Independent Auditors' Report

To the Board of Directors,
Comprehensive Programs, Inc.
D/B/A CPI Capital

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Comprehensive Programs, Inc. D/B/A CPI Capital, Inc. as of December 31, 2008. This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Comprehensive Programs, Inc. D/B/A CPI Capital, Inc. as of December 31, 2008 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Significant accounting policies followed by the Company in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements are summarized below.

Nature of Business Operations

The Company is a registered broker-dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA). The Company brokers securities transactions for investment: mutual funds (57%), variable life insurance (26%), annuity products (13%), and provides investment advisory services (4%). The percentages represent share of total commission revenue for the year ended December 31, 2008.

The Company is a 100% owned subsidiary of Comprehensive Insurance Programs, Inc. whose principal business activity is brokering insurance products that do not have an investment aspect.

Cash equivalents

Cash equivalents consist of certificates of deposit maturing within six months.

Revenue Recognition

Investment advisory fees calculated as a percentage of assets under management are recognized ratably over the term of the contract. These fees are collected by a custodian and remitted to the Company. Fees for financial planning services calculated on an hourly basis are recognized as the services are provided. Fees received in advance and not yet earned are recorded as unearned fees on the statement of financial condition. Commissions are recognized as income based on the trade date of the transaction.

Commissions Receivables

Commissions receivable represent amounts due from the Company's clearing firm, and other mutual fund companies, for securities transactions that were traded prior to the year end. Commissions receivable are stated at the full amount of the commissions and other servicing fees charged to its customers to broker securities transactions. The Company considers commissions receivable to be substantially all collectible. Accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required at December 31, 2008.

Equipment

Equipment is stated at cost. Depreciation of equipment is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the equipment, generally five years. Assets are evaluated for impairment annually. Management has determined that there is no impairment at December 31, 2008.

Income taxes

The Company has elected S corporation status, for federal and state purposes. Earnings and losses are included in the income tax return of the stockholder and taxed depending on its tax situation. Accordingly, the Company does not incur income tax obligations, and the financial statements do not include a provision for income taxes.

The Company, in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Financial Staff Position FIN 48-3, has deferred the application of FIN 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes" until its first fiscal year beginning after December 15, 2008. The Company's accounting policy is to evaluate uncertain tax positions in accordance with FASB No. 5 "Accounting for Contingencies."

Use of Estimates

The presentation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Comprehensive Programs, Inc.
D/B/A CPI Capital
Notes to Statement of Financial Condition
December 31, 2008

Concentrations

At December 31, 2008, commissions receivable from one mutual fund company represented 58% of total commission and other fees receivable.

The Company maintains its cash balances in several accounts at one financial institution. Accounts at the institution are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000. Balances in the accounts at times exceed the insurable limit. Since the Company maintains its cash balances at a high quality credit institution, it does not believe it is exposed to any significant credit risk on its cash balances.

2. Related Party Transactions

The Company and its parent make non-interest bearing advances to each other for working capital purposes, as required. The amount due from its parent was $196,865 at December 31, 2008. The parent provides certain services to the Company for which it is charged management fees. The parent charged the Company for a portion of certain shared operating expenses such as rent, telephone and office expenses. The parent reimbursed the Company for postage charges and commission expenses.

3. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (rule 15-c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital, and that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. As of December 31, 2008, the Company had net capital of $86,845, which was $36,845 in excess of the required net capital of $50,000. The company's net capital ratio was .38 to 1 at December 31, 2008.

4. Restricted Cash

The Company maintains a depository account with its clearing brokers, in the amount of $26,514 at December 31, 2008 pursuant to its clearing agreements.

5. Retirement Plan

The Company has a defined contribution 401(k) plan. Substantially all employees are eligible to participate.

6. Regulation

The Company is registered as a broker-dealer with the SEC. The securities industry in the United States is subject to extensive regulation under both federal and state laws. The SEC is the federal agency responsible for the administration of the federal securities laws. Much of the regulation of broker-dealers has been delegated to self-regulatory organizations, such as the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), which has been designated by the SEC as the Company's primary regulator. These self-regulatory organizations adopt rules, subject to approval by the SEC, that govern the industry and conduct periodic examinations of the Company's operations. The primary purpose of these requirements is to enhance the protection of customer assets. These laws and regulatory requirements subject the Company to standards of solvency with respect to capital requirements, financial reporting requirements, record keeping and business practices.

Securities firms are also subject to regulation by state securities administrators in those states in which they conduct business.

Independent Auditors' Report
Internal Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5(g)(1)
For a Broker-Dealer Claiming an Exemption from Rule 15c3-3

To the Board of Directors,
Comprehensive Programs, Inc.
D/B/A CPI Capital

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of Comprehensive Programs, Inc. D/B/A CPI Capital as of and for the year ended December 31, 2008, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transaction are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statement that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2008, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report recognizes that it is not practicable in an organization the size of CPI Capital to achieve all the divisions of duties and cross checks generally included in an internal control and that; alternatively, greater reliance must be placed on surveillance by management.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
