WynVale Financial Distributors LLC

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2009

Note 1 - Organization and Nature of Operations

WynVale Financial Distributors LLC (the Company) operates as a broker-dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). The Company wholesales mutual funds to other broker-dealers on a sales commission basis. The Company also receives consulting revenue for activities engaging in the solicitation and selling of private placements to institutional investors and accredited investors under Rule 501(a) of Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933.

Management has reviewed events occurring through February 22, 2010, the date the financial statements were available to be issued, and has concluded that no additional subsequent events have occurred requiring accrual or disclosure.

Note 2 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A summary of the significant accounting policies consistently applied in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements follows:

Equipment

Equipment is recorded at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the expected useful lives of the related assets.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenues as earned. Commissions are recorded on a trade-date basis as securities transactions occur. Consulting, placement, and other fees are recognized as income when the Company renders the related services.

Income Taxes

The Company is organized as a single member limited liability company in the State of Delaware and is considered a disregarded entity for both federal and state income tax purposes. Items of taxable income and deductible expense flow through to and are reported by the members. Consequently, no provision for income taxes has been presented on the financial statements.

Effective January 1, 2009, the Company adopted recent accounting guidance related to accounting for uncertainty in income taxes, which sets out a consistent framework to determine the appropriate level of tax reserves to maintain for uncertain tax positions. Our policy is to recognize interest and penalties on unrecognized tax benefits in income taxes expense in the statement of operations.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially expose the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and accounts receivable. The Company maintains its cash with a single financial institution. The Company does not consider itself at risk in this regard.

Note 3 - Equipment

Equipment is summarized as follows:

| | Estimated Useful Lives | 2009 |
|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Office and equipment | 5 years | $6,165 |
| Less: accumulated depreciation | | (2,363) |
| Equipment, Net | | $3,802 |

Amounts charged to other expenses for depreciation for the year ended December 31, 2009 amounted to $1,233.

Note 4 - Net Capital and Other Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined in Rule 15c3-1, shall not exceed 15 to 1. As of December 31, 2009, the Company had net capital of $16,057, which was $11,057 in excess of its required net capital of $5,000.

Note 5 - Reserve Requirement under SEC Rule 15c3-3

SEC Rule 15c3-3, Customer Protection - Reserves and Custody of Securities ("Rule 15c3-3"), requires, among other things, every broker or dealer to perform a periodic computation of the Reserve Requirement unless such broker or dealer is exempted under the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. The Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities. Accordingly, pursuant to Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(i), the Company is exempted from such reserve requirement computation.

Note 6 - Related Party Transactions

The Company has entered into an agreement with WynVale Financial Group LLC (WFG) to provide administrative services to the Company. WFG and the Company are owned by the same parties. Under the terms of the agreement, WFG will provide office facilities, communication and support services for $355 per month. Payments will be made periodically by the Company. However, the obligation will be forgiven if payment of the obligation would cause the Company's net capital to fall below, or aggregate indebtedness to be above, the levels established by the SEC's regulations.

Note 7 - Members' Equity

Members may not transfer any interest or rights in their members' equity without the written consent of the majority of all other members. In addition, if the members determine that additional capital is required to continue the operations of the Company, the members shall make additional capital contributions in proportion to their current equity. If a member does not make the required additional contribution, another member may make the contribution and be credited with the proportionate share of equity in accordance with the terms of the Company's operating agreement.

Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5

To the Members
WynVale Financial Distributors LLC
Stockton, New Jersey

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of WynVale Financial Distributors LLC (the Company) as of and for the year ended December 31, 2009, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13.
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or a combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2009 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the members, management, the SEC, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
