debts which may be found to be due by any of the JCI subsidiaries or by JCI, other than the debts of JCI Limited. That raised a question as to the scope of the mediation agreement and our powers thereunder. In addition, JCI notified an amendment to their original plea to seek a rectification of the mediation agreement to accord with its interpretation of that agreement. JCI did not submit a counter-claim.

We called for written submissions on the above issue from the lawyers representing the respective parties. We also interviewed current directors Messrs Gray and Nurek and erstwhile director Mr Lamprecht during early December 2006 in order to come to grips with the matter in issue.

A second important preliminary issue was raised by R&E. This related to the method of quantification of damages: R&E is seeking to recover damages allegedly due to thefts by or for the benefit of JCI. The question that was raised was how quantification should take place in our law in the event of a theft, as opposed to breach of contract or delict. Again, we called for written submissions from the respective legal teams.

Having considered these preliminary issues, we are in a position to give guidance to the parties as part of the mediation process. We do not consider it presently necessary to call for any further submissions regarding the legal issues.

By the end of 2006 it had become obvious to all involved in the process that the mediation would not be finalised before the end of the first quarter of 2007.

Various meetings have since been held between Professor Wainer and the forensic accountants representing both parties in order to attempt to narrow and to crystallise the areas of difference between the parties.

We also met separately with the representatives from the boards of both R&E and JCI on 9 February 2007 in order to, inter alia, obtain their thoughts regarding the disputes and possible resolution thereof.

We have recently also held meetings with the financial directors of both companies, inter alia, to obtain an understanding of the present financial position of the companies and the actual cash and benefits received from the transactions which are the subject of the dispute.

Having considered the various R&E claims and taking into account the areas of

In our view, a protracted arbitration between R&E and JCI followed by the spectre of a liquidation to satisfy any judgement is commercially and practically unattractive and will be value destructive for both sets of shareholders. The ultimate outcome of litigation would be uncertain and valuable management time will be sterilized in the process.

Litigation is also likely to be time consuming and expensive, create share value inhibitions during its duration and be significantly value destructive on a liquidation - both by the realisation of fire sale prices for assets and due to costs of liquidation.

Any settlement proposal which leaves no value for JCI shareholders is in our view unrealistic and would, for JCI, be a poor alternative to the litigation process, irrespective of its probable outcome.

Central to the determination of an overall settlement would be an assessment of the fair net asset value of both companies, particularly of JCI.

To ameliorate the difficulties in making an accurate assessment of the net asset value, it is recommended that an overall settlement be pursued on the basis of a merger between the companies. On a merged entity basis, at least any under/over estimation of the asset values will be captured within the shareholders' shareholding in the combined entity. Thus if, for example, certain assets ultimately yield a value of Rx more than the amount estimated for the purposes of the overall settlement, that amount will inure for the benefit of both sets of shareholders (albeit in diluted proportions).

Parallel to the mediation process, the chief executive and financial directors of both companies have explored and quantified various alternatives of possible amounts to be used for the purposes of a settlement figure - which would ultimately drive the share swap ratio between R&E and JCI. We have been apprised of these efforts.

Having regard to all of the above, a settlement figure in the range of R1.2 billion to R1.5 billion appears at this stage and on the figures available to us to be a realistic starting point to resolve the disputes between the companies -the basis being that the settlement figure be used to ultimately drive the merger ratio between the shareholders of the companies. The current balance sheet position of both legal entities should be available to the shareholders to facilitate agreement on a settlement figure.

The mediators remain available to assist in achieving an acceptable settlement within the parameters outlined above.

STATEMENT BY THE MEDIATORS
1. The mediation agreement in terms whereof we were appointed
". to mediate the disputes and insofar as is possible make recommendations to the parties as to how the R&E Claims(1) and the JCI Claims(2) should be resolved"
provided, as a precursor to the mediation process, for an exchange of pleading in the nature of High Court pleadings, accompanied by all documents relied upon by each party to support its respective claim and the exchange of comprehensive reports from forensic accountants for both R&E and JCI.
2. In view of these comprehensive procedures, the optimistic timetable to address and try and resolve the issues between the parties(3) soon turned out to be unachievable and led to an amended timetable.
3. R&E filed a statement of claim. In its plea thereto JCI denied that it was, in terms of the mediation agreement, liable for debts which may be found to be due by any of the JCI subsidiaries(4) or by JCI,(5) other than the debts of JCI Limited. That raised a question as to the scope of the mediation agreement and our powers thereunder. In addition, JCI notified an amendment to their original plea to seek a rectification of the mediation agreement to accord with its interpretation of that agreement. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E; R&E's ability to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing its forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI and the success of its mediation with JCI; and the ultimate impact on R&E's previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to Randgold Resources Limited, business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets. Although R&E believes that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, these include the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the determinations of the mediators and acceptance of any such determinations by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E to defend successfully any counterclaims or proceedings against it; the ability of R&E and its forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to R&E's transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of R&E's forensic investigators and willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or not currently considered material by R&E; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E's most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC.

All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

SHAREHOLDER UPDATE ON THE SETTLEMENT AND/OR MERGER NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN R&E AND JCI
(COLLECTIVELY "THE COMPANIES" or "BOTH COMPANIES")
AND
FURTHER RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

1. Background

R&E and JCI shareholders are referred to the joint cautionary announcement published on 23 February 2007, wherein R&E and JCI shareholders were advised that negotiations regarding a possible settlement between the companies are in progress.

In the course of these negotiations the companies engaged with certain major shareholders, some of which hold a significant portion of the shares in both companies, with a view to determining their support for a possible merger between the companies. Certain information was disclosed to such shareholders, subject to Confidentiality Agreements which were binding until close of business on 14 March 2007.

Pursuant to the lapsing of the Confidentiality Agreements, the companies do hereby provide a summary of the information disclosed to such shareholders.

2. Summary of information

Proposed merger

Any proposed merger ratio between the companies will ultimately be dependent on the actual Net Asset Values ("NAVs") of the companies. The valuation of the assets of both companies will always be the subject of debate amongst different interests, necessitating a compromise of values. The boards of directors of both companies have disclosed the range of valuations set out below to the companies' major shareholders solely for the purpose of initiating discussions amongst the companies and their shareholders. The boards, following the expiration of the companies' Confidentiality Agreements with such major shareholders, are reporting that range of valuations in this joint announcement solely for the purpose of disclosing to all of the companies' shareholders the information made available to the companies' major shareholders for such purposes. Such valuations are qualified in their entirety by the fact that investigations, valuations and negotiations are still in progress and such valuations are subject to change.

Valuation disclaimer

The values provided below have been determined based on the information currently in possession of the boards of directors of both companies and have not been audited, reviewed passed upon or otherwise provided by external auditors, appraisers, valuation experts or any other independent third party. The valuations have been provided solely for the purpose of progressing the merger negotiations requested by the mediators, and should not be construed to be accurate representations of the actual value of the assets. Furthermore, the valuations of some of the assets listed below are inherently speculative due to the nature of those assets, particularly the prospecting rights, the fact that no independent testing or analysis has been performed on such assets, the extent of the alleged frauds, the fact that investigations are ongoing, and the fact that information available to the boards of directors of the companies may not be complete or accurate and is subject to change. Neither of the companies can assume that the values provided in the NAV statement will be realized in whole or in part, and such values are being provided solely due to the fact that such information has been provided to the companies' major shareholders in order to facilitate discussion on a proposed merger as recommended by the mediators. Such information should not be relied upon in any manner by shareholders of the companies. The valuations provided below are not compatible with the values that might be assigned to such assets in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and may differ materially from such amounts and the actual value of such assets.

Important notes to the NAV statements:

Settlement of R&E Claim

Flowing from the mediation process, the Mediators prepared a Statement and Postscript thereto of their interim findings and recommendations on 28 February and 5 March 2007, respectively, and which publications are available on the websites of both companies. The Mediators Statement recommends that an overall settlement be pursued between the companies on the basis of a merger. The boards of directors of both companies have unanimously agreed that a merger between the companies is in the best interests of shareholders and have agreed to further explore the benefits and risks of such a merger to shareholders.

Shares in issue

The companies anticipate they will be in a position to cancel some of their shares that were previously issued for little or no value. All legal avenues are being pursued to advance the companies' prospects in this regard. Current estimates are that R&E will be able to cancel 3 million R&E ordinary shares and JCI will be able to cancel 317 million JCI ordinary shares. (Excludes shares that may have been previously issued for little or no value, but which are not currently traceable or identifiable).

Listed Assets

The value of the listed assets of both companies are based on the 30-day volume weighted average price ("vwap") as at 23 February 2007. The value of the Goldfield's shares included in the unaudited unreviewed NAV statements was R 122.40 per share.

R&E and JCI's cross-holdings (post-settlement)

The cross-holdings between the companies are stated at the mid-point NAVs (post-settlement) per share, for illustrative NAV purposes only and quantified in the following table:

	JCI's share-holding in R&E	R&E's share-holding in JCI
number of shares (millions)	6.2	223.4
Share value in Rands	30.00	0.35
Valuation (R'million)	186	78

It is important to note that the share prices as published by JSE, at the respective dates of suspension, was R8.90 for R&E and R0.16 for JCI respectively.

JCI's interest in the Boschendal wine estate

The valuation of JCI's interest in the Boschendal development is based on the most recent offer received. JCI's board of directors are of the opinion that the valuation of R140 million may be fair, however, the JCI board has indicated that the long-term value of the investment could be in excess of this amount. Due to various uncertainties, the JCI board is not able to further speculate on the valuation of this asset.

JCI's investment in the Jaganda Preference Shares

The investment in Jaganda was made by JCI as seed capital for the black empowerment vehicle to invest in the share capital of Simmer & Jack Mines Limited ("Simmers"). As a result of this investment, JCI acquired the right to 357 374 000 preference shares in Jaganda, at a face value of 25 cents per preference share. The preference shares carry interest at the bank prime overdraft rate in South Africa, only in the event and to the extent that Simmers pays dividends to its shareholders. In addition, on redemption, 20% of the 30-day vwap of a Simmers quoted share price on JSE above 25 cents per share becomes payable to JCI in cash. At a Simmers share price of R5.69, the total value of the Jaganda preference shares is R478 million. The preference shares mature in June 2010.

Jaganda disputes the validity of the preference shares based on certain technical issues. It has, however, placed 80 million Simmers shares in trust with its attorneys to be held pending the final resolution of the dispute. Jaganda acknowledges that it is indebted to JCI for R89.3 million but denies further obligations. The litigation continues.

The boards of directors of both companies are not able to place value on the Jaganda asset due to the uncertainty regarding its holding but, for purposes of the merger discussions only, the boards have assigned a value of R286 million to the Jaganda asset (this being the mid-point between the face value of the preference shares of approximately R90 million and the current value of approximately R478 million.)

Prospecting Rights

Prospecting Rights contiguous to the South Deep gold mine

Both companies have indirect stakes in the prospecting rights contiguous to the South Deep gold mine, effectively owned by Goldfields. The interests of both companies are held through a joint investment in Free State Development and Investment Corporation Limited. The boards of both companies are currently negotiating with potential suitors on the value of these prospecting rights and therefore, it is not prudent at this stage for the boards of both companies to indicate any valuation of these rights.

Other Prospecting Rights

The additional parcels of prospecting rights could be attractive to further explore, exploit, joint venture or alienate. It would not be prudent at this stage to disclose the break-down of the value of these rights, other than to provide shareholders with what the companies believe to be a conservative valuation as disclosed in the NAV statement.

The Investec Loan Agreement ("the ILA")

JCI entered into a Loan Agreement with Investec Bank Limited in August 2005. The ILA provides for a Profit Share to be paid to the bank on certain selected assets of JCI. Full provision has been made in the NAV Statement for the bank's Profit Share based on the assumed asset valuations contained in such NAV Statement. Two shareholders of JCI, namely Letseng Diamonds Limited, represented by Mr M Koppel and Trinity Asset Management (Pty) Limited, represented by Mr Q George, have filed applications to have the ILA set aside. Should these actions be successful, the NAV of JCI will increase correspondingly.

R&E Claims

The Mediators' Statement records and recommends t6hat on the basis of the figures that were disclosed to them a settlement figure between R1.2 billion to R1.5 billion is a realistic starting point to resolve the dispute between the companies.

Third Party Claims

Any additional recoveries not reflected in the NAV statements will further contribute towards both companies financial position, and will be addressed in subsequent financial statements.

Previously published NAV Statements and results

Shareholders are referred to the provisional unaudited and unreviewed results published by R&E and JCI on 31 March 2006 and 7 April 2006 respectively. These results included estimated NAV statements for the companies, for which no definitive reconciliation has been prepared to the NAV Statement disclosed in this joint announcement.

Furthermore, a description of the assets, liabilities and additional information on the companies contained in the abovementioned results are available on the companies' websites.

3. Merger

The boards of both companies believe that the NAV statements provide a range of ratios which could form the basis of a merger of the companies. Based on the NAV calculations provided in this joint announcement, an indicative merger ratio of the combined entity of between 71% to 81% of value should be ascribed to R&E shareholders and between 29% and 19% of value ascribed to the JCI shareholders. There can, however, be no assurance that the valuations contained in this joint announcement will ultimately be proved to be accurate or acceptable to the shareholders of the companies. The boards of both companies intend to further explore the possibility of a merger. Should an agreement be reached between the companies, a merger in all likelihood will be proposed in the form of a scheme of arrangement in terms of Section 311 of the Companies Act. This will require 75% shareholder approval and High Court sanction. In the interim, the companies remain bound by the terms and conditions of the mediation and arbitration agreement signed on 7 April 2006.

RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT TO R&E AND JCI SHAREHOLDERS

Further details will be provided as and when they become available and shareholders will be informed of any further developments in this regard. Notwithstanding the reasonable endeavours of both boards of directors concerned, shareholders are advised that the NAV calculations used are based on estimates of the boards of directors of both companies as at the date of publication of this joint announcement. They have not been independently verified and are subject to a number of inherent uncertainties as described herein. The NAV valuations used have not been audited or reviewed by the companies auditors. Accordingly the directors of both companies disclaim any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information provided herein.

Investors should not place any reliance on such estimates.
Shareholders are therefore further advised to exercise caution in trading their shares over-the-counter until negotiations are finalised.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENT DISCLAIMER FOR R&E

Certain statements in this announcement, as well as oral statements that may be made by R&E's officers, directors or employees acting on its behalf relating to such information, contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, specifically Section 27A of the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning the value of the net assets of R&E and JCI; the ability of the companies to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities, the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E; R&E's ability to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing its forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI, and the success of its mediation with JCI; the likelihood and economic parameters of any merger arrangement between JCI and R&E; the estimated valuations given to assets and liabilities in the NAV statement; and the ultimate impact on R&E's previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to Randgold Resources Limited, business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets. Although R&E believes that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the values of the net assets of the companies, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations, the existence of any unknown liabilities, the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger in light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the determinations of the mediators and acceptance of any such determinations by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E to defend successfully any counterclaims or proceedings against it; the ability of R&E and its forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to R&E's transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of R&E's forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited's willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or not currently considered material by R&E; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E's most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC.

All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements.

R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

ANNOUNCEMENTS AND MEDIA COVERAGE

COMPANY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Joint Announcement by R&E and JCI (Collectively "The Companies" or "Both Companies") A Proposal for the Merger of the Companies and Further Renewal of Cautionary Announcement

23 April 2007-

Randgold & EXPLORATION COMPANY LIMITED	JCI LIMITED
(Incorporated in the Republic of South Africa)	(Incorporated in the Republic of South Africa)
(Registration Number 1992/005642/06)	Registration number 1984/00854/06
Share code: RNG ISIN: ZAE000008819 (Suspended)	Share code: JCD ISIN: ZAE0000039681 (Suspended)
ADR Ticker symbol: RNG	("JCI")
Nasdaq trading symbol: RANGY (Delisted)
("R&E")

1. Background

R&E and JCI shareholders are referred to the joint cautionary announcement published on 15 March 2007 wherein shareholders of both companies were advised that negotiations regarding a possible settlement between the companies were in progress.

Shareholders are reminded that on 28th February 2007, the Mediators issued an interim recommendation, in terms whereof they embraced the notion of a merger and indicated to both R & E and JCI that "....it is recommended that an overall settlement be pursued on the basis of a merger between the two companies ".

Pursuant to such recommendation the boards of R&E and JCI have each resolved to propose a merger of the companies ("the proposal") and to recommend such merger to their respective shareholders. They are currently in negotiations with each other in order to settle the terms of the proposal.

The purpose of this announcement is to update shareholders and to advise them of the process that will be required to bring the proposal into effect.

2. Proposed scheme of arrangement

The merger contemplated by the proposal ("the merger") will be effected by way of a scheme of arrangement ("the scheme") in terms of Section 311 of the Companies Act, 1973, as amended, ("Companies Act") between JCI and its shareholders other than JCI subsidiaries and R&E. R&E will be the proposer of the scheme. If acceptable to the shareholders of R&E and JCI, and subject to satisfaction of the conditions set out in paragraph 4 below and any others that may be proposed, JCI shareholders will be required to exchange their shares in JCI for shares in R&E, thereby effectively merging the two companies. The proposed exchange ratio, ("the exchange ratio") which has been approved by both companies' boards of directors, is 1 R&E share for every 95 JCI shares in issue.

If the merger is successfully concluded, R&E shareholders and JCI shareholders will, respectively own approximately 78% and 22% of the post merger R&E share capital and JCI will become a wholly owned subsidiary of R&E.

3. Applications for rulings from the Securities Regulation Panel ("SRP") and the JSE Limited ("JSE")

Shareholders are further advised that JCI and R&E are currently unable, given the circumstances previously announced, to fulfil certain of the published requirements of, respectively the JSE and the SRP including the disclosure of audited financial information and certain other information relating to events that occurred prior to the reconstitution of both company's Boards of directors in August 2005. The Boards of both companies and their advisers have made preliminary approaches to and intend to make application to the JSE and SRP to obtain rulings relating to the appropriate disclosures to be made and other requirements to be fulfilled within the companies' current abilities, including the obtaining of opinions from independent experts regarding the proposal. The boards of both companies advise that nothing contained in this announcement may be taken as a representation that the companies will be able to fulfil the requirements of the JSE and SRP.

4. Applicable conditions

There are a number of conditions to be satisfied before the scheme can become effective. These include but are not limited to:

- Agreement between the boards of both companies being reached on the detailed terms of the proposal and the relevant documentation;
- The approval of the relevant regulatory authorities, including those of the JSE, the SRP, the SA Reserve Bank, and the Competition Authorities ;
- The Supreme Court of South Africa ("Court") ordering that a meeting of shareholders of JCI be convened in order to consider and, if thought fit, to approve the scheme ("scheme meeting");
- Approval of the scheme by the requisite majority of JCI shareholders at the scheme meeting;
- Passing of the requisite resolutions by R&E shareholders that are required to implement the proposal;
- Court sanction of the scheme, and
- Registration by the Registrar of Companies of the Court Order sanctioning the scheme and of the applicable special resolutions to be passed by R&E shareholders.

5. Mediation

The companies continue to be bound by the terms and conditions of the Mediation Agreement concluded by them on 7 April 2006.

Nothing contained in this announcement is to be construed as a waiver by R&E or JCI of any of their rights, all of which will remain in force and unaffected by the merger.

6. Financial information and further announcements

Subject to obtaining favourable rulings as contemplated in 3 above, financial information, including a computation of the respective unaudited unreviewed net asset values of both companies and the pro forma financial effects of the proposal will be published once it is available.

Once the relevant approvals have been received, announcements will be made giving the salient dates pertaining to the proposal.

Documents relating to the proposed merger will be sent to shareholders in due course, if the High Court of South Africa orders the convening of the scheme meeting. Such documents will contain more details of the claims and assets and liabilities of the companies.

7. Renewal of cautionary announcement to JCI and R&E shareholders

Until the publication of further information as set out above, shareholders in both companies are advised to continue to exercise caution in trading their shares over-the-counter until the proposal is finalised.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENT DISCLAIMER FOR R&E

Certain statements in this announcement, as well as oral statements that may be made by R&E's officers, directors or employees acting on its behalf relating to such information, contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, specifically Section 27A of the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning the value of the net assets of R&E and JCI; the ability of the companies to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities, the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E; R&E's ability to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing its forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI, and the success of its mediation with JCI; the likelihood and economic parameters of any merger arrangement between JCI and R&E; the estimated valuations given to assets and liabilities in the NAV statement; and the ultimate impact on R&E's previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to Randgold Resources Limited, business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets. Although R&E believes that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the values of the net assets of the companies, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations, the existence of any unknown liabilities, the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger in light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related there to following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation;the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the determinations of the mediators and acceptance of any such determinations by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E to defend successfully any counterclaims or proceedings against it; the ability of R&E and its forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to R&E's transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of R&E's forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited's willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or not currently considered material by R&E; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E's most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC.

All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

Request for submissions.
Shareholders in JCI and R&E are referred to the joint announcement by JCI and R&E released on SENS on 23 April 2007 ("the announcement") where it was announced that the companies intended to merge. In terms of the scheme, R&E will acquire all the issued shares in JCI in exchange for an issue of new R&E shares.
The announcement advised, inter alia, that JCI and R&E are currently unable to fulfil certain of the published requirements of the JSE Limited ("JSE") and the Securities Regulation Panel ("SRP") including the disclosure of audited financial information and certain other information relating to events that occurred prior to the reconstitution of both company's Boards of directors in August 2005. The Boards of both companies stated their intention to make application to the JSE and SRP to obtain rulings relating to the appropriate disclosures to be made and other requirements to be fulfilled within the companies' current abilities, including the obtaining of opinions from independent experts regarding the proposal.
Application for a ruling has now been lodged. The Executive Director of the SRP has determined that interested parties will be given an opportunity to make written submissions to the Executive Director regarding the proposals for disclosure contained in the application. Copies of the application may be inspected at the offices of JCI and R&E at 13th Floor, 28 Harrison Street, Johannesburg, and at the office of the SRP at 2, Sherbourne Road, Parktown, Johannesburg, 2193 (Tel 011 482 5630) during normal business hours.
Written submissions are to be received by the Executive Director of the SRP by 12:00 on Friday, 6 July 2007. Submissions may be faxed to the SRP at fax number +27 11 482 5635 or may be delivered by hand to the SRP marked for the attention of the Executive Director at the following address:

JOINT ANNOUNCEMENT BY R&E AND JCI (COLLECTIVELY "THE COMPANIES" or "BOTH COMPANIES")UPDATE TO R&E AND JCI SHAREHOLDERS ON THE MERGER PROPOSAL OF THE COMPANIES AND FURTHER RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENTS
On 23 April 2007 the directors of R&E and JCI proposed a merger of the companies ("the merger proposal") to be effected by way of a scheme of arrangement ("the scheme") in terms of Section 311 of the Companies Act, 1973, as amended, ("Companies Act").
If acceptable to the shareholders of R&E and JCI, and subject to various regulatory approvals, including sanction by the High Court of South Africa, JCI shareholders will be required to exchange their shares in JCI for shares in R&E, thereby effectively merging the two companies. The proposed exchange ratio, which has been recommended by the boards of directors of both companies, is 1 R&E share for every 95 JCI shares in issue, excluding those held by R&E ("the exchange ratio").
The concept of a merger was also supported by the mediators as described in their interim recommendation published on 28 February and 5 March 2007.
As reported on 29 June 2007, the companies applied for relaxation of certain disclosure requirements of the Securities Regulation Panel ("the SRP") and JSE Limited.
Shareholders are hereby advised that the companies have submitted a draft scheme circular incorporating documentation relied upon by each company to support its respective claim including additional information to the SRP in support of their application referred to above. As soon as possible following a ruling from the SRP, the companies will finalise their draft circulars and commence the formal regulatory approval process with the SRP and JSE.
Following the requisite regulatory approvals, the circulars, incorporating notices of general meetings of both companies to approve the merger proposals, will be posted to shareholders
Shareholders will be kept updated on further developments in this regard.
Renewal of cautionary announcements to R&E and JCI shareholders
Until the publication of further information as set out above, shareholders in both companies are advised to continue to exercise caution in trading their shares over-the-counter until the merger proposal documentation is finalised.
FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENT DISCLAIMER FOR R&E AND JCI
Certain statements in this circular, as well as oral statements that may be made by the officers, directors or employees of each of R&E or JCI acting on its behalf relating to such information, contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, specifically Section 27A of the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning completion of the relinquishment by R&E and JCI and certain of their subsidiaries of rights contiguous to the South Deep gold mine to GFO; the value of the net assets of R&E and JCI; the pro forma effects of the relinquishment of the contiguous rights on the financial information and NAV statement of R&E; the ability of R&E and JCI to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities, the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E and JCI to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E or JCI; the ability of each of R&E and JCI to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing the forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI, and the success of its mediation with JCI; the likelihood and economic parameters of any merger arrangement between JCI and R&E; and the ultimate impact on the previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to Randgold Resources Limited, business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets of R&E and JCI. Although R&E and JCI believe that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the values of the net assets of R&E and JCI, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations, the existence of any unknown liabilities, the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger in light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the determinations of the mediators and acceptance of any such determinations by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E to defend successfully any counterclaims or proceedings against it; the ability of each of R&E and JCI and the forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to the transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities of R&E and JCI to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of the forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited`s willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E`s securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or JCI or not currently considered material by R&E or JCI; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E`s most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC.

All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

NOTES TO THE GROUP NET ASSET VALUE STATEMENT AT 31 MARCH 2007

1 PURPOSE OF THE GROUP NET ASSET VALUE STATEMENT

On 7 April 2006, JCI published restated unaudited and unreviewed provisional financial results for the six months ended 30 September 2005, and for each of the years ended 31 March 2004 and 31 March 2005 ("provisional results").

In the accompanying commentary to these provisional results the JCI directors indicated, inter alia, that due to the extent of the misappropriations, for which details were disclosed in the commentary, there may be other material events and circumstances of which the JCI directors are not aware of and which may have a material effect on JCI. These may affect the completeness and accuracy of the information reflected in the provisional results and/or may have the effect that the provisional results do not reflect a true and complete account of the financial and other affairs of JCI. In these circumstances the JCI directors disclaimed any liability in respect of the accuracy, correctness and/or completeness of the information reflected in the provisional results. This is still the position.

KPMG Inc. was appointed as the independent auditor of JCI during October 2005. In view of the uncertainties relating to the provisional results, and the disclaimer by the JCI directors, they were unable to, and did not, express an audit or review opinion on the provisional results. This is still the position.

On 15 March 2007, JCI and R&E published an update to shareholders on the settlement and/or merger negotiations between JCI and R&E which included a Net Asset Value Statement. Subsequently on 23 April 2007, JCI and R&E announced their intention to merge. Because the JCI directors are still unable to prepare a complete set of financial statements for the years ended 31 March 2005, 2006 and, now, 2007, in accordance with IFRS, the JCI directors have prepared a Group Net Asset Value Statement on the basis set out in note 2. The JCI directors consider the Group Net Asset Value Statement, including the accompanying Notes, suitable in the circumstances for the purpose of providing its shareholders with financial information relevant to the proposed merger.

2 BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared from information available to the JCI directors and may not be complete for the reasons given in note 1 above. In particular, the Group Net Asset Value Statement excludes major claims and counter claims between JCI and R&E.

Other than these claims, the Group Net Asset Value Statement includes all known significant assets and liabilities of the JCI Group and associate companies. The Group Net Asset Value Statement includes JCI's proportionate share of FSD's (an 44.89% associate interest of JCI) assets and liabilities on a line by line basis.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared in Rands. All financial information is presented in Rands and has been rounded to the nearest thousand.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement required the JCI directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the basis of preparation and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The assets and liabilities of subsidiaries are included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement, except in instances where the subsidiaries are considered as businesses held for sale, or if the subsidiaries are considered to be insolvent. However, insolvent subsidiaries' liabilities have been included to the extent where JCI or any of its other subsidiaries have guaranteed the liabilities.

The Group Net Asset Value Statement has been prepared on a fair value basis as disclosed under each heading below:

2.1 Listed investments

The JCI Group's listed investments, except for the investment in R&E, are based on the VWAP for March 2007 comprising 21 trading days.

The value of the R&E investment is based on the Net Asset Value per share of R&E at 31 March 2007 which is based on the amount disclosed in the R&E Group Net Asset Value Statement, published on the same date as this statement. The R&E value is adjusted to reflect a proposed merger ratio of 95 to 1, as announced on 23 April 2007.

2.2 Unlisted investments

Unlisted investments include the investments in Boschendal and Jaganda, as well as businesses held for sale.

2.2.1 Businesses held for sale

The fair values of these businesses are based on purchase offers received from third parties. The JCI directors have used the latest offer received as an indication of the businesses' minimum values.

2.3 Prospecting rights

Where an agreement has been signed to sell the prospecting rights, the value is based on the consideration in the relative agreement.

Where no such agreements are in place, the JCI directors have determined a value which they believe is reasonable based on calculations from independent mineral project evaluation experts. For such calculations, independent mineral project evaluation experts were used to conduct and conclude on the mineralisation which was valued using comparable transactions.

2.4 Other assets

Other assets include investment properties and cash and cash equivalents.

2.4.1 Investment properties

Where an agreement is signed to sell the properties, the value is based on the consideration in the signed agreement.

Where there are no such agreements in place, the value is based on the latest offer to purchase received from a third party.

2.4.2 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash and cash deposits with banking institutions. The carrying amount of cash and cash deposits with banking institutions approximates fair value.

2.5 Taxation

2.5.1 Income tax payable

Income tax payable comprises taxation payable, calculated on the basis of the expected taxable income, using the tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment of income tax payable for previous years. Income tax payable has been calculated based on the best information currently available to management regarding taxable income (including prior year assessments and management's interpretation of current tax law) given the circumstances detailed in note 1 above.

2.5.2 Deferred taxation

Deferred taxation is provided based on temporary differences. Temporary differences are differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities reported in the Group Net Asset Value Statement and their tax base. The amount of deferred taxation provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

A deferred taxation asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the associated unused tax losses, unredeemed capital expenditure and deductible temporary differences can be utilised. Deferred taxation assets are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

2.6 Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables include accruals and other amounts payable, based on management's best estimate at the reporting date.

2.7 Contingent assets

Contingent assets are disclosed when it is probable that they will be realised and are best estimates expected to be recovered. No contingent assets have been included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement as the recoverability cannot be reasonably assured.

3 Listed investments

	Number of shares	Value per share R	Value R'000
Gold Fields	13 434 438	128.0900	1 720 817

- Simmers	1 833 592	6.2108	11 388
			1 979 915

The value of the listed investments, except for the investment in R&E, is based on the VWAP for March 2007 comprising 21 trading days.

The value of the R&E investment is based on the Net Asset Value per share of R&E at 31 March 2007 which is disclosed in the R&E Group Net Asset Value Statement, published on the same date as this statement.

The R&E value is adjusted for the merger ratio as announced on 23 April 2007.

The JCI Group has not included 2 943 087 R&E shares, which have been pledged as security for a liability owing by the JCI Group. These shares have not been included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement of R&E as these are shares included for possible cancellation.

4 Boschendal

35% investment through Moregate and Kovacs	40 250
Debentures in Kovacs including interest	85 888
Loan to Kovacs	905
	127 043

The investment in Boschendal is held through an investment in Moregate and a debenture agreement with Kovacs. These two investments equate to an indirect shareholding of 35% in Boschendal.

An offer to purchase 20% of the investment in Boschendal was received from a third party. The directors of JCI used this offer to purchase to calculate the value of the 35% investment in Boschendal.

The value of the debentures in Kovacs is based on the original purchase price plus accumulated interest.

The loan receivable from Kovacs is the amount receivable at 31 March 2007. The loan has no fixed terms of repayment.

The JCI board is of the opinion that the valuation of R127 million is fair and reasonable, however, the JCI board has indicated that the long term value of the investment could be in excess of this amount. Due to various uncertainties, the JCI board is not able to further speculate on the valuation of the investment.

Jaganda	R'000
Investment at valuation	283 755

The investment in Jaganda comprises 357 374 000 preference shares. The preference shares mature in June 2010.

During April 2006, JCI instituted an action against Jaganda for the delivery of 357 374 000 preference shares held by JCI in that company, which holds ordinary shares in Simmers. Jaganda has disputed the validity of the preference shares, pleadings have closed and the matter has been allocated a trial date of 11 June 2008.

The preference shares carry interest at bank prime overdraft rate in South Africa, only in the event and to the extent that Simmers pays dividends to its shareholders. In addition, on redemption, 20% of the 30-day VWAP of the Simmers quoted share price on the JSE, that exceeds 25 cents per share, becomes payable to JCI in cash. At a Simmers share price of R6.2108, the total value of the Jaganda preference shares is R515.4 million.

Jaganda disputes the validity of the preference shares based on certain technical issues. Jaganda acknowledges that it is indebted to JCI for R89.3 million, the original value of the preference shares, but denies further obligations.
The JCI board is not able to place a value on the investment in Jaganda due to uncertainty regarding its holding, but, with the agreement of the R&E board, has placed a value of R284 million to the investment in Jaganda, this being between the face value of the preference share and market value at 31 March 2007.

Businesses held for sale
AMT	33 000
AML, MSI, Cueincident and Loan account - CMMS	21 500
Bioclones	5 000
Skygistics	6 000
Tavlands	900
	66 400

All the above businesses held for sale are valued by the JCI directors based upon offers received for the investments.
The JCI Group has other investments which have not been included as the JCI directors have not received any offers and are of opinion that it would not be prudent to attribute any value to these businesses at the current time. The JCI directors are of the opinion that they may, however, be able to generate value from these investments in the future. These include businesses such as Lyons and Palfinger.

Prospecting rights - GFO transaction
JCI's share of the prospecting rights in respect of the GFO transaction	177 315
Prospecting rights held within the JCI Group	5 000
	182 315

JCI and R&E, and certain of their subsidiaries had reached agreement, in terms of which the JCI and R&E groups relinquished their rights in favour of GFO for a purchase consideration of R400 million (excluding VAT), concluded on 31 October 2007. Upon conclusion, JCI, through its 44.89% shareholding in FSD, is entitled to an amount of R177 million.

Other prospecting rights
New order prospecting rights held by FSD	64 106

These prospecting rights have been converted to new order prospecting rights, and have been valued based on old prospecting data. For further details, refer to note 16.1.

Stonehurst properties	2 600

These properties are held through subsidiary companies. The Houghton property value is based on a recent offer to purchase received, while the Stonehurst properties are valued based on the actual sales value realised subsequent to 31 March 2007.

Cash and cash deposits	50 447

Investec raising fee

Investec raising fee based on the Investec loan agreement	(373 335)

The Investec loan agreement provides for a raising fee to be paid to Investec on certain selected assets of JCI. The raising fee has been calculated based on the JCI directors' interpretation of the Investec loan agreement. The Investec raising fee liability would be R453.4 million should the profit share calculation be based on the asset values as disclosed in the Group Net Asset Value Statement, as different values were used in calculating the Investec raising fee than those disclosed in the Group Net Asset Value Statement.
JCI and Investec are in the process of finalising the calculation of this raising fee arrangement. Currently there are differences between JCI's and Investec's interpretation of the loan agreement. These differences relate to Investec's disagreement with JCI regarding the calculation of the value of the JCI shares, and the value of the investments in R&E, Boschendal and Jaganda used in JCI's calculation.
The Investec raising fee liability would be R575.6 million should the raising fee calculation be based on Investec's interpretation of the Investec loan agreement.
The JCI directors are strongly of the view that the amount disclosed will be the amount agreed upon, subject to the court actions instituted by third parties regarding the Investec raising fee agreement.
Investec hold the following assets as security for the outstanding fee:

The deferred taxation balance comprises temporary differences on listed investments, unlisted investments and prospecting rights, except where the deferred tax liability has been offset against deferred tax assets in the respective JCI Group companies.
No deferred taxation assets were raised on the assessed losses of the JCI Group as it is not probable that future taxable profits will be available when the related deductible temporary differences reverse.

VAT payable	(17 659)
PAYE payable	(2 288)

Trade and other payables include provisions for unsettled legal claims and matters that JCI is engaged in. JCI has also raised provisions for amounts on which security has been signed and amounts which JCI believes will not be received from the principal debtor.

These amounts also include a loan payable to FSD, a subsidiary of R&E, net of JCI's share of this loan, as disclosed in note 16. The loan payable to FSD bears interest at the bank prime lending rate and no formal terms of repayment have been established.

JCI have pledged 2 943 087 R&E shares as security for a debt of US$4.8 million which is included in trade and other payables. These shares have not been included in the assets as the ownership of the shares are under dispute and R&E have indicated that they will possibly cancel these shares. Refer to note 3.

PAYE payable:

JCI engaged independent tax advisors who completed a PAYE audit. Their report was submitted to SARS. JCI have reached agreement with SARS regarding the amount payable.

VAT payable:

JCI engaged independent tax advisors who completed a VAT audit and determined the amount payable. SARS has considered JCI's submission and issued assessments for the amounts payable. JCI and SARS have reached agreement regarding the settlement of amounts outstanding.

JCI`s proportionate share, equating to 44.89%, of FSD`s Net Asset Value was included in the applicable line items of the Group Net Asset Value Statement. FSD`s net asset value has been prepared on a basis consistent with that of JCI.

16.1 Other prospecting rights

JCI is the beneficial owner of various prospecting rights held through its 44.89% shareholding in the issued share capital of FSD. Various prospecting rights, mainly flowing from the historical old order mineral rights portfolio of FSD and its subsidiaries, have either been applied for or awarded by the DME. The Du Preez Leger Project, which has been granted and executed, has not yet been registered in the name of FSD.

The prospecting rights adjacent to St Helena, namely Du Preez Leger 423/Jonkersrus 72, have a gold resource of 22 million tonnes at 6.7 g/t at a pay limit of 5.6 g/t. The prospecting right adjacent to the Harmony, namely on Vermeulenskraal 223, has a gold resource on the Basal reef of 6.3 million tonnes at 10.07 g/t. at a pay limit of 5.6 g/t. This information is quoted from historic evaluations done in the 1980s and the definitions of resources and reserves would not be exactly the same as those currently accepted by SAMREC, JORC and the NI 43-101 codes.

Considering various transactions that have been quoted publicly, and noting differences between the nature of the Du Preez Leger project and Vermeulenskraal`s gold deposits and the transactions quoted, a value of US$4 per ounce was applied for the purposes of valuing the project. This value was derived after applying a 35% discount factor on the average US$ per ounce rate of similar transactions. The discount factor was applied due to the fact that a detailed assessment of the Du Preez Leger project and Vermeulenskraal has not been conducted, other than the historic valuations concluded in the 1980`s, as well as the fact that the projects may not be viable as stand-alone projects at this point in time.

16.1 Other prospecting rights

On this basis, the Du Preez Leger Project can be valued as follows:

Tonnes (m`s)	g/t	moz `000	US$/oz R7.36	US$ BEE	R`m at dilution R`m	After (1)

Du Preez Leger 423/Jonkersrus 72	22.00	6.70	4.5785	4.00	18 314	134.792	99.747
Vermeulens-kraal 223	6.30	10.07	1.9765	4.00	7 906	58.188	43.059
Total - Du Preez Leger Project			6.5550		26 220	192.980	142.806

(1) The value of other prospecting rights has been calculated on the basis that 26% thereof will be attributable in terms of the BEE Act.

16.2 Loan receivable

The loan is receivable from JCI Gold and bears interest at the bank prime lending rate. No formal terms of repayment have been established. The loan receivable is eliminated in the preparation of the Group Net Asset Value Statement of JCI and is therefore not included in the assets of JCI.

17 Contingent assets

The JCI Group has several assets not included in the Group Net Asset Value Statement as their value, recoverability and ownership cannot be determined with any reliability at this time.

17.1 Claims against third parties (excluding R&E)

JCI has identified various claims against third parties. It is not prudent at this stage to disclose a claim value or a break-down thereof, or to identify a name or to disclose any other relating details as it might influence the recoverability of these claims.

18 Guarantees

The JCI Group provided the following guarantees:

Boschenda 1	364 000
AML	10 000
	374 000

The JCI directors are confident that the JCI Group is not exposed to any other significant liabilities.

19 Subsequent events

The JCI Group has entered into a back to back transaction with the sale of 1.7 million Gold Fields shares and a single stock future for 1.7 million Gold Fields shares subsequent to 31 March 2007.

JCI has reached a settlement with SARS regarding the matters of its subsidiaries, and has signed an agreement of the matters. The settlement has been accounted in the Net Asset Value Statement.

No other material events occurred subsequent to 31 March 2007 other than those disclosed elsewhere in the Group Net Asset Value Statement.

20 Encumbrances

No significant assets have been encumbered or pledged other than those disclosed elsewhere.

FURTHER RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, the ability of JCI and R&E to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities, the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of JCI to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against JCI; the ability of JCI to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing the forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims JCI is or is not able to recover against others, and the success of its mediation with R&E; the likelihood and economic parameters of any merger arrangement between JCI and R&E; and the ultimate impact on the previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets of JCI. Although JCI believes that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.

Among other factors, the existence of any possible unknown liabilities, the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of JCI to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of JCI assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties; the determinations of the mediators and acceptance of any such determinations by the shareholders of JCI; the ability of JCI to defend successfully any counterclaims or proceedings against it; the ability of JCI and the forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to the transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities of JCI to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of the forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of JCI to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE`s willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of JCI`s securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; and changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to JCI or not currently considered material by JCI.
All forward-looking statements attributable to JCI, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. JCI expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.
Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the combined values of the net assets of R&E and JCI, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations; the existence of any unknown liabilities; the age of the financial information included in any announcements and the absence of any audited financial statements or unqualified fairness opinions; the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger in light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E's assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the ability of any alleged perpetrators to successfully counter-sue JCI following the scheme of arrangement for any recoveries that R&E may be able to obtain; which would reduce the value of JCI and accordingly R&E; the acceptance of any statement and opinion of the Mediators by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E and JCI to successfully defend any counterclaims or proceedings against them; the ability of each of R&E and JCI and the forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to the transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities of R&E and JCI to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of the forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited's willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or JCI or not currently considered material by R&E or JCI; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E's most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC. All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. R&E expressly disclaims any obligation to release publicly any update or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in expectations, or any change in events or circumstances on which those statements are based, unless otherwise required by law.

All statements, other than statements of historical facts, are "forward-looking statements". These include, without limitation, those statements concerning the combined value of the net assets of R&E and JCI; the fairness of the proposed merger ratio; the ability of R&E and JCI to successfully consummate a merger that is approved by the shareholders and is acceptable to the necessary governmental authorities or, failing that, to successfully complete an arbitration or mediation in a costly manner; the fraud and misappropriation that are alleged to have occurred and the time periods affected thereby; the ability of R&E and JCI to recover any misappropriated assets and investments; the outcome of any proceedings on behalf of, or against R&E or JCI; the ability of each of R&E and JCI to complete its forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the time period for completing the forensic investigation and audited financial statements; the amount of any claims R&E is or is not able to recover against others, including JCI, and the ultimate impact on the previously released financial statements and results, assets and investments, including with respect to Randgold Resources Limited, business, operations, economic performance, financial condition, outlook and trading markets of R&E and JCI. Although R&E and JCI believe that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to be correct, particularly in light of the extent of the alleged frauds and misappropriations uncovered to date. Actual results could differ materially from those implied by or set out in the forward-looking statements.
Among other factors, these include the inherent difficulties and uncertainties in ascertaining the combined values of the net assets of R&E and JCI, particularly in light of the absence of any independent valuations; the existence of any unknown liabilities; the age of the financial information included in any announcements and the absence of any audited financial statements or unqualified fairness opinions; the willingness of any governmental authority to sanction any merger in light of the absence of independent valuations or otherwise; the extent, magnitude and scope of any fraud and misappropriation that may be ultimately determined to have occurred and the time periods and facts related thereto following the completion of the forensic investigation and any other investigations that may be commenced and the ultimate outcome of such forensic investigation; the ability of R&E to successfully assert any claims it may have against other parties for fraud or misappropriation of R&E's assets or otherwise and the solvency of any such parties, including JCI; the ability of any alleged perpetrators to successfully counter-sue JCI following the scheme of arrangement for any recoveries that R&E may be able to obtain; which would reduce the value of JCI and accordingly R&E; the acceptance of any statement and opinion of the Mediators by the shareholders of R&E and JCI; the ability of R&E and JCI to successfully defend any counterclaims or proceedings against them; the ability of each of R&E and JCI and the forensic investigators to obtain the necessary information with respect to the transactions, assets, investments, subsidiaries and associated entities of R&E and JCI to complete the forensic investigation and prepare audited financial statements; the willingness and ability of the forensic investigators and auditors to issue any final opinions with respect thereto; the ability of R&E to implement improved systems and to correct its late reporting; the JSE Limited's willingness to lift its suspension of the trading of R&E's securities on that exchange; changes in economic and market conditions; fluctuations in commodity prices and exchange rates; the success of any business and operating initiatives, including any mining rights; changes in the regulatory environment and other government actions; business and operational risk management; other matters not yet known to R&E or JCI or not currently considered material by R&E or JCI; and the risks identified in Item 3 of R&E's most recent annual report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC and its other filings and submissions with the SEC. All forward-looking statements attributable to R&E, or persons acting on its behalf, are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements. PROPOSED SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

JCI and R&E are pleased to announce that they have entered into a Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") which is intended to lead to a full and final settlement of all claims by R&E against JCI and vice versa. In terms of the MOU, the companies record their intention to conclude a binding Settlement Agreement ("Settlement Agreement"). The settlement agreement will cater for a settlement on commercial terms similar to that of the proposed merger of the companies announced on SENS on 23 April 2007.

The Settlement Agreement will be subject to a number of conditions precedent, including the approval of the shareholders of JCI and R&E in general meeting. It is intended that should the Settlement Agreement become binding on JCI and R&E, the proposed merger (which has not been aborted) will not proceed.

RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

Further to the cautionary announcements, the last of which were dated 10 July 2008, shareholders are advised to continue to exercise caution when trading in their shares over-the-counter until a further announcement is made.

PROPOSED SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

JCI and R&E are pleased to announce that they yesterday signed a Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU").

In terms of the MOU, and subject to the fulfilment of conditions precedent:

* JCI shall cause 8 650 000 Gold Fields Limited shares to be registered in the name of R&E;

In terms of the MOU, the companies will endeavour to conclude a binding Settlement Agreement ("Settlement Agreement") within 21 days, which is intended to provide for a full and final settlement of all claims by R&E against JCI and vice versa. The Settlement Agreement, if concluded, is an alternative to the proposed merger and will result in a similar financial outcome for the shareholders of the companies.

The Settlement Agreement will be subject to a number of conditions precedent which will be included in circulars for approval by the shareholders of JCI and R&E in general meeting. UPDATE TO SHAREHOLDERS
As disclosed previously, R&E has and continues to find itself unable to produce meaningful Annual Financial Statements, due to the alleged falsifications and misappropriations which occurred during the tenure of the previous board of directors under the leadership of the late Brett Kebble. In the main, the assets in the possession of the company currently consist of investments in listed equities, cash, prospecting rights and various claims (including the R&E claims against JCI Limited ("JCI")). Given the company's inability to produce Annual Financial Statements, the Board of R&E deems the regular publication of R&E's net asset value statement together with other relevant information, as an appropriate means of updating shareholders.
Shareholders are informed accordingly that R&E has today published on its website an update of financial and other relevant information. (www.randgold.co.za) In addition, shareholders will be posted a copy of the document containing the full publication, as soon as practicable.
The publication consists of the following salient items:
Overview of R&E's progress in resolving the JCI dispute;
Overview of other activities;
Overview of the net asset value as at 31 March 2008;
R&E's future strategy;
Overview of R&E's claims against JCI and its subsidiaries and associated companies;
Summary of forensic findings of John Louw McKnight & Co (Pty) Limited;
R&E's Litigation Statement including a statement of settlements concluded; and R&E's Net Asset Value Statement at 31 March 2008 incorporating the Limited Assurance Report of the Independent Auditors.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN JCI AND R&E

Further to the announcement which featured on SENS on 22 July 2008, in terms whereof JCI and R&E announced that they had concluded a Memorandum of Understanding as a precursor to a possible settlement agreement between them, which settlement is intended, subject to the fulfillment of various conditions precedent, to give rise to amongst other things JCI causing 285 899 200 preference shares in the preference share capital of Jaganda (Pty) Ltd to be transferred to R&E. In relation to such announcement, JCI deems it appropriate to inform shareholders of the following, which has been taken into consideration in the negotiations and conclusion of the Memorandum of Understanding:

1. Jaganda (Pty) Ltd has been renamed Xelexwa Investment Holdings (Pty) Ltd;
2. Jaganda (Pty) Ltd was placed into final liquidation by the High Court of South Africa (South Eastern Cape Local Division) under Case number 626/08 on 1 April 2008;
3. JCI is currently engaged in attempts, through legal recourse, to set aside the order of liquidation.

UPDATE TO SHAREHOLDERS AND RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT
R&E CLAIMS AGAINST JCI LIMITED ("JCI")

1. Shareholders are referred to the SENS announcement released on 22 July 2008 in which R&E and JCI informed shareholders that a Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") had been signed between the parties.
2. R&E advises shareholders that the companies have not been able to achieve the settlement agreement as envisaged in the MOU.
3. Furthermore, R&E and JCI have not been able to execute the proposed merger as contemplated in the joint SENS announcement of 23 April 2007 and consequently, the merger having failed, the dispute between the companies will now be referred to arbitration.

R&E CLAIMS AGAINST THIRD PARTIES

Further to what was reported in the R&E update to shareholders on 24 July 2008, R&E has recently instituted claims out of the Witwatersrand Local Division of the High Court against the following parties:

There are a number of further alternatives to the main claim.
2. Action against the former directors and associated parties
R&E, Holdings and First Wesgold Mining (Pty) Limited ("First Wesgold") have issued summons against the following parties:

Shareholders are cautioned that the above claims and those included in the update to shareholders of 24 July 2008 are yet to be proven in a court of law and the board can not with any degree of certainty predict the outcome of the subsequent litigation. Furthermore, such recoveries as may be made against one party could result in the adjustment of the amounts claimed against another party. The board of R&E will at all times consider the commercial viability of claims and will keep shareholders informed of developments in this regard.

RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

Further to the cautionary announcements, the last of which was dated 22 July 2008, and in the light of the above, shareholders are advised to continue to exercise caution when trading in their shares over-the-counter until a further announcement is made in this regard.

MEDIATION PROCESS WITH RANDGOLD & EXPLORATION COMPANY LIMITED ("R&E")
FURTHER CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT
JCI shareholders are referred to previous joint announcements by JCI and R&E ("the companies"), the salient ones of which were dated 15 March 2007, 28 February 2007, 23 April 2007, 22 July 2008 and 19 August 2008. These announcements related to the mediation process undertaken by the companies in respect of claims between them arising from alleged mismanagement by the former boards of the two companies under the late Mr Brett Kebble.
Shareholders are further referred to an announcement released unilaterally on SENS by R&E on 26 August 2008, the contents of which will be discussed later in this announcement.
Shareholders are reminded that the companies, on 7 April 2006, agreed to enter into a mediation agreement ("the Mediation Agreement"), in terms of which they agreed to cooperate fully and in good faith with each other in investigating their respective claims and defences and to present their disputed claims to independent mediators who in turn would make recommendations for a resolution of the dispute to the shareholders of both companies. The boards of both companies agreed to present these recommendations, once made, to their respective shareholders, together with their own views thereon. Should the shareholders of both companies in general meeting accept the recommendations, they would become binding. If the mediation were to fail, the companies would enter into an arbitration phase.
In the joint announcement of 23 April 2007, the companies advised that pursuant to a recommendation by the mediators, their respective boards had resolved to propose a merger between the companies ("the merger"). The proposed merger did not terminate the Mediation Agreement. The companies embarked on a difficult process to effect the merger, which has to date not been finalised.
Subsequently, on 22 July 2008 the companies announced the signing of a memorandum of understanding ("MOU") in terms of which they advised their shareholders that they would endeavour to enter a binding settlement agreement to provide for a full and final settlement of all claims between the companies by means of a transfer of assets between them. The announcement stated that "should the Settlement Agreement become binding on JCI and R&E, the proposed merger (which has not been aborted at this stage) will not proceed."
The R&E announcement of 26 August 2008 stated that the companies "have not been able to achieve the settlement agreement as envisaged by the MOU," and that "R&E and JCI have not been able to execute the proposed merger... and consequently, the merger having failed, the dispute between the companies will now be referred to arbitration."
JCI advises its shareholders that the failure to achieve the settlement as contemplated by the MOU does not preclude JCI and R&E from continuing to endeavour to achieve a merger between them pursuant to the recommendation of the mediators as advised in the joint announcement of 23 April 2007. There is no reason why this process should be aborted or terminated. JCI notes the announcement of R&E that R&E is of the view that the disputes between the companies should now be referred to arbitration and JCI will engage with R&E on these issues.
Accordingly, JCI shareholders are advised to continue to exercise caution in dealing in their shares (over the counter) until a further announcement is made.

FURTHER CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT
JCI shareholders are referred to previous joint announcements by JCI and Randgold and Exploration Limited ("R&E") ("the companies"), the salient ones of which were dated 15 March 2007, 28 February 2007, 23 April 2007, 22 July 2008, and 19 August 2008, and to the separate announcements by R&E dated 26 August 2008 and by JCI dated 27 August 2008. These announcements related to the mediation process undertaken by the companies in respect of claims between them arising from alleged mismanagement by the former boards of the two companies under the late Mr Brett Kebble.
JCI advises its shareholders that discussions between JCI and R&E are ongoing. Accordingly, JCI shareholders are advised to continue to exercise caution in dealing in their shares (over the counter) until a further announcement is made.

JOINT ANNOUNCEMENT BY R&E AND JCI (collectively "the companies" or "both companies"): THE PROPOSED MERGER OF THE COMPANIES AND THE FURTHER RENEWAL OF CAUTIONARY ANNOUNCEMENT

1. On 26 August 2008, R&E announced on SENS that the company had not been able to achieve the settlement agreement with JCI as envisaged in the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) signed by the companies and furthermore, had not been able to effect the proposed merger as contemplated in the joint SENS announcement of 23 April 2007.
2. R&E announced further that, the merger having failed, the dispute between the companies would be referred to arbitration.
3. On 27 August 2008, JCI published a SENS announcement stating that in its view there was no reason why the merger should be aborted and that JCI intended engaging with R&E in regard to the issues raised in R&E`s announcement.
4. Following R&E`s SENS announcement of 26 August 2008, discussions with shareholders and JCI regarding a possible merger were revived. These discussions have progressed to such a stage that R&E no longer feels it necessary to persist with its position as announced on 26 August 2008.
5. On 31 October 2008 R&E renewed its cautionary announcement and indicated that it is engaged in "without prejudice" discussions with JCI regarding the possibility of a merger.
6. The Boards of R&E and JCI have each resolved to proceed with the merger of the companies based on a merger ratio of 1 R&E share in exchange for every 95 JCI shares which is the ratio proposed in the announcement of 23 April 2007.
7. The proposal will be subject to regulatory approval being obtained, the shareholders of R&E and JCI voting in favour thereof, and the scheme of arrangement to be proposed by R&E to JCI shareholders (excluding R&E) being implemented in all respects by 31 March 2009 or such later date as may be agreed between the companies.
7. The successful implementation of the proposed merger will result in:
   7.1 R&E becoming the owner of the entire issued share capital of JCI, thereby obtaining control of the underlying business and assets of JCI; and
   7.2 the listing of JCI shares on the JSE, being terminated; and 7.3 the current shareholders of R&E and JCI, owning approximately 78% and 22% of the post merger R&E share capital respectively.
8. Shareholders in both companies will be kept abreast of developments as soon as practically possible. Both companies have resubmitted draft documentation to the JSE Limited and Securities Regulation Panel for approval.
9. Accordingly, shareholders in both companies are advised to continue to exercise caution when trading in their shares over the counter.
