Board of Directors
Lowell and Company, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Lowell and Company, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2008, I considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), I have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

My consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that I consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2008, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, FINRA (Formerly NASD), and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Independent Auditor's Report

Board of Directors
Lowell and Company, L.L.C.

I have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Lowell and Company, Inc. (the Company) as of December 31, 2008, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Lowell and Company, Inc. at December 31, 2008, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

My audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedules I, II, III, and IV is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in my opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Lowell & Company, Inc.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2008

1. Organization and Nature of Business

Lowell & Company, Inc. (the company) was incorporated on April 18, 1989 and became effective with the FINRA (Formerly NASD) on September 18, 1989. The company is a broker-dealer in securities registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the exempt provisions of (S.E.C.) Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii). These provisions provide that all funds and securities belonging to customers be handled by a clearing broker-dealer. The company is a Texas Corporation.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

Security transactions (and related commission revenue and expenses) are recorded on a settlement date basis, generally the fifth business day following the transactions. If materially different, security transactions, and the related commission income and expenses are recorded on a trade date basis.

Furniture, equipment, and leasehold improvements are recorded at cost and amortized in accordance with applicable Federal income tax regulation, which is not materially different than generally accepted accounting principles.

3. Net Capital Requirements

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, the company is required to maintain a minimum net capital, as defined under such provisions. Net capital and the related net capital ratio may fluctuate on a daily basis.

There were no material inadequacies found to exist in the computation of the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital at December 31, 2008 and in the procedures followed in making the periodic computation required. At December 31, 2008, the company had net capital of approximately $87,734 and net capital requirements of $5,000.

4. Possession or Control Requirements

There were no material inadequacies found to exist in the procedures followed in adhering to the exempt provisions of (S.E.C.) Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii) by promptly transmitting all customer accounts; therefore, the company does not have any possession or control of customer funds or securities.

5. Automotive, Furniture, Equipment, & Leasehold Improvements

6. Federal Income Taxes

The company has elected to be treated as an "S Corporation" under the Internal Revenue Code (the code). Under the code, S Corporations do not incur federal income taxes at the corporate level and the corporation's taxable income or loss is passed through to its stockholders.

7. Commitments and Contingencies

The company has an office lease agreement. The lease has 2 months remaining and ends February 29, 2009. Rent is $900 per month.

8. Common Stock

The company has the authority to issue 1,000,000 shares of $1.00 par value common stock, of which 1,000 shares are issued and outstanding.

9. Basic Earnings Per Share
