We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of CW Securities, LLC, as of December 31, 2008 and the related statements of income, changes in members' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of CW Securities, LLC, at December 31, 2008, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained on pages 10 through 11 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

CW SECURITIES, LLC
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2008

Note 1 - Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed in the preparation of these financial statements. These policies conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America applicable to brokers and dealers in securities, and have been applied on a consistent basis.

Nature of Activities - CW Securities, LLC (Company) was organized on December 10, 2001, under the laws of the State of Tennessee with an operating agreement in place on February 1, 2002. The State of Tennessee approved a name change to CW Securities, LLC as of November 6, 2002 from the previously registered name of Capital Wealth Securities, LLC. For some time period, the Company used the name Capital Wealth Group, LLC. The Company is registered as an investment advisory firm with the State of Tennessee. On March 26, 2003, the Company was granted membership in the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., (NASD). The Company sells various investments to its clients who are located in states throughout the eastern region of the United States.

The Company is member-managed and, in accordance with the operating agreement, will continue to operate for 30 years (December 21, 2031), unless earlier termination is elected.

Basis of Presentation - The financial statements are prepared using the accrual method of accounting and accounting practices applicable to brokers and dealers in securities.

Income Taxes - The Company is not a taxpaying entity for federal income tax purposes, and no income tax expense has been recorded in the statements. Income of the Company is taxed to the members and included in their individual returns. Tennessee state income tax applicability is limited to investment income as its earnings from operations are subject to self employment tax by its members. State income tax, if any, is minimal.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - For purposes of reporting cash flows, the Company considers Money Market accounts and Certificates of Deposit (CD) to be cash equivalents. Any highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less are also considered to be cash equivalents. At year end, the Company held a $10,250 CD which matures in June 2009.

Property and Equipment - Property and equipment was donated by the organizing member during 2003 and fully depreciated at December 31, 2007. The current year computer addition is being depreciated on a straight line basis over three years.

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Note 2 - Subordinated Liabilities

At December 31, 2008, there were no liabilities which were subordinated to claims of general creditors.

Note 3 - Related Party Transactions

The Company engages in transactions with its members and a business controlled by the organizing member.

An investment advisory firm owned by the organizing member of the Company provides facilities, personnel and office supplies. Payments of approximately $38,600 were made by the Company to the member for these services.

During 2008, commissions and fees totaling approximately $390,000 were earned by the Company's members, including approximately $7,700 accrued at year end. This is approximately 35% of total commissions and, accordingly, represents a significant portion of the commission revenues earned by the Company.

Note 4 - Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Uniform Net Capital requirement of the Securities and Exchange Commission under rule 15c3-1, which requires a minimum net capital of the greater of $5,000 or 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness, both terms as defined by the rule. The minimum net capital requirement may restrict the payment of dividends. At year end, the Company's net capital totaled $14,846 and exceeded the capital requirement by $9,846.

The Company's net capital ratio (ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital) may not exceed 15 to 1. The actual net capital ratio at year end was .70 to 1.

Note 5 – Concentrations

Approximately 55% of the commission expense is earned by a non-member, commissioned representative. Accordingly, a significant portion of the commission revenue results from these transactions.

Note 6 – Change in Ownership

During the last quarter of the year, the member with 49% ownership of the Company died. Accordingly, his estate assumed ownership and rights to the value of the equity interest. The remaining 51% member will personally purchase and fund the payment for the 49% equity interest. Therefore, no change in equity for the Company will occur as a result of the member's death and the subsequent payment for the equity interest. The purchase of the 49% interest had not been completed as of the report date. When completed, the Company will be a single-member LLC as there are no current plans for bringing in a new member.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

To The Members
CW Securities, LLC
Knoxville, Tennessee

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of CW Securities, LLC, (the Company) as of and for the year ended December 31, 2008 in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2008, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the members, management, the SEC, FINRA, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
