INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Board of Directors
Dome Securities Corp.

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Dome Securities Corp. (the "Company") as of September 30, 2009. This statement of financial condition is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statement of financial condition is free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the statement of financial condition, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the statement of financial condition referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Dome Securities Corp. as of September 30, 2009, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

1. Nature of business

Dome Securities Corp. (the "Company") is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA"). The Company's operations are primarily comprised of securities transactions on an agency basis. The Company also earns fees from market advisory services. Revenues are earned from a limited number of customers.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies

Cash and Cash Equivalent

The Company considers a money market account with an original maturity of three months or less to be a cash equivalent.

Securities Owned, at market

All securities owned are valued at market and unrealized gains and losses are reflected in revenues. At September 30, 2009, the Company did not own any securities.

Receivable from Clearing Broker and Commissions Receivable

The Company conducts business with the clearing broker on behalf of its customers. The Company earns commissions from the security transactions of its customers. Commissions receivable are amounts due from one hedge fund, which pays the Company a fee for referring potential investors to the fund. Receivables from clearing broker and commissions receivable are reported at their outstanding principal balance, with no allowance for doubtful accounts associated with them.

Furniture and Fixtures

Furniture and fixtures are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. The Company provides for depreciation using a declining-balance method over an estimated useful life of seven years. Furniture and fixtures are fully depreciated.

Revenue and Expense Recognition from Securities Transactions

Securities transactions and the related revenues and expenses are recorded on a trade date basis. Fee revenues are recognized ratably over the term of the related contracts.

Income Taxes

The Company complies with standards promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") when accounting for income taxes, which require an asset and liability approach to financial reporting for income taxes. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed for differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities that will result in taxable or deductible amounts in the future, based on enacted tax laws and rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce the deferred income tax assets to the amount considered more likely than not to be realized.

The Company has adopted a FASB staff position, which allows certain nonpublic entities to defer the effective date of accounting policies for accounting for uncertainty in income taxes until the annual financial statements for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2008. The Company has elected to apply the deferral and will adopt the provisions, effective October 1, 2009. The Company's accounting policy for evaluating uncertain tax positions during financial statement periods subject to the deferral is based on the recognition and disclosure criteria for loss contingencies set forth by the FASB.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Valuation of Investments in Securities at Fair Value

The Company adopted accounting standards established by FASB for fair value measurements, effective January 1, 2008. Under these standards, fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e., the "exit price") in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

In determining fair value, the Company uses various valuation approaches. The standards establish a fair value hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs reflect the Company's assumptions about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. The fair value hierarchy is categorized into three levels based on the inputs as follows:

Level 1 - Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not applied to Level 1 securities. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.

Level 2 - Valuations based on quoted prices in markets that are not active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly.

Level 3 - Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

DOMEST SECURITIES CORP.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

3. Related party administrative services agreement

The Company is obligated to Dome Capital Management, Inc., a related party, under an administrative services agreement which will automatically be renewed for successive terms of twelve months each, unless terminated by written notice. The agreement provides the Company with the non-exclusive right to use office space and all office fixtures and equipment suitable and customary for the conduct of its activities and certain operating expenses. Administrative services expense was $96,000 for the year ended September 30, 2009.

4. Income taxes

The current income tax expense included in the statement of operations consists of approximately $48,000 of federal, state and local taxes, and deferred income tax benefit (non-cash income tax provision) of approximately $63,000.

The temporary differences which give rise to a deferred income tax liability result primarily from income tax reporting on the cash basis of accounting as approximately shown in the following table:

Receivable from clearing broker	$	(32,000)
Commissions receivable		(45,000)
Prepaid expenses		(136,000)
Other assets		(4,000)
	$	(217,000)

5. Net capital requirements

The Company is a member of FINRA, and is subject to the SEC Uniform Net Capital Rule 15c3-1. This Rule requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1, and that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1. At September 30, 2009, the Company's net capital was approximately $328,000 which was approximately $323,000 in excess of its minimum net capital requirement of $5,000.

6. Off-balance sheet risk and concentration of credit risk

Pursuant to a clearance agreement, the Company introduces all securities transactions to its clearing broker on a fully-disclosed basis. Therefore, all of the customers' money balances and long and short security positions are carried on the books of the clearing broker. Under certain conditions, as defined in the clearance agreement, the Company has agreed to indemnify the clearing broker for losses, if any, which the clearing broker may sustain from carrying securities transactions introduced by the Company. In accordance with industry practice and regulatory requirements, the Company and the clearing broker monitor collateral on the securities transactions introduced by the Company.

In addition, the receivable from the clearing broker and the clearing deposit are pursuant to this clearance agreement.

All of the commission income for the year ended September 30, 2009 was earned from two customers. Commissions receivable on the Statement of Financial Condition relates to one of the customers.
